Council agrees:

Sewer work gets another $66,300

Westmount City council, at a meeting held Tuesday evening in City Hall, agreed to an additional expenditure of $46,000 on the sewer construction in the southern section of the city near St. Catherine and Prince Albert due to the latter collapsing.

The old sewer on Prince Albert collapsed due to its proximity to the new work. It was in this area that tunneling rather than open cut was being used on the new sewer.

It was also agreed at the same time to pay a total of $20,300 to cover the reinstatement of pavements in this section of the city where sewer work has been done.

According to city plans, it is this south western section of the city which is called Area Two. Area One, was located in the area of Westmount avenue and Victoria avenue. The work in this area is completed.

EXPROPRIATIONS

The city expropriated another property on Atwater, civic number 1182, for the sum of $30,800. This is all part of the Dorchester area expropriation. The amount was paid to the owner of the property, Edmond Caron.

That section of buildings which the city expropriated on the south side of St. Catherine street west of Greene will not stand much longer. At the council meeting, a tender by the Beaver Demolition Co. of $2,300 and two weeks was accepted by the city. No date was given for the work to begin, but city officials say it won't be long, for some of the buildings are not safe.

Re-locating officer to be installed

The City of Westmount has dug deeper into its assistance bag and come up with yet another aid for the Selby area residents.

A few months ago, the city asked the provincial government for an extension to their demolition date which they had set for the Selby area. The homes on the best part of this street must come down to make way for the Trans-Canada Highway. The original date, if kept, would mean the bulldozers would be rolling down Selby street next month.

But the city came to the rescue and got the residents an extension until May 1967.

It has been found that the Urban Renewal Scheme will not be able to provide low cost housing by that time.

Urban renewal is another city idea for these residents.

The study, which is now being carried out by city planner Goldyn Sunderland, will not be completed until sometime next month.

This being the case, the residents are going to have to find other housing until urban renewal or whatever comes of urban renewal, can be implemented.

This is where the city has dug into its assistance bag again. They will set up a re-location officer in the urban renewal office at 1035 Greene avenue whose purpose it will be to aid these people in finding suitable housing as of May 1967.

Next week's weather By ERIC NEAL

JUNE 18 TO 25

Cloudless, blue sky sunrises are normal to open this holiday week. Humidity high, so some afternoon heat thundershowers may be expected.

Morning drizzle in the mountains, even a few snow flakes in the north. Afternoons bright and very warm. Bright and very warm through the middle of the week, but Saturday and Sunday are likely to be stormy.

Tornado prone districts like Hawkesbury-Carillon, Ile Perrot and Ste. Anne also around Lake Champlain will have torrential rains. Heavy wind damage and flooded underpasses always possible this June weekend.

Assaults-vandalism false alarms keep police busy here

A young man has pleaded not guilty here to a charge of indecent assault and has been remanded for trial on June 29th.

It is an open and shut case as far as the police are concerned for one officer was an eye witness to the assault and another officer saw it before the man was arrested on the spot.

A police officer was on his way to work one day last week, when he came up Greene avenue near the Unity Boys' Club, below Dorchester boulevard.

In his written report he stated that he saw a man in the bushes across from the club and thought this strange. He turned his car around and went back to watch the man.

It was then he saw the man assaulting a 5-year-old girl. Another officer arrived on the scene at the same time and both men observed the assault. They arrested the man and brought him to the station where he was charged with indecent assault.

In court this week the man pleaded not guilty.

Slashed hoses

Residents of Roslyn avenue near Sherbrooke were amazed to find that their garden hoses had been cut this week. At least five residents called police to report the matter.

Police found a pair of garden shears near Sherbrooke street and one woman told them that she had heard young voices laughing and yelling on the street the night the hoses were cut.

Police officials stated that it more than likely was a group of young people on their way home from a party and thought they would have, "a little fun".

False Alarms

Westmount police officials have announced that within the 45 day period from May 1, to June 14, they received no less than 180 false burglar alarms from homes in Westmount.

The majority of the homes are located above Westmount avenue and the alarms are either tripped by nervous residents or defective.

"In any case," said one police official, "every time an alarm sounds, it takes at least one car and sometimes three off the road."

Police say there is nothing they can do in these cases, residents hear a noise and without doing any checking first, they send in the alarm.

Youth arrested

Police arrested a youth recently, who was making indecent passes at girls in the Greene avenue area near Sherbrooke street. The youth was caught by two detectives running through some lanes at the rear of Greene.

The young man, who had girls in the area worried for a short time, would walk along the street and all of a sudden make an indecent pass at one of them and run.

Police watched the street for several days, but the youth stayed out of sight. When he was finally caught and questioned, he admitted the charges.

Post-election information

A close look at the poll by poll results, listed in last week's Examiner, of the June 5th provincial election brings to light a few very interesting facts.

Most noticeable of these is the fact that in the polls on the Boulevard and Westmount avenue, Andree Hobden, the RIN candidate gained a total of 31 votes. Although the National Union candidate, Urbain Fisher, defeated John Dunne, who ran as an Independent, Dunne defeated him in almost every poll in Westmount itself. It was the polls outside the city, yet inside the riding, in which Fisher acquired his strength.

In the Boulevard and Westmount avenue polls, Fisher gained 110 votes while Dunne collected 204.

Rotary Carnival a hit — winds up Saturday

With a gala opening night that may well set a 'first-night' record for the event, and a steady following Wednesday — Westmount Rotarians are expecting three terrific turnouts tonight, Friday and Saturday at their Carnival layout in the Artificial Ice Rink on St. Catherine street west at the Glen.

Said Bill Reay, Carnival chairman, "It was a great opening on Tuesday evening — there was a big crowd — our revenue may be down slightly because when people are playing games of skill they take time to aim — but everyone was having a really good time — and that's the main thing."

For the next three evenings the word is, more merchandise for prizes, and this factor alone is expected to give the final three nights an 'over-capacity' rating.

The T.T.

The Toonerville Trolley has proven to be one of the real highlights of the show, and small fry from many parts of the city are insisting on a trip to the Carnival and a ride on the miniature street-car.

This year, the Westmount Rotarians are using the funds gained through the Carnival to help pay for a new dining hall at Weredale Camp. The camp's original dining hall, which was built by the Rotary Club back in 1934, was destroyed by a fire late last summer.

A Westmouter in Great Britain

Dancing with wallflowers

by Stephen Schofield

Dunsfold, Surrey, Eng.: My greatest regret of years at McGill university, even greater than not graduating, is that I did not understand the practical value of dancing with wallflowers.

How often Westmount hostesses, that is, the mother of the family, approached me with a smile and a greeting: "Hello, Stephen! Tell me, how is your mother? Mm... mmm, I see. Now Stephen, will you be an angel and dance with one of those..."

Of course I complied, although there is a way out of this dilemma, as I learned from my mother who similarly asked a youth at one of my parties.

A little lost and bewildered, he was standing at the foot of the stairs and replied with one cryptic remark: "Oh! I forgot..." and disappeared up the stairs.

KNOCKOUTS PREFERRED

I digressed, but only when asked, for dancing with wallflowers could be like hugging a jointed rake or coming in with the tide, depending on grace and girth. I never knew that it is actually a higher form of existence.

I preferred knockouts and danced with knockouts, usually pliant as a willow and light on their tootsie-wootsies. To the entrancing motivation of Rose Room, Top Hat and My Melancholy Baby, especially by my old friend Eddy Alexander and his orchestra, I felt I could dance until the milkmen went home.

What I failed to understand is that the wallflowers present an opportunity for making oneself agreeable against one's inclinations, albeit the contours of her legs may resemble a broomhandle.

EXPANSION

I did not comprehend that this forces me to expand to some degree as a person, while dancing with a knockout does not; dancing with a knockout I remain merely what I am.

Nor did I perceive that this applies to almost everything, even studies and work. As the student studies with reluctance and turns gleefully to chat with the boys, nearly every reporter or writer, when the moment comes for solid labor, tends to shirk or defer it.

That superb writer, C. S. Forester, author of the Captain Hornblower series, those wonderful stories so beautifully written, had to goad himself each morning, as he said, "to get the miserable thing done."

AFTERGLOW

My ignorance involved another point. In trying to like the wallflower one at least dislikes her less or likes her more; indeed she may become highly preferable; and the knockouts appear more attractive.

Although their attractiveness has not increased, it seems to have increased. They seem more alluring in the afterglow of having stretched oneself to do something one does not want to do.

Concerning work, I never realized that concentration to pinpoint focus on a painting, a problem or a page, applying the full bent of the brain, precipitates elation proportionate to the effort expended.

Very late one night, a loud voice in the street lured a woman to her window in New York. She saw a big man walking alone on the deserted street, singing with great abandon, "I wrote ten thousand words today, I wrote ten thousand words today..." The man was Thomas Wolfe.* (He too was always loath to begin).

More important, I had no idea that concentrating on people and things I like arrests growth as a person; that getting out in the middle of the floor, as it were, even to falter and fall, is better than going to the wall, trying to hang on and learning nothing. My regret is not knowing I must grope in the dark and jump off the deep end, or else become stagnant and rigid. How deliciously easy and comfortable it is, and sometimes unwittingly Satanic, to take the bit in our teeth and do as we please. The number of shattered homes attributable to this lack of resilience must be considerable.

VITAL FACT

This is quite apart from the vital fact: the utter chagrin of a girl, the awful feeling of being unwanted, for her the nadir of humiliation, which is indeed gentlemanly to assuage.

For we know that if Christ appeared in human form at any persuasion from the host-ess to the wallflowers for that very reason. His compassion would press him there without any persuasion from the host-ess. Of that there is not the slightest doubt.

Even for the atheist or agnostic, the practical value remains. Along the stony road to being wanted in any field by this world that meets no one half-way, strength to withstand the slings and arrows, the jolts and rebuffs we all encounter, as well as zest for today and anticipation for tomorrow, depend at least partly on deliberately acquired resilience.

CATARACTS

The recurring question is whether to wilt or grow while life blooms like a garden for he who breaks through the wall of inertia? Each to his taste.

Could anyone tell me this? Not with a wedge and a sledgehammer. Buoyant on a chasm of 20 in a well cut suit

Library

The library will be closed Saturdays through the summer months, starting with Saturday, June 18th, and re-opening on Saturday, September 10th.

The library will also be closed all day Friday, June 24th., St. Jean Baptiste Day, and all day Friday, July 1st., Dominion Day.

French books for children on exhibit

For the next few weeks, the Westmount Public Library will be featuring an unusual exhibit of French books for children. The display is arranged by the Cultural Service of the French Embassy and is supervised by the Canadian Library Association.

The books on display cover a wide range of topics from the simplest of picture books to the full text of Jules Verne's "Around the World in Eighty Days." There are also many non-fiction books to be seen. Children from the ages of four to thirteen would benefit most from them.

Through the books on display will not be available for circulation many can be found in the French section of the Westmount Children's Library. This collection of books provides a good indication of just what is available for young readers. For parents who wish to encourage their children to read French books, in French, this is an opportunity not to be missed.

and a quiet tie, I knew everything, especially about girls.

"Oh, Stephen, you are an angel..."

"Why, Mrs. Hemingway, I'm delighted..."

I obeyed blindly. I had cataracts. Thick Cataracts.

Quite by chance, the other day, here in our house as a guest, was a teacher of Vassar, the women's college in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. When I asked him if Wolfe was still being read much in the U.S., he said, "Oh, yes, probably more now than ever."

'Vacant House' list — top on holiday job must

Are you leaving your home to go on holidays soon? If so, there is one important job you must not overlook.

The Westmount Police Department is waiting for your call in order that they may enter your name and address on their 'Vacant House' list.

If your name is on this list, while you are away, your house will be given a regular check by the police and all patrol cars will know that the home is, at present, unoccupied and will watch it closely.

It is no secret, Westmount homes are a prize catch for burglars. They watch our homes more than most others. They watch you; so you owe it to yourself to leave your home in safe hands while on holidays.

Things To Do.
There are many other things you should do for your home's safety, if you are planning a trip, but this is the most important. Call the police and have your name entered on the "Vacant House" list.

Police officials here have listed the ways a burglar gains entry to a home. These are things you must watch for:

are caused by inadequate front door locks. If a lock gives you the least bit of trouble, or is not reasonably strong enough — have it replaced before your vacation.

Members find slow moments after bout with exams

By L. WILLIS

All is "Sweetness and Light" at the Club during the first halcyon days of summer. The end of school is eagerly anticipated by the members who come groaning in each afternoon after a bout with exams.

The staff are working diligently on the Summer Program, gathering material on the various countries being featured — Brazil, Japan and The Netherlands. By the way if any readers have any material which could be used in this connection it would be appreciated. The Club is looking very gala with the walls hung with very colorful posters acquired from the Embassies, Air Lines and Railway, while the rafters ring with the really weird songs of "Birds of Brazil" which Tom Stephens delights in playing, some of them really curdle the blood while others inspire the staff to break into song and dance.

CRAFTS
The Craft Room is a busy place each afternoon with the latest projects being modelling with clay. Some of the staff are not too bright at recognizing the objects produced but nevertheless some outstanding effects have been obtained both in traditional and pop art.

A most intricate and beautifully designed Pagoda is also being constructed to tie in with the Japan program. Several members, under the direction of Tori Schrammel have been working on this, gluing many thousands of tooth picks to get a very realistic bamboo effect. This is a real work of art and must be seen to be fully appreciated. A Windmill will be constructed next and some modern piece of architecture typical of Brazil.

GAMES ROOM:
Some members find their "After Exam" relaxation in the gymnasium where the Ping Pong Tables and Carom game are constantly busy, tumbling is enjoyed by others with the odd game of handball thrown in.

SUMMER STAFF:
As well as our full time staff of Director Charlie Howes, Program Director Tom Stephens and Girls' Worker Tori Schrammel.

We Say

How can Quebec attract French?

THERE is no reason why Quebec should not have its own immigration department.

Other provinces, notably Ontario, have for years recruited new citizens abroad.

But the suggestion, from the Quebec Federation of St. Jean Baptiste Societies, as we read it springs from the wrong motive.

By all means French Canada should swell its numbers, wherever it can find them — so long as newcomers are selected who will make a contribution to Quebec (and Canadian) society, commerce, industry, the arts or what-have-you.

The Societies seem preoccupied with mere numbers. And that's not good enough.

It will do no one, least of all French Canada, any good to swamp us indiscriminately with people simply because they speak French — or any language — without regard to their skills and their opportunities here for gainful employment.

It's worth trying. Yet again, we wonder at the prospects for success. The field for recruitment is limited to France, parts of Belgium and areas of their colonial influence. France has a booming economy from which the enticements would have to be magnetic. Quebec is making giant social and economic strides; but can these yet outdraw the proud nationalism of citizenship of France?

Immigration based on language is a policy doubtful of success. The new people Quebec wants are likely to hold visions of the New World unconfined to one provincial segment of it.

Upper Level nabobs tops in votes, too

BEFORE everyone settles down to being governed by the National Union, there is a footnote on last week's provincial general election to be recorded.

In answer to our editorial chastisement of over half the Westmount electorate who failed to vote, one woman among the 48 percent who did cast their ballots phoned to say:

"Westmount looked so bad because of all them rich nabobs on the Upper Level. Them's the ones away at their country places, touring abroad or golfing — too stuck up to vote like common folk."

We looked at the figures.

The 16 polls located on The Boulevard and Westmount avenue had 3,165 eligible voters, of whom 2,144 voted. That's 67.7 percent.

As an aside: 1,771 or 82.6 percent voted for Liberal Mr. Hyde, 9.5 percent for Independent Mr. Dunne and 5.1 percent for N.U. Mr. Fisher.

YOU SAY

Hyde, as a Liberal, must be defeated

Sir: The results of the election of Sunday, June 5th, in Westmount are discouraging to be sure.

I feel Mr. Hyde has failed to do very much, if anything, for Westmount — but the lack of vigorous opposition could not help but let him win.

If the National Union continues to run the lacklustre, almost non-existent campaign, as it has recently in Westmount, then even the best candidates will go down to defeat.

The splinter parties showed little strength. I feel this is disappointing, especially in the case of the Quebec Con-

Biography of Streets Clarke avenue

Through the account given by Washington Irving's 'Astoria' we have followed John Clarke, whose family lived on what is now Clarke avenue, in his expedition across the continent to Astoria, the settlement founded by John Astor in 1810. The War of 1812 was in the making as John Clarke left Astoria with others of his party to obtain pelts from the Indians of Columbia Valley. This final instalment on Clarke avenue gives Irving's account of the famous 'silver goblet' episode.

On the 30th Clarke arrived at the confluence of the Paveion and Lewis Rivers, where he had left his barge and canoes, in the guardianship of the old Pierced-nose chieftain. That dignitary had acquitted himself more faithfully to his charge than Clarke had expected, and the canoes were found in very tolerable order. Some repairs were necessary, and while they were being made, the party encamped close by the village. Having had repeated and vexatious proof of the pilfering propensities of this tribe during his former visit, Clarke ordered that a wary eye should be kept upon them.

He was a tall, good-looking man, and somewhat given to pomp and circumstances, which made the object of note in the eyes of the wondering savages. He was stately too, in his appointments, and had a silver goblet or drinking cup, out of which he would drink with a magnificent air, and then lock it up in a large 'garde vin' which accompanied him on his travels, and stood in his tent. This goblet had originally been sent as a present from Mr. Astor to Mr. McKay, the partner who unfortunately had been blown up in the Tonquin, (first vessel in the seaborne expedition to Astoria.)

A silver goblet was too glittering a prize not to catch the eye of a Pierce-nose. Such a wonder had never been seen in the land before. That night, Clarke neglected to lock up his treasure; in the morning the sacred casket was open — the precious relic gone.

Clarke was now outrageous. All the past vexations that that he had suffered from this pilfering community rose to his mind, and he threatened that, unless the goblet was promptly returned, he would hang the thief if he should eventually discover him.

The day passed away, however, without the restoration of the cup. At night sentinels were secretly posted about the camp. With all their vigilance a Pierce-nose contrived to get into the camp unperceived, and to load himself with booty. It was only on his retreat that he was discovered and taken.

At daybreak the culprit was brought to trial, and promptly convicted. He stood responsible for all the spoils of the camp, the conservatives. I hope Mr. Billette will continue his work.

To my mind, Mr. Hyde, as a Liberal, must be defeated, and soon, if the citizens of this riding are to have effective representation.

I feel, in a few years, I could provide this representation, and therefore have decided to run in the first provincial election my age permits. I hope the people of Westmount would support me, and we could, together, work for a strong Quebec in a strong Canada.

Let us also hope that the new N.U. government will not only allow 18-year-olds the franchise they now have — but also the right to run.

John Aimers
559 Roslyn avenue

let among the number. Clarke passed sentence of death upon him.

A gibbet was accordingly constructed of oars; the chief of the village and his people were assembled and the culprit was produced with his hands and feet pinioned. Clarke then made a harangue. He reminded the tribe of the benefits he had bestowed upon them during his former visits, and the many thefts and misdeeds that he had overlooked. The prisoner especially had been well treated by the white man, but had repeatedly been guilty of pilfering. He was to be punished for his own misdeeds, and to serve as a warning to the tribe.

The Indians now gathered around Clarke and interceded for the culprit. They were willing he should be punished severely, but implored that his life might be spared. The companions, too, of Clarke considered the sentence too severe, and advised him to mitigate it; but he was inexorable. He was not naturally a stern or cruel man; but from his boyhood he had lived in the Indian country among the Indian traders and held the life of a savage extremely cheap. He was, moreover, a firm believer in the doctrine of intimidation.

Farnham, a clerk, a tall Green Mountain boy from Vermont, who had been robbed of a pistol, acted as executioner. The signal was given and the poor Pierced-nose, resisting, struggling and screaming, in the most frightful manner, was launched into eternity. The Indians stood around gazing in silence and mute awe, but made no attempt to oppose the execution, nor testify any emotion when it was over. They locked up their feelings within their bosoms until an opportunity should arrive to gratify them with a bloody act of vengeance.

To say nothing of the needless severity of this act, its impolicy was glaringly obvious, McLennan, and three men were returned to the post with the horses, their loads having been transferred to the canoes. They would have to pass through a tract infested by this tribe, who were all horsemen and hard riders, and might pursue them to take vengeance for the death of their comrade. McLennan, however, was a resolute fellow, and made light of all dangers. He and his three men were present at the execution, and set off as soon as life was extinct in the victim; but to use the words of one of their comrades, they did not let the grass grow under the heels of their horses, and they clattered out of Pierced-nose country, and were glad to find themselves in safety at the post.

Clarke and his party embarked about the same time in their canoes, and early on the following day reached the mouth of the Wallah-Wallah, where they found Stuart and Mackenzie awaiting them; the latter having recovered some of the things stolen from his cache. Clarke informed them of the signal punishment he had inflicted

Royal Bank to award $50,000 annually

An annual Award of $50,000 for outstanding Canadian achievement was announced recently by The Royal Bank of Canada as part of its contribution to commemoration of the Centenary of Confederation. The first Award, said the bank's Chairman and President, W. Earle McLaughlin, 67 Sunnyside avenue, will be made in 1967.

Recalling that there have been many dramatic discoveries, inventions or innovations by Canadians or by people from other lands working here, Mr. McLaughlin said it is to be regretted that this nation has hitherto neglected to recognize appropriately the attainments of individuals who have contributed so largely in science, technology, agriculture, business, arts and the humanities. The Royal Bank Centennial Award, he hoped, will in some measure fill the need.

This Award, to be made on the decision of six eminent Canadians, is to recognize outstanding achievements in any field of endeavour. The criterion: does the achievement contribute to the common good and human welfare of Canada or the world society? Chairman of the selection committee is Dr. A. W. Trueman, London, Ont., and the other members are: G. Maxwell Bell, Calgary; the Hon. J. V. Clynne, Vancouver; Dr. Roger Gaudry, Montreal; The Rt. Hon. J. L. Hsley, Halifax; and Dr. O. M. Solandt, Toronto.

"This selection committee," said Mr. McLaughlin, "will act as a completely independent body with full responsibility for receiving suggestions of names to be considered, appraising the qualities of the research or other contribution, and deciding to who the Award shall go. The bank will have nothing whatsoever to do with the selection process."

"There are no strings attached to the Award," Mr. McLaughlin stressed. "The recipient is given the Award in token of his contribution to society, and he can spend it as he likes. Unlike most grants, it is not tied to any specific research or project."

Not eligible for awards are institutions and corporations, persons elected by popular vote to federal, provincial and municipal governments, and directors and staff of the chartered banks.

on the Pierced-nose, evidently expecting to excite their admiration by such a hardy act of justice, performed in the very midst of the Indian country, but was mortified at finding it strongly censured as inhuman, unnecessary, and likely to provoke hostilities.

The parties thus united forming a squadron of two boats and six canoes, with which they performed their voyage in safety down the river, and arrived at Astoria on the 12th of June, bringing with them a valuable stock of pelts.

One of partners, McDougal, without letting the others know, had actually sold out to the Northwest Company to support whose activities a ship had arrived around the Horn. Clarke and some of the others still loyal to Astor set off in April of 1814 to cross the continent back to New York. This concludes the biography on Clarke Avenue.

ROVING REPORTER

By Oliver Towne

Louis Bacal, 53, of 724 Upper Belmont avenue, who was injured Saturday when his car went out of control and crashed, was reported in satisfactory condition in Royal Victoria Hospital.

Bacal suffered multiple fractures when his car struck a sign post then careened into a rock wall on Camillien Houde boulevard.

The car in which he was riding was demolished.

The Westmount Fire Department is expecting a new fire engine within days. No information was given on the new machine, other than it was a very advanced piece of equipment. Delay in delivery was due to a power part missing from the new fire engine. The truck was made in Canada and The Examiner will carry a picture of it just as soon as it arrives.

West bound traffic gets into an awful mess at the corner of Greene and Sherbrooke every night at 5 p.m. There is only one west bound lane open on Sherbrooke and a little way down on Greene, the north bound lane is closed. Motorists are asked to please avoid these streets if at all possible. Work is being done on the sewers in this area and is expected to last well into the summer. A little south on St. Catherine street, we find that west bound traffic between Wood and Greene is being re-routed up Wood. All this has caused "no parking" on Olivier avenue, because the buses now use that avenue below Western.

Laurier LaPierre, 75 Chesterfield avenue, ex-co-host of "This Hour Has Seven Days," and director of French Canada Studies Program at McGill University, in presenting the findings of a national survey during last weekend at the University of Sherbrooke on, "Studies on Canada in the Humanities and Social Sciences," said, "Sixty Canadian universities are giving a total of 806 courses which deal in whole or in part with Canada."

Westmount "psychoanalyst" Andre LaRiviere was sentenced to 20 years in prison this week for the crimes of abortion, procuring and fraud. The Grosvenor avenue resident is still awaiting trial on 50 morals charges.

Westmount Police detectives Brian Hunter and Bill Jones are both new fathers. Mrs. Hunter gave birth to a girl while Mrs. Jones had a boy. All are doing well including the detectives.

Four well known Westmount residents were among the five men elected to three-year terms on the board of governors of Sir George Williams University.

Elected were: Peter M. McEntyre, 444 Clarke avenue, Commissioner of Finance for the City of Westmount, and vice-president and secretary of Commercial Trust Co. Ltd.

Frank W. McIntosh, 593 Argyle avenue, management consultant. John W. Tait, 642 Murray Hill avenue, executive vice-president of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Co. Ltd.

Fourth is Eric L. Hamilton, 650 Belmont avenue, vice-president and director of C-I-L.

BISHOP AND MRS. P. S. C. POWLES in the ceremonial dress of Japan.

B. Ruth Powles — Canadian liaison with the east

Last week we met a lady who can truly claim to have helped east meet west.

Mrs. P. C. B. Powles who lives in a cheerful window boxed apartment in Westmount, decorated with many of the beautiful creations of Japan, spent her life in that country and brought up her family of six children. With her husband who was to become Bishop of mid-Japan they carried on the work of the Anglican Church of Canada from 1918 to her husband's death in 1957.

In 1916 Mrs. Powles and her husband were married in Westmount where she had been born and educated, and where she had been teaching in the Westmount High School for six years. They left immediately for the Canadian missionary diocese of Mid-Japan where they were to make their life work, and where their six children were to be born.

Mrs. Powles was well equipped to teach her children herself and as there were no English speaking people in the old castle town of Takada, she had a regular school room schedule and managed so well that when they came home to Westmount on periodic furloughs the children were able to go into our regular schools for a year's study under conditions which could not have been more different, and to do very well indeed.

So well that all six graduated from McGill. Cyril with an M.A. was ordained and returned to teach at the Central Theological College in Tokyo. William in Medicine is now a specialist in the department of psychiatry at Queen's University. Joy (Mrs. Basil Smith) graduated in arts with a Master of Social Work later is still active at the Montreal General Hospital despite an active young family. Isabel also in arts, later trained at the Montreal General for her R.N., now lives in London, England with her husband Reverend John Rowe. Percival, with arts and Master of Science, later his Ph.D. in biology is a Biologist at St.

Andrew's by the Sea, New Brunswick. Kathleen graduated with a BA and is now married to Rev. Vincent Goring is back in Japan with five children of her own, the youngest born in Japan, where she is of great help to her husband with her fluent Japanese.

Mrs. Powles and her husband found a great deal in Japan to their liking and their attitude to the country and its people must have accounted for their acceptance by the Samurai of Takada, who are notably suspicious of 'foreigners'. Living in a typical Japanese house they accepted many of the local customs. They wore the Japanese ceremonial dress for important occasions, and found that the sense of history, so well preserved in this ancient area, extremely interesting.

Their work went well and besides his missionary duties the Reverend P. S. B. Powles was responsible for the training of three quarters of the clergy of Mid-Japan, which at that time was a Canadian Anglican missionary diocese. The family was in Westmount on furlough in 1939 and during the year they received many warnings from Bishop Sasaki of Mid-Japan that things did not look very favorable to their immediate return. Although the Reverend Mr. Powles returned early in 1940, by himself, he was able to stay only six months and when the attack on Pearl Harbor came in December 4th 1940 they knew that they would have to remain in Canada for the duration of the war.

This did not mean that the Powles forgot the Japanese people however, they found that they could do a great deal for the unfortunate Nisei, or Canadians of Japanese origin who were coming east for the first time from the ghost towns where they had been placed by the government evacuations.

Mostly young people, they had a very difficult time finding work and living quarters, and with this the Powles helped them to the fullest extent. There was a story of that period that we did not hear from Mrs. Powles, that if you asked any Japanese Canadian you saw on the street where they were going, they almost always said, "to the Powles". Many spent their first nights in Montreal in the Powles home, and Mrs. Powles kept detailed records of the migrations, which were to be handed over to the government when, much later, they began to take an interest in the problems created by the wholesale evacuations. Many of these young people (who seem to Mrs. Powles to be much more Canadian than Japanese) established themselves well, and were anxious to have their parents leave the ghost towns and join them in the Montreal area.

Here again Mrs. Powles was able to contribute. The government asked her to make a tour of the towns to speak to the older people and to convince them that they would be well looked after by their children, and had nothing to fear by making the move.

In 1947 the Reverend Mr. Powles returned to Japan with his wife to find that their bishop had died after his internment in the Japanese prison camp, and in 1948 Mr. Powles was consecrated bishop of Mid-Japan. This time they left their family at school and university in Montreal. The work of the mission went forward now with a more important role for both of them. That of helping to establish a truly Christian democracy in the muddle of the war's aftermath. Mrs. Powles at this time began a book which took the form of letters to Canadian friends, in which their life and work were described. This was published by the M.S.C.C. of the Anglican church and made it possible for those who remained at home to be familiar with the problems and progress of the great work which was being done in Japan.

How every individual can "do something" about the evils and troubles in the world, by starting with himself, will be discussed in the next Christian Science radio broadcast in the regular weekly series "The Bible Speaks to You" which is heard over Station CKVL (dial 850) every Sunday morning at 9:45.

WESTMOUNT EXAMINER

Jody Allison 'top winner' of Selwyn's 21 graduates

At the annual prize-giving day at Selwyn House School recently, headmaster Robert A. Speirs told parents that they had little to fear from the new government, as far as education goes.

"No matter what new ideas the government may have," he said, "they will be propelled into doing more than they might have otherwise done."

Referring to the education policy of the province, Speirs noted that, "a slowing down and thinking over of the whole field of education change, may not be a bad thing at this moment."

Speirs' remarks preceded a guest address by Dr. Howard I. Ross, chancellor of McGill University and a former governor of the independent boys' school.

Top prize-winner among the school's 21 graduates was Jody Allison, who was presented with the Lucas Medal "for the most outstanding boy in the senior form of the school in work, games, leadership and character."

another 33% of ways and means to gain entry.

(3) Third and last, some 25% of all burglaries occur due to doors that are actually left open to the thief.

To increase the safety of your home do the following:

- Use pin timber locks on all outside doors. If door has glass panel, use double cylinder lock requiring key inside. Install door guards such as chain locks. Door frames should be tight and hinges hidden. Put locks on all windows to limit opening to four inches.

- Do not leave important keys 'under the mat' or other obvious places. If keys are lost, change the locks. Separate your house and car keys.

- Lock your garage when taking car out — an unlocked garage may invite entry by a burglar. If there is a direct entry to the house from the garage, be sure the door has an adequate lock.

- Leave lights burning when you leave. Outside lights will discourage burglar. Install automatic timer to turn on lights, perhaps radio, at appropriate time.

- Keep valuables in a safe place. Do not keep large amounts of money in your home — most burglars know what they're after.

- Check references in advance of all persons who come to work in your residence.

- If a burglar breaks into your house, don't panic — an armed robber is dangerous. Observe and remember his appearance. If a car is used, get the taking car out — an unlocked licence number.

St. Paul's news shorts

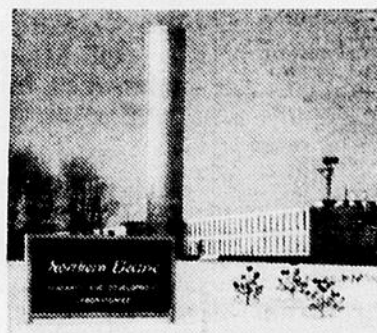

By LYNN CHAPMAN

Two weeks ago, June 3, Clare McManus and Carol Innes, both of 4th high, found that they were the recipients of four-year scholarships to McGill. The same week Jane Traleaven also got word that she was to receive a four-year scholarship to Marianopolis College. The whole school is still reeling, since this makes five such scholarships to date in the one class! Profuse congratulations to one and all!

Monday, May 30, was the annual gym display at St. Paul's. All grades participated. Each class performed some co-ordinated series of movements. The audience consisted of parents, family and teachers. Watchers were also treated to a display of skills on the various apparatus. Trophy for best basketball player was presented to Maureen Newman of 4th high. Our thanks to Miss Larochelle, our coach, for her help.

Wednesday, June 1st, there was a science Display. It was sponsored and planned by the Science Club. Among the variety of objects displayed were a calf's heart, a sheep's heart, and all the various parts of a frog, labelled and separately preserved. Diagrams were also provided, in detail, and with pieces of information about the animal concerned.

Everybody talks about the 'brain drain'

Bell does something about it

Quietly — perhaps too quietly — we've been assembling one of Canada's finest teams of scientists and engineers in our Northern Electric Laboratories in Ottawa. (Northern Electric, as you know, is Bell's manufacturing subsidiary.)

They have already produced new communications equipment that leads the world: advanced telephone/intercom sets for business; the world's smallest fully automatic dial exchange; improved microwave systems; and other items for which there was a specific Canadian need. Now you can see how we not only keep our talent in Canada, but actually attract bright minds from all over the world:

We ask them to solve unique and challenging problems.

Dominion-Douglas Congregation to honor organist

Next Sunday morning Dominion-Douglas Church will recognize over twenty-one years continuous service of its organist, Mr. John Robb.

At the morning worship, an addition to the organ will be dedicated. This Manual will complete the organ, giving to it greater brilliance and variety.

Dr. Smith will preach on the theme "Praise Ye The Lord." Following the service, a Reception will be tendered Mr. Robb by the congregation. Mr. Robb came to the Dominion-Douglas from St. James over twenty-one years ago and has been well known for his own arrangements and musical compositions. He has also been active in inter-church activities and on many occasions his choir has sung THE MESSIAH in Roman Catholic Churches and institutions.

LOCK UP THE G-MEN?
It seems that zealous FBI men looking for draft-dodgers have entered Canada in their search without sanction of Canadian authorities. This is a very bold act and one against which we feel the Canadian government should take violent action. We would suggest . . . treatment of the offender as an enemy agent working within our borders. — Dawson Creek (B.C.) Peace River Block News.

Priest marks 25th anniversary

A Westmount born priest was recently honored at a banquet marking his 25th anniversary as a priest. Father Matthew Dubee was born in Westmount and educated at Loyola College and Georgetown University, prior to his theological studies at the Grand Seminary. He was ordained by Archbishop Charbonneau on June 7, 1941. Since his ordination, Fr. Dubee has been chaplain to diocesan camps, a professor of English at College Grasset, and curate at St. Patrick's and St. Aloysius Parishes. In 1960, he succeeded the present Bishop of Antigonish as pastor of St. Jean Brebeuf Parish, where he continues to serve proudly as spiritual father to the English-speaking Catholics of LaSalle. He is well-known for his work in the field of communicative arts.

S. T. Paton:

'Lift
interest ceiling'

"A number of changes in banking legislation are essential if the structure and operations of Canada's financial system are to be improved and if the chartered banks are to be enabled to make their maximum contribution to the progress and growth of the Canadian economy," S. T. Paton, president, The Canadian Bankers' Association said at Montebello, Que., last week.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Association, Paton, said the major road block to be removed is the six per cent ceiling on bank loans, which the Royal Commission on Banking and Finance recommended, regardless of other changes in the Bank act.

NORMAL PURPOSE

"The Royal Commission and the developments of recent years have proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that the ceiling is not in the public interest. Interest rates are not being permitted their normal purpose in the banking system..... and this has resulted in distortions and inequities. Competing near-banks are offering interest rates on term deposits which are higher than the chartered banks can charge on commercial loans.

"One of the most important facts is that the interest rate ceiling is an anomaly in an economy as open as ours and in one in which is in need of smoothly functioning capital markets."

We see and hear

● WE SEE on first visiting the cottage this season that the Westmount library was quite right to insist that book No. XXX was not returned by us last fall. So we will paste in the receipt they gave us when we reluctantly paid for it and put it back on the shelf.

* * *

● WE HEAR from designer-photographer RUDY HAAS who used to live on Wood Avenue that the origin of his well known seed pictures was Westmount Park. Rudy, who designed at that time for the Penthouse Studios on St. Catherine street, spent his lunch hours in the park, where he first noticed the lovely patterns of the seeds from our maple trees. He took some home to photograph, and found that in color transparency they were even more interesting, and that placed close to each other they took on the form of the legs of animals. Soon he was making animal pictures from our seeds in great variety and expressiveness, and these proved of special interest to children. Out of it grew SMALL WORLD PRODUCTIONS, and a whole series of animated films and stories, to entertain children.

Rudy says that he got to know the trees in the park so well that when planning his slides he would know how many seeds from which tree he would need. "Each tree is different" he told us, "and the shapes of the seeds are different too."

Now he is working on a much larger tree which tells the story of the peoples who make up Canada. Called "The Peoples' Tree," it will be part of the Federal Government pavilion at Expo. To get material for this he makes journeys as far north as Baffin Island, and from coast to coast. On one of the days he was looking for seeds one of our park workmen misunderstood his mission. "If you pick up the empties instead," he told Rudy, "You'll soon have enough to buy a whole package of cigarettes."

* * *

● WE SEE that Mme. Kirkland Casgrain has been re-elected in the recent election though we are sorry that she will no longer be minister of transport. We wonder how many others found as we did that after she assumed this portfolio our drivers license began to fit into an ordinary wallet without overlapping. We wish that she or another woman would attack the companies who send us bills that do not fit any ordinary envelope, and the banks who insist on too long checks. It would make the first of the month so much simpler.

* * *

● We hear from DR. JOHN F. MCCREARY dean of medicine at UBC that nurses are to take the place of doctors on routine house calls in the future, and we feel that this will turn the profession from a very good marriage risk into a doubtful one.

* * *

● We see that DANIEL JOHNSON has promised us the first Ombudsman in Canada. 'Ombudsman' in case you don't know, is a Scandinavian name and idea, he is a man employed by the government to be available to those who feel that they have had an official bad deal. So he is bound to be busy.

* * *

● We hear that JAMES MEREDITH has recovered from his gun shot wounds in a Mississippi hospital, and we can't help but wonder if it was a segregated hospital.

John Newman's Beavers:

Four battle for key passing positions

One of Marvin Bass' first promises to Montreal football fans when he was introduced to the news media as Head Coach of the Continental League Beavers was that his team would supply wide-open exciting football.

With this in mind the Club has made extra efforts to bring in brilliant pass receivers and today the team announces the names of four players who have signed for tryouts at the two prime receiving positions — split-end and flanker.

Joe Rider and Olvin 'Ollie' Moreland, Jr., played successfully at the split end and flanker positions with the Fort Wayne Warriors last season. The Beavers have taken over the Warriors' roster.

Rookies

The other two candidates — Frank Nix and Woodward Williams III are rookies to this calibre of ball but they own glowing recommendations and give indication that the fight for the first string jobs will be keen.

The 23 year old Rider had his best pass — catching season in 1954 with the Indianapolis Warriors of the now defunct United League. The 5'11" four-letter athlete at Bradley University led Indianapolis in receptions and scored eight touchdowns. In one game against Joliet, Michigan he caught 10 passes and scored two touchdowns. Just recently Rider was selected to Bradley University's Hall of Fame.

Moreland played his college ball at Oregon State University where he made the all — Southern League first team and was player of the year in 1964. He caught 35 passes for 428 yards and then last year proved he could fit in with the pros when he caught 42 passes for Fort Wayne and covered 875 yards.

58 passes

Williams played two years of semi-pro ball in the Northern Division of the Pacific League after starring at Olympic Junior College in Bremerton, Washington. Though he was playing tight end in his first year as a semi-pro, Williams caught 58 passes and scored three touchdowns. Last year the 6'1", 205 pounder who can scamper one hundred yards inside ten seconds, caught 67 passes for better than 1,000 yards and scored 13 touchdowns.

Nix is a darkhorse entry since he has been out of football for a few years while studying law at University of Tennessee. The 27 year old, 6'1", 195 pounder had a brilliant career at Georgia Tech where he was a track star as well as football standout.

The Beavers now have signed enough players so that Bass and Assistant George Brancato are able to work on depth charts. Better than 40 players are expected to be in town before the opening of Training Camp at Loyola which is scheduled for July 15th.

Playground programme announced

The City of Westmount Recreation Department will be operating a summer playground program at Prince Albert Park, Westmount Park, and Staynor Park. The first day of registration will be Monday, June 27th at 9:00 a.m. at the comfort stations of the above-named parks.

Boys and girls from 6 to 16 years of age are welcome and will be able to participate in a wide program which includes handicrafts, tours of interest, picnics, sports, etc.

Further information may be had by contacting John Garland, Recreation Supervisor at 932-4293.

St. John Ambulance Plans One-Day First Aid Blitz

A one-day auto safety and first aid blitz campaign organized by St. John Ambulance with the assistance of five major Canadian oil companies will be held in Montreal on Saturday, June 18.

Close to 1,200 volunteers from the St. John Ambulance corps will take up positions at 450 strategically located B.A., Texaco, Shell, Imperial and BP service stations across the island, to sell specially designed automobile first aid kits.

The kits come in two varieties, one in a plastic case, and the second, in a zippered pouch that can be used as a travel kit. Both contain gauze and adhesive bandages, cotton and gauze pads and antiseptic, as well as a pair of scissors.

Also included in each kit is an illustrated St. John Ambulance pocket guide to first aid that covers everything from bee stings and nose bleeds to major injuries. The kits cost $2.95 and $4.95 and have been approved by

St. Leo's tennis:

Fernandes and Bergeron capture mixed doubles

By ANDY MCGILLIS

The St. Leo's and St. Paul's mixed doubles tennis tournament turned out to be a pleasant interlude in the academy's sports programme. It was necessary to limit the number of entries as time was fast running out on the school year when the tournament started.

The final match brought together Neil Fernandes and Monique Bergeron, against Mike Gormly and Lorette Fernandes. It was a hot humid day with only a slight breeze apparent as the match got underway on the sun backed courts at Westmount park.

Mike Gormly and his partner eked out a close 6-5 win in the opening set but Neil Fernandes and Monique Bergeron turned the tables in the second set to win by the same score. The deciding set found Neil at top form as he took over to outplay and outlast the opposition to go on to a convincing 6 to 1 triumph; so take a bow Neil and Margo for a fine performance and a nod to the losers Mike and Loretta for giving it such a fine try.

The semi-final produced a mild surprise, when Reid Sherriffs and Betty Brault were upset by Mike Gormly and Loretta Fernandes. Reid is rated St. Leo's top tennis ace and rightly so, after his sweep for the second successive year to the senior tennis title. The team of Mike Fernandes and Karen Paul made a fine showing before losing out to the hamps Neil Fernandes and Monique Bergeron in the other semi-final match.

SPORTS ROUND UP

The next bowling session will be held on Saturday morning the 25th of June. This popular pastime is another innovation to give more prominence to carry over sports and so far has caught on with the senior hockey group who are giving it a full scale try-out.

A vote of thanks to Judy Keyes and Gerry Fortin for their assistance in working out the draws in the recent guys and dolls tennis tournament. Rocky Rothwell, superintendent of recreation for the city of Westmount, is on the mend after a bout with sickness and his many friends at St. Leo's wish him full speed on that road to recovery.

With the final exams well underway and the corrections to follow, the day of decision is near at hand, when some teachers discover that not all their failures are hockey players. The old fallacy held in some quarters that athletes are less smart than other students, has never been proven and you can bet all the tea in china it never will.

With the hot sultry weather near at hand, members of the senior saints hockey club, can cool off with the comforting thought that the first hockey practice is only a little over three months away, just enough of time for Mike Gormly to discover where they hide his skates and boots.

Proceeds from the sales campaign will go toward expansion of St. John Ambulance activities throughout the Province, highlighted by the volunteer first aid services rendered each winter at major ski centres and at all major football, hockey, disasters as for example the LaSalle tragedy and wherever crowds foregather. St. John Ambulance now has 4,000 volunteers throughout the province.

Birdland:

Bird of the coast resembles clown

By WINIFRED WILSON

Those of us who live inland have little opportunity of coming upon Atlantic Puffins: those strange sea birds that breed on islands off the coast from southern Greenland to Maine. Several islands along the Quebec Labrador coast have been named "Paroquet" because of the great number of these birds, which remind us of Parrots, that nest there. However, they actually look more like little men. As with the Penguins of the Antarctic, their posture gives that impression. They stand up straight on their short legs, which are set well back on their short, plump bodies. Their orange coloured, webbed feet look like bright tan boots extending out in front; their faces are light, they wear black caps, black suits, and white shirts. Their coats are very thick for warmth.

narrow from side to side, are variegated. There are two little yellow ornaments at the corner of the extraordinary, bright red and yellow, triangular bill and two that grow above and below each eye. These fantastic masks are shed at the end of the breeding season, leaving a dull, smaller bill. But the birds are seldom seen after that because, although some stay right where they breed, the majority go to the open sea for the winter.

Especially in spring and summer Puffins look like clowns because their large bills, high yet

Three teachers retire from WMHS

Norman Wood, principal of Westmount High School has announced the retirement of three of his teachers at the end of this month.

Together, the teachers have 105 years of teaching experience, 57 of which have been in Westmount.

Miss Gallant

Miss Pearl Gallant has been teaching in Westmount high schools since 1949, first at the former Junior High on Academy Road and latterly at the new High School on St. Catherine Street. Holder of a Bachelor of Arts degree from Sir George Williams University and a Business Education Diploma as a result of training at Macdonald College and the University of Vermont, Miss Gallant showed herself particularly expert in teaching typewriting and Office Practice to senior pupils. Thanks to the reputation gained by former students, graduates of the school's Commercial Course readily find good positions.

Under Miss Gallant's supervision and encouragement, students of the Commercial Course have taken an active part in school activities, notably in the production of the school annual and school paper.

Prior to coming to Westmount, Miss Gallant taught Mathematics and Latin under the St. Lambert School Board.

Miss Ross

Miss Agnes Ross has been teaching French at Westmount High School since 1949, both at the former Senior High on Cote St. Antoine Road and at the new high school on St. Catherine St. Students will remember her as an excellent French teacher who in a kindly but firm manner insisted on the best work from each pupil. During her term of service Westmount pupils acquired an enviable reputation for excellence in French.

Miss Ross was active in many extra-curricular activities. For several years she supervised the Junior Red Cross, but she is probably best known for the zeal and skill with which she directed the costuming of many Senior High dramatic productions. During the current year Miss Ross has been staff representative on the executive of West-mount High School Home and School Association.

Prior to coming to Westmount, Miss Ross taught in Verdun, Lennoxville, Arivida and St. Lambert. During the year 1959-60 she served as Department Head in John Grant

High School. She holds a B.A. degree from Queen's University.

Miss Ross and Miss Pearl Gallant, who is also retiring, plan to spend several months in Europe this fall.

Mr. Bernard

Angus Bernard has won recognition as an outstanding teacher of English during his 23 years with the Westmount Board. His excellent work at the former Junior High caused him to be transferred to the Senior High on Cote St. Antoine Road, where he was subsequently appointed Head of the English Department. He has been serving in the same capacity at the St. Catherine Street School for the past five years. Students returning to the school from university have on many occasions expressed appreciation for the excellent grounding under Mr. Bernard's tutelage. The Westmount High School Old Boys' Association recently struck a special medal called the "Angus Bernard Medal for English" to be awarded annually to the boy with the highest marks in English in the High School Leaving examination.

Bernard has been provincial marker in English and has lectured at Sir George Williams University. For many years he was advisor to the school annual, the Vox Ducum.
