The case of the disappearing majority

By WENDY McMULLEN

Record Reporter

SHERBROOKE — The new electoral map for the upcoming provincial elections will mean the definite disappearance of the English majority in the Eastern Townships constituency of Brome, a split in the Sherbrooke riding and the extension and renaming of the former Stanstead constituency.

Brome, one of the only two electoral ridings with a majority of English-speaking voters in the last Quebec elections, will join with the majority French-speaking riding of Missisquoi and become the Missisquoi constituency. The new Missisquoi riding will combine the 8,730 voters in Brome and the majority of the 20,311 voters in the former Missisquoi riding to make a total of 29,041 voters.

Farnham and Ferndon in the north of the old Missisquoi riding will be put into the new riding of Marchand and towns and villages east of Missisquoi Bay will be in the Iberville riding.

Brome was one of only two electoral ridings in Quebec with an English-speaking majority. The other is Pontiac.

The amalgamation means English-speaking Quebecers have lost one of the last vestiges of political force in the province. In the last provincial election Brome riding went to the Liberal candidate while neighboring Missisquoi voted Union Nationale.

The Sherbrooke riding is to be split east of Grandes Fourches Street and West of McCrea Street in Sherbrooke, almost halving the number of voters in the constituency from 60,989 to 34,534.

The east ward of Sherbrooke will be in the new riding of St. Francis which extends from Ascot Corner down to a few miles north of Coaticook and which takes in part of the former Compton riding. The entire territory covered by this new riding voted Liberal in the last election.

Lennoxville will be in the St. Francis riding. So will Compton, Milby, Huntingville and Fleurimont. Previously these towns, with the exception of Compton, were in the Sherbrooke riding. The St. Francis area will have about 25,063 voters.

The presently Liberal Stanstead constituency will be renamed Oxford and be extended to include Rock Forest, Deauville, St. Elie d'Orford and Val du Lac in the north east. This new division will increase the number of voters in the Oxford area by just over 3,000 to 25,093.

Compton riding will become Mégantic-Compton and be extended in the south west corner to include Dixville and Tanguay and in the north east to include the area including Lac Mégantic previously designated as Frontenac.

The Richmond riding will retain more or less the same boundaries except for parts in the west which will become the new riding of Johnson. These include the towns of Melbourne, Ulverton and Kirkdale. Richmond elected a Creditiste member in the 1970 election. The new provincial electoral map is an attempt to equalize the number of voters in each riding.

English-speaking Quebec: 14.7%

OTTAWA (CP) — For 67 per cent of Canadians, the language most often spoken at home is English. For 25.7 per cent, it is French.

Figures released Wednesday by Statistics Canada, based on the 1971 census, show Italian in third place at 2.2 per cent and German in fourth place at one per cent.

No comparative figures for previous years are available since the 1971 census was the first to ask what language is most often spoken at home.

English and French were the two most common languages in all provinces but the four western ones.

Percentages for other provinces: Newfoundland: English 99.1, French 0.4. P.E.I.: English 95.7, French 3.9. Nova Scotia: English 95.5, French 3.5. New Brunswick: English 67.9, French 31.4. Quebec: French 80.8, English 14.7, Italian 1.8.

Ontario: English 85.1, French 4.6, Italian 3.6, German 1.1.

Nationally, the complete Statistics Canada percentage breakdown was English 67, French 25.7, Italian 2.0, German 1.0, Ukrainian 0.7, native Indian 0.6, Chinese and Greek 0.4, Polish and Portuguese 0.3, Hungarian and Dutch 0.2, Croatian, Serbian and related languages 0.1, and other languages 1.1.

Diefenbaker leads way as 16 PCs break ranks, oppose resolution

Public service bilingualism program approved

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons gave overwhelming approval Wednesday to the government public service bilingualism program with a vote that opened a split in the Conservative party.

A resolution by Prime Minister Trudeau, setting 1978 as the target date for a functionally bilingual public service, passed 214 to 16. All opposition came from the Conservatives. All the Social Credit members present abstained.

The 16 Conservatives, all but two from western Canada, broke ranks in spite of party pressure to follow Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield and support the resolution.

It was the second blow of the afternoon for Mr. Stanfield who has supported the Official Languages Act and the goal of a bilingual public service.

Three hours earlier, his attempt to have the government resolution become part of the Official Languages Act was defeated 143 to 96 with two Conservatives abstaining and 13 others absent.

He said later he does not regard those who opposed him as rebels or consider their stand a threat to his leadership. Rather, they were demonstrating dissatisfaction with the act and a belief that the resolution, without legal teeth, is meaningless.

The group was led by John Diefenbaker, who said after the vote he did not seek the support of any who took part in the revolt.

He brushed aside suggestions that the party had been harmed, but he said those voting for the resolution will have "a lot of explaining to do" in their constituencies.

He described the resolution as "the greatest fraud ever committed on the Canadian people" and said it makes second-class citizens of all whose origin is neither English or French.

Mr. Stanfield said he was encouraged by the "almost unanimous" support from Conservatives for his amendment. None opposed the proposal and, of those present, only Mr. Diefenbaker and William Skoreyko (Edmonton East) abstained from voting.

NO COMPROMISE

Mr. Diefenbaker called the amendment a reasonable proposal but said he could not vote for it because it would have meant indirect support for Mr. Trudeau's resolution.

The prime minister interpreted the outcome as a vote in favor of renewed efforts to make the country's 250,000-member public service bilingual.

Before the main vote, the House threw out by a 227-to-11 margin a Social Credit attempt to set up parallel and autonomous French and English administrations in all departments of government.

Mr. Trudeau said the proposal was "as bad as their funny-money policy." All Social Credit MPs are from Quebec.

The 11 Social Credit members present abstained when the main resolution came to a vote. It was supported by 105 Liberals, 78 Conservatives, 30 New Democrats and Roch LaSalle (Ind-Joliette).

Other than the 16 Conservatives opposed and the 13 absent, one New Democrat, four Liberals and four Social Credit members were missing for the vote. Speaker Lucien Lamoureux, the 264th MP, votes only in the event of a tie.

RUMORS DENIED

Before the main vote, there were rumors of attempts to bring Conservatives into line and avoid a serious party split.

One report said Mr. Stanfield threatened to withdraw financial support in the next election from all MPs breaking ranks, but the Conservative leader denied it.

Party spokesmen also denied that Conservatives were urged Wednesday morning to stay away from the Commons if they could not support the resolution.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who challenged his colleagues Monday to break with Mr. Stanfield on the issue, said no attempt was made to bring him into line.

"Nobody has ever come to me with pressure unless they kept their posteriors out of the way."

Of those voting with the former prime minister, only Douglas Alkenbrack (Frontenac-Lennox and Addington) and Tom Cossitt (Leeds), are not from western Canada. Both represent Ontario ridings.

The westerners included five MPs from Manitoba, three from Saskatchewan, four from Alberta and one from British Columbia. Absent were five Conservatives from Ontario, two each from British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and one each from Nova Scotia and the Yukon.

The resolution, based on nine principles adopted by the government after Liberal setbacks in the Oct. 30 election, clarifies the application of the languages act within the public service.

Prime Minister Trudeau said only 25,000 of the 250,000 jobs within the public service must be designated bilingual to make the entire process "functionally bilingual."

But more funds needed to sustain Sherbrooke centre

Telephone aid service fulfilling its role

By WENDY McMULLEN

Record Reporter

SHERBROOKE — Sherbrooke's telephone aid service for people in distress who need someone to talk to or to help them is in dire need of more funds to maintain its service.

The service, called Secours Amitie, provides help for the lonely, the depressed, the suicidal or those who just want someone to listen to them. It does this by a telephone service which assures complete anonymity yet has someone on hand 24-hours-a-day to man the two telephones at the centre.

At a Sherbrooke Rotary Club lunch Tuesday, Paul Pelletier, Deputy Police Chief of Sherbrooke and one of the founders of Secours Amitie, explained the origins of the service in Sherbrooke and exactly what it involved to Sherbrooke Rotary Club members.

The need for a telephone aid service was recognized by the police long before the inception of Secours Amitie. The police frequently received telephone calls from lonely or disturbed people who desperately needed someone to talk to or to help them.

In 1971, a Sherbrooke police officer received such a call from a desperate woman who was contemplating suicide. While the police sergeant kept the woman on the telephone talking to her, a patrol car was sent to her house and she was safely delivered to a hospital where she recovered from her severe depression.

Following this incident, Mr. Pelletier investigated the possibility of setting up a telephone service expressly designed to help people in trouble. He found that a similar service, called Tel-Aid, operated very successfully in Montreal. He also found that Caritas in Sherbrooke, a social welfare organization, were eager to help.

Now, two years later, Secours Amitie is receiving more than 150 calls a week and has nearly 80 trained people willing to help with the telephone service.

Among those participating in the answering service are a notary, priests and nuns. But all the people who man the telephones on a strictly volunteer basis have to be specially trained to expect and deal with any situation that may arise.

In fact, the training they receive is quite detailed and, following the course, several mock calls are made to the helper to make sure he or she is capable. There are several of these volunteer helpers who have failed the tests, Mr. Pelletier reported.

One of the most important aspects of the Secours Amitie service is that the caller may retain complete anonymity and that the adviser must be completely impersonal.

"If personal links are made the whole system breaks down," Mr. Pelletier commented.

The problems presented to the volunteers include financial and unemployment difficulties, depression, people contemplating suicide and those with sexual problems.

By far the most common problem encountered is that of loneliness.

"We get calls from old people who would give anything to have just one telephone call a day," Mr. Pelletier said.

If the caller wants more detailed advice than the telephone volunteer can give, the volunteer takes that person's number and it is given to an expert in the field in which they have problems. The expert then calls the person back with detailed advice.

Although all the people involved in the Secours Amitie service give their service absolutely free, there is still a substantial amount of money required to maintain the service. Since the telephone aid service is not government supported it has to rely on donations to pay the rent for the centre and the two commercial telephone lines.

Secours Amitie hopes eventually to get aid under one of the government programs but since this may take some time they are presently soliciting financial aid from local organizations.

Paul Pelletier, formerly a scientist with the RCMP Crime detection laboratories, has been deputy police chief in Sherbrooke for five years and helped found the Secours Amitie service in 1971.

The Secours Amitie operates 24-hours-a-day and most of the volunteers speak both English and French. The number of the Telephone aid service is Sherbrooke 563-5511.

Dairy danger researched

By JIM NEAVES
EDMONTON (CP) — A great deal of research is being conducted on a world-wide basis to try to change the fat structure of milk products, says Dr. V. W. Kadis, Canada's representative on the International Dairy Federation.

Dr. Kadis, 50, director of the Alberta agriculture department's food laboratory since 1961, says the changes are being sought to satisfy the many people who believe that certain fatty acids in milk products, particularly butter, contribute to a high level of cholesterol in the blood stream, a substance which builds up and eventually blocks arteries.

This is only one of many concerns of the federation which was founded in 1903 and has its head offices in Brussels.

The only international body concerned with the total dairy industry in the world, its 30 member countries include 15 of the top milk-producing nations. Canada joined five or six years ago and Dr. Kadis is the first Canadian to hold a senior position on one of the six policy-making commissions making up the federation.

CANADA NEAR TOP

Dr. Kadis said Canada ranks among the top six milk-producing nations although the United States, perhaps the world's largest dairy-product producer, is not yet a member of the IDF.

"They can't seem to agree on who should represent their country," he said.

The IDF is a non-profit, non-governmental organization created to promote the solution of scientific, technical and economic problems in the international dairy field through international co-operation.

Each of the six commissions has four members and is responsible for certain areas.

Dr. Kadis is a member of Commission A, concerned with milk hygiene and matters relating to quality control, residues and contaminants.

"The problem of pesticide residues in milk is another area of major concern that the commission is working on."

The other commissions deal with technology and engineering, economics and management, composition and standards and classifications, analytical standards, nutrition and education.

The commissions, whose members serve a four-year term, co-ordinate a number of expert committees or working parties dealing with specific problems.

In addition to being a commission member, Dr. Kadis also is a member of a committee of experts with the responsibility of recommending universal standards and testing procedures associated with all problems relating to pesticide residues and contaminants in milk and milk products.

"With the growing international trade in dairy products, it is most important that all IDF member countries follow the same testing procedures and standards," he said.

Dr. Kadis was appointed to the commission last October in Tokyo at the federation's 56th annual meeting. He was one of nine Canadian delegates.

The next annual meeting, Sept. 16, will be held in Brussels with the 1974 meeting scheduled for New Delhi.

Admits to hoax of $50 million

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Stuart Holzman has admitted to being a "big phony" and not a bus driver-turned-millionaire who indulged himself in a $45,000 weekend shopping spree in Bimini.

In interviews Monday, Holzman said the story of his Bahamian adventure was a hoax. He had claimed to be the inheritor of a $50-million real-estate fortune bequeathed by an uncle.

Sunday, Holzman said he challenged a speedboat enthusiast to take him to Bimini, 54 miles across the Gulf Stream, in 50 minutes. In return he promised to buy three boats.

He said Monroe Spodack, owner of the Everglades Marina, got him to Bimini in 54 minutes and he bought the boats anyway, scattering $100 bills in his wake as he sped off with bikini-clad company. Holzman, said he "can't say why" he identified himself as the eccentric millionaire. But he said it wasn't he but Spodack who invented the speedboat story for publicity.

On Monday, Holzman said he convinced people in his home town of New Brunswick, N.J., that he had inherited millions. Actually, his mother has been supporting him, Holzman said.

Holzman, who has lived in Fort Lauderdale since 1965, said he enlarged on the hoax by insisting his rich uncle had required him to drive a bus 10 years before he could claim the money.

"People are so gullible," he said. However, Spodack said there was a man, named "Foley," who challenged him to race the clock to Bimini.

Stolen ID means trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — Since someone stole her nurse's identification papers last year, embarrassments have mounted for Madeline Hitze-grad.

First she received bills she hadn't signed for.

Then she was ordered to appear in court on a prostitution charge and had a hard time clearing herself.

But last week topped this. A phoney Madeline was arrested at a stag party and charged with prostitution and obscenity.

"At 6:10 in the morning," the real Madeline said, "The hospital was on the phone wanting to know what one of their nurses was doing running around without any clothes on in Nassau County."

"I was so embarrassed I couldn't go in to work. And my boy friend wasn't very pleased about it, either."

"It's getting so bad that I may have to change my name."

Air Canada, machinists negotiations break off

MONTREAL (CP) — Negotiations between Air Canada and the International Association of Machinists (IAM) have broken off, a union spokesman announced Wednesday night.

The spokesman said the breakdown would not affect the union's policy of rotating 24-hour strikes. The 6,400 machinists were to call a fourth consecutive walkout at an unspecified location today.

The union had no immediate comment on the breakdown in negotiations.

Aspokesman for Air Canada said the talks were terminated by the IAM.

"Air Canada regrets the termination of talks," he said in a statement.

The union, ended discussions at 10 p.m. saying that if Air Canada was not prepared to meet their demand for a 20 per cent wage increase over a two-year contract, plus a special salary adjustment of $20 per month, there was no point in continuing the talks.

The Air Canada spokesman said the company Wednesday offered the machinists an increase of eight per cent for the first 12 months of a new contract and an additional seven per cent for the next 13 months—a total of 15 per cent for 25 months.

In the last six days, the company spokesman said, "the airline has made major concessions to the union in an effort to reach a fair and reasonable settlement.

At the same time, the company has had to cope with the increasing harassment of rotating strikes across the system, which is causing great inconvenience to the travelling public and damage to the airline.

The latest company offer, the spokesman said, would give an aircraft mechanic an annual salary of $13,200 by the end of the new contract.

An employee loading baggage at a Canadian airport would earn $10,300 at that time, he said.

"These special adjustments," he said, "would add an additional one per cent to the cost of the package."

Wages have been the main issue between the two parties during the daily talks which began last Friday under the supervision of federally-appointed mediator Roy A. Gallagher of Winnipeg, the spokesman said.

"Progress has been made on the other agenda items," he said.

Other items involved include a union demand for a four-day work week, company policy on the hiring of part-time employees, and certain bilingualism requirements in some jobs.

Discussing the strikes by more than 500 machinists in five cities Wednesday, the spokesman said Air Canada was able to maintain near-normal flight operations.

Little recourse left for Lenn. residents

LENNOXVILLE (GH) — Cecil Dougherty, Mayor of Lennoxville, said at a council meeting Monday nothing can be done to stop the conversion of the former Johnston Funeral Home into a Brasserie.

"If the building complies with existing bylaws," he said, "no action can be taken."

A petition, signed by more than 100 area residents opposing the brasserie, has been sent to Quebec. The fear of degeneration and destruction of the dignity of the area is the major cause of opposition.

One method to fight the conversion would be to petition the council to change the existing bylaws, preventing the establishment of restaurants and pubs in certain areas, a member of the public suggested.

"Objectively, the environment of Queen street has always been commercial," Mayor Dougherty said in reply to this method.

"Any segregation would not be practical."

There is recourse left to the public. Objections can be made to the Quebec liquor board. The deadline for objections, signed under oath, is tomorrow.

Another public complaint made to the council concerned gravel being dug from the St. Francis River by the side of Lot 353 owned by Wilfrid Gregoire, president of Washed Gravel, Inc.

Dust, noise and trucks entering the public highway are distressing the guests of the Marquis Motel, said the motel's owner. The motel is on Queen street, beside the entrance. Council said that the noise and nuisance would be investigated. Problems concerning the river are under the jurisdiction of Quebec.

The council passed a plan to extend Peel and Clough streets, parallel to Vaudry street, subject to approval by town engineers. The most immediate problem facing the plan is the drainage of surface water.

The official inauguration of the new Lennoxville fire station will be held for invited guests at 4 p.m. Saturday. A public opening ceremony will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Magog to hold Tourist Week

MAGOG (WM) — Magog will hold a spectacular Tourist Week next week to encourage visitors to the area and exhibit Magog's many tourist attractions.

Numerous activities have been arranged to make the official Tourist Week a great success.

One of the highlights will be the competition to bring to life again the monster Anaconda, which according to legend, used to inhabit the depths of Lake Memphremagog. The lucky winner of this competition will be given a week for two with free hospitality in Magog.

Other activities include a civic reception on Tuesday, June 12 at 7 p.m., and an audio-visual presentation on Magog in the 1800's to be shown at 395 Main street West on Wednesday evening at 9:30 p.m. If it rains, this will be postponed until Thursday, June 14.

The festivities will end Saturday with the crowing of the Tourist Queen in Orford Ski Chalet Saturday evening. The crowning ceremony will be followed by a spectacular performance from the Folk Estrie troupe. The tourist queen will be awarded with all the entry money from this event which is $1.00 each person. The ceremonies will begin at 8 p.m. on Saturday, June 16.

The Tourist Week was unanimously agreed upon by the municipal council at their last meeting. The council hopes that if this week is successful, it will become an annual event to aid the town and the region in touristic expansion.

All Saints' Guild

BEEBE — The Guild of All Saints' Anglican Church met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Slade, on May 8, with a good attendance.

Mrs. V. Denney opened the meeting in the usual manner, followed by a short devotional period.

The routine reports were read and approved.

Mrs. S. Emslie, Centennial Chairman, reported on the booth. A meeting will be held to price the articles for the sales booth.

It was decided to serve one type of food with tea and coffee at the meeting, for refreshments, instead of a large variety.

Mrs. Slade served refreshments when a time of fellowship was enjoyed.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Miss Verda Stratton.

To house new zoo, gardens, 1900-style village

Victoria Park plans unveiled

SHERBROOKE (WM) — By 1974, Sherbrooke should have its own Upper Canada Village, a botanical garden, an ecological zone and a new zoo all to be located in Victoria Park in the East Ward, the City of Sherbrooke announced at a press conference yesterday afternoon.

Development plans made by professors and students of Sherbrooke CEGEP in conjunction with city administrators for the 25-acre area between Park, Fortier and Chicoyne streets have projected five main zones in the new development of the Park.

The Recreation Zone on the north-west corner is to be devoted mainly to an exciting new project called Sherbrooke 1900. In this area, the planning committee envision a duplicate of Sherbrooke in the 1900s complete with bank, church, fire and police stations, post office, houses where weaving is done and even a bakery where ye olde home-made bread is produced.

The plans for this zone have not yet been finally approved by the city but it is planned to have about 40 replicas of turn-of-the-century Sherbrooke buildings in the village replete with antique equipment and furniture.

The planning committee for the Victoria Park development, made up of city administrators and CEGEP professors and students, propose that this part of the Victoria Park development be financed by asking local establishment to finance the cost of building an exact replica of their establishments in the 1900's.

Details of the Sherbrooke 1900 village will be submitted to the City Council in October this year. The project is not expected to be completed until 1976.

The Ecology Zone, a special area where certain types of plants and trees will be grown, will also not be opened for another three years. The ecological area is designed both for public interest and for research purposes for the students and professors of the CEGEP.

The new zones to be opened this year are a new zoo, the botanical gardens and a rest area. The zoo will be mainly for smaller animals like beavers, ducks, foxes and others but there will be a special reserve at the southern end of the park bordering Chicoyne Street where deer may roam freely. The present zoo will sell its larger animals like the bears, and llamas and concentrate on a larger selection of smaller animals.

The rest area bordered by botanical gardens will be in the north-east area by Park Street. These too are expected to be open at the end of the summer.

All the areas, with the exception of the Sherbrooke 1900 village will be free to the public. Even the village would not have a high entrance cost, Jacques Gauthier, city designer and member of the development committee said. He estimated the cost at between one-eighth and one-tenth the cost of entrance to Upper Canada village in Ontario.

Sherbrooke mayor Marc Bureau emphasized that the Park Victoria development plan was not designed as a tourist attraction but meant mainly for the local popular touristically.

No definite plans have yet been made for the 28 North of Park street opposite the new development area. Residents in the locality feared this municipally owned terrain might be made into a camp site. Mayor Bureau reiterated yesterday however, that no such projects were anticipated as yet.

The cost of the Victoria Park has mainly been financed by Government Local Initiatives and Opportunities for Youth projects, the cost of the Victory Park has mainly been financed by Government Local Initiatives and Opportunities for Youth projects. The salaries of the 25 students from Sherbrooke CEGEP led by president of the committee and vice-director of pedagogical services, Roger Frot were provided by the Opportunities for Youth Project. The students spent more than 40 weeks making the detailed plan for the Victoria Park development.

The City of Sherbrooke has provided all the materials and technical aid required for the project and will undertake all the costs of maintenance of the new park.

JEAN LUC PEPIN

To receive degree at U of S

SHERBROOKE (WM) — Jean Luc Pepin, former minister of trade and commerce in the federal government, will receive an honorary degree from the University of Sherbrooke this Saturday.

Since Mr. Pepin was defeated in the Drummond riding in the last federal election, he has started a new career in business. While studying the possibility of creating a Canadian House of International Commerce, he founded the Intermino Society Limited, a group of consultants whose aim is to aid Canadian commercial expansion.

Jean Luc Pepin, who has already obtained his baccalaureate in arts and philosophy and a law degree will receive his new honorary degree at the graduation ceremony in the Central Pavilion of the University of Sherbrooke at 4 p.m. on Saturday, June 9.

Wood plant to re-open

Economic Expansion will grant $150,000 toward the total amount needed to re-open the plant.

The Council aims to start the plant again as a private enterprise but eventually to transform it into a co-operative effort managed by the workers in the plant. The directors of the new Sherbrooke Wood Products company have already made out a complete plan for the best utilisation of the factory.

$16,000 collected

SHERBROOKE (GH) — Operation Unvestire collected over $16,000 in the second day of its Sherbrooke Blitz campaign, a spokesman for the organization said yesterday.

The representative said canvassers plan to see over 200 more people today, the last day of the drive. The operation has netted over $335,000 or 70.7 per cent of their goal of $475,000.

The spokesman said all of the goal will not be realized by the end of the drive tonight. But canvassing in other areas, along with pledges from people who can not be reached before the drive ends, should result in the achievement of the goal, he said.

Wood plant to re-open

SHERBROOKE (WM) — Sherbrooke National Syndicate Council have voted to invest $50,000 to re-open Sherbrooke Wood Industries which closed down five months ago.

The Syndicate Council has contracted a loan for this investment in order to provide work for 43 union members who have been out of work since the operation closed. They hope that the Ministry of Regional

Files action

MONTREAL (CP) — Judge Jacques Anctil of Session Court Tuesday filed a defamatory libel action against The Gazette and associate editor George Radwanski.

The action, filed in Quebec Superior Court, charges The Gazette Printing Co. Ltd. and Mr. Radwanski with "defamation and malice stemming from a two-part series on Judge Anctil published in March."

The two articles were written by Mr. Radwanski and published following an altercation between the judge and lawyers working for the Legal Aid Bureau.

The 50 legal aid assistance lawyers had refused to plead before Judge Anctil after the judge fined one of them $200 for contempt of court.

The action says the articles are "defamatory, and have been conceived in such a way as to be discriminatory, malicious and unjust."

Spiritual leader coming

SHERBROOKE (GH) — Are you searching for complete fulfillment? Are you seeking a spiritual release?

A group of disciples of Sri Chinmoy, an acclaimed spiritual master, will be arriving in Sherbrooke to hold a public meditation on Friday at 7:30 p.m. at 300 Montreal street.

They are coming to introduce seekers to this area to the spiritual teachings of their master, a poet and composer from Bengal, India.

The notion of a spiritual master or guru is frequently misunderstood by Westerners. In India, he is a revered holy man who has spent many years meditating in spiritual practice.

In all human history, only a handful have achieved a level of consciousness known in Indian scripture as Nirvikalpa Samadhi, supposedly the absolute highest. Sri Chinmoy is one of these.

Born in Bengal in 1931, Sri Chinmoy was recognized as having achieved Nirvikalpa Samadhi at the age of 12. He spent the next 20 years in an ashram or monastery meditating and developing his spiritual powers. He came to America in 1964.

Since that time he has emerged as a major figure in the spiritual world. He brings inspiration to his followers through the influence of his many public lectures, published works and meditation groups.

Thousands of seekers have been drawn to his "inner light." Sri Chinmoy spiritual centers have been established throughout Canada, the United States, Europe and the Far East. At his current residence in New York, he holds weekly meditation with a special group from the United Nations. His disciples hope to eventually open a meditation center in this area. There is no admission charge to Friday night's session.

For more information, call 567-8146 or 562-8758. The Sri Chinmoy spiritual center in Montreal is located at 3201 Edward Montpetit Boulevard. The Montreal phone number is 486-4331.

Much to be desired

In his latest report to the House of Commons on the brutal murders of two Canadian girls by Zambian troops at Victoria Falls, Mitchell Sharp observed that a personal message of regret from the Zambian foreign minister "leaves a good deal to be desired." So it plainly does.

The Zambian government has been endeavoring from the outset to shift the blame to Rhodesia, an unpopular state because of its racial policies. It has dealt in fabrications, evasions and excuses, including an absurd attempt to equate cold-blooded slaughter by its frontier guards with an accidental death by automobile accident on the highway near Hamilton.

Regrettably, Mr. Sharp's own statements on this tragedy also leave something to be desired. The studied moderation of language normal to external affairs is simply not suited to such abnormal circumstances. Thus it is not enough for the minister, two weeks after the event, to confine our demands to "an explanation that accords with the facts and evidence of much greater concern by the Zambians." Concern will mean very little unless it includes compensation and the punishment of those responsible. Unless that is made plain beyond possible doubt, the Zambian authorities may well hope that time and a few more diplomatic words will lead us to forget the whole sorry business.

In a somewhat obscure comment on Mr. Sharp's report, the NDP spokesman, Douglas Rowland, urged the government not to be influenced by a desire for revenge. What has revenge to do with a perfectly proper demand that the Zambian government behave with elementary decency in this matter? The fact is that Canada supports Zambia with millions in economic aid. It should be made clear that there are many nations in the queue for such voluntary assistance and that we certainly have no obligation to assist those who treat us in this fashion.

It is important, for another reason, that the Canadian government should be plain-spoken and adamant in this matter. As Mr. Rowland noted, tensions and lawlessness in Africa are not confined to the borders of Zambia and Rhodesia. A great many young Canadians serve in that continent or visit it every year.

Precisely for the reason that we do not wish to be principals in more international incidents, the government should so conduct itself in this case as to dispel any impression that our nationals can be killed or ill-treated at risk of nothing more serious than a few words of diplomatic displeasure followed by the aid business as usual. Foreign policy, we are always being told, is a reflection of our domestic concerns and one of the most elementary of these is the protection of Canadian nationals.

Ups and downs

The gyrations of the American dollar on European money markets is getting the headlines but its close cousin—the Canadian dollar—is being pulled through the same dizzying ups and downs.

That's because the Canadian dollar has been riding along at par within narrow limits of the U.S. dollar. As the American currency plummeted this week in relation to European money so did the Canadian.

When the dollar falls, travel abroad becomes more expensive and imports to Canada from overseas cost more.

At midday Wednesday, according to the Bank of Montreal foreign exchange rates, it cost $39.50 to buy 100 German marks. If you had wanted 100 marks May 15 the cost would have been $35.91 and May 1 they were worth $35.65. On Jan. 2 only $31.11 would have got you 100 German marks.

The same upswing has affected other European currencies. One hundred French francs (financial) were worth $19.45 Jan. 2, $22.20 May 1 and $24.50 Wednesday. The British pound rose from $2.3391 at the start of the year to $2.5613 Wednesday and the value of 100 Swiss francs increased from $26.42 in January to $31.10 May 1 to $33.75 Wednesday.

"These are very hard times for importers," says Keith Dixon, general manager of the Canadian Importers Association. Imports from Europe, anything from German cars to French perfume to Swiss watches, are more expensive now and less competitive with North American products.

Martha: Night of the needles

WASHINGTON — A lot has happened since Martha Mitchell complained last June 23 that a security guard had ripped her telephone out of the wall and had inoculated her indelicately in the derriere.

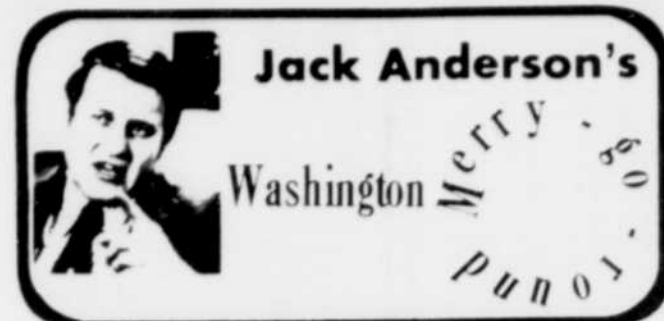

For close to a year, witnesses have kept silent about the incident. But in the wake of the Watergate revelations, the new spirit of confession has now loosened their tongues. We have learned, at last, the details that housewives have been hounding us for.

The implication of her inquiries has been that poor Martha knew too much and was shut up by Republican security guards. The truth is less sinister. Martha Mitchell is a delightful, if loquacious lady. She has color and sparkle and a sense of humor. But she sometimes becomes volatile when she drinks too much.

This was her condition on June 23 in Newport Beach's Newport Hotel on the California coast. As she became more shrill, her security guard Steve King, tried to calm her. She screamed that he was holding her prisoner and she lunged for the telephone to call for help.

YANKS OUT PHONE
King was worried that, in her condition, she might reach a reporter and say something that would embarrass her later. So he yanked the telephone cord out of the wall while she was talking to UPI reporter Helen Thomas.

Martha became violent, assaulting the furnishings. Once she slashed the air with a karate swing and her hand crashed through a window pane. The broken glass cut her hand deeply, increasing her hysteria.

King summoned the hotel doctor, but Martha refused to let him look at her hurt hand. To quiet her, King pinned her down while the doctor gave her a tranquilizer shot. It had little immediate effect on the agitated Martha, who continued to rave. At one point, she wrapped a washrag around her hand to stop the bleeding but still wouldn't let the doctor treat it.

The harassed security guard, meanwhile, decided Martha Mitchell was more than he could handle. So he phoned her husband, ex-Attorney General John Mitchell, in Washington and gave him a blow-by-blow account of the altercation.

CALL TO KALMBACH
Immediately, Mitchell placed an urgent call to President Nixon's personal attorney, Herb Kalmbach, who happens to live in Newport Beach. Mitchell asked Kalmbach, as a personal favor, to hurry to the hotel and take charge of the situation.

When Kalmbach arrived, he found Martha still at full lung power, a blood-soaked washrag around her hand, protesting that she was being held prisoner. He finally got her calmed and brought in his own doctor to examine her hand.

Martha Mitchell got her hand stitched, spent the next day with the Kalmbachs and then flew to New York for a few days of seclusion at the plush Westchester Country Club.

John Mitchell, meanwhile, discussed the incident with the President, who was understanding and agreed Mitchell should leave the campaign to straighten out his marital problems. The former attorney general may also have felt the Watergate developments closing in on him. But Watergate was not mentioned, according to knowledgeable sources, as his reason for resigning.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

INDIAN MEDICINE: Two militant Indian leaders appeared the other day at the Interior Department, the citadel of the white bureaucracy they have been warring against. They had been invited by Interior Secretary Rogers Morton to present their views. The conscientious

Morton, who is slowly recovering from cancer, impressed the Indians with his sincerity. At the end of the interview, LaNada Boyer, a Bannock-Shoshone, quietly pulled from her purse twigs of cedar. Burning cedar is the age-old Indian ritual for good health. As Morton nodded appreciatively, the Indian woman fanned the fragrant smoke toward him, saying softly, "This is for your health."

SHORT MEMORIES: The nation's militant conservationists sometimes have memories as short as their tempers. One of the Senate's most tireless fighters for the environment has been Frank Moss, D-Utah, who has sponsored every major air and water pollution bill that has passed in the last 15 years. He has also cosponsored the Wilderness Act, the Wild Rivers Act and the Outdoor Recreation Act. Now, however, Moss has backed measures to allow a water back-up from Lake Powell that will increase the water beneath Rainbow Bridge National Monument. Although it is dubious that the water would structurally damage the bridge, Moss is being nastily attacked by some of his fairweather friends in the environmental movement.

EAVESDROPPING EX-

EMPTION: The telephone of Defense Department employees are subject to eavesdropping at any time. The Civilian and military employees can only grit their teeth and swear. They must accept the snooping as a condition of employment. But recently, Brig. Gen. F.H. Cutrona, the Pentagon information director, announced in a memo that 42 of the thousands of Pentagon phones would be "exempt" from surveillance. These are the phones of reporters in the Department of Defense press room. Now that reporters have been assured their phones are tap-free, they expect a flood of officers asking to use them to make personal calls.

Matter
of fact

with Joseph Alsop

This can't go on

WASHINGTON — Two sets of current headlines should be enough to make all common sensible Americans exclaim, "This can't go on!" One set of headlines warns us that our dollars are losing value almost daily. The other, more prominent set recounts the latest chapter in the shabby story of the former counsel to the President, John Dean III.

Dean is a smooth-faced young man, who is reportedly obsessed by fear of going to jail because of his consciousness of his own good looks. By the direct testimony of Lt. Gen. Vernon L. Walters, Dean repeatedly tried to involve the Central Intelligence Agency in the Watergate cover-up in a way that amounted to misprision of felony. If there is truth in half of what is being said, Dean has in fact been guilty of criminal acts.

Since the full extent of the Watergate horror began to be known, Dean has been continuously shopping around for a promise of immunity from prosecution in return for his own promise to tell all. He has peddled this deal to Senate investigators, to federal prosecutors and even to newspaper reporters.

In the course of this search for a promise of immunity, Dean has also changed his own story radically — at least if the New York Times is to be believed. Some time ago, The Times reported that in long interviews both federal and Senate investigators had discovered "Dean had no evidence to link Mr. Nixon either to prior knowledge of the Watergate bugging or to any subsequent cover-up."

Apparently, however, John Dean was lying then, unless he is lying now. This choice is unavoidable since Dean has now told the Senate investigators that he has quantities of evidence of just the kind he formerly denied having.

In addition, there is another choice between Dean's current story being a fabric of untruths, or the President of the United States being a liar.

You may ask why these bitterly unpalatable facts have any relation to our dollars' almost daily loss of value against both gold and other major foreign currencies. The answer lies in the fact the self-serving allegations of a bottom-dwelling slug like Dean are now widely taken to prove the President guilty of crime.

While this state of affairs continues, anything like effective government leadership is obviously impossible. In addition, every expert on the world money markets agrees that the uncertainties caused by the unresolved Watergate horror are feeding back into the monetary crisis. They are in fact one direct cause of all the dollars in all our pockets being continuously devalued. This is only one of several areas where effective government leadership is now desperately needed, moreover.

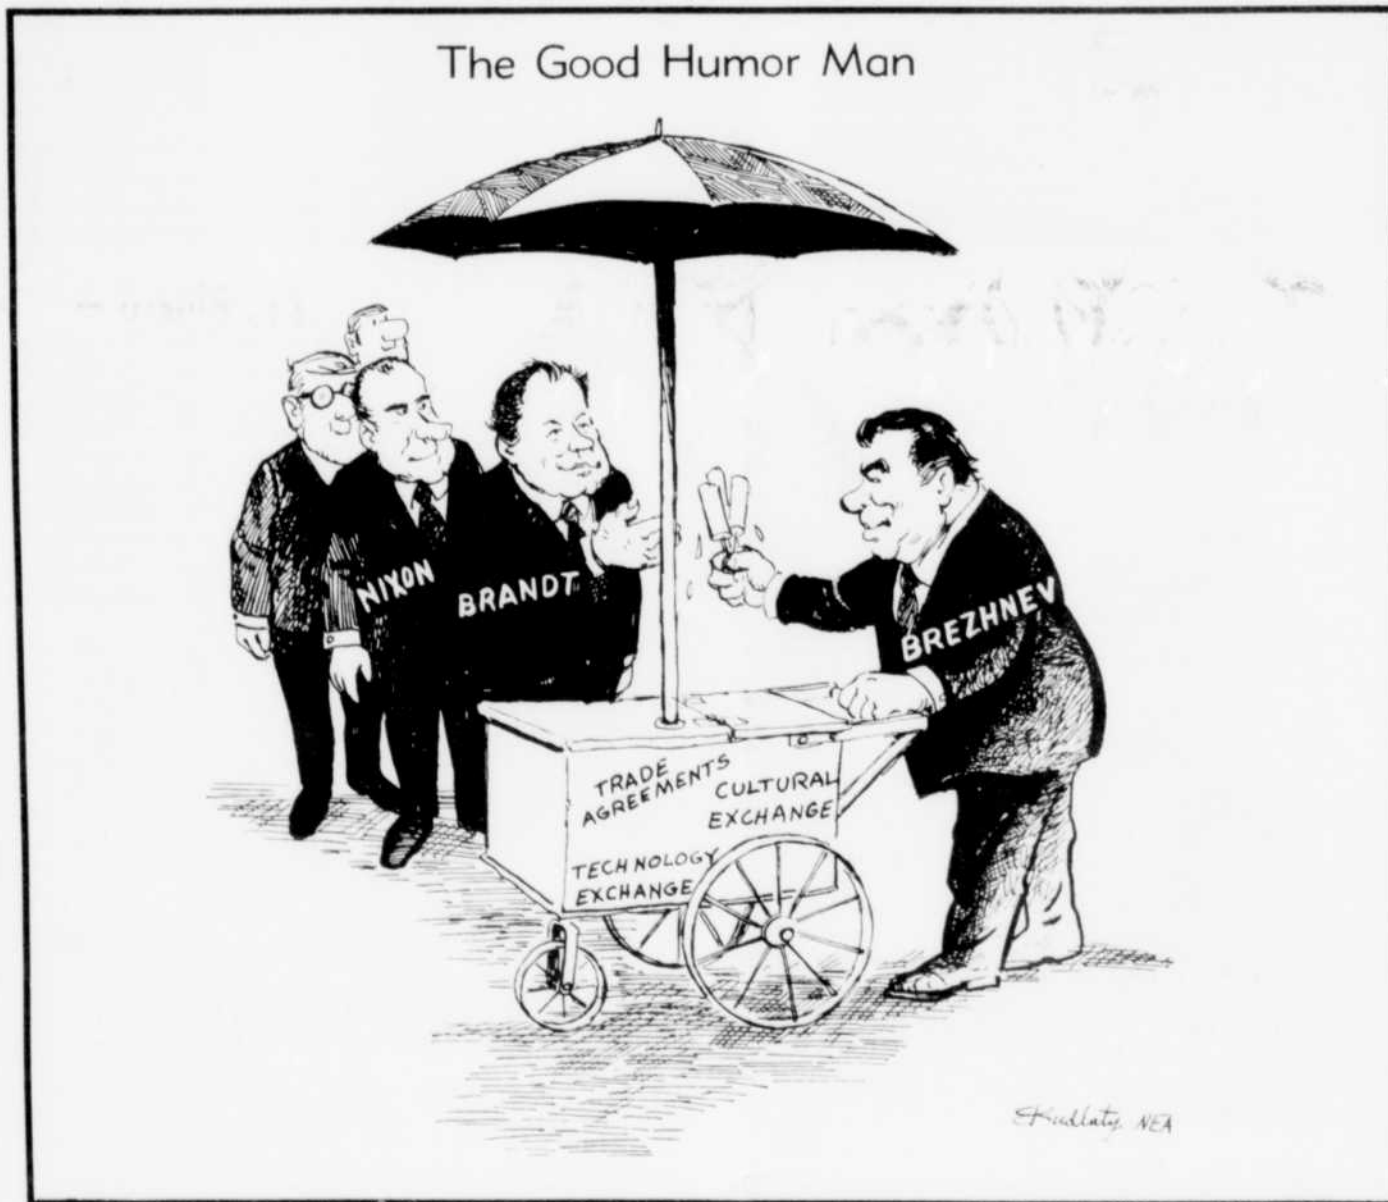

Hence, the further need for common sensible Americans to warn, loudly and firmly, "This cannot go on." The President must be freed to lead or he should cease to be President. But here we run, head-on, into the preferences of the majority of the Senate Watergate investigating committee and its staff. They prefer it to go on as long as possible.

That was the real purpose of the committee investigators' recent advance unveiling of John Dean's latest story, with all its promise of startling revelations yet to come. Samuel Dash and the other committee investigators are now so eager to protect their flanks for a bleakly simple reason. Their mere investigation, with all its delightful publicity, will pretty certainly keep those who have been guilty of Watergate crimes out of the jail that John Dean so consumingly fears.

Chief committee investigator has been plainly warned that this is the present law of the land by the Justice Department's special Watergate prosecutor, Archibald Cox. Dean himself may even be so eager to tell his much-revised story to Dash and the senators precisely because his lawyers have told him that he will then be protected from jail under the Delaney decision of 1952, as just reported in this space.

If common sense prevails, therefore, the Senate Watergate investigating committee will immediately address itself to one subject and to one subject only — the truth or falsehood of the charge that President Nixon was a knowing participant in the Watergate crimes. If the President is even halfway proved to have been an accomplice in crime, it goes without saying he should resign forthwith. Or he should be impeached.

Hence, this is a proper and necessary subject for senatorial inquiry. The actual punishment of federal crimes, meanwhile, is only a proper subject of the federal courts. The courts should certainly not be blocked by senatorial inquiry, just as effective leadership of government should not be indefinitely interrupted.

Lull in fighting expected

By KEVIN DOYLE

SAIGON (CP) — Military experts with the international peace supervisory force here are anticipating a generalized lull in fighting between the Viet Cong and South Vietnamese Army units which may last several months.

But most seem convinced that sometime in the next year, the Viet Cong will launch a major offensive aimed at securing at least one deep-water port and a major city.

Sources conversant with international law tend to support this view. They say the Viet Cong must have a port and a large city in order for their claim to sovereignty over parts of South Vietnam to have any credibility.

Experts with the International Commission of Control and Supervision (ICCS), who insist on anonymity, also indicate that a large-scale push by the Viet Cong is most likely to be launched in the southern part of South Vietnam, possibly in the Mekong Delta region.

These sources believe North Vietnamese regular forces have established effective control over the three northern provinces of South Vietnam, below the demilitarized zone, and that the Viet Cong, as a result, have begun concentrating their attention on areas farther south.

Talk of a coming offensive is heard everywhere in Saigon. In diplomatic and military circles, it is one of the main topics of conversation. But while virtually everyone seems convinced that an attack is being planned, there is little consensus so far on when it will take place.

There is a growing belief, however, that the Viet Cong will postpone any major move at least until late summer when the rainy season, which is just starting, has ended. Other sources expect renewed hostilities nearer the end of the year.

Military sources say the Viet Cong seem to be acutely aware that an offensive in the next couple of months might well bring on a resumption of American bombing, while an attack after six months or so may carry less risk of U.S. retaliation.

The Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) may also want a period of relative peace to determine whether it will be possible to hold genuinely free elections in South Vietnam in which its candidates would stand a fair chance of making significant gains.

A major renewal of fighting would cause grave problems for the ICCS, whose main concern would be the evacuation of its field teams and even regional headquarters' staff to safe areas.

Canadian officials, however, seem relatively certain that an evacuation could be accomplished fairly quickly, although not without considerable security risks.

The problem would be an academic one, as far as Canada is concerned, within a few weeks. External Affairs Minister Sharp has announced Canada will withdraw from the truce observer team not later than July 31.

The ICCS now has a Canadian-organized air operation with 32 aircraft capable of reaching virtually all areas of South Vietnam. The main problem with air operations is that flights over Viet Cong territory can be made only after extensive advance warning has been given and clearance granted.

But as one Canadian official commented: "If our people were in real danger we'd fly anywhere we had to in order to bring them out—with or without permission."

Bridal shower

HIGHWATER — A very surprised young lady, Miss Barbara Ann Lamothe, of Mansenville, was greeted at the door by Miss Roberta Newell of Ville d'Anjou, in the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newell on Sat. afternoon, May 26, where approximately 45 friends and relatives had gathered to give her a miscellaneous shower.

Miss Newell pinned a corsage of red roses to Barbara's dress at the shoulder and then escorted her to the honor-chair. Barbara's intended husband, David Oliver, led her to believe that she was going to attend a tupperware party.

A newly painted wheel barrow was enveloped with trimmings of white crepe paper streamers, white accordion pleated wedding bells and fresh apple blossom branches, and held many beautifully wrapped gifts, while overhead hung a white accordion pleated umbrella. She was aided by her mother and prospective mother-in-law and her little nieces, Sharon and Belinda Wing of Knowlton, and Buffy Lamothe of Mansenville, who had previously passed out corsages to each lady present, handed the gifts to Miss Lamothe.

Mrs. Robert Newell, who assisted the hostesses, the Misses Roberta Newell and Wendi Harison of Montreal, made a large cake with an upsidown small yellow umbrella filled with lilies-of-the-valley and violets with a white whipped cream frosting and multicolored small flowers around the edge.

The guest of honor expressed her appreciation to the assembled guests after which a delicious buffet lunch was served. Many snapshots were taken throughout the party by several people.

The wedding of the happy couple will take place in the Mansenville St. Paul's Anglican Church on June 23 at 7 p.m.

Baptism service

MANSONVILLE — On May 27 the three infant grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Armstrong were baptised in the St. Paul's Anglican Church here, immediately following the afternoon church service. Rev. Ian Dodd conducted the baptismal service for each baby.

Seven and a half month-old Andrew Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce Mowat of Ramsey, N.J., wore a baptismal gown from Saks Fifth Ave. Andrew's other grandparents are Mrs. Robert Bennett Mowat, of London, England. His sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nye of Barre, Vt., and Mr. Robin Bruce Armstrong of Mansenville.

Seven-month-old Joanna Halley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Willard, of Mansenville, wore her mother's baptismal gown of 1947. Joanna's other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Cousens, of Knowlton, and her sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Bailey, Jr., of Dunkin, and Mrs. Robert Bruce Mowat, of Ramsey, N.J.

Six and a half month-old Derrick Charles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Bailey, Jr., of Dunkin, wore a hand knitted suit. Derrick's other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Bailey, Sr., of Highwater. His sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Terry Willard and Mr. Robert Bruce Mowat.

A reception was held following the service, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard where 47 friends and relatives gathered. Each baby had a special cake to celebrate their baptism.

Mrs. Armstrong made a multicolored cake in the shape of the church. Mr. Bailey, Jr., made a blue & white cake with a baby in a cradle suspended over the top. Mrs. Willard made a pink and white cake with her baby's name on the top.

The grandparents had everything to be proud of as it is reported that the three babies were on their good behavior for the occasion.

Friendly Club meets

AYER'S CLIFF — The Friendly Card Club held its May meeting at the home of Mrs. T. Ride.

500 was played at three tables and prizes won as follows — 1st prize, Mrs. Alice Vance; 2nd, Mrs. Ruth Waite and Mrs. Peter Despres; Mrs. Lillian McFaul and Mrs. Stewart Cass.

consolation, Mrs. P. Despres. The hostess served dainty refreshments and a pleasant social time was enjoyed. Guests for the evening were Mrs. Peter Despres, Mrs. Lillian McFaul and Mrs. Stewart Cass.

Better merchandise exposed

NEW YORK (AP) —

Fashionable stores are increasingly displaying women's clothes on open racks, with the idea that for customers a dress in hand is worth two in the stockroom.

Some women still prefer the traditional salon treatment—a comfortable chair and a dedicated salesperson at their beck and call. But store owners say the trend is away from that and women would rather fend for themselves.

"The convenience of seeing different colors, fabrics and sizes helps women to make up their minds," said Andrew Goodman, of Bergdorf Goodman Co., which has been putting more and more merchandise out on the floor in the last few years.

At Bergdorf's Halston and Givenchy designer boutiques, customers are welcome to pick through racks of $450 chiffon caftans, $450 pants suits, and $135 cotton skirts.

RISK ADMITTED

At the Stix, Baer and Fuller stores in St. Louis, $300 to $600 outfits no longer are sequestered out of sight.

"More than one-half of the better merchandise is exposed in the branch stores, except for fragile chiffons and light colors," said Norman Chesler, fashion merchandising vice-president.

"There is a vulnerability factor, but you have to face the risk if you want to sell the clothes," said one fashion store executive, echoing feelings of others in the business.

A contributing factor, said Goodman, is the diminishing number of old-school sales people, who keep their customers year after year. Today, the large turnover in personnel doesn't lend to close relationships.

Horticultural society

SUTTON — The Brome County Horticultural Society held their spring meeting on Wednesday, May 16 in the Household Science Room of the Knowlton Elementary School. About 25 Directors were present and plans were made for holding the annual exhibition at Brome Fair on Labor Day weekend.

Mr. Gordon Marsh, Vice-President took the chair in the absence of the President, Mr. James Flanagan who was unable to be present.

Minutes of the Fall meeting were read and accepted and the final audit report for last year's activities showed a small credit balance. Report of the condition of the building was given and no further repairs are required at present, it was totally repainted inside last year. Mr. Hugh Miller was again engaged to take care of the mowing of the grass around the building during the summer.

A few small changes were made in the Prize List which will appear in the book when it is published in July. Mrs. J. Willis reported that she hoped that more space could be allotted to the novice section, of which she is chairman.

The various committees were left practically as they were with the exception of Mr. Sidney Castle being added to the fruit section and Mr. Winston Richard and Wayne Clarkson to the vegetable section. Mrs. Rupert Phelps was added to the list of directors. Mrs. Phelps, Mrs. J. Godefroy and Mrs. W.O. Sharp were to help on committees at random to replace and fill in where they were needed.

Get-well cards were signed by all present to be forwarded to President James Flanagan and Hon. Director, Byron Mizener. The Eaton's Trophy, a silver cake plate, will be awarded to the high point winner in the flower section, and the Simpson's Trophy, a lace edged table cloth will go to the high point winner in the cooking section. The Charles Horner Trophy to the winner on the most 1st prizes in the vegetable section. The W.C. Castle Memorial Trophy to the winner of the most points in the fruit section. The Perpetual Trophy to the winner of the largest number of points in all sections combined, and the Robinson Trophy to exhibit winning the most points in the combined agricultural and horticultural societies on Maple Products.

The guest book was under the charge of Stanley Kerwin, brother of the groom and Glen Barlow, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Everett Olney and Mrs. Deane Olney were hostesses at the bride's home for the occasion, where wedding gifts were on display for the guests.

Five grandparents were present at the wedding, two being over eighty years of age. The groom's godparents and the bride's godfather were also present and a telegram was read from the bride's godmother, who was unable to attend.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Danville Curling Club, where covers were laid for 96 guests.

The bride's table was centered with a white, blue and yellow three-tier wedding cake made and decorated by Mrs. John Beard. It was topped with a 'bridal couple' ornament which had been on the bride's parents' wedding cake in 1941. Tall white tapers in crystal holders and vases of lilies-of-the-valley completed the table decor.

Les Feth Orchestra furnished music for dancing in the evening when a number of young guests joined in the festivities. Upwards to 130 guests saw the young couple off on their honeymoon to Niagara Falls and points in the USA. The bride wore a navy and white dress with white stole and white accessories, for travelling her corsage was of pink carnations.

They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, money and good wishes from friends and relatives. On their return they will reside in Danville.

Marriage announced

The marriage of Mrs. Eula E. White of Bedford to Stanley R. Blandford of Noyan took place on May 29 in the United Church, Bedford with the Rev. Keith Eddy officiating.

Horan-Kerwin wedding solemnized

St. Augustine's Anglican Church, Danville, was the setting of a pretty spring wedding on Saturday, May 12 at 4 p.m. Marina Marilyn, only daughter of Mrs. Andrew Horan and the late Mr. Horan, became the bride of Glenn Kerwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myles Kerwin of Asbestos.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. L.G. Westman, assisted by Father Dussault. The procession moved up the aisle to the traditional wedding music played by the organist, Mrs. F. Mitchell. During the signing of the register Ave Maria & A German Rhyme were softly rendered. On the altar were yellow rose buds and baby's breath, while the guest pews were marked with satin bows and lily-of-the-valley.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Barry Horan, was gowned in white peau de chamois cut on empire lines featuring long lily effect sleeves. Her long veil of nylon net edged with lace had a short face veil, held in place by a flowered crown. She wore a gold locket, a gift from the groom and carried a floral arrangement of yellow roses with blue accents.

Miss Sheila Barlow, who was her cousin's maid-of-honor, was dressed in apple green polyester crepe, featuring long sleeves, high neckline, shirred bodice and a floor-length skirt. She carried an arrangement of yellow and white flowers.

Mrs. Barry Horan, the bride's sister-in-law and Miss Nancy Kerwin, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaids. They were gowned alike in lilac polyester crepe, styled on the same lines as that of the maid of honor and carried floral arrangements of purple and white, all wore white accessories.

Mr. Herbert Kerwin was best man for his brother and the ushers were Craig Horan, the bride's brother and Neils Kerwin, brother of the groom. The gentlemen of the wedding party wore white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Horan chose for her daughter's wedding a floor-length dress of bright navy fortrel with sheer sleeves and wore gold accessories. Her corsage was a single red rose.

Mrs. Kerwin, the groom's mother wore a floor-length gown of pale blue lace with white accessories, her corsage was also a single red rose.

Five grandparents were present at the wedding, two being over eighty years of age. The groom's godparents and the bride's godfather were also present and a telegram was read from the bride's godmother, who was unable to attend.

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19): Cultivate friendship of new person you meet thru business connection and who shares your interests.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Something that was previously postponed or held up in some manner may come to fruition at this time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Discuss a new project with coworkers. Give each other ample time to express his or her thoughts.

CANCER (June 22 to July 22): Clean up odds and ends that have accumulated again. Next time, don't let them pile up so high.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22): You are restless but don't know exactly what it is you want to do. A short trip would prove enjoyable.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): A so-so day, with a lot of trivia to bug you and keep you from doing what you'd really like to do.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): A day for relaxing and having fun. Get together with congenial group and try a new restaurant perhaps.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You can make your life more meaningful by joining a group involved in helping those less fortunate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Plunge right into the job instead of taking so much time deliberating about how to proceed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Minor worries related to health are indicated in a m. Check up on diet. Spend some time out of doors.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): People may respond rather coolly to your idea at first, but if you explain clearly, they'll warm up to it.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): You can get what you're after if you make a conscientious effort. Be honest with yourself as well as others.

By Ann Landers

It isn't what's up front that counts

Dear Ann Landers: You must be kidding. Your advice to "Father Nose Best" could have been a lot better. I have a large nose with a definite hook in it, and the darned thing is beautiful. I can smell with, blow it, scratch it and twitch it when I want to amuse my wife. I can turn it up when I want to show disdain. I can turn it down when I want to appear dejected. I can look down at it when I feel the need to appear superior. (Actually, on those occasions I feel inferior.)

My nose is the first thing people see, and it is, I am sure, a cause for wonderment. Sometimes they even laugh. Let them! I don't care! God made me in His image, and I have no complaints. If that teen-age boy wants to have his nose altered for reasons of vanity I say he should go ahead and do it. But, if he is having social problems and blaming it on his nose, plastic surgery will be a waste of money.

Real folks don't care about the length, breadth or shape of a nose. We all know people who are impressed with good looks and will put up with anything if a gal is gorgeous or a guy is handsome. These flakes aren't worth bothering with, much less having an operation for. So tell it like it is, Ann. — Another Nose Best

Dear A.N.B.: I try to, but sometimes a reader comes along and does it a lot better. Like now. And I thank you, Cyran.

Dear Ann Landers: That letter signed "102-Per-Cent Mom" made me 102 per cent sick. What right have parents to get mad when their children are not included in every invitation? A bride has the privilege of deciding whether or not she wants to have kids at her wedding.

I've had first-hand experience with some of those little terrors, described by their parents as "full of pep" and "normally active." And I've seen young children ruin a ceremony and dismantle a buffet table in three minutes flat. They slide and fall on the dance floor, yell and fight, and pester the musicians.

Nothing makes people so mad as when you criticize their children, so you'll probably get a lot of flak from readers who think you're a mean old lady. But I had to write and say I'm on your side, Annie. — Let 'Em Stay Home

Dear Let 'Em: You'd be surprised at how many parents are on our side, and wrote to say so. Thanks for the assist.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 42-year-old career woman (divorced), not a giddy teen-ager or a desperate widow, so please keep this in mind when you answer.

The man I am dating asked me what I wanted for my birthday. I said, "I'd like to think about it." Then he added, "Let's put a ceiling on it — say $50." I was stunned. Now I wonder if he thinks I'm a gold-digger, or if he's had some bad experiences with acquisitive females. (Or can it be that he is just plain stingy?) What's your best guesstimate, Ann? — No Shrewdly in Shreveport.

Dear S.I.S.: He sounds like a practical, hard-nosed businessman who has learned that it's better to prevent a problem than let it happen and then try to fix it. His approach might be somewhat unromantic, but it's straight and honorable and I see nothing to criticize.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

Women's Missionary Quebec Presbyterial

The theme of study and share was evident throughout the Annual Rally of the Quebec Presbyterial held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Scottstown, on May 25.

During the registration period coffee and doughnuts were served by the host ladies. Due to the absence of Mrs. J. VanderWal, President, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. Malcolm McLeod, 1st Vice-President. A letter was read from Mrs. VanderWal submitting her resignation since they were moving to Montreal.

A very impressive Devotional and Memorial Service was conducted by Mrs. Murray MacDonald. She read portions of scripture giving instructions on studying the Bible and the power of it, on sharing it, indicating the harvest is not how much we know but how much we sow. As a memorial to departed members, Mrs. MacDonald read a very touching poem entitled 'Just a Heartbeat'.

Words of welcome were extended by Mrs. K. MacDonald of the Scottstown group and greetings from Synodical by Miss Doris Blaise, Synodical President. Following remarks by the various Departmental Secretaries, Mrs. H. Mayhew, assisted by the Incoming President, Mrs. M. McLeod, presented a Life Membership certificate and pin to Miss Christine Morrison of Asbestos, in recognition of her 14 faithful years as Treasurer of the Presbyterial.

Under the chairmanship of Miss Alene Morrison, highlights of the Biennial Conference held in Montreal on May 4 to 6 were presented, at which time members told about activities

A report of the Synodical Rally held in Melbourne in April was presented by the five delegates in the form of a panel discussion. In the afternoon a film entitled 'Indian Dialogue' was shown by Mrs. M. McLeod. The ladies then divided into groups to discuss it.

Mrs. D. Campbell, on behalf of the Camp Committee, told of plans under way for the Annual Weekend Retreat at the Presbyterian Camp, Richmond, on the weekend of September 7. Miss Alene Morrison was appointed to replace Mrs. J. VanderWal as Chairman, with Mrs. R. Larochelle as assistant.

The value of a Bible Study Group and how to start one was presented in the form of a question and answer period by ladies of the Sherbrooke Group under the direction of Mrs. D. Campbell. New Business included an increase in transportation allowance to 10 cents a mile and an invitation from L'Eglise des Cantons de l'Est to entertain the 1974 Rally.

The meeting closed by the singing of a hymn and prayer, led by Miss Lillian Graham of Asbestos. A delicious noon luncheon and afternoon tea were served by the Scottstown ladies.

Friends of Mrs. Pearl Collins of Clarenceville, a former resident here, are sorry to learn that she is a patient in Bedford Hospital.

We regret to report that Mrs. T.S. Davitt has again been a patient in Bedford Hospital.

Mrs. Alden Hadlock was the guest of honour at a stork shower, following the regular meeting of Maple Leaf Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, when her fellow members and friends showered her with many pretty and useful gifts for the new-expected addition to their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Domingue of Springfield, Mass., were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Ben Monette and family.

Criminal by circumstance

MANSONVILLE (MB) — The Mansonville United Church hall was packed to capacity the evening of May 30. Rev. Carl Gustafson narrated the story of Donald Morrison (a young man of Scottish descent of Compton County, known as the Megantic Outlaw).

Mr. Gustafson, who has ministered for many years throughout the Eastern Townships, has collected information from original and reliable sources on the outlaw's tragic life and how he was a victim of circumstances.

In Mr. Gustafson's possession is the large box which held the Hereford Railway Engineers Plans for the construction of the Railroad where many Italian laborers rioted because of not receiving their salary (it was believed that the payroll had been absconded).

It is to be noted that the gravestone of Donald Morrison reads the date of death as June 25, 1889, whereas he actually died of tuberculosis on June 19, 1894. This is the date of his release from prison when he was immediately sent to the Royal Victoria Hospital after serving five years of his 18-year sentence for manslaughter. He was buried in the Gisla Cemetery, Milan, Que.

There were many slides shown of excellently reproduced rare old pictures, in connection with the story of the Lake Megantic region in Compton County.

The audience also enjoyed a movie taken by Mr. Gustafson in 1934 of his wife and first child in Waterville and a few scenes of Mansonville, where he first ministered. It was of interest to see the main street was a dirt road. Another scene in the film showed how manual labor was used in digging and forming a new highway without machinery.

A question and answer period followed and the evening ended on a most informative note. Proceeds of the collection taken will go towards the publication of the history of the Mansonville United Church and its preaching points in connection with the church's Centennial Year.

Annual picnic

As in former years, a goodly number of parents joined with the pupils and teachers of Trinity United Church Sunday School in Danville for the annual picnic.

Well over 100 went from the church service to the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Evans at Trout Brook, where the usual program of races and other sports was held, followed by a bar-b-que furnished by the U.C.W.

Stanstead Historical Society executive

STANSTEAD — Members of the Stanstead Historical Society executive in good number gathered at Rolling Hills Farm, Stanstead, the home of the president, A.E. Curtis and Mrs. Curtis where all were warmly welcomed by them and their daughter, Mrs. Carman Hamilton, for perhaps the last time at this home as the farm has been sold by the family.

Mr. Curtis presided for the full agenda. Plans are near completion for the August 4 summer meeting to be held in Stanstead. The speaker will be John King, curator at the Chateau de Ramsay in Montreal. The subject of his talk and the place of where the meeting will be held is to be announced. The social hour and refreshments will be served on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Ferguson on Dufferin Road.

Lorne Ogilvie, Chairman for the forth coming campaign, announced letters are to be sent shortly to members and friends of the Society seeking donations of money, large or small, to establish a fund for the maintenance and operation of the new museum recently purchased in Beebe.

He also solicited people to come and assist to 'split and polish' and to act as guides during the summer months. Further for people to help in restoration of items.

It was noted that 12 of the 20 copies of Atlas Belding have been sold and several orders have been received for Forest and Clearings. The Stanstead College medals in bronze and silver are also selling well.

The Society Journal No. 5 is near completion and at the printers. Lloyd Bliss, the Editor and chairman notes these will definitely be ready for the summer meeting.

Some donations of money have been received towards the restoration costs of the pioneer monument at Dufferin Heights and it is anticipated more will be given. The costs of the work totaled over $600.

A vote of thanks was extended to all who assisted in the moving operations from the Stanstead museum to the new building in Beebe.

Michael Atkin, archivist, listed many important acquisitions to the collection from friends. Reports of the custodians were quite lengthy, due to the recent move and work involved which brought about discussions.

The Colby room will be the library in charge of Miss Marion Morrill, Mr. Atkin, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Aikman as much as it will contain the books, cemetery records and archives.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baldwin and a committee will be in charge of one of the rooms, and others, the two remaining. But there is a lot of work yet to be done, cleaning of furniture and so forth.

Dr. McCannel said the Barn museum is being made ready and will be finished by June 16. From then on visitors are welcome by request, but starting July 1 the museums will be opened every Sunday.

Mrs. Carman Hamilton, the Society representative to the Quebec Museum Association gave a report of their activities to date. Mrs. Hamilton has also accepted the office of secretary to the Quebec Association.

E.J. Struthers and Miss Marion Morrill were named as a committee of two to select and purchase a book for the Society library as a memorial to the late Leonard Auger who gave so much of himself to this Society.

Three names were suggested to be added to the advisory committee, they are Mrs. Dorcas Pocock, Hugo LaPenna and Beverly Haselton, all of Beebe.

Mr. Struthers announced the fall pilgrimage will be on September 23 leaving from Stanstead by bus to the Richelieu Valley where there is so much history.

Lawyer George McLaren was named as Honorary Legal Council to the society as a gesture of appreciation expressed for his work and interest in the purchase of the museum buildings in Beebe for the Society.

Pierre Blais, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce has offered a display space in his bank which is being accepted. It is possible another display will be in the Beebe bank as well.

The meeting adjourned with a feeling much had been accomplished. Refreshments were served by the host and hostesses at the dining table centered with apple blossoms. Mrs. Lorne Ogilvie and Mrs. Harold Skelton poured.

Golden-agers give farewell salute

MANSONVILLE — A lovely afternoon was had when approximately 45 golden-agers of the 50-Plus Club assembled for the last social activity of the season in the Mansonville Town Hall on the afternoon of May 29.

Mrs. Flora Drouin pinned fresh flowers to each lady's dress as she entered the room. Everyone gleefully waited for the guests of honor, Rev. and Mrs. Carl Gustafson, as the party had been arranged as a farewell salute to two wonderful people who will settle down in Lennoxville after Mr. Gustafson's retirement from the pulpit in the fall. Mrs. Drouin pinned a lovely arranged lily of the valley corsage to Mrs. Gustafson's dress, who was greatly surprised when escorted to a seat of honor while everyone sang For He's a Jolly Good Fellow.

Mrs. Anna Gardner introduced Miss Marion Atwell and, as authoress, Miss Atwell read a special tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson which touched the hearts of everyone present in the room, who had each signed their name to a page attached at the back of the tribute. The front page was beautifully painted with red roses by a member, Mrs. Hermann Ommerli. The tribute was mainly directed to Mrs. Gustafson because the beginning and organization (Jan. 1972) of the Senior Citizens (later known as the Golden Agers, out of which the 50-Plus Club originates) was her brain child. She organized games, arts and crafts and held a sugaring-off party in the spring to the delight of the members, and regardless of class or creed, was always willing to give a helping hand.

Mrs. Gustafson said a few words of thanks and directed some of the tribute to others in the room and mentioned that the president, of the Senior Citizens, Tom Lessard, played an important part, and that without their continuing efforts, the Club would not have been a success. She stressed for all to pull together and keep the 50-Plus a success in the future.

Rev. Gustafson also spoke, mentioning that the Eastern

Townships had been his home and how very much he loved its people and that since he began his ministry in the Mansonville United Church, he thought it only appropriate that he should end his ministry in the same church.

He thanked those present for their great kindness, and said that the club had tremendous possibilities, where all religions and people of different languages, get together and have a wonderful fellowship as friends and as a community. He promised to return to visit them from time to time.

The couple then opened their gifts, and games were played (16 prizes were won). A buffet lunch was served by hostesses, Mrs. Drouin, Mrs. Gardner, Miss Atwell, Mrs. Edna Masse, Mrs. Yvonne Robin, Mrs. Roland Fontaine, Mrs. Eugene Lamothe and Mrs. Gabriel McDuff. Miss

Atwell made a lovely trimmed white and pink two tiered cake with the words "thank you" written on top.

Mr. Hermann Ommerli played his accordion during the afternoon and on the occasion of a presentation by Mrs. Gardner to Mr. Kenneth Lamorey, who celebrated his 63rd birthday the same day. He was quite pleased to hear everyone sing Happy Birthday to him.

At the end of the afternoon the Golden Agers sang Auld Lang Syne after which Mr. Stewart Grant took the opportunity to extend thanks to Mrs. Drouin and the ladies who worked so hard to make the day such a happy occasion.

There are a few bus trips planned for the summer months, but the next gathering in the Town Hall will be on Sept. 11 when winter activities will commence.

Ladies Auxiliary

SHERBROOKE — The Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 10 held their regular meeting on May 21 at the Legion Home. The meeting was opened in the usual manner.

The president, Mrs. Jean Webb, presented Mrs. Jean Thorne with her past-president's pin. The treasurer reported on profit made from recent rummage sale.

A new member was installed. The Auxiliary welcomes Mrs. Marilyn Magwood. It was agreed to join the District Picnic at Bellemere Farm, Georgeville, on Lake Memphremagog, on August 12.

A contribution of money was approved to be sent to the Institute of the Blind. Tentative plans were discussed for several projects to raise money to pay for a large freezer.

Auxiliary is to cater to Father's Day Smorgasbord on June 16 and a wedding on June 23.

Our last regular meeting until fall will be a supper meeting on June 18 at 7 p.m. A silent auction will be held at this meeting.

Following adjournment, a social hour took place and refreshments were served by Mrs. Jean Webb, Mrs. Jean Thorne, Mrs. Eileen Kerr and Mrs. Mabel Findlay.

SALAD TEA

A well patronized Salad Tea sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 10, Royal Canadian Legion took place on May 26 at Legion Home, Bowen South.

Mrs. June Webb, president, received the guests and Mrs.

Eileen Kerr acted as cashier, at the door. The tea-table, centered with a colorful arrangement of carnations and baby's breath, was presided over by Mrs. Ruth Crook, Mrs. Rose Coates, Mrs. Evelyn Rawlings, and Mrs. Lee Badger.

The individual tables, each with a bouquet of lilacs, were under the charge of Mrs. Mabel Findlay with Mrs. Tillie Thompson, Mrs. Gwen Fuller, Mrs. Joyce Descoteaux, Mrs. Fern Frazer and Miss Glenda Andrews as waitresses.

The table with its array of colorful salads was under the charge of Mrs. Amelia Anderson, and Mrs. Rose Brault. The replenishers for food and tea were Mrs. Phyllis Bradley and Mrs. Cora Perkins.

In charge of the sales tables were Mrs. Lilly Gillam and Mrs. Juanita Norris, Mrs. Germaine Bouchard and Mrs. Pearl MacDonald.

Parcel Post table was tended by Mrs. Lilla Sharron and was a popular feature. Mrs. Colombe Mailhot was in charge of kitchen duties assisted by Mrs. Jean Thorne, Mrs. Gladys Colbourne, Mrs. Bea Bolduc, Mrs. Violet McNab and Mrs. Tillie Norris.

The members were most gratified with the proceeds and wish to thank all those who patronized our tea also those who helped in any way to make this event so successful.

Departing reverend honored

The McIver Hall of St. Andrew's Church, Upper Melbourne, was filled to capacity recently when a farewell party was organized in honor of Rev. J. VanderWal and Mrs. VanderWal, who will be living in Montreal. Rev. VanderWal was called there to take charge of the St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church.

The guests of honor were seated at a long lace-covered table, centred with an arrangement of spring flowers. Seated with them were the Rev. R.A. Cameron and Mrs. Cameron, Rev. W.E. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. R. Martin and Mr. Davidson.

Dr. V. Ignatieff, Master of Ceremonies, called on Rev. Cameron for the opening remarks. Each member of the attending clergy spoke of their admiration for the VanderWals, and wished them well in their new home.

Miss Brenda Allan, on behalf of the Sunday School and the Junior Choir, presented Mrs. VanderWal with gifts. Mrs. R. Hughes for the Ladies Aid Society and Mrs. D. Oakley for the Senior Choir also presented gifts to Mrs. VanderWal.

Mrs. Ashley Stalker presented the VanderWals with a purse of money from the congregation and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Livingstone for the congregation at Danville and Mr. W. Clark for Asbestos, presented gifts. One from the Youth Centre was given by Miss Patty Hughes.

Rev. and Mrs. VanderWal then expressed their thanks to all who had given gifts or who had helped in any way to make the evening such an enjoyable one. They said they had enjoyed their stay here more than they could say and they would always have fond memories of Melbourne and Richmond.

A lunch was served by the ladies of the congregation and a social hour was enjoyed.

On Sunday, May 27, Rev. VanderWal preached his last sermon in St. Andrew's Church. During the service, three new members were welcomed into the congregation. These were Elizabeth Roberta Allan, John Warren Allan and Brenda Janice Allan, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allan.

All are sorry to lose the VanderWals. They have been excellent leaders. Rev. VanderWal in church affairs and Mrs. VanderWal will long be remembered for her work with the choir and in singing groups. The congregation and friends wish them all the best in their new field of work.

It rests with winning

A well-known American physician was quoted on a sportscast last week as saying: "What ever happened to the fun in sports? Nowadays, whenever a boy comes home from a game, the obvious question isn't whether he had fun, but rather, if he won the game."

The speaker goes on to explain that maybe we're exerting far too much pressure on our youth by placing the "win at all costs" philosophy on a higher plateau than just plain enjoyment. After all, no one wants a ten-year-old nursing an ulcer.

This protest has been aired almost as often as gripes about the weather, and each time everyone simply nods their head and agrees such a situation is downright dreadful. But, in all truth, only one word aptly sums up my reaction: hogwash!

Every kid who ever picks up a baseball bat or laces a pair of skates does so because he believes it's fun, otherwise, he'd be sitting at home reading the latest chapter of Grimm's Fairy Tales.

But winning - that's what sport is all about, whether it's a game on the sandlots or the plush surroundings of the big game on the sandlots or the plush surroundings of the big game on the sandlots.

Fun in playing the game comes natural, but the goal of winning still serves as the prime motivation, and any athlete who regards the eventual outcome as secondary, is as much as conceding that he doesn't mind having his pride bruised by a superior opponent.

Unfortunately, that's just the attitude too many of our Canadian athletes are adopting. And it's beginning to show where it hurts the most - in head to head competition with other countries.

Anyone who ever saw Carl Brewer's special on the hockey system in Russian a few years ago, knows just why the Soviets have caught and very nearly passed us in what we regard as our national sport. Youngsters slip into a pair of skates before they've reached the size of Tom Thumb, and they're put through disciplined exercises until a polished hockey player emerges from the assembly line.

You could probably say the same process is employed in Canada, but with none notable exception - winning simply is not stressed enough - and hence we're subject to so many hockey games in which players simply go through the motions.

But what sets the Soviets aside even further is the fact that despite being geared to the ultimate goal of winning, they're able to accept defeat gracefully, although losing is worse than the plague in Russia.

One of the few things that has come close to the Soviet's stress upon winning here in Canada, was the television special early last winter on a minor hockey team based in Toronto, and the methods this young club employed are what is so sadly lacking in most Canadian sports programs.

The coach played frequently upon the idea of winning, and not one of these young athletes went out on the ice with the philosophy of "let's just have fun, and let the chips fall where they may." Instead, winning was the one and only aim. Sure, they lost a few, but they went out there in the true spirit of sport: to demonstrate superiority over the opposition.

You'd be surprised how many derogatory comments resulted in the wake of this particular coach's techniques, but all of the kids seemed perfectly happy, and not so coincidentally, they were probably the finest team in the entire tournament.

Too much pressure, you say? Well, most parents exert a fair amount of force when it comes to homework, so what's so wrong about a hockey coach trying to coax a maximum effort out of someone who's involved in a pastime he enjoys?

Take a look at any sporting event involving youngsters, and it never fails that the most proficient athletes are the ones with the keenest desire to win. Then, there are the others with just as much potential, who loaf their way through a game, content in the knowledge that a minimum exertion of energy is sufficient.

The sad part of the whole thing is that a lackadaisical attitude in younger years can quite often cling like a leech when bigger things beckon. So many hot-shot rookies fail, not because they are dwarfed in talent, but simply because they have never acquired a killer instinct when it comes to winning.

And the whispers are already making the rounds that Guy Lafleur will never quite live up to his junior potential, because in later years he was such a superstar, the young phenom only had to go through the motions, and never really knew what it was to reach back for that extra effort.

Conversely, a guy like Steve Renko of the Expos might not have, even attained the majors, had it not been for fierce determination, and an extraordinary will to win.

Steve has little better than an average fastball, a very so-so curve ball, and little else in his pitching repertoire. But, he has what is commonly referred to in sport jargon as "guts." This ingredient compensated for the lack of the above-mentioned requirements, and made him a 15-game winner a few years ago, and enabled him to bounce back from a disastrous one-win mark last season.

So, contrary to what the American physician believes, winning should be drilled into our young athletes with more frequency, if Canadians are to uphold what is gradually becoming a battered sports image.

The present "only for the fun" attitude of Canadians may be partly responsible for our unimpressive showing in Olympic competition, and if that is the case, there's still three years to correct the problem.

To paraphrase Vince Lombardi's "winning isn't everything, it's the only thing" theory may be overly strong, but we still have to convince our athletes that winning is a long shot better than losing.

Potvin inks pact

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Defenceman Denis Potvin, who shattered Bobby Orr's junior hockey scoring record, will be playing for New York Islanders next season.

The young defenceman, chosen No. 1 in the National Hockey League draft last month, signed a multi-year contract with the Islanders Wednesday.

Potvin scored 35 goals and 123 points in Ottawa last season, shattered the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series scoring record for defencemen of 94 points set by Boston's Orr at Oshawa in 1965-66. The Islanders earned the No. 1 draft choice by assembling the worst record in the NHL last season. They may have clinched Potvin when they traded for his older brother, Jean, late in the season.

Brave homers sink Expos

MONTREAL (CP) — Darrell Evans and Dave Johnson of Atlanta Braves were on the field eight hours before Wednesday's game against Montreal Expos, taking extra batting practice.

Evans, the club's sophomore third baseman, was taking the extra cuts because he was hitting the ball too hard. Johnson, second baseman obtained during the winter in a trade with Baltimore Orioles of the American League, was doing the extra work because he was not hitting the ball hard enough.

It paid off as both players belted two-run homers to give Atlanta a 5-3 win over Montreal in a National League baseball contest.

Evans started his three-hit onslaught with a two-out triple to deep centre in the first inning off starter Mike Torrez.

First baseman Mike Lum then bounced a ground-rule double over the left-field fence and Atlanta led 1-0.

Montreal tied the score in the fourth inning but the Braves again grabbed the lead in the top of the sixth. Torrez gave up a one-out single to Ralph Garr, who stole second, but it proved unnecessary as Evans belted a high slider over the right-field wall to give Braves a 3-1 lead. It was his 12th homer of the season.

SEASON COMMENCES — The Lennoxville Ladies Softball League began officially last night, with Lennoxville mayor Cecil Dougherty throwing in the first ball. League president Valerie Rawlings is seen left in the batter's box. Clark's Pharmacy defeated Legion 17-11, while Yves Fournier Sports slaughtered the inexperienced Denis Gas Bar team 50-0 in opening night activities. (Photo: Bruce Porter)

But once again, Phil Niekro, 4-2, who limited Montreal to four hits, could not hold a lead as the Expos scored two runs in the seventh inning.

Mickey Scott, recently acquired from Baltimore, came in to pitch for Montreal in the eighth and promptly retired the first two batters. However, Dusty Baker walked and Johnson greeted his former teammate with a line-drive homer, his eighth of the year, to left field.

That's quite a leadoff hitter San Francisco Giants have—14 home runs, 60 runs scored and a .320 batting average.

You'd think that Bobby Bonds would bat third or fifth in the order with that kind of power. So does Bobby Bonds.

"I don't want to lead off, but I will if that's what everyone wants," said Bonds after pacing the Giants to a 9-7 decision over Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday night.

Bonds drilled four hits, including a leadoff homer in the first inning, drove in two runs and scored four times, to lead the Giants to their seventh straight National League victory.

"I've asked Manager Charlie Fox about hitting somewhere else, but he doesn't want me to and my team-mates don't want me to," said Bonds. "I'd like to drive in more runs. A lot of times I come to the plate with two outs and a long fly does nothing; it's not even a sacrifice fly."

In other National League games, Chicago Cubs defeated Los Angeles Dodgers 6-4. Atlanta Braves beat Montreal Expos 5-3. Houston Astros nipped Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 and St. Louis Cardinals scored a 6-3 decision over San Diego Padres.

Bonds triggered a three-run rally for the Giants in the second inning with a two-out single. He did the same thing with one out in the sixth, when the Giants scored three more, and singled and came around with another run in the seventh.

Jose Cardenal drove in three runs with a two-run homer and sacrifice fly in Chicago's victory over Los Angeles. Dodger ace Don Sutton lost to the Cubs for the 15th time in 18 career decisions.

Sutton departed after four straight singles during a four-run Chicago sixth. The winner was Burt Hooton, 6-3, who needed ninth inning relief help from Jack Aker after giving up a homer to Willie Davis in a three-run Dodger ninth. The save was Aker's 10th of the season.

Macha leads Bucs

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — Ken Macha's bloop single to right field snapped a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning and carried the Sherbrooke Pirates to a 3-2 Eastern League triumph over the Waterbury Dodgers Wednesday night.

Mel Civil slammed a two-run home run for Sherbrooke in the fourth inning. Dave Arrington's double preceded his walkoff over the left field wall.

The Dodgers had taken a 2-0 lead in the third inning on Marv Galliber's two-run single to right. Hits by Paul Flesner and Sergio Ferrer around Rex Hudson's sacrifice set the stage for his RBI hit.

Pablo Cruz led off the Sherbrooke eighth with a walk and was sacrificed to second by Ron Mitchell. After Dave Arrington was walked intentionally Macha dropped the game-winning hit into right.

Three baserunners were thrown out at the plate in the game - two by the Pirates. Arrington cut down Kevin Plasey in the sixth inning when the Dodger catcher tried to score from second on Hudson's single.

Civil nailed Hudson in the fifth when the Dodger pitcher was forced to make a belated dash for the plate when he saw Sergio Ferrer coming into third.

Hudson, who had decided to hold up at third, made it a close play.

Waterbury's Henry Cruz threw out Macha in the seventh when the Sherbrooke backstop tried to score on a single by pinch-hitter John Vance.

Arrington also chalked up an assist in the first when his throw nailed Marv Galliber when the latter took a wide turn on his single.

In other Eastern League games last night, the West Haven Yankees, behind the pitching of Scott McGregor, the New York Yank's top draft choice, defeated the Pittsfield Rangers, 5-2 Wednesday evening at Quigley stadium.

The victory snapped a three-game losing streak and moved the Yanks within one game of the Rangers, who lead the American division.

Quebec Carnivals and leading encounter was postponed due to rain.
