PIGGERY PIG — A metal pig, part of an antique weather-vane, is presented by Arthur Virgin, right, founder and honorary president of the Townships Playhouse Guild, to the guild's president Dunbar Bishop, Saturday night on stage at the new Piggery Playhouse, North Hatley. The pig, a birthday present to Mr. Virgin from his wife, will be mounted, either as a weather-vane or on the proscenium arch of the stage, in memory of the building's former tenants, all other traces of their occupancy having been removed in the rebuilding of the former piggery into a modern summer theatre. Piggery Playhouse story said one of a community

NORTH HATLEY — (Staff) — The story of a community reached a high point here Saturday with an open house party previewing activities at the new Piggery Playhouse of the Townships Playhouse Guild.

Walter Massey, a director of the guild, told an audience of invited guests that the playhouse was the result of a desire by a community to have a summer theatre. The story

The idea of building a new theatre spread, he said, and a number of other people, both in the area and in Montreal, were recruited.

Bombs dropped farther north in Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B-52s ended today with meagre results. The Viet Cong battalion reported strike in South Viet Nam today, dropping their bombs 350 miles north of Saigon in the northernmost raid so far announced for the jet bombers.

U.S. Senator's opinion

Viet Nam would vote Red

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Richard B. Russell says he thinks the people of South Viet Nam probably would choose the rule of North Viet Nam's Communist leader, Ho Chi Minh, if they were given a chance to vote.

"... I think that it would be highly likely that they would vote in a plebiscite to place themselves under Ho Chi Minh," he said Sunday on the CBS radio-television program Face the Nation.

The Georgia Democrat said he believes the South Vietnamese have little faith in their own government, primarily because repeated shifts in leadership make it difficult for many to know who or what they are fighting for.

He called for a greater political effort, saying: "Our greatest mistake has been in over-emphasizing the military and not putting sufficient emphasis on the civilian side."

"The people there don't have much sense of nationalism to start with. And no cause can ever win that hasn't got a champion that the people admire."

Russell is chairman of the Senate armed services committee, and two other members of that group also discussed Viet Nam Sunday.

Senator John Stennis (Dem., Miss.), appearing on NBC's Meet the Press, said President Johnson has given a Senate report on military equipment shortages in Viet Nam, but added: "We are not at any peril point."

Meanwhile Senator Strom Thurmond (Rep., S.C.), said there is no realistic middle ground if the Viet Nam war is to be won.

"We must either apply our power to win the war or get out, either now by surrendering, or later, after more casualties, through negotiations, if they ever come to pass," Thurmond said in his weekly newsletter to constituents.

JOHNSON CITY (AP) — President Johnson has caused a political stir by accusing a leading Republican of violating his confidence and publicizing "perhaps malicious" untruths about deliberations on the Viet Nam war.

Johnson did not name the man he had in mind but a number of newspapers implied the president's target was the House of Representatives Republican leader, Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan.

Asked to comment, Ford said, in effect, that Johnson was talking through his hat if he had him in mind.

Johnson, using language that was perhaps stronger than any he has publicly aimed at a Republican since entering the White House, spoke out at a session with reporters Sunday at his Texas ranch.

The president was asked about published reports that he was dissatisfied from calling reservists to duty at this time because of a memo from State Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

HAD EXPECTED MORE — On Wednesday, the president ordered 50,000 more U.S. troops to Viet Nam. The action followed a week of consultations during which there was speculation that the troop increase would be larger and that reservists might be ordered to active duty.

Replying to a reporter's question regarding the Mansfield reports, Johnson said: "That was the result of a man who broke my confidence, and not only broke it but distorted it. . . I would brand it untrue and perhaps malicious."

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's 4,100 striking postal workers meet today amid reports they have been called together to consider a wage offer prepared by Judge J. C. Anderson, federal mediator in the strike.

Prospects for an early end to the walkout brightened considerably on the weekend when the general meeting was called. As recently as Friday, Montreal strike leaders were saying there was no point in calling a general meeting since the government had nothing new to offer.

But William Houle, Montreal president of the Postal Employees' Association, said Sunday there could be a material change in the situation "within 24 hours." Reports circulated at strike headquarters that Judge Anderson would have an interim report ready for the 2 p.m. general meeting.

In Toronto, the Globe and Mail published an Ottawa report saying Judge Anderson is expected to recommend a two-stage wage increase of $50 a year for Canada's 22,000 postal workers.

This would give letter carriers, mail sorters and Grade 1 postal clerks a maximum annual salary of $4,930 and Grade 2 clerks, sorters and dispatchers a $5,230 maximum.

Asked to comment on the report, Mr. Houle said $50 is "a very, very sound offer." If confirmed, it would be presented to strikers at the general meeting.

COULD END WALKOUT — He reiterated that any offer accepted by the strikers, who have been holding out for a $600 annual increase, would mean an immediate end to the walkout.

The strike began July 22 when postal workers in Montreal rejected a government offer for salary increases ranging from $300 to $360 a year. The strike soon spread to 73 centres.

A return-to-work movement began July 27. By last Thursday, only Montreal and 19 other outlets in the area were still on strike waiting for Judge Anderson's report.

A special conference of the Quebec Federation of Labor, affiliated to the Canadian Labor Congress, is scheduled to follow today's general meeting of the strikers.

Louis Laberge, QFL president, said business agents, organizers and other officials of unions within the QFL will discuss the possibility of providing technical and financial assistance to the strikers.

Meanwhile, the Montreal business community is groggy from the effects of no mail service. A crisis is expected by business firms unless there is a settlement soon.

Some general insurance companies said they are borrowing from banks in order to meet claims.

CNTU asks rewording of strike-right bill

QUEBEC (CP) — The executive of the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions called Sunday for the complete redrafting of a Quebec government bill which would grant civil servants the conditional right to strike.

Marcel Pepin, CNTU president, said in a prepared statement that the bill seeks to keep Quebec's 25,000 civil servants "in a position of inferiority."

The bill, presented in the legislature Thursday, grants civil servants the right to join a union and a conditional right to strike, beginning in February.

Mr. Pepin said the bill denies seniority rights and the right of association for professional people. He said the right to strike exists only "in theory."

Powers granted to the civil service commission reduced the efficacy of any kind of collective agreement.

The executive said the confederation, which claims 150,000 members, will seek measures "to support the civil servants . . . to improve the position of all Quebec civil servants."

SETS STRIKE CONDITION — The bill forbids strikes until the provincial government and the civil servants have agreed on what constitutes "essential services" and on methods of maintaining them.

"It is difficult to imagine," said the union executive, "that in the case of an impasse in the negotiations, the civil servants would have to listen to the employer's strike conditions without having any legal recourse. This makes the right to strike illusory and theoretical."

Exclusion of government teachers, doctors, engineers and lawyers from the right to negotiate contracts with the government is to dismember any kind of professional unionism, the CNTU said.

Rivard in court

LAREDO, Tex. (CPAP) — Lucien Rivard, 50, of Montreal, whose activities during the last two years have led to a spate of Canadian newspaper headlines, was scheduled to appear in federal court here today on charges of participating in the operations of a multi-million-dollar dope smuggling ring.

Rivard, turned over Friday afternoon by jail officials in Houston to U.S. Marshal M. M. Hale, had not been checked into Laredo's Webb County jail Sunday, officials there said.

Telegram cost up

MONTREAL (CP) — The cost of a telegram in Canada will be increased by 10 cents and service charges on money transfers raised by 20 per cent, Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Telecommunications announced today.

The new rates go into effect Sept. 1. CP and CN officials explained that the increases are due to rising costs.

Deny Ky quit

SAIGON (Reuters) — The South Vietnamese government today categorically denied a Japanese report that Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky had decided to resign.

A government spokesman said the report, by the Japanese news agency Kyodo, was "completely unfounded."

UK fireworks

LONDON (CP) — Britain's House of Commons got ready today for a session of verbal fireworks from Prime Minister Wilson and the Conservative Opposition's new leader, Edward Heath. But the Tories' last attempt of the summer to overthrow the government appeared doomed in advance.

The Liberals planned to throw their 10 votes against Heath's motion of no confidence which charges Wilson is unable to end Britain's economic woes. Labor whips thought their margin of victory might run as high as 20 instead of the usual two or three.

To offer treaty

GENEVA (AP) — A joint Western proposal for a treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons is to be offered to the Soviet Union during the next two weeks, reliable sources reported today.

Western negotiations at the 17-nation disarmament conference doubt that the Russians will show any constructive interest. But they want to present the treaty draft before the conference adjourns next month for the United Nations General Assembly.

The Western Allies figure that the Russians then would be left to explain their negative attitude to the assembly, which has been pressuring the nuclear powers for progress toward disarmament.

DOG TIRED AND FAR FROM HOME — Foot-weary paratrooper, Pfc. Steven K. Sindt of Lawrence Kan., rubs a bare foot beside a road marker near Ap Long Cat Sunday after spending four days in the nearby jungle looking for Viet Cong. Sindt's unit also surveyed damage to Viet Cong installation by B52 heavy bombers on the mission. JACOBY ON BRIDGE

An Ohio reader suggests that the column might give a few examples of unusual results due to the sort of mishaps that one does not always associate with experts.

We go back 30 odd years to the days before there were any ways to ask for aces. Our hero is the late Sherman Stearns of New York, winner of several national titles in the '30s and one of the greatest players of all time. The game was rubber bridge. He said to himself, "I have no spades," and the words, "Two spades," came out of his mouth.

He tried to correct to four hearts, six hearts and six no-trump, but eventually found himself at seven no-trump when his partner persisted with spades.

North had to give up at that point and Sherman proceeded to play the hand. As you can see the contract was an apparently hopeless one. Sherman could count on eleven tricks in op cards and a possible twelfth trick if diamonds broke but he had no trouble making the grand slam.

It seems that Sherman never gave away the fact that something was wrong with the bidding and as he ran off his heart tricks each opponent threw away a diamond in order to hang on to spades. The rest was a matter of taking his tricks.

Of course, they could have known that there was something peculiar about his two spade opening since he showed up with seven hearts and the ace of clubs but it turned out that neither one was able to visualize the actual spade void.

Shot by policeman, wins case

Superior Court has awarded $323.50 hospital expenses to a Sherbrooke man, shot in 1962 by a city policeman.

Fernand Jutras, 24, was wounded by the shot, fired by constable Jacques Arguin on October 11, 1962.

Because of this Jutras, through lawyer Yvon Roberge, sued Constable Arguin for the $323.50 and the city of Sherbrooke for $3,373.50.

However, Mr. Justice William Mitchell, in handing down judgment, dismissed the charge against the city saying that the shooting was due only to Constable Arguin's haste and negligence.

Constable Arguin acted in haste and fired his gun unnecessarily, added Judge Mitchell.

Mr. Jutras had previously phoned city police and told them that he and several other men were going to rob the safe of the Sherbrooke bakery Laroche et Freres Ltee, on October 11, Judge Mitchell explained in his judgment.

This information was relayed to police chief Edouard Moreau, who set up a patrol outside the bakery.

On the night of October 11 police spotted a car with Mr. Jutras inside circulating near the bakery. Constable Arguin and another constable ordered it to stop. The car did.

Constable Arguin, approaching the car with his revolver drawn, recognized Mr. Jutras. He fired, wounding him.

At the hearing, Judge Mitchell says, Constable Arguin testified that he had ordered Jutras and his companions to put their hands up and get out of the car.

They had not complied and Mr. Jutras made a move to draw his own revolver, he added.

(Mr. Jutras had previously told police that he had a revolver.)

Judge Mitchell said that Mr. Jutras was, in fact, unarmed.

Most of the evidence implied that no words had been spoken before the shot was fired and that Mr. Jutras did not make any menacing gestures, he added.

Judge Mitchell dismissed the charges against the city of Sherbrooke saying that Constable Arguin was acting as a guardian of the peace but not as the enforcer of any specific city by-law.

Bilingual, year-round theatre is hope for Piggery Playhouse

NORTH HATLEY (Staff) — A bilingual, year-round theatre is envisioned for North Hatley by the Townships Playhouse Guild, builders of the modern Piggery Playhouse due to begin its full summer season next year.

Walter Massey, a director of the guild, explained at an open house party at the playhouse here Saturday that French plays would be presented each spring and fall, with English plays being presented during the summer. This schedule will begin next year, he said.

Eventually, he said, it is hoped to present plays in the winter, too.

The presentation of three plays, two in English and one in French, this summer was the guild's "little whim," he said. It was the result of the guild's desire to "show off our building while it's being completed."

"We're sentimentalists in theatre. We want to stay here awhile before we turn the building over to others."

Mr. Massey told invited guests at Saturday's reception and presentation of Murray Schisgal's "The Tiger" by the Instant Theatre of Montreal, that the original aim of the guild members was to acquire, for North Hatley and for English speaking Quebec, an English language professional summer theatre. It is the only one in the province although English plays are presented at the Poudriere on Montreal's St. Helen's Island, he said.

The Piggery Playhouse has accomplished this, he said, but it was felt that this was not enough. The guild wanted to expand to include French plays.

It was decided that the best way to do this was with the spring-fall French and summer English formula. This eliminated the need to support two companies, one French and the other English, throughout the entire season, he said, which would have been necessary with an alternate French-English schedule.

Performances of "The Tiger" with Joan Stuart and Howard Rysphan are offered tonight, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Producers are Mary and Morter and Jack Cunningham.

Says city jail inmate murderer

MONTREAL (Staff) — A man who hanged himself in the Sherbrooke Jail last April after having received a ten-year sentence for burglary was named by witnesses in Montreal court Friday as the slayer of a 49-year-old accomplice last November.

The late Pierre (Sam) Samson killed Philippe Rondeau in a wooded spot in the Caughnawaga-Chateauguay area by firing a shot through his head, according to testimony in the Montreal court given by Jean Jacques Paulin, 40, accused of capital murder in the case.

The witness was testifying at the preliminary inquiry of Andre Blais, 28, of Montreal, who is also charged with capital murder in connection with the death of Rondeau.

Paulin told the court presided over by Judge Jean Tellier that he had tried to prevent the shooting.

He told the court that he had heard that Samson had a grudge against Rondeau but went to the Chateauguay-Caughnawaga area in the belief that the purpose of the trip was to "case" a house containing a safe filled with valuables.

Paulin said that soon after he and Samson had reached the wooded area with Rondeau, he saw Samson take out a revolver and aim it at the other man. Paulin said that he made an effort to grab Samson's arm but the shot went off and Rondeau fell to the ground.

Samson then buried the body in the woods, he said.

Co-accused Andre Blais had earlier testified at Paulin's preliminary hearing that he drove the group to the spot and saw Samson, Paulin and Rondeau walk away from his car toward a wooded area. Only two later returned, he said.

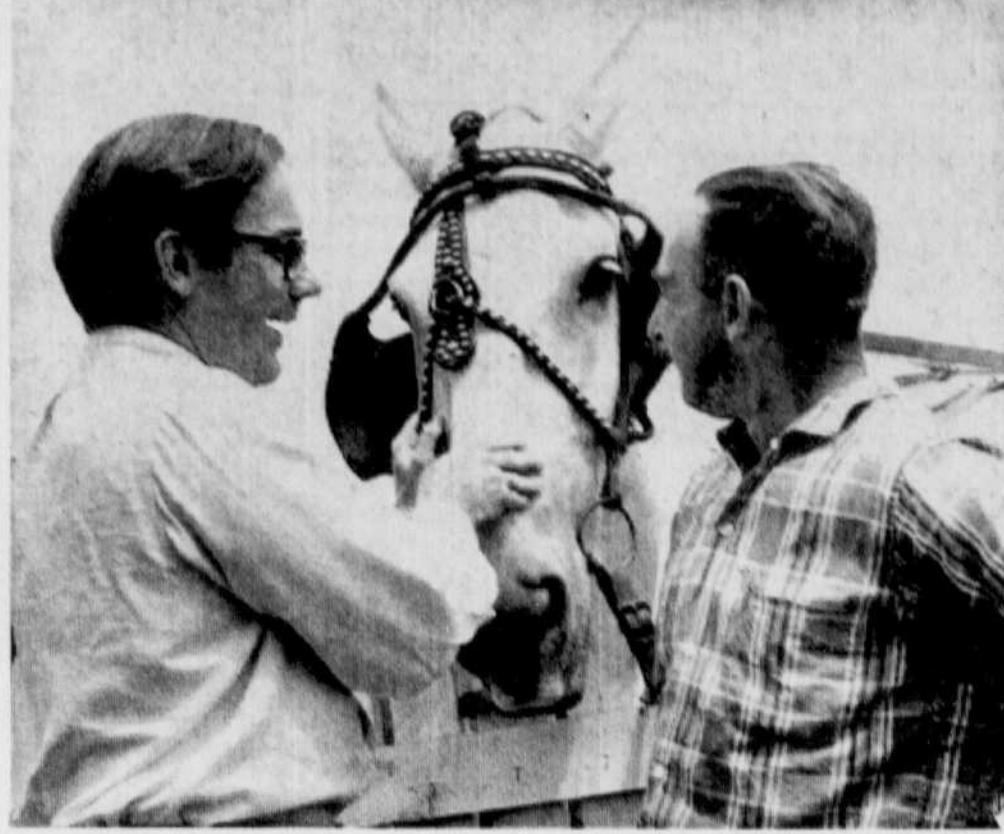

Blais also said that several days after the disappearance of Rondeau, Samson admitted that he had shot him.

Blais said that he, too, had been under the impression that the purpose of the trip was to "check a safe job."

He also testified that Samson had returned to his car at one point to pick up a shovel.

A police witness told of finding the body of Rondeau last May 20 in a shallow grave near the spot indicated by Blais and Paulin.

Judge Tellier took under advisement until later this week his decision on whether or not Blais should be sent to trial on the capital murder charge.

Miss H. Conway Well-known milliner dies at 79

Miss Helen Conway, well-known as a milliner on Wellington Street for half a century, died this morning at the age of 79.

Born in Melbourne on March 15, 1886, the daughter of James Conway and Elizabeth McDonnell Conway, she moved to Sherbrooke in her youth, and was educated at the Notre Dame Convent.

After spending three years here as an apprentice milliner, she commenced the Wellington Street business which was her career the rest of her life.

She was for many years an active member of St. Patrick's Church in Sherbrooke and of the Catholic Women's League. She is survived by three brothers, Austin B. and Fred Conway of Sherbrooke and William Conway of Montreal, as well as by two nieces, Mrs. J. A. Leddy and Mrs. F. E. Jones of Montreal, and a nephew, Austin J. Conway of Sherbrooke.

The body is resting at Johnston's Funeral Home in Sherbrooke. Funeral will be held Wednesday in St. Patrick's Church, Msgr. Moisan officiating. Burial will be in St. Michael's Cemetery.

Coaticook cement wall crumbles

COATICOOK (Special) — The Town is faced with the expense of replacing for the third time the cement retaining wall on the north side of St. Jean Baptiste Street and St. Paul Street corner. The last winter did considerable damage to the surface of the wall, many large cracks appearing and pieces having fallen out in places, making it unsafe for passing pedestrians.

Members of the Coaticook Police Department have been busy for the past several days repainting the white traffic lines on the principal streets of the town. The compressor pump, with which these traffic guides have been sprayed in the past is broken and under repair at the moment, so the work was performed in the old-fashioned manner of using a paint brush.

Jehovah's Witnesses meet in Peterborough

About 63 Sherbrooke area delegates are back home today following a four-day district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Peterborough which saw attendance figures reach 6,740.

An early estimate of peak attendance had been 4,500. The pressure of mounting numbers of delegates led to an appeal for additional sleeping accommodations by assembly officials. A small tent city complete with temporary roads, lighting and water service was set up on a nearby farm for 600 delegates.

Mr. J. Calhoun presiding minister for this area, said the peak attendance was at public Bible lecture Sunday afternoon. This was delivered by G. W. Sallis, representative from the Toronto Branch headquarters of the Watch Tower Society.

Threat of rain nor mail strike impair gala constituency picnic

BROME (Special) — It was a perfect day for a picnic, despite the fact the rain tried hard all day to attend.

But expect for a hardly noticeable sprinkle lasting for a few seconds about three o'clock in the afternoon, the showers never quite made it.

As a result the revival of the old-fashioned constituency picnic, organized by Heward Graffley, Progressive-Conservative MP for Brome-Missisquoi, and held at the Brome County fairgrounds Sunday, proved an overwhelming success.

Scheduled to get underway at 10 a.m., the event had attracted over 1,000 by 11 a.m. and at "height of the festivities" it is estimated that over 3,000 persons were on the grounds.

The gathering was strictly non-political, Mr. Graffley insisted.

"It is a gathering for the people of Brome-Missisquoi, for everyone," he said.

"Invitations have been extended to officials of the various Liberal organizations in the county to attend and I have noticed several of them on the grounds," he declared elatedly, "but I am sure they will not be converted because of anything that occurs here today."

There were many attractions for the visitors.

Highlights were, of course, the horse show and the horse draw, both of which lasted throughout the day and operated simultaneously before the grandstand to give the crowd something in the nature of a three-ring circus — with one ring lacking.

During the afternoon there was a bingo in the Main Building of the fairgrounds which proved as popular as the larger events staged in other parts of the province.

Operating throughout the grounds were the traditional midway attractions. Crown-and-anchor, the dart throw, the fishpond for the kiddies, all operated by county residents.

There were even restaurants. But, unfortunately, their activities were somewhat restricted. Owing to trouble with the electrical system, they were unable to dish out the proverbial hot dogs, hamburgers and coffee until late in the afternoon.

So those who had not brought their basket lunches were forced to fill up on soft drinks and chocolate bars.

One thing was lacking — political speeches.

Mr. Graffley promised that he would speak for not more than a minute welcoming the crowd. But he was so busy looking up old friends and potential supporters that no one was quite certain whether a few remarks heard from him over the loud-speaker system were the welcome address or an off-the-cuff comment to some of the participants in the horse draw.

Although several potential Canadian contestants in the horse draw were unable to enter because their invitations had been delayed owing to the postal strike, some thirty teams, mostly from Vermont and New York state, entered one or other of the two classes and the contest went on into the early evening.

Fears that the mail stoppage might cut down the attendance were unfounded. More than 17,000 notices had been mailed out to residents of the area inviting their presence but these are still in the Montreal post office. But the grounds were still filled.

The picnic, Mr. Graffley explained, was intended to revive some of the oldtime interest in politics.

A century ago, he said, in the days of Cartier and Macdonald, the constituency picnic was one of the highlights of the summer season.

World War One caused a suspension of these activities and they have never been revived.

Mr. Graffley was of the opinion that the automobile could play an important part in the revival of these events.

Residents of all sections of a sprawling constituency could attend without difficulty and the picnic offered a change of fare for Sunday activities.

Asked whether the success of yesterday's event would lead to its repetition next year, Mr. Graffley commented wryly that certain forthcoming incidents might have an important bearing on whether or not they became annual events.

Crippled children enjoy dance

AYER'S CLIFF (Staff) — Operation Fiddle descended on the Crippled Children's Camp here Friday night bringing laughter and gaiety to the 200 campers.

For the tenth year Sam Hopper and his orchestra entertained the campers at the annual square dance which is sponsored by the Sherbrooke Rotary Club.

The square dance was held in the camp's auditorium which was decked in country style decorations. The campers and their counsellors dressed in western clothes.

The program began at about 7.15 p.m. and lasted two hours during which campers formed virginia reels and danced happily to the caller's instructions. For some of the campers who are confined to wheelchairs, it was no handicap as they eagerly participated in the fun.

It was regular country hoedown, as far as Mr. Hopper was concerned and at times 32 wheelchair virginia reels were formed by the youngsters.

Sam Hopper had his regular orchestra entertaining the campers which consists of Mrs. Hopper at the piano, Albert Nutbrown violinist, Jimmy Piper guitar and vocalist, Francis Sayers, guitar and vocalist and Harold Smith the caller.

Every year the Sherbrooke Rotary Club presents the square dance for the children, one of the activities sponsored by the Rotarians.

Rotarian John Mathias was in charge of Operation Fiddle. The attendance of several other Rotarians including president Clarence Blake, past president Bill Richardson and Doug Racey helped to make the annual square dance a success.

I'D LOVE TO — This was a typical scene at the annual Square Dance on Friday night at the Ayer's Cliff Crippled Children's Camp as campers and counsellors danced to the music of Sam Hopper and his orchestra. In the above photo

Undoubtedly some employees of the justice department were remiss in their duties or the escape would not have occurred and some sort of disciplinary action was required.

Even if they are reasonably honest in the carrying out of their functions, as most of them probably are, they are lacking in the training required for the posts.

Perhaps one of the underlying causes is the low pay offered jail guards and other officials. At the present salary set-up it is unreasonable to expect men of high mental calibre to apply for the costs of regional universities and colleges be broken down to induce Ottawa to pay 70% — the years to come are bleak, indeed.

Atlantic universities encouraged

Prime Minister Pearson's acknowledgement of the need for higher education in the Atlantic provinces and his categorical assertion that "something must be done" is a ray of sunshine breaking through the gloom which accompanied the making public of the report which the Association of Atlantic Universities has prepared for the Bladen commission on the financing of higher education.

Dr. Colin B. Mackay, president of the University of New Brunswick and also president of the Association of Atlantic Universities suggested that the future of institutions of higher learning in these provinces by the sea is bleak. The crisis which confronts them may make it mandatory for some to "close shop" unless governments come to the financial rescue.

It is encouraging, therefore, to note that the contents of the report of the AAU have attracted the attention of the prime minister. Anticipating the forthcoming report of the Bladen commission, Mr. Pearson observed, "I hope we will know better how we can better assist the universities."

The report indicated that the immediate need is for $48 million to which another $166 and a half million will have to be added within the next ten years if our universities are to keep abreast of current and projected enrollments.

STRAFORD, Ont. (AP)—Aside from that rare theatrical ecstasy—a set of unanimous raves—there's nothing like brisk dispute over artistic merit to stir the interest of show fans.

Two specimens of such provocative entertainment are prominent this summer in Stratford's 13th annual festival.

"It is a waste of an actor's life to stay in something there for two years. In a theatre like Stratford or Minneapolis you are serving art and the community a bit more."

SUCCEEDS GUTHRIE

Campbell, a veteran of 11 seasons of Stratford dramatics, is artistic director in the Shakespeare Theatre this season while Michael Langham is on sabbatical. Come autumn, Campbell takes over as boss of the Minnesota Repertory Company in Minneapolis from Sir Tyrone Guthrie.

"I try for the moment not to think about it all," he says, "I agreed to pinch hit for Langham several years ago and that accounts for how I'm more or less in two places temporarily."

"The Avon should be a very exciting place—the place of creation. We can't afford to have the big prima donnas here, so acting should be the mark of this opera house."

SHUNS TRICKERY

"I didn't try to stand Caesar on end with all kinds of theatrical trickery, which I well know, just to get attention," he asserts. "Instead I emphasized the human relationships in order to increase the sense of spectator participation."

In Siberia, too Fires burn forest wealth

By JOHN BEST

IRKUTSK, Siberia (CP) — Forest fires are devouring some of the rich timber wealth of Siberia.

Flying over the tree-covered land, one can see scores of fires burning.

A number—those close to settled areas and farms—appear to be controlled blazes for burning off slash. But there are many others deep in the wilderness that are undoubtedly forest fires—and out of control.

A responsible Siberian official told me that forest fires are causing "a very large amount" of damage. However, there was no estimate of just how much.

Between the Ural Mountains and this city, located halfway across the southern portion of the Siberian land mass, dozens of fires could be seen burning in early June. There were others around Irkutsk, 250 miles north of here, and around Yakutsk, 1,200 miles to the northeast.

At Bratsk late one afternoon a brilliant orange sun was obscured now and then by what appeared to be smoke.

LAND IS SWAMPY

Flying out of Yakutsk one day we saw the air thick with smoke from dozens of fires burning on the ground. "You can even smell the smoke in here," said a companion on the aircraft. Most of the fires wouldn't spread far, however, because we were flying over taiga country with plenty of swampy water. In North America lightning is a major cause of forest fires but in Siberia, the official insisted, most are caused by careless people, a point that was difficult to reconcile with the fact that large numbers of fires were in the depths of the vast wilderness.

The standard method of fighting outbreaks is to isolate them by bulldozing a wide swath around the fire zone and letting the flames burn themselves out. Bulldozers and men are often ferried to the spot by helicopter.

The Canadian technique of bombing the fire with water has been little used in Siberia, if at all. Helicopters and small bi-planes are used to spot fires and observe their progress and some extent.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The colony of British Columbia was founded 107 years ago today—in 1858—as soon as it was learned gold had been found in the Fraser River. The United States boundary had been settled in 1846, but until the gold-rush the only organized settlement was on Vancouver Island, then a separate colony. Though the Fraser yielded little gold the Cariboo discoveries of 1862 did much to establish the new colony, which joined Canada in 1871.

1100—William II of England was killed by an arrow.

1908—70 persons died in a forest fire in the Kootenay district of B.C.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1915—Russian armies held the line at Warsaw against the Austro-German advance, but retreated elsewhere; a British submarine sank a Turkish gunboat in the Sea of Marmora.

The word "wassail" according to tradition, originated when the 5th century princess Rowena went to the British King Vortigern bearing a golden cup of wine and said to him "Waes Hael!" meaning "Be of good health!" The king kissed her, then drank and bade her share the contents of the cup. In time "waes hael" was altered into "wassail."

Three questions posed by Sauve on Canadian unity issues

GENEVA PARK, Ont. (CP) — Maurice Sauve, federal forestry minister, today posed three questions he says must be answered before meaningful discussion on the future of Canadian federalism should begin.

Addressing the 34th Coughing Conference, he noted the conference plans to debate the "more urgent issues affecting Canadian unity," then posed his questions:

— "Do we want equal partnership?"

— "Do we want biculturalism?"

— "Do we want regional economic equality?"

He said a consensus must be sought on these questions before beginning discussions on federalism and formal changes in Canada's constitution. "We must agree on where we want our country to go."

The fundamental problem was the relationship between English-speaking and French-speaking Canadians, which French Canada wanted to be one of equal partnership.

However, agreement must be reached on what equal partnership means.

"To me it means the effective and real participation of competent French-speaking Canadians in all areas and at all levels of Canadian life, particularly in the fields of public administration, both in politics and the civil service, and of business."

papers, magazines, theatre, cinema and so on — and especially education."

The minister did not think it possible "for every Canadian to speak both English and French, wherever he may live in the country."

The third issue that must be faced was "the chronic problem of pronounced regional differences in the economy of our country."

"We must assure to all Canadians in all regions of the country a level of economic activity that will ensure full employment, and a living standard that is within the perimeters of a well-defined national average."

It does not mean that French-speaking Canadians should be promoted to a position for which he is not qualified." Nor should French-Canadians hold a fixed proportion of all jobs in an area."

Mr. Sauve said biculturalism "implies the equality of French and English cultural services available to all Canadians everywhere in Canada for the benefit of the whole population — radio, television, books, news-

Check hem for length becoming to wearer

When you buy a ready-made dress or skirt, be sure to check the hem.

See that it is even and not too long. Short skirts are high fashion. Even so, the "best-dressed" are choosing their most becoming length.

Put on every dress or skirt you have and check the length. There are excellent skirt markers that are so easy to use that even your husband can help you turn your hems so that the length is becoming to you and right for a good fashion look.

After your hem is turned, lay the skirt out on the table. With a gauge or smaller, ruler, mark off width you want it to be. Do the marking with chalk.

Trim any unevenness from the top edge.

You can now pink the edge or turn raw edge over a quarter inch and stitch it, or apply seam binding to the edge. Ease seam binding on to help achieve an invisible hem. All three types of hems should be slip stitched.

To help your slim skirts keep their shape, line the skirt throughout with a non-stretching, lightweight fabric. Nylon is ideal.

If you catch the hem edge to the lining of a skirt or dress, make sure no stitches show on the right side, and by all means use easy stitches never tight

When you press a hem, be sure the edge is straight on the ironing board and do use a damp press cloth.

Questions readers ask

Q—One of my neighbors warns me some of our American foods have palm oil from Africa in them. Is that really true?

A—Yes. The United States imports a lot of palm oil and palm kernel oil from the Congo every year and uses the best grades in margarine, cooking fats, chocolate bars and other foods. Palm kernel oil from the Congo is used extensively in the baked goods you buy in your local shops. It helps keep them fresh and attractive longer.

The Farm Index, published by the Department of Agriculture, states that the Congo's oil palm industry is one of the best managed in Africa. The United States buys about half the exports of palm kernel oil from the Congo, averaging 32,000 metric tons a year.

Summertime and the watermelon

Watermelon! That's what's good about the good old summertime! Watermelon, which crackles open at the touch of a knife to display its crisp, bright red flesh of tempting fragrance. These big green fruits are the very symbol of summer fun, of watermelon parties on the terrace, of frolicsome evenings on a moonlit beach, of a happy twosome raiding the refrigerator for a generous slice or wedge of melon.

The growing and shipping of watermelons is big business these days, with successful operations depending on the production of tempting fruits. Late May through August sees the peak of the watermelon season. Sometimes whole melons are stacked, bargain-priced. As often as not they are halved or quartered and then any melon-eater can pick the reddest, crispest fraction on display.

Melon-thumping is out as a way of selecting the best watermelon. Not even the ear of a Leonard Bernstein or a Leopold Stokowski could pick a good melon by this method, say the experts. There are some signs of excellence in watermelon. In general, the larger the melon, the more heart or seed-free flesh. Ripe melons of good quality are firm, symmetrical, fresh and attractive in appearance. Color may vary from a deep solid green to a grayish-green, depending on variety. There will be a "bloom" over the rind to give it a velvety look and the underside, which rested on Mother Earth will have a creamy paleness. Avoid as underripe those watermelons which have a white or pale green underside. Overripe melons have a generally dull appearance and feel soft or watery when pressed.

Watermelon is surprisingly nutritious. A 4x8-inch wedge, which is just a sample for a watermelon-eater, provides more than one-third of the recommended dietary allowance of vitamin C and half the allowance of vitamin A, as well as a good contribution of other vitamins and minerals.

FRESH MELON FLOWER POND

- 1 watermelon, 16 inches long
- 4 quarts watermelon balls
- 3 cantaloupes

Today's recipe

Here are two recipes that fit happily into summer eating. The Continental salad makes a luncheon in itself and a really pleasant-to-eat hot weather meal.

The herb butter gives an extra fillip to corn-on-the-cob. Enjoy them. Summer can be fun, remember.

TURMERIC BUTTER FOR CORN

- (Makes 1 serving)
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon ground turmeric
- 1/4 teaspoon grated fresh onion
- Salt and ground pepper to taste

Melt butter or margarine. Add turmeric and grated fresh onion. Mix well. Serve over corn-on-the-cob season with salt and ground black pepper to taste.

CONTINENTAL SALAD

- (Makes 4 servings)
- 1 1/2 cups (3/4-inch) cubes cooked potato
- 1/2 cup (3/4-inch) cubes cooked carrot
- 1/2 cup real mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 hard cooked eggs
- 1/4 cup real mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 8 anchovy strips
- 3 tablespoons minced parsley
- Paprika
- 4 tomatoes, sliced
- Boston lettuce

Put potatoes and carrots into bowl. Blend one-third-cup real mayonnaise, vinegar, salt and onion salt; toss with vegetables. Chill. Meanwhile, slice eggs in half lengthwise and place, cut side down, on plate. Blend remaining one-fourth-cup real mayonnaise with milk; spread over eggs, covering uncut sides completely. Arrange anchovy strips down center of each egg half. Sprinkle chopped parsley on egg on one side of anchovy and paprika on the other. Chill. To serve, place 2 egg halves on center of each individual plate. Mound vegetable mixture around eggs, as desired. Garnish with tomato slices and lettuce.

Minted Syrup

- 4 to 8 sprigs fresh mint
- Cut melon in half lengthwise.
- Cut out the pink fruit with a 1-inch melon ball cutter or 1/2 teaspoon measuring spoon, remove seeds as balls are cut. Scoop out pulp left in the shell and drain well. Peel one cantaloupe and cut through crosswise in a zig-zag pattern to form petal-like halves. Remove seeds. Cut remaining cantaloupes in half, remove seeds. Make balls using a 1-inch melon ball cutter. Place cantaloupe petal half at each end of melon boat, fill with watermelon balls. Fill center and ends of boat with melon balls. Pour Minted Syrup over all. Chill. Garnish with mint sprigs and serve.

MINTED SYRUP:

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup water
- 2 tablespoons fresh lime juice
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh mint
- 1/16 teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil and cook 2 minutes. Cover and steep 10 minutes. Cool and chill.

YIELD: Approximately 24 servings.

FRESH WATERMELON PINEAPPLE ICE

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup water
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons fresh lime juice
- 5 cups diced watermelon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup finely chopped fresh pineapple

Soften gelatin in cold water. Set aside. Combine sugar, lime juice, watermelon and salt. Rub through a sieve. Place gelatin over hot water to melt. Stir into the watermelon mixture. Stir in pineapple. Turn into ice cube trays and freeze until almost firm, stirring once. Remove from freezer and turn into a bowl. Beat until smooth with an electric or rotary beater. Return to freezing tray and freeze until ready to serve and firm.

YIELD: 6 servings.

New hairdo perks up "Lady in Waiting"

The sight of more than two pregnant women together seems to unnerve the average male. Consider the reaction, then, of a fleet-footed bachelor reporter who encountered 20 very, very soon-to-be mothers one day while on a casual luncheon stroll.

He's still pale. The women, a little research revealed, were just leaving their daily prenatal class. One thing the young man did manage what you will find a pretty enflure and fresh make-up provide a subtle emotional lift that only a pregnant woman can appreciate.

Fashion Tips

Try Drip-Dry Gowns
You will be wise to put away your nylon nightgowns for the summer and buy yourself some drip-dry cotton gowns. They are cooler for sleeping and they come with pretty lace and ribbon trim.

Summer Dress-Up Pick
Matte jersey is a good choice for summer dress-up fashions. It doesn't wrinkle, packs easily and wears well, so it is ideal to take on vacation for gala evenings.

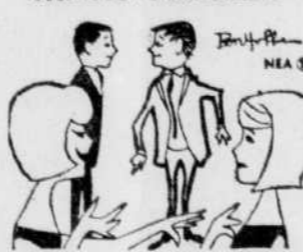

Seersucker Takes Over
The old standby for warm weather, seersucker, is really taking over the fashion scene this summer. It's not only around in play togs, suits and daytime dresses, but in some charming evening dresses as well.

Disguise Wet Hair
Going on a seaside vacation this summer? Try one of the pert kerchiefs with snap-on fake bangs as a disguise for hair that has become wet after a swim. They make great head covers for the beach.

Boost Your Ego
The truly chic girl will always be sure to own and wear pretty, matching lingerie even though no one sees it but herself. It's good for the ego to know you look pretty from the skin out.

Avoid Hot Colors
With summer on the way, stay clear of hot shades such as red and orange. You'll not only look cool, but even feel fresher in such cool shades as blue and green.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

The unfair cut—a wife is blamed for her spouse's sloppiness.

EYE-CATCHING HAIRDO

age to gasp as he sought the relative safety of the sports department was, "Must they look so sloppy?"

Not really. Designers of maternity fashions are providing clothes to give pregnant women a stylishly relaxed look. The interest is at the neckline, or sleeves, anything to draw the eye above the waistline.

Hairstylists, too, show more attention to the mother-to-be than in previous seasons. If you are in the waiting stage, take a tip from Leslie Blanchard, (hair color director of Saks Fifth Avenue's Maison Antoine Salon.) He recommends diverting attention from the expanding middle through hair-styling and coloring.

You will find, he says, that a color rinse keeps your hair from looking drab while you are pregnant. Try a new hairdo, he suggests, one that complements your face yet adds height. Try, for example, a simple hairstyle which you can comb back from the face and decorate with a bright, large bow set at the nape of the neck. Do not neglect your hair during your "confinement," a pregnancy once was called. Keep it clean and combed. A week or two before you expect to enter the hospital, have your hair cut and set at a becoming length. But even before

Eye tips for summer

Many protect their skin from the drying, destructive rays of the sun with sun-screening aids, but neglect their eyes.

The first step in eye care for the outdoors is to wear sunglasses. These should have properly ground lenses to prevent distortion. A beach or patio umbrella is another part of your outdoor equipment that helps reduce glare. But you still face sun's rays bouncing into your eyes from water or sand. The result: your eyes and their surrounding facial muscles will tire from constant squinting. Over a period of time, visible aging in the form of squint lines and wrinkles appear.

Spray, blowing sand, chemicals in swimming pool water, windburn, while riding in a car also irritate the eyes and contribute to these aging lines. Whatever your recreational activities, carry a well-equipped kit which includes an eye lotion. Eyedrops will flush out foreign particles and provide soothing relief for irritated eyes. Also, do not rub your eyes when they begin to itch or burn. Use the eye lotion. Or consult a doctor if there is pain.

Meanwhile, the area around the eyes and application of eye make-up require special consideration during summer.

Before donning your sunglasses, apply a film of eye cream to delicate tissue around the eyes. Smooth this on gently in a circle, beginning at the temple and working beneath the eye, up and out. Other eye-brightening tips:

- Herbal eye pads help soothe and protect eyes. "Wear" these over your eyes while sunbathing.
- Sunlight, (according to the makers of Aziza eye products), tends to fade eyebrows and lashes. Thus you need more eye make-up.
- Use waterproof eye make-up.
- Eye style for this summer depends upon clean, natural lines. Tweeze only strays and define the lower line of the brow.
- For the best effect, blend two tones of eye shadow — perhaps clear blue and green, one over the other. Smooth gently with your fingertip until the shadow is really a shadow. • For evening wear, use blue eye shadow to match your blue eyes; emerald or sylvan green for green; violet for brown eyes. Topping this, blend a faint film of eye shadow up to brow, perhaps in another shade, violet above blue, blue above green and swirl on mascara to match.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY—Hello, I am Tam and I have a lovely coat of long wavy white hair. I also find that upholstered furniture makes for the most comfortable sleeping. This combination drove my master and mistress and their guests to distraction until my mistress found an easier (not easy) way to remove that "fur" from the furniture.

She takes a soft plastic sponge, dampens it slightly and brushes the upholstery with it. This makes the hair roll into bunches or balls which can be picked off with the dusting tool or your vacuum cleaner. This also works on woolen clothing. If my suggestion earns a Polly Dollar my mistress promises she will buy me a new brush.—TAMI

GIRLS—This really has become a family column. We have been hearing from Mom and Dad and the kids, too, but this is our first letter from the family pet.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I used to throw away the pretty postcards sent to me by friends who were in faraway places. Now I tape all these cards on the kitchen wall and keep them throughout the year. At the beginning of each new year I start all over again. Friends and even repairmen notice them and enjoy looking to see where the pictures are from and often will comment that they would like to go to a particular place. It is interesting to see how far they come from and who remembers me throughout a year. Friends will often write on their cards, "I hope mine will be the first card for the new year," or "Perhaps this is the last card for this year." I enjoy looking at them as I relax in the kitchen.—ALICE

GIRLS — I was pleased to note that Alice is such a good manager that she actually has time to relax in the kitchen and her idea is ingenious. I, too, always hate to throw away some of the beautiful postcards that come in the mail. There is no reason that such a collection would have to be removed at the end of a year — why not continue and have the walls "papered" with tokens of friendship? —POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for all those male readers of your column. I misplaced the celluloid case in which I always inserted my hunting license so it could be worn for all to see. I put my license in a small plastic bag, fastened with a diaper pin and had a perfect case which exposed the hunting license in full view but protected from rain and snow.—DAN

Mothers, grandmother serve as firefighters

EDMONTON (CP) — Four mothers and a grandmother serve with the volunteer fire department in Sherwood Park, a residential suburb on Edmonton's eastern outskirts.

"We're treated just like one of the boys," says Mrs. Tom Lukinuk, a mother of two.

The women usually work alongside the men fighting fires but occasionally go on a call with only one man, the fire-truck driver.

When a siren sounds to summon the volunteers, the first five persons to reach the station go out on the call, says Wayne Stanyer, chief of Strathcona's volunteer fire department. The remainder are on standby.

Since most of the fires in the department's large rural area occur during the day when many of the 28 male volunteers are at work, the women are much in demand.

"The women do a really good job," Mr. Stanyer says. "Twice they successfully fought fires on their own."

And they have fought all kinds, including oil, dynamite, farm and household fires.

Of the five original women members, four are still on staff and another joined recently. Mrs. Ernie Oseroff, an original, has three grandchildren, and her son Bob is the department's only full-time fireman. The other women are Mrs. Alex McMaster, Mrs. Fay Duthie and Mrs. Andrew Jordheim.

Organized eight years ago when Sherwood Park was built, the department put five women on its staff mainly for daytime protection.

They must be available at all times and occasionally "get called when we are having our hair done in the beauty parlor or at an evening party," says Mrs. Lukinuk.

"Even if we just go out for coffee we have to tell someone where we are—and take our overalls with us."

"When the neighbors hear the siren they immediately come and look after our children."

The average fire lasts about two hours but sometimes they may fight a bush fire for as long as 18. Mrs. Jordheim recalls a fire at a dynamite camp.

"The sky was raining debris as the old dynamite caps exploded suddenly. We hit the ground and some of us managed to find shelter under near-

Today's happy-go-lucky grandparents

The generation of parents just now becoming grandparents is now analyzed to death by the experts.

For years as they tried to bring up their children as best they could, they heard about overly permissive parents, about parents who were too rigid disciplinarians, about neglectful parents, about mother-dominated families and absentee fathers too busy being successful to have any time for their children.

Seven sisters meet; they are all sisters

ST. ALBANS, Vt. (AP) — The seven Thibault sisters, all dressed alike, returned to their birthplace here last week for a reunion.

Their similar attire was the habit of the Sisters of the Holy Cross, a Roman Catholic order which each of the sisters joined many years ago.

The seven nuns have served the order a total of 289 years, with Sister Mary Hubert Alice Thibault, the eldest, having completed 50 years.

They are the only living children of the late Amedee and Rose Thibault and were born and raised in St. Albans. Their father died in 1931 at the age of 96 and their mother died in 1944.

The sisters were reluctant to disclose their ages but in seniority their service years are, after Sister Mary Hubert: 46 years for Sister Mary Opportune; 45 years for Sister Rita of Cassia; 44 years each for Sister Mary Camille of Jesus and Sister Mary Teresa of Alba, 44 years each; and Sister Rose Alma and Sister Mary Doloretta, 30 years each.

News flashes from around the world

BALTIMORE (AP)—John T. Menzies, former president and chairman of the food packing company of Crossett and Blackwell, died Saturday night at his summer home at Cape May, N.J. He was 74.

In 1957, Queen Elizabeth decorated London-born Menzies with the insignia of honorary officer of the Order of the British Empire. He also was made a commander in the order by the late King George for more than four years service with the 48th Highlanders in the First World War.

In 1921 he formed the Crossett and Blackwell firm in Canada and later established the branch in Baltimore.

NEW CARLISLE, Que. (CP) — Chief Justice Frederick Dorian of Quebec Superior Court suggested Saturday that an organization of Quebec judges be formed to improve the administration of justice in the province.

The chief justice was speaking at the official opening of a new $1,226,000 courthouse-jail in this Gaspé peninsula community 300 miles northeast of Quebec City.

He said what he called a "superior council of judges" should be open only to judges in office.

One major project of the organization could be a complete study of growing needs in the field of justice.

He said the council could also advise the government in the appointment of new judges.

TORONTO (CP)—A sociologist here recommended Sunday that young couples live together for six months to see if they are compatible enough to take the wedding vows.

Dr. Frank Rubenstein, told the First Unitarian congregation that he would also like to change existing laws to make it more difficult to get married. He suggested 10 pre-marriage sessions with a marriage counsellor and a $500 fee for the licence.

For divorce he would set a $3 fee. No person should be forced to live with a person he or she detests, he said.

Dr. Rubenstein, who recently left as director of social work at a Toronto Psychiatric Hospital to return to teaching in the United States, said such regulations are needed to insure happy marriages.

QUEBEC (CP) — More than 1,000 members of the Gauvin family celebrated Sunday the 300th anniversary of the marriage of their ancestors, Jean Gauvin and Marie-Anne Magnan, here in 1665.

Those attending the event came from Vancouver and from the Maritimes, from California and Florida.

The family says the couple, who had 10 children, have some 10,000 descendants in North America.

NEW YORK (CP)—Harold G. Wilm, chairman of the New York State water resources board, said Saturday Canada and a number of U.S. states would have to give approval before New York City Mayor Robert Wagner's idea to tap the Great Lakes for water for the city could be put into effect.

He said in a telephone interview that the state power authority probably would object to the proposal to draw water from Niagara Falls, N.Y. He added that Ohio and Pennsylvania would have something to say about taking water from Lake Erie.

WINNIPEG (CP) — "Centralists" in the federal government are responsible for the dispute between Ottawa and the provinces over off-shore mineral rights, Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia said Sunday.

Mr. Bennett, here for the sixth premiers conference starting today, said Ottawa is trying to "steal" off-shore mineral rights by asking the Supreme Court of Canada to rule on whether these rights belong to the country or the provinces.

United States lick their wounds as Russians add the salt in Track by sweeping men's, women's meets

KIEV (AP) — A dazed U.S. track and field team licked its wounds today from its worst debacle ever in international competition—a loss to the Russians—and asked: "How did it happen?"

Were the Yanks too over-confident, as suggested by Russian coach Gabriel Korobkov and seconded by high-ranking U.S. officials?

Did many of their stars wear themselves out in a month of campaigning on the Continent prior to the seventh annual U.S.-Soviet meet Saturday and Sunday in this picturesque capital of the Ukraine?

Or was it simply mushrooming injuries that felled some of the best American athletes in the midst of the crucial meet?

The Russians scored a sweep, winning both the men's and women's competition for the first time since the series was started in 1958. It was the first time American men track and field stars had ever lost a meet of this kind.

Scoring upsets in such American specialties as the pole vault and sprint relay and winning the 5,000 and 10,000-metre relays, in which the United States had Olympic champions, the Soviet team beat out the U.S. men 12-112 and won for the seventh time from the women, as expected, 65-45-1/2.

However, Wyoming Tyus of Griffin, Ga., established herself as the fastest woman runner in the world by winning the 100 metres in world record - tying time of 11.1 seconds, coming from far behind to spearhead a victory in the 400-metre relay and then finishing second Sunday in the 200 metres behind

Cookie donates fine to student

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Full-back Cookie Gilchrist is giving the $800 he was fined for reporting late to Denver Broncos of the American Football League to a young student so that he can return to college.

Edward Brooks, 20, said the money, plus two loans, will enable him to return to Kansas State Teachers College, where he is also a football fullback.

Brooks is married and has a five-month-old daughter.

Before he walked into Gilchrist's hotel room late Tuesday to ask for help, Brooks said he was "just about ready to give up" on returning to school.

"I figured all he could say was no," said Brooks. "But he didn't."

"I feel good about helping him," said Gilchrist. "It seemed we were both fighting for our principles. I liked him right away."

Gilchrist, traded from Buffalo Bills during the winter, was fined $100 for each day of eight days he was late in reporting to the Denver camp.

He has asked to be traded to Oakland Raiders when he arrived in Denver a week ago but eventually agreed to play after being threatened with a $400,000 suit for breach of contract.

Gilchrist said fines assessed on players go into a special fund for worthy causes, and the players with the most money in the fund decide what those causes will be. As the major stockholder in the fund, Gilchrist decided his $800 would go to Brooks.

GEORGE BIRTH winning homer GILLES ROBICHAUD timely hits CLAUDE PRUD'HOMME win in relief LILAS POOLE homer and triple

George Birth hurls, homers against Plessisville in double victories, changes in ninth give Theftford win

Sherbrooke Alouettes remain in fourth position after two wins and a 6-4 loss in weekend action, 2 1/2 games away from the Provincial Baseball League leaders, Granby Cardinals, and only one game separating them from a second-place tie between Drummondville and Acton Vale.

The Ais defeated Plessisville Braves here Saturday evening 7-2 and then returned to their stadium Sunday afternoon in a postponed game to edge them 8-6 in the top of the ninth. The Sunday night tilt was reversed for Theftford, 6-4, as they scored four runs in the top of the ninth, while the Ais were in the midst of position changes.

George Birth, after hurling a tremendous game Saturday night against the Braves, returned to action the next day to haunt the hapless Plessisville club, knocking a home run over the fence to send in the tying and winning runs of the game.

Only two more games remain on the 48-tilt schedule for the Alouettes, as they host Acton Vale Beavers Wednesday night, and the Lachine Mets Thursday. Both games will commence at 8:30.

Braves sweep the Giants 4-2 and 6-3 Cards lose 3-2, Cincinnati splits

Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger wants to stay on the farm, and four National League pennant contenders would like the Braves to send him there immediately.

Cloninger extended his mastery over the Braves' first-division opposition Sunday, pitching a seven-hitter in Milwaukee's 4-2 first-game triumph over San Francisco Giants.

The Braves completed the doubleheader sweep, defeating the Giants 6-3 in the nightcap, and moved into third place, 3 1/2 games behind league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

The victory was Cloninger's 14th against eight defeats, but even more painful to the other teams in the first division it gave the North Carolina farmer a 7-0 record against the Dodgers, Cincinnati Reds, San Francisco and Philadelphia Phillies.

Cloninger now has 55 acres of land, six quarter horses, two bird dogs and six coon dogs. He soon hopes to start raising quarter horses and as far as those four teams are concerned, the sooner the better.

In other National League games Sunday, Los Angeles

St. Louis Cardinals 3-2, Cincinnati defeated Houston Astros 6-4 before losing 7-6, Pittsburgh Pirates swept Chicago Cubs 8-2 and 3-1 and Philadelphia ripped New York Mets 3-2.

Saturday, New York outlasted Philadelphia 4-3 in 11 innings. Chicago beat Pittsburgh 7-6. Cincinnati bombed Houston 11-4. San Francisco edged Milwaukee 3-1 and St. Louis held on to beat Los Angeles 4-3.

Mack Jones paved the way for Cloninger with a two-run homer against Ron Herbel in the first inning. Willie Mays had three of the Giants' seven hits, but Cloninger got him on a foul pop with the tying run on base in the seventh.

Ed Mathews' 22nd homer, a three-run blast in the third, put the Braves ahead to stay in the nightcap. Billy O'Dell's ninth-inning relief job saved Wade Blasingame's 13th victory in 20 decisions.

Sandy Koufax stopped the Cardinals on five hits for his 18th triumph against only four defeats. Koufax struck out 11 and drove in the deciding run with a seventh-inning sacrifice fly. Ray Sadleir held the Dodgers hitless, but Wes Parker homered in the sixth and Jim LeFebvre connected in the seventh.

Two-run homers by Pete Rose and Tony Perez carried Cincinnati past Houston in the opener.

Joe Gaines singled across Houston's winning run in the ninth inning of the second game. The Astros charged to a 6-3 lead with three runs in the seventh, two on Bob Lillis' double, but Frank Robinson's 19th homer tied it in the Red's half of the inning.

Manny Mota and Donn Clendenon each stroked three hits and drove in two runs, supporting Al MacBean and Don Schwall, who pitched the last three innings for Pittsburgh.

Joe Gibbon and Schwall combined to limit the Cubs to three hits in the nightcap.

Philadelphia's Jim Bunning won his 12th game but had to leave after seven innings because he injured his right ankle again. Callison hit a two-run homer, his 24th, and Tony Gonzalez added a bases-empty blast, offsetting a two-run homer by the Mets' Charley Smith.

BIRTH MAINTAINS CONTROL
Saturday evening, before 1,032 fans, George Birth maintained steady control over the Plessisville Braves, and was in the process of a shutout until the ninth, when they hit him for two runs. Birth allowed eight hits, fanned six men at the plate and issued no walks.

Offensively in their first match, Gilles Robichaud, with two singles for two RBI's; Lilas Poole with a pair of doubles, and Fern Dube with a hit and three RBI's to his credit starred. George Birth also managed two singles.

PRUD'HOMME WINS TILT, BIRTH, POOLE HOMER
Back in the land of the Braves Sunday afternoon, the Ais held a 5-1 lead in the seventh, but quickly lost that and were down 6-5 in the bottom of the eighth.

Lilas Poole, who had homered earlier in the second inning, smacked out a triple, and awaited George Birth to enter as a pinch-hitter. Birth's first home run of the season in the Provincial League sent the Ais ahead 7-6.

The insurance came on a wild throw to first base. Fern Dube singled, and then rounded the bags all the way home after Gauthier bunted. The ball was lost on a wild throw in attempts to pick him off at first.

Maurice 'Kimo' Hurtubise, before another crowd of 1,036,

Fern Dube, Lilas Poole and George Birth must receive credit for this win, although Claude Prud'Homme entered as relief pitcher.

Hurtubise, with two doubles, Dube with three singles, and the others starred offensively. Prud'Homme relieved Bert Morin in the eighth, who has previously stepped in for Freddie Wise in the seventh.

CHANGES ON THE FIELD LOST A 4-2 WIN
Last night's game with Theftford Miners in the local Municipal Stadium saw a change in field positions and a few pitchers on the Sherbrooke mound, which allowed Theftford to reverse the 4-2 win the Ais had secured by this time, changing it into a 6-4 loss.

Claude Paquette, who held his post until the ninth, ceded to Bert Morin, who pitched 1/3 of an inning and was replaced by Claude Prud'Homme, who didn't help the situation as well.

Paquette, who whiffed six, and walked seven, could have finished the Miners, but was not relied upon by his coach. Three runs on four hits in eight innings was his performance.

Andy Pratte, with a single and double for two runs, and Gilles Robichaud, with two singles, stood out for the Ais, before another crowd of 1,036.

Tour du St. Laurent competitors to complete two separate laps today

MONTREAL (CP) — Competitors in the Tour de St. Laurent bicycle race were to complete two separate laps today.

The first is a 93-mile run from Ste. Agathe in the Laurentian Mountains to suburban Duvernay, and the second a 30-mile closed-circuit race in another Montreal suburb, St. Michel.

Only 41 riders remain of the 58 who began the 1,500-mile tour July 25 in Matane, on the Gaspere peninsula.

Although Sunday was a day of rest, the cyclists put in at least 30 miles of practice.

A bicycle race was organized Sunday for reporters and organizers. On the second lap of the closed-circuit course the tour's vice-president, Jacques Belanger, took a nasty spill, breaking his collar bone.

During the lap which preceded the rest day, Janvier Otola of Spain outstripped the rest of the field, finishing more than four minutes ahead of the 30 of the group.

Top spot in standings is held by Henri Pauwels of Belgium whose time for the 793 miles covered so far is 33:46:04. He is followed by Richard Goodman of England with 33:49:44. Pierre Dandre of the Quebec team is third.

Belgium has held the lead in team standings since the start of the race and has a time of 101:43:22. The Polish squad is only 31 seconds behind. Holland trails in third spot by more than 19 minutes.

Jack edges Gary by two strokes for $20,000 in Thunderbird Open

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus muscled into position with his awesome and accurate power, but the delicate stroke proved his touch of triumph.

The mighty beller from Ohio edged South Africa's Gary Player in their down-to-the-wire duel Sunday for $20,000 top money in the Thunderbird golf classic, clinching the victory with a pair of precise shots that led to birdies on the final two holes.

Nicklaus fired his fourth successive sub-70 round—a four-under-par 68—over the Westchester Country Club's compact course. That, along with earlier rounds of 67, 66 and 69, gave him a 72-hole total of 270 and a two-stroke margin over Player, who posted a 71.

Tied with his rival at 16-under-par going into the last two holes, Nicklaus began his climatic windup. He drove 275 yards on the 17th, deftly pitched 76 yards to the green, then calmly smacked in a 25-foot birdie putt.

Nicklaus' second shot on the 518-yard 18th, a four-iron, landed in a trap to the right, 40 yards from the pin.

In the sand, with the pressure full on, Nicklaus crisply blasted to within four feet of the cup—for the shot that led it—and holed out for another birdie.

Player started the day one stroke ahead of Nicklaus but the lead shifted back and forth and there were several ties heading into the stretch.

Nicklaus bootied his leading money - winning total for the year to $89,760. He has been in the first five in 12 of his 15 tournaments this year.

Cassius warns but is ignored

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—World light heavyweight champion Jose Torres will ignore a warning from Cassius Clay and continue after Clay's heavyweight title.

Torres, who outpointed Tom McNeely here Saturday night in a dull 10-round bout, said Sunday he will seek a match with a heavyweight like Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., this fall before defending his 175-pound crown against one of three current challengers.

Clay watched the fight before boxing four exhibition rounds against a pair of sparring partners, then, advised Torres against pushing for a heavyweight title challenge.

"It would be dangerous," Clay said. "You saw him fight that boy, who was nothing compared to me."

Torres, however, hinted that he believes the heavyweight king isn't anxious to meet him. "I think he (Clay) has unconscious inhibitions," said the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker.

Torres said he hopes to scale 180 for the proposed bout with Machen, then trim down for a light heavy title defence against either Gregorio Peralta, Mauro Min, or Wayne Thornton.

Clay was on his way to the Virgin Islands today, and planned to fly to Sweden Wednesday for a 16-day series of exhibitions.

Sher-Lenn All-Stars shine

Home runs, fine pitching eliminate Cowansville 24-1

By RICHARD WILSON

COWANSVILLE — No outfielder, no matter how fast or agile he may be, has the ability of stopping a 200-foot home run that soars over a fence 180 feet distant from home plate. With this in mind, the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville Little League All-Stars snatched a total of six homers over and beyond that barricade in the Lions' Little League ball park here Saturday afternoon to crush the hosting All-Star club 24-1 in the first of the Little League Area playdowns.

Richard Blais, Steve Mitchell, Yvon Blais and Romeo Dumas combined what would ordinarily be opposing forces in regular league play, working offensively and defensively with a well-knit tournament team. Richard Blais, with half of the six home runs coming from his bat, more on his two long blasts. Yvon Blais, another powerful hitter, brought Mitchell home with his homer, in the first.

As for Romeo Dumas, regular pitcher and infielder for the Kiwanis Club Senators in the Sher-Lenn League, a fine performance was turned in on the mound, with all the way. Dumas fanned nine men on three strikes, while a two-hitter was in the making for this youngster, until the

This impressive victory by the Sher-Lenners allows them to move on in District One playoffs, meeting the St. Lambert Tournament team at the Sherbrooke Parade Grounds, Wednesday evening at 6:15 p.m. This is the semi-finals of the district playdowns, with Wednesday's winner encountering the victor of the Valleyfield and Chateaugay tilt which is being played this evening.

After all district playdowns have been completed, the winner, named Eastern Canadian Champions, will represent Eastern Canada in the Little League World Series, held annually at Williamsport, Penn.

A RECORD FOR THE PARK With the visit of the Sher-Lenners at the Cowansville Park, a record was established, as only one homer had ever been clouted this year in regular league play.

The six home runs soared over the barrier, normal distance in any Little League park, and continued even farther.

The reason for such powerful hitting on the part of the Sherbrooke All-Stars may be due to the fact that the Parade Grounds, without the fence enclosing the field in season play, allows players to cover the field deeply and stop these long hits. Naturally, with a fence erected, the balls were hit with the same power, but soared over the fence. This made a great difference.

The Sher-Lenn Tournament team, being formed from seven of the eight regular league teams, provided the extra power that was lacking in the hosting squad, composed of members from the four-club circuit.

24 RUNS ON 21 HITS The 24 runs for the playoff victors came on 21 hits, including 12 singles. Only three batters came in the tilt. Jim Coley lashed out with a threat of another homer in the third but dropped short to hit the left fence, 175 feet from the plate. At the time two men were out, and Coley was left on second.

Cowansville's starter, Richard Lafrance, pondered twice before he hurled another slow ball to Richard Blais, as he started with the four bagger. Mitchell came on base with a walk, and Yvon Blais sent him in with his heavy belt.

In the top of the third, Blais connected for his second homer, with Mitchell and Jim Coley hitting a single and double respectively. Coley's double was good for an RBI.

Five runs on five hits and one error salted the game away in the fourth, with Steve Mitchell showing power to spare, bringing in Blais on his round tripper.

The final two of the six flights came in the top of the fifth, with the two stars, Blais and Mitchell, once again connecting.

COWANSVILLE STOPPED BY TIGHT DEFENSE As for the Cowansville All-Stars, a full defensive effort on the part of their opponents stopped the hosts from gaining any ground. The experience of excellent coaching by each of their regular team instructors, as well as that of the All-Stars pilots, was shown by keen, fast-moving plays that halted Cowansville in their tracks.

The lone tally by Cowansville was allowed on a wild throw from right field, after Sirois hit. The throw curved away from its plate destination, and allowed Scott to come in.

Comparison of pitching showed Dumas hurling a series of fast balls, that followed an excellent wind-up and delivery. The three pitchers used by Cowansville were Lafrance, Cloutier and Duval, all not being able to stop the slugers.

ALL PLAYERS SEE ACTION All members of the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville team saw the action both on the field and at the plate, with the exception of Paul Ducharme, who was injured earlier in the week. A foot wound, caused by a nail, kept this original starter on the mound from action.

With the next game in mind against St. Lambert, either Paul Ducharme or Dennis Dussault will be named to the hill facing another team of well-known calibre and strength.

Hearty handshakes and congratulations follow Sher-Lenn's win
