CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY.

CATARRH

cannot be cured by snuffs, washes or local applications. It is a weakness of the constitution, developing itself in the nasal organs first, afterwards extending to the throat and lungs, ending generally in Consumption, if not checked by proper remedies. Pains in head, back, loins and weakness of kidneys are its attendant diseases. More people have Catarrh than any other disease. It is easily cured. Thousands of cases, some of forty years' standing, have been entirely cured in New Hampshire and the Dominion the past three years, by the Constitutional Catarrh Remedy. Certificates to back the above, and a treatise on Catarrh sent free on application to T. J. B. Harding, Druggist, &c., Brockville, Ont. Send name on postal card, and it will only cost a cent. Price, $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sent to any address on receipt of money. For sale by all druggists. 114-*

THE GREATEST OPPORTUNITY EVER OFFERED TO PROCURE A HOMESTEAD IN A BEAUTIFUL SUBURB OF A GREAT CITY.—Five hundred Villa Lots, forty feet front by a depth of one hundred and twenty feet each lot, and fronting on either of the different avenues, between Third and Seventh streets Mount Royal Vale, will be sold for four hundred and eighty dollars per lot, to be paid in weekly instalments of one dollar, until the whole amount is paid, without interest, except on arrears of payments, on which one per cent per month will be charged. Purchasers paying the full amount off at any time will be made a liberal discount. The lots are free from all encumbrance. The title deeds and registry searches can be seen at the office of R. A. Ramsay, Esq, St. Francois Xavier street. When purchasers shall have paid up for one year, they shall then get a deed with all the privileges and conditions of the deed heretofore given by the vendor of the lots sold by him on the same property. A few hundred lots of equal area on the different streets and avenues north of Central Avenue, will be sold for $300 per lot, to be paid in weekly payments of fifty cents, in other respects subject to the above terms. The situation combines advantages beyond comparison. A handsome village is already established, with an efficient line of omnibuses to and from the city Post Office; brick, sand and stone can be had at nearly one-half less than city prices; the principal avenue is macadamized, and footpaths laid the entire length, and continued to the city; water works are in course of construction, and a true system of drainage contemplated. Were such improvements to be made at the expense of the purchasers, they would cost more than the price of their lots, so that this property is, comparatively given away. The proprietor hopes that the interest of a large number of purchasers in the development of this great property will in some degree recompense him for such a sacrifice. Intending purchasers can meet Mr. T. F. O'BRIEN, at 532 St Mary street, at 9 o'clock every morning, and at Mount Royal Vale every afternoon. 160

THE WATER COMMITTEE MEETING.

MR. LESAGE AND MR. ROBB'S EXPLANATIONS.

The Water Committee met last evening, Ald. McGauvran in the chair.

Ald. David was authorized to consult with Mr. Sippell, C.E., with reference to the land required for the Lachine Canal, and to see upon what terms it might be disposed of.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

The contract for repairing of the St. Pierre bridge was awarded to Mr. L. St. Germain for $500.

MR. LESAGE'S REPORT.

Mr. Lesage then presented a lengthy report in rebuttal of the evidence elicited at the Sub-Water Committee's investigation, and with respect to the engagement of carters by Cyrille Lapierre. In answer to the following statement of the report:—

"For at least twenty years, as testified to by Mr. Lesage, Cyrille Lapierre appears to have had a monopoly of the cartage business of the Water Department. Lapierre owned eight or ten horses; these, so far as can be ascertained, worked from the yard in St. Charles Borrommee street, and may be styled shop carters."

Mr. Lesage says: I consider it very unjust to make the bare statement, without giving the reasons, which are these: In the course of my experience with shop carters, I found that it was absolutely necessary that there should be one man for the proper performance of the work, and safety of the valuable articles continually being carted by what we call the "shop carters," and finding Lapierre faithful and attentive and able to control the requisite number of carters at all times, I fixed a rate from time to time, according to the ruling prices, and paid that amount for work. This arrangement, which has, it is true, existed for the past twenty years, was well known to every succeeding committee. Lapierre gave all his own time to superintendence, for which he got no salary, often using his horse and buggy in the service, and frequently having to get out during the night in cases of accidents to the main or other pipes. This system has proved satisfactory in the past, as, in cases where articles were left at the wrong place or got astray, they were always restored, and Lapierre, who thus found it to his interest to act in the interest of the Department, and thus became, though indirectly, a valuable employee of the Corporation, without personally receiving pay for his services. Moreover, when large and heavy cartings, or stones, &c., had to be moved, he was always prepared to furnish suitable vehicles, and sometimes at the most unseasonable hours of the night, when accidents occurred.

"But as the demands of the department increased, it became necessary to employ a large number of outside carters, sometimes as many as 100 per day. Mr. Lesage instructed Lapierre to obtain the services of the additional carters; Lapierre did so, hired them for $1.75, and in some instances $1.50, and collected from the department $2 or $2.50 per diem."

2nd. This is unfair, because it conveys the idea that it was the natural increase of shop work which called for additional carters from time to time, till it reached the maximum of 100 per day; whereas, it was only last year that we had occasion to employ these street carters, that work being confined to the laying of the Sherbrooke street main, and to that alone. The following table, shewing the average of the five years, taken from the Committee's own report, bears me out in this:

Total number of days cartage in		Average.
1871	948	3 per day.
1872	2,236*	7 " "
1873	1,734	5 " "
1874	2,597	8 " "
1875	9,136	31 " "
Total as shown in report	16,651

* Including 950 days' delivering water during stoppage.

Thus, it appears, that the average of 1875 is only 31 per day, the highest week in the whole not exceeding 50, from which is to be deducted the regular shop staff of say from 8 to 10, thus showing that the extra carters never exceeded 40, although the Committee conveys the impression that it rose as high as 100.

3rd. I did not personally employ Lapierre to go and hire the street carters, as stated in the report; to have done so would have implied that he was a salaried officer of the Department, whose time could have been so employed, whereas he received nothing for his own services. What I did was to instruct the foremen to get all the horses they required, to remove the encumbrance from the street, as speedily as possible. The foremen applied to Lapierre, who picked up as many as were requisite, and was paid at the rate of $2 per day, which was the price then current in the Road Department. The number required increased to a greater extent than was at first supposed, amounting in the aggregate to 2,756, as stated in the Committee report, but Lapierre was never allowed more than the current rate paid by the Road Department, viz.: $2, and it was on these that he derived a profit, when he was able to secure them at less than he was allowed himself, as also as on the occasional help when required at the shop.

"Lapierre says that he had no contract to furnish carters other than his own, but that he had a contract to furnish carters during winter and summer of 1875, at $2 per diem, from May 1st to Dec. 1st; that he made the contract with Mr. Lesage, who fixed the prices himself. Mr. Lesage says there was no contract made."

4th. These apparently conflicting statements relative to the nature of the agreement under whith Lapierre drew $2 and $2.25 for his horses require a full explanation to convey a perfectly clear idea of the facts of the case. I shall endeavor to give it. What Lapierre designates as "his own carters" is the regular staff maintained by him at the Water Works shop, driven by his own men, for whom he was held responsible, which he increased or decreased as the necessities of the shop required, and for which, from June, 1874, to November, 1875, he was allowed $2.25 per day, (and here let me note that the Road Department raised the pay of their street carters a month earlier to $2.25.) What he designates as "his contract to furnish carters from May to December at $2 per diem" was a special arrangement for exceptional work, to wit.: The removal of surplus earth from the line of the new main on Sherbrooke street, as already alluded to.

"According to a list fyled, it appears that Mr. C. Lapierre has received from the Corporation during the past five years, pay, for

364 days at		$1.75
10,038	"	2.00
6,249	"	2.22
19,651

"At an average charge of twenty-five cents per diem, the Corporation has lost by this system of mismanagement in five years, $4,912."

5th. Nothing could be more unfair than the above inference and the way the figures are aggregated. In the first place there is an error in the Committee addition of 3,000 days, which would reduce the loss (even if loss could be proved) by $750.00. In the second place the 16,651 days (which is the correct number) includes all the shop carters' time, which was paid for at $2.00 up to June of 1874, and $2.25 from that date till November, 1875, and the fact that the Road Department paid ordinary street carters, which could be driven by mere boys, $2.25 from and before the same period that I raised the shop carters to that price, affords a pretty fair proof that there were good grounds for my doing so. There is absolutely no evidence to show that carters could have been got at 25c. less than was paid, but, on the contrary, the Road Department's pay list shows that these were the current rates throughout the whole period. "It appears also that Mr. C. Lapierre has also been allowed to cart in the same period

7,310 tons of water-pipes	@	$1.00	per ton.
5,259 " "	@	1.50	"
257 " "	@	2.50	"

"Mr. Lesage said he made a bargain for the cartage of these pipes with Lapierre, at $1 per ton, and explains the extra charge by alleging that 'some of the pipes had to be carted over rough grounds on Pine Avenue.' But, in our judgment, this will not account for a charge of $1.50 per ton on the whole quantity of 5,293 tons charged at that price."

6th. This sentence is so worded as to render it extremely difficult to unravel. In the first place, the extra $1.50 per ton is on the 257 tons only, not on the 5,259 tons, as the report would seem to convey; and, secondly, the reason said to be assigned by me for the extra on the 5,259 tons was the reason given for the extra on the 257 tons only. My full reason is not given, nor is it inserted in the written evidence even, because I gave much that was considered simply conversational, but what is written is as follows: "This refers to the line of 12-inch pipes in Pine Avenue, carried across through the Park grounds, where no road existed, and where the ground was rough. These pipes had to be dragged along on planks." In justice to myself, however, I must add the following explanation: The 50c. paid on the 5,259 tons was paid on the large 30-inch pipes, carted to their depots at the extreme ends of the city, say St. Catherine street West, on one side, and Logan's Farm on the other, and on a portion of these, spread along the soft ground on Atwater avenue, between St. Joseph and Dorchester streets. There was a cart road on that portion of Atwater Avenue, in dry weather, in summer, but these pipes were laid during the soft weather in the spring, when the wheels sank so much that it frequently became necessary to raise them with prize or lever, and slip planks under them, to get along, it was also necessary to attach an extra team in these instances. Yet, I am made to say that I allowed the extra price simply because "they had to go over rough ground on Pine avenue." To show that the rates paid for the cartage of these pipes was not, under the circumstances, excessive, I herewith respectfully submit the following certificates of different master carters in the city:—

WATER WORKS RATES.

	Pipes at $1.00	$1.50	$2.50
Certificate No. 1.	75	1.50 and $2.00	1.30*
" No. 2.	1.50	2.00	2.00
" No. 3.	1.50	2.00	2.00
" No. 4.	1.00	1.75	2.25
" No. 5.	70	85	70*

* With reference to these it is quite evident they did not understand my written question, and I have not gone to see them personally since, because the $2.50 lot were to greater distance and over roads which required 4 horse teams.

"It seems strange, in face of the fact that the water pipes are being carted at 50c. a ton the present year, that these excessive prices should have been allowed."

7th. The reason of the greatly reduced price of the present year is to be found in the fact, that at the moment when that price was offered, the very reverse of the previous circumstances existed; then, all kinds of labor was scarce and dear; now, nothing was doing, horses were standing idle, and owners were glad to get even a part of the cost of their maintenance rather than nothing, and the certificates above furnished by other master carters prove that the prices were not excessive at the time.

The report states further:—

"It appears from the evidence that Mr. Lapierre kept the time of all outside carters unchecked by any of the Corporation officials. Mr. Harrington's evidence displays lamentable ignorance of his duty or culpable negligence. Although it was his duty as head foreman to see that proper time lists of carters employed in his division were kept, he has entirely neglected to perform this duty."

In meeting these assertions, Mr. Lesage submitted the following evidence, and asked the committee to draw their own conclusions:

Michael Harrington, chief foreman, in answer to a question as to whether he kept the time of outside carters:

"I did not keep the time of the carters employed west of St. Denis street; that time was kept by the different foremen; my duty was to overlook the work and oversee the foremen. Last fall, whilst carters were employed on Sherbrooke street west, I, usually, on Thursday morning, saw the list of any of the foremen who had outside carters working under them, and satisfied myself, as far as I could, that such lists were correct; I have not done the same east of St. Denis street, because that portion was under Mr. St. Charles' direction, and he being an old and experienced foreman, I considered he was thoroughly competent to look after the carters employed under him. I examined the carters' lists last fall, and may have certified them. The way I supposed they were correct was by taking the time lists from the foremen, and, as I was daily on the works, I had an opportunity of seeing that the carters were there. The foremen copied the lists from their books in my presence on a sheet of paper in pencil, and I handed them to Leblanc or Lynch (the former being clerk and the latter foreman of the shop.)"

T. O. Barsalou, foreman, in answer to the same question, says:—"I kept the time of carters employed in my gang and also the time of laborers who worked under me. I have had as many as 30 carters employed under me at the same time. I returned my pay lists of carters sometimes to Lynch, sometimes to L. Leblanc, sometimes to Lapierre. I consider that I kept the time of the carters as a favor. I was not told to do it by Mr. Lesage, but Leblanc, Lynch and Lapierre told me to keep it. I made returns of carters' time oftener to the office than to Mr. Lapierre. When we wanted carters we always asked Mr. Lapierre, and he sent them; we were ordered to do this at the shop office. I returned the time sometimes on the sheet of list paper and sometimes on note paper. I always returned the names of the men in full and their time.

"I always returned the pay lists of laborers to Mr. Harrington or to the head office. Mr. Harrington, we understand, is head foreman; he used to come round every day and see how we were getting on with the work."

The evidence of Stephen Trapper, George Lynch, Louis Leblanc, Louis Lecours and F. X. St. Charles is cited and explained as follows:

With respect to the statement in the report that Lecours only kept time for one week, Mr. Lesage explains that he is a foreman of pipe-layers and only had carters working with his gang during the laying down of a pipe from the Lachine Canal to St. Bonaventure street, for carting surplus earth away. This work occupied one week. Geo. Marsan, Thomas Lovett and Jos. M. Lapierre never had carters working under them. Mr. Lesage considers it very unfair to point to the allegation that these men did not keep time of carters, inasmuch as they never had carters working with their gangs, and, consequently, could not keep carters' time.

With regard to the 12,826 tons of iron received by the department from Europe from 1871 to 1875 inclusive, stated in the report not to have been re-weighed in Montreal, Mr. Lesage explained that an arrangement was made with the Water Works Engineer of Glasgow to check the weight and hydraulic test of all pipes shipped from that port, without whose certificate no invoices were paid, and who received a remuneration of 1s. stg. per ton for that service, for the purpose of saving the expense of doing the same thing on this side; the three 30-inch water mains alluded to in the report were checkd as a test on his calculations. The Gas Company here follow the same plan.

Mr. Lynch, foreman of the workshops, resided at St. Lambert for two seasons in a house rented for $5 per month, alluded to by the Witness as an "expensive country residence." His cordwood was carted by a private horse of Lapierre's, and the furniture by one of Dumaine's express vans. Harrington explains that the brick and sand referred to as being carted to his house were taken to build a valve chamber at the corner of Fulford and Bonaventure streets, opposite his house. The witness in this matter stated that the sand, etc., was taken to Harrington's two and a half years ago. Mr. Lesage, on reference to his books, found that a valve chamber was built at that spot, and that the usual quantity of brick and sand were allowed therefor. Harrington had no building of his own going on at that time. An affidavit is enclosed in the report of Louis Leblanc, time-keeper, testifying that no person could have carted coal from the W. W. yard in St. Charles Borrommee street without his orders, that no orders were given, and no coal taken from the yard to the house of Michael Harrington. Also, an affidavit of Patrick Doran, trader, declaring that in the latter end of October last he sent a cart load of coal to the yard in question by Harrington's orders, and received a receipt therefor from Leblanc. In the latter end of last March, deponent received a similar request for a cart load of hard coal, which was accordingly sent to the same place. Also, an affidavit of Jeremie Constantine, laborer, stating that he knew Pierre Langevin, formerly a carter in the Water Works Department; met him last spring in a tavern; had a couple of drinks together, and commenced to talk about their prospects; Langevin said he was out of a job, having been sacked by Lynch. Witness asked him for what reason. He replied that he had had some words with Lynch, and would have his revenge; that he would go and tell Jobin that he knew something against Lynch, Leblanc and Harrington. Defendant asked who Jobin was. Langevin replied that he was a "boss carter," who was getting evidence against Lapierre, the Water Works' carter, and that he had only to go and tell him, and he would fix them. Witness asked him what he knew, and he commenced to laugh, saying he could make plenty of things. Being interrogated further he said: He would say they were drinking in a grocery store, and that Leblanc had sent him to Harrington's house with coal. This he had never done, but he knew some one who did, and when the Irish were out of the big places in the work Canadians would have a good chance. Defendant and Languin were perfectly sober during the conversation. A deposition of Pierce Maloney, enclosed, states that he remembered Hypolite Hebert alias Robert, who carted for the Department in the latter end of April last. Witness was going up Mountain street with him, and told him to hurry up. Hebert told him that there would soon be no more hurry up; that they were going to clear Mr. Lesage—he would be left alone, but that George Lynch and Michael Harrington would go for sure. Defendant asked him how he knew that, when he said that they had plenty of meetings in the Quebec suburbs about it, and that it was all fixed. He then started to talk very fast in French, saying that he could not tell all about it in English, but if deponent understood French, he would make him "very much surprise." From the way in which he spoke and his manner, deponent firmly believes that Hebert was a party to a conspiracy to cast Harrington and Lynch from the works by fair means or foul. The affidavit of Patrick Fahey declares that he was present in the cart at the time the conversation alluded to in the last-named affidavit took place, that the impression left on his mind from the hearing of said conversation was that a conspiracy had been hatched in the Quebec suburbs to drive both Harrington and Lynch out of the Department.

The cedars and planks stated by Langevin to have been carted from the hydraulic press on Grand Trunk street to Lapierre's house were merely pieces of wood, such as blocks and butts of planks, always required in the loading and unloading of large pipes, which, for safety, were brought away at night in the waggon and brought back in the morning, there being no place in the vicinity where they could be safely deposited. To the statement that there were bricks, lime, sand and stones taken from the yard and streets to contribute to the erection of an addition to Lapierre's house, Lapierre gives an unqualified contradiction, as the said addition was built entirely by contract, the contractors for which "furnished" all the material. In support of this statement certificates are appended from Messrs. B. Benoit, Isidore Morache, and O. Labrecque, the builders.

Joseph Poulin stated in evidence that he saw a roll of lead pipe in Lapierre's yard, which Roussin told him came from the Corporation yard. This was only hearsay evidence, which Roussin denies; but it was quite possible, indeed probable, that he had seen such articles in Lapierre's yard, as it had been the practice for the carters, when leaving the shop, loaded with lead services and other material, to stop at Lapierre's yard during dinner hour, their load in the meantime remaining in the cart while the horses were feeding; and it was not an unusual thing for the street foreman to make use of a friendly yard as a place of deposit for their tools, and for all surplus material, coming on night, rather than leave them lying on the street. Mr. Lesage, therefore, thinks it possible that lead pipe, &c., &c., may have been seen in Lapierre's yard, while awaiting removal either to the shop or to its destination on the work. Until a very recent period the different fire stations were open to use for such purposes.

Mr. Lesage concludes his report by stating that he considers the censure passed upon him most unjust, and holds that there is nothing to prove that the whole of his time has not been given to the Corporation. For over 20 years' service he states he has not lost more than 200 days.

Of late years the business of the Department has increased so rapidly that he has had to apply for an assistant, in order that he may look closely into the details of the working of the Department. Some of these details he has been forced to neglect during the last two years for want of time; that is with regard to work during office hours, where it would be necessary that he should be at several places at the same time; otherwise, when work could be done at night, he has done it, and is prepared to do so as long as health will permit, although he thinks he should be placed beyond the necessity of having to do it.

MR. ROBB'S REPORT

was then presented, but owing to the pressure on our columns will have to stand over till to-morrow.

THE DISCUSSION.

Ald. David considered that, in the absence of Alds. McLaren and McCord, the discussion should be postponed.

Ald. Stephens moved an amendment, holding that the statement of Mr. Lesage did not amount to a row of pins.

Ald. Robert moved, in amendment to the amendment, that the persons whose affidavits were incorporated in the report be requested to come before the Committee and declare to the truth of the same, which being put, was lost.

The amendment was then put and carried, the Committee adjourning until to-night to debate on the matter.

RELIGIOUS DIFFERENCES.

WESLEYANS AND THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND—AN INTERCOMMUNION SOUGHT TO BE BROUGHT ABOUT—EFFORTS OF THE BISHOP OF LINCOLN.

The London Standard of June 28 says: "The Bishop of Lincoln has for some years past been conspicuous for the zeal and earnestness with which he has labored to bring about intercommunion between the Wesleyans and the Church of England. The right reverend prelate has not been much encouraged to pursue his endeavors, but he has never failed to persevere. The last of his essays is certainly of a more direct and practical character than any which have preceded it. The Bishop made known to some leading Wesleyan Methodists his desire for an amicable interview. A former President of the Wesleyan Conference expressed his hearty concurrence in the proposal, and invited several ministers and other members of the connection, who met the Bishop, who was accompanied by three of his [illegible]. The right reverend prelate opened the conference by referring to the evils which arise from the estrangement of the Wesleyans from the Church—'an alienation which affords a triumph to the enemies of both, especially to the unbelievers and Romanists, who are strengthened by our divisions.' Dr. Wordsworth frankly confessed that he had no authority to speak in the name of the Church of England, but that, having considered the principles and history of Methodism, he cherished a hope that the breach might be healed. The Bishop laid much stress upon John Wesley's firm allegiance to the Church, and his declared intention that the Wesleyan body should be 'a religious society within the Church.' In conjunction with his brother, John Wesley charged their followers never to separate from it, and he provided in his 'Deed of Declaration,' in 1784, that no person should be appointed to minister in any Wesleyan chapel for three years successively except 'ordained ministers of the Church of England.' John Wesley, like his brother, was an ordained priest, and his strongly-expressed desire was that all Wesleyans should resort to their parish churches for sacramental purposes, and he held that in this respect at least, 'the parish church was the church of the Wesleyans.' Many of the saintliest ministers of the Presbyterian Church thought it their duty to accept English ordination, and Dr. Wordsworth confidently expects that a considerable number of Wesleyan ministers would be ready to do the same if they received an earnest and considerate invitation from the Church. The Bishop closed his address by submitting three questions, intended to ascertain the temper in which his proposals would be received by the Wesleyan Conference. If members of the conference should take English orders, with the view of preaching and ministering the sacrements in our churches, and should subsequently accept offices and benefices in the Church, would they be held disqualified for being members of the conference and be severed from the Wesleyan connection? Secondly, if our Bishops and clergy accepted invitations to preach and minister the sacraments in Wesleyan chapels, and if the Bishops were willing to license the chapels for preaching and the ministration of the sacrements after the Anglican form, would the Wesleyan Conference encourage such overtures of union, and would the ministers and congregations of such bodies be allowed to remain in connection with the Wesleyan body? Lastly, would the Wesleyan Conference be willing that, in the case of such chapels as might be licensed for preaching, prayer, and praise only, the congregation should be exhorted to resort to their respective parish churches, as John Wesley enjoined them to do, for the reception of the Holy Communion?

"The answer of the Wesleyan Conference will be awaited with interest, but we are not very sanguine as to the result. We have not to learn now for the first time how little the spirit of Wesley survives in those who have followed after him. A crucial example of this was furnished during the educational controversy. Churchmen counted upon the support of the Wesleyans in maintaining the religious character of national education. Their hopes were signally disappointed. The followers of Wesley made common cause with the political dissenters and the secularists, and clamored for the expulsion of the denominational schools from the national system. It is not their fault that religious instruction is blended with the secular education in the great majority of the public elementary schools. Only a few weeks ago we called attention to the attitude they had taken up in regard to the bill of Lord Sandon. They condemn every provision which is designed to place the voluntary schools on a footing something like bare equality with the boarding-schools. We give all credit to the Bishop of Lincoln for the generous and large-hearted proposals which he has submitted to the Conference. They are instinct with the spirit of Christian liberality, and Wesley would have gone more than half way to meet them. We have little hope, however, that they will be received in a similar temper by his followers of to-day."

UNION BANK OF LOWER CANADA.

Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders of the Union Bank of Lower Canada, held at their Banking House, in Quebec, on Monday, the 10th day of July, 1876, at which were present:—

Chas. E. Levey, Esq., Hon. C. Alleyn, Hon. J. Sharples, J. B. Renaud, Esq., Lt.-Col. Pope, W. Sharples, Esq., Hon. George Irvine, A. Thomson, Esq., Capt. W. H. Carter, Owen Murphy, Esq., Mayor of Quebec, C. Pentland, Esq., Hon. T. McGreevy, A. Joseph, Esq., H. S. Scott, Esq., D. C. Thompson, Esq., N. Lemieux, Esq., J. Breakey, Esq., Sir N. F. Belleau, J. Hearn, Esq., H. C. Austin, Esq., D. R. Stoddart, Esq., Hugh Devlin, Esq., J. Garbatz, Esq., W. G. Petry, Esq., G. R. Renfrew, Esq., J. S. Budden, Esq., Dr. Russell, J. W. Henry, Esq., W. Quinn, Esq., N. Maheux, Esq., W. White, Esq., E. H. Pemberton, Esq., Lt.-Col. Turnbull, E. Giroux, Esq., &c.

Charles E. Levey, Esq., was called to the chair, and upon motion of H. S. Scott, Esq., Mr. G. H. Balfour was requested to act as Secretary.

At the request of Dr. Russell, the Secretary read the minutes of the last Annual General Meeting, which, upon motion of H. S. Scott, Esq., seconded by Hon. John Sharples, were adopted, Dr. Russell dissenting.

The President then proceeded to read the Report:—

REPORT.

The Directors beg to present to the Shareholders of the Bank the following statement, showing the result of the past year's business:—

The profits of the Bank for the year ending 30th June, 1876, were	$186,455 99
Add—Profit and Loss, old account	9,518 25
Do. taken from Rest Account	150,000 00
	$345,974 24

Which has been applied as follows:—

Dividend No. 20, of 3½ p. c., paid 3d January, 1876	$69,649 51
Dividend No. 21, of 3½ p. c., payable 1st July, 1876	69,678 62
Appropriation for bad and doubtful debts written off	204,000 00
Carried to Profit and Loss, new account	2,646 11
	$345,974 24

The Directors need not remind the shareholders that the past year has been one of great commercial depression and consequent disaster. This Bank, in common with all other Banks of the Dominion, has necessarily suffered greater losses than would have been experienced under ordinary circumstances.

The Directors have, therefore, deemed it to be there duty, this year, to examine with great strictness the overdue bills held by the Bank, and to make a large allowance for bad and doubtful debts, writing off those, the ultimate recovery of which they do not consider probable.

The Directors believe it to be more in the interest of the shareholders to take this course than to hold over bills which, although not actually ascertained to be lost, are so circumstanced as to present small hope of payment.

With this view, they have appropriated $204,000 to meet bad and doubtful debts, and they think they have reason to congratulate the shareholders that, notwithstanding the adverse circumstances of the last two years, they are now enabled to look forward to more prosperous times with their capital intact and a rest of $200,000.

The Inspector has made a thorough examination into the affairs of the branches and agencies during the past month, and has reported them to be in a satisfactory condition.

The cash and securities at the head office have been regularly counted and examined by a committee of the Board and found to be correct.

(Signed,) CHARLES E. LEVEY,
President.

MORMON IMMIGRANTS.

The steamship "Idaho," commanded by Captain Beddoe, will probably arrive in this port to-day, from Liverpool, bringing 500 Latter Day Saints, who will be despatched to Salt Lake City forthwith by Mr. W. C. Staines, Utah Emigration Agent. This is the largest batch of Mormons which will arrive this year, and they consist principally of Scandinavians. A party of 100 arrived in this port some weeks ago by the "Nevada," and Mr. Ernest Young, son of President Brigham, arrived in this city recently from an extensive European tour. The Mormon emigration promises to be very light this season.—N. Y. Herald.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 12, 1876.

TO PARTIES LEAVING THE CITY.—The EVENING STAR will be sent to Montrealers at the watering places and other summer resorts for 25 cents a month, free of postage.

SHOOK.—The appointment of Mr. Martin Tracey as Inspector of Canal Works has shaken the confidence generally placed in the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie as a practical Minister of Public Works. The most indulgent Ministerialists confess their astonishment.

THE WATER WORKS DEPARTMENT.—The hard swearing done in connection with the Water Works investigation is fearful to contemplate. The latest movement seeks to create the impression that the implicated persons are victims of a conspiracy. Testimonials of "respect and esteem" all round will shortly be in order.

BELYING ITS NAME.—The report that favoritism is at work in the Civil Service will not add to the popularity of the Government. Such things have been glibly charged against the late Government, but the Mackenzie administration was to introduce "Reform." The appointment of a novice over the heads of veteran officials is a matter requiring explanation. People are saying that our Reform Government is belying its name.

THE EXCHANGE BANK.—It is highly satisfactory to see our banks passing through the "annual meeting" ordeal so creditably. The proceedings at the meeting of the stockholders of the above bank go to show that despite the "commercial depression," the year's operations have been profitable, enabling the directors to pay the usual dividend and carry a round sum to the rest account. The balance sheet speaks well for the management.

POSTAL.—We are pleased to learn that there is good reason to expect that ere long the rate of postage between Germany and Canada will be reduced one-half, or made uniform with that governing postal communication between Germany and the United States, viz., five cents. At present the postage is ten cents. A good many German correspondents fancy that the reduction made through the International Conference extends to Canada, consequently letters frequently arrive insufficiently stamped, entailing upon the receivers payment of the deficit, and a fine besides. This costly annoyance might be rendered less likely to occur if all having German correspondents transmitted them a few plain details respecting the matter. But we trust not a great while will elapse before the uniform rate of five cents prevails, both in the case of Germany and France. To the ordinary onlooker it seems strange that the present anomalous state of affairs has continued so long.

PROGRESSION VS. RETROGRESSION.—We are happy to learn that the Corporation of St. John's have passed a by-law to borrow $60,000 for the purpose of widening Richelieu street, making drains and new sidewalks, and further land improvements. The matter was submitted to the electors on Monday at a meeting convened by the Mayor, when the majority present declared in favor of it, but a poll being demanded, the by-law will be voted upon to-morrow (Thursday). One would naturally suppose that every citizen of St. John's would be eager to improve the opportunity which her sad calamity has afforded her of making the town one of the finest and most attractive rural places in the Dominion; yet we regret to hear that there are not wanting those who pride themselves upon being styled "prominent citizens," who are exerting themselves to the utmost to defeat these essentially necessary reforms. It is strange how wilfully blind some people are to their own interests. Montreal has lost more by the St. John's fire than St. John's has herself. Yet, so far as we can learn, there is not a person in this city who is not agreed that it will be a stigma upon the fair fame of the chef lieu of Iberville if she permits her present opportunity to pass by unimproved. We hope, therefore, that the result of the vote on Thursday will be a disappointment to those who have neither the pluck nor energy to advance themselver, and who always depict evil in every forward move that another may make. The advantages of the present projected improvements to St. John's are out of all proportion to the small amount which the Town Council asks to be entrusted with.

LET US BE THANKFUL.—We have frequently felt called upon to point out how much we have to be thankful for in possessing the climate we do. Rigorous as our winters are we have no such terrible visitations of icy storms which almost every year are reported from the North-Western States—storms which count victims by scores and render vast tracts of country desolate. And though we have a hot spell in the summer-time, we have nothing to come up to the experience every year undergone by our neighbors. Fancy twelve deaths from sun-stroke in three days! What must the general condition of the people be where such mortality occurs? Yet, this is the report from the Capital of the American Republic, and almost every day tells of a similar experience in various parts of the Union. Though we get sultry days occasionally, we have plenty of fresh breezy periods sandwiched in, so that altogether our summers are beautifully temperate. At any rate, the most unreasonable grumbler must admit that, in the matter of heat, we are far better off than the people of New York, [illegible] Boston, Philadelphia, &c., &c.

The New York journals are [illegible] the necessity for retrenchment and economy in the conduct of city affairs. The way in which the burden of taxation has increased in the American metropolis is a matter which may well attract the attention and serious consideration of the citizens of Montreal. A New York contemporary tells us that "in 1875 the total amount raised in New York from its 1,000,000 of inhabitants from taxes and other sources, for all purposes, was $36,337,744.75, or $36.36 per capita. In 1873 the rate of tax was two and a half per cent., $2.50 on $100. In 1874 it was $2.80 on $100; in 1875 it was $2.94 on $100. The rate for the present year is not yet fixed. Meantime the amount of taxes imposed by the Board of Supervisors has increased from $28,228,490.57 in 1873 to $36,367,744.75 in 1875, an increase of $8,784,620 in two years; and yet that eminent statesman, William M. Tweed, had exhausted his public usefulness prior to 1873. Only the very rich have been able to bear up under the crushing burdens so wantonly imposed upon vacant real estate in this city. Thousands of industrious poor who had invested the savings of years in the purchase of an uptown lot, on which they paid, say one-half cash, leaving the balance on mortgage, have been utterly ruined by assessments and taxation practically amounting, as far as their interests were concerned, to confiscation. And we make this statement without taking into consideration the great decline in uptown real values. Even the man who owns land free and clear on the line of public improvements done by days' work very often finds that assessments and taxes consume the whole value of property if he is obliged to force off at present market rates. Any one who keeps pace with the melancholy record of foreclosure sales which for two years have been daily taking place at the Exchange has ample evidence of the truth of what we advance. Few of our mechanics, traders or working men, those who pay the taxes by the labor of their hands and the sweat of their brows, are aware of the immense sums yearly consumed in the payment of the salaries of our city officials. At the beginning of the present year, say February 1, the records of the Finance Department showed the total number of city employes to be 8,685, receiving an aggregate of salaries for the year 1876 of $10,281,966, and this, too, exclusive of mechanics and laborers employed by the city. Let the workingman ponder on these figures. Many of the offices to which goodly salaries are attached are merely sinecures, created by the ordinances of the Common Council, the Board of Supervisors, or bestowed by certain officials on personal favorites as a reward for political servires of a personal nature. The great political and property interests of the city of New York are in the hands of agents who seek to enrich themselves from the treasury they are set to protect. They quarter themselves, their relatives and their friends upon the taxpayers and workingmen, who are thus forced to support in comparative idleness a horde of officials and their political retainers. For years these people have been feeding at the public crib. This system is fast eating away the commerce, life, activity, vitality and prosperity of New York. January 1, 1869, the city debt was $36,293,929.50. By the recent semi-annual statement of the Comptroller we find the city debt on the 30th of June, 1876, as represented in stocks and bonds, amounts to a total of $161,165,299.58; deduct sinking fund, $29,138,938.18; balance, $132,026,361.40. Stocks and bonds have been issued by the city during the past six months of the present year to the amount of $19,469,368."

Reviewing the general question the writer says:—"The interest on this immense and constantly increasing indebtedness represents a first mortgage of about fourteen per cent. on every piece of real estate in the city, and, what is much more keenly felt by the humbler classes, an annual tribute on the wages, labor and industry of the whole population. Can the borrowing capacity of the city be much longer maintained under such a manifest drift toward bankruptcy? Who shall say that the moment may not come when the people will, by a general movement, combine together to throw off this intolerable burden, and leave the creditors of the city to such remedies as they can find? To the voters of New York must we look for a remedy for a state of things which is impoverishing the whole community to enrich some eight or nine thousand office-holders and city employees."

The above exhibit teems with lessons which our people will do well to ponder.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH CHOIR. — On Dominion Day the leading singers in St. Patrick's Choir paid a visit to Napanee and gave a concert in the evening. The following is an extract from an elaborate criticism of the performance, taken from the Napanee Beaver:—"The hall was filled to the doors by a respectable and intelligent audience. The opening chorus was the "Gloria" of Mozart's Twelfth Mass, which, though sublimely beautiful in its rendition, was no more than an earnest of what followed. The piano solo by Mr. P. J. Curran was given with a singularly happy blending of boldness and delicacy of touch, and with most excellent taste. Mr. James Crompton's "Old Ireland, Boys, Hurrah!" was enthusiastically received. "Kathleen Mavoureen," by Mrs. W. O. Farmer, lavishly displayed the melodious wealth of her voice. The first part of the programme was concluded by Miss Alice Crompton, a miss of fourteen, living in a style that invested that old and oft heard song with a newness and freshness, "The Last Rose of Summer," which elicited most hearty applause. The second part opened with the delightful quartette "Moonlight on the Lake," in which Mrs. Farmer's lucid soprano ran through the other parts like a thread of gold amongst a woof of silver; Mr. O'Brien's tenor in this beautifully rendered quartette was singularly clear and sweet. Miss Alice Crompton's "Beautiful Girl of Kildare" was a diamond amongst the other gems of song which had delighted the audience. The trio by Mrs. Farmer and Messrs. O'Shea and O'Brien was a magnificent specimen of harmony and melody. Mr. James Shea's "Standard Bearer" brought out the richness and expression of his rich, liquid basso profondo voice. The closing quartette, "Sweet is the Hour of Rest," was a fitting finale to one of the best concerts that ever honored the Napanee Music Hall. Our citizens are most highly pleased with the visit of our Montreal friends, both professionally and personally, and we hope that their impressions of their first visit to Napanee may be burdened with recollections equally pleasant with those left behind them." The members of the Choir speak in glowing terms of the enthusiastic reception accorded them by the good people of Napanee. It was far more than they expected, and made a profound impression upon those who received such a spontaneous ovation of good will and hospitality.

LACHINE CANAL WORKS.

A Court has been convened for the purpose of arbitrating upon the lands necessary for the completion of the enlargement of the Lachine Canal. It met on Friday, in the office of the Government Engineer. The Board consists of Messrs. Cowan, of Galt; Hurteau, of Longueuil; Elliott, of Halifax, N.S., and Taylor, of Sarnia. Mr. Enniss, of the Department of Public Works, has been appointed Secretary, and Mr. Robertson Solicitor for the Government. Mr. Laflamme has been retained in the interest of Mr. Gariepy, of Lachine, the value of whose property is now under consideration. Section 10 is the first division which has been taken up. The evidence of Messrs. Darling and Valois, valuators, Mr. Dawes, brewer, and Mr. Dyde, Collector of Canal tolls at Lachine, was taken. The Court will likely sit for several weeks. Mr. Sippell, Government Engineer, has taken possession of all the lands which are to be arbitrated upon under the Expropriation Act.

THE PROTESTANT SERVICE AT ST. HENRI.

A rumor having been extensively circulated to the effect that a number of Roman Catholics intended to interfere with the Wesleyan service to be held at St. Henri yesterday evening, a number of people were attracted to the place, doubtless in expectation of seeing a row. They were disappointed, however, as no disturbance took place. At eight o'clock, the hour when the proceedings commenced, there were 38 men in the room and one woman. After prayer, a hymn in French was heartily sung, after which the Rev. Mr. Gruchy preached a practical sermon, which was listened to with rapt attention, not only by those in the chapel, but also by a little knot of French Canadians who congregated on the footpath outside of the door. These latter, however, did not attempt to create any disturbance.

The Rev. Mr. Beaudry also addressed the congregation, speaking in a very audible manner and in very plain terms. His eloquence, however, appeared to have very little effect upon the audience, many of whom, stolid-looking, seemed to be there out of curiosity. After the singing of another hymn, the service was over, and after giving away a number of tracts, the clergymen returned to this city. Rev. Mr. De Gruchy remarked "that so long as access could be had by any means to the Canadians he was satisfied, as he did not wish to produce any ill-feeling." The crowd outside the door did not number more than fifty persons, including several women.

The Daily News says that Earl Derby has consented to receive a deputation on Friday, including many members of Parliament, who will present a memorial urging strict neutrality on the Eastern question. Mr. Gladstone having declined to preside at a public meeting on the same subject, the Earl of Shaftesbury will probably be invited.

The Times' Berlin special has the following:—At the Reichstadt interview, Count Andrassy offered to mediate between Russia and England. Count Andrassy seems to have reference to a hope that Germany would co-operate in mediation, Russia having given no definite answer. The situation remains unchanged. In the negotiations preceding the above, Count Andrassy said he was unable to consent to any territorial changes in Turkey, unless approved by the other Powers; he was, however, willing to maintain existing arrangements, and support the Berlin memorandum.

The Turks suffered considerable loss. Many of the wounded are arriving here.

AMERICAN.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 11.

A terrific thunder storm swept over the city this evening, accompanied by fierce flashes of lightning and drenching rain. Several buildings were struck and damaged by the electric bolts, and two houses caught fire and were entirely destroyed. A dwelling was struck by lightning and one young woman instantly killed. The other persons in the house were all stunned. The current tore the doors off their hinges, broke the windows, and escaped through the roof. The office of the Dickson Manufacturing Co.'s Cliff works was struck and considerably damaged, and the superintendent, clerks and draughtsmen were stunned by the shock and had the most miraculous escape, the lightning tearing a hole through the walls a short distance from where they stood. Several other accidents of minor character occurred, and the storm was the most severe that has visited the region in many years.

The train ran to the foot of the grade, and stopped without damage.

WASHINGTON, July 11.

The heat was again intense to-day. Many of the horses on the Pennsylvania avenue line and those drawing the new line of chariots gave out and were incapacitated for the time being, even if not permanently disabled. It is a curious illustration of the great heat that in several places the street car rails became so expanded as to rise up in curved outline, drawing bolts, and as the cars went over them the passage was somewhat similar to crossing the furrows of a ploughed field. In one instance the rail burst away from its bolts and left the track entirely. Around the hotels can be seen persons of all grades in public life, from Senators to Representatives, sitting far out into the street after nightfall to catch a chance current of air, and even William Tecumseh Sherman, the General of the army, and his staff, can be counted among them. The President and some Senators like Conkling, who know a thing or two, ride out in the evening, and by locomotion get a breeze which they otherwise would not. Invalids and infants have suffered especially, and strong men are in the category of those who succumb to the terribly depressing influence of the torrid temperature.

CLINTON, July 11.

Yesterday morning, Clinton and the surrounding country were thrown into a dreadful state of excitement on hearing that Jesse Wilde, a clerk of this town, had been murdered the previous night near the Grand Trunk railway track, about a mile or so east of this town. He left his father's house, situated about three miles and a half from Clinton, on Sunday evening, just after sunset, for this place, and, as was his custom, walked part of the way on the railway track to shorten the distance. Yesterday morning, some track men found a pocket-book with his name on it, a felt hat, a shirt bosom with two holes stabbed through it, and blood-marks where the knife had been pulled out, a shirt collar with his name on it, and a black necktie broken in two. These were taken to the father by the men, and the alarm was at once given by the brother of the supposed deceased Jesse. Hundreds of people turned out in the forenoon and afternoon to search for the body. The woods were scoured in the vicinity where the articles were found, but there were no traces of the missing body. Yesterday five persons were arrested and examined before W. W. Farran, Esq., and the Mayor, A. S. Fisher, Esq., but, as they all gave a satisfactory account of themselves, they were dismissed. To-day other parties have been examined, with the same result. It is now supposed that Wilde has not been murdered at all, and that he has fled to the States, and taken this way of trying to make the public think he has met with foul play. His life was recently insured for $2,000, and it is thought this explains part of his strange conduct.

IRELAND.

An attempt to raise the ship "William Nelson," sunk at Dundalk, will be made when the necessary canvas has been prepared to enfold her in. A five-ton boat was lifted out of the rock hole in Dundalk river in exactly sixteen seconds, where a boat only a quarter that size required twenty-four seconds. This strange fact goes rather to prove that the larger the ship, the more rapidly she will become buoyant.

Recently an insane man, named Darby Sullivan, living near Ballinskelligs, snatched up a hatchet and felled his daughter-in-law, who was moving about the house at her ordinary work. The wretched man took fright, ran across the country through mountain and moor, a distance of two miles, and cast himself into the sea at Ballinskelligs, putting an end to his life. The body was recovered very soon, as it kept floating even after life was extinct. Dr. Spottiswoode from Cahirciveen attended the injured woman, whose condition is most precarious. No cause for the crimes can be suggested.

ENGLAND.

The whole of the specie which went down in the "Schiller" (£60,000) has been recovered, excepting about £1,200, and the "salving" has been brought to a close.

Three of the branches of the Scottish Presbyterian Church in England—English, Reformed and United—were recently formed into one denomination, consisting of 263 fully equipped congregations, with a membership of 50,000, and an annual income of £160,000. The new body has assumed the title of "The Presbyterian Church of England," and hopes are entertained that very soon it will actually and unequivocally be what by its name it claims to be. For, although that section of English Presbyterianism which has hitherto maintained specially close relations with the Scottish Establishment has not been included in the present union, it is said the majority of the congregations in its communion desire amalgamation. The Rev. Dr. Anderson, of Morpeth, the first Disruption minister to cross the Tweed, has been elected the first Moderator of the United Church.

Mr. Cross's Bishopric of Truro Bill has been printed. It gives power to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners to receive public contributions for a Truro Bishopric Endowment Fund, and provides for the transfer from the bishopric of Exeter to the new bishopric of such portion of the endowment of the former as will yield a net annual sum of £800 per annum. On provision of a sufficient endowment (£2,500, to be raised within 5 years to £3,000), the bishopric of Truro is to be established, but the number of bishops sitting in Parliament is not to be increased. Until there is a dean and chapter of Truro the Queen is to appoint the Bishop by letters patent; afterwards, a vacancy in the bishopric is to be filled "in the same manner as a vacancy in any other bishopric in England." It has been announced that the Prince of Wales will contribute £500 to the fund for the establishment of a bishopric in Cornwall, payment of the amount to be spread over a period of five years.

A terrific explosion has occurred on board the "Atalanta," a large vessel belonging to Greenock, in Penarth Dock, near Cardiff. The ship was laden with 1,500 tons of steam coal; the hatches were put down and covered with tarpaulin. She was being got out of dock, on a voyage to Hong Kong, when some one went down the lazarette with a candle. The gas exploded, and all those on the deck were blown up, some as high as the topgallant-yard, some over into the dock, while some fell on the deck, and yards and pieces of deck fell on them. Four have been killed, and several others severely injured. Seven persons were conveyed to the hospital, burnt or with broken limbs. The mate and two seamen were killed in the fall. The mate of a Scotch ship, Killahan, who was crossing the deck at the time, was also killed. Another person has since died. The captain was blown into the deck, badly burnt, and he narrowly escaped being drowned.

SCOTLAND.

The monument which it is proposed to erect to Robert Bruce will receive a site at the old castle at Lochmaben. The statue of the hero-king is making rapid progress under the chisel of Mr. Hutchison, sculptor, Edinburgh.

The second reading of Dr. Cameron's bill on the proclamation of banns in Scotland has been refused. There was an able debate on the subject, and the intimation of the Lord Advocate that the Lord Chancellor would introduce a bill dealing with the whole marriage question, and that, therefore, exceptional legislation was undesirable, had, no doubt, much to do in the adverse decision arrived at.

At a meeting of the Leith Dock Commission, a letter was read from the secretary of the Sabbath Alliance, requesting the Commission to put a stop to Sunday passenger traffic on the Forth. Mr. Currie, the chairman, said they had such power, but they declined to move in the matter. It was, however, resolved to close a wicket gate at the west end of the Victoria Dock on Sundays.

On the farm of Cairngaan, near the Mull head, in the parish of Kirkmaiden, the other day, a laborer, while filling up a gravel pit in a little knowe, discovered three ancient graves. One of them was a sort of a cist, human remains being covered by a large slab resting on granite pillars or blocks. The other two were cinerary urns, which crumbled into fragments when exposed to the air. No weapons or implements of any kind were found.

From a return published by Bailie Collins, the following figures are given as the yearly revenues of the trusts connected with Glasgow and the income of the Parochial Boards:—Corporation, £18,228; Board of Police, £192,414; Sanitary, £24,540; Statute Labor, £61,995; Water Works, £126,356; Gas Works, £378,392; Markets, &c., £14,133; Public Parks, £17,415; Improvement Trust, £53,317; Clyde Navigation, £196,326; Court House Commissioners, £13,815; City Parochial Board, £52,897; Barony Parochial Board, £168,907; Govan Parochial Board, £55,822; Bridges Trust, £10,452—total, £1,385,069.

A very influential deputation has waited upon the Prime Minister to plead for a Government grant to aid in the extension and improvement of the Edinburgh University buildings. The Earl of Derby, as Lord Rector, introduced the deputation, and the Duke of Buccleuch, as a Scotchman greatly interested "in the success of the universities of the country," acted as spokesman, taking care to tell Mr. Disraeli, among other things, that £81,000 had been raised for the building fund by voluntary contributions throughout Scotland, and that the Edinburgh Medical School attracted more students than any other in the country. The interview was satisfactory, and without committing himself to any definite promise, the Prime Minister gave reason for the assumption that in the estimates for next year a sum will be included for the object sought.

A terrible explosion of dynamite occurred at Burnbank, near Hamilton, Scotland, on the 19th of June, in a shed occupied by the workmen of Messrs. Brand, contractors for the Hamilton and Bothwell Railway, as a smithy and joiners' shop. It is believed that some 80lb. of the explosive, which had been supposed to be rendered useless by damp, had been stored in the smithy for several months past. From some cause which has not been ascertained about 30lbs. of the dynamite suddenly exploded while seven men were at work in the premises, a policeman also being present in the shed. The building, which was of wood, was completely demolished, six of the occupants, including the policeman, were killed on the spot; another of the workmen was so dreadfully injured that he is not expected to recover, while the eighth man escaped almost unhurt. The surrounding buildings were much damaged, and the shock of the explosion was felt distinctly at Hamilton and throughout the district.

TERRIBLE FALL FROM A BALLOON.

(From the Lafayette, Ind., Journal, July 5.)

As announced, the balloon ascension took place at six o'clock yesterday afternoon, an hour sooner than advertised. A flue had been erected for furnishing heat with which to inflate the balloon, and over the flue, by means of ropes and pulleys, the balloon was raised. The dimensions of the aerial ship are 95 feet in height by 65 feet in diameter. It contains 1,782 yards of canvas, and when inflated assumes massive proportions. Upon the side of the balloon, in large characters, is the name of W. S. Lingle, named in honor of Mr. Lingle, editor of the Courier. As soon as the balloon was inflated, John W. Short, the aeronaut, took his place upon the trapeze which hung below its mouth. In freeing it from the ropes, the balloon was forced toward the Court House, striking the corner of the building and tearing the cloth, the hot air escaping. It rose about 200 feet high and began the rapid descent. Five thousand people with terrible suspense gazed upon the descending balloon and its fated attendant, falling to the earth on Sixth, between Main and Ferry streets. The aeronaut was caught under the chin by the telegraph wire and was hurled to the alley at the rear of the Second Presbyterian church. A carriage was soon on the spot, and in it he was conveyed to Dr. Glick's office. He was then taken to his mother's residence, on Ferry, between Eighth and Ninth street. Drs. Glick, Ingersoll, Powers, O'Ferrall and son, after consultation, were of the unanimous opinion that the right limb should be taken off. The injuries received were a cut under the chin, and both limbs being broken above the knees. Dr. Glick, assisted by his associates, amputated the right limb midway between the knee and the thigh. The left limb, it is hoped, can be saved, it having received compound fracture. Mr. Short is resting easily, and hopes are entertained that he will recover, though the chances are against him. He is twenty-six years of age and is a young man of remarkable physique and nerve, and that is favorable to his recovery.

A HORRIBLE TALE.

It's a horrible tale I've got to relate,
All about a man unfortunate,
Who bought a suit of clothes in a neighboring city
And thus caused me to write this awful ditty.

The coat seemed of the glossiest black,
But he had hardly put it on his back,
When it split right across, it was made of shoddy
And wouldn't go half way round his body.

The pants were such an awful tight fit,
That not for the world dare he down to sit,
And as for the "weskit," its case was the worst,
For every button-hole on it was burst.

He had bought this suit for his wedding day,
In disgust he made with himself away,
The clothes he bequeathed to his younger brother
Knowing well he should never wear another.

This horrible tale had never been sung,
And he never need himself have hung,
If he had patronized O'HARA'S Store,
Whose clothing is guaranteed all the world o'er.

FOUR O'CLOCK.

THE ORANGE CELEBRATION.

ANNIVERSARY SERMON.

The St. James street Wesleyan Church was well filled below stairs, but comparatively empty in the gallery during the anniversary service held by the Rev. Leonard Gaetz this afternoon. The vast majority of those present displayed orange emblems, and the Orange Young Britons, to the number probably of two hundred, were conspicuous among the worshippers. These young men marched in procession from the Orange Hall to the church and were not molested in any way.

After the usual service of praise and prayer, the pastor of the church delivered an able discourse, of which the following is an epitome:

THE SERMON.

BRETHREN,—I welcome you here to-day, on this your anniversary gathering, not as an Orangeman, but as a Protestant, a Christian, and a minister of the Gospel of liberty. Though not connected with your order, I take this early opportunity of saying that with the principles of Orangeism, so far as I understand them, I am in perfect sympathy, while from the habits and practice of individual Orangemen, I might often feel it my duty to dissent. There are not a few of our co-religionists who may regard your organization as unnecessary, and our meeting here on this occasion barren of any vital principle. I do not hold these opinions; your organization meets a want which has long been the weakness of Protestant action, the want of combined forces and united effort. And as for the principle involved it seems to me to involve the entire question— whether we have any right to hold conscientious convictions of our own in this city of Montreal, or, holding them, whether we have the right frankly and publicly to declare them? While I cheerfully accord that right to every other, I must unquestionably claim it for myself, and must protest against the denial of my claim, from whatever quarter that denial comes. The rev. gentleman then entered upon his discourse, the text of which was selected from Galatians v., 13: "Brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another."

In his introduction the preacher dwelt upon their birthright, with its restrictions and obligations. We are free-born, he said. There are certain unalienable rights to life and liberty and the pursuit of happiness which, though they had cost our forefathers a great price, have been bequeathed to us without any lawful encumbrance, and we are determined, God helping us, to leave them unencumbered to our children. It is the solemn and conscientious conviction of many that efforts are being made to curtail the liberties and encumber the rights of Protestants. I am willing to admit that many of our co-religionists do not profess to see this, partly because the services of Protestant religion is frank, generous-hearted and unsuspecting, and partly because they take no pains to watch the developments of the times, and have no memory to retain the lessons of history. But if all history were to be taken from the libraries of the world, and perished from this moment beyond the possibility of recall, enough has transpired within the past year to cause every intelligent Protestant to ponder soberly and prayerfully the question, "Whither are we drifting?" The labors of pamphleteers, journalists, lecturers and preachers of the Gospel render it unnecessary for me to go into particulars in these matters. The facts are patent to all. Through the agency of the press they have been winged to almost every part of the world. Many of these acts which have caused us pain and awakened apprehension, have at least one virtue—they were not done in a corner. The things that were dearer to us than life itself have lately been assailed with a defiance which, at least, has the appearance of a challenge. The relentless persecution of the defenceless Indians of Oka, the remnant of a noble race, to whom the country originally belonged, and who have been the firm supporters of the British Throne and faithful allies of the Government in the suppression of the rebellion, and the exposure of treasonable plots, the unutterable insults and petty annoyance of the unoffensive Iroquois Indians, whose only sin against the Church or State seems to have been that they exercised the right of conscience, which Rome denies; that they claimed the birth-right of liberty, to which Christ and Christianity calls all men, are a stain on the fair flag of the Dominion, and a grief to every right-minded citizen of whatever creed, especially as neither the Church whose minions committed the outrage, nor the Parliament which is responsible for the poor government of the country, has ever deemed it worth while to call the rioters to account. But this was not all. The crowning act in the drama was that high-handed vandalism which rudely tore to pieces and destroyed their Church—the only rallying place of the persecuted band in which they delighted to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience. Can any one blame us for interpreting this as a restriction of our liberties? Can any wonder if we should dispassionately, but earnestly exclaim, "Where unto this thing will go!" This intolerance is all new to me. In my own Province the Roman Catholics are but a fragment of the population. I never saw one of their churches injured to the extent of a shingle or a pane of glass. I never saw their altars desecrated or the graves of their dead trampled or dishonored. I never saw a priest molested for teaching the doctrines of his Church as a brother minister was in this city only last week, stoned like a dog for telling the "old, old story" to his flock. Why should these things be? If our civil and religious liberty are acknowledged, "Why do we yet suffer persecution?" If our birthright as Britons and as Protestants is respected, why should we suffer insult and intimidation? But I fear it is not honestly respected by at least a large portion of our fellow citizens. Ultramontanism is the traditional enemy of civil and religious liberty, whether claimed inside the pale of the Catholic Church or out. And there are two ways of killing the fair tree of liberty, as there are of killing any other tree; you may either cut it down or girdle it and let it die; and the tightening ligatures which are gradually but surely drawing closer and closer around the rights of the minority of the Province of Quebec must soon and inevitably blight the fair tree under which our ancestors sat, protected by its shelter and comforted by its fruit. The changing of municipal boundaries, and electoral districts in the interests of the Church, the control of ballot boxes by the potent influence of the altar, the gradual crowding out of Protestants from public offices and positions of trust, the control of Protestant education in this city by appointing three of the Commissioners in the Legislature of Quebec and three in the Council of Montreal, both of which bodies, by a large majority, sworn by the Syllabus of Rome, the persistant determination to silence every Councillor and supersede every Commissioner who dares to express publicly his honest convictions when they are in opposition to the hierarchy, the monopolizing of our public streets with ostentatious parades, to the great detriment of commerce and inconvenience of citizens, and the fearful desecration of the Christian Sabbath before our own eyes and the eyes of our children. All these things seem to me to look in a certain direction, and, unless firmly met, must culminate in the sacrifice, on our part, of religious liberty and equality. The preacher secondly alluded to the restrictions of liberty: "Only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another," not to make it a sacred thing, or liberty a mere opportunity for immoral lusts. Your liberty is liable to become an occasion to the flesh in yet another way, namely, by the cherishing of angry tempers, the indulgence of discourteous speech, and the adoption of lawless methods, even, to secure the rights which are dearer to you and me than life itself. If your constitution is a fair exhibit of your principles, I believe it to be the wanton slanders of your enemies that Orangeism encourages bloodshed. In the many and sore provocations to which you are apt to be subjected, it would be strange indeed if you were not sometimes tempted to overstep the limits of your constitution and defend your birthright by such measures as the heat of passion might indicate. But ever remember that—

"This is true courage, not the brutal force of Vulgar heroes, but the fair resolve of virtue and of reason."

God forbid that we should ever borrow Rome's weapons to contend with Rome until every other weapon is exhausted. We profess no sympathy with the tortures of the Inquisition. The Protestant religion has won its triumphs so far without the aid of bands and balls, racks and gibbets, stakes and stones. Virtue and intelligence are more consonnant with our religion and more grateful to our feelings. Let us discountenance the brutal forces by which Rome has often sought to propogate her faith and policy. May Christian civilization never be called to blush over Protestants stoning a Catholic priest for teaching the doctrine of his Church or worshipping God according to the dictates of his conscience. While you sacredly maintain your rights, therefore, see that it is ever by methods which will not prove by our liberty to be mere occasion to the flesh. He then referred to their obligations, namely, to God, to each other, and to their country, and concluded by remarking that he thought it was perfectly agreed to day to accord, frankly and cheerfully, to their Roman Catholic fellow-subjects every right which they themselves claimed; but he, for one, would accord no more.

INTERESTING HEBREW CEREMONY.

On Monday last a highly interesting ceremony, connected with the Hebrew faith, was celebrated with great magnificence and hospitality at the mansion of Mr. S. E. Moss, one of our largest merchants, on Sherbrooke street. This respected family having been made happy by the birth of a son, the ancient rite of circumcision, which is synonymous with baptism in the Christian Church, was performed by Rabbi the Rev. Mr. Myers. There was a large and distinguished number of friends of the parents, both Hebrew and Christian, present by invitation on the joyful occasion. After the ceremony, which had its origin with the Prophet Abraham, the generous and profuse hospitality of the house was dispensed in a grand banquet, which included the choicest productions of the season, that was served up in a style of almost regal splendor, the table being literally one brilliant mass of plate and choice exotics. After the banquet, a series of toasts were proposed, the Rev. Mr. Myers taking the lead in very happy terms in giving the health of the "little stranger" and his parents. Mr. S. E. Moss replied in felicitous terms. Drs. Hingston and Reddy, the family physicians, were next in order, and then came Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moss, father and mother of Mr. S. E. Moss, and Mrs. David Moss, all of whom reside in England; Mr. and Mrs. John and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moss; Rev. Mr. Myers; Alderman Clendinneng; Mr. Lyman; Mr. Z. Silverman, and "Our Christian Friends." An exceedingly pleasant time was spent by the large assembly in the interchange of compliments, and the festivities on the occasion will long be remembered by those present. We have only to add our felicitations on the happy event which has been celebrated so munificently.

BOLD ROBBERY IN BOSTON.

(From the Boston Journal, July 8th.)

A few minutes past 12 o'clock on Friday, Mr. James M. Shute, of Somerville, stepped into the banking rooms of Tower, Giddings & Co., at the corner of Water and Devonshire streets, to deliver $5,000 in Union Pacific bonds which he had sold to them. As he laid the five $1,000 bonds upon the counter, a man, who entered another door at the same instant, made a grab for them, snatched three of them and ran. The junior partner of the firm, Mr. Lyman B. Greenleaf, saw his movement, instantly leaped over the counter, and, following close upon the heels of the thief, overtook him in the Post-office, and held him until he was taken in charge by an officer.

The thief was a well-dressed man, about 27 years of age, and it seems he had asked Mr. Shute some question before entering the banking rooms. He had in his hand an empty banker's book. He was taken to the Second station and locked up, giving the name of William Fanning. It is supposed that the name is a fictitious one, though he is not known to the officers and refused to give his residence.

TORONTO, July 12.

The Orangemen began at an early hour to celebrate the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. The procession is now going on; it is larger than in former years. There are more lodges, more bands, and more banners. The weather is fine. A picnic will be held in the Park, and speeches will be delivered as soon as the procession ends its journey.

John Hillis, charged with attempting to shoot Wm. Scott, yesterday afternoon, was brought before the Police Magistrate, but remanded. After Hillis had snapped the trigger of an unloaded chamber of a revolver at Scott, he thought he had shot Scott, and immediately went to the water's edge, where he attempted to drown himself. He was rescued, and afterwards arrested.

Geo. Klein, dry goods dealer, of Stratford, lately bankrupt, has been brought to the city under arrest, on a charge of defrauding Thomas Walls & Co., of this city.

OTTAWA, July 12.

The Orangemen of this city and vicinity celebrated the anniversary of the Boyne with much enthusiasm. The various lodges of the district assembled at the Orange Hall, fromed in procession, and, with bands and banners, marched through the principal streets of the city. The turnout was very creditable in all respects and the very best of order prevailed, not even a side row occurring along the route of the procession. The streets were densely crowded with citizens. To-night, a grand banquet will be held in the Orange Hall.

The Grand Masonic Lodge opened its annual session this p.m. The time of the lodge was occupied for the first two hours with the Grand Master's address, an exhaustive review of the year's business. It showed that the order had improved financially as well as numerically. After discharging all the obligations of the year, and adding a large sum to the benevolent fund, the treasurer's report shows that there is a balance to the credit of the lodge of $55,770.

A man named Dassault walked one mile on the Gatineau river, last evening, with wooden shoes.

The Caledonia Spring Races will be held on the 21st August.

The Grand General Council of the Reformed Episcopal Church opened here this afternoon. At the opening service, Bishop Nicholson preached an eloquent sermon. In the course of his remarks he referred, in touching terms, to the death of the late Bishop Cummins. Communion was administered to one hundred delegates. Judge Hughes was then appointed President pro tem., and the organization of the Council was then proceeded with. The Council then adjourned for lunch, after which the election of a President was proceeded with. The candidates are Bishops Cheney and Nicholson.

CITY NEWS.

— "Montrealer's" letter in reply to the Harbor Board received, and will appear in due course.

— The annual meeting of the Citizens' Health Association will be held to-morrow (Thursday) evening in the Natural History Society's rooms.

— The creditors of J. N. P. Coyne, general merchant, of Portage du Fort, have appointed Mr. A. M. Perkins, Official Assignee, to investigate the affairs of the estate.

— "The Sea of Ice" was repeated at the Academy of Music last evening, and it went very smoothly, the little defects of a first production being remedied. The scenery is greatly admired and commented on, and it will be strange, indeed, if it does not evoke a hearty support before it is withdrawn.

— Several ladies have complained of strange men residing on St. Urbain street insulting them by making signs out of windows when they were passing. The police should be informed by the aggrieved parties, and the ruffians arrested if such dastardly conduct is repeated.

— Emile Languedoc, 22, butcher; John King, 24, fruit dealer, were arrested at 11 o'clock this morning for stealing half a dozen birch brooms from a passing cart, the property of Louis Blain. The young men state that they were driving along the road when the brooms fell off a passing cart into their vehicle.

— Michael Quinn, bricklayer, who assaulted Constables Tuggie and Malone, who were about to arrest him for assaulting a colored man, was fined $20 and 4 months' imprisonment, in default of payment, 2 months' extra, by the Recorder this morning. It is to be hoped that this sentence will have a salutory effect upon the other members of the Juror street gang, of which Quinn was an active member.

— After many advertisements of boats to be put on between Montreal and Quebec, we are officially informed that arrangements are being completed with the Union Navigation Company to run the two steamers, "City of St. John" and "Rothesay," between Montreal and Quebec in a few days. Advertisments will be issued. No doubt a generous public will give this line a fair share of their patronage.

POLICE COURT—WEDNESDAY.—Charles Morin, 16, stealing money from Rosalie Payette; Thomas Crough, 36, boiler-maker, forging the name of Patrick Moynaugh; Elizabeth Samuels, 37, obtaining money under false pretences, and Alfred Dagenais, 39, mason, receiving a stolen watch from Eliza Paquette, were all discharged by the Police Magistrate this morning, the evidence being insufficient. Robert Dawes, 30, broker, drunk on the shipping wharf, was fined $1 and costs or eight days. Nicholas Anderson, stealing a shirt, discharged. The assault case of Belisle vs. David Huot, was settled outside of the Court.

A NUISANCE.—The inhabitants of Point St. Charles complain of a nuisance on the ground intended for a public square or park at the junction of Wellington, Centre, and Grand Trunk streets. It appears that a pool of stagnant water, emitting a very noxious smell, has been allowed to remain there for some time, and endangering the health of the inhabitants of the locality. Ald. McShane, one of the representatives of the Ward, has been appealed to, but although he passes the place almost daily, he has had nothing done to remove the nuisance. Why this delay?

THE CITY PASSENGER RAILWAY.—At the Police Court yesterday, Mr. C. Morel, trader, charged Mr. Chas. Wright, cashier of the City Passenger Railway with assaulting him. It appears that Mr. Morel had, when riding in a street car, asked the conductor for 25 cents' worth of tickets, which, however, the man told him he could not give him, as he was out of tickets, and refused to give the money back. Afterwards both of them went into the office on Craig street, when Morel, it was alleged, used very rough language. Mr. Wright ordered him out and at the same time laid his hand on the plaintiff's arm. His Honor dismissed the case, remarking that the officials had, in his estimation, acted very creditably throughout.

ST. MONIQUE STREET.—His Honor Mr. Justice Rainville granted a mandamus in the case of G. W. Reed vs. the City of Montreal, for the appointment of Commissioners to assess the damages suffered by the petitioner by the lowering of the grade of St. Monique street, opposite the petitioner's property. The city admitted that Commissioners should be named, but maintained that, under the powers conferred by the charter, the Council had the right to change the level of the roadway, without liability towards the adjacent owners for damages. In the present case the level of the whole street was lowered. Messrs. Judah and Wurtele for petitioner, and Mr. Roy, Q.C., for the Corporation.

ASTRONOMICAL LECTURES.—Mr. Harris' proposed lecture for this evening, at the Rooms of the Natural History Society, is postponed for the present.

BENEFIT FOR "LITTLE SELINA."

Through the liberality of Mr. Green, the Manager of the Academy of Music, little Selina Rough will take a benefit in that house on Saturday evening next. It will be remembered that during the past winter, and especially in the play of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," this precocious child evinced remarkable talent that only requires cultivation and development to place her in a foremost position on the stage hereafter. If only a tithe of those who admired her impersonation of little "Eva," and shed tears over the tenderness and intelligence she displayed for one so young, only patronise her benefit, then the house will be a bumper indeed. We recommend Selina strongly to the support of the public, whose dear little favorite she has been since the opening of the Academy. We believe that friends will interest themselves in the sale of tickets. Let the patrons of the theatre give all who do so a generous response.

A PUBLIC GRIEVANCE.

IMMEDIATE REDRESS DEMANDED.

The inhabitants of Point St. Charles, who live in the neighborhood of the manufactory of the North American Packing Company, have been subjected for a considerable time to a terrible nuisance arising from the refuse thrown out from the establishment. They have remonstrated frequently, but finding that their remonstrances were all in vain, have invoked the aid of the City Council through petition to have the nuisance abated. The Council referred the matter to the Board of Health, and Dr. Hingston, the Mayor, has taken steps to have a remedy applied. His Worship has visited the locality, and declares that a greater nuisance, or one that is more likely to be detrimental to the public health, he has never known in the city. Such eminent physicians as Drs. Reddy and Rodgers have certified to the "abominable" nuisance that is allowed to exist, and it is hard to believe how the directors and managers can allow such a fearful annoyance to their neighbors to remain a single day unremedied. The Mayor has expressed his determination to take immediate steps to indict the parties who permit the nuisance. Surely the manager of the establishment will do something at once to remove all cause of complaint.

PRESBYTERY OF MONTREAL.

EVENING SEDERUNT.—TUESDAY.

At the evening session a Moderator and call were asked for by St. Mark's Church, Montreal, in favor of Rev. J. Nicholls.— Granted.

In connection with the memorial and complaint of St. Andrew's Kirk Session, the parties having been called, and none of them having appeared, it was moved by Mr. Watson, seconded by Dr. Taylor, and unanimously carried, "That the St. Andrew's Kirk Session having been notified by the clerk of the Presbytery that their petition would be taken up at this session, and not having made their appearance, and the Presbytery having full confidence in Mr. Campbell, who, in all matters, acted with our authority, this Presbytery deem it better to take no further notice of the matter."

The Rev. Mr. Jones, of the East-end Mission, and a deputation, consisting of Messrs. John Watson, Alexander Foreman and Henry Cootrick, appeared before the Presbytery, asking that the East-end Mission be constituted a congregation, which, on motion of Rev. Mr. Campbell, was granted.

Rev. Dr. Taylor was then appointed Moderator of the Session, to carry out the will of the Presbytery, and Messrs. John A. Stewart, A. C. Clark and James Walker were named elders to assist. Messrs. Bennett and Hanly, students were examined, and duly licensed to preach the Gospel, after which the Presbytery adjourned until October next.

A DEFAULTER.

HE CONTRACTS DEBTS, OBTAINS JEWELLERY AND OTHER ARTICLES ON CREDIT, AND ABSCONDS WITHOUT PAYING.

A patent medicine man, named Rosenblatt, who resided at 199 St. Hypolite street for a year past, has absconded, after victimising a large number of people. It appears that he was engaged in selling a medicine which he called the "Southern Fruit Purgative," and he obtained a large sale through extensive advertising. Having made money and not paid his bills, he determined on making a clean sweep and take to new fields for the exercise of his powers of swindling. Before leaving he went to a number of jewellers and obtained a lot of valuable jewellery on credit, and took it with him. He had every thing taken from his house, and did not even pay the carters for removing his furniture. When they asked for the money, he pulled out a large roll of American greenbacks, said he had nothing but "rag money," and gave the discomfited carters a check on his banker, which, of course, was not honored. After his departure four or five bailiffs came to his house, but they were too late, the bird had flown, and there was nothing but emptiness. It is supposed he has crossed the line. His liabilities will foot up a large sum, and "no effects" is the return that will be made to any legal process brought against him. Rosenblatt came here from Toronto, and is a married man with four children.

IMPENDING CALAMITY FOR THE CITY.

A RESIGNATION THAT MUST BE AVERTED.

We regret to have to announce news that will fill the ratepayers of the city with the keenest disappointment, and give joy and comfort to the large number of harpies who fatten on the taxpayers' money. Alderman G. W. Stephens, like many other able, honest and fearless champions of a pure administration who have been in the Council, is about to resign his seat, and give his time exclusively to private business. Whilst it has been undoubtedly the case that the demands made on the time of a working member of the Corporation have been very large, taking up a considerable portion of every working day in the week, yet there is no doubt that it in a measure has arisen from the disorganized condition of some of the departments. In the future this will be remedied, and, with the confidence that will be inspired in the new executive officers, there will be less for the individual members of the Council to do. This should lessen Ald. Stephens' repugnance to remain. We do not mean to say that if Ald. Stephens retired there would not be many men left in the Council as honest, well intentioned, economical and self-sacrificing in the interests of the taxpayers as he has been; but is there one man in the Council, except himself, who has the fearless courage to express his opinions boldly, and, without hesitation, to grapple with the corruptionists face to face, denouncing the wrongful expenditure of the people's money? There is not one, and it is well known that by his courage and outspoken honesty George Washington Stephens has saved thousands and thousands of dollars to the city. Is, then, such a valuable public servant, a man with such a practical turn of mind, most extensive local knowledge, and unceasing industry, to be lost to the service of the city? Surely the taxpayers will rise, without distinction of class, to protest against his resignation. It is a fact that the honors the Corporation has had to bestow have not been equitably distributed among the working members so to induce them to remain, but whilst this has had nothing to do with Ald. Stephens' resignation, it is only right that in the future it should be brought up and a new leaf turned over in regard to it.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF THE BOYNE—1688.

A good deal of excitement has taken place to-day in the city over the celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne by members of the Orange Society. From an early hour, the subject of discussion was whether the Orangemen and Young Britons would walk in procession to church in full regalia. Although the Grand Lodge had issued an order against such a proceeding, yet it was not definitely known whether the order would be generally obeyed. Another matter which excited a good deal of speculation was as to the display of flags which it was said would take place from the windows of the Orange Hall. The members of the Order wisely dispensed with any such exhibition, and, with the exception of about 200 Young Britons marching to St. James street Church, with orange rosettes on their breasts, and the officers with sashes, there was no other demonstration. St. James street was crowded with people, but no attempt at a hostile feeling was apparent.

SOME SHOTS FIRED.

As two young men, named Davidson and Hayes, with orange and purple neckties, were walking down Bleury street, about 2.20, they were assaulted from behind by four men, one of whom fired a shot at them. Hayes immediately fired a revolver in return, and then he and his companion made off, taking refuge in Weir's chop house. Happily neither shots took effect. A large crowd assembled outside the restaurant, which, however, was effectually dispersed by some one throwing a bag of flour out of an upper window on those standing below, the chief reporter of an evening contemporary getting more than his share of the white substance, and looking rather pale thereafter. He was advised by some Irishmen present to go home and change his coat. He was too anxious, however, for news, and did not seem to heed the "chaff" which was indulged in. Subsequently Davidson came out of the house, accompanied by Sergeant Burke, and proceeded to the St. James street Church. A considerable number of people followed him through the streets, but no insult of any kind was offered.

AN OLD GENTLEMAN ASSAULTED.

As an old gentleman, named Thompson, was walking with a lady, he was assaulted at the corner of St. James and St. Peter streets, near the Merchants' Bank; he was knocked down by a rough, who was immediately followed by the police and arrested by Sergeant Richardson. He turned out to be a brother of a fireman named Barry, at the Wellington st. station. On being searched, two revolvers were found on his person, and one shot had been discharged. He is believed to be the man who fired at Davidson and Hayes. He is locked up, and will be brought before the Court to-morrow. Mr. Thompson had on an orange necktie, similar to those worn by Davidson and Hayes.

A MAN WOUNDED.

As a young man whose name we could not learn, was passing the corner of Craig and Bleury streets, wearing some orange lilies in his button-hole, he was attacked and an attempt made to snatch the flowers. Being armed with a revolver, he fired a shot, which was returned, hitting him in the hand and inflicting a severe wound. No arrest made, as the party escaped.

SERVICE CONCLUDED.

The service at the church being concluded at about 3.45, the members of the Order marched in procession up St. James street to the Orange Hall, which they entered after giving a few cheers. There was a vast concourse of people on the street, but nothing occurred to disturb good feeling, and it is to be hoped the day will pass over without any trouble. The police behaved with great calmness, were under thorough control of their officers, and those who have heretofore said they could not be trusted have prophesied in vain. All the detectives were also on duty, and without being unnecessarily officious were on the qui vive all the time.

CARRYING DANGEROUS WEAPONS.

It is certain that a large number of young men of both parties were armed with various weapons for defensive and offensive purposes. Some parties who were exhibiting pistols, knives and other warlike instruments opposite the Merchants' Bank, on St. James street, were very soon pounced upon by those active officers, Sergeants Richardson and Hines and Detective Murphy. No resistance was offered, and the parties were not arrested.

THE POLICE

Between 40 and 50 policemen under Chief Penton, who was accompanied by Sub-Chief Naigle, were on duty in St. James street, and they kept the best of order.

At 4 o'clock a young man wearing orange emblems was chased through Victoria Square and, being caught, was roughly handled. The man who kicked the youth was arrested by a policeman, and an attempt at rescue occurred. The officer valiantly held on to his prisoner.

STOCK JOBBING.

"FACTS" AND "FANCIES."

To the Editor of the STAR:

SIR,—Respecting articles in the STAR of yesterday, and Gazette of this morning, I send now a few lines which may aptly come under above heading, particularly as the inference drawn from both articles, is that the telegraphic despatch to St. John, N. B., was sent by stock brokers for stock purposes:

MONTREAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

FACTS.—Sir Hugh Allan sold a large quantity of stock at 175.

Dr. Campbell returned to town about two weeks before the declaration of dividend; sold about half his stock; a few days after a connection of his sold stock. Shortly before declaration, a gentleman sold the dividend, on a large quantity of stock, at 4⅝ per cent., and boasts of having direct information respecting reduction.

There is about $100,000 of surplus earnings from former years at credit of rest account, for the sole purpose of equalizing and maintaining steady dividends.

FANCIES.—Some large and influential holders may think they can find a Board of Direction who will more satisfactorily represent the interests of shareholders, and may make a change.

MERCHANTS' BANK.

FACTS.—On arrival here of the paper containing telegraphic despatch, Sir Hugh Allan, by virtue of his office as President of the Montreal Telegraph Company, enquired at the office here as to who sent the despatch, and discovered that it came from the office of the Montreal Herald.

"FANCIE."—That it is rather objectionable, to say the least, that any person engaged in commercial and banking transactions should have the right of reading messages sent over the wires of the Telegraph Company.

FACTS.—The Montreal Herald gave the name of the party in their office sending despatch, and affirm that he was not influenced for stock purposes.

For the months of May and June, but few transactions of a speculative nature took place in Merchants' Bank stock, the feeling on all sides being to let it alone.

That there are "shorts" in Merchants' Bank stock is an undoubted fact; but that stock brokers are responsible, either for the first indication of weakness or for the despatch in question, is not true, unless the Montreal Herald can throw more light on the subject, and, I think, in justice to the members of the Montreal Stock Exchange, they ought to give a full explanation.

Truly yours,
FACT! I ASSURE YOU.

An offer of 45c. on the dollar was accepted. Eight or ten days will be given for the fyling of all claims against the insolvent firm, after which the composition will be paid.

CHAPTER LXXIV.—Continued.

Mr. Heathcote lifted his hand to his eyes, dashed away a tear, heaved a deep and tremulous sigh, and then all outward expression was gone. But what a father feels in his "heart of heart" when the darling that he has fondled for nearly twenty years yearns to leave him, and bows to the will of her selected mate, heaven only and himself can know or judge.

"The will of Providence be done!" he said, gravely. "There can be no nobler fellow than Arthur. You know you lose Heathcote House?"

"I know it, father."

"And that you become the wife of a semi-foreigner?"

"Never!"

"Child! believing in your marrying Arthur—in your devoted and mutual attachment—I have given my word of honor, as a man, to Sir John, that if you do not wed Arthur you will accept Captain Albert Montague!"

"Never!"

"My word of honor, child!" he mildly urged.

"Sir, you cannot barter away my life—you cannot give away my existence. I am free to refuse any man, however much you may approve of him, if I can neither esteem nor love him."

"My child, this is the wild theory you learned in the caves on the seashore. Captain Albert Montague is a gentleman, and the brother-in-law of our wealthiest county baronet—and, then, my word is given."

"You cannot tie a living body to a dead corpse—a young girl to an assassin—a man bad in every way!" she cried, with extreme animation.

"Ellen!"

"I speak warmly, father, because I feel so. Sir John is a dupe——"

"Ellen, you speak the sentiments of one whose only defence against a foul accusation was to accuse another. Philip Desborough's word is not worth taking. Of course, in the dungeon cell, where the mistaken kindness of Sir Hugh Trelawney allowed you to meet, he made out the best story he cou'd. He is condemned in my mind, and should be erased from the tablets of memory. Where is he?"

"Never can he be erased from mine, father—I, who believe him to be the noblest and most honorable soul that ever stepped from heaven's temple of heroes," replied Ellen Trelawney firmly and sadly, but evading the direct question.

"Let us change the subject," said Heathcote; "though, perhaps, I have no right to control you as much as I should Emily. And you think 'tis happiness that has made her so bright and sunny to-day?"

"I am sure of it."

"It is very sudden."

"When I prepared the way for him yesterday, father, it was worth a king's ransom to have seen her beaming smile, her bright and joyous flush of delight," cried Ellen Trelawney, enthusiastically.

"She loves him, then, so dearly?" he said, very sadly.

"She does, father; but, in heaven's name, do not let her suspect her innocent and pure attachment for her cousin gives you pain. It will mar all her joy—destroy all her genuine felicity."

"I will try; I will school myself to hide the slightest evidence of the blank sensation which chills my heart at the thought of losing her—I will!" he said, with such startling emphasis as must, just then, have betrayed him to a certainty had she been present.

"Lady Trelawney and Captain Arthur," said the solemn groom of the chambers.

"Now, father!" she whispered.

"Never fear, my child," he said, and was once more the courteous English gentleman.

Lady Trelawney, handsome, erect, and proud, very different from the ailing and unhappy woman we have seen before, entered, with a beaming smile upon her face followed by her son, whose face was crimson. She was very excited, that was evident.

"Good morning," she cried. "I hope the dear girls did not suffer from the weather last night. Where is my dear Emily?"

"I think you had better question that young vagabond behind you. I asked her what made her so rosy and bright this morning, and she ran away," said Heathcote, with an assumption of gaiety that seemed real to all but Ellen.

"You know all?"

"I do," he jerked out.

"My dear brother——"

"My dear uncle—my almost father——"

"Go and fetch the hussy," continued the other, huskily; "caught a deuce of a cold at the club last night. What wretched weather, to be sure?"

Lady Trelawney and Arthur exchanged glances of uneasiness and alarm, as the magistrate, with a frown and impatient gesture, turned to look out of the window. He was manifestly angry, vexed, annoyed.

A brief pause followed, and then Ellen came, leading her sister in, white, not from fear, but tremulous happiness and joy.

There was a quick, startled glance at her father, which at once, and completely, subdued him. The white look, too!

The stern magistrate thought it indicated doubt, fear, anxiety.

"Do you mean——" he had begun, and broke down into a kind of spasmodic, sobbing way of speech, quite womanly. "Well, it's no use—d——n it!—heaven forgive me for swearing!—it's very sudden, but it's all right. Arthur take her, and," he added, solemnly, "if she prove as good a wife as she has a daughter, all I can say is, you graceless scamp, she's a d——d deal to good for you."

And clenching their hands together, he took the arm of Lady Trelawney and went out of the room, followed by Ellen, who saw that her sister was far too overwhelmed to speak.

An hour later the magistrate returned, hoping to find them talking gaily, and ready to descant on the future arrangements which, under the circumstances, would have to be entered into at Heathcote.

He, however, did not find them; but instead saw Ellen standing in the window-niche—those houses had thick walls—looking up, with strange familiarity, into the face of a man who was, he fancied, quite unknown to him.

"My father," said Ellen, with a flush, "Captain Haughton."

"Pardon me, sir," added the other, with a half courteous, half haughty bend; "my friend, Captain Arthur, left me so long in the carriage, that I presumed to intrude in search of him."

"Where is Arthur?" asked Mr. Heathcote, stffliy.

"In the garden," replied Ellen; "with Lady Trelawney and Emily."

"I will join them," continued Mr. Heathcote, peering oddly and curiously into the other's face; "and send Arthur to his friend."

"You know me, sir?" began the young man, gravely.

"I have had the honor of being introduced by my daughter to Captain Haughton, a wealthy American, as I have heard," said Mr. Heathcote, hurriedly; "but, frankly, I do not like Americans—plain, but honest, sir—and if you come here with any such intentions as Arthur has, I have only this to say: my eldest daughter is engaged, strictly engaged, to one Captain Albert Montague, the brother-in-law of my poor friend, Sir John Desborough, a gentleman whose misfortunes I highly sympathize with. I desire it to be publicly understood that, unless Sir John, at the request of his guilty son, were to withdraw his demand for his brother-in-law, my daughter will in a month be Mrs. Captain Montague."

And, pale and angry, he stalked from the room, leaving the two annihilated with astonishment, and overwhelmed with grief.

"He knows me," said Haughton, moodily; "and this is his speech."

"Philip," replied Ellen, with beaming eyes, "do you doubt me?"

"But to live under this load of guilt!" cried Philip, wildly; "but I will not yield. My innocence shall not only be proved, but the guilty shall be punished. I have sworn to take this man in his own toils, and I will keep my promise. Before this day month, my father shall ask yours to withdraw his support of the claims of this wretch."

"Would it not be enough to prove your innocence?"

"And allow my father to be the victim of a felon, of what my tongue refuses to name; to be an accessory to guilt most foul and unnatural?" he said. "Never. Farewell, darling, have courage; hope, and all will be well."

And after a practical separation that would have excited considerable ire on the part of Mr. Heathcote, the lovers parted.

(To be continued.)

POETRY.

BAIRNIES, CUDDLE DOON.

The bairnies cuddle doon at nicht,
  Wi' muckle faucht an' din;
"O try and sleep, ye waukrife rogues,
  Your faither's comin' in."
They never heed a word I speak;
  I try to gie a froon,
But aye I hap them up, an' cry
  "O, bairnies, cuddle doon."

Wee Jamie wi' the curly heid—
  He aye sleeps next the wa',
Bangs up an' cries, "I want a piece,"
  The rascal starts them a'.
I rin an' fetch them pieces, drinks,
  They stop awee the soun',
They draw the blankets up an' cry,
  "Noo, weanies, cuddle doon."

But ere five minutes gang, wee Rab
  Cries out frae 'neath the claes,
"Mither, mak' Tam gie ower at ance,
  He's kittlin' wi' his taes."
The mischief's in that Tam for tricks,
  He'd bother half the toon;
But aye I hap them up an' cry,
  "O, bairnies, cuddle doon."

At length they hear their faither's fit,
  An' as he seeks the door,
They turn their faces to the wa',
  While Tam pretends to snore.
"Hae a' the weens been gude!" he asks,
  As he pits off his shoon.
"The bairnies, John, are in their beds,
  An' lang since cuddled doon."

An' just afor we bed oursels,
  We look at our wee lambs;

SITTING BULL'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

The New York Herald gives a picture of a scene in the life of the great Sioux Chief, Sitting Bull, drawn by himself, and says:—

While the fate of the gallant Custer and his men excites the sympathy of the entire country, the action in which he has fallen has placed in extraordinary prominence the name of the Sioux Chief, Sitting Bull, who was the victor in the battle on the Little Big Horn, of the 27th ult. In a portion of our issue of the 7th inst., there appeared a description of a very curious book, being an autobiography of Sitting Bull in rude pictures. Such records of what they consider the notable and praiseworthy deeds of their lives are frequently made by the Indians, generally upon skins or buffalo robes, but in this case upon sheets of paper—the backs of a number of muster-roll blanks belonging to the Thirty-first United States Infantry. They are fifty-five in number, and give in picture language the story of Sitting Bull's career up to six or seven years ago. Each picture is rudely outlined with ink, the men, horses and other objects being such as children would make. Many of them are partly filled in with red and blue colors, as if Sitting Bull had at some time got possession of one of the red and blue pencils so well known in newspaper offices and with it elaborated his pictorial efforts. Blood or a wound is indicated by a red blotch with streamers falling down from it. The blue is used generally in indicating the white man's pantaloons. Sitting Bull is not at all modest in committing to posterity the story of his great deeds. Whether it be the scalping of a soldier in battle, the killing of a Crow squaw, counting "coup" upon an adversary, that is striking him, killing and scalping a white woodchopper, lancing a Crow Indian, or the sly theft of a mule, he brags equally of his prowess in his curious autobiography. This literary work, which is now likely to be famous, fell into the hands of Assistant Surgeon James C. Kimball, of the army, in the month of August, 1870, while he was stationed at Fort Buford, Dakota Territory. He had the pictures translated and sent them, with the translation and an index, to the Curator of the Army Medical Museum, Washington, Surgeon George A. Otis, United States Army, who has filed them, in book shape, among the archives of the Museum. The introduction, written by Dr. Kimball, goes on to say that the autobiography contains a description of the principal adventures of the life of Sitting Bull, who is an Unk-pa-pa chief. It was sketched by himself in the picture language in common use with the Indians. Since the establishment of Fort Buford, in 1866, Sitting Bull, at the head of from sixty to seventy warriors, has been the terror of mail carriers, wood-choppers, and small parties in the vicinity of the post, and from 100 to 200 miles from it either way up and down the Missouri River. During the time from 1866 to 1870, when the biography was written, this band had several times captured and destroyed the mail, and had stolen and run off over 200 head of cattle and killed near a score of white men in the immediate vicinity of the fort. The Unk-pa-pas are a tribe of the great Sioux nation living in the Yellowstone and Powder River countries. The book was bought of a Yankton Sioux for $1.50 worth of provisions.

DARING ROBBERIES.

The New York Herald says:—The most daring railroad robbery on record was perpetrated on Friday night, a little after ten o'clock, on the Missouri Pacific Railroad, a short distance east of Otterville, Mo. It appears that the whole affair was deliberately planned and successfully executed by about a dozen masked ruffians who obstructed the track in a cutting, stopped the train by a signal light, and after robbing the express company's safes of sixteen thousand dollars in money and valuables, decamped with their prize. No resistance was offered by either the train officials or the passengers, who were completely overawed by the pistols of the band of masked robbers. An active pursuit after the gang has been instituted from several points, and there are some hopes of their capture, but, we fear, not without loss of life to the pursuing parties. The affair is somewhat similar to the recent robbery of a mail coach, filled with well armed passengers, in Texas, when the only one who escaped loss was a plucky little woman who defied the robbers. This outrage is possible of repetition on any of our roads, even those of the settled States, unless a severe lesson is administered now to all concerned in this latest robbery. We hope that the facility with which the thieves got possession of the safe keys and the money will suggest to the express companies some better way of securing the valuables intrusted to them in future than by keys so easily got at and in a safe that can be broken open with a pickaxe.

A JOURNALIST'S DEATH.

Mark Kellogg, the special correspondent of the New York Herald, who was found dead on Custer's battle field, served in the Army of the Potomac as a Government telegraph operator. He was an expert electrician, and active in the field. After the war he went West, and recently took up his residence in Bismarck, on the Missouri River, in Dakota, as it was a good business point when the Northern Pacific Railroad reached the Missouri. He was considered one of the best telegraph operators in the Northwest. General Custer was well acquainted with him. Just before he joined the expedition he was engaged in a law office, but during his spare hours he wrote for the St. Paul papers, and was local editor of the Bismarck Tribune. Last year, when the Herald was investigating the Indian frauds in that region, Mr. Kellogg furnished facts which had come under his personal observation. He was an active correspondent, and his death on the field of battle testifies to his faithfulness. He was about thirty-six years old, but he did not appear more than twenty-five, though his hair was tinged with gray. He was a skilful horseman, and familiar with all the peculiar hardships of the wild frontier.—N. Y. Herald.

NERVOUSNESS.

It affords me great pleasure to bear testimony to the benefits I have received from using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites' I have recommended it to many of my friends, and it has proved an excellent curative for nervousness and general debility.

It is also a first-class tonic, enables a person to take on flesh rapidly, and is free from the constipating effects characteristic of other tonics I have tried.

THE CACOUNA HOTEL COMPANY.
ST. LAWRENCE HALL, CACOUNA.
The above Hotel will be opened on or about the 25th June next, for the reception of guests, under the able management of SAMUEL MONTGOMERY, Esq., favorably known to the public at St. Lawrence Hall and St. James Hotels, Montreal, having been brought up to the Hotel business by H. Hogan, late proprietor of the former well-known establishment. This will be a sufficient guarantee to the travelling public that nothing will be left undone on his part for the comfort and convenience of those who may patronize him.
This fashionable Canadian Watering Place is situated on the lower St. Lawrence, 120 miles below Quebec, and opposite the mouth of the far-famed Saguenay River. In the extreme heat of summer Cacouna is remarkable for its bracing air and delightful temperature.
This Hotel has accommodation for 500 guests, the rooms are large and airy, and have been fitted up with every requirement for comfort and convenience. Every provision is made for indoor and outdoor amusement, such as Billiards, Bowling Alleys, Croquet Grounds and Beautiful Lawns. The House commands a magnificent view seaward, inward and outward bound vessels being distinctly visible from the windows and galleries.
The attractions of Cacouna as a summer resort, combining fishing, boating and sea-bathing, are so generally known that they require no special recommendations.
The Hotel Omnibusses meet the Trains at Cacouna Station, and the Steamers at River-du-Loup Wharf.
