New Round Of Speculation On Election Sparked By PM

OTTAWA (CP) — When will it be? And which party will precipitate it? These were central questions, in a new round of speculation on the next election provoked Thursday by a Commons reply by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Main attention of speculators was on the Liberals. What will they do once they have chosen their new leader next week?

Liberal Convention Flooded By Proposals

OTTAWA (CP) — Most major functions have their organizational crises. Trying to fit 300 proposals into five hours of discussion time may prove the big frustration of next week's Liberal convention.

The party, seeking a new leader and possibly some new ideas on how to get back into power, is being flooded with proposals. But it appears only a fraction will get an airing at the three-day gathering opening here Tuesday.

George Marler, provisional resolutions committee chairman, figured he would get some 200 resolutions at the most. He felt 200 would certainly be an indication of cross-country interest in the party's destiny.

Now he has more than 300 and others may be coming in. The convention has allocated only five hours for report of committees and consideration of resolutions from the floor.

35 SPEECHES
This compares with some 12 hours allocated to various speakers. The party has scheduled more than 35 speeches, more than double the number scheduled by the Progressive Conservatives at their convention here a year ago last December.

All this speech-making may leave little time for the grassroots delegates to get their say. And apparently they have a lot to say.

In the heap of resolutions is one demanding that the party's leader

The prime minister's reply was made to Stanley Knowles, deputy CCF leader, who asked whether another federal-provincial fiscal conference will be called before the next federal election.

That, said Mr. Diefenbaker, "would naturally depend on the conduct of my honorable friends opposite (opposition parties) and the degree to which they follow the course of action that they have followed in recent weeks."

INSPIRES SPECULATION

Some observers said this indicated the prime minister might decide to appeal to the people soon on grounds his government can't get on with its program in its present minority position. Progressive Conservatives hold 113 of the 265 Commons seats.

J. W. Pickersgill (L. — Bonaville-Twillingate) asked whether Mr. Diefenbaker's reply meant the government won't go to the voters "unless defeated in this House."

Mr. Diefenbaker didn't reply. But an exchange of shouts arose among members and Mr. Pickersgill finally made this parting shot: "That's what he said."

But while some tried to figure out what the prime minister might have been getting at, others turned to examine possible Liberal moves.

The party chooses a successor to Opposition Leader St. Laurent at a convention here next week. Will their new leader try to topple the government as soon as possible after his selection?

Or will he, as some party strategists are known to favor, do his best to leave the Conservatives in power in the belief they will eventually be their own undoing?

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

At this point, you could pretty well pay your money and take your choice of answers. Both CCF Leader Coldwell and Social Credit Leader Low said they feel that neither the government nor the Liberals are in a position to bring on an early election at this time.

For one thing—how could the government rationalize a request on its part to dissolve Parliament and go for a new vote unless it was defeated in Parliament?

For another thing—what issue before Parliament could the Liberals use to vote down the government? Mr. Coldwell couldn't think of any.

Present standing in the 265-seat Commons is: Progressive Conservatives 113; Liberals 106; CCF 25; Social Credit 19; Independents 2.

Canadian Boys 'Waste Of Time'

TORONTO (CP)—An Estonian teenager says Canadian boys "are crazy, juvenile and haven't got a brain in their heads."

Eighteen-year-old Anne Nisu recently arrived in Toronto from South America after living several years in Buenos Aires. Asked in an interview whether she has been on any dates in Toronto, she said:

"I just couldn't be bothered going out with Canadian boys. It would be such a waste of time."

OTTAWA (CP)—Thirty-seven members of Parliament this week started attending special conversational French classes, which will be continued until the end of the current session.

Shot Down Pal

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP)—Elmer (Trigger) Burke, cold-blooded professional killer convicted of slaying his best friend in a barroom brawl, died Thursday night with a prayer on his lips in Sing Sing prison's electric chair.

The 39-year-old Burke, who might have saved his life by talking about some unsolved gangland slayings and robberies, entered the death chamber accompanied by the prison's Roman Catholic chaplain, praying with him.

Burke said nothing aside from words softly spoken in prayer as he ran afoul of the law for keeps after he shot down his pal, Edward (Poochie) Walsh, in a west side Manhattan bar, in a fit of rage.

Witnesses said Walsh was slain

after he tried to stop Burke from kicking a man in the face.

PROUD OF PROFESSION

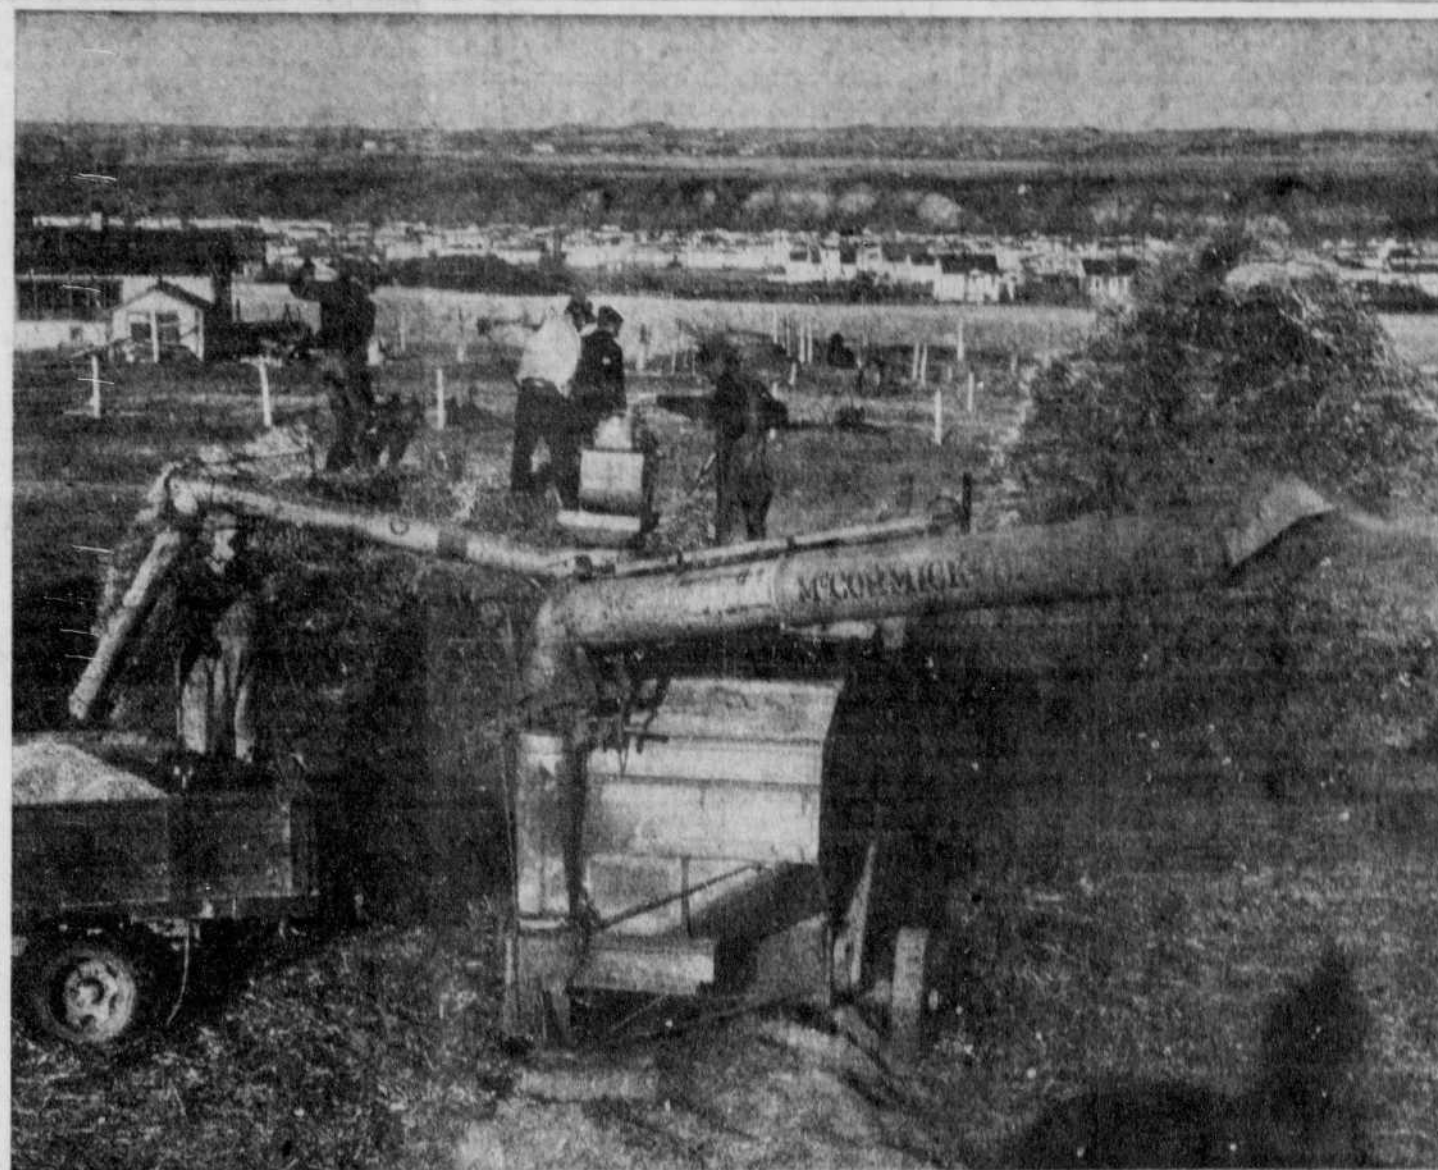

A probation report on Burke said he proudly boasted of the only profession he ever knew—that of a strong-arm guy and trigger man feared by even the toughest along the New York waterfront.

Walsh, 23-year-old longshoreman, was slain in 1952. Burke couldn't be found for questioning. In 1954 he was arrested in Boston after he machine-gunned—but only wounded—Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, a key figure in the million-dollar cash holdup of Brink's armored car service.

Police said Burke had been hired to rob out O'Keefe to settle an underworld dispute over disposition of the Brink's loot.

Burke was jailed in Boston for possession of a machine-gun —

AMERICAN ATOM PLANES FLYING OVER CANADA

MID-WINTER THRESHING — Threshing in January in southern Alberta may sound ridiculous, but it's possible this year. Frank Ainsworth, who stacked oats on his 160-acre farm west of Calgary for threshing in the spring, takes advantage of 51-degree weather to keep ahead of his work (CP Photo)

OTTAWA (CP) — American planes occasionally carry atomic or hydrogen bombs over Canadian territory with this country's written permission, it was learned today on high authority.

In the case of each such flight, the United States government presents a formal request to Canada. This country's permission in each case must be signed by a cabinet minister.

How many bomb-carrying flights have been made over Canadian territory by American planes could not be learned but the practice has been going on for a number of years.

The atomic or hydrogen bombs are in transit to American bases overseas, especially in Europe, or in Alaska.

Routes for the flights are carefully worked out in advance and none goes near populated areas of Canada. The bombs, of course, are not fused and there would be little if any danger of one exploding even if the plane crashed.

Bulganin Timing 'Tricky'

LONDON (AP) — Premier Bulganin's latest Russian proposal for summit talks has blunted the impact on Western European opinion of President Eisenhower's call for peace through strength.

The American leader had to share newspaper space here with Bulganin, and in some cases even received less attention than the Soviet premier.

In Washington, where the Bulganin proposal got intensive study and a cold reaction in official circles, State Secretary Dulles was expected to respond to it informally at a press conference this afternoon.

There were no immediate signs here that Bulganin had caused new divisions of opinion in Western ranks.

Rather, Western Europe's newspapers gave their readers

Penal Reform Planned

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Davie Fulton says he hopes to call a conference of provincial attorneys-general "in the reasonably near future" to discuss a revamping of Canada's penal system.

He informed the Commons Thursday night he expects before long to present to the cabinet a number of suggestions, including some 15 to 20 amendments to the Criminal Code, to implement recommendations of the Fauteux committee on remissions of prison sentences.

Action might be taken at the next session of Parliament, but consultation with the provincial attorneys-general was needed beforehand. Some of the 44 recommendations in the 1956 Fauteux report required joint federal and provincial action.

He said during study of his departmental estimates that the government already has initiated some action on its own.

Automatic parole review of sentences a la day had been instituted in three penitentiaries and would be established in the other five federal prisons as soon as possible.

Pouliot Unfurls His Flag

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Jean Francois Pouliot (L. — Quebec) Thursday unfurled his own personal Canadian flag in the red chamber with the implication that his colleagues might advocate its adoption as the country's national flag.

The large banner — a green maple leaf on a fiery red background — has flown for several years over Senator Pouliot's home in Riviere du Loup when he is in residence.

When the Senate met Thursday with no business before it Senator Pouliot asked for and got permission to display his flag.

He commented it as one with no racial symbols. He said the maple leaf was Canada's emblem and the green also stood for the House of Commons (so-called green chamber because of the color scheme) and the red background was the color for the Senate.

Telephone Rate Hike Granted

OTTAWA (CP)—Bell Telephone Company's rates in Ontario and Quebec will go up by an average three per cent Jan. 31 under an authorization granted today by the board of transport commissioners.

It will mean an average boost of about four per cent in monthly rates on residential phones, 6.7 per cent on business phones and slightly over one per cent on long distance toll within the two provinces.

Charges on calls to points outside the two provinces are not affected. Some long distance rates will go down.

On monthly residential rates, the increases generally are 10 or 15 cents a month for two-party service—the most common type—and 20 or 30 cents a month for one-party lines.

In awarding Bell the first rate increase since 1952 for its 2,800,000 phones in the two central provinces, the board cut down sharply on what the company sought.

Anglers Strike

PERIGUEUX, France (Reuters)—The fish may not be striking but the fishermen intend to. Eight thousand anglers met here Thursday and decided to "go on strike" against the cost of fish.

Anglican Parish Split Over Disposition Of Lottery Win

EASTBOURNE, Eng. (Reuters) Parishioners at St. John's Anglican Church are split on how to handle £1,000 won in a government-sponsored lottery.

Some don't want the church to touch the money. Others say it should be used to aid the parish in this seaside resort.

The money was under the government's "saving with a thrill" program. Britons buy £1 bonds and get the opportunity to win up to £1,000. The prize money comes from what normally would be paid for interest on a savings account. The bonds can be cashed at any time.

Prime Minister Macmillan introduced the premium bond plan in 1956 when he was chancellor of the exchequer, and some leaders of the Church of England opposed the program then, claiming it was a "something for nothing" gambling scheme.

The government leaders said it wasn't gambling, because the in-

Democrats Ask Ike Back Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats called on President Eisenhower today to back up with specific blueprints for action the eight-point program he placed before Congress and the American people Thursday.

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, set the show-me tone of reaction to the proposals Eisenhower outlined in his state of the union message. Eisenhower said they are needed to meet the growing space-era threat of what he repeatedly called "Communist imperialism."

"The president has in general terms set forth some worthy objectives," Johnson said in an interview. "He has called for strengthening of our Allies, greater understanding and commerce between nations and attempts to bring peace to the world. These have long been Democratic objectives."

"Now we are waiting for his blueprints for meeting those objectives. As soon as he lays them down, our committees will promptly consider his recommendations."

The Democrats control the committees because of their majority in Congress.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three generations of Lewises are working on Jerry's latest movie, but one is due for retirement.

It was a real family scene on the set of Rock-A-Bye Baby at Paramount. Frank Tashlin was directing a shot in which young Gary Lewis sings a song and dances over a hillside of spring flowers.

But Frank had some help on the sidelines. Also aiding in the direction was the producer of the picture, Jerry Lewis, who finds time to act in it, too. Then there was his lovely wife, Patty, who brought along another son, Ronnie. Completing the family picture was Gary's grandfather, youthful-looking vaudeville veteran Danny Lewis, who also has a part in the movie.

The family group gathered in the Paramount commissary for lunch and discussed 12-year-old Gary's budding career, which is about to be nipped.

EDUCATION FIRST

"This kid has only about 200 tons of talent," said proud papa Jerry. "It's just too bad it's going to be hidden until he grows up."

How's that?

"This will be Gary's farewell appearance until he graduates from college," Jerry said. I asked Gary how he felt about that.

"I'll change his mind," the boy said, out of his father's hearing.

He'll have some powerful campaigning to do, because Jerry seems pretty firm in his decision. "I hate child actors," he said. "I mean the professional kind of child actor. The youngsters who are great as actors and who are really liked are the ones who do things naturally, who act without being actors. Gary is like that."

"But the trouble with most child actors is that they are pushed into acting by an ambitious parent. The kids become phony; they're subjected to all kinds of attention which they shouldn't have at their age. And they usually end up unhappy in their later lives."

"Gary doesn't have to act. He's going to have the advantage of the education I didn't have. I had to quit in the second grade of high school, not because I needed the money but because I couldn't be happy unless I was in show business."

"I've lived to regret it. I've had to adjust to situations I could have coped with more easily if I had gone on in school." So far Gary has appeared three times with his pa. He did the Sonny Boy routine on Jerry's television show and appeared for a week when the comic played Detroit. "The kid got the biggest hand I've ever heard," said Jerry.

But after finishing his number in the movie, Gary goes back to military academy here and becomes one of the boys again.

Farm Forum Activities

HIGH AND LOW FOSTER

The Forum met on January 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Thompson, with 26 present.

The broadcast was very good dealing with production restrictions. This group does not want compulsory restrictions and thinks that the subject pertained more to Prairie farmers who raise more wheat than anything else. In this part of the country most farmers have their eggs in more than one basket, so can voluntarily make slight variations in their production.

Plans were made to hold a card party at Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Ward's on January 17, Mrs. Hazen Lowry to look after details.

A social time was enjoyed and lunch served.

The next meeting will be a "Film Night" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Lowry.

Maurice Allard PC Candidate

Single Name Offered To Convention

Preparing for what Solicitor General Leon Balcer warned was an imminent federal general election, Sherbrooke County Progressive Conservatives last night selected Maurice Allard, 36-year-old local attorney, as their candidate in the voting, expected next summer.

Only one name was presented officially to the gathering which jammed the Superior School auditorium on King street west. One individual in the audience attempted to name a second aspirant, but his choice was disqualified because of failure to be present at the meeting.

Mr. Allard's name was advanced by Ald. Antonio Pinard, candidate in the 1953 general elections, and seconded by Francois Thibault, 1957 candidate, and by Charles Connors.

The meeting was presided over by Guy Creneau, president of the Sherbrooke County Progressive Conservative Association, who reviewed the work accomplished since the Association was re-organized in October.

Solicitor General Balcer, the chief speaker of the evening, urged party supporters to speed up their organization efforts, warning that the lack of an overall majority in the Commons might force Prime Minister Diefenbaker to call another election at any time.

SEES QUEBEC GAINS
Predicting the Conservatives could make substantial gains in Quebec Province in an election held this summer, Mr. Balcer gave three reasons for the party's poor showing last summer.

These were the failure of Quebec residents to realize the change in the political feeling in other parts of Canada; the inability of Mr. Diefenbaker to spend much time in this province during the last election, and the nature of the campaign carried on by the Liberals to discredit the Conservative party.

Liberal speakers, he said, claimed the election of the Conservatives would mean an end to all types of social security benefits and of Quebec's cherished rights.

However, the record of the Diefenbaker during his short term of office had proved the falsity of these arguments.

Old age pensions had been increased in keeping with the election promises and a commission would be set up to study the United States social security system with the idea of adapting it to Canadian needs.

PROVINCIAL PROBLEMS
The Conservative desire to protect the position to the provinces was apparent in the differing attitudes at the Dominion-Provincial Conferences, Mr. Balcer continued.

Whereas the Liberals had presented the provinces with take-it-or-leave-it propositions, the Conservatives asked the provinces to state their case.

Declaring the Diefenbaker Government had done more during its first three months of office than the Liberals had done in three years, he reviewed the tax reductions granted to aid "the little fellow," the assistance to farmers and the reduction in the foreign trade deficit.

THE CANDIDATE
In accepting the nomination, Mr. Allard said that he extended his compliments to the sitting Liberal member for Sherbrooke, Maurice Gingues, and hoped that during the coming year he would be suitably rewarded for his inactivity at Ottawa over the years.

When the Diefenbaker Government took office in June, 1957, it found the affairs of the nation in a deplorable state, Mr. Allard declared. The financial load was too cumbersome; there was waste and extravagance in government; the wheat surplus was dangerously high with a gradual loss of the traditional market for Canadian producers in the United Kingdom, the cost of living was rising rapidly; interest rates were high and credit restrictions were excessive; unemployment had increased 40 per cent over the previous year; relations between the federal and provincial governments were troubled; there was a scarcity of capital throughout the country; social pensions were inadequate; the public treasury was empty and a large amount of short-term notes were outstanding with no system of organized re-payment. With the advent of the Conservative Government, social security payments were increased, cash advances were made against wheat stored on the farms. Action was taken to stabilize farm produce prices, an inquiry was ordered into the textile industry, immigration was restricted and $150,000,000 was made available to the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for the building of 15,000 new dwellings.

HON. LEON BALCER

Personal, corporation and automobile taxes were also reduced, Mr. Allard concluded.

VICTORY POSSIBLE
With proper organization and hard work, Conservatives should be able to win Sherbrooke County, Theo Ricard, member for St. Hyacinthe-Bagot declared.

His own county had only returned a Conservative once previously since Confederation, but he had been elected in 1957 by a substantial majority, largely because the people were fed up with the arrogance of the Liberal leaders.

Detain Three In West Ward Theft Attempt

Three young men, aged 18, 19, and 20, are being held by Sherbrooke Municipal Police today in connection with attempted break-ins at the Longpre Grocery and Patone's restaurant both on Galt st. W.

Police were called at 1:46 a.m. today when a woman, living above Patone's restaurant, noticed some noise in the back yard and she immediately notified the authorities.

Two police cars arrived on the scene and three young men were picked up.

It was also discovered that the door of the Longpre grocery nearby, had been damaged. No weapons were found, but a screwdriver was discovered in the possession of one of the young men.

None of the men being held have any criminal records.

Final Tribute To Sherbrooke Lady Resident

The funeral of Mrs. Edouard Roy, the former Agnes Legare, whose death occurred at the Hotel Dieu Hospital on Saturday after a very short illness, took place Tuesday morning from Brien's Funeral Home, Ball street, to St. Michael's Cathedral, where the body was received at the door by Rev. Father Rouillard.

The Vicar-General, Mgr. Veilleux celebrated the Mass, assisted by Rev. Francis Casey and Rev. Robert Marcoux, all friends of the deceased. In the sanctuary were Mgr. Rosario Moisan, of St. Patrick's Church and Rev. Father Gagnon.

Among those attending the funeral service were two nuns of the Clairisse Order and a representative of the Monastery of the Precious Blood.

The bearers were Leon and Emile Roy, Arthur and Wilfrid Dupre, Donat Cloutier and Joseph St. Pierre.

Interment took place in St. Michael's Cemetery, Rev. Father Casey of Mary Queen of the Universe Church officiating at the committal service.

Mrs. Roy leaves to mourn her passing her husband, three daughters, Jane, at home, Jennine, Mrs. Rene Plamondon and Mr. Plamondon, of Thetford Mines, Therese, Mrs. Leopold Pichette, Mr. Pichette and their son, Johnny, of Palisade, N.J., and a son, Joseph Roy, and Mrs. Roy, a brother-in-law and sister, Mrs. Ernest Guillemette and several nephews and nieces, of Sanford, Me., as well as cousins in Springfield, Mass., where Mrs. Roy was born.

Mrs. Roy was noted for her work among the poor and is remembered by those in charge of rummage sales for her purchases of clothing, dresses and material to make into blankets and bedspreads, which she later distributed among the needy.

The high esteem in which Mrs. Roy was held by those who knew her was demonstrated by the large number of spiritual tributes offered.

Surgery Assists Babies Born With Heart Disease

Editor's Note: This is a series of articles written for the Canadian Heart Association to appear weekly. It is published by the Sherbrooke Record as a public service.

By ROBERT FRASER, M.D.
(Associate Professor of Medicine, University of Alberta, President, Alberta Heart Foundation.)

Two-year-old Sherry is a normal, healthy little prairie girl thanks to a special Christmas present she received in Edmonton's University Hospital a year ago.

The "present" was a small plastic patch inserted over a hole between the left and right sides of her heart and the removal of thick muscle which was obstructing the blood flow into the pulmonary artery. Sherry was born a "blue baby" and the operation to make her "pink" involved stopping her heart for more than half an hour, while the functions of her heart and lungs were assumed by a mechanical pump and the heart was laid open by a surgeon's knife.

Each year in Canada some two thousand babies like Sherry are born with defective hearts that severely limit their activities and often mean an early death. New developments that make open heart surgery possible are giving these youngsters a new lease on life.

No one is able to say exactly why the walls, valves, or vessels to and from the heart do not develop properly in these children. We only know that some influence retarded normal development many months before birth. There is a month timetable for formation of all parts of the body and if delay occurs during the time at which the heart is being formed the result may be a permanent abnormality in its structure.

Doctors agree that there is no reason why a mother who has had one child with a congenital heart should not have further children who are perfectly normal.

It is often thought that a child with congenital heart disease is a blue baby. However, just as many children born with heart disease are not blue.

Discovery of an abnormal heart is often made by the family doctor in the first year of life. In some cases there may be little evidence at this time and the difficulty does not become apparent until the child becomes more active. Quite often these children may only have feeding problems and be subject to more than the usual number of chest colds. They may not grow as well as their sisters and brothers and often tire more easily. In children who are blue babies, the blueness may appear in the first few weeks of life or may be delayed.

BRIEFLETS

The regular monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Sherbrooke which will be held in the Norton Residence of the Sherbrooke Hospital on Monday evening at eight o'clock will take the form of a "Bring and Buy Sale."

It always becomes worse with crying and with exercise.

Before surgery can be considered, an accurate diagnosis must be made. This often involves special tests in addition to careful examination by the doctor. By these tests it is possible to determine not only the site of the abnormality but also the effect which it is having on the heart.

Surgical treatment varies from the simple tying of abnormal vessels to complicated procedures requiring a mechanical pump to carry on circulation while the heart is stopped. The surgeon is now able to work inside the open and stopped heart for as long as an hour while the child's circulation is carried on by the "heart-lung" pump. This makes it possible for him to apply plastic patches to cover holes in the inner walls of the heart or to work on malformed valves.

Before the development of "open-heart surgery" three years ago, patients could not be completely cured of complicated lesions. Older types of operations for these complicated lesions often improved but did not completely cure the patient. With the help of "open-heart surgery" it is now possible to completely repair many of even the most complicated heart defects.

A child, for example, with a hole in one of the inner walls of the heart, with one valve narrower than normal, and with a shunting of "stale" blood into the general circulation, may enter the hospital quite blue and with very limited exercise ability.

During his stay in hospital, special tests are performed and an accurate diagnosis is arrived at by a medical diagnostic team. Before his operation, blood must be obtained in large quantities, demanding the contributions of approximately twenty donors, each of whose blood has been matched against the child's. These people must donate their blood early in the morning on the day of operation since the blood used in the operation cannot be stored.

The surgical team then takes over and the Operating Room is prepared. The "heart-lung pump" is set up and filled with blood.

The child is then brought up to the Operating Room and the surgery begins. In the room at this time there are the surgeon and two assistants, one or more medical consultants, the pump team of two or more technicians, the anesthetist, four or more nurses and one technician looking after the other complex machines necessary for this operation. The operation itself may last as long as six hours. The child then returns to the recovery room where nurses, specially trained in this work, help insure the success of the operation.

If all goes well, the child who leaves the hospital will have good color, be full of energy and can look forward to a normal life.

It is only through years of research and experiments with animals that these methods of curing children with congenital heart disease have been developed. It will only be through years of further research that even better ways will be found.

More important still is the investigation being carried on now into the fundamental causes of congenital heart disease. At present many children with abnormal hearts can now have a hopeful future through corrective surgery. In the future there is hope that these abnormalities may even be prevented entirely.

Dahlia Fancier Crazy About Daisy

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — William S. Goode promised publicly today to quit dallying with dahlias if his runaway wife will return to his bed and board.

Goode, a 51-year-old dahlia fancier who has won many prizes at flower shows, told the newspapers that Mrs. Goode vanished Dec. 30, leaving a note which said: "Dahlias, dahlias, dahlias — I am fed up with them. Breakfast, supper and bedtime that is all I have had to hear."

"If she will come back I will give them up," said Goode today.
"I realize now that my wife is more important than dahlias."

The Doctor Says

Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

TREATMENT OF SPOTS ON SKIN DUE TO PIGMENT ABSENCE IS DOUBTFUL

Today's first question, a complaint about the skin, is a particularly frequent one.

Q.—Please give me some information about white spots on my hands and wrists. There is no itching and there are no symptoms except the spots do not tan in the summer. —K.O.

A.—This is almost undoubtedly a condition known as leukoderma, or vitiligo. It is the absence of pigment in the skin. The exact cause is unknown, though it frequently runs in families. Some attempts have been made to bring about repigmentation but the have been of doubtful value or safety. About the only thing which can be done is to try staining the spots with a commercial preparation which can be matched to the color of the normal surrounding skin. One must, of course, be sure before using any such methods that some skin disease is not present which requires treatment.

Q.—I have been diagnosed as having Webster-Christian disease. It is rare and since it isn't fatal the doctors have taken no further interest in it. Would you tell me something about it? —Mrs. M.E.

A.—This is a peculiar inflammation of the fatty tissue underlying the skin usually associated with crops of bumps or nodules and recurring bouts of fever. Its cause is unknown and its treatment not too satisfactory. The long-term outlook is characterized by periods of improvement as well as worsening.

Q.—Please say something about styes. —C.C.

A.—A sty is an inflammatory condition of one or more of the oil glands of the eyelids. It frequently comes without warning and is rather uncomfortable. Treatments include the application of moist heat, ointments, containing some of the antibiotics or sulfonamides, opening by surgery or similar measures. Eye strain is sometimes believed to play a part and, consequently, the eyes should be checked for glasses after the acute illness is over.

Q.—A friend of mine has had trouble with a burning mouth for more than six months. She is taking vitamin pills but getting no better. She cannot keep her dentures in. Can you suggest anything? —Mrs. N.

A.—Symptoms such as these are annoying and frequently difficult to treat. Sometimes age appears to be at least partly responsible. In this case one wonders whether the dentures are not irritating in some manner. If vitamins have not helped, then an attempt should be made to explore other possibilities, including dentures, allergy to certain foods and various kinds of mouth washes.

Sunday School Service Is Held At Magog Church

MAGOG — St. Paul's United Church Sunday School recently held their annual White Gift service in the church.

The Junior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. A. Lindsay, led the singing, and the organist was Mrs. A. E. Swager. Two selections were rendered by the choir: "One in Royal David's City" and "Infant, Holy," with Allyson Trew taking the solo part in the latter.

A tableau accompanied the reading of the Christmas Story and those taking part were: Mary, Mary Jean Campbell; Joseph, Barry Moffat; Shepherds, Richard Bailey, Carl Whittier and Ronald Campbell; Wise Men, Roger McKelvey, Roger Bailey and David Roberts.

After the wise men presented their gifts, the children presented their white stockings, containing money. This offering will be used for the needy throughout the world.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH NOTES
One of the enjoyable Christmas services at St. Paul's Church was the C.G.I.T. annual Vesper Service.

The service was based on the story of St. Francis of Assisi and was climaxed with an impressive candle lighting pageant.

Mrs. R. Trew conducted the service, with Mrs. W. Breese reading the Christmas meditation. The Bible readings and candle lighting pageant were done by members of the C.G.I.T. group and the senior choir supported the singing.

A large number gathered at St. Paul's Church on Christmas Eve for Carol Service.

On New Year's Eve, a family party was enjoyed in the Church Hall. Games were played and an interesting film, "High Power," was shown. This was a color film of the Rocky Mountains, and showed many ski lodges and the people who gather there to enjoy this exciting sport. At 11:45 p.m. all gathered in the church for the Watchnight Service.

Raspberry Jam Whirls

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup lukewarm water, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, 1 envelope active dry yeast, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter or margarine, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup granulated sugar, 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon grated nutmeg, 2 eggs, $\frac{1}{2}$ cups (about) once-sifted all-purpose flour, 1 slightly-beaten egg yolk, 2 tablespoons cold water, Raspberry jam.

Scald milk. Cool to lukewarm. Meantime, pour lukewarm water into a measuring cup; stir in the 1 teaspoon sugar. Sprinkle with yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, then stir well.

Cream butter or margarine; gradually blend in the $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar, salt and nutmeg. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir in lukewarm milk and yeast mixture.

Stir in 2 cups of the flour; beat until smooth and elastic. Stir in sufficient additional flour to make a soft dough—about 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups more. Turn out on floured board or canvas and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; grease top. Cover. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hours.

Punch down dough. Turn out on lightly-floured board or canvas and knead until smooth. Roll out dough into a 12x18-inch rectangle. Using a sharp knife, cut dough into 24 lengthwise strips, $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch wide and 18 inches long. Twist one strip of dough, then place an end on a greased cookie sheet and wind the twisted strip round and round to form a pinwheel; tuck in end. Repeat with remaining strips of dough, arranging them well apart on greased cookie sheets. Grease tops. Cover with a tea towel. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about $\frac{3}{4}$ hour.

Mrs. G. Carleton Heads St. Paul's Ladies Guild

Mrs. George Carleton was elected president at the annual meeting of St. Paul's Ladies Guild, of St. Paul the Apostle Church.

The meeting was chaired by Rev. R. S. Jervis-Read, who congratulated the officers and members for their untiring effort throughout the year. He also expressed his pleasure in taking the chair for this, his first annual meeting since his arrival.

Minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Mrs. F. Shorten and the financial report presented by Mrs. F. Stanford, showed all obligations met and a most successful year.

The retiring president, Mrs. H. Lord, thanked the members for their support during her three years in office.

Local Red Cross Resumes Work For Volunteers

Women's work by the local Red Cross Society, which lullied during the holiday season, is resuming again next Tuesday afternoon and every Tuesday afternoon after that. There are many tasks which the ladies can do to help the Red Cross in its work of mercy and these tasks include sewing, knitting and making bandages.

Women who would find it inconvenient to drop up to the Red Cross rooms at 363 King Street West each Tuesday afternoon can still help by doing the same work at home. Call the Red Cross office at 9-1881 on Monday and volunteer.

Accessory Colors Help To Achieve One Piece Look

CALGARY (CP) — Shirley Smith of Edmonton, chosen in a magazine poll as one of Canada's 10 best-dressed women, cities her "delight in color" as a possible reason for the honor.

Miss Smith, fashion designer and writer, is Alberta area director for the Canadian Women's Press Club. She works for an Edmonton publishing company.

"Frankly, I don't believe I have a conscious fashion philosophy," she says.

"For daytime street wear, suits and slant wool dresses, often in rather neutral shades, with carefully co-ordinated accessory colors, help to achieve the trim all-of-a-piece effect I especially like. "Except for certain shades of blue, I wear almost all colors well, and like unusual, subtle—but not startling—color combinations."

Miss Smith concedes a weakness for hats—"the more dashing the better."

An array of silk scarves is indispensable, and I feel quite exposed without earrings."

Homemaking

Those who have trouble sleeping may be pinning themselves in bed. What this means is that the blankets and sheets are too tight for normal movement. Sometimes toes are cramped up this, and a sleeper fights the bed clothing without knowing the actual problem.

Negative Attitude Taints Everything She Touches

She's nice — but she's negative. If she tells you about something she is planning to do, she always ends up by saying, "It probably won't work out," or, "I'm not at all sure I can do it."

If you meet her when she is shopping she will tell you how she can't find anything, or if she has bought something she will say she isn't sure that she likes it and may take it back.

If she is describing a person she wants you to meet she finishes by saying, "I don't know whether you'll like her or not."

When she has a trip to look forward to she worries out loud over all the things that might go wrong.

If you are a guest in her home, she is sure that the room is either too hot or too cold, and is so busy trying to convince you that you aren't comfortable enough, sure enough, you aren't.

She Talks Gloom

Even when she talks about her children, she doesn't mention the things about them she is proud of or finds funny or endearing. Instead, she talks about their faults or how she is worried over one of her cold and that one's grades in school.

If her husband starts to tell a joke, she is sure you've already

Candy Stripes, Colored Prints Brighten Household Cottons

TORONTO (CP) — Homemakers can look forward to more color in cotton, a survey of Canadian household cottons now available reveals.

The fashion trend to color in the home ranges from solid color choices, candy stripes and multi-colored prints to woven borders of every description.

Polka dots, stripes, plaids, lacy or floral designs are shown in endless variety says the Canadian Fabrics Foundation which conducted the survey.

FINE SHEETS

White cotton sheets and pillow cases still account for the bulk of Canadian production. However, the demand for smartness is growing steadily. One of the newest sheets is a fine quality white with elegant border pattern woven with metallic thread.

Cosy flannelette sheets and blankets have also been glamorized. They are not only made in plain colors but also in stripes or screen-printed floral patterns.

The survey showed that Canadian-made staples are unsurpassed in quality as well as in variety. Better-known brands are guaranteed for 200 washings or "seven years" of normal wear.

When buying sheets the Canadian Fabrics Foundation recommends that you examine the weave carefully as closely-woven, evenly-threaded fabrics give the best wear. Also check for surface fuzz as better quality cotton threads have a smooth finish.

Look at the hem as small, even stitches, firmly finished at both ends permanently prevent ravelling. And also check selvage edges. This is where greatest strain comes in washing. Closely woven, sturdy edges assure long wear.

Correct lengths should be bought for comfort and wear. Allow for at least a six-inch tuck-under at top and bottom of the bed. Canadian sheets are marked "true" or finished length.

NEW RECLINING CHAIR

A major innovation in reclining chairs will make its appearance at the Canadian Furniture Mart in Toronto this month. Chicago furniture designer Henry Peter Glass has designed a different type of reclining chair.

This chair operates with a unique strap construction that gives a floating feeling as the chair glides into many reclining positions. The strap is attached to the back and to the foot rest, which is raised to lounging position when the sitter applies his weight to the back. There are no mechanisms to jam.

One model features off-the-floor lines raised on tapered legs capped with footed brass ferrules. It has elongated oval side panels, tapered foot rest and a high-tapered back, angled forward at the top for head-rest comfort.

The chair can be seen in combinations of textured fabrics with fabric used on the central seating areas for comfort. There are no gears, metal linkage or other mechanisms. Foam rubber back and seat cushioning results in resiliency and form-fitting comfort.

OBITUARY

DONALD LYNDON PERKINS, OF CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND—Relatives and friends learned with deep regret of the death of Donald Lyndon Perkins, which occurred at his home on December 21st, 1957. Although not in good health for the past few years, his passing came as a shock to all.

Mr. Perkins had spent his entire lifetime in this community, on the farm where he was born July 8th, 1890, son of the late Stephen Perkins and his wife, Charlotte Healy. He was one of a family of five children: Evelyn, Mrs. O'Regan, and Clifford, both deceased, Alice, Mrs. Pease, now of Lennoxville, and Hazel, Mrs. Taylor, of Richmond.

On September 22nd, 1920 he was united in marriage to Gladys I. Farquhar, of Windsor Mills, and of this union five children were born: Olive, Mrs. Melvin McCourt, Winnie, Mrs. William Paterson, Dora, Mrs. Clayton McCourt, all of Windsor Mills; Stephen, at home, and Joyce, of Drummondville.

Mr. Perkins was a man of excellent principle and sterling character and will be greatly missed not only in the home but in the entire district, where he had endeavored to improve rural conditions. At one time he served as councillor and for many years he was district school manager and supervisor of roads in the townships, until failing health forced him to retire.

Besides his wife and family and two sisters, he is survived by three sons-in-law, Melvin and Clayton McCourt and William Paterson; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Stephen Perkins; five grandchildren, Larry and Randy McCourt, Carol and Robert Paterson and Douglas Perkins; an aunt, Mrs. Annie Healy, and a large number of nieces, nephews and cousins.

The funeral was held on Tuesday, December 24th, from his late residence, where prayers were offered, followed by service at Chalmers' United Church at Richmond, Rev. J. L. Dean officiating. A full choir rendered the hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me."

The many beautiful flowers, telegrams and messages of sympathy bore testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Bearers were Clarence Pease, Goldwyn Fletcher, Percy Tozer, Ralph Fowler, Carl Banfill, all near neighbors, and Andrew Paterson, of Windsor Mills.

Interment took place in St. Anne's Cemetery, Richmond. Among those present were relatives and friends from Whitby and Avonmore, Ont., Montreal, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Marlboro, Magog, Beebe, Knowlton, Danville, Drummondville and Windsor Mills, as well as a large number from Richmond and the surrounding district.

WALTER WINGEAT, OF AYER'S CLIFF

Funeral services for Walter Wingeat, of Ayer's Cliff, were held on Dec. 30th, at Johnston Funeral Chapel, Sherbrooke. The Rev. H. C. Denton, of Ayer's Cliff, officiating.

Bearers were: A. H. Slack, Walter Keeler, Morton Leavitt, of Ayer's Cliff, Ray Nutbrown, Albert Wheeler and Goron Robinson, of Lennoxville, neighbors of the deceased.

Interment was in Malvern cemetery, Lennoxville.

Mr. Wingeat was born on Sept. 2nd., 1873 at Ascot Corner, son of the late Thomas and Jane (Rolfe) Wingeat. He was one of nine children.

On July 7th, 1933 he was united in marriage with Ruby Lari-gee also of Ascot Corner.

Mr. Wingeat, who was in his 85th year, passed away Dec. 28th at Shawinigan Falls, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Cook where he and Mrs. Wingeat were spending the winter, after several months of ill health.

He is survived by his wife, four brothers, Heber and Raymon, of Lennoxville, Herbert, of Lacombe, N.H., and Henry, of Boston, Mass. Four sisters-in-law and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Wingeat was a farmer at heart as well as at work, purchasing his first farm at Ascot Corner at the age of 22, farming there 47 years. He then sold and moved to a farm on the Eaton Road, Lennoxville, where he farmed for 9 years, until farming duties became too strenuous, then purchasing a home in Ayer's Cliff where he lived until his death.

Canadiens Run Rough-Shod Over Hapless Black Hawks For 11-3 Win

Aces And Canadiens Battle To 2-2 Deadlock; Beavers Edge Rockets 3-2; Richmond At Home To Meteors Tonight

A ten minute overtime period failed to break the two-all deadlock between the Magog Aces and the Victoriaville Canadiens on Magog home ice before a crowd of 538 last night.

The draw gave Victoriaville one point, putting the squad in a league leadership tie with Sherbrooke which picked up two points when it downed the Drummondville Rockets 3-2 at Drummondville last night.

Magog is now in third place with 12 points, two behind the second place Asbestos. Drummondville is in fourth position with eight and Richmond in the cellar with 6. Asbestos and Richmond did not play last night.

Massawippi League President Len O'Donnell said this morning that there would be a "thorough inquiry" into the 25 minute game starting delay. The game was scheduled for 8.30, but did not get underway until 8.55. A fine of a dollar for each late minute can be levied from the team responsible for the delay.

Action in the see-saw game started at the 8.40 minute mark of the first period when G. Levesque scored off assists from Charbonneau and G. Goyette for Magog.

Victoriaville evened the count at 6.47 of the second period on Plourde from assists by Bellehumeur and Boisvert. Magog bounced back to lead the score after Thibault netted one from Vaillancourt and Smith at 12.38. Plourde tied the score with assists from Boisvert and Paul at 14.49.

The third and overtime periods were blank.

Ted Williams Voted United States Outstanding Male Athlete Of 1957; First Time In Career He Has Ever Won

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams, baseball's king of the batters at the age of 39, today was named the United States' outstanding male athlete of 1957 in the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

It was the first time in his long and stormy career that the Boston Red Sox slugger was chosen for the honor.

The recognition came seven weeks after he was nosed out by Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees for the most valuable player award of the American League. The selections by a committee of baseball writers kicked up a storm because one writer picked Williams for ninth place and another named him 10th.

In the AP poll, Williams won by a whopping margin over Milwaukee Braves pitcher Lew Burdette, the star of the world series, with middle-weight boxing champion Carmen Basilio a distant third.

Mantle, winner of the AP's athlete-of-the-year poll for 1956, finished in a tie for 13th this year.

Williams, who broke into organized ball with San Diego in 1936 and served two stretches as a marine corps pilot, hit 388 last season to capture his fifth American League batting title. He set a record by winning the title at 39 and it was the highest mark in the majors since Ted himself won in 1941 with an almost incredible .406.

Pop Ivy Leaves Edmonton To Take Over As Chicago Cardinals Coach

Ray Prochaska, Ivy's Assistant, In Line For Job; Had One More Year On Contract; Fans Glad For Coach Ivy

EDMONTON — (CP) — Officials and fans of the Edmonton Eskimo football team are unhappy over the loss of coach Frank (Pop) Ivy to Chicago Cardinals.

But both officials and fans are glad that Ivy, popular with everyone, apparently has what he wanted — a head coaching slot with a National Football League club and more money.

They also are worried about a successor to the 41-year-old coach. Ray Prochaska, an assistant to Ivy at Edmonton, has been offered the job but many feel he will go to Chicago too.

Ivy, one of the most successful coaches ever to come to Canada, still had a year to go on a three-year contract. The Edmonton club however, has a record of letting men go while still under contract — Darrell Royal and Cliff Speegle both went to U.S. jobs under similar circumstances.

WORRY ABOUT PARKER
One of the first questions fans asked after hearing of the Ivy move was: "What about Parker?"

Jackie Parker, chosen as the most valuable player in Canada in 1957, has a contract with the Edmonton club, rumor says, that allows him to be a free agent and he may prefer to play in Chicago and give up his Edmonton connection which includes part ownership of a service station.

Ivy won the Canadian professional championship in each of his first three years coaching in the country and in 1957, finished the WIFU regular schedule in first place.

The greatest sensation Ivy caused was by the use in the 1956 playoffs and Grey Cup game of a Canadian quarter back, Don Getty.

Ivy's record in Canada in four seasons of league play was 50 wins and 14 losses. In playoffs he had 11 wins and four losses.

Ivy, a native of Skiatook, Okla., came to Edmonton in 1954 to replace Royal.

Unofficial speculation was that Ivy was paid $18,500 a year by Edmonton. The Chicago club didn't give details of his 1958 contract but an official said his salary is "a liberal one."

Maritime Hockey Fans Get Plenty Of Action With Nine Games Played

Nine games Thursday night gave Maritime hockey fans plenty of action.

Rimouski Maple Leafs clipped Amqui Beavers 4-3 to boost their Quebec — New Brunswick League first-place margin by six points.

Runners-up Matane Red Rocks, meanwhile, were battling Campbellton Tigers to a 2-2 tie. The tie put the Tigers in third place with 18 points, one less than Matane has.

At Fredericton, the host Capitals lost 6-5 to Bathurst Papermakers in a New Brunswick League North Shore loop contest. Kenny Babin scored the winning goal and had two assists, to pace the win which strengthened Bathurst's hold on first place.

Other Bathurst scorers were Fred MacKay, Joe Hachey and Dick McDonald. Fredericton's marksmen were Bud Stuart and Neil Sewell with two goals each while Jim Pike scored once.

MILS ON WIN STREAK
Sydney Millionaires, making a strong bid to vacate the cellar of the Cape Breton circuit, chalked up their third win in a row by trouncing leading Glace Bay Miners 5-2.

It moved the defending N.S. senior champions to within five points of Northside Combines who trail the Miners by one.

Robert McNeil, Doug Chaisson, Edgar Hillman, Bessie McDonald and Tim Hines were the Sydney scorers. Glace Bay marksmen were Fred Courtney and playing coach Nail Amadio.

In an important exhibition game at Charlottetown, the hometown Royals of the Maritime Senior Amateur League edged Halifax Wolverines 6-4. The Wolves are a senior, independent team. A return game is scheduled for Halifax next Saturday.

International Olympic Committee Cuts Out Artificial Team Events And Aims At 15% Reduction At Games

MONTREAL (CP) — The International Olympic Committee has cut out artificial team events — those depending on addition of scores in individual competitions — and aims at a 15-per-cent overall reduction in number of athletes at the 1960 games in Rome.

Both measures were opposed by Communist countries — at the IOC meeting in Sofia last fall. A circular letter dealing with these and other changes was issued in December by IOC President Avery Brundage of Chicago. Brundage also outlined clarifications in amateur status for the Olympics and the question of payment allowed for "broken time."

ISSUES SUMMARY
A summary of the IOC action, along with Brundage's circular, now has been issued by A. Sydney Dawes of Montreal, Canada's representative on the IOC.

Elimination of artificial team events affects the modern pentathlon, gymnastics, equestrian, cycling and fencing.

In its aim to reduce the overall number of competitors the IOC found it inopportune now, however, to eliminate any specific sport because the program for the 1960 games already had been fixed.

But member federations were asked to limit to 16 the number of a country's teams in the various sports classifications.

Actually, two additional sports — volleyball and archery — were added to the recognized list, making a total of 21. At least 15 must be on the Games program.

The appeal to member federations to reduce numbers of competitors was bolstered by the IOC's action in trimming the number of events in canoeing, shooting and gymnastics. Number of reserves in various sports was also reduced.

RULE SATISFACTORY
The Olympic amateur — status rule was considered satisfactory, Brundage reported, "although adverse criticism has resulted from its enforcement, or rather lack of enforcement, in some quarters."

As a means of clarification, the IOC listed six classifications of ineligible:

Shaban, who leaves here for Moncton Saturday, said if Durelle still seems well after resuming training he will ask the International Boxing Club for another postponement of the fight with Anthony.

"This is a big fight, a real big one, and I'm not going to let Yvon get into the ring unless he's in first-class shape," Shaban said. "He's a rugged boy, but something like this can take a lot out of you."

"He lost about four or five pounds but the main thing is that weak feeling. We've got to get rid of that or I'll definitely ask for another postponement."

Shaban said the doctors advised Durelle to rest for eight days.

"As soon as we start training again, he'll do some light work and a bit of sparring. Unless something unexpected happens, it shouldn't take him too long to get ready again."

He was naturally disappointed at having the fight postponed. He was all set for it and figured if he won he'd be in line for a match with champion Archie Moore.

Durelle, rated No. 2 contender for the title behind Harold Johnson, fought Anthony to a draw in Detroit last summer.

Anthony went on to face Moore and lost on a technical knockout.

Durelle is undefeated in his last 10 outings.

Durelle will spend the next few days in his home in Baie Ste. Anne. He will return to Moncton later to resume training for the re-scheduled date with Anthony Jan. 31.

At New York, before Durelle boarded a train for home, Chris Shaban, Durelle's manager, said the fighter was feeling much better and anxious to get home.

"He was still a bit weak, but he's been recovering quickly and the trip shouldn't be too hard for him," Shaban said. "He's going to rest for about another five or six days and then we'll start training again at Moncton."

Durelle will spend the next few days in his home in Baie Ste. Anne. He will return to Moncton later to resume training for the re-scheduled date with Anthony Jan. 31.

At New York, before Durelle boarded a train for home, Chris Shaban, Durelle's manager, said the fighter was feeling much better and anxious to get home.

"He was still a bit weak, but he's been recovering quickly and the trip shouldn't be too hard for him," Shaban said. "He's going to rest for about another five or six days and then we'll start training again at Moncton."

Shaban, who leaves here for Moncton Saturday, said if Durelle still seems well after resuming training he will ask the International Boxing Club for another postponement of the fight with Anthony.

"This is a big fight, a real big one, and I'm not going to let Yvon get into the ring unless he's in first-class shape," Shaban said. "He's a rugged boy, but something like this can take a lot out of you."

"He lost about four or five pounds but the main thing is that weak feeling. We've got to get rid of that or I'll definitely ask for another postponement."

Shaban said the doctors advised Durelle to rest for eight days.

"As soon as we start training again, he'll do some light work and a bit of sparring. Unless something unexpected happens, it shouldn't take him too long to get ready again."

He was naturally disappointed at having the fight postponed. He was all set for it and figured if he won he'd be in line for a match with champion Archie Moore.

Durelle, rated No. 2 contender for the title behind Harold Johnson, fought Anthony to a draw in Detroit last summer.

Anthony went on to face Moore and lost on a technical knockout.

Durelle is undefeated in his last 10 outings.
