City will consider high-rise buildings

General manager of the City of Westmount, Mr. T. J. Hughes, has announced that the budget for the year 1960, having been studied in detail by the general committee of the city council, will be presented to council in by-law form at its meeting Monday night, 8 p.m. It is anticipated that three readings of the by-law will be given at this meeting.

Examiner CWNA member

THE EXAMINER continues to march forward. The Examiner this week was accepted into full membership by the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

Paid circulation is a requirement of CWNA membership.

The Examiner stopped free distribution earlier this year.

The Examiner is now subscribed to and paid for by the majority of families in Westmount. These are the intelligent, well-informed Westmounters.

Since this conversion Examiner advertising lineage has increased markedly and steadily.

Which is proof The Examiner is the ideal selling medium for Westmount merchants — for anyone with goods and services for Westmounters.

The general committee of the city council is also studying an application for a proposed apartment building at the northwest corner of Western avenue and Lansdowne avenue, he stated. The proposal is to construct a nine-storey apartment building on the site, using the two vacant lots fronting on Western avenue and the first lot to the north fronting on Lansdowne avenue.

A revision of the existing lots will be necessary as zoning by-law regulations governing sites provide that no building shall be erected on a site unless the site has been subdivided into the minimum number of official lots.

Under the zoning by-law a six-storey apartment building may be erected fronting on Western avenue without special permission of Council. A building higher than six storeys may be erected with special permission of Council, provided that the gross number of cubic feet above the ground level does not exceed thirty-five times the number of square feet of the site.

The question which the Council is studying is the desirability of high-rise buildings generally, and in particular a high-rise building on the particular site.

Obituaries

HECTOR PRUD'HOMME

Funeral for Hector Prud'homme, president and general manager of A. Prud'homme & Sons Ltd., was held today at 9.30 a.m. from St. Leon de Westmount Church. He died yesterday at the age of 70 after a short illness.

Born in Montreal March 11, 1889, Mr. Prud'homme studied at Mont St. Louis College before entering his father's business in 1904.

When Mr. Prud'homme's father, the late Alexandre Prud'homme, founder of the company, died in 1926, he became president and general manager, a post he held until the time of his death.

Mr. Prud'homme was a member of the Chambre de Commerce, of the Club Seignurial and was a life-governor of the Notre Dame Hospital. He was also a former president of the CWA and was the founder of the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating.

He is survived by his wife, the former Beatrice Moncel; three sons, Maurice, Andre and Roger; a sister, Germaine and a brother, J. Alexandre Prud'homme, QC, director and president of the administrative council of La Presse. Also surviving are nine grandchildren.

WILLIAM Y. REID

William Young Reid, a retired railway employee who was born in Point St. Charles, died Nov. 13 at the age of 91. The funeral was held last Monday at St. Andrew's Church, Westmount.

Mr. Reid was the son of the late George Reid who emigrated from Scotland to assist in construction of Victoria Bridge.

In 1883, he entered the Grand Trunk Railway as apprentice and clerk. Six years later he joined the Canadian Pacific Railway, retiring in 1935, after 46 years of service on the staff of the auditor of agencies.

He was a past regent of the Royal Arcanum, an elder of St. Andrew's Church, Westmount, and was, at the time of his death, a trustee of the Mount Royal Permanent Building Society.

Active in sports in his youth, Mr. Reid was a member of the Pastime Toboggan Club, the Argyle Snowshoe Club, the Railroad Branch of the YMCA, and was a life member of the Grand Trunk Boating Club. He was a survivor of the Minne-Wa-Wa war canoe accident in St. Lambert in 1892.

Mr. Reid, who married the late Clara Louisa Booth, is survived by three daughters, Edna (Mrs. N. Fletcher of Winnipeg), Ethel and Mary; two grandsons, Robert, of Montreal, and William, of Sao Paulo, Brazil; and five great-grandchildren.

States and Canada. (They will be in Montreal on Nov. 24 and 25 at the Forum.)

She is a member of the company's chorus and came to the group after she had been heard singing popular songs on a small radio station. He was an amateur dancer who had never studied dancing but was invited to join Slask after he won an amateur folk dance competition.

They have their own apartment in the fairytale-like castle, formerly the property of the Duke of Hohenlohe, where the entire 100 members of the "Slask" company live and work.

Here it is that Klementyna gets an opportunity to indulge in her great love of cooking.

"And can she ever cook," enthuses Waldemar via an interpreter, "you have never eaten until you've tasted her roast veal, as only she prepares it."

The only cloud on their youthful horizon is that Klementyna wants Waldemar to study classical dancing and perhaps eventually join a classic ballet company. He is more interested in architecture and wants to study that.

Around the theatres

Loyola High School presents 'Billy Budd' on Nov. 26, 27

By VERONICA SINEL

Just when I was beginning to think that comedy was the forgotten commodity in theatre today, Trinity Players come to the rescue with Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker." Opening on Tuesday night, November 17, it will run through Saturday, November 21, at the MRT Playhouse on Closse street. This hilarious comedy about a matchmaking widow who nominates candidates to be a rich widower's wife with the sole idea of catching him for herself, has Sheila Scott in the lead role of Dolly Levi. Sheila will be remembered as the fortune teller in "Electra," and as Maggie Jamison in "99 Times Around the Block," two of MRT's productions last season. She also played Janet McKenzie, the housekeeper, in "Witness for the Prosecution," one of Trinity's well-remembered productions.

Making the four sets required for the play provided a few headaches for designer Jeffrey Filmer, and Simon Gamsa who helped build them. Due to lack of space at Trinity Hall they had to assemble the sets in the basement of the home of Rosalie Briggs, which could have cramped their style — but didn't.

"The Matchmaker," under the capable direction of Robert Vernik, provides an evening of wonderful entertainment. The cast is a large one, but they are well integrated, and the whole effect is extremely interesting. Turn off your television set for one evening and treat yourself to some real good comedy at the MRT Playhouse.

If lots of hard work and enthusiasm plus a good play add up to a good stage production then Loyola High School are assured of success when they put on their play "Billy Budd" at the Loyola Auditorium on Thursday and Friday, November 26 and 27. This play has been taken from the novel of the same name by Herman Melville, best known as the author of the well-known classic "Moby Dick". The dramatization has been done by Louis O. Cox and Robert Chapman, both of whom are veterans of the U.S. Navy. The former is now teaching creative writing at the University of Minnesota, while Chapman is an instructor in playwriting and dramatic literature at Harvard.

aboard a British man-o'-war in the late 18th century. The play is so deeply moving and so shocking and provocative, that it holds the attention of the audience every time it has been staged. Many local boys will be seen in this production by the Loyola High School Dramatic Society; James Hasinger of Wilson avenue; Richard Monette, Walkley avenue; James Brydges, Mayfair avenue; Marcel Guay, Clarke avenue; Brian O'Connor, the stage manager, lives on Westmore, and Patrick Conlon, son of the well-known local actor, Ned Conlon, lives on Ballantyne. The play is under the direction of Peter Larisey, SJ.

For their next presentation MRT have chosen the play "Simon and Laura," which opens on Tuesday, November 24. This is the first time this play has appeared on a local stage. Julia Murphy is directing this comedy from the pen of Allan Melville which pokes fun at television family serials. Simon and Laura Foster are two stage stars whose glamour shows signs of fading at the box office. At the moment when their bank account is at its lowest, and their vigorous bickering has risen to its highest peak, they receive an offer to appear as themselves on a television serial showing the home life of an ideally happy couple. Part of the fun of this play is the thrust and parry between the Fosters when they are out of range of the cameras, and the contrasting married bliss they present to television viewers. The set is designed by Earl Preston, and the striking costumes worn by Laura are being supervised by Tom Owen.

The McGill's English Department are giving an extra performance of "The Lady's Not for Burning," at Moyse Hall on Saturday, November 21, at 8:30 p.m.

Red Cross seeks donors during 'Hemophilia Week'

David Page looks like any other six-year-old boy, but he cannot play like other little boys. David is a hemophiliac — a "bleeder" — and the slightest bump can mean a sudden trip to the hospital for blood transfusions. If David doesn't get the blood he needs, his internal hemorrhaging will cause him hour after hour of pain. Without quick and skilful treatment, David's hemorrhaging may result in permanently crippled joints to the accompaniment of the worst pain imaginable — or even death. In his six short years, David's mother has rushed her son to the Montreal Children's Hospital a total of 50 times.

David is only one of an estimated 300 hemophiliacs in the Montreal area. Victims of Hemophilia, who are almost invariably male, suffer from a deficiency in the blood of an essential agent for coagulation, which results in abnormal delay in blood clotting. One third of the cases of Hemophilia are not inherited, but arise from a mysterious mutation in the human species that has nothing to do with heredity. Thus, Hemophilia can strike in any family.

In hereditary cases, the disease is transmitted by "carrier" women to their sons. A woman can be a carrier of the disease, but very seldom suffers from it herself. Usually one out of two of her sons will be a hemophiliac and one out of two of her daughters will be a carrier. The only time a woman can develop the actual disease is if her father is a hemophiliac and her mother is a carrier.

A hemophiliac man passes the genetic factor concerned in the disease to all his daughters who become carriers. However, none of his sons will develop the disease.

What makes Hemophilia particularly dangerous and extremely painful is not the excessive bleeding caused the victim by surface wounds, but the internal bleeding caused by bumps or strains. The surface wounds can be handled. The internal bleeding can flood small cavities, muscles or joints, causing intense pain and resulting in crippling deformation. Although there is no cure for it yet and it lasts throughout the life, the most dangerous period for the hemophiliac is childhood and adolescence. At all periods, transfusions of fresh blood are the only weapon against it. The average victim of Hemophilia receives 45 transfusions a year.

His Worship Mayor Sarto Fournier has declared November 22nd to 28th "Hemophilia Week". This is a recruitment for blood. Your help is urgently needed to meet the needs of hemophiliacs like little David Page. Give blood during "Hemophilia Week" at the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic, 2180 Dorchester street west, Wellington 7-7761. This recruitment is being sponsored by the Hemophilia Committee of the Junior League of Montreal, the Canadian Hemophilia Society, and the Canadian Red Cross Society.

YOU SAY WE SAY

'Y' drive total surprisingly small

THERE are a surprising number of persons who take a dim view of the "Y". They regard it as too money-conscious.

Not that other worthy organizations don't go out and campaign for funds as is the YMCA this week and next.

But the "Y" has a propensity for charging, however small the amounts, for so many things it does.

Many a veteran remembers this, how the "Y" stacked up against the War Services of the Sally Ann, the Knights, and the Legion.

Few have grounds for bitterness, however.

Considering the widespread facilities of the YMCA, the well-equipped buildings it maintains, the fulltime staffs, the "Y" does remarkably well.

The dimes and quarters it modestly charges for this and that make a vast difference between its annual appeals and those of other "volunteer" organizations.

The Montreal area budget of the "Y" is $2,400,000.

But campaign total is only $240,000, over two million dollars being accounted for by self-sustaining activities.

This is a relatively small appeal total. It easily can be subscribed with your help.

By the way . . .

IMMACULATELY dressed and wearing a rosette which none of the three political parties would have recognised, Captain Foulencourt went down a street renowned for its pretty girls. He explained that he was doing a little door-to-door preliminary canvassing as an independent candidate. He kissed 14 of the prettiest girls, and when a handsome mother held out her baby, he ignored it, and hugged the mother. "A vote for me," he said, "is a vote for peace, prosperity, and cheaper fish."

Show appreciation of WMA by joining

Sir:

Collective wisdom and co-operation are important elements in the successful functioning of governments and enterprises. Associations are formed to better carry out plans and recommendations which call for more than individual effort. Where the purpose of the organization is the welfare of those it seeks to serve, it should receive the support of the community in the fullest measure.

In several of your issues, the Westmount Municipal Association solicits additions to its membership. This appeal is one that should be responded to by all living in the city who want a high degree of municipal efficiency and progress.

Since it was first organized, the association has devoted itself with conspicuous success in suggesting for the mayoralty and the council citizens of high standing, prepared to accept office with no other motive or interest than that of administering the city's affairs, and to give the tax-payer the maximum in service.

It is because of the activity of the association that Westmount is regarded as a model and progressive municipality. For their services, the mayor and aldermen receive no compensation other than the thanks of their fellow citizens for the valuable services they render. The choice of the association for both mayor and aldermen has been accepted by the citizens since they were aware that the nominees were citizens of character and ability who would maintain the prestige of the city as an efficiently governed municipality.

The mayor and aldermen, appreciating the confidence reposed in them, appoint to the principal administrative positions officials who are highly competent and devoted to their duties.

The officers of the association are entitled to the warmest thanks of the community it serves, which, it is felt, should bring a substantial increase in membership.

Examiner Profile

Sophie Elliott: a special crusader

By GEORGINA RODDEN

MISS Sophy L. Elliott of Westmount is one of those rare individuals who keep on struggling at special crusades, even though public indifference, and personal ill health interfere. "It seems to me," she declares, "that our history has always been presented in rather humdrum fashion, and that it passes much too lightly over the achievements of women, like a bird flying with only one wing."

"Just what would have been the course of history, had it not been for Queen Isabella's interest in Columbus, the found-

All her life, Miss Elliott has attempted to further the friendship between English and French, and to speak up on behalf of women's rights, and woman's role in Canadian history.

Helps elderly

In more recent times, she has taken up her pen on behalf of establishing homes for the elderly in the community, and to comment on the lack of faith, son, assistant postmaster in Montreal, whose home on Cote des Neiges road was long a civic landmark, John Elliott, seemingly, in a more youthful generation, as well as continuing to record for various publications the history of early grandfather was James Simpson's paternal grandfather, owned a big home on Sherbrooke street, one block east of St. Lawrence boulevard, on "The Main" as it was spoken of in those days. There is a stained glass window to his memory in St. George's Church.

Miss Elliott's home is furnished at the present time largely with antiques from the Simpson household.

These impart an air of graciousness, warmth of woodcarving and homely use, difficult to discover in more modern homes. To add to it, also, are the many sketches, watercolors, and oil paintings which Miss Elliott, herself, has executed, the earlier ones having an unique self-taught style, the more recent a new technique largely due to classes she began taking with artist Adam Sheriff Scott, RCA.

Canadiana 1959

Canadiana 1959, published by the National Library of Canada, lists Miss Elliott's more recent writings under three categories: history, politics and world affairs, biography and genealogy. She will be remembered best for her first full-length book, published in the early 1940s, "The Women Pioneers of North America", the material of which has no peer, and no successor. In it, she has outlined the work of the earliest Canadian women, of French extraction, who did so much to strengthen Canada's historical beginnings.

Too, she will be remembered for her unceasing struggle to acquaint Canadians with the little-known facets of their historical past. She has lectured from school and civic platforms, broadcast by radio, shown historical slides with her talks, and researched endlessly.

For "Women Pioneers", she spent over four and a half years in research, visiting convents and other centres throughout Quebec to gather authentic material, evaluating and compiling, as well as making sketches of the various historical sites, and copying historical prints and documents.

A newspaper woman for some 15 years, working with women's interests, she originally intended to become a concert pianist. Music became her inspiration when as a very small child, the operas of the "hurdy-gurdy" (Continued on page 11)

Canada, and the lives of its founders, both men and women. In December, the third publication of her writings on political figures, and early French-Canadian historical activities, will be issued.

Right on schedule, the MONTREAL CALEDONIA CURLING CLUB will have its semi-annual meeting tonight, in the new building on Hillside. The first curling bonspiel will be held on November 26, as planned.

The former residents of Douglas Burns Clarke, at 4513 St. Catherine street west, and the buildings in its immediate area, are being transformed for use by the Red Feather Agencies. Ground was broken last week for a new building, nearby, which will house the administration offices of the Family Welfare Association. Occupation is set for early spring of 1960. The new edifice will stand on the site of an old private home, which was not occupied for some time, but was used solely for meetings and entertainment of the Red Feather Agencies.

A poetry contest open to all members of the Canadian Authors Association has December 10, as its closing date. Entries should be addressed to MR. R. H. MAINER, 102 Columbia avenue. Two envelopes must accompany each entry. One envelope should have the poem and the nom de plume of the contestant; the second envelope should contain the nom de plume and the correct name of the contestant.

The Independent Art Association's classes at the Westmount "Y" take place every Monday evening. Different guest instructors, from the lists of Canada's well-known painters, are on hand to criticize and advise.

During a "parents meet the teachers night" at Westmount Junior High School, principal D. T. TRENHOLM had some vital things to say concerning study requirements.

"Homework is given to make sure of promotion" he stated. "At least two hours a night for those who are in grade eight and nine should be spent on written work, and review. In this way, a student has enough time to read one novel a month — a regular assignment — and still has enough left for adequate preparation for June exams. For promotion, at least 60% average marks must be acquired during the year in history, geography and grammar — then a student need not write these exams again in June. Other subjects such as mathematics, French, Latin and composition, must show a 75% average, before these June exams may be waived."

With one failure, a pupil will be advised to attend summer school, where he may take the subject over again — even if he is technically considered promoted. If he has any other subjects in the 50's, it spells trouble. However, if he goes to summer school to take the subject over again, he can go into the next grade in September, with confidence.

Children's service centre opened on Weredale Park

The operations of the Foster Home Centre, now known as the Children's Service Centre, were brought under one roof at an official opening of a new, five-storey building at 5 Weredale Park Wednesday.

President of the Children's Centre, Mrs. Douglas L. Ross, explained that in past years, the centre operated from an old house and an apartment on Dorchester street, and a factory building on Albert street.

A modern elevator system links the five floors of the new building, which include clinics, clothing stores and interviewing rooms, staffed by six pediatricians, a psychologist, and the centre's social workers.

Former Montrealers Mr. and Mrs. Howard Griswold of Milton, Ont., who hold a record as foster parents, having adopted six children from the centre, were guests of honor.

$285,600 reached in YMHA campaign

A total of $285,600 was reached in the YM-YWHA 1959 Membership Drive, according to general campaign chairman, Nathan Steinberg.

Mr. Steinberg told a closing rally at the 'Y' Saturday night that the total represents 95 per cent of the over-all objective, and shows a 7.2 per cent increase over 1958 totals. He added, however, that the $300,000 objective must await the results of the campaign sweep-up, now in process under the chairmanship of Sam Davine.

Both Mr. Steinberg, and Mrs. Ben Nadler, chairman of the women's campaign, were praised for their leadership and presented with tokens of the 'Y's' appreciation.

Cancer Society holds workshop

A comprehensive educational workshop conference will be conducted by the Canadian Cancer Society in Montreal next week which will be attended by volunteer workers representing the 50 sections of the Society throughout the Province of Quebec.

The meeting, the first of its kind sponsored by the Canadian Cancer Society for educational workers only is to be held at the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel, Nov. 25-26. It will bring together a panel of specialists in every phase of the educational field.

Pierre de Léan, provincial education chairman of the Canadian Cancer Society, who in private life is a lecturer in public health at the University of Montreal and a member of the education staff of the Provincial Health Department, will conduct the workshop conference. The main purpose of the meetings is to standardize the Society's educational procedures and to train volunteer representatives from all parts of the province in their effective application.

Oral training method helped

Kathy A., an irrepressible 9-year old, has just become a Brownie. She also loves figure skating and horseback riding. Early in life, doctors diagnosed Kathy congenitally deaf. But now she keeps a frisky pace with hearing children and even attends regular Sunday School.

deaf and hard of hearing pupils to lip read and speak entirely by the Oral Method. This method enlists the aid of sound equipment and other training devices to help children learn to understand speech by lip reading.

Children like Kathy owe much of their success to the oral teaching way. That's why "Look, Mon, No Hands" is the slogan for the year's financial campaign to raise the badly needed $20,000 for the Montreal Oral School.

Back from Yukon; will lecture Sunday

Mr. Albert Rakovsky, of Metcalfe avenue, world traveller, lecturer, and manager of the Estate Planning Department of the Crown Life Insurance Company returned recently from a lecture tour which took him to the Canadian North, and the Yukon, where he was instrumental in forming a branch of the United Nations Association in Canada, with Brig. Jones, commanding officer of the Canadian Army, as president. He visited also Alaska, British Columbia, and the western United States.

Mr. Rakovsky lectured on subjects of comparative religion, the work of the specialized agencies of the United Nations Organization, and other subjects covering the field of human relations in international affairs, designed to create a better understanding between the different racial, religious and national minority groups.

On his return Mr. Rakovsky commenced a series of several lectures. He spoke Tuesday in a panel discussion on the topic "Forward from Nationalism towards Universal Man," to the Albert Schweitzer Group of the Unitarian Churches of Montreal. Last night, Mr. Rakovsky gave an illustrated lecture on the topic "Focus on the North," covering the material and spiritual life in Alaska and the Yukon, to the International Student Group of the United Nations Association in Canada, at The Penthouse, 201 Metcalfe avenue.

On Sunday at 3:30 p.m., an informal discussion will be held with colored slides on the topic "Focus on the World," also to be held at the Penthouse.

In December Mr. Rakovsky has been invited to participate on the Canadian UNESCO Mission to the Caribbean countries where he will also give several lectures to universities and schools, service clubs, and other community organizations.

Last year Mr. Rakovsky was a member of the Canadian UNESCO Mission to Japan and made a lecture tour around the world, which was sponsored by the Baha'i World Faith. Mr. Rakovsky is chairman of the Baha'i Community in Westmount and a lecturer and active worker for the Baha'i World Faith.

LCC Speech Night

'Know men as well as atoms' Dr. Cyril James tells grads

The knowledge of men is quite as important as the knowledge of atoms, Dr. Cyril James told graduates of Lower Canada College Friday evening at an annual speech night ceremony.

"The next 50 years will see infinitely more change in the world than at any period of history since Ur of the Chaldees," said McGill's Principal James. "The boys and girls of today are more eager to know and are working with more enthusiasm than at any time previously."

Pointing out the disparity of opportunity between Canadian students and those of less privileged lands, Dr. James cautioned these contemporaries and competitors of tomorrow were "working hard to catch up."

"I hope you will learn to understand and work with them better than your fathers and mothers have with their contemporaries," he added. "If you have curiosity for the future and a capacity to understand people of your own generation, no matter how odd they seem, all of you — each of you — can add something to the total of human knowledge, to leadership and understanding in the world, and in the community."

At the ceremony, attended by parents, students, and graduates, the following prizes were awarded.

Unique concerts conducting audience, musicians

A unique opportunity for children to hear music for small ensembles written by great composers was afforded youngsters Saturday afternoon in the first of a series of concerts, hosted by Eugene Kash and held in St. George's School, 3100 Westmount avenue.

Repeating a similar successful series of four concerts held last year, St. George's School and its musical director, Mario Duchesnes of the Baroque Trio, have invited Mr. Kash to host the concerts for solo instruments and small ensembles.

The intimate frameworks of the concerts allows the young audience an opportunity to talk with guest artists and examine instruments, which will vary during the year from pipe organ to the violin, flute, oboe and harpsichord.

The concerts are open to children five years and older, and adults, with tickets ($5 for the series) available at St. George's School.

March 12, 1960, Mario Duchesnes will act as host for a recorder concert. The last concert is scheduled for the Baroque Trio as guests. On April 2, 1960.

Taximan freed: police brutality, beating charged

Westmount taxi driver Lubomir Jordanov was acquitted this week of an armed hold-up charge, for which he had already served six months, on new evidence supplied by a Court of Sessions Judge.

The acquittal was handed down by the Quebec Court of Appeal. Mr. Jordanov, a Bulgarian immigrant, imprisoned for a three year term, was unable to raise bail while his appeal was pending. He was arrested in April, convicted on May 22.

His conviction was based on a statement, allegedly given at police headquarters, of complicity in a $6,000 payroll holdup at Taran Furs Inc., St. Dominique street.

It was appealed by Counsel Myer Gross on the grounds that he could supply evidence that the statement was obtained by Montreal police "through physical violence and threats of violence." Mr. Gross did not represent Mr. Jordanov at his trial.

Motion was granted by Court of Appeal to introduce a report by Sessions Judge Irene Lagarde, stating that when he saw the prisoner at preliminary inquiry in April, he bore several marks of violence.

Rev. D. N. MacMillan says:

'World is to be saved by foolishness of preaching, not preaching of foolishness'

"The world is to be saved by the foolishness of preaching but not by the preaching of foolishness," declared the Rev. Dr. Donald N. MacMillan, in Melville Presbyterian Church, last Thursday evening.

Dr. MacMillan was delivering his inaugural lecture on "Theology and the Preacher Today" following his induction by the Presbytery of Montreal into the Chair of Systematic Theology in the Presbyterian College.

The lecturer deplored the popular modern cry for preaching without theology which he said, "Always degenerates into sentimentalism or superstition. The Church will propagate her Faith in proportion as she is able to commend the great truths of the Gospel to the understanding as well as to the hearts of men. What God in Christ has done for the world is the basis of the theologians' creed and the message of the preacher. Far from being dull and uninteresting theology can be dynamic, vital and wonderful because it is concerned with the things that are of supreme importance.

In delivering his charge to the newly inducted professor the Rev. entire Church. "With our Presby-

Rev. Dr. D. N. MacMillan

Dr. F. Scott Mackenzie principal-emeritus of the College stressed the magnitude of the opportunity offered as a professor of Systematic Theology to foster and promote the spiritual welfare of the Presbyterian emphasis on the importance of an educated ministry it is essential to have men able to relate the unchanging truth of the Gospel to present-day thought and life," he averred. "What the Church will be as a living witness to the redemptive power of the Gospel will depend in large measure on the quality of its leadership, which again will depend on those by whom these leaders are trained, a unique opportunity and corresponding responsibility for one called to be a theological chair."

The moderator of Presbytery, the Rev. E. P. Aikens, minister of the Presbyterian Church in the Town of Mount Royal inducted, worship was conducted by the principal of the College, the Rev. Dr. Robert Lennox and the steps leading up to the induction were narrated by the clerk of Presbytery and registrar of the College the Rev. Dr. C. Ritchie Bell of Rosemere.

Dr. MacMillan whose former charge was in Dunvegan, Ont., is a native of Finch, Ontario. Mrs. MacMillan is the former Jean MacLean of Ottawa. Their elder son, Donald, is a freshman at McGill and Robert is at school in Pointe Claire where the family is now residing.

Polio can strike again: giant clinic set Dec. 2

In an effort to avert last summer's polio scare, a giant Salk vaccine clinic will be held December 2 at 7 p.m. in the basement of West Hill High School, for residents of N.D.G., Montreal West, Cote Saint Luc, and Westmount.

The clinic, sponsored by N.D.G. Branch 106 of the Canadian Legion, will administer first shots only. Second shots will be given early in January.

"I cannot stress too strongly how necessary these shots are, especially to people under 40," stated Mr. Ken Smith, spokesman for the 106 Branch. "Statistics prove that those who had shots last year were pretty well immune to the epidemic.

"We realize that the scare that hit our city last summer is forgotten by many, but are hoping that the residents of these four communities will appreciate the value of vaccination and turn out in large numbers for the shots."

Doctors and nurses will be present in the basement play area of West Hill High School, corner of Somerled and Royal avenues, from 7 p.m. to 10.30 p.m.

SARAH BRINGS SYNGE TO MONTREAL: Sarah Flynn, of County Galway, born of a theatrical family, who learned geography first hand as a child actor, gained renown at Dublin's Abbey Theatre. So fond is she of the dramatic role of the mother in "Riders to the Sea" by John M. Synge, that she will be appearing in the role for the 2,000th time when the Irish Repertoire Theatre appears at the Gesu Hall for four performances, opening Nov. 21. The second play at each performance will be "Pot of Broth" by William B. Yeats. Miss Flynn, incidentally, appeared in the original cast of Sean O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock."

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

CAN'T PLEASE EVERYBODY who will appreciate the splendid music. . . . Where could you hear a fine symphony orchestra with a celebrated leader and two world famous soloists for one dollar? Yet there are some people who are complaining that they don't like the seats they have for the Montreal Star Dollar Concerts. In my humble opinion, it is of historical significance that any private concern should present such a wonderful enterprise.

It is a gesture that will be blessed by the many who cannot afford high-priced seats and an opportunity for others who have never heard a live symphony to listen and see it. I enjoyed every minute of the first of the series of four concerts with the Montreal Symphony, Igor Markevitch, Maureen Forrester and Richard Verreau. Add to this the timely and well-chosen words of Dr. Leon Lortie, president of the Montreal Arts Council, who spoke briefly and you had a superb evening. The second "Dollar Symphony" will soon take place. Let us hope the complainers will give or resell their tickets to others

TWILIGHT PLEASURES . . . Had a beautiful letter from Henrietta M. Giles, (sister of Dr. Giles, Director of Education of the Province of Quebec) the very well-known and highly esteemed music teacher, now retired, who taught the Fletcher Music Method for many years with her fine confrere, the late Jane Ludgate Reid.

In the letter Miss Giles writes that she enjoyed our comments about the Vancouver and Montreal Festivals and the CFMTA Convention. She says "I use my radio constantly and make a check up in my musical dictionary. This has been a long letter but the evenings are long, so different from what they used to be." We hope Miss Giles enjoys many more years of good health and thank her for this nice letter. Knowing my sense of humour, Miss Giles enclosed a clipping: "A teacher couldn't make little Johnny understand subtraction. 'Now, Johnny,' he said, 'you have ten fingers. Suppose four were missing, what would you

SUZANNE BLOCH, famous daughter of a famous father (composer Ernest Bloch) will be heard in a lecture-recital at Moyse Hall of McGill University Thursday night. This well-known performer on old instruments, lute, virginal and recorder, studied first with her father and then with composers, Roger Sessions and Nadia Boulanger in Paris. Brought to the United States with her family at the age of ten, she was born in Geneva, Switzerland. Miss Bloch has been here a number of times and holds a fascination for people interested in music played on ancient instruments.

"BOOKS, HE DON'T NEED NONE!" . . . Edith Motley, well-known Winnipeg voice teacher (a cousin of Montreal pianist and teacher, Edith Johnson) told this episode to a group at the Calgary CFMTA Convention. When she moved last year, after living all her life in the family home, there were many boxes of books and music. The mover was astounded when he saw how many there were and said he lived with his brother, a widower . . . "Of course, he ain't got much, he ain't got no books, his kids is all through school, so he don't need none."

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED what has become of Yves Tinayre, who sang several times with the Montreal Symphony under Douglas Clarke? He had the most wonderful control of his vocal organ and could sing so softly with perfect ease that the dies' set her to trying the melodies, child-like, on a long sofa in her mother's sitting-room. At 14, she was preparing for concerts, and did appear for some time with Alfred deSeve, who was head violinist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Sophie Elliott . . .

Gave up piano

One arm failed her, and she was forced to give up her piano. She turned more and more to her beloved books, for she was an avid reader, "particularly in Canadian history". She took a library course at McGill University, and put it to use for some time at Westmount Library.

At the outbreak of World War II, Miss Elliott founded the Women's Voluntary Reserve Corps in Montreal, and by the time she returned to her writing in the early part of 1941, her group of some 2,000 women was undergoing courses in wireless instruction, first aid and home nursing, and was standing by for active duty wherever needed. Many proceeded overseas.

The best illustrations of her art are nine water-color reproductions she created of the windows in Notre Dame Church, portraying the founding of Montreal, which are currently being reproduced as souvenir postcards. For "Women Pioneers", she sketched and colored many places of old Quebec, among them the building still standing on Nun's Island, to which at an earlier time the nuns repaired for their holidays, and in which the floor had to be raised each spring to avoid the inevitable floods; the original Ville Marie Convent at the head of Monkland avenue, and the towers which are so historical a landmark on Sherbrooke street, just west of Guy. These latter efforts are in the National Archives of Canada.

Now a member of the Independent Art Association of Montreal, Miss Elliott has had her work in several shows.

Quotes McGee

Putting the passage in the realm of "words I wish I had spoken first", Miss Elliott quotes the Hon. Thomas d'Arcy McGee as saying, "All we have to do is each for himself to keep down dissensions which can only weaken, impoverish, and keep back the country; each for himself do all he can to increase its wealth, its strength and its reputation; each for himself, you and you, gentlemen, men, and all of us—to welcome every talent, to hail every invention, to cherish every gem of art, to foster every gleam of authorship, to honor every acquirement, and every natural gift, to lift ourselves to the level of our destinies, to rise above all low limitations and narrow circumscriptions, to cultivate that true catholicity of spirit which embraces all creeds, all classes and all races."

Certainly, she has done all in her power to bring to the attention of Canadians, young and adult, the richness of their heritage, the untarnished homeliness of events and eras in which their forebears figured. To the fine authentically-detailed historical material she has amassed, future Canadian chroniclers will turn undoubtedly with much appreciation.

was a member of the Canadian Military Staff in Paris until 1946.

He returned to Canada and to the Militia in the 20th Canadian Armoured Brigade until 1947. He took command of the Three Rivers Regiment in 1948 and led this unit until 1956. He then commanded the 6th (Duke of Connaught's) Royal Canadian Hussars from 1956 to 1958. In 1957-58 Colonel Ritchie was president of the Royal Canadian Armoured Corps Association. Since early this year he has been General Staff Officer Grade I at 10 Militia Group Headquarters.

CRUCIAL STAGE

Colonel Ritchie takes command of 10 Militia Group at a crucial stage in the Militia's long history, with emphasis in its role in National Survival, a Quebec Command spokesman stated.

"In conjunction with the Regular Army, the Militia is now responsible for the tasks of warning civilians of the imminence of an enemy attack, determining the location of nuclear explosions, assessing damage, carrying out the initial re-entry into areas damaged by nuclear weapons or affected by fallout, directing the police and fire services, repairing essential municipal services and supporting local government in the maintenance of law and order.

"For this purpose, militia units have been organized into mobile columns, issued with special equipment for survival operations. However, the militiaman will still spend much of his time in conventional military training, for the new responsibilities can be best performed by units organized, equipped and disciplined along military lines."

At Unity . . .

There has been no waning in the Unity election fever this past week — as a matter of fact it has spread to the younger groups who have been doing some canvassing on their own account. The three candidates for president of the Unity House Council, John O'Driscoll, Peter Doherty and Larry Dallas, have their campaign committees working in high gear as the voting dates are coming closer. The ballot box and papers are nearing completion and will be ready for the first voting day, Thursday.

All club members are urged to vote.

After a somewhat slow beginning, the Stamp Club is now becoming well established. With ten albums already in the process of operation and plans to contact overseas clubs just a matter of time, the group is also planning a stamp exhibition which should prove very interesting. Weekly meetings are held under the direction of Steve Vittoratos — meeting time is Saturday at 11 a.m. and Steve is on hand prepared to give information to any budding philatelist interested in joining.

Peter Doherty, leader of the film discussion group, has had considerable success, this past week with two educational films entitled "Crossroads of Life" and "Vandalism." The club members who attended displayed an intelligent appreciation of the films shown and the discussion period which followed was most interesting to all.

A full class in puppetry under the supervision of Miss Daphne Winslow meets regularly in preparation for a forthcoming Puppet Theatre production of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" which will be presented later in the year. Miss Winslow has announced that her group is complete and that it would be impossible for new members to enroll.

Unity's Little League Baseball Team, the Indians, who won the 1959 American "B" pennant, were honored at a banquet at the Mount Royal Hotel last week, receiving the Kiwanis Trophy, the pennant and crests. Coach Manny Barnoff and Unity sports director John McDonaugh were in charge of the group.

During their most important years the Montreal Y.M.C.A. shares their quest for values for living

Their characters are taking shape in a society that raises questions like these:

- Does growing national prosperity automatically mean a better life?
- Do more comfortable homes necessarily enrich family living?
- Does more schooling answer the question: "What shall I do with my life?"
- Does more leisure insure the full, creative use of time and talent?

More young people than ever will be turning to the Y.M.C.A. this year for worthwhile education and recreation . . . for help in finding and achieving their true goal in life.

In city branches and suburban program centres — in churches and schools, playgrounds and private homes — the Y helps provide the leadership, the program, the sense of direction and belonging so important to every developing boy and girl.

Many of the Y's most valuable character-guiding activities are provided at nominal cost. Yet all but 11% of its program costs are covered by membership, tuition and other fees. This financial gap is made up, each year, by people who value and endorse the work the Montreal Y.M.C.A. is doing — and who contribute to its Maintenance Campaign. Your financial support is needed to achieve this year's goal. Give all you can when the volunteer campaign worker calls.

Accidents

By
The Venerable

R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

There was a serious accident two weeks ago when a building in course of construction collapsed and killed several workmen. The report of the Corner's Inquest is disturbing because the verdict is accidental death and apparently no one is held responsible. One wonders then who is responsible for their families. Are they to be left to exist on a Government pension or is the construction company as well called to make some restitution?

A few years ago I was driving up Gatineau avenue, when I heard a crash and the whole brick front fell off a house which was under construction. No one was hurt and of course the construction company took the loss. But surely one could avoid employing that company if one had an important job.

A year ago a bridge under construction in Vancouver fell; and a few years ago before a bridge at Three Rivers fell. In the Vancouver case an engineer explained that he had used the wrong formula. A good many years ago I sat in my study in a country parsonage talking to a Montreal architect. He was asking about building for a country winter house, I described how my parsonage was built. As I explained his face grew longer and longer and at last he said: "We don't build like that in Montreal." Could it possibly be that our builders are taking chances, because we must build in haste? And could it be that big construction is taking chances with human life because human life is cheap? One hears of grim accidents involving many lives, where the verdict is returned putting the blame on an act of God. Is that not a rather blasphemous way of blaming God? If we really meant it, I am sure it would undermine our faith in God. Perhaps if God were not so available and man were held accountable the accidents would grow less.

POPULAR

Capitol: Solo Spotlight. Glen Gray and the Casa Loma Orchestra. T 1234. The familiar name of the Casa Loma Orchestra under Glen Gray has been a dependable one over these many years for top dance music, but none better we think than that presented in this great new album. For this recording Glen has augmented his band with some of the best solo men in the business from among Hollywood's studio musicians, with the result that this is one of the finest and most interesting dance band records we have ever heard. Each number features some virtuosic instrumentalizing from alto sax, trumpet, trombone, piano, drums or clarinet, counterpointed by other instruments and the richness of this great band which is featured completely in the finale, Glen's old theme, 'Was I To Blame For Falling In Love With You'. The success of this one depends on a happy combination of top performance, stunning arrangements by Dave Cavanaugh, Gene Gifford and Larry Wagner, superb recording technique bringing the soloists right into the living room, and some lovely tunes all from the pen of the late Victor Young: 'Beautiful Lover', 'Stella By Starlight', 'When I Fall In Love'.

Stanley Church

Celebrates 85 years on Sunday

Stanley Presbyterian church will observe the 85th anniversary of its formation at Sunday's service, Rev. J. D. Wilkie, the minister, announced, this week.

Guest speaker at the special service will be the Rev. Prof. C. Ritchie Bell, BA, BD, DD.

The church was formed in 1874, Mr. Wilkie related when Sir William Dawson, principal of McGill University, and a group from the congregation of Erskine Presbyterian Church rose from their pews when the new organ started playing for the first hymn of the service. They walked out of the church.

The walk-out was in protest to the introduction of organ music to church services, and it was the climax of a six-year dispute on whether or not instrumental music had a place in public worship. Until then, the practice had been to sing the Psalms of David in metrical form to a few simple, well-known tunes, he said.

In all, 65 members withdrew from Erskine Church over the protest, decided to form a new church and extended an invitation to members of other Montreal district Presbyterian churches not in agreement with the use of organ music.

A considerable congregation was formed and soon started services in premises acquired on Stanley street, at the corner of Cyprus. The new church was called Stanley Street Presbyterian church, and part of the constitution was that as long as there was one dissent, organ music would not be introduced.

"It is ironical, perhaps," Mr. Wilkie says, "that Stanley now has one of the finest organs and choirs in the city."

MOVE TO WESTMOUNT

The Stanley street location served the church until 1913, when the building was sold and a large lot at the corner of Westmount and Victoria avenues acquired. This is the location of the church's present Byzantine-style building, opened in 1914.

Responsible for the church's move to Westmount was Dr. W. D. Reid, who became minister in 1912 and remained for 25 years, until 1937, when he resigned and was made minister emeritus of the church.

Dr. Reid was the fourth minister of Stanley church. He was preceded by the Rev. J. C. Baxter, in 1874; the Rev. James McCaul, 1880; and Dr. Findlay M. Dewey, 1886.

In 1938, Dr. Frank S. Morley succeeded Dr. Reid and remained until 1944. The following year Mr. Wilkie, the present minister, assumed the post.

Management of self is held poor

We in the western world haven't done a good job of managing ourselves, members of Montreal Westward Rotary were told at their regular weekly luncheon meeting by Donald Patrick of Montreal, a management consultant.

"Judging by the amount of juvenile delinquency," declared Mr. Patrick, "and by the fact that the number of mental illness equals all other illnesses combined, we're not managing ourselves very well in the western world. I can't speak for the eastern."

The speaker noted that in 1957 in the United States $150,000,000 had been spent on tranquilizing drugs and that there was a pronounced upswing in the amount of books sold dealing with how to get along with oneself and others.

Freedom, abundance are normal, natural lecturer declares

Health and happiness, freedom and abundance, are the normal and natural right of every individual, and will be experienced more and more as humanity gains in understanding of the true nature of God and man, an audience was assured on Tuesday evening by Elbert R. Slaughter, CS, of Dallas, Texas, who lectured on Christian Science in the auditorium of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Montreal.

Commenting on the age-old questions about the cause, purpose, and meaning of life, the lecturer noted that the efforts of philosophers, physical scientists, and others to find satisfactory answers based upon materiality have been to no avail. "They have failed," he said, "because they have not accepted the simple, clear teaching and life of Jesus as the only solution to the problem of existence."

A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship in Boston, Mass., Mr. Slaughter spoke in Montreal in the course of a nationwide lecture tour. His subject was "Christian Science: Its Explanation of the Business of Living."

Dr. Creighton Hale, guest speaker at the Kiwanis Little League 11th annual banquet, expressed the importance of "the desire to win" while addressing some 200 Little Leaguers.

Hale, regional director of Little League Incorporated, spoke briefly before the youngsters, many of whom were presented with awards.

Chairman Jim Wilson announced that a new trophy in memory of the late Chris Doscher, a long time worker in Little League circles, would be presented to the champions of a playoff between the five Montreal Leagues.

Also a $50 scholarship will be awarded to the league's most valuable player.

One still likes Ottawa; 3 others Cats everything

The Almost Right Football Selection Club had only one of its members that were on the right side of the record book and that was our sports editor George E. Jones, who picked Ottawa to win.

Nat Bernstein, editorial writer; Tom Maltby, plants super; and Ziggy Bielinski, engraving, all picked Hamilton.

On Saturday, Ottawa enters the second game with a 12-point cushion lead in the total points series. Maltby says that Hamilton will win the game and the series. Bernstein agrees but Bielinski says that Ottawa will win the series but will lose Saturday's game.

Sports editor Jones stays with Ottawa to win the game and series and with still a week to go, picks the West, Winnipeg, to win the Grey Cup.

Ottawa's win streak has stood up well. Hamilton in their latter games of the schedule did not score 20 points in any of their wins or losses.

Somehow the other teams had become awful strong on the defense.

Cardinal Newman wins soccer title

Brother Phillip's Cardinal Newman team won the High School bantam soccer championship with a 3-0 win over Outremont.

Hockey off to flying start after practices

By RAY MAYNARD and PETER RASSENTI

The 1959-60 scholastic hockey campaign is off to a flying start with the bantam and senior GMIAA club putting the finishing touches to a successful six week training period, in preparation to embark on an exhibition schedule that they hope will sharpen them for the opening of their schedule early in January.

The senior Saints will make their initial start Nov. 20 at Verdun Auditorium, where they will receive a visit from Brother Paul's Daniel O'Connell in an exhibition encounter.

School authorities have eliminated the senior 'B' section in hockey and this makes the task just that much tougher for the academy team that will be compelled to play schools than more than triple the high school student enrollment at St. Leo's.

The seniors lack depth with only 12 players and a goaler problem to straighten out, however, coach Andy McGillis is optimistic that, his charges will give a good account of themselves but will have to lean heavily on such tried and true performers as Mike Johnson, Allan Keith, Pierre Leduc, John Rinfret and George Spare.

The bantam turnout was encouraging, with 23 candidates seeking a berth on the club. Peter Johnson and Connie Nucci, two stand-bys from last year, are improving fast and it is likely the team will be built around these two.

Claude Servant, Tony Tyrrell and Fred Fisher are hustling at every practice and will make their presence felt in competition. Maurice Poggi in goal looks to be in for a good year.

The seniors will leave Friday, Dec. 4, for their annual jaunt across the border to cross sticks with their American neighbors, Northwood School and Lake Placid High. It will be a four game series to be played in the historic Olympic Arena, Lake Placid, N.Y. A party of 16 accompanied by a few public-spirited parents will make the trip.

St. Leo's will have a representative this year in the Westmount Public School Hockey League. Dave Kelleher, who made quite a hit last year when he led the St. Leo's Indians to a pee wee 'B' title will assist this team.

Such fine prospects as John Donnelly, Jules Desjardins, Lloyd McKinnon, Douglas Muney, Mike Farrell, Neil Capper and André Camilli, will play.

Etcheverry wins Calvert award

Sam Etcheverry, eight-year field general of the Alouettes, became the winner of the Lord Calvert trophy awarded annually by fans to the player adjudged to be the most valuable to the Larks.

It marked the second time that the Denver 'Rifle' captured this honor, the first being in 1953.

Only 21 points separated Etcheverry and runner-up Doug McNichol to make this year's balloting the closest in the 11-year history of the "player of distinction" award.

The votes were re-checked six times because of the tight finish between the two veterans.

In 1949 Virgil Wagner won by a 32-point edge over Bob Cunningham.
