World News In Brief

Calgary, July 14.—(CP)—The Duke of Windsor will sell his entire herd of registered Shorthorn cattle at the exhibition grounds Aug. 18, it was announced last night. The 82 head of prize cattle come from the Duke's branch at Pekisko, in the southwestern Alberta foothills.

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The New York World-Telegram and Sun has asked eight craft unions to "permit and direct" their members to return to work Monday despite a strike by 400 members of the American Newspaper Guild (C.I.O.).

Paris, July 14.—(Reuters)—The French members of the International committee for the study of European questions—an unofficial group—resigned from the committee yesterday.

They included former Premier Paul Reynaud and Maurice Schumann, president of the Mouvement Republicain Populaire.

The French members resigned for the same reason which led to the resignation of the British members Tuesday. They objected to the secretary of the committee adding a reference to the use of the atomic bomb to a published statement without first submitting it to members.

Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Both the United States and Russia received notes yesterday from Prime Minister Nehru of India.

There was no announcement of the contents but there was speculation here that they might include a proposal for attaining peace in Korea.

Paris, July 14.—(Reuters)—Henri Philippe Petain, former Marshal of France and head of the wartime Vichy government, has been moved to summer quarters in his prison of the exposed, rocky Ile d'Yeu off France's Atlantic coast to avoid the effects of oppressive heat. Sources in close touch with the 94-year-old soldier said his health is "slowly deteriorating."

Freighter Burns At Bombay Docks

Bombay, July 14.—(Reuters)—Smoke and flames enveloped the 9,000-ton freighter Haligonian Queen today nearly 18 hours after she caught fire in Bombay docks last night.

The port fire brigades which had been fighting the blaze all night, succeeded in localizing it in the ship's second hold in which 5,500 cotton bales and a large number of bitumen drums were still smoldering.

An officer of the Haligonian Queen said the ship was originally Canadian-owned, but had been transferred to County Ship Management Company Limited of Britain.

The crew comprises 13 Britons and 42 Indians.

There were no casualties. Extent of damage has not been estimated.

Small Force Crosses River Despite Heavy Artillery Fire By American Defenders

Air Crash Takes Lives Of 11 Men

Lebanon, O., July 14.—(P)—Only a gaping hole in a field and shattered pieces of metal today show where a United States air force B-50 bomber crashed, carrying at least 11 men to their death.

The plane was on a routine practice mission and was carrying practice bombs. The plane plunged into the ground on a farm near Lebanon, O., and exploded. The impact and the blast tore a hole in the ground that was 18 feet deep and at least 75 feet wide.

The big plane was blown to pieces. Bodies and parts of bodies of the victims were scattered over a wide area.

Meanwhile, at Tucson, Ariz., survivors of another B-50 bomber crash said today an explosion occurred just moments before the plane plunged out of control, carrying at least one crew member to death. Six men parachuted to safety. Three others are reported missing.

The plane crashed on a hillside in the Galiuro mountains, 40 miles northeast of the city. It exploded and burned when it plunged into the ground early yesterday.

Seven Children Burned To Death

Rouyn, Que., July 14.—(CP)—Seven children died last night in a fire which destroyed a house at McWaters, eight miles from here.

The victims, children of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Degagne, were Rosa, 14; Claudette, 9; Carmen, 8; Jean Roch, 6; Giselle, 4; Lucien, 3, and Maurice, 2.

Mrs. Degagne and her 15-year-old daughter, Eva, were badly burned. Doctors said the girl might not survive.

Anti-Leopold Strikes Called

Brussels, Belgium, July 14.—(Reuters)—Metal, glass and leather workers, bus and streetcar drivers and all coal miners in the southern French-speaking section of Belgium went on strike today as a "warning" against King Leopold's return to the throne.

The wave of strikers, limited to 40-hour walkouts, was described as general throughout the rich coal belt of the Borinage.

No estimate was available of the number of men affected.

Kum Is Last Natural Barrier Before Taejon, South Korea's Provisional Capital—Further Crossings Feared.

Tokyo, July 14.—(P)—North Koreans today breached the Kum river west of Kongju, despite heavy American artillery fire and plane attacks, a front-line dispatch said.

An estimated 100 men reached the south bank of the Kum, last natural barrier before Taejon, the South Korea provisional capital.

Reliable reports said the government was withdrawing to the south.

Leif Erickson, Associated Press correspondent, at the front said that if the invaders strengthened their beachhead at night "they could make trouble."

Kongju is about 20 miles northwest of Taejon on the western flank of the American line. The enemy's action could mean an attempt to outflank American positions on the west.

The small band of North Koreans waded the low, gravel-bottomed river.

Artillery fire from both sides of the Kum was active but a heavy United States counter battery barrage silenced the Red guns in late afternoon.

When the big push across the river comes, the communists will have to attempt it without their 1st division, which headed the long drive of more than 150 miles from the North Korean border to the Kum.

Gen. MacArthur's communique said the 1st division, described as North Korea's finest, was so badly mauled by U.S. groups troops and air blows that it has been replaced by the 6th division.

The communique still showed concern over the sweeping eastward movement by two Red divisions. They threaten to cut off the Kum and Taejon from supplies coming up from Pusan, southeast port.

It said the Reds still were driving toward Hamchong and Andong. These cities are 44 and 75 miles east of Taejon and about 60 miles north of Taejon on the highway from Pusan to the front.

Hamchong is only 32 miles north of Kumchong, another road point.

A spokesman at advanced U.S. headquarters said, however, that the South Korean army had generally stabilized this eastern sector of the front. It apparently was based on information later than that in the communique.

Allied planes kept up their ceaseless hammering of invader ground forces back of the front Thursday. A Far East air force communique listed nine enemy tanks destroyed, 12 damaged, 45 trucks destroyed and 58 damaged.

The North Korean radio broadcast that Thursday's mass B-29 strike hit Wonsan, eastern seaport 80 miles north of the 38th parallel. Nearly 50 Superforts bombed the target by radar. The broadcast charged that "indiscriminate bombing" had caused many casualties in schools and hospitals.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, U.S. air force chief of staff, said the speed with which the United States mounted its big Superfort strike "should give food for thought to those in the world who would violate by military aggression the peace and independence of others."

There were few details of the first patrol clashes along the Kum river, which winds from five miles west to 13 miles north of Taejon. It was at Taejon that the South Korean government took refuge and the U.S. army set up advance headquarters. Both may have moved out by this time.

William R. Moore, Associated Press correspondent, in a front dispatch said that about 100 communist troops appeared on the north bank of the Kum at the approach of a blasted railroad bridge.

They immediately drew a hail of small arms fire and quickly withdrew. Moore said two other attempts by patrols to cross were repulsed. He gave no hint that any of the northerners had crossed.

MacArthur's communique said there had been little change along the central part of the front.

Youth Is Found Eaten By Shark

Galveston, Tex., July 14.—(AP)—The shark that swallowed a boy has officers puzzled.

They know where the shark, a nine-foot man-eater, came from, but they don't know where he found his victim.

Yesterday the carcass of the shark was discovered in the shallow waters of Galveston Bay. A human foot protruded from the decomposed shark.

Heavy Air Pounding Continues

Tokyo, July 14.—(P)—American and Australian planes rained death and destruction on North Korean front-line positions and prime rear supply centres Thursday despite "increasingly bad weather," an air communique said today.

The mightiest strike of the war at communist supplies was a B-29 raid on Wonsan, strategic North Korean port and manufacturing centre 80 miles north of the 38th parallel. About 50 of the big Superforts, using radar to locate targets, dropped 500 tons of bombs.

American and Australian fighter planes ranged up and down the fighting front, strafing and blasting with rockets enemy troops and gun positions.

Fighters destroyed nine tanks, 45 trucks, a half-track and five other vehicles, the communique said. Twelve tanks and 58 trucks were damaged.

The North Korean radio broadcast that Wonsan was heavily damaged by the Superforts.

Crew members of one of the big bombers ditched their plane over the Japan sea. Six of the crew have been picked up. The communique said the ditching did not result from enemy action.

Another B-29 crew bailed out over South Korea Wednesday after their bomber was attacked by two North Korean fighters. The crew has not been found.

No Red aircraft was seen or engaged Thursday, the communique added.

U.S. Fears Russia May Be Planning Attack Elsewhere

By ELTON C. FAY
Washington, July 14.—(AP)—Russia may be trying to lure the United States into so great a military effort in Korea that it could be helpless to challenge large-scale aggression elsewhere.

Illustrating this is a question posed for President Truman at a press conference yesterday and his cautious reply.

He was asked: "are we prepared to resist aggression everywhere in the world?"

His reply was that the situation would have to be met as it developed.

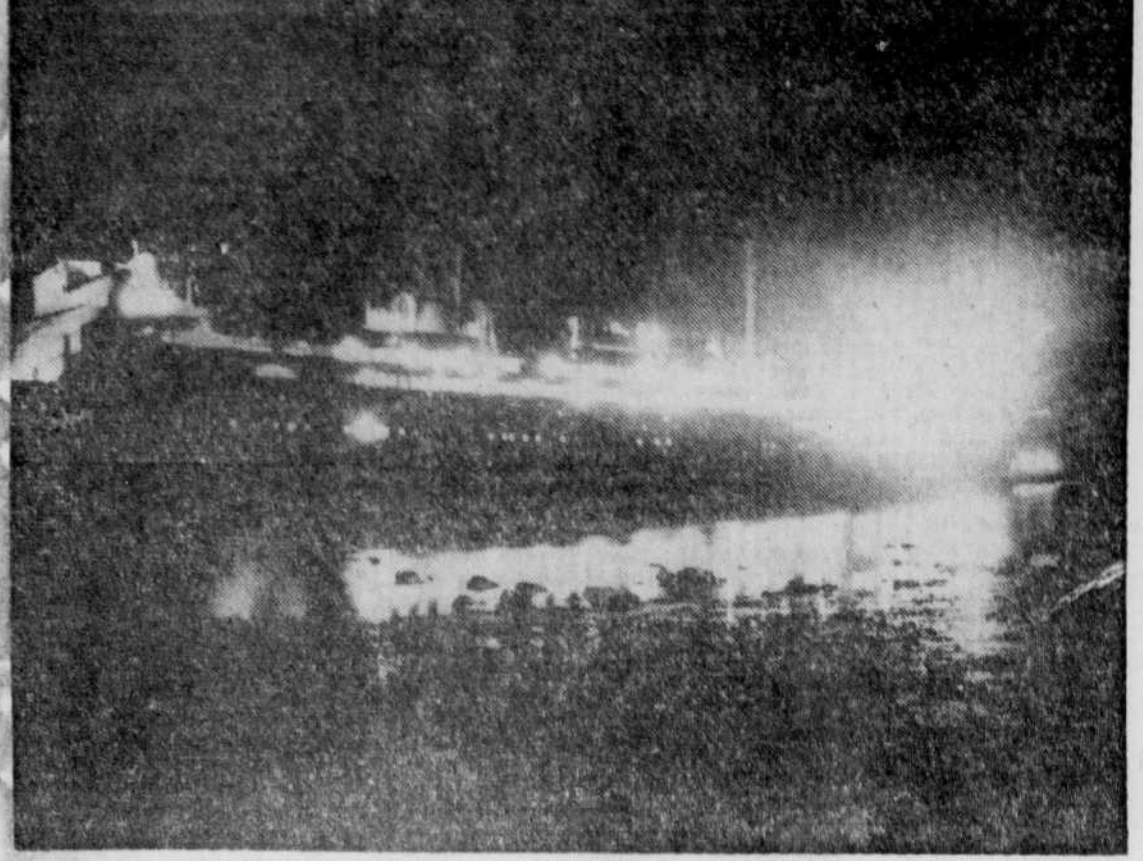

United States military leaders attach importance to persistent rumors of concentration of Chinese communist forces and the enrollment of Russian volunteers for the aid of the North Korean communist army.

But this foreign-policy help may not be thrown suddenly into the war to crush South Koreans and drive American forces out of Korea for a quick victory. Instead, the Moscow-dictated strategy may be to feed the help in gradually, always maintaining superiority in force—and compelling the United States to put more and more divisions, planes and ships into the campaign.

Meanwhile, in these early months of the war, the Korean campaign will afford Russia opportunity to measure the battle-skill of American troops, airmen and sailors—and equally important—the effectiveness of American weapons.

It can also provide an index for the Russians to decide how to determine and how prepared the

A-Powered Submarine To Be Built

Washington, July 14.—(P)—Senator Brian McMahon (Dem.-Conn.) said today that construction work will be started at Arco, Idaho, next month on a land-based model for an atomic-powered submarine engine.

McMahon, chairman of the Senate House of Representatives atomic committee, predicted that a "tremendous improvement in submarine performance is in the offing."

The Arco prototype, or original from which other engines are to be copied, is one of two experimental projects for atomic ship propulsion on which the atomic energy commission has been working since early 1947. The project is being carried on jointly for the A.E.C. by the Argonne National Laboratories near Chicago, and the Westinghouse Corporation.

The A.E.C. earlier had set a September target date for start of construction of the Arco engine which it estimated would cost at least $25,000,000. Arco is the site of the A.E.C.'s reactor (atomic engine) test station.

The other, higher-powered, prototype is being developed by the Knolls atomic power laboratory of the General Electric Company at West Milton, N.Y.

U.S. Would Welcome Ground Aid

Washington, July 14.—(P)—The United States is quietly informing other interested members of the United Nations that it would welcome participation of their ground forces in the fighting in Korea.

There is no expectation among top officials here, however, that the main burden of battle can or will be borne by other than American troops.

There have been reports that the government of Pakistan is considering offering troops to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the U.N. commander for Korea, and that some other governments, so far undisclosed, are also thinking about making offers.

The only foreign proposal to date came from the Chinese nationalist regime on Formosa and is reported to have been discouraged by MacArthur on two grounds: (1) That the nationalist troops are needed for the defence of Formosa against the communists, and (2) their use in Korea might bring the Chinese Reds in on the side of the North Koreans.

Britain and France are the countries generally considered most able to take over a share of the fighting and to operate alongside American forces. Actually, authorities here say, both are already deeply committed to the anti-communist fight in other sectors of Asia.

Britain, Canada and several other countries already have placed naval forces under MacArthur's command. France is expected to send a naval unit in the immediate future.

Critics ranged from mildly approving to lively enthusiastic in their reviews of the opening performance of "Rose Marie on Ice," starring Ottawa's Barbara Ann and Toronto's Michael Kirby.

Some sample comments: Daily Graphic: "Barbara Ann skates like an angel but does not do nearly enough."

Yorkshire Post: "A skating spectacle which would be hard to equal."

News Chronicle: "... Skates like a snowflake."

Daily Herald: "A prodigious production of movement, lighting, color and skill."

Daily Express: "Rembles a sugar-plum fairy..." (in) this first musical on ice..."

Daily Mail: "Barbara Ann won everybody's heart..." the best rose of summer."

The show may tour Canada and the United States after a two-month run here.

Rome, July 14.—(P)—The newspaper Il Tempo says Rita Hayworth may go back into the movies soon. The paper said film director King Vidor is trying to persuade Rita to appear in a new film he will direct.

Sidelights On Conflict In Korea

San Francisco, July 14.—(AP)—Fighting in Korea and the rush to muster transportation, men and supplies hasn't halted pleasure travel to the Far East.

The luxury liner President Wilson sails today with 500 commercial passengers—no troops—for Japan and other Pacific ports.

London, July 14.—(Reuters)—Moscow radio today quoted a Pyongyang dispatch saying that women in North Korea had replaced men in many factories. The men had left for the front.

North Korea was making an "all out effort" to step up industrial production in the rear, the dispatch added.

Tokyo, July 14.—(P)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida told the new session of the diet (parliament) today that Japan will "co-operate within the limits of her ability" in the Korean campaign.

"We see before our eyes," he declared, "the sinister arm of Red aggression... our country itself is by no means free from danger."

Copenhagen, July 14.—(P)—The North Atlantic military production and supply board yesterday promised to speed up supplies and production of arms in western Europe.

The board indicated that this action was deemed mandatory after the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

In a communique, issued at the close of a two-day meeting here, the board said it had decided that "the time had come to adopt a new approach to findings ways and means of increasing supplies and speeding up production."

London, July 14.—(Reuters)—More than 25,000 residents of Warsaw took part in a mass protest meeting yesterday against "the criminal American aggression in Korea," a Polish press agency message received here reported.

Washington, July 14.—(P)—The communist-controlled North Korea radio said yesterday American prisoners carried placards in a demonstration in captured Seoul denouncing American intervention in Korea.

A broadcast recorded by U.S. government monitors said the demonstration took place Monday.

Nothing in the broadcast indicated whether the prisoners took part in the reported demonstration voluntarily or were forced to do so. Earlier broadcasts said American prisoners were paraded through the streets of Pyongyang, North Korea capital.

Hong Kong, July 14.—(P)—Independent Chinese news reports said today Chinese communist military authorities have ordered South China trains to reduce freight passenger services to handle troop supplies. These sources said the supplies were for Gen. Lin Piao's 15th army corps, reported travelling north.

Tokyo, July 14.—(P)—Gen. MacArthur today accepted the flag of the United Nations and said his command would "do all in its power to uphold this noble ideal."

The flag—a white globe surrounded by laurel branches—was presented to him by a group of Japanese.

Canadian Air Force Plans Its Biggest Peacetime Year

Ottawa, July 14.—(P)—Next year is earmarked as the biggest since the Second World War for development of Canadian air combat strength, the R.C.A.F. said today.

By the end of 1951, the air force aims to have five regular fighter squadrons equipped with the new American-designed, Canadian-built F86 jet fighters. They will be based in eastern Canada.

Accelerated production of jet fighters—orders are in for F86s and Canada's long-range CF-100—is expected to be one result of defence department preparations to boost equipment orders this year as a result of Korea and all it can mean.

Development of radar screens around vital targets is also expected to be speeded.

The acceleration and expansion of production of planes, radar and other war equipment is expected to add substantially to the peacetime record of $425,000,000 defence budget approved by Parliament for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1951. This would be done through supplementary estimates seeking possibly up to $50,000,000 more.

The Cabinet is keeping an eye on Washington for signs that the Korean situation may finally bring about the North American war production integration that Canada has sought. An important meeting of Canadian and American officials is scheduled for Ottawa Aug. 8 and the subject probably will come up then.

Meanwhile, as the Canadian destroyers Cayuga, Athabaska and Sioux prepared to sail from Pearl Harbor with U.S. task force "Yoke" for action in Korean waters, naval headquarters said they were as well equipped as any destroyers in the world to handle submarines. This was the answer given to questions on American reports that Russian submarines are in the Korean area.

The R.C.A.F. now has two regular fighter squadrons under its air defence group headquarters at Montreal. One is based at Montreal, the other at Chatham, N.B. Both fly an autotimed version of the British Vampire which has been in service for four or five years.

Air force officials said the five regular squadrons will be based in eastern Canada. These arrangements are fitted into continental defence plans with the United States.

To the five regular fighter squadrons are added the 10 or 11 reserve squadrons, largely fighters, that have been established from Montreal to Vancouver. They, too, will benefit from the influx of new planes, directly or indirectly.

IN HOLLYWOOD

by Erskine Johnson
NEA Staff Correspondent

Hollywood — Behind the Screen: Ezio Pinza, the dream boy of the "after-40-Natures-for-you spelled-backwards" set, was trapped in a crowded room.

While Jimmy McHugh played "Enchanted Evening" from "South Pacific" on a baby grand, 200 guests jammed into Dorothy Kirsten's living room and spilled out into her garden as a welcome-to-Hollywood party for the 58-year-old basso who will have Lana Turner chasing after him in MGM's "Mr. Imperium."

"Bored in a crowded room?" I whispered to him as all 200 guests tried to shake hands with him at the same time.

There was a wild "I-hate-cocktail-parties" look in his eyes as he replied, "Sometimes." Pinza tried to land an MGM contract six years ago. The studio made a test and said, "No, thanks." Then he sailed into "South Pacific" and proved he was a Gable in basso disguise. After MGM's Leo the Lion got through blushing, the studio admitted its mistake and signed him up.

Back In Business
Lois Moran is back in Hollywood and ready to grapple with contracts again even though her name has been missing from movie house marquees since 1931. But there will be no playing mama to Van Johnson or Montgomery Clift for Lois.

She's about as Mother Machree-ish as Linda Darnell. Fans who have forgotten that she started her career at the age of 14 will start mulling to themselves when they lamp her unlined face and whistle figure.

Chill Wills, elevated to star status under his new contract with Republic, wouldn't dream of letting any other actor do an Edgar Bergen to Francis the mule's Charley McCarthy. He told me between takes on the set of "The Black Hills."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

WIFE BLASTS HER HEEDLESS HUSBY

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"What is this business about melds meaning something special?" asks a Santa Fe reader. "We had four sixes and a deuce on the table, and my partner added a deuce to that meld when her turn came. She had about eight or nine cards at the time, and I supposed that she didn't need that deuce very much. At any rate, I paid no particular attention to her meld."

"Later on, after the hand was over, my partner asked me if I had held a six at the time that she added that deuce. I said that I had no six, but that I did hold a wild card."

"Then she said that her play had asked me to complete the canasta for her, and that it was poor co-operation on my part not to honor her request. Now, I'm a co-operator from way back, and I told her so. I said I would be glad to help her out if I could only figure out what she wanted me to do."

"She said that in twenty years of married life together (the lady is my wife) I had never figured out what she wanted. So she wasn't surprised that I was equally blind at Canasta. Any married man can imagine the rest of that conversation, I suppose."

"Anyway, the argument is over, she has flowers and two new dresses, and everything is all right again. Only, what is this business she sprang on me? Does a meld of that kind really mean what she said? Or was she just after some new clothes?"

She had you there, my friend. All the best players really use that kind of meld as a signal.

If your partner brings a meld up to the six-card mark, she wants you to contribute a seventh card to make a canasta. This is especially true of the first canasta for your side, although some players even use this signal for later canastas also.

It would be very hard to work out this signal from scratch. Experienced players found it very important to make the first canasta at certain times. Very often, for example, they are ready to meld out (or nearly ready) but need help in making that first and indispensable canasta. Hence these experienced players began to use the signal we have been describing. It is a very useful convention, as can be seen from the fact that all good players agree on it. If you are playing with a good partner, the use of the signal amounts to a demand. When your partner puts the sixth card of the first canasta down, you don't ask any questions. You complete the canasta and let your partner make the next move.

Q—If the dealer has the cards cut in such a way that he uses exactly the right number of cards for the four players — in other words, if the cut gives him exactly 44 cards — does anybody get a bonus?

A—There is no bonus for this. A bonus is given in some countries of South America, but none is given in this country. It's a little silly to award a bonus for skill in cutting the cards.

Q—Some players recently told us that you must always have a natural pair to pick up a one-card discard pile. Is this correct?

A—No. Provided that you have more than one card in your hand, you may pick up a one-card discard pile in the same way that you would pick up a pile of any other size.

Q—I was dealt a red three and wanted to replace it before anybody played. The dealer said I had to wait until my first turn came. Was he right?

A—Yes. When your first turn comes, you put down your red three and draw from the stock to replace it.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Harry Popkin's "The Hard Pillow."

He says he found it easy to flip in a wheelchair.

"Most paraplegics are comics," he said. "Funny guys from the word go. They never allow themselves to take anything seriously."

Adrian Booth (Mrs. David Brian) is being told that she's a ring for Hedy Lamarr in the black wig she's wearing for a movie role. But there will be no dye buckets for Adrian. She says: "My dad would spank me and David would leave me."

She's been playing western school marm and dance hall girls but she isn't hanging her head in shame.

"Listen," says Adrian, "to make these heroines come true requires REAL acting."

Drummondville

Work on the paving of streets in the municipality of St. Jean Baptiste is progressing rapidly, and when completed this will include, St. Laurent, St. Eusebe, and St. Frederic streets. All of which will connect with 12th Avenue. Following completion of this work project, the municipal authorities are to undertake a new water-works system and sewerage for 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th Avenues inclusive. The municipality has expanded and grown so rapidly in the past few years that public services have to be made to keep abreast of increasing construction. The village now has its own municipal hall, adequate fire equipment, water, sewerage, paved streets on two thirds of its present location, with a public works program mapped out for still greater necessary improvements.

The Health Camp situated on the opposite side of the St. Francis River opened its doors this week to receive 90 underprivileged young girls, for a month's vacation. The directive board includes Dr. Jean-Marc Morin, Father Maurice Daneau, assisted by Fathers Verrier, Fleurent, Champagne, and Dubois. The household guardian and director is Mrs. Dupuis, assisted by Miss Fleurent and Miss Roy. Improvements made to the Health Camp this spring, included a cement sidewalk, and an enclosure around the swimming pool. Visitors are not permitted during the young girls stay at camp, in order to avoid too much candy and chocolates being handed out to the children. Gifts and donations however are gratefully received for distribution among the youngsters to make their stay a little brighter, and that they too may understand that they are not forgotten.

A chartered bus, with around fifty children accompanied by their parents and guardians, departed at 2 p.m. on Saturday afternoon, from the United Church on Lindsay Street for the Sunday School's annual picnic, which was held at Hemming's Falls on the opposite side of the St. Francis on the beautiful and well kept lawns on the site of the Southern Canada Power's project. The Sunday School Teachers' Committee was headed by the resident minister, Rev. Roy P. Stafford, who assisted admirably in the organizing of races and games for the children, with prizes being awarded each winning contestant. The weather was bright and warm, and for those that did not care to take an active part in the games and sports ample enjoyment was available by a swim in the cool water of the St. Francis River, and to bask in their swim suits on the beach in the warm sunshine. Refreshments for the children included milk, soft drinks and ice cream, which was served free of charge. Grown-ups packed their own lunch baskets, with children and grown-ups alike having a most enjoyable afternoon with the party returning back to town around 7 p.m. in the evening.

Chief of Police Maurice Vincent, and Chief Arthur Dionne, of St. Jean Baptiste, attended the annual Congress of Quebec's Fire and Police Chiefs, held at Sherbrooke this week.

The Drummondville City Band visited St. Celestin, on Sunday, July 9th, to take part in the festivities marking the 100th anniversary of this Parish. A parade was held during the course of the afternoon. With the Drummondville City Band joining a musical concert was given during the evening.

The Drummond County Fair has been scheduled to take place on August 4, and will continue for three days. More entries seem to have been listed for this year's fair, which is expected to surpass the previous year's in popularity. There will be amusements of all kinds for old and young alike, so that citizens are asked to keep this year's fair, an open date.

The Price Control Commission will have its officials, study and investigate various complaints every two weeks, between landlords and tenants, at the City Hall, on Lindsay Street, this is in order to give both parties a fair deal.

An inspector from the Department of Transports, at Ottawa, was in Drummondville for a few days investigating the "Delegation's" request to the Federal Government, headed by His Worship Mayor Antoine Biron, for a grant of $25,000 for the construction of a new run-way at the local airport for Drummond Air Services. The Department will base its decision on this matter following a full study of the inspectors' report on his arrival in Ottawa.

The Town of St. Joseph is to install, traffic lights, some time between now and the month of August. These will include one on the corner of St. John St. and St. Joseph Blvd., St. John and St. Marcel, while another will be installed on the corner of St. Leon and St. Damase streets. This municipality has lately completed a fire-alarm system at the new city hall, and with an additional 18 volunteer firemen, added to its recent purchase of fire engine equipment is now ready to cope with any emergency arising from fire.

The annual elections of the directors, at the Central Council of the Catholic Syndicate of Drummondville held recently gave the following results: Messrs. Rodolphe Fellerin, re-elected president for a third consecutive term; Romulus Boisclair, first vice-president; Honor D'Amour, second vice president; Josaphat Benoit, treasurer; Miss Gerty Timmons, secretary, and Mr. Bruno Beaudoin, business agent and organizer for his fifth term of office.

A total of 26 building permits have been issued by the city hall during the month of June, which total an amount of $156,950, and totalling 28 new flats now under construction. The larger projects included Champlain Service Station Lindsay Street $16,000; Germain Boisclair Brock Street $15,000, and Mrs. I. Schaefer's Dry Goods Store, Brock Street $14,000.

Several traffic accidents took place here during the holiday weekend. None of these however proved fatal, which was very fortunate to the victims involved. At 9:30 Saturday morning a motorcyclist, Mr. Gerard Malo, suffered a broken ankle and several bad cuts, when he drove into the rear of an automobile directly in front of him, failing to note a truck coming in the opposite direction, while trying to pass the other vehicle. Mr. Malo was taken to the St. Croix Hospital for treatment of his injuries. On the same day around 2 p.m., another motorcyclist Mr. Roland Aube, with a friend on the pillion seat collided with a car belonging to Mr. Donald Jacques, of Thetford Mines, at the crossroads on the 4th Range.

Joining Laurier Blvd. Claude Letendre the back seat rider of Mr. Aube, suffered severe head and leg injuries and had to be rushed to hospital for treatment. Towards 5:15 p.m. the same day a motorist of St. Gregoire, Mr. Meril Nourry, struck and killed a cow, bounding to Mr. Adelard Metivier, a farmer on the 3rd Range near St. Cyrille. Damage to the automobile are estimated at $325, all passengers in the car escaped injuries. Another collision occurred Monday morning at St. Germain between two automobiles belonging to Messrs. Gaston Boisvert of St. Guillaume, and J. A. Janelle, of St. Germain, both vehicles were badly damaged but no one was injured. For the third time in two weeks, a car overturned on the curve of Bernard Blvd., which adjoins Laurier Blvd. The passengers involved were Mr. and Mrs. Germain Houle and Gerard Houle, of Victoriaville who suffered minor injuries and were taken to the St. Croix Hospital for treatment. Speeding seems to be the main factor of all far too frequent road accidents on the highways today.

Ex-Sherbrooke Resident Gets New Post

The appointment of J. D. Laliberte, of Montreal, as general manager of the Alpine Inn, widely known Laurentian Mountain resort at Ste. Marguerite, Que., is announced by John C. Udd, president of the company. Mr. Laliberte, who has served as general manager of the Berkeley Hotel, Montreal, since 1948, will assume his new duties immediately, succeeding Stanley W. Ferguson, who is moving to an important post in the Canadian hotel field.

Mr. Laliberte, who was born in Sherbrooke 46 years ago, carries a wide knowledge of the hotel business to his new position, having served in well known hotels in Canada, the United States and France.

He acquired his original hotel training in Paris, France, in 1925-26, when he joined the staff of the Hotel Royal Manceau. At one time he was cashier and desk clerk at the world famous Hotel George V in Paris, and at various times was engaged as bookkeeper, banquet manager, auditor, assistant manager and manager of hotels in the United States. For a long period Mr. Laliberte was employed in New York as an auditor with the General Hotel Corporation, and joined the staff of the Ritz Carlton Hotel in Montreal in 1942, remaining in that capacity until 1948 when he became general manager of the Berkeley.

Three Persons Are Killed, One Is Injured In Accidents Near Richmond

Three people were killed and one is in critical condition in hospital here as highway accidents took a heavy toll in this district yesterday.

Dead are: Edgar Vidal, 41, of Richmond; Miss Rose Lacasse, 20, of Thetford Mines; and Miss Jeanine Godbout, 17, of Stoke.

Miss Noelette Laplante, 17, of St. Claude, was still unconscious this morning in the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital following her entrance last night and hospital authorities reported her condition as critical.

Among the injuries she sustained are a cranial fracture and a broken arm.

Miss Laplante was with three companions on the side of the highway three miles this side of Richmond late last night when they were struck by a car going towards Windsor Mills. One of her companions, Miss Lacasse, was killed immediately. Another victim, Miss Godbout, died in ambulance on the way to hospital. Miss D. Mercier, of Richmond, escaped without injuries. Miss Mercier explained that the car missed her since she was furthest from the centre of the highway.

All three victims were living in Richmond since they held jobs there.

Driver of the vehicle was Alfred Ward, of Hamilton, Ontario, who was accompanied by Algen Rief, of Richmond, owner of the car and a young girl friend. The occupants of the car said that a truck sideswiped them forcing them to the side of the road and into the victims.

A coroner's inquest will be held in Richmond this morning.

Coming from the hay field at his uncle's farm yesterday, Edgar Vidal, chauffeur for I. Beaudin, was struck by a car and thrown approximately 100 feet. The accident occurred on the Danville highway three miles from Richmond. The victim was rushed to the St. Vincent de Paul hospital where he died at 8:20 last night.

Mr. Vidal, who owned and operated his own farm, is survived by his wife, the former Lucille Perron, of Richmond, and four children, all under 10 years old.

The robbery occurred around midnight and would have been a success had an unidentified woman not called police to inform them of the goings on at the office.

Constable Ovide Tremblay and Constable Henri Malenfant arrested the trio and seconds later the local force was warned to be on the lookout for the twosome who fled.

It is expected that the three men will appear in court here this morning and that warrants for the arrest of the other two men will be taken out.

The oldest of the five is 24 while the others are in their teens or early twenties.

Safe Robbery Attempt At Wonder Bakery Foiled By Municipal Police

A well-planned, safe robbery at the Wonder Bread office was foiled by municipal police last evening.

Five thieves broke through the front door of the office, situated at 83 Court Street, carried out a small safe containing $700 in cash and $500 in tickets and placed it in an awaiting car. Police arrived at the same time the men were ready to pull away and three were captured. The two others fled and are still at large.

The three men detained by police are from Montreal while the other two, whose names police know, come from Sherbrooke and Montreal.

B. C. Howard Farm House Is Burned

A two-storey wooden construction farm house, situated on the Stanstead Highway, near the Huntingville turn, was completely demolished by fire yesterday afternoon.

The home, occupied by Samuel MacDonald and owned by B. C. Howard, was demolished within an hour. The intense heat scorched the trees on the front lawn but a large barn, situated several feet away from the farm house, was not burned.

Firemen from Waterville aided by Lennoxville firemen saved the barn but were unable to stop the flames at the house.

The origin and amount of damage are not yet known.

Resolutions Dealing With Control Of Traffic Debated At Chiefs' Convention

Two resolutions, both concerned with traffic control, were debated at the closing session of the Province of Quebec Fire and Police Chiefs' Association convention which wound up its deliberations yesterday.

The first, which was rejected after lengthy discussion, asked the provincial authorities to amend the Motor Vehicles Act to place speed limits of thirty miles an hour within municipalities and fifty miles an hour in the country. The present law, ruling against dangerous driving, was held by many to contain insufficient definition of the conditions which made driving dangerous.

The main complaints came from the chiefs of urban municipalities, who said they found it difficult to obtain convictions for dangerous driving as the present law was not specific insofar as speed restrictions are concerned. The chiefs from smaller towns felt the present legislation, properly enforced, would meet the needs of the law officers.

The second resolution thanked the Provincial Government for providing two license plates for automobiles, but suggested that something might be done to improve the quality of the paint, which was claimed to be very unsatisfactory.

Boys' Town Youngsters Go To Stoke Lake

The first day-long camp of the Sherbrooke Optimist Club's Boys' Town was held on Wednesday at the St. Patrick's Old Boys' Camp at Stoke Lake, when 60 youngsters spent the day hiking, swimming and playing baseball.

It is the intention of the Optimists to sponsor these outings once a week for the balance of the summer, so that the children may learn to swim.

Among those who helped on Wednesday were Laurier Lapierre, sports supervisor, Serge Blais, Henry Blais, and Optimists Vic Jarjour and Henry Crochetiere.

MOSCOW AND TRYGVE LIE

Trygve Lie, the Norwegian labor leader who is secretary-general of the United Nations, has been the chief target for one of the most bitter attacks made by Moscow on the United Nations. Mr. Lie has been criticized by Moscow before, and with as little validity as in the present instance, but the controlled Russian press has shown some restraint. Now, however, all restraints have been cast aside, and Mr. Lie has been given the full treatment. Moscow declares that he is a stooge, a coward, a right-wing Socialist, an "abettor of American aggression" who is helping to destroy the United Nations.

Apart from being a good example of Communist vituperation, the incident also illustrates the futility of expecting anything in the way of ordinary decency or courtesy from the Russians, the Kingston Whig-Standard declares, continuing that in his present post, Mr. Lie has acted in a manner which leaves the strong impression that he is a man of high principles. These have led him to favour the cause of the Western Powers at times; at others, they have led him to favour a cause opposed by the Soviet Union. He appears consistently to have placed one cause above all others—that of establishing genuine peace.

His most recent advocacy of action demanded by Russia was in the matter of Chinese representation in the United Nations. Mr. Lie believed that Nationalist China should be unseated, and the Chinese Reds given representation. His argument was reasonably presented, and he had made some headway; he continued to do what he thought was right, although he knew very well that by sponsoring a Communist cause he was risking loss of popularity in certain Western quarters. Considering all the circumstances, it would not seem unnatural to conclude that Mr. Lie might at least be spared Moscow's heaviest barrage of vilification.

Yet the conclusion would be utterly erroneous. Moscow is not guided by matters of principle or normal standards of relationship. The only thing that matters is complete subservience to Moscow in all things. Mr. Lie failed in this, in the Korean incident, and his past record as champion of a Russian cause vanished as far as Moscow was concerned. Some observers believe the attack may mean an end of Mr. Lie's chances of re-election, since the Secretary-General must be nominated by agreement of the five permanent members of the Security Council, of which Russia is one. However, if events continue along their present course, no United Nations provision requiring Russian agreement can be complied with, since Russia at the moment appears to have more or less parted company with the U.N.

REDUCING THE ACCIDENT TOLL

That experience with a problem in itself does not always provide a person with the knowledge of the best means of solving it was well illustrated in the closing discussions at the annual convention of the Police and Fire Chiefs' Association held here this week. One important group at the convention favored the tightening of the speed limit restrictions as a means of cutting down on major accidents, while another and larger element at the gathering believed the present regulations were sufficient if properly applied.

The chief argument of those favoring definite restrictions on speed was that it was difficult to obtain a conviction for reckless driving unless an accident actually occurred, the contention being that the present legislation left too much to the discretion of the individual judge, who might or might not know anything about conditions in the area concerned. This led them to favor definite speed limits, to vary with the conditions of the highway and the terrain. Opponents of the change believed that the proposed regulations might be used as an excuse for reckless driving, the car owner contending that he was in a fifty-mile-an-hour zone. This might be true insofar as the law is concerned but perhaps was far from the actual facts in the view of local conditions.

The narrow margin given the supporters of the present rules indicates that much study is still required on the means of encouraging safer driving. Perhaps it might be done. One might be through a system of rewards for safe driving, a system which has never been given a real try-out, except to a limited extent on liability insurance.

Proponents of this plan advance the idea that perhaps the governments might reward an accident-free motorist with a partial remission of his gasoline tax, the amount of the bonus to vary with the length of his no-accident record. Of course, there may be substantial objections to the plan, which might not even be worthy of serious government consideration. But it would seem that with the present high rate of automobile casualties despite the imposition of heavy penalties for violation of the rules, some method could be devised of encouraging good driving rather than discouraging bad driving.

Press Comment

STILL TOO LIGHT

Leithbridge Herald

We agree wholeheartedly with the government's decision to punish citizens guilty of espionage in a much more severe manner than is at present our country's policy. Convicted spies, under proposed legislation, will now be liable to prison terms of 14 years, whereas now the maximum sentence is seven years. Actually we don't think this penalty is severe enough, but it is a step in the right direction and its immediate result may be considerable lessening of the amount of espionage work being done in this country.

SEA SERVICE ENDS

Vancouver Sun

The Canadian Australasian Line announces the withdrawal from service of RMS Aorangi, the only deep-sea passenger liner operating out of Vancouver.

For a generation the Aorangi was a familiar sight to Vancouver's waterfront watchers. She and her sister ship Niagara, sunk by mines off New Zealand in the last war, were symbols of the romance of the South Seas. They brought strange cargoes and notable passengers and they took away a good share of Canada's commerce on the "all-red route" to the sister dominions down under.

More than that, when Aorangi came back in 1948, reconverted after an honorable war record, she was the only one of her kind. None of the O.P.R.'s trans-Pacific Empresses returned to the scene of their former reign.

Up to now the public could have had the impression that Aorangi was doing fairly well against plane competition. Her record as a passenger accompanier of 48000 reported filled to near-capacity on trip after trip. Her holds, however, were almost empty.

KIND WORD FOR THE CROW

Winnipeg Tribune

For years game organizations in Canada have been urging that crows be exterminated. This propaganda having had its effect, we were surprised to read that a practical Manitoba farmer warns that the war on the crows has gone too far. Dick Sanderson told the Portage la Prairie Chamber of Commerce that gophers and field mice have increased immensely because there are fewer of their arch enemies, crows.

Although the farmer's warning may come as a shock to sportsmen who are primarily concerned about the preservation of game birds, it has been sounded before by naturalists. They have repeatedly pointed out the danger of monkeying with the balance of nature.

On the prairies war has long been waged on foxes and coyotes and few of them are now to be seen in the wheatlands of Southern Manitoba. While it is true that these animals occasionally raid barnyards, their chief food is gophers and field mice. It is in those parts of the country where the fox and coyote have been virtually cleaned out that the crop eaters have shown such a large increase.

RAT FIGHT

Brandon Sun

Of course, Brandon maintains a rat-breeding dump and tolerates the rising danger of rodent epidemics as well as losses by devouring rats. All places are not so complacent. Paris, France, has declared war on the common, back-alley rat. The front-lines are in the crowded, old streets of Paris, where rats are consuming or destroying merchandise officially estimated at nearly 1,000 tons daily. The problem has become so serious that it is a civil offence to stand by idle when rats are on one's premises, and refrain from taking "direct action."

NOT TOO OLD AT 84

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Charles Hart has been a noted long distance runner in England for more years than most people can remember. When we say long distance we don't mean from 10 to 15 miles, nor even 25. A nice run for Hart is 50 miles and even 100, and he has run from Land's End in the southwest corner of England, to John O' Groat's house in the northwest corner of Scotland. Nobody has ever beaten Hart, one reason being that few men care to race another man for 50 miles or over. Once, Hart raced a horse 50 miles and won. To celebrate his 60th birthday he challenged any man in the British Isles to a 50-mile race—not any man his age, but any age—and there were no takers.

PROVING THE POINT

Montreal Daily Star

The extent to which human carelessness is responsible for the fires which every year blacken thousands of acres of valuable timberland in this country is strikingly illustrated by the report just put out by the Ontario Lands Department on its investigation of 487 fires that had occurred up to a week ago.

Only 46, less than 10 per cent of the total, apparently may be regarded as not preventable. Two were set by fire-bugs, whose irresponsibility may be taken to put the results of their actions in the non-preventable class. Twelve were started by lightning, 32 were due to unattended "other" causes. Of the rest, 150 were caused by careless smokers, who had dropped still-burning matches or smoldering cigarette butts or pipe embers along roads or trails. Inexperienced or careless campers set 77 fires. For not one of these blazes, can there be the slightest excuse. Nor for the remainder, caused by settlers, logging, mining, railway and road construction operations can adequate excuse be found. Admitting legitimate reason for the brush-burning that resulted in three-quarters of the damage, the proper precautions to prevent things getting out of hand were obviously not taken.

It would seem to be time to go on beyond assigning impersonal causes to such fires and find the personal agents responsible, wherever that is possible. Educational efforts apparently need punishment to back them up and drive their lessons home.

RIGHT OUT OF HITLER'S BOOK

Glimpses Into The Past

By BERTHA WESTON PRICE

Potpourri

There comes a time when one finds a certain place in need of a good housecleaning, so it behooves one to attend to the same; even to a treasure chest wherein, like a neglected kitchen cupboard, lie wonders that will come to light and make us wonder how they ever got there. They are all clamoring for attention, to be put to some good use in whole or part, and these facts have brought about the decision to have a potpourri of glimpses into the past, conditions existing fifty and one hundred years ago. Close attention to dates will be paid, but in some places names will not be given; no libel suits are desired.

Today, as in the old days, two of the vital subjects of everyday life are market prices and wages which are rather closely linked for one must work to live, and live to work. Whether the cost of living is beyond the working wage is for a wise man to say, but an old store bill, or a statement of wages paid in money or barter, have an appeal of their own.

On a page of the Ascutt Village History appears the copy of a store bill 100 years old from which we quote: Mr. D-C to Simon Kezar and Co.

2 light window glass . . . 12 cts.
1 roll of thread . . . 06 cts.
1 yd. twist . . . 06 cts.
spelling book . . . 17 cts.
1 1/4 cord chopped wood . . . 38 cts.
Credit: 10 1/2 lbs. butter . . . $1.03
by use of oxen 10 days . . . $3.34

These are just a few items from a long bill. It is remembered that button-hole twist was sold in skeins instead of on a spool as in recent years. The price of butter is one of the most varied in foods from 1800 to 1950.

We find on a store bill of nearly 100 years ago at Glascock's store in Marlinton; credit on bill, 9 lbs. butter, 90 cts.

In a copy of the Bedford Free

Press, a small four-page weekly of date, January, 1837, we find the notice that A. Larocque will deliver milk twice a day in summer at 4 cts a quart and during winter once a day for 5 cts. Then in a copy of The Press, Bedford, Missisquoi County, Hill's Grocery quotes: Coffee . . . 20 cts per lb. and tea 18 to 36 cts, 20 lbs. granulated sugar . . . $1.00, pure indigo print . . . 5 cts per yd., dress serges, all shades . . . 25 cts per yd.

This paper of date Dec. 1830, two years later, is also a four-page paper, but several inches larger. In contrast we find in an old newspaper clipping from a New York paper one of Delmonico's restaurant menus of 115 years ago:

Cup coffee . . . 1 ct.
Bowl tea or coffee . . . 2 cts.
Soup . . . 2 cts.
Chicken stew . . . 5 cts.
Hamburg steak . . . 10 cts.
Beef steak . . . 4 cts.
Half pie . . . 2 cts.

This shows that hamburger could look down on our popular beef steak.

In pioneer days barter prevailed throughout the Townships. It was as good as cash, especially days, or hours work for food, while the exchange of animals in barter, was ordinary practice.

Records show that before and following 1880 men worked six full days a week and 10 and 12 hours a day. One record states that skilled mechanics were paid $12.00 a week.

In a personal letter the late Dr. W. A. Hutton of Springfield, Mass., who was born in Richmond, and lived in Sherbrooke several years before going to the U. S., tells of his boyhood years. When he left the Sherbrooke High School he worked as shipping clerk in Fletcher's Bakery which stood at the corner of Wellington and King streets, now the site of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. He received 10 cents an hour, 10 hours a day. When he went to the U. S. in the late nineties he had one of those old railway ticket books from which was taken the 2 cent mileage. He also had $10 in his pocket and carried with him his parents' wishes for his success. Later he graduated from McGill University, and practised many years in Springfield. He passed away recently and now rests in the family lot in Richmond cemetery. He was an E. T. boy who made good.

A musty scrap of paper clipped from a copy of the Canada Temperance Advocate, published in Montreal, and of date 1854, appears; Wanted—two active men as Ice Drivers. Must read and write and understand management of horses. None but teetotalers need apply.

Men worked long hours in early days, usually from dawn to dark. There were few watches or clocks, but records tell us that Eros Leblond, of Eaton Township paid forty bushels of wheat for a clock and tells us: "It could be heard all over the house." That was early in 1800; then a little later, "Clock Smith," a well known resident of Sherbrooke and the Townships, brought clocks from across the border and mended many which needed it. Probably there are some of those reliable time-pieces still ticking the days and years off the calendar of time.

The treasure chest still guards many similar records that form their own links between the years and today.

The Record Short Story

Just By Chance

By MAY HOLT BATCHELDER

Belton Towers, a small suburban apartment house, was like a busy little beehive occupied by a number of queen bees. For, as is the case in many an apartment building, some tenants were widows. There were at least 10, including Mrs. Bryant, a still-handsome woman in her mid-fifties.

When word got around that a man—a widower—was moving into Apartment 3B, there was a great buzzing among the queen bees. Here, at last, was an eligible man. He wouldn't stand a chance among so many unattached women eager to marry again.

Mrs. Bryant was the only one of the widows who had to work. She had an office job in New York and commuted every day, but on week-ends she enjoyed a pleasant enough social life with her sister widows at Belton Towers. And every evening, from late Spring to early Fall, the widows would gather in the cool courtyard under the willow trees, smoking and gossiping. When Mrs. Bryant, tired out after a day's hard work in the city, had had a shower, changed into something cool and eaten her simple evening meal, she would join her feminine friends out in the courtyard and be briefed on the day's news.

There was, naturally, a great deal of pleased excitement about the new widower. The widows who stayed home all day delighted in telling Mrs. Bryant all about him. His name was Carlton Hughes; his wife had been dead two years; he had no children; he was a college graduate, an electrical engineer, and was now retired. All the widows were raving about him; how good-looking he was, what charming manners. Mrs. Bryant could tell right away that each one of the widows had set her cap for Mr. Hughes.

She was annoyed when the little Southern widow, Eva Grace Watson, smirked coquettishly and said, "I had a mighty interesting conversation with Mr. Hughes this morning. I just happened to meet him in the court. Just by chance."

"Just by chance, my foot," said Mrs. Bryant to herself. She knew that Eva Grace must have been peeking out of her window and rushed right down when she caught sight of Mr. Hughes.

"He's charming," said Mrs. Mills, another widow. She was jolly, plump and pretty; just the kind, thought Mrs. Bryant despairingly, that a lonely man would fall for. Mrs. Bryant listened to the chatter of the widows. Each one, it seemed, had mapped out her own special campaign to capture Mr. Hughes.

Every evening, as the Summer nights grew hotter and more humid, Mrs. Bryant would join the little coterie of widows under the willow trees. Their conversation revolved around one subject only: Mr. Hughes. Mrs. Bryant had to listen to the widows' reports on their progress. Eva Grace Watson seemed to have the inside track. She had found out that he was born and raised in North Carolina, not far from where some kind of hers lived. So she and Mr. Hughes had been having some mighty interesting conversations about the South and she had invited him over for dinner at her apartment next Wednesday evening. She was going to serve fried chicken and spoonbread.

Right after Eva Grace had entertained Mr. Hughes at dinner, Mrs. Mills invited him and served a huge broiled steak, fried onions, baked potatoes and apple pie. "That," announced Mrs. Mills triumphantly, "was my late husband's favorite meal and Mr. Hughes told me it was his favorite, too."

One by one, all but Mrs. Bryant, who hadn't even met this widower, the women invited him to dinner and in the evenings the busy bees would buzz under the willow trees, telling of their pursuit of Mr. Hughes. Mrs. Bryant, wearier each evening after another sweltering day in the city, was quite dispirited at all this talk. She wondered if she would ever see this marvelous Mr. Hughes. Carlton, all the widows were coyly calling him by this time. Mrs. Bryant wondered enviously which of the widows would become Mrs. Carlton Hughes.

One very warm July night, when there wasn't a breath of air stirring, the widows were sitting under the willow trees, buzzing, as usual, about the widower. Apart from the group, in the shadows, Mrs. Bryant sat back in a deck chair and closed her tired eyes. She listened to Eva Grace Watson and Mrs. Mills playing a verbal game of Can-you-top-this? as they discussed their dates with dear Carlton. Mrs. Bryant sighed.

It had been terribly hot in New York all day, the office was stifling, the homebound train like a Turkish bath and it was even unbearably hot out here in the courtyard. So thought to herself how glad she was that she was going to get her two weeks' vacation in a few days. She would be glad to get away for a complete change. Not only from the office, but from this constant buzzing among the widows about the incomparable Mr. Hughes.

She was half-dozing in the heavy evening air when she was alerted by Eva Grace's sharp whisper, "S-s-s-sh! Here he comes. Why, good evening, Carlton," she said sweetly, "are you going to join the ladies?"

Mrs. Bryant sat up in the deck chair and ruffed quick fingers through her tumbled curls. She knew her nose was shiny; but who wasn't in this heat? She smiled expectantly. At last she was going to meet the widower. But she sat back in the shadows and said not a word. Because Eva Grace, Mrs. Mills and the others, each one thinking of herself, selfishly forgot that Mrs. Bryant was there. They never thought to introduce their Dear Carlton. Mrs. Bryant sat and listened to the buzzing of the eager queen bees, all talking in honeyed tones. She looked intently at Mr. Hughes, who had sat down in the glider, with Eva Grace on one side of him, Mrs. Mills on the other. The moonlight illuminated his face. A fine looking man, Mrs. Bryant decided; quiet, fastidious, intelligent. The type she liked. But—she reminded herself sorrowfully—"he's not for me. I haven't the ghost of a chance."

She listened to the conversation. Mr. Hughes had just startled the assembled ladies by saying that he was going away tomorrow for at least a month. Too warm around here for him. He couldn't stand the humidity.

The widows murmured their amazement and dismay. This bad news. A shame to let Mr. Hughes get away from Belton Towers for a month. "Why, why, Carlton," faltered Eva Grace, "where are you going?"

"Up to New Hampshire," said Mr. Hughes. "A small town called Hooperton. There's a quiet little inn, never crowded. I'll spend most of my time out fishing. It will be good," he said slowly, "to get away from this hot weather."

Could he know, Mrs. Bryant sympathetically, that he also wanted to get away because he feels the widows closing in on him.

Mr. Hughes soon bade the ladies a courteous goodnight and when he left all the widows buzzed like bees, then they sighed unhappily. They would just have to sit here and bide their time under the willows until his return.

When Mrs. Bryant went up to her apartment she opened the desk drawer and looked at the tickets and reservations for her two weeks' vacation. She had planned to go to Virginia Beach. Smiling happily, she put the tickets in her handbag. She would go to the travel agency tomorrow at lunch hour, turn in the tickets and get her money back. Then, tomorrow evening, she would telephone the Little Inn at Hooperton, New Hampshire, and engage a room for her vacation.

She laughed aloud as she thought of the rare and disappointing of Eva Grace, Mrs. Mills and the others when they learned that Mrs. Bryant and Mr. Hughes had met in New Hampshire. Just by chance, as Eva Grace would say.

Putting cold cream on her face, Mrs. Bryant smiled in the mirror at the reflection of the future Mrs. Carlton Hughes. But not by chance," she said to herself triumphantly.

Weslock's 69 Paces Practice Rounds As Linksman Prep For Canadian Amateur Title Next Week

Saskatoon, July 14. — A swarm of golfers from coast to coast today get down to the serious business of sharpening up their game in final practice rounds for a triple-header championship. Eight four-man teams will fight it out Saturday over 36 holes of medal play for the Willingdon Cup and the Provincial Team Championship. At the same time eight youngsters will decide who is the best junior golfer in Canada.

The team play and junior provide a gala window-dressing for the Canadian Amateur Championship which opens Monday and runs the full week at match play.

Entries for the amateur have reached 98 — a sizeable field for a Western staging of the annual competition. Forty of that number will be busy tomorrow at team and junior play.

All Provincial teams had checked in last night and many of the earlier arrivals tried out a picnic. Recent rains have put it in excellent shape. A few revamping for championship play have cut par from 72 to 70 for the 6,881-yard layout — 36 on the out nine and a grim 34 coming home.

Jerry Kesseling, lanky Kitchener, Ont., star and a former junior champion, summed it up this way, without too much exaggeration. They had 465-yard holes with a pair five, so they cut them to 465 yards and made par four.

Jerry yesterday had a 73 in his practice round, but there was a lot of eyebrow-lifting when Nick Weslock, the Windsor-Detroit veteran, fired a 69 without exerting himself.

With an absence of American stars for the amateur competition, Weslock has been installed as favorite to take the title won last year at Saint John, N.B., by Dick Chapman, who hails variously from Oosterville, Mass., to Pinehurst, N.C.

Also absent is Frankie Stranahan, the muscle-man millionaire from Toledo, Ohio, who was dethroned as Canadian champion last year at Saint John.

The Americans entered so far are pretty much of unknown calibre. They include W. W. Rein of Los Angeles, Cameron Mitchell of Hollywood and Guy Owen of Culbunk, Mont. Owen has been prominent in Western play and is considered the best the United States offers.

There was fairly general agreement today that the team to beat for the Willingdon Cup is the defending quartet from Ontario, behind Weslock and Kesseling. The squad is bolstered by veteran Jack Hamell of London and newcomer Jack Hamell of Toronto.

If Ontario slips, say the experts, it will be a wide-open scramble.

Dr. Bob Reid of Prince Albert joined the host entry yesterday by virtue of his victory in the provin-

McFarlane Favored To Retain His Titles

Hamilton, July 14. — If past performances mean anything, Big Bob McFarlane should shine like a beacon in the two-day Canadian Senior Track and Field Championships starting here tonight.

The 23-year-old medical student from the University of Western Ontario at London will put his 440-yard and 800-yard Canadian titles on the line. The chances are better than even that he won't have too much trouble to hold his laurels.

McFarlane will be a big drawing card on the program which has attracted more than 200 entries from Canada and the United States.

An also-ran in the 1948 Olympics, the blonde runner has just returned from a successful invasion of British and Continental tracks during which he twice conquered Jamaica's Arthur Wint, a hero of the 1948 Olympic Games at London.

McFarlane tonight is expected to get his toughest opposition from George Guida of Russbaum College, Philadelphia. United States quarter-mile champion.

Most of the entries come from Ontario and Quebec. Many of them were on the 1948 Canadian Olympic team and on this year's British Empire Games team which competed with little distinction at Auckland, N.Z.

B. E. Games athletes include Toronto's Rich Ferguson who established Canadian native records—junior and senior—in the two-mile event at Toronto last week with a clocking of nine minutes, 31.6 seconds. He is entered in the mile and three-mile races.

Louis To Fight Charles For Title, Says Norris

New York, July 14. — Joe Louis is coming back to fight Ed Charles in September if he can settle his income tax problems.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, gave out the news yesterday when he revealed plans for a Louis-Charles bout at Yankee Stadium probably Thursday, Sept. 28.

"Joe owes the government a considerable amount of money," said Norris. "The only way he can ever pay it and get straightened out is to fight again."

"He has asked the government to accept whatever his purse would be for a Charles fight in full settlement of the government's claim. That would hold whether his purse amounted to more than what he owed or less."

Norris said Louis got into tax difficulties a few years ago because the government disallowed certain deductions he had taken on advice of his auditors and counsel. He explained that the champ's investments hadn't turned out too well.

He placed Louis' debt at "considerably more" than a reported $58,000.

A bout between Louis, the retired undefeated champ, and Charles, recognized by the National Boxing Association as heavyweight king, should be a big financial success.

Another sure-fire attraction is a proposed midweight title bout between Jake LaMotta and Sugar Ray Robinson, the welter king.

LaMotta, an easy winner over Tiberto Mitri in his first defence, said he is willing to fight Robinson "if the price is right."

The first week in September has been reserved for a Robinson-LaMotta duel at the Yankee Stadium. That would mean Sept. 6 or 7.

Flinging Frankie Has Suspension Lifted

Philadelphia, July 14. — Flinging Frankie Filchick, star forward passer and quarterback with Montreal Alouettes, today was freed from an indefinite suspension which had barred him from playing in the National Football League in the United States.

Filchick, the American ace who led Montreal to its first Dominion championship in 18 years last year with a 28-15 victory over Calgary Stampeders, will play with Alouettes again next season.

Coach Lew Hayman of the Alouettes said Frank will remain in Montreal.

"We definitely want to make this clear," Hayman said, adding: "We're very happy. Commissioner Bell's decision clears a cloud that has been hanging over Frank for some time, and which should have been cleared long ago."

But today's action by Commissioner Bert Bell of the N.F.L. will enable him to negotiate as a free Filchick and a teammate, Merle Hapes, who was quarter back and coach last season for Hamilton Tigers, were suspended after a hearing before Bell in 1947. They admitted that they received and rejected a bribe offer and did not report it to their club or the league.

Three men were convicted and sentenced to jail for offering money to Filchick and Hapes to "fix" the N.F.L. championship game between the Giants and the Chicago Bears. The Bears won 24-14.

Neither Filchick nor Hapes was accused of accepting any money. Bell said he lifted the suspension on Filchick after a thorough investigation showed the 33-year-old backfield star "has at all times conducted himself in a manner reflecting the highest standards of sportsmanship."

No action was taken today on an application from Hapes for a lifting of his suspension. Bell said Hapes' application had just been received.

WARDEN

With eighteen members and three visitors present, the July meeting of the Women's Institute was held one Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Jones, at Waterloo. After singing the "Ode" and repeating the "Mary Stewart Collect," the president, Mrs. H.
Jones, conducted the business meeting. Following the reading of the minutes and the financial report, plans were made to hold a food sale. This sale is to be held on Friday afternoon, July 14, at the Southern Canada office, in Waterloo. A very interesting report of the annual convention at Macdonald College, at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, was given by the two delegates, Mrs. Hanna and Mrs.
Sicard. As the publicity convenor,
Miss Hanna, was unable to attend the meeting, the program of the day was left over till the August meeting, which Mrs. Caswell kindly offered to entertain. A motion was made regarding the placing of the scrapbook, which had been made under the supervision of Mrs. McKenny. It is to be sent to Mrs. Maguire, at the Wales Home, Richmond. Following the motion of adjournment, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs.
C. Mairs, Mrs. M. Sicard and Mrs.
C. Bowker.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Morgan and John and Tony accompanied Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ashton and Miss Alice Ashton to Richmond, on Sunday when they called on Mrs.
Dorothy Maguire at the Wales Home.

Miss Evelyn Talbot has returned to Montreal to continue her training at the Montreal General Hospital, after having spent a month's vacation here.

OBITUARIES

MRS. GEORGE LONGMOORE, OF WATERVILLE, FORMERLY OF NELSON

Waterville, July 14. — There passed away an aged and respected citizen on April 20, 1950, of Mrs. Elizabeth Longmore, after a long and trying illness of over five months. She was cared for by her nieces, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre and Mrs. E. E. Bain, until March 31st, when it was necessary to move her to Mrs. Herring's Nursing Home, in Lennoxville, where she was at the time of her death.

Mrs. Longmore was the daughter of the late Samuel Longmore, Sr., and his wife, the late Margaret, and she was born on August 10, 1863, in Nelson, where the greater part of her life was spent.

On March 12, 1907, she was united in marriage to George Longmore, also of Nelson, who predeceased her in March, 1924. The funeral service was held in Johnson's Funeral Chapel, in Sherbrooke, on April 22nd, with the Rev. N. D. McLeod, of Lennoxville, officiating.

The numerous and beautiful floral offerings testifying to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held.

Those attending the funeral service from a distance were Mr. J. W. McIntyre, of St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Mrs. Carroll Chase, of Woodville, N. H.; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Little, of Melndoes, Vt.; nieces and nephews of the deceased; Mr. Edgar Longmore, of Danville; and other relatives and friends from Sawyerville, East Clifton, Cookshire, North Hatley, Lennoxville and Sherbrooke.

On April 23rd, the remains were taken to Leeds Cemetery for interment, by Johnson's motor hearse, and were accompanied by Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, Mrs. Clifford Nutbrown, Mr. C. McIntyre, Mr. E. Wright, Mr. A. Majaur, and Mr. W. A. Watts, who passed away very suddenly just two weeks later.

The committal service at the grave was conducted by Rev. J. L. Warke, of Lennoxville, and was attended by a large number of friends.

Acton Vale's band, which is the pride of the town and is directed by cupping his last semester at Goddard and culminating his work at the college, was a thesis on the co-operative movement abroad and in the United States.

In gathering material for his study, Rexford worked closely with the Plainfield Consumers' Co-operative, and was elected its manager in the fall of 1939, carrying the work full-time during Goddard's non-resident work term in January and February and in the school year. Working closely with Goddard economics instructor Dan Balaban, he has tied his practical experience in Plainfield to the theory and history of the entire co-operative movement.

During the past year, Rexford has served as a leader in the college community Educational Policies committee, a student group charged with making a continuing study of the Goddard educational program.

by L'Abbe Vadenais, played "Skipper" and "Lustspiel."

The Cowansville Band led by Edward Benoit, played "Officer of the Day" by Ball, and "King of Harmony" by White.

The Marieville Band was directed by Aime Frechette.

The two evening concerts were given by the Iberville Band led by Vincent Brunelle and the Waterloo Band. Iberville played Strauss' "Un Bouquet," "Princess of India," a clarinet solo with Raymond Bertrand as soloist, "Three Slippers" and "Begin the Beguine."

The Waterloo's contributions were "Our Director," "Orion," "Sweet Evening Bells" with David Bloomberg as bell soloist, "Haut Monde" and "Belphegor." It was a mark of pride to the Waterloo band to be elected to play for one of the evening concerts, as this is a place of honour among all bands. The special guest soloist for the day was Mr. Douglas Puttick, who formerly was a resident of Waterloo, and played with the Waterloo Band for some time. He is at present a soloist with the Royal Montreal Band, and is one of the leading cornetists in the city of Montreal. He played solo work in both Stratford and Waterloo, Ont., under the capable leadership of his director, Captain Jackson.

NEW TRAFFIC LIGHTS

The Waterloo Town Council under the leadership of His Worship Mayor Albert Norri have installed traffic lights in the Town of Waterloo.

The lights are situated at the busy intersection of Main and Lewis Stret, and the Chief of Police has received instructions to see that the law is obeyed to the fullest extent in regards to these lights.

The traffic conditions in Waterloo have of late become a disgrace to the town, and it is hoped that the installation of these lights will go a long way to slowing down the pace of cars travelling through and in the town.

There has been a warning light placed opposite Crystal Springs Bottling Works at the East end of the town, with the hope that the numerous accidents that occur at this end of the town may be curbed with this warning blinker light.

The council has advised that the fullest punishment will be meted out to traffic violators in Waterloo. Fines, suspensions and license cancellations may be the result of reckless driving in the limits of Waterloo now, and it is done with the sole purpose in mind of curbing accidents that are caused by reckless and foolish driving.

One more step has been taken by the city fathers in the final decision of moving the town dump from its present site at Robinson Park to a place outside the town limits. This has been a thorn in the side of several mayors and council men for the past few years, as the present site is situated in one of the natural beauty spots in town, and its presence there has certainly kept the use of the park at a bare minimum. It is hoped that now this beautiful park will take its place of beauty in the minds of the citizens and will be used for the purpose for which it was originally meant.

Eastman Cemetery Association Held Annual Meeting And Elected Officers

Eastman, July 14.—The annual meeting of the Eastman Cemetery Association was held on June 14, in the St. John's Church Hall. There was a good attendance present.

The officers were all re-elected for the year 1950, as follows: President, Eric Hallman; trustees, Morden Lamb and Fred Benoit; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Edna Parker.

The financial statement was then given. There has been a considerable amount of work done on the grounds. There is a new fence and many improvements.

Most of the cost of the upkeep of the cemetery has been donated from friends and relatives. The Association greatly appreciates these donations.

Reginald Statton was again appointed caretaker.

The committee visited the cemetery and found it in good condition and satisfaction was expressed.

It is hoped that as time goes on more people will become aware of their responsibilities as to the care of the last resting places of their loved ones and contribute at least the small sum of two dollars yearly for the upkeep of their lot, as it is the only way that any work can be done.

General Notes

Miss Kathleen Broadrick, of Orford Lake, was visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Lapointe.

The minutes of previous meeting was read by the secretary, Mrs. R. Merrill. The treasurer, Mrs. William Robinson also gave the financial statement.

Mrs. MacVicar showed a beautiful doll bride's outfit, that she had made. This outfit was exhibited at the Convention at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, in June. The Fair Exhibit Committee gave its report. The exhibit this year will be any article of handicraft work made during the past year, by a member or relatives. A food sale will be held at the United Church Vestry on Saturday, July 15, at 3 p. m. The committee includes Mrs. E. Crook, Mrs. W. Robinson, Mrs. Lysie Thompson and Mrs. Murray Thompson. If any member cannot deliver their food to the vestry they are to contact Mrs. Crook. The August Quarterly meeting is to be held at Minton, on August 9th. The president thanked Mrs. Waite for the excellent report. There will be no meeting in August. A basket lunch was served by the hostess.

The "Friendly Christmas Club" was pleasantly entertained one afternoon by Mrs. Lancelot Piercy, at her home on Lower Main Street. CHERRY RIVER

The Women's Institute held its July meeting in the store of Mrs. Metevier. The hostess was Mrs. Roy Aldridge. Due to the absence of the president, Mrs. Whittier, the chair was filled by Mrs. Mervie Whittier, the vice-president, and of the secretary-treasurer, that office was filled by Mrs. Betty Katt, who read the minutes and treasurer's report. There was a short business program, due to a small attendance, owing to haying time and sickness. It was decided to continue the sale of tickets on the iron. Letters of thanks were read from those having received cards, while sick or bereaved. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Della Mitson and there will be an apron sale. At the close of the meeting, the hostess, Mrs. Aldridge, assisted by Mrs. Metevier, served delicious refreshments.

The Willing Workers meeting was held in Mrs. Metevier's store. The hostess was Mrs. Maude Buzzell. There was a good attendance. A letter of thanks was read from the minister of the chapel church for a donation, given to them by the Willing Workers. It was decided to help give prizes for the school children.

A donation of $10 was given to the Cemetery Fund. The next meeting will be held with Mrs.

Corine Metevier. Mrs. Buzzell served a delicious salad lunch.

General Notes

Many complaints are being heard from many of the Cherry River residents, who have land adjoining their houses, of people trespassing and helping themselves to whatever they see, that they want. Some chop down trees for their winter wood; take rail fence posts, apples, berries and whatever they see and the owners cannot get anything off their own places. This has gone on long enough, and from now on, steps are to be taken to stop it. It is just plain stealing and will be handled by law, hereafter.

Mrs. Bilton, of Bromptonville, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Darrell Whittier, and upon her return, Mrs. Whittier went with her for a few days' rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lamy spent a week-end with the Walter Lamy family.

Mrs. Lawrence Buzzell, who was operated on, at the Mogog Hospital, has returned home and is doing fine.

Mrs. Desmond Hornett, who was operated on in Sherbrooke Hospital, is home again.

Upsurging Saints Edge Out Locals 7-4 With Big Ninth Inning Rally; Jelincick Homers With One Aboard

Staging a rally in the upper half of the ninth inning last night, to register five runs, the Saints pulled the game out of the fire and upset the Sherbrooke Athletics 7-4 in a regular scheduled fixture of the Provincial League.

Armando Roche seemed to be coasting along to his eleventh victory of the season and had given up only three hits for the first seven innings. He allowed a bingle to Dufort in the fourth, and in the fifth Couillard and Morales singled, but he kept them stranded as he forced the following two men to fly out and end the rally. He retired two and gave up the same amount of free passes to first.

FRANK JELINCICK HOMERS

The locals had their big inning in the fourth when Gladu singled and moved along when Garcia came through with another bingle. Nance lifted a long fly ball to centre field and Gladu raced home with the first run. Frank Jelincick then lifted the ball over deep centre field fence to register two runs and give the A's a 3-0 lead.

In the seventh, Nance, Dussault drew a walk, stole second, and when Paul Martin connected for a single he came home with the locals' fourth tally to give Roche a comfortable 4-0 lead.

In the eighth with one away Runge was given a free pass to first and then Rene Valois, the Saints' rangy backstop, drove the ball out of the park to put the Saints back in the ball game.

In the ninth the roof caved in on Armando Roche, who enjoyed a good evening until then. Pecou filed out to start things. Christy worked a free pass and that was the end of Roche. Lou Shapiro came in for a short stay. Couillard singled to load the bases and Shapiro forced in a run when he batted Morales. Runge picked up his first hit of the evening to drive Christy home with the tying tally.

Manager Gladu then called on Zuluetta to try and put out the fire, but before he could retire the side the Saints had moved into a 7-4 lead, having tallied five runs.

In the lower half of the frame it was 2-3 as Pascual, Zuluetta and Dussault went out in that order.

Tonight the locals have an evening off, but tomorrow they pay a visit to St. Hyacinthe for a Saturday evening fixture. Sunday they engage in a twin-bill engagement with Granby Red Sox.

Bill Kennedy Saves Another For Orioles

International League batters are wondering where lefty Bill Kennedy of Baltimore Orioles got the tag "wild man."

Kennedy, since his arrival from the parent St. Louis Browns, has been one of the best pitchers in the league and his control is tops.

The big lefty last night picked up his ninth victory against only three defeats with a neat relief job as the Orioles came from behind to beat Springfield Cubs 8-6.

Kennedy entered the game in the seventh inning with the Orioles trailing 4-4 and held the Cubs hitless the rest of the way, fanning two and walking none.

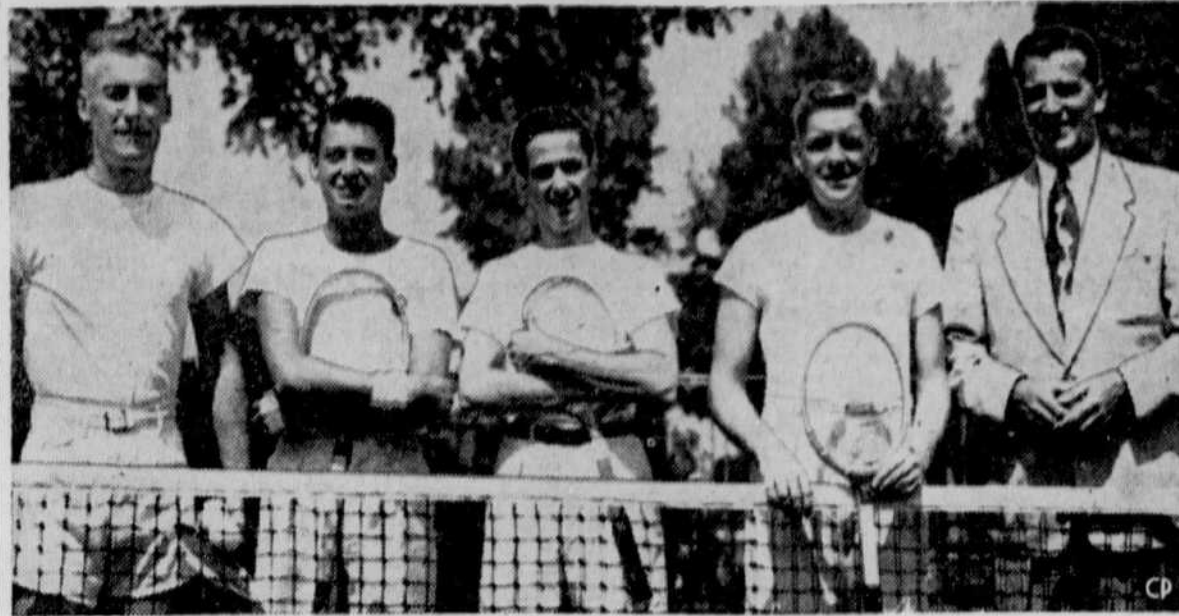

The Orioles won the game in the eighth inning with a four-run rally. Anse Moore tied the score with a two-run homer. Shortstop Jack Wallace's error admitted the tie-breaking runs.

Rochester's pace-setting Red Wings remained 1 1/2 games in front of the Orioles by edging the last-place Buffalo Bisons 5-4.

The Wings won the game in the ninth, scoring once to break a 4-4 tie. Lou Ortiz singled, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Dick Cole's one bagger. Rookie Ken Wild was the winner and Harry Byrd the loser.

Scheduled games between Syracuse and Jersey City and Montreal and Toronto were rained out.

Carry Canada's Hopes

Canada's chances for the Davis Cup, emblematic of world tennis supremacy, ride on the shoulders of this determined squad. Meeting the Australian team at Montreal's Mount Royal Tennis Club this week will be, left to right: George Robinson and Lorne Main of Vancouver, Henri Rochon and Brendan Macken of Montreal and Gordie MacNeil, non-playing captain. KID GALIVAN GAINS DECISION

Australians Odds-On Favorites To Lick Canada In Davis Cup Matches

Montreal, July 14.—(P)—The Australians are odds-on favorites to win the first-round singles matches of the Davis Cup North American team against Canada in the three-day tennis competition which opens here today.

Harry Hopman, non-playing captain of the Australian squad, predicted last night that his team would sweep the five matches without a loss.

Assigned starters' roles yesterday for Canada were Montreal's Brendan Macken and Lorne Main of Vancouver, both experienced Davis Cuppers. Macken meets Frank Sedgman in the first match, while Main goes against lanky Ken McGregor, rookie member of the Australian team, in the second.

Jack Bromwich, the Aussies' 31-year-old doubles star, and newcomer Mervyn Rose will view the matches from the sidelines along with Canada's idle players, Henri Rochon and George Robinson of Montreal. Bromwich and Sedgman were named to the Australian doubles squad. Gordon MacNeil, non-playing captain, said he will announce Canada's doubles pair only after today's matches.

The 20-year-old ambidextrous Main, who is hitting the ball with more control than ever before, faces a tough opponent in 21-year-old McGregor, who specializes in a blistering service.

In Sedgman, Macken meets a player who packs power in every department. Sedgman is Australian singles champion.

To make any sort of a showing Macken will have to solve the Australian's cannon-ball service, terrific volleys and overhead smashes.

The grass courts at the Mount Royal club were the matches will be held are expected to be heavy. A steady downpour that started early last night and lasted well into this morning gave the two courts a thorough soaking.

Groundsmen worked throughout the night draining water off heavy tarpaulins that covered the courts.

The first singles match is scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p.m. EDT.

Lumley, Stewart, Prystai And Henry Ace Players Involved In Transaction; Biggest Deal Since Leaf-Hawk Swap

Detroit, July 14.—(P)—Some of hockey's best known players changed hands today in a record nine-man National Hockey League trade between the Detroit Red Wings and the Chicago Black Hawks.

Goalie Harry Lumley and defenceman Jack Stewart led the list of five players given up by the league champion Wings. The other three were left wing Pete Babando, defenceman Al Dewsbury and centre Don Morrison.

The Hawks, in return, gave Detroit centre Metro Prystai, left wing Gaye Stewart, defenceman Bob Goldham and goalie Jim Henry.

The biggest previous swap was a seven-player deal in November, 1947, in which Toronto obtained star forward Max Bentley from Chicago.

Gaye Stewart and Goldham were among the players the Leafs gave Chicago in that swap for Bentley.

It was Prystai, however, that offered the most attractive bait to the Wings. With the aging Sid Abel now heading up Detroit's number one line, they were in need of a young, high-scoring centre.

The 22-year-old Prystai was Chicago's leading goal-producer last season with 28, which made him fourth best in the league.

Lumley, runner-up to Canadiens' Bill Durnan last year for the coveted Vezina Trophy, generally is considered one of the best goalies in the business.

But the Wings were in the fortunate position of having another topnotch net minder in their organization—Terry Sawchuk of Indianapolis. It was only because of this that they agreed to give up Lumley, who still is only 23 despite nearly five years in the N.H.L.

A different consideration influenced Detroit general manager

BILL DURMAN RETIRES

Montreal, July 14.—(CP)—Big Bill Durnan, six times winner of the Vezina Trophy as the National Hockey League's top goalie, has finally decided to quit hockey for good.

Durnan told Frank Selke Montreal Canadiens' general manager, yesterday that he is through. Said Durnan: "I could never stand another season. My nerves are all shot and I know it."

Jack Adams in agreeing to let go of 33-year-old Jack Stewart, one of the league's best defencemen for years, Adams said Eddie Goodfellow, new Chicago coach, was planning to "give Stewart the status of an assistant coach."

With Sawchuk up from Indianapolis, Henry likely will be farmed out as he was last season after the Hawks got Frankie Brimsek.

Gaye Stewart, Chicago's third best goal-maker last year with 24, is likely to see considerable action on a Detroit line. Goldham, a hard body-checker, probably will have a tough time winning a regular job among Detroit's many defencemen.

Babando, a native of Braeburn, Pa., and one of the few American-born players in the game, came to the Wings in a trade with Boston a year ago. His chief claim to fame is that he scored the winning goal against New York in the final game of the Stanley Cup series in April.

Morrison and Dewsbury have spent most of their time in Detroit's minor league organization. Both are expected to get a better opportunity to break into the big time regularly as a result of the trade.

The road-loving Bengals boast an amazing 28-9 record away from home. At Briggs Stadium they're only a fair 22-17.

Clyde Vollmer, Ted Williams' replacement, smashed a homer and two doubles in Boston Red Sox 8-7 "squeaker" over Chicago. Rain cut the game to 7 1/2 innings. Vollmer, playing left field with Williams out of action because of a broken elbow, drove home 2 runs. Vern Stephens also homered, his 19th, in a five-run first-inning attack that routed Boston's old nemesis, Ray Scarborough.

Ted Williams' Operation Reported Successful
Boston, July 14.—(P)—Encouraged by the immediate medical reports of Ted Williams' splintered-elbow surgery, General Manager Joe Cronin today said the Boston Red Sox' $125,000-a-year salaried slugger will continue on the club's active player list.

"I don't want to put Ted on the sidelines officially until such action appears absolutely necessary," Cronin said.

If Williams was declared disabled by his club, it could obtain a replacement for him and still remain inside the major league's 25-player limit.

He suffered the injury making an against-the-wall catch in the first inning of Tuesday's All-Star game in Chicago.

During a 75-minute operation yesterday in a nearby Cambridge Hospital, seven bone fragments, the largest the size of a shape of a dime were removed from his left elbow.

The attending surgeons, Drs. Joseph Shortell and Ralph McCarthy, agreed that the surgery was "very successful."

Both were certain that Williams would regain full use of his left arm and would be able to play again. Neither would predict when.

Williams suffered considerable pain last night but the surgeons said that would be the customary reaction to such an operation.

Forest Keene Named Q.S.H.L. Delegate

Montreal, July 14.—(P)—Representatives of the Quebec Senior Hockey League's seven clubs last night met here and discussed a contract proposal drafted by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association that would be signed by all senior hockey players next season.

The club heads went over all details of the contract and named three delegates to represent them at Toronto July 22 when all C.A.H.A. affiliates will gather to give their views on the proposals.

George Slater, Q.S.H.L. president, Roy E. McKenzie, secretary-treasurer, and F. Keene, official of the Sherbrooke, Que., Saints, were chosen to go to the C.A.H.A. meeting.

Also briefly discussed tonight was the Super Senior Hockey League competition. The new Super League was formed at the end of last season to bring together top-notch players from the Western Senior Hockey League, the Ontario S.H.L., the Q.S.H.L. and the Maritime or Cape Breton Senior Hockey Leagues.

Yesterday went to Mrs. Janet Vezina, Royal Quebec, who carded a 98.

Last year's winner, Mrs. M. Stevens of Albany, N.Y., carded a 96. Mrs. B. N. Holtham, Sherbrooke, and Mrs. Charles Rathgeb, Rosedale, Montreal, were tied for first low net with a score of 78.
