DISRUPTION IN ENTENTE IS QUITE PROBABLE

No Moves In Rail Strike--Effort To End Coal Strike

Lloyd George And Poincare Have Failed To Agree On Question Of Reparations

Conference of Allied Statesmen is in Danger of Breaking up With Franco-British Relations Worse Than They Were, and With no Decision of Moment on the Reparations Question—Premier of Belgium is Striving to Bring British and French Policies Nearer Together—Premier Poincare has Indicated to Lloyd George That Things Cannot go on as They are, and That France may be Compelled to Take Independent Action.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, August 9.—Premier Poincare, of France, and Premier Lloyd George are apparently further apart on what is to be done with Germany than before they met, and the conference of Allied statesmen is in danger of breaking up with Franco-British relations worse than they were, and with no decision of moment on the reparations question. They may, however, agree to a short moratorium for Germany.

Premier Poincare has indicated to Mr. Lloyd George that things cannot go on as they are, and that France may be compelled to take independent action.

Premier Theunys, of Belgium, is striving to bring the British and French policies nearer together. The three Premiers breakfasted together in Mr. Lloyd George's official Downing Street residence at nine-thirty o'clock.

The committees of finance ministers and experts met again this morning to pass upon the form of their report to the full conference later in the day.

The only part of Premier Poincare's programme agreed to by the British was that regarding the taking over of the state forests and mines on the left bank of the Rhine.

M. Bemelmans, Belgian expert, was requested by the committee to draw the report in a non-committal manner, simply arranging in order of least opposition, the various proposals, with the estimates of the probable yield of each, if adopted.

The report begins with the suggestion that the proposed twenty-six per cent. tax on German exports shall be collected as the shipments leave Germany, not by the Allied importing countries when the goods arrive at their frontiers.

The drafting committee of the experts, after a meeting at the treasury, lasting more than an hour, adjourned until 12.30 o'clock to consider certain details.

It was admitted that the situation was very difficult, but all concerned, it was declared, were doing their best to prevent anything like a break down of the conference.

EXPRESSED OPINION THAT A BREAK WAS PROBABLE

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, August 9.—Premier Lloyd George last night expressed the opinion that a rupture in the Entente was probable, if not inevitable, according to some of the French newspaper correspondents attending the Allied conference in London, one of which is "Perlmans," political editor of the Echo de Paris.

The Premier added that this was regrettable, both from the English and French viewpoints, but that Premier Poincare's attitude left no option.

The correspondents say that Sir Edward M. Grigg, Mr. Lloyd George's private secretary, summoned the British newspapermen to the Premier's official residence in Downing Street and made a statement to this effect.

MAY FURNISH POWER BY RADIO IN NEAR FUTURE

States that in Some Respects Radio Power Transmission Exists Today.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Dr. Charles Steinmetz, of the General Electric Company, told delegates to the International Radio Congress yesterday that:

"There may be a time when power to turn the wheels of industry will be furnished by radio. In some respects, radio power transmission exists today, for the message you receive by radio has been carried by the power of electro-magnetic waves from the sending to the receiving station. Successful work is now done in directing radio waves, as, for instance, our trans-Atlantic stations send out most of their power eastward."

THE WEATHER

FINE AND WARMER

An area of high pressure covers the central portion of the continent, while moderate areas of low pressure are centred over British Columbia, Labrador and off the New England coast. Apart from showers yesterday in Nova Scotia and a few districts of the Western Provinces, the weather in Canada has been fair.

Forecast: Moderate winds, chiefly westerly, fine and gradually becoming warmer today and Thursday.

MAN STRUCK BY A Q. C. R. TRAIN LAST EVENING

A. Boisvert Lies in the Sherbrooke Hospital in a Critical Condition

A. Boisvert is lying in the Sherbrooke Hospital, in a very critical condition, after being hit last night about 6.45 by a Q.C.R. train. The accident occurred near the City Gas plant, on the Lennoxville road, and as far as can be ascertained, three men, including the unfortunate Boisvert, were sitting on the tracks in the neighborhood of the plant. Those who were on the scene shortly after the occurrence of the near-tragedy, state that on the approach of a shunting train, Boisvert's companions removed themselves from their dangerous positions, shouting to Boisvert to follow their example. The victim did not heed the warning, however, and instead of leaving the tracks, passed some remark about his disregard whether the approaching train hit him or not, it is stated.

The train did hit him and when Lord's ambulance arrived, the man was lying on the side of the embankment in an unconscious condition. He was immediately rushed to the Sherbrooke Hospital, Dr. Lynch taking charge of the case. The hospital authorities stated this morning that it would be difficult to state the age of the man, but he is somewhat under middle age. His condition is serious and his recovery is uncertain.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—A reprieve was refused by Home Secretary Short today to Joseph O'Sullivan and Reinald Dunn.

REVIEW OF WORK WAS GIVEN BY PREMIER KING

States Announcement Will Be Made Very Shortly Regarding Railway Board of Management

(Associated Press Despatch)

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Aug. 9.—In the course of an address before two thousand people at a picnic here yesterday, Premier W. L. Mackenzie King paid some attention to the Wheat Board.

The establishment of the Wheat Board had been considered early in the session. It might have been expected that Eastern Canada would be opposed to the formation of such a Board, as it was opposed to any legislation of paternalistic nature. The Liberal east could have opposed it if they had desired to be resentful of the Progressives of the West, but they did not.

The further suspension of the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement was another matter of importance taken up during the session. The Government had made enquiries and found that the circumstances warranted the further suspension of the agreement, as it was felt that conditions were such that the C. P. R. should get a better freight rate for western haul than they got before the war. The Liberals of the east did not oppose this as they could have done, but, on the contrary, permitted its submission to a parliamentary committee.

TO NAME RAILWAY BOARD SHORTLY.

The Government was faced with the railway problem. The subject of public ownership was one on which the people were absolutely divided. The Government had decided to take the railways absolutely out of politics, and the first step was the change of management, so that the whole system would have uniformity of administration. A new board of management will be appointed, and the first qualification of that Board will be that the members must not be engaged in any business selling to the railways. They must have no private interests in any way concerned with the sale of railway matters of any sort. The late Board had not been so constituted. Much would depend on the chairman, who must be a railway man of experience of continental scale. He must also be a finance man of tried ability. He must have no business or other connections that would in any way embarrass him in his position. He must be a very able executive and a man above the faintest suspicion.

To get such a man with the experience and character necessary, we may have to look elsewhere, but I believe the people will approve our course in getting a man of the type we shall require. There will be an announcement very soon as to the personnel of the Board and particularly with regard to the chairman," the Premier said.

NECESSITY FOR ECONOMY.

He then turned to the necessity for economy. There never was a time in the history of Canada when it was more necessary than now.

Mr. King said the effort had been constant to make the House of Commons a deliberate assembly. The former government used to keep the House in session as late as three o'clock in the morning. By that time it was impossible for the newspaper representatives of morning newspapers to get any comprehensive reports to their papers. The Liberal Government had decided that the people were entitled to full information of the doings of parliament, and decided that the House would not sit after eleven o'clock at night.

In conclusion the Premier said conditions in Canada were prosperous in comparison with other countries. Only one thing remained to make Canada the greatest country on earth, and that was to have harmony and good-will between all classes of people.

Coal Operators And Union Leaders Were Ready To Reconvene Their Joint Peace Session Today In Effort To End Strike

Plan for a Settlement on the Larger Basis Went into the Discard When the Indiana Operators' Scale Committee Refused to Attend Conference at Cleveland, Coupled with a Delay of a Decision by the Illinois Operators' Committee and the Non-Appearance of Operators from Other States.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LEVELAND, Aug. 9.—Although prospects of an immediate settlement of the soft coal strike in the United States on a national basis has been lost, coal operators and union officials were ready to reconvene their joint peace conference today, for discussion of breaking the four months' old strike by the resumption of work at mines scattered throughout Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois.

The plan for a settlement on the larger basis went into the discard when the Indiana operators' scale committee refused to attend the conference here, coupled with a delay of a decision by the Illinois operators committee and the non-appearance of operators from other states. As a result, the conference had turned back to its original purpose of negotiating a partial settlement affecting four states.

The Union's tactics in the negotiations were considered today by its general policy committee of 128 members, headed by President John L. Lewis, but a formal decision on whether to make a basic wage agreement, affecting scattered mines in the four states, was expected to be delayed until after the afternoon meeting with operators.

The agreement on a basic wage scale, not only would end the strike for the operators represented here, but also was regarded by the conferees as having the possibility of forcing union operators in many parts of the country to open their mines under the new scale.

WOULD NOT AGREE TO JOINT CONFERENCE.

(Associated Press Despatch)

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9.—Expectations of an early settlement of the coal strike on a national basis vanished last night with receipts of reports of the failure of the Indiana and Illinois Operators Association to agree to a joint conference.

AMERICAN DEMAND FOR COAL CONTINUES UNABATED

CARDIFF, Wales, Aug. 9.—The American demand for coal, in consequence of the miners' strike in the United States and Canada, continues unabated. Orders for an additional few hundred thousand tons have been received in the last few days, making a total of 1,500,000 tons for delivery in August and September.

There is a keen demand for anthracite, but aside from the supply being limited, all the available hard coal is already booked, and the American orders cannot be filled, although some of the applicants have expressed their willingness to pay twenty shillings a ton.

Other grades vary from seventy to thirty shillings, and it is stated that operators do not desire to increase these prices, preferring to keep the collieries working at a moderate speed rather than avail themselves of the momentary competition, which although raising the present price, might eventually damage their regular trade.

BOTH SIDES IN RAILWAY STRIKE MARKING TIME; PRESIDENT PLANS TO KEEP CONGRESS IN SESSION

Rejection of President Harding's Second Proposal by the Workers is Generally Accepted as Certain—What Suggestions the Administration May Have to Make for Legislation to Meet Nation's Need in Event that the President's Proposal to Railroads and Strikers is Rejected Has Not Been Disclosed.

(Associated Press Despatch)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The rail strike situation in the United States appeared destined to mark time until next Friday, although executives of the striking shop craft unions were in Washington today to consider President Harding's second proposal for a voluntary termination of the walk-out.

Shop craft federation leaders here have stated that the reply to the President's communication proposing immediate resumption of work and reference of the seniority issue to the Railroad Labor Board for decision would be submitted to the general conference of railroad labor heads here on Friday before it was sent to the White House. As the railway executives also will meet that day in New York to draft their answer to the administration plan, active developments in the situation before the end of the week were improbable.

Rejection of the administration plan by the workers is generally accepted as certain. Forecasts as to the course of the management are not so definite, but it was apparently in anticipation of a second failure to bring the two sides to an agreement that would restore full transportation facilities that Mr. Harding moved yesterday to bring the authority of Congress to bear on what is admittedly a serious national crisis.

What suggestions the administration may have to make for legislation to meet the nation's need in the event that the President's second proposal to the railroads and the strikers also is rejected, has not been disclosed.

Mr. Harding yesterday indicated to House leaders, however, that he was desirous that the House remain in session when it reconvened next Tuesday, and abandon plans for a series of three-day recesses to await Senate action on the tariff and other matters.

With both Senate and House in session, it would be possible for the President to carry the rail and coal strike problems before the law-making body next Tuesday, if he so desired, and ask for legislation that would permit the Government to move directly toward restoration of industrial peace with the power of the law behind it.

WOULD ASSIST AMERICAN MINERS

(Associated Press Despatch)

FRANKFURT-ON-MAIN, Germany, Aug. 9.—10 thousand pounds sterling to aid American miners in the present coal strike, to be subscribed by the various National miners unions, was recommended in a resolution adopted by the Congress of the International Miners' organizations meeting here.

The resolution expressed sympathy for the aims of the American strikers.

The Congress decided against restriction of the coal shipment to America. This was proposed in order to aid the American miners in their fight.

By this means the irregulars holding the city, it was said, sought to prevent repetition of the Provisional Government's coup in landing troops from the sea at Tralee.

The Christian Alliance Conference of Christian Workers, which was held during the past week, closed on Sunday evening. The principal speakers have been Dr. Turnbull, of Nyack Bible School, New Jersey; Dr. Rolfe, of Toronto, and Mrs. Cutler, a returned missionary from India. At one of the meetings Dr. Turnbull gave a most interesting account of the beginning of the Christian Alliance work, which was begun in 1867 by Dr. Simpson, a native of Nova Scotia. Dr. Simpson was at one time pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Hamilton, Ont., going from there to Louisville, Ken., and later to New York. It was while pastor of 13th Avenue Presbyterian Church, N.Y., that he felt he must get out to the place where the people who did not attend church were, so he rented a theatre, then a tent, and later he erected a large building he called "The Tabernacle." About this time he started a Bible school for the training of young people for personal Christian work. These schools now number thirteen, and hundreds of graduates are missionaries in different parts of the world. The policy of the alliance is to use un-used forces and to occupy frontier positions in the mission field. The work has been greatly blessed and the converts number many thousands. Last year one of the graduates at Nyack was Miss Bernice Sloggett, who was born in Cowansville, but is now living in Vancouver, and is a niece of Mrs. W. H. Fuller. Dr. Turnbull in speaking to your correspondent said that Miss Sloggett was held in high esteem by the faculty and students, and that hers was a strong Christian character. Miss Sloggett will shortly be married, and she and husband, who is also a graduate of Nyack, will sail for China to enter in their life work.

SOME STAGGERING CONSTIPATION FACTS; Know how Kellogg's Bran can help you!

Ninety out of every one hundred people suffer with constipation! Constipation is the direct cause of breakdown in old age, lowered vitality and ninety per cent of illness! Do you realize that nearly every case of constipation is traceable to neglect in answering nature's call! In a few years the sufferer has "latent constipation"—the most dangerous form of all! Toxic poisons penetrate the intestine walls, polluting the blood, which in turn poisons and affects every organ in the body. Nearly every case of diabetes and Bright's disease can be traced to constipation or intestinal poisoning, as can most rheumatism, headache, brain fog, hardening of arteries and other organic diseases. Pills and cathartics can never afford you permanent relief. What you need is nature's most wonderful roughage—

LENNOXVILLE

SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL COMMITTEE HOLD MEETING.
A meeting of the committee appointed some time ago by the citizens of Lennoxville for the consideration of a suitable Soldier's Memorial was held in the Town Building last evening. Mr. William Clarke, chairman of the committee presided and introduced the various subjects for discussion. A communication from Henry Birks and Co., was read by the secretary, Mr. R. G. Ward, stating that plans and specifications for a statue suitable for a memorial, in connection with a granite base would be submitted to the committee in a few days.

It was thought by the entire committee that this form of memorial would be more suitable than the shaft previously proposed. All present being anxious to secure all possible information before commencing the work, a committee was appointed composed of Messrs. H. W. S. Downs, A. T. Speid, D. J. Harrison, H. J. McFadden, C. S. White and F. B. Day to go to Magog today, to examine the memorial recently erected there, and to secure details, including cost, etc., in connection with its erection.

Mr. F. B. Day was appointed to receive the names of all soldiers from the municipality of Ascot who died overseas during the war. It is hoped that none of these will be omitted through failure of friends or relatives to forward the names at once to Mr. Day, also their rank and the regiment to which they belonged, as these are to be placed on the tablet.

The meeting adjourned until Tuesday, August 15th. It is hoped that the interest aroused by this meeting will be continued, and that every member of the committee will be present.

The bandstand has been removed from the square, and the ground prepared in readiness to receive the proposed memorial, which when finished will place the town of Lennoxville on a level with the communities which have not forgotten the services of their heroic dead and of those who risked their all at the call of King and Country.

FROM THE RECORD FILES

AUGUST 9, 1905—Mayor John Leonard and Mrs. Leonard returned yesterday from their Western trip, the Mayor being Sherbrooke's delegate to the Winnipeg conference. "I went away a good Canadian," said His Worship to the Record, "but I have come back a better one." Mr. Leonard was greatly impressed with what he saw at Winnipeg and in the trip beyond the wheat fields.

A rich and wonderful country with a great future was the conviction which their Worships of the Eastern Canadian cities brought back with them.

Mayor Leonard believes that the Municipal Association will result in much benefit to the municipalities. It is a strong organization and as such its efforts to protect and promote the interests of municipal corporations must bear fruit.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard extended their trip to North Dakota, where they spent some days with relatives. He states that Americans are flocking into the West in great numbers and many, who are not becoming settlers, are investing in Canadian land.

Brook was a guest of her sister, Mrs. J. A. Seale, on her way to the Canadian West to visit her daughter and other relatives.

Mr. Reginald Benton has returned home after spending a two weeks' vacation in the Laurentian Mountains at Lac Mercier, Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, from Cornwall, Ont., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Nish.

ROTARY PICNIC.
For some time past a special committee of the Rotary Club has been considering holding a motor trip and field day for boys from six years and over in Sherbrooke. After the Rotary meeting yesterday, the committee met, and arrangements have been made for two hundred boys to take part.

The outing is for boys whose fathers do not have cars, and any such boys are asked to communicate with W. P. McVie, at the Y.M.C.A., at latest by noon on Tuesday, August 15th. This is expected to be Sherbrooke's greatest boys' outing.

DR. BEDFORD-JONES GOES TO PERTH.
It has been reported here that Rev. H. H. Bedford-Jones, M.A., D.D., the ex-principal of the University of Bishop's College, has been appointed by the Bishop of Ottawa to be rector at Perth, Ont. He is to succeed the Rev. D'Arcy Clayton, who is to go to Smith's Falls.

Dr. Bedford-Jones, who is a graduate of Trinity College, Toronto, and a former fellow lecturer there, was rector at St. Peter's Church, Brockville, for some time. He afterwards accepted the position of principal of Bishop's and though he only remained in this community for a short time, he became very popular with the residents at the College and was well known to many residents in Sherbrooke and Lennoxville.

Dr. Bedford-Jones resigned from this position last winter, and during the past few months has been supplying for Rev. Canon F. G. Scott in St. Matthew's parish, Quebec.

MR. F. B. WILSON PASSED AWAY AT NORTH HATLEY

Had Been Ill for Many Months— Was Prominent in the Business and Social Life of Sherbrooke.

Mr. Frank B. Wilson, one of Sherbrooke's outstanding citizens and a prominent business man, passed away late yesterday afternoon at his summer residence, "Wychwood," North Hatley, after a long period of illness.

Mr. Wilson was born at Compton, Quebec, on January 27th, 1866, the son of Hiram C. and Elizabeth (Bucknam) Wilson. However, he came to Sherbrooke early in his career, and received his education at the Central School and the Sherbrooke High School. Throughout life he was prominently connected with the business organizations of the Eastern Townships, entering the firm of H. C. Wilson & Sons, Ltd., and becoming vice-president of that well-known organization.

Mr. Wilson, did not, however, confine his attentions solely to business, but was always actively connected with Sherbrooke organizations. He showed his interest and enthusiasm in the development of this locality by being a director of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association, as well as a member of the Sherbrooke Board of Trade. Moreover, he was prominent in the social life here, being a life member of the Sherbrooke Snowshoe Club and also a member of St. George's Club and the Sherbrooke Curling Club. Mr. Wilson, in addition, was a Mason, belonging to Victoria Lodge and was one of the outstanding members of St. Peter's Church. In politics he was a Conservative.

On October 1st, 1890, he married Annie M. Greene, daughter of William H. Greene, Lennoxville. His wife and his three children, Meredith W., Francis Lennox and Alice Elizabeth, survive him.

Mr. Wilson will be greatly missed throughout the city and many parts of the Townships, for he had established a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and his death will be widely felt throughout the community.

The funeral will be held from his late residence, 43 Dominion Avenue, on Thursday afternoon at half past two o'clock, to St. Peter's Church.

CITY BRIEFETS

DEATH OF SGT. MARTIN.—Sergeant A.J. Martin, of the Canadian Ordnance Corps, a man who had spent fifty-two years of his life in the army, and one who was well known in this city, passed away last night at the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Sgt. Martin had been attached to the Sherbrooke Regiment for a good many years and was a familiar figure to all connected with local military circles. He had, however, been extremely ill for several months, and his death was a release from intense suffering. Owing to his critical condition, several members of the family from out of town were called to this city within the past few days. He leaves a wife and seven children.

Full military honors will be accorded to the late Sergeant Martin and the funeral will be held at the Presbyterian Church on Saturday afternoon.

DR. NOEL'S HOSPITAL TO BE KNOWN AS L'HOTEL DIEU.—It has been learned, from an official source that a conference took place yesterday between His Lordship, Monsigneur the Bishop of Sherbrooke and several members of the medical board of Dr. Noel's Hospital.

In the course of this conference, in order to satisfy the desire of the medical board of the hospital, it was agreed and approved by His Lordship that in future the hospital should be known as L'Hotel Dieu of Sherbrooke. This name better designates the role of an institution such as this one, which fulfills the duties of a general hospital, it having always been their aim to be in accord with the exigencies of the law of public assistance which has been instituted by the Provincial Government of Quebec.

SOVIET CONSISTENCY.

The one perfect combination in consistency, according to an authority, is the combination of ignorance and arrogance. This combination has worked incessantly in Russia since the Bolsheviks seized control at Moscow.

They definitely refused the America Relief Administration's conditions for feeding the Russian intellectuals as a class. Kameneff is willing that the relief organization veto any of the Government's selections for aid, but will not permit it to assist persons in spite of a Soviet veto.

According to Sovietists the only gifts of intelligence which Russians should receive are the miserable theories of the usurpers which they have been able to make operative only in slight degree and then by ruthless use of the sword.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL.

The death of Alexander Graham Bell removes a notable figure. He will be remembered, of course, for his great work in connection with the invention and development of the telephone.

It was due to his genius that the telephone was evolved and to his patient skill and industry that it became a practical adjunct in human life.

But Mr. Bell was more than an inventor. He had a keen and receptive mind, broadened by travel and observation; an appreciation of all the problems of our modern civilization; an aptitude for quickly absorbing and digesting details, and, above all, that characteristic which Emerson calls the saving grace of humor.

A DRY CONVERSATION TOPIC.

The English people are becoming sick and tired of American tourists' unceasing discussion of prohibition. The Daily Express says: "Every visiting American, and the number is legion, seems to feel it incumbent and a definite duty to pour into the ears of his English acquaintances lengthy and detailed examples of how prohibition has failed in the United States."

Isn't it the truth? In the smoking compartments of railroad trains, in hotels, at clubs—wherever American men gather and talk—the conversation sooner or later turns to prohibition. This would not be objectionable if something new or interesting were said about it.

TODAY'S A HOLIDAY.

August 9, 1922.

The Elephant Parade.

The religion of the Jains, inhabitants of India, is a curious mixture of the austere and the jovial, the ascetic and the voluptuary. It is said that even in their period of fasting, the Pajjusana, which comes toward the first of August, every other day is set aside for a feast, relieving the preceding day of abstinence.

This is the third day of Pajjusana, and it is marked by a strange procession. In the temple of every Jain village a copy of the scripture Kalpa Sutra is kept, and held in great reverence.

After that she never looks at it till the day after tomorrow, and is quite surprised to notice that it is stopped. Then she shoves the key in the other hole and tries to wind it backwards, and next she finds out her mistake and winds it forwards at a furious rate, till it brings up with a crash.

Heresy: The act of being a minority.

The easiest way to be reconciled to age is to observe a few young simpletons trying to act smart.

A rich man could be happy if he could overcome the suspicion that his friends have designs on his purse.

It frequently happens that the man who says he will think it over means that he will ask his wife about it.

PRESS COMMENT

WHAT EVERYBODY SHOULD HAVE.

Everybody in this old world of ours is entitled to a square deal and everybody should receive a square deal, save and excepting the fellow who demands something more and beyond it.

THE WAY TIME CHANGES.

In other days when a man saw a red-headed girl he looked around for the white horse. Now if he looks about him when he meets a red-haired fairy he gets bowled over by a Ford.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD WILL.

International good will is promoted in various ways. Treaties, parleys, exchange professorships and similar efforts help. Another means of ameliorating old animosities has been disclosed in the Far East. It is cookery. Tokuzo Akiyama of the Japanese Board of Imperial Cuisine has been sent to China to investigate typical Chinese cooking so that he can introduce it on the imperial table.

BUSINESS AND IDEALISM.

Mr. J. P. Morgan says that the European debts ought to be cancelled, first, because they will never be paid, and, second, because the money loaned was a fair contribution of the United States to the Allied cause. This is the opinion, not of a philanthropist, but of one whose business is dealing in money and its equivalent.

The people of the United States, while they have a keen eye for business, have also a good deal of national pride, and would like their country to have a reputation for generous dealing. Refusal to consider the cancellation of the European debts places their country in a false position. The people have been accused of making profit out of the misery of Europe. It is only fair to say that up to this time they have got very little out of continental Europe but paper, in exchange for food and other necessities and munitions of war. The gold stored in their vaults is of little, if any, practical value.

WOMAN AND HER WATCH.

The average woman, says the Sydney Bulletin, should be prohibited by act of parliament from owning any other than a wrist watch. When she has any other, the first thing she does is to have a cunning little pocket made for it in some part of her dress where she can never find it without the assistance of a bloodhound. Then she forgets all about it till she is going to bed, and as she jerks off her attire it flies out and brings up with a shock against the opposite wall.

She picks it up and shakes it vigorously to set it going again, and then she puts it under her pillow and forgets all about it in the morning, so that the chances are it gets into the wash and turns up soaked.

It is recovered and hung out to dry, and she proceeds to wind it, only if it is an old-fashioned watch she has a fiendish capacity for putting the key in the wrong hole, and when she has turned the hands back about eight hours she puts the thing in her pocket quite contentedly.

After that she never looks at it till the day after tomorrow, and is quite surprised to notice that it is stopped. Then she shoves the key in the other hole and tries to wind it backwards, and next she finds out her mistake and winds it forwards at a furious rate, till it brings up with a crash. She carries it for a week after that without looking at it once, till one day she suddenly puts her faith in it when she wants to catch a train, and is left.

Then she leaves it hanging up in her other dress in the wardrobe for two months, and some time or other when she is out it dawns upon her that she hasn't got it in her pocket, whereupon she puts an advertisement in the paper stating that the person who took it had better return it at once, as he is known.

As he doesn't return it, she forgets all about it till next year when she is taking the old dress to pieces and it falls heavily upon the floor, when she picks it up hurriedly, puts the hands back six hours, and a half, winds it backwards and forwards, and finally taken it back to the watchmaker, and wants him to change it because it won't go. And if he doesn't change it, she tells all her friends that that watchmaker isn't any good.

Remains of Late Mrs. Hibbard Laid to Rest—General News Notes.

BROME, Que., Aug. 9.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Hibbard, widow of the late Mr. Hibbard, took place in St. John's Church on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends.

Mrs. Hibbard, whose maiden name was Annie Wilson, was a daughter of Benj. Wilson, who was one of the pioneers of Brome. She was born on the farm now owned by Mr. Fred Chapman, on August 31st, 1838, and has always been a resident of Brome.

Her death came unexpectedly, as she had been enjoying good health this summer, and was on a visit to her niece, Mrs. Henry Vail, when she was taken ill with pneumonia on the night of her arrival there and only lived five days when the end came to all earthly cares.

She leaves to mourn her loss two sons, Arthur and wife, who lived on the home farm and tenderly cared for her in her declining years; Henry and wife, of North Troy, Vt.; her aged sister, Mrs. Draper, of Sutton Junction; one granddaughter, Mrs. Walker, of Montreal, all of whom were with her when the end came, also several other relatives and a host of friends.

The friends here were shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Joseph Persons, of East Dunham, a favorite and familiar figure here. Mr. Persons had been a member of Brome Agricultural and Horticultural Societies for many years and always took an active part in the work and interest of both societies, and will be greatly missed by its members and friends.

The funeral of the late Kenneth Mason, son of the late Frank Mason and Hattie (Stone) Mason, took place at the home of his uncle, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Smith, where he has been so tenderly and faithfully cared for the past ten years, he having always been in poor health. After the death of his father, he and his mother came to live at the home of his aunt, and where his mother now lies in a very precarious condition, having been confined to her bed for a number of years.

Mr. Harold Thompson's little son, aged three years, fell from off the verandah at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thompson, on Saturday and broke his hip. Mr. C. D. Smith, of Boston, Mass., who is here on a visit to his native town and country, being a guest of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jones, and looking up old friends, celebrated his eightieth birthday on Sunday, June 6th, by taking a motor trip to his birth place in St. Armand, it being forty-five years since he had visited the old place. He was only a lad of eleven years when his parents moved from thence and came here to Brome, and purchased the farm now owned by Mr. Henry Vail, living there six years, when they sold and bought the farm now owned by Mr. Chas. Rhicard, afterwards building the factory here, known as the Smith Organ Co., where they did business for a number of years. In the year 1882 they sold out their interests here and moved to Boston, Mass., where he has been a resident of Uncle Sam's domains for over forty years, but ever faithful to the country of his birth.

Mr. J. Irving was in Iron Hill on Saturday, also in West Brome where he officiated at the burial of the late H. Sweet.

ARTHUR MEYER FOR FEWER NEWSPAPERS WITH MORE CONTROL

Veteran Paris Editor Says Liberty of the Press Is a Bad Thing.

NEED OWN FOREIGN NEWS

Tardieu Says English Agency Gives France Its View of United States Events.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

The problem of how to make French newspapers more representative of the nation's thought and ideals which has been the subject of a study by one of the largest weekly political reviews here recently brought the criticism from Arthur Meyer, dean of French journalists, that the liberty of the press is a bad thing generally.

Although anything favoring of an attack on the liberty of the press seems strange in a country which has shed its blood in revolutions and wars for the sacred cause of free speech and free thought, M. Meyer's views take a novel form when he declares that individual merit is hampered by the fact that worthy writing even is given an obscure position in preference to the writings of men whose names are so far unknown.

Opposes Press Freedom.

"Yes, I am an enemy of press liberty," M. Meyer says. "It benefits neither the journalists nor public opinion. It only serves the Government as it provides a sort of safety valve whereby public discontent can be propagated." M. Meyer considers that the present status of the Parisian press presents conclusive proof that his arguments are correct. Paris now boasts of about fifty daily newspapers, some of which have less than 1,000 circulation, but each providing a definite line of political argument which merits attention. Yet in all these newspapers hardly a real reporting journalist interpreting daily movements is to be found, the majority of the writing being those whose fame already has been gained by literary work outside editorial rooms. The work of these men is used merely as a high priced advertisement to gain the public's attention.

Need Foreign Correspondents.

Andre Tardieu, however, considers that the fault of the press to-day lies in the fact that most French newspapers do not have their own correspondents abroad. He pointed out that, besides a few of the big papers, his own Echo National and the Havas Agency, foreign correspondents are virtually unknown to Paris newspapers. "Political newspapers naturally pay little attention to being well informed," says M. Tardieu, "their role being either to support the Government or hurt it." It is a fact that there has never been a wealth of good journalists except when the press has been restrained, this demanding intense improvement in the tone of the arguments.

STAGE SUFFERS FROM TAIN OF THE MODERN THEATER

Yvette Guilbert Says Its Salvation Must Come From Those Not Yet Contaminated—Proposes to Revive Medieval Plays With Music and Dancing.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

The salvation of the stage must come from those who have not yet been contaminated by the modern theater, Mme. Yvette Guilbert told an interviewer this week. She admitted that the success of her New York school has caused her to decide to open a similar school in Paris, which will take much of her time for the next few years. Mme. Guilbert already has received assurance of financial support from high French social and religious circles and intends to attempt the revival of medieval art, especially miracle plays in both French and English with music and dancing as they must have been done in the ancient woodland theaters. Mme. Guilbert is now searching the provinces for talented French girls as recruits for her new theater and hopes to offer her first program early next fall. The American girls in her company probably will assist at the opening and then will return to New York to carry on Mme. Guilbert's idea there under the management of her new impresario.

PROFITEER USED OLD TITLE IN SWINDLES

Buys Original Grant of 'Count' as Lure for Easy Victims; Five Years in Jail.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

The latest bogus titled swindler to be caught is Theophile Coustou, fake Count de Lavit de St. Louis, an ambitious fraud of Marseille, who has just been sentenced to five years in prison for conducting confidence games which he admitted netted him more than 100,000 francs in two years. Just after the war Coustou made the acquaintance of a poor widow on the Riviera who possessed the original charter for the title granted one of her ancestors by King Philippe Auguste of France for his warlike services. The widow agreed to transfer the countship which the charter granted for a few hundred francs and indorsed the original document, whereupon the new count and his mistress installed themselves in a Riviera villa.

VATICAN WOULD BUY ALL RUSSIAN RELICS

Offers to Purchase Both Catholic and Orthodox Religious Treasures.

(Special Despatch.) ROME.

Barreling for the purchase of Russian church property, to prevent melting down the precious metals, has provoked a controversy between the Vatican and the Bolsheviks. The Vatican informs this newspaper's correspondent that it proposes buying the religious relics in both Orthodox and Catholic churches and paying cash. The Soviet Government, through Vorovsky, envoy to Rome, denied this, saying that the Vatican's proposal through Mr. Pizzardo at Genoa was made regarding merely the purchase of the religious relics confiscated in the Catholic churches. He said the despatch was a hoax, and Moscow interpreted it to mean that the Vatican proposed to buy all the church relics in Russia, representing many millions of dollars. While the Bolsheviks are enthusiastic over the prospect, big business is skeptical, suggesting that the Vatican is not likely to spend so much for the relics, and ardent Orthodox Catholics are tested against the transfer of their treasure into the hands of the rival church. The Vatican has proposed not to pay hard cash for all the religious relics in Russia, through the Catholic representative, Cleplak, in Petrograd. The Soviet Government takes a stand in replying to the Vatican's offer, and in replying to the offer of the Catholic Church, which shows the Bolshevik determination to force through a ruthless church confiscation and an intention to crush the Russian Orthodoxy despite outside Christian indignation. This reply, signed by Semilennoff, a Bolshevik commissar, mocks the Anglican clergy, saying that they have united themselves with the higher Orthodox clergy, who always have conspired with the Catholic hierarchy and the nobility against the Russian people. It says the Anglican clergy remained indifferent when England blockaded Russia, causing the death of millions of workers, and the Catholic hierarchy, ranting was communicated to the correspondent through the Vatican.

SCOTTISH ESTATES COMING ON MARKET

Million and Half Acres of Land to Be Sold Soon.

(Special Despatch.) LONDON.

Within the next two weeks there will have been or will be 1,500,000 acres of Scottish land for sale at auction. One firm alone is putting up 1,000,000 acres, containing many estates rich in tradition, including Crawfordton in Dumfriesshire, and also the Strathaven and Dalserf estates. The Motherwell, Bothwell, Hamilton and Shotts estates will be sold at Hamilton Tuesday and the Cambuslang estates at Glasgow Thursday. The immediate sales also include many English properties of smaller acreage but famous in history. Myddelton Lodge in Yorkshire, which goes back to the Reformation, is being sold, and there are about forty attractive bargains being offered by families who have been forced to relinquish their ownership by the high taxes and changed conditions since the war. The number of rich American buyers who are believed desirous of buying English estates may have had some effect on the increased number of offerings in the market.

POPE PIUS XI JOLTS NERVES OF VATICAN

First Woman Installed as Parlor Housekeeper.

(Special Despatch.)

The independence and initiative of Pius XI, have furnished plenty of jolts to the nerves of the staid members of the Vatican. When he announced that a woman was coming to live in the Vatican the skies almost fell. The highest authorities protested almost tearfully: "But your Holiness, this is against all tradition." Whereupon Pope Pius answered: "Then we will begin a new tradition." So the first woman in centuries is now installed permanently in the Vatican. She is Signora Linda, a woman of 60, who for forty years has been a servant in the household of the Pope's mother and was his governess. When the then Cardinal's father died Signora Linda became homeless and went to a convent in Milan. Now Signora Linda has an apartment near that of the Pope in the Vatican and is practically his housekeeper, supervising the papal wardrobe and those of his secretaries, ordering the meals and making trips to the kitchen to see that everything is prepared in accordance with the Pope's simple tastes. She dresses like a nun and is a plain but intelligent woman who reads newspapers and prays much. She already has cut down the household expenses greatly from the generous budget maintained by the late Pope Benedict.

NORSE AND SWISS ART AT ZURICH MUSEUM

An extensive exhibition of the art work of the eminent Norwegian painter and etcher Edvard Munch is being held in the Museum of Fine Arts here and will continue to the end of July. There are also seven other rooms filled with etchings, wood cuts and lithographs. The pictures were lent partly by public museums in Germany and Austria and partly by the artist and his friends. Also more than sixty pictures by the Swiss artist, Ferdinand Hodler, are on view.

PREDICTS AMERICA AGAIN WILL ADMIT WINES AND BEERS

French Observer Says They Will Come Back, but Not the Saloon.

WHISKY MORE PLENTY

Quotes Bellevue Hospital Surgeon as Frightened at Number of Victims.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

America is to be congratulated for the wonderful social experiment of prohibition, but the evidence is multiplying that the time is not far distant when French wines and French beer will be permitted to enter the United States, if for no other reason than to diminish the fearful increase in whisky drinking. This was the message brought back by Alfred Guy, former member of the Tardieu economic mission, who for months has been in America engaged in an investigation of the booze problem, which he discussed with hospital heads, chiefs of police and high political officials. "No other country could have carried out this experiment so conclusively," M. Guy told a group of correspondents convened by Count Bernard de Mumm and the Marquis de Polignac. "It must be admitted that the saloon was a social evil, and that the prohibition campaign was therefore justified; but now the saloon has been abolished, and the time will come when a new regime will give greater liberties. The saloon itself will never be seen again.

"Yet to-day more whisky is being drunk in proportion to other drinks than before the war. Even the head surgeon of Bellevue Hospital told me that although the United States has been in prohibition, to-day he was frightened by the number of workmen entering the hospital under the influence of hard stuff and dying in convulsions like dogs. The same official told me he was convinced that the only solution would be the admission of wines and beers, with drastic action against hard liquors." M. Guy's investigation showed a great change in the public spirit compared with that noted on previous visits. The public were now engaged in vast violations of the law, which social inequality due to the job being able to buy beverages causing intense resentment among the poorer classes. This resentment has serious political repercussions. He contended, however, that neither the increase in drug habits nor the crime wave in America was due to prohibition, ascribing the latter to the present American deflation of narcotics and the latter to the general post-war condition, which is affecting all nations. The wines formerly sent to Russia, Germany and the United States, he said, were now being exported to Mexico, Canada and Japan, the latter not a great wine consuming nation. The present American deflation of light wines must be changed, as it included only 4 per cent. alcohol, whereas French wines were not considered drinkable unless they contained 14 or 15 per cent.

SIR JOSEPH DUVEEN PRAISES ENGLISH ART

Producing Greatest Paintings and America Progressing.

(Special Despatch.) LONDON.

England to-day is producing the greatest modern art in the world according to Sir Joseph Duveen. He added that America is coming along rapidly, that she is not only buying pictures but that Americans are painting vividly themselves. Sir Joseph, who has just arrived from the United States, said further: "Never since the eighteenth century have we in this country possessed such a number of painters. I do not propose to mention names, but I predict with confidence that posterity will regard those works of some of the artists I have in mind as we do those of the old masters. It is quite a mistaken idea to suppose that the only great art is that which has been bequeathed to us from the centuries past. "If one knows how to choose one cannot but realize that really great art is being produced now and I have been trying to encourage it. American interest in art is very notable and is increasing, but you will find that American collectors are buying cautiously. Americans are making good pictures themselves, but I repeat that in England now have living artists who are greater than can be obtained by any other country in the world."

AMERICAN TOURISTS AVOID IRELAND FOR FEAR OF DISORDER

Usual Flow of 2,000 Travelers to Emerald Isle Lacking This Year.

ENGLISH ALSO KEEP AWAY

Transportation Agents Admit Not Advising Clients to Visit Ireland.

(Special Despatch.) DUBLIN.

American tourists are steering clear of Ireland this year. Although more than a thousand Americans have landed here they have gone immediately to visit the old Irish homes of their ancestors, where they have remained until it was time for them to return to America. The summer flow of some 2,000 tourists who came in the years preceding the war to visit the picturesque spots on the Emerald Isle has now been diverted to other countries, leaving the proprietors of small hotels in scenic resorts to fare extremely lean. Tourist companies say they are afraid to risk their reputations by advising clients to visit this country. John Moore, manager of Cook's agency in Ireland, said his representatives in the ports where tourists normally land report a total of only six Americans who came purely to see the country. English tourists likewise are keeping away, the only Irish people going to England, Scotland and the Continent. The average Irishman, however, is optimistic about his country and says it will gradually right itself. While he realizes that the incidents in Belfast may inconvenience visitors, he nevertheless believes that they would be safe even there, and while visitors to other parts of Ireland might occasionally have to readjust their itineraries slightly on account of railway trouble he believes they would be able to travel in safety and comfort.

Though many times since the treaty was signed the situation here has looked really menacing, the political leaders have always managed to arrive at some arrangement before the storm really broke. This week the political situation has again been in a state of flux, but despite the gloomy possibilities the probability in the next few months is a continued improvement and the gradual reestablishment of order in the twenty-six counties.

American Society in Paris Prominent at Grand Prix

So Much English Heard That It Seemed Impossible to Be French Race Course.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

The Paris Grand Semaine ended at Longchamps this afternoon with a crowd estimated at 30,000, packing the stands and field. The pari-mutuel betting beat all records with a total some where between 9,000,000 and 10,000,000 francs. Although the crowd itself was not as large as some Grand Prix shows have seen in the past, it was memorable for the fact that it included unprecedented numbers of Americans and Englishmen. In fact so much English was heard that it was almost impossible to believe that it was really a French race course. Long before noon the crowds began to arrive, forming lines in front of the regular betting booths and before a score which were hastily improvised for the big race. But thousands were disappointed, being unable to put down their money before the booths closed at 11 o'clock. As a result, however, the event was a great success. The race was a new being shown even in Parisian styles, which are being shown privately and are already being held back for next Sunday, when the weather probably will be warmer. To-day's note was distinctly white with long straight lines and broad sashes. Ornaments were plentiful. Also dainty touches of light silks are again in vogue, although this helped little when just before the last race a heavy shower started. President Millerand shared the official box with Emperor Annamoi and several mandarins. As usual the final day was preceded by a grand ball at the Opera, where the Persian styles were doubly initiated. The chief feature of this year's tableaux was a reception of a Persian youth by a doge of Venice of the seventeenth century. Americans, although used to fantastic conceptions, were absolutely bewildered by the magnificent and startling fantasies. Scores of semi-nude servants formed a line for the passage of the royal visitors across the great salon, there certain candles and the throng of masked spectators and a stream of the Dogs scores of white pigeons were released. Although the dancing did not start until 11 o'clock it did not prevent Americans from being among the early arrivals at Longchamps. Among the prominent Americans seen were Ambassador Herrick, Mrs. Cooper Hewitt, Mr. Louis Sherry, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Yule, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kingsley Macomber, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Brookman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Replighe, Mr. and Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Swopes, Mr. Ogden Mills, Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Mr. Anthony J. Drexel, Mr. Frank H. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Untermyer, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard M. Baruch, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mortimer, Mrs. Jacques Helman, Mr. and Mrs. Cole Porter and Mr. Joseph E. Widener.

Throngs of Americans Enjoy Gala Entertainments in Paris

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel Give Brilliant Dinner Party—Prince and Princess Christopher and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gerard Among Guests.

By MAY BIRKHEAD.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

THERE are social activities in the French capital now to please every taste. The gala nights at all the restaurants in the Bois de Boulogne are thronged with Americans, and American dancers, and American music have such a strong hold on the public that the only topic of conversation these days is the "influx of Americans."

Early in the season it was announced that there would be no exhibition dancing at any of the fashionable restaurants, owing to the fact that the Government would require them to pay the tax of the theaters, or any place of amusement, and this new tax would be more than they could carry. With American dancers such as Jenny Dolly of the "Dolly Sisters," and her partner, Clifton Webb, however, opening a midnight dancing house, the Acacias, competition became too great for the restaurants, and they have been more or less forced to take on dancers. There are American dancers now at all of the chief dining places in the Bois. The Hermitage inaugurated its Thursday night galas this week completing a chain of amusements so, if one tries to see all of them, there would be few evenings passed out of the Bois. Jack Davin and Miss June Day are the dancers at the Hermitage. Miss Irene Castle, who was the first of the American ballroom dancers to feature dances in the French capital in Paris before the war, and her partner, William Reardon, are the stars at the Friday night fetes at Pre Catelan and will dance for the next two weeks throughout the racing season at Armeville. Miss Leonora Hughes and Maurice are the dancers at the Saturday night fetes at the Chateau de Madril, and with every night a fete is being held with Jerry's. It is not surprising that the French talk constantly of the influx of Americans.

Prices of Food Higher.

And with the return of the exhibition dancers, the prices of food at such restaurants has gone beyond all reason, but the bills are paid and the fete goes merrily on. After all, 100 francs for a bottle of champagne seems nothing to those who are accustomed to having no wine at all, and they should be only too glad to pay the tax for the privilege of having it. As to the tax, it is 25 per cent. of the price of the wine, and the various details of taxation are studied, the American, who feels inclined to complain, is beginning to realize that the increased prices. There is first a tax of 10 per cent. on the total figures of the amount of business done. Then there is a 25 per cent. on all restaurants which keep their doors open after 10 o'clock. From 8 to 10 o'clock there is a tax for an orchestra of four musicians of 2,000 francs a month. The tax on the "Droits d'Auteur" of 1,500 francs a month. On all champagnes there is a tax de luxe of 15 per cent. and on wines which cost more than 50 francs a bottle there is a 10 per cent. tax. With the additional tax for having exhibition dancers, 25 per cent., the restaurants feel that they are being treated very badly, but they are rapidly discovering that Americans want to drink champagne and dance at all costs and with the early summer weather in their favor, they are not wearing the gloomy faces of April when the season seemed doubtful. Notwithstanding all these fetes, private dinner parties have been numerous during the last week. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel opened the week with a brilliant dinner in the private ballroom of the Ritz, in honor of the Grand Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, the guest in Paris of her brother and sister-in-law, the Prince and Princess Christopher of Greece. The Grand Duchess is the mother of the late King of Greece. She is married to young William B. Leeds. The Grand Duc Cyrille of Russia and the Prince and Princess Christopher also were guests of honor at a business and social dinner given by the Marquis and Marquise Sommi-Piceneardi (she was Mrs. Blanche Vogel, nee Seigel), Comte and Comtesse Arthur de Gabriel (Fanny Fichon), Comte and Comtesse Andre de Limur (nee Crocker), Comte and Comtesse de Beaumont, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gerard, Comte and Mrs. Charles H. Sherrill, Mr. and Mrs. John Ridgely Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Lehr, Mrs. Henry de Sincay (Marie Louise Logan), Vicomtesse de Petitville, Vicomtesse d'Origny, Mrs. Lucie Work Hewitt, Marquis de La Gandara, Sir Ian Malcolm, Col. Hawes and Mr. William Hude Neilson.

Give Second Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Drexel gave a second dinner party a few nights later, which was equally brilliant, when their guests included the Duc and Duchesse de Bismarck, Marquis and Marquise de Noailles, Comte and Comtesse Bertrand d'Aramon, Mr. Anthony J. Drexel, Comte Georges de Montequieu, Comtesse du Bourg de Bozas, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell Wallace, Baronne Roger, Mme. Normand, Col. Vivian, Baron and Baronne de Neufville (nee Barbery), Lord Charles Montague, Comte Costa de Beauregard, Princesse de Polignac, Comtesse de Durfort, Gen. Sir Charles Sackville-West, Comtesse de Luart, Mr. William Hude Neilson, Mrs. Van Rensselaer Thayer and Marquise de Praoncel.

BRITONS BORN ABROAD MAY REMAIN BRITISH

Bill Proposes Recognition if Registered at Consulate.

(Special Despatch.) LONDON.

A bill which proposes that every child born abroad of a British father shall be a British subject has been introduced in the House of Commons. The only conditions are that the child at birth shall be registered at a British consulate and upon attaining its majority assert its British nationality by registered declaration. Under the existing law British nationality by descent ends after the first generation if birth occurs in a foreign land.

and Mme. Buat, Col. Philip Bunsau, Gen. and Mrs. Weyland, Gen. and Mrs. Buat, Col. Philip Bunsau, Varilla, Capt. and Mme. Hopital, Mr. and Mrs. Charles and Mrs. Charles L. Seeger, Prof. and Mrs. J. Mark Baldwin, Col. and Mrs. Harry F. Rethers, Mr. A. M. Thackara, the American Consul-General in Paris; Comte and Comtesse Charles de Maranch, Fredrick C. Van Dyke, Mrs. Harry B. Cullum, Miss Belle Skinner, Mrs. Laurence C. Brown, Mr. Charles T. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prince, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Robert Deane and Mrs. Frederick W. Beckman.

Americans at the Acacias.

After all of these dinner parties the guests went to the Acacias. There has been an unusual number of prominent Americans dancing there for the last few nights, among them Brig.-Gen. Corvallis Vanderbilt, Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mr. and Mrs. Farnham, Dr. Paul William K. Vanderbilt, Mrs. William Potter, Mr. Otto H. Kahn, Mr. Alexander Smith Cochran, Miss Elsie de Wolfe, Mr. Charles de Maranch, Fredrick C. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Field Malone. An incident which amused the Americans, and was much commented upon as a fashion feature, was the wearing of gloves by Mrs. Frederick C. Havemeyer while dancing with George Carpenter. Gloves in the evening these days are never passed without comment from Parisians who have considered them fashionable, so the combination of gloves and Carpenter naturally could not go unnoticed. Others present were the Grand Duke Alexander of Russia, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Boris of Russia, Princesse Rospiogoff (nee Stalio), and her sister, Princesse Michel Murat; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lehr, Mr. and Mrs. Honore Palmer, Comtesse Ginoux de Fernon, Comte and Comtesse Andre de Limur, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Day, Mr. Preston Gibson, Princesse Stanislas Poniatowska and Mr. Mortimer Singer.

A celebrity who attracted attention was Heifetz, the famous violinist, and near him at another table was Miss Anna Pavlova with others from the Russian Ballet, and there were familiar film stars, Misses Fanny Ward and Marston Davies, Irene Castle and her husband, Mr. Tremaine, Mr. Irving Berlin and Hazard Short were also noticed.

Crowds at the Races.

All of these people who dance by night are passing their days at the races. With the opening of the season at Chantilly racegoers turned out by the thousands. There were unexpected compensations for the turf enthusiasts with the coveted Prix de Dieters being captured by a 40 to 1 shot. Though the much exploited display was concerned was for below the level, the sport in every race was far above the ordinary.

FRENCH RESTRICT GOOD WILL SALES

Courts Limit Price to Thrice One Year's Profit.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

So fast are large profits made by buying and selling the good will of businesses necessary to daily life that the French courts have at last taken drastic action in limiting the pecuniary gain of such transactions. In the case heard last week it was found that a grocery and wine shop bought three years ago for less than 100,000 francs, exclusive of the reserve stocks, had been transferred again for nearly 500,000 francs. Although the last owner was satisfied the first decided that the second sale was too much by the deal and asked the courts for an arbitration.

As a result a ruling has now been established whereby the good will of a business cannot be transferred for more than three times the net profits during the year immediately preceding the sale. Any other basis, even if agreed upon between the parties, is subject to cancellation and prosecution for speculation.

EXPERTS TRY TO MAKE INDESTRUCTIBLE FILMS

No Success So Far, Life of Reels Being Only 15 Years.

(Special Despatch.) PARIS.

French Government experts are trying to solve the problem of making indestructible film, but have reported that so far they have had little success. They add that the rumors from Germany that cinema inventors there have found a composition which will not burn nor deteriorate with age also have been proved to be false. The Paris Municipal Council has decided immediately to organize film libraries where they will conserve official copies of all films depicting public events, including reels taken at the front during the war. For the present they must rely on a definite law temperature to prevent the films from spoiling, but it is evident that unless more substantial material is used future generations will lose thousands of reels of important historic value. Already the films taken prior to 1900 are useless. The life of the present gelatinous coating is estimated at no more than fifteen years.

"A MAN OF HIS WORD"

By Ruby M. Ayers.

CHAPTER XXIII

"I know—I am afraid I've said a lot of things I ought not to have said," Jean answered with a sort of humility.

Mrs. Fisher looked surprised;
 presently she laughed.

"Are you getting on the stool of repentance because it's Christmas time?" she asked an oddly "It does affect some people that way, I know."

Jean did not answer.
 "There is a note from Gavin Dawson," Lillian went on carelessly. "He apologises for not coming yesterday, as he was to have done, and says he will be there to lunch. I am glad of that. I hate a house-party if it is a man short."

Jean kept her eyes on her plate; at mention of Gavin's name her heart had begun to race; she wanted him to come, and yet she dreaded seeing him again. She went out for a long walk in the morning with Jummy.
 Jummy was very excited about Christmas; he had hung up his stocking already, he informed Jean engerly, he only wished it wasn't so long before bedtime, because Father Christmas never came till it was dark.

"I wonder what he will bring you?" Jean said. She tried to enter into his eagerness, but her heart was heavy.

"Uncle Robin says he finks I'll have a motor-car that goes—a toy one, of course," he explained consideringly. "Uncle Robin knows Father Christmas."

"Does he?"
 "Yes; he says he went to school with him," Jummy explained.

"Oh!" said Jean. She could not help smiling, in spite of herself.
 "And what else would you like him to bring?" she asked.

"I saw a bear in a shop that grows," he said at last.

"Yes," said Jean. "I've seen that too. Perhaps you'll have it if you're a good boy." She had decided that she would go out that afternoon and buy it for him before she remembered that if she did it would have to be with O'Neill's money; she could not get used to the thought that everything she had came from him, even a penny stamp with which to write to Miss Lydia.

She walked on silently.
 Jummy trotted happily beside her, chattering all the way; there were no clouds on his horizon. Jean envied him as she looked down at his glowing face.

The thought of the bear that growled hurt her; she would have loved to buy it for him, and yet how could she with money that was not her own?

When they got back home Gavin had arrived. He was talking to Lillian in the drawing-room when Jean entered. It struck her very forcibly that money had altered him already. He was smartly dressed and well groomed; he looked very different to the rather Bohemian type of man with whom she had once walked the lanes and woods at Osterway.

She would have been surprised, and a little scornful, perhaps, had she known that the "business" that had detained him yesterday had been the fact that the new clothes he had ordered from an expensive and exclusive West End tailor had not put in an appearance.

He greeted her quietly enough, but he pressed her fingers hard for a second before he let them go, and Jean felt her heart sink.

She looked at him a great deal during lunch; she talked to him more than to anyone else. He was fifty times better-looking now than when she had made a hero of him down at Osterway, and yet somehow his handsome features left her cold.

"Just too handsome, isn't he?"
 Pansy Rutherford whispered to her once. "My dear, where did Lillian find him?"

"I think she has known him nearly all her life," Jean said stiffly. "And I knew him at Osterway," she added.

"Did you? How perfectly romantic! And quite a millionaire, too, isn't he?"

"I don't know about that. He is well off."
 "Lucky man!" said Pansy enviously. She looked at Jean quizzically.

Jean tried to smile.
 "I am just thinking," said Pansy, raising her voice and addressing the table, "that Jean ought to find a husband this Christmas. . . . What do you think, Lillian?"

Jean turned crimson; her eyes sought Lillian's appealingly.

"I don't fancy Jean is desperately anxious to marry," Lillian said rather dryly. "Now she sees what a muddle most of us have made of it," she added with a laugh.

"That's unkind," Pansy declared,
 but she did not really mind.
 She turned to O'Neill who was sitting beside her.

"I'm going to take you on a shopping expedition," she said, "and you'll have to carry all the parcels.
 I always leave my Christmas shopping till the last minute. I like the excitement of being afraid I've forgotten half the people I ought to have remembered. No, you cannot refuse."

"I wasn't going to," said O'Neill calmly. "I shall be very pleased to come; but surely we might have a taxi for the parcels, mightn't we?"
 he asked.

Pansy laughed.
 "We can if you'll pay for it," she said saucily. "I'm broke—goodness only knows what I'm to do for money till next quarter; I think I shall try buying presents at the sixpenny-half-penny shop this year."

"Well, don't be late for dinner, anyway," Lillian reminded her as they rose from the table. "We're dining early tonight, and going on to a theatre afterwards—I've taken a whole row of stalls."

 It should have read Willoughby Lake. They were accompanied on their trip by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest leanor Ireland are visiting a few weeks in Leeds.

 two sons have been visiting in Roy-

PIRATES ARE HITTING BALL AT GREAT CLIP

Yankees and Browns Both Lost Yesterday—Giants' Lead Is Reduced to Two Points.

(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The Pirates were in third place today and making a bold bid the higher berths held by the Giants and Cardinals, as a result of a slugging streak, surpassing even the most violent batting outbursts this season and rivaling the best on the record books.

By taking a double victory from the Phillies by scores of 19 to 8 and 7 to 3, making it ten in a row, the Pirates brought their hit and run total for the last three games with the Quakers to 68 and 43, respectively, giving the team a batting average of .466 for the series. They made twenty-two hits in the first game and twenty-seven and nineteen in yesterday's contests.

A remarkable feature was the fact that every member of the team connected for at least one hit in each of the games.

The Cardinals were idle, but the Giants dropped to a lead of two but points as a result of losing to the Reds by 7 to 3, in ten innings. Bancroft's wild throw let in the winning run, after Kelly had tied the score in the ninth with his second homer of the game.

The Browns and Yankees succumbed to stellar pitching and remained within a game of each other in the American League race.

Dauss, of Detroit, had the better of Carl Hays, checking the New Yorkers' winning streak of six games, while Zachary held St. Louis to seven scattered hits and Washington by 3 to 2.

The Boston Red Sox pounded three Indians hurlers for twenty-one hits and a 15 to 6 win, while the White Sox continued their slugging against the Phillies and won by 6 to 4.

Vic Aldridge and Dutch Ruether each allowed nine hits, but the Cubs bunched their hits to better advantage and defeated the Dodgers by 4 to 1.

pitchers errorless support. Score: R. H. E.

JESUIT FATHER ADDRESSED THE ROTARY CLUB

Father de la Peza, of Loyola College, Spoke on the Mexican Problem—The American-European Tangle.

Several visitors and many Rotarians were present at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club, yesterday, to hear Father E. de la Peza, who, in an address filled with interest and attracting the undivided and continual attention of every listener, vividly described the conditions prevailing in Mexico, both during the years that have slipped into the historic past and the present time.

In introducing Father de la Peza, Rotarian McManamy informed the gathering that the speaker for the day was of the Mexican Province of the Jesuit Order; a great scholar; an outstanding member of the Order on this continent; and at present attached to the Department of Sociology of Loyola College.

In opening his address, Father de la Peza gave a brief outline of the Mexico, according to popular ideas—a country overrun with bandits, bristling with weapons of every description, a country rich in silver, gold and other minerals, the "treasure house of the world," and a land perpetually canopied by that new world of blue skies. The speaker also introduced himself as a native of the land, saying, "I am proud to be a Mexican."

Father de la Peza, in the main body of his address, divided his subject into two divisions: first, a historic resume of Mexican development, and secondly, the actual conditions in Mexico at present.

SPAIN DETRIMENTAL
"Mexico had a very bad start," said the speaker, "and for three hundred years it was under the dominion of Spain. I am of Spanish descent myself, but rather than be a Spaniard, I am first of all and last of all, a Mexican. The Spaniards went by thousands to that new world. They found nations already established but nations that had struggled against odds and built, more or less, a government of their own." Turning to the conditions of settlement, Father de la Peza said that it is often claimed that the methods used by the Latin races in settling a country were superior to those used by the English. The English, he said, had practically exterminated the Indians, when they colonized this continent, but the Spaniards, during the settlement of Mexico, had spared the Indian.

"Well, gentlemen," continued the speaker, "if you were put in a position to choose between servitude and death, you would say, 'Kill me before making me a slave.' The Spaniards went into Mexico and made slaves of the Indians. The country is made up by the toil of the Indians, working under the whip of the Spaniard."

Father de la Peza went on to point out that even today there is a marked distinction between the Latin inhabitants and the natives, saying, "It is a fact that in Mexico both you and I would be considered as foreigners."

"My church saved the Indians from disappearing," stated the Father, "and settled the basis of civilization. The ministers of my church did their best to teach the Indians religion," the speaker claiming further, that the Indians had not revolted against their rulers to a greater extent, because of their religious education.

In opening the second part of his address, Father de la Peza said: "I left Mexico in 1915 and came to Canada to do my work. I like your country but you have an awful climate. The potentialities of Canada are great, in my opinion, and you can look to the future with great pride."

MEXICO, UNITED STATES AND EUROPE
"We Mexicans are fighting against great odds. We are near the United States. The States are giants and we are infants." The speaker mentioned the American-Mexican War, the Panama Canal enterprise, American business projects, and went on: "Latin America does not love the States. Is it prudent for the States to allow a nation, potentially wealthy, to become the living nation of Latin America?"

"When Diaz became the President of Mexico, the country was in an awful state, and Diaz called in American capital. Developments rapidly assumed large proportions, and interest of citizens of the United States became predominant. After thirty years of Diaz being president in Mexico, he thought that American interests were big enough to prevent social disturbances. He then began calling in European capital."

Diaz granted since 1900 the oil concessions to English concerns; railway concessions to Belgium, and mining concessions to Germany. Diaz was looking for the safety of his own country. His policy was to balance American capital."

But this policy, according to the speaker, was not an agreeable one to all parties for "the Americans began to foster revolutions, and there is no country in which it is so easy to start a revolt."

Father de la Peza said that if anyone had several thousand dollars and wished to start a revolution, all that was necessary was to offer money to the natives and they would drop their farming tools and start to fight, because the love of fighting is in their blood. "They do not fight for any special government or policy. They want themselves to be rulers."

This method of fomenting strife was used by Americans, according to Father de la Peza, to prevent the growth of the country, and in closing his address the speaker said: "Until the States realize that they can use Mexico for their own advantage, and until they see that all players are asked to turn out, Lennoxville go to Beebe on Saturday leaving Lennoxville at one o'clock by auto. All are requested to meet at the Post Office at that time.
