Clipper Ship With Fifteen Men Missing

Forced Out of Course by Tropical Storm, Pan-American Airways Craft Has So Far Failed to Report to Manila on 1,600 Mile Flight From Guam—Marks First Time That Clipper in Regular Service Has Failed to Report.

Manila, P.I., July 29.—(P)—Pan-American Airways' twenty-six-ton Hawaii Clipper, with fifteen men aboard, was many hours overdue tonight on her 1,600-mile flight from Guam.

Circling far south of her normal course to escape a tropical storm, the huge flying boat was fighting strong headwinds when last reported at 12:09 p.m. (12:09 a.m. E.D.T.), Friday. She was about five hundred miles out of Guam at that time.

At 6:30 p.m., one official, although unable to explain the Clipper's failure to report by radio at the regularly scheduled intervals, said: "She had to go around the storm and buck headwinds, therefore, we did not expect her until about six o'clock tonight (6 a.m. E.D.T.). Even now we consider her only a half hour late. But that is not unusual."

The Hawaii Clipper, under the command of Captain Leo Terletzky, of Palo Alto, Calif., carried six passengers and a crew of nine.

FIRST FAILURE OF VESSEL TO REPORT

San Francisco, July 29.—(P)—The giant trans-Pacific flying boat Hawaii Clipper was missing early today on its 1,600-mile flight from Guam to Manila.

Last message from the ship relayed to Pan-American Airways headquarters here was timed at 8:03 p.m. (12:03 p.m. E.D.T., Thursday). The flying boat was then 565 miles out of Manila.

A United States navy boat was reported dispatched from Guam to begin a search for the ship, which is capable of floating on the water indefinitely. The Clipper was carrying fifteen persons, six passengers and a crew of nine.

Officials admitted that after failing to hear from the ship for more than five hours they were concerned. The Hawaii Clipper, one of three Pan-American flying boats in regular service between California and Manila, was flying south of her regular course. Officials here said they did not know why.

The Hawaii Clipper left her Alameda base Thursday and was due in Manila at 1 a.m. (5 a.m. E.D.T.) today. The report that she was missing came just at the hour she was due to sweep down on Manila Bay.

This was the first failure of any Clipper in trans-Pacific service to report regularly. Only tragedy in Pan-American's Pacific flying was the mid-air explosion of the 21-ton Samoan Clipper, piloted by Capt. Edwin C. Musick, while pioneering for a service to Australia. Seven men were killed when the Samoan exploded and fell in flames January 11 while dumping gasoline for an emergency landing near Pago Pago, Samoa.

Hepburn Not Decided As To Future Means Of Pacific Coast Transport

Skagway, July 26.—(P)—Premier Hepburn and Bernard Smith, of New York, were undecided today whether they would continue their 8,000 mile holiday trip through Northwestern Canada by plane or by boat.

The two men arrived here by train late last night from Carcross, Y.T., planning to sail today on the coastal liner Princess Alice for Prince Rupert and Vancouver, but were met with the offer of Sheldon Simmons to fly them to Juneau, Alaska, the place they set out for Wednesday, before bad weather forced them down at Carcross.

Premier Hepburn said he was "fused by all this fuss" referring to the anxiety that had been felt when their plane went unreported for more than fourteen hours until communication with Carcross had been established.

"I do not care for any more publicity. There was no cause for all this fuss," the Ontario Premier said

NEW ATTEMPT AT WHOLESALE SLAUGHTER FRUSTRATED

Jerusalem, July 29.—(P)—Two bombs were found today in a basket of vegetables being brought into the Jewish market here by an Arab.

The bombs were similar in type to those found last week at the same place. The Arab was arrested.

Disorders continued to be reported from many parts of the country. One Jew was killed near the Jaffa-Tel Aviv city line. Three women were wounded at Nablus when a bomb exploded under an armored car. The driver was also hurt.

At Tel Karm, thirty-five persons were arrested following seizure of a large arms cache.

DID NOT WAIT FOR PAY-OFF

Bakersfield, Calif., July 29.—(P)—Relief work rolls were reduced by one man here today. A negro worker uncovered two skeletons near Caliente, dropped his pick and fled. The skeletons proved to be those of Indians buried many years ago.

YOUTHFUL BALL PLAYERS PICKET POP FACTORY

Flint, Mich., July 29.—(P)—Twenty twelve-year-old ball players picketed a bottling works here today by demanding the proprietor furnish them with four cases of soft drinks instead of two. The boys, sponsored in two baseball leagues by the bottling works owner, carried signs reading "We want pop, not promises."

Franco Releases Great Wall Of Water To Halt Loyalists

Raging Torrents Resulting From Opening Dams on Headwaters of Ebro River Reported to Have Made Stream Recently Crossed by Government Forces Impassable—Claim that Flood Waters Swept Away All Signs of Government Pontoon Bridges.

Hendaye, France, July 29.—(P)—Spanish Insurgents opened all dams today in the Ebro river and its tributaries in an attempt to sweep away bridges behind the Government's advancing armies on the Catalan front.

An Insurgent news agency report from St. Jean-de-Luz, France, said General Franco's high command had released a swirling nine-foot-high wave of floodwater from dams high in the Pyrenees mountains.

It said the torrents "made the river impassable" in thirty minutes. Government advances admitted the Ebro had risen noticeably, presumably from the opening of dams. They denied, however, that their bridges had been swept away and insisted their communications lines were intact.

Insurgents said they had breached all the dams of the Noguera-Pallaresa river and the Segre hydro-electric system above the Government's feeder lines across the Ebro. The waters, swollen by recent rains, were said by the Insurgents to have carried away all that was left of the Pontoon bridges after three days of air bombardment.

Dispatches from Barcelona said Government militiamen were advancing north and south of the Insurgent headquarters city of Gaudes on a circular front extending from the Catalan zone.

The line was said by Government observers to reach from north of Villa Alba de Los Arcos, a secondary communications centre five miles from Gaudes, through the eastern outskirts of Gaudes, to Bot, an Insurgent communications junction 12 miles to the southwest.

This front roughly paralleled the Ebro river and the line, fourteen miles to the rear, from which Colonel Enrique Lister's "People's Army" of 60,000 men started its surprise offensive on Monday.

At the same time dispatches from Zaragoza quoted the Insurgent high command as estimating this last phase of the Government attack would "end in disaster" for the Government's shock troops.

Insurgents said only 20,000 Government troops had been able to cross the broad Ebro and that half that number had been either killed or continued on Page 2, Col. 3.

CANADIAN AND BRITISH PLANE EXPERTS TALK

Members of British Mission
Conferring with Canadian Defence Officials and Plane
Manufacturers.

Ottawa, July 29.—(P)—A. H. Self, Second Deputy under Secretary to the British Air Ministry, and R. P. Handley-Page, aircraft industrialist, were scheduled to confer with Defence Minister Mackenzie today. The two Britons, comprising one-half of the air mission despatched by the British Government to Canada, reached Ottawa last night.

The remaining personnel of the mission, Air Marshal Sir Edward Ellington, and Sir Hardman Lever, who is head of the party, will join the others here the second week of August.

Today's conference was preliminary to a series of talks which will be held at the Defence headquarters and was, for the most part, of a general nature. So far as Mr. Self is concerned he picked up the subject where he left off two months ago when he was in Canada as a member of Commander J. G. Weir's mission.

Purpose of the first visit last May was to obtain information relating to capacities and capabilities of the Canadian aircraft construction industry. This was presented to the Weir mission in a series of memoranda submitted by the various companies. Study by the British Government of this data prompted the British Air Ministry to despatch the second mission, with a view to negotiating a practical scheme whereby heavy bombing planes might be manufactured in this country for the Royal Air Force.

The mission will not deal with individual companies in Canada but with the aircraft industry as a whole. The framework of an inter-industry exists in the form of the Commercial Air Transport and Manufacturers Association, but the mission is expected to require something in the nature of a corporate operating body made up of interested companies but acting independently of any one of them.

This has been conveyed to the industrialists who have undertaken to co-operate wholeheartedly with the mission. It is expected they will make their initial contact with the party Monday through a representative spokesman.

EARTHQUAKE SHOOK NEW YORK DISTRICT

New York, July 29.—(P)—An earthquake described by observers at Fordham University as "a sharp surface shock" sent a shiver through Upper Manhattan, the Bronx, parts of Westchester county and the Palisades section of New Jersey early today. No damage was reported.

Lethbridge, July 29.—(P)—John Vasetenak, of Lethbridge, was chosen Grand Exalted Ruler of the Grand Elks Lodge of Canada at the annual convention here last night. New Westminster, B.C., was chosen as the 1939 convention city.

RACIALISM AND NATIONALISM CONDEMNED BY HIS HOLINESS

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, July 29.—(P)—A Vatican City news service today quoted Pope Pius XI as condemning racialism and exaggerated nationalism "barriers raised between men and men—people and people."

It said the Pontiff's declaration was part of a long speech delivered yesterday at Castel Gandolfo to a group of students of the College of Propagation of Faith.

The Pope also was quoted as defending the Catholic Action, saying that someone had said that "between the Catholic Action and the Fascist Party there exists an incurable doctrinal divergence."

His concluding remarks were reported as: "Who injures the Catholic Action, injures the Pope and who injures the Pope, dies."

The Pontiff's remarks, in which he stressed again the "universality" of the Catholic faith, were uttered as the Fascist regime was pushing a vigorous campaign in favor of its recently promulgated doctrine of race.

On July 21 a group of professors published a report in which the Italian people were declared to be of Aryan origin. It asserted Jews "do not belong to the Italian race." The report was issued under the auspices of the Ministry of Popular Culture.

(Last Monday the Fascist party secretary, Achille Starace, declared the principal task of the Ministry of Popular Culture in 1939 would be "elaboration and discussion of Fascist race principles.")

The newspaper Regime Fascista, published by Roberto Farinacci, former Fascist party secretary and vigorous anti-Semite leader, recently made several sharp thrusts at the Catholic Action.

INQUIRY OPENS INTO NORTHERN MINE DISASTER

Cable Snapped at 575-Foot
Level Dropping Five Young
Engineers to Death. Lam-aque Mines Hoistman Tells Coroner's Jury.

Bourlamaque, Que., July 29.—(P)—Mine authorities sought today to establish cause of an accident that sent a hoist cage crashing 700 feet to the bottom of a Lamarque mine shaft, carrying to their deaths five young engineers, two of whom were on the eve of marriage.

An inquest last night, several hours after the ton cage shot to the concrete bottom of No. 7 shaft, failed to disclose the reason for the mishap that killed Peter Downey, twenty-four, of Gleichen, Alta.; James J. Crocker, twenty-three, of Toronto; Arthur H. Hewat, thirty-two, of Halifax; Harry Field, thirty-two, of Bourlamaque, and W. Clarke Isbister, twenty-three, of Toronto.

Before the jury returned a verdict of accidental death, hoistman A. W. MacDonald told Coroner Joseph Dion he was unable to control the death car as it screamed down the shaft, after eleven loads of miners had been lowered for their day's work.

MacDonald said his attention was on a load of rock being raised to the surface on the other side of the double hoist when he received the regular signals from the hoist tender that the engineers were entering the cage. The "hold it" signal followed and the next thing he knew the cable was unreeling wildly from the drum. Emergency brakes were applied but the cable, a new one, snapped at the 575-foot level.

Mines Inspector Roger Tascheau of the Quebec Government and mine officials testified the cable and hoist equipment were in good condition and had functioned perfectly before the crash.

Isbister and Crocker both planned to be married shortly. Hewat is survived by his widow and a child. His body was sent today to Halifax.

VETERAN OF RIEL REBELLION MARKS BIRTHDAY

Hamilton, Ont., July 29.—(P)—One of the few survivors of the Riel rebellion, Alfred Smith, Hamilton, celebrated his 78th birthday yesterday. A member of Canada's old Royal Northwest Mounted Police, predecessors of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Smith was Riel's guard as he awaited execution in Saskatchewan.

CLAIMS CANADA WATCHING U.S. REFORM EFFORT

Attempts to Adapt Legal Machinery to Modern Conditions Have Repercussions
in Dominion, Canadian Official Tells U.S. Bar Association.

Cleveland, July 29.—(P)—Efforts of the United States to adapt its legal system and legal machinery to modern social and economic conditions subject to limitations imposed by a federal system of government are followed with interest in Canada, E. H. Coleman, Under Secretary of State, said in an address prepared for delivery at the American Bar Association meeting today.

Mr. Coleman, a former secretary of the Canadian Bar Association, was the representative of the Canadian body. Each year a representative of the American Bar attends the annual meeting of the Canadian Association and a Canadian delegate represents the visit.

"The problem of adjusting the legal system to modern conditions" is not peculiar to these United States," said Mr. Coleman.

"Perhaps, in some respects, it may be more acute here because of the highly specialized nature of your industrial and commercial activities. We in Canada are confronted with it and are watching, with a lively interest, the progress you are making. We realize that your success in the high enterprise is of profound significance to our political and economic life."

Decisions of American courts, while not binding on Canadian courts, were frequently cited when they related to conditions and events similar to those before American courts. The same was true of Canadian decisions influencing American judges. In this way there was an interchange of ideas. Many Canadian lawyers received part of their training in American law schools and universities and this fact also contributed to the exchange of ideas and thought on legal matters between the two countries.

URGES M. P.'S JOIN WITH JOBLESS.

Calgary, July 29.—(P)—Members of Parliament could obtain a better knowledge of unemployment conditions if they "took off their good suits" and joined the ranks of the jobless, believes Eric Poole, Social Credit member for Red Deer, in an address to the Social Credit group here. Mr. Poole said problems facing jobless men were not understood by the majority of the members of the House of Commons.

Complicated Planned Economy Basis Of National C.C.F. Election Policy

Edmonton, July 29.—(P)—With provision made for an economic advisory board, import and export boards and socialization of finance and industries and services, the National Convention of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation turns today to completion of its national political platform.

Declaring a C.C.F. Government "would substitute social planning in the place of ruthless competition now practised under capitalism," the platform was submitted to the delegates here last night. It embraced domestic and foreign problems, and at adjournment seven of the fifteen points had been approved by delegates.

FOREST BLAZE SITUATION IN B.C. CRITICAL

Vancouver, July 29.—(P)—The forest fire situation throughout British Columbia took a turn for the worse today as winds increased and humidity remained low.

Attention of fire fighters at the Vancouver Island blaze near Campbell River, concentrated on green timber at the edge of Forbidden Plateau as forecasts for strong westerly winds were reported.

Meanwhile an extra crew and pump were rushed to the coal mining town of Bevan in the Island fire zone to battle a spot fire, within a mile of the community. The new blaze covered two acres and forest officials said west winds would whip it into the town.

In the Similkameen district of Southern British Columbia five hundred men in scattered groups fought blaze covered two acres and forested the most serious situation in recent years.

Hot dry weather and promises of increasing westerly winds gave little cheer to fighters in the Cariboo where last night a high pressure line of Quiescent Mining Company at Likely burst and left mine and men without water.

British Cabinet Regards Latest Bombing Attacks On Ships As Deliberate

Government Taunted from Labor Benches for Failure of Freighter Dellwyn at Port of Gandia—Matter to Be Referred to Proposed Commission for Further Investigation.

DISPUTE LEGALITY OF PLANE MARRIAGE

Pontiac, Mich., July 29.—(P)—Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. von Glarte, honeymooning here today, still don't know if their marriage, performed in an airplane three miles above Los Angeles, was legal.

Los Angeles legal authorities were divided on whether the captain of an airliner three miles up was in the same position as the captain of a ship beyond the three-mile limit at sea, who is entitled to perform a marriage.

London, July 29.—(C.P. Cable)

The Government regards the bombing of the British merchant ship Dellwyn in the harbor of Gandia, Spain, July 26th, as deliberate. R. A. Butler, Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State, announced during the question hour in the House of Commons today.

The vessel sank as a result of bombs dropped by a low-flying warplane, reported to have come from the Spanish Insurgent air base on Mallorca. There were no casualties as a result of the bombing.

"Reports received so far have suggested that the attack on this vessel was deliberate," said Mr. Butler. "If, on further investigation, this view is confirmed, the British Government will at once request the Commission, which is being formed to investigate such cases, to examine the circumstances of the attack."

Events in Spain came to the front again as the House was preparing for its three months' summer recess, which begins after today's sitting. The Government was taunted from the Labor benches on its Spanish policy and was kept busy replying to a barrage of questions.

"Is it not a fact that this ship was attacked on four separate occasions before, and that aircraft came low and machine-gunned repeatedly?" asked Philip Noel Baker, Labor. "Will the British Government, in view of these facts, withdraw Sir Robert Hodgson (British commercial agent to Insurgent Spain) from Burgos?"

"No," replied Mr. Butler. He agreed to the description of the bombing but suggested it would be better to refer it to the Commission. It came out during questioning that the Dellwyn bombing was committed while the British destroyer Hero stood by without retaliating. This prompted Labor members to demand the Government.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. J. Llewellyn, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, said the Hero took no action against the bombing plane. Albert V. Alexander, Labor, demanded whether there was any previous case in British history where a British ship was being sunk in any waters under the eyes of the British fleet and the British fleet had not taken action.

Col. Llewellyn refused to answer. Another Labor member, Frederick Cocks, then wanted to know if naval authorities had given instructions "to allow British ships to be sunk in territorial waters and not to give such protection within territorial waters."

"Instructions were given the Royal Navy," Col. Llewellyn replied, "in accordance with the policy of His Majesty's Government which is to give full protection to British ships in any waters under the eyes of the British navy and that on no occasion shall anybody fire on the Italian friends of the Government."

"Instructions were given the Royal Navy," Col. Llewellyn replied, "in accordance with the policy of His Majesty's Government which is to give full protection to British ships in any waters under the eyes of the British navy and that on no occasion shall anybody fire on the Italian friends of the Government."

To Miss Eleanor Rathbone, Independent, Mr. Butler said Gandia is Spanish territory, although leased by a British company, and "if we were to go on the territory of Spain and defend it, we would be taking part in a war which we are unprepared to do."

Prime Minister Chamberlain said the Government is pressing for information on the death of an observation officer of the Non-Intervention Commission in the British merchant ship Kellwyn in Valencia harbor.

Important City Captured As Greek Sailors Organize Another Uprising

Athens, Greece, July 29.—(P)—Insurgents seized the capital city of Crete, on the island of Crete, in a revolt against the Greek Government today.

Greece's dictator, General John Metaxas, who has been expressing opposition with stern action, announced that "I am determined to smash the rebellion by every means."

Four hundred armed men, reported to be sailors, effected the coup by taking advantage of a weakened garrison at Candia. Most of the troops there had been sent to northern Greece to provide vacation relief for other garrisons.

Premier Metaxas ordered army, navy and air forces to the island. Communication was suspended, and ships were not permitted to depart for the island.

The official announcement said: "A group of four hundred armed men, under the leadership of Mitsotaki, Moundaki, and Hadjiangelis, (not at once identified) last night took the City of Candia on the island of Crete, profiting by the temporary diminution of the garrison."

"The cause and object of the desperate revolt are unknown. General Metaxas ordered military, naval and air forces to Crete. In other cities of Crete absolute quiet prevails. Other places in Greece also are quiet."

Greece's last revolt, in the spring of 1935, led by the late, former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos, was crushed after bloody naval and land engagements.

Venizelos, a native of Crete, started his revolt there. The capital, population about 20,000, is an important port.

Premier Metaxas, who became Premier April 28, 1936, established dictatorial powers on August 5 to crush what he said was an attempted Communist revolt.

ARRESTED FOR CONNECTION TO MATTSON CASE

California Authorities Seize Man Who Admitted and Later Denied that He Abducted Tacoma Boy Two Years Ago.

Truckee, Calif., July 29.—(AP)—A man who gave his name as Herman DeVal, 28, of Omaha, Neb., was taken into custody here yesterday and held for questioning in connection with the kidnapping of Charles Mattson, ten year old Tacoma boy.

Sheriff's Deputy N. F. Dolley said DeVal admitted but later denied he abducted the Mattson boy. They said he told them he had been in and around Tacoma from December, 1936, until March, 1937.

Charles Mattson was kidnapped December 27, 1936, by a man who burst into the family home and seized the child from a group of other juveniles, including his brother, William, then sixteen.

BURMA RIOTING NEW WORRY FOR BRITISH ARMY

Two Volunteer Units Called Out to Support British Regulars in Curbing Burmese Religious Riots Which Have Claimed Forty Lives.

Rangoon, Burma, July 29.—(AP)—Additional troops were called out today to restore order in this sacred city where forty-six have died the past four days in fighting between Burmese Buddhists and Indian Moslems.

During the night knives flashed, stones flew and sticks were wielded from the darkness as troops patrolled the streets in armored cars, set up machine guns and barricaded the roads.

A government decree forbade assembly in groups of five or more.

Great Britain maintains 4,500 English troops in Burma, and the additional forces called today were two volunteer corps—the Burmese Auxiliary Force and the Burmese Rifles.

Special guards were posted at banks and jewelry stores as a wave of looting continued.

Volunteer staffs aided city hospitals in caring for the injured, numbering more than three hundred.

Forty were killed yesterday in the biggest riot of the past several days, when Buddhists undertook to avenge what they held to be an insult to their faith in a new Moslem book.

Advices from Barcelona, on the other hand, insisted that 75,000 Government soldiers crossed the stream the first few days and that "countless others" still were crossing on pontoon bridges, heavily guarded.

Government estimates put the number of prisoners taken at five thousand to six thousand. The surprised insurgents were said to have abandoned so much war material that the rout resembled that of insurgent General Franco's Italian forces on the Guadalajara-Madrid front in March, 1937.

Terror Reign Of Brazilian Bandit Ended

Rio de Janeiro, July 28.—(AP)—There was rejoicing in Brazil today because death had ended the career of One-Eyed Lampiao.

For twenty years he robbed and killed, cut out the tongues of garrulous women, and made them and their menfolk dance naked in the streets.

Lampiao, or Lampost, thirty-eight years old, small and bespectacled, and his sweetheart and eleven of his gang were slain last night in a battle with police near Nacoe, Alagoas State, Northeastern Brazil.

One policeman was killed and several wounded.

Villagers in the area celebrated in the streets, and joyful speeches were made hailing the end of the terrible bandit.

In nearly a thousand previous battles, Lampiao always had

COUNCIL INTERESTED IN AIRPORT SCHEME

Desire Opinion Of Aviation Experts Before Buying Land

Ald. Ross Believes Municipal Authorities Should Not Delay in Taking Advantage of Government Offer to Construct and Equip Modern Airport if City Obtains Necessary Land—Government Engineers to Make Survey of Suitable Sites.

Federal Government authorities will be asked to send aviation experts to Sherbrooke to survey and offer estimates on suitable sites for an airport, according to a decision reached yesterday afternoon by City Council. Discussion of the airport project arose following tabling of a letter from Charles B. Howard, M.P., for Sherbrooke, outlining a proposal whereby the Federal Government would construct and equip an airport provided the necessary land was obtained by the city.

Ald. Alex Ross, chairman of the Electric Committee, believed that the city should take advantage of this offer at once. He feared that Sherbrooke would be the loser through undue procrastination. He suggested that options should be taken on suitable sites without any further delay. "We've discussed the matter for two months as it is," he said, "and today we are no further ahead."

Ald. Eugene Thibault, holder of the Council purse strings, desired to know why the Government did not buy land itself, as it did in other cases where airports were built. He pointed out that the operation and maintenance of an airport would be an expensive proposition without a great amount of revenue. He was of the opinion that the matter should be investigated more thoroughly and further details obtained.

Mayor Marcus Armitage said that a municipal delegation had been informed by Transport Minister C. D. Howe that in future the Government would not purchase land for airport projects. "I think that the time is opportune for the Government to send engineers to Sher-

TO WELCOME ONTARIO PREMIER

City Council was officially informed in a letter received from Col. the Hon. Johnny Bourque, at a special session yesterday afternoon, that Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario will be in Sherbrooke August 31st.

"I suggest that the Rotary Club, the City of Sherbrooke and the directors of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association join in a welcome to the Prime Minister of Ontario on that date," the Minister said in his letter.

Mr. Hepburn will address the Rotary Club on the occasion of his visit to Sherbrooke.

brooke to survey sites and report to the Council. The city, I am sure, will then be favorably disposed towards the project."

Ald. Thibault: "Of course the Council will be disposed."

The Finance Committee chairman then moved the resolution to the Federal Government, asking that engineers be sent to Sherbrooke.

Mr. Howard's letter to the Council read as follows:

"I do not want to be in any way interfering but as much as it is in my power to help, I intend to do so. As you know, there are a great many people temporarily out of employment who need work and there are two suggestions which would take up these unemployed."

"First: If the city will purchase the land the Federal Government is prepared to immediately spend $25,000 in the development of your airport this summer and fall. This should make a start and will enable us to get an amount allotted to continue this work until such time as the City of Sherbrooke has one of the best airports in the country. All the Federal Government ask, is that the City purchase the land and they will do the rest at your request."

"Second: If you decide to go ahead with any self-liquidating projects such as development of Two Miles Falls, Jacques Cartier Park or filtration plant, the Federal Government is prepared to loan the City up to $200,000 at 2 per cent interest, which would enable you to take up all the unemployed at the present time."

Bathing After Eating Heavy Meal Is Fatal For Youth

Entering the water after eating a heavy meal, Jules Aime Bisson, twenty years old, employee of the Dominion Silk and Dyeing Company at Drummondville, lost his life last evening to record the thirteenth drowning fatality in the Eastern Townships to date this summer.

Bisson, a resident of St. Bernard de Dorchester, was swimming with a companion, Paul Emil Bourbeau, of St. Joseph, when he suddenly disappeared from view in about fifteen feet of water.

Other swimmers and Bourbeau immediately started diving for the body and fifteen minutes later, after repeated efforts, were able to bring it to the surface, due chiefly to the work of lifeguard Henry Menard.

Chief of Police Joseph Moquin, Constable Richette, Lifeguard Menard and Dr. Joseph Garon, district coroner, practised artificial respiration on the victim for two hours but to no avail.

Dr. Garon stated that it was likely Bisson, who had eaten a heavy meal before entering the water, had died of a heart attack. An inquest is being held in the case today.

City Fathers Decided To Take Steps To Remove Autobus Smoke Nuisance

City Council has decided that it is high time something be done in connection with the autobus smoke nuisance. Meeting in special session yesterday afternoon, the City Fathers appointed a delegation to approach City Transit officials to see what can be done to remedy the situation.

Council, weary from the heat and an hour-long discussion in caucus, was about to adjourn when Ald. J. W. Genest brought up the autobus problem. He pointed out that the black smoke emitted from the exhausts of some local autobuses, as a result of the use of low grade oil burning Diesel engines, has proved more than a mere nuisance. He cited a case where three ladies, dressed in white, had their clothing completely ruined by the smoke while walking along Montreal street.

"I think," he said, "that it is time the Council does something. The smoke is not only a nuisance, it is a menace to the health of our citizens. I would like to know if the franchise accorded the autobus company allows such a condition."

Ald. Eugene Thibault declared that he was pleased the matter had been brought up. The old-fashioned tramway, he declared, was ten times more hygienic than the oil-burning autobuses. He favored the latter mode of transportation because it was more modern, but he believed that the buses should return to the use of gasoline. If the authorities continued to tolerate the smoke nuisance they might as well allow the railroad companies to pilot their locomotives in the streets, as far as the smoke was concerned, he said.

Mayor Armitage believed that a delegation should be appointed to talk upon company officials and obtain the matter over. "We would obtain as good results as by taking more drastic action," he said.

A delegation consisting of the Mayor and Aldermen Genest, Thibault, Bryant and Royer was appointed.

Immensity And Natural Wealth Of Canada Portrayed In Travel Talk

"Few people realize the great obstacles that were overcome by the early builders of Canada in making the country a confederated Dominion of all the Provinces, for her natural lines, such as the Rockies and the Prairies, run north and south, while the country runs east and west, from coast to coast." This statement was made last night by Prof. J. S. Mills, at St. Andrew's Church Hall.

Commencing the fourth of a series of "Glimpses of the British Empire," Professor Mills, a former mayor of Saskatoon and still a member of the City Council of that place, who is at present teaching in the summer school of Bishop's University, last night opened his interesting travelogue on "Canada" with a few remarks that would be enlightening to most Canadians. The series of eight lectures, illustrated with moving pictures, is being held in St. Andrew's Church hall.

A clarifying word-picture of the nation as a whole was given by the speaker before he ran the films, letting the "talkie" sound effects and comment describe the pictures themselves. Professor Mills said that the three main industries of Canada are agriculture, mining and lumber, in that order of importance. The series of eight lectures is to be found in this country and Canada is one of the world's chief sources of forest products, such as lumber, pulp and paper.

Contrary to the general belief of those who have never travelled through the middle west, the prairies are mostly rolling country rather than a constantly flat plain. Canadians don't eat much fish, the result being that seventy per cent of the salmon and other fish packed in British Columbia is exported, approximately half going to the United States. Vancouver is the third largest city, coming after Montreal and Toronto, respectively, and "if the people of China ate bread instead of rice" Vancouver would run Montreal a very close second as Canada's greatest seaport, said Prof. Mills.

Speaking of crop conditions in the West, Professor Mills said that things aren't really so bad as thought in the East. The 1937 crop was only third better than that of 1936 and conditions are generally good although in some places things look very poor. The speaker reminded his audience that oats and barley are the next most important grains grown in Canada, following wheat. An important industry of the West, in Alberta, which is fast developing, is the Turner Valley oil fields. One-third of Canada's oil consumption comes from that area although thirty-nine million barrels of crude oil are still imported from the United States and other countries every year.

Professor Mills said that the "Laurentian Shield," which extends from Hudson Bay down around the Great Lakes and eastwards, was thought by early explorers to be a hopeless region. It has since proved to be one of Canada's greatest sources of natural wealth, producing many minerals in large quantities and supporting a great pulp and paper industry. The development of this part of the country, the speaker said, has made Canada the second largest manufacturing country of the British Empire and fifth largest in the world, after the United Kingdom, the United States, Germany and France.

The first film was, appropriately enough, "Beavers at Home," showing the pioneer spirit of Canada's national animal. A big beaver dam was broken to prevent the flooding of near-by meadows and a number of beavers were shown rebuilding their damaged home with almost human ingenuity. Following this was "Yukon," being a trip by train into Dawson City from Whitehorse and then a boat trip down the swift-running Yukon River. The particular beauty of this sometimes forgotten part of the country was admirably captured in this picture.

A subject on the "Big Timber" of British Columbia was shown next, describing the whole procedure of lumbering from the standing timber to the shipped lumber. "Mountain Magic" was on the beauties of Jasper National Park, Alberta. "A Modern Niagara," exhibited next, showed the fruit-growing industry of the Niagara Peninsula and "When Spring is in the Air" was on the Quebec maple products industry. The last feature was entitled, "The Dionne Quintuplets in 'A Day at Home'."

John B. Frappied, Veteran of Boston and Maine and Quebec Central, Buried Yesterday Afternoon Following Service at Plymouth Church.

A fitting last tribute was paid John B. A Masonic service was held at the late residence, 35 Portland Avenue, at two o'clock, by Victoria Lodge, in attendance were representatives of Crescent Lodge of Lyndonville, Vt. The committal service at the grave was also conducted by the Masons. Officiating at the church was Rev. P. A. C. Dossée.

There were two vocal renditions of favorite hymns of the deceased. "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" was the solo sung by Miss Annie Baldwin and the church choir sang, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

The bearers were Messrs. P. Harris, Harry Croft, Albert Perkins, A. Jackson and Sharon Webster, of Lyndonville, and Mr. George Burdington, of Sherbrooke, all Masons. Among the relatives from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. E. Gooley and daughter, of Newtonville, Mass.; Mrs. Willie Frappied, of Massawippi; Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Chadsey, of Lyndonville.

Severe Damages To Farms As E.T. Lashed By Heavy Storms

Richmond County Suffers Most as $5,000 Barn of Ernest and Leo Comeau Is Blown Down—Part of Roof Blown Off John Martin's House and Barn Doors Torn from Hinges—Serious Losses as Corn and Grain Crops Were Battered by Hail and Wind.

Farmers in the Eastern Townships faced serious losses today as they surveyed fields of battered corn, grain and oats, the result of a severe hail, wind and electrical storm that lashed sections of this district yesterday afternoon, leaving in its wake broken trees, a demolished barn, a roofless house and ruined gardens.

Heaviest sufferers were farmers in Richmond County, where the storm struck with full fury. A new barn, only completed on Wednesday evening, belonging to Ernest and Leo Comeau, was carried half off its foundations and blown down, leaving only a mass of kindling wood, at an estimated loss of $5,000. John Martin's home, next to the Comeau farm about half a mile from Richmond on the highway to Windsor Mills, had part of the roof blown off as the wind struck at approximately five-thirty yesterday evening. The doors of the Martin barn were torn off the hinges by the force of the wind and the corn crop was blown down completely.

When questioned as to the damage done by the storm Mr. Martin told the Record this morning that many of the grain and corn crops would be lost this year. "When a corn or grain crop is blown to the ground it cannot be saved and I would say that farmers through this district will suffer heavily. I have never seen such a storm as yesterday."

The Experimental Farm at Lennoxville reported this morning that the rainfall to date this month is twice that of the same month last year. Over three-quarters of an inch of rain fell in the storm last evening and early this morning, bringing the total rainfall for the month to eight and a quarter inches, as compared with four and a quarter inches of rain up to the same day of July last year.

With storms lashing the entire district it has been extremely difficult for farmers to get in their hay, and the loss of time is likely to prove costly.

Yesterday's damage brings the total loss this month by storms in this district to nearly $30,000, including the fire at Magog on Tuesday in Pratte's furniture store, which started when lightning struck in a storeroom at the back of the shop, the destruction by lightning of a combined farm and stable belonging to the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company, and the damage caused when lightning hit the Sacred Heart Academy at Bromptonville.

Besides these property losses Fernand Roberge was killed at Bromptonville when the hay-cart he was on was struck by lightning on Tuesday afternoon, and Louis H. Pare was seriously burned in the fire at Pratte's store at Magog on the same afternoon.

CROPS SUFFER HEAVY DAMAGE

Hundreds of farmers in western, central and eastern Ontario surveyed fields of crushed and broken grain crops today, aftermath of devastating thunder and electrical storms. In scores of towns repair work was being rushed on damaged buildings, power and telephone systems. Total damage was estimated at many thousands of dollars.

Hardest hit district in yesterday's series of storms, worst of the season, was Lindsay in central Ontario. There, one farmer was killed by lightning, two persons were injured, buildings were unroofed, several automobiles wrecked and a section of pavement caved in.

Every factory in Lindsay closed when the wind, of cyclonic proportions, disrupted power service. The storm appeared to strike first in the eastern section of the province, swept westward across central Ontario—missing Toronto—hit Barrie, sixty miles north of the provincial capital, then struck at Midland and Penetanguishene, on Georgian Bay. An offshoot of the storm swung southward and caused extensive damage in the London and other western Ontario districts. Each report from the storm-torn districts told of widespread damage to fast-ripening crops by hail and wind. Many barns were blown down and several were set afire by lightning. So heavy was the hail in Bidolph Township of western Ontario a twelve-acre field of buckwheat was said to have been "driven into the ground."

European Nerves Quieting

Judging from surface developments of the past few days, the recent united stand of Great Britain and France on a number of important issues, especially the expected German invasion of Czechoslovakia, has had a moderating effect on the nervous condition of the leading European powers.

After an extended period of sabre-rattling in which he promised to take issue with all and sundry who crossed his path, Chancellor Hitler has apparently decided, that faced with the combined forces of the western democracies—both of whom are much better equipped economically for an extended struggle—discretion is the better part of valor. To this end, he has sent an envoy extraordinary to Great Britain telling of his great desire to maintain world peace, and outlining just what he is prepared to contribute to this end.

Of course, the details of these proposals have not been communicated to the public, but it is reasonable to assume that once having taken the role of the pleader, Der Fuehrer will be prepared to offer something substantial, including a moderation in his demands for autonomy for the Sudeten minority in Czechoslovakia.

Then Il Duce appears anxious to have the Anglo-Italian accord implemented without delay, being willing to sacrifice some of the interests of his colleague, General Franco, in an effort to obtain the friendship of Great Britain.

While the actual value of these peace pledges can only be determined with the passing of time, being largely determined by the good-will displayed by the various national leaders, they mark a distinct change in the atmosphere of recent months, with the once boastful dictators taking the role of supplicants.

Here rests the great danger of Europe. Dominated by dictator-governed countries, Old Europe is ever menaced by the dyspepsia or gout of three or four individuals. Rising from bed of a morning and feeling in good sorts, these gentlemen may sincerely desire to see the cause of peace advanced. But the next day, with the morning after feeling, things are seen in a different light and some little incident of no importance in itself may be magnified to something of premier importance, precipitating a new crisis.

The Importance Of The County Fairs

The season for the county fairs is almost at hand. In a few weeks time the Fair Grounds throughout the Eastern Townships will be the scene of great activity and hundreds and hundreds of people, young and old alike, will gather from far and near to take part in these community ventures which have such far-reaching effects upon the life of the district.

The Eastern Townships is noted for its fine fairs. Year after year these events serve as the show place of this famed section of Quebec Province.

The importance of the county fairs cannot be over-estimated. It is at these fairs that the visitor gets a true insight into the agricultural, industrial and commercial development of the Townships. It is to the county fairs that we of the Townships turn to display our wares. It is here that we compete in friendly rivalry for the honors and coveted prizes which are offered.

It is perhaps from an agricultural standpoint that our county fairs are most important. The Townships is a rich farming land and from our various farms come prize stock which add lustre to our long-established reputation. The county fairs also afford the women and children of the rural districts an opportunity of displaying their individual ability.

While we are specially proud of our agricultural record, a large portion of the prominence of the county fairs is also given to the manufacturing side of our Townships' life.

A visit to any or all of the county fairs is certain to be a profitable and instructive one if the visitor will but study what he sees about him. We now have fall fairs of which we have every reason to feel justly proud. From the middle of August until fall there will be a fall fair in progress in some section of the Townships.

This year, as in former years, the organizers of these fairs are determined that their fairs shall lack nothing in the way of interest or appeal.

The success of any county fair is dependent largely upon the measure of support which it receives from the public generally. Certainly there can be no more enjoyable or profitable day than one spent at a county fair. There you will see something worth while and you will meet people it will be a pleasure to converse and to sojourn with.

Make it a point this year to visit the county fairs. We guarantee you will not be disappointed.

An Important Step

An important step in speeding recruiting for the British regular army is the decision of the War Ministry to throw open the higher ranks of the army to all classes. Hitherto, an army career has been almost a closed preserve for the privileged classes, consequently robbing the state of the service of much talent it could have obtained.

The policy of making an army career more attractive takes on many proposals. All present restrictions on the number of scholarships at the two great army training schools will be removed and their value will be increased sharply. Poorer boys will be given an opportunity to advance with enlisted men being allowed to seek commissions through service rather than military schools, while substantial pay advances for junior officers have been announced. Improved pension regulations have also been placed in effect. A special bonus will also be given graduates of the service academies to aid boys without independent means.

Under the new system recruiting for the army should be advanced materially. For many months the tag in army recruiting has been the one weak spot in Great Britain's rearmament plans, the restrictive conditions imposed upon the junior and intermediate officers leading to the belief that it offered no real career for the young man without a small fortune. As a result, openings were sought in other branches of the service. The question is largely removed by the new conditions announced and within a few months the army should be brought to full strength.

Japan Grows War-Weary

The Japanese people must be on the verge of war-weariness which is induced by financial strain. There is no reason to disbelieve the oft-repeated statement that though Japan is kept in considerable ignorance of military defeats, even the man in the street must realize that something is amiss when the Government dips into his pocket more and more frequently. With her harbors virtually empty, her tourist trade down to only five per cent of what it used to be, and with unofficial boycotts in every country in the world on Japanese goods, Japan is being strangled, economically. From Kobe comes the news that everything is at a standstill and that everybody is openly against the war. On every side the Japanese military elements are facing rebellion, so it is small wonder then that the Chinese have taken fresh courage in their hands and are well on the way to sweeping the invaders from the land. The future for China is now very promising. It is almost as promising for the world, for the failure of the Japanese to effect a conquest would serve to act as a deterrent to other countries who might be fired by the same ambition—unlawful annexation of territory inhabited by peace-loving people.

RAGGED SQUADRON

Over the white wood in the afternoon, when snow still blossomed on the pussywillow, when a pewter cloud moved slowly on the sun and trailed blue shadow in the maple hollow, over the white wood cried a wild dark voice leading the ragged-pinnated squadron north; their steady wings above the naked boughs lifted my wintry heart and drew it forth to follow a storm of crow-wings beating by with Spring down windy highways of the sky.

FEARS TORONTO MAY BECOME METROPOLIS OF CANADA

(Le Jour, Montreal)

The City of Montreal is still, from the point of view of population, the metropolis of Canada. However, as things are going in Toronto, the day is not far off when the capital of the neighboring province will have caught up to and even passed Montreal. At the present time Toronto is far ahead on banking transactions, bank clearings, payments on income tax, etc.

Furthermore, in the industrial field, there is no doubt that Toronto is advancing more rapidly than Montreal. Up there, there is an industrial commission organized on a solid base which is doing excellent work, as the results obtained show.

Here we have, indeed, an industrial commission, at least there remains an embryo, but its work seems paralyzed by a political ineptitude and the lack of funds.

APPROPOS BENITO MUSSOLINI (Le Journal, Quebec)

If Il Duce were really seeking peace, he would be eager to fall in line with the English armistice proposal. He refuses, and thus gives indication that his desire is to crush all governments.

Armistice would be the only way of stopping the civil war as well as to provide opportunity for reconciling the belligerents. On the other hand the Franco victory will mean absolutely nothing. Those who have taken the beating in the war will always be seeking to rise up in revolt.

And finally, in dealing with Benito Mussolini, we must bow our heads—we are no worse than the rest of them.

PROTECTION AGAIN AIR RAIDS (La Presse, Montreal)

The present arrangements in England to assure protection against attack from the air are to be doubled within the shortest time possible, the Chamber of Commerce announced this week.

Neither in London nor in other British centres have the dangers of aerial fighting been forgotten. These bitter memories were freshened, if that were possible, by the bombardments of the past two years of Spain and the Orient.

We cannot but help being struck by the utterances in connection with aerial fighting craft. Bigger and faster, crossing of the North Sea, in the event of another German-British conflict, would be a comparatively easy matter.

And so Britain has decided to double her defences. A veritable army within itself is planned to assure the defence of the country against attack from the skies.

Great Britain is very much in need of such sure defences. Her great centres of population, her industrial centres, armament manufactures and other important centres are extremely vulnerable.

It has been decided, however, that everything possible will be done to assure England against any such eventualities as struck Spain and China.

YOUNG MEN SHOULD TRAIN FOR HIGHER POSITIONS (Le Nouvelliste, Three Rivers)

Ask a modern business man what the most necessary thing to him is and he will reply: "More Capital."

But ask the director of a large firm what he lacks the most, and he will reply: "More men with brains and character."

One day we asked the proprietor of forty stores: "Why have you not fifty stores?" He replied: "Because I have not the ten men qualified to manage them."

A firm which has distributed fifteen per cent of dividends during five years can find more capital than it needs. If a firm requests a loan of 50,000 francs, capitalists will offer it 100,000 francs or more. That is because a loan is often subscribed five times over.

However, all prosperous firms find that there is a lack of good men for the higher positions. That is a fact which should encourage ambitious young men. There is a good position ready for a youth as soon as he is prepared to take it. As is often said: "There is always a place at the summit," there are always more big jobs than good men qualified to fill them.

When there is a laboring job open there is always a crowd at the factory door looking for it, but when a high position is vacant there is never a crowd. There will never be enough working men with brains and character.

LACK OF POPULATION IN U.S. (Le Soleil, Quebec)

The Americans are worried over the future. It is not that they are too greatly preoccupied with the war clouds gathering on the horizon, nor that their economic stability is threatened; it is a shortage of population that they fear. While rival nations, such as Germany, Italy and Japan, arrogantly boast of their rapid natural increase, the United States shows a disconcerting decrease. Its birthrate, feeling the effects of Malthusian methods and divorce, is hardly sufficient to fill the gaps created by death and migration.

All the evidence goes to show that the Americans need children. Sociologists of the National Committee on Population unequivocally state that in their report recently presented to President Roosevelt. They have offered statistics which are hardly reassuring: The population of the Republic having reached 127,000,000 in 1935, they foresee a slow increase until 1955, when the population will remain at 138,000,000 to later begin to show an appreciable decline.

A simple explanation may be found. The birthrate has steadily declined since 1900. Those responsible for the report state the brutal fact as follows: While in 1900 there were ninety children less than twenty years of age for each group of one hundred persons between twenty and sixty, in 1935 there were no more than sixty-eight and

A WORD ABOUT THE GOVERNMENTS

To the Editor,

Sherbrooke Record.

Dear Sir:—In your issue of July 25th, I read the speeches of C. B. Howard, M.P., and of C. Gervais. "What they would do and what faults others had."

Can Mr. Gervais point to any project, either Federal, Provincial or Municipal, where the sugar was taken from the coffee and handed to the working man? If he checks back a few years to a project right here in Sherbrooke, known as the "Langis Canal," I think he will find that, according to percentage, the Hon. J. S. Bourque's bridge projects gave the working man a larger share. The Hon. Mr. Bourque has served the people of Sherbrooke for two years, and he has at least given his best, he has something to show for his work. Mr. Howard has been in Ottawa for twelve years or more. Can he show anything whereby Sherbrooke has benefited? No! And most of that time his own party was in power.

A few years ago I heard Mr. Howard talk at the Hi Y Club here in Sherbrooke, when he praised the efficiency of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. I am afraid they must have all retired. Going along Wellington street I noticed the City Garbage wagon No. 211 with a horse whose foot had been cut and the blood had been left to run or dry up of its own accord. I could safely say that that horse hadn't had its legs washed for weeks, perhaps longer. No matter what type of work a horse is doing, he deserves attention.

In closing, just a reminder to Mr. Gervais that the only thing that will beat Hon. John Bourque at the next election is the Fair Wage law, unless it is changed from its present standards.

I remain,
Yours Truly,
A TAXPAYER.

In 1955 there will only be forty-eight. The proliferation of American mothers is consequently visibly declining.

The report searches for motives. And one of the most peculiar is the constant migration of the population from one territory to another, from country to city; it has been remarked that twenty per cent of the American people live away from the places where they were born and brought up. Excessive industrialization has resulted in economic unbalance.

In short, from a growing nation, the United States is becoming a country which remains stationary.

PASSES FIRST TRICK TO PREPARE FOR SQUEEZE, AND FULFILLS CONTRACT

Perhaps South should have started the bidding higher, or else not bid at all. As it was, his semi-preemptive opening, based on a long and strong minor suit, helped Mrs. H. E. Latter, of Wilmington, Del., in her play of the hand, and resulted in a well-earned top.

Mrs. Latter held the East hand, and when the dummy went down, she felt quite certain in view of the opening bid, that she could not hope to take all of the tricks. In fact it was probable that North held stoppers in spades, hearts and clubs. She therefore passed the first trick to prepare for a possible squeeze.

VACATION

Eastern Townships A Holiday Paradise For Those Seeking Change

Sport, Gayety, Rest and Relaxation Found in this District as Antidote for Monotony of Everyday Routine—Fine Chance to Rest Tired Bodies and Renew Minds Hemmed in by Worries.

Heat in great sultry waves spread over the city and tired workers dreamed of a summer holiday that would be complete in every way. Two weeks to make up for fifty weeks spent in an office! Sport, relaxation, gayety and scenic beauty, a complete change from every day routine. All this the Eastern Townships offer to the holiday seeker who is looking for a real, restful and worthwhile vacation.

The primary need of a holiday is to rest tired bodies and renew minds filled with office routine, business worries and household details. If regular vacations are not taken the worker becomes stale and is no use to himself or to his employer.

Change is a great antidote for boredom and staleness. If fifty weeks of the year are spent adding figures, then during holiday time the mathematician should add nothing more than a couple of pounds onto the weight of the fish he may have caught, either in Brome or Massawippi Lakes.

No matter how good a private secretary a person may be for most of the year, in vacation time the only letters written should be the briefest of cards showing views of Lake Massawippi or Fitch Bay. If across the mind of an Eastern Townships vacationist is whether golf or tennis shall be the programme of the day.

In the Eastern Townships there is a holiday nook for every type of person. For those whose eyes are tired of city buildings, rising into the mist of factory smoke, the view through Bolton Pass or at Ayer's Cliff, from the top of Mount Massawippi at night, will wash away in an instant the fifty weeks' old impression of heat, work and smoke.

For the sportsman the Eastern Townships are a veritable paradise. Fishing, sailing, golf, tennis and swimming all have their place in the programme of any Eastern Townships summer resort. Some of the finest scenery in the Province of Quebec can be seen from any one of a dozen E. T. golf courses. At the Knowlton Golf Club there is a beautiful view of all Brome Lake from the sixth tee, with the Dufferin Heights Club, with the Green Mountains forming a background for Lake Massawippi offers a panorama that is unequalled in Eastern Canada.

The Eastern Townships, with their old world air of English courtesy, side by side with the spirit of the French-Canadian bonne entente, is a contrast of color, beauty, sport, gayety, rest and all round good living that will work wonders on any tired, holiday-needing person seeking a haven far removed from the rush of city life.

No matter what type of holiday you are looking for, you are sure to find it in the Eastern Townships. Gayety is well supplied by fine, luxurious dance halls throughout the district where "name bands" play on Saturday nights. For a vacation that is well balanced and worthwhile while come to the Eastern Townships.

For a comfortable place to stay simply consult the Record's Friday "Vacation Page" and pick your hotel or inn. Remembering that an advertised inn must be as good as it has put its claims in the public window for all the world to see, just glance at Friday's Record and be sure of comfort and hospitality.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

Geoffrey Braemer, fourteen-year-old English youngster who has been adopted by a pair of jewel thieves, is sent to a welfare school when his foster-parents flee the law. Geoffrey's superior manners earn him ostracism at school, despite his prowess as coxswain in winning the annual boat race. Finally Geoffrey, taking a different attitude, goes to the school head and confesses an attempt to run away for which another student, Terry O'Mulvaney, had been blamed.

Chapter Eleven

The more he thought about it, the more certain Geoffrey became that his clearing of Terry's name would result in the latter's reinstatement, but he himself would be expelled and sent to reform school. One boy had received exactly this punishment the previous year for a similar offense.

When he was alone in his room Geoffrey secretly stowed away some of his belongings in his bag, so that he wouldn't have to pack before the boys when the expected summons came to leave for reform school.

No further word came from Captain Briggs the next morning, and Geoffrey was surprised that his name was among those listed as eligible to go on that evening's tain Briggs; he would go to reform school instead; but he couldn't back down before Doris.

"The crew of the Queen Mary," he replied. "Five boys are to go, from Russell-Cotes."

Doris, perplexed by his change of attitude, took his arm.

"You've got to come with us," she whispered. "You need our help."

"I've learned to stand on my own feet," cried Geoffrey, struggling for self-composure. "They taught me at Russell-Cotes that every man pulls his own weight in the boat. If I've got to take a whipping, I've learned to grin and bear it."

A catch came into his throat. Rather than let Doris suspect his upset nerves, he hurried down the stairs.

Doris, still struggling to understand this remarkable transformation of character, stood still. She was still holding Geoffrey's jacket under her arm.

An adjacent door opened and Jim Hampstead appeared. Not wishing to run the slightest risk of recognition at the party, he was keeping himself completely out of sight.

"Where's Geoffrey?" asked Jim, eagerly.

"Downstairs,"

"Why didn't you bring him up?"

"It's no use, Jim. He's been saved."

"Saved? From what?"

"From evil ways, I think they call it. He's through with us."

"I'll wring the little blighter's

THIS NEW GASOLINE IMPROVEMENT IS PATENTED!

No. 357976

Esso and 3-Star contain exclusive solvent that dissolves gum... fights carbon gives extra power and mileage

When the Government gives a patent, it indicates that the product has new, useful and improved characteristics. The new formula for Esso and 3-Star has been granted a patent by the Canadian Government. These gasolines now contain an exclusive solvent which dissolves gum and checks the formation of carbon. This is a definite contribution to the efficient operation of your engine.

This solvent should not be confused with lubricating oils sometimes added to gasolines. Ample lubrication is provided by Imperial lubricants. The sole purpose of this solvent is to dissolve gum and prevent sticky deposits from accumulating in your engine and robbing it of power.

If you use these new gasolines exclusively in a new car, it will retain its new, surging power indefinitely. In an old car you will notice a gradual but unmistakable improvement in performance. Esso and 3-Star with this new solvent are sold everywhere in Canada at no increase in price.

Esso The finest motor fuel Imperial Oil has ever marketed at any price. It contains sufficient tetraethyl lead for maximum power and economy and smooth, cool running without "knock" or "ping". Now it also contains the exclusive solvent which dissolves gum and causes it to be blown out through the exhaust. The finest motor fuel made still more efficient.

3-STAR This famous regular-priced gasoline has long been noted for its exceptional power and mileage. Now it contains the exclusive new solvent that dissolves gum and checks the formation of engine deposits.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

Geoffrey Braemer, fourteen-year-old English youngster who has been adopted by a pair of jewel thieves, is sent to a welfare school when his foster-parents flee the law. Geoffrey's superior manners earn him ostracism at school, despite his prowess as coxswain in winning the annual boat race. Finally Geoffrey, taking a different attitude, goes to the school head and confesses an attempt to run away for which another student, Terry O'Mulvaney, had been blamed.

Chapter Eleven

The more he thought about it, the more certain Geoffrey became that his clearing of Terry's name would result in the latter's reinstatement, but he himself would be expelled and sent to reform school. One boy had received exactly this punishment the previous year for a similar offense.

When he was alone in his room Geoffrey secretly stowed away some of his belongings in his bag, so that he wouldn't have to pack before the boys when the expected summons came to leave for reform school.

No further word came from Captain Briggs the next morning, and Geoffrey was surprised that his name was among those listed as eligible to go on that evening's tain Briggs; he would go to reform school instead; but he couldn't back down before Doris.

"The crew of the Queen Mary," he replied. "Five boys are to go, from Russell-Cotes."

Doris, perplexed by his change of attitude, took his arm.

"You've got to come with us," she whispered. "You need our help."

"I've learned to stand on my own feet," cried Geoffrey, struggling for self-composure. "They taught me at Russell-Cotes that every man pulls his own weight in the boat. If I've got to take a whipping, I've learned to grin and bear it."

A catch came into his throat. Rather than let Doris suspect his upset nerves, he hurried down the stairs.

Doris, still struggling to understand this remarkable transformation of character, stood still. She was still holding Geoffrey's jacket under her arm.

An adjacent door opened and Jim Hampstead appeared. Not wishing to run the slightest risk of recognition at the party, he was keeping himself completely out of sight.

"Where's Geoffrey?" asked Jim, eagerly.

"Downstairs,"

"Why didn't you bring him up?"

"It's no use, Jim. He's been saved."

"Saved? From what?"

"From evil ways, I think they call it. He's through with us."

"I'll wring the little blighter's

"You've got to come with us," she whispered. "You need our help."

"Liberty party."

There was a considerable air of secrecy about the party. As had been announced, it was the members of the victorious crew were to be feted by a young English couple who had come down from London and taken a country house.

When the boys arrived at the home where the night's celebration was to take place, they were taken upstairs by the maid to leave their caps and jackets. Geoffrey, the last to remove his coat, was about to leave the room when he was accosted by a voice so familiar he could scarcely believe his ears.

Turning about, he saw that his hearing had been quite accurate. There, looking far more vivacious and refreshed than the day she had burned her disguise in her London flat, was Doris Clandon.

Geoffrey's first impulse was to scurry away. A fortnight ago he would have relished a reunion with Doris more than anything else. Now he shrank from it in inexplicable fear.

"Not quite as good as the coats you used to wear, Milord," said Doris, picking up his jacket as she looked at him curiously.

"It's warm enough," he replied. "And I have no tie."

Doris noted Geoffrey's hands, which had always been as delicate in texture as a girl's.

"Callouses!" she explained. "What have you been doing?"

"Pulling an oar, splicing rope, climbing rigging," he answered. "Just like a common seaman!" said Doris, with a note of subtle sarcasm.

"Seamen are responsible for thousands of lives every day," rejoined Geoffrey soberly. "There's nothing common about that."

"Of course, my dear," said Doris, perplexed at his change of attitude. "It's all right for people who are born for it." She took his arm and lowered her voice. "It makes me sick to think of you in a place like that school. But I'm going to make it up. We're going to the States and you can come along. You'll have new clothes — and we'll travel first class."

"When I go to America," replied Geoffrey, speaking with great conviction. "It will be in the forecastle, with the deck crew."

Doris was staggered.

"Crew! Of what?"

Geoffrey had to think of something to say quickly. He might never make the trip to America now that he had confessed to Cap-neck!" cried Jim.

"I wouldn't," counseled Doris. "One yelp for the police — and where are we?" She held up Geoffrey's jacket. "He's wearing this now, and he's sailing the Queen Mary crew."

Jim was all attention and sudden excitement.

"The Queen Mary crew?" he echoed. He paused a moment. "That's his pocket?"

"Yes."

"Fetch your sewing kit. Hurry!"

From his pocket he took the necklace stolen from Morcott's, which he had been afraid to try to dispose of in England. "If he can sail on the Queen Mary, so can we. And what he won't carry to his own advantage he will to ours."

"Jim!" cried Doris, admiringly. "You mean he'll be the unwitting messenger?"

"Right," cried Jim. "Now, hurry, get to work, and sew this up in here."

When the Russell-Cotes band finished last night's rendition of "Rule, Britannia!" Captain Briggs stepped forward to make the announcement that everyone was waiting for.

"The following boys have been selected for the crew of the Queen Mary," he said. "First, Geoffrey Braemer!"

Geoffrey looked thunderstruck as he stepped forward. Captain Briggs, who had been waiting for him, voiced a shout.

Philip Darrell! Roger Martin! Edmund Saunders! Terry O'Mulvaney!"

If Geoffrey had seemed bewildered, Terry was dumbfounded. He had long since abandoned any hope of making the coveted boat.

Mrs. Briggs now stepped forward and put out her arms in a motherly way.

"I'm sorry to lose you," she said, "but I'm proud. And I want to do one last service. You'll have to look your best when you board the Queen Mary. So if you'll send me over your green jackets, I'll press them."

All the boys shouted their thanks at once, as she withdrew. Terry, as Geoffrey walked away accosted him, "So we're shipmates after all, it seems," he said.

"I hope you won't hold it against me," said Geoffrey.

"On yer word of honor, when did yer last talk to Captain Briggs?" asked Terry suspiciously.

"I'd rather not answer."

"Yer don't have to," Terry gripped Geoffrey's hand. "Put it there, if yer will."

Geoffrey, deeply stirred, shook hands. Several of the boys in the background, seeing what was happening, crowded around.

"Good luck, Braemer!" one of them cried.

"How about a game o' billiards?" was the invitation from another.

"No, not billiards, it'll be ping-pong," Terry insisted. He seized Geoffrey by the arm and started toward the playroom. "Braemer, yer an' me'll whip the lot 'em out of them!"

"Done!" agreed Geoffrey, happier than he had ever felt in his life before.

A roar of approval went up from the boys who were surrounding the pair. With boisterous good fellowship they rushed them out to spread the news. (To be continued)

TRADING SLOW ON EXCHANGES THIS MORNING

A Few Specialties Exhibited Quiet Strength in Opening Trading at New York but Majority of Issues Held to a Restricted Orbit.

New York, July 29.—(AP)—A few specialties and securities exhibited quiet strength in today's stock market, but numerous issues held to a notably restricted orbit.

Dealing, fairly active at the opening, slowed to a crawl later and trends were indefinite near the second hour.

Philip Morris was once again in the limelight with a jump of more than three points to a record high. Modest advances were posted for Bethlehem Steel, U.S. Steel, McIntyre Porcupine, Chrysler, Commercial S-Cents, General Motors, Allied Chemical, United American, Bosch, Allis Chalmers, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific.

Bethlehem Steel's second quarter figures, revealing net of around $150,000 against more than $10,000,000 in the same 1937 months was considered as "water over the dam" and the stock received moderate support.

Rails edged forward after N.Y. Central had dipped a fraction at the opening on a block of 4,000 shares.

Several varieties of tropical trees develop buttresses at the base, which keep the trees standing long after they otherwise would topple to the ground.

DAVE BARRY SPORTING .400 BATTING MARK

Three Local Players Clouting Above .300

John Roder Heads Pitchers with Percentage of .292 in Twenty-Four Times at Bat—General Team Average .277—Barry, Cohen, Crowley and DeMeo Only Men Hitting Over .300.

Dave Barry, boisterous local catcher, batting an even .400 according to statistics issued by Roger Dugre, official scorer for the Sherbrooke Baseball Club, is far and away the leading hitter on Tom Hammond's roster—and one of the finest in the whole Provincial League.

Dave has stepped into the batter's box ninety-five times officially, and has rapped off thirty-eight safe hits. Bob Cohen, left-field picker, guardian, is the next man in the local power brigade, with an average of .344. Cohen has made 125 trips to the plate, connecting safely forty-three times.

Cohen's running-mate in centre-field, held by many the finest fielder in the circuit, is pasting the pellet at a .323 clip. The name is Crowley, of course, and fleet-footed Johnny has thirty-three safeties in 102 times at bat.

Henry DeMeo is the only other player hitting over .300, and the diminutive second-sacker is pounding the ball for .309.

Roder and Calvert, ace flingers, come next in order with averages of .292 and .265, respectively.

The general team average to date is .277.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., July 29.—St. Hyacinthe defeated Drummondville, ten to one, here last night in a Provincial Baseball League fixture abbreviated to seven innings by darkness.

St. Hyacinthe had a two-run lead going into the sixth and here salted the game on three singles, three walks and three errors. Catcher O'Flaherty connected for two of the singles to feature the seven-run tally.

GALLEN POKED IN WINNING RUNS

Granby, Que., July 29.—Art Galen drove in two runs with a single in the eighth inning to give Sorel a three to two victory over Granby in a fixture here last night.

Bertram started on the mound for the visitors and after giving up two runs in the initial frame retired in the fourth when he injured his foot. Johnston replaced him and allowed only on hit over the rest of the route, receiving credit for the victory when Galen came through with his game-winning blow in the eighth.

Score by innings:
Sorel . . . 010 000 020—3 6 4
Granby . . . 200 000 000—2 5 3

Pete Gray, one-armed center-fielder, led the homesters' attack with three hits on four tries.

Around Broadway they'll bet you John Henry Lewis doesn't get to first base in his proposed suit against the New York Athletic Commission—which is to say it'll never reach the courts. After all, the Commish merely told John he'd have to come in and fight a guy, or else—and John Henry rode the else.

GROVELESS RED SOX POUNDING PENNANT BEAT

Performance of Rookies and Steady Play of Veterans Keep Yawkey's "Gold Sox" on Trail of Yanks and Indians.

For years, one of baseball's universal beliefs—like club strikes are out—has been that a club entertaining hopes of figuring in the money must have strength "down the middle."

Such being the case, it has become increasingly amazing, now that "Lefty" Grove's wing is laid up for repairs, how those Boston Red Sox continue to hang right onto Yankees and Indians in the American League pennant party.

When this season got under way, few thought the Sox had much of a chance. The experts refused to see "Moneybags" Yawkey's boys because of that middle line, and when Grove went into drydock two weeks ago, everyone immediately foretold their finish.

But since that time, Sox have won seven and lost three, the latest a doubleheader beating they handed Chicago White Sox yesterday, thirteen to eight and eight to five.

Now, that "middle line" represents the portion of a ball club, which, laid end to end, runs from the catcher out to the center field. In Jack of the mask and pads, the Sox had Gene Desautels, who is strictly no bargain. On paper, the pitching staff, aside from "Old Moss" was largely a collection of young unknowns. In centre field, Doc Cramer didn't figure to be any world beater.

But it has been at second base and on the mound where things have been popping. Manager Joe Cronin decided to stick along with young Bobby Doerr last year, despite all kinds of criticism. And the kid finally has come through. For the past month or so he has been travelling at a .400 clip, and for the final ten-game run since the Sox were counted out (by expert opinion) he's been going at .368 and fielding "A-1."

On top of that, the rookie pitchers have been fooling everyone, for which give a large assist to old Herb Pennekot, the one-time ace of the world champion Yankees, who's taken youngsters like Jim Bagby, Emerson Dickman and Dick Miltiff in hand and taught them the tricks. The result is, Bagby and Dickman, between 'em, have won thirteen games and lost but seven. Dickman sports a five-game winning streak.

Sox are now only two games back of Indians, whose game with Athletics was rained out, and one game back of the pace-setting Yankees, who dropped a four to three decision to St. Louis Browns despite three homers. The Tigers belted Washington Senators twelve to four.

Giants ended their five-game losing streak by nipping St. Louis Cardinals two to one, and, naturally, it was "King Carl" Hubbell who did it with a seven-hit pitching job for his twelfth win. Limus Frey's three-run double gave Cincinnati Reds a four to two victory over Boston Braves. Pirates pounded out seven runs in a big seventh inning to trample Phillies nine to two. The Dodgers and Cubs weren't scheduled.

INTERNATIONAL HAS BIG LEAGUE CROP
This may be another Newark year as far as the International Baseball League standings go, but almost every team in the circuit is figuring on showing a few of their hopefuls up in the big leagues when the season's campaigning is over.

Bears are expected to provide both quantity and quality again for the parent New York Yankees, but a few of the clubs, notably Syracuse Chiefs, are not far behind in that department.

At least six of the Bears' current crop, headed by clouting Charley Keller, are marked for the Yankees in 1939. Charley, who walked out a gaudy .353 to lead the International League batters last season, is hitting at a .377 pace in his second year in organized ball.

Buddy Rosar, the twenty-three year old backstop, is counting on his phenomenal .409 average to boost him into the job of first assistant to Bill Dickey. Jimmy Gleeson is hoping he'll be the third member of the outfield that started the season for Bears to go big league. Bob Seeds was sold earlier in the season to New York Giants and several scouts have passed the "OK" sign on Gleeson.

Three pitchers with a combined record at present of thirty-five wins and eight defeats, round out Bears' half-dozen. Atley Donald, with a won-lost record of 11-4 wants another chance, while a pair of twenty-three year old Marius Russo and Jack Haley, want the records to talk for them. Russo, a southpaw, has a mark of 13-3 and Haley, a husky right-hander, is tops with 11-1.

Long Johnny Gee and Red Barratt, a pair of hurlers, and outfielders Nino Bongy and Jimmy Outlaw are Syracuse's bright lights, apparently headed for Cincinnati.

Rochester offers a crack battery in "Lefty" Ken Raffensberger, who has won ten and lost three, and husky Sam Narron, who is carrying a .360 hitting mark. Montreal has a hard-hitting infielder in Bill Schuster to offer while Baltimore already has made deals for Pitcher Johnny Wittig and Catcher Dick West, who is now with Chattanooga.

The players had a day off yesterday, when the Browns will lose, the latest a doubleheader beating they handed Chicago White Sox yesterday, thirteen to eight and eight to five.

Now, that "middle line" represents the portion of a ball club, which, laid end to end, runs from the catcher out to the center field. BEFORE

Gabby Street says that he never starts a game believing that the Browns will lose. The kindly Old Sarge, therefore, looks something like this at the outset.

But the grizzled manager is quickly disillusioned. "Oh, well, we blow another," Gabby almost daily with the setting of the sun. "But tomorrow is another day."

JAPS WALTZED TO EASY DAVIS CUP VICTORIES

Yamagishi and Nakano Burned Through Bob Murray and Ross Wilson in Straight Sets—Machine-Like Play Too Much for Canucks.

Montreal, July 29.—The lid of the ash can was clamped almost tight today on Canada's 1938 Davis Cup bid. Falling broken limbs among the invading Japanese or a minor miracle, the Dominion's first try in three years seemed certain to be tossed out in the first round.

Her doubles forces go out today to attempt, in a last-ditch stand, to beat off elimination. A loss in the doubles play, tacked on to the twin straight-set defeats given Canada's two top singles players yesterday, will move the swarthy men from the Orient into the second round of North American Zone play.

Even if Lahrd Watt and Ross Wilson take the measure of Jiro Yamagishi and Fumitomo Nakano in the doubles, few experts will concede Canada an outside chance. For the sure-stroking Yamagishi is still to be considered in Saturday's singles, and his opponent is Toronto's Wilson.

That Japan's most dangerous court man is almost surely Wilson's master, he pointed out yesterday as he outclassed, in straight sets, Bobby Murray, of Montreal, number one in Canada. The scores were 6-1, 6-3, 6-3. Lending emphasis to Yamagishi's superiority was Wilson's 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 defeat at the hands of little Nakano, whose play is not up to his team-mate's standard.

That double-barrelled setback dumped squarely into Canada's lap the alternative of sweeping the remaining three matches or vanishing from the international tennis picture until another year. And the odds against the home squad doing that are staggering.

Most hopeful of the Canadian troops was E. Henri Laframboise, the veteran Davis Cupper who is non-playing captain. The stocky captain said after yesterday's matches he expected Wilson and his Montreal partner to take the doubles, and after that, "we won't admit we're licked until the final match is over."

In singles, Yamagishi displayed a mastery of the grass courts that at times left 2,500 spectators at the Mount Royal Club breathless. The compact Japanese, deadly accurate on placements and with beautiful control over a tantalizing lob shot, virtually ran the bronzed young Montreal law graduate off his feet.

But Nakano crossed up the calculations by playing a retrieving game that, in the long run, gave him the match. An amazingly-fast court coverer, he kept feeding the ball back to Wilson until the Canadian either smashed it into the net or outside.

AUSSIERS FAVORED TO TAKE MEXICANS
Kansas City, July 29.—(AP)—Australia's Davis Cup team, which meets a Mexican aggregation in zone play today is worried—about the cricket matches in London and the Armstrong-Ambers fight in New York.

With the return to form of John Bromwich, their two-fisted court-maker, the Australians agreed with critics that they were the favorites. The six-foot Bromwich towers fully six inches above Eugenio Tapia, his opponent today. Tapia, slowed down by a throbbing molar the fore part of the week, is again in condition.

Adrian Quist, the Aussies' consistent veteran, meets Daniel Hernandez, Mexico's No. 1 player, in the first match.

SUN DRYING DAVIS CUP COURT
Montreal, July 29.—(AP)—Rain ceased falling this morning, about five hours before the resumption of the Canadian-Japan Davis Cup series, apparently ensuring that the Mount Royal Tennis Club courts would be in good shape for this afternoon's doubles play.

Clouds still hid the sun, but a warm wind was helping dry off the grass courts after heavy overnight rain.

LAKE PARK TOURNEY OPENS TODAY
The Lake Park tennis tournament gets underway today with matches on the Boisvert, St. Francis and Lake Park courts. Drawing for the games was made yesterday and, as a result, the following players will oppose each other:

St. Francis:
Dan Hellig vs. Yvan Cote, court No. 1. Five-thirty o'clock.
John Hibbard vs. G. A. Codere, court No. 2. Five-thirty o'clock.

Boisvert:
Paul Biron vs. Albert Reid, court No. 1. Six-thirty o'clock.
Bill Jones vs. Raoul Gagne, court No. 2. Seven o'clock.

Lake Park:
Gerard Cote vs. Majella Charest. Six-thirty o'clock.

SPORTS FLASHES
New York, July 29.—(AP)—Armstrong and Armstrong may lay one of those great big eggs from a financial standpoint.

In the four night games at Ebbetts Field so far the Dodgers have pulled in 117,989 fans and got the club out of the red.

One expert writes the Yanks are running the bases worse than the Dodgers of old these days.

Business is off fifty per cent at Tony Galento's joint since Tony has been laid up and can't get around to bellow greetings to his customers.

Young Bobby Riggs has unshakable his racquets in no less than eighteen tournaments this year already.

Dan Daniel, who usually has the straight dope in his World-Telegram column, says the Yanks once turned down Gabby Hartnett for $2,500 because he "couldn't hit." Haw!

What we want to know is how old is Fred Johnson, the pitcher the Browns imported from the American Association? Record books say he's thirtyeight, but some of his pals insist you can add three years to that and still be right. In which event Fred probably is the oldest regular in either major. No matter how many summers he's seen slip by, he went the route against the Yankees yesterday (when they were not hot but torrid) and that's something.

Some of the New York papers are blasting the Boxing Commission for refusing to recognize young Al Hostak. After all, they argue, it wasn't the kid's fault Steele got in bad by running out of a challenge from Apostoli.

Dutch Clark, of the Detroit Lions, will be starting his fifteenth season as a football player when his team begins practice this year.

Best line of the week in this book was Prof. Paul (AP) Nickelson's "Those Terrible Giants."

Transit And Textiles Chalked Up Triumphs

Strengthened Berths in First Division by Trouncing Etoile Filante and Hoboes by One-Sided Scores—Beatty Brothers Defaulted to Boisvert, the Latter Squad Moving Nearer Top.

City Transit and Textile, two of the squads that seem certain to take part in the City Softball League play-offs, strengthened their positions within the "charmed circle" by scoring one-sided victories over Etoile Filante and Hoboes respectively on the Parade Grounds last night.

Transit's triumph moved them out of a second-place deadlock with the idle New Wellington aggregation, while Textile's win brought them to within two points of the hotmen.

Winning over Beatty Brothers by default, the Boisvert ten crept to within four points of fourth place, and should be a threat for a berth in the post-season play-downs.

TRANSITS PLASTERED ETOILE FILANTE

Trailing two to one going into the fourth, City Transit found their batting eyes and piled up seven runs before being retired. Boisvert, Etoile Filante finger, aided the bus drivers by issuing no less than five bases on balls in the wild inning.

The same thing occurred in the sixth, the Transit lads ringing up seven more tallies on seven bingles and two walks.

Gus Leroux, with a pair of doubles and a walk in four trips, led the winning team at bat while Belanger, of Etoile Filante, had a triple and single in three times at bat.

The "Shooting Stars" came back in the sixth to add another run, bringing their total to three, as against fifteen for Transit.

Score by innings:
City Transit . . . 100 707—15 16 0
Etoile Filante . . . 020 001—3 6 1
Batteries: Ross and Dufour; Boisvert and Fontaine.

TEXTILE TRAMPLED PITCHER PARSONS

With "Workhorse Maurice" Parsons serving them up from the pitcher's mound, and with three regulars still missing from the line-ups, Hoboes were no match for the "Textile Terriers," who defeated them to the tune of thirteen to eleven.

The winning team had one of their better nights, their fielding being considerably tighter than on their previous appearance, and their hitting leaving nothing to be desired.

Thirteen safeties rattled off the Textile bats, while Collin, their pitcher, and the Hoboes eating out of his hand.

Textile tallied in every inning but the second, while Hoboes made two in the second, three in the third and one in the sixth before cutting loose with five markers in the seventh. D. Blouin and L. Nadeau hit home runs in the seventh for the Beavers.

Score by innings:
Beavers . . . 023 001 5—11 13 2
Textile . . . 020 324 x—13 13 1
Batteries: Parsons and L. Boisvert; Collin and Boisvert.

he's thirtyeight, but some of his pals insist you can add three years to that and still be right. In which event Fred probably is the oldest regular in either major. No matter how many summers he's seen slip by, he went the route against the Yankees yesterday (when they were not hot but torrid) and that's something.

Some of the New York papers are blasting the Boxing Commission for refusing to recognize young Al Hostak. After all, they argue, it wasn't the kid's fault Steele got in bad by running out of a challenge from Apostoli.

Dutch Clark, of the Detroit Lions, will be starting his fifteenth season as a football player when his team begins practice this year.

Best line of the week in this book was Prof. Paul (AP) Nickelson's "Those Terrible Giants."

CANADIAN-BORN TURF EXPERT DEAD

Chicago, July 29.—(P)—Bert E. Collyer, sixty-one, nationally known horse race handicapper and publisher of "Collyer's Eye," a sports and turf publication paper, died last night.

Born in Durham, Ont., Collyer ran a print shop in his youth before going to Alaska during the gold rush of '98.

It was there he gained recognition as a newspaperman for his exclusive dispatch on the Chilkoot Pass avalanche April 4, 1898. Sixty persons were killed at the Pass and many injured.

Employed by Hearst newspapers on the Pacific Coast, he subsequently was transferred to the Chicago American and named turf editor. In 1914, he established his publication, which, he claimed, was the first to disclose the Chicago Black Sox baseball scandal in 1920.
