BRANDT CASE IN APPELLATE COURT HASTILY REVIEWED

Much Bitterness Displayed by Lawyers Engaged in the Case.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, April 5. — Efforts by lawyers apposed to the liberation from prison of young Folke E. Brandt, to have the Appellate Court, First District, hastily review the Brandt Habeas Corpus appeal, failed yesterday, as the result of a vigorous fight made by Attorney Mirabeau L. Towns, representing Brandt, Attorney-General Carmody, and District Attorney Whitman.

The hearing of arguments on the appeal from Supreme Court Justice Girard's decision liberating Brandt from his thirty-year term at Dannemora, was postponed until May 3 next.

Those who tried to have the appeal advanced for hasty hearing were District Attorney Hogue, of Clinton County, representing the Warden of Dannemora prison; Attorney T. H. O'Brien, representing Mr. Hogue, and John D. Lindsay, from Delancey Nicoll's office. Nicoll has been acting for Mortimer L. Schiff in the Brandt case.

Considerable bitterness was evinced by the lawyers who are trying to have Brandt sent to Dannemora. Towns met this bitterness with a forcible presentation of the efforts to have the case heard before Brandt's side of it could be fully given. He said he had been taken advantage of by District Attorney Hogue, who, by advancing the case, had not given him time to prepare briefs.

Mr. O'Brien denied the statements of Towns in heated terms, and was rebuked by presiding Justice Ingraham. Then Mr. Carmody had a few things to say about the keen interest displayed in trying to keep Brandt in Dannemora by District Attorney Hogue.

"Your honor, I think that, as Attorney-General of New York State, I am the officer who ought to look after this case in so far as the State is concerned," he said, to presiding Justice Ingraham. "I am the judicial officer who is supposed to represent the people in this matter, as in all others.

"I do not think the District Attorney of Clinton County has any right here. The people of New York State are represented by their Attorney-General, and rightly so."

To this Justice Ingraham replied:—"I think the Attorney-General is the proper person to represent the people in this matter. He is their legal adviser in matters of this kind. I think the District-Attorney of Clinton County will be willing to give his consent to adjournment of this hearing until May 3 next."

"The lawer for the relator asks for it, the Attorney-General asks for it, the District Attorney of New York County asks for it, and you, Mr. District Attorney of Clinton County, are the only one to object to it."

Attorney O'Brien then declared that he and Mr. Hogue wanted an immediate appearance because their presence up-State was urgent. Justice Ingraham, after a conference, adjourned the case.

Attorney-General Carmody, it is said, will ask the appellate division to appoint a referee to investigate the connection of Howard S. Gans, personal attorney for banker Mortimer L. Schiff, with the sentence of thirty years' imposed on Brandt.

MONTREALER TO MAKE POWER INVESTIGATION.

Mr. R. S. Kelch Will Report on Electrical Schemes for Kingston City.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Kingston, Ont., April 5.—The Civic Utilities Committee has decided to engage Mr. R. S. Kelch, electrical engineer of Montreal, to report on the relative merits of the contracts for power presented by the Hydro-Electric Commission and the Seymour Company.

The Seymour people have made a new proposition to the city. The original price was $25 per horse-power, no matter how much power was taken. Now power may be secured at the following rates: 500 horse-power to 3,000 horse-power, $25 per kilo; 3,000 horse-power to 4,000 horse-power $23.50 per horse-power; 4,000 horse-power to 5,000 horse-power, $21.50 per horse-power.

The prices quoted by the Hydro-Electric Commission are as follows: 1,500 horse-power, $36 or $45, according to whether the system is high or low voltage; 3,000 horse-power, $30.40 per horse-power; 4,000 horse-power, $26.64 per horse-power; 5,000 horse-power, $24.25 per horse-power.

PLEA FOR THE LABRADOR.

Dr. Grenfell Demands Precautions Against Tuberculosis.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Hamilton, Ont., April 5.—"The people of Labrador have no regard for the laws of health. The place is reeking with tuberculosis in its worst forms, and if something is not done immediately to check the disease, it will only be a matter of a few years until the people now residing there will be wiped off the face of the earth entirely."

To-night, in a lecture in Association Hall, before 5,000 people, Dr. Grenfell, who recently was knighted by the King, and whose work among the illiterate fisher-folk in Labrador, has attracted the attention of every civilized country in the world, asked those present for financial assistance. A man in the audience who was touched by the speaker's brilliant plea, took his hat, and, passing through the aisles, secured over $1,000 for the worthy cause.

THREE RUSSIANS HURT.

Fatal Injuries Sustained When Molten Slag Dumped Into Water.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, Ont., April 5.—Three Russians, who came here recently from Montreal, were probably fatally injured in a local foundry, when one of the men dumped some molten slag into a ladle in which there was water. The men were terribly injured by flying fragments, and several others standing near were badly cut.

ICE-BREAKER HAD TO FIND SHELTER ON THE LEVIS SIDE

Shipping Federation Makes This Point in Protest Against Dry Dock Site.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., April 5.—A delegation from the Shipping Federation of Montreal had an interview with the Prime Minister yesterday concerning the location of the St. Lawrence Dry Dock.

Strong influences have been exerted for its location at Quebec, but the shipping interests favor the Levis side.

The matter has not been decided yet by the Government.

At the offices of the Shipping Federation this morning, it was stated by Secretary Robb that the deputation in Ottawa to-day was endeavoring to impress upon the Government the impracticability of building the new dock on the Beauport flats.

"It is held by some," said Mr. Robb, "that this is a matter purely local to Quebec, but this is wrong. With the exception of the two C. P. R. Empresses, almost every ship calling at Quebec comes up here to Montreal and is controlled by interests located here. These are the steamers which will use the dock and the shipping men of Montreal are interested in the matter most vitally of all.

"That the Levis side is by far the best location, is evidenced by the fact that the Government steamer "Montcalm," which had her rudder damaged this week in the ice above Quebec and was, in consequence, disabled, was forced to find shelter on the Levis side near the location proposed by the shipping men for the new dock. The ice on the Beauport flats was so thick that no boat, even an ice-breaker like the "Montcalm," could have forced an entrance to the dock, had it been located there. The Levis side, on the contrary, is usually free of ice throughout the spring and winter months."

SMITH'S FALLS HEARS OF BIG IMPROVEMENTS

Smith's Falls, Ont., April 5.—It is rumored here that the Canadian Pacific Railway is contemplating extensive improvements at this point. The Smith's Falls yard, it is said, will be a sort of reservoir for all the wheat from Port McNicoll. That is to say, it will be held here in cars until it is taken to the ships at Montreal.

When this line is in operation, Smith's Falls will then be the terminal of three great divisions of the Canadian Pacific Railway—the northern, the western, and this new grain route from Port McNicoll.

The line from here to Montreal has just been re-made and double-tracked, and it is expected that record time will be made in handling freight between these two points.

An appropriation of a quarter of a million dollars was made a short time ago for yard improvement at Smith's Falls, and this money has not yet been expended.

MARGARET ANGLIN AND MANTELL MAY PLAY SHAKESPEARE

Rumored They Will Join Forces Next Season and Appear in Classical Repertoire.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, April 5.—Out in the West, where Miss Margaret Anglin and Robert B. Mantell are starring as the heads of their own companies, there came to Broadway yesterday a report that these two stars will join forces next season to appear together in a Shakespearian and classical repertoire.

In the absence of confirmation from either Miss Anglin or Mr. Mantell, the report was believed, for it is thought they had time to talk the matter over within the last few days, as Mr. Mantell is now playing in St. Paul and Miss Anglin in nearby cities.

While Miss Anglin in the past has played principally in modern roles, usually of an emotional kind, this season she appeared in "Green Stockings," comedy. She opened her season at Thirty-ninth Street, then moved to Maxine Elliott's, and after severing her business associations with the Liebler Company returned to New York at the Lyceum Theatre in "Lydia Gilmore," by Mr. Henry Arthur Jones.

It was not a success, and she revived "Green Stockings." Shakespearian roles are not unfamiliar to her, for in 1905 she played Ophelia to James O'Neill's Hamlet, and during her Australian tour in 1908 she appeared as Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew."

Mr. Mantell has played Shakespearian repertoire for a number of seasons, his leading lady until this year having been his wife, the late Marie Booth Russell. In this present season he opened his tour in New York at the West End Theatre.

The appearance of Miss Anglin and Mr. Mantell as co-stars in Shakespearian plays would mean the second organization of its kind in this country, for Miss Julia Marlowe, Mr. and E. H. Sothern have had the field practically to themselves for two years, and have been very successful.

EASTER FARE WAS IN PLENT AT THE MARKET.

Lamb, Chicken and Turkey the Only Things Higher in Price.

In spite of the fact that the provisions being offered on the Montreal Market during the past week are quoted as only being of a fair quality, the fine and cool weather seems to have brought out many buyers, and there proved to be a big demand for the Easter offerings, an active trade being done by all the large firms. The supply of cattle, too, was larger than was generally expected, so that at no time was there any fear of a shortage.

While in most instances the prices are not higher than the usual, those of lamb, chicken and turkey are higher. The retail merchants have been asking for hind quarter lamb from $4 to $5, and for forequarter from $1.50 to $2.00. Chicken is selling at from 22 to 24 cents a pound and for turkey 28 cents per pound.

There is little or no change in the prices of the other provisions, beef being sold at 22 cents per pound, duck at 28 cents, and veal at 18 cents per pound.

The Reinach and Dreyfus children became acquainted during the fight. The marriage will occur next month.

A New Church For Westmount

Difference of Opinion as to Where it Should be Situated.

At the concluding session of the Montreal Presbytery yesterday afternoon further discussion took place on the request of the Stanley Street Church for permission to erect a new church at Westmount, at the corner of Western and Victoria avenues.

The opposition submitted in the morning from representatives of Melville and St. Andrew's Churches that the new church would encroach upon their areas was maintained in the afternoon with some vigor.

It was stated that if the Stanley street church authorities would build their new church further north there would no be any objection from the two present opposing churches.

The Stanley Street church trustees thereupon agreed to look over the district north of Belmont avenue, and the matter will be brought up again at the next session of the Presbytery.

PRESBYTERIAN VOTE IS AGAINST UNION

Chancellor Burwash Tells Those Advocating it Not to Lose Heart.

Toronto, April 5.—"The resolution of the Presbyterian committee yesterday appears to have sounded the death note of church union," declared Chancellor Burwash, of Victoria (Methodist) University to-day.

"Of course, it is not the final decision. That can only come from the General Assembly, which meets in June, but the decision of the committee may be taken as a fairly accurate forecast of the result. Still at this early stage, it would not be wise for anyone who has been working for church union to say that settles the matter."

"As will be seen by the reports of the meeting, the Presbyterians are divided among themselves. One party wants to drop the matter altogether; the other wishes union simply on educational and missionary lines.

"If this is secured, then union will be a question of time, for the shoulder-to-shoulder, working will draw the churches together and absolute union will come in the end.

"It is extremely unlikely that the Methodist and Congregational churches will essay a union if the Presbyterian church declines to enter the coalition.

"Such a course would draw many adherents of the Congregational church to the Presbyterian. It is likely that a new basis of union will be formulated."

There is still a place in the orchestra for a few more wood and brass instruments, and any one wishing to join what promises to be a most flourishing organization, would be welcomed most heartily. Dr. Johnson has been pastor of the Church in Montreal for a number of years, but the local members of Immanuel Church, who have communicated with him as private correspondents, feel certain that he will accept the call.

STRIKERS ARE ORDERED TO RESUME WORK

Executive of British Miners Decide Against Further Idleness.

MINERS ARE ALMOST EQUALLY DIVIDED

Surface Men in Several Districts are Still Unsatisfied.

London, April 5.—The executive committee of the Miners' Federation has decided to recommend a resumption of work by the miners throughout the United Kingdom. This recommendation will be taken under consideration at a conference of the whole federation to-morrow. The decision was reached notwithstanding the fact that in a total vote of 445,800 on the question of terminating the strike 244,000 were against resumption and 201,000 were for it.

Malcontents in various districts are arranging to hold demonstrations in protest against the executive committee's action, but taken on the whole the decision to resume has been well received. In Scotland the indications are that there will be a general return of the men to the collieries at an early date. The North Wales miners' delegates have decided to order the men to resume forthwith, without waiting for the action of the national conference. The Cumberland miners have been ordered to return on Tuesday.

Apparently the only real trouble remaining has to do with the still unsatisfied grievances of the surface men in South Wales, Yorkshire and Derbyshire. It appears that the executive committees' decision was reached only by a narrow majority; therefore it is not certain whether the miners will be notified to resume by the national conference officially. The general belief is that the moderates will prevail, in view of the fact that a large majority of the men—although many of them did not cast their ballots—are anxious to get back to work, and any attempt to revive the strike would produce an intolerable situation.

HAYTI A NICE PLACE TO RUN AWAY FROM

Nobody Works, Everybody Steals, Says Mr. J. Wallace After Holiday Trip.

"The Republic of Hayti is the most fantastical case of comic opera that any one could wish to see," is the conviction of Mr. J. Wallace, civic engineer in the Dominion Bridge Works, who has just returned from some holidays, during which he visited Colombia, Hayti and Jamaica. "Nobody works in the Black Republic Everybody steals openly, constantly. The authprities steal from the people. The people steal from one another."

"One President succeeds another. Few of them die in their beds.

Mr. Wallace says that in Jamaica the physical conditions are ideal, but it is dear to live there.

"It is delightful if you have plenty of money, he says, "but if you live simply, the negroes despise you. You have to come north to feel the blood coursing through your veins once more."

GRAND TRUNK MEN ARE BEING REINSTATED NOW.

As Result of Government Pressure. Brockville Employes are Being Given Former Posts.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Brockville, April 5.—Two Brockville Grand Trunk Railway conductors, who have been kept out of employment since the strike, notwithstanding that they were exonerated from any lawlessness or intimidation by Judge Barron's report, have received word to report for duty. These are about the last of the strikers at this terminal who were entitled to re-employment. Several others forfeited their positions by disorderly acts.

It is understood here that as a result of the tilt between the Grand Trunk Railway and the Dominion Parliament over the passage of the Grand Trunk financial bill, which involved questions pertaining to the strike, the company has decided not only to reinstate the men the Minister of Labor pleaded for, but to restore brakemen and conductors to the standing they held at the time of the strike.

Many taken back after the settlement, it is claimed, were given runs inferior to those they previously held, and have since been denied promotion.

SUPERIOR COURT BACKS RECORDER'S JUDGMENT

Justice Laurendeau Rules That No Injustice Was Done to Michael Internoscia.

Mr. Justice Laurendeau rendered judgment yesterday quashing the certiorari taken against the Recorder's Court on behalf of Michael Internoscia. The petitioner had been convicted on a charge of illegal sale of liquors and appealed from the sentence of the Recorder, because the case had not been conducted through the collector of the Provincial Revenue. In giving his judgment, Justice Laurendeau ruled that no injustice had been done to Internoscia, and that no certiorari could intervene in his favor.

MANY PEOPLE ARE RENDERED HOMELESS BY FLOOD

Twenty Lives Have Been Lost by Overflow of Mississippi River.

Special to The Montreal Star.

St. Louis, Mo., April 5.—Ten thousand are homeless at and around the confluence of the flood of mad Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. Other thousands warned from Washington and up-river cities that the crest of the waters has not been reached are quitting their homes for the highlands, many of them driving their livestock ahead of them. Twenty lives have been lost.

Crumbling of the levees at Cairo against the terrific onslaught of the waters added thousands to the army of refugees. The heroic efforts of an army of men working day and night did not avail to make the levees flood proof. Once the waters found a crevice they quickly wore away the barrier of earth and stole and rushed, many feet in depth, over nine square miles of the drainage district that lies around Cairo. The workers fled to save their lives.

The levees which broke are those which shielded the drainage district. The cross levees which protect the city proper are holding firm. Taking no chances, thousands of men are raising and still further strengthening these barriers. There is hope that Cairo may be spared inundation.

CAPTURED THE DOG SHOW RECEIPTS

An Aged Man Rushed Up and Took Them Away at Hamilton.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Hamilton, Ont., April 5.—One of the most sensational and daring robberies in the history of Hamilton occurred this evening in the officers' mess of the 91st Armories, when during the course of a lecture, an aged man rushed into the room and snatched the cash box containing the receipts of the annual dog show from the table. One of the officers attempted to stop the man, but the thief threw a chair at him, and made his escape out of the door. The cash box contained over $800. The police were notified, and after scouring the vicinity for over an hour, they discovered the man in an outhouse. When taken to the station he gave his name as John Benny, and said that he beat his way from Montreal a few days ago.

SCOTT KNEW OF AMUNDSEN'S PLAN TO REACH POLE

Englishman Declined to Alter Plans and Engage in Race for Coveted Honor.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, April 5. A despatch to the Central News from Christchurch, N.Z., contains an extract from a private letter written by Captain Scott, the South Pole explorer, on October 28. He refers to Captain Amundsen's proposed dash for the Pole as complicating the position, but says he is determined not to alter his plans, inasmuch as indulging in a race for the Pole would spoil the prospect of getting there. Captain Scott expresses the opinion that Amundsen was taking risky chances, but if he succeeded he would deserve all the credit.

YOUNG POTATOES FROM FLORIDA ARE ON THE MARKET

But Ordinary Householder Will Be Satisfied With British Imports for a Time.

Potatoes from England, Ireland and Scotland are now being served on Montreal tables. Three thousand bags have recently been received by the Peterson Company, and are being sold at $2 a bag.

According to Mr. Peterson the potato crop in Eastern and Western Canada last year was a complete failure and, as a result, there was a run on the crops of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

"The potatoes, imported from across the Atlantic," said Mr. Peterson, "cost from $1.35 to $1.40 a bag, against $1.75 for the Canadian article." The Irish potatoes, he said, arrived in Montreal in good condition and the supply was not equal to the demand.

"A few baskets of new potatoes," he said, "have been received from Florida but they are a luxury, and cost about $3 a bushel, or about six cents a pound. They are more expensive, said Mr. Peterson, than oranges or apples, but there is a keen demand for the new potato at any price."

The new potatoes from the south, he said, are not coming here freely, but he did not think there would be any potato famine as long as good, sound potatoes could be obtained in England, Ireland and Scotland.

FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION WILL TAKE UP FIGHT

Crossing Borders in Order to Break Into Game Laws—Institution's Work.

ANNUAL SUM OF $5,000 WANTED FOR ASSOCIATION

Some Fines Considered Excessive and Some to Be Unreasonably Mild.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, April 5. — Within a few months the Fish and Game Association of the Province of Quebec, which has already been nearly fifty-four years in existence, hopes to raise its membership from four hundred to a thousand. The campaign for this object will apparently be of the "catch-my-pal" variety, each member endeavoring to bring in at least one new member.

During the whole of its existence the Association has been doing most valuable work, both of an educative and protective nature, and it contends that much of this work is of a kind that should rightfully be done by the government. However, the Association has carried it on at its own expense, uncomplainingly. But with the years the operations of the society have increased largely, and its services are in constant demand. The great trouble has been lack of funds.

According to Dr. Finnie, one of the most active members of the Institution, it is now planned to raise an annual sum of $5,000. Each member pays $2, so that if the membership is increased to a thousand, as there is every likelihood it will be, this will mean $2,000. It is proposed to ask the Provincial Government for another $2,000, and to call on the general public for another thousand.

The Association points out that every time that its officers secure a conviction, half of the fine is returned to the Government, and no less than $1,500 was handed in in this way last year. In the few months of 1912 more than $8000 has been remitted. For these sums, seizures of moose and partridge, especially of the big haul of partridges in Montreal, have been responsible.

ASSOCIATION WILL DRIVE ACTIVE CAMPAIGN.

When the Association has the money, which it requires, it will conduct an active campaign in the interests of game protection, and conservation all over the Province of Quebec, both by lectures and by the circulation of literature in both languages.

Another matter that will be considered very shortly will be that of inter-Provincial jurisdiction between the Provinces of Quebec, Ontario, and New Brunswick. This is calculated to lessen the depredations of persons who cross the border of one Province into the next, in order to break the game laws. As things are, each Province has its own laws, and a poacher who kills a cow moose, or otherwise violates the game laws in one Province, cannot be followed if he once gets into another Province.

Conferences will soon be held between Ministers of the three Provinces concerned, with the ultimate object, if possible, of setting aside a strip of territory each side of the border lines, where the officers of the one Province may follow law breakers into another.

The Quebec Association will send representatives towards the end of the month to the meeting of the North American Fish and Game Protective Association. These annual meetings are held alternately in Canada and in the States, the effect of those attending being to assimilate the fish and game laws of contiguous States, and Provinces and to work in harmony together.

The Quebec Association has several serious suggestions to make as regards amendments to the present game laws. They consider that some of the fines are excessive, and others the very opposite.

There is, for instance, the fine of $30 for hares, which is as a matter of fact, is due to a clerical error in the bill. On the other hand, a man can kill a cow mooose and get away with a five dollar fine. Too much latitude is left to the Justice of the Peace in the determination of the fine.

Often the Justice of the Peace imposes so low a penalty that it does not act as a deterrent at all. The Association would have a minimum as well as a maximum fixed.

DETERRENT LAWS ARE STRONGLY URGED.

The Association also intends to use its efforts to induce the Federal and Provincial Governments to create fish hatcheries. In the past, many lakes have been depleted through using dynamited and netted and fished all the year round.

The Association would, therefore, urge the Governments to restore these lakes and put them under the control of overseers, to be kept open for residents of the Province free of charge. So many of the best lakes are now leased to Americans and outsiders, that such a move would undoubtedly prove popular, and if there were some of these free lakes, near the centres of population, they maintain it would be a great boon to many people.

The Association will employ skilled lecturers to give publicity to their propaganda. One of these will be Dr. Hornday, of New York, who will give a series of lectures, illustrated by limelight. An effort will also be made to get the Cures interested, so that they will give at least one or two sermons or addresses to their parishioners on the question of conservation, both of fish and game, and also of the disappearing of song birds.

REQUIRED SIXTY PULLMANS FOR NEW YORK VISITORS

More Than Three Thousand Canadians Arrived in Gotham on Easter Excursions.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, April 5.—From half past eight o'clock last night, when the first of the specials arrived at the Grand Central Station, until half past seven o'clock this morning, fourteen regular and special trains, comprising more than sixty Pullman cars and forty day coaches, brought more than three thousand Canadians to New York City to spend Easter Sunday.

The trains arrived in sections of six to ten cars each, and at one time, when three sections arrived within very few minutes of each other, there were one thousand Canadians on the platforms of the station.

Within a few minutes after the arrival of each section the visitors began to inquire for hotel accommodations. Nearby hotels filled up rapidly, Manhattan, Belmont and Grand Union taking most of the crowd, while others started for the hotels along Broadway.

Mackenzie, K.C. Every part of the division was represented and speeches were delivered by ex-Ald. Murphy, of Westmount; Mayor Beaubien, of Outremont; Ald. D. Macdonald, of Notre Dame de Grace; J. E. Harry, the third brother, will be out of the hospital next week.

SAYS PUBLIC-OWNED ELEVATORS FAILURE

Premier Roblin Tells Legislators That Government is Disappointed in Results.

Western Associated Press Special.

Winnipeg, April 5.—Replying to the criticisms of Mr. T. C. Norris, the Opposition leader, which, he declared, were phrased in moderate language and indicated a commendable spirit, Premier Roblin, in the legislature yesterday afternoon, frankly admitted his disappointment at the result of the Government's venture, so far as public-owned elevators were concerned.

He announced that no more would be built or purchased, and that negotiations were pending by which it was hoped the operation of the Government elevators would be taken over by the Grain Growers' Company. He asserted that failing in this, the Government would have to consider other means for meeting the unsatisfactory conditions obtaining in this public utility.

WALPOLE INDIAN SENTENCED FOR MURDERING TWO

Defends Himself in Clear-Spoken Speech — Creates Considerable Sensation.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, Ont., April 5.—Stephen Kyoshk was found guilty of the murder of Charles Nahdee and Adam Johns at his hut in Walpole Island on New Year's night by Mr. Justice Sutherland at the Lambton County Court, and was sentenced to be executed on June 6th.

The Indian took his sentence with a smile and rising in his seat in the prisoner's box quietly, when he got a chance, he turned to the Judge and the sea of faces in the crowded Court Room and protested his innocence.

"I am absolutely guiltless of this crime," he said, and stated that he could prove it if he was given a chance. Kyoshk denied that he had ever had any quarrel this Nahdee and Johns and said that on the night of the shooting he went to Nahdee's house at 8 o'clock, stayed until a few minutes after nine, and then went home and went to bed.

"From my childhood," he declared, I have been always taught to avoid trouble, if possible, and I have never harmed a fellow man. There is absolutely no one on the Indian Lands who can in any way prove that I killed either of these men, and it is not even certain that Nahdee is dead.

"It seems to me a marvellous thing that I am found guilty in this way without being given a chance to contradict what has been said."

The jury was out for two hours and a half, and it is stated had a long and heated discussion. The stories of Mrs. Annie Williams and her daughter, who stated that on the night of the shooting Kyoshk, in a drunken condition passed her place after quarrelling with Nahdee and Johns, because, he said, they were paying attention to his wife, constituted the strongest evidence against Kyoshk.

Mrs. Williams swore that Kyoshk told her he was going to get a gun and get Nahdee and Johns, and that she heard six shots soon afterwards.

Mrs. Williams, wife of the accused was in Court, and heard sentence as announced as he was.

Kyoshk's story created great sensation and an effort may be made shortly to have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

PRECEDENT FOR RECENT ACTION.

The other two victims of Senate independence constitute the precedent for the recent action of the Upper House. Just after the Liberals came into office, the Senate was overwhelmingly Conservative in its membership, and in the first two years the new administration was in office, two of its projects met death at the hands of their political opponents by means of their Senatorial majority.

The first of these two was the purchase of the Drummond County Railway to extend the Intercolonial to Montreal. The Senate, which received the bill late in the session, took the ground that more information was necessary before they could consent to its passage. Consequently, just the day before prorogation, they sent it to a Committee to hear evidence.

This effectually killed the measure, but the Senate thus saved the country about $600,000. The first agreement for the purchase of the road contemplated the payment of $2,000,000; the next year it was secured for $1,600,000.

The last battle between the Liberal Government and the Senate was over the Contract with Mackenzie and Mann for the building of a railway to the Yukon. Both Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Mackenzie Bowell declared in favor of the opening up of that country, but they refused to turn over to the contractor all the mineral wealth of the Yukon or to go into so gigantic an undertaking without much more information than was furnished by the Government.

On this latter ground the proposal was vigorously criticised by the Montreal Star at the time, and Sir Charles Tupper quoted its editorials during the debates to justify the Senate rejecting the proposal, and to-day even Liberals are inclined to admit that its action was justified by the history of the Yukon.

On the other hand, however, it has been urged that the railway might have brought to light rich mineral deposits in northern British Columbia and might have saved us an outlet on the Lynn Canal.

PRECEDENTS FOR SENATE'S ACTION IN KILLING BILLS

Only Half a Dozen Measures Treated Like Tariff Commission and Highways Bills.

USED PLEA OF MORE INFORMATION WANTED

In Some Instances Senate's Veto Has Saved Dominion Considerable Money.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Ottawa, April 5.—The rejection of Government bills by the Senate has been rare in the history of the Dominion. The quadruple destruction of Monday last is unprecedented. In fact, if one may judge by a history of the case given by Sir Mackenzie Bowell at the time of the last assertion of the independence of the Upper House, which occurred in 1898, there have been only half a dozen measures of the Government of the day which have met execution at the hands of the Senators.

The earliest of these bills was slaughtered under the regime of Sir John A. Macdonald shortly after Confederation. It was a bill to consolidate the criminal laws of the Dominion. It came to the Upper House late in the session, and it was rejected on the ground that there was not sufficient time to consider it. At this time the Senate was fairly evenly balanced politically, the two parties having started even in '67.

The second bill to meet its end in the Senate against the wishes of the Government was a railway project. The incident took place during the Premiership of the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie. The bill proposed to aid the construction of the Esquimalt railway, a line since built and aided by Parliament. It was rejected by the Senators because they had not sufficient information in reference to it. The Conservatives had a majority at the time, but the vote was not strictly on party lines. Seven Liberals voted for rejection and eight Conservatives stood with the Government.

The next instance occurred while Sir John A. Macdonald was in the saddle. It concerned a subsidy for the Salisbury and Harvey railway, which was to provide a short line for the Intercolonial to Halifax. Again the Senators wanted more information. Again, the vote was not strictly on party lines. The motion to reject was moved by a Conservative, and five Liberals voted with the majority.

The fourth Government bill to perish in the Second Chamber was likewise killed during a Conservative regime. It was a bill, introduced by Sir Mackenzie Bowell himself, to provide, a bankruptcy law for Canada. In 1894 it was passed by the Senate but did not get through the Commons. In the following year it was introduced again in the Upper House, but this time was defeated. Opinion had in the meantime turned so strongly against the proposal that it was with drawn before its second reading.

NEW RAILWAY SWING BRIDGE OVER THE LACHINE CANAL.

The above picture shows the work which is being done on the construction of a new steel bridge for the Grand Trunk Railway over the Lachine Canal, adjoining the Wellington street bridge. It is to be used for the service between the wharves and the Point St. Charles yards. The former bridge was found to be too lightly built for the powerful locomotives now used. The new bridge will be capable of accommodating the heaviest rolling stock, and will be swung by electricity instead of by hand power.

DRIVERS ARE HURT WHEN CAR BUMPS.

A collision between a Windsor and St. Lawrence street car running south on St. Lawrence street, and a heavy truck of the Annex Express Company, last night at the corner of Laurier avenue and St. Lawrence street, resulted in the two drivers of the waggon being taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital badly cut and bruised about the head and body. Walter Cairn, 47 years, residing at 716 Outremont avenue, Outremont, received the worst of the encounter; his companion after being treated in the outdoor department of the hospital, being able to return to his home.

Both car and waggon were badly damaged, but the horse escaped injury. The passengers of the car were badly shaken up in the compact but escaped injury, except for a few bruises.

Auto Riding Develops Chest

New York, April 5.—A Fifth Avenue tailor, after observing for five years those of his customers who ride daily in automobiles, has come to the conclusion that automobile riding develops the chest.

The chest measurement of the average man, he declares, increases at the rate of an inch in two years after he begins to ride in motor cars regularly.

The tailor thinks the increased development is due to the deep inhalations taken while automobiling.

Looks as if there is some sort of a jinx connected with the name of Russell in baseball. It doesn't seem to make any difference whether it's the beginning or end of a man's label, the bad luck's there just the same. Three was Russell Blackburne, who cost the White Sox $7,000, and "Lefty" Russell who set Connie Mack back $11,000. They both blew up when they got to the big league. The fair Lillian looks like the only big winner of the tribe.

FINE PROSPECTS FOR ENTRY LISTS

Reports Indicate Grand Circuit Early Closing Events Will Get Many Nominations.

New York, April 5. A. J. Welch, manager of the Readville track and who always interests himself with chartered Oak Park affairs, was in the city yesterday, and brings the gratifying news that the early closing events of both tracks received a more than satisfactory entry list for the coming Grand Circuit meetings.

The entries closed early last week, but up to last Saturday the distant mail had not been received, and consequently the list has not yet been officially published. Readville and Hartford offer to horsemen fifteen early closing events worth $49,500, and as all of the events have filled well, the indications are that horses will be out in large enough numbers to not only fill up the rich purses, but help make the year's sport a record-breaker in harness turf history.

Track managers have had ample reason to feel anxious for the final result of their entries, on account of the very backward training season and the late Spring, but fortunately the encouraging reports from Boston and Hartford will at once dissipate this fear, and large lists will no doubt be the result everywhere, from Grand Rapids down to Lexington.

The two New England members were the first to close their purse entries, and as long as they are more than fully satisfied by the returns, other members will have no fear or any worry from now on.

Grand Rapids and Detroit (the Blue Ribbon meeting) closed their entries to early closing purses worth a total of $48,500 yesterday, and while it will take nearly a full week for the secretaries to issue the final list, yet advance reports indicate that both will be satisfactory to the managements.

Full Reports Will Be In Soon.

Before the week is over the entry reports will be made public from the four tracks, Readville, Hartford, Grand Rapids and Detroit, and as they are equally divided between the extreme East and West, interested horsemen will have a good idea as to how the campaigning stables will travel for the entire season, and what are the choices: ones reserved by owners and trainers for the year's feature events.

Next week the most interesting news will be expected from Kalamazoo, where the entries close on Tuesday, the 9th, and where annually takes place the biggest gathering of the two leading circuits, the Grand and Great Western.

With this will be the closing date of another Eastern track, Rockingham Park, Salem, N. H., the newcomer in harness racing circles that not only gives early closing events of big line calibre, but has offered such liberal terms to owners as cannot be overlooked.

Two weeks later or April 15, four prominent tracks will close their purse entries, and these, too, are equally divided between the East and West, namely, North Randall, Ohio; Michigan State Fair, Detroit; Fort Erie and Syracuse.

Pittsburg, another newcomer, has selected April 22 as its closing date, yet by that time horsemen will know for certain all about the horses picked out for the year. Columbus, that has already announced over $[illegible] worth of early events for its two weeks' meeting, will very likely not close until about May 1, while Lexington will no doubt extend its date into June, as in former years.

Higginson Is Champion

Honors of U. S. Trapshooting Go to Him.

New York, April 5.—B. M. Higginson, of the New York A. C., by defeating a field of 119 contestants won the title of National amateur trapshooting champion at Travers Island. When the first half of the shoot at 200 clay targets was over he was not among the leaders, but by clever gunning in the afternoon he won out with 185 breaks, just one ahead of J. H. Hendrickson, of Jamaica, L.I., who took the second prize.

E. A. Randall, of Portland, Me., was a close third, with 183, and A. B. Richardson, of Dover, Del., next with 182. H. W. Kahler, last year's champion, finished in eighth place.

Lester S. German, of Aberdeen, Ed., who was a prominent baseball pitcher some years ago, led the professional shooters with 188 breaks. The weather was bright with little wind.

Sporting Views And Reviews

In all the long series of Oxford-Cambridge boat races pulled since the Putney-Mortlake course was adopted, there has been a gain in speed of less than ten per cent—and this too with mechanical improvements and supposed perfecting of style. This year after the present Putney-Mortlake course was adopted outriggers were first used and in five races the average winning time was 23 minutes 12 seconds. Then the present type of shells, without keels, was adopted, and speed slightly increased, so that in sixteen races thereafter the time averaged 22 minutes 42 seconds, though in some of those races the time was slower than the average before the change in boats. Finally came sliding seats, with again an increase in speed, making the average time of the next ten races 21 minutes 34 seconds. In the last ten races, including this year's the average time has been 20 minutes 9 seconds. The gain in speed has been due to improvements in boats and oars, at least that is the statement of experts.

If it be correct then the oarsmen of the first half of last century were fully the equal of those of to-day.

Because the California turfman, Lucky Baldwin, left an estate valued at twenty million dollars, it does not follow that anybody can go out to Blue Bonnets next June and come back with enough money to buy a lot on St. Catherine street. There is one word in the deceased horseman's name that should not be overlooked—the word "lucky." Very few have that name, and still fewer could live up to it if they had it.

A "sporting gent" whose knowledge of poles is pretty well limited to vaulting poles, barbers' poles, and race track poles, writes to say that in his opinion Scott lost on the race to the South Pole because he "played the poles." The correspondent goes on to say that he has never yet seen anyone get ahead of that game. Possibly this thought is worth the consideration of Arctic and Antarctic travellers.

The All-Alaska sweepstake is the most dog-gone sporting affair of the season. It is said that the trees leave to see it and that most of them even bark at the dogs running their four hundred and twelve miles, or a little farther than from Montreal to New York. Where are the horses that could stand a test like that?

It is reported that the Shamrocks have been trying to get several of the Clover's men to join them. These men are in clover now, but, of course, senior rank is better than clover; and after all are not clover and shamrock related. Any way, whatever strengthens the Shamrocks is good for the country, even should it make the clover crop a bit short.

"Gee-whiz! Oh Gee! Gee-rue! What a score that feller Godfrey did run up," said the small boy with a suspicious odor of cigarette about his clothing, as he read the bulletin board announcing the results of the controllership election. "Why don't the Royals get hold of that man, Godfrey;" and then the boy went his way no doubt wondering why it is that so many good men are wasted on public life when lacrosse and baseball and other things worth while are crying for them.

Vaniman's Latest Aerial Scheme

Airship to Carry Fifty Passengers, With State-rooms, Saloons and Dining-rooms.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Vaniman to-day admitted that in all probability no trans-Atlantic flight will ever be attempted in his dirigible, the "Akron."

He has now in his brain a $500,000 airship, capable of carrying half a hundred passengers, a dirigible fitted with staterooms, saloons and dining-rooms, which he is certain will be able to cross the Atlantic in much shorter time than the fastest liner.

All this, Vaniman said, has been made absolutely practicable by his new discovery of a wire-woven fabric for the bag, made leak-proof. He has therefore, practically abandoned all ideas of attempting a trans-Atlantic flight in the "Akron."

SOME BASEBALL TRICKS KNOWN MANY YEARS AGO

Present Day Tactics Told of in Book Published in 1888.

John Ward, now a Boston magnate, numbers authorship among his versatilities. Ward wrote a book on baseball which was published in 1888. It is full of facts and comment interesting at this day—a quarter of a century since. The very up-to-dateist diamond sharp, laying the flattering unction to his soul that he is the last word in baseball knowledge, could read it and learn points of the game he didn't know before; also were he under the impression that most, if not all, of the fine points of the game, highly perfected team play and all that, are matters of recent development, he could read the musty tome and find enlightenment, find that they knew a lot of baseball then and that plays regarded as present era developments were known and practiced in the preceeding generation.

Extracts from Ward's book:

"Of the four departments of play batting, base running, fielding and battery work, the most interesting is base running. It is the most skilful; it calls into play the keenest perception and the soundest judgment; it demands agility and speed and it requires more daring and enthusiasm than all the others combined.

Its importance as a factor in winning games cannot be estimated. We know only that a team of base runners wins game after game in which it is outbatted and outfielded by its opponents. No system of scoring has been or can be devised by which a full record of this kind of work can be kept. The system now in vogue crediting the number of bases stolen is all right as far as it goes, but it covers only a small part of the ground. Stealing bases is a part of base running, but it is a very small part, and to say that the player who steals the most bases is therefore the best base runner is an altogether unwarranted statement. A quick starter, speedy runner and clever slider might easily steal the most bases and yet in general usefulness fall far behind some other player."

Judging from the book styles in baseballing change, for one chapter refers to sliding feet foremost as "the old style." "Many runners now slide head foremost," it says. The "old style" has returned to fashion, for a majority of sliders now go in feet foremost, that being the method adopted by the best of them all. Ty Cobb. But while the "hook slide" and the "fall-away" weren't known by those names then, they don't seem to be so very modern, judging by the following excerpt from the book: "Others throw the body and legs out of line and reach for the base with a hand or foot."

"I consider Kelly, the best all-round slider in the league," Author Ward says, "because he can, and does, use every style with equal freedom." That's more than anybody does nowadays.

The time of the origin of the hit-and-run play has been the subject of much discussion. Among others to whom its origin has been attributed are the Orioles of the early '90s, and to Duffy and McCarthy, of the Bostons, a season or two earlier. Evidently it was no new manoeuvre in 1888, for Ward refers to it, as well as to place hitting, which some experts, real or alleged, declare is a myth, as follows:

"Every ball player who pretends to play the game with his brain as well as with his body should be able to hit in whatever direction he wishes. It may not be always possible, to hit in the exact direction desired, and, of course, he cannot place the ball in any particular spot, but he can and should be able to hit to either left or right, as the occasion demands. The advantage of this to the player himself and to his team cannot be overestimated. For example, there is a runner on first, who signals to the batter that he will try to steal second on the second ball pitched. When he starts to run the second baseman goes for his base, and the entire field between first and second is left open. Now, if the batter gets a ball anywhere within reach and taps it down toward right field, the chances are that it will be safe and the runner from first will keep right on to third."

It appears that at one time the queer view was held that sliding to a base to avoid being touched was either poor baseball or unsportsmanlike. Says Ward regarding sliding: "In view of its present importance, it is amusing to read in an article written on the subject some years ago an argument against the practice indulged in by a few players of sliding to the base to avoid being touched by the ball."

A paragraph refers to courage as the most important attribute of all in the composition of a good batter. "In this term," the writer goes on to say, "I include the self-control and resolution by which a man will force himself to stand before the swiftest and wildest pitching without flinching. Out of ten poor batters nine are so because they are afraid of being hit. It is often asked (in 1912 as well as 1883 Why are pitchers, as a rule, such poor batters? and to this the answer in my own mind has always been that it is because they know so well the danger which the batter incurs."

Another paragraph says.

"By far the most difficult catch on a ball field is that of a ball hit high to the infield, because of the great 'twist' to the ball. The slightest failure to get the ball fairly in the hands will result in a miss, and yet this is always greeted by derisive howls from certain among the spectators."

There are six committee men to be elected also, and there are eight candidates for these positions.

Six of the officers, namely a Vice-Commodore, Rear-Commodore, Secretary-Treasurer, Captain and Assistant Captain have already been elected by acclamation.

CURED OF CONSTIPATON

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

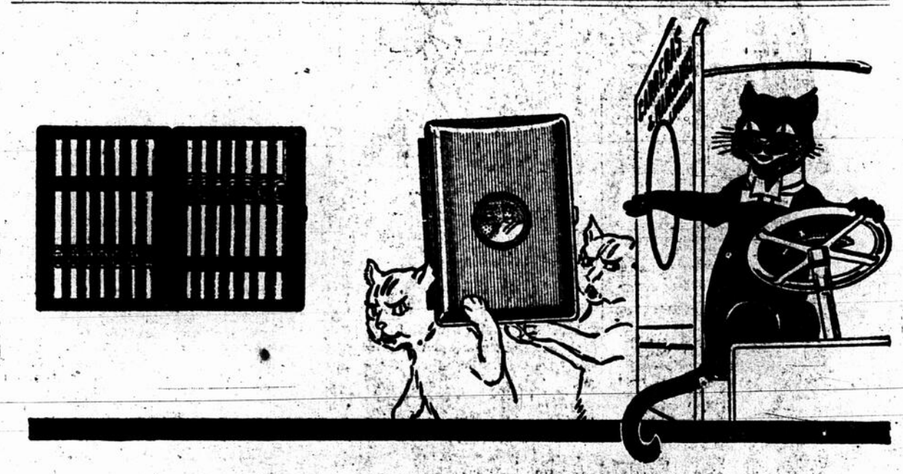

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel from me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box.

SPORTING VIEWS and REVIEWS

The Capitals have decided to capture lacrosse players, if any are to be found loose and unappropriated. Well, the Capitals have as much right to participate in the scramble as anyone. What the game needs is a strong team all round, and what is good for the game is good for all the clubs playing it.

Scott's defeat in the race for the South Pole seems largely to have been due to the fact that he is a bad starter. He did not get away well. Amundsen carried off the prize, but Scott seems to be arranging to carry off considerable of the Antarctic Continent, so that after all, it comes pretty near being a draw.

Johnson returned to his own fireside in Chicago to celebrate the thirty-fourth anniversary of his birth, and the next day was All Fool's Day, and so the people of Chicago had two holidays in succession. Johnson claims that he came home with an offer for a thirty-five thousand dollar match in his pocket; and this is in addition to his affair with Flynn. Johnson has plenty of business on hand. The only difficulty is to find a place in which to transact it.

It is in his own country that a prophet drops into the class of those who also spoke. It is in their own city that the Athletics of Philadelphia, world's champions, are learning that they are not invincible. They are playing a spring series with the Philadelphia National, and losing games now and then just like other folks. It may be that this is their spring medicine.

His Royal Highness has decided that the cup which he will donate to the Vancouver Horse Show shall be awarded as the championship trophy in the heavy draught classes, of which there will be thirteen. The Duke's prize is to be given for utility.

Con Jones is reported to have entangled another lacrosse player in the meshes of his pocket-book, this latest capture being Dot Phelon, the little home player who showed up well toward the end of last season. Phelon is the youngest man on the Victoria team.

A strong-nerved, hard-hearted young man, able to stand cheering and to strike out his fellow-mortals, who declines to be knocked out of the box and who will not allow himself or his associates to be put into a box, who has a thorough knowledge of the laws of dynamics and especially the law of curves, if desiring employment that may lead to fortune and to fame, should apply to Mr. Lush, manager of the Royals, who needs a pitcher, and who will not be happy until he gets what he wants. The applicant need not state his politics or his complexion. He can believe in free trade or trusts just as he pleases, provided he can break up batting combines.

The continued cold weather and frequent snowfalls have caused the members of the Ski Club to wonder whether they did not close down and hold their annual dinner too soon. They will know better next season.

SIR H. MONTAGU ALLAN CUP IS MUCH ESTEEMED

His is One of the Twelve Cups Offered for the Horse Show.

This season's horse show will bring forth probably more competition for the numerous cups to be presented than in any previous season. This Spring there are twelve to be competed for, all being in classes which are sure to fill well.

Out of the twelve cups one of the most important and one that is of great interest to the Hunting men is that offered by Sir H. Montagu Allan C.V.O. This cup is offered for the best hunter to be owned and ridden by any amateur member enjoying the full privileges of any recognized Hunt Club and to be ridden in pink.

Sir H. Montagu Allan has always shown a great interest in the furthering of the interests of the horse and more particularly in events for amateurs. He was among the first to offer a cup at the first horse shows held in the city of Montreal and from year to year has kept it up. He takes a kindly interest in all classes of sport in which the horse is used.

Sir H. Montagu Allan is chairman of the board of stewards and a member of the show committee of the horse show being a regular attendant at all of the meetings. He is president of the Montreal Jockey Club which is second to none on this continent and is an ex-master of the Montreal hunt, still evincing a great interest in the club.

The prize list of this Springs horse show which was sent out on Saturday has met with the general approval of the local exhibitors and is sure to meet with the same at the hands of those from other places. The one hundred and three classes have been carefully arranged and as in former years are sure to attract good entries.

BASE-BALL

Gandil claims he will bat like a fiend this year. If he hits as well this year as he finished up last year he will be a winner.

Lush says gambling will be tabooed at Atwater Park this year. If he succeeds he will be the first manager to do so in many moons.

There are still several feet of snow at Atwater Park. However, there are more at the North Pole.

This young pitcher of McGraw's, Pfeifer Fullenweider, is said to have a slow ball that is such a loafer in coming to the plate that he is likely to be fined any time he uses it for delaying the game.—Baltimore News.

Jack Hardy is still a hold out.

Billy Sullivan, the old Boston National League catcher, who has done such good work for the White Sox, is working out Comiskey's pitchers. He thinks that he has a real wonder in young Delhi.

Capron, one of the Pirates' young outfielders, has a record under seconds for the 100-yard dash, and believes that he would have had a chance to make this year's Olympic team had he not signed a contract to play professional baseball.

The Cleveland Naps have seven men hitting about .300. They are: Hohnhorst, .302; Birmingham, .304; Butcher, .312; Easterly, .324; Ryan, .333; Lajoie, .365; Jackson, .408;

Detroit Baseball Club has the youngest business manager in the major leagues. Arthur T. Sheehan has the job of running the business affairs of the Tigers on the spring training trip. He is twenty-three years old.

Clark Griffiths picks the Giants to win the National League championship this season in a walk. "It would not surprise me," he says, "to see McGraw's team take the lead at the sound of the bell and never drop out of first place all season long."

Connie Mack, of the World's champions, had poor luck in his recruits this spring. Of the entire outfit of colts, it is said that Pitchers Brown and Houck are the only ones who stand a chance of being retained.

Brinker, the Phillies' new outfielder, was once tried out by the White Sox as a pitcher. Brinker is a fast fielder and baserunner, and in the games in the south showed good hitting ability.

Harry Davis, of Cleveland thinks his best infield combination is Hohnhorst, Lajoie, Olsen and Turner, although Neal Ball may fit in somewhere before long.

It's a sure thing that American League pitchers will not serve curve balls to John Franklin Baker in future. But they will find it hard to fool Mr. Baker with anything else.

The boys membership in the Railroad Y.M.C.A. having almost doubled this year the management have decided to place another baseball team on the field, and will lay out a new diamond on that portion of the athletic field formerly used by the Soccer Club, the Association having decided to foster this popular game amongst its young men.

Walter Johnson, of the Washington club, and Doc White, of the Chicago Sox, made an agreement one time never to pitch anything but straight balls to each other, and it happened that in 1910 Johnson reaped the profits. The agreement was made in 1908. The Sox were playing Washington at home, and it was a hard-fought game. Johnson and White were the pitchers. Toward the latter part of the game White got a single with a runner on and brought home the score that put the Sox one to the good. The very next inning, with men on second and third, Johnson cracked one of White's straight fast on's for a clean one-base drive, scoring both runners and winning the game.

DOWN SOUTH WITH THE ROYALS.

From a Staff Correspondent with the Royals.

Charlottesville, Va., April 5.—"Go the limit for Gandil. He is worth whatever you can buy him for." This was the text of the telegram sent to Manager Griffith, of the Washington Club, by Scout Mike Kehoe, last night after he had watched the Royals' big first sacker in action again in the afternoon. Kehoe is strong for Gandil and had been hanging around in the background every time Gandil has been in uniform this week.

Griffith himself before leaving here approached Manager Lush in an effort to make a trade for Gandil, but at that time Lush could not see anything in the Washington outfit that he wanted particularly with the exception of Flynn and Cashion, one of the Senator's first string pitchers.

At that time Griffith had just refused to waive on Dubuc, and it is possible that Griff may be endeavoring to secure Dubuc with the intention of turning him back to Montreal along with Spencer in exchange for Gandil and as Lush was anxious to get a line on what Dubuc was doing in the Detroit camp negotiations did not get very far.

At the present time it would seem as if there was no question of Dubuc making good, and as he is known to be a trifle lazy and slow to get into condition, it is thought that waivers were asked simply with the intention of making him get out and hustle. It has apperently brought the desired effect for Jean is now working to beat the band, and is being touted as the find of the season.

Gandil Willing to Stay.

In the meantime Gandil is working his head off to get into shape and is wondering where he is going to bring up. While it is only natural that he should be anxious for another trial with the majors he declares he would be perfectly satisfied to remain with the Royals another season. He is expecting the best year of his career, and if he finishes the season in Montreal will be worth something to the club by the fall.

At the same time there are a number of weak spots in the Royals' batting department that require immediate attention, and it would not be surprising if he was among the missing when the club opens the season in Montreal.

Pittsburg Recruits Look Good.

Averett and Irving, the two recruits purchased from the Pittsburg Club, reported here yesterday afternoon and although they were not out in uniform look like pretty promising material. Irving especially looks to have the goods. He is a big loose chap, weighing about 185 pounds and stands five foot eleven.

Averett is about the same size, and if he fails to make good it will not be from lack of confidence. He says that there is not one chance in a hundred of a new man breaking into the Pirates' pitching staff unless he is a wonder.

Both the new arrivals have been in training for a month and say that they are in the best of shape.

Joe Yeager Still Lame.

Joe Yeager is out of the game completely with a sore arm and his training now consists simply in running round and round the track surrounding the grounds. He figured last night that he had covered about fifteen miles during the day and as the soreness is gradually leaving his arm he looks to be back in the game again within a few days.

Curtis is also badly crippled up with a sore arm which is so bad that he did not try throwing a ball to second at all yesterday. These are the only two men who are suffering from any serious disability at the present time.

The Yanigans Beaten.

Bill Vibahn, one of Lush's hopefuls, pitching for the Yanigans yesterday, was touched up by the Regulars for ten hits, resulting in eleven runs, a game which lasted but three innings. The game was called to give the University team the use of the diamond.

Although the day was the finest the Royals have met with since they reported here, and the Regulars were clouting his offerings all over the lot, Vibahn did not attempt to use any of his hookers.

The Yanigans failed to score, but registered four hits against Leclaire who, by the way, is working like a nailer in an effort to make good this season.

Yesterday a number of the boys visited the old home of Thomas Jefferson on Monticello, overlooking the city, and report a most enjoyable trip. The old homestead of the former President of the United States, and the founder of Virginia University, is about the most historic feature of the city, and no one thinks of coming to this section of Virginia without visiting it. It is at present occupied by a man named Jefferson, a distant relative of the second President of the United States.

Aside from this and a car ride to Fry's Springs, which, by the way, boasts of a dancing pavillion, there is little of interest to be found here.

Joe Yeager's Experience.

Before passing the subject of street cars, however, it might not be amiss, considering that the transportation question in Montreal is such a burning issue at the present time, to relate the sad experiences of Joe Yeager with the Charlottesville Street Railway on the day of his arrival here.

Joe started out shortly before the supper hour to take a look over the town, which, by the way, is about three miles long by a hundred yards broad. He brought up at the far end of the city from the camp and decided he would take a car home. After a wait of half an hour the lone car on the circuit that evening pulled in to sight and, never dreaming that there was such a thing as two distinct lines of cars, Joe jumped on and deposited his nickle in the fare box. After a ride of about three blocks the car came to a stop, the motorman moved to the other end of the car, the conductor shifted the trolley and the car started back down town.

"Where are you going now?" asked Joe, as he watched the conductor push his nickel through to the lower section of the fare box and out of sight.

Joe Was Sore.

"Oh this is as far as we go on this trip," replied the min in the brass buttons. "Take the next car." Joe protested strongly and endeavored to get the conductor to make a special trip with him, as he was the only passenger, but he refused. The final blow did not come, however, until on asking for a transfer the conductor replied: "Oh, we don't give any transfers. Just tell the fellow on the next car that you rode with me and he will take you along."

Another distinctive feature of the street car system here, and which might be copied to advantage elsewhere, is that when the cars are running light or without passengers, in the evening, which is very frequent, they turn out the lights, presumable to save the current.

The American Association magnates dispute the assertion that the International League is the strongest minor circuit in the land. They say that their total salary list will exceed that of the Barrow organization by many thousands of dollars. But that doesn't prove the alleged inferiority of the International's playing material.—Providence Journal.

Natty Nattress says Dummy Taylor will deliver the goods this season.

Manager Jack Dunn, of Baltimore says he has another Hans Wagner in infielder George Maisel. "He is Hans Wagner all over again," Dunn exclaimed. "Just look at his speed, his arm, those large tough hands and the way he figures out things for himself. Then look at his batting. He stands up there like a veteran and hits the ball hard. His pose is natural and he hits freely. I tell you he certainly will make a great star."

MONTREAL GETS A NEW VALUABLE ENGLISH BULLDOG

Saltown Spartan Has Just Arrived and is a Prince in His Class.

Montreal has a new canine star, a celebrated brindle bulldog imported by Mr. James Miller from England this year. The dog is named Saltown Spartan, and is a dog of more than average excellence. Very short in back, his ribs are nicely sprung, his hindquarters light, with his short screw tail set on low, while his depth of brisket, heavy bone and shoulders give him the massive cloddy appearance so much desired. In head he is great; his huge flat skull is nicely furrowed, long from eye to ear, topped by a pair of small rose ears. He has plenty of stuff before the eyes, a big nose, well-laid back, and an excellent underjaw, giving him the "hands-off" expression now so rare. He is a good winner under well known British judges, including Rochdale, four firsts, three seconds, two specials (Sam Crabtree); Preston, two firsts, two seconds, two specials (J. W. Kershaw); Astley Bridge, two firsts, two seconds, two specials (Sam Crabtree); Knutsford, two firsts, two seconds, one special (E. H. Stent); Bolton, one first, one third (A. W. Yowles); Norden, two firsts, two seconds, two specials (George Raper); Altrincham, one first, second, third and special (J. W. Proctor); Liverpool, one first, second and third (Sam Crabtree); etc., etc.

Before coming into his last owner's possession, he had never been put at public stud, and had only been used by fanciers in his immediate district. Nevertheless, with such limited opportunities he has proved his capabilities as a sire, several good winners claiming him as their "dad," including the two winning bitch pups at Heywood (in one litter); also Blue Pits Rex—two firsts, two seconds, two specials at Rochdale, under George Raper. Magnetite, sire of Saltown Spartan, was litter brother to that great bitch, Ch. Heywood Duchess, and his owner has every confidence in him as a stud dog, especially to Stone or Prince Albert bred bitches. His progeny invariably inherit his characteristics. His pedigree is as follows:

MOTORISTS' BAN ON HOSTILE LAWS

State Organization Waged a Successful Fight Against Bills Aimed at Owners.

New York, April 5. — The more than eighty thousand automobilists of New York State breathed a sigh of relief when the Legislature adjourned at Albany last week without having enacted any adverse legislation.

Never before have there been so many bills introduced inimical to the interests of motorists as well as other users of the highways as at the recent session, and it was only due to the watchfulness of the organized motorists, in calling attention to these measures, that some of them did not slip through.

The lead in this defensive work has naturally been taken by the New York State Automobile Association, which is growing rapidly, and which at the present time numbers close to fifty clubs, with a combined membership of 10,000, scattered throughout the State. It was due to the fact that the State Association, through its law and legislative committee, kept in close touch with what was being ground out in the legislative mill at the Capital, that bills which would saddle thousands of dollars additional onto the motorists were prevented from getting through.

State President A. J. Deer has just sent out letters to the various affiliated clubs congratulating them for the good work done, and thanking them for their co-operation with the State organization's officers in this work. He calls attention to the fact that for the first time in a number of years no legislation has been enacted that was opposed by the motorists of this State.

On the other hand, there were two bills passed that were backed by the State Association and which are regarded as measures of the greatest importance. One of these is the bill which provided for the submission to the people of the proposition of issuing $50,000,000 in bonds for the improvement of highways and the completion of the through-roads system planned by the Highways Department. This bill had its inception in a resolution passed by the State Association at its annual convention, and was subsequently recommended by Governor Dix in his annual message.

The other bill provides for the maintenance of detours around portions of State roads which are under repairs. Tourists who have been compelled to retrace their course several miles in order to get around a blocked section of the road where repair work was being prosecuted, and those who have often been prohibited from using highways at all in some sections where there was great road repair activity and no provision made for a maintenance of traffic conditions, will appreciate the importance of this latter measure.

PENN. ADVOCATES COLLEGE BOXING

Quaker University in Favor of Making the Sport An Intercollegiate Pastime.

New York, April 5. There has been considerable discussion for some time past in college athletic circles concerning the introduction of boxing as an intercollegiate sport. The natural objection to such a departure is the undirable connection and influence of the professional prize ring which immediately suggests itself. But under the system which has been successfully attempted at the University of Pennsylvania, these objections have been so minimized that the plan appears to be not only practicable, but very favorable. Many authorities have agreed in acknowledging the advantages of the system and its probable success in establishing boxing as an intercollegiate sport.

TO SEEK CROWN AT GOLF GAME

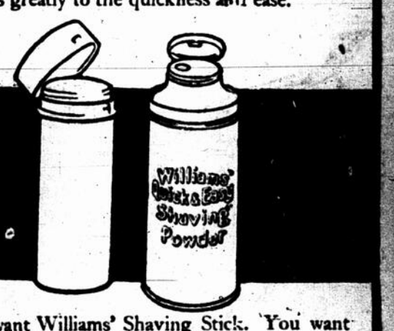

Herreshoff to Sail on Thursday in Quest of England's Title.

New York, April 5. — Fred Herreshoff, the Garden City golfer, who came within an ace of thwarting H. H. Hilton in the final round of the national amateur championship at Apawamic, last September, has started to say good-bye to his friends. He sailed on Thursday on the Adriatic, prepared to make the effort of his life to do something worth while in the amateur championship tournament of Great Britain.

As the national tournament on the other side will not be held until June 3 to 8, at Westward Ho, it will be seen that Herreshoff will have about seven weeks to familiarize himself with conditions and gradually round into form. He did not start to play much this spring until about a week ago, but he intends to play all the time while in Great Britain. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Herreshoff.

Williams' Shaving Powder

The same abundant and emollient lather that distinguishes Williams' Shaving Stick from others—the same soothing and antiseptic properties that preserve the natural softness of the skin are found in Williams' Shaving Powder. And the hinged-cover box—snap open, shake on the brush, snap shut—adds greatly to the quickness and ease.

Of course you want Williams' Shaving Stick. You want it because it provides the absolute maximum of comfort, safety and convenience; because its lather is so rich and creamy, softening and soothing.

Perhaps these qualities explain why those who may have been persuaded to try other kinds very soon want Williams' more than ever before.

FRIDAY, APRIL 5, 1912

DURING the 43 years during which The Star has grown from a village paper to the dimensions of a metropolitan newspaper, the spring of each year is the season when it has shown the most substantial growth of the whole twelve months. It will be observed that the circulation table which The Star publishes from day to day indicates that this Spring of 1912 shows steadier gains than ever before. In Canada The Star has the greatest circulation of all Canadian papers and every year it widens the enormous gap between it and all competitors. Books and vouchers constantly open to all patrons to verify the published figures.

PREDATORY POWERS.

THE Toronto Star gives our American neighbors a certificate of character as possessing a peaceful disposition—or, perhaps, we had better say a "medical certificate" as it tells of their "loss of appetite," a falling off in their previous "high spirits," and a disappearance of "youthful exuberance." It declares that it is "untrue and mischievous" to call the Americans a "predatory power." But we will quote:

"If there is anything that is absolutely demonstrated by the events of recent years it is that the people of the United States are not predatory; and that they are not Imperial in the sense evidently intended by our contemporary; that is, they are not a warlike people bent upon conquest, but a pacific people, bent upon business and industry. What used to be called "spread-eagleism" is not increasing in the United States, but declining. It was a sort of youthful exuberance, and it is disappearing with age. In the war with Spain a wave of warlike feeling spread over the United States; just such a wave as spread over Canada in connection with South Africa. But it subsided very soon after the war was over. There was some talk about the United States becoming a world-conquering power, but nothing was done or attempted in that direction."

Our contemporary must have concealed in its mental convolutions a most remarkable idea of what constitutes a "predatory power." It seems to think of "predatory powers" as ferocious, man-eating, blood-drinking, insatiable beasts of prey, always on the prowl and the pounce, looking for weaker nations to "gobble up" and making red war for the sheer joy of slaughter. They must get their views of international politics up in Toronto, out of the "Three Musketeer" section of the fiction department of the Boys' Own Library. They clearly imagine that "free companies" still wander, ravenous and lustful, about the world—that Conan Doyle's "White Company" might be met with any day on the fair roads of modern France that robber barons yet watch the fords of the rivers—and that whole nations substitute war for trade as their business in life.

We would respectfully suggest a sedative. No wonder they find it necessary so there to start a crusade to "Abolish the Bar." If our contemporary will take its nose out of its favorite fiction long enough, we would like to call its attention to the fact that the Middle Ages have passed—that brigand soldiers no longer hold frightened burghers to ransom—that modern "predatory powers" do not make a business of war but make war on behalf of business. When we use the term "predatory power," we mean a power which will take possession of another country without the consent of the population of that country. We do not mean a ferocious people, a nation of barbarians. We mean simply a power which does not scruple to extend its territory by fighting among other nations when it thinks that its "interests" or its prestige would be helped thereby.

And that is all that is necessary to mean for the purposes of our argument. We say that the United States would annex Canada if the could, precisely as France is annexing Morocco, Italy is annexing Tripoli, Russia is annexing Persia, and good old Britain has acted on much that she has no stomach for a moment to. Britain captured Canada as a "predatory power." Now the United States surely qualifies under this definition. The Toronto Star gives her great credit for not annexing Mexico when President Diaz disappeared. But Mexico was a nice, comfortable looking porcupine about that time, and the "candle" would be worth nothing to the eagle. The United States will not annex Canada if it costs too much. The "predatory power" business is on a very commercial basis these days, and we would advise our Toronto contemporary to give up its lurid literature and study the location of water powers and pulp forests and mineral deposits and competing factories and rival railways if it would find the probable path to be taken by any particular "predatory power."

PRIVATE LEGISLATION

THE average reader is always surprised when he sees his eye through the list of measures which received "royal assent" at the prorogation of any Parliament or Legislature. Most of them he has never seen mentioned in the papers before. He did not know that they were up for consideration until he discovers that they are law. Usually he does not care "two pins" one way or the other, and that is precisely why he has not seen them referred to previously. They are not of any general public interest. But the immense number of them will convey to the thoughtful elector some impression of the amount of unadvertised work which these bodies do. It is only the politicians and pious measures which get into the papers. The numerous private bills pass without notice. But they are thoroughly examined carefully by someone, and the responsibility for their adoption without protest rests upon every member of the consenting Chamber.

Here is where committee-work comes in to a considerable extent. These bills are considered by committees whose deliberations seldom get much attention unless the members call each other un-Parliamentary names. They are then adopted by the House on the recommendation of the interested committee. There is a lot of "governing" necessary for a large community which is outside of the scope of politics altogether. There are good men in the Houses who do a great deal of useful work in this field, without getting much public attention. It is rather a pity, for they are often the most valuable members of their body, but it is no use trying to get the people to read about measures in which they are not at all concerned. No newspaper can fill its columns with things which its readers do not care to know.

But a careless Legislature or a corrupt Parliament can do a lot of mischief in this department of its work, without the public either hearing or caring about it. If the aggrieved persons raise a big enough complaint the [illegible] lest they suffer themselves some [illegible]. But they seldom ever find it [illegible] to let the matter lie and the people [illegible]. If our Parliaments and Legislatures were organized on a business basis and not on a party basis, it would pay the community to send two or three men skilled to act solely as the censors of private bills.

POLAR EXPLORATION.

THE way in which the news was received that Captain Scott had probably been "beaten out" in the "dash for the Pole" competition, goes far to confirm the suspicion which has long been widely prevalent that the basis for popular interest in the race of the explorers is mainly sporting.

Professor Chamberlain and other eminent scientists who have never known the excitement of watching the neck-and-neck finish of a horse-race, may talk about the value of the observations of meteorological conditions the investigations of wind currents and the additions which may be made to the sum total of human knowledge, but scientists do that on every possible occasion. What the people of three continents have been concerned over was the getting to the Pole and back.

If the winner had time and inclination to do anything else, well and good, so long as the side-issues were not allowed to interfere with the achievement of his main purpose. As a race, it would have better invited attention had it not been at such a distance from the grandstands and the impossibility of charting the daily position of the contenders, made sustained interest difficult, if not impossible; nevertheless, the sporting public discharged its obligations very creditably when all things are taken into consideration.

There are, however, reasons for believing that both Captain Amundsen and Captain Scott have their own views on the real purpose of a trip to the South Pole, which are not entirely on all fours with those of the populace. Amundsen made many observations and collected much data; Scott will undoubtedly have done still more by the end of next year, which is the earliest date he can return to England. It does not detract from the credit due Scott that Amundsen was the first to do what explorers have been striving to do for the past hundred years; neither will it take away from the glory that is Amundsen's if it develops that Scott's records contain material which has long been sought by geologists, meteorologists and geographers. The public has had an excellent run for its money and Science is certain to be the gainer.

AERIAL SOMNIPATHY.

GALBRAITH P. ROGERS drove his aeroplane across the continent of America last year. Yesterday while showing the visitors at a California winter resort how easy it was to fly, he lost control of his machine and was crushed to death in the fall that followed.

Rogers, like most of the other one hundred and twenty-six experimenters who have paid with their lives for their knowledge of the air, had his own theory as to the cause of a great number of the fatalities. "Etherial asphyxia or aerial somnipathy" he called it. "It lurks in the pockets of the upper air strata and creeps irresistibly upon the senses of the aviator," he said.

Without disputing this diagnosis, the men throughout the world who are in a position to discuss it authoritatively, let alone dispute it, are numbered only in the hundreds—it seems likely that this "somnipathy" may not be, after all, any new thing. A momentary relaxation of attention, a slackening of nervous concentration, the mental pursuit of a vagrant fancy spells accident in many scientific investigations, industrial processes, and even popular sports. In aeronautics it means death. There are reasons to believe that many more fatalities have come from the fact that the mind has been unequal to the strain put upon it than because of defects in the inanimate materials which the mind was controlling. We can perfect these later, but until science finds some mechanical safeguard for the vagaries and lapses of the former, there is one price that all aeroplane enthusiasts will surely pay, sooner or later.

A NEEDED READJUSTMENT

WHY taking the census should ever have been considered a form of agricultural activity, is still one of the unsolved mysteries of the Department of Agriculture. It was difficult enough to see why the archives of Canada should have been treated as oats or corn and stored in bins under the personal direction of agricultural experts or what advantage would accrue to the Dominion from having her patents and copyrights looked after by men whose real work was the fattening of chickens and the discovery of how to make mixed farming a profitable occupation. But the use of the Government's farm machinery for taking the census furnished the prize conundrum of all the quips and oddities of the present administration of the Agricultural Department.

The answer is supposed to be found in the Hon. Sydney Fisher's extreme acquisitiveness. The late Minister worked hard to accumulate in his Department all the functions of government which had not been chained down and riveted by his colleagues and then proceeded to demonstrate why they should never have been administered along the general lines which characterized his Department. This he managed to do so satisfactorily that the Census Bureau has now been transferred to the Department of Trade and Commerce, and the Archives and the Copyright and Patent Bureau to that of the Secretary of State. Ambition is legitimate and laudable in any Minister but it ought to have special ability as its foundation and to be reasonably amenable to logic and common-sense.

The Acquitted Beef Packers.

Boston Transcript—The acquittal of the Chicago beef packers, after a ten years' legal battle, is the second and most serious defeat of the Government in its attempts to fix personal responsibility upon those charged with conspiracy in restraint of trade. In the case against the bath-tub trust the jury disagreed. In this instance it affirmed at least the technical innocence of the defendants, and was taken out to dinner by them very soon after. It was difficult to obtain evidence to fully sustain its case because it had to be wrested from those who were in the employ of the companies and it is believed that much that was pertinent was covered up. It is no reflection upon the Government, however, that it has made this attempt to correct conditions that are still regarded as gross abuses and inimical to the public welfare. That was its duty, and in spite of the adverse verdict it is entitled to praise. Even that result does not carry with it a license to do now what twelve men have declared that, according to the evidence, the packers have not done. They have not escaped entirely. The cost of their defence would be a crushing burden for most corporations, and though they can stand it without distress, they do not enjoy it.

Sympathy for Convicts.

Gov. Hunt, of Arizona, has set a new precedent for Governors. He spent a night in the state penitentiary, in order to get the prisoners' viewpoint. He slept in a cell with a burglar, fell in line with the convicts next morning, marched to the dining-room and partook of the regular prison breakfast, consisting of bread, beans, mush and black coffee. It is probably a good thing for an executive to see the inside of a prison occasionally, if he does so charitably. It is doubtful, however, whether all governors could safely follow Governor Hunt's example. Some allowance must be made for human frailty in the form of excessive sentimentality. If Gov. Foss were to undergo such an experience every prisoner in the penitentiary might be pardoned next day.

A GOOD many men have been turned down for being too bad, but few of us have the satisfaction of being turned down because we are too good.

IT is the way of a girl to fall in love with a man first and then decide on his attractions.

"WHO was that man I had for a partner at bridge last evening?"

"He's a writer of farces."

"I might have known it."

"Why?"

"He made some mighty funny plays."

IT is easy for a girl to believe a man is a liar because he lies.

"You know that Mrs. Newcomb shot on in down the street Monday, so I called today."

"Well, well! How like poker this social game is."

"How do you mean?"

"Why, in poker you also call when you want to see what the other person has."

COSMETICS are a great help to a woman who wants to fool a man.

THE principal thing in an argument is to be able to wait till the other fellow gets to finish all up.

"So you discovered great mountains at the South Pole?" said the geographical expert.

"Yes," replied the explorer.

"Well, that's good. When we get through with the usual Polar argument we can start in on a mountain-climbing controversy."

IT may take a woman a week to pick out a piece of ribbon she wants, but she could rent ten houses while a man was finding the number of one.

"WHAT'S the matter with your wife? She's all broken up lately."

"She got a terrible fall."

"What has happened?"

"Why, she was assisting at a rummage sale, took off her new hat, and somebody sold it for thirty-five cents."

WHEN D. Conan Doyle was in the States recently, he was rather surprised to find himself recognized by a cabman whom he was quite certain he had never set eyes on before. The man explained the apparent mystery in the following way: quite after the style of the Doctor's famous detective, Sherlock Holmes. "I know you as a member of the Cabmen's Literary Guild, to which your itinerary has been telegraphed in advance, and I recognized you as the man because your coat lapels have evidently been grasped by New York reporters. Your hide, sir, has manifestly been cut by a Philadelphia lawyer, your hat scrutinized with difficulty from the pirates by whom you were surrounded at luncheon in Chicago; while your overshoes bear traces of Buffalo mud." Dr. Conan Doyle's reply is not reported.

GOVERNOR DIX has vetoed a bill of the New York Legislature which provides that "a person who shall sell or exchange, or offer or expose for sale or exchange, any milk actually produced by a cow or a dairy, which is a fair sample of milk produced daily by such cow or dairy, and to which nothing has been added and from which nothing has been taken, shall not be guilty of any crime on account thereof." A fair sample of the milk supplied by some dairies might owe as much to the pump as to the cow.

THE vote for school committee at the town meeting at Lennox, Mass., stood 360 for Maurice Roche and 1 for Miss Heloise Meyer, sister of the Secretary of the Navy. Wonder who the lady voted for!

THE Rev. John Ellis, of Springfield, Mass., is being sued for divorce. One of the exhibits is a note, in which he had jotted down the inspiration: "Make a play on a man growing tired of his wife." Another is the manuscript of the play which depicts the wife as "a woman who studied mushrooms and frogs and had an earthy nature." The plaintiff admitted her interest in mushrooms and frogs, but whether gastronomically or otherwise is not recorded.

AN Arlington, N.J., jury failed to agree after two hours' deliberation. Now, so it happened that the jurymen were holding their deliberations on a room where the village band keeps its instruments. There were a big drum, cymbals and a sheet of ragtime music. Then one of the jurors went over to inspect the drum. Another joined him and picked up the cymbals. Some one began to hum an air, to which the "bunny hug" is danced successfully. The drum boomed, the cymbals clashed. Some one suggested another popular tune, and soon the band began to play. Then two of the jurors did the "bunny hug."

The music was more potent than the arguments, and the jury agreed upon a verdict. Truly music hath charms to soothe the savage, to lend a rock, or split a cabbage.

GRETNA GREEN lost a good deal of its "get married quick" business when the law was passed which required English eloping couples to live in Scotland for six weeks before pumping the broomstick. The New Jersey Legislature is trying a timid experiment in the same direction to prevent Jersey City from becoming New York's Gretna Green. The new law requires twenty-four hours to elapse between the issue of the license and the performance of the marriage. Twenty-four hours——

I REMEMBER

The romance of Quebec is in the blood of Mr. Thomas Mercer Mills, who has just celebrated his ninetieth year at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Fisher, 2221 Mance street.

As a boy, he walked through the palace on the terrace—the palace called "St. Louis," and which was the residence of the French Governors under the old regime. He heard its vivid story from the elders—a story of dramatic surprises, of hunting glamor, of beautiful women, of gay cavaliers, who fought and made love and drank deep.

He was told of Intendant Bigot, and of the lodge in the woods back of the city, which he had constructed—a lodge to which he brought among others, a beautiful, Indian princess. The very site of the lodge was pointed out to the entranced lad as he followed the course of legend and narrative of old Quebec.

The palace was occupied after the commencement of the British regime by such men as Lord Durham and the Earl of Dalhousie. It's gone now.

"The terrace was called after Lord Durham," said Mr. Mills, who is strong and hearty and full of interest in the happenings of daily experience, while all the same time, pleased to recall the past. "It was called Dufferin Terrace after Lord Dufferin, who caused it to be extended.

"I enjoyed reading in The Star the account which Dr. Fisher gave of his reminiscences. He forgot to say, however, that he and I went to school at Lake Beauport—a boarding school about nine miles outside the city. I remember his father's grocery store very well.

"The old people are dying off. I see that poor Sir James Lemoine is gone. He had heard, years ago, that I was dead. A man named Miles had died, and, confounding the names, recall that he called upon me, with whimsical concern, to ask if I were dead. He was an able man, a brilliant scholar and knew his Quebec, if ever man did."

Mr. Mills was in the employ of a lumber and importing firm many years, and has many memories of the trade, the sailing ships, the crowded quays, the briskness associated with hundreds of sailing ships coming and going from the port every year.

"It is a mistake to say the Allans were the first on the St. Lawrence route," he said. "They did not show the way at all. Their first ventures were unlucky. Mr Edmundson was among the first to engage in the St. Lawrence trade, and the Allans, who were nephews of his, learned the business from him. I have seen 150 sailing vessels coming to the port in one year. I have known our firm, that of Levy Brothers, to have 120 vessels during the year, chiefly with lumber, though we imported other things, such as sugar and whiskey, and whiskey that was whiskey as part of our trade."

Mr. Mills remembers two cholera of 1834 and that of 1854—"dreadful visitations, causing great mortality, but aggravated by fear," he said. "I well remember people shutting themselves up. It was no good. They were dead at night. Most of those who lived properly, and went about their business came out all right. A remedy was supposed to be brandy. We got good brandy then for a dollar and a half a gallon.

"I also remember the ship fever in 1847. The people were detained at Grosse Isle, where many died. That was an awful time indeed.

"During the Rebellion of 1837 I took up arms for the Government, but beyond drilling I had nothing to do. The visit of the Prince of Wales to Quebec in 1860 seems like yesterday to Mr. Mills.

The burning of the theatre, which resulted in the death of forty persons, made a deep impression upon Mr. Mills. "It was awful," he recalled. "There had been a sort of panorama, requiring the extinguishment of the lamps—and you know at that time there was nothing but oil—though I remember when we had not even oil—and in the putting out of the light, or the lowering of same, the curtains or draperies caught fire. Many were safely out of the theatre before they knew, the tragedy which was going on behind them. Forty were burned to death. The Resident Judge Purcell's father made his way out alive by desperate efforts. The brother of the late Mr. Scott, the broker, was among the fatally burned.

Hanging was done in public in the old days, and Mr. Mills saw several of his fellow-creatures "turned off," as the phrase was.

"I remember especially, an Irishman named Devlin being hanged," he said. "There was a scaffold erected outside the jail wall. Thousands had assembled to view the spectacle—the women far outnumbering the men. Devlin had murdered a woman, and was condemned to death. He took the matter very coolly indeed, and said that his fate would be a warning to others. The black cap was put over his head. He was placed on the trap-door; the body was drawn; there was a jerk, and all was over.

"We had open voting, of course, and many a good row I saw in that connection. Sometimes these rows became so fierce that the soldiers had to be called out. I have seen the 79th Highlanders standing in the cold for hours, in their bare legs, keeping the peace. When you voted, you might get your skull cracked for voting the wrong way. The irruption of the Irishmen from Lower Town, with their runnels in their hands,—an instrument used in shipbuilding,—was the signal for a general scattering. The Irishmen were always ready to give a good account of themselves and when they appeared on the scene, there was bound to be something doing. The Old Countrymen then were more numerous in proportion to the population than they are to-day. They had more influence, too, in the city, but both races got on very well, indeed."

Mr. Mills remembers the great Eastern, moored at the Quebec Dock. "Looking, from the Terrace, like a yacht. She had such graceful lines," he says. "She could not produce sufficient power, and that was her fault, but she was a wonder at the time.

"But the sight of the big clipper ships coming in and departing in my young days was one to be remembered. Scores, hundreds of these vessels were engaged in the lumber and other business. There was constant activity; a great volume of trade; and great prosperity.

"Of course, there were iron sailing ships, too; but the old wooden vessels, sailing in and out with such stateliness, made a scene, from the Terrace, worth remembering.

"That all disappeared with steam, which Mr. Molson was the first to introduce on the St. Lawrence, in his boat the "Accommodation," and which at first took something like two weeks to make the trip between Quebec and Montreal. Then the Royal William sailed across the Atlantic; and the romance of shipping was over. We had entered upon the epoches, the first railway, the simple life of the people, the great religious functions, the caleche, the break-neck steps, the balls and parties in connection with the British regime; when many of the officers married our beautiful Quebec girls.

"Much harm was done to Quebec, no doubt, by the exorbitant demands of the ship laborers, which had the effect of sending many of the ships up to Montreal without stopping at the Ancient Capital, at all.

"With regard to the past, there is a knocker on the door of my niece's residence which originally belonged to Montcalm, but, then, the city is simply full of memorials of its romantic past.

"I could recall the Hamiltons, the Deans, the Gillespies, who made the city what it is largely with their business enterprise. In the old days, there was the utmost cordiality between all classes of people. One business man would drop into the store of another, and say, "I want the loan of £50.' 'All right,' would be the reply, and the money was handed over, without a bit of writing in the connection. A man's word then was as good as his bond; and there was a degree of friendship and intimacy between men in business which I suppose would be impossible now.

"But old Quebec is very dear to me. I am living with my daughter here, because all my friends in Quebec are dead and gone. All my own family, with one exception, are in the city."

AGREEMENT WITH WEST INDIES WILL BE ACCOMPLISHED

Reciprocity by Mutual Preference for Breadstuffs, Lumber, Fish, Sugar, Etc.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, April 5.—The trade conference between the Canadian and West Indian governments will conclude on Tuesday, when the result of the negotiations will be announced officially. The delegates of the Islands and of the Canadian government had a lengthy conference yesterday, and the negotiations are near the final stage.

While this will not be reached until Tuesday, there is sure ground for the statement that an agreement between the Dominion and the Islands represented will not only be reached, but will be comparatively wide in scope.

The agreement, it is expected, will involve a mutual preferential tariff on a stated list of articles which are the main products raised for export in either country and imported by the other.

In the schedules will be found Canadian breadstuffs, lumber and fish, along with West Indian sugar, molasses, and fruits. The rate probably will be similar to the Canadian preference to Great Britain.

The conference is also arranging for improved steamship services to the Islands, and for cheaper cable rates. In the negotiations the technical officers of the Trade and Commerce and Finance departments have been called into service, and the fullest consideration given to the effects which will result from the agreement.

The West Indian delegates leave today to spend Easter in Quebec. Government cars were placed at their disposal for the trip. They will return on Monday evening.

Verdun Activity.

Local contractors anticipate a busy season ahead for the building trades. Wholesalers already report a brisk demand for supplies.

Several big industrial establishments are to be erected in Maisonneuve and the town of Verdun is to issue bonds for $229,000 to be spent in municipal improvements. There will also be considerable building going on in the town.

FROM THE STAR FILES THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

Hon. Judge Baby.

"At the annual meeting of the Corporation of the Montreal School of Fine Arts, held recently, H is Hon. Mr. Justice Jette, president, in the chair, the following gentlemen were elected officers for the present year: The Hon. Justice Baby, president; Mr. Edward Murphy, vice-president; Mr. L. O. David, secretary, and Messrs. T. B. A. de Montigny, recorder; M. P. Ryan, M.P.; J. G. Robitaille; J. J. Curran, Q.C., and J. L. Cassidy, directors. It was resolved that a petition should be presented to the Legislature of Quebec praying for a grant in aid of the school. The City Council had provided a room during the past year, but it was found to be too cold in the winter and too hot in the summer. It was hoped the corporation would again come to the assistance of the institution and supply it with premises suited to the work."—From the Montreal Star, April 5, 1882.

THE Hon. Louis F. G. Baby was a descendant from Jacques Baby de Rainville, an officer in the regiment of Carignan-Sulliere, that came to Canada in 1665. He was born in Montreal in the year 1834, and was the son of Joseph Baby, and was educated at the Sulpician College, and called to the Bar in 1857, and had the distinction of being Mayor of Joliette and afterwards sat for that county in the Commons, from 1872 to 1880. He entered the Macdonald Administration as Minister of Inland Revenue, an office which he retained until his elevation to the bench in 1880.

"London, April 5.—The Te Deum was sung in the Cathedral of Tunis in gratitude for the preservation of the life of Queen Victoria. A French band played "God Save the Queen." The festivities have done much to promote the entente between the English and French residents of the city."—From the Montreal Star, April 5, 1852.

"It is announced that an excursion train from Thunder Bay to Winnipeg will run on Dominion Day. Thus for the first time will the Canadian Pacific be open to the Lakes on our own territory."—From Editorial, Montreal Star, April 5th, 1882.

"London, April 5.—All the landlords of the County of Westmeath and Roscommon are now under police protection."—From the Montreal Star, April 5, 1882.

"Open water at last; the ice bridge gone. The river opposite the city has undergone a complete transformation during the night, and to-day in place of the enormous masses of ice which seemed so firm yesterday can be seen a clear sheet of water, which extends quite to Hochelaga. About 9.30 this morning the ice bridge connecting that municipality with Longueuil started down stream, stopping, however, when opposite the Convent. Its place was immediately occupied with pack ice, through which a gang of Joe Vincent's boatmen are today ferrying a canoe, transporting merchandise, live-stock, human beings, in fact, anything that can be crowded into it. The ice may move at any moment, and it is expected that the river will be quite clear shortly."—From the Montreal Star, April 5, 1882.

Irish Domestic's Strange Death.

At an inquest held at Enniskillen, on the body of Anne J. Johnston, who was found dead in a drain, evidence was given by a doctor that death was not due to drowning, but to heart failure and exposure. Mr. Jones, in whose employment she had been for many years, said he had found her lying on her back across a drain in her night dress. Her bed had been slept in, but her master said she had been somewhat peculiar, had complained of her head, and said a "gipsy woman" told her fortune for sixpence, and told her that a man would come in some night and murder her. Since then she could not sleep well.

SAVOY HOTEL

LONDON, ENGLAND

The World's Most Famous Hotel De Luxe

LONDON'S TIDEWAY.—View Looking East.

Have you ever heard the expression "LOAD-FACTOR"? Do you know what it means?

It is used in connection with the supply of electricity. If an installation is able to dispose of its full current during every hour of the 24 hours, it is said to have a "LOAD-FACTOR" of 100 per cent. If it can only dispose of it during 12 hours of the 24, and is idle for the remaining twelve hours, it has a "LOAD-FACTOR" of 50 per cent. and so on.

You will easily see that the higher the "LOAD-FACTOR" the more cheaply can the current be sold; because all the "Fixed Charges" such as Rent, Rates, Taxes, Insurance, Cost of Buildings, Machinery, Wages, Administration Expenses, &c., remain the same, whether much or little current is used.

People often ask how it is that the SAVOY HOTEL, LONDON, can provide the beautiful Public and Private Reception Rooms, the Luxuriously Fitted Bedrooms—with bathrooms attached—the Unrivalled Cuisine, the Finest Orchestra, and the Greatest Comfort generally at such Moderate Charges, in fact, at no Higher Price than is charged for much less Luxury and Comfort elsewhere.

THE ANSWER IS: "Because the SAVOY HOTEL, LONDON, has a "LOAD-FACTOR" of 100 per cent. In other words, because the SAVOY HOTEL is always full.

Therefore, when you want an Hotel in London have the word "LOAD-FACTOR" firmly fixed in your mind. Go to an Hotel which has a "LOAD-FACTOR," or, to put it in another way, one which is always full—for then you will get the best value for your money.

Claridge's Hotel, London, the Berkeley Hotel, London, and The Grand Hotel, Rome, are under the same proprietorship as the Savoy Hotel.

A Word for our Dumb Animals

Kindness to animals is spreading. To-day I saw the prettiest and most touching sight I have seen for a long time. A horse was stuck on an up-hill grade on a quiet side street. There was not enough snow for the runners which should have been wheels. The fat driver sat complacently on the rig sawing away at the horse's mouth. Behind here was the pretty touch—there was a little, fat, chubby girl with yellow hair of five or six shoving with all her might and main against the back of the cart. She was not going to have the poor horse beat on. She was going to help him over the bad place.

As a lover of animals I rejoice to see that you have taken up the cudgels on their behalf. I have been in hundreds of cities in various parts of the globe and I know of none in which there is so much room for improvement as regards the treatment of the brute creation as in this city of Montreal. As regards horses, the cruelty is often due to ignorance and does not always amount to actual violence, but it is none the less cruelty. During the last few days, for instance, numerous cases have come under my notice in which men (who in the first instance should never have been placed in charge of horses), have continued to urge horses, obviously tired out, to haul a load over a difficult part of the road. In one case, the owner spoke quite kindly to his horses and urged them on, but there his strategy ended. He never thought of letting them rest for a few minutes to "get their wind." Nor did he call on any of the gaping crowd to lend their weight. I asked some of those looking on if they would not join with me in starting the waggon and some half dozen came forward and soon set the team again on its way. But this course might just as well have been adopted when first the horses failed to move their load. Somehow or other people seem to be afraid to "butt in" on such occasions. May I trespass further on your valuable space to plead for our friend the dog, who is so often compelled to run behind a fast-trotting horse or street car. Does it ever occur to the owners of these animals that the rate of speed which they, faithful creatures, are thus compelled to keep up for fear of losing their masters is not their natural one? Indeed, after some twenty years experience of dog rearing, I have no hesitation in saying that only such dogs as grey hounds or fox hounds in training can cover the ground at such a gait without injury to their systems, more especially as there are very few drinking trough's available for thirsty canines.

In conclusion I would urge your readers to take their cats with them when moving."

DAILY FASHION HINT

EMBROIDERED FLOUNCES MUCH USED IN TIERS NOW.

Eighteen inch flounces, one above the other, give a flounce effect to the summer frocks, though as a matter of fact, the embroidery is not gathered at all, the upper flounce being tucked to set flatly over the hips. This dainty lingerie frock is made of embroidery flounces, filet net being used to lengthen the skirt and trim the bodice and sleeve and the embroidery bretelles. Embroidered white silk gloves and buckskin boots, with white pearl buttons, give the simple frock a suggestion of correct formality.

EASTER CANDIES FOR THE CHILDREN

Making Plain Fondant.

Put three pounds of cane sugar and a pint of cold water into a saucepan with a quarter of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar to prevent granulation; boil till the soft ball stage, 240 degrees F., is reached; do not shake or stir the liquid after steaming; remove it from the fire and let it get lukewarm, then stir with a wooden spoon till it looks white and begins to harden on the top; remove the spoon and knead till creamy and smooth.

Making Nougat.

Blanch and chop a pound of almonds, place them in the oven to get hot, and watch them that they do not brown. It is best to leave the oven door open. While they are heating place three cupfuls of pounded and sifted sugar in a saucepan with a squeeze of lemon juice, and stir with a wooden spoon until it begins to melt; stir more quickly as the sugar begins to form small white pearls on its surface, add the heated almonds, gently stir till well mixed, then turn it out on to an oiled sheet and press it out with a cut lemon; mark into squares, and when cold break it into pieces. If required for lining molds, press it while hot into oiled fancy molds and loosen them while warm, but let them remain in until cold.

Toasting Marshmallows.

To make the marshmallows take two heaping tablespoonfuls of powdered gelatine two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of water, and two tablespoonfuls of orange extract. Put the gelatine into a basin, and add half of the water. Mix the sugar and the rest of the water in a saucepan, bring slowly to a boiling point, then boil to 217 degrees Fahrenheit. Do not stir after it boils. Pour slowly over the gelatine, beating vigorously all the time; then beat for 10 minutes, add extract, and continue beating until thick. Pour at once into tins which have been buttered and dusted with cornstarch. Leave in a cool place over night. Remove from the tins, cut into small rounds with a cutter, and roll in equal parts of cornstarch and confectioners' sugar. To make a variety dip one-half of the marshmallows into melted chocolate. Fruit juices may be used in place of the water and extract. You may toast them until they put on a coat of delicious brown.

Turkish Delight.

To make Turkish delight, take two heaping tablespoonfuls of powdered gelatine, 1 1-4 cupfuls of water, two cupfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of powdered citric acid, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, red coloring, yellow chopped blanched almonds. Put the gelatine into a saucepan, add the water, sugar and acid, bring slowly to boiling point, then boil gently for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Rinse two deep plates with cold water, put the red coloring and vanilla extract into one; into the other put the almonds, lemon extract and yellow coloring. Strain the mixture into each and stir. Set in a cool place till cold and firm, then cut into neat squares, using a knife constantly dipped into boiling water, and roll in confectioners' sugar.

Cocoanut Candy.

One and a half cupfuls of soft pale yellow sugar, half a cupful of dark sugar, 2 1-2 ounces of desiccated cocoanut, one heaping tablespoonful of butter, a quarter of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, half a pint of cold water and two ounces of plain fondant. Put in pan the sugar, water and cocoanut and stir and dissolve, adding cream of tartar when it boils. Stir most carefully all thetime, and boil to 245 deg. Fahr. Work the fondant quite soft and pliable, and put it in the batch, and mix and stir it until it begins to grain. Pour into buttered tin, and when half cold cut in strips and wrap each in wax paper.

Combination Corset Cover

With Round or Square Neck, with Shaped or Plain Circular Frills.

Combination undergarments are so practical as well as fashionable that they are in constantly increasing demand. This one is especially designed for misses and for small women, and the corset cover is made just full enough to be becoming to slender figures, while the drawers are perfectly plain over the hips yet wide enough for comfort at their lower edges. In the illustration the material is nansook with trimming of lace, but garments of this kind are made from the lawns and batistes, and from cross-barred and dotted muslins as well as from the plain ones with trimming of lace or embroidery.

The corset cover is made with front and back portions fitted by means of shoulder and under-arm seams. The drawers are dart fitted and circular in shape, and whether the frills are plain or shaped at their outer edges they are circular and joined to the drawers. The closing can be made invisibly or with buttons and button-holes.

For the 16 years size will be required 3⅛ yards of material 36, 2⅜ yards 44 inches wide with 3¼ yards of banding, 2 yards of beading and 6½ yards of edging.

The pattern, No. 7359, is cut in sizes for misses of 14, 16 and 18 years of age, and will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.

MY LADY'S BOOKSHELF

Some Coming Books—New Edition of Hardy—Miss Wilcock's Latest Story.

Several of the most notable books on the spring list of Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons will appear shortly in American editions. They will include, for example, Algernon E. Aspinall's "The British West Indies," which Little, Brown & Co. will publish in the "All Red" series; Joseph H. Longford's "Japan of the Japanese," which Scribners will add to the "Countries and Peoples" series; John Parker's "Who's Who in the Theatre," which will bear the imprint of Small, Maynard & Co.; "The Prayer Book Dictionary," which has been secured by Staley's "Considerations for Lent," of which the Young Churchman Company has purchased an edition. The other announcements of the Pitmans include: "The Life of John Pym," by C. E. Wade; "Mysticism and Magic in Turkey," by Lucy M. J. Garnett, and a new series of "Famous Speeches" edited by Herbert Paul. Of these volumes the one which promises to be a distinct addition to important biography is the study of Pym, which will, among other related matters, deal at length with the partnership of the Adventurers of Providence Island.

"This from the London Daily Telegraph is especially welcome: "It seems to be the settled decision of Mr. Thomas Hardy to write no more novels, and, though such a fine poem as that which he has contributed to this month's Fortnightly Review is some recompense for the loss of another 'Tess,' there are many lovers of literature who deplore his self-denying ordinance. Still, if we are to have no more stories from Mr. Hardy, the time has clearly arrived for the publication of a definitive collected edition of his works, and general satisfaction will be felt in Messrs. Macmillan's announcement that they will commence such an issue with the beginning of April. The Wessex Edition, as it is to be called, will be complete in twenty volumes, priced 7s 6d net apiece, two volumes to appear every month. The first two volumes will contain 'Tess of the Durbervilles' and 'Far From the Madding Crowd,' and Mr. Hardy has written a general preface to the edition, which will serve as an introduction to 'Tess.' There will be a photogravure frontispiece of each volume, and a map of the Wessex country. In fact, the edition will be as complete and as handsomely equipped as might be expected from the reputation of the house that fathers it."

Although so accomplished a master of the craft of fiction, M. P. Willcocks seems to have erred in the planning of her new story, "Wings of Desire," for the opening chapter is so careful and detailed in its account of the hidden gold dust of which Simon Bodinar alone knows the secret that the reader will expect the development along the lines of daring adventure in distant lands. And this matter of the mysterious gold dust is so refined upon in subsequent chapters that one is always wondering when the journey in quest of that untold riches is to begin. But the journey is never begun save in a kind of comic-opera fashion, and at last it dawns upon the reader that Miss Willcocks asks his attention, not for a tale of adventure, but for an elaborate dissection of the marital relationship. Unfortunately this means that he must adjust his interest to a different point of view, and in making that demand Miss Willcocks handicaps her chance of a hearing. It must be added, however, that her skill is such that even when one has finished the story the book is taken up again and again and reread from the new standpoint. When regarded from this readjusted point of view, it is seen that the novel is an elaborate statement of the case for the independence of women. And even as such Miss Willcocks has given hostages to fortune. In her anxiety to present the case for her own sex she has gone to the extreme in her treatment of the opposite sex. There is, it is true, one manly man in the book, Captain Knyvett, to wit, but all the others are the weakest specimens of their kind, or vicious such as Archer-Bellew. Hence Miss Willcocks has no difficulty in securing a triumph for her own sex, but the triumph is won at the cost of undervaluing the enemy. And yet the story is so remarkable for its analytical power, its minute observation, its sense of background, its delicate style as literature, that it arrests and holds and, as has been said, calls the reader back again and again.

THE POETS CORNER

ALONE.

(By Minnie Bowen, in New England Magazine.)

(The last verse written specially for The Star.)

I stand alone.
The hands are loosed that clung appealingly;
Around me sweeps an ever-rising sea
Afoam with passions, desolate with fears;
And, through the dimness of relentless years,
I see the forms that strove to reach my side
Swept ever farther from me by the tide;
They would—but could not—pass, for, deeper grown,
Dividing waters flowed. I stand alone.

I stand alone.
O Life, what mystery lies hid in thee!
Each soul, alone, must feel infinity.
No sympathy, no love, shall hold or keep
The faltering spirit from that awful deep;
The tender hands must fall us on the brink
Of that great solitude; no heart may think
To touch the loneliness, to pierce the stone.
That holds each spirit silent and alone.

I stand alone.
Yet stretch your hands to me across the deep;
Let your soul speak to mine, before I sleep;
In that strange silencing of life and sense,
That deathless death, that sends the spirit hence
To stand, all naked, in God's awful Name,
Give me the love I crave. When fate
Shall have us both, no agony atone;
We pass in darkness, as we came,
Alone.

Yet not alone.
For One there is the trembling Soul to meet;
By this hard path went down the Bleeding Feet;
The Pierced Hands—compassionate, divine—
Made clear this way for weary steps like mine.
O Love Immortal! Who didst bear the Loss—
Endure the Solitude—embrace the Cross—
By that great Agony sustain Thine own;—
Nor leave the Soul in death to stand alone.

Fashions From Paris

One cannot talk long about the season's fashions without coming back to taffeta. Quantities of simple one piece trotting frocks are made up in the darker colorings of changeable taffeta, and both these changeable taffetas and plain taffetas are used for dressy little coat and skirt or three piece costumes. The blue and black color scheme is particularly liked among the dark toned taffetas. The plain one toned dark and black taffetas are also used for good looking little suits, and for afternoon frocks, the striped taffetas, flowered taffetas, bordure taffetas and lighter colorings among the changeable taffetas are all popular.

A narrowly striped taffeta in old blue and white was very cleverly combined with dark blue in a chic and practical model shown by one Fifth avenue importer. The clinging tunic of silk fell almost to the skirt bottom in the back, but was draped away in front to show a plaited underskirt of the silk. A front panel of this tunic was of the silk, but veiled in dark blue chiffon and bordered by very fine dark blue braiding in Vandyke design. Long plain sleeves were of dark blue and a small collar of handsome cream lace finished the neck.

Side by side with this frock was another that might answer for similar purposes, but was made up in the ever popular dark blue and white foulard. One might well believe that a very possible change had been rung upon this theme and that nothing could make a dark blue and white foulard chic as well as serviceable, but in this model the thing was accomplished.

The foulard used was of a beautiful radium quality and had a border design of stripe on the polka dot body of the silk. This stripe was used with the stripes running horizontally for the petticoat showing at the bottom of the skirt front, for filling in the V shaped bodice front and for the short sleeves, and, with the original cut of the bodice, its soft shoulder drapery and the full yet clinging drapery of the skirt, the frock was definitely in the new movement, yet was thoroughly conservative and wearable.

Paquin has turned out some wonderfully fresh looking, summery models in very finely striped cerise and white or light clear green and white silks liberally relieved by sheer white chiffon or mull and made up with a most artful simplicity—ideal little frocks for hot summer afternoons. There are tiny hairline check designs in color and white shown in this same class of silks which look almost like a soft delicate plain tone at first glance and which, like the stripes, have pleasing possibilities if properly handled.

Chiffon taffetas with Jouy designs scattered over the surface are shown in all the better shops and have a charming quaintness, but among the French models the Jouy or antique print designs are more often exploited in radiums, chiffons, crepons and other very sheer and soft silks. In many of these the design quite covers the surface, leaving no plain foundation color, and the trimming is in some one tone of the cretonne design.

Taffeta is used for trimming many frocks which do not make use of it otherwise. Fringed ruches of it appear even on lingerie frocks, and quillings, flat corded bouillonees and scalloped or picked narrow frills are all highly popular as trimming. This type of self-trimming them is most picturesque and coquettish. The long draped coats of changeable taffeta, self trimmed, are pretty and practical for summer wear, and there are many more elaborate models trimmed in heavy laces.

While the very fine filmy laces play an unusually important role in the province of the evening frock, tremendous quantities of the heavy laces are being sold too. Bold macrame trims linen, sponge, voile, foulard, &c., and the heavy filets and combinations of filet or cluny with finer laces are even upon the sheerest and finest of lingerie materials. Band laces with straight edge are more used than formerly, and often a very smart little frock of sheer soft material fulled into the waistband will have for trimming only a very heavy and very wide band of lace set in a little above the hem.

The kind of openwork band and border known as cut work enters into many of the good looking lingerie frocks and some very attractive frocks of fine white linon or batiste have inset bands of black net and little plaited frills of black net for trimming.

The passing of winter is indicated in the opening of the beautiful racecourse at Auteuil, the most Parisian of public social functions. Naturally, since in spite of the dictates of fashion the weather refuses to be summery or even springlike, tailored costumes predominate at these first gatherings, and furs are still seen. But the costumes are made of the new materials, and in their shape the last word is spoken.

Still, the reversible woollen materials are in favor, and the reverse side is used for the only trimming allowed, except the buttons, and indeed these are covered with the reverse side, the size of them being quite enormous. These soft stuffs, woven with a contrasting color on the under side, are so warm in appearance that they will serve only for the next few weeks, when they will be laid aside for special occasions like golf, and steamer travel, the lighter woollen materials replacing them for general out-of-door morning wear. A pretty dark haired woman wore at Auteuil a gray coarsely woven mixture, trimmed with large flat buttons, covered with the reverse side, which in this instance was composed of a charming shade of deep violet and pale gray, set in half-inch stripes. The skirt, cut on circular lines, flared gracefully at the hem, and not a seam was visible. This extraordinary result was probably gained in two ways—first, by its cleverness of cut, and next in the manner of its closing, one side of the front breadth being lapped widely over the other and held loosely by three buttons posed near the top. The half long coat had the effect of a Norfolk jacket, with its straight coat sleeves, flat, round collar, and its stitched cloth belt slipped through slits in the cloth. These accessories were made of the reverse side. A swagger little three cornered hat of fine purple straw, trimmed with wide purple ribbon, pulled into the semblance of wide spreading wings, completed the costume.

More springlike were a few costumes made of the new woollen stuffs, fine striped in gray and white. The accessories, in the way of collars, cuffs and revers, were faced with black or colored velvet. The coats were cut in Directoire shape, with high waists and pockets simulated with the trimming, and the fronts showed a little waistcoat. This coat, the "swallow-tail" and one with a half-long back, rounding sharply to the bust, to fasten under one button, are the prevailing forms.

MANY CHANGES ARE MADE IN CHARTER OF MONTREAL

Mr. Bauset Completes Instructive Summary for Members of the City Council.

Mr. Rene Bauset, assistant city clerk, has completed a report summarising the amendment to the city charter passed by the Quebec Legislature this year. This shows that among the most important changes are the reduction of the borrowing powers of the city from fifteen to twelve per cent of the annual increased assessable property values of the city. The abolition of the property qualification for mayor and aldermen and the removal of disqualification for nonpayment of water taxes.

Many Expropriations Sanctioned.

The most important expropriations sanctioned are the extension of Sherbrooke Street to the limits of the City, the widening of DeMontigny Street on the north side, from Wolfe Street to Visitation street; the opening of Maplewood avenue; the widening of Cote des Neiges road; the opening of Le Royer street to Jacques-Cartier square; the widening of Smith street, part of Mountain street, Aqueduct street, St. Antoine street (near Fulford), St. Vincent street, Rosemont Boulevard, Roy street, St. Andre street, Notre-Dame street, from Fulford street to Atwater avenue. Other streets that will be extended are Messier, St. Emelie, Villeneuve, Mountain (from Sherbrooke northwards), Dufferin, Logan, Gauthier, Cartier Gilford and du Palais streets. Provision is also made for the opening of Masson street, in two different parts, and in view of this improvement plans are already being perfected by Mr. Henri Demers for the erection of a large hotel at the corner of Iberville and Masson streets. Additional park space is provided for by the extension of La Fontaine Park on the east side, and the establishment of a large park on upper St. Lawrence Boulevard, and power is granted to enlarge and improve Bonsecours Market.

Heavy Payments.

Obligations imposed upon the City are the heavy payments for the maintenance of the Technical School and the freeing of tolls of Viau and Lachapelle bridges.

The Council is empowered to pass by-laws to provide for the lawful selling of market produce by farmers to retail trades; for the imposition of the following severe penalties for sounding false alarms:—$100 for the first offense; $200 for the second and two years imprisonment for the third, without the option of a fine. The Council is compelled to create within twelve months a pension fund for the civic employees.

The City's reserve fund is reduced from five to three per cent. The fire department has increased powers to inspect buildings to assure a proper provision of fire protection; automobiles are prohibited the use of sirens; and the fire brigade is given the first use of the streets on the way to fires.

RELEASED YESTERDAY, PRISONER AGAIN TO-DAY.

Fined Joseph Dubeau for Presence of Package of Tobacco.

Charitable impulses on the part of Joseh Dubeau, who was released from the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary yesterday morning landed him behind the bars again last night.

A large package containing tobacco was deposited by Dubeau near the house where the penitentiary pigs have their sleeping quarters. No sooner had the package been left there that two strong guards pounced upon Dubeau. They had been lying in wait, as one of the convicts who had been left out of the plot and who could see his partners chewing tobacco, so, while he would have none, decided to peach.

Dubeau was taken up from Vincent by Deputy Warden Russell and to Judge Lafontaine this morning he said that he had nothing to do with it. He will be tried Wednesday next.

WASHINGTON WILL GRANT DRAINAGE APPLICATION.

Believed U. S. Will Temporarily Allow Diversion of Waters of Lake Michigan.

It is regarded in marine circles as practically certain that United States Minister for War Stimson will grant permission to the Chicago Drainage Commission to divert 10,000 feet of water per second from Lake Michigan, as applied for to the Washington authorities.

The concession, however, will be granted for from three to five years only, after which time the privilege will be withdrawn. This is to allow the City of Chicago to provide other means of disposing of its sewerage than at present it is equipped with.

Dr. T. S. Stacy left yesterday for Chicago to make some investigations in behalf of the Canadian opposition to the scheme.

TO CONSOLIDATE UNIONS.

President of Trades and Labor Congress on Mission to City.

Mr. J. E. Waters, of Victoria, B.C., president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, arrived in town yesterday, and visited the headquarters of the labor unions.

The object, of his visit, he said, was to consolidate the labor movement of Montreal.

Mr. Waters explained that the congress did not interfere in any way with the economic side of the labor movement. It was a legislative body, and its principal calling was to secure good laws throughout the Dominion. He hoped to bring about the amalgamation of all the labor unions of Montreal and affiliate them with the congress.

Special Notice.

DON'T FORGET.

It is only a few months ago that the piano firm of C. W. Lindsay, Limited, absorbed the stock and business of Nordheimer's Limited, giving the former the exclusive right to the sale of Nordheimer and Steinway Pianos, also Estey organs, in Montreal and environs. These instruments are on view at their head warerooms, 512 St. Catherine Street West, or branch, 366 St. Catherine Street East.

Bronx Park

"THE BRONX" OF MONTREAL

This magnificent property is now ready, and will be placed on the market on Saturday next, the 6th April.

OPENING DAY, SATURDAY NEXT

Bronx Park opens up a residential section unequalled in the suburbs of Montreal. It has a frontage on the St. Lawrence of nearly a mile, and the approach to it is along the beautiful new Verdun Boulevard, rapidly nearing completion. It is just past the end of the Verdun car line. Besides its mile frontage on the Lower Lachine Road, Bronx Park is bordered on the North by the Montreal Aqueduct, along which it is proposed to build magnificent driveways and Boulevards, which will give the property practically two frontages, both greater than the depth.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PURCHASE

at the first rock bottom prices, and take advantage of the appreciation that the above improvements and either developements will bring.

See our beautiful sub-division plan, and get full particulars of this splendid investment from either.

MARCONI PREDICTS AN EARLY DIVIDEND ON CANADIAN STOCK

Wireless Wizard in City Tells of Big Contracts and Improvements.

Mr. Guglicheo Marconi was in the city yesterday, optimistic to a degree even greater than that of his invariable habit, for from the present outlook there is looming up the promise not only of an increase in the dividend of ten per cent. now payable on the stock of the British Marconi Company, but there ought to be—Mr. Marconi feels satisfied that there will surely be declared at an early date a dividend of two per cent. on the Canadian company's Marconi stock.

"Increased interest in the stock which has made it go up to an appreciable degree," he said to a Star representative to-day, "is due to two things. In the first place, we have made a very important contract with the British Government—at least, it is about to be made, for it only awaits the approval of Parliament, which is a foregone conclusion. Under this contract we are going to complete an Imperial scheme which will give all the Colonies of the British Empire the means of wireless intercommunication—a wireless band that will encircle the whole British Empire—that's it, exactly," went on Mr. Marconi, enthusiastically.

A Big Contract.

"We shall put down a large number of stations, for which the British Government will pay us $300,000 each station. Further than that, they will give us ten per cent. of the gross receipts for a period of ten years. This is a very good contract, believe me.

"The second influence which has sent up our stock comes from the fact that just when the court action in relation to certain patents was coming to an issue the trustees of the United Wireless Telegraph Company, which company controlls the de Forest and other patents, consented to a judgment, and for a consideration they have turned over all of their assets and stations and plant.

"Therefore we now have control of the entire wireless telegraph systems of America. In the present circumstances our prospects are certainly good, and British stock should pay something more than the present system. And the Canadian Company? Well, a dividend should be declared at an early date of at least two per cent."

Improvements in St. Lawrence.

Mr. Marconi went on to tell of the increasing trans-Atlantic business of the company, and stated that not only were they improving and extending their trans-Atlantic system, and extending and improving their stations up the St. Lawrence as far as Quebec, where at the latter station special improvements are to be made, but the company were also about to carry out material improvements in the interior of Canada, over the Great Lakes to the Far West to cope with the increasing business that is promised.

Experiments which had been made also gave promise of immediate improvements on the Atlantic service which would enable ships to "pick up" their "bearings" in the case of fog.

Goes to Glace Bay.

Mr. Marconi, who came in from New York this morning, will leave the city this evening en route for Glace Bay, where he will inspect the improvements and extensions that are going on at that station. He expects to return here about Friday next, and will immediately leave for England.

Mr. Marconi spent some time with the manager of the local station, but he did not meet any of the directors of the company, as Mr. Andrew Allan, Mr. Greenshields and Mr. Bickerdike are all out of town.

MAIL BREAKER SENTENCED.

Drolet Gets Three Years for Burglarising Mail Cars.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, April 5.—Drolet, alias Cote, the man who was caught recently trying to break into a Canadian Pacific Railway mail car between Belair and St. Malo, was brought up for trial yesterday before Judge Panet-Angers, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary on the charge of robbing the mails.

Sentence was suspended on another charge preferred by Post Office Inspector Green.

Drolet had been boarding in Montreal very recently, and appears to have sold a quantity of goods which he had stolen from the Dominion Express, while he was there, besides other articles purloined from the mails.

Woodrow Wilson On the Campaign

Admits it Would be Difficult to Run it Without Financial Aid To-day.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Washington, D.C., April 5. — Woodrow Wilson talked campaign prospects here yesterday with members of Congress who are supporting him for the Democratic nomination. Among the Senators in conference with him were Mr. Smith, of Georgia; Mr. Smith, of South Carolina; Mr. Bryan, of Florida; and Mr. Williams, of Mississippi.

In answer to a question about the progress of the campaign, Mr. Wilson said:

"Our campaign is dependent solely on our friends and their brains. We have no money. Our campaign has been bankrupt four times, including the present time, and the work is entirely dependent on the spirit of friendship."

Mr. Wilson admitted it would be hard to run a campaign under such conditions.

ROSS HEARS OF CHAPMAN SHOOTING AFFAIR UNMOVED

Wife Tells Him in Penitentiary of Trouble That Has Befallen Witness Against Him.

J. C. Ross, convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of Robert Fitzsimmons at the Orpheum Theatre, last November, during a game of cards in which Harry Chapman was taking a hand, has heard the news of the trouble in which Chapman finds himself. Mrs. Ross called to see her husband at the penitentiary on Monday last, and related to him the circumstances of the shooting affair at the Savoy.

"I hope Harry does not have to go through what I went through," was all that Ross said, when he heard that a charge of "breaking in with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm," had been made against him.

Now that the worry and suspense attendant on trial and sentence are over, he has become a changed man. From the nervous wreck he appeared in the prisoner's dock he is described as having become cool and collected, and has already increased in bodily weight.

GAS SENDS MANHOLES FLYING INTO AIR.

Great Excitement Last Night on St. Catherine Street West.

Considerable excitement was caused by an explosion of a gas main on St. Catherine street, between Mance and Bleury streets, last evening. Passers-by fled in confusion, when, with a loud detonation, the covers of the manholes at the corners of Mance Bleury and St. Catherine streets, flew high into the air, tongues of blue flame shooting up out of the yawning holes. The cause of the explosion has not been ascertained, but it is thought that there was a leak in the main, and that in some manner the escaping gas took fire causing the explosion.

Lachine's Growth.

It was reported to-day by members of the Iron Workers Union that all the big industrial plants at Lachine are busy and prospects as excellent. It was said that, by the annexation measure passed at Quebec, Lachine is enlarging its boundaries, taking in 900 acres of new territory, on which stand some of the biggest industrial establishments of the Montreal district.

Have you ever eaten OATMEAL BREAD?

MANY people are afraid to eat fresh bread because it is hard to digest. But oatmeal bread can be eaten as soon as it comes from the oven and there is no difficulty in digesting it.

The addition of Tillson's Oats, which you will see in the recipe below, gives to this bread a delicious flavor and a dietetic balance.

If you have been fond of brown bread you will forsake it in favor of this oatmeal bread.

Try it.

Oatmeal Bread

With one quart of boiling water scald two cupfuls of Tillson's Rolled Oats. Add one tablespoonful of salt and one of lard. When cool, add one yeast cake dissolved in one cupful lukewarm water, and three cupfuls bread flour, or enough to make a batter. Beat well. When light add one-half teaspoonful soda dissolved in a very little warm water, and one half cupful of sugar. Beat eight cupfuls of flour into the batter, making the bread as stiff as can be stirred. It may take more than the amount of flour, which should be added gradually, heating and stirring continually. Turn into the tins, let rise, and bake one hour in a slow oven.

Your grocer has Tillson's. Two sizes—10c and 25c. Each 25c package contains a handsome piece of English Porcelain Tableware.

Old Dutch Cleanser

will clean Pots & Pans Perfectly

Do away with the old-fashioned, arm-tiring method of scraping. Old Dutch Cleanser saves you both labor and time. The fine particles will immediately loosen and remove the grease and the hardest "burnt in" crusts which soap, soap powder and scouring brick only imperfectly wear off after long, hard scraping. An "all-round" cleanser for every part of the "what-is-a-pie" house. Strictly hygienic.

Leader of Opposition in Quebec Legislature Declares Attitude Towards Provincial Govt.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Quebec, April 5.—Mr. Tellier informed the Montreal Star representative before leaving Quebec that he would define his platform in the banquet which is to be given in his honor at Montreal in ten days or so.

While admitting that much legislation of exceptional importance had been dealt with during the past session, and while saying that the objects of these measures were in the main good, the leader of the Opposition was of the opinion that many of them had not received the preparation that their importance merited and they were not likely to prove as good in practice as they were in theory.

CONVOCATION OF THE PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE LAST NIGHT

Rev. R. W. Dickie Gives Some Practical "Donts" to the New Ministers.

Pertinent and pointed advice was given and some practical "dont's" were laid down for pastors by Rev. R. W. Dickie, B.A., of Crescent Street Church, in his address to the graduating class of the Presbyterian College last night, at the annual convocation of the college.

"St. Paul," he said, "had declared that he that seeketh the office of bishop seeketh a good work.' Anr the world adds, 'and an easy work!'

"However, it may be with the office of a bishop, you will all learn, if you have not already learned, that he who seeketh the office of a minister seeketh hard work. I do not mean that the labor to which your office will call you will be more exacting or exhausting or laborious than the labor to which other men are called. But you will, if you are faithful, find plenty of hard work to do.

"I hope you will never become that kind of minister who considers himself free to 'sleep in' until eight or nine o'clock in the morning, free to take a half day off whenever he feels so disposed, who will never forego his holiday, who is more coddled by his flock than any other individual in the community, and who then goes among his people complaining of being overworked. Don't do that. People may pity you, but they will not believe you. It is not the pace that kills, nor is it the work.

Should Suffer Fools Gladly.

"Look the facts of the world as they are to-day full in the face. At the same time, maintain some historic perspective. Face the present openheartedly. The man who closes his eyes to the life of the world in which he lives confesses himself either a blockhead or a coward. At the same time, again, remember that the past is the parent of the present, and the commandment teaches us respect for a parent.

"Give yourself to your people in the spirit of love—love the people to whom God calls you out of a pure heart, and fervently. You will find there will be people in your congregation who do not passionately love you, and who will not be at any pains to conceal their feeling. But don't let their coldness embitter your spirit and rob your ministry of its efficiency.

"In regard to others, no doubt you will have to learn to suffer fools gladly. Make friends with them. Even their folly may enable you to exercise an influence over them which otherwise you might not be permitted to exercise.

Looking on Sunny Side.

"Other people will make your blood boil with indignation. Don't let it boil over.

"Finally, cultivate an eye for the sunny side of human nature in your flock. There is light and darkness in human nature. There was some darkness in the greatest saints. There is always some light in the hardest sinners. Remember that you are to be children of the light. Walk in the light."

The students who had completed their theological course and became licentiates last night through the ceremony of the Presbytery were: Messrs. Harold Bolingbroke, Edward A. Corbett, B.A.; J. A. Mackenzie, B.A.; D. A. McCuaig, W. Merrilees, D. Morrison Reid, and A. J. Sinclair.

The valedictory address was delivered by Mr. Corbett, who paid a high tribute to the college and bore testimony to the excellent relationship existing between the college authorities and the students.

Rev. J. G. Inkster, London, Ont., said that Presbyterians had always stood for an educated ministry, and it certainly augured well for the Church that there were so many young men that night taking their full B.A. degree.

A True Story

Of Interest to Men Particularly.

Supposing you had a friend the victim of the liquor habit; remember drinking is not in itself a crime—still, it is often responsible for circumstances which would never have occurred otherwise. You know, and we all know, that no intelligent man intentionally gets the worse for liquor, still, so long as the best of society consider the use of liquor essential to entertainment, then you will always find "King Alcohol" getting the controlling hand of someone, and that "One" may be yourself, your brother or your best friend on earth.

Let us go back further. You remember the first drink you ever took how sick you were; your very nature rebelled; but it was manly to take a drink, so you practically forced your system to take alcoholic beverages. A years went on your circle of friends grew, and quite naturally you enlarged your acquaintance list, and unknowingly you were thus increasing your capacity for liquor.

Figure out in your own mind the many friends you have lost in the last few years; see the number who left town simply to get away from the "Come and Have a Drink" crowd; but in most cases, while their intentions were good, the appetite was still there and, do what you like, so long as your system is alcoholized and you keep it up, King Alcohol will beat you out, not only physically, but financially, and when you are in this complicated position, where are the friends of long ago? Now, you cannot deny that these are facts, and, remember this, the craving for liquor will remain just so long as Alcohol is in your system.

To-day hundreds of the most intelligent gentlemen in Montreal and surroundings have taken our treatment, gentlemen holding the highest positions in the legal, medical and financial world, and to-day they have not the slightest desire for any alcoholic beverage, as a result of the Neal Three Day Treatment.

"Be a man." Don't say you can't give up drinking—true enough in your present stage—but come and have a friendly talk with us. Everything strictly confidential. Write, wire or 'phone East 459. Ask for the Manager, C. Redlich, Neal Institute, Address: 226 Sherbrooke Street East.

PALL MALL GAZETTE ON TRADE COMMISSION.

Says Government Appointed Enemies of Imperial Preference—Praises Colonial Choice.

Canadian Associated Press.

London, April 5.—The "Pall Mall Gazette" to-day says regarding the Imperial Trade Commission, the Government struck the fiscal questions out of the scope of the inquiry, but appointed three or four enemies of the imperial preference. However, Sir Rider Haggard, the pioneer of South Africa progressivism, and the Hon. G. E. Foster, the Canadian federationist, are stamped with Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's own approval, and may be trusted to represent the continuity of the true Colonial spirit.

ONTARIO LEGISLATORS FORCED TO GO THIRSTY.

Hon. Dr. Reaume Reported to be Responsible for the "Dryness" There.

Toronto, April 5.—The "abolish-the-bar" debate in the Legislature yesterday disclosed the fact that while there was liquor in the cellars of the House restaurant, a drink could not be purchased by any member, no matter how bland, to say nothing of any official in the building, no matter how thirsty. After the public agitation began this year, it seems, Hon. Dr. Reaume, the Minister of Public Works, saw the opportunities for members and officials during the session to get drinks, were frequent enough, without placing them within their reach in the Legislative pile itself.

Recent night sessions, with their accompanying fatigue, revealed to the members who depend on "case goods" for stimulant, that the restaurant dispensed no refreshments such as they wanted.

NEW EXPERIMENT TO BE TRIED IN MOUNTAIN TUNNEL

C. N. R. Engineers Have a Scheme by Which They Expect to Make a Record.

STAKING OF SUBURB STARTS ON MONDAY

But Already Banks and Others Have Got in on Ground Floor.

The first actual work of laying out the new Canadian Northern suburb, Mount Royal, will begin on Monday next, when a gang of surveyors will start staking out the 9,000 lots of the model city.

The area, comprising hundreds of acres, will be sub-divided into building properties by the surveyors staking out each individual lot, which will later form the home of many a Montreal family.

It is estimated that within five years Mount Royal will be the home of 100,000 people, who will be within a ten minutes' reach of the city, when the electric trains of the company are running through the tunnel under the mountain.

Expect Record Tunnelling.

That this work will be completed and the road in operation within two years, is the statement of Mr. S. P. Brown, the engineer in charge of the gigantic work of burrowing through the mountain from side to side.

"It is, of course, difficult to estimate the work at this early date," said Mr. Brown to The Star yesterday, "but I feel convinced that we shall be able to make a record in tunnelling work in the present case. I have been to New York recently, where I have examined the latest apparatus and equipment and have arranged to put into the work here the most modern plant ever employed in a work of this magnitude.

"For the first time on any work we shall use a modern apparatus which has never before been used in an undertaking of this importance. I am not at liberty at the moment to describe the principle of the new system, but we shall probably employ it in the tunnelling from the other side of the mountain to the city end.

"The first work even if we have to cart away the material in wheelbarrows, while we wait for machinery—will possibly be commenced from the Mount Royal side of the line under the mountain. If the new system on which we are figuring, proves as successful as we are at present, shall the end from the back of the mountain will meet the other corner months half way, by a good margin, on the city side of the work, we will employ the accepted standards of equipment used in the famous European tunnels, the nature of which will prove to be much similar to the one in which we are engaged."

Mr. T. S. Darling, who is in charge of the laying out of the new suburb and who was the manipulator of the romantic exploit of bringing in the Mackenzie and Mann road into the city, keeping the public of Montreal guessing for months as to the C. N. R's plan, stated that the properties would be placed upon the market within a few days and that the demand for building lots in Mount Royal had accumulated to such a number that the officials of the land department of the new transcontinental were somewhat embarrassed.

Banks Already Located.

"Every mail," said Mr. Darling "brings us in dozens of applications and enquiries, while the city demands have been beyond our most sanguine expectations. When the sale opens we have made preparations to meet the demand by materially increasing our staff. The Canadian Northern Railway is not in the real estate business, in the accepted sense of the word, but we realize that with the building up of Mount Royal the future of our system on the Island of Montreal is assured. Behind the purchaser of every property in the new model city will be the guarantee of Canada's youngest transcontinental. It is in the railway end of the enterprise that we are mainly interested, not in the land exploitation."

Mr. Darling stated that the method of laying out and staking out the new suburb would be commenced on Monday. The entire area acquired by the C. N. R. would be divided into eight parts and each party would have a definite section to stake out. The work, he said, would take about a month, although the lots would be

ATTEMPT TO KILL THE VICEROY OF MANCHURIA FAILS

Two Shots Fired at General Chao Erh-Hsun in Mukden Missed Their Object.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Tien Tsin, April 5.—An attempt was made at noon to assassinate General Chao Erh-Hsun, the Viceroy of Manchuria, in Mukden, according to a message from there.

Two shots were fired at the Viceroy as he was entering his yamen. No arrests were made.

The authorities believe that a conspiracy was instigated by Manchus because of General Chao's activity in behalf of the association for the preservation of peace, a Republican organization.

PREMIER DENIES ANY AUTHORITY FOR NAVY PLAN

Mr. Borden Says Government Will Consult Admiralty Before Arriving at Decision.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Ottawa, April 5.—The Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden stated last evening that the published reports respecting the government's naval policy are wholly without authority, and that the form of Canada's program, in that regard has not yet been decided.

As intimated by the Prime Minister during the session, the government will take time to carefully consider the whole question, and will seek the counsel of the British Admiralty before anything is determined.

It is understood, in that connection, that the Hon. J. D. Hazen will shortly leave for England, and will probably be accompanied by Admiral Kingsmill and Mr. G. J. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of the Naval Service.

LEHIGH VALLEY RAILROAD IS NOW LAYING OFF MEN

One Hundred and Twenty-five Complete Train Crews Off on Account of Coal Strike.

New York, April 5.—"Owing to the suspension of work at both the anthracite and bituminous mines," says an official statement issued here-day on behalf of the Lehigh Valley railroad, "and the consequent loss of a large part of its normal tonnage, the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has been forced to reduce its working force by laying off train screws shopmen and office-workers.

"At present 155 freight locomotives have been put out of commission which has compelled the laying-off of practically that number of complete freight train crews. Other locomotives and crews are operating on a short time basis."
