Man-in-the-news, Justice Dorion, stresses objectivity

OTTAWA (CP) — "The main thing is to be objective," Chief Justice Frederic Dorion said.

He spoke in an interview just before beginning his royal commission inquiry into allegations against federal ministerial aides of attempted bribery and political pressure in the Lucien Rivard affair.

Though he raised his eye-brows high a number of times during testimony by some of the 65 witnesses at the inquiry, the 66-year-old judge's objectivity was never questioned during the 42 days of hearings.

He lost his temper twice: Once when the Quebec Provincial Police didn't produce rapidly a witness he had ordered to appear and later when a criminal lawyer put on the stand another lawyer to testify about something he had overheard a third lawyer say at the back of the courtroom. He angrily ordered the lawyer witness from the box and told the first lawyer he was trying to make a farce of the inquiry.

CHIEF JUSTICE DORION

WAS ANNOYED

Chief Justice Dorion was also visibly annoyed several times when the evidence showed that the RCMP had questioned in English some French-speaking persons who were involved in the affair.

He said from the bench that he would have something to say about this in his report.

It was the only matter he said specifically would be included in his report.

But he did indicate he might have something to say about possible amendments to the Criminal Code to spell out that improper pressure by an MP on a public official is an indictable offence.

Chief Justice Dorion of the Quebec Superior Court's eastern division knew something of life of an M.P.

He sat in the Commons as an independent from 1942 to 1948. A First World War volunteer he fought the Liberals' Second World War conscription policy as unjust.

The first Dorion settled in Charlesbourg, now a suburb of Quebec, in 1688.

LEFT FARM

The chief justice and his brothers Noel and Charles-Napoleon left the prosperous family farm in Charlesbourg to study law. Charles - Napoleon was a Conservative MP in the early 1930s. Noel was secretary of state in the Diefenbaker cabinet.

Frederic interrupted his law studies at Laval in 1918 to join the Royal Flying Corps and was taking his final training when the armistice came.

Shortly after the 1942 conscription plebiscite, he campaigned in Charlevoix - Saguenay riding as an independent and was a Commons member from then until 1948.

He was appointed a Superior Court justice by the Diefenbaker government and was elevated to the chief justiceship by the Pearson administration in 1963.

FIGURE IMPOSING

With white hair and white moustache, the robust judge is an imposing figure on the bench.

He had to deal with some 20 lawyers at the inquiry, five of them representing political parties.

On more than one occasion, he cut through a lawyer's rundabout questioning to drive straight to the point with a single, pointed question of his own.

Lists findings in bribe charges

Dorion report to cabinet

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal cabinet was called into session at 11 a.m. EDT today with a top agenda item the report of Chief Justice Frederic Dorion on allegations of attempted bribery and coercion against ministerial aides.

The judge's report was expected to be tabled in the Commons later in the day. The House meets at 2:30 p.m. but the usual preliminaries of the day's sitting take up an unpredictable amount of time.

A cabinet meeting had been tentatively scheduled for 10 a.m. when the report was formally received Monday.

Parliamentary recess hangs on MP reaction

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament may be down to its final sitting day before the long - awaited summer recess.

It depends on how MPs react to the Dorion report.

The report on charges of attempted bribery and influence peddling against federal ministerial aides was expected to be placed before the Commons when it meets at 2:30 p.m. EDT.

Members will have a quick chance to debate it when the government asks for interim supply to carry it through the summer until Parliament resumes in the fall.

The question is how far opposition spokesmen will jump at the chance.

Interim supply, to give the government operating money to Oct. 31, is one of four items left to be cleared away before MPs head home. The others are amendments to the Judges Act and Veterans Land Act and the government's new legislation to make outright grants to areas designated as slow-growth and high-unemployment areas.

The Judges Act amendments will give Justice Minister Favreau a chance to reply to opposition criticism of two judges who have faced criminal charges in recent months.

Opposition MPs called last week for the resignation of Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court, who was acquitted at a preliminary hearing last year of charges in connection with Northern Ontario Natural Gas stock. And they demanded that at least the salary of Mr. Justice Adrien Meunier of Montreal Superior Court be suspended pending his appeal against a perjury conviction and two-year prison sentence.

Acting Prime Minister Martin received French and English copies of the report late Monday afternoon and Prime Minister Pearson, on his return from London Monday evening, took one home with him to prepare for the cabinet meeting.

"I'll probably find time to glance at it tonight," Mr. Pearson told reporters on his return from the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

The report summarizes the findings of Chief Justice Dorion after a months-long public inquiry into allegations that a $20,000 bribe was offered and political pressure exerted to free Lucien Rivard, suspected narcotics smuggling kingpin wanted in the United States.

Rivard, who was held in Montreal's Bordeaux Jail pending the outcome of legal steps to extradite him to the U.S., escaped March 2 and still is loose. The federal cabinet posted a $15,000 reward.

LAWYER MADE CHARGE

The attempted bribery allegation was made by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lemontagne who was acting for the U.S. government in extradition proceedings.

He said $20,000 was offered to him June 22, 1964, by Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to the immigration minister, to agree to Rivard's release on bail. Denis has denied this.

Mr. Lamontagne said he also received telephone calls about bail for Rivard from Andre Letendre and Guy Lord, aides to Justice Minister Favreau, and from Guy Rouleau, Liberal MP for Montreal Dollard, then parliamentary secretary to the prime minister.

Mr. Rouleau, who resigned his parliamentary secretaryship when the case was made public in the Commons, said he made normal representations on behalf of Rivard but did not try to pressure Mr. Lamontagne.

BUSES TO AND FROM CITY ARE BACK TO NORMAL

Provincial Transport Company officials in Sherbrooke confirmed that all bus services to and from the city have returned to normal today.

The Canadian Press reports that all provincial bus services throughout the province, are expected to be back to normal by tomorrow, following the settlement yesterday of a 17-day strike by 900 PTC employees.

The striking employees, members of the Federation of Public Services CNTU, accepted revised terms for a new two-year labor contract a few hours after rejecting a previous offer.

Under the settlement, bus drivers' basic weekly wages will go up to $70 on July 1, an increase of $15. The rate will go up again on July 1, 1966, to $75. The rate-per-mile for drivers will increase to 5.25 cents from five cents.

The settlement of the strike, which affected 50,000 travellers in suburban Montreal alone, came six days after the settlement of the 14-day strike of employees of the Montreal Transportation Commission. It was the first major strike involving the PTC.

Judge threatened

LONDON (Reuters) — Police mounted an around - the - clock guard Monday on the home of a London woman magistrate threatened with crucifixion by self-styled members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Mrs. Anne Evans, 37, told reporters that telephone callers claiming to be Klansmen had objected to her recent assertion that Britain should have colored policemen.

She said a man told her on the telephone that he was a "grand dragon" of the London Ku Klux Klan and that "sentence of death will be carried out very soon" on her.

Pilot calls it 'miracle'

Jetliner landed safely minus engine, wing part

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Pan American pilot gave thanks today for the "miracle" that he said let him nurse his passenger-filled 707 jet to a safe landing, despite the loss of 20 feet of wing and an engine which scattered in a populated area but hurt no one.

Two minutes after the Honolulu-bound jet took off from San Francisco airport Monday, Capt. Charles H. Kimes, 44, of Danville, Calif., felt a "heavy vibration" in his right outboard engine.

Hundred of persons in south San Francisco saw a ball of fire blossom on the end of the starboard wing as the No. 4 engine snapped off and plummeted to earth.

Then one-third of the wing, trailing blazing debris across the sky, broke off and slanted to earth. In the plane, pilot Kimes told his terrified passengers: "We have had some trouble . . . keep calm and everything will be okay."

Kimes, pouring additional power to his other engines to keep his 270,000-pound giant flying, elected to head Flight 843 to Travis Air Force Base 50 miles away, where runways are long and emergency facilities many.

At Travis, fighter planes scrambled into the air to escort him.

Separatists planning to demonstrate

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Planned separatist demonstrations in Quebec will bring an anti-Dominion Day aspect to this year's festivities, at home and abroad, marking the anniversary of Confederatin.

Le Rassemblement pour l'Independence Nationale is to hold a demonstration at the foot of the Champlain monument in Quebec City on the eve of Dominion Day. The city has approved the demonstration provided there is no marching in the streets and no posting of separatist slogans.

In Montreal, a march is planned Thursday, Dominion Day, by a group called Parti Prix, the name of a separatist-socialist magazine.

The group has announced it intends to protest against "this date, which marks the anniversary of Confederation, a regime which crushes the French-Canadian nation."

Last week handbills were distributed in the Montreal region urging Quebecers to show their displeasure of the one-day July 1 holiday.

Most retail outlets, banks and other financial institutions will be closed Thursday but some businesses are reported planning to remain open for the holiday and allow employees a day off Friday for a three-day weekend.

Tension as high as ever

UN force faces new Cyprus tour

NICOSIA (Reuters) — The United Nations peacekeeping force faces a new tour of duty in the troubled island of Cyprus with tension as high as ever.

In the last four months three Greek-Cypriot national guardsmen and one Turkish-Cypriot have been killed in areas where the island's two races face each other in a state of armed readiness.

The recognition of all parties concerned that a return to normal conditions was impossible led to the Security Council's June 15 decision to extend the peace force mandate. The council lengthened the mandate from three to six months.

The UN force has reported a total of 259 shooting incidents in the last four months. Thirty were classified by the UN as deliberate breaches of the ceasefire.

They indicate the explosive situation that still exists 18 months after the first clashes between Greeks and Turks in Nicosia late in December, 1963.

PREVENTS FLARE UP

It is only the presence of the UN force which prevents minor incidents from spreading into a general flare up.

The 6,000-man military force is drawn from Canada, Britain, Ireland, Sweden, Denmark and Finland, supplemented by civilian police from Australia, New Zealand, Austria, Sweden and Denmark.

Their patrols cover every part of the island, but most attention is given to Nicosia and the northwestern Turkish enclaves of Lefka and Kokkina.

Nicosia remains divided by the ceasefire line, fortified on both sides with sandbags and barricaded houses. The Greeks and Turks dug in around Lefka have exchanged heavy fire in recent months.

Other parts of the island are comparatively calm and Turkish-Cypriots are free to travel, subject to inspection and searches by Greek-Cypriot police.

Greek - Cypriots can travel along the Turkish-held road between Nicosia and the coastal resort of Kyrenia only in twice-daily convoys, escorted by UN troops.

US men in Viet Nam action

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers have gone into action with South Vietnamese airborne units in the first joint American-Vietnamese combat operation of the war against the Communist Viet Cong, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The spokesman said American and South Vietnamese casualties in the huge operation were light so far.

The men of the U.S. 173 Airborne Brigade and the South Vietnamese paratroopers were lifted into the attack zone 30 miles north of Saigon by helicopter. Operations were continuing today.

The densely jungled area, known as "D" zone, is a Viet Cong stronghold.

Meanwhile, U.S. Air Force planes today made their deepest strike yet in North Viet Nam, hitting a barracks and supply depot at Thuan Chau, 150 miles west northwest of Hanoi. Pilots reported having destroyed 32 buildings, damaging 20 others.

DOWN U.S. PLANES

A U.S. B-57 jet bomber was hit by Communist groundfire as it supported a ground operation 15 miles from Saigon and crashed and burned in a rice field two miles north of the Saigon airport, U.S. spokesmen reported.

The two crew members ejected from the plane after the left wing caught fire, but one man's parachute failed to open. The second airman parachuted into a river and a search was being made for him.

A second American plane, an RF-101, was shot down at low altitude on another raid north of the Hanoi line, and the pilot was presumed killed. The plane was flying support for an attack by other aircraft on the Son La barracks and supply depot about 140 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Reliable sources reported an American adviser was killed and nother wounded in a major engagement being fought by troops of the South Vietnamese 7th Division near Cai Lay, in the Mekong delta about 45 miles southwest of Saigon. The South Vietnamese were reported battling a large Viet Cong force in the marshy area, but no other details were immediately available.

Brave scholar leads Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP) — Gyula Kallai combined soft - spoken ways of a scholar with the courage and daring of a resistance fighter to rise to the top in Hungary's Communist world.

Like Janos Kadar, whom he replaced Monday as premier, the 55 - year - old Kallai spent years in fascist and Stalinist jails in sharpening the urge to power.

Intellectualism and underground plotting were the two pillars of Kallai's career that marked the rise of the village bootmaker's son.

Kallai joined the Communist party in 1931 as a student and soon became active in clandestine party organization.

The rightist Horthy regime imprisoned him in 1939. After his release in the Second World War he worked on the staff of Nepszava, then the organ of the Social Democratic party which had close links to the Communists.

A graduate in philosophy and arts, Kallai was one of the organizers of the underground group called "Hungarian Memorial Committee."

He was arrested again in 1942. There is no record of his further activities during that time except that he also joined the Magyar Front, an anti-fascist group.

In 1945, Kallai rose quickly to membership in the Communist party's central committee and became secretary to then Premier Ferenc Nagy.

Canada to send jets to Europe

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada likely will send two squadrons of tactical jet planes to Europe to provide close air support for its 6,200-man infantry brigade there, informed sources say.

Such a move is still some time away. The government hasn't yet formally decided which of two American tactical planes it will have built in Canada for the RCAF.

However, it is indicated that the likely choice is still the Northrop F-5 Freedom Fighter. The other plane still in the running is the Ling-Temco-Vought A-7 Corsair.

Doctors unite

MONTREAL (CP) — Organizing of Quebec province doctors under the provincial Professional Syndicates Act is under way, it was reported Monday.

Spokesmen said more than 70 per cent of the province's specialists and about half of the family doctors have been organized under the act. Organization of salaried doctors and interns is also under way.

One aim of the organizing is said to be to provide doctors with a voice in discussions of matters affecting them.

Bodies sought

DRYDEN, Ont. (CP)—Dragging operations were to continue today for the bodies of two of 12 persons drowned near this northwestern Ontario community when a violent storm struck their houseboat.

Provincial police recovered nine victims Monday, including those of seven of eight children aboard the homemade craft Sunday when the rain storm swept across Lake Wabigoon with winds up to 75 miles an hour.

The boat owners, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Lobreau of Dryden, survived by riding the craft's oildrum pontoons to safety in 12-foot waves. Both were released from hospital Monday after treatment.

Pay for authors

TORONTO (CP) — Libraries should remunerate authors for free distribution of their books, publisher John G. McLelland told the 29th annual conference of the Canadian Library Association Monday.

He suggested that Canadian libraries could lead the way for other countries to follow. The idea has been suggested several times, especially in Great Britain.

He deplored the use of copying machines in libraries where copies of pages are sold for 25 cents. "I think it a tragedy that authors are deprived of their copyright in this way."

Liberal test

KENNEDY, Sask. (CP)—Saskatchewan's Liberal government gets a major test Wednesday in a provincial by-election in the rural constituency of Moosomin.

The byelection is the second for the government — R. A. Walker, former CCF attorney-general, defeated Industry Minister Herb Pinder in Hanley last December—but it is the first since Premier Ross Thatcher has had a chance to implement campaign promises through a session of the legislature.

Candidates of all three major parties consider the vote an important test of the government's policies. There now are 31 Liberals, 26 CCF and one Progressive Conservative in the 59-seat legislature.

Labor rules

OTTAWA (CP)—New rules in the Canada Labor Code set the standards for measuring overtime in industries where employees work irregular weekly hours.

The rules, which come into effect July 1, provide for an averaging system to calculate overtime on a quarterly, semi-annual or annual rather than a weekly basis.

Stanstead couple wed 25 years

Feted at dinner and reception

STANSTEAD — Saturday, June 19, was an evening of surprises for Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Webb, when a dinner and later a reception took place to honor them on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary.

The dinner, held at Cabana Lodge, Magog, was attended by 27 members of the family and a few close friends. Wendell Webb presented his mother with an orchid corsage and Miss Bonnie Webb presented her father with a Talisman rose boutonniere.

During the turkey dinner, Wendell proposed a toast to his parents, to which Mr. Webb responded.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb thought this concluded the celebration and upon arriving back in Rock Island, at the Del Monty Hotel, they were completely surprised on entering the lobby to be greeted by Wendell and Bonnie, the latter presenting her mother with a bouquet of Talisman roses, identical to those she had carried as a bride and tied with the tulle ribbons used 25 years ago.

The couple was then escorted into the dining room, where about 150 relatives and friends greeted them with applause, and to a table adorned with silver 25 numerals, the wedding anniversary cake and white silver candles.

Seated with the couple were their son and daughter, also Miss Nora LaPenna and Mr. Robert Smith.

Wendell, who was master of ceremonies at the dinner and the reception, extended a welcome to the assembly and paid tribute to his parents. Mr. Webb voiced appreciation for the wonderful evening accorded them. Dancing was the entertainment of the evening, with music played by Channell's Orchestra.

A receiving line of Mr. and Mrs. Webb, Wendell and Miss LaPenna, Bonnie and Mr. Smith was formed and good wishes were extended to the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb were presented with several lovely gifts of silver, a money chest with $25. in quarters from Wendell, as well as other gifts from Wendell and Bonnie and a box of currency from friends. Numerous greeting cards and an anniversary candle were all admired.

Buffet refreshments were served by Mrs. Webb's sisters, Mrs. Emerson Peavey and Mrs. Wallace Rever, who had assisted Wendell and Bonnie in the reception plans. The anniversary cake, in three tiers, decorated in white and silver was topped with a loving cup, flanked by a bride and groom which had adorned the wedding cake in 1940. This was cut by Mrs. Webb and Bonnie and passed by Mrs. Rever.

Miss Pamela Chabot, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Webb, was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Herman Sisco and Mrs. Eddy Dubois also assisted with the refreshments.

Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Chabot and Pamela, Derry, N.H.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Bobleigh, Granite City, Ill.; Mrs. Bessie Bobleigh, Bennington, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, Shawbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ledoux, Lyndonville; and others from Morrisville, Vt., Newport, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Beebe, Graniteville and the boundary Villages.

Mr. Webb and Blanche Perron were married in Rock Island on June 29, 1940.

West Shefford Council faces heavy agenda

WEST SHEFFORD — A heavy agenda faced the Municipal Council at its meeting on June 7, which was largely attended by residents. The water question was again discussed at length. Alternative plans will be considered and a decision arrived at before the next meeting.

There were complaints about the influx of motor-cyclists over the weekend and the excessive speed of motorists through the village. Assurance was given that weekend traffic will be controlled by police officers from now on and that the old brickyard by the river, the rendezvous of motor-cyclists for some time, is now closed and its use forbidden to outsiders.

Several residents of the village, members of the newly-formed Shefford County Historical Society, were present and inquired as to the status of the Old School, built in 1863, in which the first meetings of the Council were held, and which now is not used for any specific purpose. The suggestion was made that it might become a Centennial project of historical interest, and although the Council were favorable to the suggestion, it was felt that further information was necessary to clarify the ownership of this building. The matter was left for further consideration.

The revised valuation roll and the budget for the coming year will be presented at the next meeting on July 5. The tax rate for this year is unchanged at $1.25 per hundred.

HATLEY

Mrs. Ernest A. Scott and her granddaughter, Miss Elizabeth Miller, left by train on June 9 for Milk River, Alta., to visit Mrs. Scott's daughter, Mrs. Dick Sabey and family, and to Vancouver, B.C., to visit her son, W. D. Scott and family. They were motored to Montreal by Mr. and Mrs Dale Miller, Evelyn and Mickey. Callers at the Scott home prior to their departure were Mrs. A. Dolloff and Mr. E. Dolloff, Ayer's Cliff; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Currie, Hatley; Mr. Mrs. B. W. Brown, Mrs. Ruth Ham, Mrs. W. O. Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Turner, Magog; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Waterville; Miss Clara Wyman, Mrs. Arnold Goode, Ayer's Cliff. Mr. Charles Johnson, Sherbrooke, also spent a few days with his sister, Ms. Scott, prior to her trip.

Mrs. Madelene McClary, Terrebonne, spent the weekend at here home here.

Mr. Winston Emery, Montreal, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Emery.

BISHOPTON

The Christmas Club met with Mrs. Lloyd Harrison on June 8. The evening was spent playing card games. Prize winners were Mrs. Horace Ainsworth, Mrs. Ted Ainsworth and Mrs. Irving Willard. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lyle Herring. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Keith Vintinner.

The city's business

Deauville seeks to have cases heard in city's police court

By DAVID WEBSTER
(Record staff reporter)

Deauville municipal council is asking that its police cases be heard in Sherbrooke police court.

Sherbrooke officials have promised to study the request.

Deauville mayor Gilles Langlois told the Sherbrooke council at last night's meeting that there would probably only be a few cases each month.

The village has recently hired a police officer, he added.

Ald. Marcel Savard asked facetiously whether Deauville will collect enough revenue from infractions pay for a police constable.

Deauville officials replied that in hiring a constable they wanted to insure that traffic laws were obeyed.

At present there is too much speeding in the village, they said.

Sherbrooke mayor Armand Nadeau ordered city lawyer Albert Rivard to submit a report to council on the subject.

Deauville officials also complained that their electric power (supplied by Hydro-city-Sherbrooke) was too weak on the weekends.

City council asked for a report from hydro superintendent Gaston Masse on this.

The Deauville representatives also asked the cost of installing a T-valve to permit them to draw water from the Lake Memphremagog pipeline.

Mayor Nadeau told them to contact consulting engineer Jacques Lemieux. This matter does not enter into the city's contract for the pipeline, he added.

* * *

Consulting engineer Jacques Lemieux reported that the second section of the Lake Memphremagog pipeline would reach city limits in about 12 days.

He also described work pragress at the pumping station beside the lake.

City council has, as yet, announced no decision on whether chlorine or ozone will be used to purify water pumped in through the pipeline.

City council members discussed several ways of making the stretch of King Street West near the St. Elie road safer and decided to ask an engineers report on it.

Suggestions ranged from reducing the hill's inclination, to putting up a guard-rail, to exercising stricter police surveillance.

* * *

Council agreed to rent a 100-foot-square plot of land on King Street to the French-language Jeune Chambre de Commerce for a tourist information booth.

The lot, located on the south side of the street just past the St. Elie road, is to be rented for the token sum of $1 per year.

"If we sold them the lot as they requested they couldn't pay the realty tax on it," declared Mayor Nadeau.

The organization is planning a fairly permanent structure with foundation and brick walls, said city services director Charles Langlois.

The municipal ski centre had a deficit of $7,915.54, this season an increase of about $260 over the previous season, according to a report from the treasurer's office.

Revenue this season dropped over $2,000 from the 1963-64 season (to $5,724.50 from $8,009.85). This however was matched by a drop in expenses: to $13,640.04 to $15,662.89.

The cost of the upkeep and operation of the ski trail decreased from $12,712.53 in the 1963-64 season to $10,120.63 in 1964-65.

Ski chalet upkeep cost dropped from $1,198.04 in 1963-64 to $681.82.

The city received only one bid to paint the exterior of the city library: from Jean Ferland for $1,500.

Two companies placed bids to do lighting for Cambron Park: Beaudry Electric for $31,295 and Yvan Lemire Ltee. for $34,850.

The city also received two bids to supply two fire trucks: King-Seagrave Ltd. for $57,315 and Pierre Thibault for $56,180.

Summer season begins at JMC music camp

Aspiring musicians between the ages of 14 and 30 years arrived Sunday to set up camp at Jeunesses Musicales' Mount Orford summer sanctuary.

They begin sessions of public recitals, lectures and concerts which continue until August 8, acquiring concert experience and living with some of the world's greatest artists.

Here students and the public attend concerts given by singers and instrumentalists in solo and group performances in the 600-seat capacity Concert Hall.

This summer's concert program which was inaugurated Sunday evening by a recital by Pierrette Alarie and Leopold Simoneau will continue with approximatley four weekly concerts until August 28th.

Variety is the keynote of the summer's subjects. Compositions from the four main periods of music's history, classic, romantic, impressionistic and modern will be performed.

On July 17 an evening of Mozart's work will be presented with Sylvio Lacharite, Sherbrooke Symphony conductor, and Marcel Laurencelle.

A program of Beethoven's music will be performed on July 31 by violin cellist Guy Fallot, violinist Lorand Fenyves and pianist Bela Siki.

Between June 29th and July 22 on each Tuesday and Thursday programs will be presented tracing French vocal composition from the romantic, Berlioz to the modern, Poulenc.

Musicians will be baritone Camille Maurane, soprano Renee Maheux, pianist Vlado Perlemuter and lecturer Norbert Dufourcq.

Another highlight this year will be the duo pianists Renee Morisset and Victor Bouchard who have become known as two of the most sensitive musicians Canada has produced and champions of Canadian music.

In their recital will be heard the Concerto for two pianos and two percussion instruments by Roger Matton, the two-piano sonata by Muthel and Andante and Variations for two pianos, two cellos and horn by Schumann.

The Marionettes of Montreal will perform every Wednesday at 3 p.m. from June 30 to August 4 inclusive. The first performance will be of Peter and the Wolf, music written by Prokofieff.

All evening concerts begin at 8:30.

An informal talk by Wilfrid Pelletier, former conductor of the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, and Walter Toscanini will be given on August 18th on the latter's father, Arturo Toscanini, one of the world's greatest conductors.

Pianist and lecturer Antony Hopkins' subject will be The Understanding of Music on the night of July 12.

NORTH HATLEY

Horse Show, Ball Park, North Hatley on July 1st. Sponsored by United Br. 242, Royal Canadian Legion in co-operation with the Lennoxville-North Hatley Riding and Driving Club.

FESTIVAL OPENING — Mayor Armand Nadeau, centre, announces to a large crowd last night in front of the Court House the official opening of Sherbrooke's Summer Festival. He said the Festival's success depended on the population's support and their hospitality to visitors. Seated on the platform with him are City Council aldermen and Festival directors. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

Summer festival is opened

Gaiety and color are in the forefront of Sherbrooke's preoccupations for the next two weeks as the city and its visitors celebrate the annual Summer Festival.

Inaugurating the festivities last night on a platform built on the Court House lawn, Mayor Armand Nadeau told the large crowd gathered that the Festival's success depends on the people of Sherbrooke.

If hospitality is extended to visitors to Sherbrooke's Festival success will be assured for years to come. Sherbrooke will become known for its summer carnival as Quebec City has for its winter carnival, Mayor Nadeau noted.

Mayor Nadeau also congratulated Festival President G. A. Masse who is mostly responsible for its success. He and his directors receive congratulations from merchants and businessmen, Mayor Nadeau said.

With the official opening completed the Sherbrooke Harmony Band gave a band concert of popular and semi-classical music.

From yesterday until July 4 is the Plaza Festival portion of the Summer Festival. During this time activities are centred at Strathcona Square and Wellington Street North.

The usual somber face of the Court House is now masked by an array of "dancing waters" which perform twice daily under colored lights doing manipulations in time with music.

And Wellington Street is decorated with large pots of geraniums and is lined with park benches. Store windows are dressed in their finest for the increased number of onlookers.

The street will be closed to traffic only during the evening between Meadow and Frontenac Streets, except on Friday.

City area income is highest

Sherbrooke County recorded the highest total personal income and Wolfe County the lowest among E.T. counties in 1963, according to returns filed with the Department of National Revenue.

This is part of the information contained in a 1965 Taxation Statistics report issued by the Taxation Division of the Department, which includes analyses of 1963 T1 individual income tax returns.

Those individuals who filed returns, taxable and non-taxable, in the 1963 taxation year declared a total income of almost a hundred million dollars ($98,158,000), of which more than $90,000,000 was taxable, in Sherbrooke County.

But in Wolfe the figure was just over eight million, $8,238,000, of which less than six and a half was taxable.

Total personal income declared to the tax-collectors in other E.T. counties for that period is as follows: Shefford, $51 million; Megantic, $50 million; Drummond, $48 million; Arthabaska, $36.5 million; Richmond, $36 million; Stanstead, $34 million; Missisquoi, $29.5 million; Frontenac $13 million; Compton $12 million; and Brome County $11 million. (These figures are rounded off.)

In the case of several counties, single cities accounted for a large proportion of the total declared income: for instance, Victoriaville accounted for two-thirds of Arthabaska County's income; Drummondville for

C of C to study economic group

At a recent meeting of the Study Committee of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce it was decided to form a a subcommittee to study a possible Eastern Townships Regional Economic Council, that would coordinate the efforts of all economic councils in the counties of the region. It was erroneously reported last week that the Chamber Study Committee had decided to form a sub-committee to study the possibility of the formation of an Eastern Townships Regional Chamber of Commerce, that would co-ordinate the efforts of all the existing Chambers.

Playhouse to hold open house

The Townships Playhouse Guild Inc. announces that plans are completed for an Open-House week at the Playhouse in North Hatley, during the first week of August.

The finishing touches to the former "Piggery", now totally transformed into a playhouse, are expected to be accomplished within the next three weeks. The Guild has opted in favour of this "housewarming" so that everyone may have an opportunity to see for themselves this very attractive and well-equipped theatre.

A most interesting program has been arranged for this event. A repetition on each of four nights, it will include: a production of "The Tiger" by Instant Theatre of Montreal, featuring Howard Ryshpan and Joan Stuart; a reception and tour of the theatre, and light refreshments.

Two plays, one in English, and one in French will follow the open-house during August. Further details will be announced shortly.

Sherbrooke courts

Three youths charged with theft of cars

Three Sherbrooke youths, Pierre Brochu, 22, Denis Gagne, 19, and Roger Berard, 18, were yesterday charged in Sessions Court with car theft.

The trio pleaded not guilty to the charge, said committed in Sherbrooke June 23.

Trial was tentatively postponed until Wednesday.

The youths were arrested last week by Drummondville Quebec Provincial Police in connection with several robberies there.

* * *

Guy Lebload, his brother Marc and Marcel Landry were ordered to post a bond of $200 to keep the peace six months for theft of five gallons of gasoline from a parked car in Sherbrooke last Friday.

Crown prosecutor Guy Blanchette told presiding judge Benoit Turmel that the trio had no previous court record.

* * *

A 21-year-old newly-wed, was ordered to post bond of $500 to keep the peace for one year for attempted suicide.

The attempt was made May 19 in Cleveland Township (Richmond County), court officials said.

* * *

Roger Cormier was ordered to post a $200 bond to keep the peace six months for possession of burglar's tools June 27 in Sherbrooke.

* * *

Guy Bolduc was ordered to post a $500 bond to keep the peace for one year for taking a truck without permission. Bolduc was involved in an accident that caused $1,500 damages, the court said.

The accident was said to have occurred last Saturday in Ascot Township.

* * *

Gilles Labrie was fined $50 for obstructing police in Magog also on Saturday.

Mr. Blanchette said that the Magog police chief had told him the youth had been drinking before the offence was committed.

Edmund Yates was fined $100 for possession of four stolen tires.

Defence Lawyer Rene Monty told Judge Turmel that Yates had no previous court record.

EAST ANGUS

Miss Kathleen Lawrence, Sherbrooke, spent the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Heatherington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransome Hayes, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Ransome Hayes, Jr., were in Quebec recently, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ian Gregory. Miss Janet Gregory, who had spent three weeks with her grandparents, returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Coates and son, Lachine, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Beattie.

Referendum to be held in Magog

MAGOG — (Special) — Forty nine rate payers of whom 48 were qualified, signed a petition Monday evening at the Magog City Hall, asking for a referendum on the proposed new city office building project. The structure and repossession of needed land covered by by-law 474 will cost $799,000, if accepted in the referendum scheduled for July 19. Voting will take place from 9 a.m. till 7 p.m. that day.

The proposed structure will, if approved provide spacious accommodation for a long needed proper city hall, and reception hall, besides a modern police and fire department, city jails, most of the municipal services' offices, engineering office, as well as properly landscaped grounds, in which there would be provision for a public market place.

The scheduled July council meeting, which is usually held on the first Thursday of each month, is being delayed until Friday because of Dominion Day.

Officials at the Magog city hall, in outlining the agreements in the city employees' union contract also note that commencing this week, the city offices will be open from 7 till 8:30 p.m. instead of 9 as was the previous practice.

Nursery is damaged in car crash

AYER'S CLIFF — (Special) — A car driven by a Magog man was demolished Saturday night when it collided with another car at the Highland Gardens Nursery near here, sheared off gasoline pumps operated by the nursery, and travelled about 180 feet, coming to rest in a field of shrubbery.

Quebec Provincial Police identified the driver as Norman Phaneuf, of Magog.

Mr. Phaneuf's car collided with a car driven by Mrs. Russell Graul, of Montreal, alone in the car at the time.

The nursery operates the gasoline pumps and those were sheared off by Mr. Phaneuf's car, said nursery owner Bill Morgan.

Damage to the gas pumps and the nursery was estimated at over $3,000 by the nursery owner.

No one was injured.

WARDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Talbot spent the weekend as guests of the latter's uncle and aunt at Philadelphia, Pa. while there to attend the Vanlangveld-Walker wedding.

Preserving Commonwealth's unity

The new picture of the Commonwealth that emerged most forcibly from the last Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference is very similar to that developing in the United Nations.

The "big" Commonwealth powers are not necessarily the opinion leaders of Commonwealth meetings any more, even as in the UN, the major nations must listen to the voices and the votes of the myriad smaller powers now members of the world body.

In Commonwealth meetings, this situation is accentuated by racial problems that do not lend themselves to easy solutions if the Commonwealth is to be kept together as a significant entity.

The ousting of South Africa from the Commonwealth a few years ago is the kind of action no one wants to see become common within the group. It would not take many more steps like this one — perhaps even only more would be too many — to cause the whole Commonwealth house of cards to collapse.

An example of the kind of thing that makes the Commonwealth situation particularly precarious these days is the Rhodesian question. The outcome of the last prime ministers' conference, producing no definite deadline from Britain to hasten Negro rule in Rhodesia was bitterly denounced by Negro delegates.

They declared they had lost all faith in British sincerity.

Clearly, this issue, and others like it combine with the diverse other problems of Commonwealth nations to make more difficult the task of holding the Commonwealth together as any kind of a group.

But, as prime minister Pearson has pointed out, the difficulties make it all the more important to leave no effort untried in keeping some kind of Commonwealth grouping in existence.

For if differences can be settled without bloodshed within the Commonwealth, if some common aims can be fashioned out of the many dissimilar national interests and hopes, if mutually-acceptable policies can be worked out among members, then at least one very large segment of the free world will be able to progress through peaceful and largely orderly development.

The United Nations, and the whole Western world in general, dearly needs this kind of a prop.

Many a gal who starts married life as a clinging vine turns into a rambler.

Blue flags waving in the swales

Blue flags are waving in the swales, along the brooks and creeks and around the edges of swamps. The stately, handsome blossoms are borne on tall, stiff stems; the long, slender, pointed leaves remind one of spears. It was Ruskin who said that the blue iris is the flag of chivalry, with a sword for its leaf and the lily for its heart.

Many centuries ago the famous Crusader, Louis the Seventh, adopted the blue flower as the emblem of his house. As the "Flower of Louis" it gradually assumed the name, "fleur de lis". Rich in history and both beautiful and dignifield, it is a fitting flower for royalty. Longfellow wrote it was a "flower born in the purple, to joy and pleasance."

The blueflag iris likes rich moist soil. From May into July the colorful pennants glow among the grasses. Botanically it is a remarkable flower because of a method evolved over the centuries whereby the bees must carry the pollen from flower to flower when they harvest the nectar.

Scientists tell us that blue is the color which best attracts bees. The bees land safely on the platform of the handsome sepal and follow the dark veins and golden lines to the nectar cup. These are the technical details and it is good to know botanical facts. But on a sunny June day when blue banners dot the low spots and the bobolinks are trilling exuberant arias, the important point is that the heart responds to the royal hue when the blue flags wave beneath a blue sky.

Other papers say:

Did government act in good faith

(Windsor Star)

The government must be well pleased that it has succeeded in pushing its press ownership bill through the House of Commons so quickly. For those few members of the government who know the full story that pleasure may be tinged by a doubt as to whether they have acted in good faith.

Here are the facts in the case.

On May 4, executives of the Canadian Daily Newspaper publishers Association met Prime Minister Pearson and Finance Minister Walter Gordon to protest that the government's proposal was "a fundamental violation of long-established press freedom in Canada."

Following that meeting, Richard A. Graybiel, the president of the Association, wrote to Mr. Pearson: "You indicated to us yesterday your belief that there is some urgency in preventing foreign take-over of newspapers. Any immediate danger has, of course, been met by Mr. Gordon's announcement of the government's intention in his Budget address No potential foreign investor will proceed with acquisition of a Canadian newspaper in the face of the government's stated intention to make advertising in such a newspaper taxable as of January 1, 1966. Presumably, that intention could be implemented by legislation at any time before the end of the year. Thus a breathing space of some eight months has been gained. That time can be devoted to exploration of alternative methods of achieving the government's objective."

Neither then nor since then did the government question that assumption On May 12, Mr. Pearson wrote to Mr. Graybiel and in fact invited the publishers to suggest such alternatives: "We will be more than glad to give further thought to any alternative which the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association would submit . . I will be only to happy to give the fullest and most sympathetic consideration to any alternative method of expressing the same principles which your Association can recommend."

On May 14, Mr. Graybiel replied to the Prime Minister, accepting on behalf of the CDNPA Mr. Pearson's request for alternative solutions: "A meeting of the Executive Committee of the CDNPA has been called for June 15 to give further consideration to this matter. In the meantime I have forwarded copies of your letter to each of the 104 members (of the CDNPA), requesting them to send me their comments and suggestions so that the Executive Committee may consider them."

Thus Mr. Pearson knew that the publishers were studying alternative proposals, knew that they believed they had eight months to achieve an effective alternative solution, knew that the next stage in the study was a meeting of the CDNPA executive committee on June 15.

And what did the government do with this knowledge? It introduced its legislation in the House of Commons on June 14.

When the President of the Association protested this hasty action, the officers of the CDNPA were again invited to Ottawa, on June 18. They pointed out that if the government denied them the time to carry out the Prime Minister's invitation to supply alternatives, and proceeded with the legislation, the achievement of any alternative would be virtually impossible. The study which the CDNPA had undertaken at the Prime Minister's request would be meaningless.

And what did the government do then?

It proceeded with second reading of the bill on June 22 and pushed it through in less than two hours.

A fine achievement in Parliamentary procedure, but an act of good faith? We are too closely involved to pass judgment.

The treasurer, Mrs. L. Parker gave the financial report which showed a satisfactory balance. Correspondence included a letter from Save the Children Fund regarding the child adopted recently giving the name as Toivo Armas of Itakyla, Finland.

Convener's reports included agricultural by Mrs. L. B. Pierce, for education Mrs. R. W. S. Nutbrown and a note from Dr. Percival was also read about the shortage of teachers for school opening.

Mrs. W. Beattie gave the health and welfare report and the Ways and Means committee reported a most satisfactory sum realized from the rummage sale.

Mrs. W. B. Brady and Mrs. L. Parker who attended the annual convention at Macdonald College gave a report and results were announced by the leaders of the attendance contest showing Mrs. F. Glass as winner with 122 against Mrs. S. Pegg with 101.

Tea was served by the hostesses Ms. E. Cote Mrs. W. B. Brady and Mrs. F. J. Glass.

GLOOMY SUNDAY

Composer of the 'suicide song' still plays and ponders deaths

By PRESTON GROVER

BUDAPEST (AP) — Thirty-three years ago a young Hungarian cafe pianist wrote a melancholy melody to fit the lyric of a poet friend. It swept through the gypsy dance halls in the pre-Hitler Balkans.

Called Gloomy Sunday, it quickly became known as The Suicide Song. It still is. Any gypsy or cafe orchestra or strolling musician in East or West Europe can play it.

Composer Seress Rezso is still playing Gloomy Sunday, although perhaps less often these days. He plays the piano and sings at a little cafe-bar called Kis Pipa (Little Pipe) on a dark back street in Budapest.

It is strictly a local cafe-bar, where few foreigners come.

Rezso's head, with snow white hair combed back, barely shows above the low piano. Even so, he half stands, half sits on a raised seat so he can play comfortably, keep an eye on the customers and still reach the pedals, which he bats constantly with his right foot.

Rezso composed Gloomy Sunday when he was 32 and correspondents who knew him then found him fascinated by the growing list of suicides attributed to the song. Now, at 65, he is more philosophic. He says he isn't sure anybody died solely because of the song.

"Perhaps a few who already were very depressed heard it, then did," he observes.

SONG LYRICS

The words by poet Lazslo Javor wouldn't drive you into the Danube. The music might.

It is about a lonely lover whose girl has just died and been carried away in a "black coach of sorrow." An English version, supplied by Rezso, goes on:

Angels have no thought of her returning you,
Would they be angry if I thought of joining you?
Gloomy Sunday.

Death is no dream, for in death I'm caressing you,
With the last breath of my soul I'll be blessing you.
Gloomy Sunday.

The war overtook Rezso while he was playing in Budapest and he was taken to Germany as part of a labor battalion.

He has composed 50 songs but none has caught on like Gloomy Sunday. You can't spend an evening in a Budapest cafe without hearing the song, its melody as simple as a hymn, schmaltzed by gypsy orchestras.

Rezso gets a trickle of royalties from various countries. He receives about $6,000 a year for the Hungarian copyright on his songs. That is a fat income in Hungary and he could live on it, but he loves to play in the little bar where the people want him. He has played there 15 years.

He has a wife who waited for him through the years of wartime exile. They have adopted five children.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Francisco Vasquez de Coronado crossed the Arkansas River 424 years ago today—in 1541—at the furthest point of his expedition from Mexico in search of an Eldorado of fabulous wealth, which turned out to be an Indian tent village on the Kansas plains. Though not one of the great conquerors, Coronado explored the Zuni and Hopi territories, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and the Rio Grande.

1776 — Patrick Henry became Governor of Virginia.

1941 — Ignace Jan Paderewski, pianist and president of Poland, died.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1915—the first battle of the Isonzo River, on the Trentino front, began; Ngaundere, German Cameroons, was occupied by the Allies; Prime Minister W. F. Massey of New Zealand urged acceptance of a coalition ministry.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1940 — 6,000 Polish troops crossed the Syrian border to join British forces; the British admiralty announced two Italian submarines had been sunk; a trade agreement was signed between Finland and Russia; the U.S. Congress ordered the fingerprinting of 3,500,000 residents who were not citizens.

CUSTOM CARRIED ON

On the desk of every U.S. Senator stands a glass shaker of fine black sand, used 150 years ago for drying handwritten letters.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — Let's not go to court over this, Premiers Lesage and Bennett are saying to Prime Minister Pearson. Instead, let's decide the ownership of offshore resources at the Dominion-provincial conference.

A blind man could see what the two premiers are up to. They want the federal government to abandon its intention to refer the question to the Supreme Court because they believe the court will rule in favor of the federal government.

Instead, they propose to settle the matter "on a political basis", as Lesage blandly put it. What they can't get by law, they hope to get by ganging up on Mr. Pearson and beating it out of him.

At the conference starting July 19 the premiers would attempt to apply force majeure — a diplomatic phrase meaning irresistable coercion — to obtain what they want despite the fact that they have no established legal right to it.

☆ ★ ☆

National ownership of undersea resources in and over the continental shelf beyond the three mile limit was established in international law by a United Nations convention on the Regime of the Sea in 1960, and subsequently ratified by national legislatures so that it became effective last year.

However, the Diefenbaker government began issuing permits for offshore gas and oil exploration in 1958, after a UN conference on maritime jurisdiction had shown there was an international consensus approving the Truman declaration of 1945. In that declaration President Truman had claimed the resources of the US continental shelf for the US. Subsequently other countries, including Canada, used the Truman precedent to claim similar rights on their continental shelves.

The continental shelf is the submerged part of the continent off the coasts, or the shallow coastal seas out to the line where the ocean floor drops precipitously into the ocean deeps. The shelf is wide off the east coast, narrow off the west. In archaic times part of the shelf experienced conditions comparable to those which gave birth to continental oil fields, and so the search is on. Oil companies are prospecting Atlantic and Pacific shelves by seismic methods of analysing the penetration of the sea bed by shock waves from underwater explosions.

☆ ★ ☆

A year ago Resources Minister Arthur Laing conferred in Ottawa with BC's minister of mines and petroleum, D. L. Brothers. In a joint communique they agreed that reference of their dispute to the Supreme Court seemed to be only way to resolve the matter, and they undertook to recommend this step to their respective governments.

Premier Bennett rejected this solution, demanding instead that Ottawa recognize BC's alleged rights. Unmoved, Mr. Pearson proceeded with the reference. While it is solely concerned with the BC dispute, the court's finding will affect the claims of the other coastal provinces and so Mr. Pearson sent copies of the reference to all premiers. In their replies the premiers of all provinces hoping for a slice of offshore rights disapproved of the reference. Those of landlocked Saskatchewan and Alberta did not.

This reaction was anticipated. If the coastal provinces prevail (Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec being "coastal" on Hudson Bay, and Quebec on the Gulf of St. Lawrence as well) they will get all the gravy. If Ottawa prevails, the offshore resources will be developed to the equal benefit of all Canadians, including those of the landlocked provinces.

NOTES FROM GRANBY

GRANBY-- - Conduit and sewage work is under way in two sections of Granby by general contractor, Choiniere Construction of Roxton Pond, and Marinelli et Fils of Granby.

The work, amounting to $72,797.75, will be done in the northern and industrial section of the city.

COLLECTS $4,200

The Richelieu Club collected $4,200 in a campaign held recently. Georges Zigby, president of the Richelieu Club stated he was most gratified at the results. The objective was $5,000.

CONSTRUCTION INCREASE

During the first five months of 1965 construction work in Granby has surpassed that of the same period last year.

Since the first of January this year's construction work has passed the $2,291,500 mark. Last year for the same period only $906,345 was spent.

ANNEXATION PROJECT

The news comes from the office of the mayor, Paul O. Trepanier that annexation of a part of the land in the municipality of Granby Township to the city of Granby will be completed within two or three weeks.

The mayor, alderman Gill Langlois and Donat Brosseau, city controller, made the announcement on their return from Quebec. A part of this annexation will join the Autoroute.

NEW CNIB EXECUTIVE

The consultive committee in the county of Shefford for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind appointed a new executive at its annual general assembly.

J. C. D'Amour, president of the organization succeeds Fred A. Wallace. Mrs. E. Dumas is vice - president of the committee and Mrs. L. Gidding is secretary. W. H. Young is vice-president of the local organization. Marcel Lequin is administrator - secretary of the CNIB Office for the district of Granby and Guy Cloutier treasurer.

Discuss joining of charges at Bury meeting

BURY —A meeting of United Church officials and members was held recently in the MacKenzie Chapel hall. Twenty six members from Bishopton, East Angus and Bury were present.

The first part of the meeting was a joint board meeting of East Angus and Bishopton members listening in.

On the adjournment of that meeting, a consultation meeting was held, with Rev. J. A. Filshie as chairmen, and members of the stewards, trustees and U.C.W. groups of the three towns present.

Several topics were discussed relative to the joining in September of Bury with Bishopton and East Angus to form one postal charge under Rev. G. Lokhurst. Two men from each town will meet with Rev. Lokhurst to decide on the time church services will be held at each place in the charge.

The vacation Bible school which will be held in Bury in August was also discussed.

Huntingville

Mr. Archie Gillespie, Montreal, was a recent guest of Mr. Douglas Hyatt.

Mrs. M. Sewell accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Angus Smith, Dixville, to Portneuf, where they were guests of Miss Charlotte Sewell. They attended a morning coffee party and a cooking ware shower in honor of Miss Sybil Fish, and Mr. Carl Sewell.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cowhard will regret to learn that their eldest son, Charles, is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where he is being treated for burns to his leg, suffered at his home three weeks ago.

Mr. Stanley Chute has returned home from the Neurological Hospital, Montreal, where he was a patient for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Godden, Plattsburgh, N.Y., were weekend guests of Mrs. Godden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brodie, Knowlton, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sanders, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, were recent guests of their aunt, Mrs. E. A. Aldrich.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hunting spent the weekend in Montreal, guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Brooks and family.

HENDERSON VALE —

Mr. and Mrs. A. Little, Inverness, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Little, Lennoxville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Wright.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. Kelso were Mr. and Mrs. Murray Kelso and family, Lennoxville, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kelso, Monroe, N.H., and Mr. and Mr. Don Kelso and Dougie, of Sherbrooke.

Dancing Waters will star in the Plaza Festival

Even "water dances" at Sherbrooke's Summer Festival during the Plaza Festival portion of the celebrations from June 28 until July 4th.

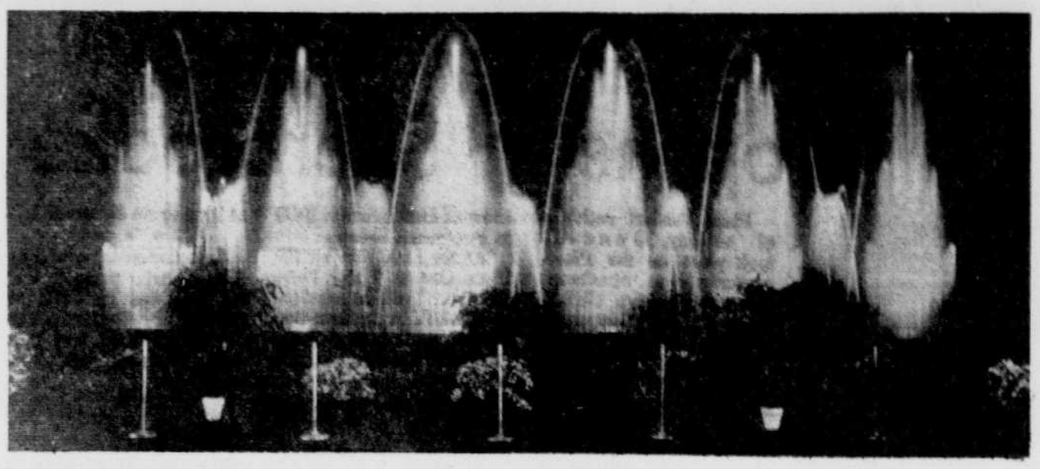

Nineteen motors activated from an electrically operated console and played like an organ force thousands of gallons of circulating water through more than 4,000 jets to a controlled height of 20 to 40 feet.

The water travels through portable sections of pipe and cable fitted together into a portable rubber trough-tank.

As the sparkling waters rise and fall under the multi-colored lighting to the accompaniment of music, the Dancing Waters present limitless formations, effects and combinations.

From a "fireworks display" to a classical ballet scene — all are part of the performance. The waters actually dance waltzes, tangos and swirl and swish in modern intricate dance movement, breathtaking in their beauty.

The waters will perform twice daily, afternoon and evening, during the Plaza Festival in front of the Court House at Strathcona Square.

Missisquoi Chapter I.O.D.E. hears reports given at Bedford meeting

BEDFORD — The meeting of Missisquoi Chapter, I.O.D.E. was held on June 7 at the summer home of Mrs. Ralph Oakes on Missisquoi Bay, Lake Champlain.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. William Taylor, the minutes were read by Mrs. Lewis Currie. The treasurer, Mrs. Oakes reported a balance of $133.12. A bill of $23.65 for wool was ordered paid.

Mrs. Richard Craighead, services at home and abroad, reported a shipment of 65 articles to provincial headquarters Montreal, with a balance of $72.50. Included in the shipment were sweaters, socks, both men's and children's, bonnets, and booties. Wool was given out for summer work. This was the last meeting until the autumn.

June Campbell has been chosen as the Chapter's representative from the Bedford High School to attend the UN seminar to be held during August at the Jean de Breboeuf College Montreal. Fees to attend the seminar are $53.

The Chapter received a request to order the I.O.D.E. calenders for 1966 as soon as possible. A book of historical paintings may be obtained from provincial I.O.D.E. at a cost of $3.

The following instructions were received from provincial I.O.D.E. regarding the displaying of the Canadian flag. The Union Jack will remain the flag of the Order. There is no need to buy a Canadian flag as the Union Jack is the only flag necessary at primary chapter meetings. When the flag of the Order is displayed at social events, it is left to the discretion of the primary chapters, whether the Canadian flag is displayed as well.

The Canadian flag should be displayed, not carried, at national, provincial and municipal annual and semi-annual meetings. The Canadian flag is placed at the right of the Union Jack, unless already placed by the club, hotel, etc. The Canadian flag must not be lower than the Union Jack.

An interesting questionnaire, given by Mrs. Neil Creller, at the May meeting, was turned in, dealing with historical facts in Canada. The prize-winner was Mrs. K. Shepherdson, Stanbridge East, who received the prize given by Mrs. Creller.

General business before the meeting included final arrangements for the hope chest and contents, which will be drawn for at the Missisquoi County Agricultural's exhibition in August. Mrs. Ralph Oakes was appointed to look after obtaining the chest's contents, while Mrs. Hannibal Sheltus will purchase the chest.

It was also decided to held a food sale on the second day of the fair in the arena, with Mrs. Lennox Ames in charge.

The regent, Mrs. Lennox Ames, welcomed Mrs. J. H. Gibbs, of the municapal Chapter, I.O.D.E., Montreal, who invited the members of Missisquoi Chapter, I.O.D.E. to meet at her cottage on Lake Champlain for luncheon on June 16, at that time Mrs. Gibbs will have as her guests, members of the Montreal chapter.

The meeting concluded with the serving of refreshments.

Marbleton W.A. plans July tea

MARBLETON — The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church held its closing meeting on June 15 at the home of Mrs. Hetherington.

A donation was received from Mrs. Wakefield for the annual tea. A letter read by Mrs. Burrows, acknowledged the parcel received for St. Luke's Hospital, Pankmirtung. Mrs. Weyland read the report on the World Day of Prayer.

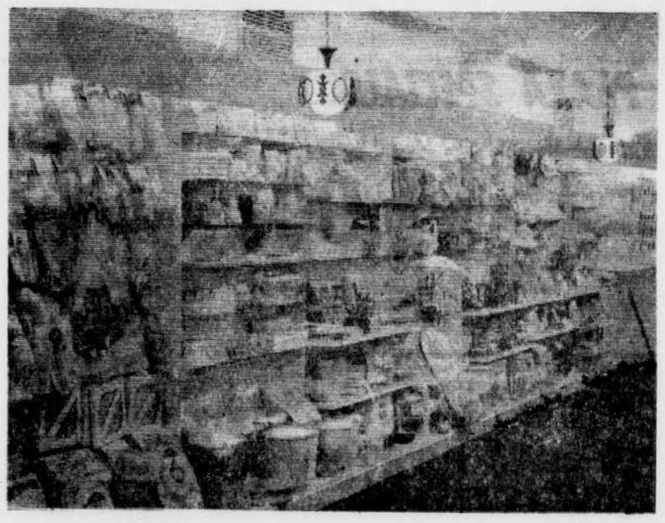

Plans were made for the annual tea and sale to be held in the Church Hall on Puly 3, from 3-5 p.m.

The next meeting will be held in the Church Hall in September.

Even Waters will dance as the Plaza Festival opens in Sherbrooke

Plaza Festival activities of Monday, June 28 took place on the Plaza, particularly at Strathcona Square. Here two CHLT-TV programs, Coq au 7 and Votre Pot-Pourri, were televised. Mayor Armand Nadeau officially opened the Festival at 8 p.m.

A concert by the Sherbrooke Harmony Band followed at 8:30 p.m.

In the afternoon and evening there was a presentation of the Dancing Waters. These Waters are installed at Strathcona Square facing the Court House.

Nineteen motors run electrically and played like an organ will shoot thousands of gallons of water into 4,000 streams up to a controlled height of about 20 feet. Water will be shot through the rubber hoses from a large rubber-enclosed reservoir of water. As the jets of water shoot upwards colored lights will shine on them, accompanied by appropriate music. The waters "dance" the waltz, tango, etc.

* * *

Tuesday evening, June 29 will be marked by a show of local talent at 8:30 at Strathcona Square.

At the same time on the Plaza Coq au 7 and Votre Pot Pourri will be televised by CHLT. A matinee and evening performance of the Dancing Waters will be given.

The parade of stars will be presented at Strathcona Square at 8:30 p.m. on June 30.

The two French language television programs will be filmed and the Dancing Waters will give two shows.

* * *

On July 1st a barn dance will be held at the intersection of Frontenac and Wellington Streets beginning at 8:30.

The two TV programs will be telecast direct from the barn dance. The Dancing Waters will hold a matinee and evening show.

* * *

Bonsoir Copain, a CHLT-TV show, will be telecast from the Sherbrooke Arena Friday, July 2 at 8:30 p.m.

The Dancing Waters and Coq au 7 and Votre Pot Pourri will also take place at Strathcona Square.

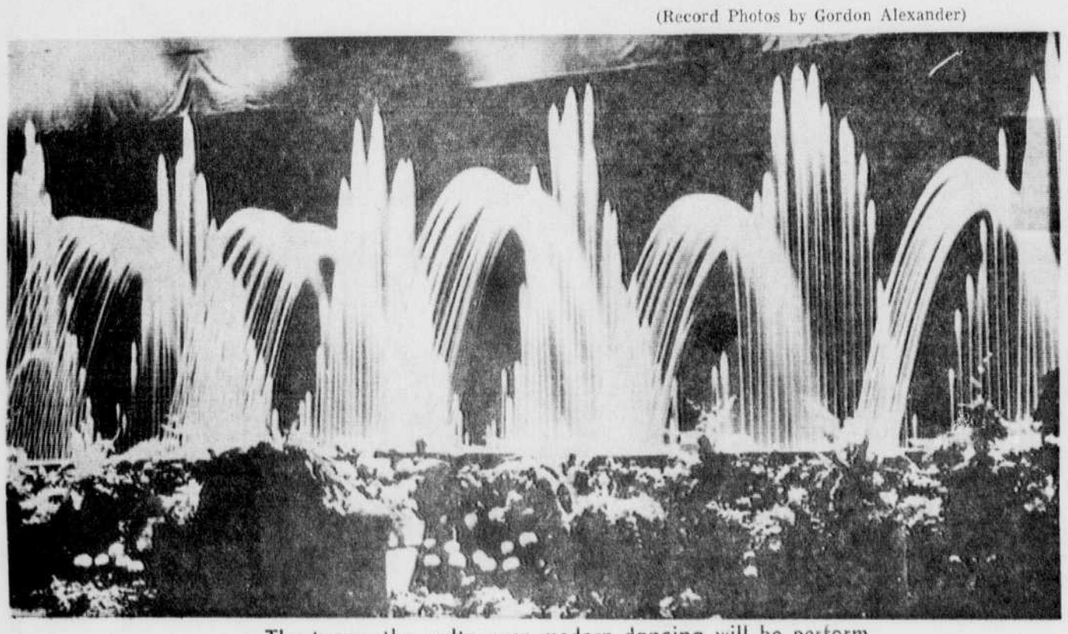

* * *

Saturday evening of July 3 an amateur program will be presented at 8:30 at Strathcona Square. The Dancing Waters will perform afternoon and evening.

* * *

The next day, July 4th, will be marked by a grand circuit of the festival at Jacques Cartier Park beginning at 2 p.m.

At Strathcona Square at 8:30 p.m. there will be a fashion show put on by Montreal manufacturers. Also the Waters will "dance" during the afternoon and evening.

The tango, the waltz, even modern dancing will be performed by these Dancing Waters during the Plaza Festival.

Concert held at Bedford College

BEDFORD — A concert was held in St. Damien's College in two sections on June 10, the first was given by the members of the Choral Society of the College, for which Rev. Father Bonneau, director of the college, trained the singers and Guy Dery acted as accompanist.

During the intermission which followed, several local singers, Lionel Cusson, Mrs Joseph Campbell, Miss J. Desourdy and Lamotte rendered a number of vocal selections, among the out-of-town singers who also sang at the time were Marc Tougas, St. Johns, and the Misses Courchesne and Millette of Farnham.

The second portion of the concert were give by Les Disciples de la Chanson of Farnham, of which group, Marc Tougas of St. Johns was the director. Mrs. Alex MacArthur was the accompanist for this portion.

Compton History Society meets

COOKSHIRE — A large number of members and friends attended the Compton County Historical Society meeting which was held at the museum on June 12.

Waymer Laberee, of Bulwer, was the guest speaker, and gave and account of the life of the late Honorable John Henry Pope. The president, Lionel Hurd, introduced the guest speaker, and he was thanked by Leslie MacLeod.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

GENERAL NOTES

At the service in Trinity United Church, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Waldron was christened by Rev. J. A. Filshie. The baby received the names Jerry Anthony and the sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bellam, of Lennoxville. Following the service, Mr. and Mrs. Waldron entertained at dinner.

Charged with threatening a resident, damaging property

SWEETSBURG WARD—Two Cowansville brothers appeared before Judge Jean Louis Peloquin at the Sweetsburg Court of Sessions on Monday. One pleaded guilty and the other not guilty to charges of threatening a resident and damaging property.

Jacques Dey pleaded guilty to the charge of causing damage to a private home in Cowansville on June 24. Since he had a previous criminal record of three months in prison for robbery the judge fined him $75 and costs.

His brother, Gerard, pleaded not guilty to a charge of threatening a Cowansville resident on June 20 and the preliminary hearing was set for July 26.

By DAN KARON
(Record Staff Reporter)

Two other brothers from Montreal pleaded not guilty before Judge Peloquin to a charge of stealing a telephone and are out on bail of $400 each.

Alcide and Claude Fournel pleaded not guilty to stealing a Bell Telephone Company phone from a Bolton Centre telephone booth valued at $175 during last December.

Judge Peloquin set their bail and July 26 as the date for the preliminary hearing.

* * *

A Cowansville resident was fined $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty to illegally firing a gun in the town.

Jean Boucher pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace last week by firing his gun into the air but on a second charge of possessing a gun without a permit he pleaded not guilty.

The judge set the date for the hearing into this charge for July 26.

Arena may be bought by Granby

GRANBY — (Special) — It has been suggested by Alderman St. Onge that the Granby Arena might be bought by the city of Granby. The Arena has been unused for some time and it is thought that Granby might recover it and have an Arena by winter.

Mayor Trepanier said that the taxpayer could be assured that the city would pay a given amount each year, the credit necessary to carry out the repairs outlined by the Ministry of Health.

A group of citizens met recently and decided to solicit a list of 3,000 signatures. If this is done and the citizens are agreeable to the city buying the arena then Granby will have a much needed Arena.

There will be a meeting next week to bring this project to attention.

An important part of the Granby Little Theatre is the Drama School where study and practise in stagecraft are held.

The Granby Community School has asked the Little Theatre to arrange a series of ten lectures on Stagecraft. Thought is being given to this.

Captain Raymond Forand of the Granby Police, with Constable Brodeur and Asst. Chief Legare were responsible for two slot machines being seized a few days ago. The owner, Laurent Garneau, of Granby was fined $25 and Raymond Forand instructed that the machines be destroyed. Leon Gaucher of Granby was accused of operating a pin-ball machine and will be brought before court on June 28th.

The Granby Police have sent notices to all owners of pin-ball machines that it is against the law and anyone who is found to be operating one will be brought to court.

Memorial services mark anniversary

NOYAN — (Special) — Memorial services of Thanksgiving were celebrated in St. Thomas' Church at Noyan and St. George's Church at Clarenceville, on June 26th and 27th to mark the 150th anniversary of the arrival of Rev. Micajah Townsend as a resident missionary in Caldwell's and Christie's Manor. His ministry in the area covered a period of over 50 years.

On Saturday, June 26th, services were conducted at St. Thomas' Church by the Rt. Rev. R. Kenneth McGuire, Lord Bishop of Montreal, assisted by Rev. Alan Cameron, rector of St. Thomas' Church, Rev. Peter Hannen, rector of St. James Church, Stanbridge East, and Rev. Rowe, rector of St. Paul's Church and Mr. Bernald Derick of St. Thomas. The music was provided by the choir of St. Paul's Church, Greenfield Park.

Visiting clergy included Rev. F. Beale of Bellows Falls, Vermont, and Rev. Burnham, pastor of the Free Methodist Church, Clarenceville. Also present were Mrs. H. Coffin and Mrs. H. C. Winch, wives of former rectors of the two parishes.

Following the service, a picnic lunch was held in the churchyard where many old and new acquaintances were renewed and made. A short resume of the history of the Church in Caldwell's Manor and Noyan, beginning in the year 1800, was given by Herbert Derick of Lennoxville.

On Sunday morning, a service of Morning Prayer was held in St. George's Church at Clarenceville. Rev. Alan Cameron, rector, conducted the service and the guest preacher was Rev. R. W. Prendergast, rector of St. Luke's Church in Hemmingford.

It is of historical interest to note that these services were attended by many descendants of early settlers and to mention a few families, amongst others: Adams, Beerwort, Bullock, Cochrane, Derick, Emrick, Fadden, Hardy, Hunter, MacFie, Mandigo, Mosher, Naylor, Peters, Robinson, Simpson, Stewart, Struthers, Vosburg, Wilson and Young.

Fined for false unemployment declarations

SWEETSBURG WARD — (Staff)—Six persons were fined a total of $510 Monday at the Sweetsburg Court of Sessions for making false declarations in their unemployment insurance forms and 15 persons were fined for traffic infractions.

Alfred Marks of Waterloo was fined $130 when he pleaded guilty to nine charges of making false declarations on his unemployment insurance forms.

Judge Jean Louis Peloquin warned Mr. Marks not to do so again and fined him $50 for the first charge, and 10 dollars for the eight other charges.

The judge gave Mr. Marks two months to pay the fine as the accused said he had three children and a wife to support and needed time.

Richard Gibson of West Shefford was fined a total of $110 after he pleaded guilty to seven charges of making false declarations.

Favial Pion of Granby was fined $120 when he pleaded guilty to making eight false declarations.

Alfred Mahue of Granby was fined $70 after he pleaded guilty to three charges, Gerard Brunelle of Granby was fined $40 for one charge and Guy Pollender of Farnham was fined $40 for one charge of making a false declaration.

Judge Peloquin lectured all the offenders on the seriousness of this crime and pointed out that the system on paying money to the unemployed people and not to be exploited.

* * *

A Stanbridge East man charged with two offences was fined $10 for one as the police dropped the other charge of driving on the left side of the road at a curve.

William Haydock pleaded guilty with explanation to the charge of failing to dim headlights. Mr. Haydock explained that the on coming car also failed to dim its headlights, to which presiding Judge Jean Louis Peloquin said that the other car should also be fined but since Mr. Haydock had pleaded guilty he levied him 10 dollars fine, plus costs.

Lawyer Claude Noiseaux who represented the police in this case, dropped the second charge against Mr. Haydock.

* * *

A Sutton man was fined a total of $30 for driving with a defective muffler and driving with a defective lighting system.

Rolland Wilson pleaded guilty to three charges which occurred in January of this year and Judge Peloquin fined him $10 per each infraction.

* * *

Kenneth Fan of Sweetsburg was fined $20 when he pleaded guilty to two infractions concerning defective lighting system on his car and having only one registered license plate on November 23, 1964.

* * *

A Sutton man avoided paying a fine for illegally parking on a public road but had to pay costs of appearing before the court.

John McCahey explained to the judge that he parked on the side of the road, two wheels on and two wheels off the road on January 1, 1965 to repair a blown fuse his car's lighting system.

Mr. McCahey was charged of having illegally parked on a public road, but when the Judge heard the explanation he ordered McCahey to pay only the costs.

* * *

A Black Lake man was fined $75 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving.

Philip Auger pleaded guilty to driving on the road between Farnham and Cowansville at a speed near 100 m.p.h.

Judge Peloquin lectured the accused saying that this was very irresponsible even if it was at night.

* * *

William Barnes of Granby was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty to driving his car while not having any driver's license.

The incident occurred at Roxton Pond during last week while the accused had his driver's license suspended for three months as he was found guilty to the charge of impaired driving during April, 1965.

* * *

Jacques Lataille of Mystic was fined $20 when he pleaded guilty to two charges of having no license plates and defective car during the month of November 1964.

* * *

Seven persons were fined $10 each when they pleaded guilty to driving a defective car, improper car lighting system and driving without a license.

The seven are Andre Beauchemin, Georges Dalpe, of St. Joli de Vercheres, Roger Sherbey, of Roxton Falls, Martin Beaulieu, Francis McMahon of West Shefford John Cleary, of Cowansville and Roger Clement.

* * *

William Higgins of Granby pleaded guilty to three infractions including driving a defective truck on December 21, 1964, and was fined 10 dollars for each infraction.

Rain scarce in parched NS, NB

Weather forecasters today could hold no hope of heavy rain for the parched woodlands of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

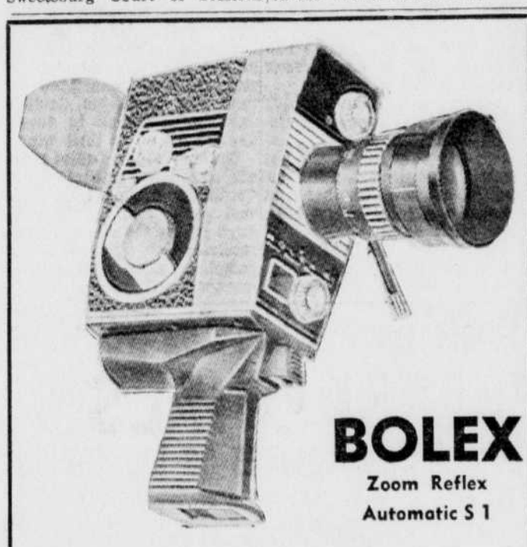

Forests in the two provinces have been closed to public travel in an effort to check the outbreak of fires that have kept forestry personnel busy for several days.

Two new forest fires—one of them four miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide—were raging out of control in New Brunswick late Monday as the province experienced another day of dry, mild weather.

A blaze new Newcastle, N.B., had spread over a four-mile area in a matter of hours as more than 30 men, three provincial forest service tankers and two pump units fought it.

A smaller fire was out of control in an area of less than 10 acres near Bald Mountain in Victoria County. A helicopter carrying firefighters to the scene Monday was unable to land, and the men had to enter the region by truck and on foot.

Rudolph Arseneau, district forest ranger at Allardville, N.B., said a fire out of control near Bathurst was contained Monday despite winds up to 38 miles an hour and 90-degree temperatures. About 60 men, five tankers and eight pumping units were battling the blaze.

Alouettes seek tenth win at Thetford

Chicago moves in on Minnesota while Indians bump Bosox for share of AL lead, Twins plastered 17-4

Chicago White Sox scored 17 runs Monday night with a 19-hit attack that included three homers, one a grand slam, as they swamped Minnesota Twins 17-4 to earn a share of the American League lead.

Cleveland Indians also grabbed a piece of first place with their 15th victory in the last 17 games, a 9-2 romp over Boston Red Sox.

Chicago and Cleveland now have a one-half game edge on Minnesota Twins, out of the league lead fo the first time since May 20.

In other American League action, Detroit Tigers nipped Baltimore Orioles 4-3 and New York Yankees stretched their winning string to five by beating Washington Senators twice, 3-0 on Mel Stottlemyre's two-hit pitching and 4-3.

Dave Boswell of the Twins had checked the White Sox on one hit and had a 3-0 lead when the uprising started in the fifth inning. Chicago loaded the bases on singles by Ken Berry and Al Weis and a walk to J. C. Martin, then McCraw blasted his 420-foot grand slam.

Jimmie Hall tied it for Minnesota with a homer in the last of the inning, but in the sixth the White Sox really cut loose. Danny Cater and John Romano belted homers off Boswell, and Chicago collected five more runs in the inning.

ADD FOUR MORE

Cater added a run-scoring single in the big sixth and drove in a run with a double as the White Sox scored four more in the ninth.

Fred Whitfield triggered Cleveland's win at Boston with a three-run homer off loser Bill Monbouquette in the second inning. Batting leader Vic Davalillo also had a homer in the Indians' 14-hit barrage that included three hits each by Rocky Colavito and Leon Wagner.

Felix Mantilla and Tony Conigliario homered for Boston runs.

Al Kaline's run-scoring single and Don Wert's homer helped the Tigers get by the Orioles. Dennis McLain blanked Baltimore for seven innings, but gave up a run in the eighth and was tagged for Sam Bowens' two-run homer in the ninth.

Stottlemyre posted his eighth victory and third shutout in the Yanks' opening game decision at Washington.

Burke Emery loses title fight as Borden posts unanimous win

MONTREAL (CP) — Leslie Borden of Montreal Monday night cut and slashed his way to the Canadian light - heavyweight championship with a unanimous 12-round decision over Burke Emery of Sherbrooke, Que.

Borden, who celebrated his 25th birthday Sunday, said following his victory before 1,800 fans at Montreal's Paul Sauve arena that he will meet "all comers."

"They had me fighting heavyweights to keep me away from this title," the new champion said. "Now I've got it, I'll stay in training and anybody that wants a crack at it can have it."

Borden, who weighed in at the light-heavy limit of 175 pounds, outweighed the veteran Emery by four pounds.

He used his comparative youth and the weight advantage to bull the 32-year-old former champion onto the ropes and there score repeatedly with flurries to the head throughout the match.

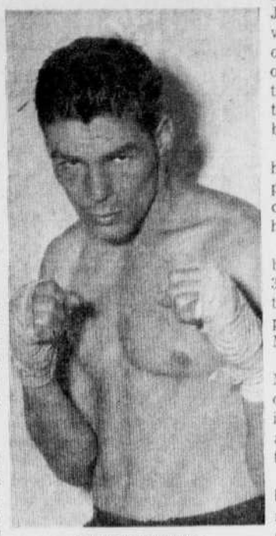

CUT NEAR EYES

Emery's face was covered with blood from cuts near both eyes as the bell ended the bout. He suffered a gash over the left eyebrow in the second round and appeared hampered by the flow of blood throughout the remainder of the fight.

Borden, who has fought 23 pro bouts, managed to retaliate with an offense of his own each time Emery got a rally going. The former champion is a veteran of more than 70 pro bouts.

In an effort to slow down his younger opponent, Emery came out in the fourth and fifth rounds throwing uppercuts to the chin and midriff. During this flurry of body blows, the former champion was warned by referee Rosario Baillargeon to keep his strikes above the belt.

The Sherbrooke fighter drew the ire of the crowd in the ninth round as he was sent repeatedly to his corner by the referee to have excess tape cut from his glove.

BURKE EMERY

Fine work by little Charley Goldman of New York, in Emery's corner, prevented the fight from being stopped in the early stages. Goldman worked feverishly over the former champion between each round and managed to stem the flow of blood sufficiently for the referee to allow the bout to continue.

Individual scorecard tallies for the two judges and referee were not disclosed.

BLOOD SPATTERS BOTH

In a 10-round semi-final welterweight contest, Arnold Sparks of Winnipeg won a split decision over Marcel Bizien of Jersey City, N.J. Sparks, who weighed 141½, opened a cut over Bizien's left ear in the second round and the remainder of the fight saw both fighters spattered with the Jersey City boy's blood.

Bizien, who was seven pounds heavier than the winner, had previously scored three consecutive first - round knockouts here.

In a featured preliminary bout, giant Buster Mathis, the 300-pound former U.S. Olympic team trial winner, made his pro debut against 245-pound Bob Maynard of Montreal.

Mathis, a Grand Rapids, Mich., native, made short work of the local boy as he scored an impressive technical knockout at 1:25 of the second round of the scheduled four-rounder.

In the other preliminary bouts, heavyweight Larry Renault of Montreal took the decision over Cleo Daniels of New York in eight rounds. Renault weighed 180 to 178 for the New Yorker.

Renault challenged the winner of the Borden-Emery clash to fight him for the crown.

In the opener, Leonardo Ianni knocked out Etienne Sarrazin at the 56-second mark of the fourth round of a scheduled six-rounder. Both men are from Montreal. Ianni weighed 152½ and Sarrazin 154 pounds.

Will attempt to reverse former 12-0 verdict, game time 8:30, John Kabat or George Birth hurls

Sherbrooke Alouettes, presently holding down fourth position in the Provincial League standings, and only one-half a game away from third, travel to Thetford Mines this evening to meet the Miners at 8:30 p.m. Probable pitcher is John Kabat or George Birth.

The Als will be looking for their tenth victory in eleven games played during the past two weeks, and could well be assured of this win, as Thetford has been finding the holes to the cellar, on the basis of their recent games. The Miners are 8½ games away from the top, and are in seventh place. Sherbrooke lost 12-0 on their last visit.

Other Provincial League tilts under the lights this evening include Coaticook at Drummondville, Lachine at Acton and Quebec at Plessisville.

Sherbrooke's recent performances, offensively and defensively, have made them strong contenders for the league lead, and their nine wins of ten tilts prove their abilities.

The Alouettes have abandoned their own abode for this week, and are on a light diet, having one game only after tonight, before the weekend. They travel to Lachine Friday night, and are back home Saturday, as part of the Summer Festival activities.

Andy Pratte, playing-coach of the Als, has brought a tremendous change over the local camp. His only loss came last week against Granby, a 6-0 verdict. This, however, has not changed the color of the boys, their spirit or pep.

The recent acquisitions in the camp, namely George Birth and Guy Desruisseaux, incline the club even further. Birth, who has never played Canadian ball until last Saturday, offerred another one of the Alouette's "bests", and in the eyes of people who know good ball, Birth is a 'catch'.

Luke Lamboley and Mike Wallace are also high in the opinion of many, and with 'encouragement' from both fans and the team management, will produce tops at all times.

LADIES NIGHT

Len Cote and Gerard Pelletier, general manager and President of the Als respectively, are being relieved at the sight of the filled bleachers at the stadium. More than 2,200 persons paid admission Saturday and Sunday nights to encourage the Als on to their wins.

Saturday night, Ladies Night, will see the Als host Granby Cardinals, league leaders, as well as welcoming all ladies. Each fan of the fairer sex will receive a pair of nylon hosiery compliments of the Alouette management.

Tigers edge White Sox 6-5 while Twins slide by Orioles 2-1 in Little League, two games on tap tonight

Tigers and Twins won a couple of squeekers in the Sher-Lenn Little League last night as Tigers took their game over the White Sox by a 6-5 count and the Twins just got through with a 2-1 decision over the Orioles.

Tonight the Yankees meet the Red Sox and Indians host the Twins, both games at the Parade Grounds.

White Sox battled all the way before bowing to the Tigers, and with a few more hits they might have pulled a surprise. Goupil, on the mound for the Tigers, held the Sox to a single by Richard Carrier in the top of the first. Tigers, on three hits, took a four run lead in their part of the inning. Bill Mullin started off the inning with a triple while D. Dussault and R. Cabana also connected.

White Sox in the second got back into the game with three runs on two hits and an outfield error. Jim Coley and Alain Lacasse did the hitting. Tigers made it 5-3 in the last of the second with two bases on balls and a single by Marc Pariseau.

Top of the third, the Sox, with two runs, tied the ball game on three hits and a base on balls. The hitters were J. Coley, David Rivard and Peter Dowbiggan.

At this part of the game each coach changed pitchers. Denis Dussault replaced Goupil on the mound for the Tigers and Alain Lacasse took over for Beauchemin.

Dussault, in the top of the fourth, allowed one hit to Gerald Auger while Lacasse offered a hit-by-pitch, base on balls and a single by Dussault which sent in the game winner. Dussault in the last two innings put the Sox down in order.

The Sox showed lots of spirit in this one. The Coley brothers were outstanding and the Sox infield was good. Tigers were well-served by Mullin, Dussault and Proteau.

Pitching featured the Twins-Orioles clash. Ken Baker, on the mound for the Twins, struck out eight, allowed no walks, while his opponent, Felix Boisvert, whiffed 11 men and issued two walks. It was errors that were a big factor in the Orioles' defeat as they came up with three miscues.

Orioles got their single run in the top of the first inning, two hits by Louis Jutras and Real Letourneau driving in the tally. In the bottom of the first Twins made it a 1-1 game on single by Scott Laforge, a fielders' choice and a passed ball.

In the next four innings Baker kept the Oroiles hitless coming up with six strikeouts. Boisvert, in the same number of innings, gave up two hits, one by Dave Turnbull in the second, and one by Peter Pankovitch. A bad peg to third allowed the winning run.

A single by Letourneau was all for the Orioles in the sixth, with Twins taking the game by a 2-1 score. This was a pitcher's battle all the way and Baker deserved the win, but Boisvert must be given credit for a well-pitched game.

Baker fires 68 in O'Keefe, pros tie at 67

Drummondville, Sunday, June 27 — Val Morin's Jack Bissegger and Mount Bruno's Norm Hunt provided several hundred golf fans with an outstanding exhibition of golf as they matched each other stroke for stroke through a four hole supplementary playoff to decide the top position in the pro section of the Eastern Townships Zone Pro/Amateur Tournament of the O'Keefe Quebec Golf Circuit, at Drummondville Golf Club.

The playoff, which resulted when both Bissegger and Hunt turned in 4 under par 67's at the end of the regulation 18 holes, was still all tied up at the end of the fourth hole, when it was called because of darkness.

In an official ruling following the tournament, it was agreed that final standing, and the $300 and $200 first and second position money, for both Hunt and Bissegger would be determined by their relative standings in the 4th and final Pro/Amateur tournament of the O'Keefe Circuit, to be held August 1, at Ki-8-Eb Golf Club, in Trois Rivieres.

A win for Bissegger would have been his third in 10 days on the Quebec pro circuit. He won both last weekend's Friday Pro/Member event at Wentworth and the Sunday, 2nd O'Keefe Pro/Amateur at Chaudiere, in Hull.

Among tournament favourites at the start of the Drummondville play, Adrien Bigras, of Ste-Dorothee, finished 5th with a 71 and host pro Guy Bissonnette of Drummondville, 3rd with 70.

The total $1500 purse was shared by 27 pros, Among the top money winners were: Guy Bissonnette, of Drummondville, and Franco Sirianni, of Bella Vista, $137.50 each for third position, (70); Al Hosick, of Whitlock, and Adrien Bigras, $95.00 each for 5th position, (71); and $67.50 seventh position (72) money each to J. MacPherson, of Candiac, and Phil Giroux, of Cartierville.

Among the over 300 amateurs playing in the three day weekend tournament, the class A title went to Arnold Baker, of Sherbrooke with a 68.

Class B and C honours were won by C. Melancon, of Drummondville and P. Bernier, of Drummondville, with respective scores of 77 and 88.

In addition to trophies and merchandise prizes, Baker, Melancon and Bernier also won the right to represent the Eastern Townships Zone, in their class, at the end of season O'Keefe Amateur Medal Play Championship, at Joliette, September 12.

Net winners at Drummondville were: Class A — Geo. Sharman, of Granby-St. Paul (69); Class B — L. Letarte, of Drummondville (67); and class C — A. Mathieu, of Drummondville (68).

In Friday's ladies section of the Eastern Townships Zone final, the class A championship went to S. Smith, of Lennoxville (87), and the class B to F. Larose, of Waterloo (96).

Seen above during trophy presentation ceremonies at Drummondville Golf Club in the Eastern Townships Zone Championship Tournament of the O'Keefe Quebec Golf Circuit are (left to right): Sylvio Tremblay, O'Keefe Agent in Victoriaville, and Arnold Baker, of Sherbrooke, class A amateur winner (68). Not shown in the photo are the class B and C winners, C. Melancon, of Drummondville and P. Bernier, of Drummondville and the winners of the women's section of the three day tournament: S. Smith, of Lennoxville (class A) and F. Larose, of Waterloo (class B).

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Batting—Danny Cater, White Sox, triggered a tie - breaking seven-run sixth inning uprising with a leadoff homer, added a run-producing single his second time up during the inning and doubled home another run7in the ninth as Chicago crushed Minnesota Twins 17-4.

Bueno, Smith look to Wimbledon semis

WIMBLEDON, England (CP) Defending women's champion Maria Bueno of Brazil and Australian champion Margaret Smith, 1963 titleholder, will play for semi-final places in the All-England tennis championships at Wimbledon today.

Both come up against rapidly improving players who are in the top men in the United States but unseeded at Wimbledon.

Miss Bueno takes on Jane Albert, 19-year-old daughter of Frankie Albert, American football star of yesteryear.

A win for the champion seems assured. But Miss Albert must command respect after her defeat Monday of the seeded French star, Francoise Durr, the conqueror of Miss Smith in Trinidad earlier this year.

Miss Smith, who is favored in the betting, meets Justina Bricka. The five-foot-ten Australian woman has easily the best record in the 1965 singles event, having lost only five games in three matches.

CAN SEEK REVENGE

One of the keenest of the quarter - final encounters is likely to be the only one between seeded women, in which Lesley Turner of Australia, the No. 3, comes up against a bouncing Californian, Billie Jean Moffitt, No. 5. It was Miss Moffitt who ended Miss Turner's 1963 Wimbledon challenge in the fourth round and went on to reach the final against Miss Smith.

The other quarter-final will be a complete contrast in style, with American Nancy Richey, an exponent of immaculate ground strokes, playing Britain's only remaining title hope, Christine Truman, a big-serve-and-volley player.

Miss Richey is seeded fourth but she will have to pull out her best to counter the power of the six-foot British girl.

Meanwhile, Dennis Ralston bearing the standard of American hopes in the men's singles was a relaxed and confident young man on the eve of his semi - final match Wednesday against Roy Emerson, the defending champion from Australia.

Ralston, the U.S. No. 1, got a quarter-final fright against fellow American Marty Riessen Monday. Ralston dropped the first two sets, then stormed back to win in five.

Nancy Greene says ski team needs cash

CALGARY (CP) — Nancy Greene, outstanding female member of the Canadian national ski team, says the team needs $150,000 to operate until the world skiing championships open in Chile in July, 1966.

Miss Greene, visiting various centres to help raise funds, said in an interview Monday night: "Right now, the money is only starting to come in. I think it is still less than $20,000.

Best-ever six months in business cause some concern for future

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. economy has had its best-ever six months. But that in itself is dampening some of the celebration. The first half of 1965 has set records which some—notably New York stock market traders—fear may be hard to top or even sustain.

Most U.S. business firms and most of the public have done better so far this year than they expected to, in production, sales and in personal income.

The first three months far exceeded predictions. Then most observers warned that a breather was due during the spring months. But where there has been any slowing down it has been less than anticipated.

The business upturn since the low point of the last recession, reached in February, 1961, now is ending its 52nd month. This exceeds by two months the former peacetime record set in 1933-37 when the United States was pulling out of the depression. At mid-year the question is: How long can it last and how high can it go?

There is little question about the gains so far in most of the economy—or of the losses in the stock market in the last six weeks.

FORECAST STANDS

The prediction in January was that this year the gross national product, the total output of goods and services, should hit a record $660,000,000,000 to top the previous record of $622,600,000,000 in 1964. This prediction still holds, if only because the first half was so much better than expected.

The year started off with a bang. Auto and steel production was going full blast and setting records. This has continued. Many other industries were playing the same kind of ball.

In the first three months the GNP hit an annual rate of $648,800,000,000, an unexpected $14,200,000,000 upsurge from the $634,600,000,000 annual rate of the final three months of 1964. In the April-May-June quarter of 1965 the GNP has climbed still higher, so that even a slowing of the pace in the next six months would still let the economy achieve its $660,000,000,000 goal.

To set the pace it did in these last six months the economy has had to offset a number of blows. A dock strike from Maine to Texas in January and February crippled some industries. For six months the steel labor negotiations have been a cliff-hanger, upsetting business planning.

The weather has damaged many sections: Snows crippled auto production in Feburary; floods, droughts and earthquakes brought havoc in many places.

FRENCH CAUSE UPSET

French President de Gaulle rocked the international monetary boat in February by calling for a return to a gold standard, and then began drawing down gold from the U.S. treasury with his surplus dollars. For the first five months of 1965, the U.S. gold reserves have been drained by more than $1,000,000,000 compared with $125,000,000 for all of 1964.

Despite all these things the general economy has expanded. In May, 72,400,000 Americans were employed, 1,100,000 more than in January. Personal income was at an annual rate of $517,000,000,000 in May, with the five-month average 6.2 per cent higher than in the previous year.

Dividend payments in the first five months came to $6,400,000,000, up 10.5 per cent from the 1964 period. Retail sales are running eight per cent ahead of last year.

Capital spending plans of business for the year now are put at $50,400,000,000, up 12.3 per cent from 1964, and each new survey of intentions has seen an increase. Steel production has reached 68,000,000 tons, about 10,000,000 more than in 1964. Some 5,000,000 cars have been built this year, against 4,200,000 a year ago, and sales have set records.

Too good to last? Pessimists and optimists are sharply divided at the mid-point, but they agree the first half could hardly have been better.

Dominion Day this year:

30th anniversary of Regina riot

REGINA (CP) — Dominion Day marks the 30th anniversary of the Regina riots of 1935, an outburst of violence that turned this city's old market square into a depression-era battleground for police and unemployed workers.

In the space of three hours, 100 persons were injured, 37 of them policemen, a Regina detective was killed, and 80 men were arrested. Store windows were smashed, vehicles overturned and debris, including such makeshift weapons as railway spikes and rocks, lay scattered in the square behind police headquarters.

An argument that has never been settled is whether the violence was touched off by a mistake or whether a calculated risk had been taken in arresting all at once the leaders of burgeoning march on Ottawa by unemployed workers.

The train of events began in relief camps of the West where thousands of jobless received food and lodging but no hope of work. As discontent grew, 900 men broke camp in British Columbia and began what was to be a trek to Ottawa—a protest strike against the relief camps.

Their ranks grew as eastbound freight trains made their way across Alberta and Saskatchewan. Two thousand were aboard when they reached Regina June 14.

'KEEP HANDS OFF'

By this time the federal government had ordered the RCMP to halt the trek. Saskatchewan's premier, Jimmy Gardiner, protested the federal order, and in a telegram to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett asked him to keep his "hands off the policing of this province."

With 300 Mounties waiting at Regina barracks, ready to prevent the march from continuing eastward, two federal cabinet ministers, Robert Weir and Dr. R. J. Manion, came from Ottawa to try to negotiate a settlement.

The marchers presented a set of demands that included 50 cents an hour for unskilled labor, union rates for skilled workers and a five-day, 30-hour week, social and unemployment insurance, and an end to military control of relief camps.

Following a meeting with the two cabinet ministers, a group of marchers left for Ottawa. Eight men met with Prime Minister Bennett June 22. Mr. Bennett said their demands could not be met and ordered the men back to their homes and camps.

On their return to Regina, plans were launched to resume the march on Ottawa. Mounties watched rail lines out of the cities and marchers who attempted to leave by truck or car were arrested.

Federal officials urged the men to go to a temporary camp at Lumsden, 15 miles north of Regina, where food and lodging were available.

five-sixths of Drummond County's; Thetford Mines for more than half of Megantic County's; Granby for three-quarters of Shefford County's, and Sherbrooke for almost all of Sherbrooke County's.

In all twelve E.T. counties, wages and salaries accounted for the lions' share of the total personal income.

Stastistics were also released on the number of taxable returns per income class. They show that the largest number of returns in a single income class occurs in the $4,000 to $5,000 class in Richmond, Compton and Megantic Counties; in the $3,000 to $4,000 class in Sherbrooke, Shefford, and Wolfe Counties; and in the $2,000 to $3,000 class in the other six counties.

The county with the most individual taxable returns showing total income over $10,000 is Sherbrooke, 750 being at this level. In Wolfe County, only seven were.

Sherbrooke County, on the other hand, also had the highest number of such returns showing total income under $2,000, namely 2,980.

Another feature of the report was a chart showing the average income of Canadian taxpayers in 65 major cities, which showed the average income in three E.T. municipalities on the list to be comparatively low: Sherbrooke (average per capita income: $4,212) to rank 56th; Drummondville ($3,916) 64th; and Granby ($3,873) 65th.

St. Paul's U. C. W. holds tea, sale at Waterloo

WATERLOO — The United Church Women of St. Paul's had its annual Spring Tea on June 8. It was well patronized and all the tea tables were filled.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Cora Marsh and Mrs. James Heatherington from a table covered with a white lace cloth. A beautiful floral arrangement of white lilacs and pink carnations centred the table.

The Food table was in charge of Mrs. L. Maynes and Mrs. Sturtevant. The work table under Mrs. Olive Westover was filled with most attractive articles.

The babies' knitted and hand sewn garments were unusually appealing. Stuffed toys and dolls clothes were a new addition to this department.

Mrs. Dora Young was in charge of the Fish Pond. Mrs. Pope took the tickets at the door.

The Kitchen Committee served salad tea and squares.

92nd birthday is observed

DERBY LINE — Mrs. Lucius Rye, Derby Line and Mrs. Hattie Eryou, Rock Island, accompanied Mrs. Alice Richardson, of Newport, to Lyndonville were they visited Miss K. L. Flint, of Derby Line, a guest at the Darling Inn Rest Home, and who was observing her 92nd birthday anniversary. Much to Miss Flint's delight, a birthday party took place in her room, when a cake, made and suitably decorated by Mrs. Rye, was served.

Miss Flint's anniversary was on June 9, she was remembered with gifts and flowers, from her three visitors, and other relatives and friends. Miss Flint enjoys mail from home and the newsy notes she receives.

Richmond Y.W.I. holds meeting

MELBOURNE — The regular monthly meeting; of the Richmond Young Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. R. Pariseau.

The first vice-president, Mrs. E. Stimson opened the meeting.

The amount of $66 was realized through catering to the County W.I. meeting held recently.

A new baby was remembered with a gift.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned and the remainder of the evening was spent socially, with a wiener roast being held.

No wonder Pontiac is so popular again this year...

just look at it!

One glance at Pontiac's out-and-out beauty tells you why it enjoys so much popularity with Canadian car buyers. But looks are only part of the Pontiac story. Pontiac has a lot more than just glamour. Luxurious comfort, for instance, in the rich fabrics and thoughtful appointments of Pontiac's fashion-plate interiors. Swashbuckling performance, backed by outstanding dependability. And pace-setting Pontiac engineering developments. Like the all-new way Pontiac is built this year, with tough perimeter frame construction and curved glass side windows. Like dramatically improved road-holding ability from the new wider track and Full-Coil suspension. Plus a long list of other fine features and options that easily explain Pontiac's appeal to your practical side. As to how Pontiac gets its special place in your heart... just look at it!

A DOMINION DAY MESSAGE

CANADA'S 98th BIRTHDAY....

JULY 1st —1965—

Ninety-eight years after the Confederation Fath ers brought together the scattered provinces and two peoples into one country, the creation of Can ada which began as a supreme act of faith, was approaching fulfilment. In nine decades, Cana da has walked boldly fom the colonial dependence to the full sovereignty and responsibilities of an independent nation. Her strength, as she fac ed the futue, lay in the stability of her parliamen tary government, the diversity and vitality of her people and the richness and beauty of the land that cradled them from sea to sea.

Canada, in the words of her eminent historian Arthur Lower, sought and found a new consciousness, a "national spirit" in the land which gave h er birth: "in the little ports of the Atlantic provinces, in the flaming autumn maples of the St. Law rence valley, in the portages and lakes of the Can adian Shield, in the sunsets and relentless cold of the prairies, in the foothill, mountain and the sea of the west and in the unconquerable vastness of the north."

Bury's the place to go for Dominion Day celebrations

Here comes the Old Woman in the Shoe, part of a past Bury Dominion Day Celebration.

What happened at last year's Dominion Day celebrations in Bury?

There was never a dull moment from morn till night at the celebrations on July 1, 1964.

Sponsored by the Bury Athletic Association the Day's festivities were jam-packed with sports, dances, fireworks, contests and many other activities.

The heart of the festivities were at the Bury Memorial Park, situated in the center of town just off Main Street.

The day's events got underway bright and early at 9 a.m. with a softball game between Sawyerville and Bury.

The highligh. of the Dominion Day festivities was the grand street parade beginning at the CPR station at 12:30 p.m.

Headed by the internationally famous Sokokie Indian Chiefs drum and bugle corps from Gorham, New Hampshire, Mayor and Mrs. Gordon Dougherty and the president of the Bury Athletic Association, Douglas and Mrs. H. Harrison, the parade took a course down the hill, along Main Street, returning to the Memorial Park. Decorated cars, bicycles, horse drawn and comic rigs, clowns and floats made up the colorful parade.

At the Bank of Montreal the parade was joined by the chil dren's parade of decorated wagons, tricycles, bicycles and miniature floats. The parades joined together in the park to line up for judging. Valuable prizes totalling $1,500 were awarded for parade entries and best decorated properties.

At this time guests had their picnic lunches on the shade of trees or went to the town hall where a hot turkey dinner with all the trimmings was served by the Bury Women's Institute. The same institute served a cold plate lunch at supper time.

Beginning at 2 p.m. were the track and field events. Sports events included high and broad jumping and races. Pitching horse shoes was another fea ture that many enjoyed. Prizes for the winners of each of these events were given.

Highlight of the late afternoon entertainment, was a special drill team performance by the Sokokie Indian Chiefs and their all-girl color guard.

At 8 p.m. the amateur contest began with Walter Atkins announcing the various numbers. The gala variety show opened to all and featured many special acts. And as the last number was given and dusk crept over the scene, the brilliant display of fireworks lit up the sky.

And as a grand finale to a wonderful day, an open air dance in the new pavilion in Bury's Memorial Park was held.

BURY, QUEBEC

Today's Bury July 1st celebration similar to 1928's

It's a serious step these two youngsters in the centre are taking. They were part of the 1957 Bury Dominion Day celebrations.
(Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

Bury Dominion Day history

1928: 500 badges; today: 4,000 ordered

BURY — (Special) — The Athletic Association was formed in July, 1927, and its object has always been to promote good clean sports for this locality.

The first officers of this association were: Col. O. L. Pope, president; Arthur J. Hunt, vice-president; H. L. Hamilton, treasurer; G. A. Atkins, secretary.

The first committee appointed consisted of Rev. E. M. Wilson, Dr. F. Shippam, Ferdinand Lizotte, S. J. Prangley, Thomas Morrow, A. R. Savaria, William Cathcart, G. W. Stokes, J. H. Saunders, A. Brouillette and E. A. Stokes.

The July 1st schedule today is much similar to the one in 1928, the year after the association was formed.

The day started with a baseball game, as it does now. The afternoon was filled with sports events. In the evening there was dancing. The first parade was in 1930.

That first year they ordered 500 badges to be used during the day for those entering the Park. This year the order was for 4,000.

People who grew up in this area and attended the celebrations in their youth, choose this day to come from far and near to watch the events and visit with relatives and friends.

The present officers of the association are: Rayfield Ross, president; Raymond MacLeod, vice-president; Gaetan Forget, treasurer; Miss Lilian Palmer, secretary; Miss Maurice Laroche, assistant secretary.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

'OVER-DOUBLE' AIDS OVERBID

The bidding of today's hand is typical of a men's rubber bridge game. South's jump to three no-trump was a definite overbid, but North had extra values to protect his partner.

As for East's double, the less said the better. He could not expect to hurt the three no-trump contract and since it just happened that his double called for a lead of dummy's suit he was really asking for trouble when he made the double.

West opened the seven of spades as requested and the trick was won by South's jack after dummy's nine was covered by East's ten.

South led a heart to dummy's ace at trick two and went into a long huddle before leading to trick three. Finally he decided to go all out for his contract and cashed dummy's ace of spades because he had no expectation of ever getting to dummy and he needed that trick as his ninth.

Then he led the jack of diamonds. East ducked and so did South. Another diamond was led and East's queen was taken by the ace.

Now all South had to do was go after his heart suit. He had to lose tricks to the king and queen, but eventually he was able to make two low card heart tricks.

This gave him a total of nine tricks represented by two spades, three hearts, two diamonds and two clubs.

Q—The bidding has been:

What do you do?

A—Bid four spades. This is by no means a stop bid since your partner has not limited his hand.

The Doctor Says

FORMS OF PANCREATITIS HAVE VARIED SYMPTOMS

Q—What are the symptoms of pancreatitis and what causes it?

A — Since the pancreas has several functions and since there are different kinds of pancreatitis, a definite set of symptoms can't be given. Acute pancreatitis is usually an extension of an infection in the gall bladder or intestines. This would cause severe pain in the upper abdomen associated with vomiting. This serious disease calls for emergency treatment in a hospital.

Chronic pancreatitis may develop in a person who has recovered from acute pancreatitis. It may cause nausea or loss of appetite and some pain or tenderness in the region of the gall bladder. A drinking spree may trigger an attack. Removal of an infected gall bladder will sometimes put an end to the attacks. Recent studies indicate that an anti-enzyme will check the production of trypsin, the digestive enzyme elaborated by the pancreas. This relieves the pain of pancreatitis.

Q—My doctor says I have calcification of the pancreas. What causes this and is there anything that can be done for it?

A — In some persons with chronic pancreatitis partial calcification of the gland occurs. There is no treatment for this except the treatment of the underlying cause.

Q—I have been taking injections of Stilbestrol. Could they have any harmful effects? I am taking diethylstilbestrol pills. Can they cause my hair to fall out?

A—Both drugs are the same. This female hormone is usually given to supplement the decreased function of the ovaries in women undergoing the menopause. The chief side effects due to too large a dosage are vomiting, soreness of the breasts and headache. Whether taken as pills or by injection the drug should not cause loss of hair.

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

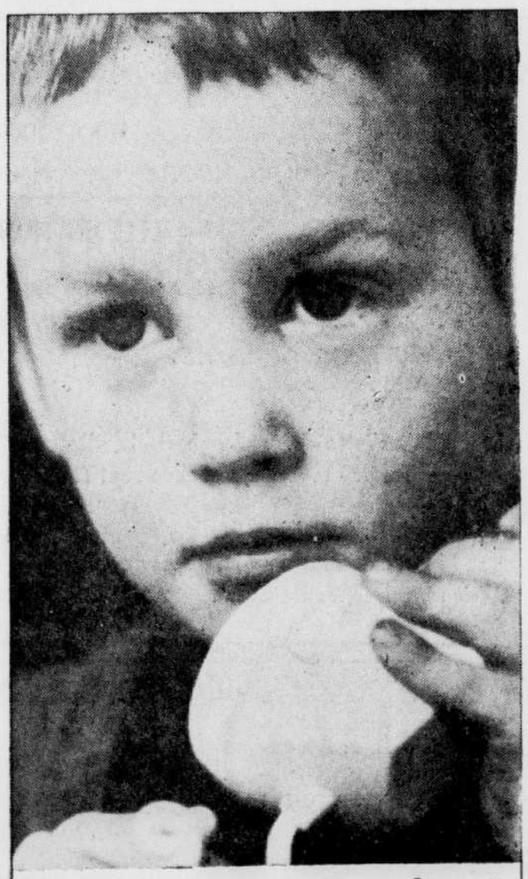

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee.

"I miss you, too, Grandma."

(But there's always Long Distance, the next best thing to being there.)

Saudi Arabia's new state TV well scissored

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) Saudi Arabia, whose immense oil wealth has given it palaces and limousines, private planes and personal zoos, will have television this summer—without violence or sex.

Because of the strict application of Moslem religious edicts and the conservative nature of the people, programs to be shown on the new state-owned TV will look odd to North Americans or Europeans.

That great staple of all westerns, the sheriff, will be scissored out of a program if he wears a six-pointed star, because it looks too much like the Star of David, Israel's national symbol. But five - pointed or eight-pointed stars will be permitted.

Other things that will be banned are kissing, brutality, crime, scanty clothes and dancing. This automatically excludes such characters as female tennis players, swimmers or ice skaters. In fact, programs that have women in lead roles will not be shown at all. Females will be permitted to appear only in minor or secondary parts.

Most programs will be American, Egyptian or European films, with live shows limited to religious discussions, newscasts and speeches.

As yet, exact censorship rules have not been set down, and programs are being selected on their individual merit.

9th birthday is celebrated at Richmond

RICHMOND — Mrs. Ernest Noble, College Street, entertained 11 young folk at a lawn party, June 4 from 5-8 p.m. in honor of her sister Judy Stelwagen, who was celebrating her ninth birthday.

A number of games were arranged by the hostess, which gave much merriment to the guests.

The highlight of the event was the gifts presented to Judy, for which she expressed thanks.

During the afternoon a surprise phone call came from her mother, Mrs. Greta Stelwagen, a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, expressing good wishes.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Charles Noble, Danville, served refreshments. The guests were seated at the tea table, which was centred with the traditional birthday cake, topped with Judy Happy Birthday and lighted candles.

The stork is monkey wrench in school plan

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's nationwide "revolution through education" is being pushed hard by the government, which hopes to eliminate illiteracy by 1970. Even if the goal is not reached, the drive is paying off.

Mexico spends four times as much on education as it does on defence and efforts to educate the masses are massive, although the stork is a major problem.

Illiteracy, running almost 80 per cent of the population at one time, is down to around 32 per cent. But Mexico's population has jumped to around 40,000,000 from 15,000,000 in half a century and is growing at the rate of 1,000,000 a year. So the percentage looks good but the actual numbers don't.

Consequently, Prof. Ramon Bonfil, director of the government's anti-illiteracy campaign, is pushing education in all fields —new schools, more teachers, radio and television programs, a national drive for more students, and even new teaching concepts.

Newspapers, television, radio, private industrial and fraternal groups all are helping. School children ring doorbells looking for illiterates to enroll in a new 10-month course.

Latest figures show Mexico has 37,576 primary city schools with 6,605,751 students and 28,931 primary rural schools with 2,694,191 students. In addition, there are secondary schools, many universities, including the huge National University, with more than 75,000 enrolled, and other centres.

Bible Society meeting is held at Ayer's Cliff

AYER'S CLIFF — The Canadian Bible Society held its annual meeting on June 8 with the largest attendance in recent years present.

The meeting was held in the United Church Hall. Rev. Dale Jones chaired the meeting and officers were elected as follows: James Walker was re-elected president. Mrs. Gordon McHarg was elected secretary and Mr. Lysle Thompson as treasurer.

Following the short business session, Rev. Mr. Jones spoke on the work carried on by the Bible Society. He pointed out the fact the Bible is translated into different languages and that 70,000,000, Bibles had been either sold or given out throughout the world, during the past year.

A film entitled, Freedom In their Souls, was shown and enjoyed by everyone.

A collection was taken for the futherance of the works of the Society, and was gratifying.

AYER'S CLIFF

Mrs. Lloyd Somerville and daughter Susan, Richmond, were recent guests of Mrs. Somerville's aunt, Miss Flora Paul.

The Happy Gang Christmas Club met June 9 at the home of Mrs. Darrell Sloggett. Cards were played at three tables with prizes being won by Mrs. John Beamish Mrs. George Simmons and Mrs. Ed. Astbury Mrs. Sloggett served refreshments assisted by Mrs. John Beamish and Mrs. George Simmons.

Mr. Lester Dezan, a student at Dalhousie University, Halifax, N.S., left for Fort Henry, Ont., where he will spend the summer, after spending a few weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dezan.

Miss Muriel Belisle, Sherbrooke, was a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. John Dezan for a few days.

Quebec - Sherbrooke UCW holds meeting

An executive meeting of the Quebec - Sherbrooke United Church Women was held June 10th at the Trinity United Church in Sherbrooke.

Mrs. R. A. Cameron of Richmond, president, welcomed the 20 representatives from other groups throughout the Eastern Townships area.

Following the reading of the Minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer's report, plans were made for the Fall Rallies in September.

A request to all portfolio secretaries to forward news relevant to their work for the Newsletter was made. Deadlines for material will be Jan. 15, April 15 and Aug. 15.

Mrs. Cameron and her husband will be visiting Schefferville, Gagnon, Seven Islands and Labrador City in September in connection with her duties to visit UCW groups in these locations.

Mrs. T. A. Judson, Lennoxville, recording secretary, reported the meeting.

A.J. Wightman, L.G. Dymond wed in double ring ceremony

DUNHAM — The marriage of Agnes Jacqueline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wightman, of Dunham, and Lyle George Dymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dymond, of Dunham, took place May 29 at the United Church, Dunham. Rev. Margaret Essey officiated at the double ring ceremony. The organist was Miss Helen McElray.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore a floor length dress of white peau de soie and lace, fashioned with a full skirt. The strapless peau de soie was covered with an overdress of lace which featured a round neckline and long sleeves ending in points over her hands. Her veil of nylon net was held in place by a crown. She carried a circular bouquet of pink roses with lily of the valley, and her jewelry was a pearl necklace with matching earrings.

Miss Linda Dymond, sister of the groom, as maid of honor wore a blue dress of taffeta and chiffon with matching veil and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Conrad Hadlock, of Bondville, acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. Armand Gendreau, brother-in-law of bride, and Mr. Bruce Sherrer, cousin of the groom.

Mrs. Wightman, bride's mother, wore a beige dress and matching jacket with white accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Dymond, groom's mother, chose a pink dress with matching jacket, white accessories and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Stanbridge East Memorial Hall where a buffet lunch was served. Music was supplied by Romeo Moreau and his orchestra of Bedford and dancing was enjoyed.

Later the couple left for a trip to Sault au Muton, the bride wearing a pink cotton knit jumper with matching jacket and white blouse. Her white accessories and corsage of white carnations were accompanied by three gold pins, a gift from her late grandmother.

The couple will reside in Cowansville.

Guests attended from Hampton, New Brunswick; Richford, Vt.; Franklin, Vt.; Sutton; Dunham; Bondville; Cowansville; Stanbridge East; Montreal; St. Hyacinthe.

Caring for your hair

Certain precautions are in order if milady's summer coiffure is to avoid ruin by a combination of sun wind and water.

The three months ahead — July, August and September — are hardest on your hair. Vacation time means long hours under the sun's bleaching rays, mops tangled by the wind and robbed of their natural oils by water sports.

Here are tips on summer care and control of your hair from Tracey Lee technical consultant for Alberto-Culver of Canada, Ltd.

To replace those natural oils — for the sake of your hair's health as well as its manageability — apply daily a hair dressing conditioner. For normal hair, the regular fills the bill, but there are special kinds for baby-fine hair, and a "blue" that is just right for black or silver tones.

Cream rinses are helpful, too in subduing summer locks. Use them immediately following a shampoo, and rinse off, to improve the behaviour of your hair.

These are preventive measures. If your hair has already gone beyond this stage, try the hot towel treatment.

After shampooing, apply either the hair dressing conditioner or a creme rinse — whichever you find most beneficial — then keep your head covered with hot towels for about ten minutes. Shampoo, rinse, and towel dry your hair, and with a quality setting lotion, you're back in control.

During the peak summer months, you may find it necessary to switch to a shampoo for dry hair, in place of your regular kind.

Short hair cuts are fashionable this year, and best for summer as they are cooler and easier to handle. Unless your hair is naturally curly, you will almost certainly need a permanent to keep it springy. But get a soft wave — not a tight permanent, which may go frizzy with the first on-shore breeze.

A matching postiche or hairpiece adds glamor for dancing under the stars — and that's the place to display your precious chignon. Don't wear it for daytime fun in the sun — a hairpiece or wig doesn't have the recuperative powers of your own growing, breathing hair.

Do not use setting lotion on your hairpiece, and if you must spray it, use a clear, nonlacquer spray that includes lustre-lending ingredients.

Kinkead – Quinn wedding

The marriage of Sandra Ann Quinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Quinn, to Mr. Gordon Dickson Kinkead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kinkead, took place Saturday, June 12, at 11 a.m., in St. Peter's Church, Rev. J. D. R. Franklin officiating. Mr. Maurice Austin played the wedding music. Standards of chrysanthemums were used to decorate the church and white satin bows centered with lily-of-the-valley marked the pews.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a floor length gown of white nylon over silk, a train of the same material falling from the shoulders, the bodice featured three quarter length sleeves. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white miniature carnations.

Mrs. Dorothy Croteau, as matron of honor, wore a street length blue nylon over silk dress fashioned with a bolero and three quarter length sleeves, a white hat and white accessories. She carried a cascade of Shasta daisies.

Miss Nina Quinn, cousin of the bride, and Miss Norma Pariseau, bridesmaids, wore dresses identical with that of the matron of honor.

Mr. Claude Croteau acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. Garry Qunn, brother of the bride, and Mr. Jim Bradley.

Mrs. Quinn, mother of the bride, was in a beige silk floral print dress with matching hat. Her corsage was of yellow Sweetheart roses.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Kinkead, chose a pink brocade dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white miniature carnations.

Following a reception at the Reform Club, the couple left for Cape Cod, the bride travelling in a three piece pink linen suit and hat of matching material, white accessories and a corsage of miniature carnations.

Guests were from Detroit, Mich.; North Andover, Mass.; Windsor, Ont., Kingston and St. Catharines Ont.; Dorval, Terrebonne, Montreal, Thetford Mines, Bury, East Angus, St. Farncois Xaviar, and Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinkead will reside in Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal.

High school is no preview

A lot of parents worrying about and pushing their high school-age sons and daughters ought to sleep easier tonight. At least, I hope they will when they hear what a University of Chicago professor has to say about success in high school and its relation to success in later life.

The professor says that a recent study of a group of students shows that there is little or no relation between good grades and later financial success. (So don't be so sure that just because Junior is having trouble with math or chemistry, he is going to have a hard time earning a living when he goes out into the world.)

The study also came up with the finding that there is little or no connection between good grades and the ability to accept family and home responsibilities. (So just because Sis isn't making top grades in high school, don't assume that she won't make a good wife, a responsible mother and a worthwhile member of her community.)

And this last finding is best of all for your peace of mind because now you can really relax and stop pushing your child to be popular and to make sure that he has a full social calendar. The study shows that there is no relationship at all between social activities in school and anything at all in adult life.

So if your teen-ager isn't right in the middle of everything that is going on at his school don't stay awake nights worrying about what you can do to help him, and don't make his life miserable by playing social adviser. Just figure that whether or not he is a social success in high school isn't going to make one bit of difference in the long run.

Today's parents are so absorbed in the lives of their children and so anxious for their success that often the main topic of conversation between parents of teen-agers is how Sis or Junior is getting along in high school. Now overly concerned parents can relax. High school is just high school. It isn't a preview of how a boy or girl is going to get along in life.

Esperanto covers all

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Jacob Biely found five years ago that 10 languages were not enough—so she learned one that covered them all.

And today she is perhaps Vancouver's foremost exponent of the "one" language: Esperanto.

Mrs. Biely says her eyes were opened by a four-month trip to Europe in 1960.

Even though she spoke 10 languages, many more than most travellers, she couldn't communicate with the people of all the lands she visited.

On her return she settled down to learn Esperanto, the universal language invented 77 years ago by Dr. L. L. Zamenoff.

Mrs. Biely says Esperanto is neutral, phonetic and logical. It contains about 900 words, to which can be added prefixes and suffixes to supplement meaning.

Esperanto is promoted by groups in some 80 countries

Children sunburn easy

More children are admitted to hospital with cases of severe sunburn during the first week of school holidays than at any other time during the summer, say officials at Toronto's Hospital dor Sick Children.

Their records show that last year, seven children were taken to hospital with sunburns worse than first-degree burns over extensive areas of their bodies.

Unfortunately, either adults or children can burn again and again, especially if they are only in the sun occasionally—on weekends, for instance.

This is because the top layer of your skin is constantly changing, being replaced from layers beneath. You are, in a sense, constantly growing a new skin. It has four layers—the outer, protective layer, the one directly beneath it where a final change in cells takes place, the third one down which is made up of living cells, and the deepest, the basal layer where cells, including pigment or color cells, are formed.

When the sun's rays touch your skin, some are reflected, but some penetrate. The harmful effects are localized largely in the third layer. Some of the rays reach the basal layer, where they stimulate the formation of tan pigment in granules which work their way slowly to the top to show as tan after three or four days, says Dr. Archibald Black of Coppertone Research laboratories, Memphis, Tenn.

Unless the exposure to the sun is continued, the tan pigment will be lost in the normal process of skin growth or by being reduced to a colorless form. The colorless form can be converted into pigment again by exposure to sunlight, Dr. Black says.

Freckles are due to an uneven distribution of tan pigment skin granules.

Tan pigmentation is one natural protective mechanism against the harmful effects of the sun. Another is the gradual thickening of the skin's outer layer, which becomes less transparent to the sun.

People with dark complexions generally tan better than fair people, Dr. Black says, because they are able to produce more pigment, and because they apparently have a thicker outer skin layer to start with.

Most people can develop a resistance to the sun by going about it carefully. A few minutes exposure to the sun on the first day out, gradually and cautiously increased, should safely tan you unless you are one of the unfortunates who cannot tan. If your exposure program is interrupted for any appreciable length of time, Dr. Black says, start again.

You don't have to bring children indoors. Clothing will usually filter burning rays, although light clothing will let some of them through. Suntan oils and creams will also help, if you apply them carefully and thoroughly to exposed areas, says Dr. Black.

'Whizz-kid Monks' in Birmingham

Religious revival in bad city?

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — A young Church of England order, nicknamed the "Whizz - kid Monks," is trying to revive religion in bad old Birmingham.

This industrial city of 1,250,000, England's second largest, is in the busy, smoky Midlands. It has little history beyond its 150 years of making money. Its critics say Birmingham people are grossly materialistic.

As far as religion is concerned, the city is almost dead. It has the lowest communicant rate in the country. An Anglican parish which might nominally count 20,000 souls is lucky to get 20 worshippers on Sunday. They tell of one church where the vicar and one staunch supporter were alone for communion on Easter Sunday.

The monks of the Community of the Glorious Ascension, founded in 1961, are self-styled rebels who believe that Birmingham people don't want to know about conventional religion with its stained - glass saints.

So it's a rule of the order that every monk must have an outside job to carry him daily into the world. And, when the day's work is done, he must go out to the places where young people meet—the youth clubs, the coffee bars, even the street corners.

FEW WEAR ROBES

Some, who are teaching, wear the grey robe of the order at work. Most do not, because it would make them too conspicuous among the workers at a factory bench or the salesmen in a store.

Father Peter Ball, 33, who founded the order and heads it, explains his new strategy at his priory in the suburb of Alum Rock:

"We are trying to make the world our monastery—learning to live our vows in the world without being too tied down by rules. But we live a highly disciplined Christian life. You might say we are trying to be the commando troops of the army of God. If we ever lose that intensity, we might as well pack up."

The money each monk earns is pooled and used to meet living expenses of the community. If one wants to buy anything for his own use—a book or a tool of his particular trade—the brothers must approve the expense.

Several ride motorcycles to and from work. They don crash-helmets and black leather-jackets over their rope-girt robes. This kind of thing has led to them being dubbed "the Whizz-kid Monks."

GET UP EARLY

A clanging bell rouses the brothers each morning at 5:30 for an hour and a half in chapel —matins, mass and meditation. After breakfast they do household chores and by 8 a.m. the priory is empty, except for one monk who works a factory night shift.

Brother Trevor, a former footballer, dashes off to Winson Green prison where he works full-time as assistant lay chaplain.

Brother Maurice, who once led a teen-age gang in the iron and steel town of Warrington, now leads another kind of gang as employee of the Birmingham parks and gardens committee, in charge of a children's playground.

Brother Robert works in a smart men's tailoring store. Brother Aidan is teacher in a school, Brother Jonathan a cook. A dozen others are out and about in the city in a multiplicity of jobs.

When the day's work is done the monks come home to the priory chapel for evensong and compline. Then some strum guitars or play pop records for a youth club set up in a former air raid shelter. Others go back in the city—Brother Trevor to meet some former prisoner now on after-care or carry aid to a prisoner's wife.

OBITUARIES

HAROLD H. WING FOSTER

FOSTER — The death of Harold Herbert Wing occurred in the Brome Missisquoi Perkins Hospital, Sweetsburg, on Saturday, May 15, following a lingering illness and just seventeen days after the death of his wife.

The deceased, the second son of the late Edward Wing and his wife, Lydia Mitchell, was born on August 27, 1890. He married Miss Alice Manningham, of Montreal, who died in 1950 and the following year he married Wilhemina Alexander, of Scotland, who predeceased him on April 28 after only a few hours illness following a heart attack.

Mr. Wing is survived by a sister, Mrs. Thurston Strange, Anna, and two brothers, Archie, of Toronto, and Royce of this place. An older brother, William, died several years ago. There are several other relatives.

Mr. Wing retired from the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1955 and came to live at his home on Brome Lake.

The funeral service was held on Monday afternoon, May 17, in St. James Anglican Church, Rev. T. J. W. Ligget officiating. The choir, with Mrs. Ligget at the organ, rendered the hymns I know that My Redeemer Lives and The Lord Is My Shepherd.

Bearers were John Kendrick, of Knowlton, Percy Davidson, Alvin William George Mizener, Gaston Lapalme and Baxter Williams.

Burial was in the Wheeler Cemetery, Knowlton.

Those attending the funeral were from Montreal, Farnham, Lachine, Waterloo, Knowlton Cowansville Sweetsburg and Foster.

Gracious living at pre-war prices enjoyed in oldest British holding

By CAROL KENNEDY

ST. HELIER, Jersey (CP)—Utopia for the tax-burdened Briton is a cluster of green islands 100 miles south of the Dorset coast where income tax is less than half the British rate and gracious living comes at pre-war prices.

Snug in the sheltered bay that divides Normandy from Brittany, the Channel Islands are the oldest of the British dominions, still proudly French in many ways. Once part of ancient Normandy, they have enjoyed special privileges because of their remote position ever since William of Normandy became master of England in 1066.

In 1205, when King John was forced to hand back his Norman lands to France, the islands unpredictably chose to remain with England. In gratitude John drew up a charter of independence which every British sovereign since has endorsed.

Ruled by a bailiff—combination prime minister and chief justice—the two largest islands, Jersey and Guernsey, make their own laws and levy their own taxes. Only some bills of the British Parliament apply to the Channel Islands—not the national health service, for instance.

SARK SHUNS TAXES

Alderney, a wild remote place of sand dunes and heather eight miles from Cherbourg, is partly self-governing but falls within the "bailiwick" of Guernsey as do the tiny privately-owned islands Herm and Jethou. Sark, last feudal state in the Commonwealth, also technically belongs to Guernsey but in practice goes its own sweet way under formidable 80-year-old Mrs. Sibyl Hathaway, "La Dame de Serk," and a largely hereditary parliament.

A rural Arcadia beloved by British honeymooners, Sark has no truck with such new fangled inventions as automobiles and income tax, both unknown on the island.

Jersey—largest, prettiest and most southerly of the group—might have been designed as a rich man's paradise, with its low-price luxury living, no death duties and balmy Gulf Stream climate. Nobody knows how many millionaires have gne to roost around its curving, 45-mile coastline fringed with dazzling beaches, semi-tropical gardens and gay villas. Probably few places outside the shores of Lake Geneva could boast so much money per square yard.

The island's buoyant economy, based on tourism, agriculture and the riches of retired tycoons, is continually fed by capital from international finance houses and British companies setting up Jersey establishments to take advantage of the low tax rate, unchanged since the Second World War.

RULES ARE STRICT

As the law stands now, there is nothing to prevent sale of British assets to a Channel Island company, thus escaping Britain's new capital gains tax. Setting up a Jersey company is a fairly complex business, with strict domicile rules which also apply to Britons buying property, but financial writers have predicted a big rush on the island once socialist Chancellor James Callaghan's tough April budget shows its claws.

Jersey's own April budget boasted a surplus of £1,549,412 and one penny, and triumphantly reaffirmed the principles of a fiscal policy that in the words of Chancellor Cyril Le Marquand, would "never soak the rich."

"Luxuries are cheap, necessities expensive," islanders say. With no British purchase tax, shop windows are crammed with luxury goods to tempt the tourist—in vain because of strict customs regulations. Everything from cameras to cars, makeup to mink cats is dramatically cheaper than in Britain, but groceries might average £1 a week more for a family.

WHISKY IS CHEAP

Duty on imported spirits is so much less than Britain's top-heavy tax that scotch whisky sells for the equivalent of $3.15 a bottle—$2.40 in Guernsey—compared with $7.25 in London or Leeds. Gasoline is less than half the British price, though disgruntled young Jersey people have been known to say "They should give it away—there's nowhere to go." You can drive anywhere in the island's 40 square miles in 20 minutes.

Jersey officials tend to be reticent about the tax haven charms of their island—just in case Britain decided to clamp some kind of control. In practice, the amounts involved are small enough not to bother the British treasury, but there are a few loopholes for ingenious businessmen bent on evading Callaghan's widening grasp.

If you are a self-employed "consultant," such as an accountant with British clients, you can base yourself in the Channel Islands and speed anything up to six months' earnings in Britain without having to pay British tax. The normal free limit is 90 days.

Occasionally a rumor that the income tax rate is about to be raised sends a shudder through Jersey's opulent coastal villas and ancient granite manorhouses. But treasury officials are confident the four-shilling-a-pound rate, keystone of the economy, is unlikely to rise.

Show Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Broderick Crawford was having a drink and reflecting on a departed comrade.

He had been in Spain making a movie when the news came. He and Janet Leigh and Don Murray and other members of the film company had met in the lounge of their hotel before what was to be a festive evening. An American tourist approached their table and blurted out the news: Judy Holliday had died of cancer in New York.

"Excuse me a moment," said Crawford, and he left the table. When he was alone, he let the tears flow. He returned to the party but gaiety was impossible now, and the group broke up early.

Returned to Hollywood, Crawford was still stunned.

"Judy dead; it doesn't seem possible, he said. "I had no idea that she had cancer."

He began to reminisce. Brod had met Judy when he was assigned by Columbia Pictures to play Harry Brock to her Billie Dawn in the movie Born Yesterday. She had the advantage of having played her role for three years in Garson Kanin's stage play. But Broad and Bill Holden rehearsed with her for two weeks, then did the script as a play before live audiences on a studio stage. They quickly became a smooth working team.

PLAN TRAIN TRIP

As the Washington, D.C., location approached, Crawford was summoned by Columbia boss Harry Cohn. Brod continued the story:

"Cohn asked me, 'You fly?' I said, 'Sure, I fly.' He said, 'Judy doesn't fly. She wants to take the train to Washington.' I could see what was coming: Cohn wanted me to go with Judy and her mother on the train. I said I'd do it.

"There was a problem of what to do during the train trip. I asked her, 'You play gin rummy for real, as well as on the stage?' (Billie's gin game with Brock was the funniest scene in the play.)

"She said, 'Yeah, I play gin. Wanna play?' I said sure, because I considered myself a good player. You know what happened? We played gin the whole time on the Super Chief to Chicago and then on the Twentieth Century to New York and to Washington.

"By the end of the trip, I owed her $468!"

WINS OSCAR

They finished the picture and it was an immense success, winning an Oscar for Judy and a nomination for Brod. As the previous year's Oscar winner for All The King's Men, he handed her the big prize at the Academy of Motion Pictures ceremonies.

Their professional paths diverged, but Brod and Judy remained friends. Two years ago he was going through New York on his way to a film in Europe and he called her.

Father and son both working hard at municipal politics in B.C.

By LESLIE MILLIN

VICTORIA (CP)—Some men follow in their fathers' footsteps. The degree of success determines whether they will be known for their own achievements or simply as the son of a successful man.

In Greater Victoria, citizens have a problem in conversational usage: Is Austin Curtis Hugh's father or is Hugh Curtis Austin's son?

At 65, Austin Curtis is a Victoria alderman and something of an elder statesman, with 25 years of municipal service behind him.

At 32, Hugh Curtis is reeve of the neighboring municipality of Saanich—larger than Victoria in area and population, but not as rich.

Austin Curtis rose in municipal politics by a long road that is traditional in the Victoria area—work in service clubs, a seat on the school board, then school board chairman, then alderman.

Hugh ran for Saanich council at 29, led the polls, and repeated the trick when he came up for his second council term two years later.

Last fall, he ran for reeve in a byelection and thought he'd lost.

His opponent was ahead in the poll-by-poll preliminary returns chalked up on a board in the municipal hall. Most of the spectators went home.

Then a polling error was rectified and Hugh went ahead by a few votes. He held the lead through two recounts.

SET EXAMPLE

Hugh's success has been a source of pride to his father—"but he never influenced my decision to go into municipal work," says Hugh.

"He's not the kind of guy who brings his problems home, and we never talked about politics around the dinner table or anything like that.

"But he gave me an example of hard-working dedication to municipal affairs.

"Now, he says less, perhaps, on civic politics than if I weren't in it myself."

Austin Curtis retired last year as district manager for the Canadian National Railways and devotes even more of his time to municipl work.

Without referring specifically to his son, he says the basic requirements for a candidate ares imple.

"Essentially, it is the interest and willingness. If they have these, the rest will come."

His home life, he says, is quiet, and his wife has long since learned to accept the absences of her family because of public life.

"There have been more meetings than she bargained for," says Austin, "but she's been very nice about it."

Hugh, a radio station executive, says there were times when he was younger that he wished his father had avoided municipal politics.

"Any youngster who gets through school with his father on the school board knows the situation is fraught with danger," where "I used to be kidded about being Austin's son. Now he kids me about being Hugh's father."

But Hugh has a story that makes you wonder.

"A lady said to me not long ago, 'Isn't it wonderful, Mr. Curtis. You are in Saanich politics, and your older brother is in the city.'"

Student grapevine is a reminder not to forget the 'forgotten Man'

VICTORIA (CP) — Dr. Malcolm Taylor of the University of Victoria is grateful for the student grapevine.

It helps him out in one of his areas of principal, concern—remembering the student.

Professors at the University of Victoria were recently given a reminder of the new president's concern when copies of a magazine article were distributed to faculty.

Its theme was the disappearance of good teaching at universities and the consequent hardship on the student, the "forgotten man" in today's enormous institutions with their publish - or - perish treatment of professors.

Dr. Taylor became the University of Victoria's first president less than a year ago.

"I was surprised, considering how long this had been a two-year institution, at the high quality of teaching I found when I came here," he says.

"This teaching will not be allowed to slip. I am very concerned about the problem of making sure students get proper instruction.

"At present we have a good faculty-student ratio, and small classes, and teaching is not being delegated by professors."

LEARNS FROM STUDENTS

Dr. Taylor says he gets a good idea of a professor's lecturing ability from his 2,552 students.

This process, he says, will continue.

When the unexpected happens, as it sometimes does, it's important to know what steps to take. That's why the competent advice of your Manufacturers Life representative is so valuable. Here are some of the practical points he'll cover.

1. Unless you originally named an alternative or contingent beneficiary, the money from your policy would be payable to your estate. This may tie up the money and subject it to creditors claims and unnecessary estate costs. In the end, it might not even go to the person you would have chosen unless your will is up to date.

2. If young children were also originally named as beneficiaries, and they are still under age, another problem arises. Unless you make special provision, the policy proceeds at your death would have to be paid into court and held until they reach their majority.

But don't wait until something like this happens. Call your Manufacturers Life representative to-day. He will review your beneficiary arrangements—and suggest changes if they are necessary. He is experienced in matters of this kind, and he offers you the kind of counsel you can rely on.

Bomber group's wartime home has uncertain fate on Lord's death

LONDON (CP)—Death of the 25th Baron Mowbray has left uncertain the future of Allerton Park, seat of one of England's old families and wartime headquarters of the RCAF's No. 6 Bomber Group.

Mowbray, premier baron of England who died May 7 at 69 years of age, had announced plans to convert Allerton Park to luxury apartments but his successor says the plans are in abeyance for the present at least.

Charles Edward Stourton, the new Lord Mowbray, son of the 25th baron, says death duties and other matters now are pending and no decision has yet been made regarding the 70-room Yorkshire family seat. He declined to estimate the value of the 111-year-old Victorian Gothic structure built on 3,800 acres of land for the 19th Lord Stourton, his great-great-grandfather.

Mowbray, 42-year-old chairman of a financial consultant firm, told a reporter he has pleasant memories of the many Canadian fliers he met at Allerton Park during the latter part of the Second World War.

"I lost my right eye in the Normandy fighting and came back to Allerton Park to recuperate," he recalled. "I knew them all very well—especially Black Mike McEwen," now Air Vice-Marshal C. M. McEwen.

"For some reason the Canadians called it Allerton Hall, although the proper name is Park," the new peer added.

ESTATE DIVIDED

He said that about three years ago he and his father made a property arrangement under which the older man retained Allerton Park and the younger came into possession of family estates in Leeds, Yorkshire, and in Wiltshire as well as stocks and shares.

The late baron, in his will, gave Allerton Park to his 12-year-old grandson, Edward, son of the new peer, in a family trust.

Mowbray said reports that his family was once among the wealthiest in Britain were based on misunderstanding. He is the 26th Baron Mowbray and 27th Baron Segrave, titles both created in 1283, and 23rd Baron Stourton (1448).

Stourton is his family name, the peer stressed, and the Mowbray title, associated with great wealth, was inherited only in the female line.

The late Lord Mowbray featured in a controversy earlier this year.

A leading Roman Catholic peer, he took a keen interest in the reburial of the remains of Anne Mowbray, the 15th century child bride of the Duke of York.

The remains had been found in a building site in London's East-End borough of Stepney last December. In a letter to The Daily Telegraph, Mowbray described himself as a "member of the family." He opposed plans for reburial of the remains in the Protestant Westminster Abbey.

CROWD SAW GADGETS

A popular spot to visit in 19th century Washington was the display of models at the Patent Office. Until 1880, all patent applications had to be accompanied by a model.

ST. ARMAND —

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morgan, Lorrance, Calif., former residents of St. Armand, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hastings recently. Other callers at the same home were Mrs. J. R. Chappell, Swanton, Vt.; Mrs. Lawrence Barrett; Ashboro, N.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burley, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. W. Crawford, Brigham; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Spencer, Cowansville; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hastings, Montreal and Mr. and Mrs. J. Colombe, Bedford.

Tourist menu becomes law

MADRID (Reuters) — Spanish restaurants which have no tourist menu are going to find themselves in trouble with the law.

The tourist menu, which will offer pre-selected items at minimum prices, has been ordered by the ministry of information and tourism.

The ministry attempetd a similar plan on a smaller scale last year, but there was little enforcement. This year it plans to be strict.

A typical tourist menu will have a fixed price for three courses which will vary from 50 to 250 pesetas (about $.84 to $4.37) depending on the category of the establishment, with taxes and service charges included.

The restaurants must serve bread and wine at no extra cost. And each establishment must have an official complaint book for customers.

Undersea suburbs Australian's idea for the future

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—An Australian university student of architecture has predicted that undersea suburbs will become the design for living for the future.

Steven Winter explained that when all suitable land for building is used up the continental shelf will offer many thousands of acres for underwater building.

Among his entries for the "dwelling of the future" design exhibition here are plans for homes on the continental shelf. They include one which is fully submerged and a second which is partly submerged and anchored to the seabed by cables.

Breakwaters, he said, would ensure calm seas for the aquatic homes and the only service needed from the shore would be a natural gas supply to provide fuel for energy converters to produce electricity, provide automatic space heating and cooling, and work a small purifying plant to produce fresh water from the sea.
