Nadeau after mayor's post

By MICHAEL ISAACS
Record Reporter

SHERBROOKE — Armand Nadeau last night announced he will run as a candidate for mayor here during the November municipal elections.

Nadeau, who occupied the mayor's office until early 1969, was invaded by a throng of persons who had paraded by car from the King street west shopping center to Nadeau's Russell street home. He resigned from the post in order to assume a high position with Loto-Quebec when the original Loto-Sherbrooke was made a province-wide operation.

Addressing the more than 50 supporters standing in the rain before his house, Nadeau asserted: "Your presence here tonight in inclement weather has convinced me to run for the office of mayor of Sherbrooke: tomorrow the race begins."

In a speech which combined spontaneity with polish, the former mayor accused the Bureau administration of having failed to serve the needs of the population of Sherbrooke and called for a "re-democratization" of the political process within the city.

"Today is the day of the party caucus and of decisions made behind closed doors," he claimed. "Sherbrooke must have its politics made open again. Because of that I will not concern myself with promoting the campaign of any city councillors — the population of Sherbrooke is intelligent enough to make its own decisions in these matters."

In announcing he will be a candidate in the race for the city's top post, Nadeau joined city councillors Romeo Quintal and Jacques O'Bready in the arena. Both Quintal and O'Bready had previously announced they are contesting the election.

To date, six of Sherbrooke's 10 incumbent city councillors have indicated they will take part in the upcoming elections. Two councillors, Bernard Matte and Rosaire Coutu, who presently hold seat two in the center ward and seat one in the north ward, respectively, have said they will not seek re-election to any post within the city government.

Romeo Bergeron, who holds seat one in the south ward, and Gerard Deziel, who holds seat one in the east ward, have repeatedly declined to declare whether they will run again. Bergeron expects to make an announcement in this regard within a week, while Deziel has said he will make a decision about his political future by the end of the month.

Deziel, the MNA for the St. Francois riding since October, 1973, told The Record last night his decision will necessarily involve consultation with Quebec Liberal party officials. "Nevertheless," he claimed, "the city has benefitted greatly, and would continue to do so, by having an individual acting in dual roles of city councillor and MNA."

Quintal, who holds seat two in the east ward, and O'Bready, who holds seat two in the north ward, are running for office as mayor.

The remaining councillors have announced plans to run for offices similar to those they now hold. The primary difference between the election of 1974 and those which have preceded it lies in the fact that the city has recently received government approval to alter its charter in such a way as to create four wards where, formerly, there have been five.

Under the new division, the south ward has been eliminated. Three councillors are to be elected from each of the east, west and north wards, while one councillor is to be chosen to represent the center ward. In previous elections, including the one which brought the present council into office, two councillors have been elected from each of the north, south, east, west and center wards.

Reallocation of seats has been arranged in order to better represent voters in terms of population. Population by new ward, according to recent municipal statistics, is as follows: north, 10,600; west, 12,250; east, 13,018; center, 5,501.

Councillors who are contesting the elections for council seats include Roger Gingues, who holds seat two in the west ward; Raymond Bergeron, who holds seat one in the center ward; Carl Camirand, who holds seat two in the south ward; and Antonio Pinard, who holds seat one in the west ward.

Gaston Goulet, a director of personnel for the Caisse d'Entraide Economique de Sherbrooke, also announced this week that he will seek a councillor's seat. He is the first person not presently a member of the council to have declared himself a candidate for such a seat.

At the moment, candidates have not fully launched their campaigns. Several, however, expect to release platforms within the next three weeks.

DOWNTOWN WORK PROGRESSING — Despite the fact that a referendum the project to revitalize the downtown area will be held October 6, work continues on Wellington Street. The referendum was called because citizens protested against additional municipal funding when the project surpassed the original budget established by city bylaw.

Oil industry hurting airlines

MONTREAL (CP) — The oil industry is aggravating already severe problems faced by airlines through discriminatory pricing of aviation fuel, the director-general of the International Air Transport Association (IATA) said Tuesday.

Knut Hammarskjold said in his annual report at IATA's 30th annual meeting that aviation fuel cost about 13 U.S. cents a gallon before the so-called energy crisis last fall. But the average price for the current quarter is forecast for 42 cents a U.S. gallon.

"An IATA analysis of the direct effect of 1973 increases in crude oil prices indicates that current jet fuel prices should be no more than 20 to 22 cents higher now than they were in September, 1973, if the oil companies had elected to pass through increased crude costs equally to the various products they market," Mr. Hammarskjold said.

"This has obviously not been done. Yet even in early 1973 jet fuel was priced above the average level of oil products and was therefore making a substantial contribution to oil company profit and overhead.

"This contribution appears to have simply been arbitrarily increased at the expense of the air carriers and ultimately the travelling public."

IATA, an international organization which groups 110 airlines of non-Communist countries, represents air carriers in international dealings and provides a forum for setting most international routes and fares. The meeting at its Montreal headquarters continues to Friday.

Mr. Hammarskjold said fuel costs, traditionally forming about 12 per cent of total industry operating costs, jumped to 22 per cent by last January and were calculated at about 25 to 28 per cent as of last July.

While fuel-related fare increases have been implemented since the first of the year on all routes, Mr. Hammarskjold said the increases have "not generated sufficient revenue to cover costs, owing to the time lag and inadequacy of the increase."

He put the shortfall at $700 to $800 million.

Mr. Hammarskjold said profitability of the world's scheduled airlines has been falling since 1966, when it peaked at a net figure of six per cent.

"In 1970 a net loss of 0.2 per cent was reported," he said, "but slight improvements were recorded in 1971 and 1972 with net profits of 0.7 per cent and 1.0 per cent. The 1973 results show no improvement."

IATA member carriers as a group are no better off, he said.

LOW RETURN

"Estimates of 1973 financial results for scheduled international operations of IATA member airlines indicate a very low 2.3 per cent return on operation revenues before capital charges and taxes—even lower than anticipated last year.

"The estimated 3.2 per cent operating loss for 1974 is even more alarming and would represent the worst result IATA carriers have ever experienced."

Mr. Hammarskjold said the heavily-travelled North Atlantic route, "with its non-compensatory promotional fares and severe overcapacity, is the prime contributor to the industry's poor financial state."

"Despite a relatively unchanged average passenger load factor and increasing yields, the North Atlantic operating loss in 1973 was 7.1 per cent, compared to 1.7 per cent in 1972. This 1973 loss is approximately $130 million.

Terrorists headed for Mideast: hostages freed

Three Japanese terrorists who occupied the French Embassy in The Hague for four days and the comrade they freed from a French jail were flown to the Middle East today, but their final destination was a mystery.

The gunmen from the Japanese Red Army terrorist group released their nine remaining hostages unharmed Tuesday night and took off from Amsterdam's Schiphol Airport in a French Boeing 707 jet with $300,000 ransom and a volunteer crew of two Dutchmen and a Briton.

The Dutch government said they were going to Syria, but the Damascus control tower said they could stop there only long enough to refuel. Instead they flew to Aden, the capital of South Yemen, and were reported planning to fly on to Dar es Salaam, the capital of Tanzania, in East Africa.

Airport officials at Dar es Salaam said they had no information that the plane was coming there. And a Japanese report said the plane left Aden, but its destination was not known.

Dutch Justice Minister Driesnvan Agt said one of the terrorists was wounded in a gun battle with police Friday, and it was believed he was rapidly getting worse. Van Agt said that was probably why the trio agreed to accept $300,000 instead of the $1 million they demanded.

Van Agt also reported that the terrorists made numerous long telephone calls from the embassy to contacts in Europe and the Middle East. He said the lines were tapped, the calls were recorded, and the transcripts should provide useful information about the Red Army network.

Japanese security men believe the organization consists of no more than 300 fanatical anarchists. But they say it is working mostly with revolutionaries in Europe and the Middle East rather than in Japan. Its biggest exploit was the Lod Airport massacre in Israel in May, 1972, in which 26 persons were killed.

The three Red Army men who invaded the French Embassy in the Dutch capital Friday took Ambassador Jacques Fenard, eight other men and two young women employees hostage. They demanded the release of Yutaka Furuya, a Red Army member arrested in France seven weeks before, and a Boeing 707 jet to take the four of them to a destination of their choice.

Furuya was brought to Schiphol Airport, and the plane was promised, but the terrorists Sunday made the money demand, saying it would be "compensation" for Furuya's time in jail.

British electors to vote Oct. 10

LONDON (Reuter) — Britain will vote in a general election Thursday, Oct. 10, Prime Minister Wilson announced today.

It will be the second election in eight months.

Wilson, 58, has led a minority Labor government since March 4, three days after the inconclusive election of Feb. 28, and seeks a working majority for a new five-year term of office.

He has pledged to bring about the social and industrial reconstruction of Britain, to steer the country through its current economic crisis and to create a fairer society.

Labor is favored in most opinion polls to win most seats, but many political commentators believe there is a good chance that again no one party will get a majority.

With the launching of the Liberal party manifesto Tuesday, the three major parties have all presented their viewpoints to the electorate.

Inflation is expected to be the central issue of the election, with the government putting its money on its "social contract" with the trade unions for voluntary wage restraints and the other two parties arguing that Labor will do nothing to halt wage-price spirals.

CLASS WAR ALLEGED

Conservative Leader Edward Heath accused the Labor party Tuesday night of declaring class war against the rest of the country.

He told a meeting of party workers: "It is a matter of regret that we should read in the Labor party manifesto the statement that there is no meeting place between the Labor party and those who hold other political views.

"This is a statement that they are cutting off from the rest of the political system. It is an open declaration of class war against the rest of the country."

Heath promised the Conservatives would, if elected, use every weapon in the fight against inflation and do their utmost to create national unity.

The Liberal manifesto echoed the call for unity.

Liberal Leader Jeremy Thorpe, whose small party together with various nationalist parties holds the balance of power in the current Parliament, said he wants to achieve the most broadly-based government since the war.

Current standings in the 635-seat House of Commons are: Labor 298, Conservative 295, Liberal 15, Ulster Unionist 11, Independent 3, Scottish Nationalist 7, Welsh Nationalist 2, Speaker and deputies 3, Vacant 1.

Turner after economic co-operation

LONDON (CP) — Canadian Finance Minister John Turner today begins a brief tour of several European capitals to spread the gospel of international co-operation in solving the world's deepening economic malaise.

Arriving in London late Tuesday, Turner flies to Bonn today for talks with West German minister before returning here early Thursday for a meeting with Denis Healey, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer.

He then flies to Paris for a Friday meeting with French Finance Minister Jean-Pierre Fourcade before returning to Ottawa early next week.

Turner's main objective, sources say, is to test world opinion on possible solutions to the twin evils of international inflation and recession and to get some idea of the future plans of individual governments before framing his own budget for presentation later this autumn.

DANGERS SEEN

He will stress the need for co-ordinated action through such agencies as the International Monetary Fund and the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) and will warn of the dangers of unilateral deflationary measures.

The Canadian initiative is likely to get a generally warm response in Europe. Most officials seem highly pleased that some form of real international action may finally be taking shape.

In Britain, Turner will be assured by Healey that he plans to attend the Commonwealth finance ministers conference in Ottawa Sept. 25-27 even though a British general election campaign may then be in progress, treasury sources say.

The Canadian minister will also likely find Healey a strong supporter of his views on the international economy. Healey, like Turner, acknowledges that government spending in some areas must be reduced in the interests of controlling the money supply and inflation.

But the British minister wants such measures kept to a minimum. There is a pronounced fear here that countries will start a kind of competitive deflationary cycle in attempts to step up exports and reduce domestic demand for imports, leading to a devastating trade war.

STRENGTH REPORTED

In West Germany, Turner will find one of the healthiest, most dynamic economies in the West.

UN opens session

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United Nations General Assembly began its 29th session Tuesday with Palestinian self-determination building up as a critical issue in the upcoming months of debate.

In the opening session the assembly voted unanimously to admit Grenada, Bangladesh and Guinea-Bissau, the former Portuguese colony, as new members, raising the total to 138.

Earlier, Algerian Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika was elected president for the three-month session and indicated his support for having a representative of the Palestinians appear before the United Nations to argue their cause.

"No one should expect the national community to bargain away the rights of the Palestinian people," said Bouteflika, 37, once a teen-aged independence fighter against the French.

President Ford will appear before the assembly at noon today to make the first foreign policy address of his administration. A White House spokesman indicated the president would announce a new scheme to share U.S. food with needy countries.

The assembly later in the week will adopt an agenda of topics for the session, and for the first time since 1952 the question of the Palestinians is expected to be included. The Arab bloc submitted it as part of the recommended agenda last week and since then China, Iran, the Ivory Coast and Turkey have joined the list of sponsors, raising the number to 47.

The Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) has been trying through Arab representatives to get the United Nations to consider the Palestinian issue in terms of a liberation movement and not as a refugee problem.

Draft evaders out of prison

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's clemency program has temporarily freed most of the 95 Vietnam-era draft evaders in federal prisons, but some may be back.

Because to some, Ford's offer to do alternative service in lieu of jail was no different than what they refused to do before they were imprisoned. They said they owe the United States no service for refusing to fight in what they called an immoral war.

Steve Bezich of Chicago was one. He refused to leave the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okla., saying he wouldn't accept anything short of complete amnesty.

Several others who left said they will return rather than accept alternative service.

Attorney-General William Saxbe ordered the imprisoned draft evaders released late Tuesday on 30-day furloughs to give them time to appeal their sentences to a newly-created clemency board.

Presumably that board might rule that some prisoners must spend time doing public-service work in lieu of completing their sentences.

BOARD ESTABLISHED

The board was set up by President Ford after he decided to offer amnesty to draft evaders and deserters—both those in jail and those in exile or hiding—if they agreed to alternative service.

Early reports indicated the offer wasn't faring much better than those who had avoided prison by leaving the U.S.

Only one draft evader was known to have turned himself in Tuesday.

John Barry, 22, reported to federal authorities in San Francisco. Barry, who had never registered for the draft, said: "This whole mess is not going to be a stigma I'll carry the rest of my life."

Doug Bittle returned to San Francisco from Canada oo take a look at Ford's offer, but he was cautious. Bittle said: "I want to look at it a lot more closely. If they want reasonable service, reasonable work, I'm interested. I wouldn't mind working at Napa State Hospital or doing anything in which I felt I was helping someone."

WON'T BE ARRESTED

The justice department said draft evaders like Bittle may reenter the U.S. without fear of arrest for 15 days. Border stations have been told to allow any draft evaders or deserters on their wanted lists to enter the U.S. after giving them a copy of Ford's amnesty proclamation.

The grace period is aimed at giving them time to apply for amnesty, but the FBI conceded it could be used as a loophole to allow exiles to visit their families and friends without fear of apprehension.

The justice department said a telephone centre set up to handle inquiries from draft resisters, deserters and others has received calls from 42 evaders, 24 deserters and 50 other interested persons.

Callers were told the city where the case involved was pending and the name and telephone number of the U.S. attorney handling it.

Some headway in transit strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Continuing negotiations aimed at settling a strike by 1,600 garage and maintenance workers, now in its 43rd day, adjourned briefly at 6 a.m. today with no agreement on ending the dispute.

A spokesman for the Quebec labor department said the talks, which continued through the night, concentrated on conditions for a return to work because previous talks had produced "headway on cost of living issues."

Bus drivers again today refused to cross picket lines set up by the strikers, members of the Montreal Transport Union, depriving the city of public transportation for a third day in a row. The subway has been closed since the illegal walkout began Aug. 7.

If the talks fail to produce an agreement, the national assembly convenes today to draft legislation forcing the workers back on the job.

The strikers were to have met at 9 a.m. today to decide whether to go back to their jobs, but a union spokesman said the meeting had been postponed until the negotiating committee has something concrete to propose to the members.

Congress wants

More CIA control

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Stunned by revelations that the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) directly intervened in the domestic affairs of Chile, the United States Congress moved today to assert more control over the agency's worldwide clandestine operations.

William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, called for a fullscale study of CIA policies and Chairman Thomas Morgan of the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee said his committee will look into the need for more congressional overseeing of intelligence operations.

Action by the two key committees followed President Ford's acknowledgment Monday night that the CIA spent millions of dollars to prop up news media and political parties opposed to the government of Marxist President Salvador Allende.

Also spurring the committees were reports that former CIA director Richard Helms lied to a Senate foreign relations subcommittee about the CIA role in Chile and that State Secretary Henry Kissinger deceived the full committee when he testified on the CIA's covert operations in Chile.

Both Fulbright and Morgan said a closer rein is needed on the operations of U.S. intelligence agencies.

CALLS FOR REPORT

Fulbright directed his committee's staff to make a complete report by next week of CIA policies along with a check into the accuracy of testimony by senior government officials about CIA operations in Chile during the Allende government, which fell last year in a bloody coup.

Helms, now U.S. ambassador to Iran, is reported to have lied to the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on multinational corporations, which was investigating the involvement in Chilean politics of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Testimony by Edward Korry, the former U.S. ambassador to Chile, and Charles Meyer, the former assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, also was said to be at variance with later testimony by the current CIA director, William Colby, and Ford's statement that the U.S. actively backed opponents of Allende, who died in the coup.

The reported challenge to Kissinger's testimony was the second in four months. The first was over his statement that he did not order wiretaps of his former aides to discover the sources of leaked secret information.

Last June he said he would quit his post if he was not cleared of such charges. Fulbright studied the matter and then gave his full support to the state secretary.

Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices increased sharply in light trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange Tuesday.

Analysts said the exchange is following New York markets closely in many cases. Monday the Dow Jones industrial average jumped 12.59 points and at mid-session was up another 15.02.

New York analysts said the move there started in response to a recent downtrend in yields of key short-term money-market investments.

Volume was 854,600 shares, compared with 716,900 shares at Monday's close.

Banks rose 12.18 to 212.73, utilities 5.45 to 118.95, the composite 5.41 to 163.58, industrials 4.44 to 168.68 and papers .388 to 100.96.

Balance of merchandise slumps

OTTAWA (CP) — A deficit of $259 million was recorded for the second quarter as the balance of merchandise trade slumped to its lowest level since the third quarter of 1972, Statistics Canada reported Monday.

Figures are adjusted to account for seasoned variations.

The volume of merchandise exports dropped by almost five per cent during the quarter and imports were down by one per cent. The value of merchandise trade was higher but this was due to price inflation.

In recent years a surplus in merchandise trade and a more than offsetting deficit in service transactions—such items as foreign travel, interest and dividends—has been the pattern.

The over-all deficit for the first quarter was $218 million and there has been an over-all deficit for nine of the last 10 quarters. The surplus came in the second quarter of 1973 and it was $68 million over-all.

For trade only, the surplus for the second quarter this year was $401 million, compared with trade surpluses $607 million in the first quarter and $682 million in the second quarter of last year.

On the capital account side—securities investments—there was a net gain of $25 million in direct investment in Canada and a net reduction of $160 in investments abroad by Canadians.

LESS COMING IN

Accounting for all movements of capital, there was a net inflow of $365 million in the second quarter compared with an inflow of $925 in the first quarter this year.

Long-term investments were reduced by $85 million in the second quarter and it was the first time since the second quarter of 1971 that there was a net reduction in long-term transactions. In the first quarter of this year there was a net gain of $433 million. A combination of factors contributed to the turnabout.

There was a net increase of $450 million in short-term transactions compared with an increase of $492 million in the first quarter.

Statistics Canada had reported two weeks ago that there was no real growth during the second quarter as the 3.6-percent increase in gross national product was due entirely to price increases. The balance-of-payments report provides more detail on the foreign trade aspects of that GNP report.

Merchandise exports during the second quarter were valued at $7.821 billion compared with $7.66 billion in the first quarter. Imports were worth $7.42 billion in the April-June period and $7.053 in the January-March period.

Total receipts from foreign sources was $9.576 billion in the second quarter and $9.286 in the first. Payments in the second quarter were $9.835 billion and in the first quarter $9.504 billion.

The deficit on service transactions was $796 million in the second quarter, $894 million in the first and $675 million in the second quarter of last year.

A third category in current account balance includes such items as immigrants' funds and foreign aid. There was a surplus of $136 million in the second quarter and a surplus of $69 million in the first.

Mining firms merge

TORONTO (CP) — Two major Canadian mining companies, Rio Algom Mines Ltd. of Toronto and Brinco Ltd. of Montreal, have agreed to merge, it was announced Monday.

A Rio Algom official said the merger was in the best interests of both companies since their activities are closely aligned.

No date has been set for the merger.

Rio Algom said in a release that a tender offer of $7.07 a share will be made on Sept. 25 by Brinco to Brinco shareholders. The offer is in line with an earlier promise made by Brinco to its shareholders, after sale of the Churchill Falls power project to Newfoundland.

The shareholders will have the choice of either selling their shares or continuing as a shareholder in the merged company.

The offer will remain open until near the date of merger.

Payment for Brinco shares tendered before Oct. 25 will be made by Nov. 1. After that payment will be made at appropriate intervals, the release said.

SPECIAL DIVIDEND

At the same time Brinco has declared a special dividend of $1.20 a share payable Oct. 15, with a record of Sept. 25.

For purposes of the merger each Brinco share will be valued at $7.30. A Rio Algom share will be valued at the weighted average of all Rio Algom common shares traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange during the 10 consecutive trading days ending seven days before the date of merger.

But under no circumstances will 10 Brinco shares be equal to more than three Rio Algom shares, the company said.

Gloomy picture

LONDON (Reuter) — The Bank of England in its latest quarterly bulletin paints a gloomy picture of western industrial countries, showing only weak signs of recovery from the recent fall in production.

In the bulletin, which takes a general look at the first half of this year, the British central bank said today that a fall in demand led to a small drop in output of goods in industrial countries in the first six months of 1974.

Because of the fuel crisis, it went on to say, production fell in the United States, Japan, and Britain earlier in the year and also fell slightly in West Germany. In France and Italy, production rose in the early part of the year.

There was a slight recovery in the United States in the second quarter, and production continued growing in Italy, the bank said. But figures levelled off for France and West Germany, and there was a further drop in Japan where the impact of oil prices has been most severe.

"Any tendency for demand and output to recover in industrialized countries is undoubtedly weak as yet," the bank said.

Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market staged one of its strongest performances of the year Tuesday, with the industrial index posting its best one-day point advance on record. Trading was active.

The industrial index, widely-based indicator of market trend, closed at 160.58, up 5.95. The previous record gain was 5.82 on Dec. 7, 1973. The western oil index was up 4.52 to 132.54.

The gain in the industrial index, which followed a 1.48-point advance Monday, was largely in response to a continuing rally on Wall Street. Analysts said signs that yields on short-term money market investments are declining led to hopes of an easing in prime lending rates. Record interest rates have been a major stock market worry.

Gold stocks were lower at Toronto, reflecting a sharp drop in the price of bullion. The gold index was off 20 points to 331.25. The base metal index was down .32 to 63.99.

Advances outnumbered declines by more than two to one.

What stocks did:

	Tue.	Mon.
Advances	355	195
Declines	143	253
Unchanged	171	219
Total	669	667

Volume was 2.62 million shares compared with 1.80 million Monday. Value of shares increased to $19.50 million from $13.29 million.

BRINCO ACTIVE

Brinco Ltd. resumed trading at the open and the stock was the most actively traded issue, closing at $7⅞, up 1⅛. Trading was halted Friday pending news that Brinco and Rio Algom Mines hage agreed to merge. Rio Algom lost 3 to $23.

All 17 sub-groups of the Toronto industrial index advanced, with trust and loan, pipeline, bank and communications sectors among those with the largest gains.

Among issues with the largest gains were: Canadian Tire, up 4⅝ to $31⅜, Canadian Tire A 3¼ to $31¾, Dominion Bridge 3⅛ to $34, Falconbridge Nickel 2½ to $31½ and Hudson's Bay Oil and Gas 2 to $22.

McIntyre Mines rose 1½ to $21, Denison 1 to5¾, Placer ¾ to $16 and Sunningdale Oil 95 cents to $4.15.

Among golds, Campbell Red Lake was down 2¼ to $25¾, Sigma 2 to $28, Dome Mines 2 to $39½ and Camflo ¾ to $10¼.

Banking policy may change

MONTREAL (CP) — Monetary policy on both sides of the border may have to change in the face of emerging financial conditions, officers of the Canadian and American central banks said Monday.

The power of the central banks to stimulate or depress the economy by changing money supplies is being affected by the growth of "nearbanks" or "non-banks"—financial institutions not directly under central control.

In Canada, economic policies of the Bank of Canada have been effective up to now because non-banks occupy a relatively small part of the financial world and because monetary policy has a great indirect affect on them, said Gerald K. Bouey, a governor of the Bank of Canada.

In the U.S., monetary policy and particularly monetary restraint—limiting the money supply—have an uneven effect on different financial institutions and the effect should be ironed out, said George W. Mitchell, vice-president of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System.

EXTEND POLICY?

Mr. Bouey told the Canadian Conference on Banking that monetary policy may have to be extended beyond chartered banks to credit unions, savings and loan associations and other institutions as they assume more importance.

New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Hopes for relief from the pressures of high interest rates proved strong enough to carry the stock market to its second gain in a row Tuesday, but the tempo of trading slowed considerably.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 9.00 to 648.78, failing to match its 12.59-point gain Monday.

By most other measures, however, the market improved on its previous performance.

What Stocks Did

	Tue	Mon
Advances	1,170	746
Declines	305	690
Unchanged	308	386
Total issues	1,783	1,822

The NYSE's composite index of all listed common stocks bettered its .52 gain of the day before, with a .62 rise to 35.25.

Tuesday's market was at its best and busiest in the first half of the session, when the Dow gained 18 points in fairly active trading.

Analysts said marked declines over the last few business days in yields on such short-term money-market investments as Treasury bills helped strengthen prices.

Late in the morning, the advance appeared to draw some added impetus from a prediction by David Rockefeller, chairman of New York's Chase Manhattan Corp., that banks' prime interest rate could pull back from its present 12-percent level to about 10 per cent by the end of the year if the easing trend in the money markets continued.

At mid-afternoon the rally had at least temporarily run out of momentum, and the gains dwindled until the close.

Savings and loan issues, a group particularly sensitive to interest-rate conditions, posted some broad gains. Great Western Financial was up ½ to $10¼ in active trading and Golden West Financial added 1⅛ to $7.

Lomas and Nettleton Financial, a large mortgage-banking concern, added ¾ to $4⅝.

Curtiss-Wright jumped 2⅝ to $9⅜. General Motors, which has a licensing agreement with Curtiss-Wright on the Wankel rotary engine, said a long-awaited Chevrolet version of a Wankel-powered car would be introduced late in the 1975-model year.

BLUE CHIPS GAIN

GM shares were up ¾ to $37⅝ in a gain that closely paralleled that of other blue-chip issues.

Marquette Cement, cited by a financial columnist as an example of what brokers are describing as unusual buying opporutnities after the market's drop to a 12-year low last week, jumped 1⅞ to $8.

Golds were left behind in the general advance as bullion prices took a sharp drop in European markets.

Homestake Mining, the volume leader, lost 3 to $39½. ASA Ltd. 6 to $67¾, Campbell Red Lake Mines 2¼ to $26⅛. Giant Yellowknife Mines, the American Stock Exchange volume leader, was down ⅜ to $8⅜.

The Amex market-value index rose .98 to 64.13.

Among Canadian issues on the New York exchange, Alcan was up 1¾ to $27⅛, Seagrams 1¼ to $27¼, McIntyre 1⅛ to $21, Hiram Walkers 1⅛ to $37⅛ and Canadian Pacific 1 to $12⅞.

Inco remained unchanged at $24½ while Dome Mines fell 2 to $40.

Champlain abandons nursing again

SHERBROOKE (RH) — Champlain Regional College has been foiled in its plan to offer a nursing program this year.

The course of study, which was originally to be offered at the St. Lambert Campus was delayed indefinitely because the Quebec Association of Nurses was unable to approve the program as it had been envisaged, according to Brian Ash, director-general of the college.

He said in a statement issued last week that "In an area as vital to the community as nursing, the college can offer an education of only the highest quality," and that he had been convinced that this was "not yet possible" at St. Lambert.

The college, which had earlier received the go-ahead from the Quebec Department of Education to offer the nursing program, was forced to drop the course of study from its curriculum because of "internal organizational problems" according to Charles Catchpaugh, information officer for the college.

"Of course the students tend to place the blame on the college administration," he said, "but many factors are involved that they can't fully appreciate." The college, which had already accepted 70 students into a nursing program for the current academic year has made arrangements for all those who registered to attend nursing classes at Dawson and Vanier Colleges in Montreal.

"Fortunately, most of the students involved came from the Montreal area," Mr. Catchpaugh explained, "but some did come from the Eastern Townships." However, since those students had already made plans to live outside the immediate Eastern Townships area in order to attend school at the St. Lambert campus on the outskirts of Montreal, he feels they will suffer "little hardship" as a result of the change in the location of the courses.

Champlain College estimates that it lost between 35 and 40 students as a result.

Dr. Ash has since offered guarantees that similar situations will be prevented in the future. "No program will be offered in the future that has not been completely researched and organized on all levels," he assured the students. "We will hold back on any course of study that has not been thoroughly approved before announcing its inception."

He said that it had become "clear that the amount of planning made available was inadequate for the preparation and implementation of a complex and important program."

The college failed in a similar attempt to implement a nursing program at the Lennoxville Campus in 1972 when the Association of Nurses refused to recognize the quality of the program. Without the recognition of that organization, nursing graduates cannot receive licencing in the province.

ENROLMENT AT LENNOXVILLE CAMPUS UP

Peter Hill, campus director at the Lennoxville campus of Champlain College said that enrolment of full-time students had topped 1,033 this academic year, representing an increase of 20 per cent over last year's figures. He added that the continuing education program, which has not yet closed its registration, anticipates an enrolment of between 250 and 300 students.

CHAMPLAIN'S ACADEMIC COUNCIL MANDATE ACCEPTED

Champlain College's Board of governors unanimously approved a twenty-six recommendation report last Friday dealing with the participatory role of faculty and students in administrative decisions. The final report, accepted at the board of governors' meeting, represented the culmination of eighteen months of research.

$3.8 MILLION BUDGET APPROVED

A $3.8 million budget has been approved for Champlain College by the provincial government, it was learned recently. The college plans to institute "flo-charts" to determine how the funds are to be best spent within the operational restrictions of the budget.

MORE CO-OPERATION ANTICIPATED BETWEEN CHAMPLAIN AND BISHOP'S STUDENT BODIES

Allan Ryan, co-ordinator of the Student Union Executive Council at Champlain, says he foresees more co-operation with Bishop's over budgetary issues this year. In a recent interview in Touchstone, Champlain's newspaper, he exclaimed that there was "enough money to go half and half in anything we choose to participate in with Bishop's."

...City beat...

SHERBROOKE (MI) — Monday night's city council meeting emphasized consideration of transportation and traffic questions, focusing on problems at the intersection of King street and Jacques Cartier Blvd., and in the residential area of King, Farwell, Portland and Cate streets.

The council also decided to open a road between Des Jardins Fleuris street and Des Quatre Saisons street, in order to permit the elaboration of improved bus service to the newly-opened Galeries les Quatre Saisons shopping center. Implicated in the decision is the construction of a street and sidewalk which will permit buses to descend Des Jardins Fleuris to 13th Avenue N. and provide greater service and security for pedestrians.

Estimated at a total $13,500, the project is being built at the request of Toulon Development Corp., which operates the shopping center. In a letter to Frank Mascolo, director of Sherbrooke's technical services department, Edward Bernfield, general counsel for Toulon, assured the city that the company has agreed to pay 40 per cent of the cost, an amount Bernfeld estimated as about $5,500.

In another traffic-related matter, councillors decided to buy from Roger Marcoux two properties located on Wellington street near the Joffre bridge. For several months, the city has attempted to negotiate a lower price with Mr. Marcoux but the latter has remained firm in his decision to sell for the lots of $41,000. The city had offered $32.500 and had threatened to initiate expropriation proceedings against Marcoux should he not accept the offer.

Since that point, however, Claude Dupont, of the city's evaluation office, has confirmed that the properties are definitely worth more than $40,000. The purchase forms part of the city's plan to buy properties in the area of the Joffre bridge with the objective of enabling expansion of the bridge to three lanes from the present two.

In the past, however, the city has waited until the properties became available and councillors have been somewhat reluctant to deviate from this way of proceeding for the present purchase.

In the same type of discussion, the city council considered, but did not arrive at a decision, regarding a formal request by the Regional Health and Social Services Council in which the council sought establishment of special conditions for parking meter operations on Frontenac street in the vicinity of the council's physical center.

Claiming the requirement that persons place $0.20 each hour into the meters prohibits the performance of natural business interactions, Gerald McManus, president of the council, urged the city to change the meters in such a way that persons can deposit $0.25 for four or five hours parking time. While city council appeared receptive to the idea last night, councillors decided to undertake an examination of the extent to which the meters are used and of the amount of time persons park at the meters before making a decision.

Council also remarked on the need for uniformity in the system and has set itself the task of considering a common policy for use of parking meters before coming to any firm position.

Buses back to normal

SHERBROOKE (MI) — Downtown bus stops have been relocated at their traditional places.

According to a press release received from the City of Sherbrooke and from Sherbrooke Transit Inc., which operates the public transportation system in Sherbrooke, the temporary stops for the routes 10, 18, 24, 33, 36, 38 and 39 have been discontinued because revitalization work in the downtown sector has progressed far enough to permit use of longstanding stops at the intersection of King and Wellington streets.

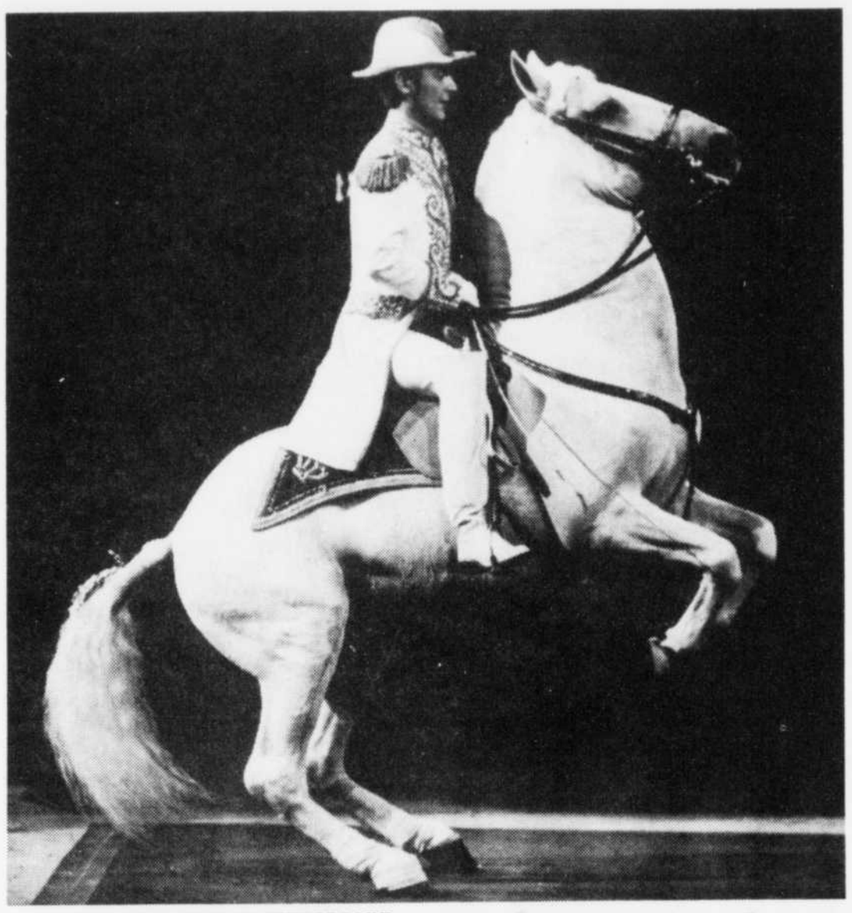
Farmer to use airport land

SHERBROOKE (MI) — City council decided at its regular meeting Monday night that it would enter into a 10-year agreement with Aristide Couture, of East Angus, whereby Mr. Couture will rent for $1 per year an area of about 75 acres adjacent to Sherbrooke Airport.

Couture is bound to use the land only for agricultural purposes including cultivation of forage crops and pasture-land. He is required to use appropriate farming methods involving rotation of soil and crops and to attempt to avoid soil erosion. While bound to erect fences acceptable to the manager of the airport and to ensure that animals do not venture beyond a specified proximity to the airport, he is constrained from constructing any buildings on the land.

Since the city recognizes the cost involved in maintaining soil over an area comprising 75 acres, the agreement is for a 10-year period and provides for the reimbursement of $1,000 to Couture for every year remaining to the agreed period, should the city wish to terminate the agreement before the expiration of the contract interval.

According to Andre Collard, manager of the airport, the establishment of such an agreement has the following advantages: it permits the city to save some $3,700 per year for cutting and gathering of hay and for clearing of shrubs and it ensures that the hay will be cut early in the summer, with the effect that the area will be clean until winter and birds will not flock to the fields in search of grain. The absence of birds relieves a problem of serious proportions to planes, Mr. Collard notes.



ANOTHER FINE SHOW IN SHERBROOKE — The Royal Lipizzan Stallion Show was featured last night at the Sherbrooke Sports Palace. Although the crowd was less than capacity all were thrilled by the antics of the horses on display. The hockey game between Russia and Canada was seen as a cause for the low attendance. The last time the show was in Sherbrooke there was a capacity crowd on hand.

Parents and students drawn together under new program

By ROSA HARRIS
Record Reporter

VICTORIAVILLE — A unique look into the student as a psychological unit is being attempted by the Bois Franc School Commission in Victoriaville this year.

"We are developing a comprehensive approach toward the student's social environment," explained Rob Cozen, director of a new program, "Tell it As it Is", which associated with the commission.

The director of the program plans to establish a "family education bank" pulling together salient information on subjects as diverse as the non-medical use of drugs and nutrition, in hopes of improving communications between the parents, teachers, and students of the Victoriaville area.

"The present school set-up sheds no light on what the student can expect out of life upon graduation," Mr. Cozen explained, "but now we've started asking whether we are satisfied turning out students who can add to 10, or whether we should be concentrating on the complete person. This year, we've opted for the latter."

Mr. Cozen explained that the idea of the program has undergone drastic changes since it was first conceived. "At first we were simply going to concentrate on drug education," he remarked, "until we realized that an approach like that was too narrow."

Since then 'Tell it As it Is' has defined four separate areas in which the student's life can be enriched. Aside from the information service it will provide, and the drug prevention fringe benefit it hopes will result, the program plans to establish a corps of "big brothers" to give parental guidance to single-parent children.

Many of the kids coming from one-parent homes have experienced minimal adult relationships. Often the parent works and is obliged to deposit the child with a baby-sitter until he reaches school age," Mr. Cozen exclaimed. "They need sensitizing. The 'Big brothers' will be available to provide them with advice and to offer them the occasional pleasant diversion, like taking them to baseball games in Montreal."

Job satisfaction also determines how a parent reacts to the family, Mr. Cozen feels. He has consequently worked to establish a co-operative relationship with federal government manpower services in the area.

"We want to define the various factors that result in the number of job losses we are seeing in this area," he explained. "Many people are just not prepared to work; many have alcohol and drug problems causing a high rate of absenteeism ; many are just dissatisfied with the kind of job they have. Manpower will work with us by giving career counselling to various members of the family."

A long-range plan involves developing a link with probation officers in the area. 'Tell it As it Is' foresees a time when it will work hand in hand with these court representatives to pinpoint the landmarks along the road to rehabilitation. "We will share training, experience and resources so that we can both benefit from an overview of the students involved with the law," Mr. Cozen affirmed.

Mr. Cozen feels that the different social agencies of the area ought to be incorporated, formally or informally, under one umbrella so they can work together. "We need to create cohesion," he maintained.

The program, presently financed by the school commission, will be receiving funds for the next four weeks only as a result of necessary budgetary cut-backs. Rather than apply for further government funding, Mr. Cozen sees assistance from already existing facilities as a better alternative.

"We are stressing co-operation," he emphasized. "If a local social service can set aside the monies to assist our service, we would gladly work under its auspices."

The program hopes to establish a precedent by opening communication lines between parents, teachers and pupils. "We intend to make the student comfortable both at school and at home," Mr. Cozen mused.

"We want to attack the student intellectually; to incite him artistically. "If we can keep communication lines open, we will have achieved our goal."

New policeman on Lennoxville beat

LENNOXVILLE (BP) — The Lennoxville Police Department has a new officer walking the beat. The hiring came after constable Richard Roy began a four month training period at the Quebec Police Institute Monday.

Sherbrooke born Robert Simard started his full-time stint on the local force Sunday. The six-foot, 185 pounder was selected from seven candidates for the position.

Police Chief Kasimir Kryszak pointed out that Simard was chosen primarily from his background in this line of work. For the past three years, Simard has served as a special constable at the University of Sherbrooke and has passed two courses given by law enforcement agencies. He has certificates showing his achievements in both police science and patrol techniques.

Kryszak also mentioned Simard seemed to fit in well with the other men on the force he has had a chance to work with so far.

The Lennoxville rookie, married two years, has received training since he joined the force. Last Thursday and Saturday, he took revolver practice with the other men, and on Sunday, took part in a shooting competition with other police officers in Quebec. Monday, he attended lectures in Sherbrooke given by the Quebec Police Force on crowd and riot control.

He will replace constable Roy on the duty roster until the latter returns from Nicolet in January.

Makarios—priest with sectarian problems

Archbishop Makarios, a bearded, soft-spoken priest, led Cyprus through its bloody war of independence from Britain. He became its first president and was beset by the sectarian feuding and terrorism that has dogged the island nation ever since it became free.

Born Michael Mouskos at Panayia on Aug. 13, 1913, he was the son of a poor Greek-Cypriot herdsman. When he was 13, the boy entered the Kykko monastery in the Troodos mountains near Panayia, remaining there seven years. He went to Greece in 1938 to study theology and took the name Makarios, meaning "blessed," when he became a monk.

He was ordained a priest in 1946, came to the United States to study at Boston University and served as a priest in Orthodox churches in New England. But back in Cyprus, he was elected Bishop of Kition and he returned home to take up his duties in 1949.

When Makarios returned to Cyprus, he had two missions in mind: to spur independence from British rule and to reorganize the Cypriot church. In 1950, at the age of 37, he was elected archbishop—and his campaign was on in full.

OPPOSED BY TURKS

But Makarios soon ran into opposition from the Turkish-Cypriot minority because of his support for enosis—union with Greece. The Turkish-Cypriots opposed this, as did Turkey, the guardian of the Turkish-Cypriots' rights.

The fight he led against the British in the early 1950s began with passive resistance, then undergrounds were formed to battle the British with smuggled arms. In 1956, the British seized the archbishop and exiled him to the Seychelles Islands. He returned in 1959 as a national hero and the undisputed leader of the Greek-Cypriots. He was elected president at the end of 1959; his term was extended by the House of Representatives, and in 1968 he was re-elected to another five-year term.

Makarios came to value Cypriot self-determination above enosis. As president, he sought to establish a constitution that protected both the Greek-Cypriot majority and the Turkish-Cypriot minority.

UN FORCE SET UP

But late in 1963 he proposed constitutional changes that the Turkish-Cypriots considered threats to the rights of their minority, and bitter communal warfare followed. Makarios opposed a Turkish plan to partition the island, and in early 1964, a United Nations force came in and restored a modicum of order.

The military coup in Greece in April, 1967, stirred the situation up again, but the UN Security Council extended the life of the peacekeeping forces and Greece made concessions that helped to quiet the situation.

The Greek-Cypriot underground continued terrorism, however, aimed at achieving enosis, and earlier this month Makarios warned that the underground and the Greek military regime might be joining forces to overthrow or assassinate him.

To Forgive Divine?

Forgiveness is said to be a good thing. It is presumably therefore doubly virtuous to offer free pardon to a man before he has been charged in court with any offence. But it could also be that most reprehensible of things — a presumption of guilt before the evidence has been examined.

President Ford appears to have no doubt about former President Nixon's guilt on many counts. He has pardoned whatever offences he is presumed to have committed.

There were, however, many other men involved in the crimes for which the president has been pardoned. Mr. Ford was concerned for the health of Mr. Nixon. He has been advised privately that the former president was "going out of his mind" though he put it more delicately when he made his announcement. He said as well that the former president and his family have suffered enough.

What about the families of the other men involved? Those already in jail, those who are almost certain to go to jail? Those who were in Mr. Nixon's profession and have been disbarred without benefit of pension or wealthy friend to help them to a new life? What about John Dean whose evidence in the beginning made the end inevitable and who is to spend "one to four" years in jail?

The matter is of more than academic interest. There is a serious human issue involved and it does not appear that to "heal the wounds caused by Watergate" — but essentially by Mr. Nixon and his conduct before and after the affair — Mr. Ford is about to extend his healing hand to the principal offender's underlings.

Are Americans to draw conclusions that offer them no comfort about the nature of American justice? And American mercy? Are justice and mercy only for the principals in crime, not for the tools? Forgiveness is a good thing. Except when it is discriminating.

Enjoy, Dammit!

The federal and provincial governments seem determined that Canadians shall enjoy "Canadian content" whether they want to or not. We already have laws that ensure the availability of Canadian productions on radio and television, and the federal government gives subsidies to publishers so that they can publish Canadian books, many of which few people seem to want to read.

Now Industry Minister Len Evans has given his support to a proposal by Secretary of State Hugh Faulkner that movie theatres should be made to show a certain number of Canadian films each year, because "unless Canadian film-makers have access to the medium that shows their films, we might as well stop fooling ourselves into thinking we are going to produce feature films in this country."

Canadian film-makers, like publishers, are already subsidized. If the government can order subsidized Canadian films into theatres it can also order subsidized Canadian books into book stores. Although it cannot yet force Canadians to see or read them, it may end up having to subsidize the theatres and book stores.

There is a direct relationship between the distribution of art — publishers, book sellers and theatre operators — and public taste, and if Canadian writers and film-makers are unable to reach the public it is more likely that this is because the public does not want their work than that it is not available.

The problem is that there is no real relationship between artists and the public. An artist is free to film or write whatever he wants in whatever style he chooses; he is not subject to the dictates of the public. If he chooses to work in a style that does not appeal to the public, he should not be surprised if his work is rejected in the market place or expect the public to be forced to support his work through government subsidies and intervention.

Why Ford did it

Jack Anderson's Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski would have sought an indictment against former President Nixon "in a matter of weeks," according to sources familiar with the plans, if President Ford hadn't intervened with a pardon.

These sources say the special prosecutor intended to indict Nixon solely for obstruction of justice. Jaworski believed he had "an ironclad case" against the former President and would get an "almost certain conviction," our sources report.

The case would have been based heavily upon Nixon's own tapes, which provide prima-facie evidence that he participated in the Watergate cover-up. Jaworski's deputy, James Neal, had already arranged for Secret Service technicians to testify about the taping system.

Our sources describe Jaworski as a man with a deep faith in the judicial processes. They say he simply could not ignore the verdict of the House Judiciary Committee, which voted unanimously to impeach Nixon for obstruction of justice, nor the will of the Watergate grand jury, which voted 19 to 0 to name him as an unindicted co-conspirator.

The grand jury would have indicted him last March if Jaworski had not counseled that a sitting President couldn't be legally indicted.

The threat of indictment hung over the former President like Damocles' sword. Sources who have had access to him in his seclusion at San Clemente describe him as "totally weary, terribly depressed and completely despondent."

One source has been struck by the "stark loneliness" of Richard Nixon. He is "absolutely alone within himself," the source explains.

All sources agree that he has complete control of his faculties, although his conversation sometimes wonders and his nerves seem frayed.

Nixon's psyche is so "delicate," our sources report, that his loyal aide Ronald Ziegler and attorney Herbert "Jack" Miller took President Ford's representative, attorney Benton Becker, aside before putting him together with Nixon at San Clemente. They asked the judicious Becker to keep the meeting informal.

Becker refused to comment on the meeting, except to say he found Nixon "alert" and "cordial."

The main cause of Nixon's anguish, according to our sources, was the expectation that Jaworski would ask the grand jury to indict him. The distraught Nixon even developed a strange inability to repeat Jaworski's name.

In a phone conversation with Rep. Dan Kuykendall, R-Tenn., for example, the former President mumbled: "We've got problems with that fellow...uh...uh..."

"Jaworski?" suggested Kuykendall.

"Yes," said Nixon.

Others have also reported that he seems to have trouble with the special prosecutor's name.

We have established that President Ford learned of Nixon's mental state and imminent indictment. White House sources say the President feared the indictment could cause his predecessor a nervous breakdown.

Here are the other reasons, which finally persuaded the President to move quickly to grant Nixon a "full, free and absolute" pardon:

— Ford's legal advisers, Philip Buchen and Benton Becker, determined that a pardon was the President's prerogative and had nothing to do with equal justice. Lyndon Johnson granted less that 200 pardons during his five years in the White House, for example, while Harry Truman issued about 200 pardons a year. People have been pardoned for crimes that kept others in prison. Buchen and Becker advised Ford, therefore, that the Nixon pardon would not affect the criminal cases against H. R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman, John Mitchell and the other alleged conspirators.

— The President's lawyers came up with a quote from Alexander Hamilton who, writing in The Federalist, declared: "There are critical moments when a well-timed offer of pardon to the insurgents or rebels may restore the tranquility of the commonwealth." Under the preamble to the Constitution, the lawyers noted, the President is required to "insure the domestic tranquility." Ford agreed that a pardon, in Nixon's case, would promote tranquility.

— Buchen and Becker also contended there was no evidence that Nixon had advance knowledge of the Watergate break-in. He was guilty merely of covering it up in order to avoid political embarrassment in the middle of the 1972 presidential campaign. What started out to be a political move wound up as a criminal conspiracy. The lawyers quoted from Sir Walter Scott's famous line, "Oh, what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive!" Ford agreed that his predecessor hadn't started out to commit a crime but merely had become entangled in one.

— The President and his advisers also took into account Nixon's 28 years of political service, the last 24 under a national microscope. As one side mused, "This is a terrible way to go after such a long service."

Is Armageddon deterrent enough?

By Don Oakley

Not love of peace but fear of war — nuclear war — has maintained East and West in uneasy coexistence since 1945.

Not the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nor the presence of American troops in Europe but the sure knowledge that any war that began conventionally would end in a mutually destructive nuclear exchange has kept the Soviet Union within the borders it advanced to at the end of World War II.

Yet we talk as if Hiroshima and Nagasaki had never happened, as if there were not hundreds of nuclear-armed intercontinental missiles on both sides, implanted in underground silos or carried on submarines roving the seas, perpetually targeted on the major cities of both sides.

We talk as if the Third World War, should it happen, would be a repetition of the Second — fought with infinitely more sophisticated weapons to be sure, but essentially a war of army against army, of tank advances along invasion routes, of struggles to win supremacy in the air, of mobilization and deployment and logistics and lines of supply.

A staff paper recently published by the Brookings Institution warns that the Soviet Union is geared for a "high-velocity offensive" aimed at overrunning Western Europe before the West can be mobilized.

We are told that the Cyprus crisis has placed the status of American bases in Greece in jeopardy and that the loss of these bases would create a dangerous weak spot in the southern flank of the defensive ring holding back the Soviets.

Strategists alert us to the peril posed by Russia's burgeoning navy and her development of new fighter aircraft. America's security, and hence that of the Free World, we are told, depends upon maintaining a military establishment second to none, both our own and that of our allies, even those that are dictatorships.

The Brookings Institution paper charges that our forces in Europe are set up for a long war against the Soviet Union, which is only a little more difficult to credit than the paper's own argument that any war would be a lightning, but altogether conventional, affair.

It is logical to assume, of course, that should the Soviet Union be so foolish as to launch a non-nuclear invasion of Western Europe or a thrust through a weakened Mediterranean flank, the West would initially attempt to meet it with a non-nuclear reply.

But is it conceivable that the West would accept defeat in conventional war — would allow victorious Soviet armies to march into Bonn or Paris or Athens, to sink America's Mediterranean fleet, to seize the oil fields of the Mideast — and still withhold nuclear retaliation?

Or, conversely, is it conceivable that the Soviet Union would permit its armies to be thrown back and see those of the West invade Eastern Europe and not bring its awesome nuclear arsenal into use?

Granted that a totally disarmed West, the lack of even token opposing military forces facing the Communist East around the European and Asia perimeters, might tempt Kremlin warhawks to try a military adventure here or there, ala Hitler, in the belief that such a peace-loving opponent could be pushed pretty far before he reached the extremity of resorting to nuclear war.

A credible Western defense, serving as a "trip wire" for a nuclear Red Alert but strong enough to make any conventional invasion costly and doubtful and with enough reserve power to contain a conventional war until men came to their sanity, thus makes sense as far as it goes.

But the only real guarantee of peace in the world — peace meaning the absence of a shooting war between the United States and the U.S.S.R. — is, as it has been for nearly three decades, the certain knowledge in Moscow and Washington that any war between them would be nuclear.

Ray Cromley

Is industry run by Ivy League mafia?

By Ray Cromley — WASHINGTON (NEA)

Detailed studies of the backgrounds of the men who occupy top positions in American industry and the government reveal what appears to be an astounding "Ivy League" influence. Also, an amazing infiltration of lawyers in government's top ranks.

These studies found that 55 per cent of the nation's corporate leaders, 44 per cent of government leaders are alumni of 12 universities — Harvard, Yale, Chicago, Stanford, Columbia, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell, Northwestern, Princeton, Johns Hopkins, Pennsylvania and Dartmouth.

Eleven per cent of the corporate leaders and 6 per cent of the top men in government attended one of the 30 "name" prestigious prep schools.

Fifty six per cent of the top men in the federal government were recruited from the legal profession and only 17 per cent from American business.

Curiously, while the corporate business world has furnished but a sixth of the federal government elite (and though only a quarter of the top federal men have had some high-level corporate experience) nearly 40 per cent of the elite in business and industry have had some high government post at one time or another.

This would seem to give the industrial and financial leaders an edge — with a somewhat better understanding of the federal government than top government officials have of business.

These data come from unpublicized studies by Professor Thomas R. Dye, of Florida State University, who concludes that "government leadership is not interlocked with the corporate world."

Dye's studies concentrated on the 4,000 men who occupy what he determined to be the 5,200 top institutional positions in the United States. In the corporate world, these are the individuals who collectively control half the nation's industrial, communications, transportation, utilities and banking assets and two-thirds of all insurance assets. In what Dye calls the public interest sector, the men he studied control nearly 40 per cent of all the assets of private foundations, half of all private university endowments, and run the most prestigious civic and cultural organizations — such institutions as Brookings, the Council on Foreign Relations, the Committee on Economic Development, the American Assembly, the Metropolitan Opera, the National Gallery of Art and the Smithsonian.

In the government, Dye's subjects occupy the key federal positions in the executive, legislative and judicial branches and occupy all top command positions in the military.

In his research Dye found that 1,534 presidents and directors control 52 per cent of all manufacturing assets, that 1,200 presidents and directors control 48 per cent of all banking assets and that 362 presidents and directors control two-thirds of the nation's insurance assets.

Though there are more than 7,000 foundations with assets of $200,000 or more, the 121 directors of the top 12 control 39 per cent of all foundation assets. Furthermore, 656 presidents and trustees control half of all private endowment funds for higher education.

As might be expected, Dye found that 76 per cent of the top men in the public interest sector (education, foundations, law, civic and cultural affairs) had advanced academic degrees. More surprising, 49 per cent of the corporate leaders and 77 per cent of the top men in government likewise had these graduate honors.

University women's club meets September 23

The fall meeting of the Sherbrooke and District University Women's Club will be held in the Bishop's University Faculty Lounge on Monday, September 23 at 8 p.m. The new season promises to be a most interesting one and the president, Mrs. Rhoda Matson, would like to extend a special invitation to all university graduates in the Eastern Townships area to attend.

The goals and activities of the Canadian Federation of University Women's Clubs, of which the Sherbrooke and District Club is a member, are many and varied. Women are encouraged to work together to improve their own economic and legal status, to develop an intelligent interest in public affairs and education, and to help initiate progressive community action. In addition, members with varied talents and experience may get together in small groups to enrich one another's lives.

During the past year, four interest groups in books, handicrafts, gourmet cooking and social and political action were formed and enthusiastically supported. Other possibilities, e.g. antiques, French Canadian culture and language, physical fitness etc. will be presented at the opening meeting, and members and prospective members are urged to attend and express their preferences.

French-Thomas wed

MR. and MRS. R.Y. THOMAS

The marriage of Brenda Jean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey French to Ross Younger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Thomas of St. Paul's River, Quebec took place on Saturday, Aug. 10th at three o'clock in Sawyerville United Church.

Rev. G. Lokhorst officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Clinton Smith played the wedding music and accompanied the soloist Miss Beverly Smith who sang "May You Walk in Peace" during the signing of the register.

The church was decorated with multi-colored gladioli. The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was wearing a floor length gown of white satin which featured leaves and white roses of cut lace appliques around the neckline bodice and train. The gown was designed by the bride and sewn by her mother. Her elbow length veil was held in place by a headband of seeded pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

The bride was attended by Misses Mary-Ellen French and Christine McCallum as bridesmaids. The maid of honor was Suzanne Pritchard and the flower girl was Nancy French of Hamilton, Ont. They wore corresponding gowns of blue cotton polyester print, with lace at neckline and bodice, and blue hats with matching ribbons. All carried wicker baskets of white daisies.

Mr. Rick Cunningham, friend of the groom acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Gordon Parker and Mr. Dave Young, friends of the bride and groom. The gentlemen of the wedding party wore afternoon tuxedos with navy trousers and powder blue jackets with navy velvet lapels. Their white shirts had navy edged ruffles and navy velvet bow ties. All had white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. French, mother of the bride, chose a gown of mint green lace fashioned with long sleeves. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Thomas, mother of the groom, wore a gown of pink lace, short puffed sleeves, white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

The groom's father sent his regrets as he was unable to be with them.

The reception followed the ceremony at the Coq D'Or, Sawyerville. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake made by the bride's mother and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Kenneth Morrow. Toast to the bride was given by her uncle Mr. Ralph Bennett of Ottawa. The best man welcomed the guests and usher Dave Young complimented the bridesmaids and flower girl.

Following the reception an informal gathering with pictures and opening of gifts took place at the bride's home. The couple left on a short honeymoon, the bride wearing a frock of blue satin polyester, white accessories and corsage of roses. Since their return they have taken up residence in Hamilton, Ont. Mrs. Ross Thomas will resume nursing at the St. Joseph Hospital.

Prior to the wedding Brenda was honored with a bridal shower in Burlington, Ont. given by Miss Suzanne Pritchard. A miscellaneous shower and money tree given by Misses Mary-Ellen French and Christine McCallum, and Mrs. Jim Wilkin, a linen shower was given by Mrs. Wayne Bissell and Mrs. Peter Beaudry.

Guests at the wedding were from Burlington, Waterdown, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa and Renfrew, Ont.; Montreal, Groveton, N.H.; Rock Island, Sherbrooke and surrounding district.

Following the earlier rehearsal, the wedding party and members of the family were entertained at a wine and cheese party. The bride and groom exchanged gifts and presented gifts to their attendants.

Missionary fellowship

SHERBROOKE — Grace Chapel Women's Missionary Fellowship held the first meeting of the 1974-75 season at the home of Mrs. A.C. Hill on Monday, September 9. Mrs. Hill presided.

Various summer activities were reported on, beginning with Wendy Paulette, who served on a two week Literature Crusade team in Vancouver.

Miss Suchard told of Daily Vacational Bible schools at Stanstead, Ayer's Cliff and Sherbrooke.

Mrs. Madge Paulette reported on the summer long camps for all ages at Frontier Lodge.

Mildred Beckwith, missionary reporter, in a brief summary of conditions in Bangladesh, urged us to continually remember in prayer this trouble-torn overpopulated country.

Mrs. Mary Down, Ayer's Cliff, the guest of the evening, led in a Bible study, stressing the importance of daily Bible reading and contemplation. She called her theme "Read for Life" and reminded us that the Holy Bible is God's message to each one, and, when read in that light brings new life.

Later, we broke up into small groups for a "Bible digging" session.

Prayer time followed after which a social time was enjoyed when refreshments were served by Misses Suchard and MacMillan, hostesses for the evening.

Church service held

MELBOURNE — Mr. Robert Martin officiated and welcomed the members and visitors of the congregation of L'Eglise des Cantons de l'Est on Sunday, September 1st.

He told a very interesting story to the children followed by his farewell sermon which was very touching. He spoke on Paul the Apostle and his life.

The congregation is very sorry to have Mr. and Mrs. Martin and little daughter Rachel leave as they have been in Melbourne for about two years and have now moved to Laval, in Montreal where he and a friend are taking charge of that district.

The congregation of L'Eglise des Cantons and all his friends here wish the Martin family a happy life and ask the good Lord to bless them and keep them and that they have a prosperous future.

Mr. Paul Fortier, the organist presided at the service and appropriate hymns were sung. The choir rendered as an anthem "Blest be the tie that binds."

The large number who attended the service were from Sorel, Danville, Ulverton, Richmond and Melbourne.

Epstein award from Carleton, a $1,000. scholarship from York, a $3000. scholarship from Sir George Williams, a $2400 fellowship from the University of Toronto, a $2700 Masters scholarship from the Quebec Department of Education, and finally the J.H. Stewart Reid Memorial Fellowship awarded by the Canadian Association of University Teachers. Carleton and York also offered teaching fellowships worth $2000 and $2400 respectively to supplement the scholarships.

Janice who graduated from Loyola with joint honors in English and History (magna cum laude), has accepted the McConnell Fellowship from McGill, and will commence her studies towards a Masters degree in Canadian history in late September.

Legion Ladies Aux.

STANSTEAD — After the summer holidays, the members of Stanstead Frontier Auxiliary Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion met on Tuesday evening, September 3 in the Memorial Home.

There were about 25 attending, and several brought with them food for a delicious pot luck supper. Later, the business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Vernice Middleton.

After opening with the usual ceremony, a moment of silence was observed as the group thought of the three active members who were deceased since the spring gathering.

Routine reports were heard and approved. One application for membership was presented and turned over to the senior branch for approval or not.

Plans to cater for a September and an October wedding were arranged for.

Next meeting will be October 1 at the Memorial Home, hostesses to be Mrs. Vernice Middleton, Mrs. Doris Belanger and Mrs. Eileen Roy.

Here's another column on my visit to The People's Republic of China as a member of the American Medical Association's delegation.

Ann Landers is asking the questions, for a change, and the answers are being supplied by physicians, nurses, shop clerks, hotel employees, interpreters — anyone who can understand my frightful Chinese. Imagine my embarrassment when I butchered several sentences of Mandarin and a physician responded in perfect English, "It isn't necessary to speak in Chinese. I spent two years at the University of Chicago."

My question to a 35-year-old Chinese professional woman (married), one of the most attractive and articulate people I met on the entire trip: "I understand there is very little premarital sex in your country. Is this true?" Answer: "Yes. And there are good reasons for it. Nearly half of our country's population is under 30 years of age. This means 400 million of our people have been reared under Mao's teachings. To keep the birth rate down, the Chairman has suggested 25 as a good age for a woman to marry, and 28 for a man. Sex before marriage is considered highly immoral and completely unacceptable. Our young people are taught at a very early age that all their time and energy must be spent in self-improvement, study or work."

Question: "But how do they keep their normal sex drives under control? Isn't it natural for members of the opposite sex to become attracted to one another?" Answer: "A child whose thoughts are conditioned from birth grows up to believe as he has been taught. We teach our young children that sex before marriage is a shameful and disgraceful thing. A young couple who strays from these teachings is looked down upon by their peers. The Chairman's motto is, 'Serve the people,' and young couples who spend their time amusing themselves with sex are not serving the people. They are being selfish, and they are taking time and energy from study and work."

Question: "Are you saying there is NO premarital sex in The People's Republic of China?" Answer: "Such a statement would be ridiculous. In a country with 800 million people, there must, of course, be exceptions. But I am sure we have less sex before marriage as well as OUTSIDE of marriage, than any country in the world. Adultery is quite uncommon. It is considered 'boo-how' (very bad) by relatives, friends and fellow workers."

Question: "From my conversations with both women and men here, I'm beginning to get the impression that there is also less sex INSIDE of marriage. Am I right?" Answer: "Probably, as compared with other countries. And there is a reason for this. In Old China, concubines and prostitutes were part of the culture. They provided the sexual entertainment. Wives were not expected to be sexy. They were for childbearing. Today, concubines and prostitutes are against the law and most wives look upon sex as their mothers did. Also, they are too hard-working to be sexy. After a woman has produced one or two children, she feels she has done her duty. There are many exceptions, of course, but most Chinese women consider sex a chore."

I replied, "You have 800 million people in your country. This suggests to me that SOMEBODY around here must be interested in sex." Answer: "Surely you know a large family is not proof of sexiness. It is more often a sign of poverty and ignorance. That population figure of 800 million reflects what went on BEFORE our intensive family planning program. Chairman Mao has decreed that our future will be very different from our past, and you will see that he is right."

Dr. Lamb

Calories needed for normal growth

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 11 years old, five-feet-three and weigh 90 to 95 pounds. People think I'm rather slim, but I don't think I am. I take ballet and in ballet you should be skinny. People think I'm crazy, but I think I need a diet. I've gained 15 pounds in six months. I've stayed at my present weight about a month, and I suppose I'll gain five more pounds. I've only grown a little over three inches with my weight gain.

I have a real problem because I eat continually and can't stop. I've tried several times to go on a diet, but it just won't work. Do you have any suggestions? I'd like to lose five or 10 pounds.

DEAR READER — The only way to tell if you are too fat or not is to see how much fat you have under your skin. If, indeed, you have a roll around the middle or some excess fat around your navel then you are eating more calories than you need. Otherwise, you probably need all those calories for your normal growth and development, and I wouldn't do a thing to help you damage your health. Sorry about that.

During growth you are forming a lot of new body structures. Each tiny chemical compound that is formed uses some energy from your food to hook the atoms and chemicals together. Every muscle fiber you develop to help you become a mature, good ballet dancer is constructed by using lots of energy. That is why growing people use more energy than those of us who have stopped growing. Obviously you are still in your growth phase and need that vital energy badly.

Also, the energy you use in ballet takes a number of calories. I know you have to practice regularly to become any good at ballet and regular exercise does end up using a lot of calories. I think the best thing I can do for you is to discourage any real weight loss effort on your part unless you truly have excess fat under your skin. A good ballet dancer needs a strong, healthy body, and it is important that you eat right to obtain this goal.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Will you kindly tell me if there are any side effects to the drug Atromid-S used to reduce cholesterol levels? I use little or no food containing high amounts of cholesterol.

DEAR READER — Patients have tolerated Atromid-S surprisingly well. A few patients have digestive complaints, mostly nausea, diarrhea, gas and similar problems. Even fewer patients complain of headache, dizziness or weakness. This medicine, also known as clofibrate, is useful for many patients. It is not a substitute for a good dietary program, but, if needed, should be used with the diet.

To control the cholesterol level you need to do more than just limit the foods that are high in cholesterol. The body also makes cholesterol and will do so if you eat too many calories of any type, carbohydrate, protein or fat, and is especially likely to produce fatty-cholesterol particles in the blood if you eat too much fat, particularly the saturated fats from animal sources.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on cholesterol, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Cholesterol" booklet.

Flying Club hosts soaring meet

MANSONVILLE — The Mansonville Flying Club hosted a Soaring Meet at Mansonville Airport on the Labor Day weekend.

Two serial tow aircraft were in operation by the Champlain Soaring Association, towing two of their own gliders aloft continuously plus visiting pilots and their equipment. The Apalachian Soaring Association of Sherbrooke, private owners from the Montreal Soaring Council and other points in Ontario and the United States.

Extreme cross winds and ground turbulence on the first day slowed operations moderately until late afternoon when they improved. Almost ideal conditions on Monday allowed soaring flights, i.e. climbing in rising air currents like a hawk, so that two gliders after being towed aloft for five minutes, were able to remain airborne for over three hours.

Some dignitaries were introduced to soaring including His Worship the Mayor of Potton Township, Bruce Armstrong, the President of the Royal Canadian Legion, Potton Branch, Hibbert Sargent. Also, Emil Korman of the Mansonville Flying Club who is, of course, a competent aviator, enjoyed a flight. The proceedings were marred by the illness of Albert Korman and we all wish him a speedy recovery.

FLYING CLUB FIRST

On Labor Day weekend a first was held at the Mansonville Flying Club on the newly paved airstrip.

Although there were many other events scheduled for this weekend in the area, a large crowd turned out to view the airshow and enjoy free air rides sponsored by Manson ville Plastics Ltd. in their new twin Cessna 414 executive plane on Sunday, Sept. 1. Another first was a parachute jumper from Valcourt.

Following this, a delicious steak barbecue including baked potatoes, coleslaw, rolls and corn boiled in an old iron kettle-stove, was served.

Completing a well-rounded day with a capacity filled hangar, were people dancing to the music of the Dorval Boogie Band. Highlighting this, were door prizes of Champagne Flights to Ottawa, won by Philippe Vachon, "Stu" Marcoux and Jules Messier.

Many thanks are extended to all who donated their time and participated in making this such a successful day.

Myrtle Rebekah Lodge

LENNOXVILLE — Myrtle Rebekah Lodge No. 28 reopened on Wednesday evening September 4. Sister Audrey Hyatt, Noble Grand welcomed the members back after the summer recess and also commented on the good attendance.

Following the opening of the lodge in form a memorial service was held and the charter was draped in memory of Sister Ethel Cruickshank, a devoted member of the lodge. Prior to this on Monday, August 19, the members of Myrtle Lodge held a memorial service at the R.L. Bishop and Son Funeral Home for Sister Cruickshank which was largely attended.

Sister Edith Parsons reported that flowers and cards had been sent to ill and bereaved members.

Correspondence included several notes of appreciation for flowers sent to ill members and for financial assistance to various organizations. Letters from the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec and invitations to District meetings were also read. The President's schedule was given and February 5, 1975 is the date on which Sister Isabelle Rowland, President of the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec will pay her official visit to the lodge.

Brother Harry Burt thanked the members for their assistance to the Crippled Children's Summer Camp at Ayer's Cliff.

Among other items of business first nominations were held for the elective officers for the coming year.

Under the Good of the Order Sister Luella Brady read from the International Rebekah News a proclamation by the mayor of New York City, Abraham D. Beame which paid tribute to the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs for bringing high school students from the United States and Canada to New York City to observe the United Nations in action. This year marks the 25th anniversary of the United Nations Youth Pilgrimage. During the past 24 years 19,000 students have been sponsored by the IOOF Order.

Also from the same source, a letter was read from Mrs. Richard Nixon sending greetings to the Rebekahs who will meet in Philadelphia, Penn., U.S.A., for the annual session of the International Association of Rebekah Assemblies. This letter reflects her awareness of the many contributions made by the Order.

Sister Brady reported that a generous amount of money from the Conclave was given to Camp Neofa and urged the members to be interested in the next Conclave to be held in Fredericton, N.B., in June, 1975.

During the social hour Sisters Ada Neeley and Grace Gregoire, captains of the drill team, were presented with gifts from the team by Sisters Mickie Povey and Gertrude Beattie, leaders of the team. These gifts were in appreciation of their work in organizing and training the drill team which took part in the Odd Fellows Conclave at Bishop's University in June. Both Sisters made fitting reply and thanked the members of the team for their co-operation.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Sisters Gertrude Beattie, Bernice Maurice and Rhoda Pratt.

Sunday afternoon, Aug. 25, 1974

The afternoon opened with a Jumping Class for Middle and Heavyweight Working Hunters. There was a Pony Costume Class which added to everyone's enjoyment as the children and ponies were in various costumes. The Quarter Horse Junior Western Pleasure class had more than 25 entries with the horses all being of very high calibre.

The following is the results of the Class: Quarter Horse - Junior Western Pleasure: 1st - Benito's West, owned by Fermes Laporte, ridden by Yvan Bouchard; 2nd - Exotic Flower, owned and ridden by Fernande Bergeron; 3rd - Gallant Lucy, owned and ridden by Sylvie Joyal; 4th - Rosia Georgis, owned by Miles Rhicard and ridden by G. In the Morgan Park Horse under Harness there were eight entries and of great interest to the audience. The following are the placings in this class: 1st - UVM Liberator, owned and driven by Miles Rhicard; 2nd - Windy Main Timber, owned by Les Ecuries Beaulieu, dirven by R. The last class of the afternoon was the Quarter Horse Cutting Class. Although there were only five entries in this class it was one of special interest to the public. The horse had to separate one calf from the herd for two and one-half minutes to qualify for a prize, with the rider not touching or turning the reins of his horse. This class calls for the utmost concentration on the part of the horse and many hours of practice beforehand.

The following are the results of the class. Quarter Horse - Cutting Class: 1st - Miss Lightning Dee, owned and ridden by Claude Allaire; 2nd - Little Kay Bar, owned by Serge Trudel, ridden by Rex Decroix; 3rd - Miss Royal Dandy, owned by J.M. Doine, ridden by Patria Larivee; 4th - Party Sis, owned by Yvon Lauriol and ridden by Yvon Lauriel; 5th - Frankie's Flash, owned and ridden by Louis Gauthier.

Sunday evening, Aug. 25, 1974

The evening opened with a Jumper Stake Class with eight entries in the class. The tension was high among the riders as they were several tied for first and second place for the jumper championship. However, Mr. Copper, ridden by Carole Petit, and owned by Ruth-Ny Equitation School, of Sherbrooke, proved to be the Champion Jumper of the three-day show, while there was a tie for second place between Lady Diamond and Thunder "D". A coin was tossed and the Reserve Champion Jumper of the show went to Danielle Bergeron, riding Thunder "D", also the Ruth-Ny Equitation School of Sherbrooke.

The Morgan and Quarter Horse equitation classes continued throughout the evening with 18 entries in the Quarter Horse English Pleasure Class, with 1st place going to Sylvie Laverdiere, riding Bar Robert. This 13-year-old girl also won the Quarter Horse All-Around Youth Trophy, from the American Quarter Horse Association in Amarillo, Texas, U.S.A.

In the Morgan English Pleasure Class, 1st place went to Mickey Eldon, ridden by Judy Martin, and owned by The Meldon Stud Farm, of Portneuf Station. Mr. Martin is a strong contender is all Morgan classes as he is one of the largest exhibitors at this show bringing six horses to participate in some 35 classes.

The Working Hunter Stake class, the final jumping class at the show, was very exciting as the exhibitors were contending the Hunter Championship. Windsor Phatom, owned and ridden by Denise Hebert, of Sherbrooke, was the winner of the Hunter Championship, while Lady Diamond owned and ridden by Pierre Cote, also of Sherbrooke, was Reserve Champion Hunter of the Show.

The last class of the evening was the Quarter Horse Trail Class with more than eighteen entries in the class. The first three placings were very close with placings as follows: 1st - Nettie Flower, owned and ridden by Christiane Ferland; 2nd - Pepper Dell Rio, owned and ridden by Paul Nightingale; 3rd - Gauthier's Coy's Gal, owned and ridden by Suzanne Gauthier; 4th - Lad's Miss Cody, owned and ridden by Pierre Henri; 5th - Miss Royal Dandy, owned by J.M. Dionne and ridden by Patrice Larive.

The show was judged very capably by Mr. James Wyatt, of High River, Alberta, and Mr. George Logan, Carlisle, Ontario. There were some 400 horses entered over the three-day show with more than 1500 entries in the 120 classes.

Junior hockey crisis surfaces in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — A crisis appears to be developing in Canadian major junior hockey if the actions of Ottawa '67s of the Ontario league are any criteria.

The cause is a controversial clause in the 1974 player contract handed the players for signing Sunday and summarily rejected by them all.

It demands that 20 per cent of the player's worth for the first three years of his professional life be returned through the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association (CAHA) to the player's last junior club to compensate the junior team for the player accepting a professional draft.

By this standard, a player earning $100,000 in his first three professional years, would be required to turn $20,000 of it to the amateur association and his junior team.

Indications are that the contract for the Ontario and Western Canada major A leagues are identical with the Quebec league differing only slightly.

ASKS $20,000

The Quebec junior contract asks for a $20,000 fee to be paid for a graduating junior and a $60,000 fee if he is under the normal graduating age of 20.

The '67s players, their agents, lawyers and parents rejected the contract out of hand at a hot and heavy six hour meeting here Sunday.

Doug Harvey, former all-star National Hockey League (NHL) defenceman and assistant coach of the World Hockey Association Houston (WHA) Aeros, was so upset by the contract he ripped his copy to shreds.

The reaction of the Ottawa juniors was so strong that the governors of the Ontario Hockey Association held a meeting Monday in Toronto to discuss the contract.

Jack Kinsella, president of the '67s, said the meeting decided to stand firm on the contract.

The object of the fee is to take the place of a former fee paid the CAHA by the NHL which later was disbursed throughout junior hockey to pay for the juniors drafted in any one year. This came to an end with the advent of the WHA.

AGENTS OUT?

Coach Brian Kilrea of the '67s explained after the Sunday meeting that another object of the clause was to cut player agents out of the action.

"The owners and the CAHA want to rid themselves of tme leeches, the players agents," he said. "Lawyers, fine—but no more agents.

"Agents arrive on the scene a month before a boy graduates; he negotiates a contract and grabs off as much as 10 per cent for himself. He puts nothing back into hockey. This is what the owners want to stamp out."

The maximum legal salary for a junior hockey player is $60 a week, and one Ottawa junior observed after the Sunday meeting, referring to the new contract, "The dues seem a trifle high."

In the meantime, the players are working out and playing exhibition games in full knowledge that only nine days remain before the scheduled first game.

If the contracts are not signed by then, one source suggested the first junior hockey strike in history could take place.

TWENTY YEARS LATER THE SPIRIT is just as strong as when Al Kaline began his big league career. The Detroit outfielder, who began his career with the Tigers in 1953, was recently awarded the "Mr. Enthusiasm" award by a Michigan booster club.

America's Cup remains in US

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — It's difficult to go to a foreign country and take away something that has been there 123 years, Australian Alan Bond said Tuesday after his challenger Southern Cross lost for the fourth straight time in the America's Cup yacht racing series.

"We will be back, however, and you can be sure we'll be tough. We learned a lot, and we'll learn more."

The American defender, Courageous, walloped Bond's challenger by seven minutes, 19 seconds in the fourth outing of the best-of-seven series and assured that the top trophy in yachting will remain on its pedestal in the New York Yacht Club.

It was the worst defeat handed a foreign challenger since Constellation beat the British entry Sovereign by 15 minutes, 40 seconds in 1964.

"It is not easy to say you have been beaten by better men," the 37-year-old Bond said in an explanation of his failure—an effort said to have cost him upwards of $6 million.

"On this occasion I don't necessarily think it's the men. The technology was simply better, and they sailed the defender well.

APPEARED EQUAL

At the outset of the series on Sept. 10, most agreed that the contenders, Courageous and Southern Cross, were about equal in hull speed. Courageous was given a slight advantage in light wind, Southern Cross the nod in heavy winds and choppy seas.

As it turned out, Courageous' conditions prevailed in the races. But the Aussies were guilty of serious errors in sailing, particularly in tactics and navigation.

Bond admitted as much after losing the initial race by four minutes, 54 seconds.

"We were guilty of human errors," he said. And he tried to correct them by replacing both his navigator and tactician in the second race—and himself taking a winch grinder's job below deck.

The changes didn't help. The Aussies managed to narrow the margin to one minute, 11 seconds in the second race, but in the third outing the advantage climbed to five minutes, 27 seconds and the Aussies knew their cause was hopeless.

Expos game rained out

MONTREAL (CP) — The National League baseball game scheduled Tuesday night between New York Mets and Montreal Expos was postponed because of rain.

The game was rescheduled for tonight as part of a doubleheader.

Sports brief

PLANS BOXING TEAM

WASHINGTON (AP) — Timothy Sullivan, a Boston businessman, has purchased a World Team Boxing franchise for Montreal, it was announcced Tuesday by Jersey Joe Walcott, former heavyweight boxing champion and WTB commissioner. The Montreal team will compete in the WTB Eastern Division against teams representing Boston, Providence, R.I., Jersey City, N.J., Baltimore, Washington, D.C., Long Island, N.Y. and Tidewater, Va.

WINDSURFING IS HIS CUP OF TEA, as proven by the fact that 14-year-old Matthew Schweitzer won first place in last month's America's Tea Cup 1974 National Open Windsurfing Championships. The Pacific Palisades, Calif., youngster won a total of six individual races on his way to winning the meet.

Offence Winnipeg hope

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers are counting on an improved offence to take some of the pressure off their overworked defence tonight when they tangle with front-running Edmonton Eskimos in Western Football Conference action.

The Bomber offence, almost non-existent in a 23-2 loss to the Eskimos in Edmonton last week, has been bolstered by the addition of Dave Buchanan and the return to form of fullback John Bledsoe.

Buchanan, the leading rusher when he played for Hamilton Tiger-Cats in 1972, replaces Jim Poulos who was released last week. Buchanan will start at halfback for Winnipeg in the non-televised game.

Halfback Bledsoe sat out the last half of the Edmonton game because of a minor injury, but he ran at full speed in practice.

Edmonton coach Ray Jauch said Winnipeg starting quarterback Chuck Ealey, obtained from Hamilton in a recent trade, has had a week to prepare and should give more punch to the Bomber offence.

The Winnipeg defence has had its problems against the run this year, but Jauch believes his team will be facing "a rested, different team."

WILL BE READY

They'll be more than ready for us tonight."

The only change in the Bombers defence is middle linebacker Bob Pritchett, a University of Utah graduate who has replaced Chuck Strickland.

The Eskimos have added Craig Koinzan from Calgary Stampeders and Morris Noble of Washington State. Koinzan will start at right tackle.

Edmonton will be attempting to add to its lead atop the WFC standings while Winnipeg tries to stay in the battle for the third and final playoff spot.

The Bombers aren't likely to forget their last game against Edmonton when Tom Wilkinson attempted a drop kick in the final moments, a move many thought was an attempt to add injury to defeat.

But Jauch said that won't happen again.

"Wilkie probably won't try it again but he's still working on it. He won't give up. He's out practising it all the time, but I don't even want to see it."

The past doesn't count in Hamilton tonight

HAMILTON (CP) — In the last 13 years, Saskatchewan Roughriders have won only one football game here.

However, Rider coach John Payne says things like that don't matter.

His team will be out to win tonigh, when they meet the Tiger-Cats in a Canadian Football League interlocking game, to be televised nationally on the CTV network.

Saskatchewan has lost three of its last four games and is tied with British Columbia for second place in the Western Football Conference. Each has five wins and four losses, one win behind Edmonton Eskimos.

Payne says his team needs to win both games on its eastern tour. The second comes Sunday in Ottawa.

His objective may be difficult to obtain with nine players on the injury list, including running back Pete Watson, defensive cornerback Bob Pearce and wide receiver Steve Mazurak, all of whom showed great promise in earlier games.

But Payne is not blaming his team's recent defeats on injuries.

MUST CUT MISTAKES

"We're still doing some dumb things," he said after last week's 24-16 defeat by Edmonton Eskimos. "We just have to cut out the mistakes."

Rider fans will be watching to see if Payne makes greater use of backup quarterback Randy Mattingly, the newcomer who took over from Ron Lancaster in the game against Edmonton and led the Riders two face-saving touchdowns in the last eight minutes of play.

Bobby blasts Team Canada to tie in Hull of a game

QUEBEC (CP) — Bobby Hull has been a hero many times in his 19-year professional hockey career, but probably never more so than Tuesday night when he gave Team Canada '74 a 3-3 tie with the Soviet Union.

Hull, the first big-name player to jump to the World Hockey Association from the National Hockey League three years ago, scored his second goal of the game at 14:18 of the third period for the tie.

He also assisted on the first goal of the game, scored by John McKenzie.

"That was the greatest team effort I've ever seen by forwards and a defence who have only been together for a few weeks," Hull said moments after being selected as the top Canadian player in the game.

"It was amazing. We worked together very well."

Unlike Team Canada '72, a collection of NHL stars, this year's edition, made up of WHA players, didn't wilt in the third period. The first Team Canada took an early lead in the first game but sagged to a 7-3 loss.

ALMOST GOT WINNER

Team '74 put pressure on in the final minutes and nearly won the game. Frank Mahovlich was given a clear shot at goal on a pass from Gordie Howe with 35 seconds left, but missed the net with a high and wide shot.

"I was trying to put the puck up high, but (Vladisgav) Tretiak (the Russian goalie) was twisted like a pretzel, with his body up," said Mahovlich, a left winger. "So I hammered the puck past the post.

"I was maybe this wide," he said holding his fingers perhaps half an inch apart.

The Soviet Union led 3-2 entering the third period on second-period goals by Vladimir Luchenko, Valeri Kharlamov and Vladimir Petrov. McKenzie scored for Canada in the first period and Hull scored his first goal in the middle period.

McKenzie's goal was the result of a mistake by Petrov. Hull was battling along the right boards with defenceman Valeri Vasilyev and Petrov moved in to pick up the puck. He fired it into the corner to the left of the Russian goal where Andre Lacroix was left uncovered. Lacroix fed the puck to McKenzie who knocked it into the short side at 7:47.

The score remained 1-0 for Canada until 7:46 of the second period when defenceman Luchenko scored on a screened shot from about 10 feet inside the blue line.

Hull put Canada back in front less than five minutes later when he slapped a shot past Tretiak from the left-wing circle. Gordie Howe and Mike Walton set up the goal which came while Vasilyev was off for tripping Ralph Backstrom.

Howe, 46, who came out of retirement to play in the WHA with his sons, Mark and Marty, jostled with defenceman Gennady Tsygankov behind the net before Walton got the puck back to Hull who whipped it past Tretiak.

Kharlamov, picked as the top Russian player, scored the prettiest goal of the night. He took a pass, outskated Rejean Houle and split the defence pair of Pat Stapleton and J. C. Tremblay before firing a hard shot just under the crossbar.

It came with defenceman Brad Selwood serving a tripping penalty. Slightly more than three minutes later, with Paul Shmyr off, Petrov got the second Russian power-play goal, with Canadian goalie Gerry Cheevers out of position.

Cheevers was caught after stopping a scoring threat by Kharlamov on the right side. The puck was sent over to the left and Petrov fired the puck into the unguarded net.

DIDN'T WEAR OUT

The Canadians, expected to be weary by the third period, came out skating hard and it took three great saves by Tretiak—on Serge Bernier, Paul Henderson and Houle—to keep the Russians in the game. Hull finally beat the Russian goalie, much to the delight of 10,958 partisan fans.

Referee Kompalla of West Germany, who was in charge of three games in the 1972 series, called a hooking penalty to Alexander Bodonov 58 seconds after Hull's goal, but the Canadians couldn't make it pay off.

Kompalla handed out nine minor penalties, five to the Canadians, and was jeered on a few occasions by the crowd, which included Prime Minister Trudeau.

The next game of the eight-game series is scheduled for Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto at 8 p.m. EDT Thursday. The game will be televised nationally by the CBC.

Canadian coach Billy Harris said he may make some lineup changes, but he wouldn't elaborate.

Satisfied with tie—Mahovlich

QUEBEC CITY (CP) — Frank Mahovlich says Team Canada '74 was satisified with its 3-3 tie with the Soviet Union in the opening game Tuesday night of an eight-game hockey series.

"The coach is very happy with us and we all feel good," said Mahovlich, who missed by inches on a chance to win the game with seconds remaining.

Cocah Billy Harris told a news conference he was concerned about the physical condition of Team Canada which played only five exhibition games in preparation for this series.

He predicted Canada will get stronger and coach Boris Kulagin of the Soviet national team said Team Canada is "playing on the highest international level, no weaker than the team of two years ago."

Harris said Canada still was working hard in the final minute, which indicated the players are in good shape.

"That has to be encouraging to us, that we finished so strongly."

HAPPY WITH DEFENCE

Harris said he was particularly pleased with his team's defensive play, but he had minor criticims about two first-period penalties "that could have been avoided."

"I thought that if we were going to sag, that might be the place—when we took three penalties in a row—but we didn't. We bounced back."

The game almost ended in victory when Mahovlich broke in alone. Evidently disappointed after missing the net, Mahovlich got a pep talk on the ice from Gordie Howe.

"All I told him was that more of those are missed than are made," said Howe. "I told him he'd get the next one—and he will, too."

Howe and Bobby Hull agreed there were no surprises in the Soviet attack.

"They are an impressive group of athletes," said Hull. "I've been watching them for a long time and I'm not surprised that they are as good as they look."

Harris said Gerry Cheevers probably will start Thursday's second game but a few other changes are expected.

Cheevers said the toughest save of the 25 he made came in the third period against Valery Kharlamov. The partlyscreened shot was headed for the top corner when Cheevers caught it.

"Sometimes with my glove I don't know whether the puck stays in or not. I'm glad it stayed in this time."

The rival coaches agreed referee Josef Kompalla of West Germany did a good job.

Preparing for the opener Harris made no secret that he used Canada's underdog role to help motivate his players. They remembered the 7-3 defeat absorbed by Team Canada '72 in the first hockey series against the Soviet Union.

"I read an article by coach Kulagin in which he said the Soviet Union had a psychological advantage in 1972," said Harris. "No team has a psychological advantage now."

Canada escaped without injury but Soviet leftwinger Alexander Yakushev hurt a hip early in the game. He did not play in the third period and may not be ready for the second game in Toronto Thursday.

Brock steals show in win over Pirates

Even when tired, Lou Brock, St. Louis Cardinals' base-stealing wizard, can out-fox the slyest pitchers in the National League.

Brock got the best of pitcher Jerry Reuss and the Pirates Tuesday night for a 2-1 St. Louis victory in 13 innings. That stretched the Cardinals' lead to 2½ games over Pittsburgh in the East pennant race.

"We did all we could against Brock, but he won," said Reuss, who went the distance. "The only foolproof way to stop him is to keep him off the bases."

Brock opened the 13th with a single and stole second easily. It extended his single-season record to 109 stolen bases and lifted him into second place on the all-time list with 744, one ahead of Eddie Collins who played from 1906-1930, mostly with Philadelphia Athletics.

Ted Sizemore sacrificed Brock to third and after Reggie Smith was intentionally walked, and Ted Simmons' sacrifice fly drove in Brock with the winning run.

Brock had tied Collins' mark by stealing second in the 10th inning

JUMP WAS GOOD

"I was fatigued in the 13th, but I was able to read his (Reuss') body movements and I got a good jump," said Brock.

The all-time stolen base leader is Ty Cobb with 892.

Meanwhile, in the NL West, first-place Los Angeles and runner-up Cincinnati both lost, leaving the Dodgers 2½ games ahead of the Reds. Houston Astros beat the Dodgers 7-0 and San Diego Padres whipped the Reds 6-1.

Chicago Cubs downed Philadelphia Phillies 4-2, Atlanta Braves topped San Francisco Giants 4-3, and the New York Mets at Montreal Expos game was postponed because of wet grounds.

The St. Louis victory was its sixth straight and the Pirates' setback was their sixth in a row.

Bob Gibson held Pittsburgh to five hits over the first nine innings, and reliever Alan Hrabosky allowed no hits in the remaining four innings.

The Pirates scored their only run in the first inning on Al Oliver's homer, but the Cards tied the score in the seventh on a single by Simmons, a balk and a double by Joe Torre.

STOPS THE DODGERS

Houston's Tom Griffin stopped the Dodgers on five hits for his third shutout of the season and 14th victory.

Lee May drove in three Houston runs with his 24th homer and a sacrifice fly, and Doug Rader hit his 17th homer.

Fight postponed a month

KINSHASA (Reuter) — World heavyweight boxing champion George Foreman is expected to show the public and world press today the one-inch-long cut over his eye that has spoiled the greatest sports extravaganza ever.

Foreman's title defence planned for next Wednesday against former champion Muhammad Ali, has been postponed until next month because of the deep cut suffered by the champion during a sparring session Monday.

So far Foreman has stayed out of sight but reporters have pressed his manager Dick Sadler to produce him for pictures and interviews.

Sadler promised to persuade Foreman to meet the press at his training quarters at Nsele, 45 miles from this city.

Both Foreman and Ali were reported to be happy in Africa and would remain here for the extra month before the fight.

Ali is expected to tour Zaire as he continues his training, coming back to Nsele camp, where the government entertains party officials and overseas visitors, only for the final build up to the fight.

Foreman will keep up his roadwork and body training but it will be a week or two before he can resume sparring.

Palmer in form as Yankees lose

Jim Palmer found out this season that the Cy Young Award doesn't do anything for a sore arm.

Palmer had it all last season—television commercials, his fourth straight 20-victory season and the hardware that told him he was the best pitcher in the American League.

This season, at best, he will have 10 victories. And the appearances he will remember won't be in film studios, but in the offices of orthopedic surgeons.

He spent almost two months on the disabled list with a sore elbow.

Palmer helped salvage some of what is left of this season with a seven-hit shutout Tuesday night, pitching Baltimore Orioles to a 4-0 victory over New York Yankees.

It was a crucial game for the Orioles since a loss would have dropped them 3½ games behind the Yankees in the AL East.

Elsewhere, Detroit Tigers beat Boston Red Sox 5-3, Kansas City Royals edged Oakland A's 2-1, Milwaukee Brewers shaded Cleveland Indians 3-2, Minnesota Twins punished Chicago White Sox 8-0, and California Angels-Texas Rangers game was rained out.

Palmer's victory, his seventh in 19 decisions, moved the Orioles within 1½ games of the Yankees.

Elrod Hendricks doubled with one out in the seventh, took third on Mark Belanger's bunt single when Doc Medich, 18-14, was slow covering first, and just beat leftfielder Lou Piniella's throw to the plate on Al Bumbry's sacrifice fly for the only run Palmer needed.

Paul Blair's three-run homer in the eighth provided a cushion for Palmer.

Al Kaline's 2,993rd hit sparked a sixth-inning rally which lifted the Tigers to their victory over the Red Sox.

Kaline would like to collect seven more hits before he retires. Then he can join the 3,000-hit club which so far has only 11 members.

Leading off the sixth and with the Tigers trailing 3-2, Kaline singled, Bill Freehan singled and Reggie Sanders sacrificed before Leon Roberts knocked in the tying and go-ahead runs with a single. The loss dropped the Red Sox 3½ games behind the first-place Yankees in the East.

Steve Busby, 20-14, stopped the defending champion A's on three hits. George Brett's run-scoring single in the seventh made Busby a winner over Jim (Catfish) Hunter, 23-12.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If the expert has to take a finesse and has only one way to take it, he is going to lose that finesse one-half the time.

He knows about this possibility and tries to take the finesse when the loss is least likely to hurt him.

Now look at today's hand. South will duck the first heart lead and win the second one in dummy. Then, if South is at all careless he will lead a diamond. After all, he has to knock out the diamond ace in order to take his four diamond tricks. East will take his ace and knock out South's ace of hearts. Sooner or later South will have to take the club finesse for his ninth trick. The finesse will lose and West will take two heart tricks to set South.

An expert South will look for nine tricks at the start of play and see that two clubs will be needed. He will lose the club finesse right away. He will lose the ace of diamonds trick later, but there will be no way for East to put West in to take those heart tricks.

Suppose West holds both the king of clubs and ace of diamonds. Expert South will go down just like everyone else.

"Today" closed with Olympics

MANSONVILLE — The "Today" in the Caroll McDuff Project Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow which was realized through a Federal Government grant for which Mr. McDuff qualified and received through the Dept. of Manpower and Immigration benefitting 10 students was automatically closed by olympics on Sunday, August 18 at the Mansonville ball park, which started at 1:30 and finished at 6 p.m. with a very good attendance and good weather prevailing.

There were over 100 children participating in the various olympic events. Each team depicting the area the children resided in, wore their choice of colors in the T-shirt and carried their choice of olympic flag. Referred to as Jim II for the French title of Jeux Inter-regionaux de Mansonville (Mansonville Inter-regional Games) it was divided into two age-group categories: Young girls and boys of 6, 7 and 8 and older girls and boys of 9 to 14 years of age.

Donors of prize ribbons for the entrants were G. McDuff, Rupert Clark, George Hamelin, Chez Giselle, and Esso-Marcoux Garage.

In the order of 1st, 2nd and 3rd prize winners, the events were as follows: Sprint - first age group, Elaine Tomera, North Potton, Keith Cote, Highwater, and Simon Trudeau, Highwater; second age group, David St. Onge, Bernard Trudeau, Highwater, Henri Ducharme, Mansonville. Obstacle Race - first age group, Martin Caron, Mansonville, (two in 2nd place) Patrick Carrier and Rejean Rodrigue, Mansonville area, Jocelyn St. Onge, Highwater area; second age group, Michel Rodrigue, Mansonville, Lucille Carrier, Highwater, Ann Jersey, Route 39. Target Throw - first age group only, Jocelyn St. Onge, (two in 2nd place) Lucie Daigle, Leadville road, Patrick Carrier, Mansonville, (two in 3rd place) Martin Caron and Daniel Pouliot, Mansonville. Javelin Throw - Second age group only (two in 1st place) David St. Onge near Mink farm, and Roger Rouillard, route 39. These two boys showed good control and effort and both threw the javelin 77 feet; second place Michel Rodrigue and third place Jocelyn Bernier, Masonville. One Mile Race - run by children of mixed ages and won with a very good timing by David St. Onge 6 min. and 8 sec., Jocelyn Bernier 7 min. and 8 sec., and Marvin McClure with 7 min. and 15 sec. Long Jump - first age group, Laurie Cote, Highwater, Daniel Pouliot, Martin Caron; second age group, Roger Rouillard, David St. Onge and Bernard Trudeau. There were also three events referred to as Team Events: Heavy Throw - The Lake Region won; Relay Race - the Highwater Region won and the Open Mile Race mainly for parents but anyone else could enter this event (about 15 adults and 25 young people entered); this was won by 21 year old Alain Lessard.

During the summer months Leaders Caroll McDuff, Paul Croteau and Jeanne Trudeau were in the team "Today" and took care of some 150 children during outdoor activities such as swimming, nature walks and orienteering (the teaching of survival in the forests, etc.) where they learned amongst other things, how to use a compass.

The other two phases, "Yesterday" and "Tomorrow", were taken care of in research of history in the Potton Townships, mainly Mansonville, and the latter was in cleaning up the Vale Perkins wharf, roping off a swimming area and putting in buoys and a raft.

The team for "Yesterday" was with Miss Donna McNeil and Miss Louise Lessard as leaders, and helpers were Miss Jeanne Trudeau, Miss Joanne Marcoux, Miss Roxanne Rouillard.

The team for "Tomorrow" was with Francois and Claude Carrier and Francis Marcoux.

All teams were under the capable leadership of Mr. Caroll McDuff, who attends the University of Sherbrooke and is majoring in physical education.
