"CRADLE OF HUMANITY" CENTRED IN NEAR EAST ROTARY SPEAKER DECLARES

Director of Rotary International Gives Vivid Account Of Biblical Lands—Stresses Pro-British Sentiment Since the Fall of France—Lasting Peace Only to Be Achieved Through Tolerance—Charity—Kindness

"It is no exaggeration to state that the Eastern Mediterranean district is the 'cradle of humanity,'" Francis A. Kettaneh told members of the Westmount Rotary Club at the weekly luncheon meeting in Victoria Hall yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Kettaneh himself is a native of Beirut, Lebanon, Biblical country of the era of Christ, and is very well acquainted with matters in the Near East.

"From Turkey to the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, an estimated 5,000 miles, this is an area that is steeped in the folk-lore of countless tongues, and simmers in the once majestic glories of the Pharaohs. Damascus, oldest inhabited city in the world and set like a pearl upon the glistening banks of the Euphrates, has a history the likes of which will never again be recorded by man, was the battle ground of the Crusaders and the meeting place of Saladin and Richard Coeur De Lion," he stated.

"This great event was the inevitable result of the ceaseless struggle waged against the infidels, and no doubt influenced Saladin to bequeath his bones to Damascus as their lasting place." At this point the speaker told his audience of the story of Mahammed, "who, on approaching the jewel of the East, refused to look at Damascus because he would jeopardize his chances of entering the heavenly paradise."

Continued the speaker, "It took British soldiers to liberate the Lebanese from the yoke of the Vichy French, and today the country seethes with pro-British sentiment."

Speaking of the countries he considered in that sphere of influence, Turkey, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Syria, Trans Jordan, Egypt and Iraq, the speaker outlined incidents in the history of all.

Pyramids that were built to outlast time, paintings that were accomplished in subterranean passages and revealed thousands of years later to be as perfect as if the artist had just set brush to canvas, or whatever material was used. The tragic history of the Arabs, from the time of Ishmael, son of Hagar.

The woman that was told, "thou shalt bear a son, and every man's hand shall be turned against him," and to this day that prophetic utterance is being enacted.

Mr. Kettaneh stated that there are 14 Rotary Clubs in Lebanon, and that they functioned with three thoughts, and they were the teaching and practicing of kindness, charity, and tolerance.

"The elimination of these principles and the prostitution of science by the dictators threaten 60 centuries of civilization," concluded Mr. Kettaneh, "and for this they must be destroyed. Settle differences by speech and the adaptation of 'Love thy neighbor' policy can and will settle all disputes and racial difficulties. The speaker was introduced by Ken Carver, and was warmly thanked by Cecil Medlar for his instructive address.

E. A. Everson was in the chair.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID FORMER SHEEP RANCHER

Sturdy Westerner Succumbs in 94th Year—Ox Cart Settler in Early Days of Wyoming

Funeral services for Osman Britt Kempton were held Tuesday morning at the chapel of Jos. C. Wray, Mountain street. Mr. Britt died at the home of his son-in-law, Albert E. Martin, 4386 Western avenue, in his 94th year.

Mr. Martin is the president of the Canadian Banana Co. Ltd. A native of Bangor, Me., where he was born on December 16, 1847. Mr. Kempton was one of a family of four boys and three girls which travelled westward by prairie schooner and ox cart, settled first in the middlewest and then established his home in the far west. Owner of a sizeable sheep ranch. Mr. Kempton lived in both Kansas and Colorado before moving to Lander, Wyoming, where he resided for 30 years.

Retiring 20 years ago, Mr. Kempton came east to live with his daughter, Mrs. Martin, in Amityville, L.I. When the Martin family established its home here in May, Mr. Kempton came to Montreal, which he had visited on several occasions.

Seriously ill only three weeks, Mr. Kempton maintained a family record of no member dying before attaining his 90th year. At one time, four years ago, he, with two brothers and a cousin, visited the Martin home in Long Island. The combined ages of the quartet was 360 years. Mr. Kempton outlived the other three.

Mr. Kempton, whose wife died several years ago, is survived by three daughters, Mrs. William Ellis, of Lander, Wyoming, Mrs. Edgar Dryden, of Clarinda, Iowa, and Mrs. Martin, nine grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

R.A.F. Strike Hard: An Artist's Impression

The battering of the German war machine by the R.A.F. goes on during day and night, and Germany herself has been struck in daylight. Nazi defences on the French coast have received particular attention. Invasion ports, naval yards, anti-aircraft batteries have received severe damage, and this artist's impression shows an attack by British Spitfires on a Nazi anti-aircraft gun. The Luftwaffe has been forced back by at least 100 miles from their bases on the French coast, and this has greatly weakened their attacks on Britain. As Mr. Winston Churchill said "We will bomb Germany by day as well as by night in ever-increasing measure . . ." and with the American long-range bombers, deeper and deeper thrusts will be made to Germany's industrial and war factories.

Local Air Cadet Awarded Prize For Model Plane

Hugh Fraser 'Cops' 2nd Place in C.N.E. Model Event—Westmount Squadron Views Latest Equipment at St. Hubert Airport—Guests of Veteran Pilots—Renewed Activities Commence Late September

For a month or more past a group of boys, most of them active in the Air Cadets, No. 1 Squadron, Westmount, have been building "Gas Job Model Aeroplanes" in a local basement, these boys work from early morning until midnight and later on occasion, last Saturday four of them went to Toronto and entered their models in the National Exhibition meet, where there were some 250 Entries all told from different parts of Canada and the U.S.A., one lad having come from California.

The boys arrived home recently, in great glee, Hugh Fraser had won second place in the "B" Class event, senior section, with his Comet Mercury an Phantom 1 1/2 H.P. engine, flight 2 minutes 16 seconds on a 19 second engine run, there were about 119 entries in this particular event, the group consisted of Paul D'Aoust, Glen Magee, Rose and Fraser.

It is to present a trophy to be competed for by Cadets of the District for construction and flying model aeroplanes at a Flying Meet to be held in the Spring.

It is anticipated that Cadet activities will commence the middle of September with an organization parade when the Unit will be formed into Junior and Senior Cadets, allotted to flights and the training syllabus explained.

Uniforms with some exceptions are now in stores after having been demoted and will be re-issued following attestation papers having been filled in by former and as is expected new Cadets.

A busy and interesting season is expected and enquiries about the Unit should be addressed in writing to Cadet Squadron Leader H. P. Hilsley, 1449 St. Catherine St. West.

VISITORS' DAY HUGE SUCCESS, LUNCH SERVED

Children Receive Mothers' And Guests—Exhibit Handicraft And Paintings—Mr. Jarman 'Honored' Visitor

Visitors day at Staynor Park last Friday, was well attended by the children's mothers and friends.

The guest of the day was Mr. Jarman who received a special invitation from the youthful committee in charge.

Young Misses Jeanne Gedge, Anne Fowler and Hilda Summers presided at the buffet lunch which was served to the guests. The children contributed the cookies, cakes and lemonade for the party.

The rest of the youngsters spent the afternoon escorting the visitors around the exhibition of their handicraft.

Of particular interest to all was "The Art Gallery" of paintings which the children did during August.

Staynor Park Summer School will continue during the month of September the hours being from 3 to 6 in the afternoon.

Watch this paper for further notice regarding the big exhibition which will be held later on in Victoria Hall. At that time prizes will be donated to the best workers and the articles will be returned to the children.

HIBBERT TROOP TO HEAD CHOIR

Noted Organist Appointed At Westmount Baptist Church

Hibbert Troop, appointed organist and choirmaster at Westmount Baptist Church, held a similar position at one time with Montreal's St. Martin's Church. He studied at the Royal College of Music in London, England.

In 1919 he went to Jamaica, B. W. I. and on returning to Canada lived for a time in Toronto. In the Queen City he held a number of appointments in musical direction and before his return to Montreal in 1938 was choirmaster of Walmer road Baptist Church.

While he directed the Royal Bank Men's Choir in Montreal that group took top honors in the Quebec musical Festival.

Canon G. Osborne Troop, well-known in Montreal, is his father.

STAMP CLUB

All persons interested in stamp collecting are cordially invited to attend these meetings. This club is sponsored by the Parks and Playgrounds department of the city.

Re-dedication Week—Sept. 10-17

Wednesday, Sept. 10, will mark the beginning of the third year of Canada's participation in the war.

In acknowledgement of that fact the government, by proclamation, is setting aside the period Sept. 10-17 as a week to "honor our men in uniform and rededicate ourselves to the service of our country and our cause."

The provincial governments, mayors, service and other clubs, churches and schools are all being asked to lend their assistance in making this week one of real national significance.

WESTMOUNT ANSWERS CALL FOR ALUMINUM WITH SPIRITED DRIVE

Citizens Back Civic Authorities in 'All-Out' War Effort—Articles in Astounding Variety Come to Light—Municipality Has Regular House Cleaning in Hunt For Precious Metal

Both citizens and civic authorities in the City of Westmount have determined that this municipality shall be one of the foremost in the collection of waste materials which is so vital to the war effort of the Dominion.

With this in view, citizens have already laid by considerable quantities of scrap, the Examiner learns, and city trucks are available at call to take them to headquarters.

The salvage of scrap aluminum is an urgent part of Canada's war effort, and recently Canadian production was temporarily halted owing to labor disputes.

This sabotage of Canada's important war material caused a tremendous shortage of the precious metal during that particular period, and this appeal for aluminum is the direct result.

The government guarantees that no more production hold-ups will occur, but it is the patriotic duty of all Westmount citizens to do their 'bit,' and this means the donation of all worn out, broken, and useless articles that are or contain aluminum.

All aluminum collected will be diverted into the right productive channels, so that the entire war industry will benefit by this concerted effort.

Remember, when you are rummaging around the old home-stead, that 4000 lbs. of aluminum is required to build a fighting plane, and 2800 lbs. for a bomber.

This should be a real incentive to throw out the old frying pans, boiling pots, kettles, cake pans, roasters, casseroles, tea and coffee pots, shoe trees, cups and picture frames.

Everything salvaged is another nail in the Hitler coffin, so all together, Let's Do A Real Job. Call PL 8531—ask for Salvage "Service."

TRIBUTE PAID FAMOUS FIGURE, NOTED ATHLETE

Late William S. Weldon Great Organizer—Windsor Hotel 'Sprang' to Life Under His Management

Final tribute was paid to the memory of the late William S. Weldon of 4723 Grosvenor avenue, Westmount, former Montreal alderman and Executive Committee member, at the chapel of Jos. C. Wray on Mountain street, Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Weldon was in his 78th year at the time of his death. The service was conducted by Dr. A. Lloyd Smith, who was assisted by the Rev. Dr. Malcolm Campbell. The remains were escorted to Mount Royal cemetery.

Mr. Weldon, who was known throughout Canada as Billy Weldon, was a famous lacrosse player and all-around athlete in his younger days and for many years was associated with the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association of which club he was a life member.

His sports career which included lacrosse, football, foot racing, skating, cycling, skiing and curling, was honored five years ago when he was the guest of honor at the annual golf tournament of the Sportsmen's Association.

Born in Montreal Mr. Weldon was born in Montreal on January 10, 1864, the son of John and Catherine Weldon who had come here from Ireland. He was educated at the Panet street school where he began his athletic career. His first business experience was with the wholesale dry-goods firm of Hodgson, Summer and Co., and he was later secretary-treasurer of the M. A. A., holding that position for five years when he resigned to become managing-director of the Windsor Hotel.

The Windsor at the time of his accession to the management was a noted caravansary where leaders in politics and big business from all over the Dominion were to be found. Mr. Weldon's personality and popularity and effluence of Sunday School work.

Hours Changed At Sunday School

Commencing next Sunday, Sept. 7th, Stanley Sunday School will meet at 11.30 a.m.

It is hoped that parents will bring their children to the morning church service at 11 a.m. and then at 11.30 the scholars and teachers will adjourn for Sunday School which will close at the same time as the church service.

Newcomers to the district are cordially invited to avail themselves of the privilege of bringing their children to these services and can be assured that the religious training is in the capable hands of experienced teachers who fully realize the importance of Sunday School work.

CANADIAN SOLDIERS WELL FED

It is still true that an army travels on its stomach, and figures just issued as to food purchases for the Canadian forces are indicative of the care which is being given to the victualling of our armed men. They depict the Government as Canada's biggest housewife, looking well to the stocking of a gigantic pantry into which, in one month, go such items as 6,000,000 pounds of potatoes, 4,200,000 pounds of bread, 3,400,000 pounds of beef and 500,000 dozen eggs.

Once this food is laid in, of course, the cooks face the responsibility of preparing it and serving it up appetizingly. The infrequency with which complaints are heard indicates that they are working well, and there is good reason to believe that our provisioning is one military branch in which a high state of efficiency exists.

WHY A CONSCRIPTION ISSUE?

Although conscription is not in effect in most of the British Dominions there is nevertheless a noisy outcry for it here in Canada, particularly in that part of Canada within a radius of a few miles from the Royal York Hotel. So many arguments have been advanced against conscription that it is difficult to understand why it is still an issue. Entirely aside from the question of national unity, without which our war effort would be greatly impaired, there is the question of spending our money where it will do the most good. We have, at the present time, a volunteer army on active service in Britain, or waiting to go to Britain, of well over three hundred thousand men—ample, we are assured, for some time to come. Suppose we were to introduce conscription with the object of raising, say, another hundred thousand men. That would cost the country something like thirteen million dollars in equipment and training. The same money, spent on aircraft, would produce five hundred of the latest Spitfire fighting machines. Which do you think Britain wants most?—a hundred thousand conscripts (not as good fighters as volunteers) to add to the millions of soldiers already in the British Isles, or five hundred more fighting craft? Anyone can answer that. "Give us the tools"—aircraft, tanks, cannon, corvettes, Bren guns, armoured cars, munitions, and funds. Let us spend our money where it will do the most good.

TOUGH AND DANGEROUS

Much of what is happening in Russia today can be attributed to the financial zeal with which the Russians fight. It is part of their nature, a throwback to their Oriental origin, and it makes them tough and dangerous enemies. As an outstanding example, there is the Red flier who has twice crashed his machine head-on into Nazi planes. Such tactics are usually suicidal, even though effective. However, this man survived one such experience, and reports are vague as to the results of the second spectacular collision. It is easily to be understood why the Germans are finding the Russian campaign an entirely different matter from any they have heretofore experienced.

"LAST DEMAND"—HITLER

Reading recent history, Turkey has cause to shiver at the message which has come to her from Adolf Hitler. Demanding the right to use Turkish waters in the Black Sea, the Fuehrer stresses the point he has "no intention" of seeking further concessions.

That form of notification came into vogue as far back as 1938. It was then that Hitler solemnly assured Czecho-Slovakia and the world that, given the concessions he sought in Sudetenland, he would make no more territorial demands in Europe. This paved the way immediately for the engulfment of Czecho-Slovakia by the Nazis, and ultimately for the conquest of most of Europe. Ever since that day, a statement by Hitler that he is making a "last demand" has been the preamble to another vicious stroke against a weak people. Turkey has reason to feel that her death sentence has been pronounced.

BOOK REVIEW

BY HOWARD S. ROSS

GERMANY TOMORROW
by Dr. Otto Strasser author of Hitler and I, etc.

Translated from the German by Eden and Cedal Paul
Third Impression

Publishers: Jonathan Cape, 91 Wellington St., Toronto, and 20 Bedford Square, London. G.B. Pages 254

Germany Tomorrow is directly linked with Strasser's Hitler and I. It describes the Germany which the author foresees will arise after the war, and elaborates a plan for a peaceful, industrial country, a program of which a brief sketch was given by Douglas Reed in his well-known Nemesis? This is a book of fundamental importance to the history of the recent past and of the immediate post-Hitler future.

Otto Strasser is the founder of and the soul of the Black Front, that persistent underground organization which survived after Hitler surrendered the Socialist side of his policy. The author is the representative of the New Germany which he and his associates hope will arise out of the ashes of the Third Reich.

The peace which he claims cannot and will not be made with Hitler, will be made with the New Germany. An armistice, as Strasser shows, can only be made after the evacuation of the areas which have been forcibly and treacherously occupied, and after a binding pledge of reparation to these plundered countries. Then the author hopes a peace conference will follow at which the Allies, Germany, and the Neutrals, if such remain, can settle accounts in the knowledge that

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

A striking article appeared recently in the Daily Iowan, the University of Iowa newspaper, under the caption, "Take Us Back to Solid Ground." It is addressed to the older generation, and particularly to the faculty of the university. The article asserts that youth has not been taught how to face facts, and has not been shown how to live. Here is a quotation from the article:

"You haven't taught us to be able to take it. We aren't living within our means, and we followed your example. We are afraid of hard work; you never taught us to love it. We can't accept responsibility; you couldn't before us. We don't know the meaning of discipline; you didn't discipline us. We have nothing to which we can cling as the underdog, but there appears to be ample reason to believe that there is now serious difficulty. It is said that the communist armies, now numbering 800,000 men with rifles, are threatening to move from semi-arid northwest China to the rich valley of the Yangtze, and that this plan is opposed by the generalissimo. While the present argument may simply represent the sparring by which the divided Chinese arrange terms for cooperation in a spring offensive, it is indicative of a struggle for power which will not be easily resolved. This struggle roots in the civil war which has continued with interludes since 1927 between two totalitarian parties in Chinese politics—the Communist and the Kuomintang. The Kuomintang, the political party on which Chiang's strength rests, is as clearly the one party of free China as the Nazi party is the one party of Germany."

The article goes on to say: "We want constant training in the constant things of life, the physical, mental and spiritual things which have been the foundation of humanity since the civilization of ancient China."

On the outcome of the conflicts in Asia and Europe hang the basic conditions of existence—of liberty, of justice, of self-determination, of self-government, of self-directed advance, and of free and constructive relations with other nations—for not less than 1,000,000,000 human beings.

Victory for China and the Allies will not assure Utopia for these peoples. It will not even guarantee freedom, democracy, advance for all of them. It will assure their possibility. Defeat for China and the Allies will destroy that possibility. No one who has observed at first hand the meaning of Japanese overlordship in the Far East or of Axis domination in Europe and Africa can question that immeasurable human values hang in the balance.

The most important fact about the promised "New Order in Asia" is this: However much the peoples of the Orient may chafe under Western political rule or resent white economic exploitation, there is not a single one of them from Siberia to New Guinea to Suez which would not infinitely prefer its present status to the only live alternative—Japanese, or Russian or German domination. — Ernest Fremont Tittle.

The greater grater of all times was Narcissus, a freedman and confidant of the Roman Emperor, Claudius. He accumulated a fortune of four hundred million dollars in bribes and rackets. He is mentioned in St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans: 16, 11.

Iran and Iraq are the former Persia and Mesopotamia. We are learning our geography all over again these stirring days.

The Mediterranean is four or five times as long as it is wide. While about 2,200 miles separate Gibraltar from Anatolia, the sea is nowhere more than 600 miles wide, and in most of the area the distance between Europe and the African and Asiatic mainland is around 300 miles. Numerous islands reduce even this distance. What a heroic task it is for the navy to patrol no less than 2,200 miles of water and most of the time under the potential eye of enemy aircraft.

A friend who is interested in the idioms of countermeasures and short order cooks told me the war is having a distinct influence upon them. Eggs are generally called "two" or "biddies." They used to be "sunny side up" or "flopped" or scrambled two." Now two poached eggs on toast are "biddies on a raft." Scrambled eggs are "Shipwrecked, one pair." He asked for "Black coffee, quick" and his order was relayed to the chef as "Blackout and blitzkrieg it." An order for frankfurters and sauerkraut with cut-up became: "U-boats and a bale of hay! Make 'em bleed!"

Rumors of trouble between each country is bringing to the table the good will to remove grounds for another war. Here may be laid (it is the hope of Dr. Strasser and all persons of good will) the foundation of a European Federation which will be safeguarded against resurgent Prussianism.

Dr. Strasser, a Bavarian, was born in 1897. His brother Gregor five years older was killed by Goering's orders (Hitler accepted responsibility) in the Blood Bath of 1934. Five years before this the author broke with Hitler. During 1933 he left Germany to become a refugee in Austria, subsequently in Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, France and he now resides in Westmount. Although there is a price of $500,000 on his head, he carries on his work in Canada and the United States. His wife and two children are in Switzerland and he hopes a way will be found so that they will join him here. The author joined the Bavarian army in 1914, rising from the ranks to become a lieutenant and was twice wounded and decorated. He was granted the degree of Doctor of Law in 1921 and for a time was legal adviser of an industrial concern in Berlin. For some years he was editor-in-chief most of the North German periodicals of the National Socialist Party.

Regular divine service in the Temple Auditorium will be resumed Friday evening, September 5th. Rabbi Harry J. Stern will officiate. During the summer months, Friday evening services were held in the Temple Community House under the direction of the religious committees of Brotherhood and Sisterhood.

Registration in religious school, Sunday morning, September 7 at 10 o'clock.

All the departments of the religious school, kindergarten, junior, intermediate, confirmation and high school, will hold registration on Sunday morning, September 7th. Parents are reminded that there is a registration fee for each pupil. Those wishing to attend the mid-week Hebrew classes will also register at this time.

Quiz Promised On Dublin Bombs

Berlin — Authorized German quarters stated that the Government would investigate Eire's claims that bombs dropped in Dublin recently were of German origin. It was said that Germany always had been careful to avoid damage to the Irish Free State. So far as was known, authorized quarters said, Germany has not received a protest from Eire.

ciency put the Windsor in a class by itself. It was under his direction that the hotel built the castle like annex, a venture that was be-moaned by many who predicted an oversupply of hotel accommodation.

His connection with and service at the Windsor for a decade and a half gave him a Canada-wide acquaintance and friendship which grew with the years.

In 1912 he retired from his position with the hotel and the following year was elected alderman for the West Ward in the City Council. In 1916 when West Ward was absorbed into St. George's Ward, he stepped aside to allow Ald. Leslie Boyd to retain his seat. However, in 1917 Mr. Weldon returned to City Council as member for greater St. George's. He served on the Executive Committee of the Council from 1930-32 and again from 1934-37.

He was long a member of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners serving from 1912 to 1918. He was reappointed later and served until June of this year when he resigned. In politics he was a Conservative and in 1918 he was spoken of as a prospective candidate in support of the Union Government in St. Lawrence-St. George but declined to go to the polls.

In 1918 he was appointed Collector of Customs for the Port of Montreal in which capacity he remained for eight years.

Mr. Weldon also had some experience at soldiering, serving as a sergeant with the Garrison Artillery in the North West Rebellion in 1885.

In June 1889, he married the former Mary Alberta Wilkinson who survives him. Other survivors are his five sons, William J., Montreal, Sqdn-Ldr. Charles L., R.C.A.F., Ottawa, Hon. Leslie S., Tanganyika Territory, East Africa, T. Herbert, Trail, B.C., and Frederic E., Montreal; two daughters, Mrs. James W. Paton, Montreal and Mrs. J. Keith Milne, Toronto; one sister, Mrs. E. H. Lydon, Montreal; and five grandchildren.

Calvary Church will reopen for its regular services on Sunday next with Morning Worship and Morning Sunday School at 11 o'clock. The School will be in charge of the Mission Band workers under the leadership of Mrs. A. Malkin. The Afternoon School, at 3 o'clock will meet in an open session. All former scholars and teachers, in addition to new friends and visitors, will be heartily welcome. The Pastor will give a lecture on the life and work of David Livingstone, illustrated with beautiful lantern slides. The Evening Service will be held at 7.30.

The Pastor, Capt. the Rev. T. W. Jones, D.D., will conduct the services throughout the day and will preach at the morning hour on the theme "The Gateways of the Day." How shall we start each day as it comes? In what spirit do we undertake our work? What comradeships do we cultivate as we do our work and travel along life's pathway? At the evening service Dr. Jones will preach on the theme "This Fight for God's Supremacy." What are the great and vital issues that are at stake in this Titanic struggle in which we find ourselves engaged today. His Majesty the King has called upon the peoples of the Empire to make Sunday, September 7th a day of Intercession and earnest prayer, keeping in mind not alone our forces on land, on the sea and in the air, but also our courageous allies in Russia, and the perplexing situation in the Far East, shall we not answer the King's high call to a day of intercession and service.

The Red Cross Units meet on Tuesday from 10.30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. and the evening branch at 7.30 p.m. More workers are urgently needed.

On Wednesday, September 10th at 8.15 p.m. the Women's Missionary Society will meet. The guest speaker will be Miss Ruth Baxter, a Missionary on furlough from the Sudan Inland Mission. Miss Baxter has a wonderful story to tell of her work among the Lepers and also of her experiences crossing from overseas. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested to come and hear this thrilling story.

Alice: "What makes you think your new photographs are so hard?"
Gladys: "All my girl friends ask for one, and my male friends don't."

Westmount Baptist Church

Dr. J. Alexander Johnston will resume his ministry in Westmount Baptist Pulpit on Sunday, September 7th. The church will participate in the Empire Day of Prayer. Seasons of Intercession will characterize both services.

The theme of the morning sermon will be: "Fulfilling Our High Destiny." To this end was I born and for this cause came I into the world." Mr. Hibbert H. Troop will be welcomed, as organist and choir director at this service. Communion will take place at 12 o'clock noon.

At the evening service, Dr. Johnston will inaugurate the Fall Series of Questions and Answers. Each Sunday evening time will be given to the discussion of vital, practical questions. The series will open with the question: "Should Young People Marry without telling their Parents?" The theme of the evening sermon will be: "The Common Sense of Grace - What man of you . . . will not leave?"

The Sunday School re-open at three o'clock. Teachers and pupils are expected to be present. The Superintendent is Mr. S. C. Simpson.

MOVING STORY AT WESTMOUNT

"Shepherd of the Hills" Held to Be Great Motion Picture

When a great cast, great story and great director are assembled for a motion picture, it's inevitable that moviegoers are in for a treat.

That treat ought to be forthcoming in Paramount's Technicolor film version of the famous novel by Harold Bell Wright, "The Shepherd of the Hills," which opens at the Westmount United Theatre on Sunday playing until Tuesday night.

As most people know, even if they haven't read the book, the story of "The Shepherd of the Hills" has been read by millions of people, and has become what can fairly be called a classic in American fiction.

Don't crowd now, and we'll give you the answers in short order. John Wayne is Young Matt, and a splendid portrayal of the hot-blooded reckless character this handsome, young over-six footer ought to give.

Other major characters in the story are acted out by a brilliant featured cast including Beulah Bondi, Marjorie Main, Samuel S. Hinds and Marc Lawrence.

Children's Theatre Open Both Studios This Month

Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, directors of Montreal's unique and aggressive group of juveniles, are opening their north and west end studios this month, and enrolments are being made now. For the benefit of those residing in the north end of the city, the studio in the Rialto Theatre Building continues, as well as the west end studio situated on Girouard avenue in N.D.G.

The Children's Theatre is starting its ninth successful season, and this special school of theatrical training consists of a kindergarten class, an introduction to the principal course, which comprises instruction in elocution, self expression, diction, poise, deportment, and self control through the medium of the drama. The Children's Theatre have had many fine stage and radio productions to their credit, including Little Women, Daddy Long Legs, Anne of Green Gables, Pollyanna, the Youth of Queen Victoria, and last season, the production of "The Five Little Peppers" netted for the Junior Red Cross the sum of $400.

War Effort Praised
The Children's Theatre war effort last season was commendable, and Miss Davis and Miss Walters announce that even greater work will be done this season, and their first production of the season, "Little London Heroes" written by Montreal's prominent author, Miriam Stein, will be given in November in aid of the British Bomb Victims Fund of the Junior Red Cross.

Those who have watched the work and progress of the Children's Theatre realize that it is doing an excellent work, and playing a definitely significant

Opening Of Studio For Fall Reported Ey Norma Darling

Favorably known in this city as both an instructress and performer in the art of dancing, Miss Norma Darling announces the opening of her studio for the coming season.

Classes or private tuition is offered to the child or adult in tap, too, ballet, modern impressionistic and ballroom dancing. Special classes are conducted for "baby" age, for the high school student interested in ballroom dancing and for ladies' conditioning.

Having been tutored in dancing from a very early age, Miss Darling began her teaching career in 1924. Two years later, she joined the Masters of America and was appointed state supervisor then district governor of Canada for that organization, the largest of its kind in the world. Miss Darling has studied extensively with many leading teachers in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and other dance centres.

part in the education of children. Pupils of the school have been selected for many professional engagements, including radio work over QBM and CFCF, with the Associated Screen News, and Alfreda Wallace, a pupil of the school was selected out of numbers of applicants to play a prominent role in a company last season, and was on tour for six months.

Men Urgently Required In Electrical Industry

By F. C. Raeth, B.Sc.
Now more than ever before, the industry is calling for technically trained electrical and radio experts. During the past few months thousands of young men have been put to work on good-paying jobs so vitally important in the manufacture of materials so essential in the prosecution of the war.

In the past the young men did not realize the great opportunities in the electrical and radio fields and did not avail themselves of the many technical schools and colleges offering such practical courses. That, in a great measure, is responsible for the lack of trained men today. Every year the leaders of the large corporation place less and less emphasis on only book knowledge and demand men who have been trained to do things. In applying for a job today, the young men must be able to give a satisfactory answer to the query: "What can you do?" Generally speaking any kind of technical educational is directly useful in the army, navy and air force. It offers good opportunities for advancement and promotion with better pay than that received by privates.

Two-Way Education
Then when the world war is over and the emergency has passed, the technical training possessed by the young men will be even more useful to them. For the better prepared they are the better chances they will have in securing and holding good positions.

Every young man therefore who is preparing himself for better and more effective service is not only preparing himself for his life's work, but is also serving his country in time of need.

An appeal is therefore made to those who wish to qualify for a good position in either the electrical or radio industry. They should avail themselves immediately of the practical courses of study, such as are offered by the Canadian School of Electricity of Montreal, one of Canada's foremost schools specializing in electrical and radio engineering courses.

The School was established seventeen years ago by Mr. Frederick C. Raeth, B.Sc., in order to give the Canadian youth, who do not have the educational requirements or the money, a

Musical Sharps Flats and Naturals by Frances Goltman

—BIOGRAPHY AND BOOK REVIEW—
It is not often that we find a woman of sufficient fame for our monthly biography of celebrated musicians but Clara Wieck Schumann, the greatest woman pianiste of her day can be classed with any famous personage. She was born September 13th, 1819, the same year as beloved Queen Victoria. Clara's father, Frederick Wieck, a fine teacher if there ever was one, taught her almost from infancy and she made her public debut in Leipzig at the tender age of nine, creating a remarkable impression. Since her father supervised all her practising and lessons, there could be no wasted hours and when only thirteen made her debut at the Gewandhaus Concerts in 1832. Her musical education was looked after by her father in much the same manner as Ruth Sienzynski's who played in Montreal several years ago.

Robert Schumann, who was studying with Clara's father for several years asked for her hand in marriage when she was sixteen, but Frederick Wieck was definitely against the match. The young people were madly in love. Robert being ten years older than Clara and after much fighting between Schumann and Wieck, the feud ended in a lawsuit which Schumann won. They were married in 1840. The union was a very happy one, despite the unfortunate state of Schumann's mental health and it was through Clara's inspiration that all of his greatest works were composed.

It is too bad that recording machines were not yet invented but that Clara Wieck became the greatest woman concert player of her day we have no doubt. She popularized her husband's works to the largest extent and concert all over Europe with tremendous ovations wherever she performed. The quality of her playing was said to be outstanding, she was not just a mere technician as a large number of concert artists are today.

Clara Schumann edited all of her husband's works, a feat in itself and her performance of the piano part in his great quintet in A minor was the cause of worldwide recognition of his merit as a composer. In 1878, twenty-two years after her husband's death, she settled in Frankfurt, gave up her concert work to become a piano teacher at the Hoch Conservatory in that city until her death in 1896. She was renowned as a pedagogue and pupils flocked to her from all parts of the world.

Gilbert Hill Now Westmount Resident — Has Had Illustrious Career— Played in Egypt and North Africa

Mr. Gilbert Hill, the well-known concert pianist, who broadcasts frequently over C.F.C.F. and other Montreal stations, has recently acquired a home in Westmount, where he is opening a music studio at 94 Columbia Avenue.

A native of Birmingham, England, Mr. Hill came to Canada several years ago, and was engaged for a long period as pianist with the concert ensemble at the Ritz Carlton Hotel.

He returned to England in 1934 to fulfill a series of engagements for the B.B.C.

During his three years stay over there, Mr. Hill made a number of tours to most of the European countries, also to Egypt and North Africa, writing a series of articles, describing his travels, which were published in the English press.

On one of his tours, Mr. Hill was privileged to visit the old home of the famous Norwegian composer, Edvard Grieg, and to play several of Grieg's works on the Steinway Grand Piano, which had been one of the composer's most treasured possessions.

At Oslo, Norway, Mr. Hill met the illustrious composer, Christian Sinding, who gave him an autographed copy of his well-known composition, "The Rustles of Spring."

Hilda Galt Dance Studio Opens For Fall Season

Hilda Galt, exponent of the famous Ned Wayburn Method, announces the opening of the Hilda Galt Dance Studio for the Fall season. Miss Galt has just returned from New York where she spent the summer learning all the new dances and she had the distinction of being the only Canadian dancing teacher studying in New York this summer. Miss Galt was selected by Ned Wayburn and appeared in the role of "Miss Canada" in the Ned Wayburn Revue at the Barbizon-Plaza Theatre and later in the same role at the Tudor City Garden Party for the International Dance Congress, which Miss Galt attended. She was also chosen by Gene Kelly (star of "Pal Joey," currently playing on Broadway) to help him demonstrate his routines at the Congress. The Curriculum for the coming season embodies all the very latest in Tap and Musical Comedy, Ballet and Toe, Social and Exhibition Ballroom Dancing, Limbering and Stretching and Conditioning, Spanish and Modern, Aerobics and Tumbling. In social dancing Miss Galt is featuring the "Samba" which is the current rage in New York. Miss Galt spared no effort or expense this summer and studied under such renowned teachers as the world famous Michael Mordkin (of the Mordkin Ballet), George Trainor of the well known tap and acrobatic team, Trainor Bros., Beatrice of the Metropolitan Opera House Ballet, Charles Weidman partner of Doris Humphrey and on the staff of the Bennington University, Beulah Phelps formerly of the Fred and Adele Astaire Company, and Tap dancing under Ernest Carlos, Jack Stanley, Jack Seymour and Billy Newsome Aerobics, Harry Wykoff and George Trainor. ## Jewell Logette Drama School Opening Sept. 9

Jewell Logette's Dramatic School for training in Diction, Dramatic Art, Poise and Public Speaking will open its fourth coming season on September 9th. Pupils of this school had the distinction of appearing at His Majesty's Theatre and with the Lakeshore Players this summer, and Madame Logette herself was recently seen by Montreal audiences in the part of Ameena (Trader Horn's native wife) with Miss Leonore Ullric's Company in "Rain."
For those not desiring professional careers, the training is designed to develop good diction, adequate vocabulary and a pleasing voice, the importance of which cannot be too strongly emphasized. The Public Speaking Course encourages poise, self-assurance and develops the ability to address people with ease and confidence.

By S. B. McClean

We lovers of Democracy and Freedom are a peculiar people. We are faced at this time by the greatest threat that has ever menaced our way of life, and we are displaying great energy and courage in moving to meet it, but many of us are found wanting in trivial things. I overheard recently talking about the war in general. It transpired from her conversation that her husband was in Ottawa in some official capacity and one of her sons was overseas with the Army. But it was not these things that irked the good woman—she complained, and very bitterly too, of having to cut bread herself now instead of being able to buy it sliced as formerly. It seems very fortunate, therefore, that this war is not to be won by doing without sliced bread alone!

A great deal of money is being poured out by the Democracies in an effort to counter Nazi propaganda. This is not only admirable, but absolutely necessary, yet most of our propaganda is directed at the peoples already under Nazi domination, who require little or no convincing of the brutality and harshness of their oppressors, while the peoples on our own continent are somewhat neglected in this respect, the presumption being that they must know how great the danger is. If Americans—and by Americans I mean Canadians, citizens of the U.S.A., and the peoples of Latin America—could be convinced now as thoroughly as are the enslaved peoples of Europe of the menace of Nazism, the biggest step in preparedness would be achieved. To do this would require a bold and unorthodox stroke. It has been often said that if the Democratic world had thoroughly digested "Mein Kampf" five years ago, we would not be in our present position and Hitler's dreams of conquest would have remained but

Well-known Teacher

The eminent young Montreal teacher, Miss Frances Goltman, Lic. Mus., has reopened her pianoforte studio for this season. Miss Goltman, whose success as a teacher has won wide acclaim, is an authority on musical matters, being the widely-read Monitor Music Critic and writer of "Musical Sharps, Flats and Naturals," the only music column of its kind in Montreal. This successful musician, who has the distinction of being First Medalist of McGill University, is noted for her pupils' excellent public pianoforte recitals and as usual her entries in this year's McGill examinations received distinction and honours.

College Re-opens Night, Day Classes

The Westmount Business College situated at the corner of St. Catherine St. West and Greene Avenue in the centre of Westmount is now open for enrolling new pupils. This college is run along the same lines as a private school to each student with the result that its former graduates are holding positions with the very best Montreal business firms, including such offices as head office, Bank of Montreal; Royal Bank, Bank of Toronto, Shawinigan Water and Power; Canadian Industries Ltd., Northern Electric; Canadian Car & Foundry; Nordbyn Aviation; Canadian Pacific; Canadian National; Westmount City Hall; and many others.

Classes are held day and evening. Private lessons are also available for those desiring such tuition. Pupils may enter any time of the month as instruction in the classes is individual. Stenographers are in demand. Requests for graduates of this school the last year far outnumbered the supply. Business men have been calling almost daily for additional office help. For further particulars, telephone for an appointment with the principal, Miss R. Wood, WE. 1885.

CHILD SHOULD LEARN BUYING AND COOKING AS EARLY TRAINING

Food is one of the greatest factors in healthy, happy living. Some homes have been wrecked by bad cooking, while others have been made a haven of joy by the successful cooking that nourished and cheered the family.

Buying good food is only the first step. It must be prepared, then it must be cooked, which are just as important as the first step. Quality, fragrance, color, taste and service are all essential elements of good cooking. That is something of a technique and not to be learned in a few hours.

Learning to cook should begin in childhood where all learning begins. Girls and boys should be allowed to watch, help and finally, as a reward, cook in their home kitchens. They like doing it and nothing in their education will serve them better in days to come than a knowledge of cookery.

Begin Gingerly
Begin gingerly. Letting a child watch and ask questions is a lesson. Cracking an egg successfully may take more than one attempt. Using an egg beater, or cutting out biscuits or doughnuts, or sifting flour are separate steps to be mastered by the children.

Canada's war effort needs skilled office workers and in this connection Fortin Business College is doing a wonderful piece of work in training young men and women for responsible office positions. No matter how talented or brilliant you may be, you must have the knowledge and the training to fill the many positions now open in all kinds of industry.

Fortin Business College has an office located at 5302 Queen

ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. John Shaw announces the engagement of her youngest daughter, Norma Anne, to Mr. Edward Albert McIlwaine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McIlwaine. Their marriage will take place September 20.

APPROACHING MARRIAGES

The marriage of Ruth Haskell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David S. Whittall, to Mr. Archibald Danford Baillie, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Townsend Baillie, will take place on Saturday afternoon, September 6, at four o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents, 119 Sunnyside Avenue, the Rev. A. Lloyd Smith, D.D., officiating.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Catherine May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colin G. Leavitt, of Montreal, to Ronald Ian McAuley, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McAuley, of Westmount, took place recently in Halifax, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Hart. The Reverend R. Taylor McKim officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Gilbert S. Hart, wore a gown of white crepe, the bodice having a sweetheart neckline, long waist, full short sleeves and full skirt. She wore her mother's wedding veil, trimmed with orange blossoms, and her only ornament was a string of pearls. Her cascade bouquet was of pink roses, white asters and sweet peas.

Miss Geraldine Hart, as bridal attendant, wore Swiss muslin and a small blue flower hat, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of sweet peas. Little Ann Grenache, as flower girl, was dressed in mauve organdie, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of pink sweet peas, wearing a small head-dress of sweet peas and baby's breath.

Lieutenant Richard Perry Deardon, R.C.A.F., acted as best man for the bridegroom.

Later, the bridal couple left for a brief honeymoon on the south shore.

Goodenough-Skinner

The marriage of Lillian Annie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Skinner, of Notre Dame de Grace, to Mr. John Stanley Goodenough, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Goodenough, of St. Eustache-sur-le-Lac, took place on Saturday afternoon in the Church of St. James the Apostle, the Rev. F. H. Wilkinson officiating. Gladioli and ferns were used as decorations in the church.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of white georgette over tulle. Her long veil of tulle illusion was held to her head with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Gladys Skinner, sister of the bride, was her only attendant, wearing pale blue chiffon with a matching flower hat and shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of Talsman roses.

The ushers were Mr. Howard Rudman and Mr. Wesley Morris, and Sergeant Gunner James Divens, R.C.A.F., acted as best man.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the residence of the bride's parents, 2224 Hampton Avenue, and later the bridal couple left to spend their honeymoon in the Laurentians, the bride wearing a turquoise

Use Buttermilk To Make Delicious Hot Breads

There are many ways to use fresh dairy buttermilk or the sour milk that most of us have occasionally in our own kitchens. One of the best ways to use this healthful substance is in fragrant homemade hot breads. Here are some basic recipes.

Yeast rolls made with buttermilk may be cut into rounds or they may be shaped into individual cunning braids, to give an extra touch to the table. You'll soon discover that a basket of these goes quickly when served with a supper of cold sliced meats.

Buttermilk Braids

The braids require but one short rising, 45 minutes to an hour should be sufficient for them to double in bulk. To make the braids, place 2 cups buttermilk in saucepan and scald over medium heat. Add ¼ cup sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, cup ¼ cup melted shortening and ¼ cup sugar. Cool to lukewarm then crumble in ½ ounce cake compressed yeast and stir well. Reserve ¼ cup out of about 4½ cups sifted flour, for kneading.

blue wool frock with black hat and accessories.

Mussells-Donnar

The marriage of Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bonnar, to Flight-Lieutenant Campbell H. Mussells, R.C.A.F., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Mussells, took place on Saturday afternoon in St. James Church, Hudson Heights, the Reverend Canon J. J. Willis officiating. Wedding music was played by Mr. Fred Whiteley, and the church was decorated with standards of white gladioli and ferns.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of white satin broche, with a tight fitting bodice, sweetheart neckline and short puff sleeves, having a full skirt. Her fingertip length veil was of tulle illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli.

Mrs. J. M. R. Barclay, her sister's only attendant, was gowned in turquoise blue chiffon with a picture hat of the same material, and carried a bouquet of peach gladioli.

Mr. Lloyd Mussells was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Lieutenant Lindsay Mussells, Canadian Dental Corps, Lieutenant James Thomson, Royal Montreal Regiment, and Sub-Lieutenant Don Dougherty, R.C.N.V.R.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the summer home of the bride's parents, Birchill Road, Hudson Heights, and later the bridal couple left to spend their honeymoon in Bermuda, the bride travelling in a beige frock trimmed with brown velvet, a brown felt hat, brown accessories and a fox jacket.

EVERYTHING CONSIDERED

BY GERALDINE BRIETZCKE

When I was in Los Angeles, it didn't take me long to realize that the City of the Angels in general, and Hollywood in particular, have a distinct Land of Oz flavor. It's not the huge, pale green beams of light that straddle the quiet suburban sky at night to announce a preview; it's not the Brown Derby, nor is it anything to do with the movie stars themselves. It's the everyday life that is so like the Oz books we loved when we were children.

The little bungalows look like pistachio ice cream, or vanilla, or strawberry, depending on the pastel shade of the stucco; roses flame, palms sway, and musical bread wagons jingle prettily through the streets. One pottery business has a field glittering in the sunshine with vases of all sorts and sizes, apparently springing full grown out of the grass; the famous negro shoe-shine boy on Hollywood Boulevard wears full evening dress all day and every day; and where else but in Hollywood would you see a woman decked out in a luscious silver fox jacket over plain slacks?

The Farmers' Market, where many of the stars are said to do their shopping on the quiet, is spread out under one roof, and full of amazing and intriguing merchandise. Not for sale, however, is the white peacock. He sits in his cage, and looks austere, with a tall like a snowy lace veil, and dead-white eyelids.

One of the things that struck me most concerning this City of the Angels was the garbage collection. It is like a modern ballet. Nobody is allowed to wrap garbage in Los Angeles, so the truck looks quite pretty, with fruit skins shining brightly in the sun. One man drives the car, and the other, clad in a blue costume, flits daintily from curb to truck on one foot, rarely disturbing his poise enough to put both feet to earth.

When the danseur has emptied his tin with a rhythmic swing, he yells "Right!" to the driver, and the truck moves on. The whole thing is one long movement, and the truck slows down for such a little time that your garbage tins are quite often replaced on somebody else's lawn, where you go humbly to retrieve them. But who would spoil a ballet?

In our unimaginative way we have cattle farms, and chicken farms, but in Los Angeles they go in for more exciting commodities, such as alligators and ostriches. The ostriches glare at you alertly, but they can't really hurt you with their heads, even if they swoop down at you. It's the feet that count. Iron-hard claws, as big as a horse's hoof, can kill a person with no trouble at all—for the ostrich.

The alligators are peculiar little things, and in a few years they become peculiar big things. They hiss when they're angry, and clump their horrible jaws together in an uninviting way, but they're useful for the movies. Haven't they a picture at the farm, showing Dorothy Lamour, draped in a sarong, seated on the kindest of the alligators? "To comply with regulations," the gentleman in charge says, deftly slipping a bride over the old dragon's head, "we harness Billy before letting children sit on him." Just as well, one would think.

Further Oz atmosphere is created by the sleeping orchards seen in the spring. You drive along through the San Fernando Valley, or some such delicious place, and there, in the middle of the beautiful blooming groves, stand ghostly armies of skeleton trees, row upon row of them. Lifting thin white arms against the green fields around them.

They are merely sticking to form with the rigidity of the Old School Tie formula. If they were at home, they wouldn't be blooming, so they are certainly not going to bloom in California just because their neighbors do. They bide their time, following the customs of their brother trees half across the world.

One could go on forever. How about the doctors' houses blazing with startling legends in red neon

CENTURY HIT BY YOUNGMAN SEASON'S NO. 1

Superb Hitting Display By Westmount 'Star' R.C.A.F. Go Down To Defeat

Westmount Cricketers defeated the R.C.A.F. on the Park last Saturday and followers of the game were treated to a fine century by Youngman, incidentally the first in local cricket circles this season. In his 1 1/2 hours at the wickets he scored thirty-one boundary hits and was particularly severe on Jerran scoring twenty in the one over he bowled composed of four 4's and two 2's. Not content with making a century he made three catches and took three wickets in less than 2 hours for five runs, a good enough day's cricket for anyone. Sweeting was the only other batsman to make over double figures scoring fifty-four not out and was at the wicket 2 1/2 hours. The partnership of these batsmen is the 4th time this year that over 100 runs have been made in a one wicket stand by Westmount. 178 for the 2nd wicket against Verdun, 117 (uncompleted) for the 6th wicket against West Indians, 101 for the 2nd wicket against Wanderers "A" and 147 for the 3rd wicket on Saturday. Eight bowlers were used by the R.C.A.F. and of these the most effective were Thompson and Wall with 2 wickets each.

Westmount declared after 2 1/2 hours of play leaving the visitors 2 1/2 hours to make the runs. It was considered by quite a number of spectators that Westmount should have declared earlier; but they apparently did not know the strength of the bowling and in any case it is not usual to give their opponents longer time to make the runs. Westmount needed a win on Saturday to keep in the running for the "A" division and consequently would not look for a draw. The R.C.A.F. opened their innings strongly and Senior and Thompson put on 68 for the 1st wicket in 40 minutes hitting the weak bowling to all points of the field, and this hitting alone should have changed the minds of the skeptics about the declaration, as it certainly looked as if they might get the runs but apart from these batsmen and Stuart and Paterson the others failed to produce much. The final score was Westmount 183 for 6—R.C.A.F. 122.

Twins Of Baseball Work For Defense

Arnold and Arthur Bredewater of Greensburg, Ind., once known as Purdue University's twin baseball battery, are working together again—for national defense. Now at 24, they have enlisted as cadets in the army air corps and, because they want to be together both have been assigned to the primary flight school at Muskogee, Okla.

FINE OUTING FOR CHILDREN

Westmount Rotary Club Play Host To Staynor Park Youngsters at Cap St. Jacques

A little over seventy children from the Staynor Park district enjoyed their annual picnic under the auspices of the Westmount Rotary Club last Thursday afternoon at Cap St. Jacques.

The morning started off with an hour's drive to the site of the picnic.

Softball games between Staynor and Westmount Park, another between the boys and the Rotary Club members, track and field events, and a horseshoe tournament were on the program.

The boys were given all the eats and soft drinks they could manage, while candy, apples and gum were given to them throughout the day.

Many of the hardy lads even went in swimming for the cold breeze kept the larger part out of the water.

The following are the results of the events; 50 yds. 12 years and under; 1st, John Phillips; 2nd, Ronald George.

75 yds. 14 years and under; 1st, Doug Ward; 2nd, Brendon Neeson.

Three-legged race; 1st, Hubert De Jean and Lennie Chambers; 2nd, Brendan Neeson and Fred Lord. Sack race; 1st, Ken Charrois; 2nd, Warren Prud'homme.

Running broad jump; 1st, Steve Galley; 2nd, Ian Forrest. Standing broad jump; 1st, Ken Brambell; 2nd, Fred De Jean. Wheelbarrow race; 1st, Bob Woodburn and Ronald Shaw; 2nd, Doug Lyle and Con Forey.

Shoe and stocking race; 1st, Bill Morton; 2nd, Richard Lord. Horseshoe contest; Richard Middleton, Jim Henderson and Fred Kail.

Tourney Proves Odds Against Hole-In-One Are 8720 To 1

Three Aces Recorded in 26,160 Tries

New York.—More than 1000 aces teed off in the 10th annual New York World-Telegram hole-in-one tournament recently, and the odds against a contestant holing out with any of his five allotted shots was exactly 8720 to 1.

That is one thing this celebrated tournament has determined—the exact price against an acesing. The figures are derived from the nine-year records of the unique event originated by Joseph P. Val, World-Telegram sports editor, in 1932.

In that time, with 5232 golfers hitting 26,160 shots, only three aces have been scored.

The World-Telegram tournament, widely copied and now a standard event at almost every country club, is different in that every competitor must have registered an ace on a legitimate hole to be eligible.

If just anybody could compete, there wouldn't be enough holes, let alone courses, to go around.

25 INCHES IS CLOSEST IN FIRST TOURNAMENT

Jack Hagen, no relation to the illustrious Walter, quickly became an immortal of Joe Val's tournament.

The portly and affable Hagen, formerly professional, holed the first ace in '33, the second year of play.

The first holding had seen 217 competitors.

The shot nearest the pin was 25 inches away. A repeat ace seemed pretty far away at the moment.

Hagen was first on the tee on a morning so damp, cloudy and foggy that officials pondered a postponement.

On his third attempt, the veteran holed out on the fly, the ball striking the edge of the cup and leaving a big dent in the soft turf.

The reaction of aces was amazing. Instead of being discouraged by the perfect shot, they accepted it as a challenge. The turnout that season, nearly double that of the previous one, started the tournament on its way to becoming a tremendously popular institution. A new high for participation has been registered each year.

TRAVEL MILES FOR TWO MINUTES ON TEE

Though 2800 have whacked

Perfect Shot Is Accepted As Challenge

14,000 shots since, none has grabbed the elusive hole-in-one.

The tournament also reveals just how squirrely a golf nut can become. They travel miles for two minutes on the tee.

Of the 872 who teed off last summer, 90 per cent had taken turns in previous events.

Jack Hagen repeated as champion with a 5-inch shot that led all sectors in '38.

In the decade, Hagen has planted at least one ball in the 10-foot birdie circle seven times. Only one other player has won twice.

He is Edward D. Searle, a young architectural engineer. In '34, Searle brought out a special No. 6 1/2 iron he purchased just for the tournament, and copped top honors with a 17-inch shot. He repeated the following summer with the same weapon by splitting his previous winning distance in half.

It's a lot of fun and gives a true line on just how lucky a bloke is when the ball trickles in for a hole-in-one.

ROYALS ON TOP, DODGERS WILT UNDER 'FIRE'

Tudin on Mound for Champions—Pitches Fine Game—Homers For His Team

The Royals ended their series with the Dodgers in the Westmount Senior Municipal Softball League in three straight games, winning Wednesday evening 15-3. Thus the Royals have won the title the last four years in a row.

Wednesday's game was quite close for the first three innings, but the heavy hitters on the Royals came to life in the fourth, fifth and sixth frames to knock in thirteen runs.

Tudin on the mound for the champions hurled another smart game, limiting the Dodgers to three hits, none of them accounting for any of the runs.

Sonny Prevost and Connie Tudin led the Royals at bat with three hits each. One of Tudin's clouts went for the circuit. Bert Dalzell also hit a home run for the winners. Johnny Hutchison got two of the Dodgers hits.

The Royals now meet the St. Jerome team in a two out of three game series in the Provincial Softball tournament. The St. Jerome team is a very strong squad and in the event the local team succeed in winning this series they should make their presence felt in the competition.

Frankie Mann Impatient, Yearns For Next Mount

Frankie Mann is unable to ride these days because of a broken collar bone, and the Quebec circuit is not quite the same without the sensational riding of the blond jockey.

Mann was injured at the Connaught Park meeting in Ottawa, but he just can't stay away from the rails.

He is down at every work-out, impatiently idling time and hoping for his mishap to heal quickly.

Even though he does not expect to be racing again this year, he's anxious to return to the saddle.

"This is rotten weather to keep the weight down," Frankie pointed out. "It's been too cold. You can't raise a sweat to save your life. I hate to see the boys ride by, but I'm just as glad I'm not making weight now."

Frank's usual diet for a day when he's riding is a cup of weak tea at 6 a.m. and a steak at night-fall with a few sliced tomatoes. This seemed about enough to keep a thin sparrow alive, but Frank is o.k. now.

"I've let the diet go to pot since I'm not riding," he pointed out. "This sounded as though Frank has joined the trenchermen."

"Yes, since I've been hurt, I'm taking two cups of tea in the morning and some bread with my evening meal," he said. He went on, a little shamefacedly. "You know, I've put on two pounds since I was hurt, I'm 120 now."

This ambitious rider is not wasting any time. With a canny eye cast to the future when he hopes to regain his license on Ontario tracks, he's studying the training business.

"I helped to train Mr. Northgrave's horses in Toronto and they won two races and picked up 10 seconds," Frankie proudly proclaims. "Some day when I'm through riding I hope to go in for training in earnest."

When the Ottawa doctor strapped Frankie's left arm to his chest, he ordered 21 days of rest in that position and 10 more before Frankie even tried to ride a fence rail.

"Guess I'm a quick healer," Frankie says. "I took this wing out of the sling long enough to go for a job on a pony Monday, but I don't think I'll do that again for a while. The pony stumbled and my chest caught needles."

Frankie Mann, Jr., probably will be ready to take over the saddle again where his daddy left off.

"The lad's turned six years old," the father proudly proclaims, "and he's already shown a liking for horses. I wouldn't be surprised if he took to riding. If that's what he'd like to do, far be it from me to stand in his way. The only objection I'll put up will be if he goes in for those jumpers," Frank emphasizes, gingerly rubbing his collarbone. "No more of the hurdles for me."

The Ottawa injury was the first time in his career that Mann, who looks like a half-pint edition of the pint-sized Saral Allen of hockey fame in Toronto, ever was hurt at the racing game. His was the least serious of three mishaps on the Quebec circuit this year, but the other two boys were both riding at Mount Royal. "Joe Horvath had his leg so badly hurt when a horse sat down in the starting gate at Ottawa, it was feared his leg was broken. Though he's riding again his leg is pretty badly bruised," Frankie says. "Jimmy Lynn suffered a concussion, but he's riding regular again. Guess I'm just not lucky."

Frankie was the leading rider on the Quebec circuit last year and was engaged with Hank Manifold in a race for top honors when he was grounded at Ottawa.

BLAKE SEWELL ORCHESTRA TO OPEN SEASON

Informal Dance Commences Westmount Hi-Y Fall Activities—Victoria Hall Chosen

This year the Westmount Hi-Y Grads are commencing their fall program with an informal dance. The first meeting of the year will be held on Monday, Sept. 23 at 8:30 p.m. At this meeting the program for the coming season will be discussed and planned. The "Opening Informal Dance" will be held in the Main Ballroom at Victoria Hall on Sept. 25th. Music will be provided by Blake Sewell who has had a very successful season playing at the St. Adèle Lodge.

As the meeting next Monday is a very important one it is hoped that all members will be present so that the final details of the dance can be arranged.

Last year the Grads had a very successful season in spite of the fact that their numbers were considerably reduced by members

Birth Control As Defense Aid

Atlantic City, N.J.—Prof. Jas. H. S. Bossard of the University of Pennsylvania declares that birth control was "an essential arm of national defense."

Addressing the Birth Control Federation of America, one of 60 groups participating in the National Conference of Social Work here, Bossard said that in their struggle to adjust to "the grim realities of war," millions of families needed "planned parenthood."

"Be just" is indeed a comprehensive thought and contemplates the square deal.

JITTERBUG CAMERAS

To further the effect of violent upheaval for a scene in "Mr. Bug Goes to Town," the $1,000,000 feature length Technicolor cartoon which Paramount will release late this year, Director Dave Fleischer ordered cameras shooting an earthquake scene to go into a movement which he described as a combination "shimmy-shag."

joining the armed services. Altogether now the Grads have forty members of the club on active service. However several new members are expected from the graduating class at WHS and the club is anticipating a very outstanding year.

CUP CAPTURED BY VISITORS

Wanderers Win Davidson Trophy—Home Team Dismissed For Low Score

The final of the Davidson Cup was played on the Park on Labour Day and ended in an easy win for Wanderers.

Westmount put together the smallest score this season.

As the game had started at 1:15 and was over at 3:30 it was decided to play a league game that had been postponed earlier in the season.

Wanderers batted first and made 133 runs for four declared to which Westmount replied with 121 the end of the innings being played in semi darkness and the batsmen unable to see the ball.

Once again Westmount had just cause for complaint over an umpiring incident which did not help the home team's chances for victory.

A match has been arranged for this Saturday against the R.C.A.F. and it is expected they will field practically the same team as last week.

Play will commence at 2:30 sharp.

U.S. Ships Food To French Africa

Washington, D.C.—The United States are seeking to counteract German influence in French North Africa with shipments of food and other prized supplies.

The State Department conceded that "trade" with the North African colonies was increasing, but refused to admit it had diplomatic implications.

The shipments will be largely tea, sugar, cotton and paraffin. The goods will be delivered at Casablanca, outside the war zone. Present plans call for shipments of non-military items in quantities not to exceed a two-week's supply.

SWIMMING IS HELD URGENT

Plans are under way for the opening of the fall and winter programs at the local Y.M.C.A. The opening date has not been definitely settled, but should be about September 23rd. The program emphasis until the opening date will be placed on swimming. An effort is being made to revive competitive swimming, and special swimming periods are being set aside for this purpose.

Later in the season a swimming club will be formed to compete with the other Y.M.C.A.'s and sporting organizations. A general swim period has been set aside for boys ten to fifteen years, Monday to Friday at 5-5:30 p.m.; boys sixteen to eighteen, 5:30-6 p.m. The Saturday period will be 10-10:30 a.m. for the junior group and 10:30-11 a.m. for the senior group. The girls will have a general swim on Saturday morning from 11-12.

TENNIS, GOLF SERIES CLOSE, CLASS 'TELLS'

Campbell Scott Winner of Tennis Tournament—Charles Cook Takes Honors in Putting Event

Two tournaments were run off for the boys in Summer League at Westmount Park, one in tennis and the other in golf. Campbell Scott captured the top honors in the tennis tournament defeating Charles Cook 6-3 in the final round of the competition. Charles Cook took the runner-up spot while George McLanders was in third place.

Charles Cook won the putting event held on the junior course in King George Park. Cook defeated Roger Lamb in the finals. Bobby Phelan was in third place in this event.

On Saturday afternoon the weekly boat races were held in King George Park.

In the first heat of the sailboat event Robin Mathewson placed first with Nav Harney second and Ross Hull third.

In the second heat, Robin Mathewson again placed first with John Hagen second and Ron Hull third.

In the motorboat race, Michel Panet-Raymond placed first and Eric McPadden second.

CLIPPINGS
Aviation News and Gossip
BY BETTY BRUCE

The President of the Royal Aeronautical Society, Griffith Brown, is a remarkable man, well over 70 years young, who has a keen balloonist in the nineties and crossed the Atlantic on the Hindenburg. He is a Londoner, but he is as familiar with the United States as he is with British machines, and not long ago this dashing young fellow hopped off from Montreal and crossed the Atlantic in a bomber.

His trip, in the company of eight American ferry pilots none of whom was half his age, was minus the little luxuries which are, one supposes, according to Air Commodore H.R.H. the Duke of Kent, and the Canadian Prime Minister, whose energies have to be conserved in order that they may be fresh for strenuous tour and conference schedules.

LIKE JONAH
IN THE WHALE

Mr. Brewer thoroughly enjoyed his trip in the Consolidated Liberator, and wrote a description of it for Flight. "We entered the machine by way of a two-step drop panel which, when down, made a stair entrance which could be lifted up from inside," he says. "I found that the eight American ferry pilots who were to be my fellow passengers were crawling forward on mattresses laid on the lower skin of the body. I crawled after them, attempting to go between two upright angles, but found my width too much, so I retracted and passed forward at the side. Our instructions were to go as far forward as possible, so we pushed forward to the bulkhead and lay tight up against each other. After the last man was in, the flap entrance was lifted, and we then felt something like Jonah must have felt inside the whale. There was an air-splitting buzz of some electrical apparatus, which I took to be the electric gear for operating ancillary parts, such as retractable wheels.

"The engines were already running when we entered, and now, in complete darkness except for a torch, we lay still and waited. The engines speeded-up, and we felt the wheels rolling on the runway. After a time the machine turned to the left, and then the engines speeded-up and with the old familiar roar we knew the take-off had started. I could not look at my watch to time it, but in less than a minute the land bumps ceased and shortly afterwards the electric screaming began again and we knew she was picking up her wheels.

"We were then allowed to come out of the darkness, and we emerged into the entrance compartment. There were two high benches on opposite sides, covered with life-belts, and one could stand in the compartment or climb up on to the life-belts, when one got a view through small side windows. Better still by walking into the back compartment, where a flat deck gave room for several to stand, one could sit on the edge of the flat deck and put one's feet down a foot or so on to the lower continuation of the floor of the tail compartment. This afterwards became my favorite seat, because it was just forward of a glazed elliptical hole, and by sitting on the edge of the forward portion of the back compartment I could look down through that inverted skylight to the ground below and, by turning my head to right or left, could get a view through side windows laterally of the line of flight. When standing up other windows were available on the upper floor in the same compartment, or by going right in to the tail you could have glass all round you, affording a view in every direction."

Over the St. Lawrence Valley farms, over Maine and New Brunswick, over the sea they flew to make a landing in Newfoundland. At 8.15 that evening they took off again. As night approached and altitude was gained, the aft compartment crew colder. Brewer says he slept at intervals "in assorted positions" till the wireless man arrived with an invitation from the Captain to go forward to the control room and get warm. He spent an hour there in silent admiration of the skill of the pilot, who was busy taking celestial observations with an aircraft sextant and plotting his readings on the chart, and then Brewer crawled back over the sleeping pilots to his observation post in the tail. He watched the dawn break, later had coffee with the awakened pilots at 10,000 feet in lovely weather, and eventually landed safe and sound in his homeland. Of one of the giant Liberator's landings he said that had a glass of water been set up for a test, not a drop would have been spilled.

DISPLAY AT FAIRCHILDS
ATTRACTS MANY PEOPLE

It was an excellent idea to allow the public over the weekend to have a look at the various types of war planes produced in Canadian factories. After all, the man in the street is having to dig deep into his pockets for this war, and the display was an effective way of showing him what has already been accomplished in aircraft production. Also, many folks keenly interested in the machines, their sons, brothers, to make, or to service, or to fly, welcomed the opportunity to get a close-up view of the planes about which they have heard so much, but hitherto seen only at a distance or in photographs.

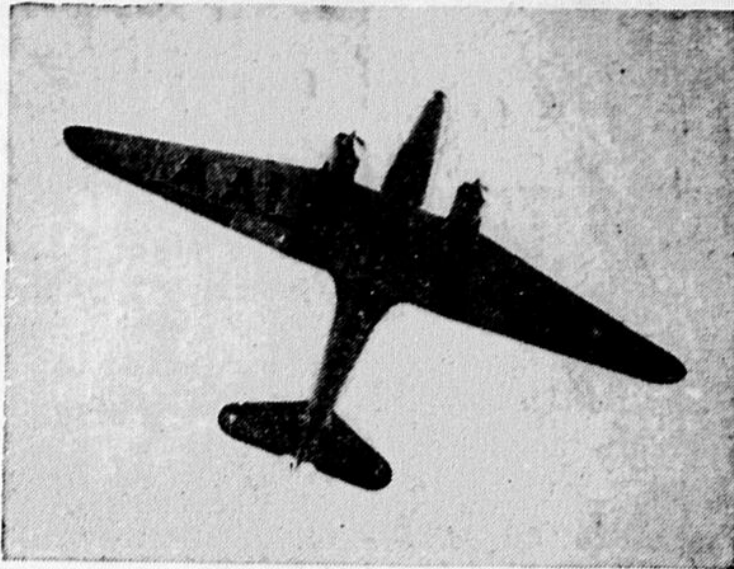

Eleven machines, one of each type of aircraft for war purposes, were handsomely set out at Fairchild's for inspection in the first place by Air Commodore H.R.H. the Duke of Kent; and they made a good showing, especially when one remembers how few skilled aircraft workers and technical personnel and how little factory space we had when war broke out. Of special interest to the Duke was the military version of our own locally-built and Canadian-designed Noorduyn "Norseman."

The explanatory notice boards giving the names of, and data concerning, the types of aircraft, were a happy idea, but they might have been more informative still had they been set forth in French as well as in English.

Many who wanted to see the machines were unable to do so, owing to circumstances beyond their control, as the radio puts it. Take the case of the three little boys who left Rosemount on Sunday to walk to Fairchild's. I don't know their names, but one of them was celebrating his birthday by going to the display. They got as far as Longueuil when rain, weary feet and approaching dusk forced them to turn homewards without seeing the objects of their pilgrimage. They were all set to try again on Monday, however!

the use of the R.C.A.F., the commercial airliners are now operating at Dorval. There will be no military operations at the new airport.

Alfred Hudson, general traffic manager of Canadian Colonial Airways, at present in Montreal to make arrangements for the handling of traffic to the new airfield commented "When Dorval is completed and officially open it will compare very favorably with any airport in the world. It is modelled in a similar manner to the Washington Airport and when I say that there is a permanent staff of some 600, all told, at the field, one gains some idea of the activity."

Visitors who previously enjoyed the colorful race meets at Dorval Race Track would hardly realize as their limousine crosses the airport that the tires are running across the mid-field of the course. But the area of Dorval Race Track covers only a small portion of the entire airfield which is said to cover some nine square miles. The Dominion Government, in building the field, had in mind the future when trans-Atlantic flights from Montreal to Europe and to all parts of the American continent will be in operation.

NEW AIR SERVICE

A salute to the Canadian National Exhibition is shown being given by one of American Airlines giant 21-passenger Flagships as it passed directly over the Exhibition grounds in Toronto, on opening day. New international air service between Toronto and Windsor, Ontario, and the principal cities of the U.S. was recently inaugurated by American Airlines.

Publishers Denounce
Attacks On Advertising

New York—Denunciation of alleged governmental attacks on advertising and attempts to control it was voiced by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in a statement sent to members recently. The association names the Department of Agriculture, Thurman Arnold, Assistant Attorney General, the Federal Alcohol Administration, and, to a more limited degree, "certain elements" in the Federal Trade Commission as the chief agencies and individuals consistently antagonistic to advertising. The statement gives assurance that publishers have no quarrel with those seeking to eliminate false and misleading advertising, recalling that publishers themselves have voluntarily achieved much in that direction.

Attempt to Restrict
"The practices of the agencies in a government, however, of using the term 'false advertising' as a mask with which to cloak a very evident desire to restrict or prohibit all advertising or subject it to Government control have been and will continue to be protested by those sincerely interested in advertising," it declares.

Dorothy Lamour has one of the most lavish wardrobes created in many years for her role in Paramount's "Caught in the Draft." The gowns alone are valued in excess of $5000.

Saving Of Old Bones
Urged In Radio Talk

Saving of old bones as a vital contribution to the war effort was urged by McKay Smith, noted Montreal business executive, in a recent radio address delivered from a local station.

Mr. Smith in enumerating the uses to which this type of salvage may be put, stated:

No. 1—They are used as fertilizers. So essential to the growing of food from our hardy Canadian soil... Food with which to feed our own people and our allies overseas. Yes! Bone fertilizers play a big part in the growing of food. That all important weapon which won the last war and will win this one.

No. 2—Bones play an important part in the preparing of animal foods.

No. 3—Bones are the main basis in the making of glue... that sticky substance which is used in hundreds of ways in the manufacture of war products.

No. 4—Bones are actually used in the making of adhesive tape, an item so vital to the humanitarian work of the Red Cross.

No. 5—Bones are used in the manufacturing of sand-paper, a commodity without which the builders of fighting planes would experience many difficulties.

No. 6—Sugar... yes strange to say bones are really used as a medium in the refining of sugar.

No. 7—And last but not least among a few items I have had time to mention there is also another mighty important one. Bones, insignificant bones, are actually used in the manufacture of that all important item high explosives! Explosives with which to blast the Nazis into that hot spot where they belong.

And so ladies and gentlemen I could go on and list indefinitely the many by-products which are derived from old bones. However, in closing I think I should mention that in 1940 Canada found it necessary to import around $250,000 worth of these products. So you can see how $250,000 in valuable foreign currency can easily be wasted simply due to a lack of the necessary raw material... in this case bones... So remember, save your old bones for in this war they stand for fighting dollars.
