

TAKE SCHOOL CENSUS

Superintendent Urges Response

R. Steeves, superintendent and secretary-treasurer of the School Commissioners for the Municipality of the City of Westmount, is urging all householders to complete the 'school census form' now in the mail, with the least possible delay, and return it, making use of the stamped, return-envelope provided for the purpose.

Annually the board is faced with the task of making a census of the total school population, of all faiths and creeds, and it is essential that all householders complete the form and return it — whether there are children in the household or not. The information asked for is required by law, Mr. Steeves points out, and the form must not be destroyed.

The form, which is issued under section 285 of the school law of the province which provides that every year during the month of September a census of the children domiciled in the school municipality be taken.

Section 289 of the school law reads: "Every head of a family, tutor, curator or guardian who refuses to give the information — or who makes a false declaration — shall be liable to a fine of not less than five or more than twenty-five dollars."

Questions asked on the form include: names, address, religion, number of children be-

Manager Reports Use Of Materials

Reporting on the use of materials in recent street repairs, the city manager reveals:

"On sheet asphalt streets repairs required the use of 12 tons of cold mix asphalt and 100 tons of hot mix asphalt and on tar macadam streets 3 tons cold mix asphalt and 72 tons hot mix asphalt were used.

5,551 sq. ft. of sidewalk and ramp repairs were completed. This work was done mainly on Belmont Avenue, Belvedere Place, Grosvenor, Strathcona and Sydenham Avenues.

The following tramway streets were resurfaced using 1" thick binder varying in thickness from 3" to 1" at the gutter, Atwater Avenue, Greene Avenue (Sherbrooke to St. Catherine) St. Catherine Street (Atwater to Glen Rd.)

8 Proprietors Protest Raise In Valuations

Westmount City Council is considering the appeals of eight property owners who are protesting the figures arrived at by the city's board of assessors.

The appeals were heard at a statutory meeting of council held at City Hall Tuesday night. Mayor Bruneau and the council together with the assessors heard the property owners state their cases.

Originally nine appeals were lodged, but this number was cut to eight when one of the appellants withdrew. Opening the meeting the mayor commented on the low number of appeals and said it reflected to the credit of the board of assessors.

About sixteen people attended the meeting, but anybody who went there expecting fireworks was disappointed. It was a quiet orderly affair. At one period however it seemed that something approaching a heated debate might develop when one member persisted in trying to find out how the business rate was arrived at.

The assessors had earlier stated that their assessment figure was based on the business rate in this instance, but they were prepared to reconsider as further facts had come to light. The mayor informed him that it was not the responsibility or function of the meeting to discuss how a business rate was arrived at and advised him to consult a proper authority. The man persisted for some time in his query but finally sat down.

The following lodged appeals: E. A. Pratt, 4129 St. Catherine street, Norton E. Fellows, 581, 589, 597 Cote St. Antoine road; Mrs. Hazel A. Rubenstein, 4400

WOVEN in WESTMOUNT

By DONALD J. HENDRY

A TOWNSHIPS TALE . . . When a columnist returns from his holidays, he or she usually fills one column with vacation notes. At times this may prove dull, and at other times quite interesting. We hope the latter will be the case in this instance. We spent part of last week in Quebec's picturesque Eastern Townships, an area which we have visited intermittently since a very early age. We could never quite understand why more people don't holiday down this way in lieu of "up north" because as far as we are concerned the Townships offer much more in many ways than the Laurentians.

SECOND STANZA . . . Take traffic for instance. It would seem to this pillarist that the greatest part of a Laurentian weekend is spent trying to get off the island of Montreal on Friday night and then trying to get back on the island on Sunday evening. In all the times that we have headed to the Townships for a weekend we were never held up in the sort of traffic jams which develop between Cartierville and St. Jerome. It may be true that the Townships are a little farther away from Montreal than the Laurentians but the travelling time in spite of the difference in mileage is negligible.

AND SO ON . . . Lake Memphremagog which is situated some eighty to eighty-fives miles from Montreal is one of the most beautiful lakes in Eastern Canada. It is more than thirty-five miles long and crosses the United States border with Magog, Canada at one end and Newport, Vt. at the other. The water is clean and offers some very good fishing. Brome Lake near Knowlton and Lake Massawippi near North Hatley are two other picturesque lakes a short distance from Magog.

A PARAMOUNT PEAK . . . Last Sunday we trudged to the top of Owl's Head Mountain situated on Lake Memphremagog near Vale Perkins. The peak is some two thousand feet high and affords a most beautiful view of the lake and surrounding country. It is a long hard climb up a narrow trail but the effort is rewarded when one has reached the summit. At the summit, there is a huge rock upon which the names of members of the Golden Rule masonic lodge have been sculptured. We visited this rock some ten years ago and it was certainly a pleasant return.

A SIGNIFICANT ABSENCE . . . perhaps one of the most particular characteristics of the Townships area is the lack of billboards as well as bizarre soft drink signs. This calls to mind a small poem penned by Ogden Nash: I think that I shall never see A billboard lovely as a tree. Indeed, unless the billboards fall

I'll never see a tree at all. Mr. Nash would be well pleased with the Townships for one can travel miles without coming across signs which mar the landscape.

FINIS . . . Were not anti-Laurentians but we just thought that if you have never been down in the Townships and are undecided about where to go some weekend you might try heading east rather than north. We are quite sure you won't regret it and you may even find yourself going back more frequently as time goes on. As one can plainly deduce this is one person who is completely sold on the area.

E. A. Pratt, speaking on behalf of two of his tenants, stated that their assessment was twice that of neighboring properties. He said that the reason for this appeared to be that the other houses were owned by the people who lived in them. It does not seem right that property owners get more favorable rates than tenants, after all they all pay the same taxes, and make the same contribution to the community, he said.

The mayor referred this query to the board of assessors. A spokesman of the board pointed out that his figures were based on the rental of the property. "It would seem in this case that an abnormally high rent is being paid. He said that in view of the circumstances, the board might be prepared to revise their estimate. One of the tenants then put his case, and pointed out that as his water tax is based on the assessment value of the property he is obliged to pay more for his water than for his oil.

Fruit Moth Fight Thrills Rotarians

Wednesday Westmount Rotary was thrilled by an account of the unceasing war against enemy aliens who are daily trying to infiltrate the rolling prairies, and fruitful orchards of Canada.

The speaker was John King of the Federal Department of Agriculture who is responsible for pest control. His department is engaged in a war to the death with insect pests from other countries who might pose a threat to farmers and apple growers.

Earlier this year Mr. King was in charge of a large operation to eradicate the oriental fruit moth in the Okanagan valley of British Columbia. The operation was successful to a degree and no traces of the pest have been found there since.

"The oriental fruit moth" said Mr. King, "is as its name implies a native of the Orient. It first appeared on this continent in 1915 and since then has spread all over the world. The only place that escaped was the Okanagan valley. Because of its geographical location and the fact that it is surrounded by high mountains the valley was spared."

First indication that the pests had appeared in the valley came in 1956 when officials of a cannery located in the Valley noticed strange insects on the floor of the plant. A truck load of fruit (Continued on page 7)

Teenage Crime Ideas Practical

SOME very practical suggestions toward solution of the problem of teenage crime in the West End have been advanced by The Rotary Club of Montreal in its publication, The Rotary Record.

These suggestions will be read with interest we believe, by all our readers exercised by this vital problem.

Briefly, the authors of the article advocate:

- a clean-up of six restaurants and snack-bars in the area, spots where it is believed most of local teen age mischief originates;
- better lighting in the parks; a return to policemen on the beat;
- active support of service clubs and other public-spirited organizations in a campaign to drive home to parents that juvenile delinquency often starts with parental delinquency;
- action to impress upon parents their responsibility in making children come home at reasonable hours in the evenings;
- appeal to the authorities to keep juveniles away from places where alcoholic beverages are served;
- if satisfactory progress is not made within a reasonable period, imposition of a curfew.

These suggestions provide a practical starting point for a campaign in this area, a foundation upon which some real progress could be built.

Great West End 'Fall-out' Mystery

THAT mysterious fall-out in Westmount, Montreal West and other West End areas last week, which had residents mystified if not alarmed, has been explained: it came from the maple trees which are numerous along the streets of the suburbs.

Montreal Westers awoke one morning to find what looked like a spray of Scotch mist on their windows. Automobiles which had been left out overnight were covered with it. It didn't wipe off.

Closer examination revealed that the tiny clear globules had hardened. They could be scraped off readily, and they dissolved under a wet cloth. But what were they?

Then, to add to the mystery, the leaves were falling by the thousands — green leaves, apparently in perfect health — except that they, too, were varnished with this strange liquid. One resident, looking toward the setting sun from his seat on a balcony saw the mist gently descending although there were no clouds in the sky overhead.

A phenomenon of the recent atomic testing? Smog from the chimneys of St. Henry and Ville St. Pierre? Had this any connection with the exhaust from turbo-jets flying in for landings? What kind of fuel are they using in these new planes, anyway?

The speculation covered a wide field, until some of the local horticulturists spread the word that the mysterious mist came from the "spitting" of the maples, which occurs every autumn but which has been especially heavy this year.

It was a good conversation piece while it lasted.

Malaya at the Cross Roads

By NOEL MOORE

(Mr. Moore, news editor of The Monitor's sister paper, The Verdun Guardian, has recent first-hand knowledge of Malaya where he served as an officer in the police service.)

Friday, Britain, a bland and smiling physician with an experienced bedside manner, assisted at the birth of a new Nation, Malaya.

Nobody referred to the suspect ancestry of the infant, as friends and neighbors gathered round protectively. One powerful aunt, who was not invited, China, managed to blight the proceedings by expressing strong disapproval. She hinted darkly that she would have a much bigger say in the infant's upbringing.

Experienced political midwives who attended, said that delivery was easy, and if there were those who muttered about a miscarriage, their objections were drowned by six million voices shouting "Merdeka" punctuated by the detonations of firecrackers. Meanwhile in the vast sprawling jungle that covers four fifths of the country, Chin Peng, the communist leader, sat by his campfire and smiled enigmatically.

All the appropriate speeches were made, Sir Donald MacGillivray on behalf of Britain conveyed the best wishes of his government, and Tungku Abdul Rahman the premier of Malaya recalled the economic and cultural ties that bind his country to the Commonwealth. Under the treaty Britain has a right to maintain bases in Malaya, and in turn she will come to her assistance if she is attacked by an outside power. It was on this happy note that the celebration ended.

Everybody conveniently forgot about the Communist guerrillas in the jungle. True they have been beaten in the shooting war and over a period of years their numbers have dwindled to less than a thousand. The numbers of murders, ambushes and attacks have dropped off to isolated incidents. The reason for this is not the increased efficiency and numbers of the police and military. It is entirely due to a shift in Communist policy. In 1953 the Communist central executive committee issued an order stating that the policy was being changed. Instead of a shooting war the emphasis was to be placed on the political front. Local commissars and regimental commanders were instructed to lie low and recruit agents to infiltrate the popular front movements. This they have done successfully.

ANOTHER MYTH

Another myth swallowed hook line and sinker by Western observers is the united front presented by the Malays and Chinese. They are hereditary enemies as a glance at the record will prove. The Malayan communist party is 95% Chinese, while the police and army are 95% Malay. If further proof is required the interracial fighting that preceded the British reoccupation after the Japanese surrender can be cited.

It is a marriage of convenience. Sir Cheng Lock Tan leader of the Malayan Chinese Association has stated publicly that the loyalties of his community belongs to Malaya. Yet in 1942 as an officer of the Overseas Chinese Association he signed the minutes of a meeting in Calcutta at which it was resolved to incorporate all the colonial territories vacated by the British, Dutch and French into a new Chinese Empire. At that time it appeared the colonial powers would never return to Asia and the Chinese felt they were the logical people to fill the vacuum.

The Malayan Communist party owes its continued existence to money and supplies donated by the wealthy Chinese merchants of Malaya and Singapore. Now that the British have given independence to Malaya they have no reason to continue their war of attrition. So far they have given no indication of wanting to emerge from their jungle fastnesses. They know only too well that when British troops pull out, and the new

Park Supervisor Writes In Rebuttal To Last Week's 'R. U. Interested' Views

Sirs: I believe that the questionnaire, which appeared in last week's edition, proves very little, if anything. It deals with an infinite number of variables ranging from economics to psychology (ie, cost of rink — parent-child relationship).

The problem of whether a parent would accompany a child to ANY rink, no matter what its cost might be, would be a sufficient question warranting full scale research.

I fail to see any reason why such variables are of interest to anyone. It should be noticed that children have many recreational activities which exclude their parents. There should be no necessity for parents to accompany their children to this artificial rink, although I am sure many will use this idea as an excuse to go skating themselves. Let us remember that play is a major factor in the mental, physical, and social development of the child. The only way to increase good, clean play is to present the child with good, clean facilities.

Why bother asking, "Would there be any possible danger to limbs and feet from the sharp blades of the skates?" One might as well ask what are the chances of spraining a finger at tiddly-winks or breaking an arm at ping-pong. The danger of colds or other contagious diseases would be less while skating in an outdoor rink, with people who are healthy enough to participate in athletics, than taking a bus during a rush hour.

It appears quite obvious that "R. U. interested" is definitely NOT INTERESTED in "skating around, and around, and around again." Well, now we have one person against having a rink; now, how many want it?

As playground supervisor for Westmount Park, I have come into direct contact with several hundred children who remain in the city during their summer vacation. If these children are representative of the rest of the population (and I am sure they are) there ought to be no delay in the progress of this project. I have yet to hear a single child say, "I don't want an artificial rink to skate on."

Are you, as adults, thinking only of yourselves, or will you be unselfish and give your children something to do in their free hours. Is not the happiness of hundreds of children enough reward for the little money which you as residents of Westmount pay?

Come on, kids, this is your chance to state your opinions! Show us which way you wish to be led and there will be many who will lead you there!!

May I congratulate the City Council in proposing this project for the residents of Westmount. In closing, let us recall a Shakespearean quotation: "Our doubts are traitors, And make us lose the good we oft might win by fearing to attempt." (Measure for Measure: 1.4)

Citizen Favors Rink Referendum

Sir: In regard to the proposed rink, I would like to take exception to the statement made in your paper that a referendum would not be a success.

I think it is the only fair way to solve the problem. It could contain two questions:- 1. Should we have an open rink? 2. If so, where should it be located?

Will The Examiner please include the opinions of residents on Academy road in their cross-section of opinion on this subject?

As a resident of the building next to the proposed site, I would like to direct a question to our Honorable Mayor and Aldermen: Would you like to have the proposed rink next to the windows of your home? There are 24 families living in this particular building, many of whom would be directly affected.

I also have noticed large rinks in the Park, many times practically deserted. Where are all the skaters who need an expenditure of one half a million dollars?

If there is actually a need, which could be ascertained by a referendum, then the rink should be built on the athletic grounds; or in the center of the Park where it would not disturb the lives of many people.

Justice.

'Lash Without Jail' Editorial Lauded

Sir: I wish to congratulate you on your editorial in last week's issue entitled "Lash Without Jail Would be Salutory."

There is not the slightest doubt that if our judges (some of whom are appointed politically) had any backbone they could stop this armed robbery now prevalent in a very short time, as these men are cowards and would not take the punishment. A few strokes of the lash would have an immediate effect.

You frequently refer to the traffic at Victoria and Grosvenor but it is much worse on Sunnyside avenue, greater in volume and far more speeding without any control as police cruisers are seldom if ever seen on the western section of the Upper Level.

Hugh M. Scott.

I SAY!

To any Scotsman, particularly a Highlander, the thought of losing the kilt is in itself a dire blow to his pride.

— Major General R. F. Urquhart, Colonel of the Highland Light Infantry.

In view of the lamprey menace, it is encouraging to find other responsible newspapers and community organizations taking up the cudgels against this menace.

The Plattsburg Press Republican in a recent issue headed an article about lampreys as follows. "Crusade under way to free Lake Champlain of loathsome eel," and went on to give the following facts.

"An appeal will be made to the Northern New York district Kiwanis clubs to join the local Kiwanis club in a crusade to free Lake Champlain of the loathsome lamprey eel, according to the chairman of the conservation committee of the Elizabethtown club, Harry H. MacDougal."

The club plans to enlist the support of Governor Averill Harriman, and prevail on him to join with the Governor of Vermont in a bi state effort to eliminate the menace.

This decision was taken after an expert told the club that the fishing in Lake Champlain was spoiled by lampreys. He pointed out that thousands of dollars in revenue were lost to local merchants and others by the destruction of the fish. He suggested that the two states each donate $50,000 towards research.

That is the sort of action that should be taken locally. The lampreys are a real menace in Quebec and if they are not checked now will destroy fishing in the province, and eventually in other provinces. There is no place for public apathy. A lot of so called experts disagree and say that they do not pose a real threat. One scribe poohed the whole idea and quoted the testimony of a friend who was a skin diver. "This man has spent considerable time swimming along the bottom of the river and he has never seen a lamprey." Who can argue with such inexorable logic. Might as well have a parachutist calmly inform one that there is no such thing as a robin because he never saw them in the air. The same applies for ptarmigan, pheasants, Dartford Warblers and sparrows.

To clinch his argument the same sage goes on to point out that if there were more lamprey than fish in the St. Lawrence all the fish would be killed in 96 hours. All I can say, if he read our article carefully he would find that we described three different types of lamprey, and only one type attacks fresh water fish. The sea lamprey which is by far the most numerous only breeds here and return to the ocean to feed. Having disposed of ill considered and half checked arguments we shall next week discuss guns, their care and maintenance.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

Have you ever watched the progress made by a Robin family from the time the first egg was laid until the last nestling left home? It is truly astounding. The egg is not much more than an inch long and 3/4 inch wide, so that the bird which emerges is really small. Yet, when about two weeks old, the youngster is beginning to look nearly as large as its parents, except for its lack of tail.

As the majority of land birds lay an egg a day until the quota is reached and the babies are born in that order, nestlings differ in size until about 14 days old. After that the difference in age is not so noticeable. Some bird enthusiasts have tried weighing them, but have found that is not as satisfactory as might be imagined for determining how much weight is gained in a day. Why? Because the weight of an individual depends largely upon whether or not it has just been fed. You can readily believe that to be true when you think of a Robin infant and the size of the worm that the mother insists on pushing down its throat.

The tiny white egg with brown spots belonging to a Chestnut-sided Warbler is just over 3/4 inch long and exactly 1/2 inch wide. When hatched, the body is extremely small. Ordinarily, the four children leave home when the youngest is about a week old, and has just acquired a pale grey suit. It looks like a big, silver thimble. However, in another week or so it is almost adult size, except for a cute little bunty tail.

When a Chipping Sparrow is first hatched from its green blue shell, we find it hard to believe that the little orange ball in the nest is actually a bird. But in less than two weeks it will be following its mother and father around, eagerly calling to be fed. By this time it is none too easy to find out just how much the bird weighs, though it has been comparatively simple to pick the nestling and put it on scales.

In order to weigh a bird able to fly, it is usual to catch it in a banding trap. Then there are various methods of holding it on the scales. Some scientist use one American naturalist to be the best container to use for weighing birds. He pokes them in one and shoves them out the other!

Still on the subject of turtles. If your turtle is a painted turtle, always remember that they prefer to eat fish, beef, earthworms snails and chicken livers. If they are really hungry then they will eat vegetation and in nature they have been known to eat algae and duckweed.

These turtles have been known to live ten years in captivity. They become tame, even bold, and will take food from their owners hand, although they prefer to swallow it under water. The males long claws may inflict a scratch, but if you hold him carefully you should have no trouble. Sometimes people paint scenes on the back of their turtles but this has nothing to do with the name.

Painted turtles are grand pets. They are hardy, active and colorful, easy to find in pet shops. In all cases the carapace is unkeeled, smooth, dark brown or dark olive above and the marginal shields are marked with red. There are four subspecies, but we need not get too technical here as they are all very similar.

If you bought your turtle swimming in a pet shop the chances are that you have a red ear. If its shell is keeled and green and its belly spotted with irregular rings and it has a red mark behind the eye the identification is complete. If however everything checks out except the red ear mark which is yellow crescent running down towards the throat, and it has no marks on the belly the chances are you have a yellow bellied turtle.

Just to complicate matters I might add that there are several sub species, and there is always the possibility that your turtle is of mixed ancestry. One consoling thought however, the habits of all these turtles are all the same.

Since they shed their shells as they grow it is possible to guess their age by counting growth rings, they can easily grow to five inches in as many years in an aquarium and have been seen twice as large in their wild state. They have never been known to breed in an aquarium but it may be they need more room, and earth with better draining.

More women would understand their husbands if they weren't so busy seeing right through them.

Karl Steiner Reopens Studio

Karl Steiner, well known N.D.G. pianist and teacher has reopened his music studio. In addition to classical training, Mr. Steiner plans to continue to teach a new piano method in twelve tone by the Austrian composer Hanns Jelinek.

This new method will enable pupils of all grades starting from the first year to become acquainted with this 20th century idiom of composing initiated by Arnold Schoenberg. Mr. Steiner, who received his training in Vienna from pupils of Schoenberg, Berg and Webern, introduced this method with considerable success in Montreal last season. He was invited to give a lecture with demonstrations of his pupils to the Quebec Music Teachers Association.

Mr. Steiner organizes regular pupils' recitals and, on request, prepares his pupils for examinations. Two of his pupils passed examinations last season successfully. They were Rebekah Mendelson of Westmount who passed the 9th grade McGill examination with distinction, best of all Montreal entrants; and Sam Stieglitz, who passed the 4th grade examination of the Toronto Conservatory with honors.

Malaya At...

rulers get down to the realities of government, discord and factionalism will set in.

QUIT IN PROTEST

Abdul Rahman was projected into the present high position by the resignation of Dato Sir Onn Bin Jaffar, the former leader of the Malay party. He resigned to protest the concessions given the Chinese. It is only a matter of time before he re-emerges from temporary seclusion. He favors controlled immigration from Indonesia to counter-balance the Chinese influence. With Singapore clamoring for self-government, and closer ties with Malaya the prospect looks black for the Malays. There are over a million Chinese in Singapore and once united with Malaya, they would have numerical superiority. From there it is only a step to final union with Mother China.

Finally to really strip the icing off the cake we can examine closely the structure of the Malayan Chinese Association. Sir Cheng Lock Tan is a Straits born millionaire with no real ties to bind him to the Chinese farmers and rubber tappers. He managed to get his support by accepting the services of the two great secret societies that with the communists control the Malayan Chinese. They are the Ang Bin Hoey and the Wah Kee. Originally formed in sixteenth century China to restore the Mings to the dragon throne, they have over the years deteriorated into crude gangster organizations.

They control all the gambling, drug running and prostitution in Malaya. They were supposedly anti-communist and as such were encouraged by the police special branch who saw in them a weapon to fight the communists. They did for a while but soon changed sides when they saw which way the gravy train was running. They will soon be clamoring for their share.

Meanwhile Chin Peng continues to grin.

Mr. Steeves, in urging that all householders comply with the law, points out that in cases where forms are not sent in, the commission is faced with the problem of sending census-takers around to the dwellings to pick up the necessary information.

In the past, between five and ten percent of the householders failed to return the forms, and this year superintendent Steeves is hoping for a much better record.

Thomas More School
30 Evening Courses
For The New Season

The Thomas More Institute is entering its 13th season in the field of local adult education with a list of over 30 greatly-varied evening courses designed, as the Institute's booklet says, to meet adult's inquiring minds. Its evening college, which offers a BA degree through the University of Montreal, opens September 26, and its evening high school opens September 9, both in the D'Arcy McGee school building on Pine Avenue.

Subjects range from World Politics and People to a course on Teaching the Retarded Child, and from a Workshop in Group Dynamics to a poetry discussion program on William Blake. The almost 1,000 students who enrolled last year ranged from housewives to engineers and found a selection of classes to appeal to the mature man and woman.

Reading-discussion courses are featured. There will be one on A Study of History, with Paul Gallagher, Professor at St. Joseph's Teachers College and teacher Stanislaus Machnik, as discussion leaders, several on Great Books, one on World Politics and People with William Summers, Associate Professor of Geography at McGill and his wife Mary Summers, B.A., B.Sc., as discussion leaders, one on William Blake, one on The Church with G. Emmett Canon Carter and Cathleen Going, Ph. D., as discussion leaders, etc.

The Thomas More gets its professors from prominent educational centres or particularized fields of interest. One class on The Realities of Education features experts as J. D. Jefferies, Department of Education, Bishop's University, David C. Munroe, Department of Education, McGill and at MacDonald College, Roland Vinette, Secretary, the Catholic Committee, Quebec. Sarah and Anthony Jackson, a husband and wife sculpture and architect team, will conduct an appreciation course on Sculpture and Architecture; A. G. O'Connor, recently returned from the University of Bagdad and lecturer at the University of Montreal's Theology Department, and Gerald MacGuigan, S.J., of Loyola College, will collaborate on God, Man and the Universe, a philosophy course.

The High School program prepares adults to write the Province of Quebec High School leaving examinations.

Special Review Courses in elementary arithmetic and english grammar will be offered for persons, over 25 years of age, who feel the need of some training for their own satisfaction.

The College is offering a new Subject Comprehension Certificate this year, for persons wishing to follow a program to develop a comprehensive knowledge of one field, as science, philosophy or literature.

Fruit Moth Fight...

Departmental experts soon identified the insects as oriental fruit moths.

Soon after this isolated incident a second report was received from another cannery nearby. In the first plant the infected fruit was dumped in a compost heap and the manure was later spread over a nine acre orchard thus spreading the infection. The department decided to kill off all the pests before they spread throughout the valley.

To do this Mr. King flew out to B. C. with a special team. After a preliminary survey he decided the only way to combat the pests was large scale fumigation.

Operations were commenced on the two canneries. They were completely enveloped with air tight plastic sheets. The ends of the sheets touching the earth were buried and the whole building sealed in an airtight cocoon. Air was then drained out and gas pumped in. After 48 hours every insect in the building was destroyed.

The teams next moved into the nine acre orchard. All the trees were chopped down and burned. The area was then fumigated section by section. To do this huge plastic sheets 200 feet square were placed over the stumps and the edges covered with earth. Gas was then pumped in. Tests showed that in some places the gas seeped into the ground to a depth of a foot.

The whole operation took six weeks and at the end of that time no traces of the pest could be discovered. However the department continues to check. Unceasing vigilance is required to keep similar pests from entering Canada and the men of the department of agriculture are always on the alert. While the FBI and the Mounties make headlines the agents of the Department fight their war with microscope and chemical instead of cloaks and daggers.

The Seed and The Soil: II

By
The Venerable R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

When Our Lord taught in parables He made the word picture as simple as possible. He was talking to simple people and was anxious that the picture in outline at least should stay with them. The time would come when it would return to their minds and with the help of the Holy Spirit they would begin to understand it.

So He left out a good deal of matter that would still be vital when the picture was to be applied to life. The most important of the omissions is the possibility of a change of heart. It is dealt with in other parables, but it needs to be applied here. The man whose heart is as hard as the path across the field need not remain in that condition. The heart can be softened; the man can be changed in his inner life; repentance is always a possibility; the door remains open unless the man deliberately closes it and declares of his own free will that he will have nothing to do with the Gospel, and with Him whom the Gospel proclaims.

The softening of that hard heart to receive the Gospel may be brought about by many causes. It may be the result of a change of circumstances, joyful or sorrowful. Sometimes a man's eyes are opened to his own selfishness by the mere fact that he has fallen in love; he discovers that he is not after all the centre of the universe. Sometimes it comes at the birth of one's first child; again the helplessness and simplicity of human childhood may waken one to the tenderness and goodness of God. It may come from some personal or family catastrophe, one's own sickness, or sickness in the family. There are times when in the very mercy of God we are withdrawn from the things that make for the hardening of our hearts, and we are led to think about ourselves and our relationships with the material world which we have been exploiting to our own advantage; or the human world which we have tried to manipulate; or to the Power behind it all whom we have chosen to ignore. Or in the midst of a great national danger we realize that we are utterly

Dominion-Douglas Plans Reception For Missionaries

Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Allan T. Knight of Africa and the Rev. Takashi Oku of Tokyo will be the guests of honor at a reception in Dominion-Douglas United Church following the evening Service.

Dr. Knight is an agricultural Missionary whose field is in Angola, Portuguese West Africa. He and Mrs. Knight have special affiliation with Dominion-Douglas Church in their work. Mrs. Knight is the daughter of the Rev. E. A. Kirker and Mrs. Kirker of Montreal.

Rev. Takashi Oku comes to Montreal as a scholarship student from the Interboard Committee of Christian Work in Japan. He receives the W. H. Goodwin Scholarship given annually to an overseas student in memory of the late W. H. Goodwin. Mr. Oku is pastor of the Sengenjaya Church of the United Church of Christ in Japan. He is also an instructor in the Tokyo Bible Seminary, Director of Education for the Christian Endeavour Union and Chaplain of the Toyo Eiwa girl's High School and College in Tokyo. He will be studying at the United Theological College, McGill University.

helpless in ourselves and turn to God for help.

In any of these ways and in many others repentance may come to us, and then the path is broken up and becomes like the rest of the field. The danger to the soul is not over. It still has to be dealt with in the same way as the other three soils, but at least the first step has been taken, and the seed finds some place to take root.

Synagogue Dedication

Realizing the ever-constant need for the expansion of Liberal-Reform Judaism in Canada, a group of dedicated men and women met in the summer of 1953 to organize a second Reform congregation in the City of Montreal.

Initially quartered at 52 Academy road in Westmount, a full program of religious services, religious and Hebrew instruction for children was carried on. A few months thereafter, brotherhood and sisterhood auxiliaries were formed. Aware of the need of servicing the ever-growing Jewish community in the western part of Montreal, the executive of Temple Beth Sholom purchased a site on Terrebonne avenue between Walkley and Montclair avenues. The construction of the Temple was completed in the Spring of 1957 with physical provisions to accommodate a membership of five hundred families. The Temple is the second Reform congregation in Montreal and one of the five in all Canada.

It is affiliated with its national parent body of Reform Congregations, the Union of American Hebrew Congregations whose headquarters are located in the House of Living Judaism on Fifth avenue in New York City. Unique in its development is the fact that Temple Beth Sholom is the first Reform congregation to have been established in the past seventy-five years and is indicative of the spread of the Reform movement now in Canada. The movement has had unprecedented development in the United States during the last decade.

The Temple edifice is designed in a modern architectural manner and has facilities for religious services in the main sanctuary, a community hall, eleven classrooms, Temple library,

Western District VON Averages Two Thousand Visits Per Month

Twelve nurses attached to the West District office of the Victorian Order of Nurses make daily rounds that total more than 2,000 home visits in the course of the average month. The homes are located throughout Notre Dame de Grace and extend north to the Cote des Neiges area and westward to Montreal West. Base of operations is at 5190 Queen Mary road.

Miss Kay Brady, who supervises the staff of 12 visiting nurses, reports that more and more nursing time is now being spent with patients suffering from long term illnesses. The great majority of these are elderly folk being cared for in their own homes.

Another important phase of the work of the West District is rehabilitation nursing, particularly with patients who have had strokes or crippling accidents. The aim in these cases is to bring the patient along to the point where he can continue rehabilitation treatment at the Occupational Therapy and Rehabilitation Centre, a sister Red Feather service.

Young mothers and mothers-to-be get a lot of attention from the West District nurses too, Miss Brady said. There is a heavy demand for pre-natal teaching sessions, and visits to the homes of young mothers who have just brought their babies home from hospital are a routine part of the day's work.

Unlike the other VON districts, the West District has a high proportion of patients who can pay some, if not all, of the cost of providing service, Miss Brady said. Overall figures for the city as a whole show that more than 50 per cent of all VON work is done for nothing, because of patients' inability to pay. This general picture is re-

Westmount Women Listed To Canvass In Welfare Drive

The United Red Feather Drive does not get under way officially until September 23 but already Women's Division workers are busy signing up canvassers to help in Montreal's biggest annual appeal. This year the campaign has an objective of $1,862,000. This is an increase of $177,000 over last year and is the minimum required for the effective functioning of the 31 Red Feather agencies.

The Women's Division is responsible for the very important residential canvass. This year, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Anson McKim of Westmount, the division will have an objective of nearly $400,000. This is a higher objective than is attained by most community chests in Canada.

Over 4,000 workers take part in the Women's Division campaign each year, usually housewives who devote part of their day to the job. There are also some business girls who take time out in the evening to canvass the neighbourhood in which they live.

In Westmount the following chairmen and team captains have been recruited up to press time: East Division. — Chairmen, Mrs. W. P. Carr; Vice-Chairman, Mrs. A. E. Moll; Team Captains, Mrs. G. L. St. Ann's Baby Clinic Plans Fashion Show

St. Ann's Baby Clinic Associates with members in Notre Dame de Grace and Westmount are sponsoring "Autumn Leaves of Fashion" which will be presented by Henry Morgan & Co. Ltd. under the direction of Mrs. Eve Trill. This fashion show will be held Thursday, September 19 at 8:30 p.m. in the Town Hall, Town of Mount Royal, with Mrs. G. H. Cook as general convener.

This organization has been in existence for 41 years, and the proceeds from their annual show will enable them to continue their charitable works. During the past year 72 layettes were supplied to those infants whose needs were the greatest, as well as cod liver oil, clothing for pre-school age children and used clothing for many others. In addition, Christmas certificates were donated to a few needy families, sets of toques and mitts knitted by the members were provided, as well as toys and nursery equipment for the clinic on Richmond Square. The families attending this clinic are of all races and creeds.

Monthly meetings are held in the members homes to knit and sew the necessary articles to make up these layettes, etc. Many of the members are residents of Notre Dame de Grace and Westmount.

Every Wednesday a volunteer from the Associates attends the clinic where the Child Health nurses are assisted in weighing the babies, keeping the charts in order and supervising the playroom.

Preventive Work Of Salvation Army

Salvation Army officials, alarmed by continually increasing calls upon their services in prisons, alcoholic rehabilitation centres, unmarried mothers' homes and welfare centres, announced today that a new and strong emphasis must be laid upon 'preventative' work. While there will be no cut-back in rehabilitation efforts, more stress will be placed upon curbing the various forms of delinquency before they happen.

A Salvation Army spokesman said today that the Movement still believes that "the surest way to insure good citizenship is to lead men to God." First expression of this new Salvation Army emphasis, said the spokesman, will be a nation-wide evangelistic crusade designed to link up non churchgoing people and get them "from the pavement into the pews."

Fifty thousand Salvationists from Newfoundland to British Columbia will unite in special prayer for the crusade throughout the month of November at thousands of Corps and private homes. Following a training period, each man and woman will be sent out as "a living link between Christ and the people," intent on bringing into fellowship with the church all those presently outside its influence. Parents of children who attend Sunday School or other character-building movements, but do not attend a place of worship themselves, will be called upon. Active participants in the crusade will be readily distinguished by a lapel button bearing the slogan, "God Seeks You!"

As the crusade gathers momentum great avangelistic campaigns will be held all across the country. In Toronto the auditorium of the Northern Vocational School has been booked for two weeks in November when the Salvation Army's International Evangelist, Senior Major Allister Smith, who prior to his Salvation Army Officer-ship was a highly respected magistrate, will be conducting nightly meetings.

The crusade will end at Easter, 1958, at which time it is hoped results will be seen in increased attendances at Corps and Church, and increased active membership.

Gymnasiums. Miss Esther Asphlet and Miss Marjorie Torrence, both former Presidents of the Montreal Zonta Club, were honored with plaques to commemorate the occasion. Miss Asphlet, who was formerly Directress of Physio-Therapy, and Miss Torrence devoted their lives helping children in the old Children's Memorial Hospital.

The Zonta Club of Montreal also supported various charitable organizations in Montreal last season and donations were made to the Salvation Army; School for Crippled Children; Hungarian Relief Fund; Montreal Girls' Association; St. Laurent Neighbourhood Association; Protestant Women's Jail; and a bursary to a student nurse at the Montreal General Hospital.

Grocers Head For World Ball Tourney

Win Loop Title Over Combines

By GEO. E. JONES
(Sports Editor)

ONE can't say that Steinbergs are not worthy champions of the Snowdon Major Fastball league, but in the same remark, one can't say that Snowdon Combines are not worthy of being the runnersup.

The Grocers won their sixth crown in nine tries when they beat Combines, twice on Sunday, 2-1 and 8-3 to sweep the best of seven finals, four straight.

Combines won the opener 6-3. The Buddy Atchison's crew won the next four games.

But, like FBI, Combines put up a worthy fight to prolong the series to the limit. Grocers took a 2-1 edge in the series last Thursday when they scored a 1-0 victors, but it took them 12 innings to do the trick.

Now Grocers head for the World's Tournament in Clearwater, Florida, September 16. They will represent Canada. It will be the second time that Grocers have taken part in this famous tourney. (Other story elsewhere on these pages.)

In the opening game on Sunday, Grocers won 2-1. Percy McCracken pitched a one-hitter in this game.

Leon Blackman, who was traded from the Verdun league has played brilliantly for Combines.

ONE-HIT GAME

Blackman got the only hit of the game via a home run in the sixth inning for Combines only run of the game.

Grocers scored a run in the second and fifth frames. Huey Hall took over the mound from Larry Grant in the ninth and pitched the second game for the 8-3 loss all the way.

In the 2-1 win, Buddy Atchison and Gordie Gallagher were the best at the plate with two hits apiece.

The evening game was a ding-dong affair until Grocers broke loose in the seventh with six runs.

Booker Thomas broke the game up with his four run homer. Thomas was the winning pitcher but was relieved in the eighth inning when blisters broke out on his pitching hand and Percy McCracken entered the game.

Combines took a two run lead on singles in the first and fourth. Grocers tied it up in the sixth. Thomas' homer for four runs broke Combines' back, but they did make an effort in the eighth with a single run.

12-INNING BATTLE

The third game of the best of seven series, the one which

Grocers won 1-0 in a dozen innings was the big one for the new champions.

Booker Thomas, who had opened the 12th with a walk and advanced to third on an error by Snowdon third-sacker Henry Desautels, beat a throw to the plate on Hughie Sutherland's one-out grounder to short for the only run.

Again Grocers winged to victory on the strength of Percy McCracken's peerless pitching. Percy gave up only two hits in 12 innings.

After yielding a first inning single to Huey Hall, his mound adversary, Percy pitched hitless ball until the 12th when Bill Stevenson rapped another single.

McCracken fanned 10 and didn't walk a man in recording his second win of the series. Hall, who like McCracken has hurled all three games, gave up only five hits.

K. Carpenter Tennis Champ

Keith Carpenter of the Mount Royal Tennis Club defeated Denis Crotty of Vercheres; 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, to win the junior tournament of champions played on the grass courts of the Mount Royal Tennis Club.

In the girls' section Geraldine Accurso of St. Eustache, came out on top downing Marlene Sullivan of Mount Royal Country Club, 9-11, 6-4, 6-2.

In the semi-finals Geraldine beat Eileen Snook; 6-2, 6-3 and Marlene Sullivan defeated Gail Snook; 6-2, 6-4.

Denis Crotty beat Don McDougall 6-2, 7-5 in the first round of the tournament. He also defeated John Tibbitts 6-2, 6-2 to reach the semi-finals.

Keith Carpenter won two straight sets against Michael Belkin 6-0, 6-2 and Tom Bell won by default over D. Thom.

In the semi-finals Denis Crotty, Vercheres, defeated Louis Leprohon, Montreal, 6-1, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

In the other semi-final, Keith
