MANNY'S COMBINED
MOWING & REAPING MACHINE
WITH WOOD'S IMPROVEMENT,
MANUFACTURED BY
R. & R. S. PATTERSON,
BELLEVILLE, C.W,
IN presenting this MACHINE to the Agriculturists of Canada, we deem it necessary to state, that we have added several valuable improvements to the original Machine.
The improvements added to it for 1857 consist in the material, enlargement of the Ground and Drive Weeels; increased Breadth of Cut, and a new Divider, arranged so that it can readily be thrown out of gear, without stopping the team, the adding of a third wheel, which relieves the weight from the horses necks, besides strengthening it in all its parts.
We were awarded the first prize (£5) on COMBINED MACHINES at the last Provincial Fair held at Kingston, and also the "President's Prize," (£15.)
Every Machine sold will be warranted to be made in a Workmanlike manner, and of good materials, and capable of CUTTING from 12 to 15 ACRES PER DAY, with one span of horses and driver; and in all respects to do the work as well, and as easy for horses, as any other Machine in the country

SPECIAL NOTICE.
THE SIGHT PRESERVED!

Blindness Prevented!
MESSRS. ROSENTHAL & MICHAEL, the Celebrated OPTICIANS, from the city of Berlin, Prussia, beg to announce to the Citizens of Montreal and vicinity that they have visited this city with a large selection of the following articles:
MAGIC LANTERNS,
Mathematical Instruments,
TELESCOPES, MICROSCOPES,
Double and Single Theatre Perspectives,
OPERA AND EYE GLASSES,
FOR LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,
And, also, a large assortment of their Celebrated
SCOTCH PEBBLE SPECTACLES
Which they offer for Sale at their Rooms,
No. 18 Great St. James Street.
Over Gibb & Co's, next door to the Bank of British North America.

OFFICE HOURS from 9 A.M. to 6 P.M.

The Spectacles not alone protect the eye, but also strengthen the sight. Their excellence has been acknowledged by several of the most celebrated Oculists of Europe and other countries, who have recommended them as the most suitable and useful for the Eye, of which fact all purchasers can satisfy themselves personally.
Those Glasses correspond so thoroughly with the curve of the Eye, that the light coming from all directions is refracted fully as strongly as through the centre of the glass. This allows persons of weak sight to follow the most imminent employment, either by day or candle light, without causing the least sensation or drawing of the sight, which common glasses generally produce.

TESTIMONIALS.
HAMILTON, November, 1856.
We, the undersigned having used the Optical Instruments and Scotch Pebble Spectacles of the manufacture of Rosenthal & Michael, and having thoroughly tested their powers and qualities, do certify that we have found them to be good, and can recommend them to the public as well worthy of consideration. We can particularly recommend the Scotch Pebble Spectacles, for the protection which they afford the Eye, and the increased clearness and power of vision.

THE BOOK OF PSALMS
AND
SACRED HARMONIES!
One handsome volume, foolscap, 8vo. bevelled boards.
IN the present edition of the Psalms and Paraphrases, the prose is given along with the metrical version of the Psalms, both taken from the authorized version, and accompanied with scripture references.
The Psalms and Paraphrases are accompanied with music—a revival of the plan adopted by John Knox in his Psaltery—arranged so that any tune may be brought under view on the same page with any Psalm that may be selected for singing. There is also given a list of appropriate tunes for each Psalm, and an index of all the tunes in the book.

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 9, 1857.

☞ To the Subscribers of the Daily Herald.—We would thank Subscribers who do not receive their paper punctually, to inform us of the omission. We would also caution the public against purchasing papers from our carriers, as they are not allowed to sell papers.

Religious Journalism.—The inspired apostle of the Gentiles, in addressing his Jew and Gentile converts in Rome, thus instructs the latter and warns the former on the subject of religious observances. St. Paul says :—

"Let not him that eateth despise him that eateth not; and let not him who eateth not judge him that eateth.

Again :—

"One man esteemeth one day above another: another esteemeth every day alike. Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind."

The Apostle thus emphatically rebukes the spiritual pride of the "unco gude"—the Toronto Globes and Montreal Witnesses—of his day :—

"Who are thou that judgest another man's servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth."

Again :—

"But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ."

Such are the teachings of an inspired Apostle, of which we were forcibly reminded by the perusal of the directly contrary doctrines taught and practised by our self-righteous neighbour, the Witness, in his issue of yesterday morning. So far from refraining, as the Apostle tells him he should do, from judging, in matters of religious observance, his brother, the Editor of that so-called religious and commercial newspaper, not only judges but bitterly and imsparingly condemns alike brothers and sisters—attributing to them the vilest and most mercenary motives—because they do not, like him, "esteem" the Christian Sunday to be identical with the Jewish Sabbath. A few Sundays ago, it appears, an afternoon pleasure trip, on board the steamer L'Aigle, came off. It had been got up in aid of the Convent of La Providence, at Laprairie, and it is thus the Witness speaks of the self-devoted sisterhood, its inmates, and of their spiritual pastor, the priest of the parish. He says :—

To the so called innocent or religions recreation of his flock, the priest has sacrificed the bodies and souls of a number of people, after whose spiritual interests he publicly professed himself bound to look. To raise a paltry sum of money for their convent, the nuns have sold the consciences of their poor co-religionists, compelling them either to work on Sunday or lose their means of existence. Judas made thirty piece of silver by betraying his Lord and Master; the priest and nuns have realized forty pounds by Sabbath braking—their price for dishonoring the Lord, whose day they profane.

May we not, in all christian charity, apply the words of the apostle to the writer of the above gross and insulting tirade; and ask :—"Who art thou that, thus, judgeth another man's servant?

But that the innocent and amiable objects of the Witness' insolent vituperation may know the character of their slanderous assailant, we may mention, en passant, that this Judas comparison is quite a favorite of his; for we remember rebuking him, years ago, for saying of certain Scottish protestant ladies, that, in allowing wine to be sold at a bazaar, got up in aid of the funds of one of their churches, they showed they were prepared, like Judas, to "betray their saviour with a kiss"!

The Witness is not, however, content with one Judgment in his yesterday's issue, for besides a most offensive and, to Roman Catholics, profane, if not blasphemous article, ridiculing one of the most solemn sacraments of their church, we were not a little amused to find another Judgment fyled against—who does the reader think?—why, the witness' pharisaical crony the Toronto Globe! Only think of that unctuous organ of sabbatarianism having permitted "the low advertisement of a "circus" to "neutralize" the effect of "one of the most masterly articles" on "christian Education" published "in the same sheet." So writes a correspondent of the Witness. Fortunately for the Globe the Editor of the Witness having just vented his spleen upon the ladies of the La Providence Convent and their parish priest, and his bile at what he calls the "magical power" of the priestly absolution of the dying victims on board the "Montreal," had but little bitterness left for his erring brother. He, accordingly, lets him off easy, and merely tells his correspondent that, "It is to be regretted that for a few shillings most newspaper proprietors will insert almost any kind of objectionable advertisements"—implying, of course, that those of the Globe, notwithstanding their pretensions to sanctity,—not like Judas Iscariot, oh no, that comparison he keeps for the ladies, Catholic and Protestant, but—like "most newspaper proprietors," had sold their consciences for a few shillings!

The faith of our so called religious contemporary may be firm; his hope may be bright; but his charity is of so spiritual a character as to be invisible to mere mortal eyes!

The Races at St. Hyacinthe.—These sports on Tuesday, the first day, were of such a character as to amply repay those who went to see them, and indeed such racing would go far to revive something like a national interest in the Turf in Canada as well as in the mother country. The first race was for the Queen's Plate, a purse of fifty Guineas, the gift of Her Most Gracious Majesty for Lower Canada-bred horses. One mile heats. This race was easily won by "Ivanhoe," a colt bred by the late Daniel Gilmour, Esquire, of Quebec, by "Rescue," (Black Jack) out of Imported "Rowena." He is a splendid looking bay colt of four years old, and has the appearance of being fit to race in any Company. Mr. Hogan's and Mr. Harwood's entries were distanced in the second heat.

But the race of the day, and indeed the best race ever run in Canada, was for the Rynder's stakes, a sweepstake of $100 each, with $200 added by the club, three mile heats, for which four flyers ran, each of them contesting every inch of the three miles of every heat, from stand to stand, and leaving the result of the race, an uncertainty, until the winner of the race passed the Judges' stand in the last heat. Kennett and Augusta were the favorites, the threatening appearance of rain making Berry, who is the local favorite, go into disfavor. The odds at starting may be quoted as at 2 to 1 against Augusta, 5 to 2 against Kennett, and 2 to 1 against Berry and Puss Farris.

First Heat.—Puss Farris went off with the lead, Augusta lying second, and Kennett & Berry third and fourth. Berry's chances appeared so much worse at the end of the first mile that heavy bets of 5 and 6 to 1 were laid against him in the stand. At the half-mile pole of the third mile, however, Berry caught Kennett, and the two together came up to Augusta at the quarter pole, where she was let out, and in a few strides passed Puss Farris, a most beautiful struggle resulting in the victory of Augusta by a short neck, Kennett and Berry pulling up inside the distance. When the judges announced the result of the heat and the time from the stand, there were loud manifestations of satisfaction heard on all sides, and Augusta was now backed freely at evens to win the race, and at two to one against Kennett. Berry and Puss Farris' chances were considered about equally bad.—They all came up looking none the worse for the hard struggle, to start again for the Second Heat.—After a few false starts, the respective jockeys being most anxious to get some advantage in the start, which was a proof of the closeness of the contest, as a length or two is generally considered of little importance in a race of three mile heats, they all got off in a bunch, Berry having, if anything, the best of it, for he took the track at the turn, and the old horse appeared to move like a three-year-old, repeated efforts of Kennett to get past him being unavailing. It was most exciting; Kennett every now and then coming up under whip and spur with a rush, while the superior stride of Berry would shake him off again and again. Puss Farris lay close to, watching his chance, and the rider of Augusta, seeing the desperate contest going on in front, laid up his mare for the last heat, just saving his distance. Berry won the heat by a bare length; Kennett second; time 5:50, the first mile being ran in 1:51, the success of the St. Hyacinthe stable causing quite a tumult of satisfaction among the townspeople.

Third Heat.—Berry was the favorite, but although Kennett had not won a heat his reputation for game was so great that he was still backed, at 3 to 1, to win the race; Augusta was backed also by her owner, at 4 to 1, several times. All the jockeys seemed inclined to prolong the start as much as possible, and so gain time to recover from the effects of the two bruising heats. After three ineffectual attempts at getting them off, the four started beautifully together. A most exciting contest insued for the inside, resulting in Berry maintaining his advantage of the place next the post as winner of the second heat, but there was no time left to his jockey (Nat) to congratulate himself on his dexterity for Puss Farris came at him at the half-mile pole, and was beside him in an instant, a general cry being made that "Puss wins, Puss wins." It was not so, however. The old horse very ungallantly left the lady behind, and though the mare persevered again and again for a mile and a-half, she could never lap Berry, But Berry had now to struggle with his most dangerous competitor, for Puss withdrew in favor of Kennett, on whom was placed a fresh jockey, the one who rode him in the first heats being tired of punishing him. It is said that Kennett can be whipped six out of nine miles, and that the more he is whipped the faster he will run. It is difficult to believe in this, but he is undeniably a game, and a good horse. For the last mile and a-half of the race he was run at Berry, and in coming down the stretch the second time round, he was "lapped" on him, the excitement being now most intense, but the advantage of being ridden under a steady pull, as well as the inside place, was with Berry. The most beautiful part of the race was however yet to come. Littlefield, on Augusta, had been bottling her up for a final struggle, and he cut out from the half mile pole, determined to make Augusta win. She shot past Puss Farris in an instant, and came to Kennett's flank at the quarter pole; Kennett being then a length behind Berry. All three now put in their appearance round the turn, and shouts were heard on all sides, while others were almost breathless with excitement. The brush had been too far for Augusta, she could not reach the first, and Berry won amid the greatest enthusiasm; beating Kennett about a length, and Augusta by two lengths. Puss Farris, a bad fourth: Time 5:45½. Thus ended the most exciting and fastest race ever ran in this country. It was remarkable in many ways; the absence of any decided favourite, the closeness of the contest, none of the horses being distanced, and the fast time made. It seldom happens that a third heat of three miles is run as fast as either of the other heats, and seldomer still that it is run in less than six minutes. Such a field of horses seldom come together; and though Augusta, Kennett, and Puss Farris have been beaten by the venerable and once renowned Berry, they have no reason to be ashamed of such a defeat. Berry is, or was in his day, the fastest horse ever raised in the United States. He ran the fastest two miles ever run on this side of the Atlantic when a three year old, in 3:36! and though he has not done so well for the last two or three years he appears to have recovered some of his former speed, as his trainer has recovered some of his former vigor.

Second Day.

A large number of the citizens of Montreal and several ladies took the half-past eleven o'clock train, yesterday, for St. Hyacinthe, for the purpose, some of seeing the sport, and more probably of enjoying the country air and the beautiful weather. Arrived at the newly incorporated town, the first care of the visitors was the refection of the body, not much wasted indeed, by the thirty-five miles drive; but certainly exceedingly well prepared by it, for a comfortable luncheon. By the time this was discussed the hour had arrived for proceeding to the course which is very pretily situated at a little distance from the station, whence the road for foot passengers lies through a little wood, affording a shade to the traveller. The site of the course itself is very agreeable. From the members stand, the mountains of Belœil and Yamaska rise on the left and the right, the back is shut in by a wood which goes nearly half round it. The ladies' stand was very well filled, and this fact proves that removed from the blackguadrism of the larger towns, racing may be made a truly popular amusement.

The first race was the hurdle race, of one heat, twice round the course with 3 feet 9 in. hurdles of stiff timber. The horses entered for this heat were Harkaway, Lady Franklin, Frazer, and Kite. All the horses had their backers and it was perhaps hard to say which was the favourite. However, in racing as in other things, it is only to wait long enough, and one finds out what was to happen by what has happened. At starting all the horses got away nearly together; but at the first hurdle Lady Franklin got ahead, and retained it completely round. After having passed the second round, the Lady and Kite keeping well together, left the otner two horses at a constantly inereasing distance behind them At the last hurdle, on the second round, the two last mentioned horses were still close together; but in taking that leap Kite struck the hurdles and fell with them. Her rider, however, speedily picked up, and succeeded in coming in third; Frazer being last, and Harkaway very little, indeed, in advance of Kite. The whole race was exceedingly well contested particularly between Kite and the Lady, and it was for some time exceedingly doubtful which would carry off the palm.

The time was 4 minutes 15 sec.

The other race of the day consisted of mile heats, best three out of five. There were but two horses started for this race; viz: Mario, and Charles Reilley. The latter appeared certainly to be the favourite. The two horses after starting well together maintained their relative positions tolerably until they reached the first quarter. when Mario took the lead and retained it throughout though his competitor was very close upon his heels all the way round. Time 1 min. 54 sec.

In the second heat the order of things was reserved. Charles Reilly took the pas, and maintained his place a long way in advance of his competitor to the end of the heat. There was some difficulty about this heat, arising out of the question whether the start ought or ought not to be considered a true one; some one in the stewards' stand having rung the bell after the horse was started. The President, after deliberation informed the racing world on the track below him, that Mr. P. Duchesnay, who was the starter, and who alone had anything to say in the decision, declared that the start was a good one, and he afterwards announced that previous to this decision, Mr. Laframboise had expressed his willingness to have the start considered as a good one. Owing to this circumstance the time was not officially announced; but it was understood to be two minutes.

The third heat was exceedingly well contested, the two horses keeping together almost all the way round. Reilly a little ahead however, until the last quarter, where Mario pulled up in advance, and came in two length ahead of his opponent. Time 1 minute and 52½ seconds.

In the last heat Mario took the lead from the first and held it all the way round, the other horse evidently having no chance. Time 1 m. 55 seconds.

The Late Calamity.—We have only one remark to make upon the following article, in which our contemporary the Quebec Chronicle strongly animadverts upon the course pursued by some of our city contemporaries, in connection with the recent disaster—it is, that the "Montreal Press" is not a body corporate, the members of which are individually and collectively responsible for each other's writings.

THE MONTREAL PRESS & THE INQUEST.

There may be Thugs in Quebec; there may be for aught that we know to the contrary, thieves and murderers, who live for no other earthly purpose than to kill and rob. Certainly there are crimps,—men who inveigle sailors from ships for gain; but this we know, that Quebec is not a whit worse than any other great seaport in regard to the character of its population, and is in no respect inferior to Montreal. Here there is less pretence, less fuss, less affectation, less sentiment, and, it may be, less apparent energy, but here there is as much honesty, as genuine sympathy with the unfortunate, as now exists or ever has existed in Montreal. To read a Montreal paper of the hour is to be filled with the idea that Montreal is jealous of the locality in which the late dreadful accident occurred,—sorry that it did not happen,—since it was designed that it should happen,—within the district of Montreal, so that the excitement-loving citizens might have demonstrated to the world at large their extraordinary sympathy, and have manifested their pomposity in the burial of the dead. One Montreal paper tells us that "Quebec is the head quarters of two sets of the greatest scoundrels and ruffians on the face of the earth, crimps and immigrant runners;" a second tells us that the crimps have been reaping a rich harvest by robbing the bodies of the dead; a mock sentimentalist letter-writer for the Montreal Gazette, whose correspondence is an intermixture of wilful falsehood, exaggerated lying rumors, and truth has the audacity to say that the Coroner was only prevented from closing the inquest, a week ago, upon the representation of the St. Andrew's Society. Nay, we are yet further told that, in spite of the ravings of the Montreal press, "the character of Quebec juries is so notorious that the verdict in this case will probably add another instance to the record of their infamy.' All this is said on the strength, it may be, of ex parte evidence, obtained by the Montreal editors, and from the carefully printed remarks of an exceedingly well informed newspaper correspondent-extraordinary, who, for an hour or two, witnessed the examination of the bodies and recognition of the dead, in the presence of the Coroner and jury. We can scarcely understand the object which the Montreal press has in view. Is it to intimidate the Coroner, or overawe the jury? Disinterested witnesses have been examined, and Montrealers too, and to what does their testimony amount? Does the evidence of Ms. Hayes amount to a scintilla of proof of the charge of wanton negligence, criminal carelessness, or an indifference to the value of human life, on the part of the owner, the officers, or the crew of the "Montreal"? No impartial person can answer in the affirmative. The fact is, that while in Montreal the newspapers have been haranguing the people, and exhorting the Quebec Coroner and jury, this city has been unceasingly engaged in recovering, searching, in presence of the authorities, identifyi g, coffining and decently burying about two hundred and fifty bodies. As for robbery of the dead, we have made it our business diligently to inquire into the truth of the charge. The money and effects said to be on certain bodies, with very few exceptions, have been found, as any one looking over the lists in the Quebec newspapers may perceive. Since Monday last two or three police boats have been constantly around the wreck, picking up and guarding the drowned; and that crimps have in no case robbed the dead or even grappled for them is best proved by the fact that, of the bodies recovered, one hundred and thirty have been picked up by a boatman, named Robert Jeffery, who is well known to be a strictly honest man, and who went up to the wreck in the same steamer as the Mayor, on the night of the occurrence; the remainder of the bodies having been recovered by Michel Barribeau, Joseph Belleau, and the Water Police.

There is still another mis-statement, with regard to emigrant runners, which we desire to correct, and it is this,—that the passengers of the John McKenzie were dissuaded by steamboat agents from going West by railway. Now, we have seen a passage ticket taken from the person of a deceased man named Corsie, which shews that the emigrants by the John McKenzie had, in Glasgow, stipulated and paid for their passage by that vessel to Quebec, and thence per steamboat to Mon real. It is unnecessary to prolong this refutation of calumny. We look to the Jury with confidence; they and the Coroner have a duty to perform as onerous as it is important; they have hardly yet begun their investigation, but we know they will patiently give it all the attention it merits, without the supervision of the Montreal press, regardless of popular clamour or censure on the one hand, and on the other of clemency for those proved to be culpable in the least degree. Sensible, unprejudiced persons want in this mournful inquiry no mock sentimentalism, no exaggeration, no mere idle rumors, graphic fanciful sketches got up to aid the sale of newspapers,—but the real facts of the case, in one word the truth,—which the Jury are sworn to ascertain, and whereupon they must base the verdict they will give to the country.

High School Department of M'Gill College.—Our readers will see by an advertisement in another column, that the Examination of this Public School takes place this week. We believe that the education it offers is of the soundest kind, but in a matter of such importance Parents ought to visit the Institution and determine for themselves.

American Presbyterian Church.—The installation of the Rev. James B. Bonar, a graduate of the University of New York, as pastor of the American Presbyterian Church in this city, took place on Sabbath last. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Hatfield; the charge to the Minister was given by the Rev. Dr. Burchard, and that to the people by the Rev. Mr. Smith, all of New York. The addresses were exceedingly appropriate and effective. The audience was large.

Grand Trunk Exposure.—Mr. McKenzie in his last message says :—

Has it vanished into thin air? Has there been a compromise? Is the Globe to go Chisholm, Cayley, Shaw, Murney, John A. Macdonald, and Sir Allan McNab again next election, or will Mr. Brown prescribe a fresh supply of still more voracious leeches?

Some months ago a committee on the Grand Trunk financiers was Dr. Brown's panacea; it was struck; Brown on it; in a majority too; and everybody looked for revelations. Where are they? The seer of the Globe was to show that Galt had plundered the Grand Trunk of many thousands connected with the transfer of the Portland lease of railway to the Trunk. What has he shewn? Where is the printed report? Where the choice passages in the Globe? What are the revelations?

The Irish Protestant Benevolent Society.—In consequence of one or two typographical errors in the publication of Mr. Mathewson's letter to Mr. Murray, we publish it to-day in a perfect shape :—

Montreal, July 4th 1857.

Wm. Murray, Esq., President of St. Andrew's Society, Montreal,

Dear Sir :—I beg leave (on behalf of the Committee appointed at a special meeting of the "Irish Protestant Benevolent Society" held on the 1st inst.,) to enclose you herewith a check for one hundred pounds, being the amount of subscriptions from members of that Society for the relief of the sufferers by the late Steam Boat disaster. Understanding from a conversation I had with yourself, that your Society has taken those afflicted people under its kind protection, and that your charitable committee faithfully administered to them the relief they so much need without any distinction either as to country or religious denomination. We, therefore, hope you will accept of this, which we trust may render some assistance in the disinterested benevolence of your Society.

I am, &c.,
Hugh Mathewson,
President, I.P.B.S.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the Montreal Herald.

Sir,—In reply to your two correspondents 'M." and "W. F. G", in this morning's issue, I would request that these gentlemen would await the result of the inquest now going on in Quebec. In the course of the testimony that will there be given, I have no doubt that all the explanations they ask for will be satisfactory to them as well as to the public, as regards the Steamer Napoleon.

Your very obt. servt.,
J. H. TERROUX,
Secretary Richelieu Company.

St. Andrew's Home.

July 7th 1857.

The Committee met this evening, at 8 o'clock. Present, Messrs. Murray, Morris, Becket, Ramsay, Alexander, Brown, McArthur, Templeton and McLennan.

A letter was read from the St. Andrew's Society, Quebec, stating that £250 had been raised by them, and that the subscriptions in aid of sufferers would reach £300.

A communication was read from the St. Andrew's Society, Toronto, endorsing resolutions passed at a meeting of that Society, on the 4th instant, sending their aid and assistance by such means as the Committe may deem expedient.

A communication from the St. Andrew's Society, Kingston, was read, endorsing the sum of £60, whereupon the following resolution was agreed to :

"That the Society be directed to convey to the St. Andrew's Society, Kingston, the grateful thanks of the Charitable Committee, for their very liberal donation of £60; and also for the encouraging expressions of sympathy and confidence with which the amount has been transmitted.

The following survivors have left the "Home": Mrs. Wylie; Wm. McLeod, gone to Longueuil; Alexander Knox, and Alexander Watson, remain in this city.

City Council Proceedings.

SPECIAL MEETING.

Reported for the "Montreal Herald."

Tuesday, July 7, 1857.

Present :—The Acting Mayor (Louis Marchand, Esq.), Aldermen Atwater, Leclaire, Homier, Whitney, Day, Browne, and Masson; Councillors Adams, Jodoin, Belle, Townsend, Bulmer, Simard, Rottot, Corse, Valois, Grenier, Penn, Rodden, Bronsdon, Auclaire, Terroux, and Cusson.

WHY THE MEETING WAS CALLED.

Councillor Townsend—Before the regular business of the evening commences I have to put a question to your Worship. I rise not, sir, for the purpose of questioning the legality of this meeting of Council, or of impugning the motives of the five members upon whose requisition you have called this meeting; but, Sir, when I consider its unprecedented nature—for during the period of the present and the preceeding Mayoralty no such instance has occurred—when I consider that you have been elected to the presidency of this council by the unanimous voice of its members, and that you enjoy their confidence, I say, sir, that, under all these circumstances, I have a right to claim for myself and my fellow citizens generally, a full explanation from your worship of this unusual proceeding.

The Mayor thanked his friend Councillor Townsend for the opportunity he had given him of explaining the circumstances under which this meeting had been called. He had some days ago received a letter from a highly respectable gentleman, signing himself Chairman of a Committee of Citizens, requesting an interview with the Finance and Water Committees, on the subject of the By-law to be proposed to the public to-morrow. The interview was granted, and some of the parties exhibited an unjustifiable distrust of the City Council, and doubted the integrity of the By-law. They proposed certain conditions, which they asked him to call a meeting of the Council to accede to, but he respectfully but firmly declined. Some of the parties subsequently met His Worship, and said they were satisfied, but the public was not, and they suggested that the resolutions should be agreed to, for which the meeting had been convened. He persisted in refusing, but told them it was in the power of five Members of the Council to demand a meeting to which he must accede. But the requisition having been presented to him he had no option but call the meeting. His Worship then said as the representive of one of the most influential wards of the city, he desired to make a few remarks.—The citizens—or rather a section of them—had not treated the Corporation with proper respect. [Hear, hear.] The Corporation as a body had never deserved to be treated with such distrust. [Hear, hear.] What was their assumption, but that the estimates were based upon false premises, and that the amount required would not be expended. He denied this, and said the amount asked for was absolutely necessary. The Members present had a duty to perform, and that was to defeat the object of some persons, who proposed the resolutions referred to, thinking the Council would refuse to pass them and stand upon their dignity. He hoped the Council would sacrifice their private feelings and personal indignation, pass the resolutions, and thereby take from the belligerents the shadow of a ground for opposition,

The Mayor repeated his explanation in French, but at much greater length.

A SCENE.

Alderman Browne rose and said, he had a few remarks to make—

The Mayor— I have a motion before me, Sir—

Alderman Browne—You have given an opinion Sir, and it is very unusual—

Councillor Townsend—I rise, sir, to a point of order, and I demand to be heard. The Alderman charges the President with presuming upon his position to address the Council. This I deny. You asked and obtained permission to address the Council, therefore the member is out of order.

Alderman Browne attempted to proceed amidst tremendous cries of "Chair, Chair," and "Order, Order."

The Mayor—It is not unusual for the presiding officer to express his sentiments, and as an explanation was asked, I gave it.

Alderman Browne—But it is very unusual, and out of order—

Councillor Townsend—[with great heat]—Chair, Chair!

Alderman Browne—Order, Sir! I call you to order!

The Mayor—You will all have an opportunity of speaking when the question is before you. Meanwhile, I shall read the resolution placed in my hands :—

THE NEW BY-LAW FOR £100,000.

Moved by Alderman Homier, seconded by Councillor Adams—"That this Council do pledge itself, and guarantee, that if the whole of the £100,000 to be borrowed under the provisions of the By-Law, now before the public, be not expended in the execution of the works specified in the By-Law, no part of the balance thereof remaining unexpended shall be expended for any other purpose, than the purposes mentioned in the By-Law: to wit, the laying down of pipes and the construction of hydrants in the City; and, further, that the location of the Tail-race and the application of the water from the waste weir of the Water Works will not be decided or settled upon, until any and all plans which may be prepared either by the City Council or the Citizens, have been duly considered, and time may be afforded to the Citizens to offer an expression of their opinion to the Council on the subject, if they see fit to do so."

Alderman Browne: I have something to say in the matter; you, Mr. Mayor, as the presiding officer of this Council have taken the opportunity of the position which you hold to express an opinion upon a question of the highest moment, and upon which, as such presiding officer, you ought to have been mute.

Councillor Townsend rose to order. The Mayor had not spoken without first asking leave of the Council, and having permission given.

The Mayor would not allow Alderman Browne to call his conduct in question. He had already decided that he was in the right, and the Alderman might appeal to the Council against his decision, but unless he did so he would not allow it to be discussed.

Alderman Browne was as positive as his Worship was, and would not be so put down. (Loud cries of "order, order," and "go on, go on," and great uproar.) With regard to the gentleman who was so successful in his far-famed taxation scheme, and always so ready to come to the succour of the powers that be, the less he had to do with this matter, the more chance it had of succeeding. [Hear, hear.]

The Councillor went on to denounce the proceedings of the Water Committee, and the Council who backed them up, in the strongest terms. Admitting that the loan was essentially necessary, if the citizens were satisfied it would be properly applied, he called in question the legality of any guarantees that could be made, and said the Corporation could get out of it without any difficulty. He also argued the sum asked for would not complete the Water Works, unless the contingencies were meant for the tail-race, which the speaker said he more than suspected.

Alderman Homier said it was not against the Corporation as a body, that the distrust of the citizens was levelled, but against the Water Committee. And for this he argued, they had good cause, looking at the way in which this Committee had gone on—the sums of money it had squandered—and the general extravagance and corruption which had characterised its proceedings. He concluded amidst loud applause from the galleries, which the Mayor at once checked.

Alderman Atwater explained that he was quite prepared to consent to any delay in fixing the Tail-race that the public might require. He also argued that if the revenue of the New Water Works was not very large, the public was getting the benefit of it in protection.

Dr. Rottot, as a member of the Water Committee, strongly defended his colleagues and their acts. He was followed by Councillor Belle who spoke strongly against the Water Committee, and the way in which they had managed the great work entrusted to them. The Water Works, he declared, had eaten up the revenues of the city, and it was owing to them the Road Committee could not get funds enough to keep the streets in order. He said it was a fact, disguise it as they might, that the public had no confidence in Alderman Atwater or any of his colleagues, and, in his opinion, their doubts were well founded.

Alderman Atwater was not at all surprised that the public had no confidence in him, when it was told in public meetings that he had been building houses with the proceeds of the New Water Works. He only hoped the public would have patience till the Committee appointed to investigate matters had reported. The late Mayor, Dr. Nelson, said he could not believe it; Councillor Belle said he did not believe it; Alderman Browne had not yet found it out.

Alderman Brown rose to order, and the Mayor having attempted to put him down, a scene of great confusion ensued. The Alderman, however, stuck to his text, and asserted that Mr. Atwater's character was not before the Council, and therefore he had no right to enter into a defence of it.

Alderman Day said he was absent when the requisition was signed, and he therefore felt rather anxious to know the names of those gentlemen who had signed it. He considered that his worship acted quite right in not calling the meeting, for he would not have any unfounded reflections cast upon the Corporation. It was unfair to impute to them improper motives; it was unfair to say, that, because they wanted a sum of money for one purpose, that they would borrow it for, and apply it to another. Now, he would like to have had some explanations from the gentlemen who had put their names to the requisition, as he was anxious to learn why such an extraordinary course had been taken; for he was afraid that the public would be sadly impressed with the irregularity of their proceedings. Hardly any of the members who had addressed the Council had spoken to the question. He thought that Alderman Homier and Councillor Adams should have explained why they had called their brother Councillors together, as he was at a loss to know what could have been their motives, unless indeed they considered it a duty they owed to their constituents. He did not think that the resolution amounted to anything more than what was stated in the By-Law. He considered that they were perfectly honest in going before the citizens, and asking them for the £100,000 to complete the distribution of their Water Works; and he thought that they should mature their views by the fall, and ascertain where the tail-race was to go; for if it could be shown to him that the interests of the city could be benefitted by carrying it to any particular place he would vote for it; at all events, they should not allow more than another winter to pass without making up their minds on the subject. He would therefore suggest that the following words should be added to the resolution, namely, "within a reasonable time." Probably the mover of the resolution would have no objection to this course.

Councillor Rodden regretted that anything but a simple By-law, stating the truth, and the whole truth was necessary; for there was something very humiliating in the fact of this By-law not being satisfactory. His constituents did not required from him such a pledge, therefore he would oppose it, and he did so on principle. He hoped that the gentlemen who introduced the resolution would see a plain case when stated to them, and so modify their resolution that he could with propriety vote for it. What he asked was, that some provision should be made against the inundations in St. Ann's Ward being repeated this year, and this could be done by making an alteration in the cut of the tail-race, which would not involve a great expense, or define its ultimate destination.

The mover of the resolution having consented to add Alderman Day's suggestion to his motion it was put and carried upon a division—three votes only being recorded against it.

Ayes—Aldermen Masson, Day, Whitney, Homier, Leclaire, and Atwater; Councillors Cusson, Terroux, Auclaire, Bronsdon, Grenier, Valois, Corse, Rottot, Simard, Bulmer, Townsend, Belle, Jodoin, and Adams.

Nays—Alderman Brown, Councillors Rodden and Penn.

NOTICES OF MOTION FOR NEXT MEETING.

Councillor Codden—1. That the Road Committee be authorized to make arrangements with the proprietors and residents in College street and Dupre Lane, for obtaining from them the money by way of a loan for the purpose of making a drain in Dupre Lane and for a new footpath in College Street, as well as for repairing and macadamizing that street.

2. That the Road Committee be authorized to make arrangements with the proprietors and residents of Segnior Street and the St. Gabriel Locks, to obtain from them, by way of loan, the necessary amount of money to widen a part of Segnior street and grade as well as macadamize it.

3. That the Market Committee be authorized to make arrangements with the Proprietors and Residents at Point St. Charles and St. Gabriel Farm, for obtaining of them the money, by way of loan, for the erection of a market there, on the conditions that the money so borrowed shall only be retnrned from the net proceeds on the profits arising from the revenues of said market.

Alderman Masson—That no Committee, authorized to receive applications, be allowed to determine the choice of candidates, before having previously submitted to the Council the names of the applicants, accompanied with their testimonials; and before the Council had concurred in the selection of the party so recommended.

The Council then adjourned.

The New By-Law for £100,000.

Yesterday morning, pursuant to notice, a public meeting of the qualified electors of the City was held in the City Hall, for the purpose of approving or disapprovings of a By-Law, to enable the Corporation to borrow, on the credit of the Municipal Loan Fund, the sum of £100,000. The Acting Mayor [Louis Marchand, Esq.,] occupied the chair. He said :—

I will not detain you long; for I shall, as briefly as possible, explain the object of the meeting, and the views of the majority of the Corporation, of which I have the honour to be the organ pro tem.

You are aware, Gentlemen, that a short time since the Corporation prepared a By-Law to raise a loan of £225,000, with a view to further improvements. That By-Law was disallowed at a public meeting. Amongst the amounts for improvements in the By-Law was an item of £100,000 for the distribution of the Water pipes and the erection of hydrants throughout all the streets of the city; and the Corporation conceiving that to leave the distribution of the water through the city in its present imperfect state would be injurious to the public interest, and very detrimental to the city in a pecuniary point of view; that it would be destructive to the comfort of the citizens and dangerous to the public health; that it would leave the inhabitants of this important city without protection against fire; and moreover, that it is unjust that the citizens generally should be taxed as they are at present, to pay the interest on the loan for the water works, (which are now to a great extent unproductive) without giving them all the advantages now enjoyed only by a few, of having the water in their premises and the hydrants in their immediate neighborhood, and lastly the corporation having received a petition very numerously and most respectably signed, praying for this improvement, they have caused plans and estimates to be prepared which I have now the honour to submit to you, showing in the fullest possible manner, and with the greatest necessary detail, that to complete the works so as to enable the corporation to furnish the water to all the inhabitants of the city and to erect a sufficient number of hydrants to afford them protection against fire, an outlay of £100,000 will be required. A By-Law has consequently been introduced into the Council to raise that sum by a loan, on the credit of the Canada Municipal Loan Fund, this being thought the most advantageous manner for obtaining the loan, which By-Law is this day summitted to you either to be approved or disallowed.

I have not the least wish, nor would I dare, to say one word, that could by any possibility be construed into a desire to dictate to you. I know that all the power is very rightly vested in your hands. Nevertheless, I conceive it to be a duty which I owe to the office which I have the honour this day to occupy, through the kindness of my colleagues in the Council as well as my position as a citizen of Montreal, to state my opinion of the By-Law, and the reasons already detailed to you, which have induced the Council to bring it before you in its present shape. It was thought by the majority of the Council, that as there could be no difference of opinion respecting the necessity for, and the advantages that must follow, the improvements for which the By-Law was made, that it would therefore be advisable and proper to submit the By-Law on its own merits, separate and distinct from any other improvements, respecting which, however necessary or useful, there might exist a difference of opinion.

The Water Works have cost a vast amount of money, but large as the amount is, they can, besides being made to pay the interest on their cost, be also made a great source of revenue to the city; they can be made conducive to the public health, cleanliness and comfort; and they can and ought to prove an effectual protection against fire to our citizens; they should moreover be made to effect that material reduction in the rate of insurance which must ultimately take place, when the water shall be generally distributed and hydrants extensively constructed throughout the whole city.

I know, Gentlemen, that rumours are afloat calculated to make the public believe that if the Corporation obtain the loan by your vote this day, they will employ part of the money for sectional purposes, different from those stated in the By-law. It is my duty, Gentlemen, to contradict these rumours in the most emphatic manner, and to state publicly and positively, that, if you vote in favor of this loan, not one penny of the money voted can be used for any other purposes than those mentioned in the By-Law. Of this you may easily satisfy yourselves, (if you have not already done so) by reading the By-law. Its conditions are stringent, and no Corporation can deviate from or violate them, without committing a public fraud.

Should the result of the meeting be the adoption of the By-Law, it will enable the Corporation at once, or within a very short delay, to furnish Water to all the inhabitants of the city at a cheap rate; and although the rate for the poorer classes may be made very low, the revenue will be considerable, inasmuch as all will then have to take it. It will besides be a great source of comfort and health and an invaluable protection against loss or damage by fire.

I will now leave the matter in your hands; and also not entertain a doubt but that you will allow a free and open discussion to all parties who may desire to speak on the subject whether they may be for, or against the By-Law.

Of course if a poll be demaded it shall be granted, and in that case I hope the votes will be polled in a friendly and peaceable manner, for it is not necessary for me to remind you that disturbances in times of elections are always injurious to the communities where they occur; but at no time could a disturbance be more dangerous to the interest of this city, than at the present moment, while the Seat of Government question is at issue, when any breach of the public peace, however insignificant or momentary, would be taken advantage of to prejudice the decision of that question against Montreal.

I thank you gentlemen for your kind attention. As soon as I shall have made a few remarks in French I will make room for any gentlemen who may desire to address you.

The Acting Mayor then repeated the substance of the foregoing observations in French.

After which, the question was put as to whether the meeting approved or disapproved of the By-Law, and there being no poll demanded, it was declared to be unanimously carried, and the meeting separated.

The Burning of the "Montreal."

(From the Quebec Chronicle.)

Only one corpse has been found since yesterday morning, increasing the total dead, so far as known, to 246. The following were the bodies examined and identified yesterday :—

1—Elizabeth Gilchrist, (picked up on Saturday,) aged 11 years, daughter of David Gilchrist, from Glasgow, Scotland, identified by Mary Christian, one of the passengers of the "John McKenzie."

2—Catherine McKenzie, (picked up on the Point Levi side yesterday morning, by the ship "Robert Parker,") aged 41; identified by John Campbell, one of the passengers by the "John McKenzie." Effects: 2 plain gold rings marked "W.C.McK" and "W.K.McK," a pair of spectacles, and 2 white linen handkerchiefs.

Yesterday the Coroner and Jury, with the Sol. General, Mr. Buchanan, Emigration Agent, Mr. Pope, Counsel for the Emigration Department, and Mr. Campbell, Counsel for Capt. Rudolf, proceeded to view the wreck of the steamer "Montreal." The ferry steamer "St. Charles" was chartered to convey the party, and left the Napoleon wharf at noon.

Careful enquiry having been made to ascertain the names of the passengers who could point out the exact points at which the "Montreal" had reached when the incidents connected with the disaster occurred, it was decided that all who could testify on this point, should accompany the Coroner and Jury on their trip towards the wreck.

The names of these persons were Wm. Black, Wm. Cowell, Wm. Nicholson, John Haig, John Campbell, William Stewart, David Watson, Robert Wilson, Alexander Macbeth, and Hugh McLean.

They were placed on the upper deck of the "St. Charles," and directed to pay particular attention to the coast as the steamer passed along, and to speak the moment they recognised any point which the steamer had reached after it was known the fire had been perceived.

Nothing occurred until the "St. Charles" reached Pointe a Pizeau, when Wm. Black cried out, "I recognize this place. When we reached here, I saw smoke issuing from the side of the s eamer, The passengers spoke of it among themselves, — but no alarm was then given."

When the "St. Charles" reached Munroe's, Jno. Campbell said, "As we arrived opposite this place I saw the people on board the boat use the hose, and saw a boy take two buckets of water aft. I saw no smoke at this time, but I heard our passengers say that the steamer had taken fire."

As we reached Pentland's old Cove, John Haig said "Here, my wife (she was drowned) ran to me saying that the boat was on fire. I saw no fire myself."

At the same place, Wm. Black said "When we reached this spot, I saw a man with the hose and another with buckets of water."

Wm. Cowell here corroborated Black's statement.—Wm. Stewart said that here he also saw the men using the hose.

When we arrived opposite Bazile's Wharf, David Watson said "I know this spot well, I was watching this part, when my daughter Agnes ran to me saying,—"The steamer is on fire. I replied,—"Hush nonsense, it is not." She answered "It is true, they are all in confusion on board."—I answered, keep quiet, they'll get it out."

Wm. Cowell at this point stated "Here I saw a woman run and cry out "fire"—the alarm was then beginning"—This was just below Crescent Cove.

As we arrived opposite Crescent Cove, Black cried out, "The smoke burst out here."

As we reached the beach above Crescent Cove, Black said "Here I heard the passengers "crying out for the Captain to run the steamer "on this beach. I remarked it was a good "sandy beach—No attention was paid to what "was demanded."

When we reached the first wharf at Cap Rouge,—Robert Wilson and Wm. Cowell cried out together "Here, all the passengers were "calling out for the steamer to be put ashore—"Campbell cried out in particular. I heard "him. I saw the black smoke burst out and "Campbell cried out—'We're all done for now.'"

Campbell himself repeated the same statement.

At the same wharf, Robert Wilson said "When we arrived here I kept watching the wheel box—there was no one in it—I saw no one on it from this time until the boat stopped."

Wm. Nicholson confirmed this statement.

When we arrived at the 4th wharf, Black cried out "Here she was in flames."—Robert Wilson corroborated this statement, and said "I was standing in the bow, on the larboard side—the steamer was near the centre of the River.

John Haig said "Here the smoke was bursting out."

Just as we were above this wharf, Watson, Campbell and Haig cried out together, "Here all the passengers went frantic when they saw the boat was run ashore.—She was in flames as we passed the upper end of the wharves.—We expected she would be run in above the fourth wharf."

We then continued our trip upwards and passed Cap Rouge Bay, and reached the point which divides Cap Rouge from St. Augustin. As we rounded this point, Campbell cried "Here the ship was in a blaze—the people were protecting their faces from the heat of the fire with their hands—I saw the children do so too. I cried out "For God's sake run her ashore.—They were all getting mad when they seen that it was not done."

As we passed the long beach, above this point, Cowell said, "All along this beech the boat was in a blaze—she was cracking, the windows were breaking, and here I saw a tall man standing near the bow on the deck, like this, buckling on a life preserver."

We continued a long way along this beach until we reached the wreck.—Haig here stated "The boat was not run ashore—she was stopped and she drifted on the rock—I jumped into the river and swam, the boat continued upwards, I kept pace with her for they had ceased to push her on."

The "St. Charles" was now abreast of the wreck, and small boats being lowered, the Jury rowed round the "Montreal," and walked over portions of her boilers, &c. It was low water, and the tide was said to be lower than it has been at any time since the accident. There were about five feet of water at the bow; on the off side of the boat there were hardly two feet, but at the stern and the side next the shore the River was deeper. It was evident from the minute examination which the Jury made of the wreck, its position, and condition, that no explosion of the boilers took place, as stated by some persons.

Some property was recovered at the wreck, but of no great value. The burnt remains of the trunk of Alex. McDonald, (drowned,) were picked up. In it were found his bank books (Western Bank of Scotland,) and a letter addressed "Alex. McDonald, 9 South Apsley Place Glasgow." A tin box nearly destroyed, containing a Spanish silver dollar, 2s. in six penny pieces, and a cent; several books, &c., were also brought away from the Montreal, very much damaged by fire.

The boat's crew of the Water Police, under Constable Corcoran, which relieved that first sent up to the wreck, is still there, and will remain to watch the raising of the boilers to-day when more bodies may be recovered.

The Jury returned to town at about 5 P.M.

The St. Andrew's Society of Montreal have retained the services of Mr. E. Carter, Advocate, to co-operate with Mr. Pope, counsel for the Emmigration Department, in watching proceedings before the Coroner's inquest. Mr. Carter arrived here last evening.

The Jury will hereafter meet every day at 2 P.M., and receive such evidence as may be submitted to them.

THE INQUEST.

We have, says the Quebec Chronicle, yet another to add to the victims of the dreadful accident. The body of an unknown child, about three years of age, light hair, and well dressed, was picked up at Ange Gardien, and brought to town yesterday. Total bodies found,—247.

The Coroner's Jury met at the Court House yesterday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment. Mr. Carter, Advocate, of Montreal, presented a letter authorising him to appear on behalf of the St. Andrew's Society of that city. The other Counsel in attendance were Mr. Solicitor General Ross, and Mr. A. Stuart, Q.C., for the Crown; Mr. Pope, for the Emigration Department; and Messrs. Alleyn and Campbell, for Capt. Rudolf of the "Montreal."

Mr. Carter renewed the application to the Coroner to take possession of the wreck of the steamer, and prevent the sale of it.

Coroner Panet decided, as before, not to interfere with private property until after the verdict, further than to see that any part of the wreck which may furnish proof essential to this inquiry be touched only in the presence of men of art whom he will send to the steamer to superintend the removal of the boilers, &c.

Two witnesses—Michel Perrault, late waiter on board the fated vessel, and William Nicholson, one of the "John Mackenzie's" passengers, who was also on board the "Montreal"—were examined at considerable length, but without eliciting any new facts connected with the disaster. In answer to questions by Mr. Pope, Counsel for the Emigration Department, the last named witness said :—

My father, Thomas Nicholson, was on board of the boat with me as a passenger on the occasion of the burning adverted to, and was drowned. I saw him jump overboard. I saw him receive 300 sovereigns at Quebec two hours before going on board of the boat. He put them in the breast pocket of his coat. He had these sovereigns with him on board of the "Montreal." I saw my father's body on the wharf at Quebec on Friday last, 3rd of July. I was present when my father's body was examined before the Coroner and Jury, and all that was found upon his person was three sovereigns, 5 half-sovereigns, and 3s 5½d in silver and copper, which were handed to me by the Coroner. The 200 sovereigns were contained in a cloth bag. There were two letters from Mr. Buchanan, Emigrant Agent, found in my father's pocket. I went up in the steamer "St. Charles" yesterday with the Coroner and Jury to view the shore of the river between Quebec and the wreck of the "Montreal." There was then present;—William Black; steward; John Haig; Robert Wilson; John Campbell, Wm. Cowel; Hugh McLean; David Watson; David Milne; Charles Campbell, and Alexander McBeth passengers by the "Montreal" when she was burnt. Do not remember seeing any one in the wheel-house. Harry Carlisle being pointed out to witness he said that "It was either him or his ghost that was on board of the steamer "Montreal." I say that the alarm of fire had been long given when I noticed Carlisle on board. My attention was particularly called to Carlisle by the circumstance that their was a highlandman wanting to get into the cabin. Carlisle met him at the door and knocked him over some barrels. This Carlisle had on at the time a glazed cap. (Here Carlisle is directed to put on his cap and the witness then adds, the cap is much like the one he now wears.) He had on a white coat which came down to his knees. I swear positively that this is the man I saw on board of the boat.

This witness stated, in the course of his evidence, his firm conviction that, had the "Montreal" been run ashore when the people on board first cried out "For God sake run her ashore" —about ten minutes before she grounded—, almost all the passengers would have been saved. Mr. Nicholson's evidence closed at 11 o'clock, P.M., when the Inquest was adjourned until yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

NEW YORK CITY—ORDER RESTORED.

(From the Tribune of Tuesday)

The appearance of the military in the streets, with fixed bayonets and ball cartridge, has had its usual salutary effect, and the troubles seem for the present completely stilled. The rioters who were valiant enough in a mere brickbat battle, and who were even ready to dare the danger of chance shots, scattering as they always are, lacked the courage to face a trained and systematic enemy, and their courage completely failed them at the prospect of a well-directed volley. Bayonets and balls have proved in this instance powerful peace arguments, although neither have been brought into very active discussion.

In the field of the late battle all is comparatively quiet, although groups of angry men and wrathy women carry on animated conversations at the corners, and amuse themselves with many remarks not particularly complimentary to the new police and the "Black Republicans" generally. The Fourth and Sixth Regiments are under arms in the Arsenal in Elm street, and the knowledge of this circumstance in their immediate vicinity tends to keep the rioters cool.

Our reporters visited all the Wards in the city at midnight last night, and fond everything tranbuil, and no prospect of a renewal of the riots.

The following just remarks we find in an article upon the conduct of the new Metropolitan police force in the same number of the Tribune from which the above extract is taken :

No, it is not the business of a Police to put down organized and murderous rebellion. We saw the Park Theater dismantled twenty-five years ago, in a stupid riot about an actor named Anderson, while the Mayor and the Police looked impotently on, when a troop of cavalry would have cleared the street without drawing a weapon. The Astor-place riots of a much later day were only suppressed by the power of the military—by actual and deadly volleys—though not half so savage and formidable as those of Saturday and Sunday evenings in the Sixth Ward. It is the business of the Police to deal with such villains as they encountered on these occasions in their natural character of thieves and burglars, not in their factitious character of rioters. The Police did their whole duty on this occasion—did it nobly, heroically—though they did not stand still to be killed on every occasion when assailed by a hundred to one. They will do so, we doubt not, in any future emergency. But, wherever a whole neighborhood, whether in the interest of desperate politicians or otherwise, breaks out into rebellion against the laws, let the Military be called out at once and not for idle parade only. Let it be understood that any street blocked by rioters will be swept by musketry at five minutes' notice, and, if that fails to clear it, then by grape, and there will be no more rioting. Vigor, decision, even severity if needful, is in such cases the truest mercy.

MARITIME EXTRACTS.

Wednesday, July 8th.—1 a.m.—Wind N. Weather clear and fine.

The barque Fanny, Watson, before reported as having lost her main-mast in the Traverse, returned to Quebec yesterday afternoon, in tow of the steamer Advance. She lost her mast by coming in contact with the ship David, hence for Chepstow. The Captain of the Advance states that it blew very hard from the west yesterday, in the Traverse, so much so that two inward bound vessels that lay there did not get underway.

A telegraphic despatch dated Halifax, 4th inst., says the steamer Enoch Train has just returned from the wreck of ship Squando, of Rockland, from New York for Quebec, before reported ashore near Halifax, and that the attempt to raise the ship was unsuccessful, owing to the failure of Simpson's steam-pump.

The ship Caravan, with four hundred and fifty passengers, forty-six days out from Liverpool for New York, put into Halifax on Sunday, short of provisions and water.

BY TELEGRAPH.

L'Islet, July 7.—Weather cloudy and cool; blowing a gale from the S W; no shipping in sight.

Camouraska, July 7.—Weather bad; raining hard; wind W.; no shipping in sight.

River du Loup, July 7.—Weather cool, and raining very hard; wind strong N W; River too foggy to see ships.

The American Chamber of Commerce in Liverpool had invited Captain Headson and the officers of the "Niagara" to a dinner. The invitation had been accepted.

The new cotton supply movement is attracting the attention of the London press. The Times calls on the government to pave the way for the Lancashire manufacturers to carry out their project in India.

At a Cabinet Council the title of Prince Consort had been conferred upon Prince Albert, thereby making him legally, as he already is actually, a member of the British Royal Family, and assuring him of a high and definite position abroad, but without giving him any authority at home.

The distribution of the Victoria Cross or Order of Valor to those who distinguished themselves in the late war, took place in Hyde Park, on the 26th of June. Queen Victoria handed the Cross to each individual entitled to receive it, adding a few words of compliment. The military display was small, being confined to about 7,000 men, comprising the crack regiments of the Crimea. In the temporary stands which had been run up, there were about 10,000 spectators, while the ground was covered with a dense mass of people, who displayed a considerable amount of enthusiasm

The Police of Dublin had arrested a painter named Spollen, and his son, for the murder of Mr. Little, the Railway Cashier, which created so much sensation a few months since. The evidence is strong against the prisoners.

The Emperor Napoleon had gone to Plombieres.

The London Times gives a rumour that a plot of a most serious nature, connected with the recent election movement had, been discovered, and four Italians on whom powder and fire arms were found had been arrested.

BERLIN.

Considerable agitation prevailed in the Elberfeld and Barmen districts, in consequence of a general strike for an increase of wages among the operatives employed in the Cotton Markets.

Letters from Oporto state that the Vine disease was again making severe ravages in Portugal.

The Emperor and Empress of Russia started from St. Petersburg on the 24th of June for Kiel, en route for their German tour.

The new Russian Tariff went into operation on the 22d of June.

The Constantinople correspondent of the London Times states that the Great Euphrates Line of Telegraph has been declared against by the Council, on the plea that they could not guarantee it against the Arabs, although no such guarantee is demanded.

A Trieste dispatch, dated the 25th of June—the authenticity of which is doubtful—says, it is reported that the Port had demanded explanations from Lord Redcliff respecting the occupation of an Island by the English, and also, that another Circassian victory, in which 1000 Russians were lost, had been reported.

Later news from India shows that the mutiny of the native troops had assumed a very formidable shape.

CHINA.

There is nothing of importance.

The Steamer Indiana, of N. Y., arrived at Southampton on 25th June.

The Steamer Ariel arrived at the same port on the evening of the 26th ult., and the Washington at an early hour on the following day.

The weather was magnificent. Accounts of grain and potatoe crops in Ireland highly encouraging.

Albany, July 8.

Governor Marcey's funeral will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

A very large number of strangers are in the city. The streets present a fine appearance, every building on the line of march of the funeral being draped in mourning.

BOGLE'S HYPERION FLUID.

"Take time by the Fore-Lock."—Many others besides Old Father Time have only left themselves fore-locks to be taken, through their own carelessness in not adopting sure remedies for baldness. When the disease which causes loss of hair begins to manifest itself, try the Hyperion Fluid, invented and sold by William Bogle, 202 Washington Street. As a preventive or cure of baldness it has no equal. For sale at all the Druggists.

BOGLE'S HAIR DYE.

The Art of Dyeing Human Hair is but imperfectly understood even by those who made the greatest pretensions. The most of the popular Hair Dyes of the day may for the time blacken the hair, but soon to be succeeded by a tarnished green or some other equally unsightly color. Bogle's Electric Hair Dye is void of these noxious properties. It instantly dyes the hair a beautiful natural black or brown, which neither water nor sunshine can change or tarnish in the least. May be had of all the druggists.
