Coronation Celebration Plans Ready

Local residents who have been harbouring an unasked question in the back of their minds about civic preparations regarding the coronation will have the question answered by receipt of family admission cards to civic coronation celebrations slated to be held at Westmount Athletic Grounds on St. Catherine street on the evening of June 2.

Due to limited seating accommodation, present plans call for a nominal charge for seats in the grandstand but civic authorities state that provision has been made to ensure every Westmounter a place at the gala event.

The general public will stand but other plans will take care of school children and massed choirs from the various schools which will take part in the celebration.

Special plans call for the imposition of traffic controls at some points and the relaxations of standard restrictions at others.

Grounds Open

Grounds will be opened at 7:15 and community singing will start proceedings which will include choral singing, military parade and pageant which will see a march past of the following units before His Worship, the Mayor in the following order.

Detachment HMCS Donnacona RCN (R); Tp. 34 Field Regt RCA; Sqn. 3 Field Regt. RCE; No. 14 Branch (RMR) Canadian Legion; The Royal Montreal Regt. (MG); Detachment 401 Squadron RCAF; The Lower Canada College Cadet Corps; The Westmount High School Air Cadets.

A public address by the mayor will lead into an impressive fireworks display which will terminate the celebration.

Coronation celebration plans are well advanced at this moment, and changes which may have to be made at a later date will be published in the next two issues of this paper.

Other members of the Executive Committee are Rabbi Dr. Samuel Cass, Director of the Hillel Foundation at McGill University; Rabbi Dr. Chaim Denburg of the B'nai Jacob Synagogue and Rabbi Charles Bender of the Adath Israel Synagogue. The election is effective for a two year term.

The Board recorded a resolution of appreciation to Rabbi Dr. Samuel Cass who served with distinction as President during the past two years.

Local Curlers Elect I. R. Tait

I. R. Tait, well-known in curling circles, is the new president of Heather Curling Club for the ensuing season.

Others elected to office at the 66th annual session, were A. C. Bridge, vice-president; L. C. Allen, honorary treasurer; R. S. Sneyd, honorary secretary. Directors T. V. Doran, H. H. Elliott, H. Griffin, A. W. Hamilton, R. Osler, A. T. Parkes, N. H. Parry, N. P. Woods

Reports from the various committees showed Heather enjoyed a very successful season under the retiring board. Long discussion was held over the suggested expenditure of $5,000 towards club renovations, but nothing definite was decided.

In competition during the past season, Heather won probably more honors than any other club in the Metropolitan area. Their biggest win was the Edinburgh Trophy, and they also took the St. George Fall Bonspiel, Granby Isabelle Memorial Trophy, Lachine Bonspiel, Pointe Claire Bonspiel and Huntingdon Mill Trophy.

City Of Tomorrow, Is Created Today By Mental Outlook Of Citizens Says Civic Head At Meeting

The ever-present danger of engulfment and loss of civic individuality confronting this city and its residents and the duty of each citizen in averting this peril and keeping Westmount a green area in greatly expanded and widely commercialized surroundings were stressed by Mayor Campbell in a speech to 500 members of the Municipal Association in Victoria Hall, last Thursday night.

By means of meetings with expert economists the speaker said that the city's governing body kept well informed about economic trends in the Montreal area but also said that citizens had a part to play in not allowing the community to become trapped in the sea of commercialism through civic apathy or lack of forward thinking.

Future of Montreal

The future of Montreal as a great industrial centre is assured, he said, the present strong drift likely to continue indefinitely and Westmount will have to provide increasing traffic arteries, east and west, north and south, he continued.

Westmount's Future

The Mayor said that we do not yet admit that we have not the possibility by proper planning and channelling to preserve our city in somewhat the character or genius that it has always possessed." The people of New York wanted Central Park enough to make the demands of commerce flow around it, he declared, and the same thing can happen in Westmount.

"We should continue to be the type of residential city that you have always wanted and, furthermore, may it not develop in those qualities or characteristics that some of us hold to be more important than commercialization?" he asked.

Finances

In referring to finance Mayor Campbell noted that in 1952 the city had a surplus of $781, which was effected "only by the closest attention to economics."

It is not easy for the city to make ends meet, he asserted, and future expenses will place a heavy burden on the city's budget. "It cannot be too strongly emphasized that municipal governments are in need of more favorable division of tax revenues in relation to the Federal and Provincial governments," he emphasized.

Recreation

In recreation activities, the Westmount Athletic Grounds posed a major problem for the association to consider, he said. At present the city expends $26,500 annually on them, ties up an investment of $250,000 and foregoes a possible tax return of perhaps $20,000.

Traffic

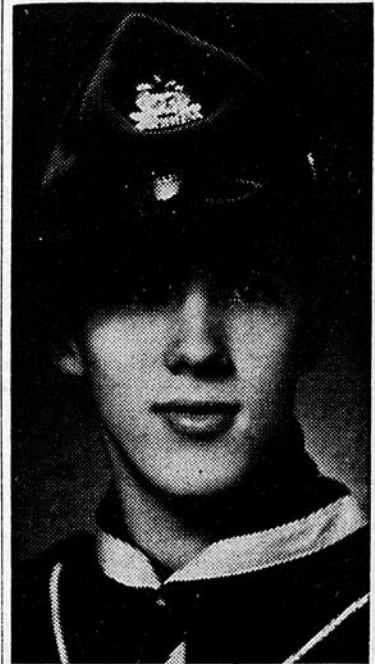

Another problem which would need solving, he said, was what steps to take regarding the part of Western avenue in Westmount in the light of Montreal's plans for linking Burnside, St. Luke and Western in a great east-west thoroughfare.

Facilities to meet the demand for electric power must be increased, he noted, and a third substation will have to be constructed within five years.

Explains Function

Hugh G. Seybold, president of the association, explained its function and noted that in some matters it formed a liaison between citizens and the council. The association has added over 300 members recently, and has among its representatives of nearly 1,500 of Westmount's 6,500 families.

Following the formal meeting period, the various committees of the association were formed and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The West End Gardener

Surely Spring is here with 60 degrees in the offing, let us get to work with a zest.

One gardener asks about planting paeony roots?

There are two ways of planting. One is deep planting in the fall, but too often this planting produces no blooms. We much prefer the shallow planting as follows:

Make a very large hole, put in a good layer of barn yard manure if at all possible. Then a layer of well-mixed garden soil, peat moss, sand and fertilizer. Then fill in with garden soil to about 3 inches from the surface, put in your roots well spread out. Cover with 2 inches of soil and water well, when the water is absorbed press the soil down firmly, being careful not to bruise or break the eyes or sprouts whichever you choose to call them, then fill in the last layer. Water frequently for a while. Pinch off all the flower buds for the first season.

Another gardener asks about planting roses? A complete book could be written on the planting and care of roses, there are so many different schools of thought on the art. The most simple is very often the best for the amateur. Choose a sunny location well drained, dig your holes about 18 inches deep and 12 inches across. Prepare a soil mixture of garden soil, sand and peat moss. Two parts soil to one each of sand and moss. Place in the bottom of the hole a deep layer of well-rotted manure, then place the soil mixture to the depth of about 12 inches, fill the hole with water and let stand for a few days or longer. This is to solid the bed and get rid of all the air pockets.

Do not go bargain hunting for your roses. Buy from a reputable dealer. The starting bushes need not be expensive. Buy fresh stock and never let the roots dry out before planting. If you are ready to plant within a few hours after delivery leave your roses wrapped as they are and place in a container of water, but if you won't plant for a few days, then heel them in or in other words cover the unwrapped roots with a few spadeful moist earth in a shady spot in the garden.

Now for the actual planting. Straighten out the folded roots, clip off the broken roots and dead wood. Place in the prepared hole, spread out the roots, and cover to about one half the way to the surface, then tramp the roots firmly as it is very important that the soil is solid and no air holes, which is so often the cause of failure. Fill in the hole with water, when this has been soaked in fill in the remaining layer of earth. I like to mound the earth up around the

Montreal Vets To Stage Parade For Celebration Of Empire Day

As is usual each year Montreal Unit 14 of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada will celebrate Empire Day with various social and other activities including a parade and the laying of wreaths at the Monument to Queen Victoria, St. Helens Island Military Graves and the Field of Honor at Pointe Claire.

This year it has been decided to highlight the Empire Day celebrations as a prelude to the forthcoming festivities that will commemorate and mark the great and historical occasion of the Coronation.

Starting on Friday evening May 22 at 7.30 p.m., in the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel the Unit has reserved the entire ballroom to hold an Empire Day Banquet at which the guest speaker will be Lt. General Guy G. Simonds C.B., C.B.E., D.S.O., Chief of the General Staff. Other invited guests will include high military officials, Federal, Provincial and Civic dignitaries.

On Saturday, the unit clubrooms at 1164 Beaver Hall Place will be open to out of town veterans and visiting delegates from other Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans units who will be attending the Sunday ceremonies. Saturday evening in the assembly hall of the clubrooms there will be a special gala Empire Night programme for members, their wives and friends.

On Sunday May 24, the unit will hold its Empire Day Parade and Commemoration Services. Visiting units of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans from Ottawa, Quebec City, Magog, Cowansville, Rimouski and Montreal East will attend in addition to members of the Amputations Association of Canada, Police War Veterans Association, Canadian Corps Association, South African War Veterans, Dominion Civil Service War Veterans and the Corps of Legionnaires. There will also be a smart armed escort party from H.M.

canes for the first few weeks, as it holds them securely while the roots are getting started, water frequently for this time.

For the first season nip off the majority of the buds, and you will have a better bloom next year. If you are looking for quality rather than quantity, always remove a goodly number of the buds.

Watch for pests. We have two main ones here in Quebec—"Black Spot". It is just that, and appears on the leaves, the leaf soon falls, if not sprayed. The other pest is "Aphids". These can also be quite readily controlled by the many fine mixtures on the market today.

C.S. Donnacona to head the parade which will be lead by the C.N.R. Pipe Band.

The parade will form up at 10.20 a.m. on Beaver Hall Place in front of the Clubrooms and will proceed down Beaver Hall Hill to Victoria Square where wreaths will be placed on the Monument to Queen Victoria thence by bus to St. Helens Island to place wreaths at the Military Graves plot. Buses will transport the men back to Sherbrooke and Shuter streets from where the parade will march off at approximately 12.30 lead by a mounted detachment from the Corps of Legionnaires. The parade will move west on Sherbrooke street past the Riddick Memorial Gates at McGill University where the salute will be taken by Major General J. P. E. Bernatchez C.B.E., D.S.O., C.D., General Officer Commanding Quebec Command.

After passing the saluting base the parade will move down Metcalfe street to Dorchester street, east on Dorchester to Beaver Hall Place where they will form Hollow-Square for the presentation of medals and unit awards.

Diplomat Tells Rotary Of The "Newest World"

"The supreme task of our generation is to give a soul to the growing world consciousness; to develop ideals and institutions necessary for the creative expression of the world soul; to transmit these loyalties and impulses to future generations and train them into world citizenship".

This quotation from the works of a modern Indian statesman and philosopher indicative of present day thinking in Indian government circles and easily understood by the western world affords us ground on which to base a belief that India will be the bridge where East and West can meet said Mr. Warwick Chipman, Q.C., while speaking to members of the local Rotary club in Victoria Hall on Wednesday.

The distinguished diplomat, a graduate of McGill University and well-known in the metropolitan legal circles was Canadian Ambassador to Chile, Argentine, and for three and one half years was Canadian High Commissioner in India and dealt with this background in his talk.

To current terms such as Old World-New World, westerners must now add the term "Newest World" which is India" a world to which we must turn our attention as never before" said the speaker in referring to the role which he felt India would play in world events.

One of the strong links binding the Western world with "the Newest World" is the fact that English is the official governmental language and another link is the Western pattern of politics and parliamentary institutions which were not discarded when India became an independent nation.

While clearly stating his inability to prophesy the future Mr. Chipman concluded his speech by stating that India was an immense force for Liberalism and that Indian influence in the field of international events was a power whose influence could not be ignored.

Alex Williamson was presented with a commemorative carnation, Frank Kenwood, chairman of the Carnival committee requested assistance of members in publicity needs for the Carnival, a member of the Rotary Carnival catalogue committee requested the assistance of all members in securing advertisers and young Richard Byford also reported on his Ottawa trip as a guest of the local club at this week luncheon.

Red Shield Drive To Aid Extension Of Eventide Home

If the current Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal for $165,000 is successful, one of the most significant results will be a speeding up of plans for the proposed extension and remodelling of Eventide Home on Upper Lachine road.

The Salvation Army has announced that over $75,000 had been reached at the close of the first week of campaigning. They added that any amount of money over the $165,000 objective would go to the Eventide project.

Camping Dividends

by R. D. LOCKE

Director of Y.M.C.A. Camp Kanawana

This article will make a few suggestions on things to watch for after your son or daughter returns from camp.

Sending your child to camp requires a considerable amount of money. Like any other investment steps should be taken to get the utmost value from it. When your youngster returns from camp take advantage of this enthusiasm to get better acquainted. Encourage him to tell of his adventure, friendships, and achievements. Many youngsters will not "open up" unless we phrase our questions carefully. If you have found that the experience was beneficial to him, try to build up a desire to return to camp.

You may observe some changes in your son or daughter. Do not be too discouraged if your highest expectations are not reached. If a boy is only at camp for two or three weeks we cannot expect the same results as though he was there for a longer period. Improvements will be first observed in his skills, i.e. swimming, canoeing, and so on. Try to see if he has improved his techniques of social adjustment. Has he learned to get along with his friends any better? He has been on his own perhaps for the first time. He has had to take care of his own clothes and belongings. Here we should watch for improvement in habit formations. If he has learned to make his own bed and to tidy his own clothes, why not let him do this at home instead of "suffocating" him with too much kindness. He probably has learned to enjoy singing and good music to a greater degree than formerly. Music has a very important part in most camps.

If he has started any hobbies at camp it would be very much worthwhile to encourage him to continue this. If he is not sure where to get supplies try to help him in this regard. Your Camp Director would be helpful here. He will have met new friends at camp. Many parents help their son or daughter plan a reunion of his tent mates and counsellor a month or so after their return. Welcome these camp friends. They shared many experiences with him and may have been very influential in his or her young life.

A good camping experience invariably means dividends in terms of health. There are two factors about which I would like to caution you. Firstly, although good camps make a conscientious effort to provide adequate food and rest, it must be remembered that the very nature of a camping experience is an active one. In some children there may be some loss of weight. This is not necessarily a very serious item, and you can correct it very quickly.

Secondly, they may also require a great deal of sleep on their return home. We must remember that the night before the children come home is usually a very exciting period for them, and they do not sleep very well. Many of the trains down from camp leave early in the morning, and again they lose some sleep. Then we must remember that there is a natural let-down following any stimulating experience. The foregoing does not mean that they should come home run down. Well supervised camps would guard against this. I am only suggesting here that there may be a short term need for extra sleep.

Finally, let me again say that camp is one of the finest places for a lad to learn to "stand on his own two feet." Try to recognize his increased maturity. Let him realize that he has grown.

Your camp is eager to improve. The Director probably plans the year-around to make his camp the best possible. As an outcome of your child's experience, if you had any constructive suggestions to make to the Camp Management, I know that this would be very helpful and well received.

Ludwig Bemelmans has so many admirers, old and young, that we suspect even the adults will want to see his new picture book, "Madeleine's Rescue." It is, we read, "the story of a canine, who saved little madeleine, from the waters of the Seine." The rhymes and pictures that follow, tell of the twelve little girls, in two straight lines, "one of whom was our heroine, Madeleine. It all makes for very delightful nonsense, and Bemelmans fans will want it.

A modest little book has just reached the Library from England, bearing the matter-of-fact title, "A dictionary of new words in English." Its author, Paul Berg, confesses that his own personal curiosity led him to write it, until "my hobby horse ran away with me." Here are some of the words he defines — corny — count noses — desert rat — dehazification — packet (of trouble) — pressurize — roomette — shmoo — freeze (currency). It makes for rather entertaining browsing.

We've been asked several times about the queens of England. What were the names of those women who ruled in their own right? A new book by Geoffrey Trease, "The seven queens of England" should answer this question. It tells of Maud, "mother of the Plantagenets," Mary Tudor, and the first Elizabeth — Mary (and William) — Anne — Victoria, the queen empress, and her great great granddaughter, our present Elizabeth II.

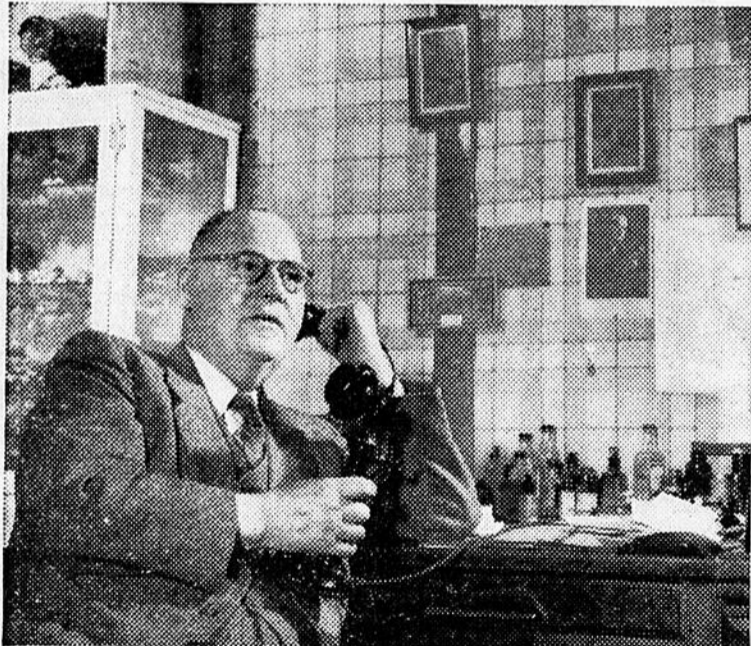

Graduation Exercises At Shaar Hashomayim May 28

Preparations are being completed for the annual graduation exercises of the Shaar Hashomayim Hebrew-Religious School to take place on Thursday, May 28, at 8 p. m. in the main synagogue.

The program will feature a cantata dramatizing the Sabbath and its "overtones of beauty and sanctity as the central pillar of Jewish life and tradition." Diplomas, awards and presentations will be distributed at this occasion, which climaxes the educational activities of the school year. A graduation dance will be held on Saturday May 30.

Shriners' Show Here Again

Wild Animals, Clowns and Variety Acts Well Worth Seeing

The Shriners wild animal show is here again, will show at the Forum for the balance of the week. This is a show that appeals to both young and old, and this year it is better than ever — at least it seemed so to this scribe when he viewed it earlier in the week. Take the kids; it will be a real treat for them, and an enjoyable evening for you, too.

This show is big time all the way. The three rings are busy throughout, and some of the aerial acts are breathtaking. And there are, of course, the clowns who provide amusement throughout the show.

The show is not only well worth the moderate rates of admission charged; but those who view it have the added satisfaction of knowing that a good part of the admission they have paid will be devoted to the Shriners' work of restoring crippled children to health and a normal life. This work, to which Shriners' hospitals throughout the continent are devoted, is carried out without regard to race, colour, or creed, and at no expense to the families of the young patients. In Montreal, the great majority of the patients are of French Roman Catholic parentage. Only children of parents unable to pay for treatment, are eligible for admission.

MacArthur's Philosophy

Generalities Only Rarely Relate The Complete Truth

General Douglas MacArthur, now chairman of the board of Remington Rand, said, "Live every day as though you were going to live forever."

No doubt he was urging us to plan for the future, to be unafraid of undertaking tasks which may seem too vast to be completed, never to feel that we are too old to start something new or that our time for retirement has come.

Generalities of this nature are rarely completely true. We might delay starting on something, not because of despair at finishing it, but because, if we're going to live forever, to-morrow will be time enough to start.

The philosophy of manana is very tempting to us lazy mortals and, if eternal life became a fact, it could only reinforce our sloth. Most of us would be spurred to much greater action if we could bring ourselves to live every day as though we were going to die that night.

Calvary United

On Sunday evening in Calvary United Church, the minister, Rev. Walter J. Spence, B.A., will preach on, "Possessing Our Possessions".

Service of Worship will be held when Mr. Spence will preach and the Sunday School will be in attendance. The children's story is a feature of the morning service. It is looked forward to each week, not only by the children, but by the adults as well.

There is a nursery class to take care of the very small children while the parents worship in the Church.

Christian Science

"Mortals and immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

This Lesson-Sermon teaches that man created in God's image is neither material nor mortal, but spiritual and immortal; so that as the beliefs of materiality are corrected, the real man's health, purity and immortality enter more and more into human experience.

The Golden Text is from Romans: "To be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."

Bible citations include the following from Isaiah: "And he will destroy in this mountain the face of the covering cast over all people, and the veil that is spread over all nations. He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces."

Correlative passages from the denominational text book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following: "Mortals will disappear, and immortals, or the children of God, will appear as the only and eternal verities of man. Mortality is finally swallowed up in immortality. Sin, sickness and death must disappear to give place to the facts which belong to immortal man. Learn this, O mortal, and earnestly seek the spiritual status of man, which is outside of all material selfhood. The perfect and immortal are the eternal likeness of their Maker."

featured at the annual meeting of the Shaar Hashomayim Men's Association held in the Community Hall. Court speaker was Nehemiah Mark, of Mount Vernon, New York, who has created an unique medium of expression for the interpretation and presentation of religious aspirations. Mr. Mark has won recognition among art critics in his exhibitions in museums across the country.

Past 50, having become famous as a Hebrew scholar and teacher, he felt the need for illustrating visually a concept which he wanted others to comprehend — he turned to wood carving to fill this need. Today, less than 5 years since his first piece was finished, he has produced more than a thousand art objects. They range from the delicate little flowers to pieces illustrating and symbolizing historical characters or abstract themes in Jewish life. The speaker was introduced by Samuel S. Cohen, and thanked by the educational director, Samuel J. Leibowitz.

Fed. Women Teachers Elect Miss Garlick, Report On Year

At the annual general meeting held recently in the Montreal High School, the Federation of Protestant Women Teachers of Greater Montreal elected Miss Margaret Garlick as president, succeeding Miss Mary Pease of Dunrae Gardens School, Town of Mount Royal. Miss Garlick is a teacher at the High School for Girls, Montreal.

Miss Pease stated in her final presidential address that the membership of the Federation stood at 1091. This included elementary and high school teachers, principals, and supervising assistants of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal. Some 200 members served as officers or committee members. The year 1952-53 was highlighted by a vigorous campaign to increase the help to retired teachers on inadequate pensions. A fashion show was held in aid of the Benevolent Fund, and a committee was formed to visit shut-ins. Two wood-working courses and a motor mechanics course were held.

Money was allocated for a scholarship and tickets will be purchased and distributed to children for the Montreal Children's Symphony Concerts. A sum of money will be donated for prizes for the Symphony Concerts and Macdonald School for Teachers.

In reviewing the annual reports of 17 committees, reference was made to the new Montreal Council of Protestant Teachers of Greater Montreal. Other new committees formed were the Education Week Committee, and a Working Conditions Committee to offer suggestions for the welfare of pupils and teachers.

The president expressed great satisfaction that a new salary scale would take effect in the coming year. It was stated that this scale would provide an incentive for teachers to improve their academic and professional standing, and this would ultimately benefit their pupils.

Slate of Officers

Officers elected for 1953-54 were: Past President, Miss Mary P. Pease, Dunrae Gardens School; President, Miss Margaret Garlick, High School for Girls; 1st Vice President, Mrs. Margaret Quackenbush, Iona Avenue School; 2nd Vice President, Miss Barbara Lax, High School for Girls; Secretary, Miss Anne Clark, Cote des Neiges School; Treasurer, Miss Jean Brown, Iona Avenue School; Directors: Miss Muriel Davies, Hampstead School; Miss Mystic Kempf, fund for prospective teachers in need of financial assistance, Riverview School; Miss Gladys Banfill, Westmount Senior High School; Miss Mary Baker, West Hill High School; Miss Jean Mac-

Directing Show Of Shows

Betty Speirs, popular director of the Speirs-Miller Studios, is a very busy person these days. In addition to the springtime revue which takes place at Victoria Hall next Thursday (May 21) the Speirs-Miller Studios will also present a revue at St. John's, Que., after which Miss Speirs flies T.C.A. to Bermuda to present a lavish 'Coronation' fashion show at the Castle Harbour Hotel, using society girls of Bermuda as her models.

Beauty And Talent Lavishly Featured By Speirs-Miller

A sure sign of Spring is the announcement of the Speirs-Miller's Springtime Revue. Miss Speirs predicts that this year's presentation will surpass anything done heretofore. Ballet presentation under the direction of that talented young ballerina, Joan Champion, will have an international flavour called "Ballet Concerto". This presentation will give full scope to Miss Champion, who recently returned from Ottawa after having scored a personal triumph in the ballet festival, and will be in line with the high quality entertainment which we have come to expect from the Speirs-Miller organization.

Peter Miller, the "King of Taps" himself invites all to see this year's crop of budding stars.

Mr. Miller will appear himself four times during the evening, proving that he not only is a teacher but a performer. Another highlight of the evening will be an exhibition ballroom number in which Mr. Miller will be partnered by the lovely Lillian Burns.

As usual the boys will play a big part in the program. Six of the top vocal students of the year will appear in operatic, popular and semi-classic roles. Supporting the entertainment are such outstanding artists as Cole Lewis for the tap routines, Jane Bernard for the vocal solos and Evelyn Calvert for the ballet ensembles. Betty Speirs announces a very heavy box office and would be appreciative if the public would be seated well before 8 o'clock when the curtain goes up at Victoria Hall next Thursday.

I am only an average man, but, by George, I work harder at it than the average. — Theodore Roosevelt.

Radio Queen

Coronation Year has special significance for actress Ruth Springford, who has played the role of queen so often during her radio career that she feels like just another member of the royal family. To date she has been cast as Mary Queen of Scots, Queen Wilhelmina, Carlotta of Mexico, Anne Boleyn, Lady Macbeth and Elizabeth I. Her latest queen-portrayal, one she has done before, is that of Queen Victoria in the Stage 53 productions of two of the Palace Plays of Laurence Housman "Just call me Queenie," she says jokingly.

Kenzie, Guy Drummond School. The Federation of Protestant Women Teachers is represented at the Montreal Council of Women, Montreal Girls' Association, the Montreal Children's Library and the Curriculum Council of the School Board. Donations of $300 to the Girl's Association, and $100 to the Children's Library were made.

Stated Session

A stated session of Oasis Temple No. 46, Daughters of the Nile, will be held in Victoria Hall, Westmount, at 7.30 p. m. on Monday. Mrs. Ethel Burns, Queen, will preside. Dress formal.

Among those holding winning tickets at the drawing held in conjunction with the Ninth Annual Scarboro Night Benefit Bridge Party at Loyola College Wednesday, May 6, are: Lace Cloth, won by Mrs. K. Ruffett, 3489 Decarie Blvd., Mon-real; Luggage Set, won by Mrs. M. Shea, 1445 Drummond St., Montreal; Steam Iron, won by Miss Corinne Ledurby, 1154 Stephens Ave., Verdun; Fitted Bag, won by Mrs. Ryan; Shower Curtain, won by Paul Gallagher, 4545 West Broadway Ave., Montreal.

Vitamin-Enriched Bread Lauded By Leading Nutrition Authorities

Federal Department of Health and Welfare reports that "fewer than 10" persons out of Canada's 14 million have demonstrated an allergy to the recently introduced vitamin-enriched bread. Miss Corinne Trerice, director of nutrition, Bakery Foods Foundation of Canada, commenting on these reports, makes the following statement:

"The Bakery Foods Foundation of Canada, which is a research and educational organization sponsored by the National Council of the Baking Industry, has a great deal of evidence and authoritative facts which are relative to the allergy claims.

"At the first Nutrition and Enrichment Conference held earlier this year, doctors who are recognized as the leading authorities on nutrition and public health in the world, discussed and supported the role of enriched bread in nutrition. They included Dr. James M. McGrath, Assistant Deputy Minister of Health, Newfoundland; Dr. C. Glen King, scientific director of the Nutrition Foundation, New York, and Professor of Chemistry, Columbia University; Dr. William H. Sebrell, Jr., Director of the National Institutes of Health (the Public Health arm of the U.S. Government); Dr. Percy E. Moore, Director of Indian Health Services, Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa; and Dr. Russell M. Wilder, Director of the U.S. National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, Washington, D.C.

"Dr. Sebrell, in his paper, said . . . What, if any, have been the harmful effects? What is the future of food enrichment as a means of attacking malnutrition throughout the world? Unequivocally, we can say that there is no evidence of harm from the proof safety between recommended and harmful levels . . ."

"Dr. King, in his paper, pointed out that "so far as the vitamins are concerned, the levels recommended by the National Research Council in the U. S. rest on a conservative appraisal of all the information thus far available and there is no evidence to indicate that a hazard is involved until the intake goes many times higher than those recommended . . ."

Miss Trerice, a home economics graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, and formerly a nutritionist with the New Brunswick and Ontario Red Cross nutrition services, points out that there is a wide margin of safety in the standards set by the Department of National Health and Welfare for enrichment in Canada.

Choose Right Paint Or Enamel For Porch

If you're planning on painting a fibre porch rug that has become faded or discolored, you'll find that regular house paint, thinned with an equal part of turpentine will serve admirably as a flexible coating. It's best to put your rug out on the lawn, if possible, while you're painting it. If not, place a thick layer of newspapers under the rug and paint it on the porch. Before you paint the porch floor, of course!

If your porch is screened, the wire screening should be enameled every three or four years — even though the wire is copper. A corrosive wash develops on copper that stains any light-colored area beneath it. Painting the screen is usually a twosome task — with half of the team working on the outside and the other member working inside on the same area simultaneously. Screen enamel is available for the purpose — and there are special applicators to simplify the project.

Thank-You Notes For Gifts Should Be Sent Promptly

Too many women who are meticulous about their dress, grooming and social personality are negligent when it comes to the ordinary etiquette of thank-you notes, condolence messages and such correspondence. The prompt, warm hearted note is always so much easier to write than the one that has been put off. It eliminates the need for apologizing for tardiness and avoids the difficulty of groping for words because you are able to describe your impressions much more clearly.

Brides in particular are often guilty of delaying thank-you notes. This may mean they will have to face the resentment of furious friends and indignant relatives. People who spend time and money to buy that special gift are filled with righteous indignation when months go by without a word from the bride.

Much of this could be avoided if children were trained to write thank-you letter to their aunts, uncles or god-parents when they receive a present from them.

A handwritten note is far better than a printed message and is more indicative of appreciation because it does take time and trouble. Also, the use of stationery decorated with posies and poodles should be avoided. Plain white or ivory paper shows simple good taste.

The trick to writing these notes is to write them exactly as if you were thanking the donors in person. Let them reflect your appreciation, sincerity and charm. And above all, let them be prompt.

Cancer Dressing Groups Active; Specialists Address Volunteers

The seventh semi-annual meeting of the volunteer workers, Quebec Provincial Division, Canadian Cancer Society, was held at Budge Hall, Y.M.C.A. Building, Drummond Street, on May 7. Mrs. Charles Spearman, supervisor of the cancer dressings service, who was chairman, reported that 412,613 dressings had been dispensed during the last six months to an average number of 325 patients a month. Two new dressings groups were recently organized:— The evening branch of the Community Women's Club of the Town of Mount Royal of which Mrs. C. R. M. Alton is convener, and the Westmount Friendly Club of which Mrs. Frank Binmore is convener. This brings to a total of 30, the number of dressings groups with over membership of 450 workers, here in Montreal and vicinity.

Mrs. Spearman was high in her praise of the tremendous effort made by the volunteers in raising money to purchase a station wagon for the Canadian Cancer Society, which was presented to the society on April 15 of this year. In addition to purchasing the station wagon for use of the work of the society, the volunteers have offered to take on a project of the maintenance fund for this vehicle.

Solving The Riddle

The guest speaker, Dr. Antonio Cantero, Director of Research of Montreal Cancer Institute and Co-Director of Research of National Cancer Institute of Rio de Janeiro, was introduced by Miss Madeline S. Taylor, Field Secretary of the Quebec Division. In discussing "Recent Advances In Cancer Research," Dr. Cantero pointed out that scientists throughout the world are dedicated to solving the cancer riddle. He said: "One of the most significant contributions of the last 25 years has been the unequivocal proof that cancer can be cured by removal or destruction, if recognized early enough."

Dr. Cantero continued "Cancer cells begin their growth in plants and animals, fish and fowl. It has been found in all races of mankind, ancient and modern, civilized and primitive; wherever it has been properly looked for. It is a curious phenomenon that a single cell, to all appearance normal, should change its nature and start multiplying itself into a whole colony of uninhibited cancer cells. They are somewhat like anarchists, respecting no law, following no preconceived architectural arrangements and ready to destroy and never ready to build."

"Throughout all research literature" stated Dr. Cantero, "there are two distinct concepts to be considered:— One maintains that cancer is caused by the action of some external agent on a normal cell, chronic irritation. The other maintains that cancer is a cellular disease, which comes on slowly, progressively, which could possibly be due to a virus." The trend in cancer research, today, is in the search for the cause of cancer to explain its origin. In closing Dr. Cantero said "In describing all recent advances in cancer research, there is some optimism much cautiousness and great hopes."

Following the English session part of the morning meeting, tea was served by Mrs. R. C. Hannan and Mrs. W. R. Middlemiss — each volunteer bringing her own box luncheon. Looking after the registration of those present, were Mrs. W. E. Yonkie and Mrs. E. T. Wilband.

Afternoon Session

In the afternoon, the French session over which Mme J. G. Archambault presided, Dr. Louis-Charles Simard, Director of the Montreal Cancer Institute of Notre Dame Hospital, and also a member of the executive committee and Medical Advisory Board of the Canadian Cancer Society, was introduced by the chairman.

Dr. Simard spoke on: "What do we know about Cancer?", and applied his remarks to questions which are commonly asked. To the question "What is Cancer?", he stated that the cancer cells might be compared to the bricks in a brick wall which keeps on building up. Scientists today do not know what causes this uncontrollable growth of abnormal cells.

Dr. Simard said that scientists do know many of the external causes of cancer including tar and other chemical products.

"Unfortunately," he said, "many people do not realize that cancer is often curable if diagnosed early enough."

At both the English Session and French Session, Mlle Marcelle Saint-Martin, Director of Welfare Services, gave a complete report on the welfare services rendered during 1952. She stated that the Canadian Cancer Society is considered as a consultation agency regarding any problem related to the cancer sufferers. In 1952, 576 patients had been referred to the Society by the Social Service Department of the various English and French Hospitals, and by other medical or social welfare agencies.

the tenth muse

"Among the notable dictes of antique Rome was the fancy that when men heard thunder on the left the gods had somewhat of special advertisement to impart." That's what Sir Eustache Peachtree wrote, around 1640, and we think it's a very nice thing to attribute a celestial origin to advertising. We try to take it modestly.

Actually, however, advertising could be said to have originated with the brewing industry, and took the form of tavern and inn signs: The Bull and Bush, Magpie and Stump, Pig and Whistle, and so on. Signs something like this were also taken up by other trades such as the barbers, whose red and white striped pole really represents blood and bandages. And, of course, there was the well-beloved Cigar Store Indian.

Advertising is really just a means of communicating an idea. Elbert Hubbard called it a fine art and somebody else dubbed it "The Tenth Muse". We wouldn't know about that. We do know that, when a product keeps on pleasing the public, the product itself helps keep its advertising alive. That's why such slogans as "The Ale Your Great-Grandfather Drank" and "Make Mine Molson's" are still current and familiar although they haven't been seen much in print for a long time. When a product like Molson's Ale is the favourite, as it is in Quebec, over all other brands combined, people like to recall it affectionately with such handy handles.

Ancient Ways Persist In The Aran Islands

For sight-seeing, the Aran Islands in the Atlantic Ocean beyond Galway Bay, Ireland, have ruins from prehistoric and early Christian times, and the Gaelic-speaking inhabitants follow a way of life that has not changed in any great degree for centuries. In Galway itself the Spanish Arch is reminiscent of the days when the city carried on trade Ages. Some of the old houses with Spain during the Middle have interesting carvings as decorations, and the church of St. Nicholas, although reconstructed in later years, has retained much of the charm it had when first

For the sportsman there is a different kind of sight-seeing from the Salmon Weir Bridge. Hundreds of salmon lie there under the water, like piles of stones, waiting in their journey from the sea to scale the falls up the river to Lough Corrib, a 27-mile expanse of excellent fishing grounds.

Clifden, known as the capital of Connemara, is set picturesquely between the mountains and the sea. The road near Letterfrack is banked with fuchsia and there are quantities of purple heather, yellow furze, and the colorful blossoms that are used to dye the homespun.

Refinement creates beauty everywhere.

Make it Yourself

If you would like to have this leaflet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Make It Yourself Department of this paper requesting SEAMLESS RAGLAN CARDIGAN, Leaflet No. CW-47.

Spring and summer are busy months for children. Wonderful long sunny days furnish the opportunity to play out-of-doors most of the time enabling them to get all the fresh air and sunshine little tots need to grow healthy and strong. Whether your young ones will be spending play hours in your own back yard, at a summer camp or at a favorite holiday resort, they will need comfortable, practical clothing including a pretty lightweight pure wool cardigan. Sweaters for children must allow freedom of action with no pull or strain at seams. They can be plain or trimmed with a fancy pattern whichever you prefer, but whatever your choice, you will find knitwear for children a most useful addition to summer wardrobes.

Handle Woollens Carefully

When knitting for children, as when following all knitting patterns, be sure to follow your instructions carefully. Working to the correct tension is very important to obtain the proper size in your finished garment to check your proper tension lay the fabric on the table, being careful not to stretch it, then lay a ruler on this and count the number of stitches to the inch. If your inch has fewer stitches than those recommended in your pattern, your knitting is too loose so try a size smaller needle. If your inch has more stitches, your knitting is too tight so try a size larger needle. Never proceed with the printed instructions until you have worked out the correct tension. Fabric too loosely worked is apt to wear badly and may stretch when washed. Fabric too tightly worked tends to thicken when washed. When knitting garments for children, be sure to use wool that has been treated for shrink resistance. When washing woollen garments, be careful to observe the "dos and don'ts" in washing instructions. It is absolutely wrong to put woollen garments to soak, to use strong soap, soda, boiling hot water or even very hot water, to let them lie in a wet state or to hang them up to dry. Instead, be careful to remove all soap, remove all moisture after washing, lay garment on a flat surface away from heat and pin to required measurements with rustless pins, then allow to dry slowly.

Cardigan Sweater for Children

The attractive cardigans pictured above are designed with raglan sleeves and are completely seamless for extra comfort and longer wear. A leaflet is available with directions for knitting the sweater in sizes 2, 4 and 6 years and can be made with or without the fair isle border. Instructions for working the fair isle are also included.

Dabble In Paint For Relaxation, Turn Jars To Vases

What do you do with the glass bottles and jars that accumulate in your household in the course of a week? Put them out in a basket for the trash collection, most likely.

These discards can be turned into hours of fun. These bottles can become vases, lamps, planters. As gifts, they'll be both useful and smart.

You'd probably like to start with a fairly easy project, one that you can do with little fear of mistakes. In that case, try making a vase. The shape of the bottle is up to you, but you might use a coffee jar, a Mason jar, a wine or vinegar bottle or even a mayonnaise jar.

As tools, you'll need some small tubes of unmixed oil paints, a couple of small brushes and some turpentine to clean them, soft cloths and your own fingers.

Start by covering the bottle with a solid-color oil paint, spreading the paint with your fingers. Use a toothpick to scribble curly marks in the wet paint, reversing the motion now and then. This will create a lacy, delicate design in the paint.

Another method for vases produces a textured effect, using both flat and raised oil paint designs. First, completely cover a glass container with pale green oil paint. Use a toothpick to make tiny swirl marks over the surface.

A bit of red paint is mixed with white to make the pink for small rosebuds. Pick up little blobs of this paint with a toothpick and set it among the green leaves. Now, dip a toothpick into red paint and swirl it through each rosebud several times to give the buds a realistic appearance. This will raise them higher than the leaves and stems.

Children like honey-banana salad. Beat together ½ cup honey, 1 tablespoon crushed pineapple, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt. Serve on banana and lettuce salad.

P And B Women Hold Communion Breakfast

At the meeting of the Professional and Business Women's organization of the Parish of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, Miss K. Pigeon, as guest speaker, told of incidents experienced and of impressions gained on her trip last summer to Europe.

Miss Pigeon travelled as the only passenger on a Norwegian freighter on its maiden voyage to the Mediterranean.

The occasion for the talk was the Annual Communion Breakfast of the organization held in St. Leo's School Hall. The president, Miss Redina McGonigle, introduced and thanked the speaker.

Your School, Your Child, and You

By Ann McCann

Remedial Reading Instructor

Continuing Reading Program in High School (Part II)

Many pupils do not have adequate oral vocabularies because of their limited backgrounds. For one reason or another they have been denied the visits to parks, zoos, fairs, airports, trains and other places which would have enriched their experiences. They have been kept in narrow environments and have not been helped to increase their vocabularies.

Some children have not been allowed to express themselves freely at home or in school; consequently they cannot relate incidents in logical sequence or in such a manner as to be understood.

Children gain many experiences after entering school. Pupils having difficulty with reading are limited in the number of these experiences in which they can share because of the problems involved in their comprehending the materials they read and the extra time they must devote to their studying.

Feeling of Failure

Pupils who have failed in reading often feel that they are not capable of succeeding in school. They have been kept back so many times that they lose confidence in themselves, and wonder why they should even try in high school. They feel that their classmates look upon them as continuing failures. They lack security in nearly all their experiences. These children must be helped to establish a feeling of confidence which will extend to all their undertakings so that they may approach reading with new assurance.

Foreign Language

Students coming to school from a home where parents speak a foreign language often lack a good basic English vocabulary. Some students speak a foreign language at home and English at school or in conversation with their friends, and so have serious problems in oral and written expression.

Lack of Interest

Quite frequently we find homes where parents are not interested in reading. Few or no books or magazines are found in the home. The parents do not read and are not interested in their children's reading, and they do not make the children feel the necessity of good reading habits.

School Factors

Some elementary schools are so crowded that it is impossible to give individual instruction to children having difficulty in reading. Thus these pupils gradually fall behind in their work. Frequently they do not have access to a wide variety of reading materials on their reading level. Schools often lack library books, reference books, and equipment needed for successful reading instruction. These lacks often hamper the progress of children with better-than-average ability as well, since they are not provided the enriched program they should enjoy.

HOLLYWOOD, May 13. — Hollywoodians are having to learn a lot of new words these days — such as Paravision, Anamorphoscope, Cinemascope and Stereophonic. These are but a few of the names being coined almost daily to cover the flood of engineering techniques developed in the fields of cinematography and sound recording. Most major studios plus a platoon of independents have announced new systems to replace the screen's conventional flatness with great breadth and startlingly realistic depth.

The worst that can be said of the current hubbub is that it has created much new interest in an industry which sorely needed a new element of excitement. The best comment on the innovations is obvious — any forward step which adds to the story-telling power of the screen is something to be grateful for. And you must forgive my ending that sentence on a preposition.

While many of the new processes require the use of polaroid glasses by the viewer to give the three-dimension effect, others do not. Studios are converting entire production slates to new broad-screen projection and to the use of the new concave screen, which virtually surrounds the viewer on all sides. Some of these processes are stop-gap affairs and others will drop by the wayside quickly, but there is no doubt that movies will have a new look in the next few months.

The producers' main headache concerns the problem of getting some $80,000,000 of new movies, already completed and now awaiting release, out of the way before they become obsolete. These movies were planned to bring in some $300,000,000 in revenue — and this is a sizeable sum, even in a town accustomed to the colossal. Many of these movies are fine pictures — I've seen some of them. And for my money a fine film in the conventional two-dimension projection is more desirable than a big-screen 3-D turkey, like "Bwana Devil."

Historic Aircraft Show Planned For Coronation

Billed as the "Pageant of Progress in Service Aviation", a display of aircraft, depicting the development of service aviation from before World War I to the present day, will be shown by the R. A. F. in the Royal Tournament at Earls Court, London, from June 10 to 28.

"I Confess" To Be Shown At Westmount

"I Confess", Alfred Hitchcock's suspense drama starring Montgomery Clift, Anne Baxter and Karl Malden, opens at the Westmount Theatre on Sunday.

Filmed at Quebec, Canada, the scene of the picture, and in Hollywood, "I Confess" tells the exciting story of a prominent lawyer who is murdered in the French Canadian capital, and of the witness who is unable to speak out and reveal the identity of the murderer, even though his own life, and the reputation of a woman, are at stake.

From that situation, the plot unfolds with suspense in scenes which take the principal characters through picturesque streets and historic buildings of Quebec. The action climaxes in one of the most unique chases of motion picture annals according to advance reports, within the walls of the famed Chateau Frontenac, where conferences which have shaped the fate of the world have been held.

To capture for world-wide motion picture audiences the scenic beauty, atmosphere, and flavor of the city, which match the mood of his drama, Hitchcock brought his cast and a company of 56 highly specialized technicians from Hollywood to Quebec, to make the picture in the story's actual setting.

Ninety per cent of the picture was filmed in Quebec.

And on the same program the life of Eva Tanguay, the irrepressible madcap of Broadway in the first part of this century, is recreated in "The I Don't Care Girl", Technicolor musical deriving its title from the famed star's theme song, "I Don't Care". Mitzy Gaynor, herself gifted with many of the qualities for which Eva Tanguay was known, enacts the legendary figure.

Recital Series For Music Centre During Summer, Announced

Details have been announced of the week-end festivals of music which are being organized by the Otter Lake Music Centre, and which are being organized by the Otter Lake Music Centre, and which will be presented as part of the Montreal Festivals this summer.

Maureen Forrester, gifted young contralto, George Lapenson, violinist frequently featured in nationwide broadcasts, and Mario Duschenes, well-known flautist and a member of the Music Centre's staff, will give recitals for the Centre, and there will be a program of choral music sung by the Montreal Bach Choir.

In addition, two chamber music recitals are being planned, which will comprise works for pianoforte and string trios played by Mildred Goodman and Hyman Bress, violinists, Otto Joachim, violist, Walter Joachim, cellist, and John Newmark, pianist. These varied programs will not only be of interest to members of the Centre, but will also appeal to vacationers in the Laurentian and nearby districts.

Plans for opening the Centre have met with considerable response, and inquiries have been received from such widely separated points as New York, Philadelphia, and Winnipeg. Enrollment so far includes several in other professions as well as music students and teachers, among them a doctor, an engineer, and a secretary.

Youngsters Now Busy Constructing Racers For Coaster-Classic

Members of the Montreal Kinsmen Club are preparing details for the All-Canadian "Coaster Classic", to be held on Saturday, June 27.

The race will be held on Desardin Street, running south from Sherbrooke Street. This has proven an ideal "hill" during the past few years and attracted a large entry and has ample space for spectators.

Youngsters from nine to 15 years of age are eligible.

In many garages at the present time the competitors are busily constructing their "speeders." The object of this contest is not only the competitive angle, but the Kinsmen feel that it interests the youngsters in construction and keeps them busy in the spring months, consequently off the streets and out of trouble.

Last year two boys from N.D.G. won prizes. Peter Overing, won the Harwood trophy for the best constructed car. Richard Powell, a local Boy Scout, took second honors in the race and displayed fine sportsmanship by declining award of a bicycle. He asked that the prize be given to Allan Thompson, of Lachine because Allan had injured his feet when he crashed his car into the curb. This was necessary when a youngster stepped on the "highway." Young Thompson was leading in the race when the mishap occurred. However, the Kinsmen Club appreciating the sportsmanship, made sure both contestants received a "bike."

Entries must be sent to the Kinsmen Club, P.O. Box 491, Place d'Armes, Montreal, as soon as possible.

The first shipment of prairie crude oil destined for a British Columbia refinery—a 32-car train carrying 6,400 barrels of oil left a C.P.R. siding in the Leduc area on September 27, 1952.

Susan Grenfeld, Merle Soiferman, Arlene Sailor, Marilyn Rodin, Karen Kaplan, Marilyn Kaporowsky, featuring Marilyn Rodin as the solo dancer, Linda Drapkin and Estelle Strohl, Judy Smiley, Sandra Freedman and Gissa Israel, are also seen in important roles.

Boston Symphony, Metropolitan Opera, London Ballet Scheduled

Three world-famous institutions, the Boston Symphony Orchestra, the Metropolitan Opera Company and the celebrated London's Festival Ballet will be brought to the Forum for Musical May of Montreal, one of the most distinguished series believed ever to have been offered to the public here. The series is being presented by Canadian Concerts and Artists.

Eight performances in all will be given over a period of two weeks. Opening performance will be given on Thursday evening, May 21, by the great Boston Symphony Orchestra under the direction of the noted French conductor, Pierre Monteux. This will be the first visit of the Boston Symphony to Montreal in more than 25 years.

On Friday evening, May 22, the Metropolitan Opera Company will open its second season in Montreal with Rigoletto starring Leonard Warren, Richard Tucker and Roberta Peters. The famous company will be here for three days, giving La Boheme on Saturday afternoon, Samson and Delilah on Saturday evening and Tosca on Sunday evening.

Besides Messrs. Tucker, Warren and Miss Peters, other top stars will be here to sing roles for which they are internationally known. They include Dorothy Kirsten, Rise Stevens, Regina Resnik and Hilda Gueden, Ian Peece, Ramon Vinay, Nicola Moscona, Mario del Monaco, Frank Guarrera and others. Of special interest will be the first operatic appearance here of George London, the great bass baritone who has just scored a tremendous hit in the Metropolitan's revival of Boris Godounov in which he sang Boris and who was chosen as the first Bayreuth Amfortas in the postwar revival there of Parsifal.

New Antique Shop Displays Fine Arts

One of these days the City of Westmount will be enriched with a new Antique Shop at 4916 Sherbrooke West. A visit to this new establishment delightfully surprised this reporter with the beauty and rich variety of antiques from every corner of the globe.

Mr. Frederic Schlesinger and Mrs. Lisl Steiner, the managers, very busy with last minute preparations for the opening, are experts, both European, who gained their knowledge through study and travel throughout Europe.

Mr. Schlesinger took time out to show us a few pieces which are worthy of a place in any museum.

On our own we browsed about and saw, here a piece of carving of the sixteenth century, beautifully carved old ivories, there, a painting by a Flemish Master, there, a delicately formed piece of china of which only a very few pieces exist today, a Sevres clock of the 18th century, a lovely rococo cabinet, a richly carved old chair, miniatures by Old Masters, ancient glasses and cups and saucers, and many other items too numerous to mention, a veritable symphony of European culture and art of forgotten days.

The personality of the managers of this new enterprise, which will shortly open under the name of "Old England Antiques Limited" should contribute much to bring this newly organized firm into the ranks of the leading firms of this City.

Y.M.C.A. World Service - Deeds, Not Words

If this had been set up as a news item a good editorial would have vanished while a good news item would have been lost if it had run as an editorial. It could have been edited — and ruined, so in the interests of your enjoyment, the rules of good journalism are ignored — for once. The Editor.

Hungry, sick and discouraged people form unresponsive audiences for lectures on the beauties of life in a democracy, and are more likely to be swayed by the full-stomach promises of Communism.

Words are not enough. We must back them up with action. Our deeds must prove democracy really can provide more food, better health and new hope for underprivileged nations. Communism has rough going when this is done in a down-to-earth fashion clearly benefiting the man in the street.

Nowhere is this being demonstrated today than in Ethiopia. There the Communist educational and information centre, aided by 100 skilled propagandists, was doing a land-office business until 18 months ago. Then Merlin Bishop, a YMCA World Service worker from Georgia, arrived and set up shop. He organized classes in woodworking, printing, metalworking and mechanics. For good measure, he added music appreciation, Bible lessons and sports.

But he didn't stop there. He opened evening courses in health and sanitation to combat malaria, tuberculosis, smallpox, typhus and other scourges. To drive home the lessons, Bishop uses motion pictures and dramatic skits. His "students" arrive hours ahead of time, taking up vantage points on trees, poles and fences. Crowds of 8,000 are common.

Five months ago, Bishop reports, the Communists were outdrawing the YMCA about three to one. Now the Y is pulling nine times the attendance as the Russian centre.

But the YMCA worker sounds a sobering note.

"As in most places," he says, "Communism in Ethiopia is making a bid for the hearts and minds of people. And as in so many parts of the world, the economic situation plays into their hands. The Communists know this and are making the most of it."

"A bold, well-planned program can keep us ahead. But it must come quickly. As things are now, I am not sure we can win. But if we had more funds, staff and equipment, I am confident we could."

All of us in Westmount will want to do our best to help the YMCA in Ethiopia — and other lands — get the funds, staff and equipment it needs. Plainly, it is one of our most effective means of halting Communism — with deeds, not words.

Barbarians Defeated

Westmount Scottish Rack Up 10-8 Sabbath Victory

A converted touchdown five minutes from time was just enough to give the Westmount Scottish a narrow 10-8 triumph over the Westmount Barbarians in a game played at Trenholme Park Sunday afternoon.

This was the first-ever game between these two teams which have been formed within the parent Westmount Club. Ken rivalry was shown throughout this fast, hard played contest. The Barbarians showed great spirit during the contest and were unlucky to lose such a close decision to the stronger Scots team.

The fine weather brought out a good number of spectators who were treated to a good exhibition of fast open rugby by both squads.

BARBARIANS SCORE

The black and white shirted Barbarians jumped into a quick 3-0 lead when veteran campaigner Bob Leavers showing a fine turn of speed outwitted the Scottish defence to go over near the corner. The convert from a difficult position was missed.

Gradually the Scottish gained the upper hand and went close to scoring on three occasions before the 20 minute mark. Twice they seemed to be robbed of touchdowns by mystifying decisions by the referee.

However, the Barbarians defence held firm and half-time came with them still holding a 3-0 edge. On the stroke of half-time the Barbarians lost centre Conor Nolan who retired with a rib injury after being hurt in a tackle.

This loss upset the Baba's backfield at the beginning of the second half and it was not long before the Scottish took advantage of this to go into the lead.

SCOTS TAKE LEAD

After a quick passing play from a scrum, stand-off Bob Watt kicked ahead. George Ewan following up quickly made a smart pick up on the loose ball to run over for a TD under the posts. Ian Mair kicked an easy convert.

The Barbarians settled down after this reverse and began to have their share of the game again. The black and white forwards, although outweighed and outnumbered, were holding their own with the stronger Scots pack.

After a series of Scottish attacks the Barbarians broke away down the right wing. Centre three-quarter Hastings made most of the running and when challenged gave a dandy inside pass to Warren Carter who ran the last thirty yards unopposed to score under the posts. Carter also kicked the convert to put his side in the lead again by an 8-5 count.

T.D. For Adam

Time was running out when Eoin Ruthven, the Scottish captain made a thrust down the middle of the field. He passed on to Ian Mair who was tackled short of the line, but Scottish forward, Jim Adam, following up, dribbled the ball over the line and dived on it for the game-tying touchdown. From a none too easy position Ian Mair kicked a nice convert to give the Scots their two point margin of victory. With one last effort the Barbarians went near to scoring but the final whistle went with the Scottish still holding the long end of a 10-8 score.

Meet Bytown

This Saturday the Westmount Club play hosts to the Bytown Beavers who journey down from Ottawa. As yet the ground for the match has not been settled.

The match of the season has been arranged for the end of this month when the Westmount Club will play Yale University, who recently won the College Rugby title in Bermuda. Watch this paper for further details of the game which will be played in the West end of the city in the last week of May.

Anyone interested in joining the Westmount Club either in a playing or non-playing capacity should call Conor Nolan at HU. 8-6728.

Westmt. Squad Loses Out In Toronto Tournery

By JIM ADAM

The Westmount Rugby Club seven-a-side team put up a grand performance before bowing out in the third round of the Toronto Spring Seven-a-side tourney played last Saturday in the Queen City.

A head injury sustained by captain Ian Mair in the second round match needed five stitches. This bad stroke of luck seemed to upset the rest of the team in the third round and they lost a close 8-3 game to the Brantford Harlequins.

In round one the Westies beat Toronto Barbarians II 13-0 on touchdowns by Warren Carter and Dave Hastings. Bob Watt kicked two converts.

Defeat Avro

The Montreal boys also had little difficulty in the second round in accounting for Avro II whom they beat 12-0. TDs in this match were scored by Ian Mair, two, Warren Carter and Tom Cullen.

A breakaway by a Brantford player just before the final whistle clinched the game for the Ontario crew in the third round. Trailing 3-5 Westmount were swarming round the Harlequin line when one of their opponents broke away to add an insurance marker. Westmount's score in this game came on a touchdown by scrum-half Tom Cullen.

The whole Westmount team played grand Rugby throughout the tourney and are to be congratulated for putting up such a grand show in the unseasonal high temperature. The Cup was won by the Toronto Barbarians I who beat out the St. Catherines Wasps in the final. This was the first such tournament run in Toronto and it was voted a grand success by all. The Westmount Club hope that next spring they will bring back the Cup from the Queen City.

Westmounters who made the trip were Dave Hastings, Warren Carter, Bob Watt, Tom Cullen, Barry Ward, Ian Mair and Yatsik Makowski. Reserve was Dick Miller.

Out for Season

Although the trip was successful from a playing point of view injuries sustained by three of the players have put them out for the remainder of the season. Besides Ian Mair's painful head injury, Carter injured his leg and Bob Watt pulled a muscle. It is unlikely any of these players will play again this Spring.

This weekend the Westmount Club takes off for the States once more when they travel to Hanover, N.H., where they will play Dartmouth College on Saturday. This exhibition game will be one of the highlights of the Dartmouth "Green Key" Spring weekend.

The Dartmouth crew held an 8-5 decision over the powerful Harvard crew who beat Westmount in a close game earlier in the season. However, the Westies are confident of turning out a strong team and hope to bring back a victory with them when they return over the border.

Two Home Games

After this match Westmount round out the season with two attractive home games. May 23 will see the Brantford Harlequins as visitors to Montreal and they will be hoping to repeat their seven-a-side win of last Saturday. With the full fifteen men aside Westmount think they should pull off a win at the expense of the colorful visiting squad. Watch this paper next week for ground and kick-off details.

SPORTS

at St. Leo's

Mike Lunny and his Giants softball nine, bit the dust for the first time in the Bantam Intermural schedule, when the Yanks edged them out 10 to 8. With the schedule now completed, the decks are now cleared to settle the play-offs. The league leading Giants will face the second place Yanks, in the best two out of three series for the championship. Dates for this series are May 21st, 22nd and 27th, and umpires will be Dave Donohue, Tommy St. James, Karl Hurley and Joe Gallagher.

The senior high school tennis tournament, will get underway on Wednesday, May 20th at 3.45 p.m. on the Western Ave. courts. The calibre of tennis players in this tournament is a mystery, making it impossible to grade them. Rumours have it, that Karl Hurley, Sandy Morrison and Alfred Duranleau are above average but don't bet your shirt on it.

Look for some changes on the present school policy of awarding trophies to the competitors, who are most proficient at athletics. A high degree of sportsmanship, will be demanded in the future from every candidate in line for a trophy. A few of this year's trophy winners fell a little short of this essential commodity for a genuine school athlete. A little success in sports, acts like champagne on the dreamer type of athlete.

The Pee Wee Track and Field Handicaps, held every Thursday evening at Westmount Athletic Grounds, proving popular with the small fry. This well organized sports event, would do even better, if staged in the afternoon under old sol, instead of at twilight.

Paul Ramsey, the Academy's number one boxing enthusiast, still in mourning over the passing of boxing from the school sports menu.

An invitation golf tournament for high school boys, will be held on Friday, May 29th at Mount Royal Golf Club, school to enter four boys to a team. St. Leo's could enter a good team but exams may upset plans to enter a team.
