"It Will Work Wonders

With this Generation of Men."

A Startling Advance in Medical Science is fully explained in a little book called "Complete Manhood, and How to Attain It."

An earnest man who had suffered, hesitated, then put in to the test, writes thus:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them that my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way?"

The man was not "made whole" by magic in a day—no man is—but in a moment he saw KNEW how he would be in a little while—he "saw the light" before he had finished the first chapter.

Every man who would know the grand truth, the plain facts, the new discoveries of medical science—who would atone for past follies and avoid future pitfalls, should secure this book.

To simple "curiosity seekers," to those whose physical condition is perfect—to those who need no aid—to boys—we say emphatically this book is useless and unwarranting. It is purely medical and scientific, published to make known a system of treatment of incalculable value to men who need it.

If you are looking for something sentimental, frivolous, improper, don't waste your time and ours by writing. This is not for you.

If you want advice, wisdom, warning, help, noble manhood if you want to escape snares, traps, quackery—get this book now.

Write to the Erie Medical Co., 64 Niagara st., Buffalo, N. Y., and ask for copy "Complete Manhood." They will send it sealed in plain envelope, entirely free, for a short time. 7z5

MASSACRE AT MARASH REPORTED.

FRENCH ADVICES STATED THREE HUNDRED KILLED.

London Advices, However, Only State Turks are Preparing to Attack, and that Missionaries are in Danger.

Paris, November 22.—A despatch to the Matin from Constantinople says twenty villages northwest of Aleppo have been burned and their inhabitants massacred.

The massacre at Marash, the despatch says, took place in the presence of the Turkish Governor-General, who did not interfere to stop them. Upwards of 300 persons were killed.

The Kurds, according to this despatch, are gathering upon the Euphrates and preparing to march into Syria for the purpose of massacreing Christians.

Vienna, November 22.—The conference which took place yesterday between Sir Philip Currie, England's ambassador to Turkey, and Count Goluchowski, Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs, and General Nigra, Italian ambassador at the Austrian court, has tended greatly to increase the optimistic feeling here.

SIR PHILLIP CURRIE,
British Ambassador to Turkey.

Constantinople, November 22.—The complete text of the recent instructions of the Sultan to the military commanders and the provincial authorities has just been published.

These instructions are intended to prevent troubles and quel disorders. According to the published text of the structions, the Valis (governors) are held responsible for the outbreaks, and they are exhorted to use the utmost vigilance for the protection of foreign subjects and the foreign consulate. It is further announced that they must telegraph a report of the state of affairs of their respective districts to the Government at Constantinople every twenty-four hours.

London, November 22.—The missionaries at Marash are yet in great danger, and the Armenians, who are in force at Sivas, will probably be attacked. Troops are being concentrated at a point near Zeitoun, and this constitutes the danger to the missionaries.

A savage fight is expected at Zeitoun.

Intense feeling has been caused in diplomatic circles in Constantinople by the announcement that Bahri Pasha, the inhuman commander of the troops that perpetrated the Sassoun massacre, was to be made Governor of Aleppo. This would throw into his merciless hands the subjugation of the Armenians, who now have control of Zeitoun, whence they have driven forth the Turks.

Sir Phillip Currie, now en route to Constantinople from London, is said to bear a letter from the Queen to the Sultan. Sir Phillip spent Wednesday in Vienna, in conference with the Austrian Government about Turkish matters.

At the present time but one despatch boat is allowed to each foreign embassy at Constantinople. In view of the critical situation, the Powers are asking that an order be granted allowing a second one to go east through the Dardanelles.

The Sultan is afraid that if permission is granted to allow more despatch boats through the Dardanelles the people will misconstrue it and make trouble. The matter is being considered. The fleet, if admitted before Constantinople, would contain 1000 men, as against 250 at present.

France and Italy, it is announced, by King Humbert, are in perfect accord with regard to the Armenian pacification, and in the Hungarian Diet Premier Banffy, on Thursday, stated that all the Powers were going to help the Porte to suppress the disorders in Asia Minor.

On Thursday a special foreign office messenger started for Constantinople by the way of Ostend and Vienna. It is believed that he is the bearer of Lord Salisbury's personal reply to the letter of the Sultan of Turkey.

It is reported that the Sultan's letter to Lord Salisbury contained a proposal that, after the execution of the Armenian reforms, he should visit London and the other European capitals, for the purpose of establishing an entente with the great Powers, with regard to the future administration of affairs in Turkey.

At a French Cabinet Council, held in Paris yesterday, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, M. Berthelot, said that the information which he received from various sources did not justify the alarmist reports in the French press. The agreement between the Powers, he added, was revealing itself with the utmost clearness and persistency.

A correspondent states that the Sultan has £15,000,000 deposited in Russia and America, with a view to saving what he can if the worst comes.

A letter received in Constantinople from Erzeroum, under the date of November 5, supplies abundant proof that the massacres there were begun and ended by Turkish soldiers acting under orders rather than by the populace, who followed the lead of the soldiers throughout. The soldiers and their civilian allies plundered one thousand dwellings and two thousand shops, and killed one thousand men, women and children. The Government, the letter says, is now endeavoring to restore to the people such of their property as may be available and to distribute some abroad among the starving inhabitants, doubtless under instructions from Constantinople.

Boston, November 22.—The missionaries of the American Board, for whose protection the United States cruiser Minneapolis is ordered to Smyrna, are of the Western Turkey Mission. The names and residences of the Canadians are: Miss Annie M. Barker, Toronto; Rev. Robert Chambers and wife, Woodstock, Ont.; Rev. Alex. MacLachlan, Toronto, Ont.; Miss Emily McCullum, St. Elmo, Ont.; Rev. James P. McNaughton, Dominionville, Canada. There are seven Americans.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

Will Mr. Chamberlain Help Along the Confederation Project?

[Special to the Star.]

New York, November 22.—A special to the World from Ottawa says negotiations with a view to bringing Newfoundland into the Dominion are to be re-opened. Sir William Whiteway, Premier, of the colony, will arrive here in a few days to hold an informal conference with the Canadian Ministers. When Newfoundland rejected Canada's proposal of confederation last year there was a difference of $5,000,000 between the negotiating parties, the colony demanding that amount more than the Canadian delegates were prepared to allow. At the time it was hoped that, in order to settle the Newfoundland and the French shore question, a standing menace to the continuance of friendly relations between Great Britain and France, the British Government would give financial aid to the project, but Lord Rosebery refused to do so. The change of Government in England has placed Mr. Chamberlain at the head of the Colonial Office, and it is understood he is prepared to recommend that the British Parliament appropriate the amount that now stands in the way of union.

SALISBURY'S THREAT.

An Alleged Message From the British Premier to Mandarin Wong, of Pekin.

Vancouver, B. C., November 22.—Chinese advices just received include the following: An excellent story comes from Pekin. A leading member of the Foreign Council, evidently "Great" Wong, who is said to owe his position to his anti-foreign proclivities, found, on assuming office, that it was one thing to abuse the foreigner verbally and another to deal with him practically. Sir Nicholas R. O'Connor, the British Minister, proved especially disturbing, for he actually pounded the table under the serene mandarin's nose. The latter complained to London about this sledge-hammer diplomacy, whereupon the Marquis of Salisbury replied that Wong had better attend to Sir Nicholas or he (the Marquis) would come out and do the pounding himself.

SHARK THEIR GAME.

Capture of a Monster in Baie des Chaleurs.

[Special to the Star.]

Moncton, N. B., November 22.—Joseph Comeau and Peter Doucet, of Petit Rocher, near Pathurst, N. B., were out fishing recently. They had cod lines and hooks. Suddenly they noticed the fish ceased biting, and shortly after found their line drawn by some great fish. They played with it for some time, and finally got it to the top of the water; when one of them struck it on the head with an axe and killed it. The fish proved to be a shark, eleven feet long, as large around as an oil barrel, and weighing several hundred pounds. Sharks are very unusual in these waters.

OBITUARY.

New York, November 22.—Flavel Scott Mines, Vice-Consul at Crefeld, Germany, died suddenly at that place, yesterday, of heart failure. He was thirty years of age, and was widely known as a writer of verse and short stories.

DEDICATION OF THE TEMPLE.

A RED LETTER DAY FOR MONTREAL MASONS.

Grand Master Massey Consecrates the new Masonic Temple on Dorchester street, with Imposing Ceremonies.

Thanksgiving Day, 1895, will long be remembered as a red letter day in the history of Freemasonry in the Province of Quebec. Last evening the new Masonic temple on Dorchester st., was solemnly dedicated and consecrated in due and ancient form to the uses of the Order by the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, assisted by his Grand Lodge officers, and as such a ceremony had not been performed in the city of Montreal for twenty-six years—the Masonic Hall on Place d'Armes Square having been dedicated on that occasion—it naturally drew together a large and representative gathering of the ancient and honorable fraternity. The interest in the proceedings was also enhanced by the fact that M. W. Bro. William R. White, Q. C., of Pembroke, Ont., Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario, was present.

Precisely at eight o'clock, R. W. Bro. John Smillie, D. D. G. M., opened the meeting of the district lodge with the following officers: R. W. Bro. Alex. Murray, I. P. M.; V. W. Bro. W. Simpson Walker, S. W.; R. W. Bro. the Rev. E. Friedlander, J. W.; W. Bro. Charles R. Willis, S. D.; W. Bro. F. Upton, J. D.; V. W. Bro. H. Trepannier, I. G.; Bro. G. C. Bown, Treasurer; W. Bro. W. T. Anderson, D. of C.; V. W. Bro. W. N. King, W. Bro. W. Seale, and Bro. John Green, stewards; Bro. J. Laurance, tyler. Shortly afterwards M.W. Bro. Fred Massey, Grand Master, was announced, and upon entering the district lodge he was received with grand honors. The Grand Master was accompanied by M. W. Bros. John P. Noyes, Frank Edgar, T. P. Butler, and Acting Chief M. M. Tait, Past Grand Master; R. W. Bro. H. E. Channell, Deputy Grand Master; M. W. Bro. H. H. Simms, Grand Treasurer; M. W. Bro. J. H. Isaacson, Grand Secretary; R. W. Bro. J. B. Tressider, Acting Grand Senior Warden; R. W. Bro. David Seath, Acting Grand Junior Warden; R. W. Bro. the Rev. R. Hewton, Grand Chaplain; V. W. Bro. Geo. O. Stanton, G. S. D.; V. W. Bro. H. Dunne, Acting G. J. D.; V. W. Bro. E. W. Wilson, G. D. of C.; V. W. Bros. C. J. Williams and J. McBeth Taylor, Grand Stewards; V. W. Bro. W. Campbell, Grand Pursuivant; R. W. Bros. James Fyfe, I. B. Futvoye and John McLean, Light Bearers; R. W. Bros. S. P. Franchot, W. M. LeMessurier, and P. A. Crossby and W. Bro. W. Paterson, Bearers of the Ark; W. Bro. David Ferguson, Bearer of the Law.

The Grand Master then proceeded, according to ancient custom, and in the name of the Supreme and Eternal God, the Great Architect of Heaven and Earth, to dedicate the hall to Freemasonry, to virtue and to Universal Benevolence.

This ceremony over M. W. Bro. W. R. White, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario was presented to Grand Lodge. He received an enthusiastic welcome from the brethren, which he acknowledged in suitable terms.

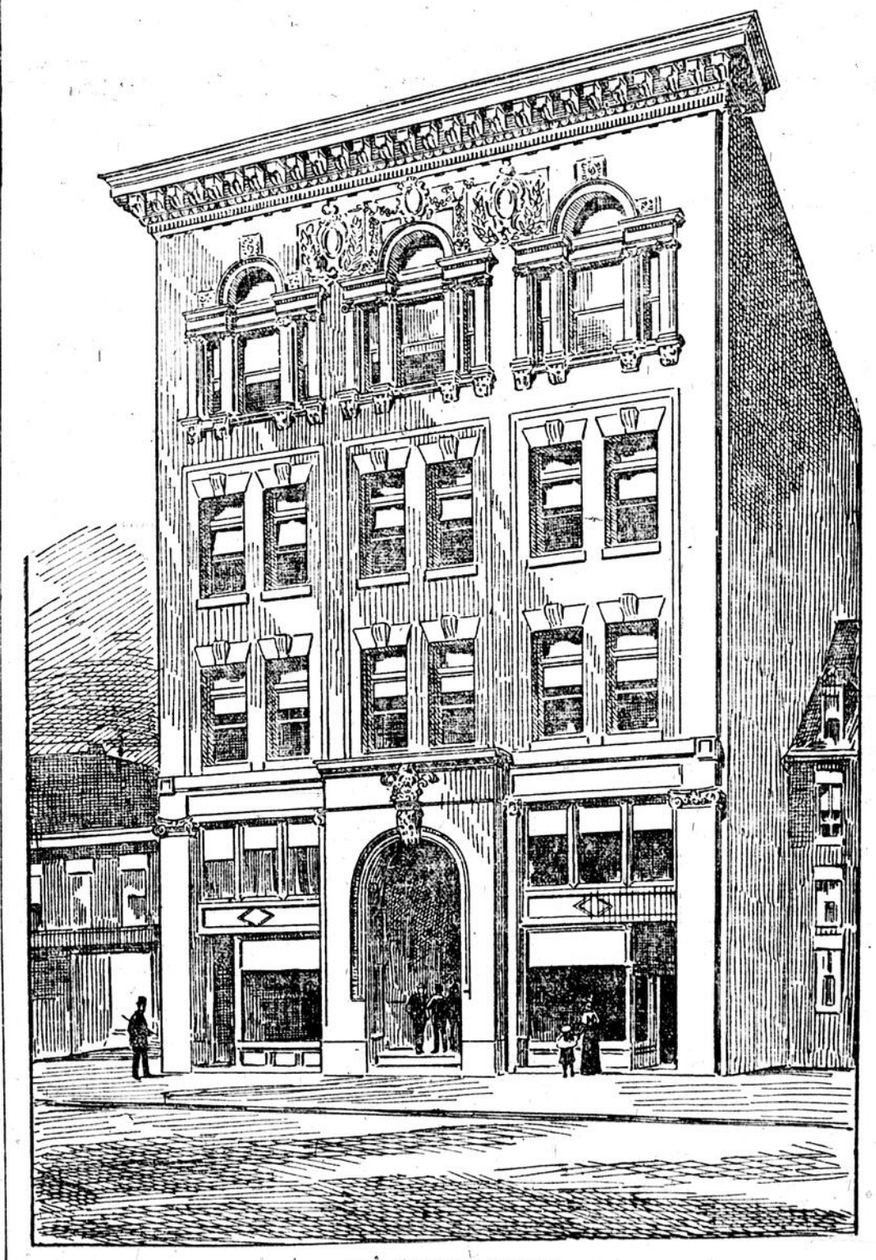

The following choir rendered the musical portion of the proceedings in an admirable manner: W. Bro. C. W. Hagar and Bros. J. Venables, E. M. Renouf, G. A. Irwin, R. C. Verner, Wm. Miller, Jas. Johnson, F. G. Payne, J. T. Farlow and J. C. Poole. Bro. P. J. Illsley, organist.

The Grand Lodge officers and brethren were subsequently entertained at a banquet by the directors of the Montreal Temple Company, at which R. W. Bro. B. Tooke, P.D.D.G.M., presided. The toast list included "The Queen and the Craft," "The Grand Lodge of Quebec," "The Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario," and "Past Grand Masters and Grand Lodge Officers." All the speeches in response breathed a spirit of congratulation to the promoters of the Temple building, which reflected credit not only upon the Montreal Masons, but upon the entire fraternity in the province of Quebec. Those who responded were: M.W. Bros. Fred Massey, W. R. White (Pembroke, Ont.), John P. Noyes, Acting-Chief Justice Tait, and R.W. Bros. S. P. Franchot and the Rev. R. Hewton. The speeches were interspersed with singing and recitations.

During the evening M.W. Bro. Massey presented M.W. Bro. John P. Noyes, the immediate past grand master, with two large copies of the anniversary photographs of the grand lodge officers and members, handsomely framed, with M.W. Bro. Noyes suitably acknowledged.

Great credit is due to R. W. Bro. W. H. Whyte, secretary of the Temple Company, for the admirable manner in which the arrangements were carried out.

In addition to the names already given in connection with the dedication proceedings the following brethren were present: R. W. Bros. David Barr, Ottawa District; G. R. Dewar, Geo. W. Lovejoy, M.D., and John McLean; V. W. Bros. J. F. Gladston and McD McTavish, W. Bros. W. J. Kerr, Joseph Wilson, W. T. Rickaby, R. G. Foster, Geo. Weldon, T. Wynde, R. Levi, E. H. Blurton, W. F. THE CLOSE OF NAVIGATION.

Last Steamship of the Year in Port—Preparations for the Winter.

The cold wave of the last forty-eight hours has hurried along the preparations which are always made pending the closing of navigation at this port. To-day there are just three ocean steamships in the harbor. These are the Tiber, Turret Crown and the Lake Huron. The Tiber leaves to-morrow for Sorel, where she will winter. The Turret Crown also sails to-morrow for Quebec, where she will take on a load of lumber, leaving that port on Sunday for Hull. The Lake Huron arrived this morning from Liverpool, and her agents state that it is expected she will be loaded and sail again on Sunday. This will make the last vessel out of port for foreign ports.

The Quebec agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries notified the Harbor Commissioners this morning that owing to the cold weather and the fear of ice on the river that they would at once begin the work of removing the gas buoys at Pointe aux Trembles and Ste. Croix and place spar buoys in their stead.

The Richelieu and Ontario Company intend, if the weather does not become too severe, to continue running their Quebec line to the middle of next week.

As soon as the removal of goods they contain will allow, the sheds of the different companies will be removed to winter quarters, and the few barges and small craft now in the harbor will either have gone to Sorel, Quebec or into the canal basin. The Harbor Commissioners' fleet, however, will continue working as long as the weather permits, and will eventually winter in front of the Harbor Commissioners' building.

Clans McLennan and Gordon will tender a reception to the Royal Secretary, Mr. Peter Kerr, in Clan Gordon Hall on Monday evening next to which the public are invited.

THE FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

What is Said of The Subsidy in Montreal.

The report that the Imperial Government would grant the sum of $375,000 as a subsidy for a twenty knots service between Canada and Great Britain was a subject generally discussed among shipping men this morning. In speaking to one of the representatives of the Allan line this morning, he said that it was altogether too early to even forecast what might be done so far as they were concerned. Of course they would tender for the service, if tenders were wanted. With $1,125,000 a year, which would be the sum if the Canadian Government renewed the offer of $750,000 subsidy tendered to Mr. Huddart, and which has long since expired.

In speaking of the proposed service being made up of vessels withdrawn from the services in place of building the grey hounds to order, it was said that the project was altogether unlikely. Running now in the trans-Atlantic service there are according to Lloyds just exactly eight steamships which are capable and do make better than twenty knots an hour. These are the Majestic and Teutonic, of the White Star Line; Campania, Lucania, Umbria and Etruria, of the Canard Line; New York and Paris, of the American Line. The St. Paul and St. Louis Lloyd also classes as twenty knots or better, which at the outside makes a total of ten steamships capable of taking up the business.

It would take at least three ships at a cost say of $1,750,000 each to establish the service required. In regard to the possibility of bringing such ships to Montreal, the shipping men thought it was not at all practicable. The nearest approach that could be made under the existing circumstances would be Quebec.

The smallest of the 20-knot steamships now in the service between New York and Liverpool is above 8,000 tons. These are the Etruria and the Umbria. The largest are the Lucania and the Campania, of the Cunard, which run up to 13,000 tons gross.

This class of ship, in spite of their very large tonnage, carry very little or no freight. The difference in the coal consumption for each knot of speed brought out is shown readily by the difference in the consumption of coal of the Campania and of the Teutonic. While the former is one and one-half knots faster per hour than the latter the coal consumption of the Campania is five hundred and twenty tons per day against three hundred and fifty tons for the Teutonic.

A verdict of accidental death was returned at the inquest which was held at the General Hospital on the body of Gauthier, who was killed at Frothingham and Workman's factory, Cote St. Par'

A SUCCESFUL PRODUCTION.

A telegram from Toronto states that the Montreal production, Jack Harkaway, which Mr. J. B. Sparrow took upon the road last autumn is meeting with unqualified success. After a fourteen week's tour through the United States, the play was produced in the Toronto Opera House last evening to the largest audience in the history of that theatre. The Montrealers who are included in the cast are Mr. Edward Varney, H. Wilkes Stewart and Robert Henders.

Much Distress Avoided.

Nothing is more distressing than to be out on a raw, windy day and feel chilled to the bone by the penetrating blast. The sunshine and glamour roll off everything under such circumstances, and you get into a cross, gloomy mood where trifles seem like mountains; all this can be surely avoided, and at a not-worth-mentioning expense by having a layer of Fibre Chamois put in your coats and vests. It absolutely keeps all cold out, and the natural warmth in. Not a breath of raw, gusty wind can get through it to make you shiver, and yet it is very light in weight and healthfully porous.

ALMOST ANOTHER CLEVELAND HORROR.

THREE STREET CARS IN DANGER FOR A WHILE.

The Motorman of One of Them Neglected to Turn His Lever and the Safety Arrangement Became Very Unsafe.

Cleveland, November 22.—A narrow escape from another frightful bridge disaster occurred at 2.30 o'clock this morning on the Superior street viaduct.

Three street cars were awaiting for the draw to be closed. In front was a car from the Scoville Avenue line. Back a few feet was a Wade Park avenue car. About 50 feet further back was a Woodland avenue car.

While the motormen were waiting for the draw to swing they deserted their posts of duty and were gossiping among themselves, when the first car started up at a lively rate of speed. When the motorman left that car the safety cut-off had shut off the current, and the man did not turn the lever and current off that car. Suddenly the current started again and the car bounded forward with the full power of the current upon it, and eye-witnesses say that in the few feet it went before striking the Wade Park avenue car it must have attained a speed of fully twelve miles an hour. People standing on the bridge yelled to the passengers in all the cars to jump. The cars were well filled and the wildest panic immediately followed. With a terrific crash the Woodland car came upon the Wade Park car, smashing the dash-boards on both cars. But the Woodland car did not stop here.

No one had yet shut off the current, and the rear car forced the Wade Park car forward against the Scoville car. Luckily it happened that the brake on the latter was set tightly. Nevertheless, it was driven forward fully a dozen feet, and when it finally came to a stop was within a foot of the closed gates. The struggle of the panic-stricken people inside the car to escape, was fearful. Mrs. George Schindler, the wife of the assisting police prosecuting attorney, was badly injured in jumping, and was removed to her home in an ambulance. Other women fainted, and had to be taken away in carriages or ambulances.

GENERAL PONSONBY'S DEATH.

Faithful Servant of Her Majesty Passed Away.

London, November 22.—The Queen was much affected by the death of General Rt. Hon. Sir Henry F. Ponsonby, for many years Keeper of the Privy Purse and Private Secretary to Her Majesty. His demise occurred at Osborne Cottage, Cowes, at 7.40 o'clock Thursday forenoon. He was 70 years of age. He had been ill and incapacitated from duty for several months past. Paralysis was the cause of his death.

GENERAL PONSONBY.

The late Sir Henry Ponsonby was born of the purple, being a grandson of the Earl of Bessborough and of Lord Bathurst, and connected in various ways with half the great families of England. He was a distinguished soldier, a guardsman, a Crimean hero and lieutenant-general in the army. At one time he commanded a battalion of the Grenadiers in Canada, and acquitted himself well indeed. This military service in the corps d'elite gave him great prestige. Yet his chief experience has been in connection with courts. He entered the army when only seventeen, and when little more than a boy was appointed aide-de-camp to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, who, in those days, was more like a monarch than an official. At the age of twenty-four deceased became Private Secretary to Lord Clarendon, one of the most distinguished of Irish viceroys, and he did so well that he kept his position under Lord St. Germaine and Lord Carlisle. He only left Dublin Castle, in fact, to join his regiment before Sebastopol. On his return from the war his abilities were recognized by his being appointed equerry to the Prince Consort; not a very agreeable or dignified post, but one which was a sure stepping stone to the favor of the Queen. On the Prince's death Colonel Ponsonby, as he then was, turned soldier again and went to Canada with the Guards in 1862 during the "Trent affair," but on the death of Sir Theodore Martin, in 1870, the Queen sent for him and offered him the private secretaryship and on the death in 1878 of Sir Thomas Biddulph, the Queen conferred on him the great honor of keeper of Her Majesty's privy purse, which while it doubled his work, raised him to a very influential position at Court.

It gave him, in fact, the control of all the inner business of the court, and at the same time brought him into daily communication with the public in a very satisfactory way. Not only was he the paymaster of all those officials, male and female, who are not on the regular pay sheets of the nation, but he was also the sole channel of the Queen's benefactions, which amount to an immense sum in the year. A serious part of his duty consisted in ascertaining whether the appeals to the Queen's sympathy were genuine and preventing her from being imposed upon. In numberless cases Sir Henry's kindly worded letter, with the small sum of ready money inclosed, was the earliest alleviation of sorrow, the first balm to a bleeding heart. Another important part of his duties was that he was expected to know all about the differences and petty disputes among the members of the Royal Family, to acquaint the Queen with them according to his discretion and himself to act on behalf of the Queen in numberless instances, as mediator, peacemaker or censor. Many a time, therefore, when he had had a hard day's work and hurried dinner, and would gladly have spent a quiet evening with his children or at his club, he was summoned to the Queen's private apartments to receive instructions about some domestic mission, which kept him busy in the most unpleasant way until midnight.

He was a great favorite with every member of the Royal Family. Sir Henry was a smart, soldierly man in his bearing, always dressed with exquisite taste though with a good deal of style, and possessed of such polished manners and such a suave and dignified bearing that nobody could help being strongly attracted to him. Like all the persons most closely attached to the Queen, he was poorly paid for the work he did. He received altogether about $10,000 a year, with a house rent free at St. James' Palace, and, of course, free quarters wherever the Queen resided. But he had a considerable income of his own, and his wife had means, and their position at Court had advantages altogether apart from pecuniary ones. They were in the very inner circles of the best society, without any of the burdens of grandeur, and their children have excellent prospects in life open before them. Their eldest daughter, Alberta Victoria, the Queen's godchild, made a brilliant marriage, and the presents that poured in from all quarters, even from several European sovereigns, were almost equal in splendor to those of a Royal wedding. The Queen herself made a special journey to London to attend the ceremony—a thing she had seldom ever done.

Deceased is a son of Major-General the Hon. Sir F. Ponsonby, was born at Corfu, in 1825, and after receiving a professional education at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, was appointed ensign in the 49th Regiment in 1842. After being transferred to the Grenadier Guards, he was appointed aide-de-camp to the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, and in 1849 was made private secretary to the Earl of Clarendon, an office which he held under Lords St. Germans and Carlisle while Viceroys of Ireland. In 1855 he joined the Grenadier Guards in the Crimea and served at the siege of Sebastopol. On the conclusion of the war he was appointed Equerry to the Prince Consort, and after His Royal Highness's death proceeded to Canada, where he commanded a battalion of the Grenadier Guards. On April 8, 1870, he was appointed private secretary to Her Majesty the Queen, and in October 1878 Keeper of Her Majesty's Privy Purse. He was a member of the Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath, Knight of the Third Class of the Order of the Medjidieh, Receiver-General of the Duchy of Lancaster, and one of the Royal Commissioners in the Exhibition of 1851.

JOHN DILLON, M. P., WEDDED.

The Pope Sends His Blessing to The Eminent McCarthyite.

London, November 22.—The marriage of Mr. John Dillon, M. P., East Mayo, to Miss Elizabeth Mathew, daughter of Mr. Justice Mathew, of the Queen's Bench division of the High Court of Justice, took place this morning in the Oratory at Brompton. The couple will spend their honeymoon in Paris. Rt. Rev. Francis MacCormick, Bishop of Galway and Kilmacduagh, officiated at the ceremony and read a cablegram from the Pope, bestowing the Papal benediction upon Mr. Dillon and his wife.

MORE CHINESE OUTRAGES.

Missions and Missionaries Suffer in Southern Kiang.

Vancouver, November 22.—Chinese advices state that the news reached Nankin on October 28 of another anti-missionary riot having taken place in the southern part of Kiang, and that wholesale destruction of foreign property resulted, as well as the wounding of a Roman Catholic priest. The Methodist and Episcopal churches have missions there.

GASMETRE AND WEIGHTS.

Ottawa, November 22.—Part two of the Annual Report of the Department of Inland Revenue, relating to the inspection of weights and measures and gas, was issued to-day. The total revenue collected during the year from weights and measures was $39,483, as against $38,651 during year ended 30th June, 1894. The expenditure was $71,041, as compared with $73,398 the previous year, showing both an increase in receipts and a decrease in expenditure. The total revenue collected for the inspection of gas and gas metres, was $17,202, as compared with $16,559 the previous year. The expenditure was $20,774 as compared with $21,775, thus showing an increase in receipts and a decrease in expenditures.

MAY LOSE THE CONTRACTS.

London, November 22.—Captain McClure, who was nominally a vice-admiral in the Chinese navy at the time of the naval engagement at the mouth of the Yalu River, will arrive in England next week with a commission from the Chinese Government to place extensive orders for the construction of war-ships. In consequence of the continued struggle between the ship-builders and the engineers, and the possibility of a general lock out, these orders for war-ships may be placed in other than British yards.

BUTCHERED THE WOMEN.

Tampa, Fla., November 22.—Spaniards are charged, in Cuban advices, with killing ten women and a dozen children near Cayopino, Matanzas. The women sneered at them after a defeat, whereupon the soldiers shot and stabbed the lot. Col. Melino, who was in charge, will be court martialed.

JEWS MUST GO.

Yokohama, November 22.—The Jews in Vladivostock, Russian, Siberia, will be expelled by the command of the Russian authorities.

AMEER'S DANDER UP.

London, November 22.—News from Afghanistan states that the Ameer is much annoyed and disappointed that his son Nazrulla Khan did not arrange a permanent representative for the Afghan king at the Court of St. James's. This report states that the monarch has vented his spleen by killing, burning and exiling some of his subjects. It is further stated that condign punishment awaits Nazrulla and Kotwal his tutor or adviser, when they reach Cabul. The rage of the monarch is explained by the fact that he considers the non-establishment of an ambassador in London a blow at his importance and prestige in European eyes. The British authorities, it is understood, informed the Ameer's son that such representation was unnecessary.

BIG BLAZE IN CHICAGO

In a Manufacturing District and Firemen Have Narrow Escapes.

Chicago, November 22.—Fire broke out in a feather and down goods factory at 175 South Canal street yesterday. Firebrands were carried to the adjoining manufacturing buildings by the wind. The buildings extending from 175 Canal street to the corner of Jackson street were entirely destroyed. All the buildings were amply insured. The following firms were burned out: Shober & Carqueville, lithographers, who occupied most of the Excelsior building, at the corner of Jackson street; G. E. Lloyd, stereotype machinery manufacturers; G. E. Lloyd & Co., Cleveland bicycles; Charles Emmerich & Co., feathers and down goods; Schnadig Bros. & Co., ladies' shoes; Abner shirt-waist factory; Gibson's gas fixture factory; Russell Piano Company; Belmer shirt-waist factory; Epworth piano and organ factory; Aeusner Bakery Company; Samuel Lyon, mill supplies; G. F. Blake, steam pump works; Knowles' steam pump works; Derby Cycle Company; Strohss, Eisendrath & Dron, manufacturers of mattresses and quilts. The losses are estimated at $500,000. The fire started from an explosion of chemicals used in cleaning feathers, and the rapidity with which the flames spread in the Emmerich factory, where two hundred women were employed, created a panic in the building. The frightened employes on the upper floors rushed to the elevators, which were small and few, and the stairways were soon jammed with the terror-stricken and fainting females. The cool headed work of the police and firemen, however, prevented a fire horror. The excitement was great among the 200 females of the Banner Waist Company, whose factory adjoined the Emmerich factory. So far as the police could learn, all who were employed in the buildings escaped without serious injury. The conflagration was attended by scenes of intense excitement, and a score of firemen narrowly escaped being killed by the fire and falling walls.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

MONTREAL WHOLESALE MAKERTS.

Star Office, November 22, 1895.

Grain.—The business in progress is unimportant, being limited to car lots of oats at the figures given below. No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat, nominal; rye, nominal; peas, per 60 lbs., in store, 60 to 61c; oats, No. 2 white, per 34 lbs., in store, 31 to 31 1-4c; buckwheat, 40 to 41c; barley feed, per bush., 41 to 42c; barley malting, 52 to 54c.

Flour.—A large trade is still being done in all the different grades of Manitoba flour turned out by the leading millers, who are quoting steady prices, $3.90 being the inside figure accepted by them for strong bakers even in very large lots, while for smaller quantities $4 is being successfully asked. There is, however, flour called strong bakers' being offered here by representatives of some of the smaller Manitoba mills as low as $3.50, but the enquiry so far for such stock has not been of sufficient importance to interfere perceptibly with the old reliable brands, which have earned for themselves such a reputation. There is no change to note either in the demand for or the prices of Ontario descriptions. During the week there have been enquiries from London, Glasgow, Dublin and Bristol, but actual business was limited to one sale of 1000 sacks of strong bakers to Bristol on p.t. Sales to-day included 1 car straight roller in bags at $1.75, 1 car at $1.80 and 1 at $1.85. We quote as follows: Straight roller, $3.50 to $3.60; patent spring, $4 to $4.15; patents, winter, $3.80 to $4.15; strong bakers, $3.50 to $4.

Mill feed—The market is steady at $14 to $14.50 for bran and $15.50 to $16.50 for shorts.

Oatmeal.—For rolled and granulated the regular jobbing range is $3.10 to $3.20, but in some instances these figures are, it is said, being shaded to gain new custom.

Provisions.—The market is without new feature. We quote: Canadian short cut heavy mess pork, $14.50 to $15; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c; lard, compound, per lb., 6 1-4 to 6 1-2c; lard, pure, per lb., in pails, 8 3-4 to 9c; bacon, per lb., 9 to 10c.

Dressed hogs.—With the colder weather the demand has improved, but prices as yet do not advance. Offers from Guelph for car lots at equal to $5.15 have certainly been received here and it is hinted that there has been actual business on spot at $5 or even less.

Cheese.—Cables are scarce and the market here is quiet in consequence. For summer goods at 8 to 8 1-2c there is, however, some enquiry. For finest Ontario 9 3-8c still represents buyers' ideas. The London Grocer, to November 9th, reports: "The c. i. f. quotations for Canadian and American continue at 45s to 48s, and fancy September cheese (of which at the moment little is to be had) has brought 46s to 47s on the spot here, which is again slightly dearer. Finest August make has been disposable at 43s to 45s, summer-made cheese at 38s to 42s, and over-kept stale goods at 30s to 34s per cwt. There has been a pretty satisfactory trade passing, but stocks in the hands of the dealers having been replenished, the enquiries have been neither so numerous nor so strong as they were a short time ago. There is no New Zealand cheese worth speaking of, but Dutch keeps well to the fore both as regards supply and demand, and business has been transacted with facility at firm rates."

Butter.—The demand is generally described as slow and dragging. Shippers being disposed to sell here, jobbers feel no alarm as to prospective light supplies and are not disposed to bid freely for October creamery even when offered at 22c. The few enquirers about to-day are looking for even better bargains than the most timid holders are inclined to offer. Western dairy is held at 14 to 14 1-2c, some sellers wanting 15c for choice. Roll butter and Eastern Townships dairy are unchanged.

Eggs.—The market is without especial feature of any sort. Limed eggs are worth 14c. Culls may be had for 11 1-2 to 12c. For other stock prices range from 15 to 18c according to quality. Really new laid bring fancy prices.

Dressed poultry.—For turkeys the enquiry although naturally less active than on the eve of Thanksgiving, is good and 9c per lb. may still be obtained for choice. Ducks are quoted at 7 1-2 to 8c, geese at 5 to 6c and chickens at 5 1-2 to 7c.

Ashes.—The higher freights consequent upon the approach of the close of navigation have caused a slackening in the demand and prices have declined. Pots, first sorts, are quoted at $3.70 to $3.80; seconds, at $3.60. Pearls are offered at $4.70.

Toronto Produce Market.

Toronto, Ont., November 22.—Market is quiet. Wheat—Easier; cars of red and white quoted west at 68 to 68 1-2c. Manitoba wheat quoted at 64 1-2c for No. 1 hard and 64c for No. 1 northern on track. Flour—Dull; cars of straight roller quoted at $3.15, Toronto freights. Manitoba flour is in good demand here at $4.10 to $4.15 for patents and $3.90 to $3.95 for strong bakers. Mill feed—Is in fair demand; cars of bran sold high freights west at $11. City mills are selling ton lots at $14 for shorts and $13 for bran. Barley—In better demand for malting, cars of bright No. 1 sold east at 44 to 45c, extra choice No. 1 quoted at 46c and No. 2 at 38 to 39c east. Buckwheat—Dull and easy, at 33c outside and buyers quoted 32c. Rye—Steady, at 45c for cars east and north. Oats—Steady at 23c for mixed and 24c for white west. Peas—Easier, cars sold north and west at 51c and 50 1-2c was bid for more.

DUNRAVEN'S SPEECH AT CARDIFF.

EXPLANATION OF BALLAST SHIFTING ON DEFENDER.

'Varsity Wins the Dominion Rugby Championship — Quebec Hockey Club — The Cable Chess Match —Sporting Gossip.

Cardiff, Wales, November 22.—A number of prominent residents of this city last night privately presented to Lord Dunraven a silver model of Valkyrie III. The inscription on the base of the model which was approved by Lord Dunraven, is as follows:

"Presented at Cardiff, November 21, 1895, to the Earl of Dunraven, K.P., by his neighbors and friends in recognition of his gallant efforts to bring home the America's Cup."

Lord Dunraven, replying to the gentlemen who made the presentation, remarked that this occasion was one of the happiest moments of his life, and, proceeding, he said: "I have passed through a very trying experience and I adopted a certain course because it was my plain duty. I fully realized that this course was likely to be widely misunderstood, and that it would entail upon me much annoyance and anxiety. I anticipated that my words would be twisted, my actions misunderstood and all sorts of false motives attributed to me. My anticipations have been amply fulfilled."

Continuing, Lord Dunraven warmly thanked his friends for their action in presenting him with the silver model of Valkyrie, saying that it gave him more gratification than if it were congratulation upon winning the cup.

His Lordship then sketched his early experiences in yachting and said that he regretted the unavoidable absence of Messrs. McCallmont and Robinson, who were equally interested with himself in the little ship laid up in New York. He added: "I greatly wish that they could have been at my side to-night, but it was to their great regret that it was impossible for them to accept the invitation."

After touching upon the important influence upon a sea-faring nation, Lord Dunraven said: "Yacht racing is a glorious game, and like all other games, it must be played in strict accordance with strict rules. I wish to speak quite on the latter point. The America's Cup has been erected as a great international trophy, and the contests for it have gradually acquired in America the dimensions of a really important national event. The excitement runs high, very large sums of money are involved, and vast crowds of spectators throng to the scene. But the care and attention of those responsible for the conduct of these contests has not increased in proportion to the increased interest and the greatness of the issues involved.

"When great masses of people are so interested all the responsibility should be assumed by those in charge. It is not fair upon the public or any of the parties concerned that there should be any question of A's honor or B's integrity, of one man's accuracy or keenness or of another's moral perceptions. Such contests ought to be conducted with the closest official scrutiny.

"Again and again, I tried to impress this upon those managing the races, and I ventured to think that if they had listened a little more seriously it would have been better for all, certainly better for me, and I should never have been compelled to act in a way which was most distasteful to me, and many a hard word and some bitter feeling would have been obviated.

"So far as the violent language and abuse affects myself, I care very little; but so far as the smallest particle of ill-feeling can be created between two people, who, from every natural tie, should be the fastest friends, self-respecting and respecting each other, I deeply deplore it.

"Some highly imaginative people seem bent upon trying to delude themselves and others into the belief that in taking the course it was necessary for me to take, I was actuated by some feeling of animosity against the American people. Others accuse me of being the victim of pique, spite or passion, and the strangest delusion of all is the storm of indignation passing over the United States at my alleged treachery in formulating a new charge from the safe distance of three thousand miles. That astounded me, and I resent it, for it would have been mean and contemptible. I have done nothing of the kind.

"I am unwilling to enter into a discussion of these subjects, more especially as everthing I say or do is by some curious misadventure misunderstood by the press of America. If out of the respect I feel for the American people, and my natural repugnance to say anything which might hurt the sensibilities of personal friends, I remain guarded, my words and actions are misunderstood, and, if I speak out, I am accused of the desire to insult a great nation. To make a speech considered satisfactory by the Armenians, Turks, English, Russians, Chinese and French, by Exeter Hall and British jingoes, is an easy matter compared with the task of talking of the America's cup.

"It is, however, due to you who have paid me the highest possible compliment in expressing confidence in the belief that I acted in a way not unworthy of the honorable traditions of British sport that I should say a few words on the subject of the complaints made that Defender sailed the first race more deeply immersed and consequently at a longer water-line than according to the measurement she was entitled to sail with.

"It has been universally roared by the excited press of America that in publishing the little history of the events of the late races, I for the first time made a new accusation against the owners of the Defender. Yet if they had read my statement instead of going into premature hysteries they would have seen there was no foundation for their charge. I have little hope of converting them; but I can explain the matter to you.

"I determined to print the statement of facts and send it to all the yacht clubs and others interested, because I found a very confused idea of all that occurred was prevailing in yachting circles, and I thought it was due to yachtsmen and, indeed, to the public, that my case, good or bad, should be clearly represented to them.

"I have not made an accusation against anybody. I mentioned a fact which I believed to be true, and which I still believe to be true, namely, that Defender sailed the first race more deeply immersed than when she was measured the day previously, and I gave my reasons for so thinking. Of that fact I have not had and have not the slightest doubt. Whether I am right or wrong is a matter of opinion, and must, I fear, always remain so, seeing that the only possible opportunity of absolutely proving or disproving the justice of my complaint was not utilized.

"One thing certain is that I have made no new accusation. I made a complaint on the morning of September 7. It is absurd to pretend that I was actuated by spite or pique because my vessel was beaten, for I made the complaint, before the first race was started, and I made it to Mr. Latham Fish, a member of the committee, who was also Defender's representative on Valkyrie. I gave him my reasons for my belief in words almost identical with those I used in the pamphlet. I added nothing and kept back nothing in the pamphlet. I asked that both vessels be re-measured immediately, marked externally, and that the committee take charge of them until they were re-measured, that being, surely every man of sense must see, the only possible means for efficient investigation and authoritative decision upon the question.

"The committee was informed of my complaint and request immediately after the race. When I say the committee was informed, I had no notice to that effect; but I put Mr. Fish on board the committee boat for the purpose of laying my complaint before them, and obviously they were informed, for they acceded to a portion of my request, though, most unfortunately, not to all of it.

"Obviously, also, Defender's people must have known all about the matter, as I made a complaint and preferred a request to the committee through the representative of Defender, and, naturally, he must have told them.

"I, myself, in the presence of three or four other gentlemen, had a long talk on the subject with the official measurer of the New York Yacht Club. There was no concealment in the matter. The official measurer, all the people belonging to Valkyrie, all those on Defender and the committee knew about my complaint and yet the attempt is now made to prejudice me in the eyes of two countries by accusing me of making from the security of my home an entirely new charge which I did not dare to make on the other side of the Atlantic and a charge stigmatized as a most gross and deliberate insult.

"Well, if it is an insult now, it was equally an insult when it was made, and I cannot but think that this violent hurricane of indignation would have carried more conviction had it burst over my devoted head at the time the complaint was made, while I was in America, and could have stood up for myself. It seems a little out of date now.

"I have been criticized here at home, too, and it has been said, 'Though you did make a complaint six weeks ago, the matter had dropped out of sight. Why revive it now?'

"Now, I quite agree that it might be better to let the matter drop. I would never have alluded to it. I expressly say so in the pamphlet. There is no necessity for mentioning it. It did not constitute my reason for withdrawing from the contest, and I should not have alluded to the water line complaint if I could have avoided it; but I could not. I published the facts here, because the committee reported upon them to the New York Athletic Club, and the club published the report in New York. Surely under the circumstances I was bound to make my position clear.

"Why those interested in Defender did not insist that some steps be taken to prove the groundlessness of my complaint, I do not know. Why, the committee did not take the necessary steps I cannot tell. The fact remains that the necessary steps were not taken. I could do nothing to justify my complaint. I could not prove my case. It could only be proved by the committee and the committee, having neglected to secure proof, one way or the other, there was nothing left for me to do.

"I had no object in saying anything more on a matter which had become impossible of proof, and as nothing further was said by the Defender Committee, I also held my peace. There was no possibility of my giving the matter greater publicity than I did in preferring a complaint to the committee. No object was to be gained thereby and I did not wish to allude further to a most distasteful subject.

"As a matter of fact I believe the subject would not be publicly mentioned in New York and I took measures to prevent its publicity being mentioned here. But to my surprise the committee reported upon it to the New York Yacht Club on October 24, and the club gave the report to the public press on the following day. Reading the facts as they are set out in that report, anyone would suppose that my complaint was disproved by the result of the remeasurement, though, obviously, that was not the case, and I could not by silence appear to countenance such an erroneous conclusion. The best, fairest and most straightforward course to pursue was, in my judgment, to publish the actual facts and let the people form what opinion they chose. The facts were that I complained that Defender was exceeding her measured length, and I asked for the remeasurement of both vessels. I also requested both vessels be taken charge of by the committee until remeasured, and that the measurement be made, if possible, the same day, and that all-important part of my request was ignored. All-important because, obviously, it would leave the vessels alone to their own devices for twenty-four hours, and then to measure them proves absolutely nothing.

"I can understand men saying I had no right to make a complaint against Defender. This is to say, I ought to have trusted to the absolute accuracy and integrity of men of whom I know nothing, and have disbelieved the evidence of my own senses, backed by the opinion of many other people capable of judging.

"I don't think so; but that is a matter of opinion. But it is absurd to contend that my complaint was disproved and profoundly erroneous, and say that I preferred a new charge.

"Granting that under any circumstances an owner is justified in making such a complaint, the only fair criticism of my action which I have heard is that I ought to have taken more vigorous action.

"It has been said that I should have refused to start in the first race until the vessels were re-measured and have broken off the contest altogether. I was not justified, in my opinion, in taking so serious a step. The race was about to be started; some 60,000 people were out on some 200 steamers, and I should have had to get my boat out, pull aboard the committee vessel, refuse to start and should have been accused by the public and press of unwillingness to sail because the weather was not suited to me, too much sea or too little wind, and a thousand things, and certainly deliberate rudeness toward a great multitude of people who had paid to see the race. And, if the committee had refused to postpone the race, as I think they would have been perfectly justified in doing, and said they would have the vessels measured afterwards, what a silly position I should have been in! And if they considered it sufficient to act precisely in the way they did act, and merely ordered the vessels to be re-measured the next day, what a position I should have been in then.

"You must clearly understand that I could do nothing myself to prove the justice of my complaints. The committee alone had the means and power, and it was possibly by measurement under circumstances precluding the possibility of altering of the load water line length. Nothing was to be gained by refusing to start. My object would have been entirely attained had the vessels been taken charge of and re-measured after the races, as before.

"Bear in mind, also, that I gained the great point that the vessels were to be odd, plainly and visibly marked externally.

"Now, gentlemen, is it not strange that, if my complaint can legitimately bear the heinous complexion now placed upon it, no indignation was expressed when it was made in September? Why was it not commented upon in October, when the New York Yacht Club published my complaint in the World?

"Why does this storm of indignation arise when I mention facts, as surely I have the right to do?

"I cannot grasp the situation. The managing owner of Defender, in a letter read at a meeting of the New York Yacht Club on Monday, assumed full responsibility. He says he is standing before the world solemnly charged by me with a most base offence, and invokes vindication of the honor of the owners of Defender, the New York Yacht Club and the American people.

"I am sorry this attitude was adopted, and I strongly demur to being credited with chargings I have not made. I greatly deprecate the introduction of the personal element into the enquiry. As to the fact, I am afraid that, with the best intentions, the New York Yacht Club enquiry, after the lapse of two months, cannot possibly arrive at a satisfactory result.

"As I have already offered, I will at any convenience to myself do the best to assist the club, even if it involves visiting America. The club will do its utmost to sift the matter thoroughly and impartially. That is quite certain.

"But as, after all, my bona fides are of some little importance to me, I think it was perhaps superfluous to endeavor in eloquent language to persuade the club that the honor of the Defender syndicate, of the club and of the whole country depended upon the nature of their decision."

Proceeding to apologize for occupying so much time on a subject 'Which, in one sense, is very immaterial, because my ultimate withdrawal was solely on account of the scandalous overcrowding of the course," Lord Dunraven added: "I wanted to clear my own position that I made a new complaint or accusation of any kind. I would never have alluded to the distasteful subject, but the committee compelled me to do so by publicly reporting to the New York Yacht Club.

"It is the irony of fate that makes the instrument of all this fuss. I have devoted much time and thought, have written volumes and spent a great deal more than I can afford in trying to resuscitate the America's cup from the limbo into which it has fallen.

"I regard yacht racing as the highest form of sport, and I thought that international racing and friendly rivalry would act as a wholesome stimulus to the best of all pastimes. But now the hope is expressed in America that no challenge may ever be received from any yacht club of which I am a member. I shall have to take my name off a considerable number of clubs.

"I am also accused of desiring to insult the American nation. My ideas are not so large or ambitious. The contract is ever so much too big for me. I don't intend to be sentimental, but, gentlemen, is it not preposterously absurd that, after my long and close connections with America, and the kindness and hospitality I have experienced at their hands, I could possibly desire to insult them? Or, that after immense trouble and expenses, I should withdraw from a contest unless I felt absolutely compelled to do so?

"I hope I can take a licking as well as any man, provided it is a fair one."

Lord Dunraven then gave a history of his racing experiences, after which he said:

"I would have admitted that my ship was beaten had she been beaten on her merits. But fair conditions and a fair field are necessary to determine that question. I withdrew because I was certain it was right as an individual and my duty as sailing representative.

"I did my level best to avoid friction or annoyance to anyone, and in my anxiety I dare say I somewhat weakened my own case. If I have suffered by my natural anxiety to avoid giving offence to people for whom I entertain only feelings of respect and affection, I do not regret it, but the good opinion of those among whom I live is very precious to me.

"I cannot tell you how deeply I am touched by your expression of sympathy and confidence. The duty I had to do in America was perfectly plain; but it was an inexpressibly distasteful one.

"The redeeming feature, the bright lining to a very dark cloud, was the confidence reposed on me by those whose opinion I most value. I can never sufficiently thank you for this beautiful work of art. You can only realize what I wish I had the power to express by putting yourselves in my place."

The hall where the presentation of the silver model of Valkyrie took place, was decorated with flowers and photographs of Valkyrie and Defender. Upon the arrival of Lord Dunraven and his daughters from Dunraven Castle, they were met by a large procession representing the various public bodies of the town. They were accorded the heartiest reception. Fully 250 guests were in attendance and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed at the banquet.

London, November 22.—The Morning Post, in an editorial, says: "It is difficult to follow the indignation of Mr. Iselin, who managed Defender for the American yachting syndicate. As Lord Dunraven's first complaint about the immersion of Defender was disregarded, he can hardly be blamed. Whether he was wise in renewing a charge which he admits it is impossible to verify, is a matter he must settle for himself. It is questionable whether Mr. Iselin has acted discreetly in saddling on himself an accusation that has not been made. To call in the assistance of the Royal Yacht Club, as has been suggested, is a proposition which cannot be entertained. Both Lord Dunraven and Mr. Iselin may rest assured that the committee appointed to conduct the investigation will do them justice."

The Morning Post will say: "It was Lord Dunraven's duty, last night, either to withdraw or substantiate his charge. He did neither. He merely reiterated his suspicions."

A Partial Explanation from New York.

New York, November 22.—The fact that more lead was put on the Defender just before she was measured, on September 6, to make up for the interior fittings, which had been used on her during the summer, was not generally known to yachtsmen, yet this was done, and no secret was made of it. The fittings that that were taken out weighed 7000 lbs. After the yachts had been measured the lead that was to take the place of the fittings had to be cut in sizes to fit places made for it under the cabin. At first the men cut the pigs of lead on the Defender's deck, but Mr. Iselin and Capt. Haff were afraid the deck was not strong enough to stand the strain, so the work was finished on the Hattie Palmer. This is what those on the Valkyrie saw and what Lord Dunraven refers to in his statement.

In an interview on the subject, to-day, John Hyslop, the measurer of the New York Yacht Club, said: "The placing of the lead on board before the yacht was measured was a perfectly proper proceeding and my attention was called to it when I went on board the Defender, by Mr. Iselin. When the Defender was measured on August 16, before the first trial race, her water line length was 88.85 feet. On September 6, she measured 88.45 feet. The difference is accounted for by taking some lead off the keel and by the hollow steel boom and gaff, in place of the wooden ones. This made a difference in the racing length of Defender of three-fourths of an inch. When re-measured, after the first cup race, on Sunday, September 8, the water-line length of the Defender was one sixteenth of an inch longer—that is her racing length. It was very remarkable that it was possible to get two measurements as close as that. The first time the Defender was measured she had forty-eight men on board; on each of the other occasions there were fifty.

Capt. Jos. Parker, who had charge of the Valkyrie's tender, the City of Bridgeport, said: "On the morning of September 7, the day of the first race, as far as I could see, the Defender floated just as she did when she was measured. I did not notice any difference in her water-line length, nor did I hear any conversation, or argument, on the question on board the British boat. I do not believe any fraud was perpetrated."

A local paper says: "It was rumored to-day that the committee appointed by the New York Yacht Club Monday night to investigate Dunraven's charge would secure some interesting testimony when it came to question a certain unnamed official connected with the dry dock at the Erie Basin. According to the report, this official tells a story that gives at least a slight basis for Dunraven's charges, though had he taken the trouble to investigate more thoroughly, it is said, he would have learned that there was nothing irregular in connection with the handling of the Defender. The official referred to is quoted as saying that several hours before the Defender was measured the first time, two and a half tons of pig lead, which had been ordered a month before, was placed on the deck of the boat in the presence of Designer Watson. It is claimed that not only Mr. Watson, but Vice-Commodore Glennie, Dunraven's representative, was aware of this, and saw the lead afterwards stowed away in the Defender's hold. It is also reported, in connection with the investigation of the charges, that Ogden Goelet and J. Malcolm Forbes are also on the committee that will investigate the charges, though their names have been previously withheld from the public. No one at the quarters of the New York Yacht Club last night would say anything about htese reports one way or the other.

Sir George Newnes May Challenge.

London, November 22.—A Paris despatch to the Globe gives what purports to be a report of an interview with Sir George Newnes who was reported to have decided to challenge for the America's Cup. Replying to the question whether he would issue a challenge or not, Sir George is represented as saying that it was possible and even probable that he would do so. Before making his decision he would await the outcome of the present enquiry growing out of the last race for the cup. If Lord Dunraven should then decide not to challenge again Sir George said he himself would challenge if he received the support of the leading British yachtsmen in the venture.

A Model Yacht.

The model yacht, "Water Witch," (now in the window of the Star) was designed, built and rigged by a boy of 15 years. He has tried its sailing qualities and finds them surpass his greatest expectations.

The work, extending over a period of six weeks, was done after the lessons for school were completed and necessarily took some time.

The work on the rigging took more time than the actual building of the hull as there are two suits of sails, also spars for each.

Bubear Ahead of Hanlan.

Galveston, Texas, November 22.—The single scull race yesterday on Dickinson Bayou, was witnessed by the largest crowd that has yet attended the races. A stiff breeze was blowing down the course, which made the return very difficult. Both men got away at 2.15 p.m., on a false signal. They backed up for a fresh start, and then got away together at a good gait, rowing with the wind. The turning stakes were reached in 2.17. With the wind dead against them, they started on the return, rowing close inshore, and reached the mile, pulling twenty-seven strokes a minute. Bubear leading by half a boat length. Hanlan fouled the buoy, but went after Bubear, who now led by a length. Both men were level on the turn, rowing riggers and riggers for the first quarter. Here Bubear spurted, but Hanlan was right after him. Bubear struck a red-hot pace, and fifty yards from the line made another spurt, coming in ahead of Hanlan by half a length. The time was 10.17. This gives Bubear two out of the three heats already contested.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

Yesterday's Great Match.

The football championship of Canada goes to Ontario after all. The boys in the red and black jerseys fought hard to retain it, but the heavy rush line of 'Varsity and the perfected system of signals used by the college men was altogether too much for them, and they were obliged to retire beaten by a score of 20 to 5.

In spite of the disagreeable weather, fully 3,500 spectators gathered to see the final. The fair sex was well represented, its members wrapping themselves in rugs, and in the interest of the game, and remaining totally oblivious to the biting nor'wester which made even the players shiver.

The football prophet was "away off." Before the match started he predicted confidently that 'Varsity "would be in it," but ten minutes after the ball was started, he was extremely glad that he had confined himself to prophecies, and had done nothing in the betting line, for although Montreal, with their usual luck, won the toss, and played with the raging gale at their backs, and the sun glaring full into their opponents eyes, 'Varsity held them down from the very moment the ball was kicked off.

Six weeks ago no one knew much about Toronto's 'Varsity team; they were nearly all novices at the game, a good many of them being imported from the ranks of the Association eleven, but with such men as MacDougall and Belanger of the famous Ottawa College team to train them, they speedily worked up to a high standard, and to-day they are undoubtedly as fine an aggregation as anyone could wish to see play the game.

There is, however, nothing to be said against Montreal. Its fifteen has been frequently changed since the beginning of the season, and the men have not had the opportunities for what may be termed "indoor training," enjoyed by the 'Varsity boys. Nevertheless, our fifteen representatives played a fine uphill game, and fought hard, from start to finish. Taken on the whole, the members of the team did better work than they did against Ottawa City and College but their opponents were in an altogether different class to the men beaten last Saturday. The manner in which the boys struggled in the second half, when wind and sun were against them, was remarkable, and worthy of all credit. That inspiring cry of Jack Savage, "Tear 'em up, boys," was nobly responded to, and now and again the heavy scrimmage of the visitors was completely ripped up. Talking of inspiring cries, how's this: 'Double eight, sixty-four, three five, 'Varsity?" This was one of MacDougall's favorite shouts, and it appeared to tell almost every time, until Savage came back one better with "Tear 'em up, two dollars," when Montreal would rally, and the spell was broken.

Both Savage and MacDougall deserve more than a word of praise for the manner in which they captained their respective teams. The former had few opportunities to repeat the splendid runs made last Saturday, but, nevertheless, he put up a fine game and kept his men well up to the mark. As for the plucky wing man who looked after the 'Varsity fifteen, he was a host in himself. His clever tactics when the ball went into touch were a never-end surprise to his opponents, and his voice could be heard from the start of the game to the finish, urging his men to rally and push things along.

Other men who deserved noticing were Clifford Jack—who was, however, very closely watched by the other side; Joe Whyte, who fought on to the bitter end; Hartland MacDougall, who has never shown up better at back; and Charlie Armstrong, whose play on the wing has steadily improved since the beginning of the season.

For 'Varsity, while every man was playing for all he was worth, Kingstone; Hobbs, whose work at quarter was magnificent, and Norris, an old Association player, were especially en evidence.

Although the game was exciting in the extreme, there was no rough play on either side, unless, perhaps, Caldwell was a little too boisterous with Massey.

Mr. W. Donahue, of McGill, was a fair and also a prompt referee, whose decisions gave satisfaction to both sides, and Mr. Morin, of Osgoode Hall, who officiated as umpire, was also impartial and quick to note anything which required correcting. The other officials were: Messrs. W. Irving and F. E. L. Johnstone, touch judges; Messrs. Todd and Drum, goal judges, and Messrs. V. Evelyn Mitchell and P. H. Sanderson, timekeepers.

The teams lined up as follows:

Montreal.		Varsity.
H. MacDougall	Back	Belanger
R. MacDougall	Half-backs	Norris
Savage		Consell
Fry		Kingstone
Jack	Quarter-back	Hobbs
Browne	Scrimmage	McCallum
Whyte		Malloch
Baptist		Burwash
Armstrong		White
Branch		Moss
Massey		Caldwell
G. James	Wings	Elliott
E. James		Bradley
Godwin		McKenzie
Prissick		McDougall

Although it was with difficulty that the ball could be kept from rolling until 'Varsity kicked off, yet when once the leather started it was taken clear down into the Montreal territory. Scrimmage succeeded scrimmage, McDougall and his men having decidedly the best of the exchanges. At last, however, Hobbs was caught in the act of handing out the ball, and Montreal got a free kick. The ball went high with the wind, and Joe Whyte getting underneath it dribbled well over the half line. Shortly afterwards, Hartland MacDougall kicked over 'Varsity's goal line, but Consell was on hand, and the leather went back again. Then the College boys got a free kick for the ball being handed out, but Bob MacDougall returned, and so the game continued, 'Varsity fighting tooth, nail, head and heels for every inch of ground. At last Montreal obtained another free kick for a hand-out, and Erny Fry put it so well out of reach of the backs, that the Montreal forwards were right on him when Belanger got possession, and he was obliged to rouge.

Montreal 1; 'Varsity 0.

At the beginning of the second half Hartland MacDougall made a couple of fine runs, but Belanger saved each time. 'Varsity came down with a rush, and Fry was obliged to kick into touch, although the ball was behind the goal line.

'Varsity 1; Montreal 1.

Following this success, Hartland MacDougall looked once more like getting across, but he was grandly tackled and the ball went to Malloch, who managed to cross the Montreal goal line, but was unable to touch down before he was securely held.

'Varsity 5; Montreal 1.

This was the beginning of the end, for in the next two or three minutes Kingstone and MacDougall both got over the line, and in each case the wind helped the ball over the bar, the score rising to:

'Varsity 17, Montreal 1.

Then, however, Savage started in for one of his runs, but, being too closely watched, passed to Charlie Armstrong, and the latter dodging Hobbs and Norris, got over the whitewash, although his feet were within an inch of touch. Ernie Fry made the attempt against a strong wind, but at first it looked almost as though he had succeeded. The ball sailed straight for the cross-bar, but just within a foot of it, the gale strengthened, and it was blown back into the field.

'Varsity 17, Montreal 5.

Nothing more of importance occurred, although the wind, keeping the ball well in Montreal's 25, the wearers of the red and blue were forced to rouge twice in order to save themselves, and as a touch in goal also went against them, they left the field beaten, as above stated, by twenty points to five.

In the evening the rival teams were entertained at dinner in the Queen's Hotel by the officers of the Quebec Rugby Union.

A St. John Game.

Dalhousie defeated the St. John's team at St. John, N. B., yesterday at football 3 to 0. The ground was almost a lake, owing to heavy rains. B. Payfield, one of the Rothesay, N.B., Collegiate football team had his collar bone broken while playing yesterday against the Fredericton High School.

In Touch.

That 'Varsity won the championship was learned with pleasure by the majority of football enthusiasts at Ottawa. Ottawa has three men on the 'Varsity team—J. McDougall and Belanger, of the Ottawa College team of last year, and R. Bradley, son of a prominent citizen.

Money on the Princeton-Yale match is being wagered at 5 to 4 on Yale.

Princeton's captain, Mr. Lea, will not play to-morrow.

ATHLETICS.

English Records Broken.

Despite the thorough trouncing given England's great amateur athletes on this side of the ocean this year, those at home have kept hammering away at records with signal success. The most marvellous performer of the year on Britain's cinder paths is, perhaps, W. J. Sturgess, a member of the Polytechnic Harriers and walking champion of England. Satisfied that he could accomplish the feat to cover eight miles within the hour, square heel and toe, the London Athletic Club afforded him the opportunity at its autumn games at Stamford Bridge, recently, by announcing a handicap. The result was that Sturgess not only made the performance, but covered 270 yards more before the time expired. The previous amateur best was by Harry Curtis, 7 miles 1487 yards 2 feet, and the best English professional record is 8 miles 172 yards. John Meagher, an American professional, covered 8 miles 302 yards in 1882.

Eleven competed with Sturgess, all being conceded liberal starts, in order to draw him out as much as possible. At four miles, he had them all beaten, and set his own pace to the finish. His fractional time follows:

Distance.	Min.	Sec.	Distance.	Min.	Sec.
1 mile	6	59 3-4	5 miles	36	27
2 miles	11	23 1-5	6 miles	43	58 3-4
3 miles	21	4	7 miles	51	27
4 miles	29	1 3-4	8 miles	58	55

After the third mile, the figures are the best on record for an amateur. Sturgess astonished everybody by racing Harry Curtis, English champion since 1890, completely off his legs for this year's title. His style is said to be entirely above question. Sturgess also holds English records from one to three miles.

The best new record made by Englishmen are the following: Dawner, 120 yards, 0.11 4-5; same man, 200 yards, 0.19 4-5; same man, 300 yards, 0.31 2-5; Bredin, 440 yards, 0.48 1-2; same man, 500 yards, 0.58 1-5; Bacon, mile, 4.17; Shaw, hurdles on turf, 0.15 4-5; Ryan, high jump, 6 ft. 4 1-2 in.

CHESS.

The Cable Chess Match.

New York, November 22.—The Brooklyn Chess Club has received an interesting letter from the British Chess Club, of London, England, formally accepting the challenge to a chess match by cable. Several changes are suggested which do not entirely meet with the approval of the committee, but it has been decided to request Harry N. Pillsbury to try to fix up the differences, while in London, on his way to St. Petersburg. Mr. Pillsbury sailed Wednesday, and will spend time enough in England to make the arrangements if the British players are tractable. The letter is as follows:

British Chess Club,
37 King street, Covent Garden.
W. M. de Visser, Secretary Brooklyn Chess Club:

Dear Sir,—Sir George Newnes has submitted to the committee of this club the letters addressed to him by your President, and, in particular, the letters dated the 23rd and 25th ult., and the draft of the proposed rules enclosed in the former.

I am instructed by the committee to inform you that the challenge contained in the letters referred to is accepted, subject to the details and conditions of the match being arranged.

They desire to express their sense of the munificent and sportsmanlike offer of a challenge cup, and await the arrival of the draft of the proposed deed of gift with much interest. They would suggest that it should be so framed that a free hand should be left to the clubs concerned to vary from time to time the conditions of the contest, as experience and circumstances may show to be desirable.

I enclosed proposed rules of play. The only substantial variations from your draft are briefly as follows:

1. We prefer to play a larger number than eight on a side, and having in mind the difficulties attending the transmission of the moves, although a still larger number would doubtless render the match much more thoroughly representative, we suggest that the number be fixed at ten a side.

2. We suggest that natives only of our respective countries should play as previously intimated.

3. The pairing not to be by lot, but as in our previous match, British Chess Club vs. Manhattan Chess Club:

4. Consultations, etc., to be forbidden, as in the last mentioned match.

Yours faithfully,
GREGORY W. BYRNE,
Hon. Secretary.

London, November 8, 1895.

Brooklyn wants the teams to be made up of citizens and not to be limited to native-born players. On this point they are rather determined, as they desire William Steinitz and Emanuel Lasker to play on the opposing teams.

CURLING.

Curling at Toronto.

[Special to the Star.]

Toronto, November 22.—Friendly curling matches were played at the Prospect Park and Granite Rinks yesterday afternoon. The ice was thin, but nevertheless hard. This makes a record for many years and beats that of last season by about a month.

Gossip.

The third night's play in the tournament between Ives and Gallagher proved to be the most interesting of the week. Gallagher still leads, but Ives, with his great work, pulled his lead down 137 points.

The final game of chess for the championship of the Manhattan Chess Club, was won by Baird, who beat Jasnogrodsky. The eighth game of the chess match between Showalter and Lipschutz was won by the former, after 41 moves. The score not stands: Showalter, 3; Lipschutz, 3; drawn, 2.

Land and Water says: "We hear that Mr. Rose's order for a big cutter, with which he intended to challenge for the America's Cup, has been withdrawn. Messrs. Fay have hauled up Mr. Rose's cutter for alterations, and work on the Britannia and Ailsa is also being done by the firm. The three big cutters, it is expected, will be raced at the Riviera regattas."

At the M. A. A. A. alleys last evening, Mr. W. T. Baillie broke the single string record of 268 held by Mr. Jas. Baird, scoring 275. He also broke his own three-string record of 654, bowling 667, an average of 223 1-3.

The annual concert and ball of the Mohawk Football Club will be held in the Temple Hall, Dorchester street, Friday evening, December 6.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. A man who spends two thirds of his time in business, and one third of his time being sick, cannot be expected to accomplish more than two-thirds as much as the man who attends to business all the time. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. It isn't considered sickness by most people, but it is just the same. It is serious sickness, because it causes almost all of the ill health of mankind. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are perfectly simple—perfectly safe. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently. You don't have to keep on taking them. You don't acquire a "pellet habit." Take them regularly for a while, and you are cured permanently. After that, take them only when you find yourself suffering from indigestion. There are many medicines offered for the same purpose on which druggists make a bigger profit. For this reason some druggists would rather sell the other things. If your own health is of more importance to you than the druggist's prosperity, you will insist on having what you ask for.

CHAPTER XXVIII.—(CONTINUED.)

This was said more or less as a feeler, but Lisbeth did not rise, as he thought she would. She simply remarked very quietly that her home duties were pretty heavy, and had been somewhat neglected of late. She had quite recovered her composure, and the traces of tears had disappeared from her beautiful face. Dr. Watson looked up at her with much interest, and thought how proud he should be if he could win her for a wife. For the little doctor, though well in the forties, was not married, and many of his patients told him that a doctor without a wife was an anomaly not to be tolerated. Whether they would be very tolerant if Lisbeth Glendinning became Mrs. Watson he did not consider. He himself was ready to accept the convict father, but the revelation about Lisa had given him a subject for reflection. He must seek to unravel the mystery a little more definitely before he spoke, and it was well, perhaps, as Lisbeth had enough to vex her without a proposal from the little doctor to add to her worries.

As it was, he grasped her hand, with a friendly pressure that a little alarmed her, and there was a deeper flush than usual on her cheek as she accompanied him to the porch where Jim Glendinning was still sitting.

The doctor said a few cheery words to him, once more commended the Dunravens to Lisbeth's judicious persuasions, got into his trap, and was driven off, looking back as he did so to lift his hat and smile to the beautiful woman who had awakened such a tender chord in his heart.

She remained very still until the doctor was out of sight, and then she heaved a sigh. Perhaps she was thinking what might have been if everything were slightly different.

"The thing that might have been
Is called and questioned why it hath not been
And, can it give good reason, it is set
Beside the actual, and reckoned in
To fill the empty gaps of life."

Yes, she would have been a happy woman as Dr. Watson's wife. But that could never be now. She remained very still, thinking about it for so long that Jim Glendinning, whose presence she had forgotten, was surprised that she, who was always on the move, should be so quiet.

He took his pipe out of his mouth and looked up at her, still she did not heed him, so he pulled her dress. In a moment she set aside her dreams and returned to the actual. She leant over the man, aged and enfeebled before his time, and kissed him on the brow. Lisbeth had grown very tender to her father of late. Whatever his transgressions in the past, she felt that he had been most unjustly dealt with, and that no amount of petting and gentleness could recompence the fearful sufferings he had undergone. Owing chiefly to her good nursing and loving care, Jim Glendinning had been much better of late, and there were times when fitful gleams of intelligence would come to him, as when a few rays of sunshine fall athwart the darkness of a winter's day.

To-day his brain was clearer than it had been for sometime.

"Am I to stay here always, Lisbeth? When am I going home?"

"Is not this your home, dear? Where else would you be?"

"There's that City Road place. It's such awhile since I was there."

"Oh, that's all right, father. Don't you worry about that. Are you not happy here with me?"

"Ay, girl, I think so—but there's rents."

She did not tell him that all the lodgers had decamped when they heard he was arrested, saying they would not lodge with a murderer.

But she patted him fondly on the cheek.

"Trust Lisbeth, dear old man, what money comes from that place no one shall have but you."

There was a sale of the furniture going on that very day, and the house had been let unfurnished. This Jim Glendinning would have known if he had remembered what passed from one day to another, for the lawyer could not act without seeing him, and had been down to the cottage and received his consent in writing.

But Jim had forgotten all about it, and it was by no means the first, or would it be the last time, that he would ask to go to his own house in the City Road.

Not but that he was perfectly happy with Lisbeth, but he seemed surprised at being there, surprised at the tender care she took of him and the many attentions he received.

Of course he would trust her; he told her so now as he held up his face for the kiss he knew full well he would receive.

Then a cloud of darkness seemed to come over him. "If I only knew," he said, "if I only knew."

And the perturbed mind seemed to be busy searching out something that was wholly incomprehensible.

"Knew what, dear?" and Lisbeth knelt down beside him, laying one hand on his shoulder and the other on his knee.

"Whether I really did kill that man or not."

"No, dear, a thousand times no, you did not."

And a shiver of horror passed over Lisbeth, as it was brought so forcibly home to her how much that terrible trial had cost him.

"But, Lisbeth, they said I murdered him, else why did they put me in prison?"

"They discovered you did not, dear, that is why they let you out and sent you home to be my good old father and let me take care of you."

"Yes, that was kind, very kind. And so you do not mind letting me stop here for a little while till——"

"Till what?"

"Well, I don't know what will happen. Perhaps they will come and take me up again, but you will not let me go, Lisbeth, will you?"

"You shall never leave me again so long as we are both alive."

And scalding tears fell from Lisbeth's eyes on to the man's hand as it lay beside hers on his knees.

"Don't cry, Lisbeth, don't cry, I won't be tiresome. I'll be very good and give you as little trouble as I can."

She did not reply in words, her heart was too full to speak, but she gave him an affectionate hug, which was, perhaps, more eloquent than anything she could have said.

And then she returned to the culinary duties she had too long neglected, wondering, while she busied herself among her pots and pans, whether life would go on more steadily if the Dunraven's were to go abroad for a time and the misery of those dreary interviews with Sir Clement were thus removed.

Lucky for Lisbeth, as for many another heavily-weighted one, that she was no weather prophet, and did not, therefore, know into which quarter the wind was likely to veer, or what depressions the storm clouds were predicting.

CHAPTER XXIX.

A CLOSE SHAVE.

The Coleshill railway station was in an unusual state of fuss and flutter. An up-train and a down-train were in at the same time, owing to a slight accident having taken place, and causing a block on the line farther on. Consequently the couple of porters, who were quite enough for ordinary requirements, found themselves perfectly inadequate to cope with the incoming and outgoing travellers and their luggage, especially as among the latter were Sir Clement and Lady Gertrude Dunraven, starting for the foreign tour which had been so strongly urged both by Dr. Watson and Lisbeth Glendinning. At first it had been a difficult matter to move Lady Gertrude away from the little baby's grave, but after much persuasion, and telling her it was for Sir Clement's sake, she consented to go.

Having done so, womanlike, she was in an immense hurry to be off, and, as she said, get away from a place where, since the day she had been brought home on account of Sir Louis' death, even before her honeymoon had commenced, there had been nothing but misery and sorrow.

All the fuss and commotion at the station did not serve to raise Lady Gertrude's spirits.

"An accident," she said; "always trouble wherever we go; it really is most strange," and she began to cry, in fact she would have broken down altogether had not Lisbeth's cheery tones kept her up.

Lisbeth and Sir Miles Berkeley had come to the station to see them off, in fact, Sir Miles intended to do even more, for he said he would accompany them to London and start them next day by the Dover express.

"Will you not come, too?" Lady Gertrude had asked. "It will be so good for Clem to have you."

But Sir Miles replied that he had some business to attend to, later on he would come, he could not get away just yet.

The fact was that at last he had had a conversation with Sir Clement about Elvira Delane's letter, and they had decided that it would be better for Sir Clement to find out how the land lay, and send him word as to Elvira's mood before he put in an appearance. He might lose all his chance by following her up too closely.

At last all the luggage was in the van, and the train moved slowly out of the station, as Lisbeth, the tears in her eyes, stood alone watching.

She was glad they had gone away for a while; it was a relief in many ways, yet at the same time she could not help regretting the departure, and wondering when, or if ever, the threads of their lives would be re-united.

Then she went slowly up the steps in order to cross the line, the town being at the back of the down station. On the platform she found quite a crowd of people, many of them acquaintances, for it was market-day in Coleshill, and all the neighborhood round was more or less on the alert.

ECONOMY AT QUEBEC.

The members of the Quebec Legislature will not reduce their own salaries—not they. They will not cut off the Legislative Council; they will not save the cost of a Minister who has practically nothing to do. They are economists with an excessively large E; but they have no faith in that humdrum sort of economy which begins at home. No set of men could talk more nobly about the high need of retrenchment. It is plain enough that the members of the Legislature all enjoy a realizing sense of the sad financial condition of the Province. We know it because they say so themselves. They could weep for us—yea, and will. They would do anything to s... us, except stop pocketting our money.

No one can doubt that it is with the profoundest regret that our Provincial rulers lay direct taxes on the city of Montreal. They would far rather tax Toronto or Timbuctoo, if such a course were only constitutional. But their powers are limited. They must tax Montreal or reduce their own salaries and inaugurate an era of rigid entrenchment—an alternative to drive most politicians into earning an honest living. It is hard for them to reduce any "vote." It wounds them to disappoint those who find pleasure in getting public money, and it distresses them to lose votes. But they can on occasion screw up their courage to the pitch of taking a few dollars off votes for the administration of justice and other public services. This they do because they are far-famed economists, and it is a good thing for an economist to economize a bit sometimes. But whatever they may be able to accomplish in this way, they cannot chip so much as a twenty-cent piece off their own salaries. That would be running the principle of economy into the ground. Retrenchment is a capital policy on the hustings, but it is a poor thing to mouth about when the indemnity of "honorable members" is under discussion. Ontario pays her legislators $600; New Brunswick pays $300, and this debt-burdened, loan-bled province pays $8.0.

THE FAST LINE AGAIN.

It is at last plain beyond a peradventure that Mr. Chamberlain's Imperial programme includes the self-governing colonies. A promised annual subsidy of £75,000 for a fast steamship service between Canada and Great Britain is a fairly strong guarantee of good faith. Another evidence of this intention is seen in the vigor with which the Colonial Secretary has taken up the Pacific cable scheme calling for a joint Commission from Canada, Australia and Britain to meet as soon as possible to look into the matter authoritatively.

This undoubtedly will infuse new life into the project for a better steamship service between Canada and Great Britain. When the Imperial Government puts a financial shoulder to the wheel, progress is very likely to be made. It now behooves our Government to see that it is sane progress. A steamship line from Canada has certain advantages and disadvantages that other lines are without. These should be fully and frankly understood and recognized; and no bull-headed attempt made to slavishly copy the methods that do well enough under other conditions. There is a difference between a route sheltered for part of the way in river and gulf and one that lies wholly in the open ocean. If conditions be recognized, however, and if the Government be careful to take counsel with the experienced steamship men who know the route, there ought to be no difficulty in providing Canada with a first-class Atlantic service, now that the Imperial Government with its inexhaustible resources is behind the project. Now that there is a new deal for the Atlantic service, no secret manipulation of the negotiation will be endorsed. If there is not an open above board arrangement there can be no inference creditable to the ministers responsible for the negotiations. The old shippers of Canada who have been identified with its progress should not be forgotten.

According to some of the New York papers, the investigation into the charges of Lord Dunraven, which in advance are dubbed "preposterous," will actually be a trial of Lord Dunraven himself. The matter is apparently settled, so far as these journalistic yachtsmen are concerned, for it is already asserted that "nobody believes the charge," that "it is confessed that there is an utter absence of evidence to sustain it," and that "public attention has already become fixed upon the obligation of the British nation and the Royal Yacht Squadron to do something." At this distance it seems a little premature to pass sentence on a complainant in a case before the court opens.

OUR NATIONAL RESOURCES.

Third of the Series of Y. M. C. A. Lectures Delivered by Dr. F. D. Adams.

The third of the series of lectures in the Y. M. C. A. course, on "Our National resources," was delivered last evening by Dr. Frank D. Adams, professor of Geology at McGill University, who took as his subject "The mineral resources of Canada."

Mr. H. B. Ames presided, and the lecturer, in the course of his observations, alluded to the fact that the knowledge which Canadians possessed of the mineral resources of the northern half of the American continent had been chiefly derived from the work of the Geological survey of Canada. "The mineral wealth of the Dominion," he said, "consists chiefly in deposits of the following minerals: Coal, iron, gold, copper, nickel, lead silver, asbestos, gypsum, salt, petroleum. Less important are iron pyrites, chrome iron, manganese, antimony, platinum, mica, apatite, graphite, mineral paints, etc., also valuable building materials. Of these, coal is the most important. In two widely separated parts of the country, the Maritime Provinces and the Rocky Mountain sections lie vast coal fields. The principal coalfields of Nova Scotia are those of Cape Breton, Picton and Cumberland county. It has been estimated that, within three miles of the shore of Cape Breton, within a depth of 4000 feet, the supplies of valuable submarine coal amount to 2,000,000,000 tons. The coal area of the Rocky Mountains occupies at least 50,000 square miles. The Lethbridge coal seam alone would yield 35,000,000 tons.

"Iron ores occur in many parts of the Dominion, but have as yet been worked at only a few points. Gold ranks, in value, third among the products of our mines, and, like coal, comes chiefly from the two extremities of our land—Nova Scotia and British Columbia. The gold of Nova Scotia occurs in quartz-veins, in rocks of the Cambrian age. The mines annually produce an amount varying from 20,000 to 27,000 ounces, worth $19.50 per ounce. Up to the present time this province has produced about $11,500,000 worth of gold. In British Columbia, on the other hand, gold has hitherto been obtained almost exclusively from the sand and gravel of the river valleys. The province has, up to date, yielded somewhat over $50,000,000 worth of gold, and will, probably, during years to come, take its place among the more important gold-producing countries of the world.

"Copper-fields are known to occur in many localities, and last year ranked fifth in value among the products of our Canadian mines.

"The ore is extensively worked in three districts of Canada, namely, Sherbrooke, in Quebec; Sudbury, in Ontario, and in British Columbia. Great nickel and copper deposits, yet untouched, exist north of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"Silver and lead are found in great quantities in Kootenay, B.C. This district at present is the centre of the mining interest in British Columbia.

"There are also, among the products of Canadian mines, many non-metallic minerals, such as asbestos, petroleum, salt, mica, etc.; in fact, the value of the non-metallic products of the Dominion far exceed that of the metallic ores. Canada is one of the chief asbestos producers of the world. This mineral is chiefly found in this province, in the townships of Thetford and Colraine. Last year 7630 tons were raised in Canada, having a value of $420,825.

"A large number of mica deposits are known to exist in the Dominion, especially in the provinces of Quebec and Ontario. This mineral is obtained from the phosphate districts of these provinces. The annual output of gypsum is steadily increasing. It is extensively worked in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Ontario.

"Canada is also a large producer of petroleum, the chief oil producing districts being in the county of Lambton, in Ontario. The first flowing oil well was struck in 1862. Ontario now produces nearly 1,000,000 barrels of oil annually. Wells from 370 to 470 feet in depth are drilled, and, when complete, fitted with a pump.

"Another mineral obtained and extensively worked is salt. This comes chiefly from Ontario and New Brunswick, where over 57,000 tons were produced last year.

"Among other valuable minerals in the Dominion are iron pyrites, chromic iron ore, arsenic, antimony, manganese, iron ochres, graphite, soapstone, whiting, lithographic stone, grindstones, etc. In certain localities are found large supplies of natural gas.

"The Dominion possesses immense supplies of excellent structural materials, granites, sandstones, limestones, sands and gravels, brick clays, materials for the manufacture of cement, pottery, terra-cotta, tiles, etc. The annual output of these has already a value of over $5,000,000."

In conclusion, Dr. Adams expressed the opinion that the mineral deposits of the Dominion would become a permanent and continued source of wealth to the people of Canada. While the fur trade had greatly diminished in value, and the timber supplies were being rapidly destroyed, the mines and quarries of the country were becoming annually more numerous, better developed, and more productive, and upon their output would depend the future prosperity of the Dominion.

A MISSIONAY MEETING.

Mr. Eugene Stock, editorial secretary of the Church Missionary Society, London, Eng., will address a public meeting in Association Hall this evening, at eight o'clock. His subject is "The Story of the Uganda Mission."

FOR THE BLIND.

Wednesday evening the annual dinner in aid of the Nazareth Institute was held and was a great success. Over 300 ladies and gentlemen were present. Chief Justice Lacoste presided and among those sitting at the table were: Lady Lacoste, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Mathieu, Mrs. Ouimet, Mrs. Louis Masson, Mrs. Frechette, Mrs. Raymond, Mr. F. X. St. Charles, president of the Bank Hochelaga; Mrs. C. P. Hebert, Dr. Villeneuve, Dr. and Mrs. Desjardins, Senator and Mrs. Desjardins.

The hall was decorated with flags and flowers. After the banquet, the inmates gave a pleasing programme of instrumental and vocal music.

HOSPITAL EXPENSES.

Mr. Watt's Suggestions and The President's Reply.

Messrs. Henry Morton, C.S. J. Phillips, F. Fairman and Mrs. J. Alex. Hutchison were elected life governors of the Montreal General Hospital at the adjourned quarterly meeting of the Board of Governors on Wednesday afternoon. On the adoption of the reports a summary of which has been given, the President explained that the quarter had been an expensive one owing to the renovations and the many new articles of furniture, bedding, etc., which had to be purchased. In the present quarter there would be additional outlay in connection with the diet kitchen and private wards and the laundry. When all these improvements had been carried out he did not see why the hospital could not be managed as economically as in the past.

Mr. B. A. Watt, addressing the chairman Mr. F. Wolferstan Thomas, expressed his regret at the small attendance and eulogized the work of the President in connection with the renovations and improvements. No doubt that at the gathering on January 4, there would be a large attendance to congratulate him on the success achieved. Mr. Watt then referred to a number of matters first of which related to the wards. He thought that the system of distinguishing them by letters could be changed and the wards named after some of the benefactors of the institution. Regarding expenditure he felt sure that the greatest economy was being practised but they could not be too rigid on that point. This might only be done possibly by reducing the number of beds and consequently the number of patients. He also asked if it would not be a good thing from a sanitary stand point to allow the wards to remain vacant for at least two months in the year. In referring to the staff he thought that the nurses especially were over-worked. It would be a good thing to have a return from the Medical Superintendent as to their hours of work, absence, sickness, etc. He favored an eight hour rule being put into force.

As to the diet for the sick, he had always thought that great economy could be practised if it was only desired. There were any number of instances in which this could be done. He closed by protesting against any vivisection being allowed in the pathological department.

Mr. Thomas thanked Mr. Watt for his suggestions, and said that all had worked their best for the hospital. He approved of the idea of naming the wards. Expense there might be, but he was afraid that until all the workmen were gone it would still go on. The shutting up of the wards was a matter for the medical staff. He approved of the idea of having a report on the work and general health of the staff, and that economy, perhaps to the extent of thousands of dollars, could be practised in connection with the diet to the sick. As to vivisection, he did not think it had been carried to any extent, though he thought it had once or twice.

Mr. Ewing, the treasurer, explained that only $2.50 had been expended for guinea pigs.

Dr. Finnie said the animals had not suffered any pain, and they had merely received injections with hypodermic needles.

The meeting adjourned after adopting the following motion, which was moved by Mr. D. A. Watt and seconded by Mr. S. Finley:

That this Board of Governors hereby express their deep regret at the loss they have sustained by the death of their friend and colleague, the late Mr. R. W. Shepherd, for many years a governor, during fifteen years of which he was an active member of the Committee of Management; and they further desire to convey the expression of their deep sympathy with the family of the deceased.

HANDEL AND HADYN SOCIETY.

The Works to Be Produced at The Three Concerts.

The first rehearsal of the Handel and Haydn Society, with orchestral accompaniment, took place in the Windsor Hall Tuesday evening. The chorus was there in full strength as was also the Montreal Orchestral Association. Under the baton of Mr. Horace W. Reyner, the conductor of both organizations, the works to be presented at the first concert of the Handel and Haydn Society on December 12 were gone through with in a most satisfactory manner, as a result of the thorough training the choir and orchestra have had separately. These works are Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" and Gounod's "Gallia." For this first concert the soloists engaged are Miss Eleanor Meredith, of New York, soprano, and Mr. Evan Williams, also of New York, tenor. The Handel and Haydn Society will give two other concerts later in the season, the "Messiah" on Good Friday, April 3, and on Tuesday, April 14, Henschel's "Stabat Mater" will be given. The committee, in issuing their prospectus, call attention to the fact that Mr. Georg Henschel has consented to conduct his work, which he composed for the Birmingham Musical Festival of 1895, and that Mrs. Henschel will sing the soprano portion of the work. The Montreal Orchestral Association will supply the instrumental music at all the concerts.

ITALY'S QUEEN.

Her Birthday Celebrated by The Colony in Montreal.

On Wednesday night the Italian colony of this city, celebrated the Queen of Italy's birthday, in the St. Joseph's Hall, St. Catherine street. Consul-General Seminbergo was present, and he was tendered a reception. Mr. C. Mariotti presided, and introduced the Consul, who received an ovation from the large gathering. After the speeches rendered by the Italian colony's officers, followed songs, music by the Blazi's orchestra, speeches and recitations, among the number being a fine recitation given by F. Di Benga, in French, English and his own tongue. The others who took part were: Cav. C. Mariotti, O. Lapolla, E. Brunini, Signorina L. Cerini, Dr. Internoscia, F. Castellano, N. Summa, Signorina M. Polito. A good musical programme was also given, and at the end refreshments were served to all King Humbert's subjects.

STEERAGE PASSENGER RATES.

The east bound steerage rate between Canadian ports and those of the British Isles has been increased from $16 to $24.50, for slow and cattle ships. For intermediate steamship $25.50 and fast vessels $27. This is the result of the conference which was recently held in New York city. There were seventeen companies represented, and among them were Passenger Agents Hannah, of the Allan Line; Macfarlane, of the Dominion, and Ringland, of the Beaver Line.

THE WOMAN IN BUSINESS.

The subject of debate at the regular weekly meeting of the McGill Literary and Debating Society, this evening, will be, "Resolved, that the competition of women in the business world would be beneficial to the latter." Messrs. Cameron, Phillips and J. DeWitt, freshmen, will speak in the affirmative, and Messrs. W. G. Bishop, R. E. Patterson and A. H. Duff, sophomores, will be heard in support of the negative.

CLOSE OF LECTURES.

A sign of the near approach of Christmas is the notice which has been posted on the bulletin board of the Faculty of Applied Science at the McGill University, intimating that the lectures for the autumn term will close on December 13, after which date the semi-annual examinations will be held.

THE LOW PRICE EMANCIPATION!

Bargain odors permeating all through our biggest of all big nice new fashionable Winter Clothing stocks. Canada's vast and only

Consolidated Clothing Sale

Now the talk of every clothing wearer in Montreal, and the rushing, pushing, crushing crowds of buyers keep our live staff of salesmen on the alert day and evening. Every bargain a "pocket tickler," and money back again to you if not satisfied with your purchase. No satisfaction no sale. That's the clincher. That's how we've done business with you the past 35 years. Can't do anything else now but the right thing. Look at the lowest prices in the Dominion marked in red ink upon the tickets of all garments---One price only, and that the lowest. That's the proper way to do it.

The clothing we offer you now was made by us and trimmed to perfection, nothing overlooked except profits, and they came so near forgotten that it's scarcely talkable. $70,000 worth remain with us yet. How much do you want of it at these figures?

Ah! "Juicy" bargain Overcoats—made extra well from the extra well cloth, and the men who made them—tradesmen of highest quality. Give us your mind a minute, good knowledge back again for your trouble. One at a time.

OVERCOATS.

Men's Heavy Beaver Overcoats—tight lengths, full back, double breasted and made with a finished exactness of a clothing architect, approved value for $10.00. 175 of them to be let go at $6.00 each.

Men's Moscow Beaver Overcoats with large velvet collar, tweed lined, double breasted, regular Duke of Malboroughs, and fit for a Vanderbult. Have sold them before this sale at $12.00. 184 of them piled here for you with red figures marked $7.50.

Men's Frieze Ulsters—"Git" into these—cut right in style and plenty comfort. Finest value ever sold at $12.00. We are letting the entire lot go for $7.50 a piece.

Men's Ulsters of a higher quality—but the finest—110 of em, worth well the parting of your money to the extent of $13.00. Give one of the salesmen $8.50, and take with you the best bargain ever you bought. It's a fact.

Men's Finest Castor Beaver Overcoats; 155 of these beauties, always sold at $22.00, made by our own tailors, cut by the most scientific cutters in this city; handsomely quilted, finest you have seen in your life, dressy and warmer than warm; all red figured, down to $14.00. This Overcoat must be seen to give it a "square deal" with you. Hot cakes didn't sell quicker yesterday than these Overcoats will when you "peep" in them.

Men's Elegant Tailor made Chinchila Overcoats, splendidly quilted silk lined, cut in the latest fashion, are twice better than we say they are, sell every day at $18.00. 85 of this lot will go your way and take them from us for $12.00 each. This is positively the brightest bargain ever offered and you can't get any thing to meet them half way outside our big sale.

Men's Reefing Jackets in Dark Gray Frieze, decidedly well made and trimmed, cheap at $6.00. 125 of them at this sale for $4.00.

Men's Heavy Nap Pea Jackets, well lined, well made, well cut, usual price $7.50, at this sale the lot of 140 going at $5.

Men's Heavy Pilot Pea Jackets do their work to perfection and just right to take the place of a long heavy Overcoat, a bonanza at $8.00. We'll let them off now to you for $5.50.

Youths' Overcoats.

245 of the best Beaver Overcoats for youths ever put on sale in Montreal. Heavy Beaver Overcoat, mind you, a "dandy." Can't buy it in the land less than $7.50 to $10.00. Take your choice now for $5.00. Parents, this is a special offer and won't go your way again for many winters to come.

Youths' Melton Overcoats, made from heavy Drab Melton, raw edge, cut by our own artist, intended to sell at $8.00. Take them now for a "V" or $5.00. We lose in this line, but it's an ad. for us, and will be a lasting one, too, we know.

215 Men's Business Suits

Men's Tweed Suits, a rare bargain; the price previous to this sale was $11.00, go now at $6.75.

164 Men's Canadian Tweed Suits

Made to sell at $8.50, we offer them now at $5.00.

118 Heavy Tailor Made Scotch Tweed Suits

Those suits have only to be shown to be admired; we have been selling them freely at $12.00, your choice during this sale for $7.75.

96 Prince Albert Dress Suits

Handsomely lined and trimmed. It is impossible to detect the difference between those suits and those made by the best custom tailors. $24.00 is the price we usually sold those suits; during this great sale, your choice for $12.00.

112 Men's Morning Suits.

Made from fine diagonal and Venetian cloths. The make and finish will stand the test of the keenest scrutiny. Those suits are usually sold at $16.00, they now go at $10.00

345 Boys' Suits.

Double-breasted Boys' Suits, made from all-wool tweeds. New patterns of materials; usual price $4.00, reduced to $2.50.

217 Children's Suits.

Made from all the newest designs of materials; usual price $4.50, we have determined to let them go at $2.25.

210 Pairs Men's Trousers

Made from strong tweed; usual price $2.10, reduced to $1.35.

189 Pairs Men's Trousers

All wool, new patterns. Those trousers are honestly worth five dollars. We defy all competition by letting them go at $2.50.

125 Pairs Dress Trousers

Those trousers are made from all wool black doeskin, fine diagonals and twills. They are sold from $4.50 to $5.50; you can have your choice from this varied lot at $3.50.

Don't let the weather stop you in securing one or more of these bargains. You'll want something in the lines we mention above. If you're not satisfied with what you buy of us, bring it back again, and your money will be returned to you again. That is fair, isn't it? No other dealer in Canada ever offered such splendid value to you before, nor we don't think ever will. We're in a position to make those offers and will continue doing so until January 1st, 1896. One price only, and that price is lower than any clothing store in Canada. Latest Fashions, Reliable Quality, Square Dealing and Guaranteed Fits in all our Clothing. Expect these from us all the time.

A HIGHWAY BRIDGE.

It is stated that there is a syndicate composed of influential men formed for the purpose of obtaining a charter for constructing a highway bridge from this city to St. Lambert. It is intended to connect Montreal, via the proposed bridge, with Longueuil and Laprairie, by means of electric railways. The bridge, as designed, will have ample roadways for wheeled vehicles, double tracks for electric cars, footpaths, and special accommodation for bicyclists. The cost of the bridge will be one million and a quarter and the promoters calculate the receipts will be equal to eight per cent. on the capital invested, after paying working expenses.

cannot be made out of horses that are out of condition. Merely to feed plenty of oats is not enough. A horse gets run down the same as a man and needs a general toning up.

Dick's Blood Purifier

is a scientific preparation in the form of a powder. It purifies the blood, strengthens the digestion, turns a rough coat into a smooth and glossy one and puts the animal "in condition." He then has "good life" and feels like holding up his head and lifting his feet.

MILCH COWS are greatly benefitted by it The whole system is toned up. The digestive organs being strengthened, more nutriment is drawn from the food and the flow of milk increased.

Dick's Blood Purifier will pay for itself ten times over.

DOUBTFUL AS TO ITS LEGALITY.

YET A MEETING OF COUNCIL TOOK PLACE ON WEDNESDAY.

Ald. Penny, as Acting-Mayor, Left the Chair, but Ald. Lefebvre was Placed in It and His Vote Decided Several Appointments.

Wednesday's was one of the most remarkable meetings of the Montreal City Council on record. Most of the time of the meeting was taken up with a discussion of the legality of the meeting, and a heated discussion it was. Mayor Villeneuve maintained that the meeting was illegally called and did not attend, and after some persuasion Ald. Penny, the Acting Mayor, took the chair. Every member of the Council, with the exception of the Mayor, was in his place. At the opening of the meeting the Acting Mayor explained that there were doubts as to the legality of the meeting, and he wished the Council to assume the responsibility. He would not, and he asked for a discussion of the matter.

The Assistant City Clerk read the report of the joint City Attorneys sent to the Mayor, and published in the Star.

Ald. Lefeovre submitted an opinion from Mr. Ethier, saying that if the joint attorneys had been aware when they gave their opinion that the Mayor, although in the city on the day of the meeting, had been called by the late Acting Mayor, was sick, their opinion would have been modified.

Ald. McBride still thought that the the meeting was illegal. There was no official information before the Council that the Mayor had been sick, and they knew very well that he was not too ill to sign a summons for a meeting.

Ald. Stevenson and Ald. Savignac argued that there was no business of a very pressing nature before the meeting and as there were doubts as to its legality, he urged that an adjournment be made.

Ald. Prefontaine moved, seconded by Ald. Nolan, that as the meeting had not been legally revoked, the Council proceed to business.

Ald. Wilson-Smith pointed out that there was a very serious objection to holding the meeting, as Mr. Ethier, whom he had met just previous to the meeting, had acknowledged a doubt as to its legality. There was no necessity for hurry. Mr. Ethier had stated at the previous meeting of the Finance Committee that its proceedings were illegal, as, according to the "Rules of Council" every committee should consist of seven members. Now, if that were so, under the "Rules of Council," much more were the proceedings of the Council illegal, inasmuch as the charter declared that the Council should consist of the Mayor and 26 members.

Ald. McBride moved, seconded by Ald. Savignac, that as there was a doubt as to the legality of the meeting, the Council should adjourn.

Ald. Wilson-Smith demanded a ruling as to the legality of the meeting from the chair.

Ald. Prefontaine said that it was not for the Mayor to rule as to the legality of the motion. He could rule that his motion was not in order if he liked, and if he did, he would appeal from the ruling.

Several members suggested that the Acting Mayor could leave the chair.

Ald. Prefontaine said that it would make no difference, as the Council would elect another chairman.

Ald. Penny said that his own inclination was to vacate the chair. There was no imperative hurry, and another meeting of Council was already called for Friday.

Ald. Lyall drew attention to the fact that persistence in proceeding with business might embroil the city in much heavy and expensive litigation.

Ald. Prefontaine said that it would be a most undignified and disgraceful act for the Acting Mayor to vacate the chair.

Ald. Penny said that he was not ashamed to do what he believed to be right, and amidst great uproar he left the chair.

Ald. Prefontaine was prepared for this move and had a motion ready for this pointment of Ald. Lefebvre as chairman.

Just as Ald. Prefontaine rose to present his motion, Ald. Connaughton rose to put a question to Mr. Bauset, the Mayor's secretary.

Mr. Connaughton, as he explained after the meeting wanted to bring out the fact that the day the acting mayor called the meeting Mayor Villeneuve was capable of attending to such a detail as the calling of a meeting. His question was, "Did Mayor Villeneuve on Friday morning telephone to Mr. Bauset, and at what hour?"

Ald. Connaughton insisted on his question being answered at once.

Ald. Prefontaine drew attention to the fact that there was no one in the chair.

"Vote," "vote," called half a dozen members and another half a dozen members tried to make speeches at once. Ald Connaughton's voice could be heard above the din insisting upon an answer.

Ald. Lefebvre at this point took the chair. Ald Connaughton was still insisting on an answer, Ald. Prefontaine was demanding a vote on his motion and several aldermen were talking for fun—Ald. Wilson Smith's voice was heard above the din demanding of Ald. Lefebvre by what right he occupied the chair.

Ald. Lefebvre consequently left the chair, but acting on a nod from Ald. Prefontaine, resumed it.

Some sort of order was finally restored and Mr. Bauset answered Ald. Connaughton's question. He had received no message from the Mayor Friday morning. About four o'clock in the afternoon he got a telephone message, not from the Mayor personally, to take His Worship's correspondence to his residence. He did this, remaining with the Mayor for about an hour and then going home.

Then there was another scene of the parliamentary act, ensuing by the Assistant City Clerk putting Ald. Prefontaine's motion, which carried.

By this time it was getting on for five o'clock and the business of the meeting was rushed through.

Ald. Prefontaine moved, seconded by Ald. Nolan, that Ald. Rainville be appointed chairman of the Finance Committee.

Ald. Stevenson moved, seconded by Ald. Connaughton, that Ald. Savignac be appointed chairman for the balance of the fiscal year.

Ald. Savignac moved, seconded by Ald. McBride, that there be no change in the chairmanship, but that Ald. Farrell remain in office until the end of the fiscal year.

A vote was then taken on Ald. Savignac's motion and resulted, on division, as follows:

Ayes—Connaughton, Turner, Jacques, Lyall, Reneault, Smith, McBride, Savignac, Penny, Costigan, Stevenson—11.

The motion was lost on the casting vote of the Chairman.

Ald. Grothe paired with Ald. Farrell.

The motion of Ald. Stevenson was also lost, on the casting vote of the Chairman.

Ayes—Connaughton, Turner Lyall, Reneault, Smith, McBride, Farrell, Prenoveau, Penny, Costigan, Stevenson—11.

The main motion was then carried on the same division.

On motion of Ald. Marsolais, seconded by Ald. Dupre, the vacancy on the committee was filled by the appointment of Ald. Beausoleil.

At the request of Ald. McBride, Alds. Prefontaine, Chairman of the Road Committee, promised that the action of the Incline Railway in extending their cable line should be enquired into.

GAUTHIER'S CONDITION.

Dr. Villeneuve Considers Him Competent to Stand Trial—Evidence for The Defence.

On Wednesday afternoon the Court of Queen's Bench opened at half past two o'clock to continue the trial of Gauthier, and the room was as crowded as ever. The first witness was Edward Piche, gaol guard. He stated that the prisoner spoke sensibly, but at other times played the part of a fool. For about a month Gauthier had ceased his religious duties.

Dr. George Villeneuve, superintendent of St. Jean de Dieu Asylum, testified that when he first examined Gauthier, when the latter was first incarcerated, he found his mental state normal, and he has noticed that Gauthier acted with an amount of foolishness, and the witness had a great difficulty in getting the prisoner to answer questions, or even to allow him to conduct his investigations. The witness had seen Gauthier in the grand jurors' room on Tuesday morning. He was with Dr. Wyatt Johnston. The prisoner was smoking a cigar, and a few minutes afterward he began to shake his head and act foolishly. According to his belief, witness stated that the prisoner possessed a sufficient amount of intelligence to have a trial.

In cross-examination, witness stated that all persons whose sanity is doubtful can be better treated and their medical condition better defined when placed in an asylum under treatment made by specialists. The present actions of Gauthier, added Dr. Villeneuve, led him to declare that they were intentional.

Frederick Lamontagne, gaoler, swore that he was on duty the night that Gauthier attempted to hang himself—about one o'clock. The opinion of the gaoler was that the prisoner really attempted to do so.

Francois Lamontagne, another gaol guard, corroborated the last witness, and added that Gauthier said it was better to hang that way than in public.

Superintendent Hughes, called, said that he had spoken to the accused shortly after his arrest and had found him very excited, and in his opinion was not in possession of his mental faculties.

Rev. J. N. Dubuc, vicar at St. Vincent de Paul's parish, had paid a visit to Gauthier several times in gaol, and from the first day he had always considered Gauthier crazy. He had conversed with the prisoner a number of times and the latter's replies were incoherent.

Rev. J. B. Meloche, S. J., of the Immaculate Conception Church, Rachel street, visited the prisoner many times since the end of last September. He had frequently spoken to Gauthier, but never had received any reply. The witness had seen him fighting with a guard one day. The reverend gentleman added that he could not give any opinion as to the prisoner's sanity as he had never studied him.

Aristide Durocher, dealer, of Centre street, stated that he was a friend of Gauthier's, and was allowed to visit and have a private talk with him at the gaol. This was about the end of October, in company with Mr. St. Jean and a physician. The object was to obtain any information which might be of service for the defence. He had known Gauthier since eleven years, and at the time of his visit Gauthier would not answer any questions. He did not tell him to become violent and feign insanity.

The next witness was Dr. Felix Labadie, who stated that he saw Gauthier on the 26th of July, and found him in a state of excitement. It was the doctor's opinion at the time that the accused's mind was not all right, and that he required close watching.

The court was then adjourned by Justice Wurtele, in fact that the defence had several medical experts yet to examine.

THE LATE MR. ACTON.

The death of Mr. George Acton removes another old Montreal landmark. The deceased gentleman was born sixty-nine years ago at Westport, County Mayo, Ireland, and settled in Montreal forty years ago, when he embarked in the retail grocery business and retired some years ago, after an honorable and successful business career. Mr Acton was well known and highly respected in business and Masonic circles, being the last of the original charter members of Mount Horeb Chapter and St. Lawrence Lodge. He was buried with full Masonic honors.

BANJO AND GUITAR CLUB.

A most enthusiastic meeting of the Zuigari Banjo and Guitar Club was held Tuesday night. Mr. W. T. Rodden was elected president; Mr. Stewart Nichol, secretary-treasurer. Rehearsals will be resumed immediately for their annual concert. The club has a complete banjo and guitar orchestra consisting of banjeurines, first and second banjos, piccolo and bass banjos and guitars. Mr. Meredith Heward has been appointed instructor.

CARMELITE NUNS.

The monastery building and grounds of the Carmelite Nuns at Hochelaga have been sold to the Redemptorist Fathers for $32,000. The area of the property is 44,000 feet, and the buildings are of stone and brick. The nuns will move into their new monastery on Upper St. Denis street in September next and then the Fathers are to take possession at that time. It is their intention to establish a mission at that place.

DRAWING CLASSES.

The opening of the Industrial Classes takes place in the new class rooms, Monument National Building, St. Lawrence street, this evening, at 7.30. The class rooms have been most comfortably fitted up, and from the number of applications already received, it is probable that the classes will be more numerously attended than ever.

DEMAND OF ASSIGNMENT.

A. Small & Co., have made a demand of assignment on Louis Soloman, tailor, for $552, and Napoleon Mignault, agent, has made a second demand for $372.

SEPARATION CASE.

CHAPTER IV.—A SUBSTITUTE FOR MEIGS.

At Garroch Walter was busy for three days—hiring navvies, buying supplies, and explaining the situation of the contract to Mr. Gemmill, who was much pleased with his protege's energy and clearheadedness.

"Man, but you're developing, Wally!" said the banker. "It's only three weeks since you started and you're a man already. I'm thinking the responsibilities will be heavy enough on ye now."

"I feel them, sir," said Walter, soberly. "But I think I can carry them. If only I could have seen my father— and mother, too."

"Aye, I was thinking ye'd be a bit homesick, lad. House all shut up, eh? Looks lonely like. Well, if your father was there you couldn't talk business with him. Dr. Mostyn wouldn't let ye. He says your father must just have his brain resting for many a week to come. Have you heard from your mother since they went south?"

"Yes, sir, there was a letter here for Sam, and I opened it. They'd got as far as Washington. Father was improving."

"I make no doubt he'll be all right, lad. And I'm deceived if you don't make a pretty penny while he's gone."

This was the hope that just inned the young boss in his labors. But sometimes a dreadful thought assailed him. What if he were neglecting some part essential to the completion of the job? What if his father had foreseen some great difficulty of which Walter was unaware? What if that were the reason why he had demanded prices so high, and especially high for the deeper excavation which Walter had undertaken, and on account of which he was doubling the force of his gang? But the youth could imagine nothing for which he had not provided, and he was always soon able to shake off these fears.

On the fourth day after leaving Sam, Walter arrived at Elbow Carry with thirty-seven men, including a new cook, for two cooks would be needed for the doubled force. He did not bring a second blacksmith. Meigs could do all the work, for the steel points fastened in the soft limestone, and Walter meant to give Meigs an increase of pay.

He had much confidence that this essential man would not leave him without long notice. The young boss, honest himself, reckoned on finding all men "square."

Jaffray met Walter with effusion and incessant two-eyed winking.

"By golly," he cried, "you have brought a big gang!" Then he lowered his voice to a whisper. "That's right; Hebden will have to pay the shot, anyhow."

"Why shouldn't he?" asked Walter.

"What? You ain't twigged that point yet? Didn't I tell you he's got no real use for that channel you're making?"

"Yes; but why did he make the contract?"

"Because he's a pig-headed English greenhorn, that consults no man of sense. Because his head is full of old-country notions about the advantage of draining fens. Don't you see it yet?"

"No, I don't. The land will be well drained, won't it?"

"You bet it will. But never mind. Don't say a word, I tell you. I'll explain it to you in time. Mum, mind you. And I guess you're needed at the job right away."

Leaving his men and supplies to be forwarded by waggons, Walter hurried rapidly with a light buggy to the shanty and Sam. On entering the door he found his young brother greasy, tired-looking, busy about the fire, while Jorrocks was washing the dinner dishes.

"Why, what on earth, Sam? You cooking?" cried Walter. Jorrocks turned his head away, and seemed to shrink deep into his boots.

"I've been cooking right along," said Sam. "Jorrocks may be a pystry byker, but in beans-byking and potato-biling and pork-cooking—Great Scott!"

"Can't he cook?"

"Cook! No more than a baby!"

"What do you mean by such a trick?" cried Walter, angrily, to Jorrocks, who turned to face him with hands extended in explanation.

"Let him be, Walt. He's a good cook's mate, anylow. I don't know what I'd have done without him," said Sam.

"But you told me you could cook!" shouted Walter to Jorrocks.

"No, sir, please. Hi told you Hi'd a jawb of co-kin'. I vas coo-o-k's mate ven I vas hup for 'Ebden, and I thowt Hi'd learned enough. But now Hi know Hi didn't learn nothing to speak of."

"Well, you are a queer rascal!"

"No, sir, please. Honly too 'opeful."

"And you're not a pastry baker by trade?"

"Hi'm sorry Hi lied about that, sir. But Hi wanted a jawb so bad! I vas so hungry, sir!"

The little man looked so repentant and comically impudent at once that Walter both pitied and laughed at him. Then the face of Jorrocks cleared, and he came forward with a confidential air.

"The trewth is, sir," he said, striking a proud attitude, "Hi'm an 'oss jawcky by tryde."

"A horse jockey?"

"Yes, sir. Hi've rode at Hawscot and noomarket, and the Kurragh of Kildare wunct, and I thowt hif Hi could do that, I could do hanuthing."

"Cook, eh?"

"Coo-ook?" Yes, sir, good enough for a lot of Hirish."

"Well, you're the most impudent specimen I've met."

"That's wot Mr. 'Ebden told me, sir. He woo-uldn't give me me py. 'Go down to the Loon Lake jawb,' says 'e. 'Hi'm told they want a co-o-ok like you there.'"

"Oh, that was how he came to send you, eh? and he wouldn't pay you?"

"No, sir, and Hi vas dead broke. So vot could a poor man do? Lord, sir, if honly you'd let me sty on!"

"Bob Jorrocks is a good cook's mate," said Sam again. "I like Bob Jorrocks, though he's such a shocking humbug."

"Thank you, sir," said Jorrocks.

"He can't help the new cook; you're fetching one up, aren't you, Walt?" said Sam, laughing.

"If you'll 'ire me hover again, you'll find Hi'll do more than my dooty, sir." He touched his forelock to Walter.

"You can stay at twelve dollars a month, since you started, Jorrocks," said Walter. Jorrocks had probably won by his very deferential manners, for all boys like to be treated as important men.

"Hall right, sir," cried Jorrocks, much relieved. "Hand Hi'll get heven with 'Ebden yet, too. Hi've got something to tell you, sir. It's my dooty, now Hi'm hired."

"What do you mean, Jorrocks?"

Jorrocks drew Walter to one side and whispered, "Wot if your blacksmith was going to leave?"

Walter stared at Jorrocks with something like horror. Meigs had been engaged and under pay nearly a week before the job began. His month would be out on the morrow. He could then legally go. If he should do so, seventy men would be thrown idle till Walter could bring on another blacksmith. Blacksmiths were scarce. And forfeits would be incurred by stopping the job for anything but bad weather.

"What makes you think he's going?" asked Walter.

"Mr. 'Ebden, sir," whispered Jorrocks. "'E vas down 'ere at noon yesterday. I see 'im takin' Meigs into the woods, so I followed 'em very quiet, and 'eard 'im hoffer Meigs big py to go to his depot shanty and blacksmith there," and Jorrocks went on detailing all he had overheard.

Thus Walter, by his leniency to the "coss-jawcky," had received a valuable warning. He meditated over the information carefully. It seemed to him that he might at once triumph over and hold Meigs by good management.

Accordingly, in the shanty that evening—the shanty noisy with the loud talk between two large gangs of Garroch navvies who had not seen each other for nearly a month—he waited, with good-natured looks, for the blacksmith to spring the surprise which he thought he had in store.

Walter had spent a good many odd hours of boyhood in watching Garroch blacksmiths at work, and he had also carefully observed Meigs's manipulation of the drilling tools. He wondered if another blacksmith would be so very hard to find.

It was not till most of the men had turned into their bunks that the blacksmith sidled around gradually till he sat by Walter. Meigs was a broad-faced, black-haired, olive-tinted man of thirty-five, who had worked in many shops, and felt himself so vastly experienced that he could easily "euchre" a mere boy. He spoke in a woolly, wheedling voice, with a most deferential air:

"There'll be a sight of work for a man that's a blacksmith here after this, Mr. Walter. Seventy men and more now!"

"Yes; no more loafing for you, Meigs," said Walter, sharply.

"Well, sir, I don't know as I've been doin' no loafin' as I knows on," said Meigs, in the tone of an injured, patient man.

"I'm not complaining of you, Meigs. There'll be about twice as many points to sharpen now, that's all."

"A man might say that it'd ought to be a bit more pay for a man as is a good man at his trade, sir."

"Yes, a man might. And a man might be far wrong if he did say so."

Meigs looked suspiciously at Walter's impassive face. It betokened no such bantering spirit as his slightly mocking tones had seemed to carry.

"Oh, well, Mr. Walter, I ain't heard of no more pay for me yet, sir. Not as I'm doubtin' but you'll do the right thing, Mr. Walter. And my month's pay is due to-night."

"So it is. And here's your money, Meigs. Just sign the pay-sheet." Walter had been sitting by his rude desk, and drew forth the bills and the document.

Though Meigs was surprised by the cool alacrity of the young boss, he smiled with satisfaction at getting his pay, for he had feared that it might be held back. After pocketing the cash he remarked, as if in much doubt, "I don't suppose but what you'd just as lief's not I stayed on, Mr. Walter."

"Were you thinking of leaving, Meigs?"

"Well, I ain't sayin', so fur, as I was meanin' any such thing. On'y this here job kind o' seems to me it wants a tip-top blacksmith, and wants a man that'll keep sober and steady right along."

"Certainly, Meigs. I don't want seventy men idle on my hands on account of one man drunk. You're a sober man anyhow."

"I allus was, Mr. Walter. And I'm told the job's got to go on right along or the contract's busted."

"Oh, well, that's none of your business, Meigs," for Walter felt that his aggressiveness would tend to disconcert the enemy.

"Well, I'd ought to have pay accordin' to the size of the gang." Meigs spoke with some vexation.

"Double pay?"

"Yes, about that."

"Can't do it, Meigs. I'll give you ten dollars a month more, on certain conditions."

"Ten dollars! 'taint a consideration."

"All right."

"What's the conditions?" said Meigs, so surprised as to incautiously betray his inward thought that he might stay.

"That you sign to stay on till the job's done."

"Not much—not for no ten dollars extra."

"Very well—you're going to-morrow eh?"

(To be continued.)

PROMISED TO KEEP SOBER.

A young man named Arthur Viau, residing at 1253 Ontario street, went on a spree on Tuesday, and wound up his fun by taking a dose of "Rough on Rats." The dose was not a very large one, and emetics relieved Viau. He was then arrested by Constable Lavoie. He appeared before Recorder de Montigny this morning, who suspended sentence upon that young man promising to keep sober in future.

In Times

Gone by it was generally believed that a Glove in order to be good and well made, three Kingdoms must contribute to it. Spain to dress the leather, France to cut it, and England to sew it.

A great many changes have gone over the manufacturing world since those times, and to-day we sell better made goods and far better value.

But if it required our buyer to go to 6 different Kingdoms and travel round the World in order to get the Best we should have it done.

The best Glove commands trade. Our Perrin's best 7 stud Evening Gloves, at $1.25 per pr., is commanding a trade, built up strictly on its own merits, which keeps growing every day.

There are plenty of lower priced Gloves, we have them, but low priced goods are not the cheapest. The Glove that fits every hand gathers trade. The Derby Gloves and Perrin's Glove keeps gathering trade as time rolls on. If you have not tried our makes of Derby and Perrins, we would recommend you to give these gloves a trial.

For this make of Gloves we recommend Perrin's, for a heavier Glove, try the Derby.

IS GAUTHIER ABLE TO STAND TRIAL?

FURTHER EVIDENCE ADDUCED THIS MORNING.

A Lawyer Examined as A Witness —Mr. St. Jean Swears that He Believes His Client to Be Insane —Corroborative Testimony.

In the Court of Queen's Bench opened this morning, the Gauthier case was continued, and the first witness called was George T. Pratte, who is guard at the Montreal gaol. When the prisoner had returned to the gaol after the preliminary enquete he said to witness: "I am very glad everything will be finished to-morrow. I will be hung at 7 o'clock in the morning," and, according to the opinion of witness, Gauthier has steadily become more and more eccentric in his actions. The witness heard nothing about a two day's treatment to which Gauthier had been subjected, with a view of extracting some soap which he swallowed to poison himself. The witness, asked by the judge, if he thought the prisoner knew anything of the proceedings which were just going on, Mr. Pratte replied, no.

Louis Lesperance visited Gauthier in the gaol, and found him bound to a column. Although spoken to, several times by the witness Gauthier's replies were always incoherent. The witness stated that he was a friend of Gauthier, and had known him for a long time. The day he went to the gaol Gauthier told him that the guards were constructing a scaffold in the yard to hang him.

Elezear Lesperance, carter, of Longueuil, stated that he knew the accused and the latter was very much changed since he knew him. When the witness went to the gaol Gauthier didn't look like a man that had all his faculties.

Leon Leblanc, in the employ of the Grand Trunk as baggaman on the Montreal and Toronto train, was the brother-in-law of the accused. He remembered the day on which Gauthier was arrested on the accusation of murder. Before the crime the prisoner had been sick for eight days. Mr. Leblanc, to a question put by Mr. St. Jean, swore that he had never told the prisoner to act foolishly, and added that he was very sure that his brother-in-law had always been good but he acted insanely. A couple of days before the murder Gauthier told the witness that he was to die in a few days.

M. de Briny was called and said that Gauthier used to be badly treated in the gaol by the guards. The witness had been detained in gaol for three months on a charge. Several times he tried to converse with the prisoner, but he never had any reply. One day Gauthier came to the witness and wanted to strike him. One of the prisoners detained in the common gaol, used to take care of the accused. On different occasions the witness tried to study Gauthier, and he was perfectly sure that he was insane.

Mr. E. N. St. Jean, counsel for the accused, was heard as a witness, and said that on the night of the arrest, the witness had an interview with Gauthier, but he could not get any reply. The only thing that he said was, "They are going to hang me to-morrow morning at the gaol." Mr. St. Jean was very sure that his client was insane, and two days after he chose Doctors Pourque and Chagnon to examine the mental condition of the accused.

Mr. Archambault raised an objection, stating that Mr. St. Jean had not the right of giving evidence in behalf of his client.

Judge Wurtele decided that M. St. Jean had the right to do so.

Dr. Pourque, Superintendent of the St. Jean de Dieu Asylum, stated that he had visited the prisoner at the gaol and was certain that Gauthier is not able to stand a trial.

FARMERS' MASS IN B.

The St. James Methodist Church was crowded to the doors last evening on the occasion of the performance of Farmer's Mass in B by the choir of the church, assisted by some well known singers. The music of this mass is fairly familiar to the lovers of music in Montreal and is very popular with the congregation of St. Patrick's. It received a very artistic rendition last evening, the solos being taken by such well known and capable singers as Miss Louise Daly, Mrs. Kelload, Mr. Fred Capon and Mr. J. Marshall Williams, while the chorus parts were done full justice to.

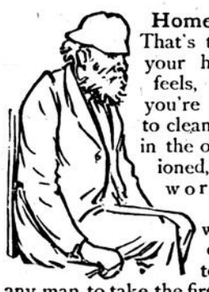

The organ accompaniments were played by Mr. Harry Fletcher, while Mr. Birks conducted.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Hutchins, old residents of this city, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding day by a family reunion on Monday evening at the residence of their son-in-law, Mr. R. R. Stevenson, 257 Bishop street, where a large number of their relatives assembled, some coming from Brockville, Kingston, Ottawa and the United States, to be present on this occasion. Many handsome presents and letters of congratulation were received, a number of them from relatives in Nova Scotia, Manitoba and California.

THE LATE MR. JOHN WILLIAMS.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Williams, took place yesterday morning. Although the weather was unpropitious, the large concourse of friends who followed the remains to St. Anthony's Church proved in what high respect and esteem the deceased gentleman was held; the floral tributes upon the casket were many and beautiful. A solemn requiem mass was chanted by the Rev. Father Donnelly, parish priest, assisted by the Rev. Father Gilbault. The service was most impressive, the musical portion being ably rendered by a full choir. The deceased was one of Montreal's old and popular citizens. He was born in King's County, Ireland, and immigrated to Canada 55 years ago; was proprietor of the Williams House, and took a prominent part in politics; he was also an energetic member of the Catholic and Canadian Order of Foresters, delegations from both orders attending the remains of their late brother to their last resting place in the Cote des Neiges Cemetery.

Homeless! That's the way your husband feels, when you're trying to clean house in the old-fashioned, hard-working, fussy way. It's enough to drive any man to take the first steps downward. You can just as well make home pleasant while you are making it clean. Take Pearline to it. That saves so much work that house-cleaning is no trouble, either to the worker, or the looker-on. It's sooner over, and it's better done.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 360 JAMES PYLE, New York.

CANADA'S FUTURE.

Mr. Laurier's Speech and "La Verite's" Comments.

Mr. Laurier, in his speech at the Club National, condemned the idea of having a French republic on the banks of the St. Lawrence, and went on to say that he wanted the future Canadian nation to occupy the whole ground from the Bay of Fundy to the Pacific Ocean. "I am asked," then remarked Mr. Laurier, "what would be the language of this great nation. When Switzerland broke the Austrian yoke, five hundred years ago, to form the Confederation there was no question of which language would be spoken. An appeal was made to the spirit of concord of all citizens, and today German is spoken at Zurich, French and Italian in other parts."

Mr. Tardivel, in La Verite, objects to this in an article intituled "Mr. Laurier's dream." "We regret to see that Mr. Laurier is not in the French Canadian national movement. He may do, however, all that he may please, he will not change the movement towards new destinies. The fact that Canada must very shortly become a free country is more and more patent every day. A large number of leading men no longer fear to express themselves openly in this aspiration, which is found in all true French Canadian hearts. We must, one day fixed by Providence, become a distinct nation. This is our providential destiny and no one amongst us has any doubt on the matter.

"If Mr. Laurier does not think it proper to speak in the sense of French-Canadian patriotism he should not throw any obstacle to the national movement. This movement is too strong for him to resist. If his education, his sympathies and English liberalism do not permit him to be with his compatriots and to echo their intimate sentiments, and their national aspirations let him stand aside. The movement will be carried out in spite of and notwithstanding him. If he opposes it the national movement will crush him, 'voila tout'."

After saying that there can be no comparison between a small country like Switzerland and a large one like Canada, it adds, "In what is to-day called the Dominion of Canada there is no unity of race, religion or even material interests. The basis of all unions should be one of these three interests. The present Confederation has no solid foundation; it will have the fate of all edifices built upon shifting sands. Those who imagine that this present Confederation can last for five hundred years, or even a hundred, or fifty years, are Utopists, and dreamers and not practical men."

SWINDLED A LADY.

There is still another swindler at work. Some months ago Miss Flanagan, 7 St. Genevieve street bought a communion cass from a canvasser to be paid for in weekly instalments. The collector was punctual and so was Miss Flanagan and her card shows a receipt for $2.50. One day, however, the collector asked for the loan of the case to show a neighbor. Miss Flanagan consented and since then has seen neither the case nor the collector. She still holds her receipt to warn others against placing too much confidence in comparative strangers.

CHURCH WARDENS AT HOME.

On Wednesday the clergy and wardens of St. James the Apostle's Church held an "At home" in the school to celebrate the inauguration of the new building. A very pleasant programme of music and song was rendered, and addresses were given by the Rev. Canon Ellegood, rector of St. James, and a number of the clergy who were present.

AT POINT ST. CHARLES.

Union Thanksgiving Day services were held by St. Matthews Presbyterian and Centenary Methodist churches yesterday in the former church. Services were also held in Grace Church, the Venerable Archdeacon Evans being the preacher. The Congregational Church observed the day with a concert in the evening.

IN SPECIAL SESSIONS.

In the Court of Special Sessions on Wednesday, N. S. Templier was fined $120 or three months' imprisonment for selling liquor without a license.

Malvina Giroux was sentenced to one month's imprisonment for stealing a bottle of whiskey from a grocer named George Pauze.

DUNRAVEN'S CHARGES WERE NOT NEW.

HOW HE MADE THEM TO MR. FISH.

Only Elaborated on Them in the Article in the "Field"—Mr. Glennie Pretty Outspoken Over the Situation.

New York, November 22.— The World's London correspondent telegraphs the following interview with Arthur Glennie, Lord Dunraven's friend, concerning the Earl's charges against Mr. Iselin: "The statement that Lord Dunraven had offered to go to America to testify surprised me greatly. Lord Dunraven has not communicated with me on the subject, and I do not see what earthly use there is in an enquiry at this time of day. The proper time for the committee to have taken action was when Lord Dunraven represented to Mr. Fish that the Defender was not floating at her proper load line. Lord Dunraven then made the specific proposal that a special representative of the Cup Committee should be placed on board each boat until the remeasurement was made. That was—not done, and thus the only opportunity available for setting all doubts at rest one way or the other was lost. I don't allege of my own knowledge that Defender's owner was doing anything wrong, but does it not strike you as queer that with a racing yacht which has come fresh out of the dock prepared for a contest, with rig, spick and span, it should be necessary to work on her in that way until one o'clock in the morning on the night before the race, when her crew had to be up again so early to get her in trim?"

"But Mr. Iselin stated that he examined Defender's hold throughout on the morning before the second race, and that fourteen tons of ballast could not have been stored there without his seeing it," suggested the interviewer. Mr. Glennie gave a short, incredulous laugh and said: "I've been yacht racing all my life. Do you think it likely that an owner makes a search throughout his yacht every morning before she races? I never knew any owner to do it."

"Why did Lord Dunraven race again after he suspected there was foul play?" was asked.

"He did so, I should say, out of a sense of duty to carry out all the conditions of the races."

It was nonsense said Mr. Glennie to say that the charges made by Dunraven in the London Field were in any way new. He declared that the statement contained nothing that had not been officially said to Latham A. Fish of the America's cup committee on the day of the first race and already printed in the newspapers.

In the report of the America's cup committee on the races, which was presented at the meeting on October 24, the following appears:

On Saturday, September 7, Lord Dunraven communicated to the cup committee his belief that Defender had sailed that day's race immersed three or four inches more than when she was measured. Lord Dunraven stated that he believed that the change had been made without the knowledge of Defender's owners, but it must be corrected or he would discontinue racing. He did not wish to say to the committee what action it should take, but he desired a remeasurement that day (Saturday, September 7). The cup committee, after considering the communication from Lord Dunraven, ordered a remeasurement to be made at the earliest possible moment. On Sunday, September 8, the yachts were marked as requested by Lord Dunraven. At the same time they were remeasured, with the result of only one-eighth of an inch difference in load-water line in case of Defender and one-sixteenth of an inch in Valkyrie. As the result varied the time allowance only a second or two, and in no way affected the outcome of the races, it is not deemed necessary to give additional measurements.

That part of the Dunraven article in the Field referring to the same subject is as follows:

"When I put Mr. Henderson, my representative, on board the Defender about nine o'clock in the morning, after the Hattie Palmer had left her, I felt perfectly certain that the Defender was immersed deeper than when measured. Not only was her bobstay bolt nearer the water, which might have been the result of an alteration of trim, but judging by the line of bronze plating and by the fact that a pipe amidships which was flush with the water when she was measured was nowhere visible, she was in my deliberate opinion floating about four inches deeper in the water then when measured.

"I was reluctant to make a formal complaint to the cup committee on a matter which it was, of course, impossible for me to verify, and in any case nothing could be done before the race was started. But as soon as Mr. Latham A. Fish, a member of the committee, came on board the Valkyrie as the Defender's representative, and before the race was started, I stated the whole case to him."

Commenting on the above, the New York Evening Post says: "It will thus be seen that the charges now under investigation were made on the day of the first race, considered by the committee, a new measurement ordered, and Defender found to be all right. The objection made by Lord Dunraven was made public on October 25 last and created no comment. The trouble came when Lord Dunraven elaborated the subject in the Field."

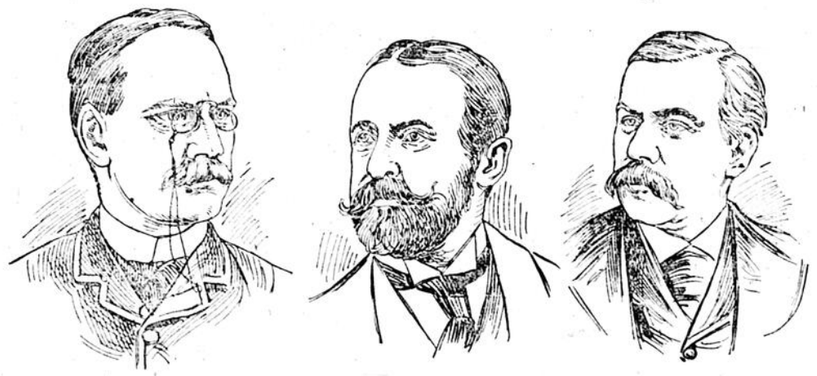

London, November 22.—The St. James Gazette, commenting on the remarks of Lord Dunraven at the banquet given in his honor in Cardiff last night, says:

"It would be Lord Dunraven's proper course not to repeat his accusations, but to produce more plausible evidence to support them."

AMERICAN SHIPPING DECLINE.

Washington, November 22.—The annual report of Eugene F. Chamberlain, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, shows that the numbers and tonnage of the American merchant fleet for the year have been nearly stationary. On June 30, it comprised 23,240 documented vessels of 4,635,969 tons, a decrease of 50,000 tons since June 30, 1894. This decrease is attributable to business inactivity two summers ago, the production of the ship-yards in April, May and June this year much exceeding the production during the same months in 1894.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE LORD DUNRAVEN'S CHARGES.

WILLIAM. C. WHITNEY. GEORGE L. RIVES. J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

WILLOUGHBY'S DECISION.

He is Opposed To Remedial Legislation. Rev. Mr. Herridge on Religion in Schools.

[Special to the Star.]

Toronto, November 22.—An Orangeville despatch to the Globe says that W. B. Willoughby, Government candidate in Cardwell, has written a letter to the secretary of the McCarthyite Convention for Cardwell, announcing that he will oppose remedial legislation on the Manitoba School question in any shape or form.

Ottawa, November 22.—(Special). Rev. Mr. Herridge, preaching in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday, referred to the Manitoba School question. He advocated religion in the schools and said: "Where we differ from some of our fellow citizens is just here—that we do not believe that the particular tenets of ecclesiasticism should replace the universal principles of our common Christianity. It is not the business of the State to make our boys and girls Presbyterian or Anglican or Methodist or Catholic. It is its business to do what it can to make them Christians. I should doubt competence of any teacher to instruct in Euclid or history or physical science, who did not know something of the ethics of Jesus Christ, and did not feel some desire to practice them. It does not seem to me chimerical to believe in the possibility of agreeing upon the broad lines of scripture truth, and the broad principles of our common religion, and I greatly mistake the spirit of the more intelligent Catholic laity, if they would not be willing to join us in any rational attempt to unify our educational system on such a basis, and thus, without any strife or bitterness, eliminate what cannot but be regarded as the anomalous nature of separate schools, because they are no longer necessary."

COFFEE AND CAKE SERVED.

That Wound Up the Warlike Expedition from Ottawa.

[Special to the Star.]

Ottawa, November 22.—The detachment of Ottawa militia that was sent to Lowe on Sunday last to quell the trouble in that quarter, caused by the refusal of the ratepayers to pay their taxes, returned to the city on Wednesday. The orders to break camp at Lowe were given about eleven o'clock on Wednesday forenoon, upon the three magistrates, who had signed the requisition to send on the troops, then ordering their immediate withdrawal, and with the permission of Major-General Gascoigne, Commander of the Canadian forces. It was four o'clock in the afternoon when the troops left Lowe, to the intense relief of the ratepayers of that township. A special train on the Ottawa & Gatineau Railway conveyed them to Ottawa, reaching the Capital about six o'clock. They were welcomed home by a large crowd of people, who cheered lustily as the train pulled into the Union Station. The brass and bugle bands of the Forty-third Battalion headed the procession up town, and a large number of citizens followed the warriors to the Drill Hall, where after being thanked by the Lieutenant-Colonel, the Hon. M. Aylmer, for their services and served with coffee and cake, the men were dismissed.

CLEVELAND'S MESSAGE.

It will Deal with Finance Principally—Sound in Only Principles.

Washington, November 22. — President Cleveland may surprise the country a week from next Monday by a short annual message, devoted to a single topic—finance. It will be an appeal for legislation that will remove the Treasury from the embarrassing influences of a fluctuating demand on its gold—an appeal for the single gold standard and for the withdrawal of greenbacks from circulation. Mr. Cleveland has felt that the financial conditions, in view of the recurring necessity of issuing bonds to maintain the parity of all currency, would justify him in putting aside for the present all other questions. Mr. Cleveland has had it in mind since the last Democratic Congress refused absolutely either to accept Secretary Carlisle's suggestions, a revision of the currency or to enact any substitute legislation. The President, moreover, believes that the Republicans, in the interest of harmony a year hence, will attempt to evade the issue and will insist that relief can be simply effected by re-applying the protection principle and raising the tariff rates. Mr. Cleveland has felt that a clear cut, easily understood financial issue should be made clear and plain, and, in the language of Secretary Carlisle, "not obscured by ambiguous phrases," and this can be forced only by making the financial question the overshadowing issue from now on.

GOLD BARS FOR EXPORT.

[Special to the Star.]

New York, November 22.—The recent withdrawals of gold have reduced the free coin in the Treasury here to a little over $3,000,000, and as further withdrawals might inconvenience the Treasury, the Secretary last night authorized the sale of United States gold bars to exporters at a premium of 1-10 of 1 per cent. The bankers, however, said they could not afford to pay more than 1-16 of 1 per cent. premium, and after some discussion the Secretary of the Treasury authorized the assistant Treasury here and the superintendent of the pay office to let exporters here have bars at a premium at 1-16 of 1 per cent. Accordingly about $2,500,000 in bars was engaged by eleven o'clock.

IS HILL TO MARRY?

Washington, November 22. — The rumor that Senator D. B. Hill is about to marry is current. He has taken a fine house here.

The Court of Appeal has adjourned until November 28, when judgments will be delivered in a number of cases.

THE REV. MR. HINSON'S CALL.

He will Preach in Moncton a Week From Next Sunday.

Rev. W. B. Hinson, pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, for the past two years and a half, coming to Montreal after a seven year pastorate of the First Baptist Church, at Moncton, N. B., which is said to be the largest Baptist Church in Canada, and who has received an unanimous call to return to his former pastorate at Moncton, will preach in his old pulpit in that city the first Sunday in December.

It is said that Mr. Hinson wishes to personally look over his old field of labor before giving his final decision. A petition largely signed by members of the Young People's Society of the Moncton Church has also been forwarded to Mr Hinson urging him to again return to their midst.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

This evening at eight o'clock will be inaugurated the free course of applied mechanics, given at the Monument National, by Mr. Bonin, engineer, under the auspices of the St. Jean Baptiste Association. This will be followed by four other courses on architecture and construction, agriculture and colonization, universal history and political economy, every day in the week, except Fridays, during the whole winter. This is a new departure for our French citizens, who will undoubtedly reap a great benefit from this innovation in the free education of the masses—thus will the Monument National accomplish its educational object as fast as its financial position will allow the directors to do so. With this object in view, application has been made by these gentlemen for the moral support of the Quebec Government so as to allow them to bond their debt on the most favorable terms, and thus obtain cheap money, as was done for the Verdun Asylum. They are supported in their demand by a large majority of the members of Parliament, without party or nationality distinction. There is every prospect that this moral support for a most worthy educational object will be obtained during the present session.

THE LIBERAL CLUB.

The Liberal Club has elected the following office bearers:

Hon. president, Hon. Wilfrid Laurier; hon. vice-president, Hon. F. G. Marchand; president, Mr. G. W. Stephens, jr.; first vice-president, Mr. E. Guerin; second vice-president, Mr. W. A. Weir; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Chas. A. L. Fisher; French secretary, Mr. J. W. M. Wallace; council, Messrs. R. S. Weir, E. Halley, F. W. Hibbard, Dr. Guerin, M.L.A.; J. P. B. Casgrain, Dr. De Cow, Rothwell Fisher, J. M. Ferguson, P. McDermott and J. D. Cameron.

The nomination of Hon. James McShane, as Liberal candidate in Montreal Centre, was cordially endorsed.

A message was also sent to Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Liberal party, assuring him of the Club's loyalty.

TAYLOR CHURCH CONCERT.

The sacred concert given in Taylor Church last night was a success, as it deserved to be. There was a large audience present, which seemed to fully appreciate the several numbers on the programme, rendered as they were in a truly artistic manner by Miss Alice Herbert, Mrs. E. Scott Peacock, Mr. Stewart Blanford and Mr. E. Duquette. The choir's pieces were all well sung, showing careful training, the soloists in the anthem being Misses Thompson, Swinton, Hay and Gilmour, and Messrs. J. H. C. Clelland, Laing, Sutherland and Foreman. Mr. J. Angus Winter acted efficiently as accompanist, and the Rev. Mr. Bennet delivered an eloquent address on Thanksgiving, while Mr. Ernest Scott Peacock, organist of the church, made an able conductor.

The liabilities of Louis Solomon, tailor, who assigned at the instance of A. Small & Co., are placed at $5000. The privileged creditors are the Delisle estate for rent, $225, and F. Lefebvre, for wages, $81.50. Among the other creditors are: James McDougall, notes, $646; A. Small & Co., notes and goods, $552; Dignan & Co., Toronto, notes and goods, $661; W. E. Ross & Co., notes, $368; C. X. Tranchemontagne, notes, $361; Gault Bros. & Co., notes, $345; H. Levy, account, $155; S. Solomon, note, $110; and A. Belasco, goods, $200.

MISS GANTHONY.

Miss Nellie Ganthony was yesterday welcomed back to Montreal by large and appreciative audiences. At the evening entertainment, especially, the Temple Music Hall proved altogether too small, and a number of people were turned away.

The success which in the past attended "Mrs. Gushaway's Children," was altogether eclipsed by the "Trilby Sketches" and "For Charity's Sake." In this latter selection, Miss Ganthony was seen at her best, her description of the manner in which Miss St. Croix learned Elocution, and the final "Coster" song, being loudly applauded. "Heart of Woman" was a superb piece of acting of a more solemn nature, and the strain was becoming almost painful when Miss Ganthony switched off to "The Tall of the Fforgranny," a screamingly funny sketch, which sent everyone home in excellent humor.

In view of the fact that many were unable to gain admittance to the two entertainments given yesterday, Miss Ganthony has consented to stay over until to-morrow, when she will give another performance in the afternoon, in the same hall.

One of the sketches to-morrow afternoon will be Miss Ganthony's success, "In Search of An Engagement." Miss Ganthony sails for England next week.

Rev. Percy Grubb and Mr. E. Stock will address an open meeting of the Montreal Woman's Auxiliary, in the Synod Hall, on Saturday afternoon, at three o'clock.

SHERMAN KNIFING HARRISON.

New York, November 22.— Both Senator Sherman and ex-President Harrison are in New York, the latter presumably nursing his Presidential boom. Mr. Sherman, in talking about political matters, incidentally referred to the nomination of Harrison in 1888. He stated it had all been arranged that the New York delegation were to vote for Sherman; but Mr. Platt swung things otherwise on a promise from Harrison that he (Platt) was to control the political patronage of New York State; but Mr. Sherman stated that Harrison never seriously entertained taking Platt into his Cabinet. Mr. Platt, when seen about the statement, said he would deal with it later. Sherman doesn't think Harrison will be the Republican choice for President next year. Sherman is here presumably to offset any Platt-Harrison alliance that may be in the wind, and to boom his own chances; failing that, to lend a helping hand to Governor Morton.

A CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

Windsor, Ont., November 22.—C. W. Gauthier, on behalf of the Independence of Canada Club, has accepted the challenge of George Hague, Manager of the Merchant's Bank, Montreal, to show that the United States has increased in proportion more rapidly than Canada.

ARMENIANS STRIKE.

ROBERT BOND'S CASE

Bright's Disease Again Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Robert Bond, of Mount Bridges—He is Given up and Paid His Insurance. But Gets Well—Who Next?

Special to the Star.

Mount Bridges, Nov. 22.—Your correspondent, acting under general instructions to investigate every extraordinary claim of cure made in the interests of Dodd's Kidney Pills, seeing a published account in a London daily, I came here for this purpose.

He sought out Mr. Rober Bond, the subject of the reputed cure, introduced himself, stating his object, and Mr. Bond did the talking. He said:

He sought out Mr. Robert Bond, the life to using Dodd's Kidney Pills. I have written to the proprietors to that effect.

"I did so after consulting with my physician, to be quite certain that I was entirely cured, and he said I was.

"Yes, I was paid six hundred dollars by a Provident Insurance Company as my claim for total disability.

"Of course it was after all this that I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My trouble was Bright's disease of the kidneys in its final stage, and there seemed no hope. The doctors so decided who examined me.

"I used in all about twenty boxes. I am cured; I feel well and strong, and but for an injury disabling my hand I could work as well as ever.

"I have used no other medicine or remedy since commencing to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I recommend them to every one as being all, and more, than they are claimed to be, and I am grateful for my life."

Prevention is better than cure. A few doses of Dodd's Kidney Pills would have saved all such trouble.

THE LEGISLATORS AT QUEBEC.

DISCUSSION OVER THE MONTREAL GUARDS

Information Not Given; Not in The Public Interest—Report of The Superintendent of Public Instruction—Short Sitting on Thursday.

[Special to the Star.]

Quebec, November 22.—At Wednesday afternoon's sitting of the Legislative Assembly, the dismissal of certain employees of the Montreal gaol was brought up, and a rather lively debate ensued upon the Attorney General's refusal to produce certain documents.

The honorable gentleman assured the House that it would not be in the public interest to produce the documents in question; but the Opposition members were not satisfied with this assurance, and the matter will probably be further discussed.

Insinuations respecting the payment of certain sums to certain gentlemen for delivering agricultural lectures were also made by the Opposition, and excited the virtuous indignation of the Premier and other ministers, and the House was assured that the Government had given the farmers throughout the Province instruction in the science of agriculture, and would continue to do so.

Mr. Cooke introduced a bill to amend the law respecting life insurance by husbands and parents. Then the same member presented a bill to abolish the Legislative Council.

Mr. Stephens presented his act respecting Royal Commission, particulars of which have been already published.

Mr. Bourbonnais introduced a bill to amend the municipal code, and one respecting Mutual Fire Insurance Companies; also a bill to amend the Quebec Election Law.

The Hon. Mr. Casgrain's bill to amend the Notarial Code, was also presented.

Mr. Bourbonnais then moved for an order for depositions taken at the enquiry by Mr. Jodoin on the officers and employes of the Montreal gaol. He said that a secret enquiry had been held, which had resulted in the dismissal of five employes. These employes had asked the Government the reasons for their dismissal, and no notice had been taken of their requests. Mr. Bourbonnais thought the public had a right to know for what reasons these employes had been dismissed.

The Hon. Mr. Casgrain said that an enquete had been necessary. He regretted that he did not think that it was advisable to communicate to the house the reasons for which he had held that an enquiry had been necessary. It was not in the public interest that the head of a department should be called upon to give public explanations in all cases of dismissals of certain employes and of other details in the working of his department. Such procedure would be subversive of discipline. The honorable gentleman under the circumstances of the present case felt bound to ask the House to express its confidence in him by rejecting the present motion. By so doing they would testify to their trust in his discretion.

The hon. gentleman went on to quote Bourinot in support of his contention that the Government was justified in refusing the production of documents, when it was considered that such production would be injurious to the public interest. Therefore, Mr. Casgrain did not think the motion should be allowed to pass.

Mr. G. W. Stephens thought it was an extraordinary thing that five Liberals were discharged.

Mr. Casgrain said that the men were not all Liberals. In any case, that had not been considered, and the hon. gentleman was astonished that a member of the standing of his honorable friend the member for Huntingdon should speak in such a strain. It would have a bad effect, especially among the gaol employees.

Mr. Stephens was not afraid. He objected to men being discharged "without a character." If these men had been discharged with such very serious reasons as the Attorney-General insinuated, the House and the public should certainly know it.

Mr. Casgrain: "If I am asked the reason why any particular employee was dismissed, I shall give it.

Mr. Stephens—"Well, why not let us have all the papers?"

Mr. Casgrain—"I am the judge."

Mr. Stephens retorted that his honorable friend was a partizan judge. In fact, the Government were trying to introduce the principle, "to the victors the spoils." The Government was gradually becoming a regular Star Chamber body.

The Hon. Mr. Taillon said that if the dismissed gaolers felt agrieved they had other remedies than those which the Opposition sought to provide. The Attorney-General's offer to state why the men had been dismissed ought to be satisfactory.

Mr. Lemieux held that Mr. Bourbonnais' motion was constitutional. The country had a right to know whether it was being faithfully served or not. He moved the adjournment of the debate, hoping that, with time to reflect, the Attorney-General would admit the propriety of the request of Mr. Bourbonnais.

The adjournment was agreed to.

There was some amusing discussion upon a motion by Mr. Dechene for a detailed statement of the expenses of two gentlemen who had been sent to the Labrador coast as lecturers last summer, to teach the natives, as Mr. Dechene irreverently put it, to grow carrots.

One of these gentlemen was a brother of one of the ministers, and Mr. Stephens objected to the principle of relatives of ministers being taken into the public service. It was a thing that would never be tolerated in England.

The Hon. Mr. Taillon did not see why, if a man had the misfortune to be related to a minister, he should be debarred from legitimate employment. The Government was taking steps to have the farmers of the province instructed by means of lectures delivered by men versed in the theory and practice of agriculture, and capable of imparting their information. This policy had already borne good results, and would be continued.

The sitting of the House on Thanksgiving Day lasted but an hour. Several bills were advanced a stage, and that was all.

A return brought down shows the cost of negotiating the last French loan to have been as follows: 1 per cent. commission and cost of advertising, $53,329.76; to E. J. Barbeau, $1,006.58; miscellaneous, $580.95; total, $54,917.29; net proceeds of the loan to the province, $4,104,808.99.

The annual report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction has been distributed. "The few months," commences the Hon. Mr. de La Bruere, the new Superintendent, "during which I have been at the head of the Department of Public Instruction have taught me that a great share of my efforts must be directed to the improvement of our primary schools. Our system of education, good in itself, has need, nevertheless, of development.

I am positive that the country schools do not offer to the c[illegible] who attend them all the attra[illegible] w[illegible]ch they ought. A number of children leave them without having had produced upon their intelligence an impression sufficiently lasting to cause them to desire to increase their stock of knowledge. It is a want that must be supplied; a weak point which must be fortified.

"Statistics show that there are in the province 1283 municipalities under the control of school commissioners and trustees. These municipalities possess 5196 elementary schools, 533 model schools, 157 academies, and 4 deaf and dumb schools, a total of 5890.

"The teachers, male and female, number 5950. Of these only 665 have a normal school certificate, the remaining 5285 having none. This great disproportion indicates a real evil, to which a remedy must be applied as soon as possible, for want of training among the teachers is an obstacle to the efficiency of the schools, especially in the case of the female teachers who number 5022 out of the total of 5950.

The report goes on to recommend the establishment of new normal schools for girls. There are only two at present in the province, one for Protestants in Montreal, and one for Catholics in Quebec. The cost of the establishment and support of additional Catholic normal schools could be reduced to a minimum by affiliating such schools to establishments controlled by the different religious teaching communities. The report recommends the delivering of lectures in the art of teaching in different portions of the province.

As a mode of increasing the attractiveness of the primary schools in the rural districts, it is suggested that instruction in the art of agriculture should be included in the curriculum. Eminent authorities are quoted in favor of giving children instruction in this art as early as possible.

The total number of pupils attending the different schools in the Province in 1894-5 was 229,859, an increase of about 15,000 on the preceding year. This number, however, is not considered sufficient; but it is to be remembered that a number of children attend schools not controlled by the Commissioners, which do not furnish any statistics of attendance.

The hon. gentleman's report also makes complimentary reference to McGill's new principal, Dr. Peterson, and his distinguished predecessor. Allusion is also made to the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Bishop's College.

In a report of the Commissioner of Crown Lands, Mr. Obalski, the inspector of mines, supplies the following information: In 1893-4, the amount collected from the sale of lands, amounted only to $1.25, while this year it is $11,594.35, an increase of $10,319.35. A portion of this amount is only on deposit, the purchasers having not yet complied with all the formalities of the Mining Law for obtaining letters patent. The amount collected for prosecuting licenses shows a proportionate increase. Thus in 1893-4, the collections were $1361; this year they are $1376.58, an increase of $1018.50. The report deals with gold and chromic iron mines in the Eastern Townships. Of the latter up to date (September 15) 2746 tons have been shipped as compared with 915 tons in 1894. Some hundreds of low grade (40 per cent. minimum) were used in Europe and the United States, probably in metallurgy.

MR. SEARGEANT'S SUCCESSOR.

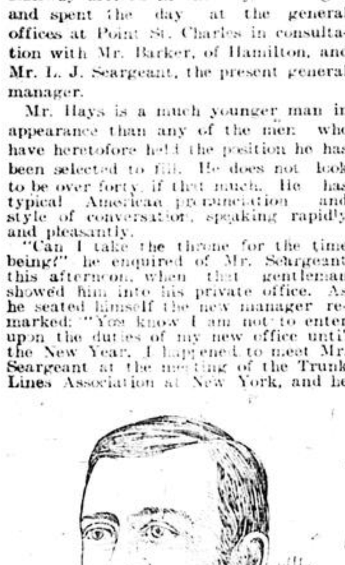

NEW GENERAL MANAGER OF THE G. T. R. IN THE CITY.

Mr. Hays Spends the Day at the General Offices, but does not Assume His Duties until after New Years.

Mr. C. M. Hays, the recently appointed general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway arrived in the city last night and spent the day at the general offices at Point St. Charles in consultation with Mr. Barker, of Hamilton, and Mr. L. J. Seargeant, the present general manager.

Mr. Hays is a much younger man in appearance than any of the men who have heretofore held the position he has been selected to fill. He does not look to be over forty, if that much. He has typical American pronunciation and style of conversation, speaking rapidly and pleasantly.

"Can I take the throne for the time being?" he enquired of Mr. Seargeant this afternoon, when that gentleman showed him into his private office. As he seated himself the new manager remarked: "You know I am not to enter upon the duties of my new office until the New Year. I happened to meet Mr. Seargeant at the meeting of the Trunk Lines Association at New York, and he asked me to come on to Montreal to discuss with him some details affecting the Grand Trunk's position in the great inter-company arrangement. Having a day or so to spare I came on here and here I am, but I am going back to St. Louis to-night."

"Was the meeting of trunk line representatives successful?"

"Yes, quite, I may say. The agreement was signed by representatives of all of the roads on Tuesday, and the agreement is an accomplished fact."

"What will be the result of the arrangement?"

"Well, so far as the public is concerned, there will not be much difference, but much ruinous competition between the companies will be stopped."

Mr. Hayes asked not to be requested to discuss Grand Trunk matters. He had had no opportunity to post himself on the position of the road, and consequently had been unable to frame any decision as to the future management of the road.

The Grand Trunk was certainly a splendid system and he believed would participate in a general improvement of the railway business which he firmly anticipated. There had been splendid crops in the Western States and throughout Canada, and he considered that there was two years good business for the railways in sight. A satisfactory fact was the confidence feeling abroad that a general revival of trade was approaching. The railways were bound to feel the effect of such an improvement before any other industry, for the railways are acknowledged to be the best barometers of prosperity.

Mr. Hays remarked that he expected to return to Montreal to take up his appointment early in the new year, but he does not expect to bring his family on until some time later.

Mr. Hays added that he was looking forward to his residence in Montreal with a great deal of pleasure, for he had often been here to confer with Mr. Seargeant and Sir Joseph Hickson, as well as Mr. Shaughnessy and Mr. Olds, of the Canadian Pacific, and he had always been impressed with the prosperity of the city and the hospitality of its people.

THE LACK OF MONEY.

Following is the City Surveyor's reply to Mr. Robb's letter:

Dear Sir,--In reply to your letter of the 18th inst., in which you state that you will only allow me a pay roll of $3000 a week, and that I must stop the cleaning and repairs of streets and also of sidewalks,

I must before obeying your request state emphatically that the cleaning and repairs of the roadways and also of sidewalks will entail upon the city a great amount of damage not only in accidents but also in the destroying of our roadways. Not cleaning macadamized streets at this season of the year will do more damage in one week than the traffic of a whole month, and not to clean our paved streets will simply render them impossible to travel on. The mud which will be on the asphalt and wood pavements will become so slippery that no horse will be able to stand. In regard to the non-repairing of sidewalks I can only say that with the small force I have at present, I have daily claims coming against the city for accidents through loose or rotten planks.

I will send a copy of this letter to you, to the Mayor and also to the Road Committee as money should be provided for by the Council to meet these demands and if not provided I must in my duty to the Council notify them of the damage of stopping such work.

(Signed) Yours truly,
PERCIVAL W. ST. GEORGE,
City Surveyor.

JUMPED AND DIED.

Horrible Fate of Two Girls in Chicago.

Chicago, November 22.—Fire attended with loss of life broke out at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the seven-story building at 25-27 Van Buren street. The fire originated on the fifth floor and the occupants including men, women and children, became panic-stricken and made a dash for the stairs, the elevators and windows. Two girls, Nellie Turner and Kittie Landgraf, who seemed terrified with fright, rushed to the Van Buren street windows and despite the cries of the crowd on the street to await the ladders, they threw themselves headlong into the street, breaking almost every bone in their bodies. They were taken to the hospital, where it was said both would die. A ladder was finally raised and the firemen rushed up it just as another girl was jumping from the window.

The building was practically destroyed. It was occupied by Messrs. Arnold, Rosenberg, Richman & Co. and other tailors. The fire spread to an adjoining building, similarly occupied, and this was gutted; loss $300,000.

Chicago, November 22.—The second storey of the Van Buren street building, wrecked by fire this morning, fell this afternoon. Several firemen are buried in the ruins, it is said.

SIR CHARLES ON CANADA.

London, November 22.—Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner for the Dominion of Canada in Great Britain, addressed the Tyneside Geographical Institute at New Castle, last night on the subject "Canada." His address was largely descriptive and statistical. He strongly advocated reciprocal trade between the British colonies and the Mother Country. Many articles, he said, that Great Britain imported from foreign countries could be supplied by Canada. He contended that it was the duty of every Britain to promote between the colonies and Great Britain that connection which he believed was indispensable for their future progress and prosperity.

THE SUPERINTENDENT'S RESIGNATION.

TROUBLE IN THE CATHEDRAL SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

A Difficulty with the Churchwardens Led to Mr. Buchanan's Action--- The Resolution Passed by some of the Teachers.

Church circles are disturbed over a somewhat serious trouble which has arisen between the rector and vestry of Christ Church Cathedral on the one side, and Mr. R. H. Buchanan, the late superintendent of the Cathedral Sunday-School, on the other, and which has already resulted in Mr. Buchanan severing his connection with the school and the congregation of the Cathedral Church, and the resignation of fourteen teachers of the former.

The trouble in question has extended over a period of seven weeks, at the beginning of which time on September 24, the select vestry of the Cathedral passed a resolution to the effect that a tax of $200 per annum would be levied in future upon the Sunday-School for the use of the synod hall for Sunday-School purposes.

As a reason for this action on the part of the Vestry it was stated in the resolution "that considering the kind and generous action of all the neighboring Sunday-schools in relieving the churches with which they are connected from all Sunday-school expenses, and, in some instances, giving them further aid, and also considering the exceptionally heavy costs of restoring and maintaining Christ Church Cathedral, and the present deficiency in funds for the purpose, this select vestry advises that the first change upon the Cathedral Sunday-school children's offerings should be the $200 a year now paid by the wardens for rent and general expenses."

The resolution further stated that the Rector had been requested to explain the financial change to the parents of the scholars and the Sunday-school.

The Cathedral congregation is perhaps the only one in the city which has been forced to pay an annual rental for the premises occupied by the Sunday-school under its charge.

Some years ago, when the change was made from the building east of the Champ de Mars to the present quarters in the Synod Hall, it was agreed by the congregation and the Diocesan authorities that the Sunday-school might enjoy the use of the hall in question for an annual rental of $120. In addition to this amount, an extra sum of $80 has been annually imposed upon the congregation for the purpose of providing books, leaflets, etc., for the use of the scholars. The total amount, therefore, derived from the congregation for school purposes has in the past been in the neighborhood of the amount now demanded by the vestry from the school. This double tax of $200 has always hitherto been met by the Cathedral authorities, the understanding existing between the Cathedral vestry and the Sunday-school authorities being that the offertories of the school were to be devoted in their entirety to missionary objects, both in the home and foreign fields. Such was the understanding when Mr. Buchanan assumed the duties of superintendent 12 years ago, since which time the school has contributed $1015 to various missions in Canada and elsewhere.

The resolution of September 24 provided that a portion of these funds should be devoted towards meeting the obligation at present resting upon the cathedral congregation of providing for the maintenance of the Sunday school in its present quarters. It was adopted by the vestry without conferring with Mr. Buchanan in the matter. Such an omission was thought by Mr. Buchanan to be equivalent to a breach of confidence between the vestry and himself. When informed of the nature of the resolution, the latter expressed his disapproval of the proposition therein contained, and intimated that he could not consent to allow the funds of the school to be devoted to the purposes indicated in the resolution.

Sychronious with the refusal of Mr. Buchanan to agree to the terms of the resolution, he received a letter from the vestry clerk, in which the latter intimated that he had received an offer for the sittings in the cathedral which had been occupied by Mr. Buchanan for some years past, and the lease for which did not expire until the 30th of October last—a certain party being willing to pay a higher premium for them.

To this letter Mr. Buchanan returned no answer. Shortly afterwards he received a verbal message that his seat had been leased to the gentleman named. At divine service on the following Sabbath the sittings were occupied by the new comer. An enquiry into the matter resulted in the discovery that other sittings in the same pew had been offered to the gentleman in question, but that he had refused them, being situated, as they were, at the extreme end of the pew. Two of Mr. Buchanan's sittings had then been offered him, which he accepted. On learning the facts, of the case, Mr. Buchanan wrote to the rector and vestry, intimating his intention of giving up the pew.

A meeting of the teachers of the Sunday-school was subsequently called, at which Mr. Buchanan signified his intention of resigning his position as superintendent and withdrawing from the membership of the Cathedral Church. He was prevented from so doing, however, by the strenuous opposition of the teachers, and eventually agreed to remain in charge of the school, and to attend as usual the Cathedral services.

He communicated with the rector, requesting that he might again be permitted to occupy his old sittings, at the same time offering to lease the entire pew. His offer was refused, however.

Meanwhile the teachers of the Sunday school had held a meeting, at which the following resolution was passed, which was signed by twenty out of twenty-four on the staff:

"That the teachers of this school were sorely grieved and shocked at the manner in which Mr. Buchanan was deprived of the sittings so long occupied by him in the Church; which action they feel was wanting in justice and Christian courtesy, and seems to have been done for the purpose of compelling him to resign his position as superintendent of the school; also for the treatment accorded him in dismissing him without notice from that position, which he has so long and faithfully held; also for the reasons given by the rector for such action.

"They feel that Mr. Buchanan has been most unfairly treated and wish to record their utmost confidence in him and their regret that the rector should have acted in a manner, apparently so insincere and wanting in frankness."

Signed—Geo. B. Capel, C. E. Gault, M. Ingham Peebles, J. M. Harrower, A. Adams, Emily Hepburn, P. A. Howard, Ethel Hiam, Edith Jack, E. A. B. Cramp, G. H. Harrower, E. L. Day, L. Leach, Milda E. Leach, Clare Slade, Edith M. Slade, Albert J. Day, Charles T. Hare, Wm. Akerman and F. Gault.

"We are much surprised to receive such a memorial as that of the 12th inst., as Mr. Buchanan has been treated by us with every courtesy and consideration, nor was he deprived of his sittings in the Cathedral or dismissed from the Sunday School. Every effort was made to meet his wishes, both by the wardens and the Rector, who were most anxious to retain him in the Cathedral and Sunday School; but without avail and he joined St. James Church. He gave notice in September of his intention to give up his sittings in the Cathedral and also his position in the Sunday School and has repeatedly expressed his intention since then.

"The only reason given at the Sunday School last Sunday by the Rector for Mr. Buchanan's retirement, was that assigned to him by Mr. Buchanan himself, viz: 'That he had made it a subject of prayer, and that the Lord was leading him to withdraw.'

"Mr. Buchanan, who addressed the school after the Rector and Mr. Lewis, apparently concurred in the remarks of the clergy, who then left the school believing that all was as it ought to be, and that the good work done there should continue.

"We are informed that directly after the clergy left the school, statements were made in the presence of the teachers and scholars respecting the action of the wardens in regard to the sittings, and also representing the rector as having dismissed Mr. Buchanan as superintendent of the Sunday-school.

"From the character of the statements, as reported to us, and the fact that we had no opportunity with respect to them, we can understand how easily they led to the signing of a document so hasty and so utterly incorrect as that before us.

"Mr. Buchanan's withdrawal from our church and school has been a matter of regret to us, as well as to the school, but we were unable to prevent it. We would fain hope that in the excitement of the moment more has been said and written than was intended and that notwithstanding this memorial, Mr. Buchanan will be allowed after so many years of good work to leave the church and school with the good wishes of all.

"We remain,
Yours truly,
J. G. NORTON,
Rector.
G. H. SMITHERS,
H. F. ADAMS,
Churchwardens."

Mr. Buchanan continued to discharge the duties of the superintendent's office in the absence of any formal resignation until last Sunday week, when the Rev. Canon Norton appointed the Rev. Mr. Lewis to the office.

The teachers have held meetings since then, with the result that fourteen have decided to sever their connection with the Cathedral school. Their resignations take effect at once.

A gentleman prominently connected with the Cathedral, states regarding the difficulty over the pew, that the lease for the seats expired in May, and that they were offered to Mr. Buchanan three times, each time by a different person, and that each time he declined to re-take them.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

There was very little business transacted this forenoon on the stock exchange. There was an inactive and apathetic feeling prevailing among room traders. The tone of the market was heavy and depressing for whole list. In Banks there was little doing. There were a few sales of Molsons at 180, and of Union at 100 xd. The miscellaneous list was equally as dull. Gas to a small extent changed hands at 207 1-8, and Richelieu at 93. Cable Co. were placed at 165 1-2 to 166. Toronto Railway were weaker at 79 1-4 to 79, and Canadian Pacific sold at 56 3-4. Montreal Street Railway declined on small deals to 206 1-2. The rest of the list was neglected.

The London and continental markets were all reported as dull and tendency lower levels. The Eastern political situation is still a troublesome factor. There are also great fears of a further and sharper decline in Kaffirs.

Wall Street was reported duller than ever and business at almost a standstill. The talk of the "Street" is a new bond loan early in the new year. It is stated on good authority that five million gold is going to-morrow to Europe and exchange is stronger now than any time yesterday. Some people think that the big shipments for the week would relieve the exchange situation. This view is incorrect as big gold shipments are likely next week. The total amount of gold shipped for the week will go over $7,000,000. If the shipments of gold continue, the market, it is said, will go much lower.

Morning Sales.—10 Molsons at 180; 25 Union x-d at 100; 28 Telegraph at 163; 15 Cable at 165 1-2, 25 at 166, 25 at 165 3-4, 6 at 166; 25 Toronto Ry. at 79 1-4, 50 at 79; 50 Gas at 207 1-8; 25 R. & O. Nav. Co. at 93; 25 C. P. R. at 56 3-4; 3 St. Ry. at 207 1-2, 50 at 207 3-4; 1 at 206 1-2.

Afternoon Sales.—50 Cable at 165 1-2; 50 St. Ry. at 206; 25 Toronto Ry. at 79, 50 at 78 1-2; 15 Telegraph at 164; 25 Montreal Cotton at 129 1-2, 25 at 129 3-4.

DUCHARME,

Organist of the Jesuits' Church and Professor of the Piano,

Montreal 17 Janv 1894

Mon cher Pratte

Je me fais un devoir d'ami et d'artiste de vous féliciter sur le succès de vos splendides pianos. Celui dont j'ai fait l'acquisition est vraiment un petit bijou aussi remarquable par la puissance l'ampleur et la beauté du son que par les qualités de ses vibrations douces et veloutées.

Vos instruments méritent aussi une attention toute spéciale pour la perfection de leur mécanisme toucher facile et absolument agréable sous les doigts.

Veuillez donc accepter les félicitations et les souhaits de succès de votre ami

Dominique Ducharme

[TRANSLATION.]

MONTREAL, 17th January, 1894.

MY DEAR PRATTE,—

I feel it my duty, both as a friend and a musician, to congratulate you on the success of your splendid pianos. The one which I have purchased is really quite a little treasure, as remarkable for the power, breadth and beauty, as for the sweetness and velvety quality of its tone.

Your instruments call for special word of praise on account of their perfect mechanism and extremely agreeable touch. Your piano is really an artistic creation which does honor both to yourself and your native country.

Please accept the congratulations and best wishes for success of your friend.

DOMINIQUE DUCHARME.

The above unsolicited letter from such a well known musician and so generally esteemed as Mr. Ducharme needs no comment. Mr. Ducharme's opinion of the PRATTE PIANO is like that of all the other connoisseurs who have tested it.

You will find at our warerooms a large assortment to select from at reasonable prices and on easy terms of payment.

Second-hand Pianos and Organs of all descriptions accepted in part payment.
