Armed men hold up woman Caisse manager in Ham South, get $3,000

WEATHER

Cloudy with periods of showers today and this evening; seasonably high temperatures; easterly winds becoming light this afternoon. High today at Sherbrooke 45. Outlook for Thursday: Snowflurries and colder.

HAM SOUTH — Two masked men held a mother and her two children at gunpoint, threatening to kill them, as they looted the safe of the Caisse populaire which the woman manages in this hamlet, 12 miles from Weedon.

The loot was estimated by Provincial Police this morning at $3,000.

An abandoned late model car was found this morning on Route 32 near Wotton. The car was stolen in Sherbrooke yesterday.

While police have not as yet been able to connect the two incidents, they said this morning that the possibility is great that the car was stolen by the bandits in Sherbrooke to be used in the holdup, and later abandoned.

This is the strongest lead that has turned up so far in the continuing investigation. Men of the Sherbrooke detachment spent a good part of last night patrolling the area around South Ham, but found no traces of the thugs.

The investigation last night was slowed, police said, by the nervous state of the manager, Mrs. Rene Houle. She was alone in her bank-home with her two children when the holdup occurred.

She told police that two bandits forced their way into the home through the back door and declared "this is a holdup."

The men forced her to open the safe and then fled with the contents into a waiting car. The exact quantity of money stolen is not yet known but Mrs. Houle estimated the loot taken at $3,000.

The thugs warned Mrs. Houle not to call police for two hours threatening to kill her two children and burn their house if she did. The woman did call police after the men fled from the scene.

MLA row centres on city

QUEBEC — (Special) — The Quebec Legislature last night finally concluded its study of the Public Works Department estimates. But approval came only after several days of bitter debate in committee which saw one session adjourned in disorder after a bitter exchange of personal insults between Government and Opposition members.

Monday night's committee session was one of the wildest witnessed in the Legislative Assembly for many years.

The trouble started when Opposition members raised charges of patronage in connection with the St. George Pavilion on the outskirts of Sherbrooke.

Launched under the Union Nationale administration, the multi-million dollars building complex was originally planned as a mental hospital. But with the advent of the Liberal Government in 1960, the idea of a mental hospital was abandoned and a decision taken to hand the project over to the University of Sherbrooke to house its proposed medical faculty, university hospital and school of nursing.

Although the buildings themselves have been completed, work on the interior was suspended in 1961 awaiting new plans required by the decision to convert the project from a mental to a university hospital.

During the debate, if it could be called such, Premier Lesage indicated that one reason for delay was differences of opinion within the University organization over the advisability of establishing a medical faculty which resulted in the recent resignation of Dr. Guy Larouche, who was to have headed the medical school.

The federal government was planning substantial assistance to the hospital, he said, and their approval of changes to the plan was also necessary before any work could proceed.

The uproar began when Rene Lavoie (NU—Wolfe) accused the government of favoring Sherbrooke architect Alphonse Belanger.

He went on "More than that, the Premier the other day got angry because he was accused of encouraging his relatives . . . "

Premier Lesage sprang from his chair and, in a voice choked with restrained anger, said: "I will speak once and for all on this subject."

He told the House, amid opposition shouting, that he had been wrongly accused last week, in the public accounts committee, of having favored a brokerage firm of which his brother-in-law is a partner.

"The reason I told the Leader of the Opposition I would never forgive him (for what he had said) is because I was so profoundly moved by this unjustified attack," Mr. Lesage said.

UofS students march

QUEBEC (CP) — About 100 students taking teachers' technical courses at the University of Sherbrooke demonstrated in front of the Quebec legislature Tuesday to obtain continued recognition of their degrees and government grants for technical studies.

It was an orderly affair.

They were met by Arthur Tremblay, chief of planning for the youth department.

The students acted after announcement of a government plan to open a technical normal school in Montreal next September.

They fear the new school will lead to the gradual abandonment by the University of Sherbrooke of its technical courses for teachers and thus weaken the position of those graduating with the technical degree.

Mr. Tremblay assured the students that their degrees would be maintained even after the publication of the second part of the Parent Report on Quebec education.

But he told the demonstrators that, since the courses at Sherbrooke duplicated the ones to be given at Montreal, the Sherbrooke course would have to be abandoned as fast as those now taking it finished the three-year period of instruction.

In a brief to the department, the students claimed their course is "the best in Canada" and that the department's attitude has been discriminative.

They added:

"Apparently the biggest difficulty faced by the University of Sherbrooke involves the question of government grants.

"Technological progress makes it necessary that there be highly competent teachers to train the working force. The government should act with the least possible delay".

Idle Senate holidays as MPs muddle

OTTAWA (CP) — The stalemate in Parliament over spending estimates entered its third week today with no immediate end in sight.

Mounting tension burst Tuesday in a rare spat between the members of the Senate and the Commons.

The Commons spent a lively—but inconclusive—hour debating whether the Senate should be abolished, or reformed. The rest of the time was spent plodding through the final spending estimates for the fiscal year that ended March 31.

The Senate, meanwhile, decided to adjourn for 13 days since it has no work to do. Senators blamed their idleness on the Commons, which has not passed a single item of the government's legislative program since the session opened Feb. 18.

The Senators served notice they will return to Parliament Hill before April 20 if there is a break in the Commons legislative log jam.

The Commons has made little progress since it opened a wide-ranging debate on supplementary spending estimates for 1963-64 Wednesday, March 25, and continued it over 10 straight sitting days. The projected 10-day Easter recess went by the wayside in the process.

ATMOSPHERE TENSE

The tense atmosphere in Parliament was reminiscent of similar stalemates shortly before the 1962 and 1963 general elections, when the party roles were reversed. Today marks the first anniversary of the election, which put the Liberals in office.

Stanley Knowles, veteran New Democrat MP for Winnipeg North Centre and former Labor leader, sparked Tuesday's fireworks with his private member's bill to abolish the Senate.

COATICOOK DECORATES — Looking West along Coaticook's Main Street, a portion of the street decorations being erected to mark the Centennial year can be seen. The large silver colored wreath, enclosing the figure "100", and the garlands of silver foil are illuminated at night by colored bulbs strung across the street at intervals. The same decorations are also hung on the Child Street business area.

Jet crashes, breaks

NEW YORK (AP)—A jet airliner carrying 136 passengers and a crew of nine bounced into a swamp and cracked open while trying to land at Kennedy International Airport Tuesday night.

At least 40 persons were treated for injuries ranging from cuts, bruises and hysteria to dislocated and broken bones. Police said 15 of the more severely injured were taken to hospitals. One male passenger was treated for a heart attack.

The Boeing 707, a Pan American World Airways flight from San Juan, Puerto Rico, was landing in light fog when it bounced off the end of the runway and plowed into a marshy field.

There was no fire. Foam was spread to reduce that possibility.

The crew helped passengers into two life rafts, but some stepped from the plane directly into about two feet of mud and water.

A Pan American official declined to speculate whether the plane had overshot its landing or couldn't stop after landing because of the wet, slick runway.

The jet came to rest about 1,000 feet from the end of the runway.

Probe confession

MONTREAL (CP)—The Coffin inquiry is to continue hearings today on circumstances surrounding the confession of Mohawk Indian Francis Thompson that he killed two United States hunters in the Gaspe Peninsula—and his subsequent retraction.

Thompson was being questioned in Miami on a theft charge in November, 1958, when he confessed that he and a man called Johnny Green killed the bear hunters. He retracted the confesson a few days later.

Economic threat

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial nationalism is creeping into and threatening the future of Canada's economy, A. T. Brodeur, president of the Canadian Importers' Association, said today.

He told the association's one-day annual meeting that the practice of provinces favoring manufacturers within their own borders at the expense of other Canadian firms is a cancer that must be halted.

"The countries of Europe, with far larger populations, are breaking down barriers between themselves," Mr. Bordeur said.

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia told the world trade committee today it will abolish all tariffs on imports from underdeveloped countries as of Jan. 1, 1965.

Soviet delegate Viktor Spandarjan, made the announcement in the committee on expansion of international trade at the world trade conference.

He told the committee "the Soviet Union, in response to the wishes of the developing countries, has decided to abolish from Jan. 1, 1965, its tariffs on products coming from the developing countries."

Russia will also increase its purchase of primary products, semi - manufactured and manufactured goods in the developing countries, he said.

ENCOURAGES TRADE

In addition, it was prepared to collaborate with these countries in specialization and cooperation in the different sorts of production.

It also was prepared to encourage trade between developing countries even at the expense of Soviet trade with these countries, he said.

The last three offers were originally made in a speech by the Soviet minister of external trade, Nikolai Patolichev, in the conference, two weeks ago.

Patolichev told the conference that by 1980 Russia's commerce with the developing lands would increase eightfold to the equivalent of $11,000,000,000 a year.

He affirmed his government's wish "to see this conference become an important milestone along the road toward the radical improvement of the whole system of world trade."

"We believe that our country can and must make a constructive contribution to the success of the conference."

"The Soviet Union is prepared . . . to give its utmost encouragement to the economic upsurge of the developing countries," Patolichev said.

Turkish soldiers plan to stay put in Cyprus spot

NICOSIA (AP) — The commander of 650 Turkish soldiers isolated in a wedge of land north of this Cyprus capital says his men are staying put unless ordered out by the Turkish government.

"We are on duty in Cyprus," said Col. Hassan Saglam. "And if our government gives an order to us we will move. But we are staying here now."

Meanwhile, Turkish Cypriots, continuing their criticism of the UN peace force on Cyprus, assailed its commander, Indian Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, saying they are "disappointed."

The Turkish army contingent is the latest storm centre on bloodied Cyprus.

The Greek - Cypriot government of President Archbishop Makarios has declared the force illegal and threatens to withdraw all its facilities under the treaty.

This would include duty free import of food, gasoline, cigarettes and alcohol, plus householding furnishings for officers. The troops also have had freedom of movement on the island until communal fighting erupted three months ago.

TURKS WARN GREECE

Turkey has told Greece any attack on its force on Cyprus would be considered an act of aggression.

The latest row came last week when Makarios unilaterally abrogated the 1960 treaty of alliance with Greece and Turkey, which authorizes the stationing of 650 Turkish and 950 Greek troops on the island.

US satellite is milestone

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) An unmanned Project Gemini capsule rocketed into orbit today, scoring a resounding success for the United States on the opening shot of its second man-in-space program.

The flight marked a major milestone in the program and bolstered hopes that the first team of two Gemini astronauts will ride side by side into orbit late this year.

A second, more sophisticated unmanned shot scheduled in the summer will be a determining factor in reaching that goal.

The 29 U.S. astronauts and many key space officials observed today's critical firing.

A powerful Titan II rocket, which, until today, was fired only in military weapons' tests, provided the thrust to hurl the two-seat spacecraft into orbit.

It blasted away from its launching pad, after a perfect countdown, at 11 a.m. EST

Killed in racial riot

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland faced its second racial crisis in less than three months today in the wake of a civil rights demonstration that left a Presbyterian minister dead and touched off an all-night wave of rioting and violence.

Civil rights leaders, whose demonstration halted construction Tuesday at a school site, scheduled another demonstration at noon today at the board of education's office.

Rev. Bruce W. Klunder, 27-year-old white minister, was crushed to death under a bulldozer during the demonstration at the school site in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Fifteen other persosn, 10 of them policemen, were injured. Car and store windows were smashed. Police arrested 26 persons, including four juveniles accused of throwing rocks.

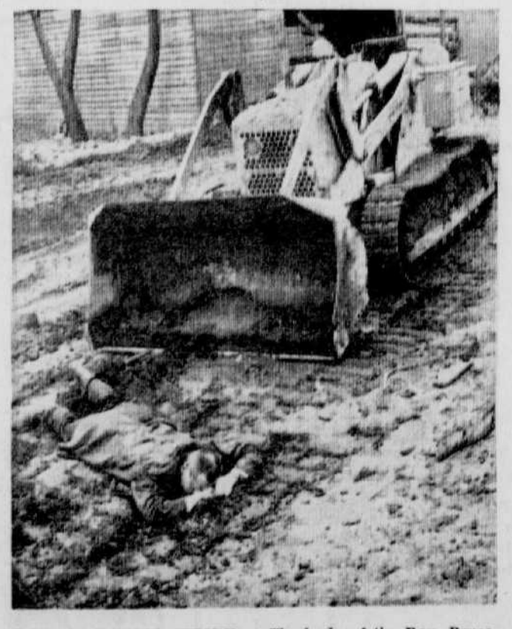

Police and civil rights leaders appealed without success to the crowd, which swelled to more than 3,000, to disperse.

Time and again during the afternoon and early evening, lines of mounted police charged into groups that gathered to hurl taunts and missiles, sending demonstrators scurrying behind buildings.

Mayor Ralph S. Locher, who attends the Church of The Covenant where Mr. Klunder was assistant minister, said the city would use injunctions and fences to block further demonstrations at school construction sites.

Civil rights leaders, on the other hand, called for greater militancy in speeches at a rally at Cory Methodist Church Tuesday night. Miss Ruth Turner, executive secretary of the Cleveland chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, told the rally plans would be made for a school boycott.

A few hours before he threw himself into the mud behind the bulldozer, Mr. Klunder had told another minister he was prepared to risk his life for civil rights.

DIES IN RACIAL STRIFE — The body of the Rev. Bruce W. Klunder, 26, and the earth-moving machine that killed him are shown here minutes after the accident Tuesday. The Presbyterian minister threw himself, face down, in the ditch behind the tractor, and the driver did not see him when he backed the big machine. Note the tread marks across the shoulders of Klunder who was dead when he was picked up. The minister and other civil rights demonstrators were trying to halt construction of a new public elementary school because they said it would preserve a neighborhood school pattern of segregation.

(AP Wirephoto)

He was one of about 150 demonstrators and spectators on the scene when the demonstration began. Police were posted along Lakeview Road to keep demonstrators out of the construction site, but four persons threw themselves under the wheels of a cement truck entering the project. Police pulled them out and carted them away.

The minister joined a group that raced through back yards to get around police lines and enter near the rear of the project.

The bulldozer driver, John White, 33, told police he saw three persons "throw themselves down in front of me. There were two girls and a man.

"I kept my shovel up because I didn't want to hit anybody with it," White said. "The shovel was hanging over those people so I backed up. I didn't know another man was lying behind me.

"I backed up all the way over him, and that was the first I knew I had run over anybody." The tread of the bulldozer passed over the minister's shoulders.

Police cleared White of responsibility in the death.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Television is often accused of playing a "Numbers game" with its reliance on ratings when it comes to keeping or killing shows. It seems that a large segment of the audience quietly plays a numbers game of its own.

This is a game the networks and the stations alike deplore. Despite all the promotion designed to establish a station or network identity—the CBS eye, the NBC peacock, the call-letters flashed on the screens at every station-break time—much of the audience persists in identifying a station merely by the number of their TV set's dial that identifies each station's channel.

A television chain recently confirmed this through an audience research project.

Individual stations and networks work hard to establish attractive images.

The networks are particularly eager to create vivid and pleasing identities. A viewer who isn't exactly sure where his favorite show can be seen is likely to sample all channels in his hunt for it. Sometimes he likes what he samples — and never reaches the program he set out to find.

The series about psychiatry—NBC's 11th Hour, and ABC's Breaking Point didn't have the impact that made Dr. Kildare and Ben Casey big hits, so both will disappear at season's end. Not one new doctor show is on the horizon and next season will find The Nurses and Dr. Kildare having more adventures away from hospital.

Show Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I have lived alone for a year and I have not liked it. So I thought I should have a companion for my sunset years."

Lauritz Melchior was talking about his marriage May 23 to Mary Markham, 40, a television producer who once was his secretary.

Melchior, 74, seemed a long way from sunset. His girth is still Wagnerian—he and his future bride agree he'll be dieting—and his rich tenor can still ring to the rafters.

Further evidence of his youthfulness was offered by Miss Markham, a pretty blonde, with mock complaint: "We'll have a week's honeymoon in Hawaii and then he's going to leave me to hunt ice bear in Norway and Greenland."

Melchior added: "After hunting ice bear, I look forward to coming back to a warm home."

PLANS FOR HOUSE

He is involved in plans to refurbish his Mulholland Drive home, so it will fit his new family. His bride-to-be has a three-year-old son, also named Lauritz, by a previous marriage.

"The boy and I get along fine," said Melchior, himself a grandfather, "but then, I have always liked children. It runs in my family. My grandfather and father ran one of the best boys' schools in Denmark."

Melchior's singing activity has slowed down in recent years. He began singing opera in 1913.

would like to return your partner's suit, but you have a mighty good reason not to. You just can't lead a suit when you don't have any of it.

So you must shift and it takes only a little study to see that a diamond or club lead is hopeless.

You have to lead a heart. Which heart are you going to lead? If you are an expert there is no problem at all. You lead the jack.

This is not a book lead. Every book says to lead fourth best from four, unless you have certain sequences in your high cards, but you have no sequence at all.

Nevertheless, the jack play has everything to gain and nothing to lose. This time it gives you four quick heart tricks. If South covers with the queen, your partner wins with the ace. A heart return gives you all your hearts.

If South ducks, you continue with a low heart with the same happy result.

This play would not have saved you had South held the ace and queen of hearts, but it would still have been a happier lead than fourth best. The jack lead would have held declarer to two heart tricks; the fourth best lead would have allowed him to make three tricks in the suit.

SOUGHT SUPPORT

Political campaign buttons go back at least to the reign of Alexander the Great in the 4th century BC—he sent silver buttons to subjects, seeking support.

Stanstead W.A. finalizes plans for card party

STANSTEAD — Mrs. R. W. Peirce was hostess for the April 1, meeting of Christ Church W.A., when Mrs. H. A. Scarth and Mrs. Edward Cayley made final plans for the dessert card party to take place in the parish hall at 1:30 p.m. April 14. Each table will feature a prize for the winner, the dessert refreshments were planned.

At the opening of the meeting, Rev. R. W. Peirce read the Scripture. Mrs. Edward Cayley conducted a period from the study book, The Kingdom, Power and Glory, pertaining to baptism and symbols of water.

Several articles were turned in to the Dorcas seretary, Mrs. John Shipway, who is packing bales the latter part of May. Members also turned in talent money.

It was voted to raise money to assist in sending children of Christ Church Parish to Quebec Lodge summer camp this year.

The secretary, Mrs. Peirce read communications from Mrs. E. Pennington, printed in the Diocesan bulletin.

Mrs. Alfred Middleton, leader of the Junior Auxiliary, stated that the J.A. Festival is taking place at Danville on May 2, in which the Christ Church J.A., will participate. Mrs. Middleton appealed for drivers to transport the girls to Danville.

After adjournment Mrs. Peirce served lunch.

Teen-age dance held in Richmond

RICHMOND — The Teen-age dance held at the Richmond and Melbourne Golf Club House, on April 1, sponsored by the ways an' means committee was a decided success.

About 75 guests attended.

The following chaperons were in charge, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rattray, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Frazer.

At the close of the event refreshments were served.

MADE MORE VEHICLES

A total of 2,667,883 motor vehicles were manufactured in West Germany in 1963, an increase of 13.2 per cent over 1962.

Centenary body formed by council

AYER'S CLIFF — (Special) — Town council here has set up a three-man centennial committee to carry out a study for a suitable project to commemorate the centennial of Canada's Confederation in 1967.

Appointed to the committee are A. Stafford, Nelson Viens and Ernest Wintle, it was announced at the council meeting Monday.

The committee is to represent the town at a meeting April 13 at 8 p.m. in the County building to be attended by other municipality representatives within the county.

In other council business, a resolution was passed requesting that when the new dam at North Hatley is built within the next few months, a screen be installed to keep game fish from leaving the lake.

The request was made by the Fish and Game Club.

A copy of the resolution will be forwarded to proper authorities.

The police agreement and related arrangements were renewed for another year and council announced that street cleaning is slated for the near future.

Installation of a street drain was discussed for Tyler Street.

Tenders for garbage collection were opened, read and studied. The sanitation committee was asked to complete the agreement with Ken Mosher. In further discussion, the use of plastic garbage bags was mentioned and it was felt householders should be informed of this method of packaging garbage while awaiting collection. Council said a study of this practise is now being made, along with test cases among householders being supplied with the plastic containers.

2 per cent sales tax passed at the border

ROCK ISLAND — (Special) — Resolutions from the Beebe and Stanstead Municipal councils and the Town of Rock Island to impose a 2 per cent retail sales tax were adopted at their meetings held on Monday evening.

Both Stanstead and Beebe Councils turned their signed resolutions over to Albert Fregeau, Mayor of Rock Island who will forward the three copies to the Finance Department in Quebec. Thus all retail merchandise which is taxable will be taxed a total of 6 per cent as in most parts of the province.

Using a population figure it has been estimated that this tax will increase the municipal revenue by $12,000 per annum. If approved by Quebec this new tax can come into effect very soon.

Raymond Lemieux, a Rock Island notary, was appointed new secretary-treasurer for the town to replace Conrad Boisvert who has resigned. There were seven tenders submitted for the position. Mr. Lemieux will assume duties and be sworn into office immediately after the auditing of the books from Mr. Boisvert.

The same three property assessors as last year will be asked to make a revision this year in the town. Mrs. Beatrice Simoneau will be taking the census in the Town.

A letter is to be sent to a citizen in the lower section of his property of junk, trash Rock Island asking him to clean which is unsightly and possible fire hazard in a residential area. This decision was made following the reading of a letter signed by rate payers in this section and presented to the Council in the form of a petition.

In March the municipal police of the three towns of Stanstead, Beebe and Rock Island, report they had received 148 calls at the control center, several investigations had been made, there had been one court case in Sherbrooke. The police had patrolled 1596 miles.

A notice of motion was made of an amendment to the traffic bylaws to prevent taxi's soliciting passengers on any of the Rock Island streets. However if a taxi is awaiting passengers it may wait in parking areas on the street for short periods. After this motion has been approved those taxis soli-

Delayed case is to proceed

A date has finally been set for the preliminary hearing of Gilles Robert who has been waiting in the Sherbrooke jail for well over a month.

A chief witness for the crown who was on the scene of the crime and has been a patient in a Sherbrooke hospital for about two weeks has been released and will appear in court April 10.

Robert's hearing had been postponed several times by the local court of sessions, complained his lawyer Raynald Frechette.

Mr. Robert is accused of being an accomplice in a Magog robbery with violence which occurred in February.

Students of Sutton High School dominate science fair prize list

Sutton High School students took three out of the six prizes offered at the science fair held in the Carousel Room of the New Sherbrooke Hotel yesterday.

Charles Dyer, a grade 11 Sutton student won first prize of $30 for his project showing the transmission of sound on a beam of light.

Second prize of $20 went to grade 8 student Stephen Dufresne of Sutton for his home-made recording anemometer. Donalde Sideleau, a grade 11 in Coaticook's Ecole Albert l'Heureux won third prize of $15 for his model showing the artificial formation of precious stones, while James Dyer, a grade 10 student at Sutton High, won fourth prize with his apparatus to record the physical features of river bottoms.

Honorable mention went to Sharon Hall of grade 10, of Sherbrooke High School for her antigravity model, and Peter Singfield of grade 11 Waterloo High for his design for a circular engine. They received prizes of $10.

The fair was sponsored by the Rotary and Richelieu Clubs of Sherbrooke.

There were sixteen entries in the fair. Officials said that there would likely have been many more entries if the teachers' strike had not hampered preparations.

On one side of the crowded exhibition room Miss Solange Campeau, a student from Ecole St. Michel in Sherbrooke was demonstrating the difference between a parallel and a series electric circuit. She was displaying a model of a house lighted with small light bulbs. When the appropriate circuit was connected a light in the house would flash on. Miss Campeau was explaining theories and formulas that many people studied in university.

On the other side of the room was 'the dream of man' an anti-gravity device. It was a space ship built by Miss Sharon Hall of Sherbrooke High School in a week's busy work, she said.

The rocket ship did defy gravity and stay in the air without resting on supports or

Richelieu, Rotary hold a joint meeting

For the first time since their beginnings, the Rotary and Richelieu clubs of Sherbrooke joined company for a bilingual meeting at the New Sherbrooke Hotel last night.

Rotary president Frank Pearson said in French that he hoped such gestures would continue and increase, not only in Sherbrooke but in the province of Quebec and throughout Canada.

Raymond Bergeron, president of the Richelieu Club invited the Rotary Club on a return visit next year.

The two clubs are living, said Mr. Bergeron, in a historic moment when both sit for the first time at the same table. This may be considered, he said as the beginning of closer friendship between French and English speaking Canadians.

The two clubs jointly sponsored the science fair held at the Carousel Room of the New Sherbrooke yesterday afternoon. During the fair young students of the two languages talked and discussed their projects with the same cordiality as their elders showed in the evening. An English language record of 'les Beatles' caught the attention of French language students, just as it did their English language colleagues.

The light and friendly air the meeting had was summed up when presidents Pearson and Bergeron posed for a photo. It should be in front of the Richelieu Club banner, Mr. Pearson said in French to Mr. Bergeron, 'pour la bonne entente.''

Cyclist hit

An eight-year-old cyclist was struck by a car on Assumption Street in Sherbrooke yesterday and taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital suffering from a fractured left leg. The cyclist, Mario Langlois, son of Emile Langlois, of 664 Langlois Street, was said to be in good condition this morning by hospital officials. Police identified the driver of the car as Victorin Cote, 41 of 420 Assumption Street.

Recreational co-ordination is sought by council

Lennoxville town council has urged all recreational groups within the town to work together towards better facilities and co-ordinating of activities through the Lennoxville Parks Commission.

Mayor Archie Mitchell made the appeal at the regular council meeting Monday night following a request in person by Dr. Marcel Pellerin, Lennoxville veterinarian, requesting town support in the organization of recreation within the town for children of all ages.

Dr. Pellerin was representing an as yet unnamed parents' committee, he said.

Mayor Mitchell reminded Dr. Pellerin that there was a special town committee—the Parks Commission set up for this purpose.

Organizations within the town are entitled to have two representatives on the commission said Mayor Mitchell. He said this new committee was also entitled to send representatives to the meeting. Ten associations are represented on the commission.

Dr. Pellerin adjourned to another room during the council meeting to attend a Parks Commission meeting also being held Monday night. Following the council meeting, Dr. Pellerin met again with Mayor Mitchell, aldermen Richardson and Fortier, and representatives of the Park Commitee.

"These groups have got to get together,' 'said Mayor Mitchell, "if they want the support of the town."

Two other items on council business were affected by council's decision to ask the groups to get together. The first was a request from the Parks Commission requesting the building of a tennis court on Speid Street.

Council noted that the O.T.J. had a very good tennis court near the Dollard School and asked why the courts should not be used by the public.

Another request — suggested by the Lennoxville Optimist Club—for the hiring of an athletic director to co-ordinate activities during the summer—was tabled pending further discussion on the problem. The request called for the hiring of a director for eight weeks during the summer beginning in mid-June.

"There is an alderman who is liaison officer between the Commission and council," said Mayor Mitchell.

Students visit council

STANSTEAD — (Special)— A number of boys who are students at Sacred Heart School, Grade 9, were guests of the Stanstead Municipal Council at their meeting held on Monday.

The guests were welcomed by Mayor E. J. Struthers and Councillor George Labrecque. During the meeting each of the councillors and Mr. Struthers spoke on the municipal operations, maintenance, costs and related subjects.

A resolution was passed approving a 2 per cent municipal sales tax, after which this was turned over to Albert Fregeau, Mayor of Rock Island, to be sent with copies of the resolution from Beebe, Rock Island and Stanstead.

Joseph Maheux, Alfred Longpre and Lawrence Winter, municipal assessors were present and asked questions pertaining to the forthcoming revision.

A sum of $25 was voted to the local Boy Scout troop. A resolution was passed to proceed with the construction of sewage installation in specified parts of the municipality. A special meeting is to be called by the mayor and council at a date to be set which will be posted in public places. Ratepayers may come during a three-hour period to seek information about this and to express their opinions.

After the meeting Mr. Struthers took the boys on a tour of the Stanstead Historical Museum.

The city's business

Proposal that building permits await street paving rejected

Alderman Antonio Pinard suggested to city council Monday night that the city should not issue building permits on new streets before sewers have been installed and streets paved.

He said that on one of these streets, Bonin near Duplessis streets people find it very difficult to walk.

Charlie Langlois, city director of services answered that not all streets can be built at the same time and that such a law would slow the pace of the construction boom which the city is now enjoying.

Council refused the suggestion.

A long-standing request from the Cohen Scrap Metal Company that its two lots, separated by the railway tracks near Wellington South be considered as one for taxation purposes was granted by city council Monday night.

The decision was taken following the recommendation by city clerk Henri Paul Emond that the two lots be considered as one.

He points out in his report that the two lots are separated by railways tracks, but operated by one firm as one business. He cites as an example that a farm, crossed by a railway track is considered as one farm.

His conclusion that it would be logical to consider the lots as one for taxation purposes was adopted by council.

An engineer working for the city, submitted a request Monday night to have his holiday extended from two to three weeks so that he can participate in a safari in Africa.

J. Roch Beaudoin, the engineer, will leave on May 31 to hunt the elephant and stalk the wild boar, after he won a contest sponsored by a paint company.

He is expected to return June 14.

The extension of his holiday was granted.

Alderman Everett Nicol and clerk Henri Paul Emond will go to New York at the end of April for the signature and issuing of $2,122,000 in bonds.

The agreement on the bond issue, to be floated on the American market was reached two weeks ago. The terms were described as "highly favorably" at that time.

A request for a zoning change to allow for the construction of a restaurant at 329 King East was delayed pending a police report.

The petition asking for the change was signed by 52 of 96 proprietors in the zone, more than the 50 per cent necessary for council's approval.

The restaurant would be situated near a funeral parlor, and for this reason council asked for the police report.

Troubles begin for state lottery

Law enforcement troubles are already beginning for New Hampshire's newly-legalized state sweepstakes.

Not in New Hampshire, but in neighboring Vermont. A Vermont man has been arrested and charged with possession of lottery tickets.

The man apparently entered New Hampshire to enter the sweepstakes, and was intercepted by police on his return home. Thirty-eight tickets made out in the names of 38 different people around Vermont were confiscated.

New Hampshire officials, attempting to get around the federal law regarding lottery tickets, have said that the paper slip given in return for the three-dollar sweepstakes entry fee is nothing more than a receipt, not necessary for a winner to collect a prize. Maine's attorney general has already ruled that the receipts are not the same as lottery tickets so far as Maine law is concerned.

But the incident points out how difficult it is to police any kind of lottery operation.

It is inevitable that once gambling on the scale invisaged by a state lottery is sanctioned, the law begins to be put to severe tests, the shady fringe of society moves in, and traditional rules of conduct become a mockery.

Premier Lesage and others who favor state lotteries would do well to keep this in mind. Wherever large amounts of money are to be had for nothing, honesty has trouble keeping its feet. And the only way to shore it up would be through a law enforcement system so thorough that its expense would hardly justify state operation of lotteries.

Moscow-Peking dispute world danger

Mounting tension between Moscow and Peking, which appears to have reached a new high within the past few days, may bring some comfort to the democracies. But they should not be over-confident in believing that the conflict between the two leading members of the Communist bloc will materially reduce their problems or the dangers of a new global war.

If anything the ideological battle between Russia and China may produce new tensions to threaten the peace of the world.

So far the two Red leaders have been content to limit their battle to verbal exchanges. But the fact remains that these might possibly degenerate into a shooting war.

Both countries have a long common frontier and it is well within the realm of possibility that there may be border incidents which would grow into a major conflict.

From the Western viewpoint this might be a fine development if there were assurances that the Russians and Chinese would kill each other off.

But, like serious fires, these conflicts have a habit of spreading.

Red China might well decide to eliminate a threat to its security by attacking Formosa while Russia might act to neutralize West Germany or take action against Turkey.

Any such move inevitably would bring in many of the democraries.

And there is the danger that a nuclear bomb launched against Russia or China might overshoot its mark with disastrous consequences.

Direct tax domain must be shifted

The federal-provincial fiscal conference which closed in Quebec City this weekend produced an impasse, with Premier Lesage claiming that federal loans to university students and extension of family allowances to 16 and 17-year-olds are unconstitutional.

Prime Minister Pearson firmly rejected the Lesage contention in the House of Commons Monday, and stated his intention to proceed with the original plans.

However the conflict over these two points is but a symptom of a deeper malaise — Quebec wants a greater share of direct taxation in order to fulfill the responsibilities which the province intends to assume.

The statement of Gilles Gregoire in the House Monday that Quebec wants and must have 100 per cent of direct taxation is obviously absurd. It must not be assimilated into the Lesage position, simply because that is not what he is asking.

Constitutionally, the provinces have prior rights in education and we cannot blame the Lesage government for adhering jealously to these rights, even when it concerns, what might appear at first glance, innocent handouts by the federal government.

The point in the conflict is that Quebec insists on having exclusive control over all phases of education as guaranteed in Section 93 of the BNA Act.

Once we accept this premise, the government of Quebec must be armed with the necessary powers of direct taxation, now virtually monopolized by Ottawa and once the exclusive domain of the provinces.

The era when Quebec could have exclusive control over direct taxation is over. But when so fundamental a provincial right as education is in the balance, the federal government must insure that provincial governments, particularly, but not exclusively Quebec, have the necessary taxation powers to fulfill these responsibilities.

US big enough to be reasonable

(Calgary Herald)

The removal of Mr. Hal C. Banks as president of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada is both welcome and opportune.

Canadians will concur fully with the view of the government maritime union trustees that Mr. Banks' presence as head of the SIU is not in the interests of the union itself, the shipping industry or the Canadian public.

Mr. Banks' ouster will remove a blemish from the face of trade unionism in Canada. To allow a man of his type to continue as head of a 9,000-member union would be distinctly repellent.

The government trustees' decision serves to confirm Mr. Justice T. G. Norris' opinion that the goal of peace in the Great Lakes unions could not be achieved unless Mr. Banks were removed. This is the proper time for the trustees to take action—before the 1964 shipping season begins and at a time when tempers have become fairly subdued.

This does not automatically mean that peace will now reign on the Great Lakes. It is true that Mr. Banks' conduct of SIU affairs and his intimidation of rival maritime unions precipitated much of the waterfront violence and bitterness in the first place. But the Canadian trustees will still have to contend with labor interests south of the border.

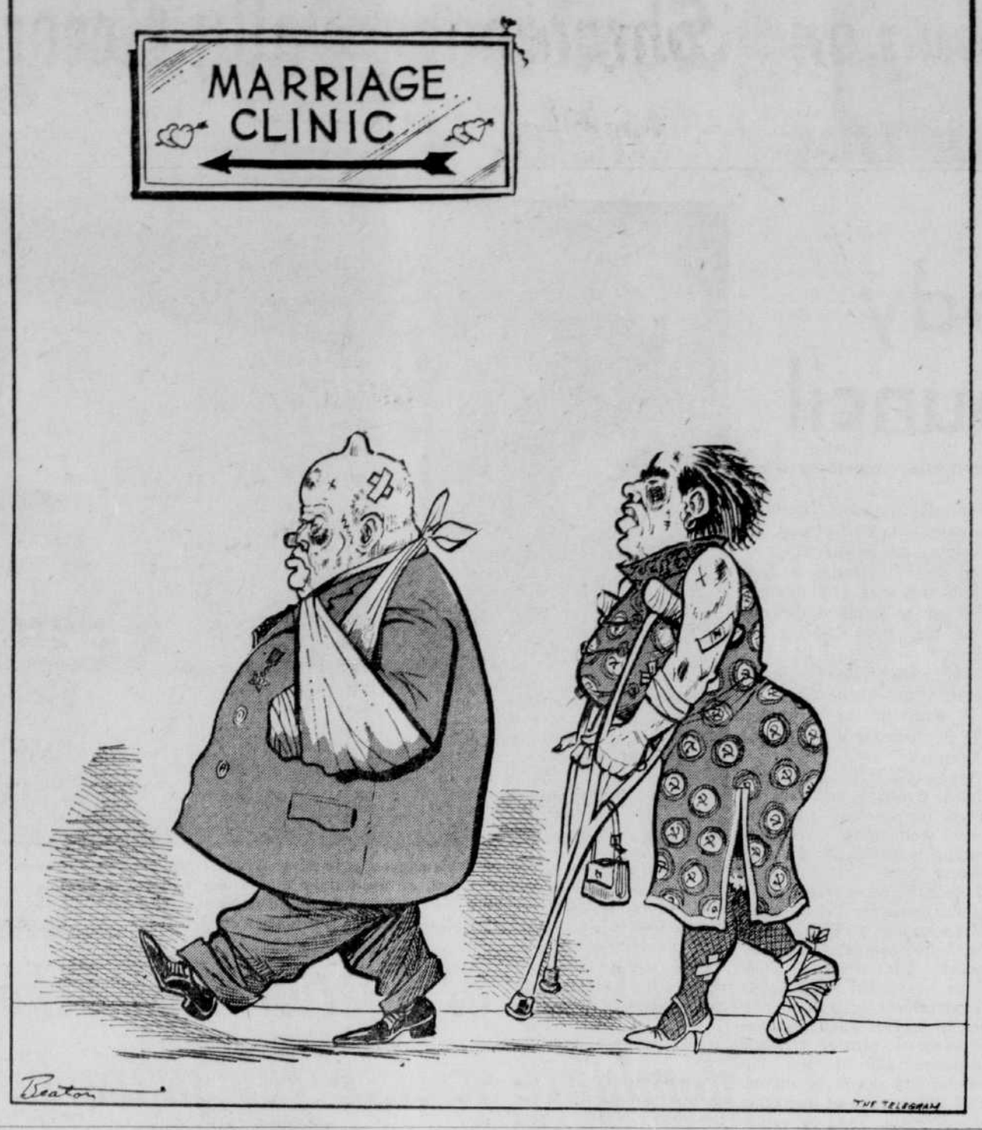

It is essential that Canada resist any effort on the part of U.S. labor officials to dictate or to overthrow Canadian Great Lakes union policy.

Already, Mr. Peter McGavin, secretary-treasurer of the U.S. AFL-CIO maritime trades department has described Mr. Banks' ouster as "outrageous and contemptible." Mr. McGavin has also objected because the AFL-CIO received no advance warning of the trustees' decision.

It should be made clear to Mr. McGavin that this is none of his business, that Canada is a sovereign nation, and that the maritimes union trustees are answerable to the Canadian government, not to any foreign entity.

Nevertheless, U.S. labor is quite capable of making trouble on its own side of the border, and it is probable that the AFL-CIO maritimes trades department and Mr. Paul Hall, president of the SIU of North America, will encourage retaliation against Canadian ships in U.S. Great Lakes ports. Indeed, Mr. Hall has recently reiterated his support of his Canadian henchman, Mr. Banks, and has stated he will oppose attempts to dismiss Mr. Banks from his job.

It is unfortunate that the Canadian SIU is still nominally a branch of Mr. Hall's SIU of North America. If Mr. Hall persists in his bullying threats, he will merely be providing additional justification for complete severance of the Canadian SIU's links with its parent body.

Challenging work offered

Predicts increase in research will lessen brain drain to US

By HUGH WINSOR

TORONTO — (TNS) — A prominent Canadian scientist predicts the "explosive growth in research facilities" here will go a long way to plug the "brain drain" to the U.S.

Dr. O. M. Solandt, original chairman of the Defence Research Board and now vice-president of Hawker Siddeley Canada Ltd. research and development, said the last two years has seen a boom in Canadian industrial research that will provide "the challenging opportunities required to keep highly-trained Canadians at home."

"Brain Drain" is the term given to the exodus of Canada's brightest and best-educated talent to the U.S.

How bad is it?

Four times a day American immigration authorities welcome a Canadian engineer, physicist, university teacher, or physician as a new resident.

In a twelve month period ending last June, 1583 highly-trained persons traveled this way. They included 894 engineers, 43 geologists and geophysicists, several mathematicians, agriculture specialists and 467 doctors.

"This drain has had a crippling effect on Canadian industry," commented Dr. Bristow Guy Ballard, chairman of the National Research Council.

Why do they go?

Dr. Ballard estimated each of his staff of 600 scientists could earn at least 50 per cent more in the U.S.

RENEWED INTEREST

"But the biggest problem in the past has been a lack of challenging opportunities," said Dr. Solandt. "Our people will accept considerably lower salaries if the challenge is here."

In 1961, the last year for which figures are available, Canadian industry spent $146.4 million on research. Total expenditure (including government agencies and universities) was still only about one per cent of the Gross National Product.

This is about half the 2.2 per cent spent in the U.K. the 2.6 per cent ratio in the U.S., or Japan's two per cent.

However, the renewed interest in research and increased expenditures in the past two years will change these proportions in the future, Dr. Solandt said.

Some projects underway include the $7½ million facilities planned by the Ontario Research Foundation in the Sheridan Park Research Community near Oakville; a $1½ million research centre under construction at the same site by Consolidated Mining and Smelter Co. of Canada; centres in the planning stages by Dunlop Canada Ltd. and International Nickel Co. Ltd. Recently completed was a 3.5 million Dominion Tar and Chemical Co. Ltd. research centre at Sonneville on Montreal island.

Two oil companies have also recently announced expanded research expenditures.

Imperial will spend $13 million over the next three years building an experimental research plant adjoining its Dartmouth, N.S. refinery.

The British American Oil Co. is constructing a new research centre near Sheridan Park and is continuing development of a process to manufacture heavy water.

CAN'T BE STOPPED

Although these developments will play a big part in reducing the brain drain, Dr. Solandt felt the flight of really top men will never be stopped because they are naturally atttracted to the centre of their particular field.

A new attitude towards industrial research by the Federal Government has also encouraged the growth of research, said Dr. Solandt.

"When Canadian manufacturing stagnated after 1956 we saw that the industries prospering in the U.S. and the U-K were those with a vigorous approach to research," he went on.

Dr. Solandt said Canada's overall research effort is suffering for want of direction.

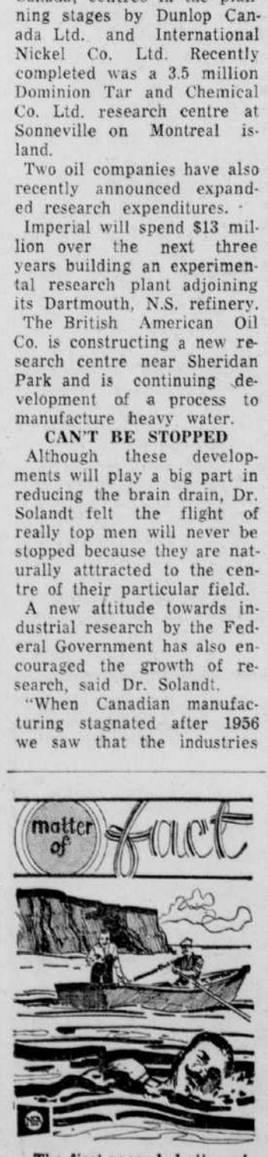

The National Research Council's role could be changed to include this function or a special advisory body could be created, he suggested.

No free world antidote?

Russia finances Cuban terror school

By LEON DENNEN

NEW YORK — (NEA) — According to Allen Dulles, the non-Communist nations have no policy to meet the challenge of Red subversion in the undeveloped countries.

This is a disturbing admission by the former chief of the Central Intelligence Agency. Communism has been a daily threat to western society for close to 50 years. Yet it is tragically true, as Dulles asserted in a recent speech that the Free World, the CIA included, has found no effective antidote to Red terrorism and subversion.

the majority are believed to of terrorism and sabotage singly or in small groups.

Some of the recruits for the academy of teror reach Cuba by air from Mexico City. But Latin America is the latest case in point. President Johnson, in his effort to chart a new course for the Western Hemisphere, is trying to revitalize the Alliance for Progress. Yet the alliance, it is clear, will remain a dead letter as long as Latin America is in the grip of Fidel Castro's terror.

Specialists on communism, in fact, have noted the emergence of a new and subtler Red strategy in most countries below the Rio Grande since Castro's recent visit to Russia.

Premier Khrushchev seems to have shelved, for the present at least, Castro's plan to subvert established governments and promote Red regimes patterned on Cuba's dictatorship. Instead of frontal attacks, Moscow's new policy concentrates on limited acts of terrorism designed to keep Latin America in a permanent state of political and economic chaos.

This is especially evident in Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Panama and Venezuela.

According to reports at the United Nations, Fidel Castro, since his return from Russia, has launched a new drive to recruit young Latin Americans for his school of terrorism. Dubbed the "Academy of Terror" by the recruits, the school is located at Minas del Frio, a village in the Sierra Maestra mountains. It is from these mountains that Cuba's dictator launched his own successful revolution.

About 10,000 young men and women from various parts of the Western Hemisphere are already reported to be training at Minas del Frio. Courses include instruction in the use of light weapons, the manufacture of home weapons and how to commit acts be transported in Russian boats from nearby Central and Cuban ships or in small America.

Graduates of the academy, before they return to their native countries, are supplied with money, propaganda material and small arms. They also receive quantities of arms shipped through commercial airlines, in the baggage of Cuban diplomats or in small boats which cross from Cuba at night to the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico and then down the shoreline of Central America.

A regular route in contraband arms is also known to run from Brazil through Bolivia and into Peru.

Latest Red strategy in Latin America, in the view of specialists on communism, is a victory for Premier Khrushchev's go-slow policy over Red China's revolutionary brinkmanship. Its immediate aim is to make shambles of President Johnson's effort to stimulate economic development and social progress in Latin America.

It costs the Russians $1 million a day to keep Fidel Castro in power. Plagued by their own economic and political troubles they are obviously not interested at present in encouraging Red revolutions which might jeopardize their trade with the West and bring them into open conflict with the United States.

Premier Khrushchev aims to achieve through a permanent terror which breeds fear, economic instability and chaos what Mao Tse-tung seeks to gain through "direct revolutionary action."

TOURISM UP

TAIPEI (AP)—Tourists visiting Formosa in 1963 totalled 72,024, up 37.7 per cent from 1962, the government reports. The tourists included 10,678 overseas Chinese.

Fat Shan at midnight reeks intrigue

At dawn there's Europe in Asia

By DAVE STOCKAND

MACAO (CP)—If you tuck a misconception or two into your overnight bag, there is a tingle of excitement in catching the midnight boat from Hong Kong to Macao.

Intrigue is in the air at the dockside, its currents tugging at the collar of your imaginary trenchcoat, as passengers begin piling aboard the good ship Fat Shan.

The Fat Shan—the name fits as snugly as a shoulder holster. Surely she wouldn't dare venture out of port without Peter Lorre at the helm, Sidney Greenstreet squatting below as ballast.

For timid travellers who seek adventure in the fine print, the Yu On Shipping Company does its bit with a back-of-ticket notice:

"Passengers are requested not to carry in their persons or luggage any contraband arms and ammunition, prohibited goods, etc., without government licence or permits."

Fortunately for all concerned, imagination running to penny-dreadful extremes doesn't get much rein in a 40-mile trip taking just three hours.

VISIONS VANISH

Ir the daylight, with the Fat Shan tied up at journey's end, and the Portuguese province of Macao only a gangplank away, visions of cloak-and-dagger conspiracy deflate like a war surplus liferaft on a China coaster.

(That grey-haired little old lady, the one who looks like she was waiting around for a Hitchcock audition, turns out to be an instructor in musical therapy at a Michigan State home for delinquent boys.)

So—pitch out the intrigue, or at least leave it to the professionals. There is still much left that is intriguing.

Macao is an eight-square-mile chip off southern Europe grafted onto the Asian continent; a sunlit pastel peninsula —plus two specks of island— which provides a spot of sleepy-eyed siesta charm in the anthill frenzy of the Orient.

An amble around at any hour is a rewarding experience.

By day you can admire the Mediterranean architecture, sample an amazing assortment of Portuguese wines for next to nothing, pick up Oriental objects of art if your bankroll allows, or browse through churches and temples—the latter with their smiling Buddhas, scowling Buddhas and even Marco Polo Buddhas.

By night, there are the gambling casinos which, along with an annual Grand Prix and a new track for greyhounds, allow Macao to call itself the Monte Carlo of the Far East.

PEEK AT CHINA

But the greatest tourist attraction of all comes free of charge—a peek at a piece of real estate as inaccessible to most as a summer cottage on the moon. It is the land mass of Communist China.

Here the westerner can get closer to China than anywhere else.

The tourists cluster a few hundred yards back from the arched Portos do Cerco, where China starts, and look along a roadway lined with banyan trees into a forbidden land.

Photographs aren't permitted and really there is nothing to see. Only a crumpling of hills and a Chinese sentry with binoculars watching the tourists who are watching him.

Yet it has a hypnotic fascination.

People shuffle around for a few minutes, seeing nothing but reluctant to leave. When they do go, a new tour group pops up to fill the vacuum.

TRUCKS LEAVE

Meanwhile, produce trucks which have brought in foodstuffs for Macao's population clang back across the border with a minimum of delay at the border checkpoints.

The Portuguese aren't concerned about the future. They depend on China for their food and their water but they also take into account China's need for a doorway to the West, no matter how narrow.

And, after all, they've been settled cozily here since 1557.

Milk processing long and complex in its journey from cow to table

By ALICE BUCKLAND
(Record Correspondent)

WATERLOO — Milk has a long road to travel from the cow to delivery at the door.

The story of this food is intriguing. Methods of handling milk have been completely revolutionized in the last few years. Rigid regulations from modern dairies have brought great changes in the care of milk from the farm to the table.

To follow the path of milk from its source to the finished product is complicated and most interesting.

The farm that belongs to Norris Brothers has 44 milking Jerseys, out of a herd of 81 cattle. The hay they are fed is specially cured for it is cut, mechanically dried, baled and stored in the barn all on the same day. As a result, when the bales are opened in the winter they still retain the green color and the leaves are intact. The clover is put into silos. The hay is supplemented with a dairy ration. This barn is well-ventilated, lighted and kept clean with a mechanical stable cleaner, as most modern barns are today.

Allie Norris' milk room, is equipped with a stainless steel bulk storage tank, which has a capacity of 3000 pounds. Here milk is kept at a temperature of 38 degrees. Every second day the dairy calls for the milk tank into the insulated hauling and it is pumped from the bulk tank, eliminating all handling.

Allie Norris and his brother, Abie are proud of their new milk room with its tiled walls. An electric hot water tank supplies the quantities of water used to wash the equipment.

Victor Fortin's farm on the West Shefford road has the largest herd of milking cows in the area. Mr. Fortin has 80 to 85 milch cows which will produce 2500 lbs. of milk a day in the spring. Altogether he has a stock of 150 head. This farm is mechanized so that he handles it with the help of his two young sons only. His machine milks five cows at a time in 3 to 5 minutes and it takes 1¼ to 1½ hours to milk 75 cows. The milk is carried from the milking machine pails to a small, portable dump tank and pumped directly through a glass pyrex pipe to the cooling tank of 5000 lbs. capacity. The pipe carries a distance of 150 feet, eliminating all chance of contamination.

Farmer Clark Jones, also on the West Shefford Road, keeps a herd of Holstein cattle. This farm, like the others is equipped with a refrigerated bulk storage tank.

These three farmers process their milk at Chagnon Dairy. The workers in the plant wear white uniforms.

They have to pass a health test before being employed and have a medical every year.

Chagnon Dairy processes more than 4,500 quarts of milk per day and increase this 33 per cent in the summer.

To process it, the raw milk is heated, then cooled. It is separated at the temperature of 40 degrees and pasteurized through stainless sttel equipment.

Ever stop to think of all kinds of milk you can buy today? For one particular family the daily take consists of homogenized milk for the baby, pasteurized milk for mother and father, non-fat milk for one calorie conscious teen-ager, chocolate milk for the other youth with a sweet tooth and cream for fancy desserts. All of these varieties are processed at the dairy.

Raw milk goes into a huge bulk tank and is stirred automatically before being homogenized and pasteurized. Homogenization breaks the fat globules up under pressure as that no cream rises to the top of the bottle. Non-fat milk for special diets is separated from the rest.

The milk is now ready to be bottled. It would make one dizzy to watch the bottle machine work at full speed.

Thirty-six quarts a minute are bottled and capped. The outside of the bottles are sprayed to keep milk from clinging. The bottles are put in boxes and kept in two large cold rooms, at 37 degrees. A third cold room, with a temperature of 20 degrees below, is like a huge freezer and is filled with ice cream containers, waiting to be distributed to the wholesale customers. A low-temperature truck is used to deliver this product.

"What about washing the bottles?"

"All I ask my customers to do is rinse the bottles," Mr. Chagnon stated. "Milk left in them makes a smell.'

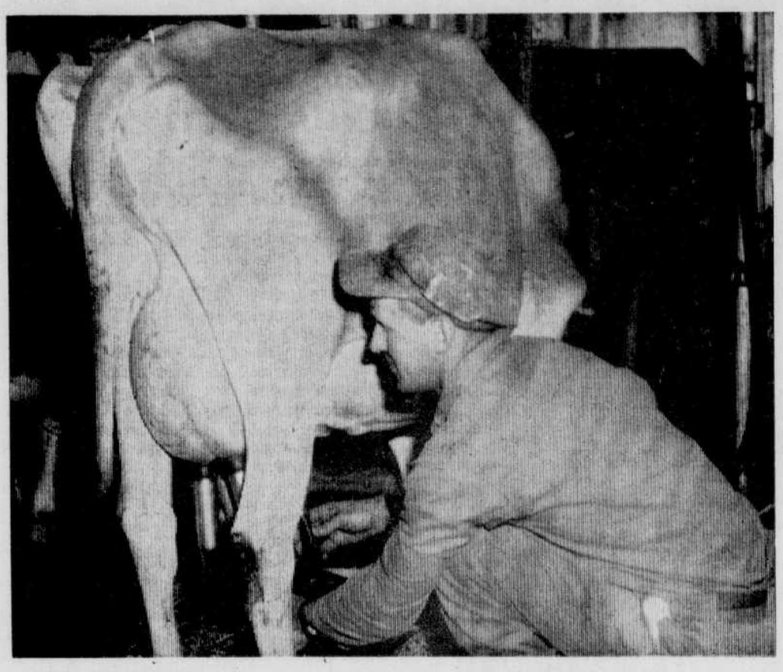

No housewife can duplicate the cleanliness of the bottle at the dairy, ready to be filled. Empty bottles are soaked seven minutes in a caustic solution The machine turns the bottles upside down and they are "jet-sprayed" under pressure by six jets. They are sterilized, cooled, dried by air and ready to be filled.

"Those narrow top bottles are fairly new. What is the advantage of them over the wider top? They do tip over easier on the small top!"

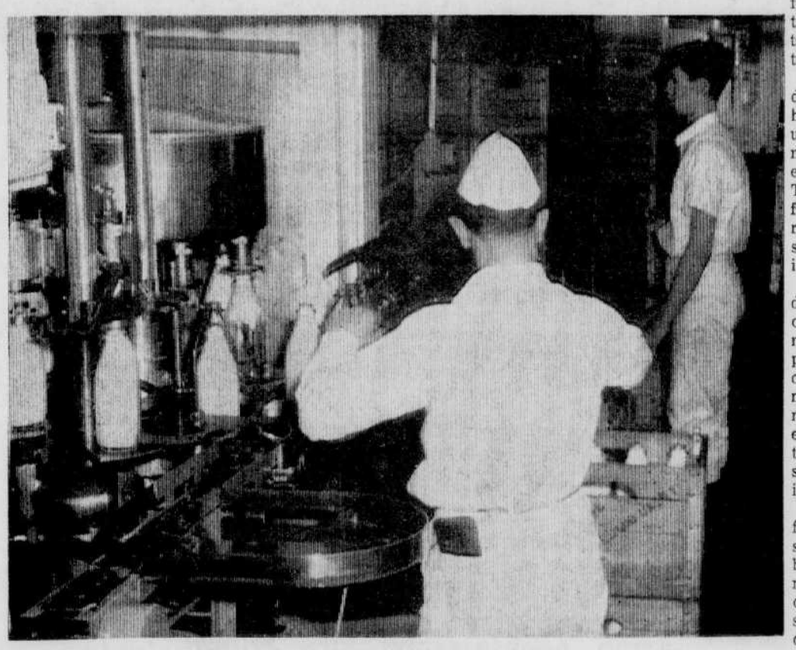

Mr. Chagnon went into fine detail as to the advantage to his customers of the shape he uses—another proof of sanitary methods. The slimmer neck is easier for a woman to handle. The waxpaper-lined aluminum foil cap covers the complete rim, thus making the pouring surface sanitary, and keeping it the same after being opened.

It is interesting to learn this dairy requires nine drivers and one inspector for its eight milk routes. A tanker truck picks up milk within a radius of 18 miles. Mr. Chagnon estimated the full circuit is 87 miles, half of which is covered each day. The latest addition to the dairy is to be a 20,000 lb. storage tank, insulated with 3 inches of cork and refrigerated.

Men have come a long way from the days of individuals selling milk that was cooled and bottled at home. Ever get any milk which was not cooled enough or after the cows had strong turnips to eat? One doesn't forget the taste. One advance in civilization is the development of modern milk processing methods.

Joint council meeting to be held tonight for discussion of Sweetsburg annexation

SWEETSBURG— (Staff) — In light of the joint closed two-council meeting that will be held tonight between Sweetsburg and Cowansville concerning annexation, the Sweetsburg Council Monday night avoided all discussions pertaining to annexation.

A quiet council meeting was held and routine matters were discussed — payment of bills, granting of a building permit, and reading of the town's financial statement.

According to highly reliable sources, the financial statement shows Sweetsburg to be in debt — how much is not known. The normal procedure, according to the source of information, is to raise taxes to alleviate the debt, but in Sweetsburg's case, the upcoming annexation prevents raising the tax structure.

A letter from Cowansville concerning used-water purification was read, and put aside. The letter stated that the minister of health would be asked to force Sweetsburg to purify its used water supply before it is put back into the Yamaska River.

A humorous note was struck when the letter was read — it said that Sweetsburg had two hospitals — a privately-owned one and a government one.

An alderman noted that "we now have only one hospital — they annexed the other," in Cowansville's partial annexation in February this year.

Mayor Doctor M. C. Mooney said that the town's financial statement will be studied by aldermen and will be presented at the next Council meeting.

COAL PRODUCTION

More than 63,000,000 tons of coal were produced in 1962-63 to feed India's rapidly expanding power plants and factories.

Cowansville man is arrested in hit and run case

COWANSVILLE— (Staff) — A 21-year-old Cowansville man, Gaitan Tougas, was arrested and released on a $50 bond in a hit-and- run case.

According to the Cowansville QPP detachment, a call was placed early Saturday morning about an accident on the Frelighsburg-Dunham Route.

A spokesman for the QPP said one car had hit another and the driver of the car that went into the ditch ran away "Later Saturday morning we received a 'phone call from Mr Tougas who reported his car as stolen. We told him to come to the office Monday morning."

The spokesman said Tougas was arrested shortly after questioning Monday morning, charged with hit-and-run, and released on a bond. He will appear in Sweetsburg court next Monday for a hearing.

SUTTON —

Asian people claim visit before 1492

MEXICO CITY (Reuters)— Asian peoples visited the North American continent long before Christopher Columbus "discovered" it in 1492, says a noted Mexican authority.

Eulalia Guzman, one of Mexico's leading anthropologists and archeologists, adds that the "Asians did not come as conquerors but to exchange goods with American Indians."

Miss Guzman, known for her discovery of the remains of Cuauhtemoc, last emperor of the Aztec Indians, says there is a "substantial similarity" between the Asiatic and pre-Spanish cultures in physical features, architecture, ceramics and habits.

She notes a number of examples. For one thing, she said, Peking's clay vessels are equal to their Indian counterparts found among ruins near Mexico City. Also, some embroidery designs made in the Orient resemble those worked out by Mexico's Huichol Indians.

LINE SIMILAR

But this is not as important as the fact the palace of Kublaikhan in Mongolia, built in the 13th century, shows lines similar to those of a palace found in the ruins of Atetelco, near the Teotihuacan pyramids.

Both palaces had open courtyards for common people and exclusive stairways for high dignitaries and priests; they also had in common the "bas reliefs" carved on each of the steps leading to the buildings.

Asked how she accounts for the fact the Atetelco palace was built in the fifth century while the Kublaikhan structure belongs to the 13th, she replied: "There are two versions. One is that Mayan architects made excursions to Asia and copied some long-disappeared old Chinese structure and applied that technique and form to structures in Teotihuacan.

"The other, and more natural, is that the Orientals took back with them some pre-Hispanic architectural designs because they found them interesting."

It's a

Social Insurance Number Card
It's to help you

Your government is issuing Social Insurance Number Cards in place of the unemployment insurance numbers that most employed people have had until now. The new numbers will help government to use modern office methods for greater efficiency in handling unemployment insurance, and also other social benefits such as proposed pension plans.

For these reasons, you are invited to apply for a Social Insurance Number, even if you are not a contributor to the unemployment insurance plan.

WHAT YOU DO IF YOU ARE AN EMPLOYEE:
Your employer will give you an application form for a Social Insurance Number Card. You can help most by completing it quickly and accurately and returning the form to your employer.

WHAT YOU DO IF YOU ARE UNEMPLOYED:
If you are receiving unemployment insurance benefit you will be asked to apply for a Social Insurance Number Card, the next time you report, in person, or by mail. If you are a person who is usually employed but are not receiving benefit, you should call at the local office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission and register.

WHAT YOU DO IF YOU ARE AN EMPLOYER:
(a) If you are an employer registered with the Unemployment Insurance Commission—you will automatically receive registration forms. You will be asked to distribute them to your employees, have them completed, and returned to the local office of the Commission.

(b) If you are an employer who is not registered with the Unemployment Insurance Commission—please get in touch with your local Commission office and inform them how many employees you have. The Commission will then send you an application form for each of your employees to complete. When all forms have been completed, you will return them to the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The new numbers are designed to help you. You can help by completing an application form quickly and accurately.

News flashes from around the world

DENVER (AP)—Mrs. Fern Miller, director of the Denver Mint, said Tuesday she has received telephone calls and letters complaining that the Communist hammer and sickle emblem is engraved on the new half dollars honoring president John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Miller said the emblem does not appear on the coin.

She said Gilroy Roberts, chief sculptor and engraver for the bureau of the mint, engraved his initials at the base of the neck of the Kennedy profile and when the superimposed initials are viewed under a magnifying glass they may resemble a hammer and sickle.

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Time has run out in Canada's happy and reasonable secure adolescence, Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, said Tuesday.

In a speech to the Canadian Club of Charlottetown, Mr. Gordon said Canada has had a prolonged period of childhood during which we experienced, in a very literal sense, the best of two worlds.

Through choice and through force of circumstances, he said, Canada is emerging from its sheltering relationship within the British Commonwealth and its profitable ties with the United States.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Col. Stig Wennerstrom goes on trial Thursday as a master spy accused of betraying Sweden's defence secrets to the Russians during a 15-year period.

The prosecution calls him "Sweden's most dangerous spy in modern times."

It says he has confessed he sold Sweden's defence secrets to the Russians from 1948 until his arrest last June. He knew a lot about NATO's defences and weapons and presumably passed this on to Moscow but will be tried only for betrayal of Sweden.

MONTREAL (CP) — British Newfoundland Corp., announced Tuesday efforts to get the Hamilton Falls hydro electric project moving plus preparations for mining production at its whalesback copper property in Newfoundland led to higher expenditures, causing the company to lose $57,331 in 1963.

The figure compared with a loss of $60,700 the previous year. Total revenues were $435,904, against $215,464 and the deficit account now stands at $296,067 against $238,738 in 1962.

committee chairman Jean Jacques Bedard three times to restore order.

"My words went beyond my meaning," Mr. Lesage confessed. He added he was not saying this because he had received Holy Communion at Easter. Referring to Opposition leader Johnson, he said, "I have no lesson in Christianity nor in Catholicism to take from him—he knows what I mean."

Mr. Lesage said the firm of Lagueux and Desrochers had only had "its just share" of government business. He said the firm got much more than during the National Union regime simply because Quebec's borrowings "are higher than they were at the time."

"Never, Mr. Chairman," he shouted, "in the field of bond issues, in the field of brokerage, since 1960, has there been the least patronage, or the least beginning of patronage. Never, Mr. Chairman."

Holier Than Thou?

Taunts of "scandalous" and "joker" were heard from the Opposition immediately after this statement. Mocking Mr. Lesage's righteousness, Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson spoke:

"I say humbly, Mr. Chairman, that I have only to look at this holy man and I am little by little filled with grace.

Need mediation for world peace says oratorical contest winner

A grade 10 Cookshire High School student who called for the discovery of a peaceful solution to international and civil differences through mediation was the winner of the annual Lennoxville Optimist Club's oratorical contest held last night.

Lloyd Learned was one of four Township students speaking last night at the Rolling Hills Hotel on Optimism—the formula for freedom. Peter Kogler, grade 10 student at Lennoxville High School placed second and another Lennoxville High School student Charles Masters, grade eight, placed third. Also in the competition was Lennoxvile High School grade eight student Donald Lewis.

Last night's winners will now compete in the district convention competitions at Cornwall, Ontario. Winners at Cornwall will compete at the international convention in Colorado, U.S.A.

Speaker Learned told members of the club and judges John Branswell, Carl McWhinnie and Leon Beaudry that the United Nations is a world organization working in this field and "is an organization which I believe we should support whole heartedly," he said.

"In the world today, we must continually work, experiment and strive to maintain peace," he said. While some believed in maintaining peace by building up military strength, he said, this method is far from the solution.

The Optimist's viewpoint helps solve individual differences and, if applied on a global scale, will help remove the dissension existing between and within world nations, the speaker said.

True freedom from war and fear of war can come only with closer international co-operation in the fields of science, agriculture, industry and trade, he claimed.

Second place winner, Peter Kogler, told members that the formula for optimism is definitely the formula for freedom. "Where there is optimism, a way can be found," he stated.

The Club announced last night that it is to sponsor a Bicycle Safety Week April 18 to April 25. The campaign will be held in co-operation with the local police department and Lennoxville High School authorities on the high school grounds. Announcement was also given of the Club's Chocolate Day May 7.

Tenders have been advertised for the Rock Island sewer contract. The engineer's estimate of the sewer project is set at approximately $175,000, for materials, purchase and laying of pipe and digging. Another contract for the disposal plant is estimated at $125,000, and for the pumps, $17,000, making a total cost of about $317,000.

The council is now awaiting bids on the contracts. Steps are being taken for grants and then a bylaw will be passed to proceed with the building with money raised through a bond issue.

It has been noted that the Water Purification Board will eventually take steps to compel the town to treat all raw sewage emptying into the Tomifobia River.

pushing itself up by air currents. Miss Hall explained that strong magnets at the base of rocket model were repelled from magnets resting below them. This magnetic repulsion was enough to keep the rocket, made mainly of light balsam wood, up in the air. To put the rocket in an appropriate setting a Martian scene of desert and exotic plants was modelled around it.

Nearby two students were explaining by means of a model cylinder how the internal combustion engine works. A young geologist in another corner of the room had set out a display of minerals.

In Memoriam

WINSLOW — In loving memory of our dear mother, and grandmother, Daisy May Winslow, who passed away April 8, 1961.

You can only have one mother,
Patient kind and true,
No other friend in all the world,
Could be as true as you.
For all your loving kindness,
You asked nothing in return,
If all the world deserted us,
To you, Mom, we could turn.
We often said we'd miss you,
Those words have proven true,
We lost our best and dearest friend,
Dear Mom, when we lost you.
Always remembered by,
THE FAMILY

The Doctor Says

CHILDREN DON'T NEED BEER; GIVE THEM MILK, JUICE

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT M.D.

Every so often I am asked whether it is harmful to give beer to children who are 2 years old or over. My answer has always been that any beneficial effect alcohol may have for the tired businessman does not apply to his youngsters. A child is too young to be taught to "handle his liquor" and above all he doesn't need it. What he needs is a balanced diet with plenty of milk and fruit juice.

I have used the same argument against giving children coffee and tea. Just because your child wants to do everything his parents do is not a sound reason to let him. Childhood, like any other age, has its own special compensations. To try to make a little adult of a child is to rob him of some of them.

Q—My daughter, 6, has a nervous tic. What causes this and what is the best treatment?

A—Tics or habit spasms may occur after the age of 2 but are usually not seen until 8 or 9. They are not caused by organic disease but are the result of some emotional disturbance such as maladjustment at home or in school. Expecting too much of a child is probably the most frequent cause. The movements are involuntary and unconscious. Excitement of any kind is likely to increase the spasms. The only treatment is to help your child to adjust to her surroundings.

This may require guidance by a child psychologist for a time. Encouragement in a relaxed atmosphere is essential. Punishment is worse than useless and it is a mistake to call the child's attention to her tic.

Q—Should a child be given supplements or vitamins?

A—There is no food supplement or vitamin that a normal child who is getting a balanced diet needs to take. If a vitamin or mineral deficiency has developed, have your doctor determine exactly what is needed so that your child will not be getting a hit-or-miss type of treatment. Trying to correct a nutritional deficiency with multivitamin pills is like putting on a blindfold before trying to shoot a shotgun at a crow.

Q—My son cracks his knuckles in his sleep. He rarely does this in the daytime. What causes him to do this and what can be done to break him of it?

A — The noise you hear is caused by a tendon snapping across a bony prominence. It may be annoying but is otherwise harmless. Why your son should do this in his sleep I don't know but you shouldn't worry about it. If you can't ignore it, close the door to his room so that you won't hear it.

Windsor

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dubuc, of St. Catharines, Ont., spent the Easter weekend with the former's mother, Mrs. Norah Dubuc, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Dubuc.

Mr. Malcolm Wheeler and Miss Sylvia Wheeler, of St. Foy, are spending the Easter holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wheeler.

Easter Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Robinson were Mr. and Mrs. H. Robinson and sons, Jackie and Tim, of Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Robinson, of Waterloo, Mr. and Mrs. B. Enair and family. Mr. and Mrs. H. Robinson and sons were overnight guests of Mrs. Robinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. B. McAdams and daughters, the Misses Bernice and Cindy, spent Easter Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Rhodes, in Drummondville.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Robinson and sons, Stuart and Carl, Mr. Bruce Enair and Mr. Donnie Leckie attended the Canadiens and Maple Leaf Hockey game at the Forum, in Montreal, while were they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wheeler and Miss Margaret Wheeler.

A writer's notes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One way to keep peace in the family is to keep mum before meals. . . . A survey found that most quarrels between husbands and wives erupt just before the dinner hour.

Royal prerogative: Iran reserves its small output of golden caviar exclusively for the shah.

What are the odds against your being dealt a perfect bridge hand? . . . about 40,000,000 to one.

Ardent hobbyists sometimes impress us as being a bit balmy, but psychiatrists say no. . . . they have found that well-balanced individuals are more likely to have hobbies than those who are either neurotic or psychotic.

Quotable notables: "We owe to the middle ages the two worst inventions of humanity —romantic love and gunpowder."—Andre Maurois.

Prosperity note: some 74 per cent of American families now own automobiles. . . . incidentally, 14 per cent of family cars today are station wagons, compared with fewer than one per cent in 1940.

PEARL EASIER

Gag of the week: Lore Noto, a member of the Fantasticks cast, says it's easier for a girl to get a pearl out of an oyster than a diamond out of an old crab.

Folklore: If you knock over the pepper shaker, that's a sign company is coming. . . . You can also expect visitors if your eyebrow itches, you get two pieces of butter on your plate, or if a bumblebee flies in an open window in your home.

Champion host: The Roman emperor Nero was a pretty fair hand at staging orgies, but the biggest party-thrower in history was probably Xerxes, king of ancient Persia. . . . he put on one feast that lasted 180 days!

HOGS LIKE MUSIC

Quickies: Frogs can sing under water. . . . About a fifth of the earth's surface is permanently frozen. . . . Hogs fatten better and fight less if soothing music is piped into their pens. . . . Ripe watermelons range in weight from five to 125 pounds. . . . Women suffer seasickness more often than men.

It was Ralph Waldo Emerson who observed: "We are always getting ready to live, but never living."

COURVILLE NURSING HOME

Rev. Laval Gagnon, pastor of the parish, held Holy Communion for his parishioners in the Home on March 26.

The first fruits of the sugar season were enjoyed by all when sugar on snow was served on Easter Monday, with Mrs. Courville presiding.

On April 1, Rev. Keith Dickerson, of Waterloo, conducted a communion service for the Anglicans.

Mr. Norman Douillard and family, of Omerville, visited his mother, Mrs. Douillard.

Mr. Telesphore Laporte, of Granby, visited Mr. Hector Amireault.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Vidcop of Montreal called on Mrs. Blunt.

Mr. Garry Hopps and friend visited Miss G. Hartley.

Mr. Earl Kirby called to see his wife, Mrs. Kirby.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Kennedy visited Mrs. Mary Boast.

Place mats, with an Easter motif designed by Miss Merinda Racicot, teacher of Class 3 in St. Luke's Anglican Church School, Waterloo, and made by the children of her class, were presented to the Home.

"Hello, Mr. Merchant" "I'm Sam, The Throw-a-way's Ad Man"

"Sure Would Like Some Of Your Advertising Today, But Please Mr. Merchant

Don't ask for proof of our audited circulation

"You see, Sir, many people don't buy our paper, WE GIVE IT TO THEM. Sort of shove it in doors and things, you know, and the ABC Audit Bureau won't let any newspaper count these throw-a-ways in their ABC figures. They say that only papers that people are willing to pay for are worth anything to the advertiser."

"What was that, Sir? No Sir, I don't blame you at all. After all—

Leafs blank Canadiens 3-0, Red Wings wallop Hawks

Norm Ullman pots hat-trick as Wings run roughshod over Hawks, Hall replaced in third period

DETROIT (CP) — Jolly Jack Adams peeped out over his spectacles as Detroit Red Wings walked to their dressing room Tuesday and said: "There's team with a hell of a lot of pride."

The man who started Detroit's dynasty as one of big-league hockey's great powers back in 1936 had just watched the Wings demolish Chicago Black Hawks 7-2 at Olympia Stadium to square the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final at three games apiece. There was a trace of melancholy in his voice.

He had spent more than a quarter of a century as manager and coach of the Wings until he quit—the gossip is he was fired—a couple of years ago. He had watched the game from the press box.

Now, the series goes to a climactic finale at Chicago Thursday with the winner to meet either Toronto Maple Leafs or Montreal Canadiens for the $48 trophy Lord Stanley presented in 1893 and a bundle of cash.

The Wings went into the game deadly, cruel and calculating after dropping a disputed 3-2 decision to the Hawks in Chicago Sunday that cost coach Sid Abel a $500 fine for uncomplimentary remarks he directed at referee Frank Udvari. Detroit had to win or pack it up for the season and the players gave their coach a thumping vote of confidence with their victory, the most decisive of the series.

ADAMS APPLAUDS

That's what Adams referred to when he stood up and verbally applauded the club he had masterminded to seven cup championships. The Wings, powered by the three-goal performance of Norm Ullman, a shifty centre Adams signed nine years ago, rammed it down the throats of the Hawks.

The indestructible Gordie Howe, another Adams protege, Parker MacDonald, Andre Pronovost and Bruce MacGregor completed the rout.

The big three of Chicago's arsenal figured in the Hawk scoring. Ken Wharram, a 39-goal man during the National Hockey League season, and Stan Mikita, the league scoring champion, got the goals. Each also gained an assist along with Bobby Hull, the bomber who has been hog-tied most of the series by his check, Mr. Howe.

Wings did everything but run the Hawks right back to the Windy City. They skated to a 1-1 first-period saw-off, led 5-2 at the end of the second when Hawk goalkeeper Glenn Hall retired because of nausea and then played their yannigans most of the final stanza.

Wings didn't have to be fired up for this one. They were still scorching over Udvari's call that allowed Hawks the game-tying third-period goal at Chicago Sunday. Hawks went on to win it 3-2 and Abel blew his stack for public consumption.

CAMPBELL TAKES NOTE

President Clarence Campbell of the NHL took notice of Abel's charges of "a steal," that Udvari didn't have "a gut left" and that he "blew" the call, and slapped him with the fine.

Abel was informed of Campbell's decision a few hours before the face-off and he "found the time" to let his players know about it before they skated out for the pre-game warmup.

Campbell noted in his prepared statement that "these statements constitute one of the most serious accusations that can or ever have been made against any NHL official." But the Wings, who jawed Udvari out of Chicago, apparently weren't in an agreeable mood.

They had a couple of days at their Toledo, Ohio, hideaway to work up a load of steam and they belched it out almost from the moment that referee Art Skov dropped the puck.

Hockey not as rough as 15 yrs. ago–Campbell

VANCOUVER (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, says hockey today is almost panty-waist compared with what it was 15 years ago.

He also says the NHL is the most successful sports organization in the world. He likened critics of it to kitchen help kicking the boss.

In a taped interview with sports director Al Davidson of New Westminster radio station CKNW he said:

"Oh, I've been in hockey, professional hockey since 1936. That is pretty near 30 years and the game we're playing today isn't violent in terms that I've observed them both as a referee and as an official."

DOESN'T CONTROL NHL

Earlier Campbell said he does not have control of the league.

"I carry out the policy of the owners and the NHL is, in spite of what anybody may say, the most successful sports organization in the world.

"There is nothing that can match it in that way. There are some people who don't like the way we operate but this is only the kitchen — help kicking the boss."

He said statements attributed to Senator Hartland Molson, head of the Montreal Canadiens organization, were taken out of context. The senator has been quoted as saying that he is not happy with the trend and violence in hockey.

"I happened to be in on the meeting at which he was present and I know exactly what was said and I know what was decided and I am sure he did not intend to leave any particular impression of this kind at all.

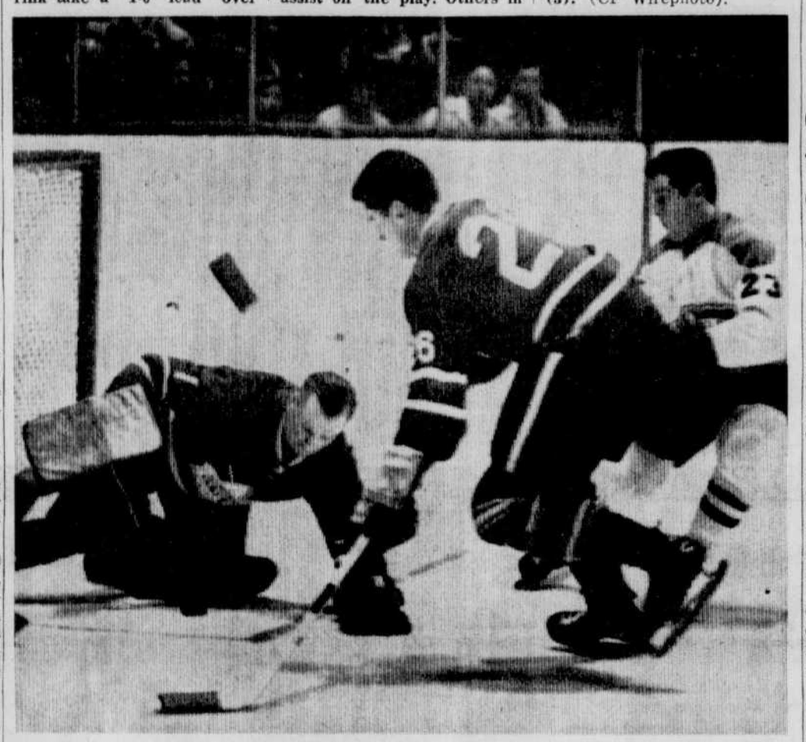

"I know what steps are being taken as well as anybody; as a matter of fact I'm partially responsible for formulation of the basic decisions that were taken at our last meeting."

Asked if he is happy with the refereeing of the NHL semi-final series, he said the standard has been pretty good.

There had been one major rhubarb and one disputed goal . . . "now that's not bad out of 10 games."

LEAFS TAKE LEAD — Toronto Maple Leafs pressing into the Montreal end of the rink take a 1-0 lead over Canadians. Don McKenney (not shown) scored the first goal. Dave Keon (14) got an assist on the play. Others in the play are Montreal goalie Charlie Hodge, Ralph Backstrom (6) and J. C. Tremblay (3). (CP Wirephoto).

DOWN TO BUSINESS — Leaf goalie Johnny Bower drops to pin the puck under his pad in the first period of last night's game. Toronto defenseman Allan Stanley (26) swoops in to cut off Claude Larose (23) of Montreal Canadiens. Leafs won the game 3-0 to tie the series. (CP Wirephoto).

Imlach wants rebate, Abel fined $500 only

TORONTO (CP) — If sympathy were edible, National Hockey League coaches would have starved to death long ago.

Punch Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs shed no tears Tuesday night when he learned Sid Abel of Detroit Red Wings had been fined $500 by the league.

"I'm going to ask for a rebate," Imlach said in the dressing room. "He gets fined half as much for saying twice as much."

The Toronto general manager was relieved of $1,000 for failing to keep his players under control in Maple Leaf Gardens Dec. 7 during the worst brawl in NHL history. Billy Reay, coach of Chicago Black Hawks, was also fined $1,000, and cash penalties from most of the players raised the total to almost $5,000.

"Sure, you can quote me as asking for a rebate," Imlach grinned at reporters. "Maybe if Campbell reads it he'll send me a cheque.

Not likely.

Clarence Campbell, president of the league, levied the fine against Abel Tuesday for remarks about the refereeing in the fifth game of the Detroit-Chicago Stanley Cup semi-final in Chicago Sunday.

CHASTISED REFEREE

Abel accused referee Frank Udvari of being "gutless" and of having "choked up" when he awarded a disputed goal to the Hawks.

If Imlach really had dreams about getting back half his fine, Campbell quickly shook him awake.

"The two cases were entirely different," said the league president who was in Toronto for the sixth series game between the Leafs and Montreal Canadiens.

"The $1,000 fines were more of a shock treatment. I fined Imlach and Reay for what I thought was intimidation and retaliation—and it apparently worked. No player in the league has come off the bench to take part in a brawl since."

Udvari, who wears No. 1 as the league's senior referee, was the man in the middle Dec. 7. Ironically, he is scheduled to be back in Chicago Stadium Thursday night for the seventh game in that series, despite pleas from Detroit management for a change.

The man who has become the butt of coast-to-coast criticism for his handling of the Chicago affair refereed in Toronto Tuesday night without incident, except for a three-minute jeering by the 14,417 fans when his name was announced at the start of the game.

"No, I have nothing to say about his performance tonight," said Imlach. "If I had, I couldn't afford it."

RED WINGS ABOUT TO SCORE — Norm Ullman of Detroit slaps at the puck which sailed into the net over fallen goalie Glenn Hall in first period last night. Al McNeil (19) defends for Chicago as Floyd Smith of Detroit attempts to clear path for Ullman. (CP Wirephoto).

Course ideal for Nicklaus and Palmer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—"On a dry course we spot them six strokes. When it's wet, it's eight."

So estimated Billy Casper, former United States Open champion and one of the golfers rated a chance to cut down long-hitting Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer in the 28th Masters golf tournament beginning Thursday.

Casper finished his first practice round over the Augusta National Course Tuesday and said:

"If ever a golf course was built for Nicklaus and Palmer, this is it. And when it's wet it's more so."

The course was soaked Monday. A muggy, overcast Tuesday didn't do much to put any roll back in the fairways. More showers were expected today.

Under the best of conditions the course, which is just a short chip shot under 7,000 yards, is a short hitter's nightmare. When it's wet, the bunters might as well stay home.

A GOLFER'S HADES

Little Jerry Barber, former PGA champion who hits more fairway woods in a round than Nicklaus does in a year, said "this is the kind of course that if you aren't good, you can expect to go down under and play every day when you die."

The tees are usually placed so that drives must carry uphill. On a dry day, the short hitters hit, and hope the ball will roll to the top. On a wet day they just hope.

The big, straight hitters—meaning Nicklaus and Palmer—can paste the ball to the top of the hill on the fly. And they get extra roll when they get there.

An invited field of about 90 players will tee off Thursday in pursuit of Nicklaus, the defending champion, who is aiming to be the first player ever to repeat.

Oil kings dump Wheat Kings 7-1

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings trounced Brandon Wheat Kings 7-1 Tuesday night to take a 2-1 lead in the Western Canada Memorial Cup semi-finals.

Max Mestinsek tallied twice for Edmonton with the other Oil King goals divided among Greg Tomalty, Reg Taschuk, Ron Anderson, Butch Paul and Doug Fox.

Felix LaValee scored the Brandon marker.

Dominate game but had help on their goals, series tied 3-3, meet tomorrow in crucial fixture

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs proved the validity Tuesday night of the hockey axiom that the harder you work, the luckier you get.

Although they dominated the play in their 3-0 win over Montreal Canadiens in the Stanley Cup semi-finals, they had help from the horseshoes on all of their goals and old mother luck was wearing a blue and white uniform all night.

The convincing win tied the series 3-3 and buoyed Leaf spirits for the deciding game in Montreal Thursday.

The lucky — and laboring — Leafs scored twice because they lost control of the puck and once because it bounced back to them off a linesman.

Don McKenney scored the winner halfway through the second period when he lifted in his own rebound after a drive by Allan Stanley. Bob Baun added the second a few minutes later when he lost control on a breakaway and the puck slid between Charlie Hodge's pads, and Andy Bathgate scored in the third period after the puck hopped away from Bob Pulford and landed on his stick.

But the Leafs worked hard to set up their own breaks.

They outskated the younger and lighter Canadiens, checked harder, passed more accurately and threw up a tighter defensive wall.

Goalie Johnny Bower, who was in hockey goal before some of the Canadiens were measured for long trousers, credits a new style of play for his shutout.

"Tonight I was coming out to the corner of the crease to cut down the angles," he explained after the game as he struggled out of his long underwear. "Before, I was sitting back and getting careless."

Bower was referring to Saturday's game in Montreal when the Canadiens beat him 4-2 and last Thursday's game here when Toronto won 5-3 but Bower looked unimpressive in the nets.

"I corrected a bad habit and it made a big difference. When I come out to the edge of the crease, the defencemen don't have to back up so far and screen me. It saved a goal tonight when (John) Ferguson hit the post in the first period. I cut down the angle on him and he had nothing to shoot at.

"A guy can get careless standing back against the crossbar."

There was nothing careless Thursday night about his 25 saves, many of them hot ones from close in.

McKenney was set up for his third goal of the series when a blueline drive by Stanley hit linesman George Hayes and hopped back on the defenceman's stick. Stanley zoomed a low one that Hodge blocked and the puck bounced to McKenney.

"It all happened so fast, I don't exactly remember," McKenney said later. "But I think I had two chances at it. The first one hit Hodge and I lifted the rebound over him."

Defenceman Baun played the role of hero in the Toronto dressing room although he admitted he had no idea how he scored.

"The puck was on my stick, then on my skates, then on my stick again. Then I don't know what happened to it. I was pushed off to the side of the net and everyone started cheering. I looked up and the red light was on and I figured maybe someone had come in behind me and banged it in."

Perhaps the only other person in the rink who didn't see the goal scored was Hodge.

"I took my eye off the puck. I thought he was going to shoot and I went out to block it. I lost it when I went down and didn't see it go in."

Baun, who was the game's defensive star and bowled over Canadiens like tenpins in the centre-ice area, will be remembered more for scoring the most improbable goal of the series.

The violence of former games seemed to have dissipated, and referee Frank Udvari called only 14 minor penalties, divided evenly.

Hints of mayhem appeared simultaneously with the arrival on the ice of Eddie Shack, who was not used until late in the third period. Almost immediately he tangled with Jim Roberts and both were penalized.

He returned to the ice barely long enough to dampen his blades when Ferguson charged him. Shack started to retaliate and won another two minutes with the timekeeper.

Quote of the evening came from Leaf manager - coach Punch Imlach who was asked why he inserted aggressive Shack late in the game.

"Because," said Imlach, "when I'm ahead by three goals I want my best men out there."

Braves and Giants are emerging as formidable killers in spring ball, Spahn headed for a good season

Milwaukee Braves, who strangle their opponents, and San Francisco Giants, who club them to death, are emerging as the most formidable killers of baseball's spring training season.

Both clubs took a day off from their exhibition schedule Tuesday and the statisticians had a chance to catch up with their awesome exploits.

With a week to go until opening day, the Giants were three games clear of the nearest opposition with 21 victories in 26 starts, followed by the Braves at 15-5. Minnesota Twins, the top American League club, were no better than sixth in the overall standings with an 11-9 mark.

The Giants boasted a lineup in which only Jose Pagan, their slick-fielding shortstop, was batting under .300. Orlando Cepeda at .438 and Willie Mays at .411 were leading the parade with Willie McCovey and rookies Jesus Alou and Jim Hart all hitting more than .350.

The Braves haven't been overpowering at the plate. But with the kind of pitching they've been throwing at the opposition, fence - busting heroics haven't been necessary. No fewer than four members of their mound staff have averaged under two earned runs a game.

Evergreen Warren Spahn, barely two weeks away from his 44th birthday, will probably win the opening-day assignment on the strength of his 1.80 mark and a route-going performance last time out. Even more effective are two youngsters, Denny Lemaster at 1.23 and Bob Sadowski at 1.13.

The Milwaukee bullpen is in good hands too. Bobby Tiefenauer, a 34-year-old refugee from the minors, has given up only one earned run in 11 innings, spread over four appearances.

Cincinnati's Jim Maloney, a 23-game winner last year, covered his pitching deficiencies over an eight-inning stint Tuesday by hitting three singles as the Reds downed Philadelphia Phillies 6-4. Harry Bright's two-run double in the seventh gave New York Yankees a 4-3 victory in their rubber game with Los Angeles Dodgers.

New York Mets' five-run rally in the ninth inning fell short as they lost 8-5 to Kansas City Athletics and Bob Allison's bases-loaded single in the ninth gave Minnesota Twins a 4-3 edge over Washington Senators.

Despite six perfect innings from Vernon Law, Pittsburgh Pirates yielded an unearned run in the 10th inning and lost 3-2 to St. Louis Cardinals. Mickey Lolich went all the way scattering nine hits and striking out 11 as Detroit Tigers whipped Houston Colts 4-1.

Four unearned runs gave Chicago Cubs a 4-2 decision over Boston Red Sox, Los Angeles Angels shaded Cleveland Indians 3-2 and Chicago White Sox downed Baltimore Orioles 3-1.

Red Kelly sets NHL playoff record

TORONTO— (CP) —Leonard (Red) Kelly, Toronto Maple Leafs' veteran forward, set a National Hockey League record for total playoff games played Tuesday night here, and he says his club's 3-0 victory over Montreal rates high up on the list of most thrilling games.

"It has to rate because of its importance. It kept us in the series. Actually nearly every game in Stanley Cup play is important to a player.

"One of the most vivid memories was a game a long time ago when I was with Detroit. Pete Babando scored for us to beat New York in overtime.

And Leo Reese beat Toronto in another overtime game I remember. And then there were the games, about three I think, when Rocket Richard beat us in overtime."

As far as Leafs were concerned it was a defensive contest, from goalie Johnny Bower out.

Bower, before the game said he wanted to play in this one in the worst way.

"I finally got a break, the past couple of games they were going against me. Tonight in the first period John Ferguson hit the post and the puck stayed out. I came out to meet him and cut down the angle, but it was a break.

"The defence, especially Bobby Baun played well. They were staying well in front of me which mean't I didn't have many screened shots and, boy, that made a difference."

Baun, who scored Leafs second goal, admitted he didn't know how the puck went into the net.

"I had the puck on my stick when I got past the defence. It jumped onto my skates, then rolled off. Then I don't know what happened.

"All I heard is the crowd cheering. I thought maybe someone had followed up and knocked it in. It sure was a surprise. But a pleasant one."

Baun, one of the most robust defencemen in the league, pounded several Canadian forwards into the ice, many in the centre-ice zone.

"Those guys like to freewheel it. So I figured the best time to hit them solidly was when they were just starting and might have their heads down."

Polo Grounds to be no more

NEW YORK (AP)—Its short foul lines and obstructed views scorned by players and fans for years, New York's Polo Grounds comes tumbling to the ground this week.

The city announced Tuesday that the long-planned demolition of the famous old ball park will start Friday and with it will go a carload of memories.

Bobby Thomson's homer heard round the world . . . Fred Merckle's boner at second base . . . Jack Dempsey knocked out of the ring by Luis Firpo . . . Willie Mays' back-to-the-plate catch on Vic Wertz . . . the feats of Christy Mathewson, Mel Ott and Carl Hubbell . . . Babe Ruth's 51 homers when the Yankees played there . . . all are part of the legend of Coogan's Bluff.

Ortis ready for Lane and Sugar Ramos

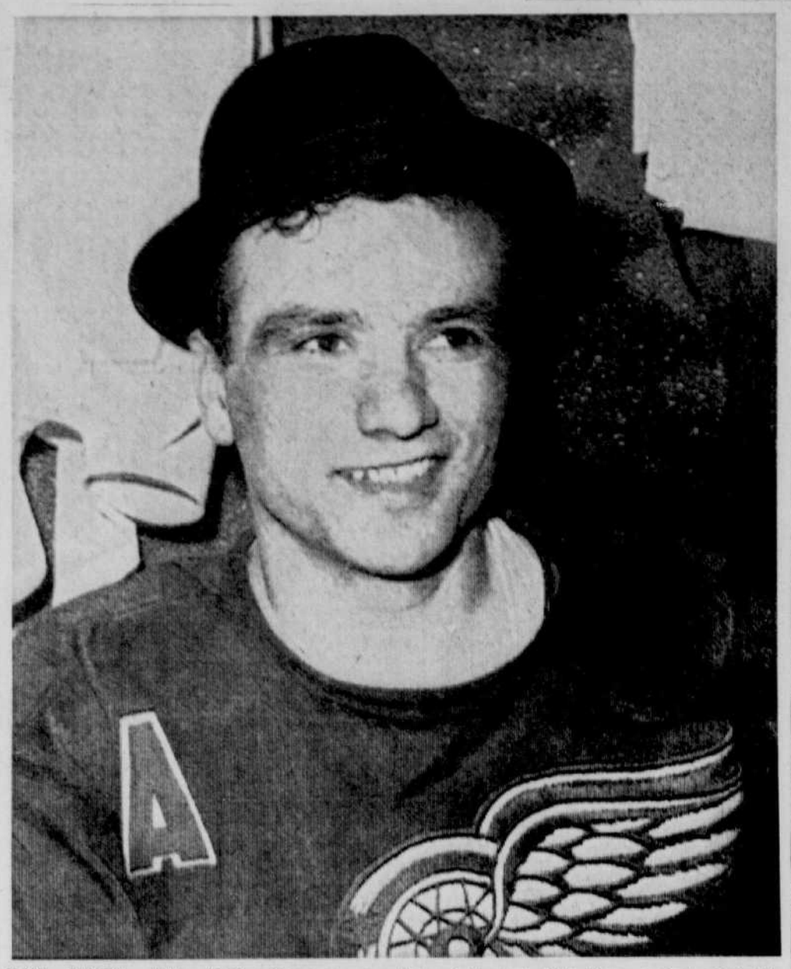

SAN JUAN, P.R. (CP)—Carlos Ortiz said today that if he beats Kenny Lane in their lightweight title fight Saturday night he may defend his crown again this year, against featherweight champion Sugar Ramos.

"I might fight him in Los Angeles for $100,000; that's more than any other lightweight has ever earned for a single fight," said Ortiz, who makes no bones about fighting "only when the price is right."

Bill Daly, Ortiz' manager, said matchmaker George Parnassus has suggested a Ramos fight in Los Angeles, "but we can't consider any offers until this fight is over, and then the line forms to the right."

Ortiz is guaranteed $62,500 for his fourth defence of the crown he won by knocking out Joe Brown in April, 1962.

Ortiz, with a 43-4 record, is a 2-to-1 favorite to beat Lane for the second time. He lost a 10-round decision to Lane in 1958 but stopped him in the second round on cuts the following year.

HAT TRICK HIS SPECIALTY — Norm Ullman of the Red Wings wears a hat placed on his head in the dressing room last night after the fast skating centre turned in his second hat-trick of the series. He poured in three goals in Detroit's lopsided 7-2 victory over Chicago last night. (AP Wirephoto).

W.C.T.U. holds annual meeting at Sutton home

SUTTON — The annual meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held March 26, at the home of Mrs. Percy Rumsby.

The president, Mrs. Knights, opened the meeting by reading an article pertaining to the Easter season and Mrs. Emily O'Brien, in charge of the devotional period, read an Easter message and a poem, followed by prayer.

The topic for the day, Moral Education, was given by Mrs. Gibson. Splendid reports on the year's work were presented by all superintendents.

Pupils winning provincial in the National Temperance Study Course were: Kathryn Brown and John Vlodarczyk, of Sutton, David Bailey and Eileen Cook, of Mansonville.

The slate of officers for the new year, presented by Mrs. O'Brien, was accepted.

The next meeting will be held April 23, at Mrs. Gibson's and the county convention will take place at the home of Mrs. Badger, Knowlton, on April 30.

Bishopton

Mrs. Lloyd Harrison entertained the Christmas Club at a Hobo party, when the evening was spent in playing games. Mrs. Lyle Herring won the prize for the best hobo costume. At the close of the evening a hobo lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Oral Downes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Jenkerson accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Howes, of Sherbrooke, spent the Easter weekend in Boston, Mass.

Friends of Mrs. Maude Joyce are sorry to learn that she is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Willard were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McGillivray, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Main and Wendy; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Main, Terry and Lorne, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Main, Nancy and Jimmie, of East Angus; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Parsons and family of Alexandria, Ont.; and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Buchanan, of Bury.

Holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith were Mr and Mrs. Harold Clare and sons, of Montreal; Mr. Wayne Smith, of St. Lambert; Mr. and Mrs. A. Fortin, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. A. Brazenall, of Learned Plain; Mr. and Mrs. T. MacDonald and Miss P. Bissonnette, of Bishopton.

Miss Myrna Joyce, of Macdonald College, spent the weekend as guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Joyce.

New penal concept built into Cowansville project

Architect's model of the minimum security complex

COWANSVILLE — The new medium security penitentiary at present under construction near Cowansville will allow 450 men to benefit from a new concept of the penal institution.

Inmates will be chosen by the regional selection board from among those admitted to the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary in Montreal.

They will be those non-violent in character and amenable to training and institution discipline and most will be under 25 years of age.

The department of justice hopes the institutional program will allow them to leave the penitentiary prepared not only to earn a living but take up fully the responsibilities of Canadian citizenship.

The design of the institution facilitates separation of the inmates into small groups sharing common characteristics, such as age, cultural and educational interests, attitude to authority and work areas.

Having been chosen for admittance an inmate will spend from three to six weeks in the institution's reception centre. There he will undergo an extensive orientation and testing program.

On the basis of results obtained during this period a program will be drawn up for him, designating the group he will be housed with, his daily work including trades training, academic education program and introduction to the religious, cultural and recreational activities of the institution.

This program will be flexible and amended from time to time to suit the needs of the individual.

The Cowansville institution is the first of a number of similar penitentiaries to be built across Canada. The department of justice hopes that besides offering individual care for the inmate, they will end overcrowding in institutions such as St. Vincent de Paul.

It is also hoped that St. Vincent de Paul will be closed after the construction period.

Planning of the Cowansville institution is based on the concept of five centres or groups of buildings to which inmates will go at different times during a normal day.

The living centre comprises four buildings. Each contains 108 individual rooms located on two floors. Each building has three day rooms for the use of inmates in the evening or during the weekend.

Rooms are equipped with plumbing. Furnishings include bed, working table, chair and closet.

A large proportion of the inmates will spend a normal eight-hour working day five days a week at the working centre. This comprises the industrial training workshops and maintenance shops.

Facilities used by inmates outside working hours, including weekends, up to "lights out" are contained in the community centre.

The centre comprises an auditorium, a dining - kitchen building, clothing issue building, the school - library and two chapels, Roman Catholic and Protestant, to be built by inmates.

The dining - kitchen building contains a kitchen, dining room space for 260 inmates, a dining room to seat 60 officers. Food will be served cafeteria style.

The centre's auditorium is multi-purpose building for showing movies, stage presentations, games, exercise and recreation in general.

Three classrooms, a hobby workshop and a library are contained in the school - library. This will be used during the evenings normally.

Inmates not involved in the normal daily routine will be handled in the special handling centre.

The sick bay is for treatment of out-patients for minor accidents and illnesses. The nursing unit will contain 17 beds for handling medical and post-operative cases.

Also contained in the special handling centre will be the reception unit, already mentioned, and the Dissociation unit for custody of inmates for disciplinary offences.

Piles of sewer pipe await installation at site

300 to be working on site in May; institution seen asset to region

By TED BEAUDOIN
(Record staff reporter)

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Over 60 men are now employed at the construction site of the new minimum security institution here.

A spokesman for the Argo Construction Company, general contractors, said that in a couple of weeks, more men would be employed.

He said that about 300 men will be working on the site near the end of May.

Architect Paul O. Trepanier, Granby, said the project is proceeding according to plan, and "on schedule." The manufacturing of pre-cast buildings has already begun and will be delivered to Cowansville in about five weeks."

The employment is handled by the Farnham and Cowansville National Employment Service offices. J. L. Labbe, manager of the Cowansville branch said the employment requests are divided between the two towns. "To date, both our offices have placed about 20 men each."

Tenders have been called for the electrical work, and should be let within a matter of weeks.

Feelings about Cowansville having a penitentiary, at one time somewhat resentful, have changed to the point where the penitentiary is considered a source of employment.

Dale Morrison, manager of Vilas Industries Ltd., said "it will definitely create employment, even though there is not too much unemployment here now. But the institution will bring in many more families into Cowansville and this will undoubtedly result in more qualified men for the industrial concerns."

Alderman A. J. Knight, said "the penitentiary is a good thing for Cowansville, and particularly for boosting area employment."

Another Cowansville alderman, Norman Browning said "it will certainly help the area. More men will bring more money into Cowansville and there will be that much more to spend locally in stores."

The Argo spokesman said because this was a Federal project, the hired help is not sought strictly from one town or area, but rather from the surrounding municipalities. To date, men have been hired from Brome, Missisquoi and Shefford counties.

Due to the immensity of the protect, many local sub-contractors might not be able to bid for work, but speculation is that many resources in Cowansville will be employed for the construction of the 6.5 million dollar project.

The majority of men at the construction site, about four miles north-west of Cowansville on Highway 40 are laborers from the Cowansville vicinity.

"The ground work is going fast," said the spokesman, "and the project is progressing smoothly."

Now you can buy the bread that was never meant to be sold

Delicious Monks' Bread was originally intended only for the Trappist Monks at the Abbey of the Genesee at Piffard, N.Y. They baked their own tall loaves using the most wholesome ingredients available. The bread had to be nourishing as the Monks eat neither meat nor fowl.

Monks' Bread may very well be the best bread you've ever tasted. Its natural good flavor can't be buttered away or toasted away.

Buy a loaf of Monks' Bread—the bread that wasn't meant to be sold—at your grocer's now.

General Bakeries Limited bakes Monks' Bread for you using the exact prepackaged formula delivered to the bakery, special Monks' Bread pans, and following a strict preparation schedule, under the guidance of the Abbey.

Marriages

MAXWELL — SOULE

MYSTIC — The marriage of Shirley Eloise, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. F. P. Soule of Mystic, to Mr. Roland E. Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold S. Maxwell of Lachute, took place on Saturday, March 28, at the Mystic United Church, Rev. Peter Macaskill officiating. Mrs. K. Smith played the wedding music. Baskets of spring flowers were used to decorate the church.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Winston Soule, was in a sheath gown of imported white silk brocade. She wore a hat of self-material, with a small veil and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. T. R. Roberston of Brownsburg, as matron of honor was in a sheath dress of pink organza, lined with taffeta. She wore a matching bandeau and a corsage of white carnations and hyacinths.

Mr. T. R. Robertson acted as best man and the usher was Mr. Gordon Tabrett.

Mrs. Stanley Soule, the bride's sister-in-law, was in an ensemble of beige ribbon lace and wore a green and white hat, brown accessories, and a corsage of bronze mums.

Mrs. Maxwell, mother of the groom, wore a green printed silk gown, a white hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following a reception held at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Soule, the couple left for the Southern United States, the bride travelling in a suit of pink silk and wool with matching hat and a royal blue boucle coat.

Upon their return they will take up residence in Lachute.

Polly's pointers

by Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — I put several buttons inside a scoop that came in a vacuum-packed coffeee can, glued another scoop to it and the result is a baby rattle. A noisy, baby-pleasing crib toy can be made by drilling a hole in each scoop handle and attaching several to a small chain. — A BACHELOR UNCLE.

DEAR POLLY — My mother and I had the same problems as Lynn P. and her mother. I wanted to chose my own clothes. We both comprised a little and now she helps me choose my clothes and I help her choose hers.—K. L. S.

DEAR POLLY — "Always clean windows for safe driving!" Do other men get tired or impatient while waiting for the wife or children when they are late or say they are only going to be gone a few minutes? I keep a can of spray window cleaner and a cloth in our station wagon. Now when I have to wait, I clean one or more windows (side and out) and the time seems to go faster.—BILL

DEAR POLLY — The inside of a closet door is a good resting place for the ironing board. Put two screw-type clothes hooks near the bottom of the door to form a rack to hold the bottom of the folded board. About three feet above this, tack a lady's belt to the door and fasten it around the the upper part of the board to hold it in place. Put the flat side of the board against the door and the board stays in place securely.—K. D.

DEAR POLLY — Perhaps the Cub Scout leader who asked for ideas would like to make some of the things our Blue Bird group made when I was the leader.

• Collect glass jars, with screw-on lids, in various sizes and shapes. Paint the lids and then glue sequins, beads or shells on them and perhaps on one side of each jar, too. Decals can also be used. These make nice gifts when filled with candy, soap or bubble bath.—M. P.

DEAR POLLY — When you are lucky enough to buy a new large appliance, save the heavy cardboard carton to make a deluxe playhouse for the children. My husband used a refrierator carton and wired the top together for extra strength, cut out windows and a door. It is a pleasure to see the children enjoy a plaything that cost nothing at all.—DAILY READER.

DEAR POLLY — If children use chalk to write on a blackboard, wrap the chalk with transparent plastic or masking tape. If the chalk is dropped it will not break up into tiny pieces and as it is used, the tape can be removed a little at a time and cut off. — Mrs. F. M.

GIRLS — This is also a good idea for homemakers who use a blackboard and chalk in their kitchens for writing grocery lists and other reminders as I do. — POLLY.

Lives among mountain peaks

Young housewife feels lost in the city

VANCOUVER (CP)—A glamorous young houeswife named Judy Peake, who lives among the mountain peaks and helps guide hunters, came to town and said:

"I get lost in the city."

Mrs. Peake, visiting the city for the first time in two years, says she's not sure she likes it.

"All the buildings look the same. In the country the mountains and trees are all different and you have something to find your way by."

Apart from guiding hunters with husband Herb, Mrs. Peake belongs to the vanishing breed of Canadian homesteader.

The young couple, both six-footers with the outdoors in their blood, are settliag a 1,300-acre ranch at Pink Mountain, near Mile 143 of the Alaska Highway. She calls it "a sizable section of moose pasture" where moose still roam and meat is no problem.

FATHER WAS GUIDE

Mrs. Peake was raised at Tete Jaune, B.C., in the Rockies, where her foster parents guided American hunting parties. Five years ago she met her husband who was working on an oil rig. They decided to ranch, but he still works at drilling during the winter.

Herb makes it home about once a month in winter—depending on the weather—and his pretty wife sometimes goes weeks without seeing another human.

"I'm too busy to be lonely and anyway the nearest neighbors are five miles away, a long distane when the snow is deep and the temperature is around 40 or 50 below," she said.

Herb and Judy augment their income by guiding hunting parties. On the trail she cooks, he guides, they both hunt, fish and handle pack trains.

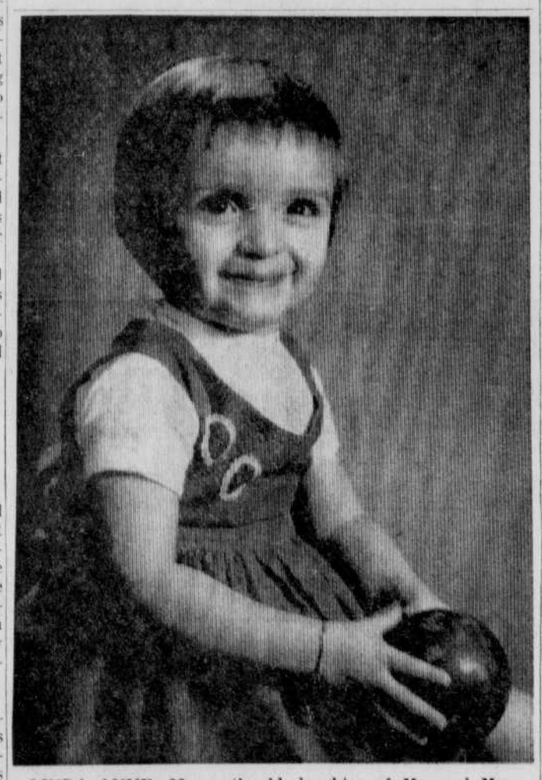

Mrs. Peake takes in her stride things that would fell city folk.

"I carry water from the creek, stoke a stove and travel 150 miles to buy groceries."

She doesn't worry about meat supplies — just goes out and shoots a moose, and then cans it. Her pin money comes from shooting rabbits or trapping.

Asked how she manages to look like a model, Judy explained:

"I live in jeans and riding boots but as regular as breakfast I put on my makeup and do my hair, even if I know I won't be seeing anyone but the horses."

FRESH VEGETABLES AND HAMBURG CASSEROLE

(4 servings)

- ½ cup diced onion
- 2 tablespoons butter, margarine or beef suet
- 1 pound lean hamburg meat
- 1 cup diced celery
- 1 cup sliced carrots
- ⅓ cup diced green peppers
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- ¾ cup hot water
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ¼ cup cold water
- 2 cups mashed potatoes

Saute onion in butter or margarine or beef suet. Add meat and cook until all the pink has disappeared. Add celery, carrots, green pepper, beef bouillon cube, water and seasonings. Cover and cook 5 minutes. Mix flour to a smooth paste with cold water and add to the mixture. Turn into a 1-quart casserole. Spoon fluffy mashed potatoes around the top edge of casserole. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes or until golden brown over the top.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Frequent question that pops up in the warm and wonderful letters I get from mothers: "Are you real, or just a make-believe person?" Well, I'm a very much alive, proud mother of five, and a several-times grandmother, too. We're a close and happy family and down to the last one of us, we think babies are the very nicest things that can happen to people.

Mealtime memo. I loved feeding time with all my children. (And still do when I feed my adorable grandchildren.) Somehow that's the time when you're in closest communication with your baby.

Feeding time also gives you a welcome "breather" from the normal hectics of the day. Point to remember: if you're relaxed, baby will relax, and feeding will be more fun for both of you.

Taste-testing—baby style. Once baby has become accustomed to the feel and swallow of solid foods, taste becomes a big factor in the acceptance or rejection of foods. Fortunately Gerber makes so many good-tasting varieties of strained foods (over 50) you have plenty of alternates with similar nutritive values to choose from. In Gerber's several food categories you will find enough variety to keep any baby happy—and well-nourished. P.S. The more variety you offer baby, the more foods he will learn to like . . . the more interest he'll show in his meals.

A change of taste is important where cereal is concerned, too. By rotating Gerber Rice Cereal, Barley, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal, and Protein Cereal Food you help keep baby interested in this all-important baby basic. And why are these special cereals so important, from the infant age through the toddler stage? Because they provide these nutrints: caloriees, iron, and the important B-vitamins, B_1, B_2 and niacin. All contribute to your baby's nutritional well-being. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

You Can See It... You Can Taste It!

The EAT in the MEAT that makes "Super-Right" your best buy shows up in a way you can see. You see it in the Red Brand beef steaks and hearty rib roasts that have the wasteful fat and bone trimmed away. You see it in the rich colour of the freshly ground beef that's not loaded with "shrink-away" fat. You'll see it where it counts—in the meat you serve your family—in your budget too!

The EAT in the MEAT that A&P promises, starts long before you see it, however. It begins with A&P selections only from Canada's Federally Inspected packers. They know "Super-Right's" strict quality standards for beef, pork, lamb, veal and poultry. And our buyers know that if every pound can't be guaranteed—it's not "Super-Right" quality.

The EAT in the MEAT comes only from constant care. That's why A&P maintains its own staff of experts—and under their watchful eye passes every pound of meat destined for your family. This care of "Super-Right" meat continues right up to the minute your purchase is made. You can count on "the eat in Super-Right meat"—and on A&P's money saving prices—because we care about YOU.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE OF SATISFACTION

The EAT in the MEAT is guaranteed at A&P. The meat we sell must satisfy your family completely or your money will be refunded. All persons in your A&P meat department know this—and they are as determined as we to offer the best meat selection in town.

OBITUARIES

MRS. GORDON AMES, OF RICHMOND, formerly of Melbourne

RICHMOND — The death of Mrs. Gordon Ames occurred at the Wales Home on March 6, 1964, after being in ill health for some time. She was 77 years of age.

Mrs. Ames was born on a farm at South Durham Nov. 12, 1886, eldest daughter of the late David Fee and his wife, Annie Coote.

She was educated in the neighborhood school and spent all her life in the Eastern Townships. Mrs. Ames was a member of Chalmers United Church.

On Feb. 23, 1910, she was married to Gordon Ames, of Melbourne, who predeceased her in December 1963.

Surviving are two sons, Elwin, of Richmond, and Lorne, of Danville; two sisters, Mrs. A. Leonard, of Bishopton, and Mrs. P. Mould, of British Columbia; two brothers, Gordon, of South Durham, and Lorne, of British Columbia; a granddaughter and a member of other relatives.

A daughter Hazel predeceased her in 1932, a brother, Melvin, of British Columbia, in 1939, and a sister, Hazel, in 1906; also three infant children, two brothers and a sister, who died in infancy.

The remains rested at the S. L. Lockwood Funeral Home. On March 9, prayers were held at the funeral home, thence at 2.30 p.m. to Chalmers United Church, where the largely attended service was conducted by the minister, Rev. R. A. Cameron.

Mrs. Harry Frazer presided at the organ. Favorite hymns sung were Abide with Me and Unto the Hills. The choir rendered Softly and tenderly Jesus is Calling.

Bearers were Dale Leonard, Eric McMannis, Galen Coote, Kenneth Johnston, Ernest Newel and Andrew Pocklington. Interment took place in the Melbourne Ridge Cemetery. Those from a distance attending were from Montreal, St. Thomas, Ont. Danville, South Durham, Ulverton, Melbourne Ridge, and the surrounding districts.

JOHN A. McKENZIE, OF RICHMOND Formerly of Brockville, Ont.

RICHMOND — The death of John Alexander McKenzie, a well known and highly esteemed resident of Richmond, formerly of Brockville, Ont., occurred March 7, 1964, at the Sherbrooke Hospital, where he had been a patient for a week at the age of 76 years. He had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. McKenzie, who was known to his many friends as Mack, was born June 6, 1888, at Brockville, son of the late Duncan McKenzie and his wife, Mary Smith. He was educated at the local school and at one time was a carrier boy for the Brockville Recorder.

In 1910 he married Mary Rutherford, of Brockville.

He entered railway employment as a machinist helper in 1912 and three yearse later he enlisted in the 80th Battalion, for service in World War I. While in France he was transferred to the 38th Battalion. He served in England, Belgium and France before receiving injuries on Nov. 26, 1916, which curtailed his war service.

Mr. McKenzie returned to Canada the following year and resumed his railway employment in 1918. After graduating from the Brockville Business College, he was appointed to the stores department and was transferred to Richmond. He remained here until 1947.

The last five years of his railway career were spent in Brockville before he retired from the Canadian National Railway after 40 years service. On his retirement he was honored at a dinner by representatives from almost every railway department.

Mr. McKenzie returned to Richmond and resided at the home of Mrs. H. Semple.

While living in Richmond the family attended Chalmers Church. Mr. McKenzie was an ardent reader, a baseball and hockey fan, and was a member of the Royal Canadian Legion B.E.S.L., Branch 15. He contributed to many worthy causes.

On the evening previous to the funeral the members of the Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary visited the funeral home in a body.

Surviving are a son, Lawrence McKenzie, of St. Lambert; two daughters, Dorothy, Mrs. Clifford Husk, of Melbourne, and Brenda, Mrs. Harold Cunningham, of Ottawa, Ont.; 11 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Isabel Lawrence, of Glen Rock, Sask.; a brother, William McKenzie, of Vernon, B.C., and many other relatives.

The remains rested at the J. H. Fleury Funeral Home. On March 10 prayers were held, followed by funeral service at 2:30 p.m. to the Richmond-Melbourne United Church. Rev. R. A. Cameron officiated.

The choir rendered the anthem Nearer My God to Thee, with Douglas Kerr, Jr., of Dalhousie University, Halifax, taking the solo part, and two favorite hymns, Abide with Me and Rock of Ages. Mrs. Harry Frazer was at the organ.

The flag draped casket, with wreath of poppies, was borne by Comrades Gaston Dumont, Arnold Rodgers, Alfred Gunter and Omer Malette, Jack Fletcher, of the R.C.A.F., Belleville, Ont., and Sutherland Wallace, of R.C.A.F., Ile Perrot.

Interment took place in St. Ann's Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Cameron conducting the committal service, which was followed by the impressive service by the Legion branch. The Last Post was sounded by Comrade Roland Letourneau.

Those from a distance present were from Ottawa, Belleville, Ile Perrot, Montreal, Windsor Mills, Drummondville and Danville.

WILLIAM S. GREENLAY, OF GREENLAY

GREENLAY — On March 15, 1964, the oldest resident of Greenlay, William Smith Greenlay, died in his ninety-second year at the St. Louis Hospital, Windsor, Que. He was born Dec. 21, 1872 in Greenlay the son of William Greenlay, Sr., and Charlotte Ann Houston.

Bill, as he was known to his many friends, started to work for the Canada Paper Co., at the age of seventeen, and worked continuously for the company until he retired on Jan. 1, 1949, at the age of seventy-six. During this period, he worked at the old Windsor mill, the Springvale mill at the St. Francis mill, and was employed as boss machine tender at his retirement.

In 1951 he suffered a severe heart attack, which kept him from doing all the things he had planned to do, but until Feb. 16 of this year, he was up and around each day and was always interested in everyday happenings.

On Oct. 18, 1899, he married Georgena A. Beattie, who predeceased him in April 1931.

Left to mourn his loss are a daughter, Agnes, Mrs. John Lowry, of Richmond; two sons, Irwin, of Greenlay, and Walter, of Bromptonville; 11 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren; a sister, Clara, Mrs. Austin Greenlay, of Napinka, Man.; and many other relatives.

A daughter, Ada, Mrs. Clarence Hayes, of Shawville, died in 1942. He was also predeceased by a sister, Mary, Mrs. C. Ward, in 1906, and a brother, Lt. Col. Gardner Greenlay, Climax, Sask., a veteran of the Boer War and World War 1, in 1952.

The funeral was held March 17, at Boisvert's Funeral Home, Rev. William Reid, a personal friend of the deceased, officiating. The bearers, also personal friends, were Richard Doyle, Kenneth Destromp, Gilbert Smith, William Campbell, Ed. Tanner and William Ward.

Interment took place in the family lot in Windson Cemetery, beside his wife.

Friends and relatives present were from St. Catharines, Ont., Haverhill, Mass., Sutton, Dorval, Pointe Claire, Sherbrooke, Brompton and Windsor.

MISS A. WINCHESTER, OF WORCESTER, MASS., FORMERLY OF SUTTON

SUTTON — Miss Alberta A. Winchester, died on March 12, at the City Hospital, Worcester, Mass., where she had been a patient for four weeks suffering from the effects of a fall at her home.

Miss Winchester was born on Feb. 14, 1866. She was the last surviving member of the family of the late Aaron Alfred Winchester and his wife, Elizabeth Jane Seymour. Four sisters and a brother predeceased her.

Miss Winchester attended McGill Normal School in Montreal, from which she graduated in 1872 and received her diploma. For some years she was a successful teacher.

She had resided in Worcester, for many years and was the oldest member of the Worcester County Hearing and Speech Center Inc., with which she had been associated for 22 years. During this time she had made many friends.

She attended St. John's Episcopal Church as long as his health permitted.

A prayer service was held at Graham Funeral Home, conducted by her rector, Rev. Edgar R. Walker, after which the remains were brought to Sutton, where they rested at the home of a niece, Mrs. William Bergeron.

The funeral was held on March 16, at Grace Anglican Church, with the rector, Rev. J. H. M. Brett, conducting the service.

The bearers were all nephews, William Bergeron, Lloyd Boast, Guy Lothian, Phil Goyette, Larry Goyette and Raymond Goyette.

Burial was in the family lot in Fairmount Cemetery.

Miss Winchester leaves her brother-in-law, Frank A. Roberts, with whom she resided, three nieces, Mrs. William Bergeron, Mrs. E. A. Roberts and Mrs. H. A. Lee, also several great-niece and nephews.

SOUTH DURHAM —

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnston and Mrs. William Johnston were Mr. and Mrs. Elton Pilse and family, of Verdun and Mrs. Gerald French and daughter, Debbie, of Sawyerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Duff, of Newark, N.J., and Miss Ila Carden, of Montreal, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Duffy.

Mr. and Mrs. Edison Montgomery entertained Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Montgomery and family, of Montreal, for the Easter holiday.

Executive named, busy year reported at East Clifton WI annual meeting

EAST CLIFTON — The annual meeting of the W.I., was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon French. In the absence of the president, the vice-president conducted the meeting, when a new member was welcomed.

A gift was donated by a member to be sent to the National Convention.

Two more aluminum pitchers have been received from a packing company, for use in the W.I., hall.

The annual reports of all conveners were read showing that much had been accomplished during the past year.

SLATE PRESENTED

Mrs. Gordon French presented the slate of officers which was accepted as follows: President, Mrs. Irwin McBurney; first vice-president, Mrs. Gordon French; second vice-president, Mrs. James Bellam; secretary, Mrs. Victor Bell; treasurer, Mrs. Graydon Montgomery.

Conveners: Agriculture, Mrs. G. French, Mrs. G. Montgomery, Mrs. R. Waldron, education, Mrs. R. Waldron, home economics, Mrs. J. Bellam, citizenship, Mrs. Hollis Cairns, publicity, Mrs. J. Parkinson welfare and health, Mrs. V. Bell cheer, Mrs. J. Parkinson, work committee, Mrs. J. Bellam, Mrs. G. Montgomery, and Mrs. I. McBurney.

The program for the ensuing year was read.

DELEGATES APPOINTED

Delegates to the conventions were appointed as follows: Annual county convention, Mrs. R. Waldron; Provincial convention, Mrs. G. Montgomery.

The group's idea for the cookshire Fair project is sugar making. For the Centennial Project Make Canada Beautiful, the local project, improve appearance of the grounds at the W.I. Hall.

The busy meeting was then adjourned, followed by lunch.

Legion Auxiliary resumes meetings at Fitch Bay

FITCH BAY — The Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 180, met with Comrade Adams, on March 31, for the first meeting since last November. The officers were unanimously reappointed.

Cde. Ramage, secretary, read a card of thanks from a veteran for an Easter gift and Cde. Adams, treasurer, who recently fractured a knee, thanked the members for their gift and cards.

She also stated 19 cards of thanks for Christmas cheer had been received from hospitalized veterans and announced the receipts from the Save the Children Fund and the John Milton Society for the Blind.

The bank balance is $75.12, with no bills outstanding.

An article showing the suggested new Canadian flag will be referred to the Senior Branch.

A round robin was won by Cde. Pelkie, the proceeds going to the sick fund.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed. Good wishes were extended to Cde. Adams, who is leaving by air on April 16, to spend a few weeks in England.

The May meeting will be held in Georgeville.

Owing to the absence of so many members, the Senior Branch did not meet.

NEW PENAL CONCEPT

deputy warden and his staff the administration centre will contain the visiting unit to which friends and relatives of inmates will be admitted for visiting at appropriate times.

The living centre, administration centre and community centre will be connected by an enclosed covered way. The recreation area comprising space for various sports activities is around two sides of the recreation centre.

A modular system of pre-cast concrete construction will permit alteration, addition and re-arrangement at a minimum cost. This means the institutions may be changed in future years as accepted penological concepts change.

Unlike existing prisons the new institutions will not be surrounded by walls. Security will be provided by the design of individual buildings and a 16-foot high perimeter fence, floodlit at night.

Easter services at Richmond

RICHMOND — A large congregation attended the Easter Service Sunday morning at the Richmond and Melbourne United Church. The minister, Rev. R. A. Cameron, close for his sermon, Good Friday and Easter Day.
