LAWRENCETOWN—A gold district in the township of Lawrencetown, county of Halifax. Gold was discovered here in 1861, in boulder quartz on the surface, and among the sands in the streams. The district was immediately surveyed and claims taken up freely the same year. From the present aspect of the place, the impression of the first gold seekers appears to have been that the precious metal would be found in thick layers at a few feet below the surface of the soil. Two companies began with something like system, but expended so much capital in mere preparations that there was nothing left for actual mining purposes, and through their failure the district acquired a bad name. The strata resembles those at Wine Harbor, and form the second band from the sea shore of the auriferous metamorphic belt. The ordinary course of the lodes are east and west. One lode has been bared 1000 feet in length, and as many as 40 lodes have been discovered on a single area of 150 feet. This district has not been sufficiently tested of late to give its present average, but a quantity of 25 tons, crushed in 1862, gave 3 oz 7 dwts to the ton. 173 tons of quartz and slate crushed in 1863 gave 11 dwts 18 grs. per ton. More recent crushings gave 1 oz 3 dwts per ton. Placer washings have been tried here to some extent, and if resumed on a large scale with proper gold saving appliances may yet become a source of considerable profit. Distant from Halifax, the terminus of the Nova Scotia railway, 12 miles. Mail weekly. Population about 150.

LIVERPOOL—A flourishing and attractive town at the head of the harbor, on the Atlantic coast, township of the same name, county of Queen's. It stands upon a rocky site, containing several long streets which are well built. It is a seaport of considerable trade. Extensive lumbering operations are carried on here, and fishing is actively pursued. The Supreme court holds its sittings in the town in May and October. A bridge crosses the river, connecting Liverpool with Bristol. The numerous lakes in the interior are well stocked with fish. This town is one of the most important in the province. The steamer plying between Yarmouth and Halifax calls regularly. Western Union Telegraph Co. has an office here. Distant from Port Medway 10 miles, fare 62½c.; from Annapolis, a station of the Windsor and Annapolis railway, 72 miles, fare $5; from Halifax 101 miles. Mail daily. Population about 3000.

LUNENBURG—One of the prettiest and most thriving towns in the province, on the Atlantic coast, on the north side of the harbor, township and county of the same name. It stands upon a peninsula, presenting a fine appearance from the water. The harbor is one of the finest in the world. Germans and Swiss settled this region in 1753. The Supreme court holds its sittings here in June and October. A brisk trade is done in lumber. Fishing is actively pursued. A large West India business is carried on. The soil is fertile. The gold mines of the Ovens and of Indian Path are contiguous. Ship building resources are extensive. Western Union Telegraph Co. has an office here. The steamer M. A. Star, plying between Halifax and Yarmouth, calls regularly. Distant from Halifax, the terminus of the Nova Scotia railway, 69 miles, fare $4 by coach, per steamer 43 miles, fare $2 ; from Yarmouth 162 miles, fare $4.50 ; from Pictou 182 miles. Mail daily. Population about 1,500.

*MOOSELAND—A mining district in the county of Halifax. The first actual discovery of gold in quartz in the province occurred here, and was made by Captain L. Estrange of the Royal Artillery, in September, 1858. The first mining company began operations here in 1860, and its developments attracted many hundreds to the spot; since then several companies have been at work with varied success. According to Campbell's geological report the auriferous band observed here is the one that lies nearest the sea shore and may be traced through Halifax harbor to the Ovens mines, a distance of 90 miles. The veins vary in thickness from 1 inch to six feet. Several handsome nuggets have been sent from here, one specimen of quartz weighing 12 oz. contained 8 oz. of pure gold. The maximum yield has been 4 oz. 8 dwts. per ton. The difficulty of access to the section from the want of proper roads has prevented its resources being fully developed. Distant from Halifax, the terminus of the Nova Scotia railway, about 60 miles. Mail weekly. Population about 200.

MOUNT UNIACKE MINES—A gold district situated in the township of Uniacke, county of Hants. This is the youngest tried field in the province, gold having been discovered and it proclaimed a gold district in 1865 when the prospects were found to be so encouraging that before the following spring there was under lease and prospecting licenses a larger tract in this district than any other in the province. One hundred tons of quartz crushed in 1866 gave an average of $57.20 to the ton. According to the Gold Commissioner's report for 1869 the yield for that year was 1867 ounces, valued at $37,340. Average yield per ton 11 dwts. 18 grs; maximum yield per ton 6 ounces 4 dwts.; average earnings per man $345. Distant from Mount Uniacke, a station of the Nova Scotia railway, 4 miles, fare 37½c.; from Halifax 30 miles. Mail tri-weekly. Population about 150.

OLDHAM—A village and gold district in the county of Halifax, situated a few miles off the line of the Nova Scotia railway. Gold was first discovered here in 1861, and in the following year operations were commenced and a few tons of quartz crushed with the most satisfactory results. Since then several companies have sunk shafts, and realized handsome returns. The total yield of gold from its discovery to the close of 1869 was 9,254 ounces, valued at £37,016 stg. The mines are ranged along a deep narrow valley, the general course of the lodes being N. 82° E. It is believed that extraordinary deposits still remain at the bottom of the fissures as the richest quartz is taken from the deepest workings. Distant from Enfield, a station of the Nova Scotia railway, 3½ miles, fare 25c.; from Halifax 28 miles fare 89c. Mail daily. Population about 500.

OVENS—A gold district situated in the county of Lunenburg. At the entrance of Lunenburg Harbor, on the south-west coast of the province, rises a promontory fifty feet in height which contains a dozen or more cavities facing the sea. Those cavities, from some fancied resemblances, are called ovens. The whole peninsula, three quarters of a mile in width and amile and a half in length, to which the gold district is at present limited, bears the same name. The regularity at which these openings occur almost confutes the idea of their being merely created by the action of the waves; they appear rather to have been made by human efforts, though for what purpose, unless for mining, it is difficult to conjecture. Three of those are about 70 feet at the mouth and extend inwards upwards of 200 hundred feet. The discovery which led to this place being proclaimed a gold district occurred in 1861. The estimated quantity of gold obtained from washing during the autumn of that year was upwards of 2000 ounces, valued at $40,000. The reported yield for 1862 was 311 ounces, since then they have been almost abandoned. But very little quartz mining has been done in this vicinity; the greatest depth reached was 60 feet, at which the average yield was 1 oz. 15 dwt. per ton. As the process of denudation at the cliffs continue that of deposit must continue also, and washing may again be resumed with profit. Distant from Lunenburg, a port of landing of the Halifax and Yarmouth steamer, 12 miles, from Halifax, the terminus of the Nova Scotia railway, 65 miles. Mail bi-weekly. Population about 200.

PICTOU—A wealthy and flourishing town, the third in importance in the province, on the north side of Pictou harbor, township and county of the same name. It stands upon a steep hill-side, making a good appearance from the water, and is surrounded by fine scenery. The principal trade is in coal, the produce of the Albion mines being conveyed and largely exported from here. The harbor is safe and commodious. Shipbuilding is carried on. There are several steam saw and grist mills, two steam carding mills, two tobacco factories, an iron foundry and several tanneries. Logan's tannery, distant 3 miles, is one of the largest in the Dominion. Splendid free stone quarries are worked near the town. Pictou is the county town and has many fine public buildings, churches, schools, court houses, a county academy, masonic and other halls. Prince Edward Island Steam Navigation Co's. mail steamers ply between here and Charlotteown, Shediac, Port Hood and Port Hawkesbury, fare to each $2. Gulf steamers run weekly from Pictou to Quebec, calling at intermediate ports; fare, first class, including meals, $16, steerage $7.50. The Georgia steamship runs direct hence to Montreal fortnightly. A steam ferry plies constantly between Pictou and Fisher's Grant, the terminus of the Nova Scotia railway. Western Union Telegraph Co. has an office here. Distant from Fisher's Grant 1 mile, fare 5c.; from Charlottetown 50 miles, fare $2; from Truro 52 miles, from Pugwash 54 miles, fare $3.25; from Amherst 85 miles, fare $5; from Halifax, the south-eastern terminus of the Nova Scotia railway, 113 miles, fares $3.40 and $2.26. Mail daily. Population about 3,200.

PORT HASTINGS, C.B.—A thriving village pleasantly situated on the east side of the Strait of Canso, township of Canso, county of Inverness. It has a good, safe harbor accessible from the south the greater part of winter, with a government wharf of twenty feet depth of water. A considerable business is done in supplying fishing vessels, and also a large country trade. Fish, cattle and general produce are exported from here to the United States, Newfoundland, and several parts of the Dominion. This place has good hotel accommodation, is the residence of one of Lloyd's agents, and a United States consul, and is the great telegraph repeating station on this side of the Atlantic. Two telegraph companies have their offices here — the Western Union and the New York, Newfoundland and London. The former has a submarine cable across the Strait of Canso connecting with all telegraph offices in the Dominion and the United States, and the latter two submarine cables between Cape Breton and Newfoundland, connecting at Hearts Content with the English, and at St Pierre Miquelon with the French Atlantic cables. The building in which these offices are located is a fine two story one, situated near the water's edge, at a narrow part of the strait. It is in a most convenient place to report all passing vessels. About twenty operators and clerks are employed here. Mails for Cape Breton are landed here daily, and distributed to all parts of the island by good mail and passenger coaches. Distant from Port Hood 28 miles, fare $2; from Arichat 30 miles, fare $2.25; from Antigonish 40 miles, fare $2; from New Glasgow, a station of the Nova Scotia railway, 72 miles, fare $3.50; from Sydney 100 miles, fare $5; from Halifax 176 miles, fare $5.50. Mail daily. Population about 600.

PORT HAWKESBURY, C.B.,—A village on the Strait of Canso, township of Canso, county of Inverness. It possesses several fine wharves. A considerable business in the exportation of fish and produce is carried on with Canada, Newfoundland and the United States. A line of railway to head of West Bay is in progress. The ground for this purpose has already been surveyed. By its means the trade of the interior will be greatly facilitated. There are two marine slips, one having a depth of 30 feet of water at the head of the cradle. The harbor is considered the best in the Strait, with a good holding ground. The steamers of the Prince Edward Island Co. ply weekly between here and Charlottetown, (fare $3), calling at Pictou and Shediac, whence the railway runs to St. John, N.B. The Boston and Colonial Co.'s steamers, between Boston and Prince Edward Island, touch at Halifax, Port Hawkesbury and Pictou, fare hence to Boston $10; to Halifax $4; to Pictou $2. A steam ferry plies between this place and Port Mulgrave across the Strait, connecting there with stages for New Glasgow Antigonish, &c. A stage runs daily to Sydney and Arichat. New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Co. has an office here. Distant from Sydney 100 miles, fare $3; from Port Hood 30 miles. Mail daily. Population about 600.

RENFREW—A gold district situated in the township of Douglas, county of Hants. The first discovery of gold occurred here in 1861, but it was not proclaimed a gold district until 1862, when prospecting and mining promptly followed. Here, as in other districts, experience had to be dearly purchased. Many who expected to make fortunes in a few days by digging a hole here and a trench there were soon disappointed, and left the field in disgust to others who practiced mining as a business and a science. The consequence is that Renfrew gold mines are looked upon as the most valuable in the province, and prove that good management is alone required to make quartz mining remunerative. The yield of gold for 1863 was double that of 1862; the yield for 1864 exceeded that of the two previous years, and the yield for 1866 was double of all the former years put together. Equally satisfactory has been the average yield per man, which in 1866 amounted to $1050. According to the Gold Commissioner's report for 1869 the total yield for that year was 3097 ounces, valued at $61,940. Average yield per ton 16 dwts., maximum yield per ton 8 ounces. Distant from Enfield, a station of the Nova Scotia railway, 7 miles, from Halifax 37 miles. Mail daily. Population about 300.

SHELBURNE—A flourishing and important town on the Atlantic coast near the head of the harbor, township and county of the same name. The foundations were begun in 1783. It was originally laid out for a large city; its harbor is one of the finest on the coast. The river Roseway empties itself about a mile above, affording excellent water privileges. Near by are some considerable formations of granite. This town has recently been increasing. It is the county seat, and the Supreme Court holds its sittings here in September. The inhabitants are extensively engaged in fishing; shipbuilding is also vigorously pursued. Western Union Telegraph Co. has an office here. A steamer, plying between Halifax and Yarmouth, calls regularly. Distant from Liverpool 0 miles, from Yarmouth 64 miles, fare $4; from Halifax, the terminus of the Nova Scotia railway, 141 miles, fare $8.50. Mail daily. Population about 1000.

SHERBROOKE—A village in the township of St Mary's, county of Guysborough, situated on both sides of the St Mary's river, twelve miles from its mouth. It is at the head of navigation. This beautiful river is the largest in Nova Scotia, the Shubenacadie alone being navigable to a greater distance. Ship building is carried on here to some extent, and large quantities of deal are annually exported to England. The gold mines are about 1½ miles distant. The first discovery of gold here was made in October, 1861. There was then a general migration to the spot. Gold was found at Wine Harbor at the same time. According to the prospects which the superficial working at each place showed, the miners changed to either one or the other. Since 1863 Sherbrooke has steadily improved. At the close of 1868 it was the first gold district in the province. The works are upon a larger scale here than elsewhere, no less than ten quartz crushers being employed. A packet sails for Halifax weekly. Distant from Antigonish 40 miles, fare $2; from Guysborough 48 miles, fare $3; from New Glasgow, a station of the Nova Scotia railway, 56 miles, fare $3.50. Mail daily. Population about 500.

SYDNEY, C.B.—A flourishing and important town, pleasantly situated on the south-west arm of the harbor, township of the same name, county of Cape Breton. It is the shire town. This was the seat of government when Cape Breton was a separate colony. The principal trade is in coal. The important mines at Cow Bay, Bridgeport, Lingan, Glace Bay and Port Caledonia are within a few hours drive by stage. A railway, 12 miles long, to the International Co.'s mines at Bridgeport has just been completed at a cost of $800,000. The terminus is on the eastern side of the harbor, within 2½ miles by land from the town. It is proposed by an English Company to construct another line to connect with the other mining localities on the coast. Cattle and butter are largely exported to Halifax, Newfoundland, Miquelon and St Pierre. There are six churches here of different denominations, besides several fine buildings. The Court house is considered one of the best in the Province. There are here French and American consuls and a Lloyd's agency. Two newspapers are published. It is a great resort of French men-of-war and other vessels taking coal and farming produce for the North America and West India stations. Regular communication is carried on fortnightly with the islands of Miquelon and St Pierre. A steamer plies semi-weekly to Baddeck, and weekly to Whycocomah and head of West Bay. A steamer also plys daily between here and the lower ports of North Sydney. Stages run daily to Port Hawkesbury and Port Hastings. New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Co. has an office here. Distant from Port Hawkesbury 100 miles, fare $5; from Port Hastings 105 miles, fare $5; from Halifax 284 miles, fare $9. Mail daily. Population about 3000.

TANGIER—A mining district in the county of Halifax. This place, situated at the head of Tangier Harbor, was once a mere fishing village, but through the discovery by a fisherman of a vein of gold bearing quartz in 1860 it quickly acquired an almost world-wide reputation. Conveniently approached by land or water and communicating with Halifax by a good post road, it became the favorite rendezvous of gold seekers until fresh discoveries attracted them to other fields. The appearance which Tangier presents to-day proclaims fully the ignorance and extravagant views which prevailed with regard to the distribution of gold at the time of its first discovery in the province. The ground is fairly honey-combed with pits for a range of over two miles, some not deeper than three feet, some nearly sixty. Many lodes, too, were actually laid bare, and then set down as worthless because they were not plated with the metal. This district now embraces Mooseland or old Tangier, and extends about fifteen miles east and west and two miles north and south. Twelve distinct quartz lodes, varying from one inch to four feet, have been opened here and proved gold-bearing. The most valuable are the South lode the Leary, the Nigger, the Wallace, and a new lode recently discovered by the Strawberry Hill Mining Company. The South lode has been opened to the depth of 95 feet; the veins increase in richness as they descend, the average yield being 3 oz 7 dwts. per ton. Profitable shore washings were carried on here in 1861 and 1862, and could be again resumed if suitable machinery were adopted. A nugget weighing 27 oz., the largest as yet found in the province, was sent from here to the Dublin exhibition. According to the gold commissioners report for the past year, the total yield of gold has been 1192 oz. valued at $22,052, average yield per ton 17 dwts. 21 grs.; maximum yield per ton 75 oz.; average yield per man for 12 months $430. Distant from Halifax, the terminus of the Nova Scotia railway, 57 miles. Mail tri-weekly. Population about 600.

TRURO—A wealthy and flourishing town, two miles above the head of Cobequid Bay, on a handsome and picturesque site, township of Truro, county of Colchester. It is the county seat. Until 1835 Colchester was a part of Halifax county. Its first inhabitants were Acadians; after them it was settled by Irish and Scotch. The country contains rich iron mines. A large market is held here regularly. The chief pursuit of the inhabitants is farming. Fishing and ship building are also carried on. The provincial Normal school is located here. An extensive boot and shoe factory employs a large number of men. The Intercolonial railway, when completed, will form a junction here with the Nova Scotia railway. Western Union Telegraph Co. has an office here. Distant from Pictou 52 miles, fare $1.04; from Amherst 60 miles, fare $5; from Halifax 61 miles. Mail daily. Population about 2500.

WAVERLEY — A gold district situated in the county of Halifax. The first discovery of gold in this district was made in 1861. The specimens obtained during two day's search were sold for $80. From the proximity of this place to Halifax a large number of people were immediately on the ground and many claims applied for. Subsequently veins of gold-bearing quartz together with a most remarkable deposit known as the barrel formation was discovered. This auriferous deposit is different from anything yet found, and when open presents the appearance of trees or logs of wood laid side by side after the manner of an American corduroy road. From this circumstance the miners have applied the name of barrel quartz, which in many cases is not unlike a series of small casks laid together side by side and end on end. The rock covering this remarkable horizontal vein is exceedingly hard, but beneath for some little distance it is somewhat softer. According to the Gold Commissioner's report for 1869, the total yield of gold for that year was 1,591 ounces valued at $31,820; average earnings per man $545. Distant from Rocky Lake, a station of the Nova Scotia railway, 3 miles, from Halifax 12 miles. Mail daily. Population about 600.

WINDSOR—A large and flourishing town situated on the river Avon, at the head of Minas basin, township of the same name, county of Hants. It is the shire town. Ship building is extensively carried on. Immense quantities of gypsum, or plaster of Paris, existing in beds and in veins, are quarried in the vicinity. It is chiefly used in the United States for agricultural purposes. Windsor possesses one of the best educational institutions in the province, King's college, founded in 1787, and chartered by His Majesty George III. in 1802. The Supreme court sits here twice a year. An annual session of the peace is held in October. Windsor has six churches, two Episcopalian, a R. Catholic, a Wesleyan, a Presbyterian, and a Baptist. There are various mills, a bank, gas works, a foundry and some factories. It is the western terminus of the Nova Scotia railway, and the north eastern terminus of the Windsor and Annapolis railway. Trains run daily in connection with the steamers from Annapolis to St John, New Brunswick. Western Union Telegraph Co. has an office here. Distant from Halifax 45 miles, fare $1.35; from Annapolis 84 miles, fare $2.50. Mail daily. Population about 3000.

WINE HARBOR—A gold district situated in the county of Guysborough, about 3 miles from the mouth of St Mary's river. Gold was first discovered here in 1860 in the sands on the sea shore; afterwards in the quartz formation on the north-east side of the harbor, which led to the immediate survey and proclamation of the field. This district ranks third as a producer, and second in its average yield per man. The regularity and breadth of its lodes gives security for its profitable working for years to come. Even with its small average of 12 dwts to the ton in 1865 it gave an average proportion of $946.80 per man, or $284.45 more than Victoria, the richest mining district in Australia. The most noted lodes in this district are the Smith, Middle, Major Norton, Barasois, Halliday, Wiscasset, Gillespie and Eureka; they vary in thickness from one inch to four feet; the principal lode being the Smith. Five tons from this lode gave 125 ounces of gold, and at 50 feet yielded a steady average of 3 ounces to the ton. The suspension of work pending the transfer of large developed areas, and the employment of men in prospecting on new ground, has created a decrease in the amount of gold produced for the past two years. The numerous shafts, drifts and tunnels tell of the vigor in which mining has been prosecuted. One of those prospecting tunnels extends horizontally through the solid rock a distance of 700 feet. According to the Gold Commissioner's report for 1869 the total yield of gold for that year was 719 ounces, valued at $14,380. Average yield per ton 5 dwts. 6 grs.; maximum yield 5 oz. 7 dwts.; average earnings per man $204. Distant from New Glasgow, a station of the Nova Scotia railway, 70 miles, from Halifax 163 miles, from Sherbrooke 13 miles. Mail daily. Population about 380.

YARMOUTH—A wealthy and flourishing town on the Atlantic and south-western coast, township and county of the same name. It is the second town in importance in Nova Scotia, not exactly in population but in the wealth of its inhabitants. A large ship building and fishing trade is carried on. In 1761 there was only 1 vessel measuring 25 tons, owned in the county. In October, 1869, there were 284 vessels, measuring 93,896 tons. It is believed its progress would be still furthur marked were there better communication. A movement has of late taken place to build a railway to connect with the one at Annapolis. Over $100,000 have already been subscribed by the merchants of this town towards the project. It is thought the local Government will encourage the work, so that in less than three years direct railway communication will be had not only with Halifax, but with Montreal and other cities. The town possesses several handsome buildings, churches, educational institutions, three banks, three seminaries, a circulating library and two weekly newspapers. Western Union Telegraph Co. has an office here. Steamers ply to Halifax, St John, N.B., and Boston once a week. Distant from Annapolis, the terminus of the Windsor and Annapolis railway, 88 miles, fare $4.75; from Halifax, via Annapolis, 216 miles, fare $10; via Lunenburg 205 miles, fare $12; fare by steamer to Halifax $6, to Boston $6, to St John, N.B., $4. Mail daily. Population about 3500.
