THE SEBASTOPOL SITUATION MAY BE IMPROVED

But British Subjects Are Doing Their Best To Get Away

VIOLENCE AT VLADIVOSTOK

St. Petersburg Press is Pessimistic—The Russ Calls on Zemstov Congress to Quit Talking and Come to St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 27.—A new pictorial, satirical paper, the Poulsmet (machine gun) was confiscated to-day and the editor was arrested. On the front page was a cartoon representing the Imperial manifesto suppressed by the bloody hand of General Trepoff.

The situation at Sebastopol is represented to be improved, the Brest regiment which went over in a body to the mutineers having returned to its allegiance and joined the Bielostok regiment. Reinforcements have also arrived from Simpheropol, marching from Inkerman between which place and Sebastopol the railroad has been torn up. Guns commaand all the entrances to the city from Admiralty Point where the mutineers are quartered, and the sailors are virtually prisoners there. The battleship Panteleimon (formerly the Kniaz Potemkine) and the cruiser Otchakoff are in the bay and in control of the mutineers who have placed their officers under arrest. The remaining ships of the Black Sea fleet are off the southern roadsted. Their crews have not joined in the mutiny, but it is hardly believed they could be induced to fire on their comrades ashore.

Reinforcements are also on the way from Odessa and Pavlograd.

It is rumored here that Vice-Admiral Chouknin is parleying with the mutineers offering to accede to all their demands relative to the improvement of the service conditions. This is not officially confirmed, but a despatch from the American consul at Sebastopol which reports the outlook as much less threatening says it is reported that Admiral Chouknin has received orders from St. Petersburg to yield everything. The British consul is chartering a vessel to take off the subjects of Great Britain.

Hasty Cabinet Meetings.

Yesterday there were two extraordinary sessions of the cabinet to consider the situation. Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch, president of the Council of National Defence, and commander of the Imperial Guard, was present, and this fact caused a revival of the rumor that the Grand Duke might immediately be appointed dictator; but it can be taken for granted that this step has not been decided upon, as it is plain that a dictatorship at the present juncture would be sure to precipitate an immediate revolution. Nevertheless Count Witte's government if it continues its present policy in the opinion of many students of the situation, will be powerless to cope with the increasing problems by which it is constantly confronted.

The Russ hails the mutiny at Sebastopol as the beginning of the end, and calls the Zemstvo Congress to quit talking and come to St. Petersburg, in the name of the country, and ask Count Witte what he proposes to do to tranquilize the people, and if the reply be unsatisfactory to take the only step which remains, namely, the formation of a provisional government.

Officers Shot Dead.

On Friday eighty sailors at the Sebastopol barracks seized, disarmed and expelled their officers. They then assembled a great meeting. Rear-Admiral Pisarevski, commander of the practice squadron, supported by a company from the Brest regiment, went to the meeting and when it refused to disperse ordered the troops to fire. Instead of shooting the mutineers, however, two shots rang out and Captain Stein, of the company, fell dead, and Rear-Admiral Pisarevski, received a ball in his shoulder.

MANY CHANGES IN NEW COUNCIL FOR NEXT YEAR

Ald. Carter, Ames, and Probably Robertson, Will Retire

TWO MAYORALTY CANDIDATES

Ald. Gallery and Ald. Ekers May Run—Selection of Five New English-speaking Alderman is Necessary.

In all probability there will be extensive changes in the English-speaking representation at the City Council next year. Ald. H. B. Ames and C. B. Carter definitely announce their retirement, while it is not certain that Ald. Robertson will offer his services again. Ald. Ekers will probably be a candidate for the Mayoralty, while Ald. Gallery announced his candidature for the same position some time ago.

Ald. Ames foreshadowed his resignation nearly two years ago at a banquet tendered him at the Corona Hotel, when he announced that he would enter the broader domain of political work at Ottawa and not again offer himself as an alderman for the city. Since then Ald. Ames has devoted a great deal of his time to his work in connection with the Dominion House, and has necessarily gradually withdrawn from the scenes of his former activity at the City Hall, although he has by no means neglected his duties in this regard. A good many citizens hoped that in spite of his announced resignation from the City Council he could be persuaded to continue on duty there. But Ald. Ames this morning stated definitely that he would not be a candidate at the February elections, finding that this work, when combined with his duties at Ottawa and his own personal business made too heavy inroads upon his time.

Ald. C. B. Carter also reiterates his previously announced decision to retire from the Council at the end of this year. Should he persist in this he will prove a decided loss to the English-speaking section of the Council. He has sat for the West Ward for some years past and has done excellent work, as much by his sound common sense as by his legal knowledge. This latter has proved of yeoman service during the past few months, for which time Ald. Carter has acted as chairman of the Legislation Committee, and has done excellent work in guiding the progress of the many amendments to the city charter now under consideration.

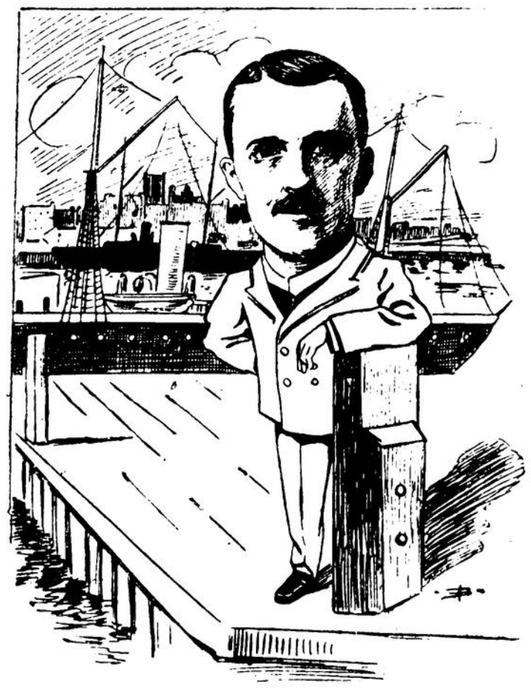

It is also probable that a new candidate will have to be found for the second seat in St. Lawrence Ward, as it is generally understood that Ald. Ekers will retire from the Council to become a candidate for Mayor. Although Ald. Ekers will not state definitely that this is his purpose, it is known that a large number of citizens have asked him to accept nomination, and that he is considering the matter. Ald. Ames has stated that he is decidedly in favor of Mr. Ekers' candidature, as a man who would fittingly represent the great business interests of the city in the Mayor's chair.

Mr. Arthur Geoffrion, the well known advocate and present alderman for the East Ward of Ste. Cunegonde, has consented to become a candidate for the second seat for the new ward of Ste. Cunegonde in the City Council of Greater Montreal. He was waited upon last Saturday by a large deputation of his present constituents, who asked him to transfer his energies to the larger sphere of work when the annexation scheme should have been actually consummated. Mr. Geoffrion consented without hesitation, stating that he would be proud to serve his district in the larger body, as he had in the Ste. Cunegonde Council.

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE CONGRESS.

The next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce for the Empire will be held in London, beginning July 8th. All resolutions that are to come before this body must be in the hands of the secretary by Feb. 1st.

AT THE SIGN OF THE GLUE POT

ARCHBISHOP BRUCHESI ISSUES PASTORAL ON IMMORAL PLAYS

Plays imported from a centre where Christian marriage is mocked at, and where morality and modesty are only vain words."

The foregoing is from a letter read yesterday morning at High Mass in St. James Cathedral by His Grace, Archbishop Bruchesi, who strongly denounced productions of a certain class of stage literature brought to Montreal from France and played on local stages.

Theatres were spoken of as a danger to morals and "a school of sin" for the young. Although no names were mentioned, the visit here this week of Sarah Bernhardt, as the appearance last season of Mme. Rejane, were evidently causes which led to the reading of the letter.

That the Archbishop places a great deal of importance on the influence of theatres was shown by the fact that he himself read to the congregation the letter containing his views. It is rather unusual for a dignitary to do so, unless when there are matters of grave importance to be spoken of.

Following is the text of the letter read by Archbishop Bruchesi:

"In years past theatres have invaded, to use the expression, our city of Montreal, and in spite of our reiterated warning, in spite of the requests we have addressed to the press, notices in their favor have appeared from day to day and, in consequence, crowds have been drawn to witness their representations. This, in fact, has been such as to cause us profound sadness. If indeed, we bless God for all that elevates the soul, deepens our faith and confirms it in the practice of virtue, how then can we be otherwise than deeply grieved at that which constitutes a danger to morals, and which is for the young a real school of sin. We therefore cannot lose sight of the fact, that we have a mission to fulfill in your midst, and that one day we will have to account to the Sovereign Judge not only for our personal acts, but for your souls which are in our keeping. It is therefore in the accomplishment of the duty of pastor and of father that we raise our voice and signal the danger which threatens our society.

"The expression threaten, does not, however, go far enough. The evil is already amongst us, and is exercising serious ravages. Simply warning our people against this evil is not all that is required; it is the leagueing together of all the fathers and mothers of truly Christian families in order to combat the evil that the situation demands. It is proclaimed everywhere, and rightly, too—that intemperance is our great enemy, but the theatre is also an enemy, the enemy of good morals; the enemy of our doctrines and Christian traditions, which it often contradicts; the enemy of those principles which render the family happy and honest, because the theatre never ceases to place before the eyes of their frequenters scenes of passion and criminal love.

"Let it not be said that the theatre in itself possesses nothing reprehensible, and that it even exercises a moral effect upon the people. We do not here refer to theories, but rather to practices. We take the theatre such as it exists and such as we have it here in Montreal. Let those who frequent the theatres be sincere and let them say if they ever left these plays better men or better women, or if these plays have inspired lessons of virtue.

French Plays Condemned.

"Almost all of the pieces of the French stage are played here one after the other. These pieces which they did not dare to put on a few years ago for fear of alarming our people, 'simple and timid,' as was said at the time, are now produced without fear, without scruple, and without the least modification. This sad education of the people has been gradually going on. Did not a certain actress, whose name we would not pronounce, repeat only a few months ago the ignoble scenes which it is her custom to produce elsewhere? We know that more than one person was indignant, but we ask why did these people who respect themselves go to hear her? We have no need in this Catholic city of such literature, of these plays imported from a centre where Christian marriage is mocked at and where morality and modesty are only vain words.

"Unfortunately too many pious families and too many leading citizens frequent these representations. Their place is not there. They allow themselves to be drawn into it like the rest, but they forget that they are giving a very sad example to people whom they should edify. We do not pretend that all the representations in our theatres are bad, but the bad ones are, alas, too numerous, and how many there are really reprehensible? It is true that one becomes accustomed to evil, but this is certainly a lamentable symptom.

"During the present week one theatre in particular will attract large crowds, and we deeply regret the programme that has been decided upon, for amongst the pieces there are plays bad and condemnable. As for talent and genius in the execution and interpretation of the play, this can only increase the danger. We beseech, therefore, our pious familles still attached to duty and truth, to be on their guard, and to abstain from what will be to them an occasion for sin, and to prefer the home of their household and the salvation of their children's souls."

LARRY WILSON'S TAMMANY.

Objects of the Association.

Article One.

The object of the Association is to sell Larry Wilson's liquor and J. M. Fortier's cigars.

Member's Qualifications.

Article Two.

Members shall take the pledge to drink only Larry Wilson's liquor and to smoke J. M. Fortier's cigars exclusively.

Rules and By Laws.

1. All Tammany candidates for municipal honors shall treat only with Larry Wilson's liquor and J. M. Fortier's cigars.

2. All canvassers for Tammany candidates shall back their arguments in favor of honest and pure municipal government with a treat of Larry Wilson's liquor or one cigar of J. M. Fortier. The elector will have the undeniable privilege of the choice of either. Where the elector is undecided or indifferent, the preference is to be given to Larry Wilson's liquor, to make him more so. Both to be used only as a last resort, upon a formal application by a recalcitrant elector, and on polling day only.

3. Telegraphers will make themselves known to the scrutineers by carrying on their breath a strong and well defined odor of Larry Wilson's liquor.

4. Personators will be identified by the Tammany representatives in each polling booth by allowing to protrude from their left vest pocket one of J. M. Fortier's cigars.

5. Where personating twice in the same booth, two cigars will be shown, and so on, always in due ratio to the number of votes polled by one individual, until the Tammany candidate has an overwhelming majority.

6. Members of the Association desirous of a rest, and consequently entering the police forces, shall force their claims on the Tammany Alderman with Larry Wilson's liquor and J. M. Fortier's cigars.

7. Members of the Association inflamed with an incandescent desire to join the fire brigade will play on their Alderman with Larry Wilson's fire-water and burn conspicuously J. M. Fortier's cigars.

8. All candidates, canvassers and members in good or bad standing shall keep a faithful account of all moneys spent the night previous in Tammany saloons, giving the full name and civic address of each whiskey monger, together with the exact amount liquidated behind the bar.

9. All such returns must be filed in the office of the Supreme Council before 9.00 a.m. the following morning, so that Larry Wilson's collector may have no difficulty in collecting the full amount before noon each day.

10. Any member guilty of finding fault with Larry Wilson's liquor or J. M. Fortier's cigars will be fired and immediately replaced by one with a better taste.

By order of the Supreme Council.

SUGAR REBATES FOR WHOLESALERS ONLY

Mr. Fielding at Hamilton Asks Whether The Amount of The Purchase Did Not Govern The Price, Rather Than The Nature of The Purchasers' Business

WILL DELAY TARIFF TO NOVEMBER.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—It is reported here that the combines unearthed by the Tariff Commission will delay the bringing down of the tariff until the November session, and that Parliament will be called about January 20.

Hamilton, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Representatives of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild appeared before the Tariff Commission on Saturday afternoon, and after they had talked somewhat on the composition of the Guild, Mr. Fielding asked a few questions.

"I do not think we are very much concerned as to whom you admit to your society. The question is, are these commodities still open to the public in the market?"

"They are," replied Mr. G. E. Bristol.

"Anything that would tend to prevent different persons from purchasing on equal terms would be a matter that might be properly considered by us. Except in that I do not see that we have anything to do with it?"

"They are available to anybody who wants to buy them."

"On even terms?"

"It is done like the railroad business; a man who buys a carload gets a better rate than a man who wants only a small quantity. A larger or a smaller quantity; that is the whole difference."

"But for given quantities, since the question has been put, can any man who wants to buy sugar from the refiners, get the same rate for the same quantity and at the same terms as any other man?"

"Provided he is a wholesaler."

"If he is buying in big quantities that makes him a wholesaler?"

"Supposing he was a retailer and bought it for, say, in Hamilton, to ruin the trade of every other retailer?"

"Well, there may be phases that are difficult to deal with, but generally speaking, the man who wants to buy the same quantity and pay his money, ought to have it on the same terms," said Mr. Fielding, decisively.

"I do not think that phase has ever come up in that way, exactly. In the grocery trade at least, there is a retail and wholesale trade. The manufacturer would sell to us as wholesalers, where he would not sell to the retailers at the same price, because that would be interefering with the other retail customers."

"What is your agreement with the refiners, with regard to the prices? Is there any price fixed between the Guild and the refiners?"

"The Guild does not fix prices," interposed Mr. H. C. Beckett.

REFUND CONDITIONED ON MAINTAINING PRICES

Mr. Beckett said that the wholesale grocer got what he earned in the shape of a refund or rebate that the refiners give for three months at four per cent.

"On what condition is that rebate given?"

"On the condition that the price has been adhered to; if they have not sold it at less than the list price."

"Can you buy from the States, or other refineries?"

"No. We suggested that idea to the refiners. Prior to the sugar arrangement we were importing sugar and buying sugar from the refiners and selling it for absolutely cost. We were not making any money, and finally, after a good many discussions, the thing came to a basis that was being worked in the States, and has been for years, that enabled us to sell the goods and make a small margin of profit. Anybody that wants sugar can buy it. They don't refuse it."

"So that Mr. Zealand's statement that he had been refused would not be correct?"

"No, it would not be correct. They don't refuse anybody, but they decline to give the four per cent. to anybody but those who are wholesale grocers. For instance, supposing a person would go to the refiners representing half a dozen retail men and wanted to buy two cars of sugar. The refiners don't think they are justified in selling to those retail men, who sell the sugar direct to the consumer, on the same basis as they would to the wholesale people. The wholesale people require a certain measure of protection."

Mr. Fielding returned to the discussion with a few more questions.

"There are goods which are sold in similar quantities by the refiner to different firms. Why not on the same terms?"

"They don't buy for the same purpose," Mr. Beckett replied. "One is a wholesaler and the other a retailer."

"I quite realize that a man might want to sell to the wholesale trade on better terms than he would sell a smaller quantity. I do not think that is so serious. It is the quantity that governs the transaction if he sells another carload at the same price."

"If he sold a car-load to a retailer made up of half a dozen retailers."

"Should not one combination be allowed to get a given quantity of goods as cheaply as another combination of men?"

"It has always been a recognized principle in the grocery business that wholesale discounts were to the wholesale houses."

"Wholesale discounts to people who buy in wholesale quantities?" suggested Mr. Fielding.

NO SPECIAL PRIVILEGE FOR LARGEST BUYERS

"The Company of which I am a member," Mr. Beckett replied, "buys about $2,000,000 worth of sugar. In justice to other wholesale houses who are not doing so large a business we never ask for any concession with regard to quantities, because we don't want to make any attempt to get any preference over wholesalers who are doing a legitimate wholesale business. It is a case of treating everybody on the same basis, giving a discount to strictly wholesale houses and protecting wholesale houses to that extent by not selling to retailers on the basis of wholesale prices."

Replying to Mr. Brodeur, Mr. Beckett said wholesalers outside the Guild can buy from the refiners and get the rebate.

"When the retailers get together like that with a view to putting wholesale grocers out of business it is natural that the wholesale grocers should do what they can to protect their interests by impressing upon manufacturers the matter of only giving their wholesale discounts to the wholesalers," said Mr. Beckett.

Mr. Brodeur secured from Mr. Beckett the statement that all the Canadian sugar refiners were under the arrangement with the Guild, except one, that at Wallaceburg. The Guild did not sell the Wallaceburg sugar because the latter sold it to the retail at the same price as to the Guild. Replying to Mr. Patterson, Mr. Beckett said the Guild courted inquiry. They were getting a profit of four per cent. on what cost 8 1-2 or 9 cents to run. "We have been abused for years and heard a lot of misstatements and want to stop them right here. We are prepared to answer them at any time."

"I think," responded Mr. Fielding, "there will be a great many people present who will take the ground that the manufacturer of an article should sell it on even terms to anybody, whether he calls himself by one name or another. I thing the public generally would rather take that view, because the retailer as a rule does not want to buy in lots of a carload or fifty carloads. He buys in smaller quantities."

"He buys just enough to upset the whole business" Mr. Beckett replied bitterly.

Replying to Mr. Brodeur, in passing, he said the tobacco combine's exclusive contracts had been abolished in short order. "You scared them," he added.

Mr. H. N. Kittson took occasion to say that the price of sugar was not regulated by the refiners but by outside conditions. He emphasized the danger to the retailers' trade by other retailers getting supplies at wholesale prices. The question then dropped so far as the tariff was concerned.

MR. CURRY EXPECTS TO WORK NIGHT AND DAY

Toronto, Nov. 27. (Special.)—Crown Attorney Curry remarked this morning that he realized that he would have to work day and night until the combine cases were disposed of. It was impossible for it to be otherwise, because he could not know his case unless he got it up himself. All the assistance he could make use of would be of a clerical character.

"It is said," remarked the reporter, "that the other association of which you failed to secure the papers was the paper manufacturers."

"I have," said Mr. Curry, as he examined a list; "the papers of the paper makers."

"It is said also that in the list of informations issued Saturday occur the names of men who are not connected with plumbing?"

"They are members of the association. I found their names on the roll call."

"And it's their business to explain how they got there?"

"No, it's not their business to explain anything, but if I cannot prove that they are connected with it, they must be discharged."

"If Mr. Hardy's case is not going on for some time, then we will not see those Montreal millionaires just yet?"

"Not for a while, but if they feel sore at being overlooked till after Christmas, we will try to accommodate them."

On Tuesday morning 150 plumbers, supply men and union men will have to appear in the police court to answer a charge of conspiracy. The case will go on on that day, and will continue until the police court hearing is finished. The conspiracy charges in the joint case against the supply men and master plumbers are on in the High Court before Judge Clute. A further adjournment will probably be made until Dec. 4, when Judge Clute will be able to spend the week at it.

At Hamilton on Saturday, Chief of Police Smith, acting under instructions from the office of the crown attorney, laid information against the Canada Grocers, limited, on the strength of statements made at the meeting of the Tariff Commission. The charges against the company were that it prevents other wholesale dealers from purchasing certain supplies from manufacturers unless they came into the combination.

MORTALITY FOR THE WEEK.

There were ninety-two deaths in the city last week, of which seventy-eight were of children under five years old. This is a very low mortality for a city of Montreal's size, and deaths from infantine complaints have so practically dropped out of the lists that no special count is made of them. Of the ninety-two deaths there were eighty Catholics, ten Protestants and wo Jews. Their causes were divided as follows:—Tubrculosis, 7; bronchitis, 2; broncho-pnumoma, 6; pneumonia, 9; diarrhoea, 7, and the rest divided amongst various diseases. Thirty-two of the deaths recorded were of children below one year, and forty six of children below five years old. To counterbalance this there were registered 146 births, seventy-six boys and seventy girls.

Western Hospital visiting governors for the week are Sir Geo. A. Drummond, Mr. Robt. Dunn and Mr. T. A. Emmons.

TEN CENTS PAYS FOR A "HELP WANTED" ADVERTISEMENT IN THE HERALD

THE COMPLETENESS OF THE GRASP OF THE TRADE COMBINES

More Light Thrown Upon the Operations of the Grocers' Guild—Remarkable Penalty Clause Devised to Ensure Observance of Conditions Imposed by Combine

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Almost the sole topic of conversation in trading circles is the revelation now being made of the completeness of the grip of combines upon Canada. Those who believed they were the sole sufferers now find they are only a small part of a big circle.

A gentleman said that the more the matter was looked into the more it was evident that the retail and jobbing trade was groaning under a multitude of restrictions and regulations and that the weight was becoming so heavy that sooner or later the system must have broken down. Some of these combines, he declared, were started in 1897 and had gradually been growing stronger and more complete during the passing years.

In one case one smaller manufacturer was refused entrance to the combine and agreements were drawn up in such a way as to give retailers and jobbers considerable freedom, so long as they did not purchase this company's goods.

Both retailer and manufacturer struggled, but without avail, and the small concern was forced out of business. Then prices immediately went up and the liberties of the purchasers curtailed.

THE WAYS OF THE GROCERS' GUILD.

Some further exceedingly interesting information regarding the operations of the Grocers' Guild has been obtained. The Guild is not an association of manufacturers, but of wholesale dealers, who are building up about as close a corporation as may be found anywhere.

"The Guild says it is not a combine," remarked one who has some knowledge on the subject. "Well, we won't call it a combine, then, but I would like to know what it is. More than that, they are trying to make it a monopoly. One would think that any wholesale grocer would be eligible to membership. But that is not the case. There are firms in this city that are just as legitimate wholesale grocers as any in the Guild who cannot get into the Guild. The Guild says they are combinations of retail men. They are not. They are legitimate wholesale houses, but they can't become members of the Guild because the present members want a monopoly.

"Have you heard about the Guild's new rule? A little while ago a friend of mine who represents the manufacturer of a large number of grocers' supplies went into a leading wholesale grocer's and asked the manager to take on a line of a new product. The grocer said: 'All right, if you give us fifteen per cent. discount.'

"'But I have been allowing you only ten per cent. on everything else we sell you.'

"'Yes, I know, but the Guild has a new rule that we won't handle any new article now unless we get fifteen per cent.'

"My friend refused to allow it. He said ten per cent. was enough, and he wouldn't give any more. So he left. He tried some of the other grocers, but they all anticipated his coming, having no doubt been informed by telephone that he was on the warpath and none of them would touch the stuff at less than fifteen per cent.

"My friend thereupon said he would sell direct to the retail trade, and that is what he is doing. No doubt the Guild will try to make it warm for him for that offence. In most cases the manufacturers would have had to allow them their fifteen per cent. or else withdraw their articles altogether, because there are very few manufacturers who have a sufficient staff to undertake to sell to the retail trade.

THE FIRMS IN THE SCREW AGREEMENT.

The Hardy agreement in the screw trade is signed by the Canada Screw Company, the Dominion Wire Manufacturing Company, Limited, and the Brantford Screw Company, Limited. The agreement recited that in consideration that we the undersigned, allow a premium of twelve and a half per cent., payable 30th June and 31st December, on your purchases of iron, brass and bronze-wood screws, you agree not to undersell our established price as it may be fixed from time to time, and that you will do no act or thing in connection with the sale of screws tending to increase the discount fixed as the price, and will in no case allow more than two per cent. cash discount, and that you will adhere to and abide by the terms of this agreement, and in no way endeavor to evade them in spirit or letter, confirming all your purchases of these goods to the undersigned or giving ten days' notice of your desire to withdraw from the agreement and purchase elsewhere."

The purchasers of harvesters and other tools find they have little choice in the matter of price and are consequently suspicious of the combines. In saws, for instance though there are a number of factories in the country, there is now an almost perfect uniformity in price. This has been accomplished largely through a merger of interests, perhaps altogether so. In March last the Canada Saw Company branched out and took in factories at Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, the latter branch being one of the departments of the James Robertson Company. There are two other important factories in the Province, those of Shurley & Dietrich at Galt and of the Smith Co., of St. Catharines, also under the control of Shurley and Dietrich. The exact nature of the relations between the Canada Saw Company's factories and Shurley and Dietrich's factories are not known, but at all events between them they are in complete control of the saw situation, and they are not indulging in a wild species of throat cutting.

A UNIQUE PENALTY CLAUSE.

Among the agreements that have come to light during discussion on the combine situation that relating to gem jars is unique.

In general terms it provides for a rebate of fifty cents per gross if the dealer fulfils all the conditions of his agreement. This constitutes his whole profit, which he forfeits if he fails to keep his agreement.

The penal clause in this document is its most interesting feature. It reads:

"The wholesale dealers, parties to this agreement, promise and agree with each other that they will positively see that all the terms and agreements of all kinds set forth herein are strictly observed both in spirit and letter, and will provide means for making an exhaustive investigation of reported breaches. When a firm is charged with a violation of this agreement the party making the charge shall appoint one investigator the accused another, and these two investigators shall appoint a third and the decision of these three investigators, or a majority of them, shall be binding and final.

"If the accused is found guilty, he or they shall forfeit all right, title, or interest in any rebate hereinbefore provided, and in signing this agreement each and every signer binds himself to accept the decision of the investigators as final, and if found guilty to make no claim on the manufacturers in any way to secure the rebate forfeited.

"It is understood and agreed that any party to this agreement twice found guilty of violation hereof, shall not be allowed to buy gem jars from the manufacturers through the season of 1905-6. Any complaint as to a breach shall be made in writing to the manufacturers."

In harvest tools the local situation is practically controlled by one firm, whose factory is at Tilsonburg. It is called the Maple Leaf Harvest Tool Company, and is controlled by Shirley & Dietrich, of Galt. In a case like this the "glueing" powers of a diplomatic secretary are not needed to bring about a combine.

The same is practically true of the shovel and spade industry, which is centered in a Gananoque factory.

In window glass it is claimed that the provisions of last March's changes in the tariff have had the effect of making a combine possible, or rather of throwing the control of the Canadian market into one firm's hands. That firm is an English firm, which gets its product at 7 1-2 per cent. duty, while the Belgian glass makers have to pay 15 per cent.

There is good reason to believe that the plate glass and mirror men belong to Mr. Hardy's trade organizations. It is true that one man was in doubt as to his present affiliation with Mr. Hardy, but when asked, "Were you ever a member of Mr. Hardy's interests?" he hesitated. Then he said, "That's another question." The inference is that since the revelation the glass men are not certain that they are members in good standing. It is quite possible that they do not wish to be.

In view of the glass men's supposed association, it is interesting to recall that they waited upon the Tariff Commission in Toronto last week and asked for changes in their interest.

Some twenty window glass men were heard by petition, and they asked for the abolition of the British preference and the imposition of a duty of 10 per cent. or a graded scale of from 15 to 50 cents a hundred feet, instead of 15 per cent. and 7 per cent. preference as now.

THE COMBINE THAT FAILED.

In the desk of one of the members of a Berlin legal firm lies an armful of documents that tell of an association promotion scheme on the part of Jenkins & Hardy — one that went wrong.

The project was to round up all the furniture manufacturers in Canada to control the output, to fix prices and terms, and to so manipulate the market that dealers would practically be forced to purchase their goods from them. Members of the association were also to receive special rates from the supply houses for goods such as brass fittings, tacks, varnish, etc., for which men not in the ring were to be charged a stiff advance on the price to the association.

Messrs. Jenkins and Hardy had prepared a list of the furniture manufacturers, and at a meeting held in Guelph in the spring the project was outlined. The Canadian Furniture Association was to be the name, and Jenkins and Hardy were to be the secretary-treasurers, and to have the authority to make periodical inspection of the firm's books. A tariff of membership fees was fixed, ranging from $200 for the smaller firms, to $400, $600 and $1,000 for the larger. A schedule of selling prices was also drawn up.

Some forty manufacturers agreed to go in, but on second consideration one or two of the smaller furniture manufacturers, and the more recent additions to the ranks, discovered in the cast iron rules and regulations features to which they objected. They took prompt action. A meeting was held in Toronto and an independent association was formed, about thirty firms agreeing not to become affiliated with the Jenkins and Hardy scheme.

The action of the "independents" effectually blocked the project.

FISCAL IMPERIALISM HAS NO CHANCE HERE

Says U.S. Expert on Canadian Trade—Prophesies Great Progress.

Washington, D.C., Nov. 27.—The United States sold Canada last year exports to the value of $166,000,000. This amount constituted more than sixty-two per cent. of the whole Canadian imports, but was only eleven per cent. of the foreign exports of the United States. This information is contained in a report of Chas. M. Pepper, special agent of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Besides selling goods to Canada, Mr. Pepper says, that 25,000 settlers went from United States to the northern neighbor, from January to October, 1905, and that the value of their effects was $10,000,000. This number of emigrants from the United States is less than for the two preceding years.

In guessing the relation of wheat production to population the report estimates the yield in Canada this season at upward of 90,000,000 bushels, or approximately equal to that of the State of Kansas. A production of 150,000,000 bushels by 1910, is foreshadowed, provided crop conditions continue favorable and harvest hands can be obtained. Railroad construction in the Northwest is given as another source of population, and consequently, of widened markets. Mr. Pepper fixes the total consumption of iron and steel and their products for the current year at one million dollars. He says that for the last three years, the importations have been $42,000,000 annually, and that the United States has supplied eighty-one per cent. of these.

In textiles, the report says that the Dominion is making advances, yet the time is distant when the importation of foreign goods will cease.

The United States successfully supplied felt cloth underwear, hats and caps and ready-made goods. The market for ready-mades is an especially good one, since the quality and style of the goods manufactured in the United States suit the Canadian customer.

The report states that by the controlling body of public opinion in Canada the policy known as fiscal imperialism is regarded as impossible. Nevertheless manufacturers in the United States are warned that in the proposed revision of the Canadian tariff they may expect a further effort to discriminate in favor of goods from Great Britain.

CANADA'S BANKING SYSTEM BEST FOR BUSINESS OF DOMINION

Mr. D. M. Stewart Brings Out Chief Points in Which it Differs From That of United States —Many Advantages

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—A comparison between the banking system of Canada and that of the United States formed the subject of an interesting address delivered before the

MR. DUNCAN M. STEWART.

Canadian Club on Saturday afternoon by Mr. Duncan M. Stewart, vice-president and general manager of the Sovereign Bank of Canada. Mr. Stewart brought out all the principal points on which the two systems differ and concluded by stating that the present Canadian banking and currency system is the very best that could be devised for the legitimate requirements of our great agricultural, manufacturing and commercial interests and the proper development of the enormous resources of the Dominion, Mr. Stewart said in part:

BANK CAPITALIZATION.

In the first place, there are two kinds of chartered banks in the United States, namely, those operating under State Laws and those incorporated under the National Banking Act. Both may issue notes and conduct a general banking business, but as there is a heavy tax on the circulation of State banks, these institutions are practically prohibited from issuing notes. There is only one kind of chartered bank in Canada, we have no State or Provincial banks. All banks operate under the Dominion Act, the Provinces having relinquished their rights to legislate for banking and currency to the Federal Government at the time of Confederation. (1867).

A National bank may commence business on a capital as low as $25,000, the amount being regulated by the population of the place of establishment.

In Canada the minimum paid-up capital [illegible] which must be deposited in gold with the Dominion Government before a bank can issue a note or do business of any kind. The incorporators must at the same time lodge with the Government a list of bona fide subscriptions for stock to the Bank to the extent of not less than $500,000 and as subscribers are liable for double the par value of their subscriptions, the Canadian people have a guarantee of at least $1,000,000, of which they know $250,000 has been paid in cash before the institution can open its doors for business.

The Canadian system of incorporation almost of necessity, creates a larger number of shareholders, and the wider the distribution of a bank's stock the better for the public. The minimum number of directors is five, but there is no limit placed on the number of shareholders a bank may have.

Even in the largest banks in the United States the number of shareholders is comparatively small. The leading banks in the American financial centres are in my opinion very ably managed and generally successful, but their officers are trained bankers who owe nothing to the National Banking System. An indifferent system will not prevent good management, neither will the most perfect system save a bank from destruction through bad management.

The thirty-three chartered banks of Canada are owned by some 25,000 shareholders who afford the public a total security of over $169,000,000 in the form of "Double Liability" alone.

BRANCH SYSTEM.

There is another great difference in the conduct of banks in the two countries.

The National banks of the United States are not allowed to open branches and it is for the purpose of providing banking facilities in the smaller towns that charters are granted on the low capitalization already mentioned. We therefore find thousands of small banks, scattered throughout the country, each one a head office and branch combined, and catering to the purely local wants of the community in which it is established. If the community is rich, the bank will have more loanable capital than it can safely invest, and the temptation to embark in doubtful enterprises is very great; this has caused the downfall of many a national bank. On the other hand, if the community is poor, the available funds of the bank cannot be large, and the progress of its customers is hampered by its inability to accord them proper financial aid.

The branch system we brought from the Motherland, and it exists in every English-speaking country in the world except the United States. The advantage of a branch bank to a small community is apparent when you consider that it is identical with, and has all the strength, backing and responsibility of the parent institution in the great financial centre, and that before ever this parent bank could open its doors, it had a minimum paid-up capital of $250,000, and a shareholders' liability of $1,000,000. Contrast this with the minimum capital of the United States National bank of $25,000 and a shareholders' liability of $50,000.

CASH RESERVES.

Another important point of difference between the two systems is the [illegible] States the law requires a certain fixed cash reserve to be maintained against deposits. In New York city and other "reserve centres" this is twenty-five per cent. Occasions have arisen in the United States when the country was in urgent need of currency for its legitimate requirements while the reserve banks held several hundred millions of money, not one dollar of which could be put into circulation.

In Canada there is no cash reserve fixed by law, this being left to the prudence of the bankers. Our own experience, as well as that of the United States, has shown the wisdom of this policy, and the comparative freedom of the Canadian banks from this and other unnecessary restrictions has gone far towards the establishment of our banking and currency system on the sound and efficient basis on which you find it to-day.

FROM BIRTH TO OLD AGE

Life is a constant fight against the dangers of disease, and he holds his own the best who keeps his body and its functions in the best working trim.

There are times in every life when Nature gratefully accepts a little aid. She does not want a whipping up for that is inevitably followed by depressing reaction.

In most cases a tonic and alterative properly compounded will afford the required help by promoting digestion, assimilation and reconstruction of tissue and reducing waste of vital nerve forces.

It must not be an alcoholic stimulant—just a vegetable tonic. Meeting these needs and conditions Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been in successful use these forty years and has accumulated a record of cures unequaled in the history of medicine. It is composed of non-alcoholic glyceric extracts of Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root; and by special processes perfected by Dr. Pierce, in his own laboratory, so combined in the most exact proportions, and their medicinal properties preserved without the use of alcohol as to render it a safe and effective remedy for use in the family without consulting a doctor. Young or old can take it freely as needed, and now that its composition is published, there is no ground for prejudice against it as a patent medicine or secret medicine. It is neither.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good."

KIDNEY DISEASE AND ITS DANGERS CAN BE QUICKLY CURED BY DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Kidney disease comes on quietly, it may have been in the system for a long time before you suspected the real cause of your trouble. There may have been backaches, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as, brick dust deposit in urine, higly colored, scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent urination, stone in bladder, etc.

Perhaps you did not know that these were symptoms of kidney disease, so the trouble kept growing worse, until Neuralgia, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Dropsy, and worst of all, Bright's Disease have taken hold of your system.

Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken at the first sign of anything wrong. There is no other safe way, (plasters and liniments are useless), as the trouble must be eradicated from the system.

Doan's Kidney Pills go to the seat of the trouble, strengthen the kidneys, and help them to filter the blood properly and flush off all the impurities which cause kidney trouble. Mr. Thomas Mayhew, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes: "For over four months I was troubled with my kidneys, and my back got so lame I felt miserable all over. After taking five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I was as well as ever."

DEATH OF MR. J. B. WILLIAMSON.

The death occurred at his residence, 55 St. Mark street, on Friday evening, after a week's illness, of Mr. J. B. Williamson, one of Montreal's oldest and most respected business men. The deceased gentleman, who was in his sixty-seventh year, was a native of Dundee, Scotland, and came to Canada early forty years ago, and was for thirty years engaged in the jewellery business on St Catherine street, retiring from active business six years ago. He was well known all through the West. The deceased was one of the oldest members of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, having worshiped with the congregation in the old church on Recollet street. Mr. Williamson was also a member of the Masonic order, having joined the fraternity in Banff, Scotland, in 1863, and affiliating with Elgin Lodge, No. 7, in this city, when he came to Canada. He married in 1876 Miss Archer, of Renfrew, Ont., who survives him, together with two sons and a daughter. Mrs. De Jersey White.

FIREMAN OVERHEARD PLANS FOR ROBBERY

There has been considerable annoyance of late by false alarms being rung in from the district covered by fire station No. 12, and during the past few nights men have been specially detailed to keep an eye on certain of the boxes. So far none of the jocular ones have been netted, but on Friday night Fireman Remillard overheard a couple of youths planning the breaking of a store at 89 St. Catherine street. He followed the pair closely, and was successful in arresting both after they had broken a pane in one of the windows.

Before Mr. Recorder Weir on Saturday the accused, who are Silvain Barbeau, 18, painter, and Ernest Hebert, 17, checker, pleaded not guilty and were remanded until Tuesday for enquiry.

MYTILENE HAS PROBABLY FALLEN

International Fleet Had Orders to Seize Island at One on Sunday

Constantinople, Via Sofia, Bulgaria, November 27. The instructions to the commanders of the international fleet were to land detachments and occupy Mytilene at one o'clock Sunday afternoon, unless contrary orders reached them in the interim. Presumably, therefore, the capital of the island is now in the hands of the allied forces. It was arranged in the interview between Tewfik Pasha, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the British and American ambassadors on Saturday that if by eight o'clock Saturday night the ambassadors received a written notification from the Foreign Minister promising acceptance of the demands of the powers the ambassadors would telegraph to the fleet at Mytilene to suspend further operations until Monday. No communication, however, was received, so it is suggested that instructions staying the hands of the commanders of the international fleet have not been despatched.

REV. FATHER RIOUX IS NEW DIRECTOR

Succeeds Late Father Strubbe as Head of St. Ann's Y.M.S.

Rev. Father Rioux, P.P., C.S.S.R., has been appointed as director of St. Ann's Young Men's Society, to succeed the late Father Strubbe. The new director is a Canadian by birth, and was a personal friend of Father Strubbe's, they having made their novitiate together at Belgium, twenty-three years ago, and their solemn profession in the Redemptorist Order twenty-two years ago. Rev. Father Rioux has been for the past two years parish priest at St. Ann's, previous to that being parish priest at the Hochelaga Convent. Rev. Father Rioux is a great favorite with the young men, and the work of the society will be carried out on the same programme as that laid down by their late lamented director.

LATE MRS. ARCHAMBAULT LAID TO REST TO-DAY

A Large Number of Clergy and Friends Present at Last Services.

The funeral of Mrs. Archambault, widow of the late Hon. Louis Archambault, Commissioner of Public Works, and mother of Bishop Archambault, of Joliette; Hon. H. Archambault, ex-Attorney-General of Quebec, and Mr. H. G. Archambault, K.C., which took place from the home of the Sisters of Providence at 1631 St. Catherine St., to St. James Church, St. Denis Street, at 1.30 this morning, was most largely attended, many clergymen and laity being present to pay a last tribute of respect to the deceased lady. Some of the new bells were placed in temporary position, too, and rung for the first time.

Bishop Archambault received the body at the door of the church and recited the levee du corps. His Grace Archbishop Fabre, was the celebrant of the Mass, assisted by Rev. Canon Martin and Roy as honorary deacons, and Rev. Fathers Tranchemontagne, of St. James parish and Abbe Perrier, of the Archbishop's Palace, as deacon and subdeacon. Bishop Emard, of Valleyfield; Bishop Racicot, of Montreal, and Mgr. Bernard, administrator of the diocese of St. Hyacinthe, also assisted at the service. The musical services was under the direction of Prof. Drolet, and the sacred edifice was profusely decorated with emblems of mourning.

There were fully one hundred priests from all parts of the province in the sanctuary, as well as a delegation of the pupils from the Seminary of Joliette. Among the large number of others present were Chief Justice Sir Alexander Lacoste, Mr. Justice Lorangar, Mr. Justice Robidoux, Mr. Justice St. Pierre, Recorder Poirier, Mr. Dr. Lanctot, Judge Desnoyers, Hon. Senator Dandurand, Judge Sicotte, Lieut.-Col. Barry, Mr. Justice Lavergne, Messrs. L. E. A. Cholette, L. J. Berard, president Artizans' Society, Mr. Justice Tellier, J. A. Clement, P. Clement, P. H. Roy, P. W. Archambault, C. J. Archambault, Dr. Dugas, A. A. Labreeque, C. Delahaudiere, Ald. L. A. Lapointe, J. B. Denis, Nap. COURT OF KING'S BENCH FINDS GAUTHIER GUILTY

And Reverses Decision of Judge Sicotte on Case Arising Out of Disturbances at Mile End—Gauthier Fined $10 And Costs

The decision of Justice Trenholme in connection with the prosecution arising from the disturbance at the Salvation Army hall at Ville St. Louis on September 6, is that Mr. Pierre Gauthier, of Maisonneuve, broke the law and must pay $10 fine and all costs of trial and appeal, or go to jail for ten days.

His Lordship said the case presented many interesting features, and complimented counsel on both sides for the able manner in which the case had been handled. He then proceeded to give an exhaustive outline of the case and the circumstances leading up to the disturbance and the prosecution.

At the preliminary meetings of the Army there had been some hostility, and this fact had induced the chief of police to ask that the outdoor meetings be discontinued. This was conceded by Staff Capt. Moore, who was in charge, but the indoor meetings continued, and it was on a charge of disturbing one of these on September 6 that Gauthier was brought before the lower court. Accused did not belong to the parish. In the eyes of the Law he was a complete stranger, although the evidence went to show that he was in St. Louis on legitimate business on the date in question.

Reviewing the evidence as to what had taken place in the hall, Mr. Justice Trenholme said the appearance and conduct of Gauthier had not unnaturally attracted attention, he being a man of some appearance. Mr. Gauthier had invited to stand up all who were French-Canadian Catholics, and while there were differences of opinion as to how many really did leave, there was no doubt the majority left the meeting. The words made use of "It is not for us to remain here, leave," created some alarm, and when Miss Cabrit explained to Staff Capt. Moore, that gentleman requested Gauthier to leave the hall. His Lordship did not think Gauthier used force to get the people out, but the fact remained that the meeting was broken up. Capt. Moore was struck with a stone while at the door, and when accused appeared there were cries of "three cheers for Pierre Gauthier," who responded by soliciting "three cheers for the Catholic religion." It had to be admitted, however, that while outside Gauthier had contributed to the preservation of the peace by helping to draw the crowd away from the hall.

There was not the slightest doubt said his Lordship that Judge Sicotte had come to a conscientious decision on the evidence in the lower court that the text and spirit of the law had not been violated, that accused had merely gone as a dissenter, and that what he had done was legitimate dissent. He had no doubt Mr. Sicotte would give him credit for the same conscientiousness in coming to a different conclusion.

Many years ago there had been considerable feeling against the Salvation Army, and as a result a complaint was heard before Mr. Recorder DeMontigny, which was splendidly defended by Mr. St. Pierre. Technical objections by the latter were overruled, the court decided the case must be tried on its merits, and after full hearing the charge was dismissed, the army being declared to be within their rights. Of course, continued Mr. Justice Trenholme, the Legislature might in the interval have changed the law respecting public rights, but to the credit of those who were in a majority in the province it had never been sought in the Legislature to attempt to interfere in the exercise of religion celebrated in the street.

And if the Salvation Army had these rights on the public streets, how much greater were their rights in their own rooms, which they leased, and for which they paid a rent?

It seemed to him that Gauthier had broken the law. He had told the court that his intentions were to prevent disturbance, and justified his actions by saying he felt it was to the best interests of all that those of his religion who were present should go away, fearing there might be injury to the children in any disturbance that might follow. His Lordship was willing to grant the benefit of the doubt in this connection. But even if there were members of another religion present, he must hold the Salvationists were quite within their rights, and that being so, no one had a right to molest them. The army went there to try and get those who were not yet members to join them. Otherwise the meetings for worship might just as well be held at the headquarters in the city.

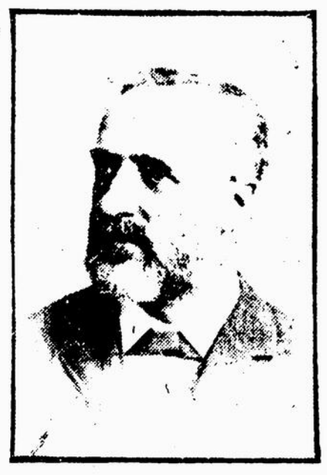

He must find accused guilty the sentence was $10 fine, costs of the trial and of the appeal, or ten days' imprisonment. Fifteen days would be allowed for payment.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY TO MR. JAMES W. TESTER

Deceased Was Managing Director of Laprairie Brick Co.

Death came with terrible suddenness yesterday morning to Mr. James W. Tester, of 1110 Dorchester Street, for many years one of Montreal's leading business men, and manager of the Laprairie Pressed Brick and Tile Company. The deceased gentleman had been in his usual health practically to the very last. He was at his work as usual on Saturday and was very busy, so much so that on Saturday night he complained of not feeling very well and retired early. On Sunday morning he arose shortly after seven as was his custom, but was seized with a sudden stroke of heart paralysis, and fell unconscious. He was at once carried back to bed and Drs. Wilkins, Armstrong and Latleur called in, but they could do nothing but await the end, which came just before eight o'clock, the dying man never regaining consciousness.

A pathetic feature of this sudden death is that Mrs. Tester is at the hospital, where some time ago she underwent an operation. On Saturday evening Mr. Tester intended to go to see his wife, as was his wont, but postponed the visit until Sunday as he felt so weak. For some months past Mr. Tester knew that his heart was in a dangerous condition, and had been warned by his physician not to overexert himself.

THE LATE JAMES W. TESTER.

A LIFE-LONG RESIDENT.

The late James Westley Tester was a life-long citizen of Montreal, being born here, of English descent in 1843—sixty-two years ago. He received an ordinary school education, and while still a very young man started a wholesale confectionery business on St. Paul Street in a very modest way. Mr. Tester early developed a strong business ability, and in a very few years he succeeded in building up one of the largest wholesale confectionery businesses in Canada, with such success that at the early age of forty-six he had amassed a comfortable fortune and was able to retire, selling the business to a company which carried it on as J. W. Tester & Co.

Mr. Tester thought then to spend his life in leisure. But he had not calculated on his energy and love of work, which would not permit him to remain idle. He owned some stock in the Laprairie Brick Company, of which he was a director.

FORMED LAPRAIRIE BRICK CO.

On retiring from business he became much interested in this concern, with the result that he was specially elected first managing director and then general manager of the business, which position he has held with success to the company for fifteen years past. Thus instead of retiring while still young he practically died in harness.

Outside his business and home interests Mr. Tester was chary of his time. He was an old member of the Olivet Baptist Church and had been a member of the Board of management for many years, but beyond this most of his spare time was spent with his family. A man of broad charity, he took no part in organized charitable work, preferring to aid the needy as he discovered their wants, and no one but himself and the recipients knew of his bounty.

The deceased was married in 1867 at Bridgeport, Connecticut, to Miss Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. John C. Smith, who subsequently engaged in business in Montreal.

He is survived by a widow and three children, Frederick, who has recently started in business at Winnipeg, and two daughters, Misses Florence and Laura, who reside at home. The former was at once notified by wire and the funeral will be delayed until next Wednesday to await his arrival.

MOONEY WAS GIVEN SEVERE SENTENCE

Will Spend Twelve Years in Prison For Westmount Duel

On the charge of attempting to murder Constable Vicars, of Westmount, on October 16, Frank Mooney has been condemned to twelve years confinement in the penitentiary.

In giving decision on the appeal today in the Court of King's Bench, Mr. Justice Trenholme declared the indictment must stand. Accused had had the advantage of being defended by one of the most experienced members of the Bar, and every point of objection had been heard by a full bench of judges.

The crime was one of the most serious under the law, and it was only through the merciful intervention of Providence that the officer had not been killed, and the accused now about to be sentenced to death for his murder. The maximum penalty was a life sentence, but taking into consideration that Mooney had not been actuated by any personal malice, the term would be limited to one of twelve years.

ACTION TO UNSEAT VICE-PRESIDENT.

Action was taken in the Court of Review this morning to unseat Mr. C. N. Armstrong, Vice-president of the Bay Chaleur Railway, as the result of a quo warranto proceeding taken some weeks ago on behalf of R. D. McGibbon to unseat Senator Thibadeau, president, and Mr. Armstrong.

It will be remembered that Mr. Justice Forth maintained the action against Senator Thibadeau, but not against the vice-president, claiming that the former on 400 shares was not entitled to hold office nor to vote, since he was appointed by the court.

DID NOT PAY WATER RATES.

Nine members of the legal profession were under summons to make appearance before Mr. Recorder Poirier to-day in respect of unpaid water rates incurred between 1902 and the present year.

Appearances were made in terms of the act and the case will be heard in due course. In the event of payment not being made in the interval.

M'CURDYS GIVE UP $500,000 A YEAR

Mutual's President and Two Relatives Have Resigned Their Jobs

New York, Nov. 27. The World today is authority for this statement:

Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, has resigned. The date of his resignation depends only on the time required by the trustees to find his successor.

The investigating committee did not accept Mr. McCurdy's offer to cut his salary in half, because such acceptance would have pledged them to a continuance of the McCurdy management.

Quickly following the retirement of President McCurdy, his son, Robert H. McCurdy, general manager of the Mutual, and his son-in-law, Louis A. Thebaud, the general agent for New York, have resigned. Each of these three men has been drawing approximately $150,000 a year in salaries and commissions from the company, besides their indirect profits in financial transactions with Mutual money.

A tentative offer to head the company was made to James B. Forgan, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, who once was an Equitable director. His bank is one of the leading financial institutions of the middle west. Mr. Forgan declined to consider the offer.

"OFFICIALS" ARE SURPRISED AT HONOR

Some of the members of the Supreme Committee of the local Tammany, or to give it its larger and more euphonious title, the Benevolent and Protective Society, of which Mr. Lawrence A. Wilson is president, have been greatly surprised to find themselves elected to positions of supremacy in the newly-created order.

A Herald representative called today upon quite a number of gentlemen who have had greatness thrust upon them whose names appear on the list as occupying positions of honor and responsibility in the association, and while none repudiate the organization or disown sympathy with its objects, none will commit himself unreservedly to the institution as it regards its scope, plans or methods.

There seems to be a secret fear, an uneasy foreboding that the president of the enthusiasm has out-Tammanied Tammany in the matter of the election.

Tammany has methods of its own of managing its affairs, but it goes all over the matter of selecting those it selects for preferment are willing to accept the honor.

Mr. A. W. Stevenson, president of the Dominion Association of Chartered Accountants, writes declaring that the first intimation he had of having been chosen a member of the new body was through the press.

"Tammany," say he, "has always had the reputation of doing things in its own peculiar way, for in my profession it is customary to be consulted and an opportunity given of either accepting or refusing an appointment, and any chartered accountant would require some substantial details before lending his name to any company or organization. I have no desire to belittle the efforts of 'Larry' Wilson for the benefit of the poor of Montreal, but had I been consulted the humble although remunerative position of accountant might not have been what I would have selected."

Mr. D. W. Ogilvie, of the Ogilvie estate agency remarked that he was very much surprised at finding his name on the Supreme Council. "It's true," said he, "that 'Larry' Wilson and I had been joking together at lunch over the Tammany affair. After that the first thing I knew was that he had put me down on the committee.

"As to whether I will allow my name to remain on the list depends entirely upon the nature of the movement. At present I know nothing about it. I understand that the purpose is charitable, and as far as that goes it has my sympathy. I understand, too, that it aims at improving the city government. I think there is room for improvement. Whether this is the right kind of body to accomplish that end is what I want to assure myself about before taking any step either for or against it."

Mr. J. N. Emard, K.C., whose name appears on the local committee, when seen by The Herald, begged to be excused from being interviewed at present. "Have you had Mr. Stevenson's letter?" he asked, turning interlocutor upon the interviewer. The answer was in the affirmative, and it was followed by the question: "Are you in the same position as Mr. Stevenson?"

To this Mr. Emard's only answer was a shrug of the shoulders and a smile.

Mr. Hector Bisaillon, LL.B., who has also been announced as a member of the legal committee, replied that he was asked by somebody in a jocular way if he would join. I have never considered the matter at all," said he, "I have seen no charter, no rules. As to whether I will remain identified with it will depend entirely upon what form it assumes and the methods by which it strives to attain them. I understand that it intends in the first place to help the poor and next to help those who help the poor. have been informed, too, that it aims at reform—that it intends to reform the reform party in the Council. It might not be a bad thing to put a little more energy into the municipal wing of the reform party."

Mr. A. Globensky, K.C., the general secretary of the Bar Association another legal gentleman who has been chosen a member of the legal committee said: "I have allowed my name to appear as a member of the association because its declared purpose is to do good. I understand that it is to be a charitable organization aiming at good government. So long as it adheres to that programme it will have my sympathy.

LAKE MICHIGAN LAST LINER TO LEAVE PORT

THERE WILL BE A CONTEST IN EVERY WESTMOUNT WARD

Lively Meeting of Electors Held Saturday Evening—Mr. A. McA. Murphy Will Oppose Mr. Walker in Ward 2—Ex-Mayor Cross Retires

At a meeting of electors of Westmount held in the Town Hall Saturday evening Mr. A. M. Murphy was chosen as a candidate for municipal honors in No. 2 Ward at the approaching elections.

The term of office of four of Westmounts city fathers expires in January next, and it looks as though there will be lively contests for several of the vacant seats in the Council. In No. 1 Ward Mayor A. E. Ducios will run again. He will most likely be opposed, though the name of the other candidate has not yet been announced. Ex-Mayor Cross is retiring in No. 2 Ward, and the election of his successor is arousing a great deal of interest among the residents of that district.

Mr. Murphy represents a number who are in favor of an immediate settlement of the long mooted dispute with the Water and Power Company, while those who would go slowly and carefully in the matter will probably have as their candidate Mr. J. R. Walker, an ex-Mayor of the town. Requisition papers asking Mr. Walker to accept nomination have been signed by many of the most influential residents of the ward and I will be presented to him this evening.

MR. A. McA. MURPHY.
Candidate in No. 2 Ward, Westmount.

In Ward No. 3 it is still also probable be a lively contest. Come Dr. Colbath, K.C., will be opposed by Mr. James Crankshaw, K.C., in that ward, while in No. 4 Mr. John Stewart has been named as a candidate.

MR. MURPHY'S STATEMENT.

At Saturday evening's meeting Mr. Murphy expressed himself that the water question had not been settled to a conclusion. The town's lawyers should explain the cause of the delay, he thought, even if they had to take action against the company should frankly say so. He, for one, would be willing to join others in insisting that the matter be brought to a conclusion. The company should be forced by some means to furnish the town with pure water. He would suggest as an ultimate remedy the possibility of the town purchasing its own water supply.

"I say that this town has been trifled with by the Water Company," remarked Mr. Wallace. "I do not say that it has been trifled with by the councillors but I wish I could think of some other term to express the same idea."

Mr. Murphy said that he had several times refused nomination, but his friends had put it in the light of duty and he had finally consented to stand.

Mr. Murphy's nomination was moved by Mr. Arch McGoun, and seconded by Mr. Ross Ross. Mr. Murphy's address was followed by a lively discussion.

MR. McLAGGAN'S CRITICISM.

A reference was made to a private meeting at which Mr. Walker's name was brought up. Mr. McLaggan explained that the communication of what took place was a breach of faith. Mr. Murphy's name had been brought up but he was unknown to most of them. They all agreed with the candidate that the town must have pure water, but the speaker thought that after all, Murphy had been in the Council for a little while he would find it was not so easy to obtain it as he seemed to imagine. The meeting which had been referred to was not a private meeting and was no "Citizens' League," as had been reported in one of the papers. It had been decided to support Mr. Walker, as it was felt that, while Mr. Murphy was highly esteemed Mr. Walker was a better man for the position.

Mr. Thomas Harling said that both candidates appeared to be of the same opinion on the water question.

Mr. Murphy replied that if Mr. Walker was on the same side of the water question the logical thing for him to do was to withdraw. If he (the speaker) were sure that Mr. Walker was on his side of the question he himself would withdraw but until Mr. Walker came out straight and said he was not the friend of the Water and Power company he would remain a candidate.

Mr. A. Ramsay thought Mr. Walker the more fitting candidate and moved an amendment, nominating him.

PROCEEDINGS WARMED UP.

Things then began to get lively. Mr. Harling said he did not think there was any need of voting on the matter. It would give a wrong impression. The meeting had been called by Mr. Murphy's friends and with all due respect to that gentleman, he would probably claim to be the only elected candidate.

Mr. Murphy said that Mr. Harling was mistaken.

Mr. Harling then seconded Mr. Ramsay's motion.

Mr. Pinder, of Ward No. 1 then arose and remarked that though not an elector of Ward No. 2 he would like to remark that if they elected Mr. Walker they might as well elect the president of the Water and Power Company.

The motion and amendment were finally voted upon and Mr. Murphy was elected.

It was decided to call a general meeting of all electors and all candidates next Saturday evening.

Among those who were in attendance at Saturday's meeting were: Oliver E. Hurd, Arch. McGoun, A. McA. Murphy, Wm. Henry, A. C. Hutchison, Alex. Ramsay, W. Galbraith, J. Braidwood, Thos. Harling, R. S. Deacon, Fitzjames Brown, P. D. Gordon, R. C. Holden, John Pinder, L. E. Lonsdall, E. M. Morgan, Alex. Stuart.

STE. CUNEGONDE ELECTORS MEET.

A meeting of the electors of Ste. Cunegonde was held yesterday when Mayor Cyprien and Ald. Joseph Marcotte were nominated as candidates for the coming civic election. Mr. Hizzaire was offered nomination but refused. The two candidates will run for election to the Montreal council under the conditions of the annexation by-laws, which goes into effect next May, provided it is ratified by the Legislature.

HINTERLAND IS FERTILE AND RICH IN MINERALS

Mr. J. B. Roblin, Ottawa, Comments on His Trip to Northern Districts

That the most northerly country through which the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will pass, is fertile and eminently promising for agricultural purposes, is vouched for by Mr. J. B. Roblin, of Ottawa, who has just returned from a four months' exploration trip through what is known to those who are surveying the route for the new line as District C.

This district is situated about 250 miles north of Ottawa, and about six or seven miles north of the Height of Land. Mr. Roblin had charge of a party of twenty-seven men, who were delegated to strike a route across some 110 miles of territory.

The party returned to Ottawa yesterday after having been in the north country since August.

Concerning the ground he had covered, Mr. Roblin said to a Herald reporter who met him on the Soo train yesterday:

"The country through which I passed can hardly be excelled for farming purposes. The soil is rich and deep, and should yield abundant crops."

"But," Mr. Roblin was asked, "isn't the climate there unfavorable to profitable farming?"

"Not a bit of it," was the prompt reply. "I could not notice any difference between the climate there and that around Montreal and Ottawa. It is warm in summer and the winters are not so cold as you would imagine. To my mind, it is a better country than the Northwest."

"How about timber?" was the next query.

"There's lots of it, and it is of the most valuable kind, pine and hard wood. It is a nicely timbered country, fairly open and easy to clear for farms."

PLENTY OF MINERALS.

Concluding Mr. Roblin stated that the country he explored would be as "valuable as the Klondike," as regards the production of minerals.

"There are many kinds of minera's north of the Height of Land," he said, "and prospectors will find it abundantly wealthy in gold, silver, nickel, iron, etc. I cannot say whether there is any coal to be found, as we did not see any traces of it, but it is likely to be there."

Through Mr. Rollins district ran the Hurricanaw River, which empties into the Arctic Ocean. Lake Abittibi lies sixty-five miles to the southeast and New Liskeard, 123 miles to the south.

With Mr. Roblin's party was a Montreal boy, Mr. Frank Flannigan, who returned home yesterday.

THREE LITTLE ONES DROWNED AT HAWKESBURY.

Hawkesbury, Ont., November 27.—(Special.)—Joseph Jodoin, H. Giroux and D. Giroux, aged ten, eight and six years, respectively, left their home Sunday morning at about ten o'clock, saying they were going out to snare rabbits. When the dinner hour came around and the boys failed to appear the parents became uneasy and sent out to find them. Not until nine o'clock this morning were the three bodies found in the creek behind Aubry's carriage shop just a few yards from their homes.

WEST REMANDED FOR EIGHT DAYS

Arrested on Charge of Raising Money by False Pretences

The man who was arrested on Friday afternoon by City Detective Dan. McLaughlin in connection with recent attempts to obtain money by false pretences, appeared before Judge Lafontaine in course of Saturday and was remanded for eight days under the names of H. O. West, alias James West, alias W. E. Brown, alias N. L. Wallace, alias J. D. Ellis, alias Thos. O'Neill, alias E. G. Hall, alias Woods.

This is not the first visit of accused to Montreal. In August last Chief Detective Carpenter had suspicions directed towards him while he was staying at the Albion Hotel in company with a lady—the same lady as accompanied him on the present occasion. In August there were complaints of an effort to swindle a couple of local firms by means of bogus checks, but before the suspected one could be interviewed he cleared away from town.

When report reached the chief last week of an endeavor by a stranger to cash a draft on a United States bank, he came to the conclusion that it was a repeat visit, and Officer McLaughlin was set to work to run him to earth, with the result that arrest came on Friday in a house on St. Urbain Street at which West was boarding.

From memorandums found in his possession, prisoner seems to have made quite a pot of money in the course of his travels, and handed it out pretty freely to "Hattie." One month the lady had $175 in cash and $300 worth of clothing, while another month the lady had $200 worth of jewellery.

A man of many aliases, accused appears to have had financial transactions with many concerns throughout the American continent, search of his belongings bringing to light report books and cheques of no fewer than twenty-nine banks, amongst them the Molsons, Montreal City and District Savings, Bank of Hochelaga, Royal Bank of Canada, and west end branch of the Sovereign Bank.

ESSIE LODGE GAVE HIMSELF UP TO POLICE

For Having Stabbed Two Brothers—He Was Remanded for Trial.

Jesse Lodge, 44, a carpenter, residing at 187 Knox Street, surrendered himself at the Grand Trunk Police Station on Saturday night for having stabbed two brothers, Charles Clarke, of 118a Sebastopol Street, and Benjamin Clarke, 21 Ryde Street. He appeared before Judge Lafontaine to-day and was remanded for trial.

The story of Lodge is that while on his way home about seven o'clock, he was set upon by the Clarkes as the outcome of an old quarrel, and after being beaten and thrown down was badly kicked. Fearing they intended to kill him he ultimately drew his pocket knife in self defence. Lodge has both eyes blackened and bears traces otherwise of having been subjected to severe handling.

The Clarkes were found in their homes, Benjamin with a wound in the left side and another in the back, and Charles with a cut in the right side, either of which are, however, considered dangerous. They deny the story told by Lodge, and state that he was he started the trouble.

RAILWAY COMMRS. CANNOT MAKE ORDER

Car Shortage Question Has Too Much to be Said on Both Sides

Ottawa, November 27.—(Special.)—The shortage of rolling stock on Canadian railroads when the autumn rush of traffic is on has furnished the Railroad Commission with a big task. For a month or more it has been considering the complaint of shippers that they cannot get enough cars. However, at this date, in a memorandum just issued, it is only able to say it has given the complaints careful and anxious consideration for some time, but because, of the many and great issues involved and the fact that special orders often have far-reaching and unthought-of effects, the Board, though anxious to assist in securing justice to all parties, does not feel warranted in taking action until it has made more detailed investigation as to elevator accommodation at Lake Huron and Georgian Bay ports, the rolling stock of the Grand Trunk and its distribution.

The car shortage investigation is still going on under the supervision of Mr. Hardwell, the chief traffic officer of the Board, and it is hoped that before long the Commission will be in a position to take such action as will, to some extent at least, prevent a recurrence of the serious trouble and losses that have been so bitterly and no doubt justly complained of during the past three months.

The Commission give a statement of one man's complaint and the Grand Trunk reply to it, as a sample of what they have to deal with.

The complaint was made by A. A. Might, owner of the lake carrier Tadousac. Mr. Might claimed grain was being held on lake ports until after the close of navigation at Montreal, so the railways would get the advantage of higher rates and longer haul. He complained that the car supply at Depot Harbor was not enough to take away the grain cargo brought there, and that the acceptance of grain brought to Depot Harbor in American boats from Chicago cuts down the supply of cars available for Canadian shippers.

RAILWAY PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

In reply to Mr. Might's complaint that the Canadian Pacific at Owen Sound and the Grand Trunk at Midland, Collingwood and Meaford, virtually refuse, except at their own discretion, to receive from lake vessels export grain from Fort William, unless to be forwarded from Georgian Bay elevators after the close of navigation, the Grand Trunk freight traffic manager and the foreign freight agent, both declare under oath that the assertion is incorrect. The Grand Trunk does not own or operate elevators at Midland, Meaford and Point Edward, while its Collingwood elevator is leased to an independent firm. They declare the Grand Trunk does not dictate to elevator men what grain they shall take. On the complaint of Ontario millers that preference was being given to export grain the Grand Trunk ceased contracting for export grain from the head of Lake Superior for Montreal until accumulation of grain under shipping orders at Lake Huron and Georgian Bay ports had been removed. Otherwise the filing of millers orders would have been retarded.

To the charge that grain handled at Depot Harbor had been restricted to 100,000 bushels a day while Canadian vessels could furnish twice that quantity, the Grand Trunk replies with figures to the end of October last year. Two million and a half bushels were received at Depot Harbor and this year over four millions. Last year to the end of October the railroad took out a little less than two million. This year the quantity has been slightly above three millions. A million bushels more than in the same period last year have been forwarded to Montreal for export.

THE CANADA ATLANTIC BOATS.

To the complaint that their vessels of United States register are bringing 300,000 bushels of grain a week to Depot Harbor and thus reducing the number of cars available for Canadian shippers, the Grand Trunk says these are Canada Atlantic boats bought by the Grand Trunk with that system. They have been in the business for years and the chief object in building the Canada Atlantic was to capture a share of the Chicago grain trade. As these vessels are of American register they could not be used between two Canadian ports. The suggestion that their cargo should not be given cars until freight originating in Canada is all taken care of, would mean these boats would have to run to Buffalo. That would mean the loss of a large westbound traffic to Chicago. The three vessels receive no preference, but take their turn unloading.

On the complaint as to Midland figures are given by the Grand Trunk to show shipments are heavier this year than last, though behind those of 1903.

Shipments from Point Edward, Sarnia, Midland, Meaford, and Collingwood for September and October were only about three hundred thousand bushels behind the year before.

The Commission makes no comment on the complaints or the defence, but the memorandum promises something definite when the whole question of car shortage has been gone into.

MONTREAL EXPRESS ON B. & M. SLEW NINETEEN ON LOCAL TRAIN

"Sunday Special" From Boston, Double-Headed and Very Heavy, Swept Into Small Maine Train in Heavy Fog and Reduced it to Kindling Wood

Lincoln, Mass., Nov. 27.—Two more bodies were recovered from the wreck this morning. One of them was taken from the top of the forward engine and the other from beneath the engine's trucks. One was that of a man and the other a woman. This makes a total of nineteen dead.

Lincoln, Mass., November 27. — The early morning lists of the dead and injured indicate that seventeen persons lost their lives in the rear-end collision at Baker Bridge station on the main line of the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine Railroad at 8.10 o'clock last night. Twenty-five persons were more or less seriously injured and others sustained cuts and bruises.

The tracks were not entirely cleared of wreckage until to-day, although the eastbound track was freed of debris during the night and a number of trains were transferred around the wreckage and wrecking apparatus early in the day. The Montreal express, which left Boston at 7.45 last night and crashed into the Marlboro branch accommodation train which had pulled out of Boston half an hour earlier, resumed its journey to the Canadian city at 3 a.m.

The following is a revised list of the dead:

May Campbell, Maynard; Wm. Walsh, Maynard; Charles Wetherbee, Acton; Donor, Gauthier, Marlboro, brakeman of the accommodation train; Charles W. Barnard, Charlestown, fireman of the Montreal express; Annie W. Hartwell, twenty-one years old, of Littletown; Anna Hillbridge, five years old, Acton, Mary McSweeney, Concord; Josephine, Karlston, Maynard; W. J. Barris, Maynard; — Barris, three years old, son of W. J. Barris; B. Tydepriu, aged fifty years, residence unknown, and five unidentified dead.

The most seriously injured were taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston. Many injured were attended to by physicians at the scene of the wreck and were able to go to their homes.

Early to-day no deaths had occurred at the hospitals in Boston, although at least half a dozen of the victims are in a critical condition.

PRESIDENT IS HORRIFIED.

Aside from the work of identifying the remains which were removed from the charred ruins, the greatest interest centers this forenoon in the investigation of the cause of the disaster. President Lucius Tuttle, of the Boston and Maine Railroad, states that orders had been issued to institute a searching inquiry. "I am horrified more than words can tell," said President Tuttle to-day, "and I cannot understand how such a frightful accident could have happened, unless the signals were in some way misunderstood."

The fireman of the leading locomotive, Charles E. Barnard, was burned to death in his cab, but Engineer Connors managed to escape in some strange manner. At first it was supposed that he had perished, but some time after midnight a report was received that he had been found under a tree on the embankment near the scene. His injuries were not regarded as serious, and he was able to walk.

The second locomotive of the express was badly damaged. The engineer and fireman of this engine escaped injury, and no person in the coaches of the Montreal train was injured. All the cars remained on the rails.

ASSISTING IN THE RESCUE.

Many of the passengers of this train assisted in the work of rescue and the Pullman car of the express was used as a temporary hospital. Two of the victims, little Anna Hilbridge and a man died in this car.

It is said that a signal calling for caution was set against the express at Lincoln station. Statements of those who were near the station, do not agree in all details. The theory of railroad men who visited the scene is that the smoke from the engine of the local train as it passed under the Baker Highway bridge obscured the red lights in the rear. Whatever the reason, the first engineer of the Montreal train, whose duty it was to scan the signals, failed to observe any warnings and without a movement having been made to check its speed the heavy train plunged into the local. It is expected that the responsibility will be placed by the railroad authorities.

The passengers lived in Concord, West Acton, Maynard, Hudson, Marlboro and several small towns in the Assabet Valley. None of the passengers on the Montreal train were seriously hurt, but the engineer and fireman of the leading locomotive were killed.

PASSENGERS CREMATED.

The wreckage caught fire, and some of the passengers were caught and incinerated before they had a chance to be released from the debris. Few persons live in the vicinity of Baker's Bridge station, and no fire department was available, so that the flames practically burned themselves out.

A special train was sent from Boston by the Boston & Maine management at 9.25 o'clock, and reached here inside of a half-hour.

The train brought a number of doctors and appliances for aiding the injured. Dozens of doctors from Wilbraham and other places in this section were sent to the scene in carriages and by train. The railroad station and dwelling houses were turned into temporary hospitals, and many volunteer nurses assisted materially in relieving the suffering of the injured men and women. Just before 11.30 o'clock a special train carrying those who were the most seriously injured, and who could be moved in safety, left for Boston, where arrangements were made to have all the available ambulances convey the maimed to the hospitals.

The second train which figured in the collision is known as the Sunday night Montreal express, which runs over the Fitchburg division to Bellows' Falls, Vt., whence it proceeds over the Rutland Railroad through Rutland and Burlington, Vt., and St. Hyacinthe, Que.

This train leaves Boston at 7.45 o'clock on Sundays only. It consisted of two locomotives, two milk cars, two baggage cars, mail car, three coaches and a Pullman sleeper. The Montreal train does not stop ordinarily until it reaches Concord, two miles west of Baker's Bridge station. Owing to the heavy local traffic, the Marlboro branch train was behind time when it reached Baker's Bridge. According to the statement of persons who were at the depot there, a brakeman was sent to place a fuse or red fire torch some distance in the rear.

CRASH HEARD A MILE AWAY.

The night was unusually dark, partly owing to a dense mist which came up the Sudbury. According to those at the station the torch had not been set more than a minute before the roar of a heavy train around the curve a short distance east of the depot was heard. Those on the station platform were helpless, for, within a few seconds the headlight of an onrushing locomotive penetrated the mist and before a hand could be lifted to warn the passengers in the local train the two ponderous engines, travelling at an estimate of thirty-five miles an hour, crashed into the standing coaches. The impact was so terrific that it was heard by persons living a mile distant. Following the crash the shrieks of the injured and the shouts of those who hastened to the rescue could be heard at times above the hiss of escaping steam. The leading locomotive telescoped the rear end of the Marlboro train, and the second engine forced the demolished mass against the third car of the local and completely wrecked it. In these two cars all but two of the fatalities occurred.

None of the cars of the express were thrown from the track, and the collision apparently had little effect upon those in them. The passengers stated afterward that the shock was comparatively slight, especially in view of the rate of speed at which the train was travelling.

THE SCENE OF HORROR.

Within two minutes following the crash the scene of ruin was transformed to one of added horrors. From the firebox of the battered engine, the engineer and fireman of which already lay dead in the tangled heap, flames communicated to the wreckage of the passenger coaches, and a number of passengers, who had been pinned by broken fragments of the woodwork, perished. Some of the passengers had evidently been killed instantly, but just how many escaped death in this way could not be told last night. The second car of the local train remained standing on the irons and was greatly damaged. The engine of this train escaped the wreck.

Passengers from both trains, railroad employes, and a number of villagers rushed to the wrecked cars and assisted many persons to escape. The flames made it difficult to reach some who were alive, but who evidently had been unable to free themselves from the mass. For the time it was necessary to lay the injured side by side with several bodies of the dead, until every effort possible had been made to rescue the victims.

FATAL FREIGHT WRECK.

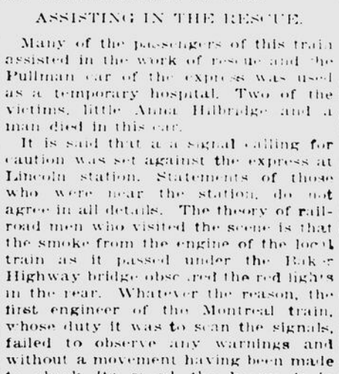

The Boston and Maine had a very unfortunate day on Sunday. In addition to the wreck near South Waterboo, Me., involving two freights, three employes were killed and two injured. The dead are: L. A. Hutchinson, Richard H. Proctor, fireman; Alfred A. Jeanette, brakeman. The trains in collision were a regular freight from Nashua, N.H., and a special freight from Portland, drawn by two engines. The special, it is understood had orders to pass the regular train at the station, and, supposing that the regular train had gone up on a siding for the special to pass, the engineers of the latter considered that they had a clear track. Only the engine and seven cars of the regular train had passed from the main track, however, when the double header made its appearance, and before it could be brought to a standstill the locomotive struck the regular train about the centre. The two engines and three cars of the special and six cars of the regular train were piled up in a great mass of wreckage. Both engineers of the special jumped when they saw their danger and escaped with slight injury. The two firemen, Hutchinson and Proctor and Brakeman Jeanette, who were riding in the cab of one of the engines, were unable to get out and were crushed beyond recognition.

FOG SO DENSE THAT THE SIGNALS WERE INVISIBLE

Lincoln, Mass., Nov. 27.—The most disastrous railroad wreck in this state for many years occurred at 8.15 o'clock last night at Baker's Bridge station, a mile and a half west of Lincoln, on the main line of the Fitchburg division of the Boston and Maine Railroad. The regular Sunday night express, which left Boston at 7.45 o'clock for Montreal, via Rutland system crashed into the rear of a local train which started from Boston at 7.15 for points on the main line and Marlboro branch.

At least fifteen persons were killed outright, burned to death or suffocated, and thirty or more were seriously injured. Many passengers sustained minor cuts, bruises and burns.

The wreck was primarily due to thick weather, which apparently obscured signals set by the forward train. The Montreal train, drawn by two locomotives, and consisting of nine cars, crashed into the rear of the local, demolishing the two rear cars. All of the passengers killed and seriously injured were in these.

CALM PIPING TIMES DOWN IN COLUMBIA

President Reyes Inspires Confidence in the People and Trade Will Prosper.

Mr. A. K. Maclean, M.P., for Lunenburg, N.S., who has just returned from Columbia that warm South American Republic, thinks that the regime of President Reyes has inspired general confidence among the people of the country, from the fact that there were no indications in any of the towns he visited of armed or political uprisings.

Columbia, though rich in agricultural and mineral resources is poor through lack of capital. Offset against this there is a general desire to see foreign capital come in. Mr. Maclean thinks the Bogota Government would afford due protection to invested capital.

A close study of conditions in Venezuela says Mr. Maclean would give one a little better opinion of President Castro than the opinion commonly in vogue.

While at the Isthmus Mr. Maclean found the new Republic of Panama in a tranquil state. The new canal is engaging the services of 10,000 men, but the outlook for completion is not radiant. The labor problem and the climate problem were creating difficulty. If a sea-level canal were in contemplation twenty years couldn't see the finish of the work, he was told. On a lock system the work could be put through much more rapidly.

KINGSTON FACTORIES WANT EXEMPTION.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The Locomotive Works Company and the Hosiery Mill Company are asking that by-laws be submitted to the ratepayers granting their concerns exemption for twenty years, both in view of big improvements to be made. The request will likely be complied with. The locomotive company says it will spend $50,000 each in 1906 and 1907 and $100,000 in 1908, and will increase its space by seventy per cent. The Hosiery Company, not in the Canadian syndicate of mills, will spend $100,000 to keep up with business demands.

PLANTS AND NITROGEN.

It has been known now for some time that many of the higher plants depend to a large extent on the lower for their supplies of nitrogen. On the roots of the kidney bean and other leguminous plants numerous little tuber-like growths may be seen. These are caused by nitrogen-fixing bacteria, and the fixed nitrogen is afterwards used by the plant. Mr. G. T. Moore, of the United States Department of Agriculture, makes some important additions to our knowledge of the subject. He finds that if grown in nitrogenous media, these bacteria lose their power of fixing nitrogen, and also of infecting leguminous plants, while in non-nitrogenous media they retain both these properties. This probably explains the previous failure of the attempts to supply cultures of the organisms to be used by growers. Mr. Moore, however, has devised a method by which cultures of one of these nitrogen-fixing bacteria can be put up and distributed. They are grown in nitrogen-free media, and dried on cotton wool immersed in the culture. These are sent out along with packages of nutrient salts. The grower who wishes to use them must first make a culture with the materials provided, and then use this to inoculate the soil.

IF YOU SUFFER

From Germ Troubles, Please Learn What Liquozone Can Do.

Thousands who were sick—like you, perhaps—are well to-day because of Liquozone. Many had doctored long. Many were discouraged because other treatments had failed. But they were treating germ diseases with remedies which do not kill germs.

We offered to buy them a bottle of Liquozone—just as we offer you. They did with it what other remedies failed to accomplish. And those countless cured ones—scattered everywhere—are now telling others what Liquozone has done.

Kills Disease Germs.

Contact with Liquozone kills any form of disease germ, because germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body Liquozone is not only harmless, but helpful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poisons when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Liquozone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gases. They are generated from the best producers of oxygen, sulphur dioxide and other germicidal gases. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. The object is to so fix the gases, and to combine them, as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide.

We purchased the American rights to Liquozone after thousands of tests had been made with it. Its power had been proved, again and again, in the most difficult germ diseases. Then, we offered to supply the first bottle free in every disease that required it. And over one million dollars have been spent to announce and fulfil this offer.

The result is that 11,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly in the past two years. To-day there are countless cured ones, scattered everywhere, to tell what Liquozone has done.

But so many others need it that this offer is published still. In the last few years, science has traced scores of diseases to germ attacks. Old remedies do not apply to them. We wish to show those sick ones at our cost what Liquozone can do.

Where It Applies.

These are the diseases in which Liquozone has been most employed. In these it has earned its widest reputation. In all of these troubles we supply the first bottle free. And in all—no matter how difficult—we offer each user a two months' further test without the risk of a penny.

Asthma	Goitre—Gout
Abscess—Anaemia	Gonorrhea—Gleet
Bronchitis	Hay Fever—Influenza

THE COMBINE REVELATIONS.

Perhaps the most interesting feature about this exposure of the Hardy combines is the way it is being handled by the press.

The news about it is coming out through the medium of only three or four papers. The Toronto Star, and to a less extent the News, give the matter the prominence its national importance has seemed to The Herald to demand. The Toronto World started in well, and then broke off. The Globe calls for the prompt abolition of a multitude of tariff duties. The Conservative press, including, if we may, the Montreal Star and Gazette, ignore the business altogether.

Obviously, the news of the matter is not to be, cannot be, forever ignored by the high protectionist press, for if Mr. Curry's prosecutions, and those now being instituted in Hamilton, do not catch the news editors' eyes, there is now the practical certainty of an investigation under oath at the instance of the Dominion Government, or of Parliament.

Neither will the Globe's remedy do, for, bad and all as the thing is, to suddenly withdraw all tariff protection would be certain to hurt so many innocent people that such a resort, on a grand scale, is quite impracticable. Besides, there is the revenue to be considered, as Mr. Fielding always says.

The marrow of the revelations is—and that no doubt accounts for the high protection papers being stricken dumb—the proof that there is no virtue whatever in the claim, which we have heard made during so many years, that, given a high enough tariff internal competition would keep down prices. The fact now coming out is that, having been given the tariff protection desired, internal combination is keeping up prices. Mr. Hardy's glue pot has done its work so perfectly that there is not a shred of the old argument left.

What is required, in the circumstances, is not hasty action, as the Globe suggests, nor a general recourse to blinders, after the example of the high tariff advocates, but simply an investigation, under oath, to see just what it all amounts to. After that Parliament can act.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP AND CORRUPTION.

There was one suggestive point in the interview with Professor Bemis, the expert selected by the municipal council to report upon the gas question, which appeared in Saturday's Herald, that deserves more than passing attention. It was the theory that the extension of the principle of municipal ownership of public utilities will have a purifying effect upon municipal life because it will remove the corrupting influences of corporations whose properties will become absorbed in the civic estate.

One of the strongest arguments advanced against municipal ownership by those who are favorably disposed to the principle, but who regard introduction with misgiving, has been the belief that it would lessen the standard of efficiency in the service rendered to the public, and another deterrent influence has been the dread that it would furnish new opportunities for civic plunder. In Glasgow and other centres, where municipal ownership has been carried to the farthest limits, the most thorough investigation by competent experts has failed to discover deterioration in the quality of service as compared with that given in cities where the like utilities are in the hands of private capitalists. Aldermen are not so foolish as to undertake the practical details themselves, but secure the services of trained and qualified officials which are always available. The question of corruption is, however, left untouched by municipalization progress in Great Britain, for the canker had never seriously eaten into the municipal fabric in Great Britain.

Here from Prof. Bemis comes the cheering assurance that by removing the prime cause of corruption we may look for higher ideals, better impulses, and consequently the elevation of civic life to a loftier plane. The contention is certainly interesting. How far its correctness will be demonstrated by the practical application of the principle, which is certainly making great headway both in Canada and the United States, we shall no doubt see in due course. Certainly experience has shown that in many cities where large corporations own valuable municipal franchises corruption is rampant. It is not alone that the companies themselves that own the franchises are continually on the outlook for opportunities of planting their roots more firmly in the civic soil—for securing a stronger grip in the form of extensions and obtaining fresh concessions that make their properties more profitable, and are ready to give bribes to whoever will help them to accomplish their ends, but the aldermen find many ways of bleeding the corporations by bringing forward regulations and by-laws and sometimes legislation that they know to be repugnant, vexatious and injurious to the corporations if carried into effect. Thus between the noxious effects of these two influences the cauldron of impurity is kept in a ferment. The remedy, of course, lies in the selection of the best citizens for public office. This is to be obtained by the cultivation of a high spirit of municipal patriotism in the community. The question is will the municipalization of public utilities give better opportunity for the promotion of these ideals or will it multiply opportunities for the enrichment of the individual at the public expense and create and perpetuate new forms of corruption?

MACKENZIE AND MANN.

William Mackenzie and Dan Mann have every right to feel proud of the work which was crowned the other day by the driving of a silver spike at Edmonton. Mackenzie and Mann are big men, or they would not have undertaken and succeeded at the work they have now carried to the completion of its first stage. It seems only the other day that the two men, in their quiet way, announced their intention of building a line direct from Winnipeg to Edmonton. There has not been much noise about it since, and now the work is done. A vast area has been opened up for settlement, another vast area, already sparsely settled, has been provided with facilities for the transportation of products. Incidentally, a road has been constructed from Winnipeg eastward to Lake Superior, where, at Port Arthur, their company is preparing to handle not only the wheat of the Edmonton district, but vast quantities of westward moving coal and eastward moving iron ore. Such a work as that they have done entitles the partners to rank with the big railway strategists of our day. Their claim to that rank will be still further made manifest when later developments make evident, as they are bound to, the quality of the foresight they have displayed at Port Arthur, Winnipeg and Edmonton.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Mr. W. F. Maclean is getting it from all quarters of the compass for the beating his candidate received in North York. The Conservatives are more jubilant than the Liberals. But, to give the devil his due, there was one feature about the Conservative end of the North York election not discernible in the others, and that was the fighting quality introduced by Mr. Maclean. The Conservatives are short on that commodity.

Rev. Dr. Warden, who has just died after a long illness, exemplified, in his capacity as clergyman, financier and church diplomatist, those qualities of the Scotsman which command the admiration of all men. The business agent of the Presbyterian Church in Canada was a strong man who preferred to exercise his strength where there were few to remark it. As always happens, however, his work and his abilities were remarked, for all that, as his selection for the high office of Moderator abundantly proved.

Professor Hewins, after leaving Montreal, went to New York, where he met Sir Alfred Moseley. There the two visited the headquarters of the American Protective Tariff League, where, under the guidance of the president and a member of the managing board, they made a careful note of the methods adopted by that organization. No doubt what they learned will be applied when they get home. And no doubt Canadians, who have once or twice been saved from national humiliation by the existence of the open market of Great Britain, will be called upon, by those who are about equally devoted to Mr. Chamberlain's policy and Mr. Hardy's glue pot, to rejoice at the prospect of the British market being made like unto that of the United States.

It may have struck some people as rather curious that a number of Canadian manufacturers, when they appeared before the Tariff Commission, had apparently divested themselves entirely of that interest in preferential trade of which, outside, they are so enamored. None of them could tell Mr. Fielding what were the items of British production on which the duties might be lowered. Neither did one of them hesitate to ask that the raw materials of his own industry should be placed on the free list, at which rate of entry, of course, preference ceases to be. In all the hearings before the commission there has not been one suggestion made by a Canadian manufacturer to show how British trade might be given an advantage in the Canadian market; and yet the people want British trade to have an advantage, and Britain's present willingness to take everything we have to sell, when other countries reject our advances, entitles her to handsome treatment.

In a Russian "Wagon-Lit."

"Some days before our departure from Moscow for Nizhni Novgorod we had booked tickets for places in a sleeping car," writes a traveller. "There were two of us, and by booking berths in time we hoped not only to avoid trouble in obtaining places but to insure a night's rest in the 'waggon-lit.' We were en route for the famous and always unspeakably interesting 'Bolshaya Yarmaka,' that great fair at Nizhni which is absolutely without rival in the whole world of periodical commercial exhibitions. I had been cherishing some degree of apprehension as to what might happen at the 'Nijegorodsky Vokzal,' or station of the line which runs by Vladimir to Nizhni Novgorod. My worst fears were realized. Many people were going to Nizhni Novgorod. And I wondered how many might have booked for the first-class carriages, and whether many would make a rush to capture the berths in the 'waggon-lit.' So I somewhat heavily tipped the most intelligent-looking official I could find, showed him our two numbered tickets and engaged him to see that we were able to appropriate them.

"Suddenly the doors of the waiting saloon were flung open and there was a wild stampede. A big squad of most respectable Russian passengers made a rush for the sleeping cars. If all the berths were not booked they would seek to occupy them, although only possessed of ordinary first-class tickets, and they might be allowed to do so by the expedient of a small bribe quietly administered to the guard. I have never seen a wilder scrimmage than the fight that ensued. The passengers with numbered tickets had booked up all the seats for the night's journey. But our man had to shout, push, strike right and left, to hurl out two invaders who had stormed our places and to back hard against others who elbowed their way along the carriage corridors before the way was clear and we could reach the places to which we had a right.

"What can be the matter with Russia? What can be the real cause of her troubles?" These are questions which thousands of people are asking. The little incident I have described suggests the accurate answer. Absolute carelessness as to administration is typical of the management of all public affairs. 'Nichevo' (no matter) is the word most constantly heard on native lips. Nobody cares."

LIFE AND LABOR

Pay Up Like a Man.

A subscription list on behalf of the Montreal General Hospital went the rounds of an industrial establishment recently, and a goodly total sum was realized. But when one averaged it up, the amount was less than fifty cents per head. Some gave willingly, some grudgingly, some because others gave, and some for various other reasons. But of those who gave willingly, how many would take the trouble to hand over their donation if any trouble were attached? How many would go out of their way to do it, or even think of it? It is worth the workman's while to ponder this, each for himself. Fifty cents does not pay—or barely pays—for an average cab drive to the hospital. Take a glance at the ambulance service alone. From the time the accident occurs until skilled surgical aid is at hand is but a few minutes, and then conveyance to the hospital in comparative comfort and with all necessary and cautious speed. To subscribe to such a cause is part of every man's duty, and every opportunity to do so should be welcomed. And in justice to the hospital the opportunities should be enlarged, the practice more encouraged. In the great army of workers, no one knows who may be the next victim; some are wounded every day. You may be next. Pay up like a man while you are yet able.

Talk to the Boys!

Only the most unreasonable of grown-ups look for incipient sprouting of angels pinions under the arm-pits of the schoolboy. It may be a very desirable thing to have golden-haired goodness in petticoats. Or it may not. But the average man of the world is apt to look with a strong suspicion on male youth when it is, or rather pretends to be "good."

While this is so it is decreed by the men and women of the age who foot the bills and are responsible for things generally, that the boys keep within certain bounds; that they do not allow their "freshness" to stray too far over the border of right into the broad mileage of wrong. The temptations may be many and strong, but a limit has to be observed, or trouble must be introduced by those set on authority's seat.

When the youth of a generation set out on mischief, it is usually the case they extract some kind of entertainment from the proceedings.

To the senior it may not appeal as being worth a cent as fun; but the small boy who conducts the performance for himself and his comrades, may figure it out better than a circus. These spasms of amusement differ in form, just as boys of an age differ from each other in the color of their hair and the upturning of the nose, but if St. Henri has on its list any more of the brand of fun-originators as the three presently held by the police of the city, it is more than time the fathers had looked out another and a more impressive system of home correction.

What possible amusement can be got from the wholesale breakage of axle-box covers on railway cars, it would surely be difficult even for the boys themselves to explain, and as it is impossible even to make a guess at the pieces of iron, or other hard cutting object, served amongst the lubricating matter of an axle, it cannot fail to bring disaster at some stage of a journey, and is one of the serious dangers of railway travel.

Perhaps it might help the lads in their efforts to abide by the advice, if it be pointed out that there may be a fourteen years term in the pen behind any breakaway from this particular path of duty! —Roxburgh.

Commerce and Nature.

Possibly the materialistic tendency of this age is evidenced in no more regrettable form than in the turning to commercial uses of many of our natural beauties. Even the enterprising advertiser, who places his sign board in the midst of some pretty rural scenery, or paints in glaring letters the merits of his wares in some of the wilds of nature visited by tourists and nature-lovers, although he taxes to the limit the patience of those who appreciate the beauty of a landscape more than the curative properties of some patent nostrum, yet even he is but a mild offender as compared to the one who is not satisfied at injuring the beauty, but stops at nothing less than its complete destruction.

The agitation which has been strenuously carried on to save the beauty of that unrivalled natural wonder, Niagara Falls, from the fiends of commercialism has had no effect. The fact that American tourists leave Quebec bewailing the loss of seeing those once beautiful falls of Montmorenci in their original beauty, and as they were seen by the first settlers in this country, has no significance to any one in particular. And the knowledge, to the majority of people, that all the streams and falls and fairy lands of our Province are being harnessed as soon as discovered, for commercial purposes, does not cause them to raise even the faintest of protests. And the news that continually comes from the West of its commercial development seldom suggests the question as to whether serious consideration is being given to the preservation of as many of its natural beauties as is possible.

It may not be the next generation, or even the one following, but the time will come when the children or grandchildren of this commercial age will regret that we built not wisely, but too well.

Electric Fan Destroys Mosquitoes.

(F. W. Arnold in American Medicine.)

Having noticed recently a suggestion of trapping mosquitoes by inducing them to deposit their eggs where they and the resulting larvae may be dealt with, I beg leave to submit the following suggestion, which I hope may be of some slight use in the prevailing yellow fever crisis: The common electric fan frequently kills mosquitoes, hence it may, I think, be made a factor in preserving public health at this juncture. I noticed immediately upon installing a fan in my quarters at Cavite, P. I., in 1902, that it killed numerous mosquitoes every night, besides preventing them from attacking me while I was able to endure its direct blast. Later on I had some reason to think that dead mosquitoes were not so numerous as they had been, although live ones seemed numerous enough, in all conscience. But I found by spreading a sheet upon the floor that the fan's effectiveness was as great as when first set up, the white surface enabling me to see the dead insects more easily than otherwise. It had occurred to me that they might have acquired in a short time the ability to avoid injury from it that birds soon learn after telegraph wire invade their territory.

Almost every one must have seen or heard of birds killing themselves by flying against such wires when they were first put up, yet such an occurrence soon becomes quite exceptional. But, as I have intimated, I think that I overestimated mosquito intelligence. Hence I presume to suggest the employment of electric fans (the larger they are, probably, the better) in all infected mosquito districts. These fans might be increased in insectide power by placing flat and shallow pans containing cheap oil in front of them. I take it that every aid in such riddances will be welcomed.

LORD KITCHENER'S LOVE STORY.

Referring to the various rumors of the engagement of Lord Kitchener, M.A.P. gives what it describes as the only authentic love-story of the hero of Khartoum. It was in his youth, but has never been told in print before. Away down the Bayswater Road, near Lancaster Gate, is a well-known fashionable church, the walls of which listened to the love-story told by the stern-faced soldier of to-day. The young officer's companion was a beautiful, fair-haired girl. The two had grown up together, so to speak. Wiseacres had remarked the growing affection betwen the two, and the young man's persistent attendance on the beautiful debutante, who had been his playmate, but who had many other admirers. The lovely girl refused the young subaltern, and soon after married one of his rivals. Her brilliant beauty flashed over Indian society for a couple of seasons, but her marriage was unhappy, and the Divorce Court annulled it. London society has since been at her feet; and she was named among other brilliant and beautiful women as the supposed author of "An Englishwoman's Love Letters."

The Village Hampden

Some village Hampden that with dauntless breast
The little tyrant of his fields withstood,
Some mute inglorious Milton here may rest,
Some Cromwell guiltless of his country's blood.

Are there village Hampdens, and Miltons and Cromwells? Are there men with the brains, the astuteness of statesmen,—the hearts, the inspiration of poets,—the conscience, the indomitable courage of reformers,—who are living, who have lived and died, in obscurity because of a lack of opportunity?

There are many who believe so, believe that genius is the child of opportunity, the child of fortune, the child of kindly fate; believe that thousands of great men are born, but that environment and adversity nip that greatness in the bud.

Years ago they believed in village Hampdens, and Miltons and Cromwells, who if education had enlightened them, and opportunity been kind to them, would have become great statesmen, poets and reformers. Today we educate these possible Hampdens and Miltons and Cromwells, and yet in this age when we need great statesmen, they are very few; when we wait expectantly for a great poet, he does not come; when evils are crying for reformers, the cry is in vain. Universal opportunity does not seem to have increased our product of geniuses.

The history of the world is a history of great men, of men who have been instrumental in building nations, in inspiring thought, in making great discoveries, and in every instance the secret of their genius has been, neither in kindly fortune nor favoring opportunity, but in indomitable will. What other than unswerving purpose gave to the world out of the years of suffering and blunders, Milton's great poem? Dante's "Divine Comedy" was written when he was an exile, and comparatively friendless; misfortune was his opportunity. What but his fearless, unflinching determination, made Europe tremble at the personality of Napoleon? What but the indomitable purpose of a Peter the Great, welded Russia into an empire? What power held Savonarola, that Florence trembled at his voice, save the power of indomitable will? It is the keynote of the power of all great men, men such as Columbus, Galileo, Michael Angelo, Titian, Newton, Bacon, Bach, Carlyle, Blucher, Davy, Beethoven, Bunyan, Washington, Luther, Audubon, Darwin, Peel, Faraday, Wagner, Keats, Flaxman, Parkman, Stephenson, Wellington, Franklin, and hundreds of others, whose biographies are one long story of courage, ambition, untiring energy, and surmounted difficulties.

Nothing but sheer will power makes a genius of a man. Greatness of personality may be accentuated by environment, but environment cannot create it, and environment cannot extinguish it. If a man is a Hampden, a Milton or a Cromwell, he cannot remain in obscurity.

Some one has recently contended that there are no "self-made" men to-day. They are educated, have the oppotunity to follow any desired end, and assistance is forthcoming to nearly all ambitious and deserving youth. This may be true, and still not change the fact that the impetus for a man's advancement comes from within himself, and no amount of applied educational assistance can claim the credit of making a man. History does not change. If a man becomes great to-day he has to draw on his own strength of endurance, on his own courage to overcome difficulties, on his own determination, as every man of marked personality before him. To be of use to the world he must be a "self-made" man. If there is such a thing as greatness in obscurity, it is greatness without motive power, and of what use to the world is genius inactive?

The dynamic energy of the worlds of thought and action, in whatever department—research, invention, inspiration or artistic conception, is will-power. What is needed is personality which can intelligently utilize it.

—Francis Daor.

A "Bridge" That Can Only be Reached by Water.

The tendency in American towns and cities to make "improvements," whether they are needed or not, in order to "keep things doing," is admirably illustrated in Chicago, where a "hermit" bridge has just been opened. This structure, according to the Tribune of that city, cost $18,000. It crosses the Calumet River, and is supposed to furnish passage for waggons, though it stands in the midst of a desolate swamp tract, two miles from any road or thoroughfare. At the north approach mud and weeds make an impassable barrier, on the south a ditch, filled with water, ten feet deep and twenty feet wide, shuts the traveller away from the bridge. As the Tribune explains, "the bridge is at the imaginary intersection of Torrence Avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street, one hundred feet west of the Western Indiana Railway tracks. Nowhere in the vicinity are there any houses, factories, or streets. The only way of approach to the bridge is by boat up the Calumet River from South Chicago. Hegewisch is two miles to the south on the Western Indiana Railway. What the structure was built for, and who paid for it, seems to be a mystery. At the City Hall no one seemed to know much about the 'improvement'; at South Chicago little explanation was offered for its presence in the swamp. Work upon it was begun last July. Each span is equipped with a hand windlass, which is to be turned by one bridge-tender."

NOT DESIRABLE.

A school preacher ought to be able to indulge a vein of gentle satire; he ought to be able to make boys ashamed of their absurd conventionalism; he ought to give the impression that because he is a Christian he is none the less a man of the world in the right sense. He ought not to uphold what, for want of a better word, I will call a feminine religion, a religion of painted choir-boys and exemplary deathbeds. A boy does not want to be gentle, meek and mild, and I fear I cannot say that it is to be desired that he should.

NORDHEIMER'S AND THE CHRISTMAS PIANO

It is not too soon to take up the matter of this important purchase. A Piano should be selected when you have ample time to make comparisons of different instruments, and the best decisions are going to be made by those who make selections early.

The NORDHEIMER STORE offers to Montreal people a selection of instruments which is unknown anywhere else in the city, and the prices are the lowest consistent with the goods represented, and the terms are within the reach of every family.

PEACEFUL OLD AGE.

Old age is no doubt a time of peace, if other people will only let one alone, but it is that kind of peace which is reared in solitude, a frank acknowledgment that what interests the majority of people around one no longer concerns the man whose face [illegible] a very material period of life, where such desires as still survive are occupied mainly with material objects—repose and eating, and the means of securing a good digestion. Nor is it easy for the old man to avoid a certain selfishness. He makes, sometimes, as King Lear did, a greedy and impossible claim on other people's consideration, which, naturally, [illegible]

MINNEAPOLIS GETS A.F. OF L. MEETING

Gompers Re-elected With Only Two Dissenting Voices

Pittsburg, Nov. 27. The silver anniversary convention of the American Federation of Labor adjourned on Saturday to meet next year in Minneapolis on a date not yet set. Samuel Gompers, of Washington, D.C., was re-elected president by practically a unanimous vote, only two votes having been cast against him. The retirement of Thomas I. Kidd, as fifth vice-president, advanced the candidates behind that office, and all who were candidates for re-election were successful, but Eighth Vice-president W. R. Spencer, of Dayton, Ohio, who was defeated for the seventh vice-presidency by W. D. Huber, of Indianapolis, Ind., Joseph F. Valentine, of Cincinnati, Ohio, was the only new officer elected, defeating W. D. Mahon, of Detroit, and James H. Wilson, of New York, were chosen to represent the federation at the British Trades and Labor Congress, and Thomas A. Rickert, of New York, was elected to attend the Canadian Labor Congress. Upon the announcement of the election of President Gompers, Delegate Barnes, of Chicago, made an attempt to present a resolution declaring Mr. Gompers unfair. He was loudly hissed. The chair refused to accept the resolution and ruled that delegates objecting to the reelection should present their objections in writing to the secretary. The convention just closed is said to have been the most important and successful ever held by the federation.

FOUR CANDIDATES WILL BE RECOMMENDED

For the Appointment to the Principalship of Edward Murphy School.

The appointment of the principal of the Edward Murphy School will again come up before the Board of Catholic School Commissioners to-morrow evening. Out of fifteen candidates eligible among the English-speaking teachers nine sent in applications for the position. The school committee have recommended four of the nine. They are Profs. J. J. McGuire, Montcalm School, J. J. McCullen, Belmont School, W. J. Brennan, Olier School, and D. S. Malone, Catholic Commercial Academy, the last named being a graduate of the Jacques Cartier Normal School. It is likely that two more candidates will be proposed by members of the board, and several votes will be taken before the successful candidate is chosen.

WIPING OUT CANADA CYCLE STOCK.

Toronto, November 27. (Special.) The reorganization of the capital stock of the Canada Cycle and Motor Company has been confirmed by the Government. The plant differs in size from that originally proposed, the capital stock being decreased only to $800,000 instead of to $600,000, and the par value of the shares being placed at $50 instead of $20. All the common and all the treasury and non-issued preferred stock of the company is cancelled, as well as $900,000 issued preference stock, which certain bondholders have relinquished.

ONLY A Common Cold

BUT IT BECOMES A SERIOUS MATTER IF NEGLECTED. PNEUMONIA, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH or CONSUMPTION IS THE RESULT.

Get rid of it at once by taking

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Obstinate coughs yield to its grateful soothing action, and in the racking, persistent cough, often present in Consumptive cases, it gives prompt and sure relief. In Asthma and Bronchitis it is a successful remedy, rendering breathing easy and natural, enabling the sufferer to enjoy refreshing sleep, and often effecting a permanent cure.

We do not claim that it will cure Consumption in the advanced stages, but if taken in time it will prevent it reaching that stage, and will give the greatest relief to the poor sufferer from this terrible malady.

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark.

Mr. Wm. O. Jenkins, Spring Lake, Alta., writes: "I had a very bad cold settled on my lungs. I bought two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup but it only required one to cure me. I have never met with any other medicine as good."

Price 25 cts., at all dealers.

TEACHING THE MANDOLIN.

The Peate School of Music has recently been opened at 2454 St. Catherine street. The head of the school, Mr. George A. Peate, is an accomplished and highly successful mandolin soloist, both as a teacher and as an entertainer. Great success has attended the Peate schools in Kingston and Ottawa. There is a staff of seven teachers, who devote all their time to the one instrument, the mandolin. A special offer of small and easy payments is made to the earlier students.

An English druggist gives the following list of blunders made by his poorer customers. "Catch an eel," for cochineal. "prosperous paste," for phosphorous paste. "grease it," for creosote. "fishy water," for Vichy water. "guitar," for catarrh, and "everlasting" for effervescing.

LET YOUR STOMACH HAVE ITS OWN WAY.

Do Not Try to Drive and Force it to Work When it is Not Able or You Will Suffer All the More.

You cannot treat your stomach as some men treat a balky horse: force, drive or even starve it into doing work at which it rebels. The stomach is a patient and faithful servant and will stand much abuse and ill treatment before it "balks," but when it does you had better go slow with it and not attempt to make it work. Some people have the mistaken idea that they can make their stomachs work by starving themselves. They might cure the stomach that way, but it would take so long that they would have no use for a stomach when they got through. The sensible way out of the difficulty is to let the stomach rest if it wants to and employ a substitute to do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work of your stomach for you and digest your food just as your stomach used to when it was well. You can prove this by putting your food in a glass jar with one of the tablets and sufficient water and you will see the food digested in just the same time as the digestive fluids of the stomach would do it. That will satisfy your mind. Now, to satisfy both your mind and body take one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating—eat all and what you want—and you will feel in your mind that your food is being digested because you will feel no disturbance or weight in your stomach. In fact, you will forget all about having a stomach just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act in a natural way because they contain only the natural elements of the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach. It makes no difference what condition the stomach is in, they go right ahead of their own accord and do their work. They know their business and surrounding conditions do not influence them in the least. They thus relieve the weak stomach of all its burdens and give it its much needed rest and permit it to become strong and healthy.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine. In fact, physicians are prescribing them all over the land, and if your own doctor is real honest with you, he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

HERALD DAILY PATTERN

A STYLISH COAT

Pattern No. 1234. Sizes 12 to 16 Years.

One of the most useful garments ever devised is the adaptable long coat, and it has grown to be an indispensible part of a schoolgirl's outfit. For stormy days they are the most perfect protection possible made from etavenette and worn with a sweater under them (and they are quite loose enough to do this comfortably) while they are also most convenient for "travelling rnd for general service when made from one of the many cloaking. Our model can be made up either with or without the cape shown and stitching is the only decoration needed. It makes the jauntiest little coats possible for school wear and helps to carry out the effect of simplicity that is so desirable in dressing young girls. For a girl 14 years old 4¾ yards of material 44 inches wide will be required. The pattern, No. 1234, is cut in sizes for girls from 12 to 16 years of age, and may be obtained, postpaid, by sending ten cents, the number and size desired, and the name and address to The Fashion Department of this paper.

MR. MAGE RESUMES EAST END MEETINGS

The Only Interruption Came From Youth Who Was Ejected

"Dogs bark but the caravan goes on," quoted Evangelist Mage at the conclusion of his address last night in the East End.

The French Presbyterian, whose hall on Maisonneuve Street has been closed by Building Inspector Chausse as being unsafe, spoke to a fairly large gathering in St. John's Church, corner of St. Catherine and Cadieux Streets. The only interruption came from a noisy youth who was promptly invited to transfer himself to the open air. This he was not too willing to do, and after an attempt to assault Rev. Mr. Amaron, pastor of the church, he was ejected by a constable.

In the course of his address Mr. Mage said his hall had been closed by the enforcement of a law that had till now been allowed to lie dormant, but he had not given it up. The premises were now being repaired to the demands of the building inspector and meetings would be resumed there shortly.

The evangelist also made reference to certain attacks that had been made upon him by certain newspapers. These papers had accused him of being an atheist and free-thinker, and if the writers would only come before his face and speak out their minds, he would answer them. He did not care to seek vindication through the press.

COULD EMIGRATE 250,000 YEARLY

General Booth Tells of the Growth of Applicants and Future Possibilities

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, Nov. 27. The Salvation Army announces that the publicity given to General Booth's emigration scheme has had an extraordinary effect on the number of applicants at the Salvation Army emigration offices. At a low estimate this year's total applications will represent families totalling 70,000 souls. General Booth is convinced that he could transfer 250,000 persons yearly for the next ten years to the colonies without disturbing the labor market at home.

ROSEBERY AND PROTECTION.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, Nov. 27. Lord Rosebery, in the last speech of his tour in Cornwall said the only plan yet given for cementing the Empire was the taxation of the primary articles of food in the Mother Country. What we have to receive in return from the colonies has never yet been told by any human being. Until a draft of the plan is produced in some business-like form, which has received the assent of all parties, the plan for founding the Empire on protection is no nearer now than it was two years ago.

CANADA AND AUSTRALIA.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, Nov. 27.—A Melbourne Chronicle despatch reads: "The Commonwealth Government is fencing with Canada's overtures for preferential trade. Sir William Lyne, Federal Minister of Trade and Customs, has advised Premier Deakin to write to Sir Wilfrid Laurier asking the latter to indicate the special lines on which the Dominion wants preference. The truth is Australians cannot afford to allow Dominion machinery a preference in the Australian market.

CANADIAN FRUIT EXHIBIT.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, Nov. 27.—Canada will be largely represented at the exhibition of colonial-grown fruit, under the auspices of the Royal Horticultural Society, to be held December 5 and 6.

BUSINESS EXCURSIONS TO MEXICO.

The trade interests between Canada and Mexico are growing more interesting every day. Great capitalists are casting their eyes towards that country and the actual and possible developments are, to say the least, important. The G.T.R. system are alert for business and with a far-seeing eye for freight and passengers, they are at present showing some interest in the land of Mexico, by the organization of excursions known as merchants' excursions or outings. This idea has emanated from the passenger department originally, but it would appear from the broad horizon of the scheme that it is for trade development almost entirely. The idea is to get a certain number of prominent merchants identified with large interests in Canada to visit that land about which so much has been written in the papers, and there to see for themselves what there is for Canadian products. It is generally surmised from observant ones that the Government of the Dominion would not be averse to assisting such a plan and then, too, there are many newspaper men who would no doubt accompany such an excursion and the press of two continents would hear of the step. The idea would appear practical as far as Canadian business men are concerned. An effort was made to see Mr. Bell, of the G.T.R., yesterday, but he was away in Toronto where these journeys have gained a strong nucleus and he was said to be returning to Montreal on Sunday morning. No doubt a group of prominent Montreaders are ready to join in the outing.

DARING ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK.

Bridgeburg, Ont., November 27.—A daring attempt was made to rob the Bridgeburg branch of the Traders' Bank Friday morning. At least five men, and probably more, were engaged in the attempt and that they were unsuccessful is largely due to the pluck of the two clerks who sleep in the building. According to the story of Charles Young, one of the clerks, he was awakened by a light from a bull's eye lantern shining through the front window. He immediately drew his revolver, and fired at the light. He was answered by a shot from the outside. Young fired four times more, emptying his revolver, and W. A. Simister, the teller, came to his assistance. They were answered by a number of shots from the outside, and Young, who was in an exposed position, had a narrow escape from being hit. The neighborhood was now aroused, and the men made off.

The Hound of the Baskervilles

BY CONAN DOYLE

CHAPTER VII.—(Continued)

"You have introduced yourselves, I can see."

"Yes. I was telling Sir Henry that it was rather late for him to see the true beauties of the moor."

"Why, who do you think this is?"

"I imagine that it must be Sir Henry Baskerville."

"No, no," said I. "Only a humble commoner, but his friend. My name is Dr. Watson."

A flush of vexation passed over her expressive face. "We have been talking at cross purposes," said she.

"Why, you had not very much time to talk," his brother remarked, with the same questioning eyes.

"I talked as if Dr. Watson were a resident instead of being merely a visitor," said she. "It cannot much matter to him whether it is early or late for the orchids. But you will come on, will you not, and see Merripit House?"

A short walk brought us to it, a bleak moorland house, once the farm of some grazier in the old prosperous days, but now in need of repair and truer to the moods of the place, which was wild and rugged and melancholy. We were admitted by a strange wizened, rusty-coated old man servant, who seemed in keeping with the house. Inside, however, there were large rooms furnished with good taste. What I could see of it recalled the memory of the lady. As I looked from their windows at the interminable granite-scrolled moor rolling unbroken to the farthest horizon I could not but marvel at what could have brought this highly-educated man and this beautiful woman to live in such a place.

"Queer spot to choose, is it not?" said he, as if in answer to my thought. "And yet we manage to make ourselves fairly happy, do we not, Beryl?"

"Quite happy," said she, but there was no ring of conviction in her words.

"I had a school," said Stapleton. "It was in the north country. The work is a man of my temperament was mechanical and uninteresting, but the privilege of living with youth, of helping to mould those young minds, and of impressing them with one's own character and ideals, was very dear to me. However, the fates were against us. A serious epidemic broke out in the school and three of the boys died. It never recovered from the blow, and much of my capital was irretrievably swallowed up. And yet, if it were not for the loss of the charming companionship of the boys, I could rejoice over my own misfortune, for, with my strong tastes for botany and zoology, I find an unlimited field of work here, and my sister is as devoted to Nature as I am. All this, Dr. Watson, has been brought upon your head by your expression as you surveyed the moor out of our window."

"It certainly did cross my mind that it might be a little dull for you, perhaps, than for your sister."

"No, no, I am never dull," said she, quickly.

"We have books, we have our studies, and we have interesting neighbors. Dr. Mortimer is a most learned man in his own line. Poor Sir Charles was also an admirable companion. We know Cairn well, and miss him more than I can tell. Do you think that I should intrude if I were to call this afternoon and make the acquaintance of Sir Henry?"

"I am sure that he would be delighted."

"Then perhaps you would mention that I propose to do so. We may in our humble way do something to make things more easy for him until he becomes accustomed to his new surroundings. Will you come upstairs, Dr. Watson, and inspect a few rather rare specimens of lepidoptera? I think it is the most complete one in the southwest of England. By the time that you have looked through them lunch will be almost ready."

But I was eager to get back to my charge. The melancholy of the moor, the death of the unfortunate pony, the weird sound which had been associated with the grim legend of the Baskervilles, all these things tinged my thoughts with sadness. Then on the top of these more or less vague impressions there had come the definite and distinct warning of Miss Stapleton, delivered with such intense earnestness that I could not doubt that some grave and deep reason lay behind it. I resisted all pressure to stay for lunch, and I set off at once upon my return journey, taking the grass-grown path by which we had come.

It seems, however, that there must have been some short cut for those who knew it, for before I had reached the road I was astounded to see Miss Stapleton sitting upon a rock by the side of the track. Her face was beautifully flushed with her exertions, and she held her hand to her side.

"I have run all the way in order to cut you off, Dr. Watson," said she. "I had not even time to put on my hat. I must not stop, or my brother may miss me. I wanted to say to you how sorry I am about the stupid mistake I made in thinking that you were Sir Henry. Please forget the words I said, which have no application whatever to you."

"But I can't forget them, Miss Stapleton," said I. "I am Sir Henry's friend, and his welfare is a very close concern of mine. Tell me why it was that you were so eager that Sir Henry should return to London."

"A woman's whim. Dr. Watson. When you know me better you will understand that I cannot always give reasons for what I say or do."

"No, no. I remember the thrill in your voice. I remember the look in your eyes. Please, please, be frank with me, Miss Stapleton, for ever since I have been here I have been conscious of shadows all round me. Life has become like that great Grimpen Mire, with little green patches everywhere into which one may sink and with no guide to point the track. Tell me then what it was that you meant, and I will promise to convey your warning to Sir Henry."

An expression of irresolution passed for an instant over her face, but her eyes had hardened again when she answered me.

"You make too much of it, Dr. Watson," said she. "My brother and I were very much shocked by the death of Sir Charles. We knew him very intimately, for his favorite walk was over the moor to our house. He was deeply impressed with the curse which hung over his family, and when this tragedy came I naturally felt that there must be some grounds for the fears which he had expressed. I was distressed therefore when another member of the family came down to live here, and I felt that he should be warned of the danger which he will run. That was all which I intended to convey."

"But what is the danger?"

"You know the story of the hound?"

"I do not believe in such nonsense."

"But I do. If you have any influence with Sir Henry, take him away from a place which has always been fatal to his family. The world is wide. Why should he wish to live at the place of danger?"

"Because it is the place of danger. That is Sir Henry's nature. I fear that unless you can give me some more definite information than this it would be impossible to get him to move."

"I cannot say anything definite, for I do not know anything definite."

"I would ask you one more question, Miss Stapleton. If you meant no more than this when you first spoke to me, why should you not wish your brother to overhear what you said? There is nothing to which he or anyone else could object."

"My brother is very anxious to leave the Hall inhabited, for he thinks that it is for the good of the poor folk upon the moor. He would be very angry if he knew that I had said anything which might induce Sir Henry to go away. But I have done my duty now and I will say no more. I must get back, or he will miss me and suspect that I have seen you. Good-bye!" She turned, and had disappeared in a few minutes among the scattered boulders, while I, with my soul full of vague fears, pursued my way to Baskerville Hall.

R.C.G.A. MEN IN SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Quebec, November 27.—Gunner Thos. Hall, R.C.G.A., was shot and seriously wounded Sunday while at breakfast with his comrades at the citadel, and Gunner John Berry is under arrest at the central police station charged with the shooting. It appears that while the men were sitting at the breakfast table Berry pulled out a revolver and, without saying anything fired one shot at Hall, the ball lodging under the heart. Berry was going to fire a second shot when one of the artillery men seized his wrist, and the second shot went off, but did no further damage. The prisoner is a former member of the Munster Rifles, and only enlisted some three weeks ago, while Hall is said to be a deserter from the Empress squadron and came here from Montreal about a month ago. No reason is given for the shooting, and it is said that Berry does not possess all his senses.

SUDDEN DEATH OF TOWN CLERK

Brockville, Ont., November 26.—A sensation was created during service in St. Peter's Anglican Church by the sudden death of Geo. A. McMullen. His daughter was the presiding organist. As the notes of the "Amen" died away, Mr. McMullen sank in a heap and fell out upon the floor. Willing hands carried him into the vestry a few steps away, but ere he reached the room life was extinct. A doctor pronounced the cause of death heart failure. Deceased was born at Orillia over sixty years ago, and came to Brockville as a young man. He was connected with the Brockville Monitor and the James Hall Co., and at the time of his appointment as town clerk was a well known accountant. His widow and a family of three children two daughters and one son, survive. He was connected with the Masons, Oddfellows, A.O.U.W., Royal Arcanum and Sons of England.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST Homestead Regulations.

ANY even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for Patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST MINING REGULATIONS.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—A free miner's certificate is granted upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1,500 x 1,500 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made, and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 an acre.

The patent provides for the payment of a royalty of 2½ per cent. on the sales.

Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee $5, renewable yearly.

A free miner may obtain two leases to dredge for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent. collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Yale's Eleven Defeated Crimsons in Giant Battle

Old Eli Won Annual Match by 6 to 0 After Most Exciting Gridiron Contest in American History—43,000 Spectators Viewed the Struggle

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 25.—Yale, a five to one favorite, defeated Harvard at the Stadium to-day by a score of 6 to 0. Forty-three thousand people witnessed the game, the largest attendance in the history of American football.

Fair for a fumble by a Harvard player near the close of the second half, the contest would probably have resulted as three of the same kind in 1897 and 1899, when neither side scored. With the ball on Yale's forty-yard line, Hayt pushed to Nichols, who had just taken his position at left half back as substitute for Foster. Nichols caught the ball juggled it and finally let it fall. The next to last Shevlin, captain of the Blues, tore through and fell on the ball on Harvard's thirty-two yard line.

Yale played like a swarm of fiends. They tackled and rushed and harassed the bruised and battered and hurdled. But were down their rushes and had to be replaced. Montgomery, Neare and Hoyt came in for Corbin, Hall-Brown, Hackett and Foster.

Yale was threatened for a time, with the ball only yards from her goal, and worked it into Harvard territory. There were good plays, many of them, for but they did not count on the score board. Ball was on Yale's forty-two yard line and Yale's cheering was beginning to gather over her head when the time whistle blew.

Harvard rushed, scored at, made the only football joke of the year. Pennock by Dartmouth halfback Ware. Ware and Corbin, Harvard, gained 1 inch. Yale 1 inch. Yale's cheering section every minute of the game. Harvard's supporters cheering only when Yale was penalized. The outcome of the game was a fair favorite before the game and was backed by many who had confidence in their favorite before the game.

When Yale got the ball and the cheering section changed to one for Dartmouth, there was a united cheer of surprise and delight. Yale's cheering section was the personal property of Yale's team. Yale's cheering section was the personal property of Yale's team. Yale's cheering section was the personal property of Yale's team.

The teams were playing as fast as ever, and the ball went into Yale's territory and stayed there for many minutes. One attempt to punt failed on the player, and they were rolled to the line. Morse and Quill and Erwin were sent off the field by Referee Lea. Quill was bandaged, Erwin had a cut on his face and Morse had a bruised and battered face.

The ball went to Yale's forty-yard line and Tad Jones took it back four yards in a run that looked good. Foster got him when there was no one else between him and the goal. It was to be a Yale touchdown. The ball went into Harvard ground and on Storrs' great run it went around the end and to Yale's forty-yard line. Yale worked it out to Yale's thirty-yard line and from that spot made a wonderful kick.

ALMOST A GOAL.

From the edge it looked as though Logan cleared the goal, and good Yale men up from Harvard, but it did not, although enough had been declared by a sudden breeze to the left, and this fatal chance for a score failed.

Out forty yards Rooms kicked and Hare, when he caught it was badly hurt by Shevlin's tackle. Then back the ball went by mass plays, tandem plays and sheer strength and good playing until it stood on Yale's twenty-nine-yard line, when Yale got it and punted to their forty-seven yard line. Then, with a crashing plunge like a thunderbolt, Harvard went through the centre by a take tandem for six yards. Parker was hurt. It was the beginning of Yales concentration against him and Hill that was destined to put them both out of the game.

All the fighting now was in Yale's territory. The Crimson stands were alive with waving flags.

Then Yale got the ball and the Blue stands took courage. Again and again with the force of desperation, Quill and Roome and Morse tore through the Crimson line almost to the centre of the field, while Parker and Foster were injured in the fight to stop the gains.

A GREAT RUN.

Now Roome took the ball and went around the right end. Down the field he raced, straight for the goal, and the Blue stands went crazy, while Harvard groaned. Knowlton was in the way of the on-driving halfback, and tried to take him. Roome dodged and kept on. Starr grabbed at him fruitlessly. On on, he ran. Only one man was between him and a touchdown—Wendell. And as Wendell he met his victor, crashing down to the field sixteen yards from the coveted goal.

He had run forty-five yards. The Stadium was as blue as the sea with the waving of silk flags. Yale saw her team scoring within a moment or two. The "Hoola" cry that was roared from the Blue seats was a song of triumph.

Push back they beat the Harvard eleven to Harvard's seven-yard line, and there Harvard stood like the rock of Gibraltar, and won the ball on downs.

Then Harvard lined up and Parker's great toe head took the head of Samson. As the ball went into play, like Samson between the columns of the temple he seized two men in his mighty arms and hurled them to the earth, and through the hole he made went Bull for a seven-yard gain. With the Crimson stand went insane.

Then by hurling Regan and by a delay, Harvard gained three yards and was forced to the centre of the field. There, where they were at the beginning, the whistle blew and the first half was over.

Both teams were playing both of tons were using. A bunch of crimson toy balloons were floating into the air. Rolls of crimson and over the heads of the Yale team and struck Harvard. Blood had been shed on both sides, and both sides had lived long enough to tell a story.

Yale's cheering section had been more than half the battle. Harvard's pluck and dash had surprised her friends as well as her rivals. Even when the team came back and it was seen that Yale's effort in the last few minutes had been a big one, even his physical power it was evidently a game

GREAT MARKET IN WALL ST.; LITTLE CHANGE LOCALLY

Brokers Here Are Doing Considerable Trading in New York

While the Wall street market showed great activity, the sales to noon totalling 558,000 shares, the local market did not display any disposition to follow this lead.

C.P.R. SOLD HERE.

A rather interesting feature in an otherwise dull market was a little trading in Canadian Pacific on the local exchange. A few hundred shares sold between 173 1-2 and 174, which is more than any single day's trading for some time past. Some attributed the trading here to the reduction in the commission. It looked as though the stock was bought for traders.

MACKAYS FIRM.

Mackay common held firm notwithstanding a report that there was not likely to be any change in the rate of dividend in December. Toronto interests, said a local broker, are very bullish on this stock. It sold 51 3-4 to 52, while the preferred sold 73 1-2.

HAVANA STRONGER

Havana common showed up better in the improved market in New York and sold there as high as 35 3-8. The highest here was 35.

DOMINION IRON ACTIVE.

Dominion Iron common showed some activity at 20, and towards the close a broken lot sold 20 1-8. An interesting report concerning the company is published elsewhere on this page, indicating that the company intends to greatly increase its output of finished steel. It is expected the steel rail mill again be in operation this week. The Grand Trunk officials praise very highly the steel rails manufactured by the Dominion Iron and Steel Company. They have been tried on 140 miles of line and stood the test most satisfactorily up to date.

GENERAL LIST.

In the general list Montreal Street sold 231 3-4, Power 89 1-2, Detroit at 93 in Wall street, Dom. Coal 76 1-2.

LOCAL BUSINESS.

"I see a Montreal broker claims that business is already being attracted to Montreal from Toronto as a result of the recent cut in commissions," said a member of the Toronto exchange. "He makes me laugh. We are getting orders from Montreal right along, despite the difference in the charges in Montreal's favor. Anyone who looks at the list of sales every day can see that the change has not as yet at any rate started a boom down East. The Montreal broker is just whistling to keep his courage up."

Wall Street Market

New York, Nov. 27.—The market this morning has been active and very strong with few exceptions. Sharp advances were shown at the opening, and active bull manipulation was evident in a number of specialties, while the general railroad list also developed strength without and sensational movement. National Lead was a feature, advancing 5 per cent with a renewal of the old merger stories. Sloss advanced nearly 3 per cent., and T. C. & I. about a point, with Republic I. & Steel issues advancing in sympathy. The U.S. Steel issues were firm but relatively inactive. Amalgamated Copper showed strength, and there was good buying of International Paper. In the railroad list, U.P. was a strong feature, and advances were scored by Kansas City Southern issues, M.K. & T., Penna., St. Paul, N.Y.C. In the early afternoon T.C.I. sold up to 115⅛. St. Paul crossed 180. One of the features of the market has been the weakness and continued liquidation in the R.I. issues, the common declining a point and the preferred nearly three points on rather urgent selling. All reports in connection with this property are pessimistic, and one rumor has it that the stock is being depressed for purposes of accumulation, while another is that the company will have to spend an enormous amount for improvement to the property, and that such expenditure is a bear card on the stock.

WALL STREET GOSSIP.

Sales to noon in Wall Street were 366,000 shares. The sales in the first hour were 500,000 shares.

L. S. Bache & Co.—The opening was quite animated, prices advancing through the list with one exception, that of R.I. issues. The story appeared in Chicago that the road would have to be practically rebuilt and large sums mentioned for that proposition. The selling continued throughout the session in this issue. Balance of the market was not affected and continued strong. Steels somewhat heavy, but this is regarded as only temporary.

E. & C. Randolph.—There were only a few sensational movements, however, the most prominent stocks in this respect being Lead and Smelters, both of which ran up sharply and easily. The rest of the list moved very uniformly and in a very confident way. Rock Island was an exception to the general tendency and continued to show marked weakness.

BOSTON MARKET.

Charles Head & Co.'s wire on the Boston market says: The local coppers opened very active and strong this morning, with Boston Cons., Utah, the features. Boston Cons. rose to 22⅜, and Utah to 57⅞. Both reacted fractionally. Franklin sold at 18⅝, Tecumseh at 14. Granby gained to 97⅜ on about 500 shares. Franklin sold 18⅝. Mohawk was very strong, selling up to 61 and holding it. Osceola sold 100¼. Centennial fractionally stronger at 28⅝. Di. sold 20.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Nov. 27.—Cotton futures opened strong. November, 11.29, December, 11.40, January, 11.60; February, 11.65 bid; March, 11.83; April, 11.87 bid; May, 11.93; July, 12.06.

New York, No. 27.—There was more than ordinary activity and excitement right after the official close Saturday. Prices sold about 15 points over the official figures on the curb. The cause was the circular issued by Mr. Price, who now states that he has covered his shorts in anticipation of a bullish Government estimate on Dec. 4. The significant feature is, that it leaves nearly all the prominent interests in speculative circles in the position of favoring an advance, and while it naturally argues the elimination of a short interest it also suggests a powerful long interest formed at prices too high to threaten fresh buying with important liquidation until there has been a considerable advance.—E. & C. Randolph.

Trade in Cotton

Sharp price fluctuations have been the feature of the market. Interest centered principally in the ginners' report, which indicated a crop materially less than generally expected, resulting in a sensational advance in prices of over a cent a pound within ten minutes' trading. As the week wore on the opinion developed that the ginners' figures did not present an accurate view of the situation as it was believed a number of the gins had not made returns. This sentiment was reflected in a general weakness in the market as the week closed.

New Jap Bonds

The awarding of $62,500,000 out of a total issue of $125,000,000 Japanese 4 per cent bonds to Paris is the real surprise of the Japanese financing to date. In this issue England takes second place, with $31,250,000, while Berlin and New York will get between $16,000,000 and $17,000,000 apiece.

Market Situation

J. S. Bache & Co. in their weekly circular, say of the market situation:—Frankly, we don't like the speculative situation, and feel that it is a time for conservatism. Stocks are still apparently in strong hands, but it is no time to start a big bull market on the slender resources of a $2,000,000 bank reserve, and the fools seem oblivious of the unfavorable developments abroad and the reluctance of the public to come into the market at present prices. On any signs of strength there is the best kind of selling, and the market has all the earmarks of a decline in the near future.

Failures of Week

Commercial failures last week in the United States, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., are 228, against 240 the previous week, and 205 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 34, against 42 the previous week and 39 last year. Of failures last week in the United States, 85 were in the East, 65 South, 61 West and 19 in the Pacific States, and 84 report liabilities of $5,000 or more. Liabilities of commercial failures reported for November to date are $6,797,791, against $6,861,857 for the same period last year.

General Electric Issue

Directors of the General Electric Company have recommended that the new stock recently authorized be offered to stockholders on the basis of 12½ per cent. of their holdings at par.

The amount of new stock to be authorized by the General Electric Company at the special meeting of stockholders on Dec. 5 is $11,674,500, which will make a total outstanding of $80,000,000.

The directors have now recommended that approximately $6,000,000 of this new stock be issued to stockholders at par, which is equal to 12½ per cent. of their present holdings.

The General Electric "rights" are worth about $10 per share at the current price of General Electric, 189¾.

Twin City in 1905 Will Show Large Increase

The net earnings of Twin City Rapid Transit for ten months of the current fiscal year are only about $125,000 below those for the whole of 1904. The road will thus well make the best showing of net earnings in its history. The same will almost certainly be true also of gross earnings, although the latter have not increased as rapidly as the former.

By months, the earnings of this road in both gross and net, compared with 1904, show results as follows:

	Gross.	Inc.	Net.	Inc.

INSURANCE

ELECTED PRESIDENT.—N.Y. Ins.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the City of New York Insurance Co. Maud A. White, formerly its secretary, was elected president, succeeding the late Max Morgiger. William H. Young continues as vice-president and Frank A. Morgiger, assistant secretary, was appointed secretary. Leo Sidenberg was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Dangiger's death. There had been some canvassing several days ago on behalf of Alfred L. White, of William A. White & Sons, one of the directors, who had presidential ambitions, but it became apparent very soon that Major A. White's claims were preeminent.

Policyholders Take Action

Claire H. Venner and a large number of other policyholders of the New York Life Insurance Co. have instituted in the supreme Court of New York proceedings for a writ of mandamus to compel the New York Life Insurance Co. to give them a list of policyholders. Venner and the other petitioners made demand upon the company for such list on Nov. 16, but it was refused.

The petition sets forth many of the facts elicited in the investigation by the New York legislative committee and that the petitioners have the lawful right to such list in order that they may communicate with other policyholders to obtain their proxies for the next annual meeting for the election of trustees. There are over 600,000 policyholders scattered throughout the United States and foreign countries.

DOMINION IRON INCREASES OUTPUT

Sydney, N.S., Nov. 27.—Special.—With the view of increasing their output of steel so as to meet the extraordinary demands of the rail mills the Dominion Iron & Steel Company have decided to add two bessemer converters to their plant. This will mean the increasing of the present output of steel by from 25 to 50 per cent. The company expects to turn out twenty thousand tons of finished products per month during the whole of next year.

PERMITS FOR WINTERING IN CANALS.

Ottawa, Nov. 27. (Special.)—An order-The following provision relating to the wintering of vessels in the Canadian canals is promulgated:

"The privileges of wintering vessels in the Dominion canals shall be enjoyed only by a special permit, to be granted in each case if deemed advisable, and if granted the vessel shall be at the sole risk of the owner thereof, and His Majesty shall not be responsible for any damage that may occur to any such vessel while so wintered, whether such damage happen from or arise out of the lowering of the water in, or the unwatering or filling of the canal, with or without notice to the owner or person in charge of such vessel, or any negligence on the part of any person or any officer, servant or agent of His Majesty, or from any other cause whatsoever."

MARKET REPORTS

CHEESE MARKET QUIET; BUTTER A LITTLE EASIER

Egg Market Firm Under Fair Demand

Business is quiet in the local cheese market, and dealers are not looking for much improvement during the next few weeks, as this is always a quiet season. Offers from the English market are in most cases out of line with holders' ideas. The tone of the market for November cheese is a little easier, prices having declined in the country, but in September-October cheese there is no change. Now that the season for shipping from the port of Montreal is over, and goods have to be shipped by rail to St. John, the cost of the cheese landed on the other side has been increased from 1-8c to 3-16c per lb. This has made trade very dull, as holders here cannot sell at a profit. Whether the English market will advance to meet local asking prices or whether prices on this side will break is a question on which opinions appear to differ. Meanwhile both sides are holding off, and there is very little enquiry.

Advices from London say that stocks of cheese held at the depots show a slight shrinkage. The market is firm in tone, a slight advance having been made in c.i.f. prices. The amount of business passing is limited.

The receipts of cheese to-day were 4,272 boxes. The receipts for the week ending Nov. 25 were 28,169 boxes, against 54,386 boxes for the previous week and 11,677 boxes for the corresponding week last year.

The tone of the butter market is a little easier, and prices have declined about 1-4c per lb. The butter which is being made now is mostly what is known as fodder butter—that made from the milk of cows fed on fodder—and is not so fine in quality or flavor as grass-fed butter. The demand is confined to the local trade and a few lots to the lower ports. In the export trade prices continue out of line. Dairy butter is beginning to come in more plentifully, but prices continue firm at 20c to 21c, according to quality.

The receipts of butter this morning were 663 packages. The receipts for the week ending Nov. 25 were 7,323 packages, against 9,028 packages for the previous week, against 9,028 packages for the previous week and 8,864 packages for the corresponding week last year.

The egg market rules firm under a good demand for local consumption. There are few fresh orders for export being received, though there is some enquiry reported for limed eggs. Selected stock are quoted at 25c and No. 1 candled at 20c. Limed are steady at 20c to 21c per dozen. The receipts of eggs to-day were 128 cases.

TORONTO MARKET

Butter holds a firm tone. Prints and rolls offering more freely; prices unchanged.

Eggs are firm in tone at 22c for fresh and 20c for limed. Receipts of fresh light.

COUNTRY CHEESE BOARDS.

Brockville, Nov. 27.—At the closing meeting of one of the longest and most successful seasons in the history of the Brockville cheese board there was a very marked decrease of offerings registered, being only 900 white and 1,793 colored. The opening bid of 10½c showed a big decline from the prices offered one week ago. The total sales on the board were 1,750 boxes at from 10c to 11¼c. On the curb about 4,000 boxes changed hands at from 11¼c to 11½c, with 11¾c ruling.

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 27.—Offerings here were 908 white cheese, sales 273 at 11 9-16c, balance at 11¾c. The board adjourned to April 14, 1906.

London, Ont., Nov. 27.—The London board will meet next Saturday to close up business for the season.

Cowansville, Que., Nov. 27.—At the Eastern Townships Dairy Exchange 24 creameries offered 900 boxes butter, 23 was the highest bid made and not one box was sold at that price. It is the first meeting of the board since it was started twelve years ago that this has taken place. The board will journed to the last Saturday in April, 1906.

Grain, Flour, Hay

There was but little enquiry for wheat from over the cable to-day, and as bid were out of the business was very quiet. Cables received there to-night are not encouraging, but prices continue firm.

Oats are coming in a little more freely, but prices continue firm.

There is no change in the market for flour. A fair business is passing at steady prices.

Good Cattle Trade

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—The cattle trade during the season just closing has been fairly satisfactory. There was an increase of over 50 per cent. in the number of head exported, and prices ruled slightly higher than those prevailing last year. In 1901 there were 32,471 head exported and 7,962 head consumed by Winnipeg trade. This year there were 49,748 had exported and 9,208 consumed locally, making the total number passing through the Winnipeg yards 59,956, or 26,023 in excess of last year.

Provision Market

A feature of the provision market to-day was a firmer feeling in the market for hogs under a good active demand from packers. Selected lots sold at $6.25 to $6.50 per 100 lb. this morning. In sympathy with the strength in the market for live hogs, dressed hogs were also firmer this morning, abattoir selling at $8.50 to $8.75, and country dressed at $7.50 to $8 per 100 lb. There was no change in smoked meats or lard.

Heavy Canada short cut mess pork, in barrels, $21.50 to $22.00; heavy Canada short cut back pork, $21.00 to $21.50; heavy Canada long cut mess pork, $21.00 to $22.00; heavy Canada short cut clear pork, $20.00 to $21.00; heavy flank pork, none; light Canada short cut clear pork, none.

Hams, 28 lbs., 12½c; do., 12 to 18 lbs., 13c, 8 to 12 lbs., 13½c; boneless hams, rolled 15c; English boneless breakfast bacon, 15c; Wiltshire bacon, 50 lbs., sides, 14c; Windsor bacon, backs, 15c.

Compound lard, 6½c to 7½c; pure lard, 10¾c to 11¾c; kettle lard, 11¾c to 12¾c.

A Clear Soft Skin is possible in Winter in spite of cold winds. By using only a good Soap, a pure Soap, an emollient Soap, like

Wheat Markets

At the Winnipeg market this morning November wheat opened at 77¾ and later sold at 78¼. For December options 74½ was bid at opening and later 74⅝ was bid. For May option 79 was bid at opening and later 79⅛ was bid.

At the Chicago market December options opened at 83½ and later were quoted at 85⅛. May options opened at 86¾ and later were quoted at 86⅞.

Wheat Inspection

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Wheat inspections here to-day were as follows: No. 1 hard, 2 cars; No. 1 northern, 217 cars; No. 2 northern, 98 cars; No. 3 northern, 25 cars; other grades, 109 cars; total, 451 cars; same date last year, 406 cars.

Country Produce

There is no change in the market for country produce. Trade in poultry continues quiet, but as the receipts are not large the tone of the market rules steady. There is a firmer feeling in the market for beans, though prices are unchange to-day. Honey and maple produce continue quiet and unchanged. Potash is dull and easy. We quote:—

Beans—Choice primes, $1.65 to $1.70 per bushel.

Poultry—Prime turkeys, 15c; fair to good, 13½c to 14c; geese, 9c to 10½c; chickens, 10c to 11c; ducks, 10c to 12½c; fowls, 7c to 9c per lb.

Honey—White clover comb, 13c to 14c; white extracted, 7½c to 8c; buckwheat, 6c to 6½c per lb.

Maple Produce—Syrup, in 60 gal kegs, 5c to 5½c per lb.; in tins, 40c to 50c per wine measure, and 60c to 70c per imperial gal. Beaver sugar, 8c to 9c, and Eastern Townships sugar, 6½c to 7c per lb.

Hops—Canadian choice at 12½c to 13c, and ordinary at 11c to 12c per lb.

Potash—Pearls, $7, first pots, $5.75, seconds, $4.70; thirds, $3.75 per 100 lb.

East End Cattle Market

The offerings at the east end cattle market this morning were about 1,500 head of cattle, 600 sheep and lambs and 400 hogs. The demand for sheep and cattle was limited, but there was a good enquiry from packers for hogs and prices were firm. Good to choice cattle sold at 2½c to 3c; lower grades, 1¾c to 2¼c; sheep, 4c to 4½c; lambs, 4¾c to 5c; hogs, selects, 6¼c to 6½c; inferior grades, 5½c to 6c per lb.

Albert Baymer, of Perth, N.B., Has Acquired Some Experience Since Visiting City.

When Albert Baymer, of Perth, N.B., arrived in Montreal Friday night, on his way to the West, he made the mistake of taking into his confidence of William Marshall, bartender of the hotel at which he put up. In the small hours of the morning the couple had a sitting in Baymer's room, and on waking up about five o'clock Saturday the visitor found his newly-found friend had gone, and that there was missing a gold watch and $700 in bills.

Detectives Viens and Conners did not take long to run Marshall to earth in a St. Dominique street house, and on being searched the watch and $600 were found in his possession. Marshall pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence, Judge Lafontaine refusing a request of Baymer that accused be allowed off on paying court costs.

GIFT BOOKS FORESHADOW THE CHRISTMAS SEASON!

The Opening Was An Unprecedented Success

Thousands visited the Store of Satisfaction Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Between 25,000 and 30,000 was the general opinion of our evening audiences.

The question has been asked why we declined to sell goods, except in the Demonstration Booths, on the two evenings the store was opened.

The larger institutions of this city have, for many years, favored and pursued the principle of early closing. Desiring to take no undue advantage, and not to forfeit their goodwill, we decided to devote the evening hours soley to recreation. Also, accord those of our patrons with insufficient time in the day to see all the sights, an opportunity of coming in in the evening and looking around under conditions favorable to sight-seeing.

The opening was an unprecedented success, and the management wish to record their appreciation its public had in the accomplishment of this very satisfactory result.

Foundation Stones in the Store of Satisfaction's Success:

Which will continue to remain secure:

The satisfaction of our patrons dominates every transaction.

Exchanges or refunds of money promptly made at all times. The only requirements that goods be turned in as proper condition as when bought, also within a reasonable time.

Reduction of prices to the lowest limit consistent with quality. Large quantity buying direct from the manufacturers, gives us our stocks at minimum figures. Small profits aid, too, in the achievement of low prices.

Misrepresentation never tolerated—either in advertising, or by our salespeople. The confidence of the public is the most valuable of The Store of Satisfaction's assets.

Promptness in service—Patrons at the counter promptly waited upon. 'Phone and mail orders, too, attended to with dispatch.

Courteous treatment—Civility and efficiency on the part of our salespeople insisted upon, be the customer a child or the most experienced shopper.

Strictly one price to all.

How We're Enabled to Offer More Special Inducements in Fancy Opera Flannel

Manufacturers say: "Useless to show samples to The Store of Satisfaction's buyers, unless you're prepared to give unusual value.

We started out to sell a limited quantity of

50c and 65c Qualities of Fancy Opera Flannel for 25c Yd

Continued the pace of value-giving and selling, because our attention has been directed to other deserving lots by others who wanted a portion of our trade, and were prepared to make great sacrifices to secure an entry for their wares into the stock. We don't request a "show of hands," or call for the "ayes" and "nays," but look for your expression of our efforts in patronage.

Finest designs and most perfect color, fine weave, woven in Paris, and dyed in Alsace Lorraine by the very best dyers.

Patterns are floral, spotted, striped and conventional. The selection includes pale blue, pink, reds, light and dark green, silver gray, navy blue. Also a quantity with fancy border. Patterns suitable for trimming cuffs and collars. Some in very rich looking effects for Wrappers, Kimonas, etc. Others would be the right thing for Ladies' Blouses. While the others are of small, neat design for Children's Dresses. All one price, yd. 25c

This Stores' Advice on Flannelette Wear

Practical advice, because assembled here is the very kinds of Flannelette Wear we advocate that you buy.

It's made of good quality Flannelette.

The cut is perfection—the underwear drafted over the models of the outer gowns, on the principle that if the latter are to fit, the former must fit, too.

Seam allowances are liberal. The sewing is strong—takes an unusual strain to pull a garment apart.

The Night Robes are made very full both in length and breadth. They are garments of comfort.

The prices are invariably commended for their fairness.

Men's Properly-Made Clothing

That's the secret of its good fit.
—Its many days of good service.
—Its permanent shapely style.

To start with, the fabrics are carefully selected. There is no trusting to luck. If we don't like the looks of a piece of cloth, rigid tests to determine its quality are resorted to. Davy Crockett's motto: "Be sure you're right, then go ahead," is our guide at every stage of manufacture. We're sure these are right in quality—value. No duplicates available outside The Store of Satisfaction.
