ANSWER REICH THREAT

Air Attack On Civilians To End Pledges

While British Government Will Never Resort to Deliberate Attack on Women and Children and Other Civilians for Mere Purposes of Terrorism, It Reserves Free Hand in Event that Germans Bombard Polish Villages.

(By J. F. Sanderson, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)
London, Sept. 14.—(C.P. Cable)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that the British Government "will never resort to deliberate attack on women and children and other civilians for purposes of mere terrorism."
In view of Adolf Hitler's threat to bomb open towns and villages in Poland, Great Britain and France were demanding a free hand for themselves, the Prime Minister declared.
"In the meantime it must be remembered that our strategy and tactics must at all stages be governed by one consideration, and one only, namely: The most effective prosecution of the war," he told the House.
"I will add that if action of the kind suggested in the German announcement is taken it will inevitably further strengthen the resolve of ourselves and our Allies so to conduct our policy and so prosecute the war as to ensure that the menace we are fighting, of which this may be another manifestation, is finally removed."
The Prime Minister made his statement in reply to a question by Hugh Dalton, Labor. Earlier he had announced the Government was not contemplating establishing a Ministry of Munitions at this stage, stating the existing arrangements through the Ministry of Supply "are working satisfactorily and much expansion (of production) already has taken place."
The Prime Minister reiterated the statement yesterday by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax that Britain would claim a free hand to take "appropriate action" if Germany bombed civilians.
Referring to an official German statement that severe measures would be taken to crush civilian resistance in Poland he said:
"His Majesty's Government have noted this announcement, which in the face of it is in flat contradiction of the German Chancellor's recent statement to the Reichstag when he disclaimed any desire to make war on women and children."
"The restrictions that we—like the French—have imposed on the operations of our own forces were based upon the condition of similar restraint being observed by our opponents; and His Majesty's Government must, of course, hold themselves free, if such restraint is not in fact observed, to take such action as they may deem appropriate."
"But I wish to add that whatever be the lengths to which others may go, His Majesty's Government will never resort to deliberate attack on women, children and other civilians for purposes of mere terrorism."
Lord Halifax announced in the House of Commons.

COUNTRY PARTY IN AUSTRALIA NAMES LEADER

Former Postmaster General Named to Succeed Sir Earle Page in Move to Clear Way for Formation of Coalition Government.

(By The Canadian Press.)
Canberra, Sept. 14.—(P-Reuters)—Sir Earle Page stepped down as leader of the Australian Country Party today and was succeeded by Archie Cameron, former Postmaster General, in a move to hasten formation of a National Government.
Sir Earle presented his resignation last week after holding office for nearly twenty years. He explained "My continued leadership might for personal reasons impede formation of a composite government."
At the party meeting during which Mr. Cameron was elected leader a resolution was passed declaring it was essential that a National Government "should be formed on just terms" in this time of war.
In a statement of policy Mr. Cameron said: "My party will do everything possible to safeguard the safety of Australia and to co-operate with Britain in the war for international law and justice."
The party agreed that the only basis for formation of a composite ministry was mutual agreement between the leaders of the United Australia party and the Australian Country party.

Wage Heavy Artillery Battle Along Western Front — Heavy Rains Ease Polish Situation

(By The Canadian Press.)
Poles' prayers for rain were reported answered today as Germany's motorized columns pushed deeper into Polish territory.
Poland has counted on "General Mud" as an ally to bog down Germany's mechanized forces. A Warsaw dispatch to Budapest said heavy autumn rains had begun falling and the populace of beleaguered Warsaw was rejoicing.
But the German high command claimed Warsaw encircled, Lublin cut off from Lwow and a third force advancing on Brzesz (Brest-Litovsk), 110 miles east of Warsaw.
Informed sources in Berlin also said the Polish port of Gdynia had fallen.
Both Paris and Berlin reported heavy German artillery fire on the Western Front. French military dispatches said French forces were closing in on three sides of Saarbruecken, industrial centre of the rich Saar basin. The Berlin communique asserted they were "stopped by minefields and German defence fire."
Radio broadcasts from Warsaw indicated that the Polish capital still was withstanding the German attacks, but was a half-ruined city.
Following Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax's declaration yesterday that any German bombing of undefended cities would "free Britain's hand," Great Britain moved cautiously toward releasing the full power of her war machine on Germany.
Radiomarine in New York reported its Chatham, Mass., station had intercepted a wireless call from the 4,955-ton British ship Vancouver City saying it had been torpedoed near the English Channel. The liner President Roosevelt was reported going to the aid of the crew.

UNITED STATES AGENTS STUDY SPY DETECTING

Officials of Federal Bureau of Investigation Have Undergone Intensive Course in Espionage Discovery During Past Year.

(By The Canadian Press.)
Washington, Sept. 14.—(P)—A high United States Government official revealed today that for more than a year agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation have been receiving intensive secret training in the technique of uncovering espionage, sabotage and subversive activities.
At the same time it was stated the Bureau has accelerated its counter-espionage training during the past two weeks of war.
Information received at the Justice Department has increased material since Attorney General Murphy asked citizens last week to cooperate with the Bureau in ferreting out operations of foreign agents, it was said.
J. Edgar Hoover, Bureau chief, has been in constant touch with officers of the naval and military intelligence units since fighting broke out abroad.
A Justice Department official said a secret mission took Hoover recently to the west coast where vital military, naval and aviation bases extend from Southern California to Seattle.

Keenly-Awaited Autumn Rains Boost Prospects Of Ultimate Polish Win

Great Rejoicing Reported in Battle-Scarred Warsaw as Heavy Rains Threaten to Bog Down German Mechanized Transport — Large Part of City Reported in Ruins as Results of Bombardment — Deliberate Attacks on Civilians Reported.

(By The Canadian Press.)
Budapest, Sept. 14.—(P)—Heavy autumn rains for which all Poland has been praying in the hope they would hamper Germany's motorized forces were reported today to have begun falling in the vicinity of Warsaw during the night.
The Warsaw correspondent of the Pesti Hirlap wrote today that there was much rejoicing among people in the besieged city.
Still holding out against repeated German thrusts, the capital was half in ruins, its plight rendered serious by a growing food shortage and severed communication lines.
Most Polish Government officials long since have fled the city. Eleven of them, headed by Eugen Kwiatkowski, Finance Minister, were reported last night to have crossed the southern Polish border into Rumania.
Describing the situation in Warsaw in a broadcast from the capital, Captain Wladyslaw Polenski, of the Polish air force, said that many bodies—some of women and children—lay in the shell-scarred streets.
"Many people were killed inside churches where they had sought safety," he said. "Others died in cemeteries where tombstones were smashed and bodies scattered about."
Polenski declared the Germans had used incendiary bombs and had "shelled and machine-gunned panicky crowds who had taken refuge in fields outside the city limits."
"Hospitals were pitiful sights during the air raids," the broadcaster said.
* A staff officer who broadcast a description of fighting in the suburbs said that roads were "blocked with smashed lorries, carts, dead soldiers, women and children."
"Bombs explode constantly amid crowds of people running away," he said. "Geysers of water spurt skyward when mains are damaged by earth-shaking explosions. Tanks rattle into view spitting fire. Soldiers and women attack the modern monsters with bunched hand grenades."
Major Starzynski, mayor of the capital, who delivered his daily appeal to the Warsaw populace to stand fast, declared the city's defenders are "all heroes whose nerves remain excellent, with few exceptions." He disclosed that "only one plate of food is being allowed a day in Warsaw and there is no cake in these hard times."

Historic Emergency Session Cleared Way For War Effort

Ten Special Measures, Providing for Prosecution of War, Passed in Six-Day Session of Canadian Parliament—Opposition Leader's Attack on Supply Ministry Bill in Senate Forced Delay in Adjournment.

(By The Canadian Press.)
Ottawa, Sept. 14.—(P)—The historic emergency war session of Parliament, the second such session since Confederation, is over.
Opening September 7th, the special session closed yesterday after six days of arduous labor in which Parliament clothed the Government with executive powers to deal with the war situation as occasion demands in the struggle against German aggression.
Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor General of Canada, prorogued the fifth session of the eighteenth Parliament since Confederation, at 1:59 p.m. yesterday after waiting more than an hour for the Senate to finish its business. There was no display of the usual pomp and ceremony.
Ten bills were passed at the emergency session, compared with six in the five-day war session of 1914, but five of these were budget bills involved in the various forms of increased and new taxation, including the new tax on excess profits.
Other measures included authority for the Government to set up a new Ministry of Munitions and Supply if the need becomes apparent, gave it blanket power to spend up to $100,000,000 on war activities up to the end of the fiscal year, and incorporated the Canadian Patriotic Fund on the same lines under which it operated during the first Great War.
Because the War Measures Act of 1914 still was on the statutes, it was unnecessary to pass a similar measure at this session. Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced he would act under its authority to create a War Supply Board, replacing the Defence Purchasing Board with the widest powers to mobilize and regulate industry in a national economic effort to meet war needs.
The surveys and operations of the War Supply Board indicate the desirability of creating a full-time Ministry of Munitions and Supply, the act to create such a department will be proclaimed.
The session, which opened last Thursday, was only a few hours longer than that in 1914, but was less harmonious.
Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who leads an unprecedented majority of Liberals in the House of Commons, met his greatest opposition from within his own ranks when a small group of Quebec members moved time after time for rejection of the policy so far as it concerned war activities outside Canada.
From Conservatives, Social Crediters and members of the C.C.F. group with the lone exception of their leader, James S. Woodsworth, came co-operation on the main political issues.

SURRENDER OF PORT ON BALTIC CLAIMED

(By The Canadian Press.)
Berlin, Sept. 14.—(P)—Surrender of the Polish port of Gdynia after a two-week siege was claimed by the German army today.
A communique said German troops entered the town at 10:15 a.m. (5:15 a.m. E.D.T.).
"The Polish commandant surrendered the city," it continued. "North of Gdynia fighting is still going on."
Informed sources said the mayor of the port town met General Magnus Eberhardt, commander of the besieging German forces, to negotiate surrender, and accepted conditions proposed by General Eberhardt—including surrender of 100 hostages, among them the mayor.
CLAIM IMPORTANT GAINS
Berlin, Sept. 14.—(P)—The German army today issued the following communique:
Operations in Southern Poland now are meeting with little resistance, and our army is quickly gaining ground eastward. The Lublin-Gwov road was reached near Rawa-Ruska and Tomaszow by strong forces. The Vistula north of Sandomierz was crossed at several points.
As a temporary result of a destructive battle near Radom, 60,000 prisoners were taken, among whom were many generals, and 143 cannons and 38 armored cars.
A comprehensive attack on encircled areas is being planned.

FRENCH TROOPS ARE PRESSING ADVANCE

(By JOHN MARTIN, Associated Press Staff Writer.)
Paris, Sept. 14.—(P)—French forces, supported by thousands of newly landed British troops, were reported today in military dispatches to be closing in from three sides on Saarbruecken, industrial centre of the rich Saar basin.
Seizure of the city, the reports indicated, was considered vital to give the French a jumping off point for a wider attack against the heavily fortified Siegfried Line.
Indications the French were meeting concentrated German artillery fire came in an official communique.
"Strong action by heavy enemy artillery on heights south of Saarbruecken," the communique read. "The position of the firing batteries and the intensity of the shelling were not disclosed."
German reinforcements were reported massing behind Saarbruecken for an attempt to prevent occupation of the Saar capital by the French forces.
Heavy fighting was reported near Hornbach as the French troops pushed eastward in an attempted encircling movement.
Rain hampered operations along the 100-mile front between the Moselle and Rhine rivers, but military dispatches spoke of "substantial" gains.

Claims Mechanical German Mind Not Able To Meet French Army Strategy

(By The Canadian Press.)
Leeds, England, Sept. 14.—(P)—Movement of the British Expeditionary Force to France was described today by the military correspondent of the Yorkshire Post as "triumph of determined organization."
"The provision of vessels was the great problem with a modern army which is thirty times heavier in bulk weight owing to mechanization," the article said. "Here the shipping companies and the mercantile marine played their part by dismantling their ships' holds to take the giant machines."
"German calculations up to a year ago were that even if the short channel crossing might not be preventable it was possible to make long sea transportation a dangerous hazard and that submarines and aircraft could prevent overseas possessions from being reinforced with speed."
"We countered that by placing our overseas forces in accessible positions during the months of peace and so limited transportation to the troops destined to France."
This was a reference to the official announcements of August in which the Government made certain dispositions of reinforcements for Singapore and Egypt.
Returning to the subject of the movement of the expeditionary force to France, the correspondent continued:
"As far as is known the enemy gleaned no knowledge of the long columns that passed in recent times through the dark country lanes to British harbors. As the heavy columns arrived dockers made short work of stowing armor-plated fighting vehicles on shipboard. Steam was up and the ships were quickly away, shadowed by escorts of the Royal navy.
"Brigade after brigade, division after division were thus transported. The work went on and some idea of the enormous nature of the task may be gathered from the fact that a division with its vehicles on a single road stretches for twenty miles."
One correspondent at a port in the south of England estimated that at one time three trains arrived each hour day and night from the interior of England for the dispatch of those troops which did not come to the embarkation point by highway.
Discussing operations on the Western Front, the correspondent said a German counter attack by "at least six assault divisions has failed to dislodge the French from their stronghold in the Saarbruecken sector."
"French advanced troops continued yesterday the series of operations designed to abolish all the salients of the German line in front of the Westwall," the correspondent said.

Northern European Powers Seeking To Maintain Commercial Relations

(By WADE WERNER, Associated Press Staff Writer.)
Copenhagen, Sept. 14.—(P)—Neutral northern European states, faced with the pressing necessity of protecting winter supplies, are seeking a means to maintain import and export trade without dangerously offending the belligerents.
What the neutrals would like to do already has been expressed by Finland's Foreign Minister, Elias Eickko, who said his country would try to maintain trade relations with warring nations "on an identical basis, favoring neither side."
Premiers of Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland met here September 18th to discuss the situation. On the agenda is the question of what measures the Baltic states would take in the event of unrestricted submarine warfare.
Norway has issued a general export embargo, from which were excluded only iron ore and fish. The order recently was extended to include fish products.
Flour was rationed at ten kilograms (about twenty pounds) per person monthly and the private use of gasoline was forbidden. Norway also halted the domestic sale of coal and coke pending fixing of ration quotas.
Meanwhile the Norwegian navy was mobilized to patrol the coasts, where a number of German freighters were trying to elude British warships.
Sweden has regulated strictly all import and export trade, requiring permits for each transaction. Approximately 60,000 men have been called to the colors.
Denmark has called up five classes of reservists and has laid mines protecting the waters near Copenhagen.
Finland, its Baltic outlet practically closed, is considering immediate extension of a railroad to the Arctic Ocean. The Government is supervising trade, but export restrictions are few and imports are practically free from restraint.
Latvia has tightened supervision of its Polish frontier and has called up three classes of reservists. Embargoes have been placed on exports of metals, cotton, rubber, fuels and wool. Lithuania already is feeling an acute shortage of fuel, which is serious in view of the usually severe winters.
BALKANS KEEP WATCH
Budapest, Sept. 14.—(P)—Neutral nations in southeastern Europe watched Italy, Russia and Germany today for any move which might draw them into the war now raging at the Balkans' front door.
Many Government leaders feel that continuation of Southeastern Europe's aloofness in the conflict and peace among the Balkan states depend on what courses are pursued within the next few weeks by the three powers.
Political figures said that any attempt of Russia to take Rumania's Besarabia or Polish Galicia, a German threat to use Hungarian railroads for troop movements against Southeastern Poland or warlike gestures by Italy would be enough to ignite war flames in this corner of Europe.
Hungary, with German troops along her northern border and the Polish war just 150 miles from her capital, appeared in the most precarious position. Premier Paul Teleyki told members of the Hungarian Government party yesterday that "Germany and warring nations in general consider it to their interests to have peace and quiet productive work in the Danube basin."
But all the Southeastern countries are watching Germany for indications of what she might do to make

Mystery Submarine Reported Off Coast Of New Brunswick

Radio Warning Issued to All Shipping in Bay of Fundy After Fishermen Report Sighting Mystery Craft Two Miles South of Grand Manan Island—Second Wave of Submarines Reported Leaving Germany for Atlantic.

(By The Canadian Press.)
Saint John, N.B., Sept. 14.—(P)—A radio warning to all shipping in the Bay of Fundy was sent out from the Red Head wireless station today, after fishermen reported to Marine Agent H. F. Morrissey last night they had sighted a craft which may have been a submarine.
Fishermen told Morrissey they had sighted the vessel—which they said was low in the water and appeared to have two masts—two miles southeast of Grand Manan.
The place where it was reported seen is about fifty miles southwest of Saint John harbor.
Fishermen along the New Brunswick coast have been organized into a voluntary police group, with one of their duties to report any suspicious craft or occurrences to coastal officials.
Those who reported sighting the craft yesterday said it soon disappeared.
SECOND WAVE OF GERMAN SUBS REPORTED
London, Sept. 14.—(P)—The naval correspondent of the Daily Express today reported a "second wave" of German submarines is en route to the Atlantic to relieve the U-boats which have been operating against Allied merchantmen since the outbreak of war.
The correspondent said the "first wave" of Nazi submarines left Kiel and Wilhelmshaven between August 20 and 28 although German broadcast reports indicating they were at stations in the Atlantic as early as August 1.
CREW OF FREIGHTER RESCUED
New York, Sept. 14.—(P)—The crew of the British freighter Vancouver City, torpedoed early today off the south coast of Ireland, was rescued by a Netherlands tanker and an airplane, the United States liner President Roosevelt wireless today.
"Crew picked up by Dutch tanker assisted by airplane. Resuming course," the message said.
The President Roosevelt proceeded to the rescue from a point 52 miles away after the freighter sent out a "come rescue" message.
The 4,355-ton vessel, en route from Colon in the Canal Zone to England, was owned by the Reardon Smith Line, Limited, and was in the England-South Pacific trade.
WHERE CONSTABLE FELL
Coventry, England, Sept. 14.—(P)—A police constable here was sentenced to six months' hard labor for stealing from post boxes on his beat. He was convicted when found with marked money.

Duke of Windsor Pays Brief Visit to London

(By The Canadian Press.)
London, Sept. 14.—(P)—The Duke of Windsor motored to London today from the Sussex home of Major Edward Metcalfe, where he and the Duchess are staying.
He called first on Sir Philip Game, Commissioner of Police at Scotland Yard.
Vancouver, Sept. 14.—(P)—The Police Commission hearing charges by Mayor Lyle Telford of inefficiency against Chief Constable W. W. Foster and other members of the police administration ended its enquiry last night.
The commissioners, Judge A. M. Harper and Magistrate G. R. McQueen, are expected to hand down their report within ten days.

Polish Air Force On Rumanian Front

(By DANIEL DE LUCE, Associated Press Staff Writer.)
Lwow, Poland, Sept. 14.—(P)—Most of the Polish air force has been stationed near the Rumanian frontier in the hope of fighting off German attempts to smash Poland's lifeline railway bringing oil and other supplies from Rumania.
But it is possible that German fliers may spot the Polish planes for bomb attacks and before this reaches the presses that may have happened.

Senate Opponents Of Arms Embargo Repeal May Force Lengthy Session

(By The Canadian Press.)
Washington, Sept. 14.—(P)—Senate opponents of President Roosevelt's proposal to repeal the United States arms embargo served notice today they would try to hold Congress in Washington continuously, after it convenes in special session next Thursday, to keep check on the Government's foreign policy.
At the same time, demands from some members of the Senate and House of Representatives for legislation against "congress profiteering" indicated that Congress might not confine itself to the special session suggestions for revision of the Neutrality Act. It is that statute which at present bans shipments of arms, ammunition and implements of war to warring nations.
Some Congress members said President Roosevelt himself might recommend laws to curb profit-taking on commodities. There was talk also that he might ask an appropriation of $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 to expand and expedite the national defence programme.
Senator William Borah, Idaho Republican and isolationist who has opposed repeal of the arms embargo on the grounds that such a step would lead the United States into war, will make an initial broadcast speech against the administration's programme tonight.
Senator Gerald Nye (Republican—

Northern Ontario Branch Bank Theft

(By The Canadian Press.)
Matachewan, Ont., Sept. 14.—(P)—A search unearthed bushland and swampland of this northern Ontario mining district today for one of two bandits who hold up the one-room branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada.
The bandit escaped after a running gun fight along a street here yesterday with N. M. Plant, bank manager, during which Plant wounded a man who gave the name of Harry Billoch, 32, Sudbury. Police said $8,400, all the money taken in the hold-up, was found on Billoch.

Happiness And Regret Mixed As United States Freighter Lands Survivors Of Athenia

Special Train Speeding More than Two Hundred Survivors of Ill-Fated Vessel from Halifax to Canadian and United States Interior Ports—All Agreed Athenia Sank as Result of Torpedo Attack by Submarine.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—(P)—An ocean separating them from the havoc left in the wake of a speeding torpedo, survivors of wreck of the liner Athenia today rolled swiftly away from the sea on which they played unwilling roles in the war's first submarine drama.

Speeding from Halifax to this city, a special train bore more than 200 of the 216 refugees who reached the Atlantic port yesterday on a rescue ship and mixed freighter of happiness and regret and human misery, with here and there a touch of heroism. As first victims of 1939's warfare at sea, tragedy had touched them all.

As they headed toward their homes in the United States and Canada, they left behind stories of a liner bearing 1,500 persons torpedoed without warning, and of death and suffering on the Atlantic off the Herbrides. Some had lost family members when the Cunard White Star ship went down September 3 from the explosion of a torpedo.

They embarked on the special train in Halifax last night, seven hours after the United States freighter City of Flint had brought them into the safety of that harbor. Nurses, doctors, Government officials and welfare workers had prepared them swiftly for the land journey that followed ten days of precarious life at sea.

Some were injured. Seven of these were brought in by the U.S. coastguard cutters Bibb and Campbell, which met the Flint at sea and escorted her and her crowded complement into port. But none was in serious condition.

Aboard the Flint lay the body of the ten-year-old Margaret Hayward of Hamilton, Ont., only one of those who managed to reach the rescue ships. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hayward died at sea of concussion and pneumonia. Her mother, who had been travelling with her, watched her body carried ashore.

Another mother on the Flint had watched her two children flung to death from a capsizing lifeboat. Fleeting from war-torn Europe, Mrs. Emma Stoutland met war at sea and saw fourteen-year-old Hans and Rebecca, seven, washed from her sight as she stood in another lifeboat. She still was weeping as she went ashore.

Death of a prominent Montreal musician was disclosed with the arrival of the Flint. Fred H. Blair, organist in the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul for more than thirty years, disappeared when a lifeboat overturned against the side of the yacht Southern Cross as it rescued passengers. His close friend and travelling companion, F. H. Rowe, soloist in the same church, was rescued from the same lifeboat.

The Southern Cross took aboard the human cargo of many lifeboats as it arrived near the scene of the disaster seven hours after the survivors had been cast adrift. From most of those who reached Canada yesterday had been transferred to the City of Flint.

Among the weariest group there was unanimity in agreeing the Athenia, which sailed from England for Montreal the day before Britain declared war on Germany, had been torpedoed by a submarine. Many said they saw a periscope as a swift-forming wake announced the torpedo; some said they later saw the sub rise from the water and shell the sinking ship with its deck artillery.

Some of those aboard ship were killed outright when the torpedo plunged into the Athenia's vital amidship on the port side. Others were trapped below decks and drowned in the sudden inrush of water when they could not ascend smashed staircases.

Eyewitnesses told of seeing others drown attempting to enter lifeboats, or when they capsized. Dozens of those flung into the water, though, were picked up by those in lifeboats.

SOVIETS CHARGE POLISH AVIATORS VIOLATING FRONTIERS

Moscow, Sept. 14.—(P)—Soviet Russia today accused Polish war planes of "frequent violations" of her western frontier, of which Moscow has dispatched vast numbers of reservists.

Soviet news agency communiques said Russian fliers had forced down two Polish planes and that their crews, totalling fifteen men, were detained. The communiques accused "the violators of trying to penetrate our territory."

Soviet officials indicated they were considering the question of how to deal with Polish refugees trying to cross the frontier.

GREATER SPEED IN MUNITIONS MAKING URGED

British Newspapers Take Up Criticism Voiced in House of Commons Against Alleged Defects in Arms Production System.

London, Sept. 14.—(P)—The Manchester Guardian today gave conspicuous attention to the problem of adequate munitions for Britain's war effort.

The London News-Chronicle on its front page displayed the attack on war profiteering in the House of Commons by Arthur Greenwood, acting leader of the Labor Party, and his expressed fear of a crisis like the shell shortage of the last war.

Both these newspapers and the Daily Herald (Labor) re-emphasized the main points of the Greenwood speech.

That the expansion of industrial productivity for war purposes is "one of the most gigantic problems this country has ever faced."

That the co-ordinating Ministry of Supply is twelve months behind with its census of machinery and "I have a feeling that it (the industrial problem) is not being faced with vigor."

That the Minister of Supply, Leslie Burgin, would make a great mistake if he did not consult the trade unions in pursuing the desired industrial expansion as to hours and conditions of work.

That the trade union movement "has got to come in on the ground floor. It cannot be treated as a poor relation in the discussion of these problems. It is an equal."

The Manchester Guardian said editorially: "One point that must have occurred to anyone who reads Prime Minister Chamberlain's two 'progress reports' is the absence of any reference to the supply of munitions. It was a remarkable omission."

"It is true that Mr. Burgin permitted himself to say in reply to a question yesterday that all firms on munitions have been asked 'to proceed on the basis of the utilization of full capacity' (one would think so indeed) but it may be gravely wondered whether the Government has yet realized the extent to which our whole industrial life must be transformed if we are to overcome Germany's totalitarian organization for war."

"Mr. Greenwood's warning was none too strong. We have hardly made a beginning in the mobilization of our engineering reserves or in the planning of our labor resources to meet the indefinite increases of production that a long war involves. And the Government gives no lead."

WAR NEWS BRIEFS

Johannesburg, Sept. 14.—(C.P. Reuters)—The resignation of Charles Te Water, High Commissioner for South Africa in London, was announced officially here today. It was reported he would be succeeded by S. F. Waterson, South African Minister to France.

Shanghai, September 14.—(P)—Foreign relief authorities estimated today 25,000,000 Chinese face starvation and other suffering this winter from floods in Hopeh Province and the Yellow River basin and drought in Shantung Province. Fall crops in these areas were said to be completely destroyed.

London, Sept. 14.—(P)—An anonymous person has offered £3,000 to the Government without interest for three years, it was announced today. The Chancellor of the Exchequer accepted the offer with thanks, it was added.

Britain And United States Seek To Eliminate Sources Of Marine Strife

By ANDRUE BERDING (Associated Press Staff Writer) Washington, Sept. 14.—(P)—Quiet conversations are under way between the United States and Great Britain to eliminate in advance as many as possible of the maritime causes of friction that arose between them in the first Great War.

Officials hope thereby to save themselves the preparation of such a constant stream of protests as went from Washington to London in the first two years of the last war. They also want to avoid the widespread criticism that welled up against Great Britain in Congress and among the people in 1915-16.

They are acting on the thought of President Wilson, expressed at the end of 1914 as the United States Government became exasperated by repeated British actions against American commerce. Mr. Wilson said he believed it should be possible for two governments "so genuinely friendly and so nearly of one mind with regard to the principles involved" to agree upon methods "by which good faith and entire compliance with the proper restrictions in a time of war and of national defence" could be achieved.

The points of possible collision are much the same as those which President Wilson mentioned in the diplomatic brow in the first Great War. For instance: The United States admitted the right of Great Britain to search American ships if they were suspected of carrying contraband to Germany. But it insisted the search should be made on the high seas and if the vessels cargo and its papers were found in order, it should be permitted to proceed. Great Britain instead hauled American ships into British ports, searched them there, delayed the ships and charged them port, wharfage, warehouse and other fees.

Already reports have arrived that American ships have been taken during the last several days into British ports for examination. The State Department said the destination of a ship's cargo should be determined from the ship's papers, but the British during the last war detained American ships while searching for other evidence which might throw a different light on the destination of the cargo. The Department sharply objected to the use of the United States flag by British merchantmen in order to escape attack by German submarines and raiders.

State Secretary Bryan refused to concede Britain's right to institute a blockade of German shores hundreds of miles out at sea. It is not yet known what working agreement can be arrived at with Great Britain and France to remove causes of friction. Its principal point, it is believed here, will probably be the form of some examination of cargo by United States authorities before ships leave American ports.

Air Attack On Civilians To End Pledges Continued from page 1. House of Lords that the German Government had notified Great Britain that it would observe for the duration of the war the prohibitions concerning the use of poisonous gases laid down in the Geneva Protocol of June, 1925.

He said, however, that Germany reserved full liberty of action in the event an enemy power infringed provisions to the protocol. The foreign secretary recalled that Hitler in his reply to President Roosevelt's recent appeal that there should be no bombing of undefended towns.

Reports of plans for unrestricted German bombing closely followed a British announcement that Germany "may attempt to establish submarine and air bases on the coasts of South and Central American countries."

As to aerial warfare, Lord Halifax told the House of Lords yesterday: "The restrictions which His Majesty's Government have imposed on their forces were based on the condition of similar restraint being observed by their opponents."

"His Majesty's Government must hold themselves completely free, if such restraint is not in fact observed, to take such action as they may deem appropriate."

(An announcement from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters said the German army would break Polish resistance in open towns and villages "with a minimum of bloodshed." The Polish Government was accused in the statement of encouraging Poles to resort to sniping.)

In reporting the belief of the British Government that Germany would try to establish submarine and air bases in South America, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said: "The Government has invited His Majesty's representatives in those countries to invite the governments to which they are accredited to take all steps which may be necessary to prevent any breaches of their neutrality."

The Times commented that the British Government had received no official confirmation of any German intention to bomb undefended cities, but added: "At any rate, whether the proclamation is authentic or not the German airmen have not yet been asked to this work of murder. Until the proposed atrocities are actually committed the British Government has committed the British Government with the French will certainly not depart from the assurance that both have given (that they would refrain from such attacks)."

Other newspapers featured prominently a statement from the Polish embassy in London, dated September 3, that German planes had bombed thirty cities and open towns in Poland, including more than 1,500 civilians, including women and children. Since then, the embassy said, scores of Polish towns and villages have been raided.

The papers also gave prominent place to a report by the United States envoy to Poland, Arthur Biddle, that Germans were bombing without regard to the safety of civilians. Meanwhile, blackout restrictions which plunged London into complete darkness with the outbreak of war are just beginning to ease up.

west. Some sections of the German front which advanced via the Warsaw-Siedles road have turned and are headed southwest and west. Ossowiec, last of the Polish frontier fortifications, was taken yesterday by East Prussian troops. Despite unfavorable weather the air force successfully attacked the eastern outskirts of Warsaw and Polish connecting roads lying further back. Two enemy planes were shot down. In the west, stronger French forces than hitherto advanced through our outposts in that section of German territory which protrudes from the western fortifications towards France between Saarbruecken and Hornbach. They were stopped by minefields and German defence fire.

REMODELLED DALADIER CABINET IS ESSENTIALLY A SOLDIER GOVERNMENT

Paris, Sept. 14.—(C.P. Havas)—Premier Daladier's remodelled war cabinet is a "Soldier's Government."

Daladier saw active service in the first Great War and was decorated several times. He was Yvon Delbois, new Education Minister, enlisted in the last war, served successively as an infantry sergeant and aviator, and was wounded twice and was twice cited. He replaces Jean Zay who joined the French army the day war was declared.

Auguste Champetier de Ribes, now Foreign Under-Secretary, distinguished himself as a soldier and was seriously wounded. Rene Besse, new Pensions Minister, was disabled in the last war.

MOTOR WORKERS TODAY SELECT BARGAIN AGENT

Employees of Briggs Manufacturing Company Given Choice Between Two Unions in Election Now Underway.

Detroit, Sept. 14.—(P)—In the largest election yet conducted by the National Labor Relations Board in the United States automobile industry, 21,000 employees of the Briggs Manufacturing Company today registered their preferences for a bargaining agent.

Over the protests of President Homer Martin, the name of the American Federation of Labor's faction of the United Automobile Workers remained on the ballots, offering workers in six Briggs plants here and one at Evansville, Ind., their choice among the U.A.W.-A.F.L., the Congress of Industrial Organizations branch of the United Automobile Workers, or no union at all.

In a last minute attempt to remove the U.A.W.-A.F.L. from the ballot, Martin protested in a telegram to the Labor Board that C.I.O. members were creating a "deadly reign of terror" among automobile workers here and that "it is impossible at this time to secure a democratic election" under the auspices of the Board's regional office at Detroit.

Poles are praying for rains to bog down Germany's motorized armies and hamper warplanes but the weather continues beautifully clear and sunny.

It is the sort of sky in which bombs, seen from afar, look like silver dots. They seem to float lazily down to earth. But close at hand, here at Lwow, it is different.

German bombers, even as I write this, are raining explosives on the oil and alcohol refineries. The table quivers under my hand as the earth trembles. Outside there is the din of shrapnel, anti-aircraft batteries and the shrill of bombardment on the edge of the city.

The Germans are using shrapnel bombs, I am told, and also some sort of concussion bombs. One of the latter dropped into a three-story building. The building collapsed as though the mortar had been pulled out from between the bricks.

The shrapnel bombs are used against concentration of soldiers and sometimes civilians also are hit. Flying metal from the explosions kills persons a block away from the blast.

I am told that the first bombardment of Lwow came on September 1, just as Hitler was telling the Berlin Reichstag of his decision to go to war with Poland.

For the first eleven days there were no anti-aircraft guns here. The casualties were great. Since the guns have been set up there has been an average of more than a dozen fatalities a day.

The Polish warfront is in flux again after the Poles temporarily stopped the Germans along the San and Vistula rivers. The Polish stand has been broken by the Germans in four places as nearly as could be told from the fragmentary information reaching Lwow.

Lwow's 100,000 Jews are fear-stricken. Someone spread a story they would be shot when the Germans came. Many of them contribute to the crush on the one highway to Rumania, ignoring Rumania's decision to close her frontier to them.

The French and British military missions to Poland are kept constantly on the move, remaining in contact with the Polish general staff through couriers. The British and French headquarters frequently become bomb targets a few hours after establishment.

Detailed Weather Report WARM; SCATTERED THUNDER SHOWERS Showers have occurred in some parts of Ontario and Northeast Quebec, also light to moderate showers in many sections of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta. ## Large Enrollment As School For Leaders Opens Sessions

One Hundred and Sixty-Five to Follow Eight-Week Course in Lennoxville High School—Aims of School for Leaders Explained by R. Alex Sim—Interesting Elective Held in Handicraft.

Its membership greatly increased over last year and its curriculum offering a much wider choice of study, the Eastern Townships School for Leaders opened last night at the Lennoxville High School. One hundred and sixty-five have been enrolled to follow the eight-week course.

"The school strives to teach leaders, or would-be leaders, of societies in the community to improve themselves in order that they may be better equipped to assist others to ward a fuller and happier life." R. Alex Sim, of the Rural Adult Education Centre, Lennoxville, declared in an address to the gathering.

Following registration education films were shown and folk dancing was enjoyed in the gymnasium under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Bryce, of the local Y.W.C.A. Miss Jean Campbell, organizer of the Lennoxville United Church, acted as accompanist.

In the handicraft elective, which will have a different instructress each week, Miss Alice Lighthall, of the Canadian Handicraft Guild, Montreal, gave a short history of hand-made work done in Canada and displayed many specimens of various branches of national handicraft, including weaving, rug-making, pottery, moose hair embroidery, beading, basket-weaving, hammered copper and iron work.

Pointing out that excellent handicraft work has been done and is still being done in the Eastern Townships, Miss Lighthall urged that the ability to do good handicraft be pressed by the present and coming generations.

Neil Morrison, B.A., of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, conducted the Radio Listening elective, and impressed upon the class the fact that although formerly learning was acquired through reading to a great extent, now people have become more used to learning by listening.

Listening groups have been formed in some areas where radios are few for the purpose of education as well as pleasure. Mr. Morrison pointed out. In an open discussion, it was agreed that the radio is producing a definite effect upon the public as far as education is concerned.

A period of group singing was conducted by W. H. Wolter, general secretary of the local Y.W.C.A., Miss Campbell again serving as accompanist, and Miss Marjorie Hale, secretary of the Y.W.C.A., introduced the instructors of the school.

Following the second elective, group games with Mr. Wolter as leader, folk dancing with Mrs. Bryce in charge, and the showing of educational films brought activities of the first session to a conclusion.

Allen Willard had charge of registration.

W.M.S. MEETING At their first fall meeting yesterday afternoon, members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Lennoxville United Church expressed their displeasure at the serving of liquor in the canteens at training camps.

The meeting, which was held at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Lane on Main street, with Mrs. P. Pergau, the president, in the chair, opened with a prayer by Rev. N. Donald Ross, whose father, Rev. N. B. Lopping, passed away a few days ago at Perth, Ont.

The members were encouraged by the report that a satisfactory portion of the allocation has been met for the first part of the year.

The president told the members that Mrs. E. C. James, of Danville, president of the Women's Missionary Society, will arrive in town shortly, and will make Lennoxville her future home. This news was received with pleasure, and was decided to ask Mrs. James to address the next meeting of the society.

An appeal for supplies for school children at Boudoin Centre, Que., has been received and will be attended to by the supply committee in the near future.

The study book chosen for this year is "Moving Millions." It was announced, and the background of the book's contents is India. "Frontier of Service" was the booklet under review. Mrs. M. Elizabeth McCurdy, Miss L. Levering, Mrs. W. J. Lane, Miss M. Pergau, Mrs. W. H. Abbott and Mrs. C. G. Green taking part.

Last year this society was asked to collect used stamps, which were sent to China, where they were sold and the proceeds used for the relief of the sick. The local society sent four pounds of these stamps last year, and it has been decided that this year will be continued again under the supervision of Mrs. W. H. Abbott.

General Notes The executive and instructors of the School for Leaders which opened in the High School last evening enjoyed a splendidly arranged dinner at the Varsity Tea Room, Belvidere street prior to the programme at the school. Covers were laid for twenty, and at this time announcements regarding the school's activities were made. Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pearson this week included Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Mayhew and their sons, Donald, and Mr. and Mrs. George Howard and their daughter, Georgina, and Miss Dorothy Howard, all of Timmins, Ont. The Children's Educational Theatre re-opens classes Sat. ### Car Crash Has Aftermath In Arrest Of St. Isidore Youth

Laurier Lafond, Exonerated by Coroner's Jury at Inquest, Taken in Custody by Provincial Police on Charge of Criminal Negligence—Was Driving Car Which Carried Paul Huot to His Death When It Struck Lumber-Laden Truck.

Charged with criminal negligence as the result of an automobile fatality which occurred last June, Laurier Lafond, twenty-four-year-old resident of St. Isidore d'Auckland, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Hertel O'Bready this morning and remanded to this afternoon when bail will be fixed. Lafond was taken in custody by Provincial Police yesterday afternoon following an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the accident, which claimed the life of Paul Huot, also of St. Isidore. Huot was almost instantly killed when Lafond's car, in which he was a passenger, crashed into the rear of a lumber-laden truck near Birchton on the night of June 29th.

A jury under Maurice Delorme, coroner for St. Francis District, returned a verdict of accidental death at the inquest held on August 18th, the probe having been delayed owing to the fact that Lafond was confined to the hospital from injuries suffered in the collision. When the coroner's report was submitted to the Attorney-General's Department at Quebec, a further investigation, which was climaxed by Lafond's arrest yesterday, was ordered.

It is likely that after bail has been fixed this afternoon Lafond will be remanded to tomorrow morning, when he will appear before a Judge in Magistrate's Court.

According to evidence given at the coroner's inquest, Mathias St. Laurent and Gerald St. Laurent, of Scotstown, had parked their truck on the side of the road to make some minor repairs and Lafond's car crashed into the rear of the vehicle.

Oscar Campeau, Sawerville hotel-keeper, testified that on the night of the accident he had served three bottles of beer to Lafond, Huot and a companion, Albert Gagnon, which they consumed in his tavern, and five bottles which they took out.

BIG INCREASE IN COFFEE AND TEA PURCHASES

Local Citizens Buying Taxed Articles in Large Quantities—Seasonal Increase in Sale of Canned Goods Reported.

Since tea and coffee have been included in the budget passed by the Dominion Parliament, citizens of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships have been busy stocking up so that for some time at least they will not have to pay increased prices for their favorite beverages.

Contacting a number of store owners and managers throughout the city, the Record learned today that demands for tea and coffee are exceptionally heavy, but that to date prices on the two commodities have not been raised.

Most of the local stores have yet to limit the amount of tea and coffee to be sold, although several have found it necessary to make sales of one pound of tea and one pound of coffee only per person because the heavy sales have depleted supplies.

A seasonal increase is noted in sales of canned goods, but the demand for other goods is no heavier than it was before the emergency measures were passed by the Government. A sugar shortage still exists in Sherbrooke, and stores are continuing to ration their sales in order to keep a supply on hand at all times if possible.

Ottawa, September 14.—Canadian sugar refiners have met the suggestion of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that they make sufficient deliveries to allow the consumers' panic which is now subsiding. A statement from the Prices Board follows:

"While complaints are still coming in from various localities, it is evident that the buyers' panic, which has created chaotic conditions in connection with the supply of sugar, is now subsiding. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board stated today that deliveries by Canadian refiners to all classes of customers in Canada during the six weeks ending September 11, were over 192,000,000 pounds as contrasted with less than 150,000,000 pounds during the same period in 1938.

This increase of almost 30 per cent. indicates that the refining industry as a whole is carrying out its undertaking to the Board to make deliveries to the trade up to 25 per cent in excess of the three-year average for this period.

"Complaints to the Board that wholesalers and jobbers in some areas are accumulating abnormal stocks are being investigated, and prompt measures will be taken should any such abuses be revealed."

Duck Shooting Season Opens Tomorrow In This District

Although in some parts of the province the open season on deer opens tomorrow, sportsmen in the Eastern Townships will have to wait until October 1 to be within the law, it was pointed out today by local officials of the Department of Mines and Fisheries. Moose hunting, which also opens tomorrow in some sections of Quebec, has been banned in the Eastern Townships until 1944.

The two months open season for ducks and geese also starts tomorrow in most sections of the province, including the Eastern Townships, while Saturday, September 23, will see a temporary lifting of the ban on partridges. In a move to halt the rapid extinction of the bird, the Provincial Government last year decreed a closed season on partridge.

For various reasons the Government has divided Quebec into four sections in which different open seasons are in effect. Section A comprises all the Eastern Townships; Section B is the Gaspé Peninsula, starting from and including the electoral districts of Rivière du Loup and Temiscouata; Section C the Saguenay District, and Section D the Montreal region to the north of the St. Lawrence River.

Hunting seasons for moose and deer are as follows: Section A, October 1 to November 29 (in this section, however, moose hunting has been banned until 1944 by special amendment); Section B, September 20 to November 19; Section C, September 15 to November 14, and Section D, September 25 to November 24.

According to the amendment to the game laws last month, the open season for partridges will begin on Saturday, September 23, and end on October 21, both dates inclusive. The limit per day for each person is five partridges, while no one is allowed to have more than fifteen birds in his possession at any one time. Possession of partridges is illegal after November 6.

The caribou season does not open until January 1, except in Bonaventure and Gaspé counties, where through special permit, the season extends from September 20 until November 19.

The season for ducks and wild geese in the counties of Portneuf, L'Assommoir, LeBrière, Mégantic, Frontenac and some parts of the north country was opened September 1 and scheduled to close November 1. In the Townships and all other sections of the province the season extends from September 15 to November 14, inclusive.

Hunters are allowed only one moose and one deer this season. A warning regarding the dangers involved in the use of firearms, coupled with a plea urging special precautions during the hunting season, was sounded today by Alfred Leduc, president of the Province of Quebec Safety League.

Stressing that it is most important to know how to use firearms, Mr. Leduc pointed out that every year, particularly during the hunting season, many people are killed and hundreds wounded through carelessness.

FUNERAL HELD FOR ESTEEMED EDUCATIONIST

John Parker, Native of Leeds Village, Had Earned Envyable Reputation in Eastern Townships and Province as a Whole.

Quebec, Sept. 14.—Funeral services for John Parker, well known in the Eastern Townships and the Province as a whole as a highly respected educationist, were held at Chalmers United Church here and attended by a large number of friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Parker was born in Leeds Village 79 years ago, the son of Daniel Parker, an early Scottish settler in that district. His education was received in the local school, in St. Francis College and also in McGill University, where he had his final preparation for his life's work.

His career included service as professor of mathematics in St. Francis College, as inspector of common schools, and later, being marked for promotion, he became inspector of High Schools and special officer in the Department of Education.

For over half a century he carried on work in these capacities with such devotion, wisdom and professional equipment as to give him a place amongst those whose names should be gratefully remembered for their contribution to the advancement of education in this Province. When advancing years told heavily upon him, without reducing his efforts, however, he engaged some few years in a quiet but still useful retirement in Quebec, his interest in the progress of the schools and in the elevation of high ideals of scholastic life and conduct never flagging.

He is survived by a widow, Ethel Paxson, and by two sons, Dr. Chester Parker, of Lancaster, N.B., and Mr. Keith Parker, of Leeds Village. One son was killed at the front in the Great War.

Efficient Organization Of Rotary International Draws High Praise

The highly detailed and efficient organization of Rotary International was praised today by Rotarian Douglas Stevenson, of the local Rotary Club, who attended meetings of the Canadian Advisory Committee held in Chicago as a delegate from Quebec and Eastern Ontario.

Talking of his trip to the Windy City, Rotarian Stevenson explained that in Rotary International headquarters there are files containing data on every one of the many Rotary Clubs throughout the world and on each individual Rotarian.

Rotary International officials wanted to learn from the members of the Advisory Committee the attitude of Canadian clubs in the light of the present war, and the general feeling expressed by both Rotary International heads and Advisory Committee members was that clubs in Canada should function just as efficiently in time of war as in time of peace.

Mr. Stevenson found Rotarians and business officials with whom he came in contact thoroughly in sympathy with the cause of France and the British Empire in the present conflict, and of the opinion that a change will soon be forthcoming in the United States neutrality stand so that their country will be able to aid the allies' cause by supporting them with the power of industry.

And Mr. Stevenson feels that citizens of Sherbrooke have little to grumble about when it comes to weather. In Chicago on Monday and Tuesday the mercury hovered at the ninety-five degree mark and the people of the great industrial city suffered greatly from the heat.

Police Prepare To Cope With Expected Smuggling Activity

Personnel of Border Patrols in Eastern Townships to Be Augmented and Operate on 24-Hour Basis—Smugglers and Bootleggers Generally Expected to Increase Operations in View of Higher Liquor Prices.

The personnel of border patrols in the Eastern Townships will be increased and operate on a 24-hour basis to prevent smuggling of American alcohol as a result of the sharp increase in liquor prices, it was indicated today by local officials of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Smugglers and bootleggers generally are expected to endeavor to take advantage of the price increase which went into effect in Quebec liquor stores yesterday to ply their trade in illicit alcohol and smuggled spirits, and police authorities are acting accordingly. Sgt. Jim Lemieux, in charge of the R.C.M.P. in the Eastern Townships, stated today that activity in the illicit liquor business has been at a low ebb for some time, with the exception of the gang which operated at Martinville and was sentenced in Court here yesterday.

Sgt. Lemieux pointed out that there are at present fourteen men in the five Eastern Townships detachments of the R.C.M.P., and this number is expected to be increased to twenty. "The patrol on certain border points will be doubled and operate on a 24-hour basis, he said.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—To halt attempts to flood Canada with smuggled American alcohol, in view of the sharp price increase brought into effect yesterday, plans have been made to double border patrols immediately, it was learned at the local headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police last night. To dam the flow of alcohol from illicit Canadian distilleries, the preventive squads will also be increased within a short time, the report added.

Although the illicit liquor traffic was brought to a standstill in Quebec during the past year, the regular excise tax on alcohol had previously provided a lucrative field for the smuggler and the illicit distiller.

The difference in price between the alcohol sold by the Liquor Commission and the cost of the raw alcohol smuggled over the border, distilled in some of the secret 1,900-gallon a day plants in the city and district, proved a bonanza for years to liquor gangs. When the concentrated attention of the federal police was given to the problem many of the big stills were immediately raided and smashed, and the conspirators jailed. Recently a few 200-gallon a day capacity stills have fallen into police hands.

With the sudden increase in price following the new $3-a-gallon federal excise tax, it was believed that the illicit liquor traffic would prove too much of a temptation for several of the gangs which were broken up, and that attempts would be made to re-enter the "business."

Until recently street prices for "fairly good" illicit alcohol were variously quoted at $3.75 to $4.00 a gallon. With the hoist of the excise tax the spread between the legal alcohol and the illicit brand will be greater.

With the possibility of added profits, due to the higher price of legal alcohol, the police were of the opinion that new attempts will be made to circumvent the Excise Act.

During recent months, with most local illicit distilleries closed, the greater quantity of bootlegged alcohol has come into Quebec from the Maritime Provinces and from the United States, it was reported, with some of the traffic entering the province from the United States via Ontario and the Quebec border points.

THE DEMOCRACIES DETERMINED

Each passing day makes one thing abundantly clear—that the Western democracies are determined to war to a finish for the ending of the menace of Hitlerism in the modern world. The meeting of the Supreme Defence Council "Somewhere in France" indicates that Great Britain and France have realized in the early stages of the game, the necessity of a common course of action against a common foe, and it is probable that in addition to the public statement on the need of a co-operative policy, actual and private plans were made for the carrying out of this scheme. This probably calls for the command of the land forces by the French army chief with the control of air and naval forces being in British hands. This is but a logical supposition when the relative development of the three services by the two nations are considered.

Another "No Compromise" sign is the warning by Great Britain to Germany that unless the bombing of defenceless Polish cities is halted, the British air force would consider itself free from any pledges to keep its bombs for military and strategic positions. They hint strongly that in the game of unlimited aerial warfare, the Allies are prepared to take their chances with the Reich at anytime and indicate that they feel the outbreak of such a warfare would be more costly to the Reich than to either of the Western powers.

The pretext used by Hitler and his aides for announcing unrestricted aerial war is rather thin to say the least, namely, that Polish civilian snipers have attacked German troops. But it is an excuse anyway, which is more than the German undersea navy needed to sink an unarmed passenger liner bearing refugees from Europe.

U. S. CONGRESS SUMMONED

The decision of President Roosevelt to call a special session of the United States Congress for next Thursday to study the repeal of the much-disputed Neutrality Act is the inevitable result of the renewal of his pledges of United States support for Canada in case of invasion from Europe. One of the most effective means of supporting a friendly nation in time of war is to allow that nation to build up its defensive services to the greatest possible point of efficiency. This the Neutrality Act specifically prevents in that the sale of arms, munitions and war materials to the Dominion is prohibited, whether or not these materials are to be used for home defence or are to be shipped overseas.

The proposal which President Roosevelt seeks to place before Congress is his famed "cash-and-carry" provision under which warring nations may buy freely in the United States if they can pay for their purchases in cash. Delivery must be taken in the United States, and it is up to the buyers to get the goods home as best they can. This proposition is especially valuable to Canada, whose substantial gold and foreign currency reserves would make the payment feature of the bill but a small hardship. In fact, during the last struggle Canada paid for its entire United States purchases in cash and financed many purchases for its European allies.

Similarly, the transportation problem is comparatively easy in that the absence of a sea journey removes the submarine menace. Despite any efforts made by Canadian industrialists to fill the need for munitions, this Dominion must inevitably import substantial quantities of arms and munitions, especially in the specialty field, if the defence services are to be brought up to their proper basis, and the United States would carry out their friendship policy to a logical conclusion if they rescinded the ill-advised neutrality legislation which works to the detriment of the democracies, whose ideals they profess to support.

FISHERIES PRODUCTION GAINS

Canadian fisheries production showed a substantial increase in value during 1938, according to information compiled by the Department of Mines and Resources at Ottawa. The total value of the production was $40,832,179 compared with $38,976,294 in the preceding year. These totals represent the value of fish as marketed, whether sold for consumption fresh, canned, smoked or dry. The sea fisheries contributed $33,826,989 or 83 per cent of the total production while inland fisheries accounted for $6,725,190 or seventeen per cent.

Fish of all kinds, including shellfish, but excluding seals, begalas, whales, dulse and seaweed, landed during 1938 amounted to 10,741,340 cwt. with a value at the point of landing of $22,837,890. This compares with a catch of 10,918,048 cwt. and a landed value of $23,193,087 in 1937.

By reason of her great salmon fishery, British Columbia is first among the provinces in order of marketed value of fisheries production, with a total in 1938 of $18,723,591, or 46 per cent of the total output for the Dominion. For the other provinces, the value in relation to the total output was as follows: Nova Scotia, twenty-two per cent; New Brunswick, ten per cent; Ontario, eight per cent; Quebec, five per cent; Manitoba, five per cent; Prince Edward Island, two per cent; Alberta, one per cent; Saskatchewan, one per cent; and the Yukon Territory, 1-10 of one per cent. Compared with 1937, increases in value of output are shown for British Columbia, Quebec, Manitoba, Prince Edward Island and Alberta, and decreases for the remaining provinces and the Yukon Territory.

Salmon, the principal fish caught in Canadian waters, showed an increase over the preceding year of 42,515 cwt. and a gain in value of $2,673,166. The pack of salmon in 1938 totalled 1,708,835 cases valued at $12,274,863 compared with 1,509,320 cases valued at $9,268,404 in 1937. Salmon is marketed chiefly as canned, although a considerable amount is sold fresh for consumption, and smaller quantities are marketed as mild cured and dry salted.

Next in importance is the lobster fishery, with a marketed value of $3,793,219, and following are cod valued at $3,335,231, and herring worth $2,487,231. Other kinds of fish having a marketed value of a million dollars or more in 1938 were halibut, whitefish, sardines, haddock, trout, and pickerel.

THE PULP AND PAPER INDUSTRY

The wide scope of the Canadian pulp and paper industry is revealed by a map newly-issued by the Dominion Forest Service, Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, which shows that Canada has ninety-nine pulp and paper mills.

Canada leads the world in the production of newsprint paper, and exports more newsprint than all other countries combined. Newsprint competes with wheat for first place among the commodities exported from the Dominion. The pulp and paper industry is Canada's most important manufacturing industry, and its phenomenal development during the present century has been due primarily to a fortunate combination of readily accessible resources of wood of superior quality for the manufacture of both paper and rayon and an abundance of well-distributed water-powers, as well as dependable supplies of fresh water.

HAVE A SMILE

"And how," asked the dear old lady, "did you boys spend most of your time when you were not in the trenches?"

"Oh, chatting, mum, chatting most of the time!"

C.O. (addressing recruit): "We want you to look upon all your comrades in the regiment as your brothers, and to regard me as your father—father of the regiment. Do you understand?"

Recruit: "Yes, Dad!"

"Willie," asked the teacher, "What is the plural of man?"

"Men," announced Willie.

"And the plural of child?"

"Twins!" was the prompt reply.

Sergeant (to recruit): "Why did you run away yesterday? I only told each man to count three, then throw the bomb away."

Recruit: "Yes, but the man next to me stuttered."

Wife: "I'm afraid, Oliver, you do not love me any more—at least, not so much as you used to."

Husband: "Why?"

Wife: "Because you always let me get up to light the fire now."

Husband: "Nonsense, my dear! Your getting up to light the fire makes me love you all the more."

"Is your boy going back to college?"

"Yes," replied the farmer. "It'll be worth a good deal to keep him from interfering with practical work around the place."

FROM THE PEN OF E. T. WRITERS

DEATH AND HITLER.

When Hitler sought that mighty ruler, Death, For aid to gain his just (?) desire, Death's lipless mouth expelled no friendly breath Of sympathy, or vicious fire; His eyelless sockets showed no love or hate, But something from his barren throat Pulsated to the core of human fate A message couched in grimy rote:

"I have no favorites upon this earth, I reap alike all living things; I know naught of pretended fault or worth, Or good or ill my reaping brings. I need no help to gain the destined ends Committed to me in this world; My cycle lasts until all life suspends In cosmic renovation furled.

But you may crowd the way that I must take With greater harvest for my blade; Then will the swath be larger in my wake, A swifter ultimate be made." Then something seemed to almost gleam and burn On Death's forbidding, hooded face: "Kill, kill," he shrieked, "and thus more quickly earn Death and oblivions passive place!"

The Hitler ego wore a sullen frown; Then Danger demons spelled his name, As Glory cast her ragged mantle down In grim reply to calling fame. "This ragged thing is all that you can gain Unleashing hate in slimy flood, And dyeing history's page with shameful stain Engrossed with guileless children's blood!

You may assist, but progress links will snap, And clumsy mendings then be made; Your name, spit out in vicious tones, and apt, Will quickly jingle into shade. But ere the painful wounds of war are healed, Or friendship gains new happy trust; Before safe honor pacts are sealed, You will be mine, as common dust!"

PRESS COMMENTS

HITLER EVIDENTLY THINKS HIMSELF A GOD

(Ottawa Journal)

The able Associated Press correspondent at Berlin, Louis P. Lochner, gives us a curious picture of Hitler making history. "In the most critical moments," he says, "Hitler locks himself in his room and goes on one." He gave two hours of "solitary meditation" to a British note this week—and, as we know, came to the wrong answer. Secluded in the Chancellery for days, he never made himself visible to the crowds that stood "silently, almost 'pathetically,' in front of the building. Had he looked out he might have found evidence that war was not a popular idea among the German people. But Hitler, this tinseled god, wrapped in his own vision of his greatness, kept to his meditation, shut himself away even from his generals, his intimates, his closest advisers.

It is a great tragedy that events should have put the world's peace in the keeping of a man so clearly unbalanced, so definitely a mental case. Imagine Chamberlain, or Daladier, or Roosevelt, speaking to Parliament as Hitler shrieked Friday morning to his tame Reichstag:

"From now on I belong to my people as never before, and beginning today I am the first soldier of the German Reich. If I am willing to sacrifice my life then my people should be willing to sacrifice their lives for their country. There will be no sacrifice made in Germany which I myself will not share."

It may come to the German people that there would be a singular appropriateness in the spectacle of Hitler as a war casualty, that no one after all has a greater claim to that distinction than the man who started the trouble.

STALIN SAID TO BE AFRAID OF HITLER

(H. B. Elliott, in Christian Science Monitor)

It was in the Orient that I got my first lesson in Soviet diplomacy. There was talk of the Russians selling their share of the Siberian coastal island of Sakhalin to Japan. I asked A. A. Joffe, signer of the Brest-Litovsk Treaty, then Soviet Ambassador to China, about it. He refused to confirm or deny the report. But when I expressed some immature doubt that the Soviet could be so unpatriotic as to part with Russian territory, he remarked, "Young man, don't think of us in terms of others. We have no prestige to worry about, no silly national honor. If it suits our book as practical people to part with Sakhalin, we'll do it. We are realists, first, last, and all the time."

A realist is a person who puts a higher value on his skin than on his integrity. Stalin, according to Krivitsky, is afraid of Hitler. As a realist, therefore, he "joined" him, even though he had to swallow the artificial barrier separating the two ideologies. The comic note if there's any comic note in this cosmic struggle, is that millions of Stalinites, presumably will now have to do the same. What, for instance, is to become of the Third International and its "fellow-travelling" with the democracies against the Fascists? Or individual Communists who think of Hitler as the arch-enemy of the working class? Stalin has cut the ground from under their feet. And it isn't as if they're now expected to muffle their hisses against Hitler. They must rediscover Hitler as a pal in good standing of the Kremlin, a kind of blood brother, so to speak.

I can't follow the thesis that Stalin is acting in revenge. That, just because Britain left him out in the cold, and pushed Hitler eastward, he's turning the tables. Realists cannot afford to be vengeful. Stalin, it seems to me, looked upon his situation coldly and calculatingly. Ideally, while he is building up a strong nationalist state, either isolation or collective security is his best protection. Collective security came to an end with the League, and Litvinoff, with his refrain that "peace is one and indivisible" went with it. Isolation is impossible in a world in turmoil. What could he do? On his east is aggressive Japan. Only China prevents Japan from falling on Siberia and such a descent would be bound to come as soon as Europe became embroiled in war. On the west is aggressive Hitler. Turned toward Soviet Russia by the Munich Pact, Hitler looked more and more of a menace. It wasn't a healthy sort of situation to the man in the Kremlin, viewing his position from both sides.

CANADA'S MILITIA TREATED AS A JOKE

(Financial Post)

If Canada is to play the role in this war that our great resources and our extensive industrial equipment clearly indicate for us, there must be competent businesslike leadership and direction at the top. We have not had such competent direction in these recent years. Every militia officer knows how our army units have had to struggle along without necessary equipment for training purposes; and how today they are given the difficult task of bringing their regiments even up to peacetime strength under serious difficulties that are the product of short sightedness and inefficiency at Ottawa.

Late this week there were many who smiled or snickered as they saw young chaps in none-too-smart uniforms doing their duty "on guard" at local Armories. The youngsters themselves seemed ill at ease. Passers-by treated the thing as a bit of a joke.

Unfortunately Canada's militia—lock, stock and barrel—has been treated as a joke by Canadians ever since the Great War. Instead of being modernized and made an integral part of community life it has struggled along in a weak, neglected condition. For the most part ill equipped and lacking in public sympathy and support, it has been kept alive almost entirely by a handful of public-spirited officers and men in each community who cherished the ideal of a branch of public service equally valuable to the individual and to the country at large.

It is now too late to revamp the militia in favor of a wider programme of national training and service as has been done in Great Britain. Such an undertaking should have been undertaken at any time in Canada in the last twenty years. It would have replaced the obsolete militia organization which is a hangover from the Crimean days and to which Canada has clung, despite progressive leadership in other directions in almost every other country. The immediate job is now to expand the existing militia organization as quickly as possible on an active service basis.

GERMANY'S BELIEF

(Victor Wallace Germain in The Contemporary Review)

Official Germany does not believe that Mr. Chamberlain, even if he made war, would have the courage of endurance to wage it for very long. Their idea is that if they lead off with an offensive against Poland and smash the Polish Army, and occupy Danzig and the Corridor and Upper Silesia by armed force, and then make a peace-offensive, powerful voices would be raised in England to make peace and to leave Poland to her fate. These people, the Germans think, would raise the cry: "What can we do to help Poland anyhow? It was a guarantee which ought never to have been given. Better to come to an understanding with Germany than to have a war which will last for many years, involve millions of pounds, and reduce us to bankruptcy even if we are victorious. The Germans do not believe that Mr. Chamberlain, or Lord Halifax, are the right people to close their ears

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

BY WM. E. MCKENNEY
Secretary, American Contract Bridge League

LET DEFENSE CASH HIS WINNERS; DON'T WEAKEN YOUR TRUMP POWER

One of the most important things to remember when playing a suit contract is that you must retain control of the trump situation. Here's another extraordinarily fine hand. I am going to ask readers to study it carefully, because it shows what you can do with a bridge hand if you will stop and think it out.

When West opens the king of clubs and follows with the queen, the natural tendency of most South players would be to ruff it, and that would be safe if the adverse trumps should break 3-3. But it would be disastrous if the trumps break 4-2. South has enough trumps to meet a 4-2 break if he isn't forced.

Why not let West win three club tricks, South discarding the two small spades? Then dummy can stop the club suit, saving South from a force, and any other lead is won by a top card. Once he gets in, declarer can cash four hearts, five diamonds, and the spade ace, for 10 tricks.

News Of Women's Clubs

Under the guidance of Mrs. A. J. Milligan, members of the Baptist Missionary Circle met in the Church yesterday afternoon to make plans for the coming season's work.

Mrs. W. Seely conducted the devotional period and afterwards Mrs. Milligan addressed the meeting.

Choosing "Springs of New Life in India," as the topic of her remarks, Mrs. Milligan also dealt with the various forward movements, especially mentioning the Madras Conference.

Following the disposition of several items of business the meeting closed with the singing of an hymn and the Benediction.

Members of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society met last evening for a special session in the Church hall to hear Miss A. L. Whitting, a missionary from Jhansi, India, speak on "Social Conditions," and her work amongst the Brahmins.

Mrs. O. H. Parker, president, was in the chair and following the devotional exercises, which were conducted by Mrs. E. E. Gilson, the president introduced the guest speaker, and at the close of her address also extended the Society's thanks to Miss Whitting.

A pleasing interlude was a lovely vocal solo by Mrs. A. C. Hill, with Mrs. Malcolm Mackay acting as accompanist.

The meeting was closed with prayer by the Rev. J. R. Graham.

There ensued a pleasant social hour during which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. Beal, Mrs. Roy Young and Mrs. R. Norton.

Tea was poured by Mrs. J. Sawye, and members of the Mary Murray Group assisted in serving.

The magnitude of the work done by the V.O.N. in Sherbrooke and its environs was revealed in reports covering the past three months—during which 1,079 visits were paid and expenses totalled $1,266.94—which were submitted at yesterday's meeting in the Whiting Block.

Rev. Dr. G. Ellery Read, the president, was in the chair, and the minutes of the last meeting in June, as read by Mrs. M. L. McFadden, were approved.

Owing to the absence of Mr. F. E. Kerridge, treasurer, the financial statement for June, July and August was presented by Mrs. S. F. MacLagan. Total receipts amounted to $1,148.97 and expenditures to $1,266.94, leaving a deficit of $117.97.

It was decided to hold the annual Thrift Shop in October, final arrangements for this major undertaking to be made at the next regular meeting.

A motion was also passed to the effect that in future V.O.N. meetings will be held on the second Tuesday of each month in the Child Welfare Clinic Room at four p.m.

Miss Edna Osborne, nurse in charge of the Sherbrooke V.O.N., gave the statistical report for the past three months: In June 315 visits were paid, 255 in Sherbrooke and 68 in Lennoxville, thirty-two new cases were registered, and the month's fees totalled $72. In July there were 364 visits of which 328 were in Sherbrooke and 36 in Lennoxville, while 31 cases were admitted. Fees totalled $64.

Visits in August totalled 400, 363 in Sherbrooke and 37 in Lennoxville. Fees amounted to $62.

DEATHS REPORTED: MRS. FRANK GODDARD, OF BETHEL, ME., FORMERLY OF SOUTH DURHAM

South Durham, Sept. 14.—It was with sorrow that the news was received here Saturday, September 9, of the death of Mrs. Goddard, nee Mildred McCutcheon, at her home in Bethel, Maine, after a long illness.

In her forty-second year, Mrs. Goddard was born here, the second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCutcheon, and was united in marriage to Mr. Frank Goddard. Of this union there was one son, who predeceased her on September 11, 1938.

The remains arrived here on Saturday afternoon, and were met at the station by many friends and were taken to the home of Mr. H. Frost.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon at St. James Church with Rev. Mr. H. C. Denton in charge. The choir sang by request two favorite hymns, "Does Jesus Care?" and "I Must Tell Jesus All of My Trials," as well as "On the Resurrection Morning" and "Breathe On Me, Breath of God."

The casket, covered with beautiful flowers, silent tokens of love and esteem, was borne by six old neighbors, Messrs. Ernest Patrick, Harry Prince, Clement Montgomery, Harry V. Hughes, Roland Montgomery and Mervyn Montgomery, and burial was made in the United Cemetery beside her son.

Left to mourn are her husband, Mr. Goddard, and his daughter, Miss Goddard, of Maine, three sisters, Mrs. Quimby, Mrs. Thompson and Miss Violet McCutcheon, and one brother, Joseph McCutcheon, who have the sincere sympathy of this community in their bereavement.

Those from out-of-town who attended the funeral were Mr. Frank Goddard, Mr. Joseph McCutcheon and Miss Violet McCutcheon, of Bethel, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Quimby and two sons, of Malone, New York, and many from the surrounding districts.

ARTHUR SHORER, HIGHWATER. Glen Sutton, September 14.—The funeral of Arthur Shorer, son of Henry Shorer, and the late Mrs. Shorer, of Sweetburg, whose death occurred on Friday September 8, at Highwater, was held on Sunday September 10, at the home of Mrs. Jennie Westcott, the Rev. N. H. Brock officiating.

HISTORIC CAMP AGAIN CENTRE FOR TRAINING

Two Thousand Odd Troops Again Concentrated on Bleak Carling Heights Outside of London, Unused Since Last War.

London, Ont., Sept. 14.—In the short space of ten days, the bleak, flat hill known as Carling Heights has bloomed into a town of hundreds of tents and with nearly as many rules as a city government.

It is 25 years since the dogs of war bothered the dreams of recruits on the large camp site which borders historic Wolsley Barracks, headquarters of the Royal Canadian Regiment. Today, 2,000 odd men—many of them apple-cheeked youths as in 1914—await the call to march away from the heights.

It is home defense mobilization, but the spirit of "quo vadis?" is in the air. For many of them know their destiny is overseas.

Bright new khaki marquee tents, in long rows, contrast with lines of white of bell tents, home of the private soldier.

The stranger, it looks like a carnival, carefree, as the sun shines on the canvas and sparkles the metal of moving vehicles.

But draw closer, and it looks more like war. Military police guard the gates and check all automobiles and trucks. Officers hurry about singly, or move more slowly in groups as they inspect kitchens, phone depots and orderly rooms.

The food is good, and there is enough of it. Beef stew, meat pie and roasts are the staples. Each unit has different menus, varying with the abilities of the cooks, but "I want the men fed well," said Camp Commandant Lieut.-Col. C. C. McArthur at the start. There may be a dearth of uniforms and shoes, but the O.C. will brook no scarcity of staples in food.

COUNTRY CLUBBERS PREPARE FOR BATTLE

Alley Captains Rally Forces For Mammoth Clash To Decide Championship Of Locker Room

Phil Mathias, Bart Holtham and Ron Welsh Head Three Alleys to Compete for Locker Room Title Saturday Afternoon—Charges and Counter-Charges Feature Campaigns Designed to Shatter Moral of Opponents—Welsh Faction Refuses Offer for Common Front by Mathias Group.

An air of feverish preparation hangs over the Sherbrooke Country Club. Par-busters of all ages, sizes and shapes are scurrying over the course all in a dither. On fairways, in the rough and in trap and bunker, woods and irons may be seen flashing through the ozone.

Perish the thought that trenches and air raid shelters are being dug. This wild activity is nothing more or less than a prelude to the annual locker room tournament which winds up on a hilarious note proceeding at the Country Club.

Angry housewives wait while suppers and dinners grow cold, because with such an important matter as the locker room championship at stake their husbands find little time to worry about their inner men. Up hill and down dale, through rough and through smooth the army of golfers marches, and when on Saturday the great tourney is played, then, and only then, will peace be restored at the club and in many homes throughout the city.

Teams representing three alleys will take part in the historic fray. Captain Phil Mathias and his stout henchmen of Alley No. 2 are defending champions, and will stop at nothing to retain their laurels. Alley No. 1 is commanded by Bart Holtham while Ron Welsh is skipper of the radical No. 3 alley.

The cup which will be presented the winners of the mighty battle has been designed by several of the best brains of the Dominion, and is, according to Phil Mathias, a work of art. Moreover, it is made of unbreakable material to guard against damages which might be caused by enthusiasts celebrating their victory. Work of designing and building the cup covered a period of seven months, three weeks, seven days, four hours and ten minutes, roughly, and followed a secret pattern.

Interviewed today, Captain Bart Holtham of the No. 1 team said: "In my opinion it is foolish indeed to hold this match, because the result is a foregone conclusion. In fact, I might say the championship is in the bag for No. 1 alley. My team is made up of the intelligentsia of the locker rooms and contains the best looking as well as the most capable golfers. Moreover, we have the advantage of fresh air whereas the other alleys dwell in the shadow of darkness."

Captain Phil feels, however, that the No. 1 alleymen are foolish indeed to form a voluntary suicide squad. He intimates that nothing less than a charge of dynamite could pry his No. 2 boys from the winning trail. In addition, the fiery leader of the titleholders lashes out against Captain Ron Welsh, of No. 3 alley claiming he and his mates are holding under-cover drills and chalk talks with a view to undermining the morale and confidence of the other outfits.

Stoutly defending his cause, "Cap" Welsh accuses his wily opponents of organizing paid hecklers to dog the footsteps of the No. 3 alley players and of forming groups to distribute pamphlets among his boys as part of a huge psychological barrage. "With Tom Chapman lined up, we can't lose," "Cap" Welsh asserts confidently.

Royal and Ancient rules are likely to be disregarded when these three powerful units swing into action. The Welsh faction are determined to abolish Holthamism from the earth, but will not listen to any requests of the Mathias group—Irish Republican Army affiliates—for a common front. The Holtham party are determined to pass up local advances and consolidation of positions in favor of a large-scale offensive.

COTE, CHAREST TO CLASH FOR TENNIS CROWN

Eastern Townships Tournament Finalists to Meet Again for City Net Title—Captured Semi-Final Matches Last Night.

A few weeks ago Yvan Cote and Majella Charest clashed for the men's singles championship of the Eastern Townships, and they are ready to renew their rivalry in the final of the City Tennis Tournament.

Cote, the E.T. champion, entered the final round last night as he outlasted Conrad Gregoire and forced his opponent to default after four gruelling sets, while Charest swept to a straight-set victory over Hee. Prefontaine.

Score of the Cote-Gregoire match was 9-11, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3. Exhausted by a gallant effort, Gregoire was unable to play the final set. In the opening set, which went to twenty games, both players were on their toes and the lead seasawed back and forth before Gregoire took the nineteenth and twentieth games.

Cote came back to win the second set 6-2, but dropped the third 5-1 as Gregoire reached the peak of his stride and was unbeatable. When Gregoire lost touch in the fourth set, however, Cote came through fast to win 6-3.

Charest took Prefontaine 6-3, 7-5, 6-3, but he had a fight on his hands from start to finish.

Tonight's games: East Sherbrooke: 7:30: Gertrude Joyal vs. Alice Dauphinais. 8:30: Majella Charest and Connie Gregoire vs. Lucien Goyette and Bill Jonas.

MUST BE A RECORD
Bull, Wales. —Four golfers here, one of them a woman, claim a world for holes-in-one. In the course of the day, all four holed out in one at the same 85-yard hole.

Salford, England. —S. M. Williams and Emrys Evans, Welsh Rugby Union players, have turned professional for Salford of the English Rugby League.

It is held imperative by the indomitable leaders that even the aged and infirm report for duty. It is not believed likely police protection will be required, although from all three camps today came charges of subversive tactics. This match shapes up as a bitter fight to the finish, from which the fittest will survive.

Reports of a pitched battle involving members of all three teams last night were denied in semi-official quarters today. News of further developments is expected momentarily.

Acceptance Of Quebec Team Raises Provincial To Eight-Club Circuit

Montreal, Sept. 14.—Application of a Quebec team for a franchise in the Provincial Senior Hockey League was accepted last night, it was announced after a meeting of league officials. Representatives said the team likely would be known as the Quebec Beavers.

Acceptance of the application raised the league to an eight-team circuit. Sherbrooke, Boston, Valleyfield, Lachine, Shawinigan Falls, Verdun and St. Hyacinthe hold the other franchises, the latter two clubs having been admitted this year.

Two Quebec teams made application for franchises several weeks ago but league officials decided to table the requests until Cornwall Flyers decided whether to hold their Provincial franchise or join with the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

At a Q.S.H.L. meeting last week Cornwall was accepted into the league and it was expected the P.E.H.L. would bring in one of the Quebec teams to fill the vacancy.

The move gives Quebec two teams in senior company. Quebec Aces play in the Q.S.H.L.

might be able to break his bones but that names will never hurt him, Phil Mathias, colorful captain of No. 2 alley, defenders of the locker room championship at the Sherbrooke Country Club, is going severely about his business in completing last minute arrangements for retaining the battered mug emblematic of the title.

Captains Ron Welsh and Bart Holtham, of No. 3 and No. 1 alleys respectively, claim victories in the verbal sparring that has preceded the epic battle coming up on Saturday afternoon, but Phil says: "Let 'em rave, we'll be in there when the time comes."

Chicago, Sept. 14.—C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville and Little Joe Thompson, carrying the Canadian challenge in the United States Amateur Golf championship, faced stern opposition in the third round today.

Somerville, lone former champion left in the tournament, was drawn against Dick Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn., a semi-finalist in the 1939 tournament. Marvin (Bud) Ward, of Spokane, Wash., who nearly won the United States Open crown this summer, furnished the opposition for "Little Joe", of Burlington, Ont.

The 1932 champion from London, Ont., won his way into the third round play with a four and two victory over Joseph Lynch, of Canton, Mass., yesterday. Thompson gained the third round with a four and three win over Kean Donnelly, of Philadelphia, after a two up triumph over Stewart Alexander, Jr., of Burlington, N.C.

Ushered to the sidelines in the most dazzling series of upsets in years were Willie Turnesa, of Elmford, N.Y., the defending champion; two others who had won the amateur; a former United States Open king; the tourney medalist; a former British Amateur champ and four former rulers of the United States Public Links.

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Welly Van Horn, a tall, grinning boy from California, has everybody at Forest Hills saying he will be the next great champion of the tennis courts—perhaps no later than next year.

Welly, nineteen only six days ago, looked like championship stuff yesterday in swatting Elwood Cooke out of the big tournament in four sets. His service and his flat forehand drive, reminiscent of the great Ellsworth Vines of 1931, defeated Cooke 6-3, 8-10, 6-4, 7-5. Cooke was a Wimbledon finalist this year.

His quarter-final opponent tomorrow will be Wayne Sabin of Portland, who scored a surprising victory yesterday over Adrian Quist of Australia 11-9, 4-6, 8-6, 6-1. There were eight men and eight women survivors to battle it out in the quarter-finals starting today. The general opinion was that yesterday's series of upsets, eliminating Quist, Cooke and Frankie Parker, the three top-seeded men in the lower bracket, had some long way toward giving the title to Bobby Riggs.

BEARS EVEN UP WITH GIANTS
Jersey City and Newark, the noted sports rivals, are going to extremes in their International League Governors' Cup series.

It took the longest game in the history of the play-offs—sixteen innings—to bring the Bears a three-two victory over the Giants last night to even their series after two games. This score was identical to that by which Jersey's champions won the opener Tuesday night.

In contrast Buffalo Bisons opened their series against Rochester Red Wings last night with an easy eight-one triumph, achieved on the five-hit flinging of "Lefty" Al Smith.

The fray at Jersey City was a hurling duel between Johnny Wittig of the Giants and George Barley and Norman Branch of the Bears.

Newark Collected two runs in the second and then was held scoreless until the sixteenth when catcher Hal Wagner doubled and came home on two sacrifices—the second a long fly by Branch, who got credit for the victory.

Winners of four out of seven games in these two series will meet for the Governor's Cup which carries with it a $4,000 purse and a right to meet the American Association representative in the "Little World Series."

THOMPSON AIDS REDS WITH HOT MOUND EFFORT

Cincinnati Conserves 3 1/2-Game Edge Over Cards as Pitcher Hurls Two-Hitter for 3-0 Win Over Dodgers.

The best news Cincinnati has had lately was the two-hit pitching performance unfurled by Gene (Junior) Thompson.

Thompson shut out Brooklyn Dodgers three-nothing yesterday for the first victory the Reds have negotiated in more than three weeks with any pitcher other than Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer.

The immediate effect of this triumph has to preserve Cincinnati's three and a half game lead over St. Louis Cardinals, who nosed out the Phillies ten-nine by virtue of Ducky Medwick's two-run homer in the eighth.

The pennant picture at present is:
W. L. G.B.L. T.P.
Cincinnati... 80 50 24
St. Louis... 78 55 3 1/2 20
Chicago... 74 62 9 18
Brooklyn... 69 62 1 1/2 23

Chicago Cubs strengthened their grip on third with a fifteen-four blast against Boston Bees.

New York Giants split a doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Harry Gumbert coming up with a spectacular two-hit contribution to take the opener two-nothing and the Buccaners bunting their hits in the nightcap to win seven-four.

Bobby Feller led Cleveland Indians to a nine-four decision over the World Champion Yankees for a sweep of the two-game series.

Boston Red Sox took advantage of the opportunity to chop another nick in New York's American League lead and prolong the pennant race.

They now stand:

Boston's victory was a one-nothing taming of Detroit Tigers.

Chicago White Sox, out of the pennant race, took both ends of a doubleheader from Washington Senators. The first went eleven innings to a three-one score and the second was called at four-two in the eighth because of darkness.

St. Louis Browns did an about face against Philadelphia Athletics to win eleven-three on a seventeenth-inning attack.

ROOKIE'S BIG DEBUT

Chicago, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A parade of Kansas City pitchers, five of them, failed to check a rampaging Indianapolis team in the American Association playoffs last night and the Hoosiers won the second straight twelve to four.

The third and possibly deciding games of the initial series will be played tonight.

Athletics Snare 11-Inning Encounter At Three Rivers

Provincial Baseball League Playoff Scene Shifts to Quebec Where A's, Holding One-Game Edge, Will Face Trifluvians in Second Clash of Best-of-Seven Series for Loop Flag—Error in 11th Frame Turns Tide as Mader Scores to Give Bissonnette Band 3-2 Triumph.

Three Rivers, Que., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The playoff scene shifted today to Quebec where the Athletics, holding a one-game edge, will face Three Rivers in the second encounter of a best-of-seven series for the Provincial Baseball League championship.

It took eleven innings and an error here last night before Athletics edged out a three to two victory over Three Rivers, who finished first in the league standing. Frank Mader scammed home with the second-place Quebecers' winning run in the eleventh after reaching base on an error and moving around on a sacrifice and a single.

Athletics, winners over St. Hyacinthe in the semi-final series, opened the scoring in the second when Manager Del Bissonnette reached first on a single, stole second and scored on Kossy's long single. Three Rivers tied the count in the sixth on singles by Paul Martin, Gene Sullivan and Henry Bloch.

Then the homesters took a temporary lead in the eighth when Red Hoffner singled and moved along on a grounder and another single. Athletics rallied, however, and counled Mader's single with Flood's double to deadlock the count again in the ninth.

Neither team was able to score until Sullivan's wild toss allowed Mader to reach base in the final session.

Big Lou Lepine of Quebec and Byron Speece of Three Rivers both pitched the full game and each gave up nine hits. Lepine was a useful man at the plate, too, collecting three hits on four trips.

ARGUE CHOICE OF LOU NOVA OVER GALENTO

Customary "Short-Enders" Wonder Why Nova Is 5-9 Favorite to Thump "Two-Ton Tony" at Philadelphia Friday.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The odds-layers established Lou Nova a five to nine favorite today to thump Tony Galento soundly Friday night in Municipal Stadium, and a lot of the customary "short-enders" immediately wondered why.

Nova himself, underdog in the last three tilts that "made" him as a heavyweight contender—against Gunnar Barlund, Tommy Farr and Maxie Baer, doesn't like it even a little bit. He vowed positively it was a put-up job to get his "Nanny."

And the man in the street was even more mystified. Both fighters were in fine condition at the conclusion of their workouts—Nova long since over his cold and Tony coming out of one he acquired two days ago. So the layman, with all things being equal, can't understand why Nova, who was put on the floor by Maxie Rosenberg and Bob Pastor, should be so top-sided a betting favorite against the rugged pounder who even had Joe Louis resting on the seat of his pretty silk panties less than three months ago.

In other words, Nova has shown that he can be hit. And the "Two-Ton Gent" from Jersey has definitely demonstrated he can toss the artillery.

On that basis, many like Galento to win—in a hurry. He must do it in six rounds. Otherwise, Nova is the lad over the long haul.

Galenito will have the weight pull as usual, scaling some 230 pounds to Nova's 206.

W.M.S. GROUPS HOLD MEETING AT INVERNESS

Reid's, Lemesurier, Adderley and Inverness Societies Represented at Sectional Session—Missionary Guest Speaker.

Inverness, Sept. 14.—The sectional meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church was held in St. Andrew's church here with a large attendance of members from Reid's Auxiliary, Lemesurier, Inverness and Adderley. Mrs. Clarence Nutbrown presided at the organ, and a joint choir lead the singing. The church was beautifully decorated with fall flowers donated by members.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. William Smith, of Reid's Auxiliary, all joining in singing "God of Mercy, God of Grace." The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Lorne Kelso, of the Adderley auxiliary and words of welcome were voiced by Mrs. Andrew McCammon, of Inverness. The secretary, Mrs. Alex Watson, read the reports, which were adopted.

The reply to the words of welcome was read by Mrs. Rothney, of Reid's. A discussion followed and mention was made of absent members. Other reports were read by Mrs. Oliver, of Reid's, and Mrs. Andrew McCammon, of Inverness. The meeting was followed by the singing of "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee" by the choir.

Mrs. Smith then introduced the guest speaker of the meeting, Miss Whitting, who has been stationed in India for a number of years. A wonderful description of her work and the conditions of the people there was listened to with great interest. The offering was received by Mrs. Andrew Smyth and Mrs. Andrew McCammon, and the offertory prayer offered by Mrs. Alexander McKinnon of the Adderley auxiliary.

The closing hymn was "Where Are the Reapers?" after which all present gathered at the Oddfellows' Hall and were guests of the Inverness ladies, who served refreshments.

COUPLE HONORED

A very happy event took place at the Rectory when Rev. and Mrs. John A. Prout entertained a number of guests, on the occasion of the twenty-first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Weary. Five hundred and Chinese checkers were enjoyed until a late hour, after which covers were laid for fourteen, at a table covered with a lace cloth and centred with a decorated cake. Dainty place cards added to the decoration. After lunch the following address was read by Rev. John Prout:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Weary:—We are gathered here this evening as your friends and neighbors, that we may have the opportunity of expressing these sentiments in our hearts on this happy occasion which you have reached in your married life. We are glad to have the opportunity of meeting here. "Our sincerest congratulations are extended to you on having completed twenty-one years of married life, and our hearty best wishes are extended that you may have health and strength for many years to come."

Bowel troubles, although happening at any time of the year, are more prevalent during the hot summer and early fall months. Summer Flu is one of the worst troubles, but diarrhea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the intestines, or any looseness of the bowels should have immediate attention.

The action of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is pleasant, rapid, reliable and effective in helping to check the unnatural discharges. It has been on the market for the past 94 years, so why experiment with new and untried remedies? Get "Dr. Fowler's" and feel safe. The T. Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

The pastor stated that the cause of war had not been the will of God but was due to greed, love of power and hatred of other nations and he expressed hope that this nation will prepare itself for a fair peace which will not provoke another conflict.
