SPECIAL NOTICES.

CHANGE OF SEASON AND CARE OF HEALTH.

Whatever be the physiological reason, that part of the year in which Winter merges into Spring has always been marked by more or less of indisposition to the healthy and actual sickness to the infirm, the remedical agents usually employed before the discovery of the fluid which will be presently noticed, were purgatives—a class of medicines certainly possessing much efficacy. But all the cathartic substances which had come into general use had this drawback, that while they removed present ailment by stimulating the stomach and bowels to unusual effort, they reproduce it by the debility which that effort occasioned. It was a great and unfulfilled desideratum, to have a purgative strong enough to cleanse those organs, yet mild enough not to fatigue them. What Art failed to effect, Nature triumphantly achieved by the production of the Plantagenet Water. People no longer go to apothecaries, shops; they resort to the Plantagenet Water Depot. There is no case in which it does ill, and scarcely any in which it fails to do good. It is alike beneficial to male and females—to the old, the adult and the immature.—It is equally conducive to health and appearance, those who take it feel well and look well. It protects the life of the robust and temperate, and defers the death of the sickly and dissipated. I recommend it to all my patients.

We have much pleasure in recommending the use of DUBARRY'S REVALENTA ARABICA Food as an exceedingly valuable and nutritious diet for Infants, Children, and Invalids. Several amongst our own Customers who have made use of it, have personally testified to its great value, in cases where other light articles of food as Sago, Arrow Root, Corn Starch, &c., had been rejected from, or found to disagree with the stomach; and have urged upon us the propriety of giving it our strongest recommendation.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—A DISEASE WITHOUT A NAME.—How often do we see persons gradually pining away without pain or any distinct indication of disease! They grow more feeble day by day, their appetite declines, they loose all interest in business, and with lack-lustre eyes and cadaverous complexion, move mechanically from place to place, the very impersonations of hopeless misery. For want of a better name we call this atrophy, or marasmus, or general weakness and debility. Now learn how it may in all cases be cured. A course of Holloway's Pills will infallibly re-kindle the sinking physical energies of the patient, rouse his whole organization to healthy action, and produce a complete revolution in his feelings as well as his frame. Their alterative and renovating properties can only be realized by those who have experienced their effects.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Wonderful cures of hip disease, stiff joints, paralyzation of the limbs, and other crippling diseases of the bones, sinews, nerves, and muscles, have been accomplished during the past year by a brisk and regular use of Holloway's Ointment. It is the only laxative which produces any impression on these fearful complaints. The Pills also are doing wonders. No case of dyspepsia, bowel complaint, or liver disease can resist their sanitary operation. Why should any human being suffer from these maladies, when the means of immediate relief are to be found in every city and town in the United States?

FROM THE PRESS.

Mr. John Jackson, publisher of the Calais Advertiser, writes: I know it to be all it is recommended; having used it in my family for six or seven years.
Every mother and housekeeper must often act as a family physician in the numerous illnesses and accidents that occur among children and servants. For many of these cases, Davis' Pain Killer is an indispensable article. In diarrhœa it has been used and effected cures. For cuts and bruises it is invaluable.—N. Y. Examiner.
PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.—This medicine has become an article of commerce—a thing no medicine ever became before. Pain Killer is as much an item in every bale of goods sent to country merchants as tea, coffee and sugar. This fact speaks volumes in its favor.—Glen's Falls Messenger.
DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.—Notwithstanding the many imitations of this article, and many other medicines in the market pretending to answer the same purpose, yet the sale of Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer is more than the whole of them put together. It is one of the few articles that are just what they pretend to be. Try it.—New Brunswick Telegraph. du DW 128

THREE DAY'S LATER FROM ENGLAND.—The R. M. S. S. "America," from Liverpool, on the 21st ultimo, reached Halifax yesterday. Her news, which will be found under our telegraphic heading, is unimportant—no battle had been fought.

STATE OF PARTIES IN UPPER CANADA.—We republish this morning, from the Toronto Globe of Monday last, a very able vindication of the Upper Canada Opposition, from the recent open attacks and occult insinuations of the Ministerial and quasi-Ministerial press in that section of the province, in the form of a letter from the Hon. George Brown to Mr. Adam Hope, of London. It will repay perusal.

PROBABLE EFFECTS OF THE WAR ON THE MONEY MARKET IN ENGLAND.—It appears to be generally admitted in England, that the panic on the Stock Exchange, which followed the Times' announcement of the alliance between France and Russia, was groundless and unreasonable. The evidence of this feeling may be found in the fact, that the funds have recovered to within one per cent. of their price before the panic. On the 26th of April, Consols stood at 93; two days after, they had fallen to 88¼; they have since been quoted at 92. When the panic was at its height, it will be remembered, the Bank of England raised its rate of discount from 2½ to 3½ per cent., and on the following week to 4½ per cent. This action, on the part of the Bank, was, at the time, and not apparently without reason, blamed by the London press, as being calculated rather to increase than to allay the prevailing want of confidence. The London Economist, however—an excellent authority on commercial and monetary matters—maintains [in its issue of the 14th ultimo] that the Bank was fully justified in thus advancing its rate of discount, though no panic had seized the market, in consequence of the steady drain of bullion from its vaults, which had set in, reducing the amount, between the 2nd of February and the 2nd of April, from £19,294,022 to £17,640,342. Our contemporary admits that the upward movement, on the part of the Bank, may have been somewhat too rapid, but insists that, if it erred, it erred on the right side, as there are many causes in operation, and likely to continue, which must tend to give an increased value to capital. The position of the Bank, he says, is, doubtless, "strong" and satisfactory. The bullion is upwards of seventeen millions, whereas at the same period [May 14] in 1846 and 1847 it little exceeded nine millions :—but still it is diminishing, while the demand is increasing. This state of things arises from various causes—the increased demand for money on the continent and the exports of bullion to India—but is mainly attributable to the greatly increased trade of 1859, as compared with that of 1858, when a sudden collapse in business disengaged a large amount of capital and, of course, led to a low rate of interest. During the present year, so far, the tendency has been in the contrary direction. Thus, the exports of the first quarter of 1858 only reached £23,510,290, those of the same period this year amount to £30,520,794; while the imports for January and February [the returns for March are not yet made] 1859, have been £13,507,558, against £10,110,733 for the same period in 1858.

With regard to the future, says our metropolitan contemporary, what we have to ask is this —Are these causes which, up to this time, have led to an increased demand for capital, and to a rise in the rate of discount, likely to continue and to be aggravated? In estimating these probabilities, we leave out of calculation any chance of this country being embroiled in the Continental hostilities. We go further, and for our present purpose we take it for granted that the war will be confined to the three Powers already engaged, and to Italy as its field; we calculate with confidence upon the neutrality of Prussia and the other German Powers, so long as no spot of land within the German Confederation is violated; and we expect that Louis Napoleon, being convinced of that, will take care that the war shall be confined within the limits of the Austrian possessions in Italy. If, then, the war is likely to be confined to Italy, is it likely to interrupt that increase in our foreign trade, which is producing a healthy additional demand for money? We should certainly say not. At the best, our trade with Austria, and even with Italy, though considerable as a whole, is not such as is likely, by any probable diminution which it will suffer, sensibly to affect our entire trade. The chief increase which has recently taken place in our export trade has been to the United States, to British India, to our colonies, and to Northern Europe. None of those markets will be affected by a war in Piedmont and Lombardy. On this ground, therefore, we may reasonably expect a continued increased demand for capital, and a tendency for a higher rate of interest to be maintained. Again, it is plain from the shattered state of the Indian finances, that more assistance, and that to no small extent, must be obtained from this side. The apparent absence of any real, decisive, and effective means of meeting the known deficiency in the Indian treasury, is one of the most unsatisfactory features in the future of the money market. Further remittances of silver must be made; and further inroads upon the bullion of the Bank in order to obtain that silver, will be required. Again, in some way or other, but probably not to any serious amount, our own Exchequer will require aid. Two millions of bonds were paid off last week from balances which cannot permanently spare that amount; the navy estimates, increased by the sudden expenditure recently contracted, will, probably, show an increase of little less than three millions upon the whole. It is probable that either in the shape of a loan in some form, or in the shape of increased taxes, the ordinary revenue of the year must be supplemented to the extent of at least five millions. Then there are the various foreign loans—the Russian, the Austrian, the French, the Sardinian,—which will have at least some indirect effect upon our market, though not so great as to be much felt. But, taking all these causes together, and attributing, as we do, most importance to the exension of our trade, it appears that there is sufficient ground for looking forward in the course of the year to a further rise in the rate of interest. The "money market" is no doubt for the time abundantly supplied—the Bank may have rather exceeded the necessity of the case in the sudden advance of 2 per cent.; but looking forward for some time to come, it is probable that the present rate will be rather increased than diminished. But with regard to the English funds, it by no means follows that they will be reduced in value in proportion as money rises. On the contrary, it is rather probable that the discredit which will fall upon Continental securities, in consequence of the war, will lead to investments in English Consols, and that, as has happened before, they will rise, while all other sources of investment are falling. It is just at such a time that people are willing to pay well for superior security.

JOINT STOCK COMPANIES.—The recent decisions in England, with reference to the liability of Stockholders in Joint Stock Companies, are suggestive of something more than the mere matter of their judgments. The principle on which some of these have proceeded will shortly be tried in Canada, in the case raised by the Provincial Assurance Company of Toronto against its Stockholders. The question in that, as in many of the English cases, is as to the effect of misrepresentations made by Directors, and upon the liability which may be incurred by persons induced by such misrepresentations to become Stockholders. There is an apparent conflict of opinion among the English Judges; but, probably, it is only apparent. When a person becomes a Stockholder in a Company with the capital only partially paid up, he assumes a liability which enures to the benefit of two parties—first, to the Company, that is to say his co-partners in the enterprise; secondly, to such persons as may be or as may become creditors of the Company, during the time which he shall continue to be a member of it. Now, as no persons can avail themselves of their own fraud, it follows that a person induced to assume a liability by false representations cannot be held liable to the party from whom the representations came. If the representations came from the Directors of the Company, that is equivalent to coming from the Company itself, and that body cannot, therefore, enforce a claim. But if there are third parties creditors of the Company, they can not be debarred from their remedy against the individuals of the co-partnery by acts between the co-partners to which the others are not privy. In this distinction, probably, lies the differences of the views which have been expressed by English authorities, and upon it will turn the decision in the case of the Provincial Assurance Company. But beyond these mere legal problems there lies a vast field for discussion as to the rules which should regulate Joint Stock Companies, and as the joint stock system becomes more and more developed, there will, doubtless, be constructed a new system, fitted for the peculiarities of the joint engagements which are contracted by subscribers to joint stock capitals, who to-day hold perhaps a large interest, and to-morrow none at all—who embark in the enterprise without that strict enquiry, and, by their directors, carry on their business with none of the minute knowledge of its details, which are made and possessed by partners in ordinary trading firms. It will, probably, be found that a much greater degree of publicity than now prevails in the management of Stock Companies, will be necessary for their healthy existence. Meetings at which reports of the proceedings and of the state of the affairs shall be made, will, probably, be desired much more frequently than the annual formality which is now common, and from which it is impossible for any one, not already acquainted with the business, to learn anything. It is, perhaps, natural for Directors to think that they can best manage their affairs by observing that secrecy which is so important in business generally, and that facts of a damaging character, which time may retrieve, can not be wisely committed to a promiscuous proprietory, some having a very small interest, and, perhaps, a very large adverse one. But the advantage gained by secresy may be more than counterbalanced by its disadvantage; for Directors may also have comparatively small interests in the concerns they manage; and, perhaps, they ought not to be allowed to go on for twelvemonths without rendering any account of their stewardship to others, some of whom may be more deeply interested than themselves. Stockholders, too, should be able to learn at shorter intervals the real value of their property, so that they should not ignorantly hold, when transactions in which they have no consequence are leading to depreciation of their investment, nor sell to the few well informed speculators when their property is rising in value. With meetings of the proprietary once in three months, with printed reports circulated before the meetings, and with an obligation on the directors to reply frankly to all questions, it would be almost impossible for the deception, which has thrown so much discredit on the joint-stock system, to be practised. Beginning with men of business, investing their own capital, the joint-stock system has, on a whole, been tolerably well managed. Yet in what large trading incorporations have their not been transactions, which have savoured more of private than general advantage. But now the joint-stock system is employed to a great extent by persons who wish less to invest their own money than to finger the cash of other people; and it will be necessary to study its nature to the bottom in order to comprehend what are the rules which should be laid down for its guidance. The old rules of partnership, which are generally applied, belong to an entirely different species of investment, where the daily and almost undivided care of the investor watches the success of the business in which he is embarked. They are unfit for the guidance of partnerships, where the greater number of investors are incapable of exercising any control, and where the whole business is managed by a few.

NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETY.—At the ordinary meeting of this Society, on Monday evening last, the following papers were presented and read :—

"Notes on an Indian Vase," by Dr. Dawson.
"On Ozone," by Dr. Smallwood.
"On the relative value of Human Life in different parts of Canada," by P. P. Carpenter.
"On the Indian Tubes of the McKenzie River District of the Arctic Coast."
"On the Natural History of the Gulf of St. Lawrence," by Robert Bell, Jr.

The following donations were announced from the chair :—
From the Royal Swedish Academy of Science —"The Voyage of the Swedish Frigate Eugenie round the World."
From Mr. S. J. Lyman—"A Lepedosteus."
Frem the Secretary—"A Wood Pecker"; "Two Busts of Scott and Byron."

The following gentlemen were then elected :—
As Ordinary Members—Alex. Gordon, Esq.; Francis D. Fulford, Esq.; James Wardle, Esq.
As Corresponding Members—W. S. Sullivan, Esq., Columbus, U. S.; S. Durkee, M.D., Boston do; M. A. Curtis, D.D., Hillsboro', do.

The following gentleman was proposed as an Ordinary Member :—Mr. Charles Esplin.

Dr. Dawson then read a paper on the "Microscopic Structure of certain Montreal Limestones," illustrated by drawings and by numerous specimens arranged for the Microscope; after some discussion raised by the Rev. Mr. Kemp as to the possibility of finding vegetable remains in these limestones, the thanks of the Society were given to Dr. Dawson for his very interesting paper, and the meeting adjourned.

MCGILL NORMAL SCHOOL LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—We were much delighted with our vision on Tuesday evening, to the first of the annual public meeting of the Literary Association of the McGill Normal School, held in the large hall of that institution. To behold so many beautiful and talented young ladies together, as were clustered on the platform, was of itself a treat of no ordinary kind; and was only equalled by the "feast of reason and flow of soul" that formed the evening's amusements. The audience, which was large and highly respectable, seemed so delighted with the endeavors to please of all and each of the young ladies, that it would be impossible to individualize the favorites; but we cannot refrain from mentioning the reading of Miss Finlay, as being particularly well emphasized and intonated; she was repeatedly applauded and deservedly so—Miss Roach is a clever amateur pianiste, and seems quite at home with the most difficult operatic music. We felt that we were enjoying "Happy moments" when listening to Miss Tracy's singing—she is a pretty cantatrice. We must not, however, in dealing out our praises, forget our friends Miss Webster and Miss Clark. Miss Webster's "Memory" will always be good, and, no doubt, many will exclaim "What shall I do," should Miss Clark be absent from the next annual gathering. "Il Trovatore" was played as a duett by Misses Drysdale and Webster, and was loudly encored. The finale, "God Save the Queen," was rendered in such a way as only loyal "Britishers" could do it.—Communicated to Transcript.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Shakspere's Tragedy of "Othello" will be given to-night, with that finished artiste Mr. C. Fisher as "Othello," Mr. J. B. Howe as "Iago," and Miss Alice Gray as "Desdemona." The cast embraces all the principal actors of the capital stock company attached to the Theatre. It is seldom that the admirers of Shakspere have so excellent an opportunity of seeing a play of the great Bard as well delineated as the present occasion affords. If the house be not filled with the elite of Montreal, we are much mistaken.

CARGO OF FRESH TEAS AT AUCTION.—This morning, at nine o'clock, Mr. Leeming will sell for account of the importers, Messrs. D. Torrance & Co., the Cargo of Choice Green and Black Teas, imported direct from China, ex "Gauntlet." This, the heaviest of the annual sales, attracts a large number of merchants from all parts of the province; we noticed yesterday a great many strange faces sampling the Teas, preparatory to to-day's sale. We hope to be able to record a spirited and good competition, and that buyers will give every countenance and support to the enterprising firm that yearly affords them such opportunities of purchasing Fresh Teas in their own market, as the usual extensive assortment of fresh English Groceries, Sugars, Syrups, &c., &c., will follow. For particulars please refer to our advertising columns.

ANNUAL CROCKERY SALE.—Merchants now making their purchases in this city, at the large Cargo Sale, are reminded that Messrs. John Leeming & Co. hold their Annual Sale of Earthenware and Glassware this evening, at Seven o'clock, at their stores, St. Sacrament Street. Printed Catalogues are ready.

AUCTION SALE OF HARDWARE.—This evening, the extensive sale of General Hardware, including a Bankrupt Stock, advertised by Messrs. A. Bryson & Co., will commence this evening, punctually at seven, at their Auction Sales Room, No. 277 St. Paul Street. Convenient and comfortable seats are provided for a large audience, and the room will be particularly well lighted.—See advertisement.

This morning, at Ten o'clock, the closing sale of Penitentiary Furniture will take place at the Stores of Mr. Shaw, St. Francois Xavier Street.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE TORONTO MARKETS.
[From the Globe.]
TORONTO, Wednesday, June 1.

WHEAT—The wheat market at the date of our last review closed unsteady at 10s per bushel, after a decline from 10s 6d. Falling upon this price, up to Tuesday, prices fell as low as 8s 9d per bushel for the purest samples, being a decline of fully 1s 6d@1s 9d in less than ten days. Yesterday, however, the market showed some signs of revival, and 9s 3d@9s 6d was pretty freely paid for good to choice samples, while little, if any, approaching to merchantable wheat was brought below 8s 4d. The average price for the day's deliveries, which amounted to about 1,500 bushels, was not less than 9s per bushel. The improvement in price is more the result of a speculative enquiry than that of an increased demand or rise in other markets. Based on such a slender and uncertain foundation; the advance is not likely to be sustained, unless, indeed, the next steamer brings advice of higher rates.—The market is far from being steady, closing active, however, at about the following rates :—Fall Wheat,—Prime to extra per bushel 9s @ 9s 6d, [$1 80@$1 90.] Medium to good 8s 6d@8s 9d [$1 70@$1 75.] Inferior and ordinary 7s 9d@8s 3d [$1 55@$1 65.]

SPRING WHEAT has say 7s 6d @ 7s 9d per bushel.

FLOUR—Nominal quotations of Canadian flour are :—
Superfine......$7 50
Fancy......$7 75
Extra......$8 to $8 50

Some Western States flour has been in the market at $6 50 for Superfine. A novelty in the shape of some French flour, of exceedingly fine character, is attracting attention at $10 per barrel. It is said to be superior to anything ever before offered in this market.

For family use flour is retailed in bags at all rates from as low as $7 for common brands, to as high as $9 per barrel for the best qualities.

BARLEY is quoted at 3s 6d@3s 9d per bushel, the latter for the very best.

RYE is also quoted at 3s 6d@3s 9d per bushel.

OATS at 2s 10d@2s 11d per bushel wholesale, and 3s retail.

PEAS—4s 3d@4s 9d per bushel, and even 5s might be paid for an extra sample.

HAY—$12@17 for common to good, and $18 @ $21 for the best timothy per ton. Straw $10 @ $12 per ton, and scarce

BUTTER—Wholesale rates are named at 6½d@7½d per lb for fresh, and 5d @ 6d per lb. for No. 1 tub per lb.—By retail 7½d @ 9d are the ruling figures per lb. for fresh.

EGGS—4d @ 5d per dozen, and yesterday 6d per dozen.

POTATOES are 3s 6d@3s 9d per bushel.

WOOL.—The wool season opens out with an active demand. The winter appears to have been a favourable one for the growth of wool, and farmers have paid attention both to the washing and shearing. The most current rates are from 1s 3½d@1s 4½d, with some purchases at 1s 5d and even 1s 6d per lb.

SHEEP SKINS, unclipped, are worth 8s 9d each.—Pelts 7½d. Lamb Skins 1s each. Beef Hides $6¼ per 100 lbs. Calf Skins 7½d per lb.
