PASS MOTION TO RESTORE SUPPLY COMMITTEE Gave Details Of Tax To Aid Schools And Universities

Plans An Easter Recess Of House Starting Friday

Notice Has Been Given by Premier that He Intends to Move for an Easter Recess of House from Friday, March 26, till Tuesday, April 6—Motion to Restore Committee of Supply, Adjourned by the Numerical Victory of the Conservatives on Thursday, Passed—Discussed Resolution Approving Trade Treaty Between Canada and British West Indies Negotiated at West Indies Conference in Ottawa Last Summer.

(Associated Press Despatch) OTTAWA, Ont., March 20.—Premier King has given notice that he intends to move for an Easter recess of the House of Commons from Friday, March 26th till Tuesday, April 6th.

On Monday, J. S. Woodsworth, Labor leader, will introduce his resolution that Canada should not accept responsibility for complications arising from the foreign policy of Great Britain.

Yesterday the House passed motions to restore the committee of supply, adjourned by the Conservative numerical victory of Thursday, and to refer the item in the estimates then under consideration to the committee again.

A resolution approving the trade treaty between Canada and the British West Indies, negotiated at the West Indies conference in Ottawa last summer, was discussed at some length by the members of the House.

HAD A LENGTHY ARGUMENT OVER PROCEDURE IN COMMONS

(Associated Press Despatch) OTTAWA, March, 20th.—The House has again a committee of supply. Adoption by the House the previous day of the Drayton motion that the "chairman do leave the chair" resulted in a long argument over procedure and a ruling by Speaker Lemieux. Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, moved at the opening that the House go into supply on Monday—which in reality means Tuesday, as Monday is a private member's day.

Quoting May's parliamentary procedure, Mr. Meighen contended that the effect of Thursday's vote had been to dissolve the committee of supply. The committee could be revived only on one of three grounds—royal message, the bringing down of a new Speech from the Throne, or the submission of further estimates to the House.

Hon. J. A. Robb said that his motion followed a procedure used by the last Conservative administration, following the "counting out" of the House during committee of supply. The chief Government whip of that day had found it difficult to keep a quorum of Government supporters in the House, and Mr. Robb, who was then chief Opposition whip, recalled that "some of our boys, anxious to play just such a trick as the Opposition played Thursday, counted the House out."

Mr. Meighen said that counting the House out was not the same as the dissolution of the committee which had taken place Thursday.

Premier King asked "for the sake of enlightenment" what would be gained except delaying the business of the House by the present Opposition proposal.

Mr. Meighen retorted that the Government sought to make a precedent wherever it had an object to be served and the Opposition merely sought to keep the proceedings of the House regular.

Says Government Seems Anxious To Make New Precedents.

Sir Henry Drayton, on whose motion the committee voted its chairman out, remarked that he had moved to prevent a procedure by the Government which he considered "highly improper." This was the submission of certain estimates of the Department of Customs which he believed the committee should not have been asked to pass at this time, when a special committee was investigating the Department of Customs.

"We are entitled to whatever benefits might accrue from the favorable vote on this motion," added Sir Henry. The Government seemed anxious to make new precedents this session. It might be necessary to establish another new precedent to prove "that this Government can only be dislodged by dynamite."

able again broke out when Hon. G. H. Holvin, Minister of Customs and Excise, moved that resolution 349 of the estimates, which was under consideration at the time of the vote Thursday night, be again referred to the committee on supply. He felt that it was the desire of members to have the item restored.

SALE OF CIDER BY FARMERS IS SUGGESTED

Said to Be No Demand—Temporary Liquor Licenses from Commission for Hotels With at Least 25 Bedrooms.

(Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, March, 20.—Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, took up in the Legislative Assembly at yesterday morning's sitting the bill to amend the Quebec Liquor Act.

Alexandre Thurber, Liberal, of Chambly, wanted to know what was being done in the matter of selling cider, pointing out the sale of cider would help the farmers who had orchards.

The minister said there was little demand for cider.

Arthur Plante, Conservative, of Beauharnois, said the trouble was that the law placed cider in the same case as spirits, and if a farmer sold some of his extra supply to his neighbor he was liable to fine and imprisonment. He suggested granting licenses at nominal fees to the farmers.

Mr. Sauve also said a few words in favor of aiding the sale of cider, this being an agricultural product.

"Would you have cider sold in the taverns the same as beer?" asked Hon. Mr. Nicol.

Mr. Sauve agreed.

"That is opening the door very wide," said Mr. Nicol.

"We are opening the door very wide. Beer is restricted to four per cent alcoholic contents."

The Provincial Treasurer suggested it would be better if the farmers would send their apples to a cider factory, so that good cider could be made, and the Liquor Commission would have a better chance of selling it. Premier Taschereau pointed out that cider was four times as strong as beer, and to give licenses to everyone with an apple orchard to sell cider would be going very far. The trouble with the development of the cider industry was that there was no demand.

Alfred Durand, of Laurier, Montreal, asked as to the clause which provides that in the case of the transfer of a permit, other than by reason of death, the full permit fees had to be paid again by the new holder. Mr. Durand thought this was excessive. The minister did not think so, under the circumstances. Where the transfer of a permit is due to the death of the holder, the new permit for the balance of the year is 50 per cent.

Explanation by Provincial Treasurer.

Hon. Mr. Nicol explained that the Government wished to give the commission power to grant temporary licenses to those having hotels with at least 25 bedrooms. At present such temporary licenses may be granted only to a railway or navigation company having charge of a hotel.

Edouard Hamel, of Portneuf, hoped this amendment would not lead to abuse. Premier Taschereau did not think so. J. L. St. Jacques, of Argenteuil, said the way he read the law, the commission could give such temporary permit even in prohibition areas.

Premier Taschereau pointed out that at present this class of hotel, when owned by a railway or navigation company, can be operated in prohibition territory.

Mr. St. Jacques said there were only three or four such hotels in the province, and it was now proposed to extend the commission power to extend the commission would be careful and permits could be cancelled at any time. It was better to have the hotels under the supervision of the commission rather than run as so-called temperance hotels.

"With this amendment all the farmers will become commercial travellers," said J. E. Renaud, of Laval.

"They will not have the right to do so, since such hotels are for travellers only," said the Premier.

"It will be like picking a particular apple out of a pan of apples," said Mr. Renaud.

The bill was put through, except for third reading.

LOCARNO SPIRIT IS NOW A GRIM GHOST, STATES LLOYD GEORGE

(Copyright 1926 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc. Copyright in Great Britain by London Chronicle. Exclusive World Rights Held by United Feature Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in Whole or in Part Prohibited. All Rights Reserved.)

LONDON, March 20.—(By Cable)—All the European countries have their postwar troubles—some of these anxieties they share with their neighbors, some are peculiarly their own. Great Britain is no exception. These last few days the British public has been agitated by two events—the report of the coal commission and the strangling of the Locarno spirit at Geneva.

Proceedings at the gathering of nations on the banks of Lake Lemane have been profoundly disquieting. They have disappointed the hopes of millions who had been taught by the elaborate and sustained rejoicings of the last few weeks to expect a new era of concord and fraternity as the result of the new Pentecost in the Southern Alps. The Locarno spirit had descended, in the form of the dove of peace, on the heads of the assembled statesmen. Our Foreign Minister walked about like a man with a jangling halo. You felt that he was holding his head high lest it fall off. A new era had dawned on the world. The old evil dispensation of war and hostile groups had gone for ever. Henceforth Europe was a brotherhood with, perhaps, still one naughty brother only left in the far country—Russia.

Then came Geneva, with its wailing and gnashing of teeth, revealing the bottomless depths of flaming suspicions and hatreds. The lid was taken off the pit and it was no longer the Geneva of the society of nations but the Gehenna of the war. The lid has, with some effort, been pushed back but the fires are there. The Locarno spirit for a time became an appeal. It is now a grim jest. What appeared to be incense was after all but the fumes of brimstone. The miserable spectacle has confirmed the impressions of those who, like myself, have been convinced that without the presence of America the League of Nations may well become a danger.

It is essential to its successful working that there should be one great and dominant power which has no traditional concern in the feuds of Europe and whose sole interest is peace on the basis of justice and liberty. Still this, I fear, is hardly the time to make an appeal to America. Decent opinion in America must have been disgusted by this repellent sight of caged nations snarling and scrambling over the bone of contention. To send a friendly invitation to America to join the League of Nations gatherings at Geneva just now would be like presenting her with a card inscribed "Moloch. At Home. Geneva. Ides of March."

It is no use blaming Brazil for the "tragedy"—to use Sir Austen's word. From the moment the allied powers encouraged Poland and Spain to raise the issue of a counterpoise to Germany, the action of Brazil was inevitable. The South American republic was no more responsible for that original blunder than it is for the equator. But it had to take cognizance of both these scorching facts, which it cannot comfortably ignore. When there were additional seats to be distributed, a great continent like South America could not permit itself to be left out of the reckoning. After all, Brazil is a greater country than Poland in area.

New Note Sounded In Idea That It Might, Possibly, Be Better If Latin-American Nations Were Out Of League Altogether

Weekly Reviews Attribute Geneva Failure to Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary—Those Favorable to Government Cover Their Criticism With a Veneer of Tribute to Sir Austen's Honesty of Intention and His Sincerity.

LONDON, March 20.—What is termed "the lamentable failure at Geneva" is the subject of much comment in the weekly reviews which are as one in attributing the failure to Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary. Those favorable to the Government cover their criticism with a veneer of tribute to Sir Austen's honesty of intention and his sincerity.

A new note is sounded in the idea that it might, perhaps be better if the Latin-American nations were out of the League altogether. This idea was voiced in a public speech at Newton Abbey last night by Lieut.-Colonel Amery, Secretary for the Dominions, who, expressing what he emphasized was his personal viewpoint, said:

"The effectiveness and sense of responsibility in the League of Nations may in some ways be greatly increased if the nations of South and Central America worked out their own affairs in some League of their own across the Atlantic, rather than participate as they do in the affairs of this old world of ours."

The New Statesman, declaring that Locarno treaties are dead and that Chamberlain won his Knighthood of the Garter on false pretences, expresses the same idea, saying that Brazil's action is the strongest argument for keeping the League Council small. It points out that measures designed for the pacification of Europe are vetoed by a remote and uninterested South American state. Elsewhere the paper declares that the question inevitably arises whether it is desirable to admit South American states to the League at all, adding that it might be the League would gain and become stronger if they all resigned pending the participation of the United States, which, for the present, was unlikely.

REVENUE FROM A TAX ON NATURAL RESOURCES TO AID EDUCATION IS EXPECTED TO BE $300,000 A YEAR

Aim of Present Measure Is to Assure Support to Elementary Schools as Well as to Aid Universities to Live—Ten Cents Per Cord on Pulpwood from Crown Lands—Duty of Fifteen Cents if Exported—Levy on Gross Income of Persons or Companies Developing Electric Power.

(Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, March 20.—"The natural resources of the Province of Quebec go to create great wealth, and it is only reasonable that they should also in some measure go towards creating intellectual wealth," declared Hon. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary, in the Legislative Assembly yesterday in explaining his bill to provide for the creation of an educational fund from natural resources of the province. Premier Taschereau supported this attitude on the part of his colleague, adding that he was assured that the companies benefiting from the natural resources of the province were pleased to make their contribution to the cause of education.

"This act," said Hon. M. David, "is quite legitimate and proper, for we are calling on the natural resources to aid in the development of the intellectual riches. We ask that the big companies and others who, by reason of forestry concessions and water powers obtained from the Crown, have made fortunes, shall in some small part contribute to the cause of intellectual development."

"This bill involves no privileges or rights. It is justified before the other provinces of Canada as supporting our claim that all classes seek to co-operate to assure to this province the place to which it is entitled in Confederation, and that is the first place."

In answer to C. E. Gault, Conservative, of St. George, Montreal, Hon. Mr. David said that for the first few years he believed the revenue would be $300,000 a year, but did not wish this to be taken as being in any way definite.

Elementary Schools and Universities to Benefit

Hughes Fortier, of Beauce, asked as to the elementary schools. The minister said that the elementary schools and the universities were to benefit from the fund thus created, and the aim of the present law was to assure support to the elementary schools as well as to aid the universities to live. Mr. Fortier said that while he believed in helping the universities, he was for the moment especially concerned with the little rural schools.

"There will be no injustice committed," said Hon. Mr. David. "The law is quite explicit. We plan to use some of this revenue to guarantee interest and sinking fund for loans issued by certain universities or other school corporations, after the style adopted by the Public Assistance Act."

In the present bill, said the Premier, no companies were being submitted to double taxation. He added that he had met and discussed with proprietors of pulp and paper mills and electric companies, and these people were ready to accept the taxation proposed.

"These people have come here to help us develop our natural resources, and they are also ready to aid us in developing our intellectual greatness," said the Premier. "We have told these people that at the end of this session we will meet them around the table and discuss matters with them, and they will tell us the best way to come to an understanding as to the imposition of this taxation. They are willing, and even happy, to accept this measure. If we have $300,000 a year to turn over to the provincial secretary, the results we will achieve will be very fine."

Wanted to Know in What Proportion Fund is to be Divided

J. L. St. Jacques, Conservative, of Argenteuil, was glad that aid was to be given to primary schools and also to universities, but wanted to know in what proportion the fund would be divided as between universities and primary schools. He hoped that by far the greater portion would go to the primary schools. He believed that the universities should be well treated, but the basis of education was in the primary school, and that basis should be built up.

Mr. Houde also believed that the bill should state the proportion of the fund which would go to the universities and to the primary schools. It was all very well to have an intellectual elite, but it was no use if they were to have an army of ignorant people to lead, hence more attention should be given to the primary schools. The Premier spoke of sanitary and well-lighted school houses in the country, yet in Montreal 15,000 school children were in buildings that were not suitable.

Details of Measure The bill, the contents of which have already been made known provides that the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may impose and levy a tax of not more than ten cents per cord of wood intended for the manufacture of pulp or paper, taken from the public lands of the province. Such duty may be increased to fifteen cents if the wood is manufactured outside of the province. This latter stipulation naturally protects the pulp and paper industry of Quebec against export of the raw wood to the other provinces, since wood cut on Crown lands cannot be exported to the United States.

Section 2 of the act provides that the Government may also impose and levy annually a duty of not more than one-half of one per cent on the gross income of every person, company or corporation, developing electric power from the water powers of the province, held under titles from the Crown, when such power is used in manufacturing the products from the forests.

The balance of the clauses speak best for themselves:

3. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may also impose and levy annually a duty of not more than ten cents per horse-power developed and utilized from the water powers, held under titles from the Crown; such duty to be exigible from every person, company or corporation possessing and exploiting them, or selling the power or light so developed or produced.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may also impose and levy annually from every public utility company a duty of six cents per horse-power developed from the water powers mentioned in section 2, and of one cent per month for each consumer of electric power so developed, payable by the said company.

5. No person, company or corporation shall be liable for more than one of the duties imposed under the four preceding sections.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may enact regulations respecting the manner of collecting and paying the above duties, as well as any other provisions he may deem expedient for the carrying out of this act.

7. The proceeds of the duties imposed under this act shall be paid to the Provincial Secretary, and be entirely deposited in a special fund, called "educational fund," wholly intended to assist education in this province.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, in the event of an educational institution in this province contracting a loan or issuing bonds for educational purposes, may undertake to pay, in whole or in part, out of such Educational Fund and for such time as he may determine, such interest or such annuities as he may deem expedient, to meet the annual charges.

HOSPITAL TAX PROCEEDS TO BE SPENT IN LOCALITIES WHERE MONEY COLLECTED

(Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, March 20.—Some additional aid for hospitals must be granted, and after searching about for means of securing the revenue, the Government had decided to tax meals 5 per cent when such meals cost a dollar or over, declared Hon. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary, yesterday, in bringing forward his bill to provide additional money for the Quebec Public Charities Fund. The resolutions were adopted, and the bill read a second time and held over at the request of C. E. Gault, Conservative member for St. George, Montreal.

Mr. David explained that the Government had been urged to do something additional for the hospitals, petitions signed by thousands of people being received, and, in addition, there had been a campaign in the press to that effect. The proceeds of the tax on meals, said the minister, would be all spent in the respective municipalities in which such tax was raised. The Government, in studying other means of raising funds, had thought of places of amusement, but such places already paid 10 per cent, and it had not been deemed advisable to go any further in that matter, and, furthermore, this tax was largely paid by the poorer classes of society, since places of amusement were frequented by all people. The decision had finally been to tax meal checks of over a dollar. As in the case of the measure, just gone through, to create a special fund for education," said Mr. David, "we decided that the rich man, who can afford to pay, should be asked to contribute to the relief of those in the hospitals and

MARCH WEATHER DANGEROUS TO BABY

On Account of the Very Sudden Changes in Temperature.

Our Canadian March weather—one day bright, but sloppy, the next blustery and cold—is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep the little ones indoors. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against these colds and to keep the baby well till the better, brighter days come along, a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach sweet and his bowels working regularly.

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels and thus relieve colds and simple fevers and keep baby fit. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Great Mulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A TIRED FEELING IN SPRINGTIME

Not Sick, But Not Up to the Mark—You Need the Help of That Sterling Tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—They Give New Vitality.

With the passing of winter many people feel weak, depressed and easily tired. The body lacks the vital force and energy pure blood alone can give. In a word, while not exactly sick, the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon them. A blood-building, nerve-restoring tonic is needed to give renewed health and energy. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an all-year-round blood builder and nerve tonic, but are especially useful in the spring. Every dose helps to make new, rich, red blood, and with this new blood-returning strength, cheerfulness and good health quickly follow.

If you are pale, easily tired, or breathless at the least exertion, if your complexion is poor or you are troubled with pimples or eruptions, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just what you need to put you right. If you have twinges of rheumatism, are subject to headaches and backaches, if you are irritable and nervous, if your sleep does not refresh you, or your appetite is poor, you need the treatment Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone can give—you need the new blood, new strength and new energy this medicine always brings. Mrs. Emma Fraser, Thessalon, Ont., says: "Two years ago my nervous system was in such a condition that life seemed a burden. I could neither work, eat or sleep well. I tried several medicines, but did not get any relief. Indeed my condition seemed to be growing worse. Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were brought to my attention and I decided to try them. After using a few boxes there was no room to doubt that they were helping me. I continued their use until I had taken eight boxes, when I was completely restored to health, and I have not any time since had a symptom of the trouble. When I began the use of the pills I weighed only 96 pounds, while under their use with my renewed health I now weigh 125 pounds. I feel it impossible to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly."

Keep Your System Toned Up. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, indigestion or nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c, a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MRS. S. W. FOSTER CELEBRATED 99TH BIRTHDAY

Family Reunion Took Place—Dinner in Lakeview House and Gathering at Home Afterwards—Band Concert—I. O. D. E. Meeting.

KNOWLTON, Que., March 20. — Saturday, March 13th, was a gala day for Mrs. S. W. Foster, and her family, for on that occasion, Mrs. Foster reached the age of ninety years. A family reunion took place, Mrs. Foster's son, Senator Foster, and her daughter, Mrs. Bailey, being present, also grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The birthday dinner was served in the Lake View Hotel at one o'clock, to which twenty people sat down, all being relatives except four, who were friends. The table was graced with two vases of pink carnations and in the centre was a large three-tiered birthday cake, on which were two candles holding a ribbon with the dates 1836-1926. After a blessing by Canon Carmichael, the guests partook of a fine dinner. The friendly conversation and good fellowship prevailing during the meal was a veritable "feast of reason and riew of soul".

At the end of the last course, Mr. Gordon Lynch proposed Mrs. Foster's health, and all rising, drank a toast and sang, "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Amid cries of "speech, speech," Mrs. Foster rose and thanked the guests for their kindness and good wishes, and said that she hoped they would keep well and happy and live to be ninety years old. The whole company then crossed hands and sang, "Should Auld Acquaintance be Forgot."

Adjournment was then made to "Nestledown", Mrs. Foster's home, which friends had made into a perfect bower of flowers, noticeable among them being beautiful roses from Lord Athelstan, a lovely four-season's begonia in bloom, from Colonel and Mrs. Legatt, a large basket of mixed flowers from Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Robert, tulips from Mr. Alenby, and daffodils and tulips from Mr. Gordon Lynch, these being supplemented by many beautiful flowers from members of the family.

In the centre of the room was another birthday cake from Mrs. Foster's children, with the inscription "Many happy returns of the day to our dear young mother", and the dates 1836-1926. Beside the cake in a special holder were ninety small candles in rosebud setting, which were lighted, as the cake was cut by Mrs. Foster.

After a scene of jollity and happiness, the company broke up, some having to return home immediately and others to indulge in various winter sports.

The birthday celebration ended on Monday afternoon, when the W. C.T.U. to the member of twenty-three, gathered to congratulate Mrs. Foster and were treated to a piece of the birthday cake, tea and candy. The pleasant conversation and good fellowship was interspersed with music, led by Mrs. Knowlton, with Miss Martin at the piano, and the afternoon, closed by all rising and singing the old familiar hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again", which all through, but especially in its closing verse, expresses the wish of all Mrs. Foster's many friends here and elsewhere:—"God be with you till we meet again; Keep love's banner floating o'er you, Smite death's threatening wave before you; God be with you till we meet again."

Fine Band Concert. The picture show and band concert held on Wednesday evening, March 17th, for the benefit of the Knowlton Band, was a great success. A large crowd gathered, and it has been remarked that the Knowlton band was never heard to greater advantage. For a young band, the playing was unusually good and showed decided improvement over previous appearances, the music played being considerably difficult.

The following are some of the numbers on the programme:—"Tico March", "Kaaba Temple March", "In the Moonlight Serenade", "Derlermin Overture", "Grand Eagle March", "Ing Brigade March", "Love's Dream Serenade", and as it was St. Patrick's Day a series of

"I understand that young movie actress has had four husbands already." "She evidently believes in a sport life and a marry one."

ON BOBBY BURNS.
Everybody knows that prompt-ly the greatest of lyric poets, Bobby Burns, to give utterance to this thought: "Would to heaven some power give us, to see ourselves as others see us." If such a thing could only happen, even for a short period, it wouldn't cause a wave of suicidal inclination, but what a transformation of improvements and reforms would follow, all round the world. The demand for "Rouge" would drop 93 1/4 per cent, and "Lip Balm" producers would fade from the face of the earth, leaving the sweet flavor of Nature's gift unadulterated and wholesome, when not in the "free-for-all class."

The natural beauties, attractions and advantages of such a city as that which we possess, and which are so predominant in the eyes of tourists, and visitors to this city, that it does seem strange that we do not see ourselves as others see us, or if we do realize these blessings, to what limit does our appreciation extend?

We all realize that it is needed to improve the conditions of this city, and that is the same as every other place. There is a sentiment amongst the foremost and influential citizens to do something more than "wait till something turns up." Nature has done its part towards making this a city of some importance, it remains now only for Art to profit by it. Confidence assures success, the lack of it disaster. This city possesses advantages which ought to inspire that confidence into the minds of its citizens as forceable as it does into the minds of strangers, who in times past developed our water and gas systems, our electric lighting industry, our theatre, our street railway, our greatest foremost industries, and others now departed.

General Notes.
The band concert given in the United Church on Thursday evening, was sacred in character and was greatly enjoyed by the audience. Captain Bell, of the Sherbrooke Salvation Army, was in charge, his leadership bringing each selection to a high point of excellence. Several vocal solos were given during the evening and the history and aims of the Army reviewed in a brief address by Captain Bell. The amount contributed in offering was given to the treasury of the Ladies' Aid. Mr. Philip Ripley is spending the week-end in Montreal. Those who remember Mr. Richard

S. Hall on his visits to Lennoxville in the past, will learn with regret of his death following an attack of pneumonia, which occurred at his home in London, Ont., during the week. Mr. Hall was a brother-in-law of Mr. J. S. Marlin, Mr. W. J. Marlin and Mrs. McCurdy.
Miss Taylor, of Cookshire, has been a guest for a few days of her friend, Mrs. W. H. Abbott.
The choir of the United Church is holding special rehearsals under the leadership of Mr. Leonard Brodie, for the Easter music, among which is Vincent's "At The Dawn of Day," in anthem form.

A very interesting meeting of Myrtle Rebekah Lodge was held on Wednesday evening in their lodge rooms, with a large attendance. The officers' chairs were all occupied by Past Noble Grands, seven of whom filled the same office which they held during the first term after the lodge was instituted in nineteen and thirteen, namely, noble grand, vice-grand, recording secretary, financial secretary, conductor, right support to the vice-grand and the inside guardian. In addition to the general outline work, voting for the assembly officers for the coming year took place. At the close of the meeting a few young friends came in to spend a social hour, playing bridge. One of the young ladies gave a very pleasing recitation which was received with much applause. Dainty refreshments were served at small tables which were very prettily decorated with shamrocks in honor of St. Patrick's Day.

Mr. Ashton Taylor, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce staff, of Danville, is spending the week-end at his home in town.

Hair Dry, Brittle from Constant Waving, Curling

The constant curling and waving demanded by present styles in bobbed hair, slowly burns the color, lustre and very life from the hair, leaving it dry, faded, brittle and full of dandruff; then the hair roots shrink and the hair falls out fast.

Since girls just must curl and wave the hair to appear their prettiest, try "Danderine" to offset any bad effects. After the first application your hair will take on new life and that healthy, youthful lustre, become incomparably soft, wavy and appear twice as thick and abundant. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears.

A 35-cent bottle of refreshing "Danderine" from any drug store or toilet counter will do wonders for any girl's hair. It goes right to the roots, invigorates, nourishes and strengthens them, helping the hair to grow thick, healthy and luxuriant.

BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DIAMOND DYES" Just Dip to Tint or Boil to Dye

Each 10-cent package contains directions so simple any woman can tint soft, delicate shades or dye rich, permanent colors in lingerie, silks, ribbons, skirts, waists, dresses, coats, stockings, sweaters, draperies, hangings—everything!

Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL HELD ITS MONTHLY CONFERENCE AND SUPPER

Rev. P. N. Caven, of Stanstead College, Delivered Most Interesting and Helpful Address—Reports on Work of School Presented.

The monthly supper and conference of the officers and teachers of Plymouth United Church Sunday School was held last evening, and proved to be one of the most interesting and profitable of the season. The special feature of the evening was an informing and inspiring address by the Rev. Percival N. Caven, B.A., B.D., director of religious education at Stanstead College.

Owing to the absence of the superintendent, Mr. J. T. Reid, occasioned by the death during the day of Mrs. Reid's mother, the chair was occupied by the assistant superintendent, Mr. Thomas Cohoon.

In opening the conference, the chairman referred to the cause of Mr. Reid's absence, and spoke sympathetically of the bereavement Mr. and Mrs. Reid had sustained. A resolution of condolence was moved by Dr. W. O. Rothney, who referred in most appreciative terms of the life and character of the deceased, whom he had known from his childhood. The resolution was seconded by Miss J. N. Mitchell and passed, the secretary being instructed to forward a copy of same to Mr. and Mrs. Reid.

After hearing reports from the secretary, Mr. Gordon Richards; Miss Mitchell, on the matter of a church school paper; and from Mr. Duncan McLeod, on the adult Bible class, the chairman called on the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Caven, who spoke on the contribution the church school had to make towards the building of character in the lives of the boys and girls of the community, gave a most interesting address.

The church school had a two-fold responsibility, namely, to the home and to the community, said the speaker. Unless it met the responsibility it was missing its opportunity. Mr. Caven emphasized that the object of interest was "the child in the midst," and not the teachers. Many teachers overlooked this, and were never able to put themselves in proper relations to the church.

In carrying on the work of the school, the best tools and organization must be sought for, continued the speaker. If the school aimed to be really educational in the religious sense, much of the rescue evangelistic work would be rendered unnecessary. "But one must not aim at organization merely to produce a rabble of machinery or secure crowds," went on Dr. Caven, "but to help the child to realize a full consciousness of life."

As to the matter of cost, the speaker held that "it does not pay to be cheap or to do one work cheaply when we are engaged in the biggest undertaking in the world." The address was replete with appropriate illustrations, and was most illuminating. At its conclusion, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Caven for the great service he had rendered the staff of the school.

Most of them were at the station to greet him, and Premier Baldwin, who was unable to be there, sent a special representative. There was no demonstration on the part of the public. On Tuesday, Sir Austen will have to meet his critics in parliament and he will attend a luncheon given by the city fathers at the Guildhall in honor of his achievements at Locarno.

THE PLAN THAT SHERBROOKE TALKED ABOUT.

Some years ago, when protests were strongest against property valuation methods in Sherbrooke, steps were taken, with the approval of citizens' meetings and of the City Council to develop some improved system. Expert information was sought, and a plan was prepared by which land and improvement values would be separated and the former subject to a higher rate than the latter.

Then the practicability of the scheme began to be questioned. Some said it was the idea of one section of the city or that one class of citizens would benefit to the disadvantage of others.

Down in Pittsburgh, Pa., however, the plan that Sherbrooke talked about is in operation and works.

The Municipal Review thus refers to Pittsburgh's experience: A new departure in taxation has been made by the City of Pittsburgh, Pa., which is not, as is sometimes understood, an example of the "Single Tax," or tax on land only.

The partial exemption of buildings has been going on since 1913. As shown by Mr. Percy R. Williams, one of the Assessors, in the "National Municipal Review," the tax rate is higher today, largely due to "tremendously increased cost of government."

This, he points out, means that buildings pay $5.40 less than under the old flat rate system, while land pays $4.85 more.

The effect, he claims, "stimulates the improvement of land, as it has been influential in inducing those who held large blocks of idle land to sell at more reasonable prices, because the holding of vacant land is becoming unprofitable."

"Another index to the improvement of real estate" is seen in the increase of building assessments from 282 millions in 1914 to approximately 442 millions in 1925, while land assessments have only increased from 480 to 518 millions.

BAN ON U. S. PUBLICATIONS. The action of the Federal Government in placing a ban on certain United States publications has caused quite a little comment.

"It is not a problem which can be solved with a snap of the finger, yet it exists, and is becoming of more vital significance daily, and must be met. To deal with it in fairness all round calls for careful consideration. It is doubtful if a general ruling could be applied. There are numerous magazines and newspapers published in the States whose absence we would not miss, but there are publications of high literary merit and educational value the loss of which would be distinctly felt.

"If a broad basis were sought for the limiting of their distribution, it should be that of business consideration. Advertising matter such as circulars and cards is subject to a heavy duty, yet advertising amounting to millions of dollars in value comes in free each year through the medium of magazines and newspapers.

"The question should have the attention of those interested from a business point of view. Practical and constructive suggestions would doubtless have the 'most serious consideration' of Government authorities."

PRESS COMMENT

GLORIFYING CRIME.

(Akron Beacon Journal) Chicago's effort to make a hero of the youthful gunman who killed three officers and wounded three others, and who has just been captured after an exciting career in crime, will not be helpful to the city's Crime Commission.

At the railroad station there was a waiting group of flappers who paid the same court to the over-advertised murderer that they would to an incoming movie star. He has received a bushel of mash notes. The criminal himself is confident and defiant. He declares that he will never be punished for his crime "because his influential relatives will hire Clarence Darrow to defend him."

The youth's mother joins in the defence of her son. She declares that "he never stole an automobile, except from dealers, whose loss was covered by insurance, and that he "killed only when he had to." From all this preliminary mush and mawkishness it is not difficult to understand why Chicago continues to have an uncontrollable reign of terror.

CANADIANS AND TITLES.

(Kingston Standard) Here is the old subject of titles for Canadians up again, and because Mr. J. S. McKinnon, a former President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who acted as director of exhibits for Canada at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, returned from England with a complaint that the attitude of Canada toward the conferring of titles on Canadians is proving prejudicial to Canadian business interests in England. We venture to think that he scarcely understands how titles are regarded in the Old Country in connection with business.

Of course it is well known that titles have been, and may now be, used for attracting investors by company promoters, but it is an old dodge which is understood and has led to the term of "guinea pigs." That is, those men who allow their names and titles to be used in this way are discounted as simply being after the "guineas" which they would earn as directors' fees.

It is very certain that titles do not count in business in Great Britain unless for excellent reasons; business is business there; and it is all nonsense that the absence of titles in Canada affects the manner in which business propositions from Canada would be regarded there.

HOOT, NOT HOCH, THE KAISER!

(Baltimore Sun) Germany presents a scene worth noting. Despite all that is written by pompous professional realists, who scorn suggestions that Germany may have experienced an inner change, the cables bring word that a referendum is likely to be enforced for the purpose of determining whether the property of the former ruling families shall be confiscated. In other words, there is a formidable movement in Germany against the ex-kaiser and his family crew and all the other regals, which seems to aim at banging the door even on discussion of what may be a fair adjustment between them and the Republican State.

Those in the movement may fail to get the requisite number of petitioners to assure a referendum; more probably, they will fail to win a majority of the German people in the referendum. But the simple fact that the effort is under way is a notable revelation of the real state of mind in Germany. If such a ruthless attempt is at all possible, be very sure that a large part of the citizenship of Germany has taken deeply to heart the miseries which came out of the Hohenzollern dynasty.

Add this incident to the steadfastness of the Republic against all kinds of storms, add to it the almost entire absence today of talk of restoration of the Hohenzollerns, although it is less than a year since alarmists bewailed Hindenburg's election as the first step in a swift work of restoration—put it all together, and you will have a rough picture of Germany in your mind that may be useful when the next "realistic" alarmist starts to tell the "naked truth."

DO WE HAVE TOO MUCH LEISURE?

(Christian Science Monitor) The sweeping statement was made recently by a gentleman who is described as the general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in one of the largest American cities, that too much leisure has led to an increase in lawlessness among the youth of the present generation. He proceeded to lay at the door of the young people ninety per cent. of the crimes and misdemeanors committed in the United States. But is it not possible to show the indictment is loosely drawn? The special pleader seems to have erred in failing to differentiate between leisure and idleness. Thus he may have failed to state his case correctly, and, by so doing, weakened the argument which he sought to present.

Leisure, in the common acceptance of the term, is something that is earned or enjoyed as a result of faithful application to tasks undertaken, either voluntarily or by assignment. Idleness presupposes no such previous performance. Indeed, the exact opposite is indicated. There is no need now to bring a new indictment against idleness. It has stood arraigned before every court of competent jurisdiction throughout all the ages. No worthy advocate has appeared in its defense, for no defense can be interposed in its behalf.

But leisure, as distinguished from idleness, may be regarded as a product of industry. It possesses an affirmative not difficult to distinguish, as opposed to the mere negative quality of idleness or slothfulness. Thus leisure, so regarded, is something that may be attained, and when attained enjoyed and utilized. Indeed, the entire trend of modern industrial and commercial life has been in the direction of such attainment and enjoyment. That a few may not have devoted their earned leisure to wise and helpful pursuits or to proper forms of relaxation, is not the fault of the system itself. Still the inclination is to believe that, in the main, the shorter workday and the shorter week, with liberal vacation allowances, have proved helpful to industry and beneficial to those engaged in purposeful pursuits.

It should be remembered, however, that the readjustments which have taken place by which it has been found possible to earn and enjoy more leisure than formerly, have provided no place for the confirmed idler.

Windows---The Eyes of Architecture

By W. S. Symons.

THE gospel of sunlight is spreading, and far and wide the marvellous effects of its healing influences—mental and physical—are being taught.

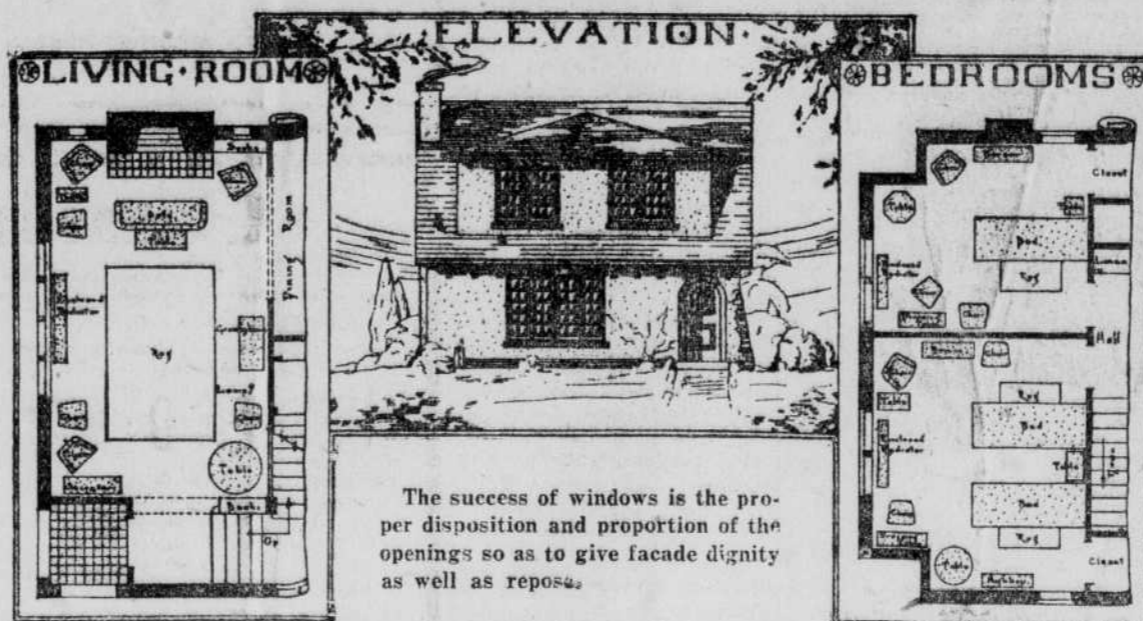

The dim, mouldy, carpeted parlor is being replaced by the sun-room and the sanitary hardwood floors, and the question of light and air in our homes is now conceded first place. How can we build to get most sunlight and the best views—and bring all our doors into our rooms—is the question of the day. The adequate heating of our homes is now possible—warm air and hot water

Without doubt, in house planning, the location and size of the windows must be considered to a great extent from the interior. Each room—even the kitchen—should have, at least, one window through which direct sunlight may come into the room. Plan and replan your house until this is accomplished—and in an old house, watch your sunny walls and cut openings to let in the sunlight.

The plan of each room in your new home should be carefully considered as to the right location of the windows, in order to give proper wall and floor space for the furni-balanced sash, and the casement. Both have advantages, but without doubt the latter is the more artistic. If the sash are made to open outwards, much better chance is given for hanging of curtains—roller blinds are out of the question—and should be. The window frames may be divided by a transom so as to give a small upper sash, which can be opened without opening the entire height of the window; this will be found to be of great advantage in bed rooms, for night ventilating.

The charm of the casement as far as designing goes, is without doubt,

The success of windows is the proper disposition and proportion of the openings so as to give facade dignity as well as repose.

superceding the old base burners and self feeders—and we can safely have a few more window openings in our rooms, without dread of cold houses.

Windows have been well termed "the eyes of architecture," not only to look through, but to be seen, and to evidence the character of the inmate.

That our well being is conditioned by the factor of our home environment is beyond question, and our health and disposition will be in direct proportion to the amount of sunlight we admit into our homes; and also in the degree that this healthy environment is beautiful and comfortable it will affect us favorably, or vice-versa.

The living room can be well sunlit from one side, with a four or five mullioned window, and small openings on each side of the fireplace.

Bedroom windows, two if possible, must be placed so as to give proper light to the dressing table, and so that the bed may be located out of the draught.

If you cannot get direct sunlight—as on a north wall—throw out a deep bay window, to project as far out as possible. Remember the word "bay" originally meant a unit of measurement of sixteen feet. What a caricature of the "bay" our modern planning has made!

Regarding types of windows—we have a choice of two—the lifting its adaptability to grouping in the rooms, as well as for heights in stair halls, thus allowing great variety in application and design. As far as the weather is concerned, the casement can be made as serviceable as the lifting sash, by means of metal weather stripping. Care should be given in the selection of suitable hardware, on which depends the entire service of this style of window—as is evidenced by the types used by the metal casement sash manufacturers.

Regarding the exterior of our window openings—the essential thing to remember is, that we have walls in which must be made simple openings—placed rhythmically—and all ornament on or about them is of secondary importance the important factor being to study the proper disposition, and proportion of the openings, so as to give a facade dignity, as well as repose.

Remember, again, that windows must be governed to a large extent by the interior arrangements, and that the outside should never control the inside. Exterior design can be modified to meet interior necessities, and the interior planning can give way somewhat to exterior design.

"Custom dulls observation and sends reason to sleep"—but let us for that reason all the more be strong advocates of the crusade for "more light and air."—Copyright, 1926, MacLean Building Report, Limited.

MAROONS AND PIRATES READY FOR HARD MATCH

Montrealers Will Be Weakened by Absence of Dunc Munro—Crowd of Fifteen Thousand Expected to Witness Tilt.

(Associated Press Despatch)
PITTSBURGH, March 20.—The Pittsburgh Pirates and Montreal Maroons both are reported in excellent condition for the first of the two game play-off series here tonight to determine which team is to meet Ottawa for the National Hockey League championship. The game is scheduled to start at eight-thirty. The second game of the series will be played in Montreal on Tuesday.

Managers Cleghorn, of the Pirates, and Eddie Gerard, of the Maroons, announced that the regulars would open the game. Both the clubs have an abundance of spares, and it is expected that the substitutes will be used frequently.

The spectacular rise of the Pittsburgh team from a rank outsider to a serious contender, has aroused intense enthusiasm here and attendance of more than fifteen thousand people is expected.

The odds apparently favored the Pirates. They have won seven of their last eight games and have beaten the Maroons the three times they met. The Maroons have not been playing up to their standard, losing two games this week, one to Boston and the other to New York.

"Our men are in splendid shape," Cleghorn declared today. "White will almost certainly be able to take his place, with Drury and Cotton on the alternate forward line, and even if he should not be quite ready to go the distance, we have Lowery to relieve him whenever he needs rest. We have a good chance to win."

Manager Gerard also spoke in a fairly optimistic mood. "Our fellows are all set. Dunc Munro will not play tonight, but I expect to have him in the Montreal game on Tuesday. I am using Howay at left defense in place of Dunc. Otherwise our line-up will be the same as usual."

The absence of Munro, Maroon captain, who is ill, is expected to weaken the Montreal team somewhat. Munro, known as one of the gamest and cleverest stick-handlers in the game, has been out of the last couple of games.

The Pirates hope to pile up a sufficient lead tonight to overcome a possible setback at Montreal. The winner of the series will be determined by the total goals scored in both games.

Frank Calder, president of the league, and the staff arrived today and will take charge of the tilt.

Cooper Smeaton, of Montreal, and Jerry Lafamme, of Toronto, generally regarded as two of the best referees in the league, will handle the game.

Arrangements have been made to broadcast the story of the game through radio station KDKA. G. M. Sismith, one time prominent amateur hockey player, will be the announcer.

LATEST GLEANINGS FROM BASEBALL TRAINING CAMPS

(By Canadian Press)
The New York Giants and the Washington Senators play at Saratoga today.

The New York Yankees and Boston Braves played twelve innings to a six to six tie. A tie for the Yankees is a moral victory. Umpire Frank Wilson banished six Yankees from the game.

Brooklyn Dodgers downed the St. Louis Browns by 8 to 5. Ernie Nevers, Pacific coast football star, held Brooklyn scoreless for four innings, but was hit for two runs in the fifth. Brooklyn slaughtered Charley Robertson's offerings in the ninth.

Willis, a recruit south paw, allowed Buffalo but one hit during his three innings on the mound. The Mackmen won 5 to 3.

Bill Merrell, Washington recruit twirler, sent in the winning run against the Phillies in the ninth. The score was 8 to 7. He also pitched masterful ball.

Outfielder Walter Rottger and Pitchers Russell Miller and J. L. Carleton have been released by the Cardinals to Syracuse. Outfielder Chick Taylor has been turned back to Shreveport. The Cards defeated Houston 9 to 4.

The Pirates start a three game series with the Mission Bears at Frisco today, after having twice defeated the Seals. The score yesterday was 8 to 3. Cuyler made a homer.

Cincinnati and Cleveland clash again today. Cincinnati's 3 to 1 victory over the Indians yesterday was the second in three days. The Mays and Donohue combination played havoc with Speaker's team.

The Detroit Tigers got into action against the Toronto Leafs today. Detroit is lending Toronto three pitchers, so a victory for either side will be without honor.

After a ninth inning rally, including homers by Kam and Grabowski, the Chicago White Sox defeated Fort Worth 9 to 8.

The Chicago Cub regulars meet Los Angeles today.

CALGARY WON WESTERN CANADA JUNIOR TITLE

(Associated Press Despatch)
WINNIPEG, March 20.—Calgary Canadians emerged on the long end of a 3 to 2 score here last night against the Tammany Tigers, of Winnipeg, to capture the junior championship of Western Canada, after a bitter struggle which went ten minutes overtime.

The winners acquire the Abbot Cup and enter the finals of the Dominion championship against either Kingston or Fort William. They won the round from the locals by 6 to 5.

WESTERN LEAGUE PLAY-OFF

(Associated Press Despatch)
VICTORIA, B. C., March 20.—The Victoria Cougars held their final workout yesterday in preparation for tonight's struggle with the Eskimos in the first game of the finals for the Western League championship. The practice found the team in good shape with the exception of Jocko Anderson, peppery substitute, whose hand, injured in Tuesday's clash with Sakatoon, will keep him out of the Edmonton tussle. His absence, however, will not be a very serious drawback, as Hart, who will take his place, showed as well on the ice yesterday, kept to get a chance to get into the play-offs. Hart, last year a star, performed poorly throughout the schedule this year and did not appear during the Saskatoon series.

Fans here, pointing to Victoria's three victories over Edmonton on local ice this year, pick the locals to win the game here. The second encounter will take place on neutral ice in Vancouver.

The Standard also invited Barnes to play in its $5,000 tournament June 11 and 12. He said he will take up both invitations with Jones.

BERLENBACH IS GIVEN BEATING BY JOHN RISKO

World's Light Heavyweight Champion Badly Battered and Almost Knocked Out in Bout Last Night.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, March 20.—Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, who pulled his hands out of the dough pan and pushed them into a pair of boxing gloves not so long ago, today threatened to put them back into dough—of a greenish hue.

The former baker, who considered himself too fat to fight, for years, last night battered the light heavyweight boxing champion, Paul Berlenbach, almost into insensibility in a ten round scuffle at Madison Square Garden. There was no championship at stake, but the contest was important in that Berlenbach was trying his art on the heavy-weight ranks for the first time with the announced intention of reaching for the crown now owned by Jack Dempsey.

Berlenbach lasted through the fight with difficulty and seemed on the verge of a knockout in the first three rounds from the baker's steady hammering, and at the time the champion's stoutest attack appeared to have little effect on Risko.

The champion hit the canvas in the very first session and repeated the performance in the second, but managed to hold his feet for the remainder of the bout, a very weary man; and although time and again he scored on his adversary's head there was no damage. Risko had stood up against Gene Tunney, Jack Delaney and Young Stribling without showing any ill effects.

A pile driving left was flung at Berlenbach time and again, and several times it landed, carrying everything before it. But after the flurry of the opening rounds it lost its direction, with Risko tired by his relentless attack, and the champion earned an even break for the remainder of the battle.

RESULTS OF FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

San Francisco—Ted Moore, of England, won a technical knockout over Kid Norfolk in the fourth round of their bout.

Tampa, Fla.—Harry Forbes, of Akron, beat Tony Leto, of Tampa, in ten rounds.

Dacy Aba, flyweight champion of Panama, won a decision over Genaro Pino, Cuban champion, in ten rounds.

Phil Zwick, of Milwaukee, defeated Willie Greenspan, of New York, in eight rounds.

East Chicago—Sully Montgomery, knocked out Sergeant Jack Adams, Belleville, Ill., in the first round of their bout; and Doc Snell, Teoma, beat Herbie Schaefer, Chicago in ten rounds.

Worcester, Mass.—Tony Mandell, of Worcester, defeated Wee Willie Spencer, in ten rounds.

CURLING

MISSES A. BRADFORD AND J. MOE WON FINAL

The final of the ladies' doubles competition for the 1926 season was played off yesterday afternoon at the Sherbrooke Curling Rink, resulting in a win for the Misses A. Bradford and J. Moe over the Misses M. Hyndman and F. Ingram by a score of 9 shots to 3.

Miss Hyndman and Miss Ingram won the first three ends, but failed to hold their lead.

PLANNING FOR EASTER RECESS

Britain had resigned.

Mr. Robb asked the Opposition to remember that the prevention of smuggling, in which everybody was so interested just now, could not be possible if the Opposition was going to rule out every provision for this purpose.

Hon. E. W. Edwards (Conservative, Frontenac-Addington) asked how much this Government had spent on prevention of smuggling out of the $250,000 voted by Parliament last session.

Mr. Robb retorted that this year's programme was not affected by such a consideration.

Opposition Leader Replies.

Mr. Meighen again took the floor. He maintained that the estimates affected by the committee's adverse vote of the previous day could only be revised by re-presentation to the House. Apparently the Government did not want to use this method of reviving that part of its estimates. Mr. Meighen denied that there had been "plans and schemes" within Conservative ranks to bring about the adverse vote of Thursday. Twenty to thirty minutes earlier than the Drayton motion was made to the chair, he could remember that Sir Henry Drayton, his desk mate, mentioned his intention of moving that the estimates under discussion should not be considered now. To prove that Conservative members had no knowledge of Sir Henry's intention, Mr. Meighen recalled that it was chiefly Opposition members who had kept the debate going for nearly half an hour and prevented Sir Henry from putting his motion to the chair.

In Great Britain, said Mr. Meighen, when a government found that its supporters had not sufficient interest in the proceedings in the House to keep them in attendance, such government usually thought it was time to resign. There was one virtue that this Government would never acquire, and that was "the virtue of resignation," added Mr. Meighen. This Government did not like to admit that it was in a precarious position, that Thursday's vote was not a snap judgment, and that it had to face the probability of many adverse votes in the near future.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe quoted E. J. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald as saying in one of his early speeches after assuming the premiership, that he was not going to be affected by the "engineering of snap divisions."

"If you want to defeat this Government," added Mr. Lapointe, "you will have to do it on serious matters, in a serious way, and not by reducing Parliament to a game of hide and seek."

Attitude of Progressives.
 Robert Forke (Progressive leader) expressed the opinion that if the average citizen of Canada could sit in the gallery of the House of Commons today, the reputation of the House of Commons for dignity would suffer considerably. He had no fault to find with Thursday's motion and the vote that had followed thereon, but he did not think that such a chance occurrence in the House should be taken so seriously as to interfere with the regular business of the House.

Mr. Forke took exception to remarks made in the House respecting the attitude of the Progressives towards the Government. "We are supporting the Government on a legislative programme," he said. There was surely nothing dishonorable about that course. He thought he was in a better position than any member in the House to enter into a discussion from an "unprejudiced viewpoint."

"Oh, eh," shouted several Conservative members, amid laughter from the opposition benches. Mr. Forke reiterated his remark.

Arthur Deaubien (Progressive-Provencer) said that the Progressives were sometimes asked why they did not cross to the other side of the House "and show our true colors."

"Hear, hear," shouted Conservative members.

Mr. Beaubien retorted by stating that if Conservatives took the trouble to look up Hansard of last session they would find that they had supported the Government on more occasions than the Progressives had. "I am falling into the hands of no party," he said. He was here to carry out certain principles, and that was what he was doing.

Time House Got Down To Business.
 Malcolm McLean (Liberal-Mel-fort) voiced the opinion that it was time the House got down to business. It was not proper for any group to throw "insults and sneers" at any other party in the House. The House should not be turned into a "beer garden."

Mr. Speaker stated it is improper to use the word "beer garden."

"Beer garden—beer garden," corrected a chorus of voices.

Mr. McLean then withdrew the use of the objectionable term "beer garden."

H. C. Hocken (Conservative, Toronto West Centre) objected to Mr. McLean as a new member attempting to instruct those who had been in the House for a "score of years." Mr. McLean's argument had shown that the Government was unable to control the House.

Hon. G. H. Boivin was of the opinion that the vote in committee Thursday undoubtedly was engineered by the Opposition to take advantage of the temporary absence of Government supporters from the House. No doubt the Government would be subject to similar snap verdicts in the future, but he said, the Government would not surrender to the Conservatives on such a ground.

Mr. Speaker repeated his ruling that the motion to restore the committee of supply was in order. The committee might vote itself out of a sitting, but it had not the power to "extinguish a question." While Mr. Boivin's motion was not absolutely necessary, Mr. Lemieux thought it might help to clear the air if the House adopted it.

He then put the question and Mr. Boivin's motion to restore the committee of supply. The vote for customs pre-ventive officers was carried with-out division.

Jake Care of your FACE in Cold Weather

Cold and wind have no mercy on your freshly-shaved chin. They nip the open pores of your skin, dry up the natural moisture leaving your chin chapped and sore.

But here's the way to baffle Johnny Frost.

Dab your chin and cheeks with a few drops of Williams Aqua Velva when you've finished shaving, and while your skin is still moist. It gives the pleasantly tingling sensation of a brisk massage, closes the pores, soothes and comforts any tiny razor abrasions which may be irritating the skin. Then you are ready to face the weather whatever it may be.

MONA BATES SURPRISED HERSELF AND AUDIENCE

With Help of Taxi-Driver She Made Unique Entrance to Concert Hall

By A. A. PERRY

Many tales nowadays are being told in Toronto and Hamilton about the early days of Mona Bates, the distinguished Canadian pianist, who has recently returned to Canada after several years of successful concert work in United States and Europe.

Miss Bates made her first concert appearance in Hamilton—she was born in Burlington—at the age of seven years. She was so tiny that she had to be lifted to the stool and had to play selections requiring no footwork, as she could not reach the pedals.

Then, many Hamilton and Toronto people who went down to hear the little artist at her first New York orchestral appearance at the Stadium, which holds from 10,000 to 20,000 people, will tell you about the pile of roses which almost smothered Mona Bates on this occasion, the warm tributes from her Canadian and American friends.

But it remained for a New York taximan to manage Mona Bates' most dramatic entrance to a concert hall. Following her first appearance at the Stadium she was engaged for a concert at the following year, but when the day came it was pouring rain and the function was transferred from the Stadium to the big City College.

The taximan, who had been re-directed from the Stadium, became confused over the stage entrance and drew up at a side door. Between the taxi and the door was a very muddy pavement streaming with water. The taximan looked at the little figure in white tulle and silver shoes in the cab.

"How much do you weigh, miss?" he asked. "Eighty-five pounds," was the reply. "Then I'll carry you," said he, and forthwith lifted her on his shoulder, ran hastily across the pavement, opened the door and stepped inside.

A roar of delighted applause greeted the twain, for, instead of stepping into a dimly lit passage, Mona Bates had entered the main auditorium sitting on the shoulder of a grimy taximan.

Since that time it is recalled Miss Bates has never trusted taximen to find stage entrances.

The Queen Showed Shopper How Mechanical Toy Worked

Like most women, the queen is fond of shopping, and it is curious how very seldom it happens that she is recognized while on these expeditions. At one big west end store which her majesty particularly favors, an elderly woman recently came up to her holding in her hand a mechanical toy picked up off the counter.

Mistaking the queen for an ordinary fellow shopper, the woman said: "Pardon me, madam, but could you possibly tell me how this thing works?"

The queen took it in her hand and carefully explained the mechanism. "Oh, thank you so much," said the woman. "I think I'll buy it."

One of the heads of the firm, who knew her majesty quite well, had hurried up, very much concerned. But the queen motioned to him to take no notice, and when the woman had gone she turned to him and laughingly said: "I think I carried that through rather well."

Not What He Meant

ALTHOUGH Mrs. Margaret Wintringham is no longer a British M.P., having suffered defeat at the last general election, her name will go down in history as having been the first English-born woman to sit in the House of Commons.

In her early days she was a school teacher, and a story she is fond of telling concerns a certain inspector, who was an enthusiastic temperance advocate.

One day he came to take a class in singing. The children were singing "Little drops of water, little grains of sand," but the afternoon was sultry, and they showed a lack of enthusiasm in their vocal efforts.

"Come, now," said the inspector. "Try it again. Now, then! 'Little drops of water'—and for goodness' sake put some spirit into it."

Beckles Willson

IS VOLUNTARY EXILE IN EUROPE BUT STILL ATTACHED TO CANADA

Beckles Willson Finds Inspiration in Paris and Rome for Novels of New World—Has Been Town Major of Ypres and Founder of Wolfe Club

By WILLIAM H. INGRAM

PARIS. A queer paradox one of the most devoted lovers of Canada is a man who has practically renounced all intention of returning to his native land. He is Beckles Willson, the novelist. It was after his tour of West Africa in 1922 that he decided that the rest of his days would be spent in Europe. Repairing to Rome, he sought and found inspiration for the novel that now bears the title "Redemption" and which has the dominion for its back ground.

At the present time Mr. Willson is living quietly in the rue Gustave Dore in Paris, where he is at work on another Canadian book, "Saguenay." This, it may surprise his compatriots to learn, will be his fifteenth volume.

Notable among his biographical works is his "Life of Lord Strathcona" for which he received £2,500, which is probably the highest price yet paid for any Canadian book other than fiction.

Although Beckles Willson was born in Montreal and educated in Kingston, few Canadians know much about him. Even those who number themselves among his friends may perhaps have forgotten that he was an original member of the London Daily Mail when it was founded in 1900 and that he wrote its first leading article.

He also succeeded in interesting Lord Northcliffe in Newfoundland and especially in that dominion's paper-pulp resources.

While resident in London, Willson heard one day that Quebec House—the early home of General Wolfe—was seeking a tenant.

"That fired my imagination," he said, "to such an extent that, although stretched on a bed of illness, I could not read, eat nor sleep until the business was settled which made me master of Quebec House."

A Westerham Wolfe Society was formed, an annual Wolfe banquet was inaugurated and funds were raised for the first statue of General Wolfe. This fine bronze now stands on the village green at Westerham, Kent.

The same patriotic impulse which inspired Willson to interest himself in Wolfe also led him to enlist during the war. He became town major of Ypres and later embodied some of his experiences and observations in the volume which he published under the title, "In the Ypres Salient."

'G. B. S.' KNEW HIS RIGHTS

AMONG the privileges of journalists is that of quietly ignoring ticket-takers and other collectors at meetings attended on behalf of their papers. The distinguished Irish playwright and satirist also has done work as a journalist, a fact of which he took advantage one morning when an organ-grinder was playing outside the dramatist's house. The man touched his hat as Mr. Shaw came out, but G. B. S. merely remarked, "Press," and walked on!

Seven Brothers Will Collaborate To Produce Dominion's Memorial

By ROY CARMICHAEL

VERNON MARCH, whose design for Canada's war memorial to be erected in Ottawa has been chosen by the dominion government selection committee out of 127 submitted by sculptors from all over the world, is one of seven brothers, all of them sculptors, and all rapidly winning empire fame. They live and work in a rambling old house at Farnborough in County Kent, England.

The Ottawa monument, which will take six years to complete, will represent the response of Canada's men when the call to war came. Nineteen bronze figures, each representative of a branch of Canada's forces, will be seen passing beneath a granite arch, over which will be figures symbolical of Peace, Justice, and Victory.

In accordance with the instructions of the Canadian government that none of war's ugliness should be shown, there is no suggestion of the horrors of conflict in the groups.

"Vernon is the youngest of the family," said Sydney March recently. "His technique he learned from me, for he has never been under any tutor. He could model animals almost before he could pronounce their names. At 15 he had a statue accepted by the Royal Academy."

All the work on the Canadian memorial will be done by the March family, each working in his own department—the workshops, the foundry, or the studio.

Sydney March, besides being a sculptor, is a painter, and has been given sittings by the King, the Queen, and the late Queen Mother Alexandra.

A picture of Lord Kitchener was painted by another brother, Edward March. Miss Elsie March is an A.R.I.B.A., in addition to being a good modeller.

When Sydney and Vernon were in Canada some time ago, Sydney was told by a fortune-teller that the good fortune which has descended on him would be his.

A Strong Temptation

AN amusing story is told by Winston Churchill concerning an incident that occurred when he was First Lord of the Admiralty.

One of our cruisers visited a remote Eastern station, and on arrival the sailors amused themselves by throwing pennies into the water for the native boys to dive after. Some of the officers, joining in the fun, threw shillings and florines.

Meanwhile the native mayor, accompanied by several officials in full regalia, were waiting on the quay to give their distinguished visitors a fitting reception.

Suddenly a British resident came dashing breathlessly down to the wharf, and shouted to the group of officers on the quarter-deck:

"If you want this ceremony to go on, for goodness' sake stop throwing those silver coins. The chief of police has already kicked off his shoes, and the mayor is just starting to remove his coat."

Cora Hind Studies Human Faces As Aid to Making Crop Forecasts

Winnipeg Woman Is One of World's Most-Noted Agricultural Statisticians—Is Also One of Pioneers in Newspaper World—Started Career in Ontario

By P. W. LUCE

NOT only wheatfields but also human faces play their part in the compilation of crop statistics. Such is the confession just made by E. Cora Hind, commercial and agricultural editor of the Manitoba Free Press and dean of Canadian newspaper women.

In order to gather the data on which to base her annual forecasts, which are telegraphed and cabled to all parts of the world, Miss Hind makes a 12,000 mile survey of the prairies each year, traveling by train, auto, truck and buggy. Her own observations she supplements by conversations with farmers and travelers.

Her greatest difficulty she experiences in districts settled by foreigners. They often cannot speak English, while she cannot converse in Ruthenian, Galician, Ukrainian, Polish, Austrian, Russian, Hungarian or the numerous other tongues encountered in the west.

"But," she explains, "I can make a pretty good guess at crop conditions by watching the faces of the farmers. If they look happy the crops grade good. If they look downhearted, the crop will be poor. If they look sullen, there is rust in the fields. If they are expressionless the yield will be average."

That the system employed by Miss Hind is reliable is proved by the fact that her forecasts are accepted as authoritative in all parts of the world and quite often prove even more nearly accurate than those of the government itself.

Miss Hind was born in Toronto but spent most of her childhood in Grey county—which also has given the dominion another of its most widely known women, Miss Agnes Macphail, who has attained wonderful success in the political field.

Miss Hind has always had a passion for statistics and for things agricultural. When she went west she established a connection with the Winnipeg newspaper with whom she has been employed for the past thirty years, a record which probably cannot be equaled by any other newspaperwoman in the dominion.

She it was who first persuaded the paper to publish the prairie grain yield forecast.

Hindu Messiah is Oxford Graduate Tennis Player and Keen Oarsman

Was Discovered in North of India by Mrs. Annie Besant and at Age of Twelve Wrote Learned Treatise—Is Leader of Cult

THE eyes of over 100,000 theosophists in various parts of the world are now centred upon a young Hindu, J. Krishnamurti. Many of them are convinced that in his body will be reincarnated the soul of a great world teacher or Messiah.

Krishnamurti is at present but thirty years old, but he has been much in the public eye since the time when, at the age of twelve, he wrote a book of instruction called "At the Feet of the Master." This work displayed such precious wisdom that theosophists saw in it the direct inspiration of the World Teacher.

The youthful sage has since developed into a learned youth who has graduated from Oxford and who speaks both French and English fluently. He is fond of tennis and rowing, wears smart Bond street clothing, and his handsome face is set off with Valentino-like sideburns.

When he was still a child, he was discovered in northern India by Mrs. Annie Besant, the noted theosophist. His father, a government employe, belonged to a high-caste Brahmin family.

Mrs. Besant was so struck by the beauty and spirituality of the boy that she promptly adopted him as a protegee. It was after only a brief period devoted to the study of English that he produced his juvenile magnum opus in that language.

This volume led theosophists to explore the occult past of the boy, and they claim to have traced him through thirty-one previous incarnations, in all of which they found indications of future glory.

Mrs. Besant brought her youthful protegee to England, where he took up residence in the Sussex country home of Lady de la Warr. Later a group of society women undertook to supervise his training and education.

At seven o'clock Krishnamurti would arise and take a stroll before breakfast.

At nine he would settle down to study the mysteries of the East under the guidance of a venerable Cingalese tutor.

At noon he took another walk and lunched at one.

Then until four o'clock he studied economics, history and other branches of occidental knowledge. Following that, he went out for a row on the river or to play a few sets of tennis.

Later he adopted a rigorous course of physical culture to prepare him for the high destiny which his followers believed was before him. Never, in all his life, has he indulged in liquor or tobacco of any sort. His daily routine and meals have always, too, been almost Spartan in their simplicity.

Now he heads the Order of the Star in the East, which spreads over the whole world and which has representatives in Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria and other Canadian centres.

The adherents of this order believe that the Star of Bethlehem will soon shine above the town of Adyar in India to announce the coming of a new World Teacher incarnated in J. Krishnamurti.

Already a magnificent marble arena has been built at Balmoral, near Sydney, Australia. This Grecian temple is intended as one of the world teaching centres for the new prophet.

In the Netherlands, Baron van Pallandt has also dedicated his historic chateau of Berde to the services of the new Master.

Mrs. Besant herself has made plans for the construction in the Highlands of Scotland of a temple of classic beauty as a home for the World Teacher.

Krishnamurti, in speaking at Adyar in India last December in connection with the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Order of the Star in the East, referred to the prospective coming of the World Teacher.

"There is no such thing as proving it. You must feel it. You must realize that the new order must come into the world. And in the belief of the coming of the World Teacher lies real and intense happiness."

Theosophists the world over now are confidently awaiting the approach of that day.

Very Quiet Indeed

FATHER entered the nursery and found his two little girls playing at weddings.

"Well, Edith," he said, "which is the bride? She should have a white dress and veil."

"Oh, no," was the reply; "this is a quiet wedding, and Dorothy is my bridesmaid."

"But where is the bridegroom?" he asked.

Quickly came the answer: "There is no bridegroom, stupid. This is a very quiet wedding."

WHY NOT IN KHAKI?

MISS SYBIL WARD, a young English actress, has recently been regaling London with what might be termed a "one-woman" show. Entirely unaided, she acts whole plays of Shakespeare, taking every character herself. Her repertoire consists of fifteen plays with 350 characters. What a feat of memory! But she has never made any attempt to learn her parts by heart. She just knows what should come next, she says. During the war, when male actors were scarce, Miss Ward played men's parts. One night when she was playing Julian Beauchere in "Diplomacy," a woman in the stalls cried out, "You're a smart, well-set-up young fellow. Why aren't you in khaki?"

PRICES AND DETAILS OF SHERBROOKE MARKET

An increase was noticed in the price of potatoes at Lansdowne Market this week. For the past few weeks this product has been selling for sixty-five cents per peck, but yesterday the price jumped up to seventy cents a peck.

Prices in the dairy market were the same as last week, with both butter and eggs at the same figures, which incidentally have been the same for the past few weeks.

There were no noticeable changes in the provision or vegetable markets. Meat prices generally were the same, with pork still selling from fifteen to twenty-five cents per pound.

THE DAIRY MARKET Butter, best creamery... 50c Butter, best dairy, per lb... 40c to 50c Cheese, per lb... 30c to 35c

THE VEGETABLE MARKET Cabbage, each... 15c to 20c Cauliflower, each... 30c to 50c

GRAIN MARKET

Montreal, March 20th. GRAIN.—The trade in cash wheat at Winnipeg Tuesday was slow owing to the absence of any shipping demand with the result that the market was again weak and prices for contract grades closed 1.5-8c per bushel lower.

There was no improvement in the foreign demand for grain here and in consequence exporters generally reported business dull with little prospect of any improvement in the near future owing to the depressed condition of the English markets and to the fact that other exporting countries are pressing wheat for sale at lower prices.

DAIRY PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 20th. BUTTER.—The undertone to the market was firmer, which was attributed to the fact that the offerings from first hands had dried up to some extent. The inquiry was fair and a moderate amount of business was done.

HAY MARKET

MONTREAL, March 20th. HAY.—The trade in baled hay showed no improvement and the market was quiet with car lots of extra good No. 2 timothy hay quoted at $12.50, No. 3 timothy at $11.50 and clover mixed hay at $10.50 per ton.

THE FRUIT MARKET Apples, per peck... 40c to $1.20 Bananas, per dozen... 30c to 50c

PROVISION MARKET Beef, roast, per lb... 8c to 25c Boiling meat, per lb... 8c to 12c

THE DAIRY MARKET Butter, best creamery... 50c Butter, best dairy, per lb... 40c to 50c

COUNTRY PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 20th. EGGS.—Production of eggs is increasing in most parts of the country and the important consuming centres are still depending largely upon imports from the United States.

Canadian markets show a nervous undertone and prices are generally lower than during the previous week. The condition is due entirely to increasing receipts, the volume varying with different sections of the country.

POULTRY

Receipts of live and fresh dressed poultry are extremely light. Only a few chickens and fowl are coming forward. The chickens are mostly coarse and staggy and not desirable.

Due to the very limited supplies of dressed poultry now coming forward from the interior and the fact that stocks on spot are much smaller than last year a very firm feeling prevails in the local market, and the and population. The heroes of Locarno have gone home bedraggled after their many carousals. The real hero of Geneva is M. Under, the Swede. Still, the struggle will not come just yet. The Locarno pact was only made possible by a feeling of universal exhaustion.

The other worry with which British statesmanship is confronted is the coal situation. This is immediate. If the government handles it as badly as it did the foreign situation, Great Britain will be plunged into the worst and most disastrous industrial struggle it has ever yet experienced.

To get the country well out of the dangerous position into which the coal industry has been allowed to slither will need the most sapient direction and the most skillful manipulation of forces. For the time being, everybody concerned in the business is by way of being exceptionally cautious.

That is the explanation of the apparently exaggerated caution with which the partisans have moved since the issue of the report. This stooping apprehensiveness is the measure of the peril which all those in the know realize hangs over not only this industry but the whole of British trade and business.

But the government ought not to lose time in taking advantage of it. Every moment's delay beyond what is necessary for giving careful and thoughtful consideration to the recommendations of the report imperils the prospect of settlement. The proposals involve heavy sacrifices on all hands.

The temperate words used to characterize the revolutionary plan are characteristic of the spirit in which the commissioners have discharged their functions. The proposals they put forward for reorganizing the industry constitute an unequivocal adoption of every suggestion made in the Liberal report on coal and power two years ago.

The report of the Commission has naturally given much satisfaction to the Liberal press. When these recommendations were made by a Liberal committee, Tories scoffed at the idea and Socialists abused the authors. All parties now treat the proposals seriously, while still reserving full rights to abuse the authors. The Commissioners predict that if their recommendations are put into operation, the industry will once more reach "heights of prosperity which will surpass anything in the past."

But before we ever reach that efficient and prosperous future, there is an abysmal present which must be bridged. The coal industry is, according to the Commissioners, on the brink of disaster. Without the government subsidy, the coal trade would now be working at a loss of a shilling and sixpence per ton. Of the wages now paid, over twenty per cent, is and sixpence per ton of profit and a shilling and sixpence per ton of wages come straight from the taxes. That is an impossible situation for any country. It is quite indefensible for a country that bases its claims to confidence on the ground of the soundness of its finance.

The Commission demands, in language of stern force, that the subsidy should be brought to an end. On the other hand, if it ceases, three-fourths of the pits close down, unless the costs of production can be drastically and immediately reduced. Of Northumberland coal, ninety-nine per cent, is raised at a loss—more than ninety per cent of Durham coal and over eighty per cent of South Wales and Scottish coal.

How can the costs be reduced at once? The Commissioners bluntly answer that it can only be done in three ways. The owners must go without profits until prices are increased or methods improved. The miners must surrender the eleven per cent. advance on the minimum basis which they secured in the Ruhr boom. Thirdly, the hopelessly unprofitable pits must close down and the state must assist to transfer the miners to more profitable collieries.

I fail to see how the cumulative effect of all these suggestions can bridge the chasm, which at present aggregates 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 pounds a year. But another and greater difficulty presents itself. The heaviest sacrifice is that which the miners are called upon to make. Can they be persuaded to agree to it? I read with care the speeches of Mr. Herbert Smith, Mr. Cook and other leaders. Temperate as they are in form on this point, they seem to be adamant. I am afraid the Chancellor of the Exchequer is not yet out of his difficulties. He must indeed be a sanguine man if he thinks that May is the last month the coal bill will be presented to him for payment.

(Signed) Lloyd George

prospects are that as the eastern demand sets in that prices may possibly go higher. A moderate amount of business was done yesterday, there being a steady demand for small lots to meet immediate wants, and sales of fresh-killed turkeys were made at 40c to 43c per lb, ducks at 20c to 22c per lb, geese at 18c to 20c lb, fresh-killed chickens weighing six lbs. and up at 32c to 34c per lb, five to six lbs. at 30c to 31c per lb, three to four lbs. at 25c to 28c per lb, two to three lbs. at 20c to 22c per lb, heavy frozen fowl a 23c to 26c per lb, medium at 20c to 22c per lb, and light at 18c to 20c per lb.

TO AROUSE INTEREST IN TECHNICAL SCHOOLS (Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, March 20.—Steps toward the better working out of the aims of the Government in the matter of technical schools, and other schools of speciality, are contained in a measure which was before the Legislative Council last night. Hon. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary, who is in charge of these schools, in addition to providing for a central administration for the main technical schools, those in Montreal, Quebec and Hull, as well as for the School of Higher Commercial Studies at Montreal, and the Fine Arts Schools at Montreal and Quebec, is seeking in this bill to arouse greater interest amongst leaders of industry and thought in the province by creating a series of "improvement boards," whose powers are suggestive. The bill was given third reading, 37 to 17.

CLAIMED GOVERNMENT IS LIVING LARGELY ON SPECIAL WARRANTS (Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, March 20.—Alleging that the Government was living largely on special warrants, instead of submitting its expenditures to the approval of the Legislative Assembly, J. L. St. Jacques, Conservative M.L.A. for Argensteuil, yesterday called on the House to vote non-confidence in the Government. The motion was defeated 33 to 13. It was only in cases of special emergency that the Government was entitled to issue special warrants, the mover said, yet for the last fiscal year there had been spent in this manner over two millions. Over half a million dollars had been spent by the Department of Lands and Forests, said Mr. St. Jacques. He therefore moved that the House regretted the practice of expending by special warrants as being "vicious, illegal and constituting a formal contempt of the law governing the province." During eight years, said Mr. St. Jacques, the Government had spent a total of $10,973,938 by means of special warrants. The practice was quite contrary to British constitutional precedents. Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, said that it was impossible to provide in advance for all expenditure. Emergencies were constantly arising, he said, and the situation was different from that in Britain, since there Parliament sat almost continuously, while in Quebec the Legislature was in session only a few weeks. He held the expenditures mentioned were quite in order. "A very feeble reply," commented Alfred Duranleau, of Laurier, Montreal. Hon. Mr. Mercier, Minister of Lands and Forests, said that the cost of forest protection, for which there was a large item among the special warrants, could not be foreseen, depending upon the season. Men also had to be rushed about to prevent illegal cutting of wood, something that could not be foreseen as liable to take place in any particular section. ELECTIONS FOR NEW STUDENTS' B. C. EXECUTIVE Officers for 1926-27 Announced—Council Comprises Nine Members Instead of Seven, as Before.

All the members of the students' council for 1926-27 have now been elected at Bishop's University, to take office next September. The council for the coming year comprises nine members, an increase of two over the present executive, a change provided for by several amendments to the constitution, approved by the Students' Association at a recent meeting. The president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer of the association and the presidents of the Debating and Dramatic societies, are members of the council ex-officio, as in the past. The editor-in-chief of The Mitre is no longer an elective position, this official in future being appointed by the council. Instead of the cottage magazine being represented by the editor, a president has been appointed to take over the task and to relieve the editor of all business worries, so that the latter will in future have only the editorial side of the magazine to supervise. The position of president of the Athletic Association has been abolished, and in future councils athletics will be represented by the managers of the three major teams, namely, rugby, hockey and basketball.

The first elections, which took place several weeks ago, resulted in acclamations for Mr. R. H. Stevenson, Danville, Que., as president, and Mr. H. J. McVety, Cookshire, Que., as secretary-treasurer of the Students' Association. In a contest for vice-president, Mr. H. H. Hoyt, of Hampton, N.B., defeated Mr. E. L. Williams, Winnipeg, Man. The new vice-president is in the divinity faculty and has been at Bishop's several years. He served overseas for two years in the Great War. The new president of debating is Mr. L. I. Greene, of Montreal, who represented Bishop's in the inter-university debate against Ottawa University, and who participated in the inter-faculty and several private debates in the past year. Mr. Greene is a newcomer at the college this year, but made an immediate mark, being elected senior freshman and taking part in numerous college activities. He also served in the Great War and spent several years in the teaching profession in the province on his return before entering the divinity faculty of Bishop's.

The Dramatic Society will be headed by Mr. J. D. Jefferies, formerly of England, but now of Lennoxville, who defeated Mr. A. E. Caulfield, of Ottawa. Mr. Jefferies is in his second year Arts and has been prominent in rugby, debating and dramatics. Before entering the college he was a master for several years at Bishop's College School. He was educated at Christ's Hospital in England.

The newly-created position of president of The Mitre will be filled for the first time by Mr. M. B. MacKinnon, also of the second-year arts class. He comes from Charlottetown, P.E.I., and was captain

CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY MET AT KNOWLTON

Interesting Illustrated Lecture Given by Mr. Abel Raymond, Dominion Live Stock Branch—Annual Meeting of Women's Missionary Society.

KNOWLTON, Que., March 20.—A general meeting of the Knowlton Co-operative Society was held in the County House on Friday evening, March 12th. A large number of farmers were present and considerable interest was shown in the main feature of the evening, which was an illustrated lecture on poultry raising and marketing methods, given by Mr. Abel Raymond, of the Dominion Live Stock Branch. Mr. Dumaine, the Federated Co-operative's special officer, spoke upon the importance of farmers supporting their local co-operative society, if continued benefit were to be realized.

Mr. L. D. McClintock, the County Agriculturist, spoke in favor of the organization of a cow testing association. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Raymond for his interesting lecture and moving pictures. Annual W. M. S. Meeting. The annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Paintin.

Miss Martin, the president, conducted the devotional exercises, consisting of scripture reading and prayer. Miss Martin also read a well-written story on "The First Easter Sunday". The report of the work committee showed that a very creditable number of children's garments had been made and sent to the Deacons' home and to Bethany House, Montreal. The money for carrying on this work has been contributed by members and friends, so that the regular funds of the Society have not been touched. A vote of thanks was given to the work committee, Mrs. C. Bullard and Mrs. G. H. Robb for the great amount of time they had given in the preparation of these garments.

The election of officers took place and the following were named for 1926-27: president, Miss J. L. Martin; vice-president, Mrs. E. M. Taylor; secretary, Mrs. L. M. Knowlton; treasurer, Miss E. A. Wood; mite-box, convenor, Mrs. Ian Crandall; superintendent of the department of Christian stewardship, Mrs. Jason Marsh, with Mrs. Taylor as assistant; work committee, Mrs. C. Bullard and Mrs. G. H. Robb.

A number of mite-boxes were brought in and the contents counted. There are still a large number of mite-boxes which have not been sent in and they should be sent immediately to either the mite-box convenor, Mrs. Ian Crandall, or the treasurer, Miss E. A. Wood. Members were asked to make the Easter offering a real "Thank" offering. The meeting closed with the hymn "Listen the Master Beseecheth," followed by the Mizpah benediction. After the meeting, Mrs. Paintin, assisted by Mrs. Hagar, served refreshments.
