Parking notice Monday

A notice of motion to amend the city's traffic by-law, the start of procedures to impose new overnight parking regulations, will be presented to city council on Monday evening.

The notice — plus any response from citizens who have read the recent "mayor's letter" describing the regulations — is expected to be the highlight of what appears to be an unusually lengthy city council agenda.

Other items include the official appointment of Sidney G. Ashford as director of the new Public Safety Unit, the official announcement of the resignation of Ald. Melbourne E. Nixon, a by-law to regulate private swimming pools, and a notice of motion to adopt the national fire code for all new construction in Westmount.

Council is expected to increase its list of persons authorized to ticket and order the towing of vehicles from city streets to include the new "public safety" personnel, and to approve the purchase of four automobiles for the new department.

On the financial side, a new

TAKING A DIVE FOR CANADA: Westmount held its Canada Week Splash Bash last Wednesday evening, highlight of a full day of festivities for youngsters organized by the recreation department. One diver, Jean-Jacques Furst, was appropriately attired for the event, and his jumping style brought the flag into full view. Story, more photos, on page eight.

City, veterinarian seeking cause of birds' death in park

By LAUREEN SWEENEY

What's killing the pigeons and birds in Westmount?

That's what city authorities, police and local residents are asking this week after reports suddenly sprung up this weekend of an unusually large number of dead and dying pigeons and birds being found, particularly in the area of Westmount Park and neighboring streets.

Neighbor hears break

While residents of a Rosemount crescent home slept peacefully shortly before midnight last Wednesday, someone broke a window in their patio door.

A neighbor heard the noise and phoned the victims who reported that their air conditioner had muffled the sound of the breaking glass. Police said the incident had taken place between 11:57 pm and midnight.

Exclusive to THE EXAMINER

GEORGE Springate has decided not to stand again for the National Assembly at the next Quebec general election, which he expects will be in October.

Even if voting is delayed until next year, the 42-year-old deputy for Westmount is determined to give politics a rest—thus opening the riding to a scramble of hopefuls to succeed him in this Liberal-safe seat.

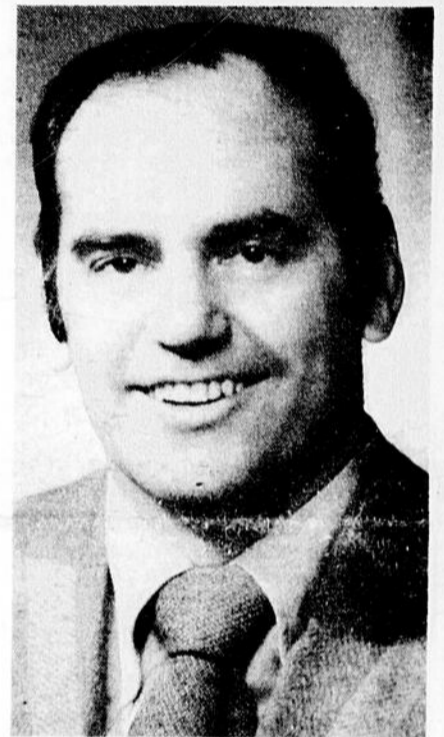

The surprise announcement (this is it; see also back page) will leave the constituency party organization, relatively inactive since Mr. Springate agreed to run here in November 1976 following the persona non grata stand-down of Kevin Drummond, once again needing to choose a standard bearer.

The Westmount member said that he had privately informed Liberal Leader Claude Ryan of his intention two years ago, shortly after the latter's selection to that position.

Mr. Springate, prior to his one Westmount term, twice represented at Quebec the riding of Ste. Anne, which embraces Point St. Charles, where he was first elected in April 1970, making him now the eighth-ranking member of the National Assembly in seniority.

Should he have sought re-election, as it generally has been expected he would, it is believed he would have been returned by Westmount handily. Also, he would have been entitled to consideration for a cabinet post in a Ryan government.

However, some put Mr. Springate down as a maverick who might have chafed under the disciplines of cabinet solidarity and forced removal by ministerial responsibilities from his preoccupation with individuals and groups in his constituency. The brand of Ryan leadership also may not be in accord with the Springate style of "riding before party," which did not endear him to Robert Bourassa, before Mr. Ryan.

George Springate

Asked his intentions once the present assembly is dissolved and his parliamentary work, at Quebec and here, is done, Mr. Springate said that it is likely he will devote himself more fully to CEGEP teaching. For several years he has taught police science at John Abbott College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

He has had proposals, which thus far he has not entertained, to go into broadcasting, in which he has had considerable experience.

Born in Montreal

George Philip Springate was born in Montreal on May 12, 1938, and graduated from the High School of Montreal in 1956 with a science bent. In May 1958 he joined the Montreal Police.

During his 11 years as a police officer, he continued his formal

Scream works

A 49-year-old Westmount woman screamed for help as a young man attempted to snatch her purse on Sunday at St. Catherine street and Kensington avenue. Her screams did the trick, scaring him away. She was knocked to the ground in the attempt, however, and was taken to Reddy Memorial Hospital suffering an injured ankle.

Next Week's WEATHER by Capt. Eric Neal

JULY 3 to 10

Mainly fair, quite hot and sultry, with occasional afternoon or evening thunder showers. Wet morning mists for mountain regions but clearing for hot, humid afternoons. Temperature range 15 to 35, with some 70 hours of sunshine and 15 mm of rain with hailstones. Another blue-sky, hot weekend with brilliant sunshine, morning mists and cool night winds. Some chance of exceptionally heavy rains along the St. Lawrence valley during the weekend.

Boy is cut while wading

An 11-year-old Côte St. Paul boy discovered last Monday that wading in the Westmount Park pond can be a dangerous, as well as illegal, pastime.

The boy apparently cut his left foot on a piece of glass in the pond and was taken to the comfort station.

The Westmount Fire Brigade ambulance took the boy to the Montreal Children's Hospital and his parents were notified.

NOW FOR PUTTING: The putting green in Westmount Park, which languished for years and became somewhat of a contentious issue last summer when several young men were arrested for playing with a Frisbee on it, has been re-seeded and now sports holes and flags, returning it to its intended use. Though it's not yet the most popular spot in the sprawling park, two men were seen last week enjoying it the way it's supposed to be enjoyed. Citizens should provide their own putters and balls, and wear flat-soled shoes; no other equipment is permitted.

"whereas" clause is to be added to city council's recent resolution to pay off outstanding debenture loans, and council must correct terms of its working fund by-law. The solons might also approve the city's list of accounts for May.

Other business includes reports on tenders for the public works departments, commitments of funds for public works and the services department, and permission to build a wall over the building line at 509 Roslyn avenue.

The meeting gets under way at 8 pm Monday in the council chambers at city hall.

Hot sprinkler causes flood

Water flooded the basement area of an office building at 4333 St. Catherine street Friday morning when the sprinkler system was activated by heat from the muffler of an emergency generator.

Fire officials report the basement power had been off overnight resulting in the emergency generator being on. The Westmount Fire Brigade was called and cleaned the water out of the basement.

Order of Canada given Mildred Lande

Mildred Lande, 4333 Westmount avenue, last week was named a member of the Order of Canada in recognition of her work for the Canadian Jewish community.

Mrs. Lande was among 64 persons named to the Order by Governor-General Edward Schreyer who will be invested in ceremonies at Government House in the fall.

Mrs. Lande is president of the Jewish Community Foundation, the first woman ever to serve in that post. She also chaired the 1978 Combined Jewish Appeal, again the first woman to do so, heading the two primary financial institutions servicing the 110,000-member Montreal Jewish community.

She is also vice-president of Westmount's Congregation Shaar Hashomayim.

Her former posts include serving twice as chairman of the women's division of the Combined Jewish Appeal and once chairing the women's division of the combined health appeal. She also co-chaired the Canadian Red Cross campaign and served as president of the Jewish Junior Welfare League.

During the Second World War she helped establish the Mrs. Winston Churchill Fund and was on the board of the Women's Volunteer Service Centre.

Mrs. Lande has also worked with the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, the National Ballet of Canada, the YM-YMHA and the Jewish General Hospital.

Mildred Lande, CM

A graduate of McGill University, she was president of the Sigma Delta Tau sorority and later served as vice-president of the national sorority organization.

We Say

Rethink parking by-law

MAYOR MacCallum and Ald. Gervais, the public safety commissioner, would do well to think yet again about overnight parking policy.

We believe there has been a wholesale miscalculation of the needs and wants of the citizens

This is said in light of response to the mayor's two letters to the citizens on the subject. The second letter of June 10 eliminated some of the undesirable features of the first; yet the public remains baffled by what appears a headstrong drive to create problems in place of a situation of which more is being made by the administration than apparently exists.

"Apparently" is the key word here. City staff made what is understood to have been a thorough and systematic study of overnight parking. Yet for some reason, still unexplained at city hall, there is a reluctance to share with the citizens the findings of that survey. All we get are conclusions.

Council is laying itself open to the suspicion that the facts as established perhaps do not, in fact, support the conclusions. It is a serious charge, not one of truth but of judgment. Council only compounds the suspicion by its untypical refusal to expose the findings to judgment other than its own and/or of city staff.

We are concerned enough for the relatively small number of citizens whom it is proposed to tax arbitrarily for owning automobiles. But the proposal still remains in the mayor's last letter to put the city into the overnight parking-lot business in one way or another, and this ultimately has an effect on all taxpayers, the most heavily on owners of large properties without overnight parking problems.

Notice of motion of the enabling by-law is due to be made Monday evening.

Such notices have been postponed on other occasions for mature second (in this case, third?) thought. And even after notice, by-laws have been held off for months, when necessary, to make sure all is well.

All is not well with this proposal.

George Springate

THE news that Mr. George Springate, Member of the National Assembly since 1970 and for Westmount since Nov. 15, 1976, and all-round good person, will not seek re-election is a blow to the people of his riding.

It is a long time since this community had such devoted and painstaking representation of its individuals and groups, at any level of government. Indeed, he could write the book for prime ministers to aldermen on how to remember who elected you, to what and to whom your first responsibilities lie once in office, that the "grassroots" are not just a way to political survival but the raison d'être of democracy.

Not that Mr. Springate was not vitally concerned in broader issues. He was, particularly if they directly affected his constituents whose views he pressed before he did the official line of his party—a novelty in the era of machine politics. He chose, for example, to be thrown out of the Liberal caucus rather than endorse the Bourassa government's language law.

Other politicians have thus labelled him as unreliable, a badge with which he will leave the Quebec legislature with honor and pride, knowing that his electors admired and respected him for his courage and principles.

Some months ago, a Montreal columnist suggested that Liberal Leader Claude Ryan would "dump" Mr. Springate. The columnist, of course, had it backward: Our MNA is, in effect, dumping Mr. Ryan before the latter becomes, as appears likely, premier of the province.

The austere and authoritarian Mr. Ryan, caught up in policies rather than people, clearly is not a Springate man. A clash would be certain, whether or not Mr. Springate was offered and accepted a cabinet post—to which his seniority in the house (only eight members, in all parties, outrank him on the floor) would entitle him.

The announcement on our front page today, therefore, will be a surprise and then a pleasant relief to the old pols, who probably never will appreciate the quality of the man they are losing. To them, Mr. Springate is seen as a thorn in the side of the body politic:

not their idea of the tame dog they believe a backbencher should be. To the wheels of the Westmount Provincial Liberal Association, almost totally quiet since 1976, it is another matter. After two terms of the lamentable Hon. Kevin Drummond as their member, local grits found themselves well after the writ was issued with no successor candidate. It was Mr. Springate who pulled their irons out of the fire, moved in with his proven Ste. Anne's team, and saved Westmount from sliding out of the Liberal sureness it so long had enjoyed.

Mr. Springate leaves the local Liberals in better shape than he found them in terms of membership and sound representation. In addition, he is doing the Westmount association a high service by ample warning of his standing down.

It behooves the officers of the association to take full advantage of this consideration by moving, now, to find a prospective standard bearer for the provincial general election which well might come this autumn. Westmount has a habit of leaving these vital selection processes to the last moment, possibly with the smug confidence that the riding is full of excellent, well-qualified persons.

Unfortunately, none of our local political organizations is noted for taking advantage of that fact. If there are so many good likely candidates, (and we believe this to be the case) the winnowing process should require all the more time. The designated man or woman deserves the chance to under-study the retiring proven campaigner and winner. The constituency deserves the chance to size up the candidate. Last-minute, backroom choices don't embellish democracy.

Indeed, the dilatory performance of local Liberals in 1976 caused THE WESTMOUNT EXAMINER to stir the old line political jockeys with an editorial We Pick Nick, that is, Mr. Auf der Maur, neither Liberal nor National Union. But it was Mr. Springate who came through and, as the foregoing will testify, won our complete respect and admiration. We shall miss his frequent friendly contacts, his informative and sincere column, and his refreshing attitude to politics in which he eschewed the cynicism, party-boosting and opportunism which is too common to the game and gives it a bad name among the uninvolved.

Mr. Springate deserves and will get the gratitude of this community for serving us faithfully and well and best wishes for the next chapter of his remarkable, many-faceted career. At 42, the last has not been heard of George Philip Springate.

Pinning responsibility

TO the long drawn out saga of alleged RCMP wrongdoing it would seem can be added federal transport ministry expediency in the vital area of air safety.

We are hearing how inspectors who have bad-reported practices of some air operators have not been backed by their seniors in Ottawa.

Down through the years we have heard from former auditors-general countless horror stories of grand scale waste and inefficiency—another form of wrongdoing (it's only money, some would say) but nonetheless deeply disturbing to the taxpayer and citizen who depends on public servants for economical handling of public funds, services, safety and protection.

It is a measure of the scale of the problem when bad government surfaces that, unlike business where direct action would be taken and heads would roll, royal commissions are formed.

We can afford neither the failures nor the probes.

The civil service itself, the permanent organization which sees to the running of the country, or province or city, should have within it the machinery for dealing with the duds and dunderheads, the misguided and the crooks. When one department or another has a scandal surface, the self-respecting servants of crown and people should be capable of coping. Apparently they don't.

The fault lies in the misguided concept that the transient ministers of the respective departments or ministries are responsible—which they are, of course, in a political sense but in no way can be in the ongoing minutiae the administration.

It is this concept which causes the end problem which is, basically, no one is responsible. Senior civil servants, deputy ministers—our so-called "mandarins"—obviously can and do end up not as the people to carry the can for mismanagement under them. Nor do their political masters.

Government has grown so large that accountability, of the kind known to business and industry, must be established in public administration. Public servants have demanded and got parity and more with the private sector in remuneration. They should have parity in responsibility for their actions and inactions.

You Say

Candidate for council condemns parking scheme

Sir: The proposed overnight parking plan for Westmount is an example of regressive taxation, and creates a hardship (rather than resolving any difficulty) for those people living in areas where there is insufficient garage or parking space for the number of residents' cars.

I feel that residents are not in favor of eliminating overnight on-street parking. A problem exists only on certain streets, and it is one of non-residents using the streets for long-term parking, to the detriment of residents. Accordingly, the basic purpose of the proposed parking sticker should be to identify residents' cars, and stickers should be made available to residents anywhere in Westmount who need on-street parking. The cost should reflect the fact that it is a permit only — not a rental agreement or guarantee of a parking space. A nominal yearly fee of $15 or $20 would be appropriate.

The proposed parking plan can only lead to resentment and confusion, if not total chaos. The city plans to charge $240 a year for these stickers, with no limit on the number issued. Residents might well find that 20 stickers have been sold for a block with space for only five or six cars!

Any plan such as the one proposed by council which encourages (whether actively or passively!) the paving over of green spaces for parking, should be opposed as a backward step in protecting the natural environment and improving the quality of life in the city.

Over the long term, as fuel and resources become increasingly scarce and expensive, more people will give up their cars and discover, or rediscover, other modes of urban transportation. Until then, eliminating overnight parking will simply mean that parking space will have to be found somewhere else. Given the topography of Westmount, particularly below Sherbrooke, parking space can be created only by "degreening" the city, or by encouraging demolition of existing housing stock — certainly a more anti-social policy than tolerating the presence of parked cars on the street.

I was pleased to note that Alderman Carruthers has stated publicly his opposition to the proposed overnight parking plan. I intend to campaign vigorously against this proposal, and once elected to council join in defeating it and introducing a parking plan that resolves rather than creates parking problems.

MacCallum, Gervais going to Damascus?

Sir: I find myself in complete agreement with Elizabeth Holden, whose letter to the mayor appeared in last week's issue of THE EXAMINER.

In fact, so much well thought-out argument has appeared on your pages against the new parking proposals without any noticeable correspondence supporting the plans that one is left with the feeling that the democratic process is being trampled on at city hall.

If I lived on a designated street I would resent being gouged to pay for "Gervais' gendarmes." As it is, I am faced with blighting the neighborhood with a "MacCallum MacAdam" in the front garden.

Is it too much to hope that the holiday plans of these two gentlemen will include a trip to Damascus?

Ald. Carruthers offered support of a citizen

A copy of the following letter has been sent to THE EXAMINER:

Alderman David Carruthers
City Hall, Westmount

Dear Mr. Carruthers:

As you correctly point out in your letter to THE EXAMINER (June 19), residents and taxpayers of Westmount had no serious parking problem until city hall created one by proposing "fines, fees, and red tape" for those unlucky enough to need to park on the street in front of their homes overnight.

Since I have already written to the mayor and to THE EXAMINER, I will confine myself to reiterating one old point and raising one new one.

1) A parking sticker system, in itself, is not a bad idea, since it might enable residents to find overnight and longterm parking places on certain Westmount streets. Such a system, however, should not cost $240 a year since this arbitrary amount constitutes a car-ownership tax which would apply only to the "poorest" residents and is, in effect, discriminatory. Sell the stickers at cost;

2) No one has suggested, yet, that this new discriminatory tax may have the effect of lowering property values and making it harder for landlords, like myself, to find tenants. It would be interesting to have the opinions of real estate or rental agents.

Although I am annoyed by the mayor's attempt, in his most recent letter to taxpayers, to cut off debate on this subject, I am very glad you have tried to re-open discussion. Is it just a coincidence that the parking "problem" will be settled at council meetings on July 7 and Aug. 5, during the one season of the year when many residents are on holidays?

If you care to run for mayor next time, I'd be happy to campaign for you.

Sincerely,

Marilyn Muir

Auditor-general's success

ON Friday last I enjoyed the honor and the pleasure of being a guest at a luncheon of the office of the auditor-general.

It is an annual event taking the form of a seminar of senior members of the AG's staff at the Country Club in Hull.

In offering some impromptu comments at the luncheon itself, I spoke only of the tremendous contribution that the present but soon-to-retire AG has made to the better management of government resources.

Jim Macdonell became auditor-general on July 1, 1973, and he will be retiring on Sept. 13 when he attains age 65. It is coincidental that he arrived when my predecessor, Bud Drury, was president of the treasury board and he leaves when another MP representing Westmount holds that portfolio.

During the intervening years Jim Macdonell has taken many initiatives which have had a substantial impact on the administrative policies established by the board and even on the organization of the board itself. These changes have taken the form of responses to the AG's criticisms.

I will outline some of those changes in future comments. What is significant is the creative role played by Jim Macdonell during his tenure. Instead of dwelling on financial horror stories of the past, he has focused attention on improvements for the future. He has challenged us to provide value for the tax dollar. Thanks in large measure to Jim Macdonell, reforms have been taken which are making that happen.

"The housing shortage in Westmount has reached the point where church congregations have to purchase dwellings outright for their pastors, it appears from a letter to members of St. Andrew's United Church, who have been called to meet on that subject. 'We are all aware that the question of renting a house is a serious one and despite all efforts we have not thus far been able to obtain a house, flat or apartment,' the letter says. 'In view of this it would seem that we have no alternative but to purchase a residence.'"

"A strong radio appeal, a final effort by 600 door-to-door canvassers — volunteers who are spreading the 'vote Griffith' word through the riding — and the final mailing of a poll-card telling each elector where he or she may vote is bringing the by-election campaign of Dr. James Griffith, government candidate in Westmount-St. George, to a close this weekend. The campaign, easily the strongest put on in the riding by a government candidate in a dozen years, has placed its feet firmly on three platform planks: health, education and social welfare."

"A bomb planted in the rear or west end of Westmount city hall exploded at 12:27 Wednesday morning. Shock waves from the blast were so strong windows in buildings up to 140 yards away were broken and one of the recovered parts of the bomb was found in front of Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue some 90 yards away. The blast broke all the windows in the rear of city hall but the building itself was not damaged and the wall where the bomb was placed is not even cracked. The walls at that point are almost two feet thick and of solid stone."

"The 'Satan's Choice' motorcycle gang made its first appearance in full force in Westmount Monday night, dropping by the local police station at about 10:45 to inquire about the arrest of one of its members. Two more were then taken into custody. Station 30 constables had arrested a man earlier in the evening after firearms were found in the trunk of a car he was driving. He and two friends had been brought to the station and after questioning the two friends were let go. Moments later, some 12 to 15 motorcycles pulled up outside the station."

Constitutional reform

An editorial in The Gleaner, Huntingdon

Somehow we can't seem to get as excited as our leaders seem to be about repatriating and rewriting Canada's constitution.

Aren't there bigger problems to worry about, like inflation and unemployment and the high cost of living and rocketing government spending, to name a few? Does it really matter whether the British North America Act, which has been filed in the dusty archives of parliament in London since 1867, stays there or is moved to a shiny glass case in the parliament at Ottawa?

Prime Minister Trudeau and the 10 provincial premiers tell us it does matter a great deal Mr. Trudeau is deeply committed to a new constitution which will retain or increase the federal government's powers over our lives. The provincial premiers are deeply committed to changes which will do just the opposite — give the provinces more power.

All except Premier Levesque, that is. He says Ottawa can set up any federation it wishes as long as it counts Quebec out; independence is still his goal.

But the rest of the provinces can't even agree among themselves. Premier Lougheed says Albertans should be able to do what they like with their own oil; most of the other premiers want it to be shared among all Canadians. Saskatchewan and Ontario want entrenched language rights for all; Manitoba and British Columbia say no. New Brunswick and Saskatchewan want the senate kept unchanged; the Atlantic provinces want a say in the appointments.

But, according to the pundits, some sort of change is vital so we can work out a better Canada. Of course, some of us think we've a pretty good country right now. Or at least there's nothing wrong with it which couldn't be fixed if we each had a few more dollars in our jeans.

The politicians tell us, on the other hand, that the nation just can't survive in its present form. But many of us feel that if we can only survive the politicians, everything will be all right, thank you.

THOUSANDS of both French and English children know Lucille Danis as Tante Lucille. They have listened to her tell her own stories on the radio and records, seen her on television and read her books.

"I am a story teller," said Mrs. Danis. "I act. I sing. The children inspire me and I write and correct my scripts with the children. They start listening at 4. I make many gestures. I don't just sit down with a book."

Tante Lucille has lovely, kind brown eyes which smile into yours. She is serene, gentle and soft-spoken. She is invited very often to tell her stories in French and English in libraries and schools in Quebec and other provinces.

Tante Lucille recently visited Floralties on Ile Notre Dame and told her audience of 500 children her latest story, a special one she had written for the occasion. The children asked her, "When are you going to come back to Floralties?"

Mrs. Danis also escorted the four Quebec children aged between 5 and 13 who won an essay contest, Canada, It's you and me, to Saskatchewan. (In an exchange, the Saskatchewan winners visited Quebec.) Mrs. Danis and Gretta Chambers, another Westmounter, widely-known television personality and Gazette columnist, judged the Quebec contest.

Started as secretary

"I started to tell my stories in the first French children's library in Montreal in 1940," said Mrs. Danis. "That's how and when I launched my career as a story teller and writer. Before that I worked as a secretary for the government."

"For 26 years between 1948 and 1974 I had a radio program for children on the French network of the CBC. Often I also told my stories on TV programs."

"My first book was published here in 1944. Its title was Legend on Maple Syrup and it became a school book."

Non-showing at pools is termed unhygienic

Sir: I am somewhat astonished at the lack of concern for the health of our citizens here in Westmount.

My reason for concern? Our local swimming pools — users are allowed to enter the pools without showering beforehand, and there are apparently no workers around making this compulsory. One would think that in the interest of hygiene that this is surely a must.

Like many of our citizens, I enjoy swimming, but as a nurse I almost invariably feel nauseated by the lack of ele-

In the 10 years between 1955 and 1965, Tante Lucille wrote four books which were first published in Holland. They were later translated into English, German, Italian, Spanish and Arabic.

Her latest two books published in Montreal by Editions Paulines were entitled Tante Lucille raconte and Contes et Légendes du Canada Français. The latter book of 10 stories won a gold medal in Paris for the author.

The stories were: The Legend of Blueberries, My Dog Bingo, The Hallowe'en of a Black Cat, Christmas at Caughnawaga, The Legend of Niagara Falls, Chicoutimi Carnival, Maple Syrup, The Fish of New Brunswick, The Legend of St. Malo (Jacques Cartier was born there and Mrs. Danis has visited St. Malo) and The Folk Song of Berthier which French children know and love.

Stories about Indians

"Many of my stories are about Indians," said Mrs. Danis. "I was born in Chateauguay, five miles from Caughnawaga, the Indian reserve, and I remember when I was a child that the Indians used to visit my grandfather and play cards with him. On his death, they brought the most delicious fresh strawberries."

"Children prefer stories about Indians who teach us something."

At the request of the Ontario ministry of education, several stories by Tante Lucille are used for the French course for Anglophone children.

A highlight in her life was a story about her in Time magazine in 1955. After that article her career took off.

In 1969 Mrs. Danis, who is a widow, was given the Order of Canada.

Her father was Arthur Desparois, an artisan who made horse carriages like his father and later ran a large garage. Her mother was Rose Laberge. She has two younger married sisters.

Lucille Desparois married Gerald Danis, a musician and a journalist who worked for Le Petit Journal and Dimanche Matin, in 1956. Mr. Danis died two years ago, a day after the couple returned from a trip to Europe.

Nice life, very happy

"I had a nice life and was very happy," said Mrs. Danis. "Now that I am alone I still work with children. It helps me very much. I am happy with children. Often on the street I am greeted by 25-year-olds who say they listened to me when they were children.

Mrs. Lucille Danis

"Although I have no children of my own, I have always taken care of them and have been surrounded by them all my life."

"I used to take my niece, Micheline Quesnel (Mrs. Bruno Spadafora) to the library when she was a child. Now I take my three grandnieces."

Mrs. Danis exercises for an hour each morning. She loves music, reading and travelling.

Ville Marie union rep worried over youth act

Sir: On behalf of the employees of Ville Marie Centre City, I would like to thank you for publicizing the dilemma we face under Bill 24, the youth protection law. We would like to stress, however, that we are not an isolated group in this stand; we have letters and telegrams expressing support from several other CSSs in the province, including CSSMM, our French counterpart in Montreal, and from other staff groups in the Ville Marie system.

Also, I would like to comment on what Mr. Boucher was reported as stating: "We have to play with it a little longer before we can come to a conclusion." While we are in the process of "playing with it," families facing serious problems are being ignored and the public, facing an increase in juvenile delinquency (breaking and entry, vandalism, etc.), are becoming more and more in jeopardy.

We also take exception to Mr.

Boucher's comment that social workers are unwilling to relinquish their professional roles. We are willing to send to Mr. Boucher hundreds of families where we would be willing to relinquish this role, but can he find someone, be it a teacher, a community worker or whatever who would be willing to spend the long hours waiting in court losing a day's work, writing lengthy reports for the department of youth protection, etc., that this law now calls for?

We hope the public will become involved in this issue, because only the public has sufficient power to bring about the necessary change.

Greene sidewalk work to start in week or two

Sidewalk reconstruction on Greene avenue — the precursor to reconstruction of the street itself — should start in one or two weeks, public works personnel reported this week, though they are holding up the work until Sherbrooke street is resurfaced between Greene and Atwater avenues.

Street reconstruction in various parts of Westmount is expected to start this month, including work beginning next week on Arlington lane.

For den avenue probably will not be ripped up until late July, and the city is hoping it can rebuild Bethune street — leading to the corporation yards — during the long weekend (for city personnel) of Aug. 1 to 4.

Gaz Métropolitain is carrying out some repairs to lines under For den avenue now, and Bell Canada has just completed necessary work underneath Arlington lane.

The Greene avenue work probably will leave the street in confusion for most of the mid-summer months, since merchants have agreed that this is the time they would like to see the work carried out.

The Westmount Examiner, Thursday, July 3, 1980 - 7

The work includes many of the "beautification" experiments the city has attempted in the past year; speed bumps will be scotched, but stop signs and dipped curbs at mid-block crosswalks can be expected.

Special lighting will be included using many of the older lamp standards the city still has available, buttressed by new lighting higher up. The sidewalks will also be widened. Minor resurfacing and sidewalk reconstruction in various parts of Westmount is continuing. Resurfacing of the Sherbrooke street artery should be finished by the end of next week.

Bike found

A red 10-speed Rigida bicycle was found on Blenheim Place last Wednesday at 9 pm by a resident of the street, police report.

Fun at park and pool mark Canada Day here

Splash Bash activities included various swimming races.

The youth of Westmount celebrated Canada Day last Wednesday, the first day of Canada Week, with a complete program of events organized by the recreation department.

The agenda started in the morning and continued throughout the day and early evening with an accent on celebration and good-natured competition.

In Westmount Park, the playground program members age 6 to 16 started the festivities with a poster-making contest. Six-year-old Wendy Tse took the honors as best in the younger age group while 12-year-old Sue-Ping Tse won in the older division.

Judged most outstanding overall, however, was Alexander Guthrie's effort, a poster which topped all those, including the older age groups.

By KRISTIAN GRAVENOR

The playground program continued with various games, a picnic and a dress-up competition in the afternoon.

Meanwhile, at the artificial ice rink, the cement floor was being used for roller-skating and the Ping-Pong tables were being used for a tournament.

Thirteen-year-old Steven Lerina used his table-tennis talent to win his division, followed by Diego Bravo and Nuri Katz. In the other division, Jenny Haines was the winner, followed by Carolyn Meltzer and Marie France De Mierre.

Prizes were presented to winners at 3 o'clock, followed by a performance by local teenage magician Gary Silver, who managed to deceive one and all.

The focal point of the afternoon for the over-15 crowd was the volleyball match which took place in the park under the mid-day sun.

The evening's celebrations took place at the swimming pool, an annual event otherwise known as the "Splash Bash." One of the most popular events, it lasted for three hours and was highlighted by a repeat performance by the magician and music provided for dancing by the local disc-jockey group "1984."

Novelty races were also held and enjoyed by the many Westmount youths on hand.

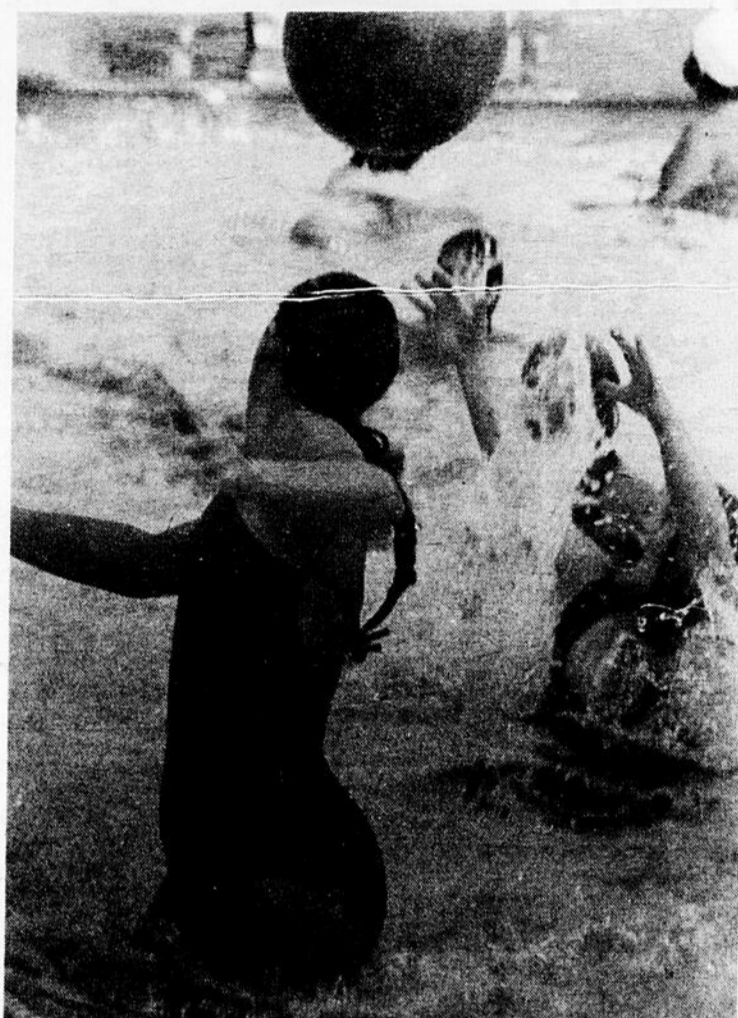

Theme of the whole day's proceedings was Canada Day and the participants' enjoyment of the events served to contribute to Canada's birthday proceedings, making it an eventful birthday by any standard.

Bikes worth $1,200 taken

Nine bicycles worth a total of $1,200 were reported stolen locally during the past week.

Police said only three had been locked, and those had apparently been left in bicycle racks at the Westmount Arena.

The unlocked bikes were taken from a variety of areas including garages, under front stairs, from the front of Westmount Library and owners' yards.

A ball, some kids and a pool always make for good fun.

The day's activities ended with dancing at poolside.

Westmount Wednesdays get sixth victory

The Westmount Wednesdays soccer team remained undefeated last week, chalking up their sixth victory in as many games with a 4-2 triumph over Wilson.

The win gave Westmount 12 points and preserved their four-point lead over Kentspor in the second division of the Montreal Suburban Soccer League.

Westmount managed its win last week despite playing a relatively weak game, as most of the players admitted afterwards.

At half time Westmount was ahead 1-0 on a goal by captain Gerard McKee but Wilson tied it up on a strange goal which came on a long shot over the defence which bounced over the goaltender. Wilson's other goal came on a penalty kick.

Westmount's second goal was scored by Vittorio Sanguinetti while the final two goals were scored by Peter Naylor.

Last evening, Westmount was scheduled to play Montreal West which had only managed one win in their first five games. Next Wednesday's game, July 9, is against third-place Midland Ross. The next Westmount home game is not until July 30.

Ted Beauchamp wins bowling

Ted Beauchamp has won the Norman Stewart club singles competition at the Westmount Bowling Club. Runner-up was Harold Fewkes.

Toronto dog visits police

An English Sheepdog visiting here from Toronto has a good vacation story to tell his canine friends on his return home.

It all happened Saturday when he apparently looked like a lost tourist stranded at the corner of Sherbrooke street and Victoria avenue at 2 pm. He was rescued by a Sherbrooke street resident who took him to local MUC Police Station 23 on Stanton street.

He was returned to his owner within 29 minutes after quick dog-work by police, and an opportunity to try out local lodging facilities for dogs in the local police kennel.

Living's not easy this summer

Summer may be a time to relax for some, but the McGill University athletics department figures it should be a time to indulge in all manner of physical activity.

To this end, the department is making their extensive facilities available to the public on a membership basis. You can huff, puff and sweat your way around the track, on the tennis court, or in the pool or gym. Masochists who want to encourage heat stroke by doing nothing but running this summer can get a two-month membership for the track only for a pretty reasonable price. A four-month membership for all the facilities still costs very little.

Once you're a member and have all the facilities at your disposal, the department will even show you what to do with them. The staff is giving courses in squash, tennis, yoga, golf, swimming (including synchronized), fitness and dance, including modern, jazz, ballet, social and tap. The only problem is that registration for the course took place last week. If the courses aren't full, however, they will probably let you sign up late. Memberships are available at office G-3 of the Currie Gym, 475 Pine avenue west. For more information call 392-4737.

Watt's up at Hydro-Québec?

One summer excursion from which you'll get a real charge is a visit to one or more of Quebec-Hydro's many power installations. Talk of hydro-electric dams in Quebec usually conjures up images of vast concrete giants silently holding back the rivers in remote areas such as James Bay or the Manicouagan region, but there are several interesting facilities in the Montreal area.

Perhaps the best known is Beauharnois, which is just upriver from Montreal and is one of the biggest hydro-electric plants in the world. The first stages of construction were started in 1929 and the last were finished in 1961. Its construction required a greater volume of excavation than for the Panama Canal.

Other nearby installations are Carillon on the Ottawa River and the fairly small Rivières-des-Prairies facility on our own doorstep. A bit further from Montreal are the Gentilly 2 nuclear plant (Quebec's only one) and the La Tuque dam on the St. Maurice River. Still further are the Manic and Outarde dams and the wind and oil powered facilities on the Magdalen Islands. All these sites have daily guided tours during the summer. For information on the Montreal area facilities call 842-7861, local 212. They can probably help you with info for the more distant areas, too.

Opera Plus opens in Ottawa

And speaking of wind power, the Festival Ottawa - Opera Plus, presented by the National Arts Centre, is upon us once again and Via Rail is running their opera train service to help get you there and back. This year's opera offerings are "Pelléas et Mélisande" by Debussy, July 3, 5, 9 and 16; Puccini's "La Bohème," July 12, 15, 18, 23 and 25; Donizetti's "La fille du régiment," July 17, 19, 22, 24 and 26; and Ravel's "L'enfant et les sortilèges" and Massenet's "Thérèse" sung in concert form on July 15 and 27, respectively. As well, the Swingle Singers and other Canadian and French musicians will be featuring works by Debussy and his contemporaries in concerts throughout the month. You can get more information in Montreal by calling Place des Arts at 842-2112. Opera train info is available by calling Via Rail.

'Angel' opens at Centaur

Music, dance and theatre are being stirred up in a production called "Angel" and served at the Centaur Theatre July 8 to 27. The show is about "one woman's dream and explores the fantasies of a nation." It is directed by David Rimmer, who also composed the music along with Edward Knoll. Choreography is by Peter George and the cast includes Karen Young, Colm Feore, Ian Lebofsky and Ted Pearson. Performances are at 8:00 pm Tuesday through Friday, 5:00 and 9:00 pm Saturday and 2:00 and 7:00 pm Sunday.

Contemporary art

Contemporary Canadian art is the focus of "Pluralities 1980" at the National Gallery of Canada in Ottawa opening Saturday, July 5, and running until Sept. 7. Several guest curators put the show together and 19 artists will be displaying their works. All the works are recent and will represent a variety of media. Environmental and participatory works have been set up.

How Van Gogh went

An exhibition of prints of the works of Vincent van Gogh will be on display down at Place Bonaventure. They have been chosen to depict the various periods of the artist's life. They are hung chronologically and will be accompanied by a résumé outlining van Gogh's work. There will be someone there to answer any of the questions you may have about the works and the artist. Now you can get a little art education with your shopping.

No double nickels for this boss

You can see the world's fastest truck Friday and Saturday, July 4 and 5, at Metropolitan Tire, 12012 Albert Hudon boulevard in Montreal North, and meet its driver and owner, Tyrone Malone. The "Super Boss" was clocked at 144.21 mph on the Bonneville Salt Flats and is capable of 113 mph in the quarter mile. That's fast. He also has a truck that is expected to push 200 mph in trials next year. As well as being fast, the "Super Boss" is pretty, being fully customized with, I expect, lots of chrome.

Smoke damage on St. Catherine

A fire which broke out yesterday shortly before noon in a kitchen on the second floor of a four-storey apartment building at 4823 St. Catherine street caused smoke damage and resulted in damage to walls and ceilings as firefighters checked for its possible spread into the structure.

The fire which was found by neighbors in an electric stove was initially extinguished by resident William McMaster before firemen arrived. A 1 1/2-inch stream was laid by the Westmount Fire Brigade, who remained at the scene until a search of the building was completed.

de Mais fire in Montreal

Local firefighters were first on the scene of a fire Saturday evening in an abandoned building located just outside Westmount's borders on the south side of de Maisonneuve boulevard just west of Claremont avenue.

Although the Westmount Fire

Brigade had received the call for a "fire in progress" at the corner of Claremont and de Maisonneuve, they called the Montreal Fire Department while responding and returned to the station when the Montreal firemen arrived to fight the blaze.

Imasco meeting told business community must speak out

The Canadian and Quebec business communities learned an important lesson during the recent sovereignty-association referendum, Paul Paré noted last Wednesday in his statement at the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Westmount-based Imasco Limited, of which he is chairman and chief executive officer.

That lesson, he said, is that the business community has an important role in public life and should speak out on public issues and he exhorted business leaders to continue speaking out, despite the end of the immediate threat of separation.

"We in the business community have learned that we must be prepared to take part in any and every public debate," Mr. Paré said. "The number of businessmen who have spoken out on social and political issues is unprecedented. We find this encouraging and we hope it will be a trend."

Mr. Paré himself was an active member of the umbrella "No" committee during the referendum.

The chairman of the huge company, headquartered at 4 Westmount Square and reporting $1.7 billion in sales last year by 11 divisions (including Imperial Tobacco, United Cigar Stores, Collegiate/Arlington Sports and Shoppers Drug Mart/Pharmaprix) said the public is more than eager to hear the views of private businessmen, and that media are waiting to publish or air those views.

"In the past we have all too often lost this audience more by default than by alienation," he wrote in the annual report distributed at the meeting. "We have refused to speak out on public issues, sometimes through fear of reprisal, of saying the wrong thing, of being misunderstood or misrepresented ... and even — though rarely — through modesty.

Views must be heard

"We can no longer remain silent in the flimsy shelter of such excuses. If we are fearful, we shall merit suspicion; if we are candid, we shall inspire confidence ... We do not believe that any decision on national, regional or local issues will be a well-informed one without consideration of our views. The audience is waiting to hear from us, the media are prepared to carry our message, and we have the duty to our fellow Canadians to be heard."

In his speech to shareholders at the meeting, Mr. Paré praised "the speed with which the Prime Minister has responded to the results of the referendum" by beginning constitutional discussions.

He warned, however, that, "If our sigh of relief after the referendum is to be followed only by a holding of breath in the face of irreconcilable views, we shall suffocate ourselves in the airless arena of confrontation."

Mr. Paré added the hope that vocal business leaders in Quebec would be able to do away with "the unnecessarily vexatious language restrictions, with uncompetitive taxation levels and with some of the manifestations of extreme nationalism and socialism which together tend to discourage investment and inhibit personal initiative."

RENT OR BUY?

As the cost of home ownership continues to climb, many people wonder if they would be better off investing their money in G.D. certificates, stocks, gold, etc.

Depending on individual circumstances and taking into consideration earnings, costs, family lifestyles, age, etc., there can be advantages and disadvantages to either renting or buying a home.

For example, if you rent an apartment or duplex in Westmount today, for two or three bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths and parking you will have to pay around $800 for a unit in a desirable location. Total rental, $9,600 a year plus water tax which would be increased by your landlord on the expiration of the lease. You would be lucky to find the above accommodation in Westmount today, where there is an all-time low in vacancy rates in all better apartment buildings. In fact, there are waiting lists of prospective tenants in several buildings.

We also are experiencing a strong sellers' market in Westmount with very little for sale below $100,000, and continuous upward pressure on home values.

When buying a home for $100,000 you will have to lower your expectations as far as location and condition of the home is concerned. Your annual cost of ownership might be almost double the cost of renting when one considers current rate of interest on first mortgages (around 13 percent), taxes, heating and the inevitable repairs and improvements.

On the other hand, it is reasonable to expect the property values to appreciate at least equal to the rate of inflation, say ten percent annually. Traditionally, ownership of a home has been the best hedge against inflation and one of the few assets immune from capital gain tax.

Second fire in garbage

For the second time in three weeks, fire broke out Thursday in the garbage chute of 4000 de Maisonneuve boulevard, the apartment building above Alexis Nihon Plaza. Fire officials attribute the cause to smoker's material.

When the Westmount Fire Brigade arrived on the scene, firefighters noticed a slight smell of smoke from the parking level and proceeded to the garbage container at the base of the garbage chute where they found the fire. It was extinguished by the sprinkler system.

The building's internal alarm system had been activated by smoke wafting up the garbage chute.

City workers and firemen clean up debris after Saturday evening's car crash on Dorchester boulevard.

Two cars write-offs in crash

No one was injured but two cars were considered total write-offs in a four-car accident Saturday at 11:30 pm on the westbound lane of Dorchester boulevard just west of Atwater avenue.

Three of the cars were parked on Dorchester at the time. The fourth was being driven west by a 19-year-old Montreal man.

The accident, which attracted many spectators, closed Dorchester for close to an hour while police untangled the wreckage and firefighters flushed away gasoline which had spilled from one of the vehicles.

Police said the driver of the car reported he had been proceeding west along Dorchester when he suddenly swerved right to avoid being hit by a car going through the red light on Atwater.

His white 1975 Chevrolet hit the three cars which were parked some distance from the corner in front of 4025 Dorchester.

The Chevrolet, which finally came to rest at right angles across the street, was considered by police to be a total write-off.

"We had just been to a movie and came back to discover this," moaned the 21-year-old owner of a 1980 brown Pontiac Trans-Am, the third car hit and also considered a total loss. He had owned the car only five or six months, he said.

Police estimate damage to a green 1975 Chevrolet, the first car hit, at close to $2,000. It is owned by a 55-year-old resident of St. John, N.B.

The second parked car hit was a yellow 1980 Toyota owned by a 27-year-old LaSalle resident. It received damage to the left front area, estimated at between $200 and $500.

A city lamp post was also hit in the incident.

Crime team ready to go door-to-door

Beginning Monday, July 7, the Westmount YMCA crime prevention team will be going door-to-door in different areas of Westmount to get citizen opinion of a number of programs they are suggesting for both adults and teens.

Also during the coming weeks, members of the team will be meeting with teens and working with them on the planning of future Wednesday night events.

This approach comes as a result of the poor turnout at last Wednesday's coffee house. Members of the crime prevention team have thus decided more teen involvement is needed in planning such events so they are asking any teen with ideas on activities such as dances, jam sessions and the like to contact them at the Westmount YMCA, Room 14 or 15. Telephone number is 937-3916.

Marine course for local girl

Cindy Yelon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Yelon, 4700 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, will attend the 1980 summer session in marine studies of the Acadia Institute of Oceanography, Seal Harbor, Maine.

A grade 10 student at FACE, Cindy was recommended by Mr. T. A. Dedek of the school's science department.

The AIO program is a full field-study of tidal pools, estuaries, salt marshes, sand beaches and off-shore sampling and all phases of oceanography are explored in the hope that the young men and women attending will enter careers in marine biology, fisheries management, marine advisory and related fields.

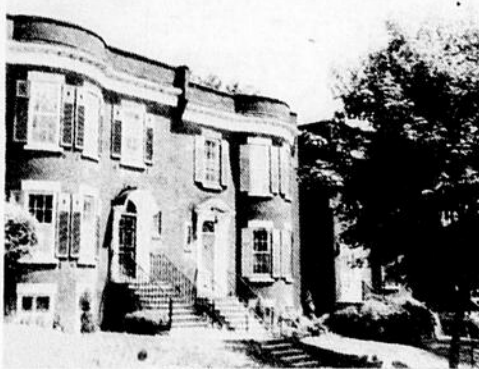

Offices lose petty cash

Cash totalling $290 was reported taken from the petty cash boxes of two offices last Thursday according to police.

Someone apparently used a key to gain access to the filing cabinet in one office at 4150 St. Catherine street where the loss of $40 was discovered at 8 am.

A commercial establishment at 4860 Sherbrooke street reported the loss of $250 in small bills from its cash box. Police said a key had been used in that case as well.

CHANGE AT ROTARY HELM: Marking the end of the Rotary International year at its regular weekly luncheon meeting in Victoria Hall last Wednesday, the local service club changed presidents. Oliver M. Retallack (left) is congratulated upon assuming the top office for the next 12 months by his predecessor, H. M. Stuart Ferguson, who presented members a report of his stewardship. Later Mr. Ferguson was installed by past president George Sklivas in the "Rocking Chair Club" and was given an engraved lamp in recognition of his services to Rotary.

Red Shield Appeal
hits record $750,950

Westmount residents joined in producing a record-breaking response of $750,950 to the Red Shield Appeal for the Salvation Army completed this week.

Results assure maintenance of the Army's community services and institutions throughout the metropolitan region for the next 12 months.

Mrs. Michael J. Hayes, 38 Edgehill road, was chairman of the women's special names division, which exceeded its allotted quota and collected $26,835.

Arthur A. Bruneau, 4663 Grosvenor avenue, was a general vice-president of the camaign committee which was headed by John D. Thompson.

More than 100 Westmount men and women volunteers carried out assignments in the fund organization.

Other local residents added their gifts in the region-wide mail appeal that brought in $347,491.

"The oversubscription is a godsend," said Mr. Thompson. "Now the Salvation Army has a nest egg for hatching some new rehabilitation projects as well as extension of its community services in Little Burgundy."

A preliminary Salvation Army service allocation of $52,170 has been made to the Women's Emergency Home, 4102 Dorchester boulevard west, Westmount.

Hats Off to
Grads

During the season of university, college and high school graduations, The Examiner is saluting local students by publishing their achievements. If you know of a Westmount resident, or son or daughter of one, who has reached an educational milestone, please let us know, either by writing to 155 Hillside avenue, Westmount H3Z 2Y8, or by telephoning 932-3157. Photos will also be accepted.

Information should include the student's name and Westmount address, parents' names, educational institution and its location, degree or diploma granted including subject of concentration, other awards won if available, plans for the future such as employment or further education.

Become known to us this week were the following:

Silke Claudia Lach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Friedhelm Lach, 495 Mount Pleasant avenue, has graduated from The Study, 3233 The Boulevard, and was awarded the Vale Prize for academic achievement. She will continue her studies next year at Collège Jean-de-Brébeuf.

Michael S. Miller, 315 Kensington avenue, received a Master's of Business Administration degree from Syracuse University. Mr. Miller, husband of Janis, is employed with the Bank of Montreal.

Joel Segal of Westmount received a BBA degree at the 21st annual commencement exercises held recently at Northwood Institute, Midland, Michigan. The college, which specializes in career preparation in business fields where there are job opportunities, granted 350 associate's degrees and 225 bachelor's degrees.

CANADA DAY PARADE: A rather small but devoted group of Canadians marched through Westmount on Tuesday, offering the only evidence in these parts that Canada was celebrating its 113th birthday. The parade, organized by the Freedom of Choice Party, was on its way to Dominion Square in Montreal to enjoy a birthday cake and other festivities.

education, gaining a BA, majoring in psychology, from Sir George Williams University in 1965; a Bachelor of Civil Law with honors in 1968 and a Bachelor of Laws in 1969, the latter two from McGill University.

Meanwhile he worked fulltime on squad car, foot patrol, undercover, morality and public relations duties. He had 13 citations for bravery and outstanding arrests. He also hosted daily radio and television programs on police affairs from 1962 to 1969.

That record of study and work did not prevent him being a member of the McGill Redmen Football Club 1966-68 as leading scorer in '66 and '68 and captain in '67 and president of the McGill Undergraduate Law Society 1967-68. He was a member of the Scarlet Key Honor Society 1966-67.

In 1968, George Springate was drafted into professional football with the Hamilton Tiger Cats and in 1970 was a member of the Grey Cup championship Montreal Alouettes. Not satisfied to be only a player, in 1969 he held two commissionerships: Metropolitan Junior Football Conference and Ontario-Quebec Football League, and was chairman of the Canadian Amateur Football Week for Quebec.

With these accomplishments, honors followed: the Sun Youth Organization service award in 1970, and then—all in 1971—he was proclaimed Man of the Year by both the Montreal and Province of Quebec Junior Boards of Trade; Athlete of the Year (who had done most to combat juvenile delinquency) by the Knights of Pythias; Canada's Outstanding Young Man, Vanier Award, and game chairman for the CFL All-Stars.

Many published articles on police, criminal and discrimination subjects have appeared under his byline.

Mr. Springate is a bachelor.

Ambulance helps injured

A 17-year-old visitor to Westmount from Boston dislocated his thumb while playing basketball at the Westmount Arena last Tuesday afternoon and was taken to the Montreal Children's Hospital by the Westmount Fire Brigade ambulance.

A Somerville avenue girl, aged 11, was taken to the hospital from the pool Wednesday by the ambulance after she suffered a sprained wrist.

Maybe it's time you jumped into something more demanding than a car pool.

Office theft

A radio stereo set worth $400 and an electric typewriter valued at $500 were reported stolen from an office at 5025 Sherbrooke street sometime between 11 pm last Tuesday and 8 am the next day. Police said there was no sign of forced entry in the case, which also involved the loss of $20 to $50.

Paradise Found

International Village at Inverrary Florida's Finest Condominium

International Village Fort Lauderdale, Florida

Start with 40 of nature's loveliest acres. Place them in the center of prestigious Inverrary. Add meandering waterways and the lush greens of the golf course where the Jackie Gleason Classic is played. Take charming chalet style buildings—each individualized with the flair and flavor of a famous European city—and set them gently down amid picturesque village parks and greens. Seclude all this behind a subtle and tasteful privacy wall. Provide a 24-hour continuously attended gatehouse.

Look next to the English Commons, the Bavarian Village or the French Quarter for over-sized apartments, complete with carpeting, central air conditioning and fully-equipped kitchens. Finalize these sophisticated surroundings with key dramatic touches—sunken living rooms, coved dining room ceilings, screened verandas.

And polish it all with the features of a posh European resort/spa area. Check out the multi-million dollar clubhouse and its lounges, saunas, indoor pool, therapeutic whirlpool, health clubs, indoor driving range, beauty shop, valet and convenient delicatessen.

And there's still more, a spacious outdoor pool, five lighted tennis courts, hot tub, marina, amphitheatre, basketball courts, game rooms. Don't forget a fulltime social staff to plan a rich diversity of social, cultural and athletic programs.

Combine it all and you've found your personal paradise—International Village at Inverrary.

Prices for one-, two-, three- and four-bedroom apartments begin at $57,950 U.S. Immediate occupancies. Our sales center is open daily 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. On-site guest accommodations available for prospective buyers.

INQUIRIES AND NEGOTIATIONS STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL.

Doing island-wide survey:

Student wants information for study of city's pigeons

By ANDY DODGE

Pigeons. The birds conjure up all sorts of images in one's mind: That sweet little old lady feeding them in Westmount Park, perhaps, or what they did to last weekend's wash or the front doorstep.

No matter what one's feelings about the birds, all Westmounters have doubtless come in contact with the birds to some degree. There have even been EXAMINER stories about them in recent weeks because of worry that they are being drugged or poisoned.

So great has the concern become that one student at the University of Montreal is carrying out a survey to determine where the pigeons are on Montreal Island, whether they constitute a menace in any particular areas and what the public's attitude is toward them.

Hélène Lévesque, a 21-year-old biology student, this week is launching a study under the auspices of the Centre de Recherches Écologiques (CREM) to answer as many of those questions as possible.

She has a questionnaire which she would like citizens to answer, to give her some idea of where pigeons are most prevalent in Westmount and what their habits are (see below).

Like the south

Westmount, of course, makes up only a small part of the overall study. Already, she has found, the pigeons are more populous on the southern flank of Montreal Island than the northern part; they like the port region, near the grain silos, and densely populated areas where kind souls who enjoy feeding them are more numerous.

"If people would feed them less, we'd have less," she agrees, but wonders whether such feeding (and hence the number) causes a problem. "It's a question of value," she suggests.

Though pigeons are known to carry disease, she claims no incidence of illness on the island has ever been traced to pigeons.

Despite her own neutrality on the question of pigeon populations, Ms. Lévesque notices with some chagrin that some municipalities including Montreal are planning legislation to control their numbers. She feels such lawmaking should not occur until authorities have a more accurate idea of their numbers and habits.

The survey, then, will be used to give her "an index" which she can then use to study the question more deeply. Though she realizes only those who have pigeons around them are likely to answer the survey, at least it's a start, she says.

Pigeon questionnaire

Included on it are the following questions:

Do you notice the presence of pigeons in your neighborhood?

If so, where (what street or near what street)?

Do you live in a residential, commercial or industrial area?

If you do notice pigeons, how many do you see together?

At what time of day do you see them?

Do you mostly see them in a park, on buildings, in streets or parking lots, or elsewhere?

What is their principal activity when you see them (resting, eating, nesting or other)?

Do some people feed the pigeons near your home?

Do you notice pigeons' nests near your home? If so, at what time of year?

Any other comments citizens would like to add are most welcome (how many pigeons has your cat felled, for example, or how have you decided to control them?).

While many people complain about the pigeon population in Westmount, others enjoy the birds' company and feed them regularly.

Copies of the questionnaire will be available at the Westmount Public Library, Ms. Lévesque hopes, but citizens can also write out the answers on a sheet of paper and mail them to her: c/o CREM, P.O. Box 6128, Station "A", Montreal H3C 3J7.

MUC gets arts council control

Suburban mayors appear to have succeeded in getting the former Montreal Metropolitan Arts Council under the control of the Montreal Urban Community council instead of being controlled mainly by the City of Montreal.

Quebec's Bill 112, approved on June 19 just before the National Assembly adjourned for the summer, establishes the council as a department of the MUC and offers the opportunity for off-island municipalities who wish to participate the right to contribute to it and have a say in its operation.

The new council will look after grants to organizations in the creative arts field, which will be funded in part by the MUC, in part by government and private grants and by participating off-island municipalities.

Previously, the Montreal Arts Council was funded through a share of sales tax receipts, but since the provincial government has taken over all sales tax revenues that source no longer is available.

In March, suburban mayors agreed they needed more control over the arts council which they had contributed to but which was controlled largely by the City of Montreal.

Mayor Donald MacCallum indicated in April the position might be the source of another confrontation between the suburban mayors and Montreal (THE EXAMINER, April 17).

Bill 112 also gives the MUC's Metropolitan Transit Bureau, which operates the Montreal Métro, the right to sell its expertise to other cities or urban communities which wish to establish a subway system.

dangerous."

Lt.-Det. Frank Pilkionis of local MUC Police Station 23 is also concerned. "If it could affect the health of the people of Westmount, I'm concerned. If there's any threat of poisoning, I want to find out what it is."

Accident ruled out

Until a complete toxicology report is made on one of the dead birds, pinpointing the poison is difficult, Dr. Pashayan explained. A preliminary examination of the pigeon sent to him ruled out pellets or accidental death. "It looks like poisoning," he said.

Similar cases which he had seen in the past suggested a poison affecting the nervous system, resulting in convulsions. "Whatever you do, the birds die," he admitted, not knowing any antidote.

He rules out poisons such as those used on rats which cause coagulation or bleeding, since there was no evidence of this in the pigeon. He knew of cases in the past where someone had dipped corn into poison which was then fed to the birds. "What worries me is what happens if a child picks up one of these pieces?" he asked.

This is what also worries city authorities.

"Whenever residents have complained of pigeon problems we have always suggested they mix some grease with mothballs which the pigeons don't like the smell of and they don't return." Mr. Davis said.

Found by teenagers

Nicole Philpott and Mary Sweeney, both 13-year-old local residents, found one of the nine pigeons afflicted in the West-mount Park area Saturday as the bird attempted to move in a disoriented manner on Strathcona avenue, just north of Sherbrooke street.

Nichola Philpott with some of the dead pigeons found in Westmount Park Saturday.

"The pigeon was alive and trying to fly and walk, but couldn't," Nicole explained. "You could tell it hadn't been hit by a car. It kept falling over and turning somersaults," she said, or convulsing as the vet explained.

The girls took the pigeon across to the park so it wouldn't be hit by a car but it was dead when they returned with park ranger Nicholson. "This is the ninth dead pigeon today," he told them. Others, he said, had been found in the area beside the pond near Sherbrooke street.

By Monday, city hall had been informed and the word was out to save one of the bodies so that tests could be done. The previous nine pigeons had already been destroyed.

Then on Tuesday, Fmn. Serge Gagnon found a dying pigeon on Stanton street outside the fire station and moved the bird over to the protection of a tree, thinking it had been hit by a vehicle. The police heard about it and the corporation yard was summoned to take the bird to Dr. Pashayan who confirmed it had not been hit.

Harold Cummings wins award

Well-known local businessman Harold Cummings has been named the outstanding automobile dealer in Montreal for 1980. The president of Harold Cummings Ltée received the award at a recent banquet held by the Montreal Automobile Dealers Association.

The award recognizes a dealer who has demonstrated he is a good local businessman and who has been of service to his community. By winning the award, Mr. Cummings becomes a finalist for the national award to be presented in Quebec City in the fall.

Air Vice-Marshal Frank S. McGill dies at age 86

Air Vice-Marshal Frank S. McGill, CB, one of Westmount's leading military, sports and business figures, died Saturday in the Montreal General Hospital, eight days after his 86th birthday.

A memorial service was held yesterday at the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul.

Air Vice-Marshal McGill is best known in local military annals for his work in 1934 in organizing and leading as commanding officer the Royal Canadian Air Force 115 Auxiliary Squadron (Fighter) of the City of Westmount.

The squadron became the No. 1 Canadian Fighter Squadron, the only Canadian squadron to participate in the Battle of Britain in the summer of 1940. The squadron was renamed during the war as No. 401 City of Westmount Squadron and continues to operate under that name.

Frank McGill entered the RCAF on a full-time basis at the outset of the Second World War and was instrumental in the conception of the Commonwealth Air Training Program, which he served as one of its principal leaders as air officer commanding No. 1 Training Command.

He served in several other RCAF postings during the war, rising to rank of air vice-marshal. On King George's first birthday honors list following VE-Day, Air Vice-Marshal McGill was named a Companion of the Order of the Bath. He returned to civilian life in 1946.

His contribution to the RCAF continued, however, as he served as president, chairman and honorary president of the RCAF Benevolent Fund. He was also honorary president of the Montreal Air Reserve Officers Club and Westmount's 306 Maple Leaf Wing of the RCAF Association.

Building named

In recognition of his services, the RCAF Wing in 1975 named their headquarters building at 4450 Sherbrooke street west, corner Metcalfe avenue, as the Frank S. McGill Building. The renaming took place at ceremonies marking the 35th anniversary of the Battle of Britain.

Air Vice-Marshal McGill had already made his mark in sports and aviation prior to the start of his military career. Born and brought up in Montreal, he was an exceptional athlete, excelling in football, hockey and competitive swimming.

He captained and quarterbacked the 1919 Montreal Amateur Athletic Association football team that won the Inter-provincial Big Four title and is one of the few individuals to have been named to both the Canadian Football Hall of Fame and Canada's Sports Hall of Fame.

His contribution to Canadian football also included his holding the offices of president of the MAAA Football Club, president of the Big Four, member of the rules committee of the Inter-Collegiate Football Union and member of the athletics board of McGill University.

Air Vice-Marshal McGill's aviation career started during the First World War in 1915, when he was 21. In 1918 he was seconded to the U.S. Naval Air Force and became the first test pilot at their new aircraft factory near Philadelphia, producing F5 flying boats.

After the Second World War and his return to civilian life, Air Vice-Marshal McGill in 1951, at the request of the federal government, went to Ottawa on a $1-a-year basis to become the first chairman of the aircraft division of the new department of defence production.

His involvement with aviation in Canada also included serving as director and president of Canadair Limited. In other business activity, he was for over 40 years an executive with the Dominion Oilcloth and Linoleum Company (DOMCO).

Other government and community service included serving as project director on the Glasco commission on government organization, chairman of the Donner Canadian Foundation and serving as member and president of the board of management of the Montreal General Hospital.

Besides being honored as a Companion of the Order of the Bath, Air Vice-Marshal McGill was recipient of Norway's Haakon VII Cross of Liberation, was an honored member of L'Escadrille Lafayette and in 1946 was named aide-de-camp to Governor-General Viscount Alexander of Tunis.

Air Vice-Marshal McGill and his surviving wife, Margaret Williamson, lived for years in Westmount on Grenville avenue. Their children are daughters Isabel Cameron, Nancy Sutherland and son John, an executive with Air Canada.

The family requested that in lieu of flowers donations be made to the Montreal General Hospital Foundation.

Dr. Walter E. Ellis new Baptist pastor here

Dr. Walter E. Ellis, senior minister of the First Baptist Church of Tacoma, Washington, has accepted the call to become pastor of Westmount Baptist Church effective Aug. 1.

A Canadian, Dr. Ellis is a graduate of the universities of Alberta and British Columbia with a master's degree in political science.

He then received a bachelor of divinity degree from McMaster Divinity College in Hamilton and a doctorate in church history from the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Walter E. Ellis

Dr. Ellis previously served churches in Pittsburgh, Richmond, B.C. and Winnipeg. His call to Westmount is a return to the church which issued his licence to preach in 1959, under the leadership of Dr. J. Edgar Bailey. Dr. Ellis' personal interests include outdoor activities, the breeding and raising of Labrador retrievers and teaching during summer semesters at Pacific Lutheran University.

Candidates set for two weeks of campaigning

Campaigning for the July 21 aldermanic by-election in Westmount will be squeezed into the coming two weeks, since little could be accomplished during the recent holiday period. Both Sheldon Lipsey, 72 York street, and Mrs. JoAnn Issenman, 493 Elm avenue, spent the holidays organizing their campaigns and determining the issues they will stress.

Pool balcony remains closed due to gravel

Participants in last week's annual "splash bash" and eager grandparents hoping to see Johnnie make his first jump into the pool might have been a bit upset to find locked gates leading to the balcony on the arena's roof overlooking the pool.

City officials say the closure is because the arena roof was repaired this year with a loose gravel and tar mixture. The pebbles, they feared, might be kicked or thrown onto swimmers below so the balcony was closed to the public.

While the city originally had planned to build a wooden "catwalk" over the gravel (it would have been too expensive to put a different type of surface on the balcony area), last Friday they scrapped the idea — temporarily at least — noting that there had been little public outcry over the closure.

Unless and until the recreation department receives word from citizens that they want it re-opened, the balcony will remain closed, one official said this week.

Mr. Lipsey, having announced his candidacy two weeks ago, said last week he welcomed the entry of Mrs. Issenman into the race and the fact it would be a contested election, since this would allow for a legitimate debate of the many issues now confronting citizens.

"I hope the campaign will make people aware of the numerous issues on which citizens of Ward 3 can become involved and express an opinion by voting on July 21," he explained.

The candidates will meet head-to-head at a special meeting organized by the Westmount Municipal Association for Tuesday, July 15.

Parking main issue

In his initial contacts with voters Mr. Lipsey has found parking is the issue which concerns them the most. He reported that reaction to the recent council proposals for overnight parking restrictions has been generally unfavorable so far, and that he had yet to hear someone who favored the proposals outlined by Mayor Donald MacCallum two weeks ago.

Mrs. Issenman, in announcing her candidacy, had kept her options open on the parking issue, saying simply that she needed more facts and figures before declaring a position. The city has refused to make public the results of its extensive survey on the subject.

The question of a new tower for Westmount Square brought little reaction from either candidate — though Mrs. Issenman, as president of the Greene Avenue Village Association, led the citizen struggle four years ago to defend Greene avenue from high-rise development.

Mrs. Issenman continued to voice scepticism, holding her reaction until "the first pillar has been put in."

Mr. Lipsey, a veteran of neighborhood preservation battles in Toronto and Ottawa, suggested the presence of more retail stores might be detrimental to existing commerce on Greene, and said the city should keep a careful overview of the project while it is being constructed.

Of citizen reaction to his candidacy, Mr. Lipsey said it was generally favorable, that people appreciate having "someone relatively new to come in and contribute a fresh point of view."

Candidates still have 11 days

Candidates still can make themselves available for the July 21 aldermanic by-election in Westmount's Ward 3, joining the two, JoAnn Issenman and Sheldon Lipsey, who have already announced and filed papers with City Clerk Peter Patenaude.

Nominations do not close until 2 pm on Monday, July 14.

Anyone who has been a citizen of Westmount — no matter which ward — for the past two years (since July 14, 1978) is eligible to run, provided he is a Canadian citizen and 18 or over by July 14 this year.

Mr. Patenaude reminds prospective candidates that the provincial campaign expenses act applies to this by-election, meaning nobody is allowed to run unless he is "authorized" by the office of the director-general of political party financing in Quebec (largely a rubber-stamp procedure).

Once he is so authorized, however, the city will pay 50 percent of all allowable election expenses, provided the candidate garners at least 20 percent of the final vote.

Candidates are allowed to spend about $2,365, a figure which might change slightly following the close of the "official revision period" (applications had to be submitted by last week) tomorrow.

Further details about nomination procedure and election expenses are available from Mr. Patenaude's office at city hall, 935-8531.

July 3, 1980

Dear Friends,

I will not stand for re-election in the forthcoming provincial general election. My decision is firm. It was made neither hastily nor recently. I first informed Claude Ryan of my position in May, 1978, the month following his selection as head of the Quebec Liberal Party. He asked me to reconsider. Later that summer I reiterated my decision to Mr. Ryan to step down at the end of this term. He requested that no one be informed of this until after the referendum. All four present at that meeting agreed. All four kept their word.

A political truism maintains that it is easier for one to enter politics than to leave. I appreciate the depth of that axiom. The closer the election, the stronger the urge to become a candidate; the stronger the pressure. And that is precisely why I informed Mr. Ryan of my decision two years ago. I want none of this temptation. It is time for me to take a political hiatus; time to help my community from a different arena.

At the end of this term I will have completed more than a decade of continuous elected service. My parliamentary record speaks for itself. I will leave with the knowledge of having placed my community's concerns above party dictates and personal gain. It is a reputation of which I will always be proud.

Sincerely,

George P. Springate
