Government Candidate Presents Health Issue

A rally of workers at his committee room at 1835 St. Catherine street west last night cheered Dr. James Griffith, government candidate in the July 6 by-election to the echo as he spoke of his work and interest in the health of the riding and the nation.

The visit was one of a series planned by his committee so that every one of the 600 workers who are canvassing for the surgeon-in-chief of the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, will be able to meet the candidate and speak of him as a friend and acquaintance when they take the message of his candidature to the doorsteps of the community.

The Griffith campaign swung into high gear this week, with a large segment of the CBC Provincial Affairs broadcast being devoted to the career and program of the government candidate.

Wednesday Dr. Griffith met many Westmounters at a buffet at the Lachute Golf Club, prior to his attendance at the opening of the Lachute Fair, where Hon. W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines, who is guiding the Westmount campaign, delivered the opening address.

Thursday at noon Dr. Griffith was a guest at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Montreal-Westward Rotary Club where Hon. Mr. Cottingham was again the speaker.

During the coming weeks between now and election day, it is planned that the candidate will visit as many local events as he can find time for in his hours away from the operating theatre.

While health, social service and education are the main themes in the Griffith campaign considerable support is being swung behind the candidate from residents who are members of hospital and institution boards, and who realize that a member from Westmount on the government side of the legislature would open the door for them to the provincial authorities in the matter of grants.

For some time now, when local organizations have visited the provincial authorities, they have obtained grants, but have come away with the belief that an English-speaking representative from the local area would be able to strengthen their arguments.

Buses Oust Trams Here On June 25

Streetcars on the No. 14 and 65 routes will be replaced by buses on June 25, according to the Montreal Transportation Commission. The buses will travel on the same routes the streetcars now cover.

Other change overs to go into effect on the same date are slated for NDG when a new route, Somerled 102, will travel from Decarie boulevard and NDG avenue, north to Cote St. Luc road and then west via Somerled, Walkley, Fielding and Trenholme avenues to the terminal at Sherbrooke and Elmhurst.

LPP Man Hits U.S. Influence

The Labour-Progressive Party advocates full employment through the complete independence of Quebec from U.S. domination, according to Phil Watson, LPP candidate for Westmount-St. George, in a speech earlier this week at an election rally for the forthcoming provincial by-election on July 6.

The LPP candidate attacked both the Liberal and National Union Government for this "betrayal of Canada's wealth to U.S. trusts for quick profits."

"There is growing dissatisfaction and resentment among the people against these injustices," he said, "and the time is fast approaching when our government will have to answer for their disreputable policies," he concluded.

Among the measures advocated by the LPP candidate were the building of a steel industry in Montreal "that would employ 50,000 people." He also called for more housing and schools.

On the tax question he indicated that the position taken by the Labour-Progressive Party was "full Provincial tax deduction from the Federal income tax."

Hyde Hints At Four 'Liberties' Actions

"As a practising lawyer, one of the most striking things which has come to my attention is the fact that four of the leading cases concerning liberties of the individual which have come before the Supreme Court of this country in the past few years, have all had their origins in the Province of Quebec," Richard Hyde, Liberal candidate in the Westmount-St. George by-election, told a meeting of supporters and workers Tuesday night at 4155 Sherbrooke street.

The Liberal candidate is stepping up his campaign as the by-election enters the final three weeks. Mr. Hyde, among other activities, will be on the air Monday at 3.55 and 7.45 o'clock, and Tuesday at 7.30.

He expressed himself as pleased with the progress of the campaign, but protested the "lack of complete enumeration which I have encountered at every turn and which have deprived a great number of people of the right to vote." He appealed to those electors whose names have been missed to "make it a point to see that your friends vote to reject the policies of the Union Nationale."

Infringement of the liberties of the individual and extravagance in the handling of the public finances were listed by Mr. Hyde as the two principal reasons why voters should cast their ballots against the Duplessis regime.

He stated that between the years 1939 and 1954, the annual revenues of the province seldom reached ninety millions, and had totalled only $512 millions during those six years. Between 1945 and 1954, however, revenues had increased to approximately $2,200,000,000, and for the fiscal year just ended had totalled over $327 millions.

While taxes elsewhere were being reduced, Quebec levied new ones, said Mr. Hyde. "Quebec now imposes eighteen separate taxes; no other province imposes more than eleven," he declared. "These revenues have been declared necessary by Government spokesmen to finance the province's expanding economy, yet Quebec still lags behind Ontario in development of its resources in spite of lower taxes and higher wages in the sister provinces. In the past three years one hundred and ten English companies have established themselves in Canada. Of this number only seventeen have decided to establish their headquarters in Quebec. Most of the others have gone to our neighbouring province.

"The effect of high taxation is also seen in the case of companies which have had their head offices in Quebec for many years and now find it necessary to move out of the Province."

The speaker concluded by stating that the result is loss of revenues and employment for the Province.

St. Jean College Moulder Of Men Rotary Told

Commandant Is Speaker At Luncheon Meeting

The main purpose of our college is to form leaders — leaders of men Col. M. L. Lahaie, D.S.O., commandant of the Collège Militaire Royal de St-Jean, told members of the Westmount Rotary Club on Wednesday.

He said the true aim of education was manhood, and the aim of the college is to form good men, with intelligent and energetic characteristics. He said the college has academic program, military training and a sports program to develop the students into manhood.

Col Lahaie told the Rotarians the college has grown from a starting class of 125 in 1952, to the present registration of 366. New buildings have been built in the past two years to accommodate the increase in students, and more land has been acquired, increasing the overall area to 160 acres.

"Materially we have not rested at the college in the past two years, but here looked after the academic program and the comforts and necessities of the students," he said.

The students are taught an engineering course as laid down by Ottawa, and recognized by universities throughout the country, he said.

He pointed out that sports program was not of just recreation but actually part of the curriculum. He said the sports program, in which everyone participates, helps to turn the students into good leaders.

In explaining the code of honor at the college, Col. Lahaie pointed out that it is based on the principal that a cadet must never do when he is alone, things he would not do in the company of his fellow cadets or superior officers.

According to our code of honor a cadet must never be ashamed of what he is doing, and if he can't live up to this code, he faces expulsion. He said a cadet who fails the code of honor will fail in other things he attempts at the college and is therefore not a desirable student.

"The standards of conduct at the college are quite severe, with absence without leave not being tolerated. First offenders of this crime are punished with 31 days confinement to barracks, and second offenders are expelled from the school." Col Lahaie stated alcohol is also not tolerated at the college, except when a cadet is at summer training, and then it is very rigidly controlled. A glass of wine with meals is permitted, the commandant said.

Although the registering students are approximately 60 per cent French speaking and the remainder English speaking. Col. Lahaie said that after three years all the students are completely bilingual. He said the students are mixed, in their sleeping quarters as well as in their places at the dining table. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week, one language is spoken, while on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the other one is used for conversation. Exams and instruction are given in the tongue of the students choice.

The commandant pointed out the a bilingual program at the college is voluntary, and that after a while the students take to it very enthusiastically.

"It is, after all, a challenge, and the young men like challenges, Col. Lahaie stated.

In conclusion Col Lahaie stated that the main problem at the college is probably its striving for maturity which is expected of any educational institution of this type. His outlook for the future of the college was bright, and he added that with the continued support of the people of Canada, the College would reach its goal of maturity.

Colonel Lahaie was introduced to the club by Bev. Bailey and thanked by Dr. John Lockhead. Borden Empey chaired the meeting.

Shaar Hashomayim Hebrew-Religious Graduates 38

Only through observance and self practice do religious studies acquire a meaning and become a part of one's life, Rabbi Wilfrid Shuchat stressed in an address to the graduating class of the Shaar Hashomayim Hebrew-Religious School last week.

Thirty-eight graduates participated in the Exercises when Diplomas and Awards were given, among which were several commemorating former graduates of the school, who gave their lives in the service of Canada and the Commonwealth during the Second World War. The Graduates were introduced ed for their diplomas and awards by Samuel Lerner, school principal. The presentation of diplomas was made by M. J. Heilleg, president, and Leon Levin, school committee chairman, presented the awards.

The program included a Cantata entitled 'Maimonides', written especially to commemorate the 750th anniversary of his death, by Mrs. S. Lewin, a member of the teaching staff, and was conducted by Mrs. B. Elman, with the graduates participating, and with musical accompaniment by Mrs. M. N. Fineberg.

Valedictorians were Rebekah Mendelson in Hebrew and Denny Lande in English. The opening prayer was given in Hebrew by Lorne Mendell and in English by Norma Dworkin. A presentation was made by the graduating class to the Parent-Teachers' Association School Fund.

Israel Is Declared Social Laboratory

Israel is one vast social laboratory, according to Donald B. Hurwitz, executive director of the Federation of Jewish Community Services and Combined Jewish Appeal. Mr. Hurwitz, who returned recently from a month-long tour of the Middle East's newest democracy, gave his impressions to Montreal social workers at a meeting last week of the Case Work Section, Montreal Council of Social agencies.

Social and welfare work takes place in four different planes of activity, said Mr. Hurwitz. Government organizations, quasi-government organizations, settlements and private enterprise are all interlinked and interwoven in providing the Jewish immigrants with a modern and progressive social and welfare program.

Over 300,000 people, many of them recent arrivals in Israel, received help from the government in 1954, stated the speaker. The government is making full use of Israel's man-power potential by providing vocational guidance for the young people and by providing the elderly with a national insurance scheme.

Great strides have been made in the formation of probationary services, stated Mr. Hurwitz. Psychiatrists and social workers are endeavouring to rehabilitate youthful offenders rather than incarcerate them.

Immigrants are aided by quasi-government organizations through loans and helped in getting established in settlements or colonies in different areas of the country, he went on.

Settlement leaders are active in forming committees to carry out different activities in new colonies and in providing people with leadership opportunities. Mr. Hurwitz told those present of one cottage colony for old people which is a show place of the country. The elderly people living there receive compensation for working the land around their cottages as well as a regular grant enabling them to live comfortably.

There are two social work training schools in Israel, Mr. Hurwitz revealed. Each has approximately 50 students enrolled and certificates, rather than degrees are given when the course is completed. No emphasis is placed on specialization. Instead, all effort is concentrated on creating social workers who will have an understanding and tolerance of the problems, both physical and mental, which face people in a new country.

Mr. Hurwitz pointed out that the policy of mass immigration had strained severely the resources of the seven-year-old country. Add to this, he said, the fact that 40 per cent of the country was in the Negev desert area, and the hardships facing settlers are easily seen.

Israel has made great progress in agriculture and in industry, stated the speaker. He mentioned that proof of this was the narrowing gap between imports and exports. Scientific agriculture is being carried out on a wide scale and plywood, glass, nitrate and phosphate factories have been established.

Israel is composed of people from 70 different countries, Mr. Hurwitz pointed out, some of them separated by centuries in progress and cultural achievements.

Disease is communicated by food, drink, air, insects, or direct contact with man, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Seven Free Trips To Scout Jamboree Are Essay Awards

Seven Quebec province boy scouts will receive free trips to the World Scout Jamboree this summer as awards in an essay contest. Entries may be made in English or French.

Fifty Canadian Boy Scouts will be provided with an all-expense trip to the 8th World Jamboree to be held in August at Niagara-on-Lake, Ont. All costs of travel and of ten days at the Jamboree will be paid by The Bank of Nova Scotia for 50 winners in an essay contest on "What It Means To Be A Scout."

The essay contest, sponsored by the bank in co-operation with The Boy Scout Association, is open to some 4200 Scouts across Canada; those eligible to attend the jamboree. Entry forms and rules on the essay contest went forward this week to the ten provincial headquarters and to district headquarters in Ontario of the Boy Scouts.

The scouts have until midnight June 30 to mail their essay entries to their Provincial Headquarters; in Ontario to district headquarters. Winners in each province will then be picked by three-men committees comprising representatives of the Boy Scout movement and the bank. The 50 winners will include: two from Newfoundland; one from Prince Edward Island; four from Nova Scotia; three from New Brunswick; seven in Quebec; 15 in Ontario; four from Manitoba; three from Saskatchewan; five from Alberta, and six from British Columbia.

"We are conducting this essay contest because we realize how much attendance at this Jamboree can mean to Canadian Boy Scouts and we recognize that transportation and other costs may keep many a worthy Scout from going," said a bank spokesman.

The Late George Ganetakos Death Takes One of Montreal's Most Esteemed Citizens

The death of George Ganetakos in an automobile accident has deprived this city of one of its leading business men, and this country of one of its most respected citizens.

The late Mr. Ganetakos, a pioneer in the motion picture business here, numbered his friends literally by the thousand, in Canada, the United States and abroad. Wherever motion pictures were made or exhibited, his name was known and esteemed.

He opened one of Montreal's first motion picture houses — the old Moulin Rouge — back in 1909, and his interests and prestige grew apace with the industry. Over the years he brought to Montrealers most of the top attractions of the new entertainment medium and also brought many of movieland's brightest stars here on personal visits. At the time of his death he was president of United Amusement Corporation Limited.

Born in Greece, he never lost interest in the people of his native land. During and after the war his efforts on behalf of Greek relief were prodigious. His work in this cause linked the name of Canada with his own through all that area ravaged by war. To thousands of those unfortunate people he was not only a benefactor but an example of what can be accomplished by a man of good will and ambition in the land of his adoption.

We know our readers, particularly those who knew him, will join us in extending the sincerest sympathies to his bereaved relatives.

Putting It To Work II

By Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor,
Rector of Trinity Memorial Church

We were thinking last week of bringing the Gospel to bear on the problems of the day, and we began with slum clearance because it happens to be very much in the public mind at present. It is very curious the way the City Council hesitates on the project. There is a general agreement that we have slums; that a very large number of Montrealers are condemned to live in them for lack of the means to go elsewhere; and that on the whole their influence on the individual and the community is bad. The argument is not so much that the City cannot afford the clearance. Of course, it cannot; but neither can it afford the slums, and of two evils the spending of the money is the lesser. Even if the immediate financial return were not large, the incidental advantages would be considerable. Traffic would be relieved in that a large number of workers would be accommodated near their work; for the basic idea is that there will be no less population in the area than there is at present; above all there will be space for children to play and for the old to sit. Mr. Paul Dozois was kind enough to send me a copy of his report and I quote the following sentence: "It will be in this last section that the greater portion of the present population will live, on the fringe of a great park and sports centre. It would be practical to settle there the larger families so that the greatest possible number of children might have access to this open space without crossing any main artery." Quite as important as the open space is the fact that the apartments look out on open space and grass and trees rather than streets. No doubt other equally good plans could be made to meet the slum problem, but the main effect would be to delay a reform which Christian love demands.

A good many of us think of this whole scheme from the point of view of the children, with an eye to its effect on juvenile delinquency. Material conditions, better housing, better wages are an aid to the leading of the good life. There is a financial level below which it is hard to lead the good life. It is not so much the actual hardship of bad conditions as the awareness of inequality. Hardship that is shared by the whole community is an actual help, but extreme wealth alongside of extreme poverty is deadly to both the rich and the poor.

But when that has been said it is equally necessary to say that in themselves high wages and good housing will not bring in the Kingdom of God. There can be as much juvenile delinquency in the wealthier as in the poorer parts of the City. If it is necessary to put the Gospel to work in one part of the City to remake the physical conditions; it is vastly more necessary at all times in every part of the City to put the Gospel to work to remake the souls of men.

Scriptural selections from the King James Version of the Bible stress the supremacy of spiritual power and include the account of Christ Jesus feeding the multitude as recorded by Matthew, and John's account of Jesus walking on the sea.

Among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following: "God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law.

Volunteer canvassers, who worked on the recently completed Salvation Army Red Shield appeal were thanked by Hon. J. Arthur Mathewson, Q.C., at a dinner held on their behalf on Thursday.

Mr. Mathewson said the work of the Salvation Army is known and admired by all, but that the Army has a number of silent partners who have helped out in the recently completed campaign.

The citizens of this metropolis of Canada have again opened their hearts and opened their purses and contributed from their own sufficiency enough to help lighten the burden and take the edge off the suffering of those in trouble, he said.

"Of course the mission of The Salvation Army is primarily spiritual—it is first and foremost a rescue organization seeking to reclaim the souls of men, but long experience has shown the officers of The Salvation Army that if a man is down and out, you must feed him first and then talk to him about higher things. That takes money and the people of Montreal once again have subscribed generously to carry on the work."

"I think in fairness to our silent partners, the public who have provided the funds, that there should be a word of explanation about the fact that The Salvation Army has for many years set a minimum annual budget at $165,000., although their essential requirements have exceeded that amount. Because the public have always been generous and given them more than their traditional figure, they have not felt it necessary to ask for a higher sum," Mr. Mathewson stated.

He said the fact is that the amount actually received, $215,000., is, every cent of it, urgently required, because the stark fact is that the need to help those in desperate trouble is greater still.

The accounts of The Army are audited regularly and the expenditures are closely examined and passed upon, not only by the officers of The Salvation Army themselves, but by an Advisory Committee of citizens who consider it a high honour to be able to assist in the work of The Army in that way, he pointed out.

"May I, on behalf of The Salvation Army and of you, the organizers and workers in this campaign, tender our heartfelt thanks to each and every one of our friends, the members of the public, who have subscribed so generously, and who, by their subscriptions, have made possible the success of this campaign," he stated in conclusion.

WATSON - MORGAN

The marriage of Mary-Jean, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Senkler Morgan, of Westmount, to Mr. Hugh Seymour Watson, son of Lieut.-Col. Julian Watson, C.B.E., M.C., and Mrs. Watson, of Chalfont St. Giles, Bucks, England, took place on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock in Trinity Church, Ste. Agathe des Monts, the Rev. Basil Jones, D.D. officiating, assisted by the Rev. C. E. Combe of St. Jude's Church, Montreal. Dr. Kelsey Jones played the wedding music and Miss Dorothy Richardson sang during the signing of the register. White snapdragon and baby's breath were used as decorations.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a Juno Doro model of Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta, with hand-appliques of lace and beaded motifs, with a bodice having a V-neckline, outlined with scalloped lace and embroidered with beaded motif, and short sleeves, and a bouffant hoop skirt extending into a train. Her full-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet, outlined in beaded lace, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and lily of the flowers. Her only ornament was a diamond pendant, gift of her parents.

Miss Frances Sumner, as maid of honor, and Miss Joan Morgan, sister of the bride, and Mrs. W. B. Spalding, as attendants, were in ballerina-frocks of sapphire blue peau de soie. They wore bandeaux to match their frocks, and carried Colonial bouquets of white carnations and lily of the valley.

Little Miss Patricia Ann Morgan, sister of the bride, as flowergirl, was in a bouffant frock of sapphire blue peau de soie, the bodice having a wide berth forming small sleeves. She wore a coronet of white carnations to match the flowers in her bouquet.

Mr. Seymour Alden of Boston acted as best man for Mr. Watson, and the ushers were Mr. John Sampson, Mr. Brian Wharburton and Mr. Robin Smith.

Mrs. Morgan, the bride's mother, was in a Juno Doro model of Parma violet peau de soie, appliqued with hand - beaded lace. She wore a hat of the same material, a platinum blue mink cape, and a corsage bouquet of mauve Catalpa orchids.

Mrs. Watson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a Christian Dior model of grey-green French lace, with a black had and a corsage bouquet of pale pink Catalpa orchids.

The reception was held at the summer residence of the bride's parents, Pooh's Corner, Lac Manitou.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Watson left for New York whence they sailed on Wednesday in the Queen Mary for Europe, the bride travelling in a red, white and navy blue printed frock under a navy blue coat, lined with the same material, and wearing a white hat, navy blue and white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of white carnations.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Alden of Cambridge, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Humes, of Princeton, N.J.; and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Tucker, of Albany, N.Y.

Juvenile Cooks Choose A Few Simple Recipes

These days youngsters learn the ABC's of cooking very early so it's a good idea to let your little Jeff-and-Jill start with a few simple recipes.

The young male in the family will love to make "Shrimp Wiggle." It's so easy to prepare he can surprise his young friends with it. Here is the recipe: Mix 1 small size can peas, 1 can cream of mushroom soup, 1 cup shrimp, ¼ cup canned milk, then pour into a casserole and sprinkle with crushed potato chips. Bake in moderate oven for 20 minutes.

Your Jill will feel proud when she makes "Candle Salad." Susie, a little seven-year-old friend of mine, made this salad on a local TV Kitchen program recently, and here is her recipe: Place a lettuce leaf on a plate, next put a slice of pineapple on the lettuce. Peel a banana, cut it in half, then insert the half into the pineapple hole, so that the pointed end of the banana is up, resembling a candle. Mix mayonnaise with a little pineapple juice and a drop of green coloring. Drip this green mixture over the candle, then put a toothpick through a maraschino cherry and stick it into the top of the banana.

Perhaps one of the small fry in your home would be thrilled to serve Daddy some "Baked Eggs" on Saturday morning. Donna Jean, the little 10-year-old cousin of Susie, prepared some of these luscious baked eggs on the same TV program. Here is the way she cooked them: Butter custard cups or muffin tins, then place a strip of partially fried bacon in a circle, in the cup. Next break an egg into each cup. Bake in moderate oven until the eggs are done. When the eggs slip out onto serving plates they are nicely circled with bacon.

By choosing simple recipes which the youngsters can make easily, you give them the joy of cooking just as grown-ups do.

Frozen Chocolate Cream Served With Whipped Cream, Delectable

During June, Dairy Month, your attention will probably be turned more than once to dairy products — butter, cheese, ice cream, and milk (including evaporated milk and nonfat dry milk solids). Not only are these products versatile or summer menus but they are part of almost every recipe you use in your kitchen.

The following recipes all call for dairy products. The dessert below using both milk and whipping cream, is a creamy chocolate combination to be made in your refrigerator. It is poured into paper cups for freezing (or, you may use refrigerator trays). Be sure to place the paper cups in cup cake pans so the finished dessert will have the correct shape.

SAME SCALE

The Celsius scale of temperature is the same as the Centigrade scale, in which the freezing point of water (32 degrees Fahrenheit) is zero, and the boiling point (212 degrees Fahrenheit) is 100 degrees.

Brown sugar does not become lumpy if it is stored in a covered container with half an apple or carrot in it.

CHILDREN'S SAFETY

Children of two and three years of age know few fears and aren't aware of the risks involved when they perform certain acts adults would consider dangerous. That's why the Province of Quebec Safety League is repeating instructions to mothers to refrain from leaving children alone on balconies unless the balcony is well-screened and the child 100 per cent safe. Otherwise, the child may climb up the side and topple over to the ground below. In this way, the child is apt to hurt himself and, if it's a second or third-storey balcony, kill himself. The same may be said of leaving a toddler alone in a room where the window is open. The child may take a chair, climb atop the ledge, lose his balance and topple out the window. The child doesn't realize the dangers involved and it's up to parents to protect their offspring.

Pickled Veal Roast (Makes 8 servings)

One $3\frac{1}{2}$ pound veal roast, boned and rolled, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped onions, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped sweet fresh cucumber pickles, salt and pepper, 1 cup sweet cucumber pickle liquid.

Unroll veal and spread with onions and pickles. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Roll and tie

The marriage of Vivien Audrey, eldest daughter of Mr. Notre Dame de Grace, to Edward Arthur Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Wrong of and Mrs. Edward A. Rice, also of Notre Dame de Grace, took place at 3 o'clock Saturday, June 4, in the Church of St. Columba. Rev. Norman E. Peterson, assisted by the bride's uncle, Rev. S. A. Meade of Grand'Mere, officiated.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and candelabra. Organist was Dennis Orr and soloist, Howard Lobar.

The bride who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. The tight bodice having an off-the-shoulder neckline trimmed with seed pearls, and long fitted sleeves. The very full skirt fell into a chapel train. Her bridal veil of tulle illusion was held by a headdress of seed pearls. Her bouquet was of sweetheart roses, stephanotis and lily of the valley.

Miss Merle Wrong, maid of honor, wore a bouffant frock of white lace over pink taffeta, while Mrs. Neil McGregor and Miss Terry Bain wore similar gowns of white lace over apple green taffeta. Their headdresses were trimmed with large roses and they carried bouquets of shell pink sweet peas.

Flower girl, Miss June Wrong, was in pink organdy over taffeta and carried shell pink sweetpeas. Master Michael Meade was ring bearer for his cousin.

George Robertson was best man and ushers were Brian Wrong, Grant Peterson and Ronald Hutchison.

Mrs. Wrong, the bride's mother, was in a silver grey taffeta gown, trimmed with Chantilly lace, dusty pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Rice, the bridegroom's mother, wore a wedgewood blue gown of peu de soie and old gold accessories with a corsage of yellow roses.

Following the reception in St. Philip's Memorial Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Rice left for Cape Cod. Going away, the bride wore a powder blue gabardine suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. They will reside in Moncton, N.B.

A large number of out-of-town guests attended the wedding.

Securely. Pour pickle liquid over veal and chill overnight. Place veal on rack in shallow pan.

Roast, uncovered, in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 3 to $3\frac{1}{2}$ hours, or until meat thermometer registers 170 degrees and meat is tender. Baste occasionally with pickle liquid.

Thrifty Cook

If you do not have a ring mold, here is a satisfactory substitute. Use an ordinary glass casserole dish, and place a water glass in the center, right side up.

A little water in the glass will keep it from floating when the gelatin mixture is poured into the dish.

When gelatin is firm and ready to unmold, it is a simple matter to empty the water from the glass and replace it with slightly warm water to loosen and remove glass. Then unmold gelatin in usual manner.

Worms sometimes appear on the ground after a rain probably because their tunnels are flooded and they come up for air. An earthworm will survive for some time in water but needs air for a supply of oxygen.

Attractive Salads Can Be Made Or Spoiled By Over Garnishing

What does it take to make a summer dinner or supper a success? For the hungry ones it takes food that is filling but not heavy with appetizing colour, flavour and texture. For the custodian of the family health it takes nutritious and well-balanced meals and for the keeper of the purse it takes economy.

Greens are the basis of most salads and it is important to always use fresh, clean crisp ones. Since many of our Canadian greens are in season now this is the time to keep a variety of salad makings on hand. It is not advisable, however, to keep them too long because the fresher the greens are the better the salad will be.

As soon as the salad makings are brought into the kitchen trim any that may need it and store them in a tightly covered vegetable crisper. It is best to wash the salad makings just before using them. Plastic bags are also very handy for storing salad greens either in the refrigerator or in some other cool place.

Several types of greens can be combined for delicate flavour and colour contrast. Lettuce, both leaf and head, is probably the best known green. Its crisp whole leaves make perfect nests for salad mixtures and shredded lettuce is a fine foundation for moulded salads.

Watercress not only makes a very attractive garnish but with its fresh peppery flavour it adds zest to any salad. Curly green parsley, shredded spinach, cabbage, and shallots all look and taste good in the salad bowl. Stalks of celery are excellent diced or sliced in a salad or stuffed to use as a garnish. Celery leaves may also be used right in the salads to garnish them.

Here are a few tips worth following from the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture for making a fresh, crisp tossed salad. Tear rather than cut the green into medium sized pieces. Always combine a tossed salad lightly, using two forks, to keep the greens fresh and crisp, and toss, never stir or mix. Use only a small amount of dressing and add it just before serving the salad.

For a more filling salad to serve with cold meat why not try potato combined with diced fresh, crisp cucumber and radish slices. Only a little cucumber is needed and it is best to add it shortly before serving the salad so that the cucumber will retain its crispness. This is a most attractive salad to serve with the green of the tender cucumber skin and the red of the radishes peeping out from the creamy white diced potato.

When it comes to dressing it is often said that it is the dressing that makes the salad. So the clever homemaker keeps French dressing, mayonnaise and cooked salad dressing on hand. All three keep very well in covered jars in the refrigerator. With these basic dressings on hand a different one can be made every time a different salad is made for there are a whole host of things that can be added to dressings. To name a few there is chopped pickle, catsup, garlic, cottage cheese and whipped cream. Some people like to rub the salad bowl with garlic but it is delicious added right to the dressing if it is done with discretion.

The garnish is the final touch to an attractive salad but to be sparing with it for over garnishing can spoil the whole effect. When salads are served as a separate course what is served with them is important. Crisp crackers covered generously with cheese, sprinkled with paprika and placed under the broiler for a minute makes a very good accomplishment. Melba toast or cheese straws are especially good with fruit and vegetable salads. Hot cheese biscuits or muffins are also delicious with crisp, cold salads.

Browns Dropped Twice, LL Standings Tighten

The American B section of Little League baseball tightened its standings considerably this week, with Lions Boys Club Browns dropping two consecutive games. A third tilt — with the Browns ahead 9-4 — was suspended for completion later.

Unity Boys Club Indians won two tilts during the week to move back into a contending position right behind Red Sox. They clipped the Browns 9-4 in a replay of a postponed game, and then Wednesday topped White Sox 9-2.

But the Browns have a good chance to increase their lead, because of a suspended game Monday against the Indians. The tilt was stopped in the fifth frame with Lions ahead 9-4, because of the behavior of the fans.

In Wednesday's game Claude Schaffer tossed five innings and fanned 10 while walking four. Frank Robinson hurled the last frame. The Indians scored single runs in the first and second innings, both without benefit of a hit. They collected seven markers in the last two innings, on only five hits.

Frank Robinson was top slugger with two for four.

The White Sox managed only two hits, one off each twirler. Losing pitcher V. Carter kept himself in continual trouble with nine free passes while fanning 10.

Last Friday's replay of the postponed tilt saw Unity ahead all the way, with Schaffer the winner over Cliff Mumford. The UBC hurler fanned 11, walked five and hit one, while his counterpart struck out 10, passed seven and also hit one.

Bob Stewart was top hitter with three for four, including a two run homer, and Frank Robinson also connected for a round tripper. Mumford belted two homers for the losers.

The game Monday was the exact reverse, with pitcher Crouch and McKay both liberally issuing free passes. In the fifth inning the scoreboard read 9-4 for Browns, as the Indians came up for their licks.

Harper walked and Powers doubled. Then a fan threw an object on the field, and the umpire, fearing an outbreak similar to one which occurred earlier in the game, suspended the match. League president A. Sinel said it would be continued at the next meeting between the two teams.

Trenholme Win 10-4 RCMP Draw 2-All With MacRae

Trenholme Cubs moved into a first place tie with MacRae Electric in the westend intermediate softball league this week, when the Electricians drew 2-all last Thursday with RCMP.

Jim McWilliam's crew upended the highly regarded Prudential entry 10-4 the same night to tie with MacRae with seven points. The Westmount team has a game in hand, however.

Scheduled matches between Trenholme-RCMP and St. Augustine's-Prudential for last Tuesday were postponed because of wet grounds.

Action this week in the tightening league race sees MacRae and St. Augustine's meet tonight at NDG park, with Prudential and RCMP billed at Westmount 2.

Next Tuesday Prudential and MacRae clash at Trenholme, followed by St. Augustine's and

St. Leo's Win Bantam A Title

St. Leo's trimmed W. J. H. S. 16-10 to take the best of five series three games to one in municipal bantam 'A' competition.

In the bantam 'B' section, Sugar Kings, captained by Tim Kayes, eked out a 7-6 win over Royals in a sudden death play-off encounter that went into extra innings.

Exams Take Spotlight At St. Leo's Academy

The past week saw the curtain rung down on another active season of sports at St. Leo's, as the girm business of exams takes over until the end of the 1954-55 term next week.

From the standpoint of participation and activity, the past season was indeed a highly successful one, with over fifty per cent of the student body showing interest in the schools sport program. Not many changes are planned for next years sports menu. The roll call will go out for a Bantam tackle football team in September, but the prospects at present are not too bright. Coach Andy McGillis hopes to replace softball with inter-mural soccer or lacrosse. Aside from the pitcher and catcher, coach McGillis finds softball does not provide enough of exercise or sustained action to benefit a youngster. Volleyball has caught on well as a recess activity and more courts will make their appearance in the Autumn.

Sport Shorts:

Brendan Guilfoyles Giants defeated Jules Larendeaus Indians in the seventh and deciding game for the senior intermural baseball championship. All games were played at the Westmount Athletic Grounds.

Leafs took the Bantam Volleyball title, defeating the Hawks in the play-off. The Hawks under the guidance of Don. Laviolette won the opening game in the play-off but wilted under the steady pressure of Emedio Ponzis Leafs to lose the next two games. In a five game series for the Westmount Bantam Softball honors, St. Leo's seventh grade took the measure of Westmount Junior High club, 3 games to 1. Peter Meyer and Hubert Valiquette were the best players on Jean-Paul Therriens Saints and played a major role in their teams 16 to 10 victory over the Academy road boys. Holden Hayes and Patricia Donnelly, showed fine form in the St. Leo's and St. Paul's mixed doubles tennis tournament.

The Principals Association of the G.M.I.A.A. who have the final say on all matters pertaining to the welfare of school sports, have appointed a special committee to decide on what is an A school and what is a B school in our present set up. A few schools with large student enrolment in their high school and at present performing in Senior B company, will in all likelihood be moved up to A company where they belong, ending their pot hunting days as a B school.

Morton, who went two for three on the night, belted his hit, after Crevier had singled, the first two hits of the ball game off Bowles. Dupont collected the Mounties' only other bingle during the evening, a double.

Pat Lomasney led off the bottom of the fourth with a walk, and Phil Martin bunted beautifully leaving no play. A double steal left the runners at second and third, when Cam McFadden hit a ground ball to shortstop. Lomasney scored when Morton dropped the peg, and Martin knotted the count when he came in on an infield out. The latter picked up two hits for MacRae, McFadden one.

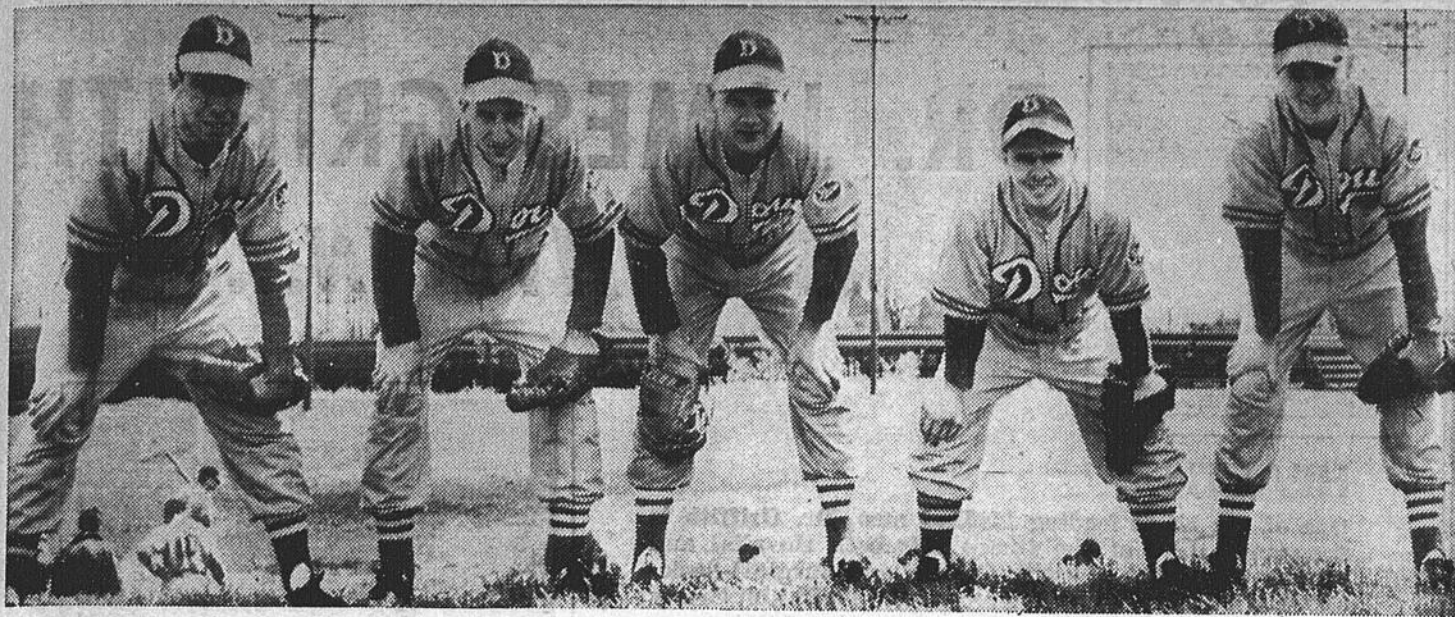

The twirling was top class with Bowles fanning 13 and Anderson 11. Conley Forey took over the MacRae catching chores in the second inning, relieving McDonald. Regular backstop Bud Selby is on the injured list.

Trenholme collected 14 hits off the combined efforts of Prudential's Jack Kugler and Ed Brown to account for their runs, mainly on bunts. McWilliams had his charges laying them down all night, and then running wild.

Kugler left the scene in the sixth inning, and was charged with the loss. Red Davis was the winner, giving up only two hits in the 10-4 victory. Errors gave Prudential three markers.

Catcher Jacques Guilbault was best for the winners, having a perfect night in three trips.

Westbury Debut Sees Legare Stop FBI on 3 Hits

Gilles Legare gave up his first earned runs of the year Wednesday, as FBI Tomato Kings clipped him at the Westbury park inaugural. But that didn't prevent the slender righthander from coming back and edging the Kings 4-3, on a masterful three hitter. The win moved Dow into a first place tie with the Kings.

The Dow club rallied from behind a 2-0 deficit to score three runs off FBI ace Gibby Wesolowski, and added another marker later. Meanwhile Legare ran through 15 straight FBI hitters before his mates made two consecutive errors behind him.

Legare struck out but one during the evening, while Wesolowski fanned six. Neither walked a man. But using his famed slow ball to full effect he limited the Kings to hits by Pete Constable, Sol Nish and Jerry Levinson. The win boosted Legare's record to 5-0, best in the loop.

All came in the second frame, and resulted in two runs. The Brewers came back strong in their half of the third with consecutive bingles by Jack McKissock, Huey Hall, who played right field, and Legare himself who knocked in two runs with a wrong field double.

Dow added another marker in the seventh when Noel Rom-
