Extrait du PATRIOT, papier du Gouvernement, publié à Boston.

BOSTON, le 2e Juin, 1813.

Hier la Frégate Anglaise Shannon s'est montrée à la hauteur du Port, et la Frégate des Etats-Unis Chesapeake s'est mise à la voile pour aller la combattre. Les clochers, les dessus des maisons et les hauteurs furent remplis de monde qui désiroient voir le combat, et bientôt il en partit un grand nombre en chaloupes, en bateaux et par terre pour voir un combat qui étoit regardé comme un duel National. Vers le soir, il fut répandu des bruits vagues sur le résultat. Nous espérons recevoir des avis certains dans le cours de la nuit ou demain au matin.

Mardi matin, à 7 heures.—La politesse d'un Monsieur arrivé de la Baie ce matin, nous met en état de donner les détails suivants.

A trois heures et demie le Shannon gagna la haute mer, le vent O. S. O. à 4h. le Chesapeake mit à la voile et tira un coup de canon. L'ennemi se mit aussitôt à l'attendre et la Chesapeake se porta sur lui. à 4 1/2 h. le vent vint au S. S. O. le Chesapeake hissa le pavillon Américain. A 5 1/2 l'ennemi se remit à la voile en serrant le vent, le Chesapeake étoit alors à vent d'elle la distance d'une lieue. A 6 heures moins 5 minutes, l'ennemi commença le combat à la portée d'un fusil, aussitôt il fut engagé de part et d'autre.

A 6 heures 5 minutes le Chesapeake qui étoit au vent devant l'ennemi, se porta en travers de sa route et paroissoit l'aborder, les deux Navires marchant vent derrière et le feu de canon cessé, à 6 heures 10 minutes il paroissoit comme s'il y avoit eu une explosion à bord du Chesapeake. A 6 heures 15 minutes, les deux Navires se séparèrent, le pavillon Anglois étoit alors hissé sur le Chesapeake au dessus du Pavillon Américain. Ils ne paroissoient aucunement endommagés ni l'un ni l'autre; à eux deux, ils n'ont pas tiré plus de cent coup de canon. Le Chesapeake a été certainement emporté à l'abordage.
