World News In Brief

Segovia, Spain, Aug. 3.—(AP)—An army munitions dump blew up near here yesterday. No civilian casualties or damage was reported. The dump, in the Eresma river basin, is used for storage of projectiles for an artillery academy. Officially announced cause of the blast: High temperatures.

Trieste, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Italian news agency Astra said last night it had heard the Athens radio broadcast an "extraordinary communique" of the Greek high command saying Greek troops "are about to liberate the country totally and definitely." Astra quoted the radio as saying guerrilla bands in the Peloponnese have been "virtually eliminated."

Hong Kong, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Fire destroyed about $50,000 worth of cargo today on the 15,450-ton ship President Wilson of the American President Lines. More than 2,000 bags of dried coconuts were burned to a char. No damage suffered by the ship itself. The fire is believed to have started from sparks from a welding torch.

Venice, Aug. 3.—(Reuters)—Czechoslovakia has followed Russian lead in withdrawing from international film exhibition here because in the exhibition "quantity is considered more important than quality."

Calcutta, Aug. 3.—(Reuters)—Police last night opened fire and used tear gas to break up communist demonstrations in south Calcutta. Demonstrators attacked police with bricks, injuring two officers and seven constables, and set fire to two buses.

Centralia, Ill., Aug. 3.—(AP)—An infantile paralysis patient left her iron lung long enough yesterday to give birth to a seven-pound boy. Mrs. Floyd Wilson, 23, was placed in an artificial respirator shortly after she was admitted. She left the iron lung 12 hours later for the birth of her second child. Both mother—though in isolation—and child were reported as "fine."

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 3.—(Reuters)—Federal security officers today began investigation of the possibility that equipment being used by service men working open-cut coal mines in New South Wales has been sabotaged. Army officials said they had no proof of sabotage but added they thought the machinery had been tampered with because they took over at the surface mines Monday. They said delays for repairs had not caused any serious hold-up of production.

Sarah Churchill Displays Aplomb

Norwich, Conn., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Sarah Churchill, actress daughter of Winston Churchill, displayed some of her father's aplomb last night when she calmed a summer theatre after smoke drifted into the building from a burning rubbish can. A cry of "fire!" started some of the spectators to the exits. Miss Churchill stopped to the footlights and urged the audience not to be alarmed. She told humorous stories while persons backstage doused the smouldering rubbish. The play, the Philadelphia Story, in which Miss Churchill is co-starred with film actor Jeffrey Lynn, then resumed.

R.C.A.F. Veteran And Wife Are Found Slain In Toronto

Toronto, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The body of 23-year-old Gloria McKay was found today in the trunk of an automobile, parked near Christie Street Hospital, in west-central Toronto. She was the wife of Robert S. (Red) McKay, 25, whose bullet-riddled body was found yesterday in a suburban North York township gully. As police investigated Toronto's fifth murder in a week they said the young woman had been shot through the head. Her husband was also shot in the head and another bullet was found near his heart. The identity of the automobile in which Mrs. McKay's body was found could not be established immediately, but the couple's 1942-model black Dodge sedan is missing. Also missing is McKay's 22-calibre rifle with telescopic sights, and the couple's red cocker spaniel, Toby. Discovery of McKay's body came as police stepped up their hunt for the slayer of Alfred Laying, 25, Laying was shot Saturday while trying to halt a robber fleeing

Marshal Tito Offers Help To Bulgaria And Albania To Shake Off Moscow Yoke

Peace Treaty Breaches Are Protested

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Canada yesterday formally backed up the United Kingdom and United States in demanding an investigation of alleged breaches of peace treaties by Hungary and Romania. The external affairs department said the Dominion is "associated" with the U.K. and U.S. in accusing the two communist-dominated countries of denying their citizens "fundamental human rights," in violation of their peace treaties. The U.K. and U.S. took similar action about Bulgaria. Canada did not—she did not sign the treaty of peace with Bulgaria at the end of the second world war. The notes demanded that a commission—provided for in the treaties—to mediate disputes—investigate the charges by the democracies. Under the treaties, disputes are to be settled between the heads of missions of the U.K., the U.S. and the Soviet Union in the countries concerned. If they don't settle the dispute within two months, the treaties call for a commission comprising a member of each party to the dispute and a neutral chairman.

The external affairs department said in a statement the Soviet government had taken no steps to meet the heads of the British and American missions to consider the dispute. The two countries, therefore, "invited" the Hungarian and Romanian governments to join them in appointing the commissions.

Australia and New Zealand also were associated with the protests.

Seaway Committee Draws Criticism

Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A Senate sub-committee to consider St. Lawrence seaway and power legislation is "stacked and packed" in opposition, Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) says. Wiley made his observation after Senator Millard Tydings (Dem. Md.) chairman of the foreign relations seaway sub-committee, told reporters yesterday that he saw "absolutely no opportunity" for his group to hold hearings on the much-disputed issue between now and the end of the current session of congress. The bill, backed by the administration, was introduced in the Senate by majority leader Scott Lucas (Dem. Ill.) for himself and several other Senators early in June. The measure, identical to the one defeated in the Senate last year, would authorize the construction of a deep-water channel from the Atlantic to the head of the Great Lakes and creation of a 2,220,000-horsepower development in the river's international rapids section. Construction of the deep water channel, proponents contend, would permit navigation of the river by ocean-going shipping. Cost of the dual construction has been estimated at up to $1,000,000,000. Some opponents have said that the cost would be even greater. Supporters, on the other hand, have argued that the total outlay would be considerably less. Little surprise was expressed at Tydings' decision not to hold hearings at this time. Such a delay has been freely predicted by both sides for some time.

Yugoslav Leader Predicts the Two Balkan Countries Will Quit Russian-Led Cominform.

Belgrade, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Marshal Tito forecast yesterday that Bulgaria and Albania would quit the Moscow-led cominform and offered them a helping hand in shaking off Russian domination. Tito has been tilting with the cominform (communist international information bureau) since June of last year, when Yugoslavia's communists were expelled for nationalism and other deviations from the Moscow brand of Marxism-Leninism. Both Bulgaria and Albania have had recent purges among high communist leaders who were charged with heresies similar to the accusations levelled against Tito. Tito said the Bulgarian people ultimately would ignore "slanders against Yugoslavia and extend their fraternal hand to us and we will help them remove whatever individuals have so far put obstacles in the path of the creation and preservation of brotherly relations."

Indonesian War Ended Officially

Batavia, Java, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Dutch and Indonesian republicans formally ended their armed conflict today and issued cease-fire orders to local military commanders in Java and Sumatra. The cease-fire proclamation is to become effective in Java at midnight local time next Wednesday, Aug. 10, and in Sumatra at midnight Sunday, Aug. 14. The long-sought agreement is expected to put an end to the fighting that first broke out in 1945 when Indonesian republicans, liberated from Japanese occupation, sought independence from Dutch rule. Fighting flared anew last December when Dutch troops crushed the Indonesian republican government at Jogjakarta and interned many of its leaders. Premier Mohammad Hatta and other republican chiefs were released last month and the republican government was re-established during peace negotiations. Republicans and leaders of 15 non-republican states agreed yesterday on plans for establishing a United States of Indonesia as a sovereign government in partnership with the Netherlands under the Dutch crown. Details remain to be worked out later this month at a round-table conference at the Hague. The joint cease-fire proclamation said "henceforth the endeavors of everyone must be dedicated to banishing any thought of enmity, or revenge and to removing any vestige of fear or distrust."

Both Dutch and republican forces will retain their arms.

The cominform denounced Tito last year for putting nationalism above the communist party line.

Six Seamen Are Arraigned

London, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Six Canadian seamen today were committed for trial on charges of attacking two members of the crew of the Canadian ship, the Beaverbrae, in a dockside tavern July 24. The six are Gerald (Bud) Doucette, 22, Dartmouth, N.S.; Alan MacIsaac, 22, Harbourview, N.S.; William Morris McPhedran, 24; Arthur Dennis Fisher, 26; James Vernon Walker, 25; and Robert Roy Easton, 21. Doucette and MacIsaac were crew members of the Beaverbrae and the other four were identified as members of the crew of the Argonaut, another Canadian ship. The Beaverbrae and the Argonaut were tied up here for several months as a result of the strike of the Canadian Seamen's Union. All six are charged with beating.

Italian Freighter Saves 200 Chinese From Drowning

Vancouver, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Curiosity about a placard covered with Chinese characters on the cabin wall of an Italian freighter today unravelled a dramatic tale of the rescue of 200 starving Chinese who nearly drowned fleeing the communists. The grim tale of a race against time, weather, sickness and engine trouble came from Captain Giuseppe Lubrano of the freighter Luigi. This is the first major port the vessel has entered since it answered a feeble distress call in the China Sea July 20. The SOS was from the stricken Liao Hai, one of the last refugee ships to leave Shanghai before the communists captured the city. Communist artillery fire had damaged her as she headed for Formosa. When she was sighted by the

Luigi, both the passengers and crew were near starvation. They were two days without fresh water, and the engines had stopped. The vessel was taking water. The Luigi hove to and cast a tow to the listing vessel. Both were slightly damaged when they were blown together. Food and water were ferried across. Then came the tricky, 24-hour, 213-mile journey, with the Italian vessel towing the Liao Hai to Keelung, Formosa. The placard on Capt. Lubrano's wall was a card of thanks from the men, women and children whose lives had been saved. In addition, Captain Lubrano has a letter from the captain of the refugee ship. "You have saved over 200 lives from drowning," the letter reads in part. "Or should we say, God saved us, and you fulfilled God's work."

CJM Awards Matheson Mine Contract

Special to the Record
Matheson, Ont., Aug. 3.—The contract for engineering and construction of the main mine buildings and services at the new Canadian Johns-Manville asbestos mine, nine miles east of here in Munroe Township, has been awarded to the Foundation Company of Ontario and construction activity is expected to get under way immediately.

This was announced today by George K. Foster, vice-president of the Canadian Johns-Manville Company, Limited.

The new Munroe mine is the second asbestos mine to be operated by C.J.M. in Canada. The other is at Asbestos, Que. The company has pointed out that it is in no way curtailing production at its Quebec mine and that the new Munroe mine will not interfere with full production at the Quebec operation.

The quality of the Ontario fibre is reported to be unusually good and is expected to augment substantially the supply being taken from the Quebec mine which is the largest asbestos mine in the world.

Five buildings are to be erected at the Munroe mine site and all will be constructed of steel and cement, with Johns-Manville transit asbestos cement used for roofing and sidewalks. Buildings will consist of a crushing building, a mill, a combined machine shop, store room and garage, an office building and change house and a power centre. Construction of a mile and a half long road through swamp and muskeg into the Munroe Township deposits began on Monday.

Slave Labor In Russia Charged

Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Great Britain today accused Russia before the United Nations economic and social council of creating "a new slavery organized on a mass production basis" in the Soviet.

Corley Smith, British delegate to the council, presented what he described as a copy of the "corrective labor code" of the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic "giving rules for labor camps in the Soviet Union. The R.S.F.S.R. is the Soviet Union's largest state. Moscow is its capital. Smith asked for a straight answer from the Soviet delegates—"yes or no"—as to whether the Soviet Union would permit an investigation.

Soviet delegate Umasap Arutinian countered with the charge that Britain's Labor government had initiated a hostile campaign against the Soviet Union to detract attention from its own economic difficulties. He said the corrective labor code quoted by Smith was published in Britain in an English translation in 1936 and declared: "In trying to make us believe it has unearthed a sensation the United Kingdom does nothing but follow the usual campaign based on cheap blackmail and trickery... and a crude beguiling of public opinion."

The Labor government's policy toward the British working classes, Arutinian said, was demonstrated by "monstrous police measures against the trade union movement, measures such as even the Russian Czarist government never dared employ."

Smith charged that the Soviet slave labor system was spreading to "the so-called popular democracies of eastern Europe."

The Hague, Aug. 3.—(Reuters)—The Dutch government has advised Dutch citizens living in south China to evacuate now while there still are transportation facilities, it was announced last night.

"Urgently Necessary"

Premier Secretary of State George C. Marshall (right) hears some whispered words from Sen. Tom Connally (D. Tex.) in Washington. Marshall testified before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, studying President Truman's $1,150,000,000 arms aid program. He termed the program "urgently necessary."

Prosperity Helps To Keep French Leaders In Office

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Paris, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The French political scene, so often in turmoil since the war, is comparatively calm this summer as the country enjoys its greatest prosperity in years.

Politicalists say that this may be the lull before a storm. Living conditions show a marked improvement and "people are beginning to feel we can afford a political crisis," one Frenchman said.

On the other hand, the coalition of "centralist" parties under Premier Henri Queuille has held for almost a year and gives no immediate sign of collapse. There are frequent disagreements among its members, but so far they have been patched up before reaching an open break.

Communist agitation, which brought strikes and disorders in 1947-48, has simmered down. The party appears to be in its weakest position since 1945, although it still is deeply entrenched among the working classes.

Gen. De Gaulle, forthright opponent of communism, has found less cause lately to rally the French people to his side. His lessened activity may be due in part to difficulties arising from internal squabbles in his organization.

"The real test will come this winter," said one observer. "Now food is plentiful and the tourist traffic is at its height. Industrial production has improved and the French people feel they have recovered their piece of leadership in western Europe."

"But you may be sure that the communists are awaiting a chance to embarrass and if possible overthrow the government. As the communists attack, so De Gaulle's cause flourishes."

A rift in the five-party coalition could come on any one of a score of issues—financial policy, foreign affairs, conduct of anti-guerrilla activities in Indo-China among them.

Queuille has to reconcile the views of followers which range from socialists to conservative. He cannot afford to antagonize any of the groups in the 618-member chamber of deputies which together can outvote the 183 communists and fellow-travellers and the 49 outright supporters of De Gaulle.

Recently the government has been under heavy pressure from the more conservative members of the chamber to modify some of its more socialistic policies, especially where they concern nationalized industries and social services.

Leader in this campaign is Paul Reynaud, veteran politician whose program as finance minister was rejected last year before the present administration was formed. He argues that the French people showed they favored a more liberal policy in the departmental elections of last March, in which many candidates of his viewpoint were successful.

More Space Is Needed For Museum

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Plans to turn Canada's national museum into "one of the world's great museums" today were proposed in a brief presented to the royal commission on arts, science and letters.

Headed by Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, chancellor of the University of Toronto, the commission opened an investigation in Canada's cultural growth and needs for expansion. The probe will take it through five weeks of hearings in this capital and a seven-month tour of the Dominion's principal cities.

Dr. F. J. Alesch, the museum's curator, presenting the first of some 29 briefs to be heard in Ottawa, said the big need at the moment to make the museum "one worthy of Canada" was more space. The museum needed more money, too, he said. The present annual grant of $175,000 was not enough to prepare new exhibits and publish "the great volume of information collected at the national museum."

He proposed that one branch of the resources department, the geological survey, be moved out of the museum where it has been housed for the last 39 years. This would free three large halls for exhibition purposes and in addition allow material stored in other buildings to be brought to the museum where it belongs," the curator said.

It would give the museum, with its vast collection of mammals, birds, reptiles, plants, folk songs and anthropological and geological specimens, room to plan expansion for the next five to 10 years.

Next stage in development to place the museum "in a position to become one of the world's great museums and one of which Canada could justly be proud" would be to take over the exhibition halls of the national gallery which also occupies the same brown stone building.

Space then would be ample, said Dr. Alesch, "for the next 25 years or more." Later, if there was need for additional space, new buildings could be erected on either side of the museum.

American, British Military Leaders Discuss Unification

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
London, Aug. 3.—(AP)—American and British military leaders met today to talk over plans for speedy unification of western Europe's armed forces under the Atlantic pact.

Responsible officials said the United States joint chiefs of staff want Britain and other pact partners to promise prompt, large-scale military unity in a common defence program.

The United States staff chiefs—army Gen. Omar N. Bradley, air forces Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg and Admiral Louis E. Denfeld of the navy—arrived last night from Germany for two days of conferences in London before going to Paris Thursday.

Living Costs Index May Rise Again

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—(AP)—That unpredictable price barometer, the government's cost-of-living index, is expected to show at least one major change when it makes its monthly appearance tomorrow.

The rent factor, which makes up 19 per cent of the total index, likely will show an upward climb. But it is not known what this will do to the index as a whole.

Currently the index stands at an all-time high of 160.5. However, when the June 1 index was made public July 4, it showed no change in the rent factor. This sub-index remained at the May level of 122.4. The bureau of statistics which compiles the report, said it was collecting June rent survey results and incorporating them in the July 2 index.

Although the bureau takes some 65,000 price quotations into consideration in making up the index each month, it considers rental quotations on a quarterly basis only.

It is generally conceded with the gradual elimination of rental controls and the continuing tight housing situation across the country, the rental sub-index may fluctuate sharply until the situation is eased.

The index actually is broken down into six parts. When it advanced a full point between May and June to the all-time high, it was the food sub-index that was instrumental in causing the rise.

Food is the most important factor in price calculations, making up 31 per cent of the total index. This sub-index climbed 3.4 points to 202.9.

Bearing heavily on the index, too, is the miscellaneous sub-index which makes up 23 per cent of the total. At June 1 it showed no change over its May 2 standing of 128.

A downward trend was reflected in the prices of home furnishings and services. This sub-index makes up one-sixth of the total index. It stood at 167.7 June 1, compared with 168.1 May 2.

Another downward movement June 1 was in the sub-index fuel and light, which accounts for only six per cent of the total price movement. It slipped downward from 129.1 May 2 to 128.7 June 1.

Amethyst Given Hero's Welcome

Hong Kong, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The sloop Amethyst arrived here today and was given a hero's welcome. Siren blasts from ships, firecrackers and lusty shouts from along Hong Kong's entire waterfront greeted the British ship which escaped from the Yangtze river where it had been pinned for months by Chinese communist shore batteries.

Despite an overcast sky and heavy rain, a squadron of Spitfires added to the racket as they roared low over the sloop from the time she was sighted until the Amethyst reached her berth at the Royal Navy dockyards.

The crew of the Amethyst was relieved as soon as the ship was docked. The company has been granted leave as of this afternoon and will be guests of the navy's exclusive Fleet Club for a week. Hundreds of spectators invited by the governor of Hong Kong for the reception applauded as the ship manoeuvred herself into the berth. A military band blared martial music as governor Alexander Grantham and high navy officers went up the gangway to be introduced to the Amethyst's officers.

Talks today were scheduled with Field Marshal Sir William Slim, Chief of the Imperial General Staff; Admiral Lord Fraser, First Sea Lord; and Marshal Lord Tedder, Chief of the Air Staff.

Tomorrow they are scheduled to meet Norwegian and Danish military leaders who are coming to London. The United States military chiefs plan to leave late tomorrow for Paris where they will confer with French, Belgian, Dutch and Portuguese chiefs of staff.

amidst squeals and yells. In death, three movie producers are fighting over him amidst charges of intimidation and harassment.

Each wants to be the first to put a Valentino biography on the screen.

The Great Lover has been dead 23 years but no one seems to care. Like old John Brown's truth, everyone agrees, Rudy's spirit goes marching on and his one-time bobby sox fans, now in their forties and fifties, will flock to movie box-offices to see his screen "reincarnation."

Fighting over the dead star's story are:

Producer Edward Small, who has been working on the Valentino film biography for the last 11 years, Small says he has spent $250,000 on the project, mostly for the salaries of 30 writers.

The 20th Century-Fox studio, which suddenly decided Rudy's life would make a great Ty Power vehicle.

Independent Producer Jan Grippo, who says he'll put "The Return of Valentino" before the camera Aug. 15 and to heck with Eddie Small and 20th Century-Fox.

Man Of Action
It's Grippo who charges: "If I continue to be intimidated and harassed by friends of Fox and Small I'm going to take legal action. This is America, not Russia. They're putting the pressure on me from all sides to try and stop me from making the picture. But I've got the money and the story and I feel Small no longer has a moral priority to the idea because he's been fiddling around with it for 11 years and still hasn't made the picture."

Fox and Small, it appears, will fight it out via arbitration to decide which studio has the right to the Valentino story unless both drop the idea if Grippo beats 'em to the screen. And it looks like he will.

As an independent, Grippo is not a member of the Motion Picture Producers Association and can produce the picture without arbitration.

"My lawyers have told me the Valentino story is in public domain. Anyone can start filming a man's life three minutes after his death. The trouble comes in getting legal clearances to impetunate people still living in the man's life," he told me.

"I've figured out a way to avoid such evasion of privacy. If I can't get the few clearances I need, I can do without them.

"It won't hurt the story a bit, not to include two wives of members of his family. I've got a trick opening. Then we go back to Italy, his birthplace, and pick him up as a kid of nine. We follow him to manhood, see his early struggles in New York and then his stardom in Hollywood."

The picture, Grippo said, will end at the peak of his film career and not follow him to the grave. A 24-year-old New York dancer who is a "dead-ringer" for Valentino, according to Grippo, will play the part. But he's not announcing his name for fear Small or Fox would "intimidate" him.

Grippo said he got a lot of "personal" information about Rudy from Ditra Flame, head of the Rudolph Valentino Hollywood Memorial Guild. Ditra claims she's the original "lady in black" who makes an annual pilgrimage to Rudy's grave in a Hollywood cemetery. Eleven other dolls claim the same title.

Ditra's home is practically a Valentino shrine. Her living room features a big portrait of Rudy beside which she keeps a lighted candle.

Grippo says he expects "no trouble" in shooting scenes at Rudy's one-time Hollywood home, Falcon's Lair, and that two of the star's former managers, George Ullman and Cliff Robertson, are willing to lend technical advice.

Grippo is a former agent, amateur magician and hypnotist who has produced 15 pictures for Monogram, including the popular Bowery Boy series. He says the Valentino picture will have a 28-day shooting schedule and will cost $300,000.

Small conceived the idea of making a story about Rudy in 1938 and announced it that year as a vehicle for Jack Dunn, whom he then had under contract. Dunn was the world's greatest male skater and came to Hollywood as Sonja Henie's partner. He was young and handsome and looked very much like Valentino. Before he could make the picture, however, Dunn died from a rare disease known as tularemia — rabbit's fever.

Since then Small has made repeated announcements that he was ready to make the picture and has had 75,000 applications for the job of playing Rudy.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

One hot and disenchanted evening a couple of week-ends ago, a bunch of us were sitting on my lawn in Mt. Kisco, chewing blades of grass and a little desultory fat.

"Let's talk about the Metropolitan Opera House," I suggested in my capacity as thoughtful host.

"It's too hot to be nasty," said Eleanor. "I've got a better idea—let's all tell about the biggest thrill we ever had in the theatre."

Herman Levin, whose next Broadway production will be a musical version of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," raised his hand.

"The biggest kick I remember was Lawrence Olivier in Oedipus Rex, screaming at the woman when he finds out that the woman he's married to is really his mother."

Jack O'Brien, formerly drama critic for the Associated Press, was next. "My nomination is the moment in 'Leave It To Me' when a kid from Texas named Mary Martin came out in a Siberian snow scene and melted down the scenery and audience, singing 'My Heart Belongs to Daddy.'"

My biggest wallop, memory-lancer Deems Taylor, "was at a benefit performance in the '20's when Al Jolson came on right after Caruso and sang 'Rockabye Your Baby with a Dixie Melody.' When he had finished, the applause was like a battery of 88's going off in a phone booth."

"I've got one that tops 'em all," said Eleanor, "and it happened in a show at the New York World's Fair called 'The Aquacade.' Anybody remember it?"

"I do," I said. "It's nice to be married to a man with a good memory," said Eleanor.

And then my missus let go a tear-tugger that I had never heard, even though it was about something that had happened in my very own hunk of H-2-O. . . .

As you may remember, one of the stars of the Aquacade was Gertrude Ederle, the girl who swam the English Channel, and though she was "on" for less than 45 seconds, nobody in my water show ever got more applause. From the moment the spotlights picked her up, wearing goggles and covered with the heavy grease that long-distance swimmers use, the cheering never stopped.

Unfortunately, however, Ederle never got any kick out of the ovations, and for a good reason—she shouldn't hear them. Like a lot of swimmers, the delicate membranes of her ears had been damaged by the continual dunking, and the happy sounds that came from the thousands of mouths and hands were never able to get through to her.

One night, though, Gertrude came to Eleanor's dressing room after a performance, all excited. "I heard 'em," she kept saying. "I heard 'em."

"Heard who?" asked Eleanor. "The crowd," said Gertrude. "Halfway down the pool tonight, something opened inside my head, and for a second I heard it all, heard everything."

And then, for the next hour, Trudy sat there and cried like a baby. The great swimmer had finally heard what all those mouths and hands were saying to her. (Copyright, 1949, by Billy Rose)

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

POWDER FIGHTS INSECT BATTLE

Flies! Moths! Mosquitoes! They're all pesky nuisances. Thank goodness we now have powerful new insecticides to help rid us of all three!

Helping to fight this battle of the bug is John-Manville Celite, an important part of new insecticides. A light, fluffy powder, Celite's finely divided particles improve the dispersion of the poison. It makes the same amount of poison go further and kill more pests.

Johns-Manville research has made Celite a really valuable product. You'll find it in automobile and silver polishes, DDT and writing paper. It's used to filter sugar, wine, beer, fruit juices and other beverages. For complete details on Celite and how it can be used in your industry, write Johns-Manville, Sun Life Bldg., Montreal.

Chinese Are In Rage Over Escape Of Amethyst

By James D. White Associated Press News Analyst. (For Dewitt Mackenzie)

Simple rage—the local and semi-official level—is the first reaction of the Chinese communists to the escape of the British sloop Amethyst. As I pointed out yesterday, this reaction is going to be worth watching because it may disclose the true temper of the Chinese Reds over an issue that involves their pride and their future policy. Their first reaction shows signs of having been compiled hastily and not too expertly. It was a radio broadcast from the Peiping radio, heard in San Francisco by the Associated Press. There were two separate items. The first was a "news story" from Nanking by the communist New China news agency, giving the Red version (and it's a lulu) of the Amethyst's dramatic escape. The second is the agency's own comment. The account attributes everything to a Gen. Yuan Chang-Hsien, who is not identified in what appears to be a haste of writing. Later, in the commentary, the agency names Yuan as the "commander of the people's liberation army at the Chinking front." It was from near Chinking that the Amethyst escaped. Gen. Yuan is apparently the responsible officer who has to explain how she got away. He lets himself go. The Amethyst, he says, forced a passing steamer, the Kiangling, to serve as a shield as she started her "infamous" escape. The Amethyst then sank her, as well as a number of junks trying to rescue survivors in the water. Several hundred were drowned, says Yuan, who also charges that British naval negotiations for the Amethyst's release were merely to stall for time while she prepared to escape. "Categorically denied," is the terse comment from the London Admiralty to this whole account. Yuan is quoted as concluding "I firmly believe that the people's liberation army and people of the whole country will never forget to avenge those sacrificed. They will never forget and pardon."

Garden Party At Austin To Be Held Friday

Austin, Aug. 3.—(Special) will be on "fun" at the annual Garden Party of the Austin Women's Institute and Ladies' Aid Society of the East Bolton Church which will take place Friday afternoon and evening at the Women's Institute Hall in Austin. The party will get underway at four o'clock and carry on through the evening until eleven. There will be many prizes generously donated by Magog merchants to tempt and skill, and a attractive door prize. Home cooking and fancy work tables, along with farm produce tables and a salvage shop of furniture and clothing, have been planned, with all proceeds for the benefit of the Women's Institute. The Women's Institute plans to provide a scholarship for the leading pupil entering High School from one of the rural schools in the district, with the first $50 of their proceeds. Until purchased by the Women's Institute of Austin two years ago, an old school house had stood for some years in disuse on the East Bolton Road about four miles from the Montreal highway. With an eye to a centre of activity in the community, the Institute brought the building back to life with a series of repairs and improvements, and with the proceeds from last year's Garden Party, the building was repainted and wired for electricity. The hope for the near future is the addition of running water in the building and still further developments. The success of the Institute's Community Hall was proved by the enthusiasm of all local residents and during the winter the weekly meetings of the Farm Forum were held in the building, with as many as 55 in attendance, and both French and English in the district took an interested and active part. Several speakers were on hand at these meetings and many subjects covered. Through the generosity of the summer residents of the district, a movie projector was purchased and movies, including educational films, took their place in the weekly routine of the community and were included at the children's parties given during the winter by the Institute and the Farm Forum. It is hoped the hall will provide a centre for still further social activities and educational features, such as a course in public speaking, and with many new Canadian settlers from Holland and Denmark, in this part of the country, residents have tried to arouse their interest in such groups as the Farm Forum—a further step toward the Canadian way of life. There are many plans for the future, and, as the Community Hall becomes more and more the focal point of education and social activities in the community, the cooperation of the surrounding communities in the activities of this group becomes still more important with Friday's garden party in the lead.

United Church W. A. Meets At Knowlton

Knowlton, Aug. 2.—Brierhurst, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Call was again the scene of a delightful garden party, held under the auspices of the Women's Association of the United Church. The weather was ideal and the beautiful spacious grounds with their lovely flowers and shrubbery provided a setting most fitting for the various booths and tables loaded with home cooking, fancy work knitting, home made candy, mystery packages and fish pond. The various tables were convayed by the following ladies: Mrs. R. B. Call, Mrs. H. L. Parkes; domestic table, Mrs. C. C. McClay and Mrs. George Cote; apron table, Miss Nichols; Mrs. C. C. McCall; fancy work, Mrs. Ian W. Curdill; Mrs. E. H. Gray; Mrs. Spencer; dolls' table, Mrs. Earl B. Mikaner and Mrs. C. P. Thornton; wool table, Mrs. R. B. Call, Mrs. Warwick Fox; fish pond, Mrs. Spencer; Miss Lorna McClay; mystery table, Mrs. N. M. Harris; Miss Ethel Mearns; candy table, Mrs. A. C. Galloway and Miss Charles; Mrs. B. McCutcheon in charge. Mrs. Russell B. Call and Mr. H. L. Parkes; ponies, Mrs. Call. Solliciting Committee: Mrs. A. L. Tulard, Mrs. H. L. Parkes and Mrs. C. Lorne Church; Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Gray, reception committee. The Women's Missionary Society also sponsored a miscellaneous table with Mrs. H. L. Hastings and Mrs. B. McCutcheon in charge. Every table was well patronized and the proceeds amounted to over $500. Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 29 met in regular session on Thursday evening with the Noble Grand, Sister Helen McKerrell in the chair and presiding over the meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Sister Paul L. Windle and approved. All correspondences were read and attended to and all bills were moved paid. Arrangements were made for conferring a degree on several candidates in the near future and it was decided to invite the Rebekah Lodge from Rivford, Vt. A drawing took place and was won by Sister Pearl L. Windle. It was decided to hold a food sale during the month of August, if possible. There being no further business, Lodge closed in ritual form after which lunch was served in the dining hall.

The Doctor Says

ALL BABIES DO NOT DEVELOP WETTING CONTROL AT SAME TIME

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.
In small babies the process of emptying the bladder is automatic. As soon as the bladder is stretched to a certain point, the nerves carry the message to the spinal cord and the bladder is automatically emptied.

Rather gradually the sensation of a full bladder begins to be carried to the brain itself and when this develops it is possible for the child to control wetting. Until the message is received in the brain, however, it is useless to expect a baby to have control over his bladder functions.

Bladder control comes slowly and parents should not be concerned if their hopeful does not develop complete control as soon as some other child they know about. May Be a Cause

Sometimes a child wets during the day or night at 3 or 4 years old, or even beyond. Usually, this is a sign of either rebellion on the part of the child or a feeling of insecurity. Sometimes such children have had the importance of keeping dry overemphasized to them and take a childish delight in frustrating their parents.

When this is the reason, the parents ought to pay less attention to the whole thing and to show no signs of annoyance or any other emotion when it occurs. This is often enough to solve the problem.

A healthy baby usually begins to establish bowel control between 1 and 2 years old. When the baby is 9 or 10 months old it can be placed for short periods on the "potty." Most infants begin to catch on to the idea quickly, especially if praise is given for good results.

The "potty" should be used regularly at the same time each day, usually after the first morning meal. Neither the mother nor the baby should be worn out by keeping it up too long if success is not achieved.

U.K. Gives Money To Trans-Jordan

London, August 3.—(P)—Britain has given Hashemite Jordan (Trans-Jordan) $500,000 ($2,000,000) to help the Arab kingdom resettle Palestine Arab refugees on its territory.

An official British source reported today he understands the United States is matching the gift with a similar amount.

Britain has made several donations for the relief of distress among the Palestine Arab refugees in the past. These have been mainly to international relief organizations like the Red Cross and the international refugee organization.

This is believed to be the first time Britain has made a direct contribution to an Arab government to resettle the refugees who fled when war came to Palestine.

An authoritative estimate placed the number of Arab refugees at 800,000 to 800,000. Many of them sought safety in King Abdullah's territory.

DOROTHY DIX

Peter Pan Parents

Children Neglected By Pleasure-Seeking Couple

Dear Miss Dix: I am an intelligent and attractive young girl of 18. My dad likes to step out, and my mother, who is really very domestic, goes with him to keep him out of mischief. I have to stay at home to take care of my two small brothers. I never get to go anywhere except to an occasional matinee with my girl friends and I feel that I am missing the joy of youth by having to stay at home all the time. I had a talk with my parents about it, but their argument is that since they are in their early 40s they want to have every joy possible because their time for pleasure is short, while I am young and will have a long time in which to enjoy myself. But I feel I don't have any pleasure now and can't go out with boys and perhaps meet the ONE and ONLY that I will lose out altogether. What do you think?

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: I think your parents are very selfish in sacrificing you to their own pleasure. The younger children are their responsibility, not yours, and they have no right to make you stay at home and take care of them while they are out enjoying themselves.

Young parents, the parents who won't settle down and be their age, invariably make old children, for somebody has to bear the burden of family life, and when those who should shoulder the load drop it, it falls with crushing force on the youngsters they have brought into the world and makes them old before their time.

I have known a lot of these dancing mothers and fathers who were out every evening sporting themselves in night clubs, who would gaily go away on long trips together, who would spend their days on the golf links and who spent their money in indulging themselves in any extravagance that they fancied and everybody said how wonderful they were that they kept the keen enjoyment of youth and that they didn't let their children be a burden on them as so many people did and so on and so on.

And all of us know dozens of men and women dependent on their children in their old age who could have been independent if they had only been willing to deny themselves and lay up something for their old age. But they preferred to eat, drink and be merry and to indulge themselves in every luxury while they were young and could enjoy things and to leave it to their children to bear the burden of their support when they were old.

Nothing could be more cruelly selfish than these parents who sacrificed their children to their own pleasures. They have no right to evade their responsibilities, no right to lay their burdens on weak young shoulders. They have had their youth, their playtime and they should not rob their children of theirs.

The Peter Pans who never grow up are only admirable in fiction. In real life they are contemptible quitters who are too cowardly to assume a man's and woman's obligations. And they are doubly contemptible when they steal from a young girl her playtime and her chance of perhaps marrying a man on whom she could depend more than she can on her father.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a woman more than 30. Shall I follow my present career which insures me a modest, steady income and remain single, which would mean a lonely future, or shall I marry a man who makes less than I do and who will probably never earn a comfortable living, but with whom I might have companionship and perhaps motherhood. There is no other chance and not likely to be any.

Answer: I think the answer to that question depends altogether on how much you care for the man and how congenial he is to you. Sometimes a luxury is more vital to us than a necessity and we really need white hyacinths to nourish our souls more than we do bread to sustain our bodies, and I think there are cases in which a woman is justified in marrying a man for whom she has a great and absorbing passion, even if she knows beforehand that she will always have to work to support him. He may be no good as a money-maker, but he may be all to the good as a tender, fascinating, understanding companion.

As you are a business woman, of course, you appreciate the value of money and know just how far it will go and how much is required to run a family. Also you know how hard is the lot of the wife and mother who has to work and struggle and strain to make both ends meet on an insufficient income, but love can make all of that worth while, and better is a half loaf shared with the husband you adore than a feast eaten alone.

But in making your decision chiefly consider whether the man really will give you companionship or not; whether you think alike; whether you are interested in the same subjects; whether you like to do the same things; whether you never talk out; whether you never bore each other.

Not all husbands and wives are chummy, and no people in the world are lonelier than those married people who do not even speak the same language, who cannot even make a remark without starting something and who spend their evenings in a silence you could cut with a knife.

The thing people marry for oftenest is companionship and it is the thing they seldomest get. So before you give up a good job for a husband make sure that he will be a pal and not a dummy in your house.

Times Have Changed

Three hundred years ago, Iroquois Indians attacked Jesuit mission posts at Huronia near the present town of Midland, Ont., and massacred the priests there. Recently there was a more peaceful invasion by the Iroquois when a special pilgrimage from Caughnawaga, near Montreal, visited the Martyr's Shrine to commemorate the 17th century conquest. Included in the pilgrimage were members of the famous Iroquois choir, two members of which are shown here in this Canadian National Railways photo bestowing upon Rev. T. J. Lally, director of the shrine, the title of Honorary Chief "Kind Father" of the Iroquois nation.

And This Is How It Happened—

This snow-making machine created the snowfall shown above. The contraption belongs to a Cleveland, O., ice and fuel company whose officials thought up a real brainstrom on how to save lawns during heat waves. They put chemical fertilizer in 300-pound ice cakes, haul them to the lawn, grind the ice into snow and blow it onto the grass. The snow melts to give the grass a good soaking and make it greener. The snow machine also blows pure ground ice on perishable produce in freight cars. It also can be used to make a good back drop for a sleigh-ride-in-July picture.

A'S TAKE TWO FROM SAINTS; ST. JOHNS HERE TOMORROW AT 8.00

Locals Chalk Up 6-0 And 2-1 Verdicts Over Visitors; Gladu Homers; Blanco Injures Ankle

Sherbrooke Athletics, bunching their hits and taking advantage of the breaks, last night copped both ends of the doubleheader from St. Hyacinthe 6-0 and 2-1, to maintain third place in the standing and gain one game on the second-place Granby aggregation, who managed to edge out St. Johns 5-4 in a 10-inning duel, while Drummondville out-lasted Farnham 3-2.

Bill Brandt tied the route for the A's in the twilight fixture and gave up only six hits to blank the Saints 6-0. He issued two walks and whiffed the same amount while hanging up his eighth victory of the season. On the other side Peter Geordano, his opponent, was having plenty of trouble with Brandt's mates. The locals jumped right to the attack in the opening frame and the Italian right-hander knew he was in for trouble.

ST. JOHNS HERE TOMORROW EVENING AT 8.00

Tomorrow evening the Braves of St. Johns will be on hand to supply the evening's enjoyment. St. Johns trail the locals in fourth position and will be making a bid to overcome the A's lead and pick up the slack.

In the second contest Ralph Schwamb and Walter Brown tied up in a pitcher's duel with the local twirler coming out on the long end of a 2-1 count. Two circuit blows were delivered in this contest. Reid accounted for the visitor's blow which registered their only tally while Manager Gladu came through in the eighth to break a 1-1 stalemate and give the A's the decision.

The victory was a costly one as the locals will be missing the services of Herberto Blanco, who injured his ankle sliding into second base, and may be sidelined for a few days.

In the initial frame Manager Gladu's crew settled right down to work and before the inning was over they were out in front 2-0 on three hits and an error. In the second they continued their torrid pace and walloped out three more safeties, to push three tallies across the plate to establish a 5-0 lead, which they never relinquished.

On the other side of the sheet Bill Brandt gave up singles in the first and second innings, but given wonderful support by his mates he kept the Saints away from home plate. The only inning that they really threatened was the fourth, when Redburn reached third, after he had singled, and moved to the hot corner on Williams' bingle.

Brandt then settled down and forced Friar to hit a fielder's choice, and forced Geordano to fly out to Duany to hold the Saints out.

Peter Geordano, the Saints' chunky twirler, helped his own downfall by giving up eight bases on balls, and he failed to send down any of the A's via the strikeout method. After his shaky start he managed to keep the locals from scoring until the sixth frame with the help of good support from his mates, in the clutches.

Only one hit separated the teams, but the A's bunched six, of their seven in the opening two frames, and this paid off as they got five runs across the plate while Normie Dussault came home with the sixth tally in the sixth frame after he walked, stole second and came home on Gladu's infield out.

Gladu paced the hitting attack with two hits and drove in three runs, while Duany also connected for two and pushed two tallies home. Silvio Garcia drove home the other run when he poked out a double to follow in his mates' footsteps.

Ralph Schwamb Hurls Five-Hitter

Schwamb, the A's rangy hurler, tossed a five-hitter at the Saints in the second bit to edge them out 2-1. The second tilt was a contrast of the opening game and it developed into a pitcher's duel between the local boy and Walter Brown. The Saints were the first to tally, in the fourth, when Schwamb delivered a home-run ball to Reid, for the visitor's only tally. In the second frame the Saints moved to the attack again, but the locals came up with a double play to retire the side.

Sherbrooke picked up a single in the second frame, when Duany poked out a bingle, but that was all until the fifth frame as Brown was keeping things under control. In the fifth the A's finally caught up with him. Thomas singled to start matters. Corriden forced him on a fielder's choice. Stan Sharkey picked up a single, and Schwamb helped his own cause by following suit and driving Corriden home with the tying run but Sharkey was caught at home, and Dussault forced Schwamb at second to end the rally.

Blanco Twists Ankle

At the start of the sixth inning Blanco banged out a single and when Gladu reached first on Martin's miscue the local's speedy second baseman twisted his ankle sliding into second base. He was forced to retire from the game, and will be sidelined for a few days. Gladu moved to third and Garcia took over second while Bill Howitz went to the initial sack.

Walter Stohlberg Favored To Oust Tully In Quarter-Final Match In Canadian Championships

Halifax, Aug. 3.—(P)—Vancouver's Walter Stohlberg today clashed with W. J. (Bill) Tully of Brownville, N. Y., in a scheduled quarter-final match of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association Championships and the bulk of observers are backing the likeable West Coast ace to upset the defending champion.

Stohlberg's rugged style and cannon-ball service have caught the fancy of galleries here. The big fellow has enjoyed as much attention as the unconventional two-fisted game of Vancouver's brilliant floor main. The 19-year-old Davis Cupper meets the lone surviving Maritimer, Don Bauld of Halifax.

Meanwhile Pat Macken, Women's champion, is expected to have a much easier time than Tully in defence of his singles crown. Miss Macken takes on a fellow-cup member from Montreal, Mrs. Pauline Robinson.

Highlights of the day's play were Miss Macken's exciting duel with pretty 17-year-old Edith Sullivan of Belmont, Mass., and two marathon matches in the men's singles. Mrs. C. H. Mitchell of Sydney, N. S., also surprised mildly by upsetting fifth-seeded Pat Lowe of Ottawa. Mrs. Mitchell is the only Maritimer left in the event.

Miss Macken's experience paid off against the American. She methodically wore down her opponent by careful retrieving in long rallies, most of which ended when Miss Sullivan netted or drove out. Scores were 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

J. J. Desjardins, veteran left-hander from Montreal, fought back from set-point three times to win seven straight games in the initial set of his match with Don Bauld.

Fast-Stepping Detroit Tigers Climb Into A. L. Pennant Picture After Walloping Yankees 10-2

Watch out, New York! Show over, Cleveland and Boston! Make room for another contender for the American League pennant—the dashing Detroit Tigers.

A week ago, the odds manipulators had written off the pennant chances of the Tigers. A three-team race it was, they said. Today, these same odds-makers are issuing a new line with Detroit given a chance to cop, albeit a slim one.

They hasten to add, however, that only a near-miracle can bring a flag to Detroit, but such miracles have happened before.

While the Tiger outlook is not bright, it is far from hopeless. They enhanced their chances considerable last night when they turned back New York Yankees, 10-2, in the league-leaders' backyard. It was the first of a three-game series.

The victory gave the fourth-place Bengals a record of 13 triumphs in their last 18 games and moved them within 7½ games of the top.

Hal Newhouser, who had failed in six straight attempts to notch his 11th victory, finally made it with a 10-hit performance against the Yankees.

The Tigers backed Newhouser's pitching with a 14-hit attack which blasted Allie Reynolds from the hill and sent the right-hander down to his second defeat of the season. Reynolds, with 11 victories under his belt, was gunning for his 12th straight.

Four of the blows went for the distance. The homer hitters were Dick Wakefield, Vic Wertz, Aaron Robinson and Johnny Lipon.

It was a bad night all around for the Yankees. Not only did they suffer one of their worst defeats of the year, but the Indians and Red Sox won their games to put a dent in their lead.

The Indians whipped Washington 8-1 as Early Wynn held his former mates to nine scattered hits for his ninth victory. Bob Kennedy, Joe Gordon and Dale Mitchell paced the Indians' 15-hit assault on Mickey Harris and Al Pettit, with three safeties apiece. The triumph cut the Yankees' margin to 3½ games.

The Red Sox failed once in the last half of the ninth to eke out a 4-3 victory over St. Louis Browns.

Rifle Artists Compete For Top Event Today

Long Branch, Ont., Aug. 3.—(P)—Rifle artists from Ontario and Western Canada will vie today for the 40 places in the final stages of the Lieutenant-Governor's trophy, top event of the Ontario Rifle Association matches, at Long Branch, Ontario.

Thirteen events are carded in the four-day matches which end Thursday. Many of the winners will go on to Dominion Rifle Association matches in Ottawa next week.

Sgt. R. S. Potter of Hamilton with 98 out of a possible 100, despite lowering skies which cut down visibility, won the City of Toronto Cup, yesterday's top event.

Cpl. K. A. Bestwick of Edmonton, with his best competitive score—10 bulls-eyes—won the President's trophy and Maj. D. H. Gibson of Hamilton took the Gibson Memorial Trophy.

Hamilton Central Collegiate's seven cadets continued to open the eyes of the experts with their unerring marksmanship. Several turned in perfect cards at times and have been in the prize money

Former Major Leaguers Find I.L. Tough Road

The road back to the Major Leagues is a tough one, especially for a pitcher—as Bill McCahan, Bob Porterfield and Frank Shea will attest.

McCahan, bothered with arm trouble, made his first start for the International League's pace-setting Buffalo Bisons last night since arriving on option from Philadelphia Athletics.

He drew Porterfield as his opponent. Porterfield is with the tail-end Newark Bears on option from New York Yankees, also because of arm trouble.

McCahan bowed out after three innings with the Bisons trailing, 4-2. Porterfield left after the fourth, leading 5-2. Shea took over.

McCahan issued five walks and allowed five hits during his stay and fanned none. Porterfield did a little better, walking three, fanning four and yielding three hits. Shea shut out the Bisons for two frames and then granted four runs in the seventh, including a three-run homer by George Byam.

Shea permitted only two hits during his three-inning stint but walked six and clipped another Bison with a pitch.

The Bisons came back and took the second game of the doubleheader, 15-3, making the most of 16 walks poled out by four Newark pitchers.

Clem Hausmann stopped the Bears on six hits, including Bob Thurman's second homer. The triumph was Hausmann's tenth.

The second-place Rochester Red Wings trounced Baltimore Orioles 9-3 to move to within a game of the Bisons. The Wings, trailing 3-1, scored eight runs in the seventh inning. Six hits, four walks and an error turned the tide for the Wings.

Montreal also went on a batting tear and crushed the Jersey City Giants 13-3. The Royals pounded three Giant tossers for 14 hits with George Schmees, Kermit Wahl and Charley Thompson getting three each.

Syracuse Chiefs upset Toronto Maple Leafs 5-3, coming from behind to win with a three-run, eighth-inning rally. The loss left the Leafs two percentage points behind the third-place Giants.

Trailing 3-2 going into the eighth, the Chiefs belted Lou Prosser for three runs, Frank Drees' two-run homer being the big blow. Ed Sanicki slammed his 28th four-bagger for Toronto in the fifth with two on.

Greco And Dauthuille Meet Tonight In Montreal To Decide Contender For World's Middleweight Crown

Montreal, Aug. 3.—(P)—Joey LaMotta will be the wariest spectator at ringside here tonight when Laurent Dauthuille of France and Montreal's Johnny Greco meet in a 10-round, open-air boxing tilt which could produce an important contender for the world's middleweight crown.

Joey is the brother and co-manager of the current champ, Jake LaMotta, and he arrived in Montreal this week to take a close look at both participants in tonight's brawl.

Shortly before Jake won the title from Marcel Coridan, he was decided by Dauthuille in Montreal. The fast-rising French brawler now is pointing toward a crack at the championship and thus far is rated third among middleweight contenders.

Greco, on the other hand, is stepping up from lighter weight ranks. The 26-year-old Italian-Canadian was for long a big drawing card in New York's Madison Square Garden and has held the Canadian welter title for several years.

With heavy betting among the local fight fraternity, Greco has been established an 8 to 5 favorite because of his admittedly heavier punching ability and his wider experience. He will weigh in at 153½—two pounds less than Dauthuille.

Should Dauthuille win, the way will be clear for more important matches in the United States. For Greco, however, the future is not quite so clear. Johnny was suspended from fighting in New York State several years ago during District Attorney Frank Hogan's investigation of gambling in the boxing business. It is not known whether he could gain reinstatement.

Gus Lesnevich Predicts He'll Dethrone World's Heavyweight King Ezzard Charles Next Week

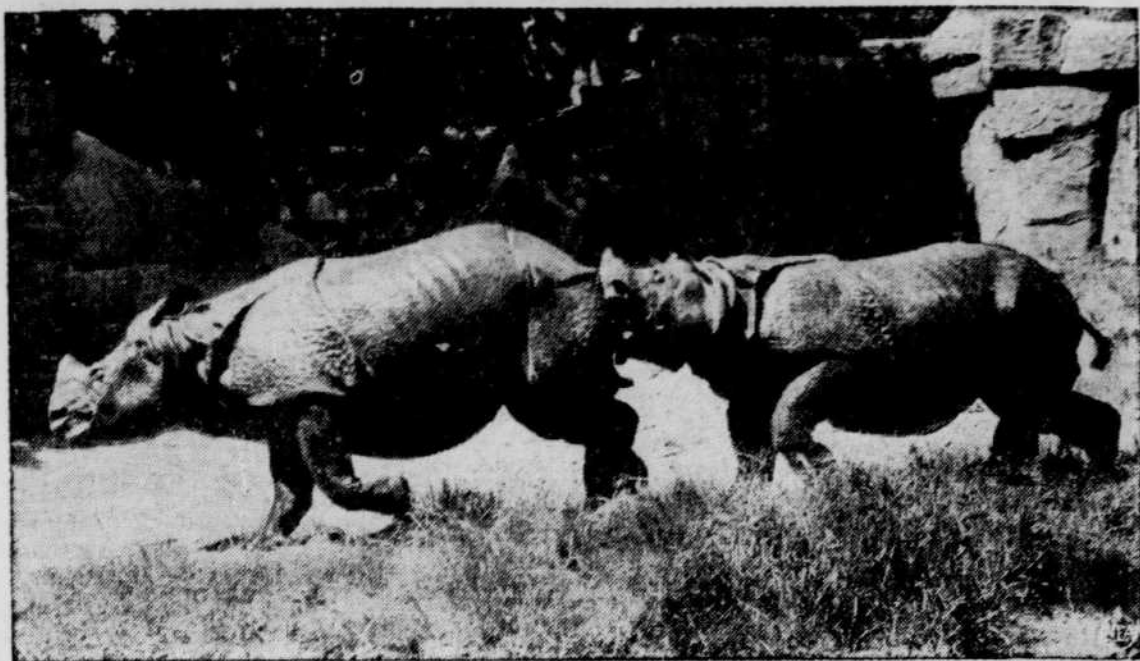

Summit, N. J., Aug. 3.—(P)—Confidence oozes from Gus Lesnevich as he trains for his title fight with Ezzard Charles, the National Boxing Association heavyweight champ, at Yankee Stadium a week from tonight.

"I'm going to beat him," said mufin-faced Gus. "I'll go for a knockout if

Romance Nipped —

Chicago's Brookfield Zoo officials decided a little rhino would be a nice addition. So they sent Kashi, a 3800-pound male, into the cage of Ka-mala, his bride-to-be, while she was taking a bath.
