ST JOHN'S—The capital, commercial emporium, and seat of government of Newfoundland. Of the origin of the town of St John's little can be said with precision. Its settlement was the natural result of its position, rather than of any direct plan of colonization. Almost immediately after its discovery by Cabot, vessels in great numbers frequented the island for the purpose of prosecuting the cod fishery, which was found to rival the mines of Mexico and Peru as a means of accumulating wealth. The greater advantages which would accrue in the prosecution of the fisheries from an actual residence upon the island, prompted the early settlement of those positions most favorable for the work, such as the headlands of the principal bays, and thus it was that Bay de Verds, Portugal Cove, Trinity, Catalina, Bonavista, Twillingate, and other places, came to be permanently inhabited. Among them St John's would seem from the first to have occupied a foremost position. Its safety as a harbor and capability of defence made it the port of greatest resort, and it was here that Sir Humphrey Gilbert landed as early as 1583 when taking possession of the island by virtue of a patent from Queen Elizabeth. Even at that time there seems to have been no inconsiderable number of quasi-residents both British and Foreign. Sir Humphrey had brought out a large number of emigrants for the settlement of his Government, but his scheme ended most disastrously, and St John's, left to the chances of a gradual settlement, increased but slowly. Its commanding position, however, made it a point of great interest to nations prosecuting the fisheries, and it was successively occupied by the English and French for a long series of years, and only permanently came into English possession in 1762; since then the English possession has been unbroken. St. John's is situated in North Latitude 47° 33' 06" and west longitude 52° 41' 07" being about three miles from Cape Spear the most easterly land on the American side of the Atlantic. The harbor though rather small is thoroughly safe in all weather, vessels may ride out any gale when once inside the heads. Inside the harbor, which is triangular with its apex to the west, and its base to the east, the entrance, called the "narrows," being at the south east angle, the prospect is very grand and imposing, the hills rising abruptly on each side to a height of about 600 feet, separated at the narrowest part by little more than 200 yards, and at the widest by not more than 350 yards. These hills are fortified to a certain extent, but still quite insufficiently for the thorough protection of the town, which with not a large outlay might be made all but impregnable. On the south point of the narrows is erected the harbor light, burning at an elevation of 114 feet. The rocks on which this beacon is erected are the termination of a high range of hills running east and west, which constitute the south side of the harbor. At the foot of these hills are situated most of the vats used in the manufacture of the seal oil, and most of the mercantile houses have wharves and premises on that side, for the transhipment of articles of export. There is also situated the dry dock, capable of raising vessels of about 600 tons burthen. A causeway and bridge connects the south and north sides. On the north side the hills which are so abrupt at the narrows fall away in a series of gentle undulations sloping towards the harbor. On this slope the town is built; the site being everything that could be wished. The principal thoroughfare is called Water street, running nearly parallel with the harbor, but rather irregular. This street is about 1½ miles long, well built up on both sides with stone or brick, but not showing much appreciation of street architecture. In the busy seasons it is crowded till late in the night by thousands who come from the outports to buy and sell. The amount of business done in these short periods is almost incredible for the size of the town, amounting to perhaps four or five millions of dollars in three or four weeks. The manufactures of St John's are as yet few in number and of trifling importance as regards the industry of the country. During the past two or three years, however, a start has been made in that direction, and it is to be expected that in a few years they may assume proportions somewhat commensurate with the requirements of the Colony. The largest and most important are those for the manufacture of biscuit. There are three of them (one worked by a Company) and each bakes up annually about 20,000 barrels of flour; besides these St John's possesses 2 foundries, 1 brewery, 1 distillery, 2 tanneries, 1 rope manufactory, 1 boot and shoe factory, 1 block manufactory, 1 cabinet ware factory, 1 sawing and planing factory, and several oil refineries. The machinery is in some cases driven by water power, but in most steam is the motive power. The roads and streets are good, the material for macadamizing being excellent. St John's boasts of several handsome public buildings. The Church of England Cathedral, (early English) by Gilbert Scott, is a very beautiful edifice, though unfinished. It cost about $120,000. The Roman Catholic cathedral and adjacent buildings form a very conspicuous and imposing group, built on high ground, erected at a cost of about $800,000. Besides these, and two other churches of England, there are the Wesleyan, Congregational, Scotch (Established and Free) churches and the Government house (costing $240,000), Colonial building, Court house, penitentiary, lunatic asylum, hospital, poor house, and banks. The lunatic asylum is beautifully situated in wooded grounds about three miles out of the town. It is under the medical superintendence of a resident physician (Dr. H. H. Stabb) and is quite a model institution in every respect. The New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Co. have an office here. The town is supplied with water from Windsor Lake, a very fine sheet of water, between four and five miles distant, and was introduced at an expense of $360,000. The country around the town is thoroughly picturesque, generally well cultivated and plentifully interspersed with lakes and brooks. The scenery from some of the many points of high land might be counted beautiful in a land more highly favored than Newfoundland. St. John's is distant from Halifax by steamer, fortnightly in summer and monthly in winter, 523 miles, fare $24; from Montreal, 1076 miles and from New York 1070 miles. The population has not increased any during the past twelve years, owing to continued unsuccessful fishing and consequent emigration. In 1802 the population numbered 3420, and in 1869, 22,553.

COURT OF CIVIL AND CRIMINAL JURISDICTION FOR LABRADOR.

Robert John Pinsent sen., judge; he is also ex-officio magistrate and coroner; Jonas Purchase, bailiff.

This Court is held under the provisions of an Act of the Local Legislature and is summary in its character.

The people congregating on the Labrador are generally very peaceable; but, in the excitement at the height of the herring fishery, disputes often arise consequent upon a system of fishing called barring, which are by this Court summarily settled, and which otherwise might be the cause of much useless litigation. The Court is only held during the summer season, and the judge occupies, jointly with the collector, the vessel employed as Revenue cruiser on the Labrador. The number of cases adjudicated upon rarely exceeds twenty.

DISTRICT COURT, ST. JOHN'S.

Daniel Woodley Prowse, judge; Robert R. W. Lilly, clerk.

This is a Court of summary process, having jurisdiction in civil cases to the extent of $40. The judges are police magistrates, ex-officio, with all their jurisdiction and authority. All constables and police officers are under the supervision of judges of this Court.

CHURCH HISTORY.

The Church of England in Newfoundland has a history reaching to the time of Queen Elizabeth. During her reign the Church was suffering much from dissension, and to guard as much as possible against any injury to the Church just rising in Newfoundland, the Queen, in her commission to Sir Humphrey Gilbert giving him the absolute rule over the island, made special provision that no law should be enacted to her prejudice. Early in the 18th century the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts was established, and shortly afterwards the first missionary was sent to St. John's and the first church built (1703). In the year 1839 there were only eight missionaries, a number quite inadequate to the requirements of the people. This was in great part to be traced to the incomplete organization of the Church, which up to that time had no Bishop residing in Newfoundland. In that year, however, the Right Rev. A. G. Spencer was appointed by letters patent Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, succeeded in 1844 by the Right Rev. Edward Feilds, also appointed by royal commission. Since its erection into a separate see the Church has made considerable progress, but not such as is altogether satisfactory. Besides the scattered nature of the population and the consequent difficulty of access to a people widely parted, and the poverty of the country, obstacles common to all denominations, there has been and is still an incompleteness of organization and action which has hindered the Church in her work. She exists solely as a voluntary organization, without any common bond of action, and without any corporal character (except in so far as the bishop is a corporation.)

A visitation of the clergy of the diocese was held during the past summer in St John's, and the necessity which exists to find some means for the election and support of a Bishop in the voidance of the see by the present incumbent, was brought before them. The present bishop received his appointment from the Home Government, and also a certain portion of his support, but neither will this method of appointment be again adopted nor the amount continued. Lay delegates from the several deaneries were invited to meet the clergy for consultation, and it was determined that a diocesan synod should be formed, to meet for the first time in the June of 1879. This, it is hoped, will give a completeness of organization to the Church, and result in much good.

The clergy of the diocese are, for the most part, maintained as missionaries by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, whose grant to Newfoundland amounts to £4,785 stg. Within the last three or four years the bishop has succeeded in collecting a sum of between £6000 and £7000 for the endowment of the diocesan missionary college which has been heretofore supported by the parent society, and it has now been determined to raise another fund for the endowment of the bishopric.

The history of the Roman Catholic Church in Newfoundland exhibits considerable progress in the face of great obstructions and disabilities, social and political. It was first established in the island in Ferryland by Sir G. Calvert in 1623, and it was not many years after that Placentia was visited by the bishop of Quebec, who left there some French priests to carry on the work of the Church. From the year 1762 to 1784 the Roman Catholic Church was not tolerated in the island, and the ministrations of the Church were only obtained from priests who visited Newfoundland in disguise and at considerable risk. In 1784 Dr. O'Donnell was appointed as bishop of Newfoundland, sixty years before the first bishop of the Church of England. In 1856, at the request of Dr. Mullock, then bishop, the island was divided into two sees, Harbor Grace and St John's, and during the past year another see has been created, that of Placentia. A college is maintained at St John's for the education of missionaries, and for the use of members of the Church generally, and convents and schools are supported in all the large settlements (with Roman Catholic population) throughout the colony. Their cathedral at St John's is a very large and fine building, and with the adjacent college, convents, &c., cost nearly $500,000. The whole organization of the Church, with its bishops, clergy and convents, is supported by voluntary contributions raised in the colony.

The foundation of Methodism in Newfoundland seems to have been coincident with, rather than resulting from, the religious excitement which at the time, of Wesley's preaching agitated the Church at home. About 1776 a species of revivals took place under one of the missionaries sent out by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, which, though originally made in the Church without any idea of establishing a new sect, through the force of circumstances came to be the nucleus of the present Wesleyan body. In 1786 the first Wesleyan ministers were sent out, and in 1796 the number of the members of the connexion was given as 200. In 1800 there were two missionaries and 500 members; since then this body has increased in a greater ratio than any other religious body, and it now has 19 missionaries and a population attached to the connexion of 28,990. Their missionaries are paid by the parent society to which is sent the contributions of the island.

CROWN LANDS.

The Island of Newfoundland never having been surveyed, it is impossible to say exactly what may be the extent of land available for settlement. As far as it is known the largest portion of the interior does not offer the same inducement to the agricultural settlers as the more accessible portions near the coast. Great marshy savannahs abound on which thousands of deer pasture, but it would appear as if these vast meadows were the result of immense accumulations of bog and peat, in some places between seventy and one hundred feet deep, and not generally of a character to induce any attempt at cultivation. It will remain, however, for the future to prove how far they may be capable of use as grazing ground for cattle and sheep. On the banks of the rivers, streams and lakes with which the country is in every direction intersected, capital land is found, where, with a climate far more genial than enjoyed in these Eastern shores, it may be expected that thousands will find a home. To these lands, though, as yet, there are no regular means of communication; the rivers and lakes with which the country abounds, perhaps to the extent of one third of its area, of course offer great facilities for the development of a system of intercommunication, but their usefulness depends to a great extent upon the construction of roads and bridges. Those constructed heretofore keep altogether near the coast, running from settlement to settlement, made merely to satisfy the convenience of the inhabitants without any idea as to the opening up for settlement of the vast country lying inside. But besides this great unexplored territory, there are large tracts of land lying seaward, which being readily accessible offer the greatest inducements to settlers, either for agriculture or for lumbering; these are situated mostly at the bottoms of the great bays with which the coast line is broken up—Trinity, Bonavista, Green and Placentia Bays, on the banks of the Exploits River, and again on the western shores of the Island, over the carboniferous formations; these latter portions appear to be the most favorably situated in the island for the purposes of agriculture, and here the surface of the country is often flat or gently undulating over great areas.—The extent of country available here for settlement has been thus blocked off by Mr. Murray, the geological surveyor.

Codroy valley,	75 square miles	48,000 acres
St George's Bay,	222.....	2,142,680 "
Humber River,	429.....	256,000 "
	726.....	446,080 "

These valleys are, for the most part, well wooded, producing large pines, juniper or tamarack, yellow birch and other valuable timber; in the valley of the Humber this is especially the case, where the timber is of large growth, only awaiting the lumberer's axe to supply a means of wealth to the colony. Lumbering has been carried on here to a small extent, and 900 logs were brought down the river in the winter of 1868, one of which was sawn into 2000 feet of board.

In Trinity Bay a large tract of very fine land lies almost unoccupied about Smiths Sound, Random Sound and Island, &c., well wooded, with capital timber quite suited to ship building.

In Clode Sound, Freshwater Bay, along the course of the Terra Nova Brook in Bonavista Bay, a great quantity of good land lies undisturbed, and even unsurveyed, awaiting the axe and plough of the settler.

In Green Bay the land about the Exploits River and Halls Bay is in every respect adapted for settlement, and is as yet all but unoccupied. The river is navigable for small steamers or vessels for twelve miles up its course, and with portages as far as the Grand Pond on the western side of the island. The country is well wooded with pine, birch, juniper, &c., of large growth. Water power is available throughout the country in sufficient force to supply any demands that may be made upon it, and can be generally obtained in places easily accessible from the sea. The climate of these portions of the country, as well as of the interior, is far more suited to farming and other outside business than that found on the eastern and south-eastern shores; and the fogs which so often hang close to these coasts are not seen.

The amount of land under cultivation is very small considering the period that has elapsed since the settlement of the island. Since 1830 but little over 3000 grants have been issued, containing about 40,000 acres. The fisheries offer attractions that agriculture cannot put forward; the excitement of chance, the shortness of the busy seasons, the large amounts that are often made, sometimes three or four hundred dollars in a month, are quite sufficient to deter from the more laborious if more sure way of making a livelihood by agriculture. The fisheries, however, are found to be inadequate to the growing requirements of the population, and, as a consequence, the cultivation of the soil has received a considerable impetus during the last few years. The provisions of the Land Act are of the most liberal nature, as far as settlers are concerned, and for all land may be obtained by grant at an upset price of 2s. per acre in any part of the colony, the applicant paying for its survey and 5s. for his grant. For the benefit of those desiring to settle permanently upon the land, either for lumbering or farming, an Act was passed in 1860, 23 Vict., cap 3, by which any one wishing to cultivate land may, upon application to the governor, obtain a license to occupy fifty acres, and any one wishing to erect a saw mill a license of two hundred acres with a frontage of one-third on a river, and not more than two hundred yards upon the coast; after the expiration of five years the settler, if he have cultivated two acres, or have a saw mill in operation for three years, may obtain a grant in fee for the amount of land held by him under license, paying 5s. for the grant, besides the cost of survey. For the further encouragement of agriculture an Act passed in 1866, by which under rules to be adopted by the governor in council any poor person desirous of settling upon crown lands and cultivating the soil is secured in the payment of a bounty of eight dollars for the first acre cleared, and six dollars for each succeeding acre until six acres are cleared, when a free grant is given of the amount reclaimed. "In no other colony is such a boon held out to the poor man—a free grant of land, the best that can be found, and from six to eight dollars for clearing it." The following are the rules and regulations adopted by the governor in council for the carrying out of the act just mentioned, 29 Vict., cap. 5, 1868.

1st. Surveys, under the general superintendence of the Surveyor General, by such persons as the Governor in Council may approve of, and under such instructions as from time to time may be given, shall be made of ungranted and unoccupied waste lands most suitable for agriculture, in the several electoral districts.

2nd. For the purposes of settlement the said land shall be apportioned in lots, not exceeding fifty acres each lot, and having not more than 200 yards frontage on the coast or shore where so abutted.

3rd. Licenses by the Surveyor General shall be issued, according to priority of application, to persons qualified by law to hold grants of land, who may desire the same for permanent settlement; which licenses shall be upon condition of the cultivation of at least two acres within five years; and on performance thereof a grant in fee may issue; and to a poor settler no charge shall be made for cost of survey, license or grant.

4th. To every poor settler who in the opinion of the Governor in Council shall come within that definition by the Act, shall be paid from the Public Treasury eight dollars for the first acre and six dollars for each of five acres thereafter of land aforesaid in any of the districts, cleared, tilled and reduced to cultivation by such settler.

5th. That every such settler who may intend to cultivate as aforesaid, and apply for the said bonus, shall give notice in writing of such intention to the Surveyor General, if resident in St John's, and to the nearest stipendiary magistrate, or Deputy Crown Surveyor in this district who shall respectively, as soon as practicable, satisfy themselves of the bonâ fide character of the application and enter the same in a book to be kept for that purpose, and such Stipendiary Magistrate or Deputy Crown Surveyor shall forewith report particulars of such application to the Surveyor General to be filed in his office.

6th. That when the land shall be cultivated according to the meaning of the Act, the applicant for bonus shall give notice thereof to the Surveyor General or Deputy Crown Surveyor of the district who shall record and certify the same under his hand; and on the production of such certificate at the office of the Colonial Secretary the party shall, with the approbation of the Governor in Council, be entitled to receive the said bonus, as the case may be, and for every such certificate the officers granting the same, other than the Surveyor General, shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar.

7th. There shall in the first instance be reserved for each electoral district a fair proportion, according to population, of the sum granted for each year for the purposes of the Act; which if not availed of in whole or in part in any district may be applied in any other district for bonâ fide claims within the year, as may hereafter be determined on.

Since these regulations were adopted in 1866, between four and five hundred have taken advantage of their provisions, and have cleared between six and seven hundred acres, the bonuses on which amounted to $4713.97. Heretofore this Act has not been availed of to anything like the extent anticipated, the amount allowed by the Act being $20,000 per annum, but the number of applications for the bonus this past spring has been considerably over that made any other year, and gives the hope that people are being awakened to the necessity of possessing cultivated land as an adjunct to the fisheries, if not as an exclusive means of living.

EDUCATION.

On the educational system of Newfoundland it is hard to write with commendation; the principle at its root is not such as to ensure thorough vigor, and, being so, perhaps the result is not worse, if not better, than could be expected. The whole cost of education is practically (though perhaps not intentionally) defrayed by the Government out of the general revenues of the Colony, and this without any power being vested in it to compel any return commensurate with the outlay. That which people obtain without much cost to themselves is, as a rule, but little appreciated, and one can but regret to find that, in spite of the zeal and liberality, perhaps one might say profuseness, of the Government in its promotion, education in Newfoundland has but proved the truth of the assertion. The Government having assumed the responsibility of paying and managing, a spirit of weak dependence has been fostered, creating an amount of apathy and indifference which the promoters of education have the greatest difficulty in contending with.

The honor of having been the first to make any attempt towards the Public Instruction of the Colony belongs to Governor Gambier, who arrived in the Colony in 1803. With the co-operation of the clergy he raised a fund by voluntary subscription which was appropriated for the support of two free schools in St. John's, in proportion to the relative number of Protestants and Roman Catholics. Education though, in these early days of Colonial history, seems to have made but the smallest progress, and it was not until the year 1823 that any comprehensive plan was adopted to bring the Colony under educational influences. About that year a number of English merchants interested in the trade of the Colony formed themselves into an association for the establishment of schools in the Island of Newfoundland, and to the Newfoundland School Society are the inhabitants indebted more than to any other cause for what little advancement education has made. They established schools in all the principal settlements of the Colony numbering in 1845, between 30 and 40, and having an attendance of 3129 children, nearly half of the number of children then attending school in the whole Island. Since that time this society has kept schools in operation in all the districts of the Island, aided by a small vote of $2,000 from the Government. Their schools number now, 1869, 18, with an attendance of 2100 scholars, generally the best schools in the Island of an Elementary character; their school in St. John's is used in most cases as the Normal training school for teachers, selected under the provisions of the Education Act by Protestant Boards of Education.

In 1836 the first Act was passed by the Local Legislature for the encouragement of education. It appropriated £2100 for the purposes of the Act, distributed thus: Newfoundland School Society £300, Orphan Asylum school, St. John's, £100; Presentation Convent schools, St. John's, £100; St. Patrick's Free school, Harbor Grace, £100; and the rest for the support of Elementary schools in the different districts of the Colony, to be expended by boards appointed by the Governor. These schools were to be unsectarian in their character, a subsequent Act providing that no Board shall, on any pretence, choose or select for the use of such schools any book having a tendency to inculcate the doctrines or peculiar tenets of any particular church or religious society. This system, godless as it has been termed, did not give satisfaction, and in 1843 an Act was passed increasing the grant to £5100, appropriating it between Protestant and Roman Catholics, and defining the districts for which Boards were to be appointed.

In 1844, the Government, urged by the necessity which existed for a higher class of education than was obtainable in the elementary schools, passed an Act for the formation of an academy in St. John's, granting £3,000 for the erection of buildings and purchase of apparatus, and £300 per annum for salary of head master and £250 per annum for second master. The academy buildings were not erected, and dissatisfaction existing on account of the lack religious instruction, and the general ill success of the scheme, in 1850 another Act was passed, forming three separate Boards, in accordance with the denominational divisions of the population, church of England, church of Rome and general Protestant. This was further amended in 1858 when a separate board was granted to the Wesleyan body, and appropriations of £200 each per annum were made to Harbor Grace and Carbonear for the support of grammar schools. This arrangement (with the exception of Carbonear grammar school, which has been divided into three sections, church of England, Roman catholic, and Wesleyan) still remains in force, though it can hardly be said to give satisfactory results. The following is a comparative statement of expenditure, &c., on account of academies 1849 and 1869 :

	Grant.	Scholars.	Rate per head.
Church of England..	$1846 16	24	$76 96
Church of Rome....	* 2769 26	62	1 44 66
Wesleyan.....	923 08	67	13 71
General Protestant..	692 30	35	19 78
	$7153 88	243	$29 44

And $1267 on account of Normal grant for training masters. Excluding Normal grant.

1849.
Grant.	Scholars.	Rate per head.
* $2029 08	19	$154 26

* The Academy at this time is as undivided.

This table exhibits a considerable increase in the value received for amounts expended for the academy, but still the average cost of each pupil to the colony is much higher than it ought to be; taking the amount which each branch of the academy draws on account of the training of masters in addition to the general grant, the rate per head would not be far short of $47—and this expended, as a rule, upon children whose parents are quite in a position to pay the whole cost of their education.

In 1851, the grant for elementary education was increased to £7,500 and still further added to in 1853, when it was fixed at £7,880. This sum, however, restricted as it was by conditions under which it was granted, did not seem sufficient for the wants of the colony in educational matters, and in 1858 it was thought advisable to re-cast the Educational Act of the colony and still further to increase the amounts thereunder voted, which were then fixed at £10,525. This is the Act now in operation, and under which the whole school system of the colony (if it may be called a system) is regulated. The following is a slight outline of its provisions. Sec. 2 provides that out of the £10,025, £9,525 shall be divided in ratio of population between Protestants and Roman catholics, £5,113 to Protestants and £4,412 to Roman catholics, to be expended £4,752 by Protestant Boards and £3,667 by Roman catholic Boards for the support of elementary schools in the different districts of the colony. Sec. 3 provides for the expenditure of £1,000 for commercial schools in the principal settlements of the Island: 26 in all, including a school for Presbyterians in St. John's. Secs. 4 and 5 provide for the appropriation of £695 out of the grant to Roman catholic schools, for the support of convent schools, to be paid to the bishops of St John's and Harbor Grace. Sec. 6 and 7 define the boundaries of the respective boards, Protestant and Roman catholic. Sec. 8 gives authority to governor to appoint Boards. Sec. 10 gives power to governor to fill up vacancies in Boards. Secs. 11 and 12 provide for the internal management of boards, giving them power to make by-laws (subject to approval of governor) and directs annual meeting and transmission of returns to governor. Sec. 13, the places at which the annual meetings are to take place. Sec. 14 vests all school property in the Boards making them corporations to sue and be sued in the name of the chairman. Sec. 15 establishes the scale of fees to be paid. Each child learning alphabet, &c., 2s. 6d. per year, writing and cyphering 5s, other branches 7s. 6d., navigation 10s. additional, and provides a mode of recovery by warrant of distraint from justice of the peace. Sec. 16 enacts that the Protestant Boards for districts in which Newfoundland School Society schools are established shall pay to the society for the support of these schools certain sums amounting to £500, and Sec. 17 that schools under the Wesleyan methodist connexion should be similarly treated to the extent of £250. Sec. 18 enacts that out of moneys under the control of the Roman catholic Boards for St. John's and Harbor Grace £550 shall be given for the support of convent schools and the orphan asylum school, St. John's, and St. Patrick's free school, Harbor Grace. Sec. 19 gives power to Board in one district to assist Board in another. Sec. 20 provides that the course of instruction should be reading, writing, arithmetic, English grammar, and, where required, geography, history and navigation, and any industrial employment directed by the Boards. Sec. 21 votes £200 to be proportionally divided between Protestants and Roman catholics for repairs of schools and for providing books, maps, &c. Sec. 22 enacts that no grant be made for erection of school houses unless inhabitants contribute an equal amount. Sec. 23 provides that no religious instruction be given objected to by parents. Sec. 24 makes provision for the training of teachers, £400 to be expended for Protestant and £380 for Roman catholic teachers, each scholar to receive £25 per annum, whilst training; and no more than two scholars from any one electoral district to be paid for at the same time. Sec. 25 provides that teachers shall be educated, if Protestants, at either the church of England academy, the Wesleyan academy, or the principal school of the Newfoundland School Society and if Roman catholics at the Roman catholic academy. Sec. 26 votes £400 for the inspection of schools, and 27 enacts that two inspectors be appointed one Protestant and one Roman catholic. And 28 provides that all moneys voted in the Act shall be paid quarterly.

The amounts appropriated under this act and under preceding mentioned acts for the formation of academies, out of the general revenue is larger than that enjoyed in any other country from the same source. The following table will exhibit this in a marked manner :

* State Revenue.

This return though exhibiting Newfoundland as pre-eminent in her encouragement of education, also places her pre-eminent for the poor results of her expenditure. And it must seem strange that with such liberal encouragement there should be so much to regret in the educational status of the colony. A solution of the difficulty is found in this, that where everything is done by the state or Government there is extravagance on one side and local apathy on the other; and this is fully borne out as far as Newfoundland is concerned, for it has been noticed that, according as successive Legislatures increased the educational grant, the voluntary contributions of the people decreased in perhaps a greater ratio. To ensure the greatest amount of benefit from the Government vote in aid of education it would seem to be a necessity that in conjunction with it some system of local rating should be adopted which, in developing the forces of local interest and influence, would tend to place education in the prominent position which it ought to occupy. But besides this "apathetic indifference exhibited by the people to everything connected with education" (to quote from the report of the inspector of Roman catholic schools) there are other causes at work, some of them a necessity from the peculiar employment of the people, to retard the progress of education, 1st. The difficulty of intercommunication through the lack of roads. 2nd. The scattered nature of the population which would require five schools where one would be sufficient for the number of children attending. 3rd. The nature of the employment of the people, compelling them in the fishing season to make use of all available labor, even that of children of tender years, in the "making" and curing of the produce of the voyage. 4th. Their poverty, which compels them to keep their children from school, in severe weather, from the want of necessary clothing. 5th. The poor salaries which are paid to the teachers, and, as a consequence, the meagreness, as a general rule, of their attainments. These causes, and many besides, offer great opposition to all endeavors to improve the educational system of the colony; but it is to be hoped that some of them are capable of removal through judicious legislation, and that others will yield to the ameliorating influences of time, as the condition of the people improves.

Consequent upon the taking of the census in 1869 it has been found necessary on account of the greater increase of Protestants to re-distribute and to equalise, in proportion to the denominational division of the population, the grant for education, and during the past session of the Legislature a vote of $6,133 was added to it, so that the re-distribution might be made as little inconvenient as possible. This will make the education grant of the colony for 1870 about $72,000, equivalent to about $4 for each pupil educated. Urgent need exists for the thorough revision of the educational system of the colony, and it has been under contemplation to introduce at the next session of the Legislature some measures tending to this object. Whatever scheme may be adopted, it is to be hoped that some return commensurate with the very liberal expenditure will be obtained, and that education in Newfoundland may be raised to a position not inferior to that which it occupies in the sister provinces.

GEOLOGY OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

Of the Geology of Newfoundland little was known until within the past four or five years; without proof to the contrary it had generally been assumed as of the most chaotic nature, and repeated experiments in mining seemed to justify the assumption. Silver, lead, copper, iron, plumbago were found scattered about, almost in profusion, but every working made it appear as if these appearances were fragmentary and superficial.

The interior of the island being uninhabited, trackless and obscured by woods and morasses, and the coast often inaccessible by means of surf and the boldness of the cliffs, it became a difficult matter for science to disprove the chaotic character of Newfoundland. In 1865 Mr. Murray, a gentleman of well tried experience in connection with the Geological Survey of Canada, was requested to undertake a similar survey of this island, and it might almost be said that all that is known of the lithographical structure of Newfoundland, is the result of his labors, carried on in face of the greatest difficulties a surveyor could have to contend against, having first to map the topography of the country before attempting to lay down its geology.

From Mr. Murray's researches we learn that in Newfoundland the lower formations predominate, whilst the secondary are also found largely exhibited; throughout the peninsula of Avalon and for a great distance westward from it, it is supposed that there are no more rocks of a more recent date than the lower members of the Silurian system.

The following have been recognized and their distribution followed out to a certain extent. They are mentioned in ascending order:—

- 1 Laurentian.
- 2 Intermediate (Cambrian).
- 3 Lower Silurian to the top of the Quebec group.
- 4 Upper Silurian.
- 5 Devonian.
- 6 Carboniferous.
- 7 Superficial Drift.

The Laurentian series forms, as it were, the substratum of the island, spreading itself abroad in great waves or undulations, in some places depressed into deep hollows and in others elevated into mountain ranges. It is exhibited most largely in what is termed the long range, running from Cape Ray to Canada Bay, and it is supposed that the principal ranges of hills and mountains from one side of the island to the other will be of this system now got up by a series of parallel anticlinals. These elevations with their corresponding depressions point about N. N. E. and S. S. W. and give to the island its peculiarity of geographical and topographical structure. On the flanks of these ranges and in the hollows are collected the other geological series of the island resting sometimes conformably and sometimes unconformably upon each other. The rocks of the Laurentian series generally consist of gneiss and mica slate, intersected by dykes of greenstone and Feldspathic veins.

The Intermediate has been found to overspread the peninsula of Avalon (Laurentian rocks intruding in several localities) and further north it is found largely exhibited in the peninsula between Trinity and Bonavista Bays, and in the islands of the latter bay. The whole formation is intersected by numerous veins of quartz, the larger of which run parallel with the stratification; these quartz veins are often impregnated with ores of copper, frequently of the grey or variegated sulphurets, lead or iron, and sometimes all three together. This formation has been supposed by Mr. Murray to be the equivalent of the Cambrian system of England and of the Huronian of Canada.

The Lower Silurian is largely distributed in Newfoundland, but no member higher than the upper part of the Quebec group has been recognized; this, however, is displayed in great force in many parts of the island. In his journey across the island Mr. Cormick noticed almost in its very centre the singularity of the mineralogical apparatus. "All the highest parts of the ridge were of this metallic rock and were extremely sterile." "The other rocks seen were noble serpentine, stratite or soapstone, verdantique and other magnesian rocks." In this description Mr. Murray sees all the conditions of the Lauzon Division of the Quebec group, the metalliferous belt of North America, and considers that here occurs its nearest outcrop going from east to west. On the north-east coast this division is plainly shown, and it is to that part of the island that mining efforts are at present principally directed. The calciferous portion of this system is well marked on the east side of the island, at Canada Bay and Hare Bay, and on the western side along the coast from Port au Port to Cape Norman.

The Upper Silurian has not been, as far as noticed, developed to any great extent; its presence is indicated in White Bay by the presence of Favosites gothlandica and other characteristic fossils.

The Devonian.

The Carboniferous, which appears to be the highest of the old formations in Newfoundland, occupies, as far as known, an extensive area on the central and south-western parts of the island, consisting, for the most part, of the lower measures of the formation. It occupies three distinct areas, one about St George's Bay, another designated the Fort a Port Trough, and the third Inland by the Humber River and the Grand Pond; these areas are separated from each other by ridges of the older formations upon which the carboniferous series rest unconformably. In the St George's Bay section a seam of coal was noticed by Mr. Jukes (who made a preliminary survey of the island in 1839 and 40.) This has been mapped by Mr. Murray exhibiting its outcrop, and subsequently its position verified by Professor Bell of Toronto. Taking the area of the plane of the seam at 38 square miles and its thickness at three feet, there would be 54,720,000 chaldrons of coal or 1,425,000 chaldrons per square mile. The rocks of this series, as in Cape Breton, consist of conglomerates at the base and in ascending order, of grey and drab micaceous sandstones, and red, green and black shales with bands of limestone, and associated sometimes with protruding masses of gypsum.

Of the Superficial drift Mr. Murray remarks that the facts collected are too meagre and unsatisfactory to allow the hazarding of any suggestions relative thereto. To the north-west of Halls Bay accumulations were remarked of sixty feet in thickness, consisting of stratified clay, sometimes of a reddish and sometimes of a drab or bluish color gravel and sand containing modern marine shells.

LIGHT HOUSES.

Robert Oke, general inspector of light houses.

† A light house fund, the proceeds of light dues paid in the colony, is maintained separate from the general revenue, for the construction, repair and support of Colonial light houses. And light houses are built in those places most necessary, according as the state of the fund warrants the expenditure.

Two of the below mentioned light houses were built at the cost of the Imperial Government, namely, those at Cape Race and Cape Pine, and the former is maintained by a light due of one-sixteenth of a penny levied by Imperial statute and collected at all ports of Great Britain and Ireland on vessels arriving from ports in America, north of New York. The same rate is levied under similar restrictions on all vessels arriving in Newfoundland, but the amount here collected is very trifling. The lights of Galantry Head and South entrance to St. Peter's are supported and maintained by the French Government. A light house is in process of construction at Ferryland, but it will not be exhibited before 1871.

Fort Amherst light at the entrance of St. John's.—A light was first established at this station in 1813; in 1850 a new house, lantern and apparatus were erected. The light burns at an elevation of 114 feet, is produced by a treble argand burner placed in the focus of an annular lens of the fourth order, and in favorable weather can be seen 16 nautical miles. When Cape Spear is enveloped in fog, a heavy piece of ordnance is also discharged at this Fort every hour during daylight, to assist vessels in making the harbor. It is situated in lat. 47.33.54 N., and long. 52.40.18 W. John Sheppard, keeper; Thomas Moore, assistant.

Cape Spear light.—This light was first exhibited on the 1st September, 1835; it is produced by seven argand burners and silvered reflectors burning at an elevation of 264 feet—it revolves, shewing a bright light, every minute, and in favorable weather can be seen 26 nautical miles. It is situated in 47.31.11 N. lat., and 52.36.59 W. longitude. James Cantwell, keeper; Denis Cantwell, assistant.

Cape Bonavista light.—Situated in lat. 48.41.53 N. long. 53.5.20 W.; is a revolving light, showing alternately every 90 seconds a white and red light. It is produced by 16 argand burners and reflectors, burns at an elevation above the sea of 150 feet, and in favorable weather can be seen 18 nautical miles. By keeping this light open with Cape Largent, it will carry you clear of the Flower Rocks; first exhibited 11th September, 1843. Nicholas White, keeper; Matthew White, assistant.

Cape Pine light.—This tower is of iron, built by the Imperial Government in 1849-50, and first put in requisition on the 1st January, 1851. It is a fixed white light, has 12 argand burners and reflectors—elevated above the level of the sea 314 feet—situated in lat. 46.37.4 N., and in long. 53.31.45 W. In a favorable state of the atmosphere it can be seen 26 nautical miles. George Hewitt, keeper; Thomas Doran, assistant.

Harbor Grace Beach beacon and light.—First exhibited 11th September, 1850; stands on the Point of Beach at the entrance of Harbor Grace. It is a double light, as a distinction from Harbor Grace Island light, one being placed above the other, preserving that appearance for six miles, exceeding this distance up to ten miles the two lights appear blended into one. In sailing into Harbor Grace with a fair or leading wind, bring the Beach beacon to bear W. or W. by S., and by keeping the light or building a little on the starboard bow it will bring you clear of the bar, on which at low water there is not more than 8 feet of water. It is situated in lat. 47.41.28 N., and in long. 53.12.33 W.; elevation above the sea level 40 feet; in clear weather it may be seen at a distance of 11 nautical miles. George Brown, keeper.

Green Island light at the entrance of Catalina Harbor, Trinity Bay.—Situated in lat. 48.30.16 N., long. 53.2.40 W. This is a fixed white light, burns at an elevation of 92 feet above high water, and in favorable weather will be seen from E. N. E., seaward, to S. W., 15 nautical miles. Vessels bound Northward by keeping this light open with the North Head of Catalina until Bonavista light opens with Cape Le Jean, will give the Flower Rocks an ample berth—or when coming from the Northward and bound for Catalina, by giving the N. Head a moderate berth, you will clear the Brandies Rocks by steering for Green Island light. It was first exhibited in 1857. Peter Woods, keeper; Henry Roper, assistant.

Cape Race light.—Exhibits a revolving white light from sunset to sunrise. The light will be visible to seaward from N. E. by E. round by the S. E. and S. to W.

The light is elevated 180 feet above the mean water level of the sea, and may be seen in clear weather 19 nautical miles from a ship's deck. The tower is striped red and white vertically. It stands close to the old beacon, which has been cut down. The light house is in lat. 46.39.30 N., long. 53.4.30 W., and was first exhibited in 1856. Michael J. Hally, keeper; George Simms, assistant; James Simms, 2nd assistant during winter months.

Dodding Head, Great Burin Island light.—This light was put in requisition on the 3rd August, 1858, and is exhibited every night from sunset to sunrise. It is a revolving cato-dioptric of the second order, producing a brilliant white light every minute, with intermediate flashes, at intervals of twenty seconds, burning at an elevation of 430 feet above the level of the sea, and in favorable weather can be seen 29 miles—situated in 47.0.26 north latitude, 55.8.43 west longitude. Austin Sheppard, acting keeper; John Churchwell, assistant.

Offer Wadham Island light.—Was first exhibited on the 4th October, 1858, and is lighted every night from sunset to sunrise.—The light is a steady, fixed lens-light, burning on a circular Brick Tower 100 feet above the level of the sea, and can be seen in a favorable state of the atmosphere 15 nautical miles. Situated in latitude 49.36.0 north—longitude 53.45.6 west. Charles Prowse, keeper; Patrick Hollaban, assistant.

Baccalieu Island light.—This light is exhibited every night from the going away of daylight in the evening to the return of daylight in the morning. The light house is situated on the northern end of the Island. Latitude 48.8.51 north, longitude 52.47.50 west—the tower is of brick, the keeper's dwelling a square building detached from the tower, painted white with the roof red.

The light is a cato-dioptric first class Holophotal revolving white light, shewing a flash every twenty seconds. It is elevated 443 feet above high water, and can be seen in clear weather 30 nautical miles, and a lesser distance according to the state of the atmosphere.—When the southern end of the Island bears N. N. E., the light will not be visible when nearer the Island than 8 miles. It was first exhibited in 1858. James Ryan, keeper; John Ryan, assistant.

Cape St. Mary's light.—Was put in requisition on the 20th September, 1860; it is a revolving cato-dioptric light of the first order producing alternately every minute a brilliant red and white light burning at an elevation of 390 feet above the level of the sea, and will be seen in a favorable state of the atmosphere 26 nautical miles from a vessel's deck; situated in 46.49.30 N. lat., 54.11.34 West long. The tower is of brick, and on each side of which stands the dwellings of the keeper and assistant, the sides of which are painted white, roofs red. John Rieley, keeper; William J. Collins, assistant.

St. John's.—Two red lights are exhibited every night from sunset until sunrise, intended as leading marks for vessels entering the Narrows. The lower light on the roof of the Custom house—the other 400 yards in the rear, on a white post, within a few yards of the N. E. angle of the Congregational church, and 180 feet above the level of the sea. These lights will be readily distinguished from any other lights in the town; and keeping them in a line bearing N. W. ½ W., will lead in the largest vessel clear of all danger. To serve as leading marks also during the day, the pediment of the Custom house has been painted white; this is to be kept in line with the upper lantern, also painted white. Exhibited 1st September, 1863.

Brunet Island light, Mercer's Head, Fortune Bay.—First exhibited 27th June, 1865. It is a powerful, flashing white light, and attains its greatest brilliancy every ten seconds. It burns at an elevation of 408 feet above the level of the sea, and in clear weather may be seen at a distance of 35 miles, and be visible in every direction from North round East and South, to W. N. W. Mercer's Head is a bold headland, and situated in long. 55.59.30 W., and lat. 47.16 N. Martin Sparrow, keeper; James Gaulton, assistant.

Harbor Grace Island light.—The fixed light for many years past exhibited at Harbor Grace Island, in Conception Bay, was discontinued on the 1st December, 1869. The light at that station is now revolving, showing in every direction two white flashes, followed by one red flash. The interval between each flash in attaining its greatest brilliancy will be 30 seconds. This light, in a favorable state of the atmosphere, will be seen 25 nautical miles. It is situated in lat. 47.42.45 N., and long. 53.8.15. Austin Oke, keeper; Charles Snow, assistant.

Ferryland light recently constructed. Michael Kearney, keeper; — Costello, assistant.

Galantry Head, Island of St. Peter's.—The fixed light on Galantry Head, Island of St. Peter's, since the 10th August, 1862, has been replaced by a flash light, with intervals of twenty seconds, and by one red flash after two white flashes; situated in lat. 46.45.30 N., long. 53.27.0 W.; elevation above high water 64 metres. Distance at which the light is visible 18 miles. The light is hidden at the northward by the high land of St. Peter's.

Light at the South entrance St. Peter's.—Since 1st October, 1862, the entrance of the harbor of St. Peter's, called South Channel, has been marked by two small fixed lights, one of which is a white light illuminating three-fourths of the horizon, and placed on the battery—and the other a red light, on the plain at the north of the town. The white light has an elevation of 11 metres, and is visible 6 miles. The red light is elevated 19 metres, visible 3 miles distance. The line connecting these two lights indicates the Middle Channel.

The position of the red light has also been so determined that as soon as it is seen on the left of Cape Eagle, vessels coming from Columbiar in beating into the N. E. entrance will have nothing to fear from the shoals of Cape Rouge.

Light Dues.—One shilling per ton on all vessels entering any port or harbor of the Colony, except coasting, sealing, or fishing vessels; but not to be levied more than once in any one year.—Sealing and coasting vessels—Six pence per ton on registered vessels of 40 tons and upwards; fifteen shillings per annum on all vessels less than 40 tons.

The 19th Vict., cap. 5, sec. 5, enacts:—"that a greater sum than £25 sterling shall be in any year levied for light dues on any steamer or vessel entering any port of this colony; and no steamer plying between Europe and any port of North America, and entering any port of this colony as a port of call, shall be liable to pay any light dues or other port charges except pilotage.

MINES AND MINERALS.

Within the last few years mining explorations have been carried on to a considerable extent, and hopes have been raised by the marked success which has attended one of the mining enterprises that Newfoundland may yet become the Cornwall of Britain in America, as pre-eminent for her mines and minerals as she has been and is for her fisheries. Under the Act 23 Vict., cap 3, to make provisions for the disposal and sale of ungranted and unoccupied Crown Lands within the Island of Newfoundland, and to make provision for granting Mining Licenses, Leases and Grants, &c., it was enacted that the "Governor may issue licenses of search for three square miles," giving the exclusive right to the land licenses. Such a license holds good for two years, at the end of which period a grant may be issued on application, of one square mile, provided that if within two years from the issue of the grant mining operations shall not have commenced, the grant shall revert to the Crown. Under this Act the following regulations have been adopted by the Governor in Council:—

1. An application for a License of search (which can continue in force for two years only, and can cover only three square miles) shall be made in the form of a petition and filed and registered in the Surveyor General's office; and such petition shall describe generally, but with sufficient certainty, the situation, extent and boundaries of the land over which the search is to extend; and with such petition there shall be deposited with the Surveyor General, for the use of the colony, the sum of five pounds sterling.

II. An application for a grant or lease of mineral land (which cannot exceed one square mile) shall be made in the like form and be filed in the same office, and shall contain an accurate survey, made by a Government surveyor at the expense of the petitioner, of the land required, with a description of its position and boundaries; and shall disclose the names of any present occupants, if any; whether any part of the land has been, or at such time be, under cultivation or improvement of any kind, and if so by whom made and to what extent, and whether any other person has any right, interest, or claim in and over the said land, or is possessed of any part thereof. With such petition a sum of ten pounds sterling shall be deposited with the Surveyor General for the use of the colony, and the same shall be accompanied by a certificate from the Surveyor, verifying such particulars as relate to the occupation, possession and state of said land, and the absence of claims upon it by other parties.

III. Every petition shall be deemed to be filed, so as to give the applicant a prior claim to what he seeks only from the time of the payment of the deposit money.

IV. Every application for a grant or lease of mineral land shall be advertised by the applicant in the Royal Gazette for one month previously to such grant or lease being issued.

V. Every grant or lease shall contain a reservation of a royalty of five per cent upon all gold and silver, and (after five years) of two and one half per cent, on the gross produce of all other mines or mineral worked on the land, or obtained therefrom, and a reservation to the public, if considered advisable by the Governor and Council of the beach or sea shore, to the extent of 100 feet from high water mark, for the purposes of the fishery, and it shall be subject to a condition that the lease or grant shall be forfeited if the mines and minerals therein mentioned be not actually and effectually worked within two years from the date of the grant, or if the working thereof be intermitted for the period of two years at any time, or if the royalty be not paid; and shall contain provisions for affording free access at all reasonable times to the Surveyor General and his agents, to inspect and see the state of the works, and the quantity of minerals raised or worked; for the keeping of true books of account by the grantee or lessee of all such minerals, which books shall always be open to the inspection of the Surveyor General or his agents; and for the determination of the moment of the royalty from time to time payable in manner hereafter mentioned.

VI. The royalty reserved by any grant or lease shall be delivered to the Surveyor General or his agent upon the land quarterly, or may be compounded for at such rate as may from time to time be agreed upon between that office and the grantee or lessee.

VII. A map of Newfoundland, showing all mineral grants, leases and licenses of search, with the dates thereof, shall be kept in the Surveyor General's office, open to inspection on payment of one shilling.

Under these regulations, licenses have been issued and grants taken up; all of these are upon the coastline and for the greater part on the shore and islands lying between Cape John and Cape Freels. It is in this portion of the island that the Lauzon division of the Quebec group of rocks (which has been termed the Metalliferous Belt of America) has been most fully traced out by the Government geological surveyor; and it is here that the principal mining operations have been carried on, viz., at Tilt's Cove and Burton's Pond. The ore worked is, in both instances, copper, found in conjunction with fine serpentine, though at Tilt Cove, nickel has also been worked with great profit, from a lode or vein, and sold for £80 per ton. Applications on the south coast, and more especially in Placentia Bay, have been principally for lead, and it is in this section that the La-Manche lead mine is being now worked. Free grants or licenses have been issued for the western shore of the island, owing to the treaty rights which the French possess on that portion of the country. The limits of these rights have been repeatedly debated and discussed, but without much conclusion being come to upon the question; for while it is evident that the French cannot possibly possess any territorial jurisdiction in Newfoundland, it is equally plain that by treaty they need suffer no interference or interruption with their rights of codfishing, which of course involves the use of the shore. With this difficulty unsolved, the Home Government, until lately, positively forbade any licenses being issued for that portion of the island (termed the French shore) but a sort of compromise has been affected whereby at present both licenses and grants may be obtained for land lying one mile from high water mark. This is hardly satisfactory, but until the meaning of the treaties has been mutually agreed upon, anything more can hardly be expected. This shore seems rich in many articles of great economic importance, and gypsum, marble, limestone, coal, iron and petroleum await the enterprise of the capitalist.

In Trinity Bay one grant of land has been made for the purposes of a slate quarry, and very considerable progress has been made in opening it up: the slate is of excellent quality, obtainable in the largest sizes, and is described by the Welsh quarrymen who are engaged in its working as equal to any obtained from the celebrated quarries in Wales.

NATURALIZATION OF ALIENS.

On the application of any Alien resident in Newfoundland the governor may issue letters patent under the great seal of the island, naturalising such aliens, who thereupon or as soon after as he shall have taken the oath of allegiance before a judge of the Supreme Court, (which must be done within ten days from the issuing of letters patent) shall become entitled to all the rights, privileges, and immunities, and subject to all the liabilities of a natural born subject of Her Majesty (under Act 19 Victoria, cap 20).

CURRENCY.

The Act 26 Victoria, cap. 18, entitled "An Act for the Regulation of the Currency," provides that the denomination of money in the currency of the colony shall be dollars and cents, and that all public accounts shall be paid, and monies received, in such currency.

The system has been based upon the value of the sovereign, which is fixed at $4.80; all parts of the sovereign being a legal tender after the like rate, and according to the proportion they respectively bear to the sovereign; thus the shilling English passes for 24 cents, the florin for 48 cents, the half-crown for 60 cents, while the English half-penny is equivalent to one cent. A colonial coinage has been united under the Act, consisting of cents in bronze, 5 cent, 10 cent, 20 cent pieces in silver, and 2 dollar pieces in gold. The standard of fineness is the same as that used for British coins, and their intrinsic value bears the same proportion to the current value as British coins respectively bear to their current value. On this Act the Master of the Mint has remarked, that "the creation of a new distinction between the currency of two neighboring British colonies may be regretted, but Newfoundland cannot well be objected to for adopting a decimal system of the dollar so much in harmony with the Imperial coinage as to admit of being worked by British coins, and which of all the decimal systems of coinage appears to be that which would be introduced with least difficulty into the Mother country itself."

PATENTS OF INVENTION.

All applications to be addressed to the office of the Colonial Secretary, St John's, where all documents are filed and models deposited.

The Act of the Colonial Legislature, 19 Vic., cap. 19, provides that Patents of Invention may be granted for the Island of Newfoundland and its dependencies for a term of fourteen years, and of seven additional, at the option of the Governor, to any one who shall apply for the same, alleging that he has discovered some new and useful art, machine, manufacture or composition of matter not heretofore known or used.

Every application for a patent must be accompanied by a declaration made before one of the judges of the Supreme Court, that the applicant believes himself to be the true inventor of the discovery for which he solicits a patent, and that it has not been heretofore used in Newfoundland or elsewhere.

In the granting of Patents no distinction is made as regards the nationality of the inventor, but in the case of foreigners, the necessary declaration must be made before a British Consul or Vice-Consul, and certified by his seal of office.

Together with petition for Patent, every applicant shall deliver an exact and precise description of his invention or improvement, specifying the method of using, a process of compounding in such manner as to distinguish the same from all other things before known, and to enable any person skilled in the art or science of which it is a branch, or with which it is most nearly connected, to compound the same, and in case of any machine shall deliver his model thereof into the office of the Colonial Secretary, and shall explain the principle and several modes in which he has contemplated the application of the principle or character which distinguishes it from other inventions; the whole to be accompanied by drawings, or with specimens of the ingredients, and of the composition of matter, sufficient for the purposes of experiment.

Any Patent granted for an invention previously patented outside the colony ceases on the expiry of the original patent.

Any assignee of a party or parties obtaining a Patent in other countries may obtain Letters Patent in Newfoundland provided the discovery shall not have come into common use prior to the application for Patent.

The cost of obtaining a Patent in Newfoundland including the necessary advertising of intention to ask for Patent in the Royal Gazette and one other paper would be $45.

WRECKS.

For the protection of property wrecked on the coast of Newfoundland an act was passed 23 Vict. Cap. 5. By this act the Governor is authorized to appoint in every district of the Island one or more commissioners of wrecked property, whose duty shall be to take charge of any wrecked property above the value of twenty-five pounds, which may be within the limits of his district, if the same should not be in the custody of the owner or agent or being in such custody, if requested to take charge thereof.

The commissioner has power to compel the discovery of any wrecked goods in the possession of parties other than the owner thereof or his agent, and should there be disagreement relative to the amount of salvage the claims shall be submitted to the decision of two arbitrators, in addition to the commissioner, who shall be appointed one by the owner as his agent and the other by the claimant, all property to remain in the hands of the commissioner until all claims for salvage are disposed of. Provided that in case the property saved shall amount to $4000 in value an appeal may be made within one month from the decision of the arbitrators to any Superior Court of Record or judge of such court; which appeal shall be heard and determined in a summary way by such court or judge either upon evidence as taken before the arbitrators and commissioner, or otherwise as the court or judge may direct, and the commissioner is authorised to pay all awards either by money or the property saved.

Any person secreting property other than the owner or agent and refusing to make it known or give it up to the commissioner, shall upon discovery forfeit double the value thereof, and pay for each offence a penalty of one hundred pounds to Her Majesty and shall forfeit all claims for salvage.

The commissioner may employ parties to secure and preserve property, and any person disobeying the lawful orders of the commissioner in relation thereto shall for every such offence forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds.

The commissioner shall make an inventory of all property which shall come into his possession, and shall verify that same by affidavit, and deliver a copy thereof, together with the said property, to the person entitled thereto after having satisfied salvage or other services, on being first paid his commission and all reasonable and necessary charges that he may have been put to for the care and custody of such property.

Any person intermeddling with property after arrival of commissioner other than the owner or his agent shall forfeit a sum of fifty pounds.

If no owner or persons interested in such property be present where the same may be, the commissioner, as soon as practical, shall publish in a newspaper of the colony the particulars of the shipwreck and other information relating to the property, on neglect of which he shall forfeit one hundred pounds. Within thirty days after salvage claims have been satisfied commissioner may sell property to pay duties, and charges thereon, first giving fourteen days notice of such sale in one of the newspapers of the colony and by hand-bills posted up in three of the principal settlements of the district in the vicinity of the place appointed for such sale.

If property be under the value of twenty-five pounds, or of such a nature that it cannot advantageously be kept, the commissioner may sell the same before the expiration of thirty days, and the money so raised shall be held for the same purpose and subject to the same claims as if it had remained unsold.

Should no person interested in such property establish his claims thereto within three months after the publication of particulars relating thereto, the commissioner shall at the expiration of such time (or as soon thereafter as all salvage and other claims have been liquidated) deposit with receiver general of the colony a sworn copy of the inventory of such property, or if the same be sold, an account of the sales, and monies paid for charges, duties, expenses and shall thereon pay over the balance of the pounds, or the property remaining on hand to the receiver general, deducting therefrom a sum not exceeding five per cent., exclusive of disbursements and reasonable charges, to satisfy the said commissioner for all claims he may have for his services or otherwise. Any disagreement between the commissioner and the receiver general to be decided by arbitration. Should the commissioner refuse to make return to the receiver general within thirty days after the expiration of three months (all claims to salvage being liquidated) Her Majesty's attorney general shall, at the instance of the receiver general, prosecute such commissioner, and recover from him the balance of such pounds, or the value thereof.

If the property deposited with the receiver general be not claimed within twelve months, it shall be paid over to the treasury, therein to remain until the same shall be claimed by the owner, who, on proof before a judge of the Supreme Court, shall upon order of such judge receive the same.

Should any one refuse, on demand, to deliver to the commissioner property liable to his charge, it shall be lawful for a justice of peace, upon affidavit made before him, to command a constable of the district to seize and safely keep the same until such time as the justice shall decide upon the merits of the case, and this decision may be appealed against to any Superior Court of Record in the colony or to a judge thereof.

Any proceedings that may be appealed against to any Superior Court of Record or a judge of such court, if in accordance with justice, shall be confirmed notwithstanding any want of legal form therein, or may be corrected, or amended, and wholly revised only for wilful error, excessive or insufficient award.

Any person being a defaulter in the payment of any fine, &c., imposed on him, with no property on which the same may be levied, shall be committed to gaol for a period not exceeding six months, with or without hard labor.

In case of the absence of the owner or his agent, if he be a foreigner, the consul, vice consul or consular agent of his country shall be deemed the agent of such owner.
