H'don Fair once again big success

Four days of fun-packed and something-for-everyone activities ended Sunday as the curtain came down on another successful Huntingdon Fair.

Visitors from all over the county and many from afar thoroughly enjoyed a full program of old-favorite events and exciting innovations. The weatherman was kind throughout, and President Art Rankin of the Fair Board reported that last Saturday saw the largest single gate in the Fair's history.

From the opening kick-off of the colorful parade Thursday evening, followed by the celebrity milking contest in the arena, through dozens of classes in horse shows, cattle exhibitions, vegetable, handicraft, farm produce and other contestants, the Fair Grounds was a busy place from morning until night.

President Rankin was particularly enthusiastic about what he described as the high quality of the exhibits.

"In cattle, horses, sheep and goats, among others, there was a distinct upgrading," he said.

At the beef cattle auction on Saturday evening Jake Higgins sold 12 animals for a total of $15,000. Top price was paid by Menard Store, $1.25 a pound for one animal.

Only sour note in the whole program was the midway. Some of the promised rides failed to arrive, and some were not set up. A concensus of young critics was that the operation was not up to last year's show, by a long shot. Parents found the proliferation of beer containers in the midway area distasteful.

"If we'd had a better midway we would have broken all attendance marks," Rankin said. "As it was, the number of visitors was about the same as last year."

The show had a better balance sheet because every effort was made to keep down expenses, Rankin reported.

"And we're starting this week to improve things for next year," he concluded.

An entry from Ferme An-

For those not enamoured by the tractor pull, the horse pull was a very popular event at the Fair, with teams weighing between 3,000 and 3,500 pulling almost double their weight in the final class.

Fishing tragedy averted

by WILLIAM SUNSTRUM
for The Gleaner

This is the story of how a 78-year-old woman by her cool-headedness probably saved the life of a 67-year-old man in a boating accident.

I am the man. I live at St. Anicet and often go fishing with my friend Mrs. Violet Garreau of Chazy Lake, N.Y.

We were out in her cartop boat last week when it happened. Only 7½ feet long and with no keel, such boats are ticklish to handle. The lake is calm, compared with Lake St. Francis where I have been fishing for 35 years, and I'm a fairly good swimmer so I wasn't concerned.

I was sitting there fishing when all of a sudden I found myself flying into the water - I don't know how it happened. Vi - that's Mrs. Garreau - thinks I must have turned to follow my cast and been thrown off balance by my tackle box.

Anyway I went right to the bottom in about 15-20 feet of water. When I rose to the surface I couldn't get my breath - Vi said I was blue in

De-zoning bid approved

Two requests from St. Malachie parish residents to use property they own for uses other than agricultural purposes were approved at the August 5 meeting of the Parish Council.

The first came from Marcel Machabee, who would like to sell lots which he owns in a residential and commercial area for purposes other than agricultural. Also approved by council was a request from Jean Marie Babeau to exclude from the green zone his lots 811 and 812, the front half of which had been placed in the white zone by the zoning commission. The back half of these lots was in the green zone because the commission said that they were classified as a sugar bush. However this bush has been cut down for some years.

Other Council Reports P 5

The lowest bid of $4,480 for paving Greig Street submitted, by L. Verner Asphalte Inc., was accepted by the council.

Other bids were submitted by Huntingdon Asphalte Enrg. for $5,510 and Vel Construction for $4,860.

Council approved a request from Reynald Fortier, director of a theatre troup in Ormstown, to form a non-profit organization under the name "La Troupe de Théâtre su'l Pouce".

The municipality will buy lots 699-1 and -2 for the minimum price of $1 from Howard Geddes to finish the end of the road.

The following were awarded building permits: Roger Richer, garage; J.M. Beauregard, house; P. Cartier, garage; Gilles Hébert, garage; Philip Hotte, garage; Halcé Allen, installation of a mobile home, Gerald Cavanagh, general repairs; J. Paul Riendeau, garage; Georges Dupont, mobile home, Terrence Hughes, workshop; Reynald Fortier, storage building; Muriel Fletcher, repairs; Roland St-Onge, pool house; Milton Evans, mobile home; Marinus Van Der Knaap, building extension; Thomas Hingston, car port; Donald Gruer, machinery shed; Henry Roy, garage; Willard Douglas, machinery shed; Gilberte D'Aoust, house; John Brocklehurst, greenhouse.

Expenses paid for July totaled $16,287.37.

At the August 4 meeting of the Ormstown Village Council town foreman Marcel Schinck was authorized to carry out the necessary repairs on the culverts and sewers on the two vacant lots on Adèle Street.

The following companies will be invited to submit bids for paving on Cullen Street; Les Pavages Gaetan Raymond, Huntingdon Asphalte, Léonard Verner Asphalte Inc., and Vel Construction (1969) Ltée.

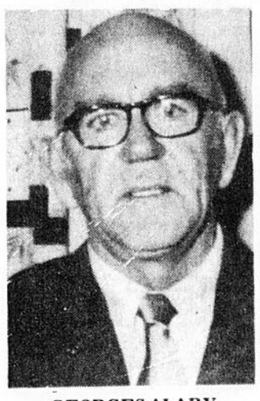
Mo-ped riders injured

Two youngsters riding a mo-ped were taken to hospital with minor injuries following an accident with a car on Rue de l'Eglise in Lacolle on Monday, August 11 at approximately 4:30 p.m.

Marco Belanger, 15, of St-Paul-aux-Noix and Christian Bourdon, 14, of Lacolle were released from the hospital in St-Jean after being treated for injuries sustained in a collision with a car driven by Lise Carbonneau of Lacolle. A second car, driven by Alain Patenaude of Lacolle was implicated in the accident, Lacolle Provincial Police reported, whien it collided with Carbonneau's car at the scene of the accident.

Mario Degronde, 24, of St-Jean was seriously injured when he was struck by a car while walking along the side of Rte 223 in St-Paul Ile-Aux-Noix on August 10 at 1:30 in the morning.

Alary death mystery



GEORGES ALARY

Georges Alary, a Canadian Customs Service officer stationed at Dundee, died Monday morning in what amounted to mysterious circumstances.

Alary was reported missing from his job on Monday morning by the day shift officer who came in to relieve him. He had apparently left the customs office in a hurry, for there was a half bottle of soft drink on his desk and paperwork only partly done. Officers found his car parked nearby and were puzzled over their colleague's disappearance.

Quebec Provincial Police, Dundee Custom Superintendant Donald Fraser and Huntingdon Customs Receiver Aurèle Chenier were called in to help solve the mystery.

The search organized by Q.P.P. Constable Arthur Authier combed the immediate area without success.

The RCMP were called in during the morning to intensify the search and were joined by Canadian and American authorities and Alary's sons, Gilles - also a Canadian Customs officer and Cyril, editor of The Gleaner's sister paper La Gazette.

Getting desperate, Cyril Alary with Immigration of-

Police car strikes train

A potentially tragic accident occurred last Thursday evening at the Consolidated Railway Dalhousie Street crossing in Huntingdon as the Huntingdon Police car ran into a moving train.

The driver of the car, Sergeant-Detective Philippe Cardinal, and passengers Constable Jacques Perreault and Miss Louise Cardinal, were not seriously injured as the police car rammed a moving train.

The accident happened around 10 p.m. just after the Huntingdon Fair opening parade.

Mr. Cardinal apparently did not see the train of flatcars on the track because of bad visibility at the crossing.

Mr. Cardinal suffered injuries to the chest as the steering wheel was crushed under the impact. Mr. Perreault had a scratched arm and Miss Cardinal suffered minor contusions.

All of them were taken to Huntingdon Hospital for treatment and looked after by Dr. Cameron. Sergeant Cardinal is still under medical observation.

Irish outclass Ormstown squad

Ormstown Saracens rugby club found their visitors from Ireland just too hot to handle last Wednesday. Malone who are one of the best teams in Ireland ran out easy winners by a score of 42-0.

The Irish were much bigger and stronger and had a great deal of experience. However Ormstown never gave up and kept fighting to the end. They went close to scoring on a couple of occasions with good efforts by J.P. Lussier and Milt Arthur. Ormstown defended well and the tackling of Swede McLintock and Dave Thompson took the eye, time and again.

The game was watched by Ormstown's biggest crowd and the spectators enjoyed the fine running of the Irish team.

After the game a dinner was given at the Ormstown Legion where presentations were made to each club.. Malone received an engraved plaque of Quebec from Ormstown Saracens and a Canadian flag from the Ormstown Legion. Ormstown received a Malone plaque and a bottle of Irish Whiskey.

The chance to play and host such a fine team will give the Saracens something to strive for in the future. New friendships were made and hopefully the teams will meet again in the future.

Dewittville W.I. has catering know how

Rose Primus [left] and Irene McLean [right] took their turn in dishing out pie and other goodies in a combined effort by the Dewittville W.I. who for the past 20 years have catered the meals in the Dining Hall at the Huntingdon Fair.

by CONNIE SPARKS
of The Gleaner

Marking their 20th year in the food service business, members of the Dewittville Women's Institute have just concluded another successful season running the dining room at Huntingdon Fair.

The group first started out in 1960 with a tea room, where diners could have their tea leaves read by two "authentic gypsy readers". A few years later the Fair Board asked the women if they would undertake serving a hot meal to the executive of the board and the judges. From this evolved the full-scale dining room which they operate today.

The Dewittville group had charge on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of Fair week. On Sunday the Ladies Guild of St. John's Anglican Church, Huntingdon, served hot and cold sandwiches and a variety of snacks during the day.

The project is the group's one fund-raising event of the year so the women work hard to make it a success.

The profits go to help fund the branch's skating rink in Dewittville and enable them to contribute to various community projects.

"We also use the money to help fund a trip which we treat ourselves to in the fall, said President, Ellen Bulow Krause, who has been involved with the project as a W.I. member for the last five years.

Planning for the endeavor begins at the end of June with the formation of a four-woman committee, who allocate the different jobs to the 40 women in the group.

"We try to give the job that will most accommodate the person," said Mrs. Bulow-Krause - "so for instance, a mother with small children who might have difficulty getting a babysitter will be asked to make sandwiches at home instead of working in the PRAISING THE WORK - done by Fair Board members in helping make the event a success, one Valley resident who has served on a number of volunteer committees of various other organizations recalled in passing the "bones" theory about such help.

The body of every organization, he said, has four kinds of bones.

1. The wishbones, who spend all their time wishing someone else would do the work;

2. The jawbones, who do all the talking but very little else;

3. The knucklebones, who knock everything everyone else tries to do;

The backbones, who quietly get under the load and do the job.

BIG BROTHER - was keeping an eye on the Fair midway to help ensure that customers got a fair shake. Two provincial government inspectors with tape measure and rule book checked out every booth as the fair got under way Thursday evening. The height of the railing or counter at the front, the distance to the prizes, the diameter of the hoops and balls and even the number of prizes available were all tallied. For example, the regulations decree that the counter for some booths must be no more than 60 millimeters high. In an instance where the unevenness of the fair field left the counter of one booth 62 centimeters high, the booth operators, before the inspectors arrived, put a board on the ground to raise standing place 2 centimeters -- that's about four fifths of an inch. The inspectors made lots of notes in a little black book, but as far as we heard found everything to their satisfaction.

THE TOWNSHIPS SUN - devotes a double-page spread in its current issue to the beauties of the Chateauguay Valley. Accompanying excellent photographs, Charles Bury writes: "Not everyone gets to take a holiday, but this year I did. It was on a Wednesday afternoon, and I was delivering some copies of The Sun in the Chateauguay Valley. The weather was too nice to keep on working. So with the help of Sun reader Mr. Orr of Athelstan, I got my feet wet under the covered bridge near Powerscourt, where the Upper Chateauguay River separates Elgin and Hinchinbrooke Townships. Later that day, I found these stately cows cooling off further downstream near Allans Corners, where there is a fine historical presentation of The Battle of the Chateauguay during the War of 1812.

"For those who are able to travel, this is a beautiful place to do it. For those who aren't, here is what it looks like."

Thank you, Townships Sun, for those kind words.

A CHANGE -- in the list of donors to the Ladies Auxiliary of Huntingdon County Hospital was received after the paper came out last week. A donation in memory Mrs. Lottie Jamieson should have read "$15! "$15 from Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Maither" instead of "$10 from the McAdam family".

EVERYONE IS INVITED - to a gigantic birthday party at the Floralies on Ile Ste-Helene marking the 50th Anniversary of the Quebec Society for Crippled Children. The gala picnic is set for August 23 at 4 p.m., starting with dinner followed by a tour of the floralies.

ADMISSION INCLUDES - activities during the day and evening plus the box dinner and entrance to Terre des Hommes and the Floralies and is $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Tickets must be obtained in advance at the following address: "Déjeuner Sur l'Herbe", Quebec Society for Crippled Children, 1455 Rochon Street, Saint-Laurent, Quebec H4L 1W1.

ENERGY CONSERVATION -- will be the theme of an agricultural tour next Wednesday, August 20. Departing from CVR at Ormstown at 6 a.m., the group will first visit Colebrook, N.H., to see a windmill installation. Then it's on to Shoreham, Vt., Panton, Vt., and Chazy, N.Y., to see other energy-saving devices, returning to Ormstown at 6 p.m. Bring a lunch.

ORMSTOWN POOL -- plans a swimming festival Saturday, August 23. The day of games and competitions gets under way at 9 a.m. and a big turnout of community members is forecast.

FRANKLIN COUNTY -- New York, is inviting Canadians to its 128th annual fair August 17 to 24 at the fairgrounds in Malone. Besides a full program of horse shows, cattle exhibitions and contests, tractor pulls and harness races there are grandstand shows which will feature Kitty Wells, Bobby Wright and Sonny James. An exciting midway is promised, too.

WE MOVED - St. Patrick's Church in an item in last week's column. We had it in Malone, whereas Bill Crawford called to point out it is in Chateauguay. Father LaBaff, pastor, had reported on renovations, including the installation of an entrance for handicapped persons and work on the tower. Our apologies to St. Patrick's pastor and congregation.

THE KALEIDOSCOPE - Day Care Centre's campaign for funds is richer by about $300. About 60 people attended a supper on behalf of the Huntingdon group at Rockburn Inn last week, with volunteers doing the work and the restaurant donating its facilities.

IN ARMONK, NEW YORK - Toshiba Telecom announced that Canadian Short Communications Services Ltd. [CSCS], Howick, Quebec, will handle its line of electronic key telephone systems. Throughout CSCS's wholly owned subsidiary, Independent Telephone Services, a network of dealers will be established throughout the Province of Quebec to sell, install, and maintain Toshiba's electronic key telephone systems.

MOTORCYCLES -- are not easily identified in traffic and it is difficult to judge how far away a motorcycle is and how fast it is going. Motorists should pay particular attention when making left turns in front of oncoming motorcyclists. They should maintain the same two-second interval given to any other vehicle, and should watch out for lane usage, inclement weather, windy conditions, and condition of the road surface.

THE QUEBEC SAFETY LEAGUE - in cooperation with the Quebec Ministry of Transport, has set up a telephone service to provide the general public with information on safe motorcycling. While everyone must abide by the same traffic laws, there are special situations and conditions one must be aware of to share the road safely with those who choose to use two wheels instead of four.

THE WORLD REKNOWNED - Jacques Cousteau team will be filming the rich underwater flora and fauna of the St-Lawrence River for the next four months in cooperation with the National Film Board of Canada. The filming will begin shortly at Halifax and will take Cousteau's famous ship Calypso along the great river up to the Great Lakes. The St. Lawrence River is considered by experts to be the "youngest of the World's great rivers with the most ancient bed".

NFB DIRECTOR - Jacques Gagné and cameraman Guy Dufaux will be on board the Calypso along with members of the Cousteau's team and the expedition will be headed by Robert Falco, a 27 years collaborator to Commander Cousteau. The finished film will be approximately two hours in length and should be ready at the beginning of next year.

blue in the face. I've had a lung surgically removed, you see.

I must have been confused because I started striking for what I thought was the shore, but was really swimming out into the lake. But Vi was alert and calm. She handed me the end of an oar and told me to try to get over the side of the boat. It was far too tippy to chance it. So while I hung there she grabbed a life jacket and managed to fasten it up under my chin to ensure my head stayed above water. Then she turned the boat and took us the half mile in to shore while I hung on.

As it turned out I was bleeding quite a bit from a cut on the ankle from my nylon line. Lucky it wasn't my neck!

When I got back home I realized that I had learned at least one good lesson I should have mastered many years ago. That is: When you're on the water the place for the life jacket is on you, not in the bottom of the boat.

For the fact that I am still around to learn it, I would like to say a most sincere:

in the kitchen, or, someone who has a hard time getting around will do all the telephoning for the committee."

The group owns most of the equipment in the kitchen. Over the years they have acquired stoves, refrigerators and basic cooking utensils. Many of the W.I. members bring in dishes and other utensils which they have set aside especially for the fair.

As much of the food as possible is prepared in advance by the women at home and kept warm in the fair kitchen. Most of the pies are donated by women in the community.

Before the fair the W.I. held a pie-making bee and we made 80 pies in about two hours," said Mrs. Bulow-Krause.

"The dining room opened Thursday at noon with a hot meal, which included meat, potatoes, vegetables, a beverage and dessert. The price this year was $4.50, the same as last. In the evening, a cold plate was served, consisting of salads and cold cuts for the same price. In between meals visitors were able to enjoy a variety of homemade pies, cookies, cakes, sandwiches and beverages.

On Saturday, which was 4-H day, the group fed all the 4-H members for which they are reimbursed by the fair board.

"The Dewittville W.I. has been doing this for so many years that it pretty well runs like clockwork," said Mrs. Bulow-Krause.

They have not been without their problems, however. She recalled the year that someone dropped a bowl of potato salad on her foot, breaking her toe as well as losing several portions of salad. Or someone forgets to take out the hamburger meat from the freezer or while unwrapping a custard pie, the filling comes slithering out with only the crust remaining.

There are usually between eight and ten women in the kitchen during the busiest hours, at noon and at supper time.

"Of course we could always use more people in the kitchen at peak times because hot meals can only be served as they are ordered and we don't like to make up too many of the cold plates in advance so that they are as fresh as possible", said Mrs. Bulow-Krause. She feels that the project is a good example of the community helping the community.

"We wouldn't be able to carry this off without the help of the Godmanchester Fire Department and the Ladies Auxiliary," she said. The men help out in the kitchen during the evening and the women donate pies.

Also helping out are the Girl Guides and young girls from the community, who give their time to work as waitresses in the dining room. The kitchen at the Barrie Memorial Hospital helps out by peeling potatoes on their automatic peelers and shredding all the cabbage for the coleslaw.

The town foreman was asked to keep a reasonable amount of gravel on hand and new purchases of gravel should be made at Transport J.B.G. Inc.

A letter will be sent to Construction Dauphinais requesting that they clean their property on Linda Street and fill in the hole since this is viewed by council as dangerous.

Bills paid out for July amounted to $33,814.17.

YOU MIGHT CALL IT a problem in arithmetic -- how are you going to get three horses to the Huntingdon Fair in a single trip when you only have a two-horse van. Bill and Janet Carr of Chateauguay didn't let it worry them. They just popped the third horse in the back seat of their car, and she arrived in good shape. That's her, Brown Sugar, peeping out the back window. Oh yes, that whinny you heard was just a back-seat driver exercising her privilege.

Ormstown

Mrs. Jean McEwen

On July 20 after church, Bill Hooker's family arrived with a weiner roast and sandwiches to celebrate Bill's birthday. Heather Barr, his youngest niece, made the birthday cake and the group sang the Birthday song, after which there was dessert of cake, ice cream and sweets. The pool was in action after lunch.

Bill was thrown into the pool, clothes and all. His only lament was that he wished he had worn his older pants. It seems this is a trick to throw you in on your birthday.

However all had fun and wished Bill the best for lots more birthdays.

A garden party was on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Lachlan Cameron, Ormstown, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Templeton and Mr. and Mrs. Earle Templeton, who were about to celebrate their 35th anniversaries. This party was planned by their families, Carolyn Lachlan and two girls, Ralph and Roy Templeton and Dean, Nicole and two girls, Dr. Dan and Cathy Templeton. About 68 gathered with their lawn chairs to help celebrate the happy occasions.

Carolyn made a cake in the form of a book and each couple put the knife in their half while the guests sang Happy Anniversary.

Presentations were made to each couple by their families to which each of them responded.

Cake and ice cream were served and the happy afternoon was spent sitting under the pine trees.

Bill Hooker, accompanied by Lindsay Cullen spent last week in Nashville, Tenn. attending an auctioneer convention. Twenty-one hundred auctioneers from across the U.S. and Canada were present.

officer Jacques Lemay personally checked the American Customs offices nearby and the emergency clinic as far as Hoganbsurg but to no avail.

The body of Alary was found around 12:45 p.m. in the waters of the Salmon River, about ten feet from the Customs wharf, a few feet from the bank by the Fort Covington Rescue Unit. The body was taken to the Huntingdon Hospital for an inquiry.

The body was later taken to the Medico-Legal Institute in Montreal for an autopsy.

Born in 1918 at Thetford Mines, Que., Alary became a sergeant-major in the Military Police, stationed at Huntingdon, during the Second World War. In 1943 he married Carmen Brunet, daughter of the late Damase and Odila Brunet.

After working on construction jobs in Huntingdon for a while at the end of the war, he joined the Canadian Customs Service in 1955. During his career he served at Lacolle, Dundee, Herdman, Trout River, Franklin, Jamieson and Huntingdon. He suffered a heart attack at one stage of his career, but after convalescence was able to return to his duties.

The body is at the Kelly Funeral Home whence it will be taken to St. Joseph's Church for services Thursday at 2 p.m.

Alary leaves his wife and four sons, Richard, 35, Serge, 34, Gilles, 29 and Cyril, 28, and three grandchildren.

were some guests.

Most of the business was plans for the Fair booths, Work Committees were appointed for each day.

The final item was the plans for the preparation of the refreshments for the Grant-Cullen wedding reception on Aug. 23, to be held at the Trout River Golf Club.

The next meeting will be Sept. 11. A salad supper was served by the hostess and a social hour enjoyed.

The August meeting of the Athelstan Presbyterian Ladies Aid was held on Thursday July 31, in the church school room with Rosalie Barwick as hostess.

A quilt was finished during the work period. The usual devotional period of singing and a meditation was followed by the minutes of previous meeting and roll call, which was responded to by seven members. There

AUTO ARISTOCRATS

The automobile business is in the doldrums all over North America these days. Manufacturers are laying off thousands of workers, dealers report slow demand, and Chrysler has just escaped bankruptcy.

The economists blame a business recession, higher oil prices, and imports. But we have another theory: They're just not making the right kind of cars these days.

Oh, those Firebirds, Mercuries, Comets, Aspens, Eldorados, Newports and Dusters and all the rest, they're fine cars all right. But with all their electronic gadgetry, plastics, power options and pizazz, they somehow seem to lack the class of the old timers.

Remember the Huppmobile of around 1927? Now there was a car. And so was the Franklin, with its ski-slope nose. It was just the thing for Quebec winters; the air-cooled engine didn't need any anti-freeze.

And how about the Essex, which looked rather like a coffin on four wheels. At the beginning of the 1920s it began to push the touring car off the road.

If you were a bootlegger or a tycoon [sometimes the same thing], you probably drove a 12-cylinder Packard, a twin six. You could always tell them by the red hub-caps.

And the Model T. Henry Ford said his customers could have it in any color they wished as long as it was black.

Four-on-the-floor is supposed to be very modern and sporty these days. Remember when all cars, except the Model T, had four-on-the-floor? And running boards; bank robbers and lawmen needed them to stand on for shootouts.

The McLaughlin-Buick was always known as a doctor's car, respectable and reliable. But a Willys-Knight was a pretty good machine, too, and so was a Durant and a Gray Dort and a Studebaker and an Oakland.

Nor did you have to mortgage the farm to buy one of the old-timers. In 1928 you could get a new Whippet Six for $915. It did 25 miles to the gallon, and would go more than 60 miles an hour!

Now if any of our Valley car dealers has a good used Stanley Steamer on his lot, we'd be interested.

GREENER PASTURES

Some recent figures from Statistics Canada are at least part of the answer to the question of why so many Valley youngsters leave home.

We all know of young people who have taken off for other provinces as soon as they finished school, or sometimes before.

They're seeking greener pastures.

Farming is the paramount industry in our region, and the latest government figures show Quebec farm wages are the lowest in Canada. The average hourly rate in this province, including board, is $3.23, while the average for British Columbia, for example, is $4.80.

Of course not every young person wants to work on a farm; farming anywhere is not where the big money is. Average monthly farming wage in Canada, including board, is $663. A bright youngster with some mechanical skill can double this or more in the oilfields of Alberta.

Notice that "with some mechanical skill", though. High school dropouts who can drive a pickup are a dime a dozen anywhere. The smart thing to do is to learn at least the rudiments of a trade before you start out to seek fame and fortune. It just could save the embarrassement of having to phone the folks to please send railway fare home.

Former Valley residents welcome friends to West

It was a year ago July 28 that we arrived in Alberta and settled in Innisfail. A wonderful place about the size of Huntingdon, an hour's drive from the Rocky Mountains.

We enjoy getting The Gleaner although it is usually 3 weeks to a month late, but old news is good news to us.

We have had quite a few visitors from Huntingdon in the past year. To name some (last summer) Jim Greenband, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie, (Dundee); my father-in-law for Christmas from Montreal, Ruth Greenbank at New Year's.

And in July (this year) Harold and Ronald Over from Montreal, Ray and Germaine Clark, also Roland and Carol Greenbank. My brother Leslie spent 10 days here also. Ian Thurston spent a few days here with us looking for work.

And on Sunday, July 27, we had a surprise visit from Emiline Monique with her daughter JoAnne.

We enjoy having our friends come to see us - keep on coming.

Sincerely
John Donnelly
Innisfail, Alta.

Que. Young Farmers grateful for Gleaner co-operation

On behalf of Ann Louise Carson and myself, I would like to thank The Gleaner for their co-operation in our production of the Quebec Young Farmers Newspreader.

The photograph you so kindly lent us was most helpful and we appreciate the special treatment you gave us. We were pleased with our first attempt at a printed paper and although there is room for improvement, we feel that it was a successful endeavor.

The Gleaner is always helpful to us and we hope that you feel free to ask for our assistance in any area that we can return the favors.

Thank you once again for your interest in the Quebec Young Farmers.

Work with teenagers told to Howick W.I.

by Rhoda McFarlane
for The Gleaner

The attendance at the August 5 meeting of the Howick W.I. was smaller than usual because several members were away on vacations. Those who were present enjoyed the inspiring taped address of Father Larré, a priest from the Regina Home for teenagers with problems.

Through the generosity of Ann Robertson of Hemmingford, who brought her tape of the Father's speech at the Conference in Saskatoon, we were able to hear an amazing account of the troubled lives of many teenagers. Father Larré titled his address "God's Greatest Gift". The words on the tape touched all our hearts and the challenge rang out to all of us to bring love back into the world, and especially into the lives of the children.

Because it was holiday time, we were able to enjoy Cathy Woods being with us. With her guitar, she led us in a lively sing-song of some good old favorites. We hope we can persuade her to come again.

Refreshments were served by the Chateauguay River ladies under the convener, Grace Brown. Chilled fruit punch - a tantalizing array of sandwich plates, relish trays and hors d'oeuvres were enjoyed by all - attractive to the eye as well as the palate.

The Roll Call - What Do I Want the Public to Know about W.I.? brought many interesting answers as each member reflected on what phase of W.I. should be publicized. Some of the replies were: It is a group of women who are very congenial, where each one has a part to play; you meet others you do not normally see; it is open to all; it is non-racial and interdenominational; the programs are varied; the projects are worthwhile; it is a learning fellowship.

The president read a card from Isabel Templeton who is in Colorado at a seminar. Continuing our presentation of Famous Canadian Women, Marna Brown drew our attention to Dr. Emily Howard Stowe - the first woman doctor in Canada.

The business of the meeting dealt with our preparation of our history, the Seed Fair Aug. 20, Park Benches, the wool for Can-Save knitting and plans for "Luncheon Out" in September.

Conveners' Reports

Welfare and Health - Janet Elliot reported on the crippling effect of high heels on women's feet. According to Dr. Jones, high heels mangle feet, causing sore feet, bunions, muscle pains, sore backs, sprains and even breaks. The second item was stop nibbling between meals, taken from the Magazine "Canadian Living".

Home Economics - Leslie Bonner showed a chart with some beautiful, old English castles - in all their splendor, but commented that many are so big and so expensive to heat and keep up that the owners are in deep debt. The alternative could be found in new types of homes - two of which were shown - one in Britain known as the Foam Dome Home - and others in Egypt where the government makes it compulsory for any new house to incorporate some form of solar energy to heat water.

The president thanked the luncheon hostess, Grace Brown and her assistant, Hazel Robertson, for the refreshments.

C.H. Smith dead at Hemmingford

A well-known resident of Hemmingford, Charles Henry Smith, died Saturday, July 19.

Born on April 10, 1889, he was the eldest of six sons born to Eliza Jane Kyle and William Smith of Roxham. He farmed successfully at Roxham until 1948 when he sold his farm to Robert Akester and moved to Hemmingford village, residing on Champlain Street. After selling his farm he was very discontented at having nothing to occupy his time so he went to work for Charles Barr in the apple orchard where he spent 16 years.

His first wife, Eunice Norris from Granby, Quebec, predeceased him 18 years ago. In 1967 he married Ethel Sample McNaughton and they had thirteen happy years together.

Charlie, as he was familiarly known, was a good husband and neighbor, always concerned about the well-being of others. Although crippled he walked down to the Post Office for his mail every day until two months before he died. He will be greatly missed.

The funeral service was held at St. Andrew's United Church in Hemmingford on Tuesday, July 22. Mr. Christie officiated and his short but moving sermon was much appreciated by the family and friends. Mrs. Pat Edwards sang 'Amazing Grace' and the Choir and congregation joined in the singing of Charlie's favorite hymn 'What a friend we have in Jesus'. Arnold McNaughton was the organist. The interment was in the Hemmingford Cemetery and the pallbearers were Dave Hughes, Lynwood Cookman, Wilmer Sample, Charles Barr, Ross Smith and Reggie Smith.

Jacques Rémillard of Ormstown dead

Well-known yachtsman and Ormstown political figure Jacques Rémillard died last Sunday at the wheel of his boat while taking part in a Beauharnois regatta.

Rémillard, who was 37, died of a heart attack while competing in the second event of the day, the "280" race. Before, that he had taken part in the Grand Prix event and had confided to a fellow racer that he "felt tired".

He was rounding the second turn in the circuit as he slumped over his steering wheel. Although help was rushed on the scene and every effort was made at resuscitation, he was declared dead upon arrival at the Valleyfield Hospital.

Rémillard, who had been competing in boat races in many areas for some 25 years had won the Grand Prix in Cocagne, New Brunswick, the previous Sunday. Just before he collapsed he was running second in the Beauharnois event.

In addition to being a well-known and well-liked sportsman, Rémillard was also involved in municipal and school politics in Ormstown and the area. At the last school commission election he had been defeated by Jean-Paul Chantigny for a post on the Huntingdon School Commission.

He was a barber by trade in Ormstown and his yachting colleagues referred to him in a friendly way as "Ti-Poil".

Real estate tax refund

The Minister of Revenue, Michel Clair, announced this week that applications for real estate tax refunds, for the year 1979, can now be forwarded to his department up to September 1 next.

The Minister in making the announcement, said he wished to attract the greatest number of possible applicants for the first year of the program. He recalled that the program applies to persons who were living in a dwelling in Quebec on December 31, 1979, either as owners or lessees, and is intended to ensure that they receive a refund of 40 percent of the municipal and school real estate taxes which they assumed (without exceeding $1000), subject to an adjustment relative to such person's income as well as that of their spouse.

To date, over $52,000,000 has been paid out to 471,000 individuals for an average of $111 per beneficiary.

Mr. Clair, in granting this delay, said he wished to see that the numerous senior citizens, born before 1914, who previously claimed a refund of school real estate taxes under the Social Affairs Department Act and failed to return schedule 15 of their 1979 Income Tax Return to the Department would not be at a disadvantage under this new program.

The Minister, drew their attention to the fact that the amount of their refund for this year cannot be lower than what they or their spouse received as a refund of school real estate taxes for the fiscal period 1978-79. He therefore encouraged them to complete the required schedule 15 as well as their 1979 Income Tax Return if they have not already done so.

Beneficiaries can obtain all the information they require from Revenu Québec.

Council meeting

Elgin finalizes plans for anniversary fete

The final schedule for the 125th Anniversary activities for the municipality of Elgin, August 17 was presented by the organizing committee at the August 4 Council meeting.

Ceremonies will start at 11 a.m. in front of the municipal hall with MNA Claude Dubois officiating, to be followed by bicycle races at 12.15 p.m. Departing from the same place. A picnic at Gavin field will get under way at 12:30 p.m. Council warned those attending that the municipality will not be responsible for accidents or damages that could result from the festivities.

A dance on Oct. 4 at the Trout River Golf Club featuring the Country Cats was also decided upon. Total expenditures for the anniversary celebrations will be between $1,200 and $1,500.

After having contacted different levels of government regarding the corporation's responsibility for ditching in the municipality, the Mayor reported that road ditches only need to be done if it is necessary to drain the road and not the properties adjacent to it. Residents are prohibited from filling municipal ditches, and requests for ditching work must be made before Feb. 1 if it is to be completed in the same fiscal year

Building inspector Peter Partridge has been asked to inspect two properties in the municipality to check for any unauthorized buildings which may have gone up since the new zoning law came into effect. The corporation intends to take a firm stand on such matters since it can be held liable by the Zoning Commission.

The secretary was authorized to make a request to the National Arts Council of Canada and the National Historical Society for grants to help fund a booklet on the history of Elgin for its 125th anniversary. The booklet would be bilingual and be given free to the residents of Elgin, with the surplus sold at the different local fairs.

The council passed a resolution asking the Bibliotheque Central de Prêts, a government organization which helps fund municipal libraries, to continue their support of the Little Green Library in Huntingdon, which serves the municipality of Elgin very well.

A new taxation and collection system will be implemented by the corporation to comply with the revised tax law, so residents will receive a new form for their tax bill this year.

A notice of motion was given by Councillor Roger Bergevin concerning a by-law on ditching in the DeMartin watercourse. Another notice of motion on the same issue but for the DeVries watercourse was presented by Alain Leduc.

Rural inspector Henry Bonenberg was authorized to buy all the necessary material needed for winter works for the municipal garage. Bonenberg informed council that in the fall of 1980 he plans to organize a volunteer work crew to clean up the private cemetery, which is over 150 years old, on the property of William Howieson.

Raymond Hampson has been hired on a trial basis to clean the municipal dump at a rate of $25 per hour.

Bills for July totalled approximately $1,000.

Rebuilding of roads requested

At the August 4 meeting of the Township of Hemmingford Council it was decided to sent a request to the Department of Transport to have the Back Bush Road and the School Road rebuilt since they are both in very bad condition.

Council will also ask the Ormstown Department of Transport to cut the grass and bush along the side of Rte. 202 and Rte. 219 as soon as possible.

A letter was read from the city of Valleyfield asking the municipality to attend a meeting concerning the building of a new bridge on the seaway. With the bridge out at St-Louis-de-Gonzague for several months leaving only the bridge on Larocque Road as a connection between Valley municipalities and Valleyfield, the city would like to do something now should an accident occur on the Larocque bridge.

Expenses for the month of July totaled $2,852.

At their August meeting the Hemmingford Village Council agreed that the Hemmingford Co-op should supply the furnace oil for the 1980-81 season.

The council authorized the cleaning of the municipal septic tank.

Bills paid for July amounted to $8,233.16.

Howick Village

Public housing budget passes

At the August 4 meeting of the Village of Howick Council the Howick Municipal Housing Bureau was authorized to administer the low-cost housing project. The council agreed to make a request to the Quebec Housing Bureau for subsidies to help pay for the cost of this project.

The budget as presented by the Municipal Housing Bureau for the period July 1 to Dec. 31, 1980 was approved by the council.

In compliance with article 264 of law 57 on fiscal policy, Les Estimateurs Professionnels Leroux-Beaudry-Picard and Ass. Inc., who have been hired to do the evaluation roll, will also be asked to supply with the roll an average and a relative comparison of the roll, to be completed before Sept. 15. The firm will be hired at an hourly rate and the maximum cost of the entire job is estimated at $200.

The secretary will inform Léonidas Péladeau that they are not in a position to intervene in a dispute between Péladeau and Brospec Ltée. Péladeau had sent a letter to council complaining about a road measuring 33 feet wide which Brospec had made and is inconveniencing him. Council claims that since the road is a private one, they are unable to take any action.

Faubert and Vinet of Ste-Martine have been hired to clean the municipal streets for the month of August.

Building permits were awarded to William Gordon for a porch and Pierre Aimé Slevan for an extension on a garage.

The weekly salary for Alain Poirier was set at $200.

Très Saint-Sacrement

Council backs zoning changes

At the August 5 meeting of the Très Saint-Sacrement Council four requests for a change in zoning status were approved by the council, which agreed to send these demands along with recommendations to the zoning commission.

The requests were made by Lucien Billette, to divide a piece of property into lots; Adrien Laroche, for the same; Merrill Tannahill, to have a piece of land removed from the agricultural zone and for permission to use it for purposes other than farming; Jean Charles Beaulieu, for removal from the green zone.

The Parish estimates that the work done by Les Estimateurs Professionnels Leroux, Beaudry, Picard and Ass. Inc. will cost about $250 to complete the evaluation roll.

The municipality will submit two requests to the Minister of Transport, one for the paving of Tullochgorum Road, the other for blacktopping on Fertile Creek Road.

Mayor Donald Templeton will meet with Mrs. J.G. Marcil of St-Louis-de-Gonzague to discuss conditions for picking up stray dogs and submit a report at the Sept. 2 council meeting.

The following people were awarded building permits by building inspector Donald Blanchette: John Ledderhoff, single family dwelling; Lorne Simms, corn crib; John Rainforth, home extension; Robert Ness, corn crib; Gordon Tannahill, corn crib and silo; David Mitchell, sun room; Adrien Laroche, single family dwelling; Donald McKell, silo; Billette et Frères, silo; Robert Brown, solar home.

Franklin seeks low-cost homes

The municipality of Franklin will soon begin negotiations with the Quebec Housing Bureau to obtain permission to turn certain buildings now part of the Dorea complex into a low-cost housing project, it was decided at the August 4 council meeting of that municipality.

Three or four small apartments normally rented out to Dorea personnel are now vacant and the Town Council feels that the municipality could put them to good use.

Wilfred Huet and Peter Ednie have been appointed by the council to supervise the construction of the new municipal garage.

A municipal census will be taken, the date to be announced at a future meeting.

Tenders will be called for truck drivers for snow clearance this winter and also for cleaning of the sidewalks.

A $3,000 grant from the Minister of Transport will be used to put blacktop on Cassidy Road.

Hydro will install two lights on Rte. 209 at the east end of the village. The council approved the cost of repairs on the snow removal truck.

Bills paid for July totalled $13,061.40.

Building permits required

The municipality of Godmanchester will make a public announcement informing residents that building permits are required for all construction projects, including swimming pools, it was decided at the August Council meeting.

A letter from Dr. Gaw was read concerning four sheep which had been killed on the farm of Hugh Sutherland. Dr. Gaw certified that the sheep had indeed been killed by dogs as claimed by Sutherland.

Eugene Rhorback and Albert Deschamps asked that lights be put up on Bergeron Street and on the Ridge Road.

A request for road signs on Rang 4 came from Roger Goyer. The council agreed to check on road signs and replace those missing or damaged.

Claude Rancourt was given a building permit to build a garage.

Hugh McColm attended the meeting to discuss the purchase of land by the council with the view of improving the visibility at the curve on the New Erin Road and the Teafield.

Fair visitors enjoyed the fine display of knitting, crocheting, sewing, quilting and various other handicrafts in the new Industrial Building at the Fair.

André, Ormstown, turned out to be the winning float by a narrow margin over the effort of the Huntingdon 4H Club in the opening parade Thursday. The Huntingdon Summer School captured third place, and fourth and fifth, respectively went to the Townships of Elgin and Hinchinbrooke for floats drawing attention to their 125th anniversary celebrations.

David Joly and Huntingdon Car Wash took the awards in the "mini-float" category. The best decorated bikes were entered by Toby Beare, Genevieve Raymond, Helene Vallee, Christopher Fournier, Sherry White and Chris Brooks.

The Celebrity Milking Contest was undoubtedly the highlight of the opening evening. Concensus of the enthusiastic crowd was that the participants may have been celebrities, but they certainly weren't milkers. Most of them didn't get enough juice out of their bossies -- four Ayrshires and eight Holsteins -- to put in a cup of coffee.

Liberal Leader Claude Ryan had the Number One spot in the milking line, but, based on the results, he's likely to be sent down to the minors next year unless his production improves.

Mr. Ryan doffed his jacket and took a professional-looking pose on his milking stool.

He tried the north-end taps, and then those at the south, but they all seemed to be empty desite a prize-winning milk container on his animal. He finished the one-minute period given the contestants with a sort of diagonal flourish. He was awarded an A for effort, and hismilking stool as a prize.

As was onlyfitting for the MNA for a milk-producing county, Claude Dubois was declared the winner on a volume basis. Mayor Gerald Brisebois of Huntingdon was third by about half an eggcup full.

Retired hockey player Donnie Marshall would have done better but was given a two-minute penalty for having a fly in his bucket, thus considerably increasing the weight of his production. Madame Marcelle Trepanier, mayor of Valleyfield, was winner in the lady mayors division. The rest of the field finished in the also ran category.

Prize for this group was another hearty round of applause. Recipients included Jimmy King, Franklin; Bernard Vallee, Murray McGerrigle, Madame Therese Galipeau, Rod Bourgon and Lawrence Prevost.

Later in the evening the experts sat down to show the celebrities how it should be done. In this category Nellie Nieuwenhof was first, closely followed by Lena Nieuwenhof, Eileen Dineen and Keith Rigby.

Another highlight of the opening evening was an old-time fiddlers' contest. In this Neil McKay took top honors, followed by George Huet, Austin Fournier , John Wilson and Bruce Born.

Among the juniors it was André Welburn, Kevin Boyer, Stephen Gray, Brenden Welburn and Michael Boyer.

Friday was the big day for the Valley's cattlemen. Holsteins Ayrshires and Jerseys vied for ribbons in the cow palacé.

There was a fine horse show both afternoon and evening. And as an added event there was a horse-pull on the tractor track which drew quite a few spectators.

Four-H activities at the Fair got under way Saturday morning with a good turn-out of 86 Youngsters signing up for registration. The youngsters began arriving about 9 a.m. with their calves, in plenty of time to have them well groomed for the show.

The first event was the judging competition which saw 4-H club members scored on their ability to judge a class of four cows, this year of the Ayrshire breed.

Brian MacFarlane of Howick took the trophy for High Aggregate for Judging and Showmanship for this category and for the senior showmanship class. He also won the Ayrshire High Aggrégate trophy.

"The senior showmanship class for youngsters aged 15 and over boasted 38 entries which is probably one of the strongest showings in recent years at the Fair," said organizer Murray McCaig.

In the Pee Wee class at the end of the day, open to all children under 10 years of age everyone was a winner, with the children each receiving a ribbon and prize money which was collected from the audience.

Judging of the Holstein Calf Class was momentarily interrupted when a runaway steer charged through the cow palace. The steer, brought to the Fair by René Trepanier of St-Anicet for the Market Steer judging, had escaped from the owner's truck. With the help of some of the men at the fair he was herded into the sheep and goat barn but broke the rope he was tied with and was on the run again.

This time he toured the fair, with a quick job through the arena, where the horse show was in progress.

He was finally caught when the youngsters showing their calves surrounded him. The men got a rope on him and led him into the truck.

The 1980 edition of the Huntingdon Fair ended with an eventful day as large crowds invaded the fair grounds on Sunday to see two of the main attractions of this annual event in Huntingdon the tractor pull competitions and the horse show.

Contestants from the Chateauguay Valley area and from over the border had gathered with their big powerful machines to compete in various categories.

Sunday afternoon saw Roger Billette from Howick win the competition in the 9000 Super Stock category with a Belarius 800. He was followed by Claude Joyal of Ste-Julienne coming in to second place on an International 884. The third place was won by Edgar Deschambault of Ste-Agnès on a John Deere 4020.

In the 9000 category Gaétan Yelle was twice a winner as he got first place on a John Deere 4000 and third on a 4010. Second place was gained by North Adirondack Farms with John Larry as the driver on an International 884.

Gaétan Yelle was there again in first position in the 15000 Open on Sunday night with a John Deere 4440. The higly competitive Mr. Yelle hails from Fort Covington, N.Y. In the same event Claude Joyal cam in second on an International 1086 and Jacques Lazure of Ste-Martine was third mounting the same type of machine as Joyal.

Sunday evening also saw the 12000 Super Stock event and André Bédard of Champlain, N.Y., scored first with an International 1206. R. St-Amour, of Churubusco, N.Y. came in second on an International 1086 as Gaétan Yelle was there again this time running third with a John Deere 4440.

This year's attendance was an approximate 17,000 and participants in the various exhibits and events numbered some 280. And this, according to officials, compares very well with the records of the previous years.

Sunday saw various equestrian events but what seemed to impress most was the dexterity of some young riders in the 8 and 13-year-old categories. Parents and friends were on hand to encourage the youngsters and to give warm applause as youthful riders demonstrated a surprising skill at handling their horses.

Job creation brings benefits

Following the approval by the House of Commons of the bill extending the Employment Tax Credit Program (ETCP), the Canadian government allows employers to reduce their income tax payments for another year through the creation of new jobs.

The ETCP is being extended to March 31, 1981. Since its inception in March 1978, close to 9,000 Quebec businesses of which 90 percent are small or medium sized, have taken advantage of this federal program.

Some 30,000 new jobs in all sectors of the Quebec economy have been created since the im plantation of this program, thus reaching a figure far beyond the ETCP target set for this province.

One of the main reasons for this success resides in the extremely simplified requirements and the enthusiasm of the Quebec Business people who took advantage of it.

Depending on the region where the applicant is located in the province, the tax credit rate ranges from $1.50 to $2.00 per hour for each new additional permanent job created. This credit translates into amounts varying between $3,120 and $4,160 per year for each new employee.

Any firm doing business in Canada for the last 12 months or more is eligible for Employment Tax Credit Program Benefits.

For further information, employers are invited to contact their nearest Canada Employement Centre.

M. Claude Ryan, le chef du P.L.Q. était l'invité d'honneur lors des cérémonies d'ouverture de la Foire de Huntingdon jeudi dernier. C'est avec bonne grâce que l'homme politique s'est prêté au concours de traite de vache mais M. Ryan a vite réalisé que obtenir du lait d'une vache, c'est beaucoup plus difficile qu'il n'y paraît à premier abord! C'est le député Claude Dubois qui a finalement remporté le concours de traite des célébrités et on voit sur la photo du bas M. Ryan lui remettant le tabouret traditionel.

La Foire de Huntingdon se termine en beauté

C'est par une journée chaude, ensoleillée à souhait et remplie d'une kyrielle d'événements des plus intéressants que la Foire de Huntingdon se terminait dimanche dernier.

Les "clous" de la journée étaient surtout les épreuves de tir au tracteur ainsi que les concours hippiques de diverses catégories.

De nombreux participants des environs de Huntingdon, Ormstown etc. ainsi que des compétiteurs d'outre-frontière s'étaient donné rendez-vous avec des puissantes machines pour les épreuves de tir de tracteur.

C'est là un des événements qui a attiré une des foules les plus considérables de la journée du dimanche alors que les conducteurs ont tenté de démontrer non seulement la puissance de leurs machines mais aussi l'adresse pour la manoeuvrer de façon à tirer un poids considérable le plus loin possible.

Dès 10h. du matin les concours hippiques débutaient avec les épreuves pour chevaux de chasse pour ensuite mettre en évidence les jeunes cavaliers de 13 ans et moins et ceux de 8 ans et moins.

Les nombreux spectateurs qui s'étaient rendus sur les lieux était gâtés par une température idéale. Un temps ensoleillé et sec constituait le cadre parfait pour les nombreux spectateurs qui assistaient aux diverses épreuves de la journée et qui pouvaient déambuler sur les terrains pour soit amener les jeunes profiter des attractions du parc d'amusement, soit observer les épreuves de tir de tracteur ou simplement admirer l'adresse des cavaliers qui parcourraient le terrain en attendant leur tour pour les concours hippiques.

L'événement qui aura attiré le plus grand nombre de spectateurs dimanche était le tir de tracteur. Les épreuves comportaient les classes de machines de 16 à 21, c'est à dire des modèles "mini-modifiés", en passant par les modèles de ferme courant pour se terminer par les épreuves de force pour les véhicules "4 x 4".

Le grand champion de la journée dans ces épreuves de dimanche des '9000 Super Stock)), fut sans contredit Roger Billette de Ormstown qui remportait la victoire dans cette catégorie.

Des gens comme Bill Lalonde, de Malone, N.Y. réussisaient de belles performances en tirant un poids considérable sur une distance de 166.3 pieds tandis que Brian Holder de Fort Covington, N.Y. avec un tracteur John Deere 4010 s'approchait à 164.8 pieds.

Les conducteurs de machines lourdes furent applaudis à maintes reprises par un auditoire aussi enthousiaste que cordial et la compétition amicale entre les participants a contribué à l'intérêt de ces épreuves des plus intéressantes ou la machine et l'homme combinent puissance et adresse.

Bref, c'est en beauté que se terminait une autre édition de la Foire de Huntingdon dimanche. On estime qu'un total de quelque spectateurs se sont donné rendez-vous cette année durant les autres journées de la Foire. Un nombre de participants était sur place pour prendre part aux diverses compétitions qui furent organisées par les comités de la Foire cette année.

On peut donc dire que la Foire de Huntingdon a été un franc succès cette année et que ces quatre jours de festivités se sont terminés en beauté dimanche avec une participation de haute qualité et une foule nombreuse pour venir applaudir et encourager les exploits des participants - jeunes et moins jeunes.

Happée par le train

Auto de police démolie à la traverse Consolidated

Un accident qui aurait pu être tragique est survenu jeudi soir dernier alors que l'auto-patrouille de la police de Huntingdon est entrée en collision avec un train à la traverse à niveau de la Consolidated Railway.

Les passagers de la voiture, en l'occurence le sergent-détective Philippe Cardinal et l'agent Jacques Perreault, du service de la police de Huntingdon, et Mlle Louise Cardinal, fille de M. Cardinal, ont été légèrement blessés dans l'accident.

L'incident est survenu vers 22 heures après le défilé d'ouverture de la Foire de Huntingdon. Le conducteur de la voiture n'aurait pu apercevoir le train qui s'engageait sur la voie et la voiture aurait ensuite heurté le train.

Le sergent Cardinal a subit des blessures à l'estomac alors que le volant a littéralement cédé sous l'impact du choc. Quant à l'agent Perreault, il a subit des éraflures à l'épaule gauche et Mlle Cardinal s'est tirée avec des contusions légères.

Les trois voyageurs ont été traités à l'Hôpital de Huntingdon après l'accident ou ils ont reçu les soins du Dr. Cameron.

Le sergent Cardinal est encore sous observation médicale même s'il a pu réintégrer son domicile.

Le passage à niveau en question aurait déjà été signalé comme un endroit peu sûr ou la visibilité est mauvaise. La Sureté du Québec enquête présentement sur cet accident.

Mort troublante du douanier Georges Alary à Dundee

Dundee - C'est vers les 12:45 heures, lundi, que le corps de Georges Alary, douanier âgé de 62 ans, était retiré des eaux de la rivière Salmon à côté du port de douane canadienne de Dundee où il travaillait depuis trois ans.

Au moment de cet incident tragique, M. Alary complétait son heure de travail, soit de minuit à 8 heures du matin. Il avait changé de période de travail avec son confrère de travail, John Feeney. D'ailleurs il ne lui déplaisait pas de travailler la nuit.

C'est à l'arrivée des deux officiers de douane pour l'horaire de 8 heures, lundi matin, que l'on s'apercevait de la disparition de Georges Alary. Son automobile était toujours stationnée à la place habituelle, et à l'intérieur de ce petit édifice historique il n'y avait aucun signe de vie de Georges Alary.

A l'intérieur, on retrouvait sa pipe dans un cendrier, sa tasse de café vide (une tasse portant son nom), et sur le comptoir une bouteille de coca-cola dont trois gorgees furent bues seulement.

Son fils, Gilles, officier de douane également, a été averti de la disparition de son père peu de temps après. Gilles venait de terminer son temps de travail de minuit à 8 heures à Trout River.

Le détachement de Huntingdon de la Sûreté du Québec a été demandé sur les lieux, et l'agent Arthur Authier a été chargé de faire les constatations d'usage et l'enquête préliminaire.

Par la suite, la Gendarmerie Royale du Canada a également été demandée sur les lieux afin d'aider à la recherche de cette disparition mystérieuse. Le receveur des douanes de Huntingdon, Aurèle Génier, et le patron de Georges, Donald Fraser, le surintendant de la douane de Dundee, étaient sur les lieux afin d'aider les autorités compétentes dans cette affaire.

Les premières constatations:

Une première recherche des lieux par l'agent Arthur Authier démontrait aucune trace de violence à l'intérieur de l'édifice.

Aidé des personnes présentes, l'agent Authier a fait des recherches sur le bord des chemins menant à la frontière, et aussi sur le bord du quai.

On sait que le port de douane de Dundee est le seul de la région où l'on retrouve une circulation routière et nautique.

Vers les 9:15 heures, les deux fils de la victime, Gilles et Cyril, rédacteur de La Gazette, se sont rendus sur les lieux de l'incident, et ils ont aidé à différentes recherches. Alors, on demanda aux personnes présentes de faire appel aux services de secours américains, de même qu'aux policiers municipaux de St-Régis et au State Police de l'état de New York.

Cyril Alary et Jacques Lemay, un officier d'immigration, ont continué certaines recherches, se rendant à la douane américaine, et aussi en allant vérifier à la clinique médicale de Hogansburg, N.Y.

C'est à la demande de l'agent Arthur Authier qu'on faisait appel à l'escouade canine, mais le tout ne fut pas nécessaire.

La découverte du corps:

Les deux fils de la victime Gilles et Cyril, décidaient vers les 11:15 heures de retourner vers le domicile familial afin de continuer à réconforter les autres membres de la famille.

C'est vers les 12:45 heures que des membres de l'unité de secours de Fort Covington, N.Y. repêchaient le corps de l'officier Georges Alary des eaux de la rivière Salmon. On retrouvait son corps à une dizaine de pieds du quai, côté sud, et à cinq pieds du bord.

L'unité de secours a par la suite conduit la dépouille mortelle au Centre Hospitalier de Huntingdon où le docteur Georges Lefebvre, coroner du district de Huntingdon, attendait patiemment.

Pendant ce temps, Cyril Alary recevait un appel téléphonique au journal d'Ann Jock de Fort Covington, lui annonçant qu'on venait de découvrir le corps de son père. Elle lui demanda de se rendre au Centre Hospitalier de Huntingdon, car l'unité de secours était en route vers Huntingdon.

Quittant le bureau du journal en toute vitesse, Cyril se rendit au Centre Hospitalier de Huntingdon, et de là, il téléphona à la résidence de sa mère pour avertir son frère Richard, et les autres membres de la famille.

C'est vers les 13:15 heures que la dépouille mortelle de Georges Alary arrivait au Centre Hospitalier de Huntingdon. Le coroner Lefebvre constata le décès, et ses deux fils, Cyril et Richard, ont identifié le cadavre.

L'heure déterminée:

Durant l'avant-midi, les policiers présents ont tenté de déterminer l'heure de la disparition de l'officier en devoir.

Il semble qu'un passant, André Fournier, a arrêté à la douane canadienne de Dundee vers les 2:30 heures du matin, et il parla quelques instants avec Georges Alary. Tout était dans l'ordre, et selon les rapports ce dernier était en bonne santé à ce moment.

La police se demandait à quelle heure la victime avait disparue. Ensuite, on rencontra des individus qui ont passé à la frontière vers les 5 heures, et personne ne se trouvait dans l'édifice. Ces derniers continuèrent leur route.

C'est à la suite de la reprise des biens au Centre Hospitalier de Huntingdon que Cyril Alary constata que la montre-bracelet de son père s'était arrêté à 3:11 heures précises, ce qui veut dire que le décès eut lieu entre 2:30 et 3:11 heures. La montre de son père s'est arrêtée après avoir été submergée dans l'eau; elle marche à l'aide d'une batterie à l'arrière, et le fait qu'elle fut mouillée, elle s'arrêta immédiatement ou presque.

Le corps, à la demande de la famille, a été conduit en fin d'après-midi, lundi, à l'Institut Médico-Légal de Montréal pour fin d'autopsie.

Sa famille:

Né le 25 mars 1918 à Thetford Mines, Georges Alary devait prendre la route de Huntingdon durant le temps de la Guerre mondiale.

Il fut Sergent de la Police Militaire pour la base militaire de Huntingdon. Il épousait à Huntingdon, le 28 octobre 1943 Carmen Brunet, fille de feux Damase et Odila Brunet.

GEORGES ALARY

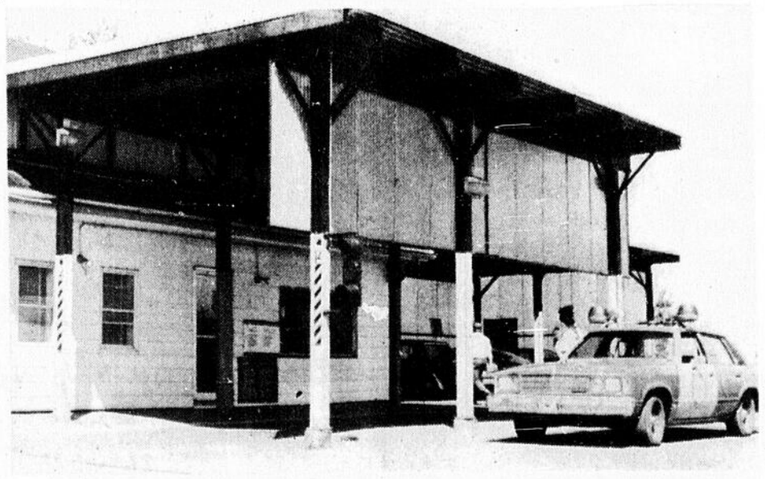
Par la suite, Georges Alary a travaillé dans le domaine de la construction, et il bâtit plusieurs maisons à Huntingdon. Il s'est occupé dans ces années de plusieurs choses, comme le tennis, et le baseball.

Georges Alary avait vingt-cinq ans de service à titre d'officier de douane dans le secteur immédiat. Il fit son entrée à la douane le 20 juin 1955, et il travailla au port de Lacolle.

Ensuite, il fut transféré au port de Dundee le 2 novembre 1964, et au port de Huntingdon le 15 novembre 1965 où il circulait dans les secteurs de Herdman, Trout River, Franklin et Jamieson. Le premier avril 1974, Georges Alary était transferré au bureau d'administration de douane de Huntingdon situé sur la rue Prince, pour ensuite retourner au port de Dundee le 11 juillet 1977.

Depuis les dernières années, Georges Alary avait été malade à la suite d'une crise cardique. Visitant son médecin régulièrement et après avoir été en convalescence par deux fois, il lui fut possible de retourner à son travail.

Suite p 13



C'est de ce poste de douane, à Dundee, que disparaissait dans la nuit de dimanche M. Georges Alary dans des circonstances qui restent encore à éclaircir. On devait retrouver son corps dans la rivière Salmon, toute proche sur l'heure du midi lundi.

Jacques Rémillard meurt en pleine action

Yachtman bien connu et coiffeur de son métier, Jacques Rémillard de Ormstown, est décédé dimanche dernier au volant de son bateau lors des régates de Beauharnois.

Rémillard a succombé à une crise cardiaque alors qu'il complétait le deuxième tournant du premier tour de l'épreuve finale des classes "280".

Le programme des courses avait été complété dimanche après avoir été remis du samedi.

Rémillard, qui avait quelque 25 ans d'expérience dans le domaine des épreuves nautiques, était reconnu pour sa jovialité et ses camarades l'avaient surnommé "Ti-Poil" par allusion à son métier de coiffeur.

Yachtman bien connu Jacques Rémillard n'était âgé que de 37 ans lors de son décès. Le dimanche précédent, il avait remporté le Grand Prix de Cocagne, au Nouveau Brunswick et il avait alors remarqué à ses collègues qu'il était épuisé. Il avait également donné des signes de fatigue dimanche alors qu'il sortait du "Nordic".

Au cours de la journée fatidique, il était inscrit dans deux classes, le Grand Prix et le 280. Au moment de l'incident, il occupait la 2e place et c'est sur son volant qu'il s'est affaissé, victime d'une crise cardiaque.

Conduit d'urgence au Centre Hospitalier de Valleyfield et malgré plusieurs tentatives de ressuscitation, on le prononçait mort à son arrivée à l'hôpital.

Impliqué à plusieurs niveaux de la vie publique de sa ville de Ormstown et de la région, Rémillard avait brigué les suffrages lors de la récente élection scolaire pour la Commission Scolaire de Huntingdon. Il avait été défait par Jean-Paul Chantigny.

C'est avec regret que les sportifs autant que les citoyens de Ormstown verront la disparition de [illegible] Rémillard

Une des attractions les plus courues lors de la Foire fut sans contredit les épreuves de trait de tracteur où chacun des conducteurs a rivalisé d'habileté pour tirer le poids énorme jusqu'à la ligne d'arrivée.

Mort troublante...

Une autre réalisation très importante dans sa vie, il y a près de deux ans, fut la construction d'une maison pour son fils Cyril et son épouse Dorothy. Il a démontré alors son très grand talent de menuisier, bâtissant avec amour un chef d'oeuvre de résidence de ses propres mains avec l'aide de son épouse Carmen, de ses autres fils, et de l'épouse de Cyril, Dorothy. Il fit également plusieurs réparations à sa maison qu'il acheta au 35 rue François Cleyn. Il a aussi construit plusieurs meubles, et aussi plusieurs réparations à la résidence de son autre fils, Richard.

La dépouille mortelle sera exposée au Salon Funéraire Kelly, situé sur la rue Lac à Huntingdon, et les funérailles auront lieu en l'église de la Paroisse St-Joseph de Huntingdon à 14h jeudi.

Georges Alary laisse dans le deuil son épouse Carmen, 56 ans; et ses quatre fils, Richard 35 ans et son épouse Georgette née Déniger; Serge 34 ans; Gilles 29 ans; et Cyril 28 ans, et son épouse Dorothy née Shearer. Il laisse également dans le deuil trois petits enfants, Marc-André âgé de 4 ans; Solange âgée de 2 ans; et Carmen âgée d'un an seulement.

Ses derniers moments furent heureux, car en fin de semaine dernière, plus précisement samedi, il se rendait au camp d'été de son fils Richard afin de fêter en famille le premier anniversaire de naissance de son troisième petit-enfant, Carmen. C'était un moment de joie, et il se promettait d'aller passer une semaine de vacances au camp d'été de son fils à l'automne, et d'y construire un quai.

Activités au Conseil de Ormstown

C'est lors de sa séance du 4 août dernier que le Conseil de Ormstown a pris connaissance de différents dossiers relatifs aux réparations à effectuer aux pavés ainsi qu'aux égouts.

Le supervisor municipal, M. Marcel Schink a autorisé les travaux à être effectués sur la rue Adèle. Les compagnie suivantes seront invitées à soumissionner: pavages Gaétan Raymond; Huntingdon Asphalte; Léonard Verner Asphalte Inc. et Vel Construction.

C'est lors de la même séance que la ville a signifié à la compagnie Construction Dauphinais de nettoyer son terrain sur la rue Linda et aussi de remplir les trous qui s'y trouvent. On qualifie ces trous de dangers potentiels.

Les factures pour le mois de juillet s'élevaient à $33,814.17.

Pour St-Malachie, le conseil a considéré des demandes de citoyens à l'effet que certains terrains soient vendus pour des usages autres qu'agricole.

M. Marcel Machabe, par exemple, a adressé au conseil une requête à l'effet de pourvoir vendre des lots de sa propriété pour usage domiciliaire. Quant à M. Jean-Marie Babeu, il a exprimé le désir qu'on exclu de la zone verte ses lots no. 811 et 812 qui avaient été catalogués par la commission de zonage. L'arrière de ces lots avait été classifié comme érablière mais, d'après M. Babeu, l'érablière n'existe plus à cet endroit depuis longtemps déjà et c'est pourquoi il demande une reclassification.

Les citoyens de Ormstown devraient maintenant payer leurs taxes au cours de la même année. A défaut de s'exécuter, ils pourront voir leur compte soumis au conseil de comté et leurs propriétés mises en vente pour arrérages de taxes.

Ormstown aura maintenant sa troupe de théatre. En effet, le conseil approuvait lors de cette séance la formation de la troupe "S'ul pouce" qui sera dirigée par M. Raynald Fortier.

La jeune Hélène Vallée a reçu un prix pour la décoration originale de sa bicyclette lors du défilé d'ouverture de la Foire de Huntingdon qui se déroulait jeudi dernier.

La santé des patineurs en danger

texte de
CYRIL ALARY

Harvard - Selon certaines recherches de scientifiques de l'Université de Harvard aux Etats-Unis, la santé des patineurs seraient en danger surtout à cause des appareils utilisés pour passer sur la glace artificielle.

Une telle nouvelle devrait certes susciter l'attention des autorités compétentes de l'Aréna Régionale de Huntingdon.

En effet, selon ces études, le danger vient des émanations d'oxyde d'azote provenant de ces machines fonctionnant au gaz.

Après quelques constatations, on peut donc noter qu'à l'Aréna Régionale de Huntingdon le problème est peut-être plus grave, car il n'y existe aucun système de ventilation.

Il faut donc se demander si les compétences de l'Aréna décideront de faire les correctifs à cette situation malsaine pour les patineurs et joueurs de hockey.

Un peu de tout

• Le ministre de l'Agriculture, Eugene Whelan, s'est dit heureux de voir Gordon L. Curtin se joindre au personnel du Conseil National de Commercialisation des produits de ferme en tant que directeur du contrôle des offices. Ce dernier a dix-sept ans d'expérience à la Union Carbide.

• Le Ministère d'Etat à l'Aménagement a procédé à la création de cinq autres comités de consultation en vue de la création et de la mise en place de futures municipalités régionales de comté. Ces comités concernant les régions de Valleyfield, Sherbrooke, Granby-Cowansville, Beaupré et Repentigny.

• Les aspects techniques des cultures fruitières feront l'objet d'un colloque de deux jours organisé dans le cadre des Floralies internationales de Montréal 1980. Ce colloque aura lieu les 21 et 22 août au pavillon de l'administration (AMARC), ancien pavillon du Canada à l'Ile Notre-Dame. Des conférenciers de renommée internationale y traiteront de la culture des arbres fruitiers à pépins qu'on retrouve au Canada, de la culture des petits fruits et des cultures abritées sous serre et sous tunnel.

• Le 2 août dernier a eu lieu l'inauguration des nouveaux locaux du laboratoire de pathologie vétérinaire d'Agriculture Canada à St-Hyacinthe. Intégré à un réseau de neuf centres de recherche vétérinaire, ce laboratoire joue un rôle très important dans la lutte contre les maladies animales au Québec.

• En raison des pertes économiques importantes qu'entraînent les mauvaises herbes, des chercheurs de la station de recherche d'Agriculture Canada d'Harrow en Ontario, ont entrepris une étude de ces végétaux dans le sud-ouest de cette province. Un programme d'alerte est également en cours pour inciter les agriculteurs à participer à la lutte contre les mauvaises herbes en signalant tout nouveau problème à l'aide d'une carte d'identification.

• Le Dr. Brian Morrissey vient d'être nommé directeur de la Division de la santé des animaux de la Direction générale de la production et de l'inspection des aliments d'Agriculture Canada. Après des études en Irlande, le Dr. Morrissey s'est installé au Canada où il est entré au service du Ministère. Il y a occupé diverses fonctions entre autres comme directeur intérimaire des services de gestion de la Direction dont il vient d'être nommé directeur.

• "Il faut donner le grand coup" lors de la campagne de financement du 18 au 25 août prochain. C'est ce que tient à rappeler le Parti Libéral du Québec, tout en précisant que le Parti doit finir le travail commencé le 20 mai dernier.

Pour débuter cette grande fête de la chanson, le jeudi 21 août à 16h et à 19h, le capitaine Cosmos des Satellipopettes rencontrera les enfants. Toute la famille se rendra assister aux spectacles de Clairette et de Guy Boucher qui se présenteront chacun leur jour les 22 et 23 août.

Le jeudi 28 août, ce sera au tour d'André Lejeune et le lendemain, le 29, Monique Vermont et Jean Faber interpréteront leurs plus beaux airs. La fin de semaine des 4, 5 et 6 septembre, Claude Landré, Jacques Lepage et Chatelaine se succéderont sur la scène du centre commercial.

Pour terminer, on ne manquera pas de venir applaudir à tour de rôle les 11, 12 et 13 septembre, Pascal Normand, Jérôme Lemay et Monique Saintonge.

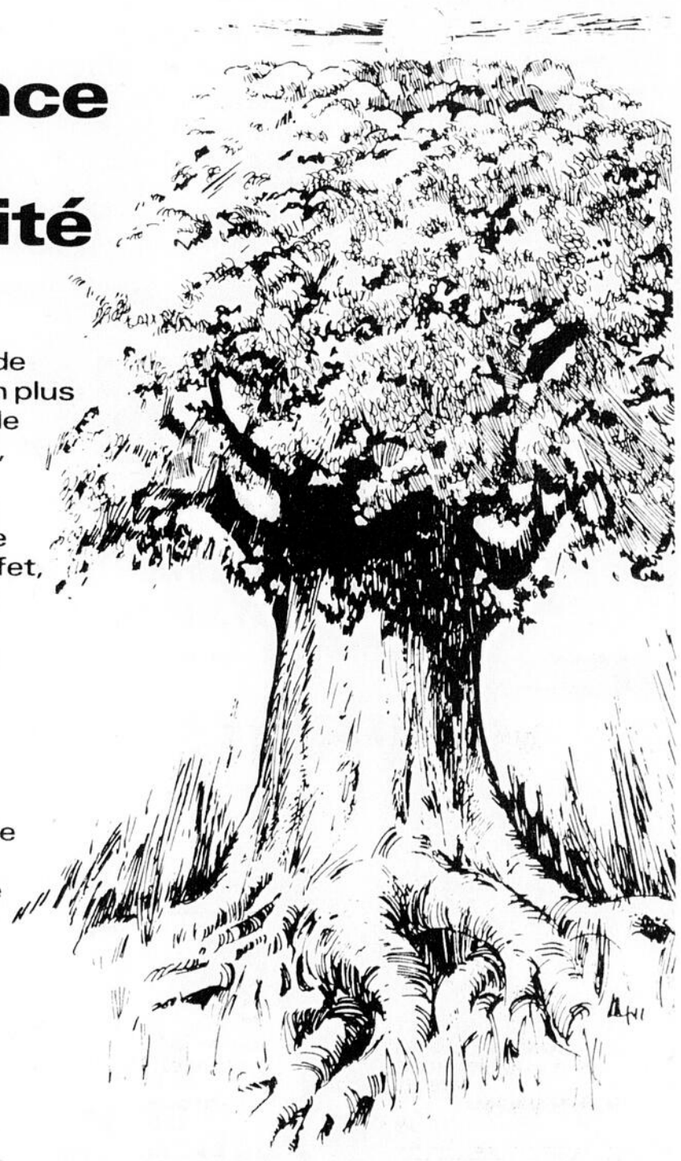
Assurance de prospérité

L'histoire du Canada fourmille d'exemples de solidarité nationale. En plus de profiter à l'ensemble de tous les Canadiens, cette fraternité est essentielle à l'unité du pays et au bien-être de chaque citoyen. En effet, la juste répartition des richesses permet à tous de profiter d'une gamme très étendue de services publics.

Tout comme un sol riche permet à un arbre d'atteindre plénitude et épanouissement, le Canada constitue pour nous tous une réelle assurance de prospérité.



Un pays fait par nous... un pays fait pour nous!

Canada

C'est le char allégorique du "Monde des Enfants" qui remportait le troisième prix lors du défilé d'ouverture de la Foire de Huntingdon.

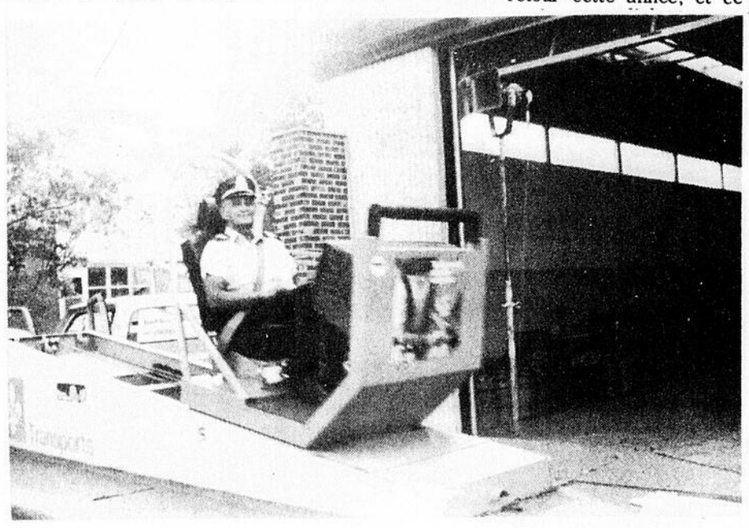
La pêche en étang de ferme au Québec en 1980

La pêche en étang de ferme Québec - Le ministère de l'Agriculture, des Pêcheries et de l' Alimentation du Québec vient de publier un répertoire intitulé: "La pêche en étang de ferme au Québec en 1980". Distribuée gratuitement sur demande, cette publication a pour but de faciliter la découverte des fermes piscicoles au Québec.

Outil précieux pour ceux qui désirïent

Outil précieux pour ceux qui désirent participer à une joyeuse partie de pêche et déguster un mets digne des plus fins gourmets, cette brochure contient les noms et les adresses d'environ 200 propriétaires de fermes piscicoles répartis dans toutes les régions du Québec.

On y explique comment s'y rendre, on y précise les jours et les mois pendant lesquels les fermes piscicoles sont ouvertes au public, l'importance des groupes que l'on peut accueillir, les services qui sont disponibles, les prix exigés et autres détails pertinents. Le numéro de téléphone du propriétaire apparaît également dans le répertoire.



Le ministère du Transport du Québec veut sensibiliser les automobilistes à l'importance du port de la ceinture de sécurité et l'équipe de Transport Québec visitait Huntingdon la semaine dernière afin de démontrer ce fait sur place. Quant au Directeur de la Sécurité Publique, M. Joffre L'Heureux, il se prêtait à la démonstration qui simule l'impact d'un arrêt automobile brusque à seulement 10 milles à l'heure. D'après M. L'Heureux, il ne fait pas de doute que tout automobiliste prudent doit boucler sa ceinture comme il le démontre sur la photo ci-haut.

Remerciements

Les personnes ayant omis de s'inscrire au régistre sont priées d'accepter ces remerciements comme personnels.

Naissance

O'CONNOR - Patrick et Marguerite [née Messier] sont heureux d'annoncer la naissance de leur troisième enfant, un garçon Ryan Patrick, 6 lbs. 7 oz., le 2 août 1980, au General Hospital à Montréal, Bébé Ryan fut l'objet d'une bienvenue chaleureuse dans le monde non seulement par sa mère et son père mais par ses fiers grand parents, Walter et Joan O'Connor et Georges et Virginia Messier, tous de Godmanchester, arrière-grand-parents, M. et Mme Earl Wilson de Huntingdon, et beaucoup d'oncles et tantes excités, trop nombreux pour tous les mentionner, de Huntingdon, Montréal, Cornwall et Ottawa.

Décès

REMILLARD, Jacques: A Beauharnois le 10 août 1980, Jacques Rémillard, mari de Odette Trudel, fils de Marie-Paul Yelle et de feu Orile Rémillard, frère de Claude, Guy et Yves. Funérailles auront lieu mercredi le 13 août à l'Eglise St-Malachie de Ormstown, à 2:30 p.m. Les arrangements funéraires sont de McGerrigle Funeral Home Inc. Ormstown.

Le Conseil de Godmanchester

La municipalité de Godmanchester a décrété récemment que des permis de construction seront désormais nécessaire pour tous les citoyens qui désirent effectuer la construction de tout bâtiment, y compris les piscines.

La région connaitrait le problème de chiens errants. C'est du moins ce qu'on peut conclure d'un incident évoqué lors de la session d'août du conseil de Godmanchester. En effet, on rapporte que des moutons de la ferme de M. Hugh Sutherland ont été tués par des chiens. Ce fait était confirmé par une attestation du Dr. Gaw qui a constaté l'incident.

Les citoyens Eugene Rhorback et Albert Deschamps ont pour leur part fait une demande à l'effet que des lampadaires soient installés le long de la rue Bergeron ainsi que sur Ridge Rd. Roger Goyer quant à lui a signalé la nécessité d'installer des panneaux routiers sur le rang 4 et le conseil inspectera la situation dans ce secteur.

Centre de grains

Saint-Polycarpe, On a entrepris à Saint-Polycarpe (Vaudreuil-Soulanges), la construction d'un centre de conditionnement et d'entreposage des grains, d'une capacité de 4,000 tonnes métriques, au coût de $1,010,991.

Ce nouveau centre assurera aux producteurs de la région des services de séchage, de criblage, de classification et d'entreposage de leurs grains. La réalisation est rendue possible grâce à une subvention de $700,000 du ministère de l'Agriculture, des Pêcheries et de l'Alimentation.

Ce nouveau centre sera administré par la Coopérative des cultivateurs de Saint-Polycarpe.

Soirée du Mérite Sportif

Valleyfield - Le Mérite Sportif Régional fera un retour cette année, et ce après un an d'absence

En effet, il fut décidé dernièrement, après avoir fait une consultation de plusieurs organismes, que la soirée du Mérite Sportif Régional pour le sud-ouest aura lieu le jeudi 23 octobre prochain.

Déjà, l'organisation de cet événement est en marche, et un endroit a été choisi. Le tout se déroulera au Restaurant Rustyk de Chateauguay.

$2 millions à St-Clet

Saint-Clet, Le ministère des Affaires municipales verse une subvention additionnelle de $28,620 à la municipalité de Saint-Clet (Vaudreuil-Soulanges), portant ainsi sa contribution à $1,966,630, pour aider la municipalité à compléter l'aménagement de son réseau d'aqueduc et d'égouts.

Cette subvention représente 75% du coût total du projet.

Pension pour étudiants

Les personnes intéressées à prendre des étudiants en pension pour le terme scolaire de 1980-81 sont priées de communiquer avec l'école Arthur Pigeon au numéro 264-5374.
