GRASSHOPPER CAMPAIGN LED TO A LIVELY EXCHANGE IN PARLIAMENT

Premier and Former Liberal Minister of Agriculture Engaged in Heated Argument During Discussion of Agricultural Estimates—Interest Centres on Sweepstakes Measures to Come Before House Next Week—Departmental Estimates Passed Rapidly.

Ottawa, May 19.—Not content with harassing the western farmer, the humble grasshopper has come eastward to cause a dispute in Parliament and all but precipitate a bitter east against west wrangle.

The hopper's leaps across the Prairies on his mission of destruction are no more lively than the witty sallies which passed across the floor of the House of Commons last night between Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Liberal Minister of Agriculture, and the poisoned bait used to combat the pest carried no more venom than some of the words exchanged.

Mr. Motherwell started off by condemning the Government for cutting down agriculture estimates when a vote for the administration of the Destructive Insect Pests Act was before the House. He accused the Government of doing nothing in the face of the worst grasshopper plague the country has ever had.

When the Prime Minister said the statements were "wholly incorrect," Mr. Motherwell told him to "get up and say something about them." "This vote has to do with the investigation of pests, but it has nothing to do with the honorable gentleman," said Mr. Bennett.

He explained the Dominion Government had met every request made by the provinces for assistance in fighting the grasshoppers. Action was taken last fall, poison was provided, and the farmers were exhorted by an intensive propaganda campaign to join in the fight.

"Propaganda won't kill grasshoppers," said Mr. Motherwell. "You have to give them the dose." The Prime Minister recalled all the assistance which had been given the western provinces and said the speeches of Mr. Motherwell and other western members showed little gratitude for what Eastern Canada had done.

Nova Scotia had grasshoppers forty years ago and they did not come to the Dominion Government for help to kill them, put in Col. Thomas Catley, Conservative, Pictou.

The clash subsided almost as quickly as it arose. Apart from this skirmish the House was in an agreeable mood and voted large sums of money in estimates for a number of departments. The Labor Department votes were all approved and numerous miscellaneous items came up.

Next Tuesday the House will stage its long-expected debate on sweepstakes. Party lines will be withdrawn for the occasion. Two lottery bills are on the order paper. One, already passed by the Senate, would authorize lotteries for the aid of hospitals; and the other, recently introduced, would authorize them for educational and charitable purposes generally. Both contemplate the approval and regulation of the lotteries by provincial governments.

The House agriculture committee heard Sidney T. Smith, Winnipeg grain exporter, say the grain trade was divided on the question of separate grading for Garnet wheat. Dr. L. H. Newman, Dominion cerealist, declared Garnet wheat would soon pass out of existence as new super-varieties of wheat would take its place.

E. A. Weir, Montreal, former director of programmes for the Canadian Radio Commission, charged before the House radio committee that he had been wrongly dismissed and suggested the present Commission be abolished and replaced by a board of five who would act without remuneration.

The House mass buying committee heard Earl M. Grose, Toronto fertilizer manufacturer, say that the Eastern Canada Fertilizer Association exacted exorbitant prices from farmers in parts of Ontario. H. W. Hunt, Brighton, Ontario, told the committee that tomato crops could not be produced at the prices paid by canners.

COMMONS WILL OBSERVE VICTORIA DAY HOLIDAY

Ottawa, May 19.—The House of Commons will not sit on Victoria Day, which falls on Thursday, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett announced last night. A motion to this effect will be placed on the order paper of the House on Monday.

GLANDERS EPIDEMIC IS REVIEWED BY MINISTER

Ottawa, May 19.—The recent outbreak of glanders among horses in the Eastern Townships was discussed in the House of Commons yesterday when Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, replied to queries on the subject of S. W. Jacobs, Liberal, Carleton Place.

Traces of this disease appeared on November 18, 1933, in three horses imported by G. C. Tillotson, Coaticook, said Mr. Weir. They gave "suspicious reaction." They had been transported three hundred miles by truck to Coaticook. On November 18th these horses were refested, two reacted and were slaughtered without compensation, in accordance with the regulations. A week later five other horses in the same stable reacted and were slaughtered.

"On November 29th," continued the minister, "three horses also reacted on this owner's farm, so that the outbreak did not originate from the imported horses."

"Subsequently it has been found that this outbreak is a most certainly a carry-over from an outbreak dealt with three years ago in the Knowlton district. The disease

QUEBEC CHALLENGES RIGHT OF OTTAWA TO IMPOSE TAX

Test Case Will Decide Whether Dominion Has Authority to Collect Tax on Long Distance Telephone Calls.

Quebec, May 19.—Right of the Dominion Government to collect a tax of five per cent. on long distance telephone calls made by the Quebec Government is being challenged in the Superior Court here in a test action which began yesterday by which the Bell Telephone Company of Canada seeks to collect $1,380 from the Quebec Government for tax on long distance calls from March 1933 to March, 1934.

Mr. Justice Alfred Prevost took the case under advisement. The Dominion government did not intervene in the present hearing which, no matter how it ends is expected by counsel eventually to reach higher tribunals.

SUPREME COURT TARIFF RULING EXPECTED SOON

Prime Minister Informed House of Commons Last Night that Court Decision on Powers of Tariff Board Expected in Two or Three Weeks.

Ottawa, May 19.—The decision of the Supreme Court of Canada on the powers of the Tariff Board is expected in two or three weeks, the Prime Minister stated in the House of Commons last night.

To determine the powers of the board following its decision in the Jute twine case, a reference was made by the Governor-in-Council to the Court a couple of months ago. The ruling of the board was a "dump" duty could not be collected by the Department of National Revenue on jute twine from the United Kingdom entering under the British preferential tariff agreement.

An item of $120,000 for salaries and expenses of the board was approved. But it was Justice, not Pasha, that was at fault all the time.

Pasha was in jail, convicted of a robbery he didn't commit. A troubled conscience—the conscience of the man who implicated him—brought him freedom.

A second jury reversed the decision of the first.

CATHOLIC CHURCH CLASHES AGAIN WITH NAZI REGIME

Trouble Breaks Out Anew Over Vetoing Permit to Bishop of Berlin to Conduct Whitsuntide Mass.

Berlin, May 19.—Trouble broke out anew today between the Roman Catholic Church and the Nazi regime.

Vetoing a permit already given by the Nazi government to Bishop of Berlin, to conduct a Roman Catholic Whitsuntide mass on Monday, authorities announced he could not speak.

An offer to let a substitute priest read Bishop Bares' sermon was indignantly rejected by Catholic churchmen.

Bishop Bares, who assumed his office only three months ago, bitterly denounced in a sermon recent Nazi publications stressing racial theories.

He called them the "propaganda of Satan."

UNUSUAL CASE BEFORE COURT AT MONTREAL

Prisoner Pleaded Guilty to Charge Bearing Maximum Sentence of Life Imprisonment and Walked Out of Court a Free Man.

Montreal, May 19.—"With fear and trembling hope" last the judge change his mind, James Owens yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge bearing a maximum penalty of life imprisonment—and walked out of court a free man.

It was an odd case.

Owens was arraigned in the Court of King's Bench on a charge of attempting to murder Police Sergeant Jerry O'Neill. Last Tuesday he appeared for trial. Harry Budyk, K.C., defence counsel, told Mr. Justice C. A. Wilson that the Crown had agreed to reduce the charge from attempted murder to "pointing a firearm" at an officer, which carries a maximum penalty of thirty days in jail. As Owens has already been in jail ninety days following his arrest, his counsel asked he be released at once. Sentence was reserved for a few days, however.

Today he appeared for sentence. But there was a hitch. Mr. Justice Wilson stated sentence of thirty days could only be imposed in the case "on summary conviction." The Court of King's Bench is not a court of summary conviction.

Today Godin, clerk of the court, had an inspiration. Why not restore the original charge of attempted murder and allow the accused to plead guilty? On the understanding, of course, that the sentence of "time in jail" would be imposed.

Defence agreed, with perhaps a little quivering of the knees in case the bench changed its mind. The original indictment was read. Owens pleaded guilty, was ordered to keep the peace for twelve months and went free.

DISASTER ONCE AGAIN MENACES SAITO CABINET

Japanese Political Gossips Busy Preparing New Line-ups Following Disclosure of Irregularities by Under-minister.

Tokyo, May 19.—The oft-told tale of political disaster—unworthy subordinates betraying a leader's trust—seemed about to unfold again today on the Japanese political stage.

Hideo Kuroda, vice minister of Finance, was arrested on charges of corrupt financial practices and the development was regarded as a serious blow to the Saito cabinet.

Although nobody hints that Premier Saito or other members of the cabinet are implicated personally in the Kuroda scandal, it is generally admitted that the ministry has suffered.

The aged Premier presented a heroic front to the pack circling for the political kill, denying the situation demanded the cabinet's resignation, but foes already are discussing new cabinet lists.

Vernacular newspapers described Vice-minister Kuroda, Takahashi, Minister of Finance, and hence Kuroda's chief, as disheartened by today's disclosures and ready to resign.

Many political writers predicted his resignation would lead to the resignation of the cabinet as a whole.

Specifically, Kuroda was charged with having been involved in alleged irregularities in the administration of the semi-official bank of Formosa, and affairs of the Imperial Rayon Company.

Ten financiers had been indicted before the law reached into official circles for Kuroda.

BRITAIN TO DOUBLE AIR FORCE IF ARMS PARLEY PROVES A FAILURE

London Newspapers See in Statement of Stanley Baldwin a Determination to Advance Great Britain from Fifth to First Place as Air Power—Immense Amount of Detailed Work Has Already Been Accomplished and Plants Are Available for Rapid Production of Craft.

London, May 19.—London newspapers today expressed the view that the United Kingdom is preparing to double the size of its air force and lift itself from fifth to first world air power.

Consensus of the morning press was that a statement yesterday by Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, that the breakdown of the World Disarmament Conference would launch Britain on a campaign to bring its air forces to a parity of that belonging to any other nation within striking distance, meant a vigorous building programme.

Already, the papers said, an immense amount of detailed work has been accomplished. Airport sites have been surveyed and tentative plans to increase facilities for training pilots.

They added, ample facilities existed for turning out machines owing to the up-to-date condition of aeroplane and automobile factories.

Some said supplementary estimates to cover the cost of such operations had been drafted by the government.

Meanwhile reports were current that British plans to submit an air convention to the Disarmament Conference had been abandoned owing to the inability of cabinet members to agree to such a course.

It was reported unofficially last Thursday that the government was considering an air convention that would prohibit aerial bombardment, but would oblige signatories to bomb any country violating the agreement.

No official reaction to these reports was available at once, but editorial writers speculated freely on the feeling of France, which has the world's biggest military air fleet, containing about 3,000 aircraft, compared with Britain's 1,400.

Meanwhile it was clear the government has no intention of subscribing to sanctions against Japan's alleged imperialist ventures in the Far East.

Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, told the House of Commons yesterday that Japan had informed the British Government of its intention to observe the Washington nine-power treaty. He made this statement in reply to an assertion of Sir Stafford Cripps, left wing Laborite, that Japan planned imperialistic activities in China.

CHINESE DEPLORE STAND TAKEN BY GREAT BRITAIN

London, May 19.—Sir John Simon's declaration that Great Britain is not pledged to preserve the integrity of China "constitutes an open invitation to Japanese militarists to bite off another chunk of China," an official in the Chinese Legation said today.

Agreeing with Sir Stafford Cripps' assertion that "Japan is converting Manchuria and Jehol into a vast military base," the official told the Associated Press:

"China now is in the direst danger as a result of Great Britain's statement of policy," as enunciated by Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, before the House of Commons.

"It looks," the official said, "as though Great Britain is moving in the direction of an ally of Japan to counterbalance the Russo-American rapprochement. However, the Chinese hope this really is not true, for Britain should line up with the United States and thus hold the balance of power against Japan."

Unless this is done, Japan will continue her aggression in China," Sir John spoke yesterday after Sir Stafford Cripps, former Laborite Minister, had charged that Japan is "pushing her imperialistic expansion into North China for the purpose of creating Manchukuo number two."

The high Chinese official termed Sir John's remarks "most unfortunate."

"They will delight the militarists in Tokyo, who will take advantage of the opportunity to advance further into North China—knowing Englishmen stand back."

"The Foreign Secretary always is talking about the rights of other powers in China and forgets the obligations of Britain and others under the treaties."

JAPAN PLANNING INCREASE IN COASTAL AIR DEFENCES

Tokyo, May 19.—Japan plans to strengthen its air defenses along coast lines near Siberia, it was learned authoritatively today.

It was understood the government's plans call for establishment of air squadrons at the Meizuru navy base, Western Honshu and the Chinkai Base, Southern Korea.

The navy's aviation programme is designed to provide a total of thirty-nine squadrons before the end of March, 1937.

RANKS OF GIRL GUIDES SHOW A BIG INCREASE

3,694 New Members Reported at Annual Meeting and Commissioners' Conference at Toronto — Active Membership Now 45,576.

Toronto, May 19.—Emphasizing the objectives "to keep young minds sharpened, young hearts confident and the sense of achievement alive," the annual meeting and commissioners' conference of the Canadian Council, Girl Guides' Association, was opened here yesterday. Mrs. H. D. Warren presided as Chief Commissioner for Canada. Reports of the commissioners of various provinces were a feature of the day's business.

"Girl Guiding is a training, for the right use of leisure time," the headquarters annual report pointed out. Its working principle is to encourage the girl to educate herself instead of receiving instruction. We cannot foresee the world of tomorrow, but we believe that the girl who is being trained as a Guide to meet the leisure possibilities and responsibilities of the future.

The value of Guide training is receiving wider recognition by educational and religious authorities and the blue Guide uniform is becoming generally known in Canada as the symbol of an inspiring game of comradeship and service for girls of all races and creeds," said the headquarters summary.

Miss E. A. Reupert, general secretary, reported a net increase in membership of 3,694. The total active membership on April 1 was 42,882, with 1,876 companies and 1,876 units distributed in 692 communities—cities, towns and villages—across Canada, an increase of 73 communities over last year's reports.

As a result of the training tour of Miss K. M. Wilson, Imperial headquarters trainer, marked advancement had been made in the training of Guides throughout the large centres as well as outlying districts. The report stated that General expansion had also been greatly encouraged during the year by the field service made available through the work of the Dominion field secretary, Miss Kathleen McMahon. During the year Miss McMahon travelled many thousands of miles in eight provinces and 142 districts, organizing and training Guides, bringing fresh interest to isolated companies, and a wider knowledge of Guiding to the general public in new districts.

LUMBER CAMP COMMISSION IS NAMED BY GOVERNMENT

Quebec, May 19.—Paul J. J. Concas, of Quebec City, and Walter W. McCaffrey, of Montreal, will compose the new government commission which will study working conditions in lumber camps, according to an Order-in-Council signed by Lieutenant-Governor Hon. E. L. Patenaude yesterday. Mr. Concas will be chairman of the commission.

An Order-in-Council providing for the appointment of Paul Rochette, local lawyer, to be a deputy prothonotary of the Quebec district, was also signed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

CONFISCATION OF AUTOMOBILE IS CONTESTED
Mrs. Blanche St. Dizier, of Massawippi, Endeavoring to Recover Car Seized by Quebec Liquor Commission when Her Son Was Arrested on Liquor Charge.

The seizure of a $2,500 car by the Quebec Liquor Commission was contested in the Magistrate's Court before Judge J. S. Couture this morning by Mrs. Blanche St. Dizier, of Massawippi, whose son, Conroy, is charged with selling liquor without a permit. The automobile, which was in Conroy St. Dizier's possession at the time it was seized, is the property of Mrs. St. Dizier, and for that reason is exempted from confiscation. Antonio Drolet, counsel for the St. Dizier family, claimed:

St. Dizier was trapped into selling alcohol to an informer at a dance at East Hatley on the night of April 27th last when he was handed marked bills which were later found upon his person, stated High Constable Louis A. Gaudreau, testifying this morning when the twenty-four-year-old accused stood trial on the liquor charge.

St. Dizier, according to the police officer, delivered a bottle of liquor to the informer, and when he was arrested admitted that he had a quantity of liquor in his automobile, which was parked outside the dance hall. Conroy was taken to Sherbrooke, where he made a full admission of the offence, the constables stated.

Cesaire Gervais, counsel for the Quebec Liquor Commission, asked Constable Gaudreau if Conroy had said anything about the car or where he had his liquor.

Constable Gaudreau said: "He admitted, after being placed on the guard, that he had sold liquor to the informer. But he did not say anything about the car—that is as far as I remember. At the dance, however, he told me that he had some liquor in the automobile."

GRASSHOPPER CAMPAIGN LED TO A LIVELY EX- CHANGE IN PARLIAMENT

Blind, more important work, had been decreased? demanded Hon. Charles Stewart, Liberal member for Edmonton West. The work of the abolished child welfare division of the Department of Pensions and National Health should be in charge of a doctor, protested J. K. Blair, Liberal, Wellington North. It should not be put in charge of a graduate of Queen's University.

The arrangement made by the Minister of National Health contemplated an extension of the services through the voluntary efforts of the organization known as the Canadian Council of Child and Family Welfare. Prime Minister Bennett told the House.

The Canadian Council had been operating to some extent through the voluntary efforts of individuals with money supplied by insurance companies and others interested in the welfare of the people.

Their devotion to child welfare of substantial sums of money by this institution had induced the minister to unite its efforts and the child welfare branch of the department. The increased amount was the result. It was an experiment to co-ordinate efforts of the state which were largely within the jurisdiction of the provinces.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY HELD IN BIRCHTON HALL

All Parts of Compton County Represented at Birchton Conference—Splendid Supper and Entertainment Presented at Birchton—Other Items from District.

Birchton, May 19.—Most encouraging was the interest manifested by the splendid attendance at the sessions of the Interdenominational Sunday School convention held here on Monday. Two sessions were held. The afternoon session was devoted primarily to Sunday School work, its problems and its aims. Reports were given from Stawville, Gould, Bury, Cookshire, Sawyerville, Birchton and Bulwer. Discussion arising out of points raised in the reports proved immensely valuable and helpful. A demonstration worship service, using the junior classes was conducted by Miss Dossy, children's work secretary from Montreal. Rev. D. I. Forsyth, general secretary for the Province delivered an inspirational address on the "Second Mile" in Sunday School work.

A keen interest was manifested by the eager participation in group discussions dealing with the Sunday School departmental work. Of particular interest here was the determination to form a local organization to be known as the Sunday School Association of Compton County for the purpose of furthering leadership, training and other Sunday School work by more frequently meeting together. Mr. A. E. Pratt, of Cookshire, was elected president, and Mr. C. E. Hetherington, of Cookshire, secretary, with one representative from each Sunday School assisting these officers, comprising the executive committee.

About fifty delegates sat down to supper served in the Birchton hall and provided by the ladies of Birchton, Bulwer and Eaton. A half-hour sing-song and group fellowship led by Mr. Forsyth followed the supper. The evening session was taken up entirely with young people's work. About one hundred and fifty representatives from young people's societies in the surrounding territory attended the meeting. Bulwer Y.P.S. conducted the opening service. Miss Dossy addressed the gathering on "Challenging Youth to Christian Leadership." Again Rev. D. I. Forsyth was heard from. He took for his subject, "A Daring Christian." He held out a direct challenge to youth to overcome fear and cowardice and courageously accept the leadership of the Master of men, Jesus Christ.

ALD SUPPER WELL ATTENDED

The Ald supper, which was held in the hall, was well attended and as usual a delicious supper was served by the members. Mrs. F. A. Hodge being responsible for the supper and entertainment. Sketches were given of the number of countries by the following ladies, who had given much thought and study to make the entertainment a success.

"Canada," taken by Mrs. George Picard; tableau, "Peace and Liberty," were represented by Miss Helen Picard and Miss Caswell and "Soldier Boy," by Howard Picard, while the band played, "O Canada," and "The Maple Leaf Forever."

"China," taken by Mrs. Bunt, consisted of a short dialogue and a recitation. The parts were taken by Grant Taylor and Gerald Warburton, who acted the part of a Chinaman and whose costume was very good.

"England" was taken by Mrs. Leo Williams, who presented a tableau, "Soldier, Sailor and the Queen," while male voices sang, "Rule Britannia" and "God Save the King." The parts were taken by Gordon Kirkley, Freda Taylor and Muriel Coates.

"Ireland" was taken by Mrs. Charles Lefebvre. Mrs. Lewis Seveigny was gowned in a green costume and very sweetly sang, "My Wild Irish Rose."

Far Japan was taken by Mrs. Chaucery Simons, the stage being decorated with lanterns and Japanese umbrellas and cushions. She was assisted by Miss Jean Richardson and little Miss Madeline Picard. All three ladies were dressed in colorful costumes. Mrs. Simons gave a very interesting paper on Japan and its missionaries, followed by a recitation by Madeline Picard and song, "The Japanese Sand Man," sung by Mrs. Simons, Miss Richardson and Madeline Picard.

purse and counts money, whereupon the dentist informs the patient it is not necessary to pay him in advance, but patient being Scotch says, "I donna want to pay now, but was just making sure how much money I had before you put me to sleep."

The United States was taken by Mrs. Lewis Seveigny, Mr. George Picard, dressed as Uncle Sam, was accompanied by a quartet and they sang songs of the following states: Alabama, Missouri, Carolina, Ohio, Michigan, Tennessee, Maine, United States followed by the National Anthem. Uncle Sam's helpers were: Helen Picard, Mrs. Seveigny and Henry Jones.

Mrs. Fred Hodge, Holland, took as her scene a Dutch mill which was erected for the stage. A paper on Holland was read by Mrs. Hodge, after a song by Miss Audrey Hodgman, as Dutch girl, and Miss Jean Taylor, as Dutch boy. Little Miss Seveigny and Bobby Rash, dressed as little Dutch children, came in when the final chorus was given, "A Leak in the Dyke," was recited by Miss Rena Rash, followed by a male quartet. Messrs. George Picard, E. E. Taylor, Jerry Jones and Fred Hodge sang, Holland's national anthem.

The band was also in attendance and furnished very suitable music, which was enjoyed while waiting the conclusion of supper. The singing of the National Anthem brought a most successful entertainment to a close. The ladies are to be congratulated for the evening's entertainment, each country being so well represented.

NOVEL CONCERT AT SCOTSTOWN WAS ENJOYED

Unique and Entertaining Musical Programme Presented to Large Audience by T. Macduff Copeland and His Son—Selections Included Many Favorite Numbers.

Scotstown, May 19.—It is seldom an audience is treated to such an entertaining programme as the one staged by T. Macduff Copeland and his son, Kenneth Duff, before a large audience of local citizens. The visit of father and son was the first appearance of these entertainers this season following a very successful tour of Newfoundland and Nova Scotia. The vigorous applause of the audience was a tribute to the ability of the two artists.

A host in himself, a Scot who has acquired the art of public entertainment, using clean humor and many quips which create laughter, Mr. Copeland revealed his ability to play many musical instruments, including the bagpipes. In the characteristic music of the pipes, Mr. Copeland offered, among other selections, the world-famous "The Cock of the North" which was played by Piper Findlater at the heights of Dargach.

Kenneth Duff showed the mastery of the violin he had gained through his training in London and many years in orchestral music through the English provinces. As much at home in the simpler numbers as in the more difficult, classical selections, the two artists played "Flora MacDonald's Lament," the delight of all music lovers, and the "Skye Boat Song," written to commemorate the departure of Prince Charlie from his native Scotland, a number which is always an appealing favorite with Scotch audiences.

The younger artist's solos included a setting of "Killarney," Handel's "Largo" and a Hungarian dance by Brahms. His outstanding selection, however, was a masterful presentation of the Third Movement of Mendelssohn's "Concerto."

"The Road Back," a comedy drama in three acts, given by the Hatley Dramatic Club, attracted a full house. The audience was not slow in demonstrating its approval and enjoyment of the several amusing situations which developed. Webster who are no novices in this art, were ably assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McClary, Mrs. H. H. Brown, Mrs. H. Yertaw, Miss L. At last "Ma" Foster is made to see her duty clearly, and that it consists in more than reading silly love stories and eating candy. This enjoyable event was opened by choice musical selections by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Johnston and Mr. Barrington Dustin, of Ayer's Cliff, who were ably assisted by Miss Pauline Taylor and Mr. Alexander Morris of Hatley, who have been guests at the Johnston home on School street for a short period.

HARKING BACK TO ERRORS OF THE PAST.

Selected to drop the guillotine on Hon. Arthur Meighen as Conservative leader at the Winnipeg Convention in 1927, the Hon. Howard Ferguson was rewarded with the High Commissionership in London, England, a post with salary and perquisites of around $42,000 a year.

Efficient in 1927, the dethronement campaign against Mr. Meighen was a matter of intrigue for several years before, for the Conservatives decided in 1923 that he was an "Old Man of the Sea," particularly as far as the Province of Quebec was concerned.

There had been no party convention, no ratification of the selection of Meighen as Conservative leader when Prime Minister Borden dropped out in 1920. The logical successor to Sir Robert was Sir Thomas White, one of the ablest men to ever hold a Cabinet position at Ottawa. But the stress of the war years had for a time threatened Sir Thomas with a breakdown, and he wisely took a long rest. Since 1930, and until 1934, Mr. Bennett has kept his string of Ministers in leash. Few people could mention five out of the score without stopping to think hard. That is not right, nor is it fair. Team play was necessary, and still is.

When the Prime Minister goes away on an enforced voyage he should hand the reins over to a possible successor, and give him a spot in the camera. Sir George Perley has no ambition to be either Premier or Leader. He is ever content to be Advisor.

Ontario, the largest province, has not provided Canada with a Prime Minister since Sir John's time.

Mr. Bennett is like Mr. Meighen in that they are both Eastern born and Western bred.

It would appear to the man looking on as though Mr. Bennett will be swamped in his deluge of promises, the majority of which were unnecessarily superfluous. The newspapers had won his election for him long before the first candidate was nominated in 1930.

Many Liberals would like to get rid of their Leader. Mackenzie King has become a hybrid, born in Ontario and trying to be a Saskatchewan without living in the West. Hence, a straddler. His sing-song platform delivery has grown distasteful. Yet it would appear that he will again lead the Liberals in June, 1935.

Mr. Bennett was raised from privacy to primacy in 1927 at the largest official party convention ever held in Canada. But for three years previous to that date the influential wings of the party had been quietly seeking a possible leader, and had been sending men from Coast to Coast as pussy-footing reporters on this man and that.

At the convention in Winnipeg six names were presented on the first ballot. Yet not one of the six can be called a possibility to-day as a successor to Mr. Bennett.

Drayton and Manion are the only two of the six left who are of any consequence. Drayton has been forced out on the sidelines, and in his Coast-to-Coast campaign on public economy he failed to catch the public eye or to build up any prestige. He was trying to drive home the need for cutting in half the cost of government in Canada, but he failed to strengthen or to deepen the impression which the Sherbrooke Record had already made.

Younger men are needed in public service. Yet the young men hold back, lest some hardened old sinner should reprove them with their strength—YOUTH.

A political party without a good leader and many aspiring lieutenants is mighty poor indeed. Look back and see what happened in 1896 when the old Chieflain was removed. They had to fall back on a lot of worn-out balloons.

PLAIN LANGUAGE FOR THE POLITICIANS.

"Reaping the whirlwind" may well express the predicament of the Government in the covert charge that knowledge of changes in the Excise Tax had leaked out among some of the tobacco and cigarette manufacturers.

It may not be true. Gossip credited it in the long since.

Proof may not be forthcoming, for the political ferrets are fertile and devious in their ways. They graduate into what we know as parliamentary lobbyists.

There is record of parliamentary members who, defeated in their constituencies, make their home in Ottawa and legally make a good living in lobbying, because in ordinary parlance "they know the ropes."

But in sowing the wind but a year ago the Government did lay itself open to even the dark hints and the injurious implications. We refer to the tax on sugar, which was perhaps the most foolish conception of any finance minister. Even the Hindu tax on salt is not any worse, nor any more disturbing.

When the tax on sugar was declared in the budget of 1933 it was disclosed that there was not a car-load of sugar in any one of the wholesale warehouses. The information of such a tax about to be imposed had "leaked."

We called, we shouted, we reiterated the need for an investigation, knowing that it would do much harm to an upright administration if the truth were not laid bare.

None was made. No public inquiry. No research. No investigation.

For myself I do not believe that there was any man in the department responsible. For the Departments of both Finance and Income have men of the highest calibre.

But the "blot" of suspicion was not removed on that syrupy leak. It should have been. It could have been. It was a tactical blunder.

Worse still, the repentance on the sugar tax was only half-penitent. It should have been wiped out utterly, for sugar is not a luxury more than is salt.

There can be no partizan gloating about such investigations, for close researches are made for information and correction.

The Liberals of Ontario are throwing away their chances with even more crass stupidity.

After the Beauchamp disclosures, which were founded on the case of a lobbyist who lost his head and ran riot with contributions to campaign funds, there were Ontario Liberals under the leadership of Senator Hardy, who conceived the idea that some of the guilty ones could be "cleaned" by a little banquet at Toronto.

The Senator invited his selections, and included in his invitations the then leader of the Liberal Opposition in Ontario, W. E. N. Sinclair. Much to his chagrin Mr. Sinclair flatly refused to attend the banquet and mingle with the bribers. Campaign collectors are a necessity under our present political system just as much as was Judas Iscariot in acting as a provider for the Disciples. But even to-day you do not wish to break bread or hold wassail with the collectors who waste the silver or who give away other people's money.

Mr. Sinclair kept his skirts clean as a Leader, but he was replaced soon after by one of the Ottawa crowd who had become converted to the idea that one cannot win elections by logic or by prayers. The Oshawa lawyer was dethroned for another, a provocative little bunch of loquacity from the Western peninsula of Ontario. Against Sinclair are the old-timers who still believe in the antiquated methods of using cheap alcohol and bosky broths as adjuncts to partizan conversion.

There may be a place in this world for a male person who can win the spider-leg pugilist championship of the ward, but a rabid partizan can never be a statesman, nor can any man lacking high ideals be of value to his country.

Sinclair stood fast for the ideals of public life, refused to eat, drink and be merry with the lobbyists in order to re-condition them for political society, and these old-timers of the Hardy-Stratton-Gamey type declared against him a vendetta hoping that folks would forget why he was knifed.

Premier Henry has made many tactical blunders within two years, but Mr. Sinclair's successor has matched everyone of them with a worse one.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

So long as the London and Manchester newspapers get Canadian news from the Associated Press and accept this news in the formation of Canadian public opinion will both Canada and the United Kingdom be at variance in true understanding. We do not advocate a silly censorship such as we had during wartime, but there should be a more acute interpretation of news and views on both side of the ocean.

Mr. Wood writes: "Would you tell my many farmer friends that whilst I am away recuperating and sending you but desultory notes, that they can use my office as a parking place for anything and everything in the way of parcels. No tips; no thanks; as we say it in Yorkshire, Nought!"

What Is Discipline?

W. P. Percival, M.A., Ph.D.

"Restraint and discipline, examples of virtue and of justice, these are what form the education of the world."—Burke.

Discipline has long been closely associated with punishment. In fact, the two words are frequently regarded as interchangeable. The term disciplinarian is generally associated with a stern master; one who will punish with little provocation. A disciplinarian of this type may be a parent, a teacher, or any other person having position and power.

Discipline has also been closely linked with silence. A well-disciplined child has been conceived to be one who never speaks until he is spoken to. Likewise a well-disciplined school has been believed to be one in which silence almost always reigned. Stillness is also frequently thought of in this connection. In fact a favourite old-fashioned method of securing order was to make the pupils cease work, fold their arms behind their backs, sit straight and stiff, and with heads backward and chests forward and remain perfectly still until all could hear the click of the pin when the master dramatically let it fall. If this sound could be heard plainly the trick had been successful and order was secured. An alternative method was to have the children ring of the clock could be heard. If the desired result could be obtained by either device the strain on the master's nerves was relieved and bedlam could be let loose again until the next occasion arose for a reiteration of the operation.

Sometimes severe means were used to bring an unruly boy or class to order. Threats of bodily harm were frequent. When these were not sufficient the irate masters would show that they were as good as their word. Jones Minor would be summoned to the front and given a sound thrashing "to serve as an example to the others." If the excited teacher could not restrain himself until the offender made his way from his bench, a heavy hand would drag him out by the scruff of the neck. So frequently was this idea of school linked to that of punishment that the seal granted to a grammar school with the letters patent of Edward VI represents a pedagogue in the act of flogging a child. The rod was the emblem of discipline and authority.

Such ideas of discipline have relation to taboo and tribal custom. They are not the conceptions of present-day thoughtful people. They are merely repressive. They are inclined to lead to the opposite of that which is intended. Satisfactory conduct can never be established upon these bases. It may be that very young children who do not understand should be coerced where their personal safety and that of others is concerned. But once they know the meaning of language they should be taught to make decisions to direct their conduct in a manner which will be of the interest of their future welfare.

External repression as a means of disciplinary culture has persisted for far too long a time. Impositions by adults have been inflicted upon children until those who possess spunk have rebelled. They have undertaken to go their own way and do as they wish when adults are not looking. Many have done deeds that have brought them into conflict with the law. The discipline born of self-restraint was unknown to them. At the young age of eighteen and nineteen many of them have entered the criminal class. Recognizing the paucity of the advantages of such offenders there is little wonder that legal authorities have altered their attitude towards these offenders and that they turn a life sentence before pronouncing sentence. Not alone the adolescents who are dull but, more often, those who are full of vigour and energy have fallen into evil ways when the repressive influences were thrown off.

It is the business of modern homes and schools to instil in young people in self-discipline. They must be taught that by adequate adjustment to social living the individual derives the highest satisfaction and that those who do not conform to the laws of social life will reap spiritual, social and physical harm. This cannot be learned by repression, threats and punishments. Wielders of the rod are usually hated and despised. Advice from such lips falls upon sealed ears. It is difficult enough for people to listen to friendly counsel, but helpful suggestions from the loved and respected are frequently accepted and acted upon.

Adults must learn that it is long term discipline that counts as opposed to the petty corrections that are so uselessly haggled over. But they must realize what this involves before they can exemplify it. They must determine the principles they wish to inculcate and plan how they can best impart them. To administer bits of punishment that will meet a present situation is so much easier than to design a scheme of consistent and future training. Nevertheless wise mentors will explain to the young that it is not solely society in general that suffers from wrong doing but the culprits themselves, their families and their friends, and that an affronted world must, for its own protection, exact its penalty. Those who are unsocial in order to prevent a recurrence of misdeeds.

Excessive supervision must be avoided by those who would lead others to self-discipline. Demanding stillness and long periods of silence is attaching too much importance to trifles and giving a wrong emphasis to life. Parents and teachers who constantly oversee every action of the young lose their function as guides to conduct. It is far preferable for them to teach that everyone has duties to perform, some of which are pleasant and some unpleasant, but that honour demands that none shall be shirked and all must be faithfully accomplished for the mutual welfare.

A high type of discipline is to be found where everyone has learned to be intent upon some desirable activity. Earnest conversations may take place in such an atmosphere. A laugh may be heard on occasion, but it will be subdued if the class has caught the proper spirit. The least respect for the rights of others will have been required. Freedom will reign, but a freedom that is conditioned by the general weal. Children in such a school move about the classroom to help and receive help.

Mischief is found by the idle, not the busy hands. The instructor that can breathe the breath of life into a subject and make children desire to work at it has little difficulty with discipline. The student of nature study or the master who can expound the wonders of science will have attentive listeners that will freely and openly ask questions on the subject matter instead of surreptitiously writing notes to one another on irrelevant subjects. The artist that can stimulate a class to write poems or describe Saturday's adventures never has to think of external discipline.

Not the imposed discipline of an hour or a day is the important need but the production of an internal discipline that will be a rock of ages upon which a person can rely when storm and trials break over his head. Day after day, week in and week out, the tact, poise, patience and moral force of parent and teacher must be exerted in the production of well-balanced characters. Few children will form any good habit after one experience; nor after seven experiences. They must be helped until the seventy times seven of which the Master spoke.

The Inglenook

By G. Watt Smith, M.A., D.D.

Jean gave a sigh of relief as John threw another stick on the fire. The weather had been warm, but had turned chilly again. He said he was sure she would be pleased with the extra heat which the added fuel would provide.

"Oh, John, I was using that was thinking of something other than the warmth of the inglenook; I allow that it is very welcome and thankful I am that we have a good supply of the sticks left. But I was just looking at the Book and made it said in that part of it to which I turn more and more, the Psalms of David. I was using that big volume that our ladie sent to you last Christmas. It is hye ordinary that any one could hunt up all the verses that have one word in them. It says that the man who made it was named Cruden, and that he was a bit queer. I was trying to find out how often we get into the name of 'help' given to the Almighty. This has been a hard time for many. If ever I prayed to Him it has been during this past year, and the word that has been often on my lips has been God help those in trouble."

"And what did ye make of it all, Jean? Did ye get many words, or verses, to suit you? It so happens that I was talking to our elder on the way from the kirk last night, and he was speaking about the same thing. He gave me a lot of insight, he is well versed in the Scripture himself."

"Will you not tell me what the elder had to say then? You cannot expect a poor ignorant woman to be so wise as the like of you men or any matters, especially on such a question."

"Now Jean" John replied, "the time for the taffy is just over. I know fine if you are saying all that with a bit wink of your eye. But I can tell you that the elder told me that God is spoken of as a help in that very book of Psalms eleven times altogether. Some of them are how God helps folk when they are in despair. He told me that in the twenty-seventh Psalm David was in the most awful despair because he was afraid that God was hiding His face from him. In his agony he calls God his help. I could just see what that would be my help. It would be a sorry day for me if ever anything were to come between us two, after all the years if your turn'd your back upon me. I think that, whatever you think would happen to you were it the other way round. But the Almighty God is me to all of us, we can be to each other. It did make me feel something like a web of flannel round my heart when the elder said to me, 'John, in a time of despair God is my help, and He is our help too.'"

"But John, that is the Psalm where David says that he has a great liking to be much as I love in the House of the Lord. He even says that he would like to be there all the days of his life. The kirk is the kirk, and pleased I am to be able to go there every Sabbath day. But, keeps, to be there all the days of my life, I just could not ask that."

"Hoos Jean" said John, "You are slow of understanding. You know fine that if you have been in the kirk, and the singing has been good the prayer has been uplifting and the sermon has taken us just quite out of ourselves and given us a kind of a new vision of what the Saviour has done for us that it is so very full of delight that we could just wish that we could be in that state for ever. That is what David means, and then when he has to go away out to face a hard world, with lots of bad men, and a bunch of bad women in it, he loses the happy feeling, and thinks God had hidden His face from him. He cries to God to be his help."

"Well, John," she said, "I must say that the elder is a very good hand at making the Book useful to the likes of me. But there is another place I was reading. It says 'Thou has been my help and in the shadow of thy wings will I rejoice.' There is no despair there. I just think what a blessing we have, when we can lay our head on our pillow and know that there is some-

THREE AND FOUR-CORNERED BATTLES IN SASKATCHEWAN

Liberals and Farmer-Labor Groups Prepared for Coming Elections with as Many Candidates in the Field Each as Conservative Forces.

Regina, May 19.—Saskatchewan today was buried in political campaigning with three organizations driving hard for power in the new Legislature to be elected on June 19 when Ontario voters too will go to the polls.

Announcement yesterday by Premier J. T. M. Anderson that nominations would take place on June 12, and elections a week later, found the Opposition Liberals and Farmer-Labor C.C.F. party with as many candidates in the field each as the Conservative Government forces.

Less than half a dozen nominating conventions remain to be held by the three parties with possibility of a few constituencies only to see the straight fights. The possible straight fights may develop in Humboldt, Moose Jaw County and Pelly, but in all other constituencies there will be three and four-cornered battles.

ACADIA UNIVERSITY WILL HONOR TWO NOTED FIGURES

Portraits of Sir Robert Borden, Canada's War-time Prime Minister, and Dr. I. B. Oakes, Oldest Living Graduate of Acadia, Will Be Unveiled.

Wolfville, N.S., May 19.—Portraits of Sir Robert Borden, Canada's war-time Prime Minister, and Dr. I. B. Oakes, of Wolfville, oldest living graduate of Acadia University, will be unveiled at the annual convocation of the university here next Wednesday.

Both paintings were done especially for Acadia by John MacGillivray, of Halifax. Sir Robert, now residing in Ottawa, is a native of King's County. Dr. Oakes was principal of Horton Academy for eleven years and has been a member and secretary of the Acadia Board of Governors for many years.

HOUE WOULD RESORT TO LOTTERY TO RAISE MONEY

Montreal's Mayor Scanning Municipal Horizon in Hopes of Finding Some Immediate Source of Revenue for Metropolis.

Montreal, May 19.—There would be no more deficits and sinking debt payment terms could probably be shortened from forty to twenty years if Montreal was given permission to run a lottery, Mayor Camille Houde told a local service club.

The necessity of finding new sources of revenue for the city was urgent, he said. Instead of imposing new taxes he thought it would be infinitely preferable to get money from those willing to spend it on lottery subscriptions.

"Of course," he added "if the lottery worked too well and we got too much money out of it, I suppose we would be asked to divide it with someone else."

HUDSON BAY INSURANCE PREMIUM TO BE REDUCED

Joint Hull Committee Advises Reduction of Ten Per Cent. Owing to Improvement in Navigation Aids.

Ottawa, May 19.—The rate of additional premium charged on vessels using the Hudson Bay route will be reduced by ten per cent. on the insured value of the insured value if a recommendation made by the joint hull committee of the Imperial Shipping Committee is accepted.

In the report of the Imperial Shipping Committee, tabled last night in the House of Commons by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, its members state: "We are glad to report that the joint hull committee having in mind the experience obtained and the improvement of conditions achieved by the Canadian Government, have recommended a reduction of ten shillings per cent. on the insured value in the rates of additional premium charged for suspension of warranty on the Hudson Bay route. This reduction is in respect to vessels fitted with a gyro compass and of vessels not so fitted." Vessels fitted with a gyro compass already enjoy a reduction of ten per cent. which will be maintained.

DOUBT STORY WOMAN DIED FROM A FALL DOWNSTAIRS

New York, May 19.—Alexander Cross, a taxicab driver, walked to the home of a neighbor, said "My wife is dead," went home again.

The neighbor called a policeman who went to the Cross home and found Mrs. Margaret Cross, forty-two years old, dead in the living room, her body covered with bruises.

Cross told the police his wife had been dead for a week after falling down stairs last Wednesday. Since then he had not left the house.

Dr. Howard Neil, assistant medical examiner, said the bruises could not have been suffered in a fall. So the questioning of Cross continued. No charge was placed against him.

thing that protects us when we do not know that we are alive. We are just as cozy as a barn in its mother's arms."

"That is so," said John. "But it is even better to think that when you go out in the morning, among all the dangers to body and soul, meeting folk of all kinds that you have no cause for fear."

CONTROL OF COMMON POULTRY DISEASES

With the approach of warm weather, when young stock is moved to range, the most serious of all problems with which the poultryman has to contend is disease. As a rule most flocks of chickens are kept under sanitary conditions while in the brooder house and receive excellent care. When removed to the range, however, many breeders seem to feel that their troubles are over and that danger of serious disease infection is past. As a matter of fact, at this stage exceptional care must be observed as disease will spread rapidly and frequently serious losses will result from not observing some apparently minor details in the proper care of the stock.

Disease, as a general rule, is introduced to the young stock through the use of water pails, feeders and litter carried from the laying pens on the attendant's shoes. Therefore all equipment should be thoroughly washed and disinfected before being used in connection with the feeding of chicks. Furthermore, the attendant should either change shoes when going from laying pens and established runs to the chick range or keep a pair of rubbers to wear only when attending the chicks.

The more common diseases that cause heavy mortality at this time of the year are: intestinal parasites, gapes and sour-crop.

Birds affected with intestinal parasites are pale, thin in flesh, usually lame and sometimes blind. Round worms or tape worms may be found in the digestive tract. Pin worms, if found in small numbers in the caeca, do no particular harm.

For treatment of round worms, feed two pounds of tobacco dust for each hundred pounds of dry mash for thirty days. For a quick treatment, use warm water and steep one pound of tobacco and mix in a wet mash for two hundred birds. Omit night and morning feeding for the flock, and give the above at about ten or eleven a.m. The same evening give epsom salts in a wet mash at the rate of one pound to each two hundred chicks. Keep the chicks confined during the treatment and clean all buildings thoroughly early the following morning to prevent reinfection.

One teaspoonful of concentrated lye to two quarts of mixed wheat or corn should be used for the treatment of tape worms. Cover with an equal quantity of water and boil for an hour. Feed with starvation treatment and follow with salts, as advised above for tobacco. Clean up thoroughly.

If both round and tape worms are present, use one quart of rectified pure gum spirits of turpentine with two quarts of extra heavy white mineral oil. This will be sufficient for two hundred pounds of scratch grain. Mix thoroughly and let stand for twelve hours, then mix again before feeding. This should be given for entire evening feeding, every fourth evening for twelve days, or four treatments in all. This may be repeated, if necessary, after three weeks.

With gapes, chickens appear weak and drowsy, with drooping wings. Hold the chickens up in the sun and look down its windpipe. If gape worms are there they can be seen. Remove with a horse hair or gape worm remover. Move all healthy chickens to fresh clear soil. Infection is in the soil.

Sour-crop is quite common among flocks of growing chickens. It is usually caused through indigestion. For treatment use one teaspoonful of baking soda to each quart of drinking water. Following this treatment change of feed will often clear up the trouble.

While the above mentioned treatments are quite satisfactory in the control of the diseases specified, strict rules of sanitation should be observed at all times. This will prevent the introduction of diseases and in the long run prove cheaper than cures.

SHABUOTH—THE FEAST OF WEEKS

The Jewish Pentecost or Feast of Weeks, Shabuoth, will be celebrated tomorrow. Its name is derived from the fact that it is celebrated seven weeks after the second day of Passover. The biblical injunction as to the manner in which the feast was to be observed indicates that it was originally agricultural in character. It was a season of thanksgiving for the harvest that had been reaped, beginning with the barley harvest during the Passover to the wheat harvest at the beginning of the summer. The ceremonial offerings prescribed were in keeping with the God-given gifts of the soil that had been gathered.

In post-biblical times the Feast became identified with the promulgation of the divine Law at Sinai. On this "Day of the Giving of the Law," as it was called by the rabbis, the Ten Commandments constitute the main Scripture reading in the Synagogue. It is this historical aspect of the feast that has been emphasized since the destruction of the temple and the dispersion of the Jews.

SOUTH AFRICAN VETERANS HELD ANNUAL LAAGER
Memories of the "Gay Nineties" were recalled last evening when the eighth annual Sherbrooke laager of the South African veterans was held in the Marjorie Home, under the chairmanship of Col. S. E. Francis. The table, around which the twelve veterans of a third of a century ago gathered, was artistically decorated with flowers and crests, while behind the President's chair was a large Union Jack.

Following the excellent menu, old time songs were sung and the Roll Call, containing the names of those who had answered the Last Muster, was read and responded to by Thomas Keeley. The minutes of the last annual gathering and voluminous correspondence from other branches in London, Ottawa, Vancouver, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand were read by the secretary, Alfred Walker.

Three toasts only were proposed. The King, The Absent Comrades and All Who Served, the latter proposed by the chairman and responded to by Rudolph Becker.

A group photograph was taken to serve as a reminder of this pleasant event in the years to come.

Those attending last night's laager were M. Howcroft, T. Cockburn, T. Keeley, W. Dowsett, R. Becker, G. Schoon, W. McKee, G. Pennington, S. E. Francis, A. Walker, G. Begbie and the accompanist, M. Cattell, of Bishop's University.

HUNTINGVILLE GUIDES ENTERTAINED
Last evening was an eventful one for local Girl Guides, when to Court of Honor, consisting of the patrol leaders and seconds, and the Swallow patrol, winners of the recent patrol contest, entertained the visiting Girl Guides from the Hamilton, Ontario, group.

Armstrong, at supper. The pleasant social event was held at Howard Residence, and after full justice had been done to the delicious repast adjournment was made to Guide headquarters in the assembly hall.

After inspection in which the visiting Guides participated, the patrols went to their respective corners. It was quite evident from last night's demonstration that the visitors were more advanced in their work than the local girls, but the latter are determined to "pull up" as soon as possible, pass the Huntingville Guides before many moons have passed.

Games, in which the Kingfisher patrol showed especial swiftness, were enjoyed for a time, after which practice drill for the church parade tomorrow took place.

Formed in a circle the Guides stood at attention while their captain, Miss Lydia Hicks, expressed on their behalf their pleasure at having the Huntingville Guides as their guests.

In replying Mrs. Armstrong voiced the thanks of the visitors and extended an official invitation to the local Guides to visit Huntingville next fall. The singing of "Taps" brought the successful gathering to a close.

C. G. I. T. STUNT NIGHT MOST ENJOYABLE EVENT
An unusually attractive programme was presented last night in Plymouth church hall by the Canadian Girls in Training of Sherbrooke and Lennoxville. Music, drama, orchestral selections, and camp fire scenes all contributed to the success of the evening.

Opening with a jolly chorus entitled "Crowds," in which all groups participated, the several numbers followed one another in rapid succession in true C. G. I. T. style.

A very attractive number was a three act play, "Perfect Holidays," taken from "Little Women." Appropriately costumed, the following characters were excellently portrayed by the girls. Joy, played by Jean Finlay; Beth, by Margaret Stewart; Amy, by Betty Watson; Mrs. March, by the little sister, Rose; and Audrey Bellam; Miss Crocker, by Marjorie Walte; and Laurie, by Isabel Ross. Between the second and third acts Miss Thelma Crawford, of Lennoxville, guest artist for the evening, delighted every one in two songs, "The Little Old Log Cabin," and "You'll Get Lickin'."

Very worthy of mention was the first act demonstration given by the Plymouth group, namely, Lila Lee, Ruth Burroughs, Ruth Dunsmore, Noreen Lothrop and Jean Smith.

St. Andrew's "Time" orchestra rendered excellent selections which added greatly to the evening's enjoyment and fun.

A very pretty number was staged by the Trinity Group, who acted a camp-fire scene in which two gypsy girls are found and brought to camp. The girls in song and story extolled the C. G. I. T. gaining the confidence of the gypsies, who later decide that they too would like to belong to the C. G. I. T.

The Baptist group put on a very humorous "stunt" in the form of a play entitled "Burglar Alarm," in which the following characters appeared. Miss Martha, played by Lucy Hutley; Miss Mary, by Margaret Miller; Penelope, by Jessie Hopkins; and Bridget, the maid, by Iola Bean. The broken alarm and Bridget's late return, together with Miss Mary's "nervous" all contributed to the humor of this most enjoyable farce.

The Misses Noreen Lothrop and Ruth Burroughs played a very pretty piano duet and the concluding feature was a camp-fire scene in which all the girls took part in the singing of several songs, including "If She Had a Sunny Smile," "C. is for Canadian," "Sweet Coral Bells," sung as a round and "Follow the Glean." The guest, Miss Crawford, completed this attractive camp-fire scene by reciting "Robert Louis Stevenson's lovely story, 'Road of the Loving Heart.' After singing 'Taps,' the enjoyable stunt night closed with God Save the King.

MARRIAGES
BRADFORD-McLEAN
A very pretty wedding took place at high noon on Wednesday when Kathleen Isabella, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McLean, and Mr. Gordon Andrew Bradford, son of Mrs. K. Bradford, were given in marriage. The ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, on Fulton avenue, the date, May 16th, being the thirty-fourth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. McLean's wedding day. The Rev. Dr. G. Ellery Read, pastor of Plymouth United Church, officiated.

The living room, where the ceremony took place, was beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers, which formed a lovely background for the bridal party. The wedding music was played by Mrs. John McNaughton, of Waterville, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Marion Hall sang "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely white georgette gown trimmed with inserts of lace, and jaquette of the same material. Her long net veil was arranged in cap effect, and she carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Noreen Dunsmore, was her only attendant, and her simply designed gown and jacket were of pale pink moss crepe. Her hat was a rough straw model trimmed with pink, and she carried a bouquet of sweet peas in pastel shades.

Mr. Malcolm Ross, cousin of the groom, acted as best man.

Mrs. McLean, the bride's mother, was becomingly gowned in navy figured crepe and her corsage was of pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Bradford, wore a cruise blue ensemble, with corsage of cream roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Immediately following the marriage ceremony the bride and groom received congratulations and best wishes of the guests.

The wedding breakfast was served in the dining room, where the decorations were carried out in pink and white. The beautifully decorated wedding cake centered the bride's table, which was adorned with vases of sweet peas and baby's breath.

Later the bride and groom left for their wedding trip, the bride travelling in a grey tweed swagger suit, with which she wore a white satin blouse, grey hat and matching accessories. A stone marten neck-piece, a gift from the groom, completed the smart ensemble.

Upon their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Bradford will take up residence in Sherbrooke. The guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Emily Stevens, of Sutton, Vt.; her twin sister, Mrs. Emmaline McNaughton, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford, of Glen Iver, grandparents of the groom, who seven years ago celebrated their golden wedding anniversary; Mrs. W. J. McNaughton and daughter, of Valley Junction; Mr. and Mrs. H. Paige, of Greenlay; Mr. and Mrs. S. McNaughton, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. J. McNaughton, of Waterville; Mr. and Mrs. W. Nicol, of Lennoxville; and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McLean, of Montreal.

SHERBROOKE TO HAVE NEW INDUSTRY.
Sherbrooke is shortly to have a new industry. Announcement has been made that the firm of Adam Hall Limited, of Peterborough, Ontario, will transfer their entire stove business to this city. The local firm, to be known as the Adam Hall Corporation, will be organized as a subsidiary of the E. and T. Fairbanks and Company, Limited.

Douglas M. Hall, an official of the company, will leave Peterborough in a few days for Sherbrooke to actively associate himself with the management of the Adam Hall Corporation.

Karl E. Barrett, local manager of the E. and T. Fairbanks and Company, Limited, announced that arrangements are well under way for the opening of the new concern.

About the new enterprise was engaged at once, and this number will be increased as operations get more fully under way.

Location of this concern in Sherbrooke comes at a time when industrial recovery is general throughout Canada, and it will be a source of satisfaction to the people of Sherbrooke and of the Eastern Townships generally to know that this district is also to enjoy its just share in this upward trend in business.

Feed your young birds a ration that develops them faster and gives them sound, healthy growth. Plump market birds and pullets that become eager, steady layers in a few months, will show you the most profit.

Quaker Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash contains exactly the ingredients to grow large frames, sound flesh and vigorous organs.

The base is pure, fresh oatmeal, the grain with the greatest growth elements. Added to this and other ingredients is MOLASSES IN DRY FORM, which keeps birds free from digestive troubles. Molasses is rich in potash and vitamin B. And the Cod Liver Meal helps the birds to get most good out of every other ingredient.

It pays to feed Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash to young poultry. It gives most results.

For a grain ration to go with Ful-O-Pep Growing Mash, we recommend Ful-O-Pep Coarse Chick Feed. We can supply you with both.

NATIONAL SPORTS WEEK—FROM MAY 19TH TO 26TH

EIGHTH ANNUAL CANADIAN SPORTS WEEK INAUGURATED THIS MORNING

Large Number of Athletes Gathered at Stanstead This Afternoon for Tenth Eastern Townships Interscholastic Track and Field Meet Will Inaugurate Local Dominion Sports Week Programme—Many Events During Coming Week Will Commemorate Dominion-wide Athletic Celebration.

Today is the eighth anniversary of the birth of the Canadian Sports Week. In every part of the Dominion, wherever the spirit of genuine sportsmanship groups into one common brotherhood the athletes of every nationality, arrangements are being made to observe Sports Week appropriately. Ranking in importance with Fire Week, Safety Week and other periods set aside to mark some particular phase of worth while activity, the eighth annual Sports Week finds sportsmen in a better position to take advantage of the many attractions on this week's programme.

In the Eastern Townships Sports Week starts off with an important event on the local calendar, the tenth annual Eastern Townships Interscholastic track and field meet at Stanstead. Today a large number of athletes are gathered in the morning to mark the beginning of the week's programme and attempting to qualify for broader competitions. Special significance is attached to today's track meet by the many opportunities which beckon to the champions of each division.

During the week many golf and tennis clubs will be officially opened to continue the activities suspended last fall. The links and tennis courts of the Sherbrooke Country Club and the St. Francis Golf Club are in mid-season condition as a result of the early spring, while many private tennis grounds are already in full swing preparing their members for the City, Eastern Townships and Provincial championships tournaments towards the close of the playing season.

Softball has already started what appears to be a banner season with thirteen Sherbrooke and Lennoxville aggregations fighting for the coveted play-off positions and throughout the Eastern Townships every back yard big enough to contain the base lines is being pressed into service as a softball diamond. The staccato crack of bat against ball will officially introduce the baseball season next week, while the soccer players are putting the finishing touches to their pre-season practising.

For those who prefer more conservative recreation than the strenuous exercise provided on the diamond, links, tennis courts or soccer field, fishing tackle is being resurrected from attics. The promise of warm weather has caused many parties to arrange trips into the wooded sectors to pit their skill against the tricky trout. The marked improvement in business affairs has been reflected in the realm of sport, with the result that businessmen and executives will be missing from their offices more often than they have been able during the past few summers.

The important role which sport plays in the national life of every country becomes more evident

NEWARK BEARS CHALKED UP SEVENTH STRAIGHT VICTORY

The Newark Bears had run their winning streak to seven games in a row today and finally pulled into second place in the International League race, a half-game behind the Rochester Red Wings.

In the only League game played yesterday, the Bears slugged their way to a seven to three victory over the Syracuse Chiefs, ousted the Toronto Maple Leafs from second place by the slim margin of two points, and dropped Syracuse still deeper into seventh position.

It was strictly "no contest" for seven innings as the Bears slugged Jimmy McCloskey for four runs in the first frame, added another counter in the fifth chucker and two more in the sixth chapter when catcher Joe Glenn connected for a home run. While all this firing was going on young Jack Larocca was holding the Chiefs scoreless.

Syracuse finally broke the spell with two runs in the eighth when Manager Andy High tripped with two mates on and broke Newark's shutout record after the Bears had held the opposition without runs for twenty-eight consecutive innings.

Larocca survived that rally all right but developed a streak of wildness in the ninth frame and was removed in favor of Frank Makosky with the bases filled and one man out. Makosky shut off the Chiefs with only one run.

Vince Barton, slugging Newark outfielder, continued his heavy hitting with three singles. Syracuse got only five hits all told.

BELIEVED PREACHER FLED FROM POISON PEN LETTERS

Residents of Nova Scotia Community Mystified by Disappearance of Baptist Church Minister.

Debert, N.S., May 19.—Continuing their search for Rev. G. A. T. Ayling, residents of this community today wondered if the Baptist preacher heeded a warning similar to that which caused a family to move hastily out of the village.

"Be out of the district within twenty-four hours" was the warning received by the family before they left, and because Mr. Ayling was disturbed by "poison pen" letters a while ago the police attacked the mystery from that angle today.

Friends of the preacher still expressed belief he had been drowned in Ingonish River after accidentally falling over an embankment from the highway where his car was found. Searchers picked up his hat on the bank of the stream.

The night he disappeared he telephoned he was having tire trouble. Royal Canadian Mounted Police emphatically denied the report that they were making enquiries for him in England.

MINNEAPOLIS AND ST. PAUL TRUCK DRIVERS ON STRIKE

St. Paul Men Voted to Join Fellow-workers from Minneapolis, Who Have Been on Strike Since Tuesday Night.

Minneapolis, May 19.—The twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul today faced a complete paralysis of motor truck transportation.

With union truck drivers of Minneapolis on strike since Tuesday night, truck drivers in St. Paul voted to join the walk-out at 11:30 p. m. yesterday. There are approximately 6,200 drivers in the two cities.

In Minneapolis, nearly five thousand strikers, picketing roads into the city and at trucking companies, halted all truck operations so successfully that the city's food supply was threatened. Stocks were running low in many groceries and several bakeries closed or planned to cease operations.

Except for a number of minor disturbances, the situation here was quiet.

MINE PICKETS ARE DRIVEN FROM COLLIERY BY POLICE

"Mounties" Made Way Today for Two Hundred and Forty Non-strikers to Go to Work.

Glace Bay, N.S., May 19.—Amalgamated Mine Workers attempting to tie up coal production in South Cape Breton area were driven from No. 1-B colliery today by Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who made way for 240 non-strikers to go to work.

One or two minor clashes occurred between rival United Mine Workers and the A. M. W. pickets, but most of the strikers left the property peacefully.

CANADIANS ARE PRACTISING ON GRASS COURTS

Dominion's Davis Cup Squad Staged Spirited Workout on Arrival at Scene of Next Week's Matches Against United States.

Wilmington, Del., May 19.—Lacking grass courts in their homeland, the Canadian Davis Cup team is getting all possible practice for next week's matches with the United States team, but their opponents are taking it easy near Philadelphia. The Canadians arrived at the Wilmington Country Club yesterday and lost no time in staging a spirited workout.

The Yankees, with some of the squad absent, held a light session and were informed by Captain R. Norris Williams that still less work would be done today.

This year's matches are being played on grass courts because the challenger for England's supremacy will play on grass at Wimbledon. Davis Cup competition during the past five years was on clay courts because France did not have grass ones.

Wilmer Allison's arrival at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, made the American squad complete. Allison, who sprained his ankle in Washington, will not compete against Canada. Frank X. Shields, Lester Stoefer, George Lott and John Van Ryan have been nominated to meet the wearers of the Maple Leaf. Sidney Wood completes the squad.

Led by their playing captain, Gilbert Nunn, the Canadian team is limited to four. The others are Walter Martin, Dominion champion; Marcel Rainville, veteran Cup player, and Laird Watt, both of Montreal.

CHUCK KLEIN'S BATTING AGAIN BEAT PHILLIES

Ex-Phillie Paced Chicago Cubs to Second Straight Victory Over Former Team-mates with His Twelfth Homer and Single—Yankees' Margin Reduced to Three Games.

The Phillies forgot something when they sold Chuck Klein to the Chicago Cubs. The bill of sale should have contained a clause making it a high crime for him to visit Baker Field again.

For the second day in a row, the great slugger annoyed his former buddies to no end as the Cubs pace-setters in the National League, bombed their way to a nine to five decision over the Phils yesterday.

He had contributed two home runs and a single to the Cubs' one-sided victory in the opening game of the series on Thursday, and yesterday he sailed his twelfth homer out with two men on in the first inning and later added a single to help the cause along. His batting average for two days in his old stampering grounds was .714.

Pittsburgh maintained its hold on second place, driving young Charley Perkins to the showers with a five-run attack in the first inning and winding up with an eight to three decision over the Brooklyn Dodgers. The New York Giants found the fourth starting pitcher they've been looking for in the young and left-handed Al Smith, although he failed to win. Poor support by his team-mates and the gilt-edged pitching of Harry Grey sent Smith down to a two to one beating by the Cincinnati Reds although the youngster allowed only five hits.

The Boston Braves belted Jim Winford for three runs in the first two innings and turned back the St. Louis Cardinals by six to two.

Meanwhile, the western clubs of the American League, led by Mickey Cochrane's Detroit Tigers, were giving the east a fine shellacking. The Tigers shugged "Red" Ruffing and Harry Smythe for fifteen hits, including five doubles and a triple, smacked down the proud New York Yankees by ten to eight for the second day in a row and cut the New Yorkers' lead to three games.

The St. Louis Browns moved in to a virtual tie with Washington and Philadelphia for fourth place as they tripped the Boston Red Sox again by eleven to three, battering out seventeen hits. Buck Newsome stopped the Red Sox with eight hits and fanned eight.

Joe Casarella unbeaten in four games, gave five bases on balls in the first inning, forced three runs across the plate and paved the way for a five to four victory for the Chicago White Sox over the Philadelphia Athletics. Jimmie Fox's seventh homer was the first ever hit into the centre field bleachers at Comiskey Park.

Washington chalked up the only eastern victory, beating Cleveland by three to one behind southpaw Walter Stewart's neat pitching.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Outstanding players in yesterday's major league games were: Oscar Melillo, Browns—Solved the Red Sox pitching for a double and three singles and drove in four runs.

Frank Doljack, Tigers—Helped beat the Yankees with a triple, a double and two singles.

Benny Grey, Reds—Limited the Giants to eight scattered hits and won by two to one.

Tom Padden, Pirates—Drove in three runs against the Dodgers with a double and a single.

Al Simmons, White Sox—Doubled in sixth inning to drive home the run that beat the Athletics.

Walter Stewart, Senators—Gave the Indians only seven hits and fanned five.

Chuck Klein, Cubs—Contributed twelfth homer and a single to rout of the Phillies.

Bill Uhlanski, Braves—His four hits helped beat the Cardinals.

ATHLETES ARE TRAINING FOR MCGILL MEET

Intercollegiate Track and Field Meet Will Be Staged by McGill University Next Saturday—Leaders Will Have Chance to Compete for Team to Tour Australia.

Montreal, May 19.—Candidates of the Province of Quebec for the school boy track and field team which will tour Australia this summer, as well as a number of outstanding school boy track stars from Ontario, will compete here next Saturday in the fourteenth intercollegiate track and field meet being run by McGill University.

Last year's winners of the Glasgow Cup, emblematic of supremacy in the track and field sports of Ottawa, will be on hand to defend their championship against challenges from Hamilton Central Collegiate six-time winners who have not competed since 1930, when Bert Pearson, Olympic flash, stole the show, and against other Quebec teams.

During the past thirteen years the cup has been won by Hamilton six times, by Gleebe three times and by the Montreal High School four times.

The Hamilton delegates will be led by Graham Knox, Dominion interscholastic sprint champion. He will meet keen competition from Herb Follette, of Westmount High School, who has been attracting notice with his speed over the cinder track in meets here for several weeks.

The leading Quebec boys in the meet will probably represent the province in the trials for the team to tour Australia.

In preparation for next Saturday's provincial meet, school boy athletes in the Eastern Townships are competing in the tenth annual Southern Canada Power Company competition this afternoon. From the list of winners will be selected a contingent to carry the colors of Eastern Townships schools in the Quebec meet. The calibre of Eastern Townships competition has increased during the past few years and special attention will be given next week to the sprinters and jumpers representing this district.

REMOVAL OF NEGRO FROM JAIL AVERTED LYNCHING

Colored Youth Accused of Attacking White Girl Secretly Taken from Prison when Mob of One Thousand Threatened to Take Law in Its Own Hands.

Greenville, S.C., May 19.—The timely removal of a young negro accused of attacking a thirteen-year-old white girl to an unnamed prison today was credited with having prevented a charge upon the county jail here by a mob which at one time numbered around one thousand persons.

Apparently convinced of officers' statements that the prisoner had been whisked away some twelve hours before, the remnants of a mob which clamored for the negro's life during the night finally dispersed shortly after 3 a.m. today and sheriff's deputies said they thought the "trouble is over."

The milling and armed crowd, however, gave up its long vigil only after a group had dashed in automobiles to Gaffney, a town fifty miles away, to find that the negro had not been taken there. When they returned to Greenville a smaller crowd gathered around the jail, but apparently not knowing where to turn next, they finally broke into groups and left.

DARING AIRMEN READY TO CONTINUE TRIP TO ROME

Dublin, May 19.—Everything was in readiness at Baldonnel airport today for refueling the trans-Atlantic plane of Capt. George Pond and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli preparatory to a continuation of their flight to Rome.

Mechanics at Lahinch have made such excellent progress on the damaged plane that they hope for a take-off today.

There was a possibility, however, that the fliers might hop directly to Crofton airfield, London, and refuel there.

LEAGUE OPENER WAS CAPTURED BY ROYAL BANK

Royal Bank Softball Team Scored Forty-Four to Thirty-Three Victory Over Banque Canadienne Nationale on Parade Grounds Last Night.

The proposed central bank, promissory notes and N.S.F. accounts were all forgotten last night when accountants, ledger keepers, janitors and runners introduced the Bankers' Softball League to Sherbrooke's fans. The opening game of the newly-formed circuit was played on the Parade Grounds and a scoring record was posted when a total of seventy-seven runs crossed the plate. Of this number the Royal Bank had the lion's share to start their campaign with a forty-four to thirty-three victory over the Banque Canadienne Nationale.

Everybody but the overworked scorekeeper and the umpire, Bob Smith, enjoyed an evening of wholesome fun. Any danger of athlete's foot was dissipated as the bankers cavorted about the base paths to the accompaniment of a barrage of hits seldom witnessed on a softball diamond. The number of hits was impossible to compute, even by the compound interest system, and the indulgent scorekeeper simply gave the batter the benefit of the doubt when there appeared any doubt as to whether a hit was legitimate or that the runner reached first base on an error.

The Royal Bankers got away to an early lead when they drove the Nationales' starting hurler, Sevigny, to the showers with a storm of hits which produced seventeen runs. Even Ted McCarney soon solved Sevigny's offerings, while all his team-mates followed his example. Boncher was rushed to the rescue, but the damage had been done and the Royals remained in the lead until the final frame, which was completed just before darkness enveloped the playing field.

Bill Webb toiled on the mound for the winners, and although he did not hurl a straight ball, his team-mates gave him enough support for a victory. At the end of the fifth inning the French bankers were only two runs behind their opponents, but ten tallies in the last two chapters sealed the verdict in favor of the Royalties.

The score by innings was:
Royal . . . . . 17 26 45 8—44
Can. Nat. . . . . 5 6 4 9 0—33

The line-ups were:
Royal Bank: Martin c, Barre 1b,

Webb p, Slaght ss, McCarney 2b, Laliberte 3b, Hall 1f, Charlwood rf, Tessier ss and Grondin cf.

Banque Canadienne Nationale: Berard c, Dennis 1f, Bergeron rf, Gagnon 2b, Trepanier 3b, Sevigny p, Rousseau cf, Gregoire 1b, Boucher p, and Fargues ss.

"Happy days are here again," Hon. Guthrie told his listeners. He reviewed increased loadings, heavy gains in construction contracts, improvement in earnings of both the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National railways and higher production at automobile

ON AUTOMOBILE

Bridgewater, N.S., May 19.—A century-old tree falling across the main highway near here crashed on an automobile occupied by two Lunenburg men who were badly cut, but said they must have had charmed lives to escape death.

Wallace Schnare and George Winters climbed out of the wreckage and were rushed to Bridgewater for treatment, after which they returned to their homes.

plants and attributed everything to Premier R. B. Bennett, whom he described as the "man who led us out of the mess the world found itself in in the year 1930."

Canada is assuming the leadership, he said, among the nations of the world in emerging from adverse economic conditions. Employment had registered a gain of some 250,000.

TEN-YEAR SENTENCE FOR THROWING HAND GRENADE

Bomb Hurler by Erwin Schulze, Berlin House Painter, Was Meant for Jewish Theatre Owner.

Berlin, May 19.—Erwin Schulze, a house painter, was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary yesterday for throwing a hand grenade on March 21st which wrecked the automobile of David Oliver, Jewish theatre owner.

The attempt was perpetrated on the fashionable boulevard Unter Den Linden and was first reported to have been directed against Hermann Goering, Premier of Prussia.

Schulze later made a confession revealing that the bomb was meant for Oliver, who owns the big Bergen theatre where a showing of the film "Catherine the Great" previous to the explosion caused anti-Jewish disturbances.

Oliver's chauffeur was seriously injured in the blast.

SEARCH FAILS TO FIND TRACE OF YOUNG GIRL

Police and Large Search Party Probe Every Possible Clue, but without Success, in Effort to Locate Four-Year-Old Child Missing Since Tuesday.

Moosehorn, Man., May 19.—One hundred searchers plodded through sloughs and fought their way through thickets today, but still could find no trace of four-year-old Betty Wolfrum, believed to have been kidnapped last Tuesday as she lay asleep within sight of her father.

The searchers under Constable R. G. Smith, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, found no trace of the child whatever. Every possibility has been probed, including the suspicion the child might have been carried away by a bear wounded by Roy Rosin, hunting in the district.

Sergeant George Clifford, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, arrived late last night to take charge of investigation into the kidnapping suspicion. Statements by Mrs. Carl Wolfrum that her daughter might have been kidnapped for spite are being closely checked.

Two POLICEMEN VICTIMS OF MACHINE GUN ATTACK

Were Seriously Wounded Today by Burst of Lead from Small Sedan which They Endeavored to Halt.

Newton, May 19.—Two officers were seriously wounded here yesterday by machine-gun fire from a small sedan which they had sought to halt.

Becoming suspicious of three men who drove in and out of the city during the early morning hours, Patrolman Arthur Hoffman called Deputy Sheriff Ray Pitt to his assistance and sought to halt the car.

They said a machine-gun was poked through a window as they approached, and a hail of lead met them. Then the car sped away before residents, hearing the shooting, reached the spot.

The officers were taken to a hospital, where they were said to be dangerously wounded, although the full extent of their injuries had not been determined.

But the board told enough to arouse anxiety over the fate of the banker. She sailed from Lunenburg ten days ago, bound for the fishing grounds. No words had reached land from the ship until Arthur Henderson picked up the nameplate while tending lobster traps three miles off Green Island.

FIVE distinct, truck-built chassis are included in the sales-leading Chevrolet Truck line for 1934. New, larger, more convenient cabs are provided for all models. Increases in load-space range from 17% to 31% in the panel, single unit express and pick-up bodies—with correspondingly greater capacity a characteristic of the whole Chevrolet-built body line.

These facts indicate how Chevrolet truck-engineering meets and keeps ahead of the demands of modern
