World News In Brief

Vancouver, July 17.—(CP)—The two Canadians reported among the 23 persons killed in the crash-landing of a flying boat in the Far East are believed to be Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stewart of Vancouver, it was learned here last night.

In a dispatch from Hong Kong the Canadians were listed as Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Stewart. In Vancouver last night Police Constable Arthur Stewart said his brother Hugh, 41, was employed by the Texas Oil Company in Hong Kong.

The plane crashed during a 40-mile flight from Macao to Hong Kong late Friday and F. J. Gillen, manager of the Macao Power and Light Company, said there apparently was only one survivor among the 20 passengers and four crew members.

The Stewart family was born in Hong Kong and moved to Vancouver about 20 years ago. Hugh returned before the war and was taken prisoner when Hong Kong fell to the Japanese, Christmas Day, 1941.

Walsingham, Norfolk, England, July 17.—(Reuters)—Tramping men, who carried heavy wooden crosses across England and Wales to the shrine of Our Lady of Walsingham, arrived here yesterday after a 12-day pilgrimage.

They were met by more than 12,000 persons congregated to hear Bernard Cardinal Griffin, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster, Consecrate England and Wales to the Immaculate Heart of Our Lady.

The arduous walk ended when they arrived on the outskirts of this old Norfolk pilgrimage town. Throughout the night they prayed round their crosses in fields and lanes until 5 a. m. yesterday when the first of the crosses was carried to the ancient shrine.

Chamby, Que., July 17.—(CP)—An estimated 2,500 people were reported to have battled a fire which last night gutted a cannery plant in this Richelieu River town 15 miles southeast of Montreal. Damage was not immediately estimated. The fire was believed to have started in a boiler room. No one was reported injured.

Montreal, July 17.—(CP)—Police said today that they have broken up a $500,000 stolen automobile ring when they arrested four Toronto men last night and recovered nine cars valued at more than $20,000. The ring started operating in Ontario and Quebec less than one month ago, police said. Names of the four men arrested were withheld pending further arrests.

New York, July 17.—(CP)—United Air Lines announced yesterday that it has applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington for a 10-per-cent passenger fare increase on all its flights. If approved by the C.A.B. the increase would become effective Sept. 1st.

Political Expediency Not Sole Cause Of Truman Move

Washington, July 17.—(CP)—Some observers here see more vision than political expediency in President Truman's recall of Congress.

It is suggested that the critical relations with Russia over Berlin and the Palestine war really prompted the President to get Congress back into session.

That it was a rather natural move to embarrass his political foes this election year is obvious and he took full advantage of the recall to make political capital.

But there is a feeling in some circles that the President's diplomatic and War Department advisers welcomed an opportunity to call Congress under circumstances that would not alarm the populace.

Whatever the reason, the President's challenge to the Republicans who control the Congress has been something in the nature of a bombshell.

Who will be hurt most remains to be seen. At first glance it would seem to be a logical and useful

Reds Place Fresh Obstacles In Way Of Western Allies In Efforts To Supply Berlin

Alberta Sets August 17 As Election Day

Over Two Hundred Candidates Expected To Contest Fifty-Seven Seats in Legislature.

Edmonton, July 17.—(CP)—Political activity surged into high gear in Alberta today following Premier Manning's announcement that his province will vote Aug. 17 to choose a new government.

Months of speculation ended yesterday when Premier Manning dissolved the present Legislature, elected in 1944, and ordered the election of a new one.

Alberta will be the fifth province to hold an election this year. Ontario voted June 7, Saskatchewan June 24 and New Brunswick June 28. Quebec will ballot July 28.

No issue was given the electors by the Social Credit government. Mr. Manning said only the administration wanted a new mandate for its program.

But within minutes, the C.C.F. had produced a platform manifesto, the Independent Movement, made a statement, and shortly afterward the Provincial Progressive Conservative Association announced support of the Independents.

The Liberal platform remains the secret of youthful Harper Prowse, former Army representative in the Legislature and the party's Provincial leader for more than a year.

Nominating conventions have been chosen for the 57 seats at stake.

There were 60 seats in the old house but three—the armed service representatives—have been dropped, restoring the House to its former size. A field of 200 candidates is expected.

Indicative of the background temper is that for the Social Credit-dominated house, 49 of 60 members were Social Crediters, the C.C.F. already has more nominations than has the government—46 to 43. Both parties are expected to contest almost every constituency.

Other nominations include 20 Liberals, two Labor, two Labor Progressive and one Independent Social Credit.

C.C.F. Leader Elmer Roper, who has announced that National leader M. J. Coldwell will participate in the campaign, said his party offers to assume 50 per cent of the cost of public and secondary education and a "much greater share" of road expenditures. It wants cancellation of penalties for illegal strikes and lookouts and full medical and hospital care on a co-operative basis.

S. J. E. Sydie of Edmonton, president of the Alberta Progressive Conservative Association, said there is "no Progressive Conservative party provincially, although it is a vital force federally."

Greatest Number of Aircraft in Recent Days Sent into Air Corridors Used to Supply German Capital.

Berlin, July 17.—(CP)—The Russians today sent up their greatest number of aircraft in recent days into the British-American air corridors between Berlin and Western Germany.

At the same time the official Soviet press told the German people the United States would not dare risk war to break the blockade of Berlin because the United States fears Russia and her allies are too powerful.

The sending up of Russian planes into the air corridors was apparently part of the Soviet tactics of harassing the British and Americans in their attempt to break the Berlin blockade.

American operations officers said the Russians had sent a warning of greater activity today in the corridors used by hundreds of American and British planes daily carrying supplies to more than 2,000,000 residents of Western Berlin.

That the move did not impede the British-American effort was seen in this statement of the operations officer: "Our planes are coming in fast and furious today."

An editorial in Tagliche Rundschau, official Soviet mouthpiece, said that even western commentators conceded that if a new war came Soviet troops could reach the Rhine within a few days and the European Atlantic coast within a few weeks.

The editorial said, in part: "Even adventurous politicians of American imperialism would not now risk starting a war because they know they would then have against them the people of Europe who want peace."

The newspaper scoffed at "Berlin cafe tales" that Allied tank columns and squadrons of planes could be concentrated at Helmsdorf, the British zone border point where the Russians have closed land transport lines to Berlin.

The Russian article appeared as Washington reports said the United States, British and French governments are discussing the use of powerful means against Russia, including economic restrictions and the arming of trucks convoys to open the road to Berlin.

Scampton, Lincolnshire, England, July 17.—(CP)—Sixty Superfortress bombers carrying more than 1,200 Americans roared into Britain today in the greatest show of United States air might in Europe since the end of the war.

Manned almost wholly by crews toughened in the battles over Japan and Germany, the B-29s came down at three fields in Eastern England in the areas where Canadian, British and United States air fleets took off for smashing blows against the Nazis.

The planes began landing at the former R.A.F. fields as Britain and the United States continued their all-out effort to feed 2,500,000 people in Soviet-blockaded Berlin by airborne supplies.

The Russians were threatening to put a squeeze on planes flying the air corridors to Berlin.

The B-29s came by both North and South Atlantic routes. They stopped at Bermuda and Goose Bay, Labrador, en route.

Lieut. W. R. McDonald, of Detroit, pilot of the first superfort to land at Scampton, said: "My crew are 100 per cent veterans of combat and so are most of the others coming over."

Press Association quoted Col. John Henry, commander of the 28th Bomber group, as saying: "We are operational, but we are not primed and cocked."

It quoted him also as saying: "We have had nothing to do with atomic bombs."

The crew arriving here were greeted by Lt.-Col. Daniel Hawes, deputy commander of the United States B-29 base at Furlenhofen, near Munich.

He said the groups will be accompanied by two to five C-54 cargo ships each carrying ground crews and equipment.

Hawes added the B-29s will probably take part in joint maneuvers with the R.A.F. during the stay of two to four weeks in Britain.

Wiesbaden, Germany, July 17.—(CP)—The 60 United States Superfortresses arriving in England will engage in simulated bombing missions, Lt.-Gen. Curtis E. Lemay said today.

Lemay, commander of the United States air forces in Europe, said the B-29s would probably land at American bases in Germany "from time to time during the course of their missions."

The British-based B-29s also "will probably fly training missions in co-operation with the air force fighter and bomber aircraft now in the United States zone of Germany," Lemay added.

The air force now has about 30 other B-29s based at its huge airfield at Furlenhofenbruck in southern Germany.

Stiff Rules Of Conduct For Royalty

Private Handbook Contains Revised List of "Do's" and "Don'ts" for Members of Royal Family.

One recent revision permitted Princess Elizabeth to sign letters addressed to strangers, who had effect the Arab Legion attacked and occupied a number of Jewish positions thus thwarting an alleged Jewish plan to occupy all of Jerusalem.

Count Folke Bernadotte said at Lake Success last night he was confident the U.N. cease-fire order would end the holy war. The mediator returns to the Holy Land by plane today.

A report that the Arab League political committee had agreed to a cease-fire in Jerusalem, effective last night, came from Amman, capital of Trans-Jordan.

The Israeli Government said earlier it was ready to accept a Security Council truce for all Palestine if the Arabs did likewise.

The deadline for the U.N. truce edict for Palestine expires Sunday night.

Jewish aircraft bombed Egypt again yesterday, attacking the El Jarish air base near the Palestine frontier, as fighting continued outside Jerusalem.

A state of emergency was decreed in Cairo to prevent possible violence against Jewish residents. Truckloads of police patrolled Cairo streets and special police were placed around the Jewish quarter.

Both Arab and Jewish commanders appeared racing to gain as much ground as possible in view of a possible truce period.

Lake Success, July 17.—(CP)—Count Folke Bernadotte heads back for Palestine today confident the United Nations cease-fire order will end the Holy Land war.

An armistice in the Jerusalem fighting was reported agreed to by both Jews and Arabs as the U.N. mediator prepared to leave by plane at 9:30 a.m. E.D.T.

Fighting still was in progress elsewhere in Palestine, but Count Bernadotte was proceeding on the assumption that the Arabs would accept the U.N. edict before the three-day time limit expires Sunday.

Italian Labor Groups Seek Reform Plan

Christian Democrat Labor Leaders Call for Formation of New Anti-Communist Organization.

Rome, July 17.—(CP)—Christian Democrat labor leaders here called upon their fellow workers to break away from the Communist-led Confederation of Labor (C.G.I.L.) and form a new union.

Their action was aimed at the Communist labor bosses who plunged Italy into a disastrous 36-hour general strike Wednesday after the attempted assassination of Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's No. 1 Communist. Violence killed 16 Italians and wounded 204 before the C.G.I.L. yielded to government pressure and called off the strike.

Togliatti was given oxygen and penicillin last night to combat pneumonia which developed in his right lung after the removal of two bullets.

Reported attendants early today reported his condition as slightly better. Physicians said last night he was "fairly good considering his wounds" and that "by all means" he had a chance to survive.

The Christian Democrat labor leaders issued a call for a "demonstration" of the workers.

St. Jerome, Que., July 17.—(CP)—Premier Duplessis said last night that as long as "there is a breath of life in me I will never let federal authorities crucify Quebec—not even on a golden cross."

He made the statement at a political rally in this Terrebonne County town as he lashed out anew at federal proposals for a Dominion-Provincial taxation agreement and at federal "meddling" in the Quebec general election campaign. He spoke in support of J. L. Branchard, who is seeking re-election as Union Nationale Member for Terrebonne in the July 28 election.

Mr. Duplessis charged that at least four Cabinet Ministers and Premier Garson of Manitoba have come to Quebec recently to "meddle" in Quebec's affairs. The Cabinet Ministers were Health Minister Martin, Transport Minister Chevrier, Works Minister Fournier and External Affairs Minister St. Laurent.

His mention of Mr. St. Laurent's name brought cries of "shoo" from some sections of the crowd. At another point in his speech he recalled that Mr. St. Laurent had once stated in the House of Commons that a majority of Parliament could abolish use of the French language in Parliament and in the Quebec Legislature.

The Premier said the federal interference in the Quebec election showed that "those men want only one Parliament, . . . instead of 10." They want to run "everything from Ottawa" and do away with the Quebec Legislature.

He said that Liberal Leader Adolphe Godbout is "too weak" that the Federal Liberal members "must carry him on their shoulders."

The Liberals were not the only ones who wanted Quebec to accept the federal proposals for a Dominion-Provincial taxation agreement. There were some in all parties in Parliament who wanted Quebec to agree to give up her rights.

Mr. Duplessis said that in 1942, Mr. Godbout had stated that if Prime Minister Mackenzie King asked him he would go overseas and "shine the boots of our soldiers."

"Are you surprised then when we ask you to elect someone who will go to Ottawa and tell Mr. King," John Bracken, Progressive Conservative Leader, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit Leader, that Quebec "is ready to stand up for her rights."

Labor Stand Is Reviewed At Asbestos

Hon. Antonio Barrette Principal Speaker at Union Nationale Rally in Mining Centre.

Special to the Record
Asbestos, July 17.—Labor problems highlighted the address of Hon. Antonio Barrette, Provincial Minister of Labor, who appeared here last evening in support of Albert Gaudreau, Union Nationale candidate in Richmond County. If returned to power, the Government intended to continue its policy of improving conditions of the workers, he told the gathering which crowded the yard of the Brothers' School, and plans to institute a system of protection against trade and industrial sickness, such as silicosis.

The Minister covered the entire range of Union Nationale program. Touching upon the issue of autonomy, he declared that it was essential that the Quebec Government retain its powers of taxation so that it could provide the schools, roads and bridges made necessary by the great development which the Province was experiencing. Dealing with the absorbing of the debts of $12,000,000 formerly owed by the local school boards, he emphasized that the residents of the Province would not pay the carrying charges, but rather the money was being raised from those who exploited the natural resources of Quebec.

He denied that the Union Nationale Government opposed the aid given UNRRA or the credits extended to the poor nations of Europe, but it did object to the $97,000,000 given Russia in one year, the people of Quebec being taxed along with the other provinces to provide help to a nation richer than Canada.

The Quebec Government, he continued, had sent students to the United States to study industrial diseases and their remedies. He ridiculed the promises of the Liberal candidate in Richmond County, that the Godbout Government would recognize the disease suffered by many Asbestos workers as an industrial disease. The Minister claiming that this was already an accomplished fact. He opposed large-scale immigration when thousands of young Canadians could not find work and when other thousands were without adequate shelter. He attacked the former Godbout Government for having reduced the various pensions paid to the people of the province and of cutting down both in number and amount the grants to different organizations.

Redmond Hayes, in starting off the meeting, declared that the electorate faced the choice of three parties and three leaders. The first had proved themselves by their record; the second had a reputation for unrealistic promises, while the third, both party and leader, where newcomers without any record. He warned against the danger of giving too much sympathy to a party which should not be taken seriously, which might result in the county finding itself represented by a member of the Opposition.

Other speakers included the candidate, John Bumbay, K.C., of Montreal, Wilfred Dufresne of

He brought them back all beat up. Also, he'd written his name all over them. Mizgawd, what does he think we are? Autograph seekers?"

Adolphe Menjou, whom the brothers term the "most-dressed" man in Hollywood, is no fashion plate to them. "He got his fashion information," Ben says, "out of a back copy of Esquire-way back."

Most of Ben's customers go for the "old look." Ty Power, Clark Gable and Caesar Romero are among the many who insist that newly purchased shoes be antiqued. "We give them a treatment with the torture machines in the back room and they look good-almost old enough to throw away," reports Ben, shaking his head.

The Morris freres say they don't like to gossip about customers. But they tell about the time a prominent film star attended the annual Christmas Eve party at the store.

"He sure had a quiet Christmas," grins Ben. "We found him passed out in the stock room on Dec. 26."

And there's the blonde headliner who's noted for her generosity. "She likes to buy her customers boy friends presents and so between divorces she'd come in for shoes," Ben tells. "Boy, was that something. The turn-over was terrific. She never brought the same size shoes two weeks in a row."

Hollywood Is Different
Anthropologist Ernest Hooton of Harvard recently announced that a matrimony-minded female could judge a male's temperament by his body build. He gave some samples, like the bone and muscle type being aggressive, the roly-poly boys ceromorous, etc.

As far as Hollywood goes, Ben says Hooton is off first base. "Humphrey Bogart aggressive? Why he lets Baby pick out all his shoes for him. How un-aggressive can a fellow get?"

Sidney Greenstreet ceremonious? "He's one of the friendliest fellows who comes in the store." And Oliver Hardy doesn't stand on ceremony either. "Of course," Ben reflects, "it's a little hard for a fellow to stand on ceremony when he's standing in his stocking feet."

Before Hooton ever thought of it there was an old wives' tale that large feet denoted a high degree of masculinity. That doesn't check either, according to Ben. Oliver Hardy has the biggest feet in Hollywood. George Raft and Alan Ladd, who make the ladies swoon, have about the smallest.

A lot of radio writers and comedians hang out in the Morris shoe store. Ben is grateful for that. "We hear all the radio guys a week before they're on the air and clean up."

Three new by-laws were passed, one levying tax for year 1948-49 of 20 1/2 mills for inside areas, and 17 1/2 mills for rural areas. The other by-laws were regarding the means of financing new sewers.

Application is to be made to the Department of Roads asking for assistance in re-surfacing the High Forest road from Woods' Corner to B. Laroche's turn.

Since the garbage collection is to be made earlier citizens are asked to have garbage out by 7 a.m., Saturday, at the road side.

At next meeting Councillor Painter will submit a bylaw levying a connection charge for connection to sewer in the municipality. A five per cent interest charge is to be made on all bills thirty days over due.

Does Canadian Johns-Manville have a written creed it lives by?

Some years ago Lewis H. Brown, Chairman of the Board of Canadian Johns-Manville, put in writing a set of principles to guide the company in its operations.

These principles are what C J-M believes in. They are C J-M's Creed of Management—the yardstick by which the company determines how to conduct itself.

C J-M'S CREED OF MANAGEMENT

We who are responsible for the management of Canadian Johns-Manville in supplying the needs of the public for our goods and services and who recognize our obligations to stockholders and employees, believe

Better Values THAT we should constantly seek to provide better values at lower costs so that more people can enjoy the fruits of our production.

Greater Efficiency THAT we should strive to develop greater efficiency in our work so as to earn a fair return for our stockholders and provide the highest possible reward for the productivity of our jobholders.

More Jobs THAT we should stimulate the genius of science and utilize the methods of research to improve our products and to create new ones so as to continuously provide new fields of employment for the present and the coming generations.

Fair Trade THAT Canadian Johns-Manville should encourage fair trade practices in business which, whether affected by competition or cooperation, will be so shaped as to be for the best interest of our customers and of society as a whole.

Future Needs THAT it is our duty to be alert to our own shortcomings, to the need for improvement, and to new requirements of society, while always recognizing the responsibility of our trusteeship.

Advancement THAT our business has never been what it could be and never what it yet will be.

Team-work THAT Business, Labor, Government and Agriculture, working hand in hand, can provide jobs and the opportunity for all to work for security without loss of our liberty and rights as free men.

CONDITION OF LOCAL CROPS MUCH IMPROVED

Recent favorable weather has done much to assist crop growth in this district according to the weekly telegraphic crop report of the Bank of Montreal. Grain crops are progressing satisfactorily. The yield of peas is somewhat above average and canning is underway in some sections. Tomatoes are doing well. Cutting of an average hay crop is now fairly general. Pasture land is in good condition. Potatoes and other roots are making good progress. Present prospects are for an average apple crop. Strawberries are plentiful, and the outlook is promising for other small fruits. While further rain is needed in some districts, fine warm weather would be beneficial in most regions.

Reporting on general conditions across Canada, the report states that in the Prairie provinces quite high temperatures prevail generally and, while rain has occurred over a widespread area, crop prospects continue to vary greatly.

In Manitoba and southern Alberta the outlook is good, but in Saskatchewan, except in the north-east, and also in the eastern and northern sections of Alberta, condition of the crops, especially late-sown grains, is only fair, and is very poor in large areas. Wheat generally is headed out. Some local damage from grasshoppers and hail is reported, chiefly from central Saskatchewan.

In Ontario, higher temperatures during the past week have brought all crops along rapidly and prospects generally are favorable. Fall wheat and rye are now turning color and harvesting is expected to commence shortly. Spring grains are heading out. Some lodging has occurred in central and western sections. Haying is well advanced, but humid weather in some areas has made curing difficult. Tobacco plants are growing well. Pastures remain in good condition.

In the Maritime Provinces, seeding has been completed and grains show satisfactory growth. Pastures are in good condition. A good hay crop is indicated and harvesting has commenced in some sections. Potatoes are showing satisfactory growth. Present indications are for a fair apple crop. The marketing of an above-average strawberry crop is under way. Warm, dry weather is needed.

In British Columbia, the outlook for all crops continues favorable. Tree fruits are developing satisfactorily, the picking of raspberries is in progress and vegetables are moving to market in increasing volume.

MANY CHANGES AT MARBLETON FAIR GROUNDS

Considerable activity is taking place at the Marbleton Fair Grounds these days, the scene of the annual exhibition of the Wolfe County Agricultural Society No. 1. During the past week the Government bulldozers went to work on the race track, cutting down the high spots and filling in the low spots and the amount of work this machine did in ten hours is really amazing. The bulldozer was followed by the road grader. The result of all this is that the track is now something to look at and would be the envy of much larger and more prosperous communities.

The work on the track is in preparation for the races to be held September 9th, the second day of the Fair. For the occasion the Directors have put up the not inconsiderable amount of $300 in cash prizes.

During the past few days a bee was held to put up the electric light poles. About thirty men were on hand, installing ten large poles with cross-arms. This will be the first time the Marbleton Fair will be illuminated at night. It is also hoped to have adequate lighting in the main building so that the handicraft exhibits can be seen at night.

Seven new box-stalls are being built to accommodate the numerous race horses expected and a new poultry building is also going up.

Canadian Art Theatre Players In Rehearsal

Canadian Art Theatre Movement Becomes Organization Of International Import

By MARGARET DOHERTY

(Record Staff Writer)

To citizens of the border towns of Stanstead, Rock Island and Derby Line, the baby-blue trailer of the Canadian Art Theatre has become a familiar sight, as have the small group of people who are making the Haskell Opera House their headquarters.

The weird looking creatures who crossed the border to Newport, to take part in the Independence Day Parade on July 4, did not even startle the Immigration Officers out of their customary calm.

These outlandish figures were members of the C.A.T., as the group is called—who donned the fantastic costumes and masks used in the Montreal production of Alice in Wonderland and joined their American friends in a demonstration of the "good neighbor policy."

The group returned triumphantly to Canada, bearing a gold cup as a reward for their feat.

Starting their eight week season of summer theatre by a preview performance in Hudson, Que., on June 28, the group have presented Emlyn Williams' psychological drama Night Must Fall and the British farce Rookery Nook.

Tonight they open—in the fascinating Haskell Opera House, whose stage is in Canada and audience in the States—in Ladies in Retirement.

Joy Thomson, who directs and designs the Canadian Art Theatre Productions, is appearing for the first time this season, as Ellen, and Mrs. Hawley Griffith, of Sherbrooke, has been invited to play the nun.

The group itself consists of twelve members—some guests, and some part of C.A.T.'s regular staff.

Besides the director, the permanent company for the summer series is composed of Production Manager Silvio Narizzano, who studied at the University of Bishop's College and also at Queens; Business Manager Bruce Raymond, a member of the Shakespeare Society and McGill Drama Department; Publicity and Advertising Manager Paul Horton, president of the McGill Players, student of Filmora Sadler's and member of the Shakespeare Society. Mary Sheppard, in charge of costumes and props, is one of Joy Thomson's pupils, while Arthur Voronka, assistant production manager, has had experience in directing, having produced a revue at Westmount High School.

The ladies in the group live at the "Cottage," in Stanstead, with Mrs. A. Bulman, while the male members have rented a large house in Rock Island, which has been vacant for some time.

This residence belongs to a Mr. Stevens, whose ill health made it impossible for him to look after such a large establishment. Rumor has it that a hospital may be erected on the property at some future date.

All members of the Canadian Art Theatre meet at the Del Monty Hotel every day, where they have lunch and dinner together, but they are on their own insofar as breakfast is concerned.

An average of 7 rehearsals are held during the week, provided that there is not too much time lost on the road, and approximately a month's study is given to the plays before the members leave Montreal.

Several mishaps, which must be expected, have occurred since the group started their season. As they were returning from the preview performance at Hudson the trailer broke away from Gerald O'Brien's car and overturned, with the result that some of the scenery was damaged.

In one of the towns where they play, the stage was too small for their act and Maud Whitmore, playing in a wheel chair, had barely room to move. However, the C.A.T. players take all these minor annoyances in their stride and continue to give very worthwhile performances.

Maud Whitmore, well known Montreal actress and singer, who takes the contralto parts in the Lyric Operatic Society, and who recently appeared in the Montreal Repertory Theatre productions of I Remember Mama and the Two Sheppards, played Mrs. Bramson in Night Must Fall and Gertrude Twine in Rookery Nook. She has now joined Filmora Sadler's Brae Manor players at Knowlton.

Director of McGill's Red and White Revue for 1948, Gerald O'Brien has had considerable dramatic training, both at McGill and with a summer stock company in North Carolina.

Richard Kronold studied in New York with Andre Jilinski, formerly a member of Michael Chekov's group in the Moscow Art Theatre.

Norma Hobbs and Mary Forde, daughter of the Australian High Commissioner to Canada, have both had experience with the McGill Drama Group and Hilda Gray is well known in the Montreal Repertory Theatre. Mickey Kronold, wife of Richard, and Amelia Hall, of Ottawa, complete the group. The aim of the C.A.T. is to establish a professional Canadian company, made up of several groups, thus, relieving the strain on the actors who have to appear in eight plays in so many weeks.

Joy Thomson and the members of the Canadian Art Theatre feel that the general public do not realize the expenses involved in theatrical productions and would like to establish summer stock on such a secure and sound basis that the performers would be assured of remuneration.

She feels that there are possibilities, and this first season is a venture.

The C.A.T. opens in Rock Island with a new play every Saturday. This is repeated there on Monday, and then the troupe travels to North Hatley on Wednesday and to Magog on Thursday and Friday. Tonight's play will be the third of the season.

SPEED PLANS FOR ANNUAL 4-H GATHERING

The City of Montreal will be invaded by the delegates of the 4-H Clubs on August 8th, on the occasion of the 4-H Provincial Convention. About five hundred rural young people, coming from all parts of the Province will attend this 4-H gathering. Each delegation will be under the supervision of at least one adult. The 4-H members will study the objectives of their youth movement and will bring forward the problems faced by their group.

Numerous applications have been received at the 4-H provincial headquarters already. The leaders of the movement are doing everything in their power to ensure comfort to the 4-H members. The daily schedule includes study meetings in the morning and recreational activities at noon.

During these three eventful days, from August 8th to 11th, the names of the winners of the 4-H contests will be announced. These 4-H members will be granted scholarships by important Canadian industrial firms. Nearly all the competitors have already forwarded their work for the contests and the judges will start within a few days on the selection of the best entries.

POULTRY SHOW TO BE STAGED HERE AUG. 1

The first annual poultry show to be staged in this city will be held on August 1 at O. Hallee's Farm, situated on the Montreal Road. All types of pigeons, chickens and other types of birds will be judged.

Cash prizes and cups will be awarded the winners in the various events of the show.

Entries close on July 24th. Entries should be sent to D. Dostie, 448 King Street West.

While on show the birds will be fed and cared gratis. The exhibition is being sponsored by the Eastern Townships Sporting Poultry Club.

Week-End To Witness Marked Speed-Up In Local Politics

Political activity in the Eastern Townships will increase in tempo over this week-end, according to reports from the headquarters of the four parties engaged in this month's battle for the twelve Legislative Assembly seats in this district.

News from the Liberal headquarters concerns the three meetings after mass on Sunday at Ascot Corner, Rock Forest and St. Elie d'Orford. Speakers at these meetings will include Maurice Gingues, M.P. for Sherbrooke, Benoit Turmel, Armand Rousseau K.C., Jacques Lagasse, Fernand Joyal and Francois Poulin in addition to Donat Jacques, the candidate. The Stanstead candidate, Maurice Theroux, will speak in Magog on Sunday and Albert Paquette, candidate in Richmond, will address a meeting in Richmond tonight.

Reports from the CCF camp deal with a meeting tomorrow afternoon at Dufresne Park where the principal speaker will be the candidate, Marcel Bergeron. Other speakers will be Guy Desaulniers, candidate for Montreal's St. Henri Ward, G. Laquiere, Charles LaLiberte and L. P. Pepin.

Of the four parties, the Union des Electeurs (Social Credit) party alone has no organized public meetings scheduled for the week-end. Sunday and Monday are being devoted to organizational plans, the highlight being Monday's meeting in Quebec city of all ninety-two candidates for Quebec's ridings. J. E. Gregoire, leader of the party in the province, will preside at this meeting along with Louis Even. A meeting of organizers will take place on Sunday night at Rock Forest.

Little news was available from the committee rooms of the National Union Party. A meeting has been scheduled for Ascot Corner after Mass on Sunday morning, and a full week's program has been arranged for Charles D. French, the party's candidate for Compton county, the largest riding in the Eastern Townships.

THE THREE ROADS

By Kenneth Millar

This is the tale of a man whose sanity and chance for happiness depend on his ability to recapture his unremembered past. "Forget the past," cries Paula, who loves him but doesn't understand. "I've got to remember it first," is Bret's grim answer. Any reader who starts back into the past with Bret will remain trapped at his side, for lying at the core of the darkness of this man's memory is a brutal unsolved murder.

Kenneth Millar, who has aptly been likened to James M. Cain and his brethren for the fast-moving hard-boiled quality of his writing starts his latest work at a slow, steady pitch that builds up and up till tension and suspense reach an unbearable high, and then — with all the sudden speed and violence of a roller-coaster descent — takes his story into action.

The author was born at Los Gatos, California, on December 13, 1915, of mixed Scotch-Canadian and Pennsylvania Dutch ancestry. After growing up in western Canada he attended the University of Western Ontario, from which he was graduated in 1938. The day after his graduation he married a Canadian girl, who has written mystery stories and novels under the name of Margaret Millar. After Millar came out of the Navy in the spring of 1946 he has lived with his wife and young daughter in California.

SHANNON'S WAY

By A. J. Cronin

This magnificent new novel has all the qualities which have made A. J. Cronin's work eagerly read throughout the English-speaking world. Like THE CITADEL, the hero is a doctor, and Dr. Cronin has used his intimate knowledge of doctors and hospitals, nurses and laboratories, professional pride and jealousy, to make every detail vivid.

High points in the story are: The evening when Shannon isolates the influenza bacillus; Jean Law's serious illness with scarlet fever and his watch by her bedside; his nervous breakdown and gradual recovery.

Here is an inspiring story of courage, and dedication to a life's work. Shannon will know ups and downs, but never will he know defeat. Especially since he shares the love of an understanding, compassionate and dedicated woman, a woman such as Jean Law.

A GHOST TOWN ON THE YELLOWSTONE

By Elliot Paul

The charm of Elliot Paul's story-telling is that nowhere does he allow relevancy to cloud the brilliance of his art. Like a brilliant skater on a frozen pond he cuts intricate figures on memory's gleaming surface.

If, here and there, the ice is thin he changes it rather than interrupt the onlooker's delight. To Mr. Paul the figure's the thing.

So, in A Ghost Town On The Yellowstone, Mr. Paul reaches back to the year 1907 and to his youthful adventures on a project of the United States Reclamation Service in Montana. With him you start on one of the oddest stage-coach rides in history—a ride in which no man knows how the passengers change at various stops their number is always thirteen, a circumstance to make the driver consult his whisky more frequently than usual. The hapless coach-jinxed to the whiffletrees—overturns dumps the passengers into the sage brush and thus precipitates the founding of the town of Trembles. Thanks to Mr. Paul's keen observation (vitamin enriched and thoroughly irradiated) you meet the first citizens of Trembles—a saloonkeeper, two Chinese, a scissorbill, and a woman somewhat less ancient than the profession she follows. Thenceforth you participate in some of the most astonishing, humorous and touching events ever to take place in that part of the Wild West. To tell you more would be to cheat you of your full quota of agreeable surprises.

A Ghost Town On The Yellowstone follows Linden On The Saugus Branch in the autobiographical series Mr. Paul calls Items on the Grand account.

MAKERS OF MATHEMATICS

By Alfred Hooper

The story of mathematics, from the time man first began to use his ten fingers for counting until he mastered the abstractions of the infinitesimal calculus, is an epic of search and discovery in the realm of pure thought. This fascinating story is here unfolded in such a manner that anyone who can add, subtract, multiply and divide ordinary numbers can follow the dramatic development of these triumphs of the mind.

Interwoven with the human interest of the lives of mathematicians such as Thales, Pythagoras, Euclid, Archimedes, Hipparchus, Ptolemy, Pascal, Wallis, Barrow, Newton, Leibniz, Euler, Gauss and many others will be found the endlessly fascinating story of their gradual development of mathematical concepts and processes. Readers who have had difficulty in comprehending these concepts and processes in their final form will find that most of them are essentially simple when they are unfolded step by step in the form in which they were conceived, developed and completed through the ages by those who laid the foundations of a subject which plays an indispensable part in every phase of human activity today, from the simplest kind of measurement to the study of philosophical concepts which extend limitlessly in the universe.

I wonder how many who read this will remember the thunderous battle for Faubourg de Vaucelles and the suburbs of Caen, which took place 4 years ago tomorrow? This was undoubtedly the most spectacular, the noisiest, and in many ways the most devastating battle the Canadians took part in in France. The hundreds of bombers dropping their bombs, the mighty barrage from the artillery, and then the assault by the tanks and infantry, aided by the ubiquitous "Tiffies," all added up to make the battle a terrific sight, an ear-splitting cacophony of sound, and a mighty and successful "push," never to be forgotten by those who had some part in it. Who will easily forget the huge pall of dust that blotted out the blazing midday sun, to mention but one thing.

Rudy Olivier and Co. have got a little something up the good old sleeve which they are willing to bet will turn out to be a novel and successful "Do" (with a capital "D", please!) when the time comes to spring it. So keep an eye on this column, chaps, and start saving a couple of bucks or so, just in case you might be interested.

LETTER FROM BRITAIN—

A Millennium And Some Centenaries

By EDWARD HODGKIN

There was once a centenarian who asked by a reporter to what he attributed his great age. His answer was, "I attribute it to the fact that I happened to be born a hundred years ago." This may be a good answer as any, since both men and institutions need luck as well as vitality to keep them going, but when you reach the age of a thousand, you can honestly boast that it is your vitality and not your luck which has kept you going.

St. Albans School was born in A.D. 948 in the small Hertfordshire town which the Romans called Verulamium and whose name was changed in honor of the first Christian martyr to be killed in this country. The school came into being as part of the abbey, which still stands, twenty miles north of London. They have grown old together, but both are still as much an essential part of the life of England as they were in the very distant days of their origin.

Today the school is one of the "public schools" of England, 400 boys attending it, some of whom are boarders and some day-boys. (Public schools, in spite of their name, are private institutions as far as their administration goes, although the Ministry of Education helps an increasing number of them with financial grants.) St. Albans has had its ups and downs like any other school, but the year of its millennium certainly finds it in one of the ups.

What an astonishing variety of changes there have been in the systems of education in Britain during these thousand years! I could not help being struck by this mixture of continuity and change while I was reading about another school which has also been celebrating an anniversary. This second school was founded at Kingswood, near Bath, England, two hundred years ago—on June 24th, 1748, to be exact—by one of the greatest figures of the eighteenth century, John Wesley. On that day he wrote in his journal, "The day we had appointed for opening the school at Kingswood. I preached there on 'Train up a child in the way that he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it.' My brother and I administered the Lord's Supper to many who came from far. We then agreed on the general rules of the school."

... No Time For Play

It is when you come to look at "the general rules of the school" that you can see the change in outlook there has been during the past two centuries. At Kingswood the children rose at four in the morning, and read, sang or meditated till five, when there was a service. From six o'clock till breakfast there was work. "For," as Wesley wrote, "as we have no play days so neither do we allow any time for play in any day. She that plays when she is a child will play when she is the kindest of men, and I dare say woman." Wesley, it must be remembered, was one of the that in practice the curriculum was not so harsh as it sounds to us now. At any rate the children were well looked after, and the great curse of many schools at about that time was that the children in them were more or less allowed to run wild.

As late as the beginning of the last century, for example, the scholars of Eton were shut up by themselves for twelve hours of the twenty-four, with only the most nominal supervision. Extraordinary though it may sound, the one huge room in which the fifty scholars lars slept was only properly inspected once a year, in the middle of the summer term. In preparation for this occasion, two or three heavy boys used to sit on one end of a blanket, and several others would seize the other end and run up and down the room dragging the blanket after them. In this fashion the floor was cleaned and polished.

It was as a reaction to this sort of chaos that the severe simplicity of schools such as that which Wesley founded was introduced. By now, of course, extremes of either sort have been long ago abolished. Kingswood and Eton, like St. Albans and more than 200 other schools up and down the country, come in the category of public schools. Boys in all these schools are prepared for the same standard of examinations and no boy who changed from one school to another, would feel himself a fish out of water. Since the end of the war Eton and the other more expensive public schools, have begun to take boys from State primary schools, and this levelling-up process, which will undoubtedly be carried further in the near future, is proving a great success. It is generally accepted that the good things which the old schools have to offer—their traditions, buildings, and high teaching standards—should be made as widely available to the benefit of all classes as possible.

College For Clergy

While we are on the subject of centenaries, there is one more which calls for mention. This date, this time is June 29th, 1848, and the place Canterbury. On that day a college was founded for training clergy of the Church of England to serve "in the distant dependencies of the Empire." The site chosen for the college was on the ruins of the abbey of St. Augustine, which had been shut down by King Henry VIII, and which had for many centuries been the neighbor and rival of the great cathedral which is still the mother church of the Anglican community.

The urge to found the college came from pioneering bishops of the Empire—men like Bishop Broughton, like Australia—who called on the home country to help in providing for the spiritual needs of the thousands of emigrants who had left Britain during the "hungry forties." A group of churchmen in this country led by James Borelstone-Hope and Edward Coleridge answered the appeal and started the college. In the hundred years of its life more than 700 men have gone overseas, and many famous names are to be found among them.

Some of the 350 bishops that were here for the Lambeth Conference started their careers in the college, and it is appropriate that they should be here in the year of its centenary. Many of them sat down to a dinner in Canterbury in honor of the occasion. It was not, owing to rationing (or should we say, owing to the changing taste of the clergy), a dinner quite on the scale of one at the Abbey of which we have record for the year 1303; when 30 oxen, 300 pigs, 200 sheep and 9,600 eggs were consumed, but the enthusiasm of the college is not likely to be endangered by a lack of its character has already changed since its foundation, and today it trains clergy from overseas as well as for overseas. It is another institution which has grown with the times and adapted itself to them.

And as a very footnote to centenaries—W. G. Grace, the great hearded doctor, the greatest cricketer of all time, was born on July 18th, 1848.

OBITUARIES

ADELAIDE ALBERTA KEZAR, OF NORTH HATLEY

North Hatley, July 17.—On the afternoon of Wednesday, June 30, the family and many friends of Adelaide Alberta Kazar met at the North Hatley Universalist Church to pay final tribute to this courageous and well loved young woman.

Adelaide Kazar was born in North Hatley on March 11, 1908,
the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Paige Kazar. While still a baby she was stricken with infantile paralysis, and, though every medical aid was given her, the disease left her limbs useless. Although handicapped physically, her capacity for enjoying life was boundless, and her courageous and happy spirit was admired by all who met her, and endeared her to the hearts of her wide circle of friends. This buoyant courage sustained her through several minor illnesses as a child, and one serious operation in recent years. At the time of her death she was in good health, and, on the Sunday evening she was stricken, she was preparing to go out with friends. Feeling nauseated, she called her mother and brother,
Mr. Douglas Kazar, of Sherbrooke, who with his wife and young daughter, were at the Kazar home for a week's vacation. Realizing his sister's condition was grave,
Mr. Kazar summoned Dr. J. R.
Spier, and also Dr. M. W. Hicks, and Mrs. Grant LeBaron, a nurse, but in less than an hour Miss Kazar had passed away.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. R. C. Tait, of the Plymouth United Church, in Sherbrooke. A choir, made up of friends in the community, led the communion in singing "Abide With Me," and "Rock of Ages." Mr. Ashley Jackson, the organist, played "The Old Rugged Cross," a favorite hymn of Miss Kazar's, and "Safe In The Arms of Jesus," while the friends and family were assembled. Mr. Lee McKay and Mr. R. L.
Reed served as ushers.

The bearers were chosen from the group of young people who were her friends, and were Bill
McCrea, Jack Guild, Kenneth Price, Gordon Bean, Joseph Lennon and Arthur Woodward.

A long procession drove to the North Hatley Cemetery for the committal service. Two open cars filled with flowers, were driven by Mr. Henry Taylor and Mr. Stan
Cuthbert.

Among the relatives and friends from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kazar, of Port Chester, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Kazar of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kazar, of Stanstead; Mr. Winfield
De Bois, of Weston, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Adolphe Seguin and daughter, Blanche, of Waterloo; Mr. and Mrs. William Sawyer, of Lennox-ville; Mrs. Ronald Sampson and Mrs. Reginald Urwick, of Magog; Mrs. Marguerite Shattuck, of Newport; Mrs. Lila Summerset, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lord, Mr. Arthur Taylor and Mrs. Rose Emery, all of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Walter
Edkins and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Johnson, of Minton, and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Edgar, of Beebe.

Mr. HENRY J. CROMPTON, OF MONTREAL

Greenlay, July 17.—The death of Mr. Henry J. Crompton, of Montreal, occurred on Sunday,
June 13, in the Verdun General Hospital, after several months illness.

The funeral took place on Wednesday, June 16, and interment was made in the Cote de Neiges Cemetery. The floral offerings were many and very beautiful.

Mr. Crompton was born in Bickesstaffe, England, on January 29th, 1874, the elder son of the late Mr. William Crompton and his wife, Maria Ashcroft.

He came to Canada when only ten years of age and always lived in Montreal, where he was employed by the Montreal Tramways for over forty years.

His wife Margaret Wagner, of Gaspé, predeceased him two years ago.

He leaves to mourn his loss, two sons, Arthur and Verdun; John of Nitro; three daughters, Margaret and Winnie, of Montreal; and Lily, of Noranda; two daughters-in-law and three sons-in-law and eight grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. E. E. Perkins, of Greenlay, and Miss M. M. Crompton, of Haverhill, Mass.; besides several nieces and nephews and other distant relatives.

Those attending the funeral from a distance were a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. S.
Laurent, of Noranda; Mr. and Mrs.
G. C. Robinson and H. E. Perkins, of Greenlay; and D. M. Perkins, of Lennoxville; many others from Verdun and Montreal.

MR. SCOTT W. GILBERT, OF BISHOPTON, QUE.

Bishopton, July 17.—On June 3, 1948 the community was shocked to learn of the sudden passing of a very highly respected citizen in the person of Scott W. Gilbert, while in the employ of Mr.
Clifford Anderson, at Bury.

Mr. Gilbert was born on Dec.
13, 1879, at Bishopton, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter S.
Gilbert.

In 1905 he was united in marriage to Annie Hart, of Marbel-ton, who predeceased him in 1939. In October 1947, he was united in marriage to Mrs. Clara Hooker, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Tupper, of Brook-bury.

Previous to his death he was sincerely cared for by his wife,
through an attack of pneumonia,

Democracy Wins Initial Victory In Italian Test

By
DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

There is encouragement for the democracies in the way the Italian government withstood the first fierce efforts of Communism to capitalize the crisis precipitated by the misguided shooting of Palmiro Togliatti, one of Stalin's favorites and leader of Italy's Reds.

Having ventured this bit of optimism your correspondent hastens to add that the danger is far from over. Blood has been shed and the situation remains highly inflammable. De Gasperi has stood off the enemy in the first mad rush—but the fight isn't finished.

We may be sure that there would have been a revolution if any government in Rome by now had the Bolsheviks had been able to put across their flash rebellion. They did their utmost by creating wide disorders and a general strike to paralyze the country.

Premier Got Tough
However, in this moment of supreme danger to the state, Premier de Gasperi got tough. It was he who ordered the police and troops into the disaffected areas and warned the Bolsheviks that he would use the force at his command to break the "insurrection"—and insurrection it was. In the face of this challenge by a daring chief of state, backed by loyal troops and police, the Reds called off the general strike. The threat of a civil war thus was met successfully, at least for the moment. And it is significant that it was checked in the way especially dangerous early hours when passions were running high as the result of the assault on Togliatti.

That was Bolshevism's big moment—if it had the necessary strength. Communization of Italy is one of Moscow's prime objectives, because the peninsula would be an invaluable base for the conquest both of Western Europe and the Mediterranean.

Contravenes Code
Time alone will tell how great a disservice has been done to Italy in particular and democracy in general by the shooting of Togliatti. In the first place it contravened the code of democracy. But beyond that it came at a time when the fortunes of the powerful Communist party in Italy were on the decline. The Reds had taken a sound trouncing in the last general election, and their once-strong grip on the throat of the unfortunate nation was slipping.

Now the Communists have a martyr in the person of one of the most prominent Bolshevik leaders—a power even in Moscow itself. That will, to say the least, help stiffen the cannot live in harmony with the rest of Canada," said Mr. Godbout. "It is treachery to give the rest of Canada the impression that Quebecers are savages."

"We are pioneers on North American soil," he said, "we are the oldest province of Canada and as the oldest we have rights but we also have responsibilities."

The Liberal leader, who spoke in support of Germain Lacourciere, candidate in Arthabaska county in provincial elections July 28, also charged the Union Nationale administration with permitting "theft of provincial monies to swell election funds."

He said that the Government four months after the passage of its current budget by the legislature had passed special warrants for additional expenditure of $25,000,000.

"I believe this is the greatest act of dishonesty in the history of the Province," said Mr. Godbout. "I believe we have the most dishonest Government the province has known."

The Liberal leader repeated previous accusations regarding expenditures for what he called the "fourth road built between Quebec and Chateaufort."

He said that one year after the start of work on the road, he had been told in the Legislature by the Provincial Roads Minister that construction cost would be $6,000,000.

A year later, during the past legislature session, Mr. Godbout said he had been informed by the Minister that construction costs had risen to $13,000,000.

The Liberal leader said that eventual cost of the highway would be from $24,000,000 to $26,000,000. "Where did this money go?" said Mr. Godbout. "The Government lets the money of the province be stolen to swell the election funds."

Mr. Godbout said that in his own county of Mallet the Government had put "old men and 12-year-olds" to work on road projects and "even decks of playing cards have been supplied by the government."

"Despite the fact that the Government is throwing money out the window doing useless work here, there and everywhere, it will find out on July 28 that Quebecers aren't for sale," said Mr. Godbout.

day night. Israel formally accepted the cease-fire yesterday on the condition that the Arabs must likewise agree.

Count Bernadotte's confidence was bolstered by the prompt Jewish-Arab acceptance of the Security Council's order for an immediate armistice in Jerusalem. Both parties acted within the 24-hour period specified by the Council. In any event, Count Bernadotte will have a major problem ahead setting up an international police force for Jerusalem and arranging for withdrawal of Jewish and Arab troops. These are tasks assigned to him in the Council's resolution. He discussed plans for recruiting the police force yesterday with representatives of the United States, France and Belgium. These countries, as members of the Conciliatory Truce Commission in Jerusalem, are expected to furnish most of the 1,000 men Count Bernadotte wants to police the Holy City.

ranks of the Communists and might win them some sympathizers from outside the fold. Still, it may be that de Gasperi's swift and energetic action in those crucial early hours may have averted catastrophe. One would expect a good deal to depend on Togliatti's progress towards recovery. Should he die—and he still is a very ill man—it might precipitate another and even more violent reaction than did the actual shooting.

Since he had been mentioned as a possible successor to MacArthur, observers believed the Allied supreme commander will remain in Japan.

sent her wedding gifts, instead of leaving the job of a secretary or lady-in-waiting. Reason for this was that letters signed by Royalty have commercial value and, according to the conduct book, "no member of the Royal Family may be associated with a commercial enterprise."

One of the trickiest problems confronting the Royal Family is that of giving financial support to charities and institutions. The conduct book says their support must not be given until "time and results have proved that the charities are genuine and firmly established."

For the same reason, British Royalty may not preside at dinners or luncheons held solely for the purpose of raising money to meet annual deficits. They must not sign or authorize any direct appeal to the public for funds; nor must they have cheques sent in response to appeals made payable to themselves, or have donations addressed to them. The Royal Family are well-known as supporters of national and emergency funds providing for families victimized by flood and mine disasters. To avoid the embarrassment of a junior member of the family giving more than a senior, a scale of subscriptions is laid down.

If the King gives £100 ($400), the Queen gives £50, Queen Mary £40, the Duke of Gloucester £25—and so on down the line.

The Christian Democrats called a special meeting of labor leaders from all over Italy in Rome next week to organize an independent union "operating in a way to reform the rights of labor."

Communist labor leaders reacted swiftly. They dispatched urgent appeals to workers to remain united and declared that it was disunity in labor that gave rise to Fascism in Italy.

The government of Premier Alcide de Gasperi had announced it would seek to outlaw political strikes, such as that called by the C.G.I.L. in protest against the Togliatti assassination attempt.

Crazed Radio

Naval headquarters here reported a navy boarding party from the United States Destroyer George K. MacKenzie late yesterday clambered aboard the William Carson, approximately 300 miles west of the Azores, to find an orderly but surprised crew.

Five days ago, northeast of the Azores, from the William Carson flashed this message: "Crew mutinous. Cannot control. Come at once." Then there was dead silence.

Admiral Richard L. Connolly, commander-in-chief of United States naval forces for the Eastern Atlantic and the Mediterranean, ordered a destroyer squadron diverted from its voyage home after taking part in the United States Naval Academy's practice cruise.

From Capt. Laurence Frost, squadron commander, who personally led the boarding party, came this report:

"Briefly, the radio man, whose sanity was doubtful, sent out the SOS and information about a mutiny, and then at a time unknown, jumped over the side."

"The master of the William Carson states the crew is the best he ever sailed with. I have copies of statements of master and all officers concerning the radio man." The report did not identify the radio man.

The William Carson, operated by the Southern Atlantic Steamship Company of Savannah, Ga., is en route from Genoa to Dingwall, Nova Scotia.

Ottawa, July 17. —(CP)—Ontario plans for a big international power development on the St. Lawrence river today were in the hands of the External Affairs Department.

If approved they will be sent on to the International Joint Commission which already has been handed the New York State plans.

Then, if the commission gives its blessing, the stage will be set for the start of the 2,000,000-horsepower project on the long Sault rapids in the St. Lawrence river west of Cornwall, Ont.

Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, yesterday called the proposed scheme "the greatest hydro project in the Western Hemisphere." It would take eight years to complete and cost an estimated $400,000,000.

MELBOURNE RIDGE GROUPS HOLD MEETINGS

Melbourne Ridge July 17. — A meeting of the Women's Association and Women's Missionary Society was held in the Church Hall, on July 8, with only a fair attendance.

The president of the W.M.S., Mrs. Gordon Beers was in the chair and opened the meeting with the Call to Worship. A hymn was sung and Scripture passages were read by four members. A poem, "Shed Thou, O Lord, Thy Light" was read by Mrs. W. Frank. A prayer was read in unison. Mrs. Gordon Beers read an interesting story on "Christian Stewardship" from the Missionary Monthly. The theme of which was that "We Christians must be will to be more completely used as channels of God's power. Too many of us have given Him, the scraps of time on which we had no special plan, the left-over money, after we had spent on ourselves what we wanted, or the bits of ability which made little demands on us sacrificially." This is not "good and faithful Stewardship."

The treasurer, Mrs. G. Barrington, reported that money for the second quarter had been forwarded to Presbyterian treasurer. As a means of increasing the funds, it was decided to increase the tea fee by 5 cents and members volunteered to bring articles for auction to meetings during the next few months. It was planned to present: Lantern Slides on the W.M.S. last year's Study Book, "Great is the Company," those to be presented on Monday evening, July 19, in the Church Hall. The program will begin at 8:30 with a hymn, "Sing of old and favorite hymns. All interested are invited to attend; a silver collection is to be taken up to partly defray cost of obtaining slides.

The president of the W. A. took over the remainder of the meeting. The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted and the roll called in usual manner. The secretary gave the financial statement and reported on the ice cream social, the proceeds of which were very encouraging. Comments were made regarding the vast improvement in the appearance of the hall since the redecoration a few weeks ago, when the ladies held a bee to do the papering and painting.

The closing hymn "Our Broad Dominion Bless" was sung and a moment of silence was observed in tribute to a former member, who has recently passed on to higher service. The meeting closed with the Mischap Benediction.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Barrington.

DOROTHY DIX

Guide To Manhood

Happiness, Success In Store For Boys
With Courage And Character

The following letter, which was written to a boy in his teens, is republished at the request of a group of mothers:

Be good. Fear God and keep His commandments and walk upright in the sight of all men. There is nothing that pays such dividends in health and happiness and even in worldly success as just goodness.

Look about you and you will see that most of the men who are going strong in their seventies and eighties are good men who did not waste their strength in riotous living. You will see that the prosperous men are honest, fair-dealing men who built their fortunes on the trust that others had in them, and that the happy men are those with a clear conscience.

Be a gentleman. Somebody has said that a gentleman is a man who considers other people and never forgets himself. He never brags. He never boasts. He never whines. He is neither puffed up by good fortune, nor crushed by bad luck. He does not have to go about beating on a drum and proclaiming who he is, because the dullest recognize a gentleman at sight and make way for him.

Cultivate good manners. They are a letter of credit that is honored at sight the world over. Get the best possible education you can. Think of getting an education as forging a tool with which to make your way to success, and realize that the better you make it, the quicker you will achieve your objective.

DEVELOP TALENT

Study yourself. Try to determine your aptitudes. Then bend all of your education to fitting yourself for some work in which you find scope for your talents. Don't overestimate your ability or underestimate it. Don't try to be a professional man when Nature made you a mechanic. Nearly every man who fails is one who tried to fit a round peg into a square hole.

Acquire the fine art of being a mixer. Learn how to get along with people. All your life you will have to rub shoulders with your fellow creatures. Find out how to give them a pat on the back instead of a dig in the ribs. Friends are our greatest asset, both financially and socially.

Be brave. Don't let anything in life down you. The people who win out in life are the stout-hearted who can endure. Have the courage to dare to go after what you want and fight for it until you get it. It is the cowards in life who are failures. They are defeated before they ever begin.

Above all, don't make the fatal mistake of marrying too young. You will think you are in love many times while you are still in your adolescence. These heartthrobs are merely growing pains that will soon pass. Disregard them. Wait until your judgment has had time to ripen and your emotions to jell and you can afford a family before you burden yourself with a wife and children.

Under Heaven there is no other sight more piteous than that of a fine young man who is swamped in a sea of debt, whose ambitions have been blighted and who is tired of the wife he has outgrown, all because he married too young.

Follow these suggestions, son, and trouble never will be knocking at your door.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

FETE IN BURY ARMOURY FOR
MRS. GILBERT

Bishopston, July 17.—A very pleasant surprise party was given Mrs. Benton Gilbert by the Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Good Shepherd, on July 8, the occasion being her seventy-ninth birthday. There were many friends and neighbors present, also both her daughters, Mrs. Shore, of Kenogami, and Mrs. Powers, of Farnham.

A Guild meeting was held, after which a delightful repast was served. The tea table was centered by a lovely bouquet of violets, which was afterwards replaced by a three-tier birthday cake, beautifully decorated with "79" outlined in candles.

At the close of the tea, Mrs. Gilbert was presented with a purse of money from her fellow workers in the Guild, of which she has been a life-long member.

During the day Mrs. Gilbert had many callers and was the recipient of some charming gifts.

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 18th, 1948.
The Golden Text is from John 3:26, "As the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself."
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it." (Matthew 7:13,14).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key of the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter,—certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God." (Page 324).

Adrian Zabala To Hurl Second Game Of Sunday Series Against Farnham Under Lights Tomorrow At 8.30

The Sherbrooke Baseball Club will play their sixth game of the week this evening in Drummondville and will finish off the week playing with Farnham tomorrow in a Sunday two-game series.

The locals started the week with St. Johns last Sunday, by losing both ends of the series but bounced back and eked out a 4-1 decision over Farnham on Tuesday and then the following evening in Farnham downed the home team to the tune of 8-1. Thursday night they edged out the Braves of St. Johns, 4-1.

At Drummondville tonight Manager Gladu has given the pitching assignment to Paul Calvert while tomorrow, in Farnham, Lou Shapiro or Rudolph Fernandez will toe the mound.

In the return bout scheduled under the lights at the Park Avenue Stadium Adrian Zabala, the local ace southpaw, will be given the job of setting down the heavy guns of the Farnham team.

No other changes in the lineup will be made and the same team that took the field Thursday evening will be on hand to help smother the revamped Farnham club.

The Farnham team has won only one game in Sherbrooke since the start of the season and have lost four by close scores. They can always be counted on giving a good exhibition of ball, and no doubt they will be fighting for their second win on the local grounds.

Henri Rochon And Brendan Macken To Meet In Finals For Net Title

Quebec, July 17.—(P)—Drop-shot artist Henri Rochon and rugged Brendan Macken of Montreal, Canadian Davis Cup players, entered finals of the Quebec Senior Open Singles today on straight set victories in semi-finals.

With about 600 fans looking on under a blistering sun, Rochon ousted Lorne Maine of Vancouver 6-4, 6-4, 6-0. In a test of endurance, Macken outlasted Rene Buser, cool-headed Montrealeur, 9-7, 6-3, 10-8.

In women's doubles, Mrs. Vera Lewis and Sonia Swift of Ottawa and Elaine Fildes and Pauline Robinson of Montreal were tied after two sets of their semi-finals match. The Ottawa pair won the second set 6-2, after dropping the first 7-5.

Rochon swept the last 11 games of his match with the 18-year-old

Bob Feller Greeted By Boos And Catcalls

Philadelphia, July 17.—(P)—Bob Feller shrugged off the bleacher seat boos and went to the mound against Philadelphia Athletics last night determined to prove to the fans that he's "a pitcher—not a bowl baby."

The fireballing veteran from Cleveland Indians was out to give the Indians three straight victories over the runner-up A's in the American League pennant fight. Steve Gromek and Old Satchel Paige got the first two last night, 6-1 and 8-5.

Every time Feller poked his head out of the Cleveland dugout last night he was greeted by boos and catcalls. One fan draped a five-foot banner over a boxseat saying: "Send him back to the farm, Boudreau. Feller is a quitter."

Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's manager, said however, that he was confident Feller wouldn't let the boos affect his pitching.

Feller had his own answer: "What do you think I am, a rookie?"

Bob has been the target of many verbal attacks throughout the season. First he was called down for devoting too much time to outside, money-making activities and more recently for his failure to pitch in the All Star game.

Manager Bucky Harris, of New York Yankees, who piloted the American League All Star team, selected Feller as one of his pitchers but Bob declined. Harris then levelled a blast at Feller.

Boudreau retorted that it wasn't Feller's idea not to pitch, that the orders came from Owner Bill Veeck of Cleveland and Boudreau himself.

Alme Choquette and the H. L. Blais owned jumper Gamin cleaned up in the jumping classes at the St. Johns Horse Show Sunday last. He won the Open Jumping championship and the Novice Jump and with Royal Top took the pair jumping.

Alme and his pal, Gamin, have been making quite a name for themselves throughout the province. They took top honors at the Ormstown Show earlier in the season and now St. Johns. They ran up against some tough competition at both shows but they came through with flying colors.

In St. Johns in the Open class Gamin went over the course in a clear performance and tied with Gentleman Jim, owned by R. L. Lemieux and ridden by Bill Du-point of Montreal. In the jump-off Gamin came through another clear performance and topped top honors.

In the Novice event Darlie and Gamin were the only horses to turn clean runs, but again in the jump-off the local horse and rider walked away with the honors.

Tomorrow afternoon at Al Mitten's Show ring on Cherry River Road, where the Magog Horse Riding Club is staging their third annual Horse Show, the Blais owned jumper, Gamin, will compete against the best of the Townships. Commando, owned by Mike Stenson and also ridden by Alme Choquette, will put in his initial appearance of the season. Both these jumpers are good and outcome should very interesting to note. So horse lovers, TOMORROW AFTERNOON 1:30 AT MITSON'S FARM.

The Country Club is holding an Invitation Tournament tomorrow and a good field is expected for the event. Last year Gerry Huot, Mount Orford, and Don Doe, Granby, ended in a tie for low gross and after a three-hole play-off Gerry won the match. This year quite a few golfers from Montreal are expected which will be quite a change from last season.

Last year the Association staged another tourney on the Island on the same date as the local one and that was the reason why the club-swingers from Montreal failed to put in an appearance, but this year it is an open date and quite a few players are expected.

The event is divided into three classes with prizes for gross and net scores, and everybody will have a chance to win a prize.

St. Pat's Old Boys Association is holding a party tonight at the school for Pat Timmons, member of the Executive, who has been transferred to Quebec to take over the management of the National Bakeries for his company.

It seems from reading Gilles "Doc" Vous Parle's Goyette, of Granby, that the local sportsman from that town are having quite a time with the City Mayor and Aldermen. The latest move of the Council is to install a water meter in the Arena, as they figure that the Arena is using too much water, so from now on they will be forced to pay for the water consumed.

Not knowing the actual local situation which may change the circumstances, it seems to me a very good way of killing sport in general. The owners of the baseball club claim they are having a hard time with the lighting problem at the ball park, but the Council refuses to help the boys out in any manner which seems to me to be a little funny for a Council to act. But after all every town has not a council similar to our sports-minded City Fathers. Our local Fathers go out of their way to help the local sportsmen and the citizens really appreciate it. So Doc don't lose hope perhaps an election may help to rectify matters.

Robert Bedard won the City Junior net championship when he ousted Louis Cote in two straight sets, and this week he took part in the Senior tourney and was dropped to the wayside when he ran into Gaston Blais, who was carried to three sets before dropping the youngster.

The Senior tourney is running pretty much to form and so far no upsets have been registered. Matches have been played in all events and this week-end quite a few good matches are listed.

The little pep talk that Manager Roland Gladu gave his boys last Sunday night after dropping

Three Major League Clubs Change Managers

Three National League baseball clubs changed managers Friday in the greatest one-day mid-summer shift on record.

Leo Durocher, brash manager of Brooklyn Dodgers, resigned to accept a similar post with New York Giants, replacing Mel Ott. Ott also had resigned.

Burt Shotton, who piloted Brooklyn to the National League pennant last year, returned to the Dodger helm.

Ben Chapman, fighting manager of Philadelphia Phils, was dismissed and replaced by Allen (Dusty) Cooke, who joined the club last year as a trainer.

Charlie Grimm, of Chicago Cubs, who has been with that club since 1944, now is the oldest manager in point of service in the National League. In the last four years 11 National League managers have either resigned or been fired.

Connie Mack, boss of Philadelphia A's, has managed that club since 1901 to be the veteran of the American League.

Until Leo Durocher was given his release today by Brooklyn he had the distinction of having piloted the same club longer than any other active National League manager. He took over the Dodgers reins in 1939, and except for last year when he was suspended by Commissioner A. B. Chandler, had ruled the Dodgers without interruption.

When the managerial change was made, the Giants and Dodgers were tied for fourth place, 8½ games behind the league leading Boston Braves.

Questioned about possible changes in the Giants lineup, Durocher would only say: "I can't say. I don't want to comment on any phase of the club or to pick it apart. I'll talk it over with Mel before I decide anything." There will be no coaching changes on the New York club as a result of the managerial switch, he added.

Shotton, a "Rickey Man" for many years, came out of retirement just at the start of the 1947 season to take over the Dodger management. His only previous major league managerial experience had been as pilot of Philadelphia Phillies from 1928 to 1933.

After winning the National League Pennant and losing the world series last season, he returned to the background as supervisor of the Brooklyn Farm clubs.

Ott, who joined the club as a 16-year-old "Boy Wonder" in 1926 and never has been associated with any other team, will remain in the Giants' organization in an undetermined capacity, although he resigned as manager. He will serve out the term of his contract, which runs through 1950, after taking a brief vacation.

Durocher was hired for the remainder of the 1948 season and for 1949 under the exact terms called for in his Brooklyn contract. This was understood to give him a basic salary of $45,000 a year with additional amounts based on attendance figures.

In Cincinnati, where Brooklyn President Branch Rickey announced Durocher's resignation simultaneously with President Horace Stoneham's revelation of the Giants change, no mention was made of the terms of Shotton's contract.

The first suggestion that Ott should quit as Giant Manager came about 10 days ago when he and Stoneham met to discuss the plight of the club, which has been wallowing around in fourth and fifth place.

Asked what the club needed most to stay in the pennant race, Ott replied: "Maybe it is a new manager."

Today when reporters asked Ott if his resignation was his own idea, Mel smiled wanly and replied, "partly."

The reasons for Durocher's decision to change jobs remained secret. Loquacious Leo insisted that his relations with the Brooklyn management had been the best but that he always had admired Ott, Stoneham and the Giant organization.

Durocher, who will be 42 July 27, has managed the Dodgers since 1939 with the exception of the 1947 season, when he was under a year's suspension imposed by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Known as a "holler guy" in his playing days with New York Yankees, Cincinnati Reds and "Gas-house Gang" St. Louis Cardinals, Durocher has been in hot water oftener than a cafeteria teaspoon.

Ott, a quiet, reserved man who holds many major league batting records, has been criticized frequently because of his handling of pitchers and for failing to get the most out of his heavy-hitting club. Nevertheless, he was believed to have a lifetime job with the Giants if he wanted it.

Lack Of Funds May Force Horses Home

Detroit, July 17.—(P)—R. S. McLaughlin, Oshawa, Ont., automobile magnate and owner of a large string of race horses, was down to his last $500 and would have been forced to withdraw from racing in the United States for the year had he not won two races at the Detroit Race Track a few days ago.

McLaughlin has plenty of money with which to maintain his racing stable, but the Canadian Government will allow him to send only $500 a year out of Canada for that, or any other purpose.

Aussies Cop Mackinnon Challenge Cup In Empire Rifle Shoot Which Closes Today At Bisley Camp

Bisley Camp, England, July 17.—(P)—Australia today won the Mackinnon Challenge Cup, one of the two big team prizes in the Empire Rifle Shoot which closes today, and Australians were announced winners of the two aggregate prizes.

But the string of Australian successes was interrupted when Cpl. R. L. Kerslake of Devonshire won the silver medal in the second stage of the King's Prize.

In the Mackinnon Cup, the Aussies posted 1,050 of 1,200 for their 12-man team. England had 1,046, Ireland 1,004, Scotland 972, Wales 970, Channel Islands 944 and Canada 929. The cup was fired at the 900-yard and 1,000-yard ranges.
