QUALITY HEALTH RELATED INFORMATION CAREFULLY SELECTED BY YOUR LIBRARIES

 Biblio-Santé

Better informed to live better.

ABOUT

Biblio-Santé is a program of the Quebec Public Library Association. The ABPQ is made up of 182 member municipalities and corporations, for a total of 320 autonomous libraries. Biblio-Santé is available in more than 660 participating public libraries as well as associated health libraries throughout Quebec. Visit our website to see if your library participates in the program.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Biblio-Santé is an initiative of the Charlemagne, L'Assomption and Repentigny libraries that was started under the name Biblio-Aidants. The Quebec Public Library Association would like to thank these three cities for allowing it to extend the program to the rest of Quebec by transferring the copyright.

HOW DO WE SELECT THE INFORMATION?

Each document for inclusion in the Biblio-Santé thematic booklets is evaluated with impartiality, based on Librarianship practices in place in public libraries, using various general selection criteria.

First, the booklets are carefully designed to primarily meet the needs and interests of health system users and caregivers. Every title is evaluated according to relevance and quality of its content for the general public, in the Quebec context. If of equal value, Quebec materials are always preferred. The credibility and reputation of the author, creator, illustrator, publisher or producer are also of great importance. Furthermore, special attention is given to the timeliness and long-term relevance of the subject as well as the accuracy of the information.

With regard to documentaries, works by health professionals (doctors, nurses, occupational therapists, psychologists, etc.) are given preference. However, titles based on lay or experiential knowledge are not rejected outright, especially those involving support by a caregiver.

Finally, each thematic booklet is considered as a whole in order to respect the diversity of the topics covered and allow for a balanced presentation of viewpoints. For more information on the selection criteria for Biblio-Santé, please visit bibliosante.ca/criteria

INTERNET RESOURCES

A few tips for critically assessing information found on the Internet

THE SOURCE OF THE INFORMATION (AUTHOR OR AUTHORS)

- Who created the site?
- Is it possible to obtain information about the author or the owner of the site?
- Is it a government or university site or one belonging to a recognized organization?

THE QUALITY OF THE INFORMATION SOURCE

- What is the objective (to inform or sell)?
- Are the sources referenced?
- Are there links to similar sources (to verify the accuracy and objectivity of the information)?
- How frequently is the information updated?

Keep an eye open! Information is shared very quickly, and false news travel just as fast. We should not always rely on content shared online, especially on social networks. You may find articles in which the information is false or exaggerated. It is therefore important to check the quality of information before you believe it and share it.

NON-FICTION

General works

UNDERSTANDING CANCER

Robin Hesketh. Cambridge, United Kingdom; New York, NY: Cambridge University Press, 2022, 233 p.

How many different kinds of cancer are there? What treatments are available? What does the future hold in terms of developing new therapies? This book demystifies cancer by explaining the underlying cell and molecular biology in a clear and accessible style. It answers the questions commonly asked about cancer such as what causes cancer and how cancer develops.

UP FOR THE FIGHT: HOW TO ADVOCATE FOR YOURSELF AS YOU BATTLE CANCER FROM A FIVE-TIME SURVIVOR

Bill C. Potts. Vancouver, British Columbia: Page Two, 2022, 196 p.

Entrepreneur, business leader, IRONMAN triathlete, and five-time cancer survivor Bill C. Potts has waged a 20-year battle against the disease. In this patient and caregiver guide, he shares his personal cancer story, and those of others, outlining everything you need to know to take on this fight.

LIVING WITH HEREDITARY CANCER RISK: WHAT YOU AND YOUR FAMILY NEED TO KNOW

Kathy Steligo, Sue Friedman, and Allison W. Kurian. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 2022, 478 p.

Combining the latest scientific research with national guidelines, expert advice, and compelling patient stories, the book offers previvors (those who have a mutation but have never been diagnosed), survivors, and their families the guidance they need to face the unique physical and emotional challenges of living in a high-risk body.

THE CANCER COMPANION

Toni Lindsay. Chatswood, Australia: Exisle Publishing, 2021, 224 p.

A cancer diagnosis can cause a torrent of unfamiliar emotions felt by both the patient and those who care for them. The Cancer Companion is a compassionate, down-to-earth guide for those navigating these difficult and complex emotions. Its simple structure and comprehensive approach turns modern psychological research into constructive strategies for dealing with anxiety, depression, sleep disturbance, management of relationships, and many more components of cancer-related distress.

COPING WITH CANCER

Elizabeth Cohn Stuntz and Marsha M. Linehan. New York: The Guilford Press, 2021, 162 p.

A cancer diagnosis can lead to what feel like impossible questions: How can a person face fear, sadness, and anger without being paralyzed by them? Is it possible to hold on to hope without being in denial? What is the best way to get needed support? This compassionate book presents dialectical behavior therapy (DBT), a proven psychological intervention that Marsha M. Linehan developed specifically for the impossible situations of life—and which she and Elizabeth Cohn Stuntz now apply to the unique challenges of cancer for the first time. Readers learn powerful skills for making difficult treatment decisions, managing overwhelming emotions, speaking up for their needs, tolerating distress, and living meaningfully, even during the darkest days.

THE CHEATING CELL: HOW EVOLUTION HELPS US UNDERSTAND AND TREAT CANCER

Athena Aktipis. Princeton: Princeton University Press, 2020, 256 p.

When we think of the forces driving cancer, we don't necessarily think of evolution. But evolution and cancer are closely linked, for the historical processes that created life also created cancer. The Cheating Cell delves into this extraordinary relationship, and shows that by understanding cancer's evolutionary origins, researchers can come up with more effective, revolutionary treatments.

REBEL CELL: CANCER, EVOLUTION, AND THE NEW SCIENCE OF LIFE'S OLDEST BETRAYAL

Rebel Cell is a story about life and death, hope and hubris, nature and nurture. It's about a new way of thinking about what this disease really is and the role it plays in human life. Above all, it's a story about where cancer came from, where it's going, and how we can stop it.

LIVING WITH THE LONG-TERM EFFECTS OF CANCER: ACKNOWLEDGING TRAUMA AND OTHER EMOTIONAL CHALLENGES

Written from a dual perspective – that of a psychologist who had breast cancer and who copes with the long-term effects of treatment – the book contests the assumption that the afflicted person will simply ‘get better’ or ‘move through’ to a better situation. Emotional and physical side-effects can worsen over time and people living beyond or with cancer often endure a mismatch between expectations and reality, because they have been told that life would be easier than it actually is. This can leave both those suffering longer term and those close to them confused and unprepared.

A BEGINNER'S GUIDE TO TARGETED CANCER TREATMENTS

Elaine Vickers. Hoboken: Wiley, 2018, 360 p.

Using over 100 original illustrations, this accessible handbook covers the biology and mechanisms behind a huge range of targeted drug treatments, including many new immunotherapies. Dr Vickers translates a complex and often overwhelming topic into something digestible and easily understood. She also explains what cancer is, how it behaves and how our understanding of cancer has changed in recent years.

LIVING WITH CANCER: A STEP-BY-STEP GUIDE FOR COPING MEDICALLY AND EMOTIONALLY WITH A SERIOUS DIAGNOSIS

Vicki A. Jackson, David Ryan and Michelle D. Seaton. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 2017, 351 p.

A resource for cancer patients and their caregivers shares relatable patient stories along with tips on how to ask the right questions to receive the proper care while continuing to living the best life possible.

TAKING CHARGE OF CANCER: WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW TO GET THE BEST TREATMENT

David Palma. Oakland: New Harbinger Publications, Inc., 2017, 255 p.

Receiving a cancer diagnosis can be terrifying, and the first thing you probably want to know is: How am I going to survive this? Cancer care requires decisions from numerous professionals, delivering treatments that are potentially life-saving, but also potentially dangerous and life-threatening. The chances of cure and survival for any given patient depend on the expertise of the cancer team, and whether procedures are in place to ensure that cancer care is delivered properly. So, how can you make sure you choose the right treatment team and ensure the best chances of survival and long-term health after being diagnosed with cancer?

HOW TO HELP YOUR FRIEND WITH CANCER

Colleen Dolan Fullbright. Atlanta: American Cancer Society/Health Promotion, 2015, 99 p.

This book contains suggestions for expressing concern and helping in practical ways throughout a friend's cancer experience, from diagnosis, through treatment, and after active treatment. It also provides insight into a friend's cancer experience in each part of the journey. For example: What is a source of anxiety for many cancer patients? What does a cancer patient fear most when active treatment is over?

SURVIVORSHIP: LIVING WELL DURING AND AFTER CANCER

Barrie R. Cassileth and Ian Yarett. Ann Arbor: Spry Publishing LLC, 2014, 215 p.

Cancer patients may have heard of using integrative medicine to complement traditional care and alleviate both short- and long-term side effects of cancer treatments, but where do they locate accurate information on acupuncture, massage, yoga, and nutritional therapies? This book will help patients separate the facts from the hype when considering complementary medicine.

THIS SHOULD NOT BE HAPPENING: YOUNG ADULTS WITH CANCER

Anne Katz. Pittsburgh: Hygeia Media, 2014, 250 p.

This book offers information and insight on a broad range of issues affecting young people with cancer.

THINGS I WISH I'D KNOWN: CANCER CAREGIVERS SPEAK OUT

Deborah J. Cornwall. Sarasota: Bardolf & Co., 2013, 256 p.

Robert Rutledge, Timothy Walker and Healing and Cancer Foundation. Halifax: Healing and Cancer Foundation, 2010, 162 p.

The Healing Circle helps readers to answer this question for themselves. The book integrates science, wisdom and compassion, and offers a practical approach and fresh perspective on how to heal at the levels of body, mind and spirit.

YOUR BRAIN AFTER CHEMO: A PRACTICAL GUIDE TO LIFTING THE FOG AND GETTING BACK YOUR FOCUS

Dan Silverman and Idelle Davidson. Cambridge: Da Capo Lifelong Books, 2010, 304 p.

Chemotherapy saves lives, but studies reveal that the agents used to kill cancer cells may also impair normal brain function. Even years after treatment, people report problems with memory, concentration, multitasking, and word retrieval. With its invaluable strategies and straightforward nine-step program specifically tailored to re-energizing the brain, Your Brain After Chemo gives patients the coping skills to move on with their lives.

LIFE STORIES, BIOGRAPHIES AND TESTIMONIALS

TALKING TO MY TATAS: ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW FROM A BREAST CANCER RESEARCHER AND SURVIVOR

Dana Brantley-Sieders. Lanham, Maryland: Rowman & Littlefield, an imprint of The Rowman & Littlefield Publishing Group, Inc., 2022, 279 p.

Dana Brantley-Sieders spent twenty years working as a biomedical breast cancer researcher. Then, she was diagnosed with breast cancer. This book shares Brantley-Sieders' personal journey with breast cancer, from the laboratory bench to her own bedside, and provides accessible information about breast cancer biology for non-scientists.

CANCER CONFIDENTIAL: BACKSTAGE DRAMAS IN THE RADIATION CLINIC

Charles Hayter. Toronto: Aevo UTP, an imprint of University of Toronto Press, 2022, 278 p.

Dr. Hayter shares behind-the-scenes stories of people dealing with cancer and death – often through avoidance, denial, and conflict, but also as shining examples of quiet courage, resilience, and humour.

ORDINARY DEATHS: STORIES FROM MEMORY

Samuel LeBaron. Edmonton, Alberta: University of Alberta Press, 2022, 248 p.

Based on more than thirty years of working with children and adults dying from cancer, LeBaron's memoir contains stories of longing, confusion, love, and humility – often woven together. Sharing recollections from his childhood in rural Alberta and experiences from his career, LeBaron reveals a life of vital connection and intimacy with others.

CANCER WITH HOPE: FACING ILLNESS, EMBRACING LIFE AND FINDING PURPOSE

Mike Armstrong, with Eric A. Vohr. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 2021, 150 p.

In Cancer with Hope, former CEO Mike Armstrong chronicles his experience with leukemia, prostate cancer, near-fatal sepsis, and a crippling autoimmune disease. Mike shares how his often difficult journey from humble beginnings to leading some of the world's top corporations taught him the importance of hope and purpose, tools that proved invaluable throughout his cancer journey. More than the tale of one man's experience with cancer, this important book includes expert advice and vetted resources to help patients best manage their disease, as well as compelling stories from a wide range of cancer patients who have faced seemingly insurmountable odds yet managed to maintain hope and find meaningful purpose.

NO CURE FOR BEING HUMAN

Kate Bowler. New York: Random House, 2021, 202 p.

Kate Bowler believed that life was a series of unlimited choices, until she discovered, at age 35, that her body was wracked with cancer. In No Cure for Being Human, she searches for a way forward as she mines the wisdom (and absurdity) of today's "best life now" advice industry, which insists on exhausting positivity and on trying to convince us that we can out-eat, out-learn, and out-perform our humanness. We are, she finds, as fragile as the day we were born. With dry wit and unflinching honesty, Kate Bowler grapples with her diagnosis, her ambition, and her faith as she tries to come to terms with her limitations in a culture that says anything is possible.

REACHING FOR NORMAL: A MOTHER'S MEMOIR OF RAISING A CHILD WITH BRAIN CANCER AND CHRONIC ILLNESS

Amy Daniels. Jefferson, NC: Toplight, 2021, 252 p.

When Amy and Dave learned that their six-month-old daughter, Emily, had a slow-growing brain tumor, they were devastated. Throughout her childhood, they managed their daughter's complex cancer, while striving just to be a normal family. Amy kept her emotions close and plastered on smiles, as she worked in between cancer clinic appointments, had another baby, and attended potluck dinners. The smiles were harder to put on when Emily suffered a massive stroke just before her 8th birthday. Amy suddenly found herself a parent to an active toddler and an almost eight-year-old who could no longer talk, walk, or feed herself. Emily's spirit remained shockingly unscathed. In the end, it was she who reminded the family to laugh, smile, and finally accept that they were anything but ordinary.

BETWEEN TWO KINGDOMS: A MEMOIR OF LIFE INTERRUPTED

Suleika Jaouad. New York: Random House, 2021, 348 p.

Emmy Award-winning writer and activist Suleika Jaouad describes the harrowing years she spent in early adulthood fighting leukemia and how she learned to live again while forging connections with other survivors of profound illness and suffering.

NATURAL KILLER

Harriet Alida Lye. Toronto: McClelland & Stewart, 2021, 288 p.

In this harrowing and intimate memoir, Harriet Alida Lye explores how, at just fifteen years old, she was diagnosed with a form of leukemia called Natural Killer, named “the rarest and worst malignancy.” The average survival time of patients with this diagnosis is fifty-eight days. There are no known survivors. There were no known survivors. Fifteen years after Harriet’s diagnosis, she became pregnant, despite having been told that her chemotherapy treatment would likely make conception impossible. She knew her body had the ability to create death. She never trusted, was told to not even imagine, that it also had the power to create life. Weaving in source material from the year she spent in hospital, written by both of her parents and her teenage self, this personal reflection is told through a seamless blend of narrative, snapshots, journal entries, and blog updates posted for friends and family.

LIKENESS

David Macfarlane. Toronto: Doubleday Canada, 2021, 240 p.

In David Macfarlane’s living room, there hangs a life-size portrait of himself. The portrait has become a portal for David: when he stares into his own eyes, and into the painting’s background, an aerial view of his childhood house and hometown of Hamilton, he is transported. The painting evokes vivid memories of what was, what is no more and what will never be. It brings David back to his happy, privileged youth. His son Blake’s future should feel just as bright, and yet he’s confined to a bed in a bright, white room. As Blake undergoes treatment for an aggressive cancer, his father reckons with his past and the future his son may never have. In achingly beautiful prose, Macfarlane mourns the passing of time as a father who is losing his son.

A KINGDOM OF TENDER COLORS: A MEMOIR OF COMEDY, SURVIVAL, AND LOVE

Seth Greenland. New York, N.Y: Europa Editions, 2020, 286 p.

One unremarkable day at the age of 37 Seth Greenland finds himself in everyone's nightmare – a routine doctor visit, some swollen glands, a series of tests, a biopsy, and finally a diagnosis of an aggressive form of lymphatic cancer. A screenwriter and satirist with a blooming career in Hollywood, Seth has felt pretty good about his life until now; suddenly, the world has tipped on its axis. With the support of friends and family, Seth launches into an attempt to save his own life without losing either his sanity or his sense of humor.

THE CANCER JOURNALS

Audre Lorde. New York City: Penguin Books, 2020, 69 p.

First published over forty years ago, The Cancer Journals is a startling, powerful account of Audre Lorde's experience with breast cancer and mastectomy. Long before narratives explored the silences around illness and women's pain, Lorde questioned the rules of conformity for women's body images and supported the need to confront physical loss not hidden by prosthesis. Living as a "black, lesbian, mother, warrior, poet," Lorde heals and re-envision herself on her own terms and offers her voice, grief, resistance, and courage to those dealing with their own diagnosis.

DEAD MOM WALKING: A MEMOIR OF MIRACLE CURES AND OTHER DISASTERS

Rachel Matlow. Toronto: Viking Canada, 2020, 320 p.

When her mother is diagnosed with cancer, Rachel Matlow is concerned but hopeful. It's stage one, so her mom will get surgery and everything will go back to normal. But growing up in Rachel's family, there was no normal. Elaine, an alternative school teacher and self-help junkie, was never a capital M 'Mommy'—she spent more time meditating than packing lunches. When Elaine decides to forgo conventional treatment and heal herself naturally, Rachel is forced to ponder whether the very things that made her mom so special – her assertiveness, her non-compliance, her belief in being the author of her own story – are what will ultimately kill her.

DENALI: A MAN, A DOG, AND THE FRIENDSHIP OF A LIFETIME

Ben Moon. New York: Penguin Books, 2020, 288 p.

Denali is the story of the friendship between the author, Ben Moon, and his dog, Denali, as they traveled the American west, and of how Denali supported the author as he battled cancer, and how the author dealt with the cancer illness and death of his dog.

CHOOSING HOPE: 1 WOMAN, 3 CANCERS, A STORY OF INSPIRATION, RESILIENCE AND COURAGE

Munira Premji. Toronto: Mawenzi House Publishers Ltd., 2020, 240 p.

In this remarkably inspirational story, Munira Premji describes how she battled three advanced cancers – Stage 4 Non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, Stage 3 multiple myeloma, and Stage 3 breast cancer – within a period of five years. Choosing Hope is a truly heroic story about resilience and hope in the face of overwhelming odds and at the threshold of death. The book is written as a series of chronological anecdotes, starting with the author's first heart-breaking diagnosis, when she began to explore and share her experiences in real time; it describes moments of utter darkness and sheer light, of despair and hope, of intense pain and joyful relief.

CLOSE TO THE BONE

Lisa Ray. Toronto: Doubleday Canada, 2020, 369 p.

Lisa Ray is one of India's first supermodels. She's also an actor, a cancer survivor, a mother of twins through surrogacy. She is a woman who has lived many lives. And this is her story. Close to the Bone is an unflinching, deeply moving account of Lisa Ray's life, tracing her childhood in Canada as the biracial daughter of an Indian man and a Polish woman, her rise as a popular Bollywood star, and her battle with a rare, incurable cancer.

ALL THE WILD HUNGERS: A SEASON OF COOKING AND CANCER

Karen Babine. Minneapolis: Milkweed Editions, 2019, 168 p.

Generous and bittersweet, All the Wild Hungers is an affecting chronicle of one family's experience of illness and of a writer's culinary attempt to make sense of the inexplicable.

THIS REALLY ISN'T ABOUT YOU

Jean Hannah Edelstein. England: Picador, 2019, 268 p.

“In 2014 I moved back to the United States after living abroad for fourteen years, my whole adult life, because my father was dying from cancer. Six weeks after I arrived in New York City, my father died. Six months after that I learned that I had inherited the gene that would cause me cancer too.” When Jean Hannah Edelstein’s world overturned she was forced to confront some of the big questions in life: how do we cope with grief? How does living change when we realize we’re not invincible? Does knowing our likely fate make it harder or easier to face the future? How do you motivate yourself to go on your Ok Cupid date when you’re struggling with your own mortality? Written in her inimitable, wry and insightful voice, Jean Hannah Edelstein’s memoir is by turns heart-breaking, hopeful and yet also disarmingly funny.

CHASING MY CURE: A DOCTOR'S RACE TO TURN HOPE INTO ACTION

David Fajgenbaum. New York: Ballantine Books, 2019, 241 p.

The inspiring memoir of a young doctor and former college athlete who became a champion for people suffering from rare, under-researched diseases – all while battling his own.

A VICTORY GARDEN FOR TRYING TIMES

Debi Goodwin. Toronto: Dundurn, 2019, 488 p.

A woman’s journey through a year of love, loss, and despair. Debi’s husband, Peter, was diagnosed with cancer in November 2015, too late in the season to seek solace in gardening. Ever since her childhood on a Niagara farm, Debi has dug in the dirt to find resilience. With idle hands and a mind filled with fear, she now sought something to sustain her through the months ahead. She soon came across victory gardens – the vegetable gardens cultivated during the world wars to fight hunger and hold on to hope. During an anxious winter, she researched, drew plans, and ordered seeds. In spring, with Peter in remission, her garden thrived and life got back on track. But when Peter’s cancer returned like a killing frost and he died suddenly of a heart attack, the garden was a reminder that everything ends. For weeks, she hated the garden until she could finally return to tending it, allowing her grief to crack open while preparing the garden for another year of growth. A Victory Garden for Trying Times is a journey through a year of love and despair, and a testament to healing in the natural cycles of the earth.

PASSING

Michael Korda. New York: Liveright Publishing Corporation, 2019, 224 p.

It was a warm April in Pleasant Valley when Margaret Korda, normally a fearless horsewoman, dropped her horsewhip while she was riding. Such a mild slip was easy to ignore, but when other troubling symptoms accumulated, she confided to her husband, ‘Michael, I think something serious is wrong with me.’ Within a few rapid weeks, the fiercely independent, former fashion model was diagnosed with brain cancer, while Michael, once reliant on her steeliness, became her caregiver, deciphering bewildering medical reports and packing her beloved toiletries for the hospital.

IF

Lise Marzouk. New York: Other Press, 2019, 344 p.

An eloquent, heartfelt account of a young boy’s fight with cancer and of a mother’s determination and resilience, which sees their family through to his recovery. As her ten-year-old son sits at the kitchen table one evening, Lise Marzouk inspects his mouth and discovers an unusual growth, which doctors later confirm is cancerous. When he is hospitalized at the Curie Institute in Paris for lymphoma treatment, Lise finds herself torn between two worlds, one at his bedside, and the other at home with her two younger children, struggling to maintain a sense of stability in their lives. And so she writes – of their fears and doubts, but also of their moments of tenderness and joy – and through these memories, stories, and reveries, she arrives at a deeper understanding of herself as a woman, a mother, and a writer.

JOY ENOUGH

Sarah McColl. New York: Liveright Publishing Corporation, 2019, 176 p.

Sifting gingerly through memories of her late mother, brilliant newcomer Sarah McColl has penned a breathtaking tribute to the joy and pain of loving well. Even as her own marriage splinters, McColl drops everything when her mother is diagnosed with cancer, returning to the family farmhouse and laboring over elaborate meals in the hopes of nourishing her back to health. In a series of vibrant vignettes – lipstick applied, novels read, imperfect cakes baked – McColl reveals a woman of endless charm and infinite love for her unruly brood of children. Mining the dual losses of both her young marriage and her beloved mother, McColl confronts her identity as a woman, walking lightly in the footsteps of the woman who came before her and clinging fast to the joy she left behind.

DAUGHTER OF FAMILY G.: A MEMOIR OF CANCER GENES, LOVE AND FATE

Ami McKay. Toronto: Knopf Canada, 2019, 320 p.

Weaving together family history, genetic discovery, and scenes from her life, Ami McKay tells the compelling, true-science story of her own family's unsettling legacy of hereditary cancer while exploring the challenges that come from carrying the mutation that not only killed many people you loved, but might also kill you.

VOICE LESSONS: HOW A COUPLE OF NINJA TURTLES, PINKY, AND AN ANIMANIAC SAVED MY LIFE

Rob Paulsen and Michael Fleeman. Jersey City: Start Publishing, 2019, 264 p.

Rob Paulsen is one of Hollywood's busiest, most talented, and most passionate performers. If you don't know him by name, you will know him by the many characters he has brought to life: Pinky from Pinky and the Brain and Yakko from Animaniacs, the tough, but loveable, Raphael from the original animated Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, and many more. So, you can imagine how terrifying it must have been when Rob was diagnosed with throat cancer, putting his entire livelihood in jeopardy and threatening to rob the world of all his loveable characters that filled our youth and adulthood with humor and delight. Voice Lessons tells the heartwarming and life-affirming story of Rob's experience with an aggressive cancer treatment and recovery regimen, which luckily led to a full recovery. Rob quickly returned to doing what he loves most, but with a much deeper appreciation of what he came so close to losing.

THE UNWINDING OF THE MIRACLE: A MEMOIR OF LIFE, DEATH, AND EVERYTHING THAT COMES AFTER

Julie Yip-Williams. New York: Random House, 2019, 336 p.

Born blind in Vietnam, Julie Yip-Williams narrowly escaped euthanasia by her grandmother, only to then flee the political upheaval of the late 1970s with her family. Loaded into a rickety boat with three hundred other refugees, Julie made it to Hong Kong and, ultimately, America, where a surgeon at UCLA gave her partial sight. Against all odds, she became a Harvard-educated lawyer, with a husband, a family, a life. Then, at age thirty-seven, with two little girls at home, Julie was diagnosed with terminal metastatic colon cancer, and a different journey began.

Natalie Goldberg. Boulder: Shambhala, 2018, 208 p.

The book begins at the grave of Katagiri Roshi, Natalie's Zen teacher, in Japan. Twenty years after Katagiri's death and Natalie's return to New Mexico, she is permanently settled in Santa Fe with her partner, Yukwan. Except that, as Buddhism teaches us, nothing is permanent. Natalie learns that she has CLL, a potentially fatal form of blood cancer.

FLAT: RECLAIMING MY BODY FROM BREAST CANCER

Catherine Guthrie. New York: Skyhorse Publishing, 2018, 255 p.

This book is Guthrie's story of how two bouts of breast cancer shook her faith in her body, her relationship, and medicine. Along the way, she challenges the view that breasts are essential to femininity and paramount to a woman's happiness. Ultimately, she traces an intimate portrayal of how cancer reshapes her relationship with Mary, her partner, revealing – in the midst of crisis – a love story.

TWISTING FATE: MY JOURNEY WITH BRCA, FROM BREAST CANCER DOCTOR TO PATIENT AND BACK

Pamela N. Munster. New York: The Experiment, 2018, 261 p.

As leading oncologist at the University of California San Francisco, Dr. Pamela Munster has advised thousands of women on how to deal with the life-altering diagnosis of breast cancer. But when she got a call saying that her own mammogram showed “irregularities,” she found herself experiencing a whole new side of the disease she thought she was an expert in.

THE COOKIE CURE: A MOTHER/DAUGHTER MEMOIR OF COOKIES AND CANCER

Susan and Laura Stachler. Naperville: Sourcebooks, 2018, 297 p.

When twenty-two-year-old Susan Stachler was diagnosed with cancer, her mother, Laura, was struck by déjà vu – the same illness that took her sister's life was now attacking her daughter. Heartbroken but steadfast, Laura pledged to help Susan through the worst of her treatments. When they discovered that Laura's homemade ginger cookies soothed the side effects of Susan's chemo, both mother and daughter were inspired to start a business.

HOLDING ON TO NORMAL: HOW I SURVIVED CANCER AND MADE IT TO THE OTHER SIDE, HAPPIER AND STRONGER

Alana Sommerville. Toronto: Simon and Schuster, 2018, 256 p.

Throughout the course of her illness, Alana Sommerville learned to maneuver through the medical system, to advocate for herself, and to build a truly supportive network. She also discovered how to keep her positive spirit intact while undergoing a double mastectomy and ongoing treatment. She is now living cancer-free—a survivor and an advocate.

THE BEST OF US: A MEMOIR

Joyce Maynard. New York: Bloomsbury, 2017, 437 p.

In 2011, when she was in her late fifties, beloved author and journalist Joyce Maynard met the first true partner she had ever known. Jim wore a rakish hat over a good head of hair; he asked real questions and gave real answers; he loved to see Joyce shine, both in and out of the spotlight; and he didn't mind the mess she made in the kitchen. Then, just after their one-year wedding anniversary, her new husband was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer. During the nineteen months that followed, as they battled his illness together, she discovered for the first time what it really meant to be a couple – to be a true partner and to have one.

LOVE AND LAUGHTER IN THE TIME OF CHEMOTHERAPY

Manjusha Pawagi. Toronto: Second Story Press, 2017, 288 p.

April 28, 2014: 'I won't be coming in today, I have leukemia.' That's the message Manjusha Pawagi, a family court judge in Brampton, Ontario relayed to her office one morning after a routine blood test showed a deadly result. She did not return to work for two and a half years. This book describes how even the darkest moments of life can be made worse by roommates; details how much determination it takes to ignore the statistics; and answers the age-old question, what does it take to get a banana Popsicle when you need one?

THE CANCER WHISPERER: FINDING COURAGE, DIRECTION, AND THE UNLIKELY GIFTS OF CANCER

Sophie Sabbage. New York: Plume, 2017, 224 p.

Both memoir and self-help book, this book is the chronicle of a passage from “terminal” diagnosis to exuberant wellness in just a few months.

KIDS DON'T GET CANCER: THE REMARKABLY INSPIRING STORY OF MICHAEL CROSSLAND

Michael Crossland. Sydney: Evolve Instant Author, 2016, 145 p.

Before Michael was even one year old, he was diagnosed with an aggressive cancer of the central nervous system – a tumour had taken over half of his tiny body. The chance of Michael surviving was virtually non-existent. He started chemotherapy at 1 year old and by his second birthday, doctors had basically given up all hope. His only hope was taking part in a drug trial program – a program of which Michael was the only participant to survive the treatment. Although he survived, he was left with some permanent scars – only one lung, a damaged heart and a sensitive immune system. He's a man who has faced (and still faces) extreme challenges in life, but he never gives up. And despite his own obstacles, he always puts others before himself and gives so much to people in need.

WHEN BREATH BECOMES AIR

Paul Kalanithi and Abraham Verghese. New York: Random House, 2016, 228p.

At the age of thirty-six, on the verge of completing a decade's worth of training as a neurosurgeon, Paul Kalanithi was diagnosed with stage IV lung cancer. One day he was a doctor treating the dying, and the next he was a patient struggling to live. What makes life worth living in the face of death? What do you do when the future, no longer a ladder toward your goals in life, flattens out into a perpetual present? What does it mean to have a child, to nurture a new life as another fades away?

IT'S OKAY TO LAUGH (CRYING IS COOL, TOO): A MEMOIR ABOUT LOVING MADLY AND LETTING GO

Nora McInerney Purmort. London: Piatkus, 2016, 288 p.

When Nora's boyfriend, Aaron, was diagnosed with brain cancer, they refused to let it limit their love. They got engaged on Aaron's hospital bed and had a baby boy while he was on chemo. With It's Okay to Laugh, Nora puts a young, fresh twist on the subjects of mortality and resilience. What does it actually mean to live your 'one wild and precious life' to the fullest? How can a joyful marriage contain more sickness than health? How do you keep going when life kicks you in the junk?

A LUCKY LIFE INTERRUPTED: A MEMOIR OF HOPE

Tom Brokaw. New York: Random House, 2015, 230 p.

Brokaw diagnosed with multiple myeloma, a treatable but incurable blood cancer, takes us through the emotions, discoveries, setbacks, and struggles – times of denial, acceptance, turning points, and courage. This memoir is a story of a man coming to terms with his own mortality, contemplating what means the most to him now, and reflecting on what has meant the most to him throughout his life.

A JOURNEY OF HOPE: ONE CHILD'S BATTLE WITH CANCER

Jeanie James. Nashville: West Bow Press, 2015, 180 p.

The author successfully captures the raw emotion, love, and courage that her family demonstrated while battling childhood cancer. This book provides a glimpse into the roller coaster of life that families are thrust into when they first hear those devastating words: your child has cancer.

TWO MOTHERS ONE PRAYER: FACING YOUR CHILD'S CANCER WITH HOPE, STRENGTH & COURAGE

Laura Lane. Fonthill: Ulukau Publishing, 2015, 226 p.

Laura and Laurie share their story of: friendship and inspiration, struggles and miracles, joy and sadness, love and loss. Their narrative provides a sense of hope and teaches us how to find needed strength and courage. It is a guide and support to any parents faltering under weight of the horrendous news that their precious child has been diagnosed with a life threatening-illness. It reminds us all of the fragility of life, the necessity to remain present in each moment, and how to find perspective in even our darkest hours.

GRATITUDE

Oliver Sacks. Toronto: Alfred A. Knopf of Canada, 2015, 45 p.

In January 2015, Oliver Sacks was diagnosed with a recurrence of cancer, and he shared this news in a New York Times essay that inspired readers all over the world: "I cannot pretend I am without fear. But my predominant feeling is one of gratitude. . . . Above all, I have been a sentient being, a thinking animal, on this beautiful planet, and that in itself has been an enormous privilege and adventure." Gratitude consists of four essays that originally appeared in The New York Times.

EVERY DAY I FIGHT

Stuart Scott and Larry Platt. New York: Blue Rider Press, 2015, 298 p.

Struck by appendiceal cancer in 2007, Stuart battled this rare disease with an unimaginable tenacity and vigor. Countless surgeries, enervating chemotherapies, endless shuttling from home to hospital to office and back – Stuart continued defying fate, pushing himself through exercises and workout routines that kept him strong. He wanted to be there for his teenage daughters, Sydni and Taelor, not simply as their dad, but as an immutable example of determination and courage.

EVERYBODY'S GOT SOMETHING

Robin Roberts and Veronica Chambers. New York: Grand Central Publishing, 2014, 263 p.

With grace, heart, and humor, Robin writes about overcoming breast cancer only to learn five years later that she will need a bone marrow transplant to combat a rare blood disorder, the grief and heartbreak she suffered when her mother passed away, her triumphant return to work after her medical leave, and the tremendous support and love of her family and friends that saw her through her difficult times.

THE RULES OF INHERITANCE

Claire Bidwell Smith. New York: Hudson Street Press, 2012, 304 p.

Claire Bidwell Smith, a fourteen-year-old only child, learns that both her parents have cancer. The fear of becoming a family of one compels her to make a series of fraught choices, set against the glittering backdrop of New York and Los Angeles – and the pall of regret. When the inevitable happens and Claire is alone in the world, she is inconsolable at the revelation that suddenly she is no one's special person. It is only later, when Claire falls in love, marries and becomes a mother, that she emerges from the fog of grief. Using the five stages of grief as a window onto her personal experience, Claire Bidwell Smith has written a powerful memoir that is at once exquisite and profound.

THE YELLOW WORLD: HOW FIGHTING FOR MY LIFE TAUGHT ME HOW TO LIVE

Albert Espinosa. New York: Ballantine Books, 2012, 153 p.

At thirteen, Espinosa was diagnosed with cancer, and he spent the next ten years in and out of hospitals, undergoing one daunting procedure after another, starting with the amputation of his left leg. After going on to lose a lung and half of his liver, he was finally declared cancer-free. Only then did he realize that the one thing sadder than dying is not knowing how to live. In this rich and rewarding book, Espinosa takes us into what he calls “the yellow world,” a place where fear loses its meaning; where strangers become, for a moment, your greatest allies; and where the lessons you learn will nourish you for the rest of your life.

MORTALITY

Christopher Hitchens. New York: Twelve, 2012, 104 p.

Throughout the course of Hitchens’ ordeal battling esophageal cancer, he adamantly and bravely refused the solace of religion, preferring to confront death with both eyes open. In this riveting account of his affliction, Hitchens poignantly describes the torments of illness, discusses its taboos, and explores how disease transforms experience and changes our relationship to the world around us. By turns personal and philosophical, Hitchens embraces the full panoply of human emotions as cancer invades his body and compels him to grapple with the enigma of death.

DYING TO BE ME: MY JOURNEY FROM CANCER, TO NEAR DEATH, TO TRUE HEALING

Anita Moorjani. Carlsbad: Hay House, 2012, 191 p.

After fighting cancer for almost four years, Anita’s body began shutting down – overwhelmed by the malignant cells spreading throughout her system. As her organs failed, she entered into a near-death experience... and the actual cause of her disease. Upon regaining consciousness, Anita found that her condition had improved rapidly – without a trace of cancer in her body! Anita shares all she has learned about illness, healing, fear, “being loved,” and the true magnificence of each and every human being!

THE END OF YOUR LIFE BOOK CLUB

Will Schwalbe. Toronto: Knopf Canada, 2012, 336 p.

The story of a son and his mother, who is dying from cancer, forms a “book club” that brings them together as her life comes to a close.

OLLIE TIBBLES: THE BOY WHO BECAME A TRAIN

Debi Tibbles. Saint Charles: Medallion Press, 2012, 288 p.

When 4-year-old Ollie Tibbles was asked what he wanted to be when he grew up, he answered, “I’m going to be a train!” Four years later at Union Station-Chicago, at the Make-A-Wish Foundation’s Grand Ball, Ollie’s prediction and wish came true. Ollie’s mother shares the story of Ollie’s struggle with brain cancer and how unbearable pain was transformed into incredible possibility.

NOT THE LAST GOODBYE: ON LIFE, DEATH, HEALING, AND CANCER

David Servan-Schreiber. New York: Viking, 2011, 164 p.

Nineteen years after his original diagnosis, years of deep study, and an urgent sense of mission about hope and alternatives for those with cancer, David Servan-Schreiber submits to an emergency MRI that confirms his greatest fear: the brain cancer has returned. Here, he shares his coming to terms with the news and, with courage and candor, examines his life from the point of view of one who understands that his illness is terminal – nevertheless, living every day fully and with hope.

THE MIDDLE PLACE

Kelly Corrigan. New York: Voice/Hyperion, 2009, 266 p.

Kelly is abruptly shoved into coming-of-age when she finds a lump in her breast – and gets the diagnosis no one wants to hear. When her father, too, learns that he has late-stage cancer, it is Kelly's turn to take care of the man who had always taken care of her – and to show us a woman who finally takes the leap and grows up.

THE LAST LECTURE

Randy Pausch. New York: Hyperion, 2008, 206 p.

If we had to vanish tomorrow, what would we want as our legacy? When Randy Pausch, a computer science professor at Carnegie Mellon, was asked to give such a lecture, he didn't have to imagine it as his last, since he had recently been diagnosed with terminal cancer. But the lecture he gave – “Really Achieving Your Childhood Dreams” – wasn't about dying. It was about the importance of overcoming obstacles, of enabling the dreams of others, of seizing every moment (because “time is all you have...and you may find one day that you have less than you think”).

NOVELS

MAPS OF OUR SPECTACULAR BODIES

Maddie Mortimer. New York: Scribner, an imprint of Simon & Schuster, Inc., 2022, 438 p.

Lia, her husband Harry, and their beloved daughter, Iris, are a precisely balanced family of three. With Iris struggling to navigate the social tightrope of early adolescence, their tender home is a much-needed refuge. But when a sudden diagnosis threatens to derail each of their lives, the secrets of Lia's past come rushing into the present, and the world around them begins to transform.

LIZZIE AND DANTE

Mary Bly. New York: The Dial Press, 2021, 302 p.

On the heels of a difficult break-up and a devastating diagnosis, Shakespearian scholar Lizzie Delford decides to take one last lavish vacation on Elba, an island off the Italian coast. Once settled into a luxurious seaside resort, Lizzie has to make big decisions about her future, and she needs the one thing she may be running out of: time. She leaves the yacht-owners and celebrities behind and sneaks off to the public beach, where she meets a sardonic chef named Dante, his dog Lily, and his daughter Etta, a twelve-year-old desperate for a mother. While Dante shows Lizzie the island's secrets, and Etta dazzles with her irreverent humor, Lizzie is confronted with a dilemma. Is it right to fall in love if time is short? Is it better to find a mother briefly, or to have no mother at all? And the most difficult question of all: What if falling in love inevitably leads to broken hearts?

A LITTLE HOPE

Ethan Joella. New York: Scribner, 2021, 279 p.

In the small city of Wharton, Connecticut, lives are beginning to unravel. A woman loses the love of her life. A son struggles with addiction. A widow misses her late spouse. A husband betrays his wife. At the heart of these interlinking stories is one couple: Freddie and Greg Tyler. Greg has just been diagnosed with multiple myeloma, a brutal form of cancer. He has never been dependent or weak, and wants to overcome this the way he has succeeded at everything else: through grit and determination. But can Greg fight his illness? How will Freddie and their daughter cope if he doesn't? How do the other residents of Wharton learn to live with loss and to find happiness again?

HOW TO LIVE ON THE EDGE

Sarah Lynn Scheeger. Minneapolis: Carolrhoda Lab, 2020, 305 p.

Cayenne's mother died of breast cancer when Cayenne was four. The women in her family have a history of dying young. Figuring she'll meet the same fate, she engages in death-defying risks like dodging trains and jumping off cliffs with her boyfriend. When Cayenne receives a series of video messages her mother made for her before dying, she isn't sure she wants them. Then Aunt Tee— who raised her— tests positive for a BRCA gene mutation and decides to get a mastectomy to reduce her chances of developing cancer. For the first time Cayenne starts to question what it truly means to live life to the fullest, even when death might be written into her DNA.

THE WONDER OF NOW

Jamie Beck. Seattle: Montlake Romance, 2019, 306 p.

Peyton Prescott would give anything for the carefree life she knew before breast cancer changed everything. But instead of using her second chance to move forward, she's stuck promoting the memoir her brother convinced her to write, thus reliving the very battle she wants to forget. If she hopes her European book tour will allow her to enjoy revisiting her favorite travel-writing destinations, she's wrong: her PR whiz is too consumed with his own goals to consider her needs. Mitch Mathis has relied on discipline to achieve his goals, and with his new firm's success riding on Peyton's book launch, he must keep her on task. They're here for business, not pleasure. And Mitch won't let unbridled desire harm his professional reputation—not again. When frustrated expectations and attraction throw the tour into chaos, it challenges everything Mitch and Peyton believe about themselves, life, and love, forcing these opposites to consider whether they can embrace the change they need to grow.

Cancer is a group of diseases in which abnormal cells divide and spread. There are many different kinds of cancer, and different forms of treatment. Cancer is very scary, and can be very difficult to handle physically, emotionally, and mentally. Learning about how cancer affects the body and how it can be treated can help readers who know someone with cancer, or who have cancer themselves. This book can help readers understand complex medical terms and processes through straightforward text. Full-color photographs and fact boxes highlight important information.

THIS APPEARING HOUSE

Ally Malinenko. New York, NY: Katherine Tegen Books, 2022, 280 p.

For as long as anyone could remember there wasn't a house at the dead end of Juniper Drive... until one day there was. When Jac first sees the House, she's counting down to the five-year anniversary of her cancer diagnosis, when she hopefully will be declared NED, or "no evidence of disease." But with a house appearing, and her hands shaking, and a fall off her bike, Jac is starting to wonder if these are symptoms – or if something stranger is happening.

RED, WHITE, AND WHOLE

Rajani LaRocca. New York: Quill Tree Books, an imprint of HarperCollins Publishers, 2021, 217 p.

Reha feels torn between two worlds: school, where she's the only Indian American student, and home, with her family's traditions and holidays. But Reha's parents don't understand why she's conflicted—they only notice when Reha doesn't meet their strict expectations. Reha feels disconnected from her mother, or Amma, although their names are linked—Reha means “star” and Punam means “moon” —but they are a universe apart. Then Reha finds out that her Amma is sick. Really sick. Reha, who dreams of becoming a doctor even though she can't stomach the sight of blood, is determined to make her Amma well again. She'll be the perfect daughter, if it means saving her Amma's life.

ALWAYS SMILE: CARLEY ALLISON'S SECRETS FOR LAUGHING, LOVING AND LIVING

Alice Kuipers. Toronto: KCP Loft, 2019, 390 p.

Carley Allison was an up-and-coming young figure skater and singer who died tragically at the age of 18 of a cancer so rare there were only seven cases in the world. In this book, you will come to know Carley in her own words and in the words of the people who knew and loved her. Award-winning author Alice Kuipers weaves the memories of Carley's friends, family, and boyfriend with the blog Carley kept throughout her journey, from the moment she was diagnosed until her final months of searching for treatment that would keep the disease at bay. Kuipers also recreates pivotal moments from Carley's point of view, acting as ventriloquist for a voice lost too young. This book is built around the words she lived by, both in sickness and in health. Above all, again and again, she summed up her philosophy in two words: always smile.

Can stress accelerate the spread of cancer? Every day in Australia 360 people learn they have cancer. It goes without saying it's a very stressful time. Stress as a cause of cancer has not been convincingly proven but recently researchers have been looking at how stress drives the spread of an existing cancer from the original tumour. They've identified pathways caused by stress that facilitate the spread of breast cancer cells around the body. What's more remarkable, the researchers may have found a way to prevent it.

CANCER – THE EMPEROR OF ALL MALADIES: MAGIC BULLET

Barak Goodman and Jack Youngelson, PBS. 2015, 112 min.

The search for a cure is the greatest epic in the history of science, spanning centuries and continents. This film centers on the story of Sidney Farber, who defied conventional wisdom in the late 1940s to introduce the modern era of chemotherapy. He later galvanized a “war on cancer” campaign with philanthropist Mary Lasker that culminated in the National Cancer Act. Interwoven with Farber's narrative is the contemporary story of a 17-month-old diagnosed with T-cell acute lymphoblastic leukemia. The film follows her as she and her parents struggle with the many hardships and decisions foisted upon a cancer patient.

CANCER – THE EMPEROR OF ALL MALADIES: FINDING THE ACHILLES HEEL

Chris Durrance and Barak Goodman, PBS. 2015, 113 min.

Scientists believe they have cracked the mystery of the malignant cell, and the first targeted therapies have been developed. But very quickly cancer reveals new layers of complexity and a formidable array of defenses. Many call for a new focus on prevention and early detection as the most promising fronts in the war on cancer. By the second decade of the 2000s, the bewildering complexity of the cancer cell yields to a more ordered picture, revealing new vulnerabilities and avenues of attack. Perhaps most exciting is the prospect of harnessing the human immune system to defeat cancer. A 60-year-old NASCAR mechanic with melanoma and a six-year-old with leukemia are pioneers in new immunotherapy treatments, which the documentary follows as their stories unfold.

CANCER – THE EMPEROR OF ALL MALADIES: THE BLIND MAN AND THE ELEPHANT

Deborah Dickson and Barak Goodman, PBS. 2015, 113 min.

This episode picks up the story in the wake of the declaration of a “war on cancer” by Richard Nixon in 1971 and the search for a cure. Three causation theories emerge linking cancer to viruses, chemicals, and genes that divide the scientific community. In the lab, rapid progress is made in understanding the essential nature of the cancer cell, leading to the revolutionary discovery of the genetic basis of cancer, but few new therapies become available. Not until the late 1990s make advances in research begin to translate into more precise targeted therapies with breakthrough drugs. Following the history during these fraught decades, the film intertwines the contemporary story of an oncologist diagnosed with breast cancer. Her emotional and physical struggles provide a bracing counterpoint to the historical narrative.

CANCER: THE NEW TRAILBLAZER

Marie-Pierre Jaury, ARTE France. 2015, 51 min.

Should cancer really be understood and treated as a genetic disease or could another avenue – which was once abandoned but has now been taken up again – enable us to combat it? Researchers and doctors in various countries want to revolutionize the cancer paradigm. For them, cancer is a disorder of cellular metabolism, which could be treated with a few simple molecules and anti-diabetes drugs already on the market. This film examines why genetic cancer theories became the sole focus of government funding and invites us to take stock of new research and clinical trials taking a big-picture approach by depriving cancer cells of the food and resources they need to develop.

In the case of cancer, destroying specific cells with fewer side effects. Medicine could evolve from treating disease to a practice that is predictive, personalized and pre-emptive. Discover a brave new medical future where permanent nano devices can roam the body, provide early diagnosis and take action against diseases.

TAKING PART IN ONE'S HEALTH CARE

This section can be found in every Biblio-Santé thematic booklet. The resources have been selected with a patient-as-partner approach that aims to help the health system users to actively participate in their health care and to make informed decisions.

WHAT DOES PATIENT-AS-PARTNER MEAN?

A patient-as-partner is a person who progressively becomes able as they receive treatment to make informed and independent health choices. Their experience related knowledge is recognized and their care related competences are developed with help from the team. Respected in all aspects of their humanity, they are a full member of this team when it comes to the care and services offered to them. While fully recognizing the expertise of the team members, the patient-as-partner can direct the team's concern towards their particular needs and long term well being.

HAVE YOU HEARD OF DEPRESCRIBING?

Deprescribing means reducing or stopping medication. Its goal is to maintain or improve quality of life.

WHY RESORT TO DEPRESCRIBING?

Medication controls symptoms, cures illness and can even extend lifetime. However, it can cause side effects or interactions that can be harmful. The more medication we take, the higher the risks of negative effects. It's also important to know that as we get older, changes in the body make us more sensitive to medications, which increases the risk of suffering from negative side effects.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

For all these reasons, it's recommended to regularly review your medication with your health care provider. They will be able to determine whether the risk of taking a specific medication is higher than its benefits and if deprescribing is an option. Deprescribing is a planned process that must always be done with the help of your doctor, nurse or pharmacist.

THE PATIENT'S CHECKLIST: 10 SIMPLE HOSPITAL CHECKLISTS TO KEEP YOU SAFE, SANE, AND ORGANIZED

Elizabeth Bailey. New York: Hachette, 2020, 161 p.

Whether you're addressing the rising chaos of a pandemic or preparing for a scheduled surgery, having checklists prepared to guide you through a hospital visit can often mean the difference between comfort and pain, personal and distant care – and even life or death. In today's hospital system, you can face a series of obstacles to satisfactory care, from overworked healthcare providers to understaffed facilities. This series of essential, easy-to-use checklists will help you better manage, monitor, and participate in your own healthcare. These include: Before You Go, What to Bring, Master Medication List, Discharge Plan, and more. It is more important than ever to have a protocol, including a detailed plan for hygiene and communications while hospitalized. You can trust the medical staff, but you also need to trust yourself or a loved one to be your own best advocate.

THE GOOD DOCTOR: WHY MEDICAL UNCERTAINTY MATTERS

Kenneth Brigham and Michael M.E. Johns. New York : Seven Stories Press, 2020, 238 p.

What makes a good doctor? It's not what people think. A doctor willing to face their own uncertainty in the face of illness and treatment might just be the best medicine. In The Good Doctor, Ken Brigham, MD, and Michael M.E. Johns, MD, argue that we need to change the way we think about health care if we want to be the healthiest we can be. Counterintuitive as it may seem, uncertainty is integral to medicine, and you want a doctor who knows that: someone who sees you as the unique case you are, someone who knows that data isn't everything, someone who is able to change her mind as the information changes.
