EIGHTY-EIGHTH YEAR — HUNTINGDON, QUE., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7th, 1951 — TEN PAGES

All Retiring Members Re-elected to Council

J. D. McGerrigle is New Alderman on Town Council

It has been a long time since such interest was taken in a civic election in Huntingdon, as was taken in Thursday elections for Mayor and four aldermen for the Town Council.

The day opened in one of the worst storms experienced this winter season and roads were blocked by driving snow, while temperatures were quite low and a wind blowing. Plows were out early and most of the town streets were made passable for cars and pedestrians. Despite the weather however, citizens made a determined effort to vote early and from time of opening the poll at 7 a.m., the officers were kept busy. By noon more than half the number had recorded their votes on the large ballot paper containing the names of the ten candidates. The Mayor's ballot was included with that of the aldermen. It was necessary to mark this ballot in five places — once for the Mayor and four times for the aldermen. This made the procedure of voting very slow as some people took considerable time to mark their ballots. Thus it was, that long lines of electors were seen waiting their turn to vote at the poll. In order to speed up the procedure, two polls were used, possibly the first time this has been done in a civic election here. The Court House, where the voting took place, was a busy place all day, those voting in the A to L section used the council room, while the remainder from M to Z used the office of Mr. W. L. Carr.

All the candidates were keenly interested in seeing that the electors got out to vote, volunteers drove cars to bring in those who wanted such transportation, such as elderly people. It was notable that a large number of elderly people turned out to vote in spite of the stormy weather. Several of the candidates remained at the poll to check the electors and to greet their supporters and they were having a busy time.

One person during the early hours of voting tried to cast a ballot illegally and was taken into custody and held for a short time. As the attempt had been caught in the nick of time and the ballot had not actually been marked, no charge was preferred and the party was released. The party tried to obtain a ballot in the name of another person who was believed to be out of town at the time. He admitted that he had been told to do this, otherwise this party had no vote as he was not on the roll of the voters' list. This was the only incidence of any kind which had a tendency to mar the day's voting. Except for this everything went along smoothly and orderly.

Considerable propaganda was published before the voting and much talk was done to try and change the opinion of the electors, but from the results it would seem that this had little effect or influence. In all cases the majority given was most decisive and showed that the electors were determined to see that Huntingdon got the right men to run its affairs.

The total result was that all of the retiring members of the council were re-elected with the exception of Seat No. 3 and this went to J. D. McGerrigle, a new man, who will occupy the place held by R. L. Tinker. Apparently the result of the election is entirely satisfactory to the majority of the electors and most feel that they have a good council to direct the affairs for the next two-year period. The first meeting of the newly elected council was held on Monday, February 5th, the regular date of the monthly sessions.

The results were as follow:

For Mayor:
Leo Cappiello	399
A. C. H. Picard	242
Majority Cappiello	157
For Aldermen
Seat No. 1
A. Saumier	413
O. Legault	165
Majority Saumier	248
Seat No. 2
E. Fournier	333
G. Riel	254
Majority Fournier	79
Seat No. 3
J. D. McGerrigle	391
T. Vine	198
Majority McGerrigle	193
Seat No. 5
N. Foisy	328
L. Galipeau	242
Majority Foisy	86

Including the companies, the potential number of voters was approximately 800 and of this number approximately 675 cast ballots. It was one of the best elections held here for some time. The turnout was exceptionally good and showed the keen interest that people had in this particular instance.

T. S. Ludington Speaker at Rotary Monday

Advancement of industry in the Province of Quebec, with its attendant increase in provincial revenues will make available for certain social welfare items additional monies, Tracy S. Ludington, public relations representative of the National Union Party told members of Huntingdon Rotary Club Monday noon, at the Chateau.

This may quite possibly, the speaker said, make available some funds for the alleviation of slum districts, either through grants of the province itself, or through co-operation with other governments.

Speaking directly of the problem in small towns, however, Mr. Ludington reminded the members that the problem in any town, is not to be eradicated with money or legislation, but must be bettered from within as well as without.

Suggestion was made that committees of service club men, industrialists, church leaders and government representatives, could find the solution to local problems, even if it was found necessary to call in professional assistance in surveying the situation or in laying out the plans for a solution.

The speaker was introduced by Notary Fortier and thanked by Hector Provost.

W. R. Wilson, president, was in the chair.

Town to Ask For Two More Mail Boxes

Newly Elected Members Take Oath of Office

The regular monthly meeting of the Huntingdon Town Council was held on Monday evening with all members present. Before proceeding to the actual business of the meeting all members took the Oath of Office for the new term of 1951-53 and were duly sworn in.

The minutes were read and passed and also a number of accounts were passed for payment. The account of Mr. Lea, engineer, is to be checked upon and he is to be asked to appear to clarify certain items of the account and some work in hand. A change is to be made in the account for electricity at the Chief's apartment. In future this will be in the Chief's name and he will be allowed a monthly refund of $8.

Mr. Martin gave a report of the recent nomination and election and duly declared all members elected.

A milk report for January 17th was read as follows: Belle Vallee, 22,000cc and 3.7 butterfat; Elmhurst, 38,000cc and 3.6 butterfat; Monique, 21,000cc and 4.0 butterfat; Goodfellow, 27,000cc and 3.5 butterfat; Pringle Bros. 640,000cc and 3.5 butterfat.

A damage claim was received from F. J. O'Connor for damage done to some tile, a fence and 240 gallons of gas damaged by water, the whole amounting to $291.40. The matter was considered and it was decided to investigate the complaint to see what should be done. The damage is claimed to have occurred during the time that work was being done on the new sewer on Bouchette St.

An agreement was read as between the Town and McColl Frontenac Co. regarding the strip of land to be leased the company near its service station in Huntingdon. It was decided that the agreement was satisfactory and that it would be signed.

The following committees were named to look after affairs for the next term. The first named is the chairman.

Roads — Fournier, Saumier, McWhinnie.

Water and electricity — McWhinnie, Foisy, Lefebvre.

Parks and Rubbish — McGerrigle, Foisy, Lefebvre.

Police and Fire — Foisy, Fournier, McGerrigle.

Building Committee — Lefebvre, Saumier, Fournier.

Poor, Relief and Health — Saumier, Lefebvre, McWhinnie, Dr. Geo. Lefebvre.

Finance Committee — Lefebvre and Council members.

Alderman McWhinnie was named Pro-Mayor for the first three-month term.

An application was made to the council to reserve a spot in front of Dr. Girard's office on Chateauguay Street, for him to park his car. It was decided that this should be granted and the necessary signs will have to be placed at this point.

It was decided to petition the Post Office Dept. for two more mail boxes in Huntingdon, as requests from citizens had been received. These mail boxes will be requested for the corner of Henderson and Fairview Road and the corner of Fairview and Lorne Avenue. It is felt that with these boxes the town will be well served and no long distances will have to be travelled by anyone.

The Lawyer's letter regarding the Pedlars' licenses which was read at a previous meeting, is to be referred to Cossette and Cossette, the Town lawyers, for a ruling.

Bishops to Rule Individually On Membership in Rotary

VATICAN CITY, (AP)—The Vatican newspaper l'Osservatore Romano called on Roman Catholic bishops to determine individual cases in which they should exhort Catholic laymen to give up Rotary Club membership.

The statement was described by the Vatican press office as "an authorized article" and by other Vatican sources as prepared by the Supreme Congregation of the Holy Office, which issued a decree Jan. 11 forbidding Catholic clergy to belong to Rotary or attend its meetings.

The comment was issued, it said, because of various requests for clarification and because of published interpretations of the decree, some of which "minimized" and others "amplified" the import of the decree.

A spokesman at the Chicago headquarters of Rotary International said he believed Rotary would stand on its previous statements that it is not a secret organization, has no connection with Masonry or other organizations and assumes its program is "in accord with all religions".

L'Osservatore's article said it was "an error" to attribute to Rotary, as some newspapers did, all the qualifications of canonical code 684 —cited by the decree—which exhorts Catholics to guard themselves from "associations that are secret, condemned, seditious, suspected, or that seek to draw away from the legitimate vigilance of the church".

"In our (the Rotary decree) case", it went on, "the directive of the Holy Office appears to be justified, in a general line, by the lay and non-religious spirit that characterizes Rotary even in relation to problems in which the Catholic cannot ignore the teachings of the Catholic Church, as for example, in the field of morals and in matters of social justice.

"Such a lay spirit and the religious indifference that easily follows from it lends itself to infiltration in Rotary of Masonic and anticlerical elements such as, in fact, has happened in some nations where, because of prevalent Masonic influence, the action of the clubs was in contrast with the activity and aim of the (Catholic) church", the article said.

It added that in some countries, "Rotary's attitude has shown itself in practice to be tolerant and well-meaning in regard to religious interests."

"It is up to those who have the honor of spiritually directing the (Catholics) faithful, that is, the bishops, to establish whether, in the concrete case, in his own diocese, Rotary is to be considered a 'suspected' association", the Vatican paper said.

"Now it is clear that where suspicion exists the bishops must exhort Catholics not to belong to Rotary.

"Where, instead, it does not exist, whether by proof in the past or by serious guarantees that (Rotary) directors intend to give, the bishops may abstain from verbal exhortation, inasmuch as the impelling motive is lacking."

The comment did not state whether the decree against Rotary implicitly affects other similar organizations, as Msgr. Mario Crovini of the Holy Office and other Vatican sources have said.

Vatican informants, however, pointed to reports of enforcement decrees by Archbishop Paul-Emile Leger of Montreal as a further indication that similar bodies could be considered affected. Archbishop Leger ordered priests in his diocese to withdraw from Rotary and "neutral" organizations. The informants said "neutral" in this case means organizations with a neutral attitude toward religion.

Big Carnival At Rink Feb. 23-24

Fun and Amusement For Everyone

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a two-day carnival at the Huntingdon Skating Rink on February 23rd and 24th. This promises to be one of the biggest events ever staged in Huntingdon during the winter season. Much effort is being put into the plans for this great carnival and several young ladies have been selected as candidates for Queen of the Carnival. Later these will be voted upon and by the majority given, the queen will be selected and crowned. Tickets for this event are now on sale and it will be well for the interested parties to support the candidate of their choice.

There will be figure skating, barrel jumping, clown acts, ice races, softball on the ice, masquerade and contests of all kinds. Some figure skaters from Valleyfield will be in attendance including Nancy Atkins and Peter Stanger. These are well known to Huntingdon fans and there promises to be some very interesting acts.

It promises to be a gala affair from start to finish and there will be plenty of fun and amusement for young and old. More particulars will be given from time to time in these columns.

Stability of Textiles Valuable Assets to Quebec

"Small wonder the primary textiles industry is a major one in Quebec" says a brochure "Industry In Action" turned out by the Quebec Government and the Canadian Geographical Society.

Reporting on the history and present standing of the industry, the publication notes that it was a stabilized primary textiles industry which eventually halted the great exodus of young people from the province half a century ago when depression left them jobless. "The inherent stability of the Quebec textiles industry was illustrated again in the economic depression of the early 1930s. The Quebec textile plants actually increased both staff and production."

J. G. Rennie Introduces Bill in House

School Board Bills Text Made Known

QUEBEC — Text of the bill introduced at this session of the legislature by J. G. Rennie, N.U., Huntingdon, in regard to the Protestant Board of School Commissioners of the City of Montreal, made its appearance today.

It confirms what has previously been reported, that the membership of the board would be increased from six to eight by passage of the bill, with the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council naming five members, and the Montreal City Council, three members. The change will be as of July 1, 1951.

Mr. Rennie has an accompanying bill changing the name of the Montreal Protestant Central School Board to that of The Protestant Board of Greater Montreal, with a membership of 16, and provisions for annexing other areas, not mentioned by name, but understood to be Pointe Claire on the Island of Montreal, and the South Shore areas such as St. Lambert, Longueuil, Ville Jacques Cartier. There would be no compulsion as regards these annexations, but provision is made for annexation by mutual agreement.

The third bill of the trio which Mr. Rennie is shepherding would set at $150. per year the education cost of non-Catholic, non-Protestant children, exclusive of Jewish children, this cost to be a first charge on the neutral panel.

McGerrigle Rink Wins Trophy

Omega International Trophy Won at Quebec

A rink from Beauharnois, skipped by A. R. Turnbull, which was entered in Quebec's 38th International Bonspiel, played several games with various rinks. The opening day they played against a Toronto team, losing by a score of 16-2, and against another Toronto team by a score of 16-2. On Tuesday they lost to Sault St. Marie 12-6, and then to Quebec Winter Club by a score of 11-7. Later in the week Toronto Victoria defeated them 17-5.

However, a rink from Ormstown, skipped by W. G. McGerrigle had much better luck, losing only one game.

On the opening day Ormstown defeated Summerside, P.E.I., 7-6, only to be defeated by Edmundston 11-5. W. G. McGerrigle's rink defeated Quebec Jacques Cartier 10-2, and was one of two Quebec rinks to win their way into the Omega International quarter finals, the other being Quebec Victoria, which Ormstown defeated 16-3 in the first game of the quarter finals. Next, they defeated Quebec 9-4. This last win brought them up to the Semi-Finals in which they defeated Outremont Quebec, by a score of 10-6.

The Ormstown rink, skipped by W. G. McGerrigle, won the Omega International Trophy with a close 15-14 victory over a London rink skipped by J. A. Wright.

Down two points going into the last end McGerrigle rallied with a three-ender. The rink called for the measuring rod on the third stone and Wright lost the title by less than one half an inch.

P. D. McArthur Again Pres. Montreal Milk Producers

Quebec Dairymen Urged to Develop Spread to Compete With Margarine

The Province of Quebec was warmly commended for "its stand on the margarine issue" at the annual general meeting of the Montreal Milk Producers' Co-operative Agricultural Association held at Montreal, on Saturday.

P. D. McARTHUR

In his address to 400 dairymen who gathered for the day-long meeting in the Mount Royal Hotel, President P. D. McArthur of Howick, Que., said, "We are fortunate that our Provincial Government acted firmly and with dispatch on this question with the result that in this province we have legislation prohibiting the traffic in margarine".

Dairymen all over Canada, Mr. McArthur said, are concerned about the threat to their interests from "a butter substitute manufactured from vegetable oils produced by cheap labor".

The dairymen, he went on, have asked the Federal Government to "impose an excise tax on all foreign oils used in the manufacture of margarine—such tax to be sufficient to enable butter to compete on a fair basis."

Dairymen are also being urged, he said, "to develop a cheap dairy spread" of their own "to meet the need for such."

The Milk for Health campaign sponsored by the Montreal Milk Producers and the Montreal Milk Distributors "has had a very successful year in the field of public relations," the president reported.

The annual report of the association said that it was hoped in 1951 to put a great deal of the organization's literature on milk into the schools in Montreal.

"Milk consumption on this (Montreal) market has shown a definite increase and as this is the primary objective of Milk for Health we are convinced that the monies have been well spent," the report said.

Noting that during the year the price of milk to distributors had been increased from $4.10 to $4.28 per 100 pounds of milk, the annual report said that "early last spring some efforts were made to lower the price (paid) to producers and there was agitation also for permission to accord two prices one price for milk sold in bottles and a secondary price for a percentage of milk to be used for other dairy products."

The association, the report said, "fought vigorously against such change."

Mr. McArthur foresaw a "far from dismal future" for the dairy industry.

"The market is buoyant," he said Mr. McArthur was re-elected president of the association. Other officers are: David Black, honorary president; Adrian Angers, vice-president; W. D. Lowe, secretary-manager; W. J. Colligan, assistant secretary-manager; E. Donnelly, treasurer.

Change School Textbooks

Quebec Plans 30 Zones Instead of 90 Electoral Areas

QUEBEC CITY — Quebec's industrial might has grown so much in the past 10 years that the government is considering changing the entire structure of the province's maps.

A government spokesman said yesterday the time was near when maps of Quebec would be made to show the economic regions instead of the present system outlining counties based on electoral representation in the Legislature.

Textbook Changes

When that happens it will call for widespread changes in school textbooks.

"The future maps of the province, as a result, would reveal that Quebec was divided into 30 economic zones rather than 90 electoral counties", the informant said.

Several municipal administrations including Montreal, Three Rivers and Quebec City already have taken steps to promote the new system of dividing the province's territory.

Each city has created industrial commissions responsible for surveying industrial development. They are studying the influence of neighboring economic zones upon the over-all plan of industrial expansion necessitated by gigantic strides in development of the province's natural resources.

The new maps would divide the province's 611,000 square miles of territory into three main zones — the Canadian Shield, the Laurentian Plains and the Appalachians.

The Canadian Shield would include secondary districts such as Ungava (New Quebec), James Bay, Abitibi-Temiskaming, the Laurentian Mountains, the Saguenay, Lake St. John and the Quebec North Shore.

The Laurentian Plains would be subdivided into three secondary districts — the plains of the St. Lawrence, the plains of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the islands of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Third Main Zone

The third main zone, that of the Appalachians, would be divided into the following secondary districts: The Eastern Townships, the plateau of the South Shore of the St. Lawrence, the plateau of the Lower St. Lawrence and the Gaspe Peninsula.

Each of these three main zones and secondary districts was considered as having independent economic resources to exploit and develop and could live independently from each other.

However, certain regions were considered as having a certain amount of influence on one or more economic districts. Among them the St. Maurice Valley, Abitibi and Temiskaming as well as the Ottawa Valley could be shared by both Montreal and Three Rivers just as the St. Maurice, the Lake St. John, Chicoutimi could come under the major influence of both Quebec City and Three Rivers.

The Quebec City zone of influence, in view of recent discoveries in Ungava and on the Quebec North Shore as well as in the Gaspe Peninsula, was the economic district expected to have the greater influence for the next 20 years.

Influence Development

Quebec City, with its deep-sea harbour and other economic advantages, for instance, will influence the economic development of Abitibi, Jacques Cartier, Chaudiere, the South Shore plateau, the plains of the South Shore, the plains of the Lower St. Lawrence, the plateaus of Rimouski and Matane, the Matapedia Valley and the Gaspe Peninsula as well as the Quebec North Shore, the Manicouagan (Sept Iles), the Romaine (Havre St. Pierre), the Saguenay and Labrador.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED

We are pleased to offer our congratulations to Mr. Russel Tully, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tully, of Athelstan, Quebec, and a former student and graduate of Huntingdon Academy, on his being awarded the Stuart Dunn Memorial Scholarship and the Roy M. Wolvin Scholarship for high academic standing in the sessional examinations of the first year engineering course at McGill University. These scholarships have the value of $200.00.

Long Standing Cartage Business Changes Hands

Cartage Business John Riel & Son Sold to Rosario Taillefer

A business change has taken place in Huntingdon with the announcement that the local cartage business of John Riel & Son has been sold to Mr. Rosario Taillefer.

This business goes back 66 years, when John Riel operated the cartage business exclusively with horse drawn vehicles. Many a story can be told of those days and several of them have already appeared in the Gleaner. This firm has had some splendid horses and it was with some reluctance that Laurent Riel, the late owner, decided to sell his fine horses and operate exclusively with motor trucks.

In 1926, twenty-five years ago, Laurent Riel took over the operation of the business of John Riel & Son, as a boy just out of school. He got his first truck in 1924, but for many years ne still continued to favor the use of horses in his business. As the years rolled past, the demand came for speedier means of transport and heavier loads to be drawn, but even then the local express was hauled by horse drawn vehicle. Finally Laurent told the Gleaner one day, that his men refused to bother with horses, they wanted to put the vehicle away at night and then crank it up in the morning and not be bothered feeding and caring for the horses. He decided to get a truck for the local deliveries and sell his last horses. From that time on, John Riel & Son became a mechanized form of transport in conformity with the trend of modern times.

Now the announcement has come that this pioneer business of Huntingdon's cartage world has changed hands and also the family name and will move to a new location in Huntingdon. Mr. Rosario Taillefer through an advertisement on another page, is soliciting the continued patronage of the many customers of the old cartage firm and assures them of the same good service that they enjoyed in the past.

Mr. Riel will continue the business of Riel Bros., which does long distance hauling between Huntingdon and Montreal carrying freight and express between those two points. All local cartage and hauling will be taken care of by Mr. Rosario Taillefer.

Trade Fair to Feature Canadian Textiles

Canada's primary textile industry is planning to stage its most ambitious project to date at the Canadian International Trade Fair to be held at Toronto May 28 to June 8.

Plans include occupying twice as much space as was taken by the industry at the 1950 fair, with the aim of demonstrating the superiority of Canadian woven fabrics and knit goods.

Among articles exhibited will be cotton fabrics of all kinds, rayon fabrics, woollens and worsted, blankets, full-fashioned hosiery, carpets and yarns, products of Canadian workers in Canadian mills.

This Week — Novel Welcome at Church

January 30, 1951

The past seven days have been, to us northerners, fine weather, but to some of the folks here it has been cold; actually the thermometer dropped to 44 degrees one night. The daily temperature now runs from 70 to 78 degrees.

This week you would think spring is fast approaching, when you see so many robins congregating to fly north. They have had their winter visit to Mexico. I understand it is a bit out of the usual to see so many robins visit West Palm Beach, as has been the case this week. Even the natives make comments about this influx of feathered visitors.

One of the hotel guests returned here a few nights ago laden down with citrus fruits. At the close of our usual social evening in the hotel he informed all the folks in the lobby to wait around as he was going to serve papaya. To 95% of the guests this was the first taste of papaya they were to have. Some of the noses turned up, others proceeded to enjoy it. The fruit resembles a musk melon, except that it is a white meat. In size it is about two or three times as large as the musk melon. Grown on a small tree, a good tree will produce about 30 papayas a season. The taste of the papaya makes you feel you are tasting a fruit tainted with rocquefort cheese. King oranges, tangerines, kumquots and exceptionally large pink grapefruit rounded out Mr. Hogue's treats.

Sunday evening a number of us attended a Baptist church near the hotel. Approximately two-thirds of the congregation were winter visitors to Florida. Early in the service the pastor welcomed the visitors and asked all to arise and after that he asked the members of the congregation to arise, turn around and shake hands with the visitors and to invite them to come to the church hall after the service for a social hour and refreshments, etc. To get through this welcome to visitors it took about thirty minutes of time as he had the visitors stand up as to what state they called home. One party came from Cuba, and there were three of us from Canada. A man from Edmonton was the long distance traveller and was duly presented with two corsages of flowers; and that produced a wholesome laugh. Had he not been present I guess the Sellars would have had to make the parade up to the front of the church and receive the presentation. To round out his welcome he had Sunday School teachers of past and present stand, W.C.T.U. members, W.M.S., lay preachers, deacons and dear knows how many other groups. He certainly worked up a most friendly atmosphere.

Have been over to Fort Lauderdale three times during the past week. On the first trip over I managed to lose my camera box with all my photographic equipment other than the camera which I was using. The police located the camera box and contents, such having been handed to a patrolman by a man who found it. He evidently picked it up not knowing I was close at hand taking a few snaps of some of their beautiful canals. Fort Lauderdale is quite unique in its layout. Avenues lead off the main thoroughfare, and at the rear of the homes that face the avenues will be found a canal, and in practically every case a beautiful cruiser tied up at the back door of the winter home. The homes along these avenues and canals are truly magnificent. Practically all are of the bungalo type. Walls are in pastel shades of stucco and the porch furniture is, of course, very gay. The colored gardeners have everything in tip-top order. The profusion of flowers and blooming vines naturally captivated us.

Cocoanuts are in abundance this year, few have yet fallen other than those which have been cut down. On many of the cocoanut palm trees you will find clusters of perhaps 50 or more cocoanuts of various sizes. One has to be careful about parking a car, making sure they do not park under a cluster of these cocoanuts for if one falls on the roof of a car it makes quite a dent in the car body.

The greyhound dog races are as popular as ever. Thousands of people turn out nightly to see the dog races. Eight dogs race at a time and they have 10 races each night. The 80 dogs that race each night put on quite a show and whether you win or lose it makes a delightful evening of entertainment. Every twenty minutes a race is run off.

US Nickel Ban To Dull Shine On Cars Here

Before too long Canadian automobiles are going to lose some of their chrome and nickel-plated glitter.

How much depends on interpretation of the new order in the United States banning the use of nickel for car trim and how long Canada's own short supply will last. After March 1, U.S. car makers cannot nickel-plate auto accessories, dash panels, gas tank caps, grilles, interior trim, lamp housing, window mouldings, radiator trim, wheel discs or window levers.

After April 1, nickel-bearing stainless steel will be banned in bumpers, grilles, hubcaps, trim, wheel rings and wheel covers.

Whether all these items will be painted after the deadlines depends on how many are exempt under the "functional" classification. If they are functional (maybe doorknobs) the ban won't apply.

The U.S. order won't have the same effect here as in the U.S.: Canadian manufacturers import only a few of the banned nickel-plated items. Bumpers, radiator grilles, lamp rings, door handles are made in Canada.

But window moldings and rubrails — those chrome belts around door and fenders — are all imported. They will be affected almost immediately, if they are not ruled "functional."

As for trim and accessories made in Canada, the outlook is not bright but it is still far from as dull as the U.S.

Nickel for plating has been in short supply in Canada since the middle of last year. Everyone's on a quota. It ranges from 25%-40% of what a customer got in a base period.

Black Market

A lucrative black market has developed. Ordinarily, nickel anodes sell for around 80c lb. Today there's plenty being offered at $2.50 lb. At least one plating group has asked Ottawa to find out what's going on.

This situation has already slightly dulled the shine on Canadian cars. Nickel plating on bumpers has been cut in half. To compensate for the reduction, the copper backing has been doubled.

Bumpers are the most noticeable nickel-plated items on a car. But there are several hundred others, from a nut and bolt and washer to a radiator grille. How many will be affected is not certain at this time.

"But," said one of Canada's top auto executives, "we might as well reconcile ourselves to this fact: a lot of the nickel now on cars is going to come off."

Taxpayers Make the Decision

IT has been a long time since so much interest was taken in an election for Town Council of Huntingdon, as the one that was held on Thursday of the past week. The weather was far from inducive to going out to cast a ballot, but despite this people turned out all day long to make perhaps one of the record attendances of this kind. Strange, though it may seem, there was no real issue in this election as far as lay on the top, but there must have been an undercurrent among the taxpayers, for they returned all of the retiring aldermen and the Mayor. The decisions made were very definite in the results, there were no close figures that might even cast a doubt.

It would seem that the retiring aldermen and the Mayor were voted back to office on their record of management during the previous two years. The administration given during the period of 1947-49 is still too new in minds of most ratepayers to seek a repetition of this. As long as the electors take such interest in the affairs of the town, there should never be afforded a chance for such a sloppy administration to take effect again

The propaganda that was issued, only had the effect of making the electors more determined that the good administration they had during the previous two years would be retained at least for another like period. The results should have the effect of reassuring the members of the council that providing they give the same brand of administration, that they have the confidence of the electorate. There are several matters which need clearing up and we believe it would be well to place these matters high on the agenda and make every effort to have them completed to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Operation Preparedness!

NO doubt many persons will have read of the pressure being brought to bear on the Government by the Canadian Legion for a program of action in the way of being prepared to meet the threat of war. On Friday evening, a meeting was held at the Canadian Legion Hall, Huntingdon, in the interests of this campaign.

It must be remembered that the members of the Canadian Legion are those who have participated in two world wars and many have served in other wars also. Thus this vast association is qualified to be a judge on what Canada should be doing toward facing up to the prospect of yet a third world war. In previous wars we have waited too long before making preparations and the Canadian Legion feels that this time adequate measures should be taken to be ready if the third world war comes. The members of the Legion know full well how long it takes to adequately train a man for the armed forces—they do not want another Hong Kong. More than ever today the men who served in the armed forces need to be well trained in their specific branch and to be alert and healthy. The Canadian Legion feels that again the government is paying too little attention to preparedness against the possibility of a third world war. While this war may never come about, they feel that we should be preparing on a scale that would be if it had actually taken place. By being prepared in this way, they believe that we would be ready to meet the emergency efficiently if it did come.

We must say there is great logic to this argument and in dealing with the type of enemy that fosters today's wars, we need to be ready and constantly on the alert. It is the unprotected and the unready countries that this enemy attacks first. They feel if they can knock out a country in the first initial blow, they have gained a supreme advantage—and they have. The attack need not come in Europe—it could come right here in our own country. The question in the minds of Legion personnel is, would we be prepared to ward off such an attack with the facilities and men that are presently at our disposal.

The Legion is absolutely aware of the impact that such preparedness will have on the citizens of Canada and that it will mean increases in taxes and other inconveniences. But, they feel it will be worth it in the end, rather than to wait until something actually happens and then to hurriedly arrange defence. They know that the plan will disrupt business to a certain extent, but if war comes it will disrupt it much more. They are urging National registration to find out just where men and women can be placed to be the most useful. They urge establishment of Reserve Training Centres where basic training can be given, so that business will be disrupted to the minimum. The reliance upon volunteer enlistments is something the Legion does not believe in. It is not that they do not believe that men will enlist voluntarily, but that the method is too slow in face of today's circumstances and conditions. Men enlisted in the forces must be trained and they cannot be trained overnight. A minimum of six months is required and even at that, men are not actually fit for combat service in a theatre of war. So highly technical are all branches of the forces today, that special training is necessary for almost every individual.

Looked at in this way, one can easily understand the urgency with which the Legion looks upon the present rate of preparedness progress being made by the government. One can also understand why the Legion through its branches wishes to bring the matter to the public at large and to make them preparedness conscious. They also want to prevent men with little training being sent out to fight an enemy that has had years of training. It is a common fact that Russia has millions of men under arms that are intensively training every day. It is also a common fact that we have no such army at our command. The United States has realized this and Gen. Eisenhower has also brought this fact home to us from Europe. No one wants war, no one wants to go to war, but we must be prepared for it when the indications point to the possibility. We cannot afford in these days to wait until war is upon us. Whether the Legion will get its point over, still remains to be seen.

This is National Health Week

ONE thing that should command the attention of every one is the matter of health. There are some people who are unfortunate in this matter that they are not blessed with good health. Actually, in a sense, health is worth more than money, although it is hard to get along without money in these days. If you do not have good health, it is hard to get along at all. Many a person can be happy with little money as long as they have good health. With good health it is possible to go about one's daily tasks and earn the money that is necessary to keep one living and pay for the food that is required for fuel for the human body.

Thus this week from February 4th to the 10th as set aside for the observance of National Health Week, is of the utmost importance to all of us. Food is of primary importance to good health and so is exercise and the right amount of sleep. We do not need to stuff ourselves with all and any kind of food in order to have good health. What we need is the right kind of food in balanced proportions, with sufficient nutritive value to maintain good health. We also need to beware of contagious diseases, those which can be immunized against by means of toxoids. We need to have medical check-ups periodically to insure that parts of our body are not breaking down and thus avoid danger of losing our good health.

National Health Week is for the purpose of reminding us all of the need to take an inventory on our general health. We should not wait until we have taken a spell of sickness before having a medical check-up. Prevention is what is being preached today and preventive measures often-times prevent a health breakdown that may lay us low for months and even years. Early diagnosis of troubles mean the trouble can often be stopped before it reaches serious proportions. So take stock of yourself now and plan to have a medical check-up during National Health Week and enjoy good health for as long as possible—it is your prize asset.

Keystone of Main Street

THIS week we have received a folder containing a series of advertisements put out by The Canadian Bank of Commerce, depicting the usefulness of the bank in the various towns it serves. Under our present-day set-up it would be hard to conceive what any town would be like without the service of a bank. The series of advertisements show various towns the income of which is derived by some form of industry, fruit growing, lumbering, mining, oil wells, tobacco growing, dairying and so forth. In every case the coming of the bank has meant that the industry and the town have grown up with the bank.

So many transactions are made by the the words—"A Key to Greater Understand- banks and through the banks today that we would be lost if we had to go elsewhere to do business of this kind. Hardly a person today, but does not have some business to do through the bank. A bank account is a credit rating in itself and references are often asked for which includes one from your bank.

This folder of advertisements has been put up in an attractive form and contains ing", and is available to customers of The Canadian Bank of Commerce at any of its branches. The wording accompanying the illustration on each of these advertisements tells the story of the advancement made with the help of the bank. They are known as the Keystone Series and are well worth asking for and studying.

We should be proud of our banks for they are truly a Canadian institution that is part of our daily life.

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken From Gleaner Files

January 2.

A cold snap of unusual severity and duration has prevailed over the whole continent during the past fortnight. For nine days, beginning on the 21st of December, the thermometer ranged from 5 deg. to 28 deg. below zero, the latter degree of cold being experienced on Christmas morning. On several days, high winds were prevalent. In the American cities great privations have been endured by the poor, while most painful records of shipwreck have been reported.

On Christmas Eve a Christmas Tree sprang up in St. Andrew's Church and attracted a large gathering of Sunday School scholars, who highly approved of the vegetable curiosity on account of its fruit, in the shape of nicely bound books and presents of all kinds. The teachers and pastor were not forgotten, and received presents also. The attendance of adults was not large, owing to the intense cold, but a very pleasant evening was spent—tea being being served and speeches made by the minister of the church, the Rev. Mr. McMorrine and Rev. Messrs. Watson and Rogers. The proceeds are to be applied to form a fund for the purchase of an instrument to lead the singing in the Sunday School.

January 9.

Horses that have suffered from the prevailing disease during the past require much more care than is usually bestowed upon this animal. Though they may have recovered, to all appearances, they are not entirely out of danger; a little overwork and a slight cold are likely to bring on a relapse. Such a case occurred in this village a few days since, resulting in the death of a valuable horse owned by Mr. S. C. Wead. Owners cannot be too careful of their horses at this season, if they would preserve them and bring them out sound and healthy in the Spring.

January 16.

We have received the first issue of the Chateaugay Star, price, $2. in advance, or $2.50 if credit is given. It is published by Messrs. Miln and McCollum, both of this village and whom we wish well in their undertaking.

January 23.

We have received a second annual report of the Protestant Institution for Deaf Mutes, Montreal. It is printed by the inmates of the institution and is a very creditable specimen of work. We regret to see by it that the support accorded is very far from what is essential to the maintenance of so indispensable a Charity.

Yesterday a man named Martin Casey was brought from Hemmingford, to the General Hospital, having one of his legs badly crushed. It appears he was chopping in the woods near his residence on Saturday, when a tree fell and caught his leg, causing the injury. A doctor bandaged it up and he was sent into the General Hospital where his limb was amputated below the knee last night. He is doing well.—Montreal Herald, Jan. 22.

Hugh Graham, Esq., of Netherby, Hinchinbrook, killed a pig the other day, which weighed 594 lbs. dressed. It girthed 5 ft., 8 inches and was 6 ft., 11 inches in length. It was rising two years of age.

February 6.

Mr. James Kelly of Godmanchester, informs us he had threshed out thirty bushels of oats, the produce of one bushel of seed. They are Norway Oats and average 40 lbs. to the bushel.

Mr. John Stewart was unanimously elected at a brief sitting of the Council, Mayor of Godmanchester. At a meeting of the Village Council on Monday evening, Dr. Cameron was re-elected Mayor.

February 13.

On Monday evening the division of the Sons of Temperance in this Village gave a Social in their Hall on behalf of certain poor persons. There was a fair attendance and a very pleasant evening was spent, the entertainment consisting mainly of music and readings. The Principal of the Academy, Mr. McGregor, occupied the chair and the proceedings were brought to a close at a timely hour by the Rev. Mr. McMorrine pronouncing the benediction. About $25. were realized, which is all clear, for Mr. Alex. Chalmers with characteristic generosity, supplied the eatables free of charge.

That very rare occurrence, a Golden Anniversary, happened in our village this week. On Tuesday, the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGarvey was appropriately celebrated.

February 27.

We regret to learn that Mr. Jas. Macfarlane, eldest son of the late Peter Macfarlane, of Elgin, has suffered severely from a fire at Appleton City, Missouri, where he was a partner in a lumber yard.

On Thursday last School No. 9, Godmanchester was destroyed by fire; cause unknown. On Monday about midnight, Widow Leahy's house, on the Ridge Road, at the place known as Leahy's Corners, was observed to be on fire. The inmates were asleep and barely escaped. Nothing whatever was saved, furniture, clothing, a quantity of grain and about $100. in money were consumed along with the building and an adjoining outhouse. The buildings were old but the total loss is severe. No insurance. The fire is supposed to have originated from the stovepipes.

Weekly Review

Failure At Lake Success

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

However Lake Success got its name, it is certainly not living up to it, and it is suggested that it be re-christened "Lake Failure." It has been called the "Home of the United Nations," and that too is a misnomer, for the nations that meet there are not united, and they depart cynically singing, "There's no place like home." Far from reconciling the points of view of contending nations, the open discussions of the problems of world peace have driven them further apart, and brought the world to the brink of a greater war than it has ever known.

It seems that the more the nations talk about world peace, the more they emphasize their national and ideological differences. Angry words lead to blows; little ones at first, but followed inevitably by the clash of war. That happened with the League of Nations, the failure of which resulted in the last world conflict. Before the First World War there was a universal Peace Movement promoted by Germany calling for a reduction of armaments at the same time as the Germans were building up their own, as the Russians are doing today. The purpose and the effect of that movement were to create a wave of pacifism and weaken the defence forces of Britain and the Empire.

Philosophical and religious pacifism is almost as old as war itself, but organized efforts to outlaw war date no further back than the middle of the 19th century. Here I quote from one authority: "The first international peace congress was held in London in 1843. Proposals were made for a congress of nations and for international arbitration; military education was denounced, propaganda against war was urged, and the control of the manufacture and sale of munitions was advocated. The second congress, known as the first Universal Peace Congress, met in Brussels in 1848. This congress stressed a general reduction in armaments and a congress of nations. The Second Universal Peace Congress, Paris, 1849, was the most important of the series. It followed Cobden's motion in Parliament that the British government enter into negotiations with foreign governments for a system of arbitration. Victor Hugo proposed a United States of Europe."

There was a third meeting of this congress in Frankfurt in 1850; and a fourth in London in the following year. After that, international peace agitation was interrupted for many years by the Crimean War and the American Civil War. An attempt to revive it in 1867 was frustrated by the French government. A meeting was held in Geneva, however, at which an "International League of Peace and Liberty" was formed. The Franco-Prussian War broke out three years later.

It will be seen that the idea of a United States of Europe did not originate with Mr. Churchill. In fact it was proposed 300 years ago by William Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, in "An Essay Toward the Present and Future Peace of Europe." Being a Quaker, William Penn was a religious pacifist, but he had some very practical ideas, which were apparently adopted by the organizers of the present United Nations. For instance, he suggested: "To avoid a quarrel for precedency, the room may be round, and have divers doors to come in and go out, to prevent exceptions. If the whole number be case in tens, each choosing one, they may preside by turns, to whom all speeches should be addressed, and who should collect the sense of the debates, and state the question for a vote, which, in my opinion, should be by ballot."

Penn makes no mention of a veto, but he foresaw the possibility that "the strongest and richest sovereignty" might never agree, and "there would be danger of corruption more than of force one time or other." If one sovereign state should raise or keep up a "formidable body of troops," he should be "obliged forthwith to reform or reduce them; lest anyone, by keeping up a great body of troops, should surprise his neighbor." This, says Penn, would be offset by a "small force in every other sovereignty."

Although he was a pacifist, Penn evidently did not believe in complete disarmament. If he were living today he would probably agree with the Atlantic Pact and the defence preparation in Europe to checkmate any surprise move by Soviet Russia, and thus "vanquish any such fear."

Beauharnois

BEAUHARNOIS — Mr. Andrew Turnbull, Mr. Jacques Turnbull, Mr. Jules La Rose, Mr. M. E. Elliott and Mr. Hector Charrette participated in the Bonspiel held at Quebec City last week.

Mrs. J. J. Marchand held a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Marilyn P. Spencer, Tuesday evening. The party took place at the home of Mrs. Andrew Kokko. Spring flowers were used in decorating as were wedding bells in white, a pink parasol with pink and white streamers making a most effective background. A corsage of white carnations was presented to Marilyn on behalf of her hostesses. The gifts were placed in a sleigh covered in red and silver with a pony pulling it. At the back of the sleigh there was a small trailer which was a work of art with windows, curtains, a bridal couple in view and a ski peeking out of a window. There were many lovely gifts. Delicious refreshments were served and everyone wished success to the bride-elect.

Annual Meeting Trinity Church

The report of Trinity Church was presented at the annual vestry meeting held recently. Rev. W. G. Walsh, the rector, presided.

Although operations for the year resulted in a deficit of $164.20, all obligations were met. Collections and donations were $400.00 less than in 1949. The new heating system, financed by special donations, is a decided improvement.

The Women's Auxiliary reported that a number of social events had resulted in a substantial sum being raised for the church funds. Sunday School attendance had been maintained at a high level.

The following officers were elected: rector's warden, J. A. Gillians; people's warden, R. G. Tait; envelope secretary, J. C. Courtney; delegates to Synod, R. W. Louthood and M. Walsh; auditors, T. J. Gilliland and H. B. Porter. Members of the select vestry are: S. A. Meighan, J. A. Gillians, R. G. Tait, J. C. Courtney, R. W. Louthood, M. Walsh, W. MacLeod, L. Fuller and two members of the W.A.

Special good wishes to Mr. H. Taylor, of Ottawa, who celebrated his 80th birthday last week. Mr. Taylor is a guest of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Taylor.

The Teens' and Twenties' Club held their first social event of the season on Friday evening in the school house. Opening with a Barn Dance everyone enjoyed themselves immensely. The next meeting will be Friday, February 16. If weather permits, a sleigh drive will be arranged.

WINTER IN NORTH

MELITA, Man., (CP)—Two Mallard ducks, a drake and a hen which apparently decided not to go south for the winter, were seen in the Reston district early in the New Year.

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA, (CP)—The fourth session of Canada's 21st parliament opened with a bang last week.

Top news, in a whirl of front-page developments, was the statement by Prime Minister St. Laurent that the government does not view conscription as desirable at this stage of the world situation.

The Prime Minister told the Commons that his government believes the big need in building up defences of Western Europe now is for arms rather than troops. That condition could change, but if it did change, government policy would be based on the type of Canadian contribution that could be of "actual effective value" and not on sentimental, racial, or religious grounds.

"To some sincere, patriotic Canadians it would appear that the first and most important thing to do would be to have in force in this country some form of selective service, some form of conscription of manpower, to place large groups of armed forces in being and to place them in the field ready to meet an enemy.

"There are others who believe, with equal sincerity, that to resort at the present time to compulsory military service would be disastrous to the Canadian economy.

"The view of the government—and it is my own—does not coincide with either of these extreme points of view. My attitude in this respect has been, I realize, a source of some uneasiness to some good Canadians throughout this country because of my race, the part of Canada from which I come, my religious beliefs and so forth.

"But I think I can assume them that they are quite mistaken, and those who are not my friends or supporters in my own native province have long realized that."

He quoted an editorial in Montreal Le Devoir which said previous Liberal governments had given anti-conscription pledges and which added: "Mr. Louis St. Laurent was elected in 1942 without concealing his opinions. He has not changed since. His convictions are all the more dangerous for being more honest and generally more sincere. Mr. St. Laurent will resist a conscription measure only so long as he believes it will be inadvisable or ineffective. In principle he has no objection to it."

Although he said he "did not go along" with the Le Devoir editorial, "I was not at all offended at the terms of that article."

Opposition Motions

The opening of parliament and the throne speech debate brought these early developments:

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, moved want-of-confidence, contending that the government had failed to give the country leadership, failed to mobilize enough forces to meet international obligations and failed to combat the high cost of living.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, censured the government for Canada's support of the United States resolution calling on the United Nations to brand Red China as an aggressor in Korea.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, urged that Canadians be aroused to "the fullest possible realization of the dangers" facing them. Only thus could they be expected to rise to the effort needed if free nations were to survive.

The Speech from the Throne was one of the most urgent in years. It heralded the end of the business-as-usual era and indicated the cabinet's intention to declare an emergency and to seek the powers considered necessary to meet it.

A bill will be brought down shortly to authorize Canadian participation in Gen. Eisenhower's European Atlantic-Pact command. Defence expenditures this year are expected to run to $1,500,000,000.

A bill to establish a department of defence production will be introduced shortly. The department will act as procurement agency for the forces and for Canada's Allies.

Money will be asked for aid to the undeveloped countries of Asia, to help show that free nations "have no aggressive intentions and are resolved to aid in constructive endeavors to improve the standards of human welfare" in such countries.

Constitutional Question

Correspondence between the federal government and the provinces — tabled just after the House opened—shows that only two provinces—Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island—have agreed so far to the constitutional amendment which would enable the federal authorities to inaugurate a contributory old-age pensions program.

The same program would permit the provinces to enter the field of indirect sales taxes.

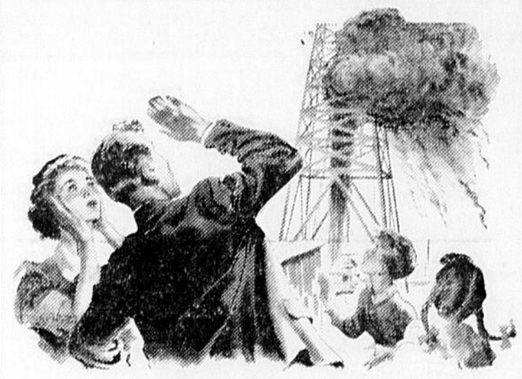

All provinces must agree to the amendments before the government can go ahead with proposals made to the federal-provincial fiscal conference last December.

At that conference, the federal government said that if the provinces agreed to a constitutional change, it would inaugurate a contributory pension plan under which pensions of $40 a month would be paid to all persons 70 and over regardless of means. It also offered to share 50-50 the cost of pensions to needy persons between 65 and 69.

Will they ever strike oil in your back yard?

An exciting thought, isn't it? But of course you know the odds are hopelessly against your being that lucky. In fact, you don't expect life to hand you even a very small fortune on a platter. Or do you?

Take old-age benefits, for instance. Undoubtedly many older people really need help. But no over all security plan is going to provide all the income you and your family will ever need in the future. Things just aren't going to be that rosy.

Five million Canadians, among whom you are probably one, want and expect security and independence in their later years. And they are planning for it now, in a way that suits their own individual and family needs.

These far-sighted men and women are enjoying more of the good things of life than ever before, and at the same time protecting their loved ones now and building security for their old-age with life insurance.

Surely you want to help build this kind of future security for yourself and your family. Nearly 5 million Canadian life insurance policyholders are doing it now!

Thanks

The Official Board of the United Church wish to express publicly their deep appreciation of the services of Fire Chief L'Heureux and the brigade in his charge, during the recent fire in the Church Basement. Not only did they answer the alarm promptly, but went about their task in a very efficient manner causing a minimum of damage to the building. But for their services, it is quite possible the Church would have been lost.

4. Newspaper advertising assures quick, thorough and commercial dealer distribution and dealer good will because retailers are willing to sell products advertised direct to their own customers.
5. Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers to tell where their products may be bought.
6. Newspaper advertising can be started or stopped overnight, can be prepared to meet sudden developments and to obtain immediate results.
7. Newspaper advertising enables manufacturers to check advertising results and costs in every market which they enter.
8. Newspaper advertising costs less than any other kind.

With good old-fashioned ways
Quietly sitting in her rocker

Where the bells sweetly chime
Eternal rest and peace".

The Late Miss A. Stewart

COVEY HILL—The death of Miss Alzina Stewart occurred at the Verdun Hospital, early Monday morning, January 29th. Two weeks earlier she had been taken ill with pneumonia, and was visited by her nephew, Mr. Oakland Rennie.

The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at the Union Church, Covey Hill, Rev. Mr. Andrews, Anglican rector of Trinity Church, Havelock, officiating. Interment took place in the churchyard near the grave of Miss Stewart's brother.

The pallbearers were W. A. Churchill, Thos. and Geo. Gowdey and C. W. Potter. The service was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rennie of Ormstown, Mrs. Lavina Rennie of Sweetsburg, and several relatives from Malone, N.Y., besides the relatives, old neighbours, and friends of Covey Hill, Franklin, and Havelock.

The late Miss Stewart was a woman of great energy and enterprise who, at an advanced age, was still living alone in her own home, and still able and willing to go to a neighbor's in a time of need. Continuing to care for a few head of livestock and poultry. It was a familiar sight to see her drive out with "Maude", her chestnut mare, on business errands, or to help in the work of local women's church organizations or the Red Cross. By these her work at sewing and knitting was greatly appreciated. But the nearly tragic accident in which she was severely burned compelled her to stay in hospital for many months, and left her in a sadly shattered state of health. She was a member of the Church of England.

Fresh cases of severe colds and different forms of influenza are reported here.

ST. VALENTINE — FEB. 14 .

In the old days Valentines were of the heart and dart, love and dove variety, wonderful creations of lace paper and satin puffings—love messages to be taken seriously. For were they not almost proposals? And did they not come high of price? Later the prices came down, but as they were now in reach of every one, the sentiments expressed became strickly sweet and correspondingly insincere. Then came that horror—the dreadful penny caricature—which nearly killed the custom of sending valentines. However, there has been a revival of the valentine of old, not so elaborate for we are beginning to give the day a new meaning, to extend our valentine giving to everyone.

Home made valentines carry our good wishes and show that time and thought have been spent in remembering our friends. There are many pleasant and unique Valentine gifts, only trifles, but capable of giving a glow of goodfellowship to two persons. It may be only a long and "newsy" letter to a distant friend, perhaps bearing a little red heart stuck on an upper corner of the sheet of paper. A snapshot in a heartshaped holder is a valentine which could be used oftener and would be a reminder for months, even years, to come.

Let us spread cheer and encouragement by sending valentines. They are not like Christmas gifts or birthday presents which too often carry obligations. One valentine will bring joy to some lonely soul.

Ormstown

ORMSTOWN—The regular meeting of the Ormstown W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. Jessie McNeil. Although the most stormy day of the winter fourteen members were present.

Mrs. McClenaghan in charge of the devotional period opened with the Doxology, followed by the reading of a few verses from the 5th chapter of Romans. Paul knew hardship and trial, he knew real suffering but he gloried in the fact that as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father so also we shall walk in the newness of life.

We were reminded that only a short time previously our beloved President had been with us and only a few hours later in the midst of her busy, helpful life heard the Angel's message, The Lord hath need of Thee, and she hastened to answer the summons.

We would not grieve because of the promotion that has come to our fellow worker but we would pray most earnestly that among our number some one will realize that it is her opportunity to take up this task and carry on in order that the result of the work already done may not be lost but carried forward to more effective result.

As it was Miss Frances Willard's birthday, Miss Lydia Bazin with a group of members gave a short sketch of some of the outstanding incidents of her life, beginning with the fact that there was a United States stamp issued bearing Miss Willard's face and the title was Frances Willard Educater. Her country honoured her memory greatly in this way.

Miss Willard organized the first women's international society. Her friend, Mrs. Leavitt was the first round the world W.C.T.U. Missionary, leaving in 1884 for Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia and Japan. Everywhere she was received with open arms by missionaries who welcomed her message. The guiding hand of God is seen that all her expenses were provided for. Frances Willard and Lady Henry Somerset were pioneers in securing aid for the persecuted Armenian refugees, of whom the Turks massacred 50,000 in one year. In 1896, 5000 victims escaped with their lives but bearing tokens of hideous suffering, to France. Miss Willard and Lady Somerset hastened to the spot. They asked General Booth to help them. They secured an old charity, hospital three hundred years old, damp and musty but with a supply of fresh water. Aided by a young missionary from Turkey, they brought the starving refugees here. Huge kettles of soup were prepared and at the sight of such food an aged Armenian priest said: Surely this is the kitchen of Jesus Christ.

The business of the meeting was then taken up. After some discussion it was decided to continue the subscription to the Bulletin.

A committee of Miss Lydia Bazin, Mrs. Greig, Mrs. Patton was appointed to secure the essay prizes.

Nominating Committee: Miss Black, Mrs. B. M. Johnston, Miss Maw.

The March meeting to meet with Mrs. E. McCartney.

HOW TO CHOOSE AND USE ONIONS

What is it that, if you have them, you weep and, if you don't have them, you weep? You are right — it is onions. Just think how you would miss onions if you did not have them to use when preparing your favourite dishes. Well, the Consumer Section of the Canada Department of Agriculture assure us there is no need to worry about missing onions because they are in plentiful supply at the present time. Carrying a reasonable price tag in any grocery store you are almost sure to find today the yellow globe type of onion which is so well known to Canadian consumers.

In many homes, storage space is good enough to allow the purchase of a large supply of onions at one time. A dry, cool, well ventilated storage space is all that is needed. Here they may be kept for the entire winter season. Of course, they should be of good quality when they are put away so buy onions which are firm, dry and well shaped. Be sure that they are not sprouted, peeled nor have root growth and that they are free of any damage due to disease, insects or frost.

Even the most careful planner is bound to have some food left over from a meal occasionally. Sometimes such left-overs are eaten up as the in-between-meal-snack but, usually the homemaker who is a good manager wants to use these odds and ends at another meal. A few of the more common left-overs such as cooked meats or fish, macaroni and cheese, and cooked vegetables make ideal fillings for baked stuffed onions which are prepared this way. Par-boil the onions for about twenty minutes, allowing a large one for each person; then scoop out the centres, saving them to chop into the filling. Fill the onions with any of the above mentioned, well-seasoned fillings and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 F., for about 30 minutes. When served with a tomato, cheese or cream sauce baked stuffed onions make a delicious supper dish.

Many soups are definitely improved by the addition of onions. French Onion Soup has such a wonderful flavour and Cream of Onion Soup is so appetizing that it is somewhat of a mystery why homemakers do not serve these two soups more often.

FRENCH ONION SOUP

2 tablespoons butter
1¼ to 2½ cups thinly sliced onions (depending upon desired thickness)
5 cups meat stock, canned bouillon or diluted bouillon cubes
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup finely grated old Canadian Cheddar cheese
Croutons or French bread

Melt butter in a saucepan, add onions and sauté until lightly browned about 5 minutes. Add stock and simmer, covered about 20 minutes or until onions are just tender. season with salt and pepper. Pour into soup bowls, sprinkle with grated cheese and place croutons on top. If using French bread place slices around edge of soup. This recipe will make approximately 6 8-ounce cups of soup.

QUICK CREAM OF ONION SOUP

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
6 cups hot milk
2 teaspoons salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup finely grated raw onion

Melt butter in top of double boiler, blend in flour. Gradually add the heated milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. WAR POTENTIAL OF PRIMARY TEXTILES IMPORTANT IN DEFENCE PLANS OF CANADA

Their tremendous production potential for all-out war, proved in the last global conflict, places Canada's primary textile mills among the Dominion's top-ranking defence industries.

The nearly 800 plants become, in war, the only major source of textiles available to our armed forces, our munitions industries, defence workers and other civilians.

From 1939 through 1945, Canadian primary textile mills produced for the armed forces, more than 400 million pounds of military cotton goods, 65 million yards of military wool cloth, all the rayon and nylon cloth required for man-carrying and flare-carrying parachutes, 19 million pairs of socks, 6½ million under-garments, 2 million sweaters, 4 millions blankets, gloves, berets, mufflers and scores of other articles. These provided for the needs of the Canadian services and substantial quantities for our allies.

The cotton industry turned out materials for uniforms, under-clothing, haver-sacks, bedding, tarpaulins, tentage, tires, electrical insulation, anti-gas equipment, medical supplies, nets.

There was nylon clothing, parachutes, tentage, tire cord.

Rayon was produced for tires, exploder bags, parachutes.

Wool mills produced material for bedding, uniforms, munitions.

All these were for war. The mills kept up a steady stream of goods for civilians, too.

There was no plant turnover delay in 1939, nor would there be delay in a new emergency, since wartime and peacetime textiles are turned out on the same machines, by the same Canadian men and women workers. There is no need for special "tooling up" as in many industries; the transformation from peace to war production can be almost over night.

As in the stress of the Second World War it could be expected that any new global conflict would bring into play new and unexpected uses for cotton, wool, silk, rayon and nylon.

Demands upon the Canadian primary textile industry which might arise out of full or partial mobilization are still a largely unknown quantity, but would undoubtedly be great. Once again it could be expected that the industry would have to fill practically all the demands of Canada's war effort as well as to assist our allies.

And there is every reason to believe that the more than 90,000 men and women in the primary textile plants would pool their efforts with the single-minded purpose of producing to their utmost in the shortest possible time.

Dundee

DUNDEE—Motorists who travel from this area to Cornwall and other points might be interested to know that the Roosevelt International Bridge Route between Rooseveltown and Cornwall carried an all time high record of traffic during 1950 according to M. A. Seguin, general manager.

During the year 214,729 motor vehicles and 690,919 passengers crossed the three-span bridge. In 1949 there were 195,708 cars and 654,992 passengers and that had been a record.

The number of vehicles entering Canada across the bridge last year was 102,278 compared with 93,020 in 1949. Vehicles entering the U.S. in 1950 totaled 112,001 compared to 102,688 for the preceding year. It was also noted that tourist traffic reached a record volume last year also.

The recent sub zero cold spell of weather does not incline one to think that an early spring is in the offing but judging by Easter coming on March 25, one of the earliest dates, possibly it could be. Only four times in the last 150 years has Ash Wednesday come on an earlier date than Feb. 7. According to statistics, in 1818, Ash Wednesday fell on Feb. 4, and again in 1845, 1913 on Feb. 5 and Feb. 6, in 1856. In the years 1883, 1894 and 1940 it occurred on the same date as this year.

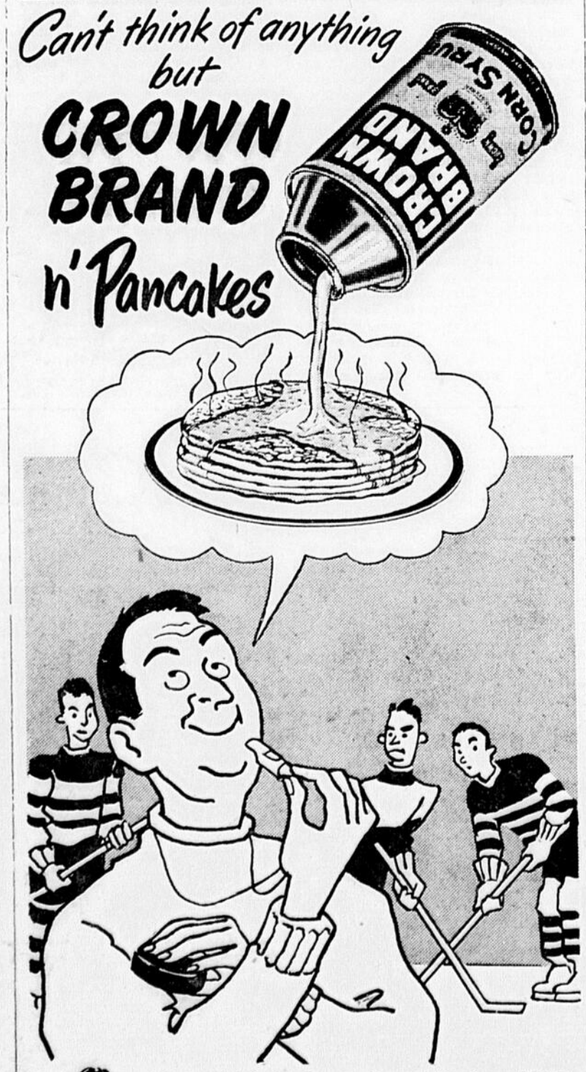

In 1950, Ash Wednesday fell on Feb. 22 and Easter Sunday on April 9. That orbed maiden, the Moon is the cause of all this as the dictionary tells us that Easter falls on the first Sunday after the full moon on or next after the vernal equinox on March 21. Counting back from the previous Wednesday before Easter Sunday, Ash Wednesday is the 7th Wednesday before that date. Whether Milady and her escort wear their Easter bonnets and finery in comfort on March 25 will depend largely what the weatherman has cooked up for us this spring.

Recently read an article by a Washington correspondent and although the names and setting were distinctly American the situation in the column entitled two schools of thought might easily apply in this country of ours, Canada. Ex-President Hoover it seems by his speeches would have the U.S. crawl into their hole, pull their two oceans over themselves and let the rest of the world go hang. John Foster Dulles, a staunch Republican, would offer our military and moral strength to save Western civilization from the onslaught of Communist barbarians. So we in this country, in common with our neighbours to the south of us, and all freedom loving nations must make up our minds on the question. Time is running out and quickly. The question, do we take to our holes like rats and mice and as the saying goes pull the hole in after us, or do we unitedly endeavour to defend our free institutions and ways of life by every means in our power? Unfortunately there are here and in every country in national life, men of little faith who try to stir up confusion by their critical attitude of everything. They would have us pull out of Europe, abandon our solemn pledges, our moral commitments to other free nations and live unto ourselves. As an example of what the U. Nations' influence can do, it can be noted that even in the extremity of the military situation at Hungnam in Korea, the U.N. and American forces did not abandon the friendly Korean citizens but evacuated 100,000 of them along with the military forces. No, despite what all detractors of the democratic and capitalistic way of life would have us believe, we of the free nations do not want to assume the qualities of the carrion buzzard or the thieving, boisterous crow but would extend the hand of peace to all nations of the world willing to open their doors and let freedom in.

Cotton Operations Up

Operations in Canadian cotton textile mills showed a marked increase in 1950, reaching the highest point since the peak of 1940-42. Total bale opening last year were 454,970, an increase of 70,981 over 1949. The 1942 total was 496,102.

Last year's increased activity was due mainly to stronger demand following start of war in Korea.

Aubrey-Riverfield

AUBREY-RIVERFIELD — The Aubrey-Riverfield W.I. held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Reddick, Howick, on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 1st, at 2 p.m. The President, Mrs. Robert Templeton presided and after repeating the Ode and Club Woman's Creed, the members answered the Roll Call with a St. Valentines verse. Twenty-one were present. Several letters of appreciation for Christmas cards were read. On motion by Mrs. E. Reddick, and seconded by Mrs. Milne, the following committee will prepare the slate of Officers for 1951-52, convenor, Mrs. Ewart Orr, Mrs. Harold Robertson, and Mrs. John Gruer. The collection was taken by Anne Reddick. The following items were given by convenors—Home Economics gave hints on washing chenille rugs, using orange crates for wet rubbers, etc. — when borrowing books, cover them, date when borrowed, then return promptly to owner when read. Education convenor read the interesting history of the founding of the Steinberg Stores some 33 years ago by mother Steinberg and her five sons, on the small sum of $200. Welfare and Health emphasized the need of Vitamin D., in childrens diet; if feeling tired, check on your own eating habits. Mrs. John Gruer read the interesting paper, entitled "Behind Closed Doors", as written by Mrs. Marjorie Dick McGuffin of Vancouver, who is both deaf and blind. She tells of her own experiences and bringing up her family. Mrs. Harry Angell gave a lovely poem, "Well, Hello". This poem was also written by a blind writer. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. Ralph Reddick, Mrs. Ern. Reddick and Mrs. Andrew Allen. The meeting was closed with the National Anthem.

Mrs. Graham, of Montreal, spent Sunday with her daughter Sheila, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Orr.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Easton, and Mr. and Mrs. Ken. Allen, spent Saturday in Montreal, where the men attended the Milk Shippers meeting.

Mrs. Little, of Montreal, is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Russell Gruer and Mr. Gruer.

Sorry to report that Mr. Andrew Bennie is not as well as his friends would wish, and it is hoped that he will soon regain his usual health.

The sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gruer on the death of their infant son on Sunday Jan. 28th.

"COME ON IN, SON, AND meet the manager!"

When you take over the farm, one of these days, you'll want to talk to him. You can discuss your affairs in a friendly way, as I have done. And you'll find he knows a lot.

He knows we farmers need bank credit—sometimes to put in a crop, sometimes to take off a harvest. If we need market information, he can get it for us.

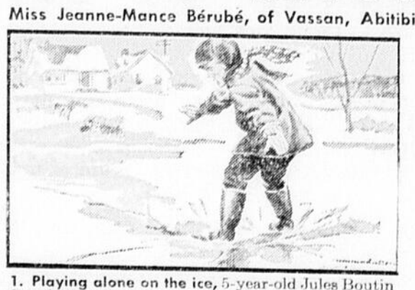

Remember when we electrified the farm?
Our bank manager made me the loan.
He's backed us up that way for years,
helping us to improve our stock, increase production.

And that's what our bank manager is there for—to help you and me to manage.
He's a good man to know.

GIRL TEACHER BRAVES THIN ICE TO RESCUE SMALL BOY

Miss Jeanne-Mance Bérubé, of Vassan, Abitibi, Que., crawls over treacherous Lacorne River.

1. Playing alone on the ice, 5-year-old Jules Boutin found himself well out towards the middle of the river before he heard an ominous cracking sound. Sensing the danger, he began to retrace his steps — but it was too late! The ice gave away under him . . . and he plunged into the frigid water. Bobbing to the surface, he grabbed the edge of the ice and cried for help with all his might.

2. Miss Bérubé, an 18-year-old school teacher, was leaving her home and heard the child's cries. In the distance she could see his small head above the water. She cried out "Hold on . . . I'm coming to get you!" . . . and then ran out to his rescue. But as she crossed the thin ice, water began to seep through to the surface. Frantically she called to her mother to bring her a rake.

3. After her mother had done this, the gallant young teacher got down on her hands and knees and crawled the rest of the way over the water-covered, treacherous surface. Finally she managed to reach the boy, who grasped the other end of the rake. Soon both were safe on shore. We proudly pay tribute to this brave Canadian girl through the presentation of The Dow Award.

THE Dow AWARD

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects Award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

CANADIAN PRESS — NEWS SPOTLIGHT

The Quebec roads department announced at the week-end that highway travel along the St. Lawrence north shore is possible between Quebec, Three Rivers and Montreal despite the collapse of the Duplessis bridge at Three Rivers on Jan. 31.

A ferry service was operating every two hours between Three Rivers and Cap de la Madeleine. All vehicles except heavy trucks were using a detour through Shawinigan Falls. Big vehicles were using south shore roads.

The final check showed a death toll of four in the collapse of four spans into the St. Maurice river. Mayor J. A. Mongrain of Three Rivers called it a "catastrophe." Many theories were advanced as to the cause, but the recovery of the sunken spans seems necessary before the cause can be determined. One Toronto engineer advanced a theory that the metal's contraction due to a sudden cold snap could have been responsible.

Premier Duplessis told the Quebec legislative assembly that he believed "sabotage" was responsible. He said however that his information was not complete. He said that a public inquiry would be ordered if the preliminary government inquiry indicates the need for it. There had been a brief debate in the legislature a year ago after fissures in the steelwork showed following a cold snap, but these had been repaired.

Chinese Aggression

The United Nations general assembly, by the overwhelming vote of 44 to 7, passed a resolution finding Communist China guilty of aggression in Korea. Sir Gladwyn Jebb, Britain's delegate, agreed with the others in the majority camp that the U.N. should establish its moral position by condemning China, but he warned the U.N. to take it easy on the question of sanctions until every effort has been made for a peaceful settlement.

The British delegate told the assembly that Britain has "the gravest doubts whether any punitive measures can be discovered which are not dangerous, double-edged or merely useless, or which will materially assist our brave troops now fighting in Korea."

The action promptly brought a blast from the Red regime in Peiping. Red China's premier Chou En-Lai said the resolution was simply a manoeuvre of the U.S. government. Australia's delegate to the U.N. described the Chinese statement as "perfect nonsense."

38th Parallel Again

A foreign office spokesman in London said Britain believes there should be a definite agreement in advance, on whether or not United Nations forces should again cross the 38th parallel in Korea. It was the first advance north of the parallel last December that brought big Chinese Communist forces into opposition. At Washington a State department spokesman denied reports that a decision had already been taken not to cross the boundary again.

Truman's Hope

President Truman says "there is good reason to hope" that another world war can be avoided "if we can get over the present crisis successfully."

In a speech at Philadelphia last week-end he said the United States "cannot lead the forces of freedom from behind."

The job in hand, he said, "is to restrain aggression before it bursts into another world war. I think we can do this. We can't be sure, of course, but there is good reason to hope for success." He appealed for patience and leadership from the American people in dealing with Allies abroad.

Western Confidence

General Dwight Eisenhower has succeeded in reviving the confidence of the United States congress and press in the ability of the North Atlantic powers to defend Western Europe against any Russian attack.

The North Atlantic supreme commander has also convinced them of the Western European nations' will to work, arm and fight in their own defence. He has accomplished this in an almost non-stop series of public and semi-public appearances, supported by his immense personal power and prestige, since his return from a three-week tour of Europe.

Eisenhower is not expected to reveal, not even to secret sessions of Congressional committees, details of the forces which will be made available by each of the North Atlantic treaty partners. But he has mentioned an over-all objective of some 40 army divisions, or about 700,000 troops, for the combined defence force.

Other Atlantic powers have indicated this might be made up of 20 French divisions, six or more American and not less than four British, with the balance coming from other North Atlantic powers and Western Germany.

U.S. Troubles

The United States has banned the use of aluminum in more than 200 categories of non-defence products. The curtailment announced at Washington last week-end is designed to assure adequate supplies for military needs. Aluminum is stopped for a long list of manufactured goods ranging from cocktail shakers to motorcar hardware. Still further cuts are promised on June 1.

Meantime federal court action and urgings from the White House last Saturday had failed to bring any indication of a back-to-work move by railroad switchmen. A large part of the country's transportation was crippled and key industries hit by the five-day walkout. The stoppage was not exactly a strike, but was similar to the stoppage in December when rail workers reported themselves "sick." The government seeks to show that the work stoppage was a concerted action, and that the "sickness" was confined to members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The government is pressing a court action against the union for contempt.

Korean Campaign

Allied forces made small gains against strong Communist resistance in Korea and last week-end were reported less than seven miles from Seoul. That fire-blackened capital of South Korea had been lost, re-won and lost again since the invasion from North Korea last June. Heavy fighting was going on in several sectors and Tokyo observers expressed belief that battle developments of the next few days would determine whether the United Nations forces could again reach the 38th parallel.

FIRE SCENES AT UNITED CHURCH FIRE, HUNTINGDON

The two scenes above were taken during the fire at the United Church, Huntingdon, on Wednesday, January 31st. The top scene shows the seat of the fire reached and under control. The lower scene shows the seat being located under the furnace. The fire, which could have been much worse, was arrested with a minimum amount of damage and loss due to the efforts of the fire brigade under the direction of Chief L'Heureux, who is seen in the top picture.

Obituary

The Late Miss M. Buchanan

The community was saddened to hear of the death of Miss Mildred Buchanan at the Belisle Nursing Home, in Montreal. Miss Buchanan was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buchanan, of Russelltown, and was the last of the family. She spent her winters in Montreal and summers at her home at Havelock Corners. She had been in poor health for a number of years. Two brothers, Ernest and Christopher; two sisters, Mrs. John Rollitt and Miss Kate Buchanan, survive to mourn her loss; also a number of nieces and nephews. The funeral was held from the Jos. Wray Chapel. Burial was in Mount Royal Cemetery.

HOME CARE PLAN

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—The "home care" plan recently instituted in Canada by a Montreal hospital is being watched with interest by health authorities and particularly the Victorian Order of Nurses. The superintendent of the order, Miss Christine Livingstone, in a local address mentioned the plan as one of the new fields open for pioneering by the Victorian Order.

Dundee

DUNDEE — Mr. and Mrs. Jack MacDonald and daughter Gale, also Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McNicol of McMasterville, Que., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNicol. Master Winston McNicol returned home with his father and mother after spending a week with his uncle and aunt.

Mrs. Eleanor McNicol is spending a couple of weeks at Fort Covington, N.Y., helping care for Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, who are both ill.

Mr. and Mrs. George Irvine of Williamstown, Ont., spent Sunday with Mrs. Irvine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McNicol. Mr. Irvine's brother, Mr. Alex Irvine and his wife, also of Williamstown, had the misfortune to have their home destroyed by fire early last Wednesday morning. Mrs. Irvine, arising only a short while after her husband had started the morning chores, smelled smoke and ran to the barn in her night clothes to tell her husband. When he returned it was too late to do anything but get their baby out of the house. The dwelling was only four years old, and is considered a total loss. The value of the home is estimated at $10,000. with $4,000. insurance coverage. The cause of the fire apparently is unknown.

In Appreciation

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all who supported me at the polls and worked in my behalf in the recent election.

Having been elected an Alderman for the Town of Huntingdon, I assure the citizens that I will do my best to work in their behalf at all times and to the best of my ability to see that the affairs of the town are conducted in a just and suitable manner.

May we all strive and work for the best interests of the town.

Sincerely yours,
J. DOUGLAS McGERRIGLE

THE GRANGE NEWSLETTER
by E. Payson Smith

Draft boards throughout this and other states have the responsibility of determining which young men shall be taken into the armed forces under Selective Service. They may defer any whom they deem "necessary" to the "national health, safety and interest". In a first of the year message to all local board members, Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, made this point plain, in view of the fact that many young men had been drafted who were filling vitally necessary jobs. The problem of farm help is getting increasingly serious. Along with other "necessary" occupations, Draft Boards are being asked to carefully examine all men of selective service age with this in mind. Also it should be pointed out that all young men who anticipate being called should gather all facts to substantiate any claim to being essential.

Grange, and we believe this feeling is shared by other farm organizations, is not asking for preferential treatment, but if food goals are to be met, many "irreplaceable" men will have to be deferred.

Tree Planting Project to be carried out by all members of Juvenile Granges in the state, is being announced by Mrs. Ruth Thew, state superintendent. Although details will be sent by her to the Granges and there will be an article on the subject in the official Grange Magazine, we can tell you that it will be planned for a five-year period with from 75 to 100 acres planted each year. Land will be furnished by the state, in cooperation with the Conservation Department, and be properly marked, adjacent to paved roads where the projects may be seen. Roughly, the land will lie west of the Adirondacks and Catskills and in neither of those state parks. Each juvenile member will be asked to raise about twenty cents to finance the program. More later.

Babcock Memorial, in the form of a permanent endowment in the field of nutrition, has been created at Cornell in tribute to the late H. Edward Babcock's devotion to the improvement of agriculture and the nation's diet. About forty per cent of the half-million dollar goal has been reached, and Henry Sherwood, Master of New York State Grange, as a member of the sponsoring committee, will be active in raising the required funds among farm people of the northeastern states.

MODEL ARENAS

PRESTON, Ont. (CP)—Ten miniature model arenas have been placed at strategic spots throughout the town to aid the fund for the new arena. The "piggy bank" miniatures are a novel idea developed by the special events committee.

A Spider In A Small Town Paper....

● Many years ago Mark Twain was editor of a small-town newspaper. A reader wrote in saying that he had found a spider in his paper, and wanted to know if that was an omen of good or bad luck. Mark Twain answered: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward".

● Retailing has come a long way since those days, and the art of advertising has undergone great development.

● The growth of the chain systems did much to encourage retail advertising. The chains advertised their merits in the search for trade — and the independents did the same thing in order to hold and to expand their own business. This was good for all concerned — consumers, stores, and newspapers.

● Salesmanship is a driving force in keeping the Canadian economy running. Advertising is the heart of it.
