Ex-Logexpo men alleged bribe takers

MONTREAL (CP) — Two former officials of Logexpo, the housing referral service of the world's fair, appeared in court here Wednesday on charges of conspiracy, accepting bribes and abuse of confidence.

They are Raymond Prefontaine, a former manager in the Logexpo office responsible for reservations in private homes and apartments, and Henri Poudret, another official of the same office.

Both men, who were arrested late Tuesday by provincial police, had been fired by Expo earlier this year.

Andre Mercier, head of Logexpo, said Wednesday that Prefontaine was fired in the spring of this year and Poudret in July. They had been employed from January, 1966.

Poudret was charged with having on one occasion demanded or accepted monetary advantages in return for giving collaboration, aid or exercising his influence to conclude business while an employee of a government corporation. He was released on a $500 cash bond.

Delayed by blindness, takes university post

Last night, the man who for 27 years has been known as Mr. CNIB in the Eastern Townships, officially retired from his post as field secretary in the Sherbrooke area for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Next month, he begins a new career as full-time lecturer in English at the University of Sherbrooke, one of the few blind persons in the academic teaching community.

For Neil Tracy, 62 today, it will be the realization of a lifelong ambition.

Before he was blind, Neil obtained his BA and MA at Bishop's University in preparation for a teaching career. The loss of his sight in his mid-twenties forced a change in plans, for in those days, it would not have been possible for him to carry on as a teacher.

Today, with the aids available to the blind and with the skills Neil has acquired in utilizing them, a university teaching career is possible for a blind person with Neil's background and talents.

Last night, he was honored at a banquet in the New Wellington Hotel given by the CNIB.

He was presented with a scroll by L. A. McLintock, superintendent of the Quebec Division of the CNIB which noted Neil's dedicated service to the cause of the blind in this area. Neil's successor is Maurice Campeau, who with his wife, is now living in Sherbrooke.

Tributes were paid to Neil by Jim Wark, chairman of the local CNIB advisory board and Doug Armitage of the Sherbrooke Lions' Club of which Neil is a past president and charter member.

Neil himself said that the CNIB was "an organization that got a hold of me and made something out of me." He said if it hadn't been for the CNIB, he wouldn't be in a position to assume the teaching career he has always wanted.

Extradition process Sept. 7

Bail-jumping Banks in jail until hearing

NEW YORK (CP) — Hal C. Banks, bail-jumping former Canadian seaman's boss, will be held in custody until it is decided whether the province of Ontario can extradite him on charges of perjury.

Banks, 58, was arrested Tuesday and for a while Wednesday it appeared he would be freed on $25,000 bail pending extradition hearings scheduled to start Sept. 7.

U.S. Commissioner S. T. Abruzzo set the bail for the former head of the Canadian Seafarers International Union then reversed himself in an extraordinary second hearing of Banks' arraignment in Brooklyn federal court.

Abruzzo made his reversal after a private session with lawyers for Banks and Ontario, a study of legal precedent and after hearing Banks' past record.

Banks is charged with perjuring himself in testimony before a 1963 royal commission into waterfront violence on the Great Lakes.

If Ontario is successful in extraditing him, he faces a maximum sentence of 14 years if found guilty at a trial in Ottawa.

OST $25,000 BAIL

Banks already is under sentence of five years for conspiracy in the savage beating of a rival union official in 1957. He had appealed his conviction in Montreal in 1964 but skipped to the U.S. before the appeal could be heard. His $25,000 bail was later seized.

This is because the Canada-U.S. extradition agreement allows for extradition for perjury but not for conspiracy. If Banks chooses to remain in Canada or return to Canada after moving back to the U.S., he can be arrested again.

Abruzzo's remarkable turnaround continued an unusual tone of the newest Banks affair which started Tuesday with the disclosure in Ottawa of secret court hearings the day before to start extradition proceedings in motion. These hearings came after weeks of secret preparation.

Banks was arrested shortly after leaving his SIU office in Brooklyn.

Province's x-ray situation 'grim' but city trouble-free

MONTREAL (CP) — Regular x-ray service is almost nonexistent, emergency radiology service is faltering and the whole problem is getting worse, says Dr. Hubert Gregoire, secretary of the association of Radiologists of the Province of Quebec.

"The situation is grim," he said in an interview Wednesday.

In Sherbrooke, spokesmen for St. Vincent de Paul and Hotel Dieu Hospitals report that they are having no trouble with the radiologists and that the emergency systems set up are functioning "very well". Both of the hospitals have limited general admissions to emergency cases only for about a week.

Authorities at Sherbrooke Hospital were unavailable for comment this morning.

Silent Dief is news anyway

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Most of the candidates for the Progressive Conservative leadership gained ink by earned campaigning Wednesday, but John Diefenbaker made news without even trying and Ottawa's Charlotte Whitton outshined the race with her views.

Mr. Diefenbaker was reported to have ordered 1,500 campaign photos and posters to be printed secretly, but his office denied the report that suggested he would try to retain the leadership.

Miss Whitton, fiery former mayor of Ottawa, said she would get in on the leadership campaign if people wanted her there.

"Some are talking this way and if they want to get busy and work and nominate me, I've got my credentials and I'll be there."

Meantime, four of the nine declared candidates were actively campaigning.

Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia told a Kitchener, Ont., audience the federal government must work out a relationship between French and English-speaking Canada; Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba issued a call in Halifax for an end to discussion and disunity in the party; former trade minister George Hees, at meetings in North Bay and Chatham, Ont., dealt with foreign business and tariffs, and former labor minister Michael Starr gave his views in St. Catharines, Ont., on how voting at the Sept. 5-9 leadership convention in Toronto should be conducted.

THEY'RE PALS NOW

Premier Mohamed Ahmed Mahgoub of the Sudan, who served as mediator, said the dispute had been settled "in the interests of purifying the Arab atmosphere of political division." Wednesday Nasser had turned his back on Faisal at the conference's opening session, but the two were smiling and shaking hands when their agreement was announced today.

Arabs consider getting out of Yemen; easier Israeli line

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Egyptian and Saudi Arabia agreed Wednesday night on a formula to get themselves out of Yemen's civil war amid the promising withdrawal of his forces in Yemen and taking what conference sources said was a less belligerent stance toward Israel in a speech at a closed session.

In return for the Egyptian troop withdrawal, Saudi military assistance is to be halted in the five-year-long Yemen civil war that has pitted Egypt, the mainstay of the republican government, against royalist rebels supported by Saudi King Faisal.

Nasser and Faisal approved a plan calling for the formation of a three-power committee to supervise the phasing out of hostilities. Sudan, Iraq and Morocco were named to the committee and planned to begin work immediately after the windup of the summit meeting Friday.

No date was set for the beginning of the withdrawal of Egyptian troops, who numbered about 40,000 in Yemen until a large contingent was moved out following the Middle East war in June.

It has been colder

Cold Arctic winds assailed the southern Quebec and Eastern Townships area last night. The temperature dropped steadily all night from 52 degrees at 2 a.m. to 48 this morning at 9.

However this is not as cold as it was last Thursday when the mercury dropped down to a minimum of 39, according to reports at the Lennoxville Experimental Farm.

And in 1918, 1922 and 1934, it was much colder in Sherbrooke. Experimental Farm figures show a low of 30 in those years during the end of August.

The government of Canada Air Radio at East Angus announced that it will be cloudy today with some showers and should clear by afternoon or evening. Winds are expected to reach a velocity of 15 miles an hour, north west during the afternoon.

However, there is some relief in sight. Friday is expected to be mainly sunny but with some afternoon cloudiness and not quite so cold.

The high today will be 60 degrees dropping to a minimum of 40, a sharp drop from yesterday's noon's 76 degrees.

Anglicans urge US halt bombs

OTTAWA (CP) — Delegates to the general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada Wednesday urged the United States to end its bombing of North Vietnam.

At the same time they rejected a motion calling on Canada to end by stages its sale of war material to the U.S.

The synod also approved a resolution that in effect condemns the rebel Rhodesian government of Premier Ian Smith.

The "no bombing recommendation" was contained in a statement from the World Council of Churches incorporated by the synod in one of its Vietnam resolutions.

Another called on Canada to supply medical supplies for Vietnam civilians of both sides injured in the Southeast Asia conflict.

The resolution on Rhodesia sparked a lively debate and seemed in danger until defeat by the upper house—the bishops—of a motion to table which would have meant no decision at this synod.

Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, Archbishop of Rupert's Land and primate, said the desire for independence is "felt passionately in Africa" and that this should be recognized even though it might mean difficulties for white settlers.

Vietnam terror

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas dotted South Vietnam with pre-election assault and terror attacks today, shelling a fourth provincial capital in as many days and kidnapping 39 draft-age men in another village. Officials warned that worse violence was expected. American off duty were warned to stay in their billets.

Big fire fight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Every man and machine the U.S. forest service can find has been thrown at the walls of flame in the Pacific Northwest forests. Already there have been more than 2,000 fires this summer, compared with 995 in a similar period last year. Sweating men still hack out fire lines, but fire fighters have called in bombers to help the foresters gain control.

Islands' day

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Eric Williams heads the Trinidad and Tobago delegation today as Expo 67 marks the national day of the two Caribbean islands at the Montreal world's fair.

The prime minister arrived in Montreal from Ottawa Wednesday night and shortly afterwards attended a reception and dinner given in his honor by Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal.

UK seeks talks

LONDON (AP) — Britain, hoping to keep its listening post in Peking and its hold on Hong Kong, sought today to avoid a total break with China by offering to discuss normalization of relations following violent incidents in Peking and London. There was no detectable sign, however, that the British expected the Chinese to agree to a message suggesting talks.

Union sights set

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union will pick one of the Big Three auto-makers as a target company for a new labor contract or a strike. The union's 26-member executive board meets today to decide which firm will be the focal point for a settlement designed to become a pattern for all 650,000 UAW workers at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Are charged

CAMIRI, Bolivia (AP) — Jules Regis Debray, 26-year-old philosopher-journalist and son of a prominent Paris family, goes on trial next week, charged as a Marxist behind the growing Castro-type guerrilla movement in the mountains of Bolivia.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Tora! Tora! Tora!" shouted exultant Japanese pilots as they flew away from the flaming wreckage of Pearl Harbor.

They were using a code word meaning tiger to signal their superiors that the Dec. 7, 1941, mission had been successful. Now Tora, Tora, Tora! will be the title of a unique film co-production involving the two countries that became mortal enemies on that historic day.

Filming is scheduled to begin next January on the Japanese portion of the Pearl Harbor attack Japan's foremost director, Akira Kurosawa—Rashomon, Seven Samurai—will make that part with his own film company.

Next summer, 20th Century-Fox will film the American side of the encounter in Hawaii. Directing will be Richard Fleischer, an expert in the big, complicated production—20,000 Leagues Under the Sea, Fantastic Voyage, Dr. Dollittle.

Fleischer recently returned from a meeting with Kurosawa in Hawaii.

BIDDING GIVES DANGER SIGNAL
One of the hardest things for a bridge player to learn is that when both opponents bid and his partner is quiet, he had best keep quiet unless he has a lot of distributional factors. South had a nice comfortable opening bid. His 15 high-card points included three aces and he had two nice four-card suits. He opened one diamond and waited happily for the bidding to develop. It developed in a way that should have warned him to stay out of the bidding from then on. West overcalled with one heart and all North could do was to pass. East managed to try one no-trump. South should have seen that the hand did not belong to him and given up any idea of competing but he wasn't going to do anything like that. He had a sound opening bid with one or two jacks above the minimum and he had a second four-card suit to show. He bid two clubs. Lightning didn't strike immediately — North had too much club support — but when it did hit it burned the barn down. West made a slightly optimistic bid of three hearts and North went to four clubs. For all North knew his side might have a cinch for five or six clubs and East and West might

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Napoleon Solo, the indestructible Man from U.N.C.L.E., is on the top of the evil Thrush's most-wanted list. And Robert Vaughn, who plays the character in the NBC series, thinks he recently made the most-unwanted list in the political party of his choice. The dark-haired actor, 35, is one of the new breed that not only takes politics seriously but is taken seriously by politicians. A dedicated Democrat and party worker, Vaughn is an outspoken critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam, and this, he says, has made him persona non grata. In late June, Vaughn's name appeared as chairman of a group calling themselves Dissenting Democrats in a three-page advertisement in a Los Angeles newspaper on a day when President Johnson was visiting the city. The ad, which bore the names of some 3,000 others, proclaimed determination not to vote for LBJ in 1968 unless he changed the course of the war. "IT WAS NOT HAPPY" The Democratic party in California supports the president's position," said Vaughn. "It was not happy about the advertisement. I don't think the party cares much about me now." His activity has resulted in an invitation to appear on a mid-September program of NBC's Meet the Press, a news-interview show rarely graced by actors unless they are either candidates for public office or already elected. Relaxing in his dressing room after an U.N.C.L.E. scene set in a subterranean garden of poisoned mushrooms, Vaughn said he does not think his involvement in partisan politics and his public position on a controversial subject has hurt his professional career. "I got a lot of mail about it," he said. "And a lot of it is angry in tone."

Expo 67, weather hurt attendance at city fair

Medal is awarded to top St. Pat's student

A 17-year-old St. Patrick High School girl yesterday was presented with the Governor-General's award for scholastic achievement from R. C. McConnell, the highest overall average in her graduating year in English, Catholic Schools under the jurisdiction of the L'Estrie Catholic Regional School Board.

By PETER VERRAL (Record Staff Reporter)

The attendance at the 82nd annual Sherbrooke Fair has been considerably less than last year. As of Wednesday evening the total fair attendance was 39,600, down 18,100 from the same date last year.

Len O'Donnell, president of the Fair, said a main reason for the drop in attendance this year is Expo 67.

Other fairs have also suffered attendance-wise because of Expo.

The fair at Three Rivers has reported a decrease of 33,000 people from last year, and the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto has also reported a decrease compared to other years.

Mr. O'Donnell also mentioned that the weather probably had some effect in keeping people away from the fair this year. Sporadic rain showers have plagued the fair for three of the last five days.

Other fair officials have said that heavy rains have kept farmers from bringing in their crops, and they have been unable to attend the fair.

The 10th World Water Ski Championships currently being held in Sherbrooke have been cited by some people as another reason for the low attendance at the fair this year.

However, Mr. O'Donnell doesn't think that the water ski championships have had much effect on the fair attendance.

He did suggest the crowds at the water ski show can see the activities from outside the gates without paying the admittance price, while the people who attend the Fair really can't see very much unless they pay their way into the grounds.

The industrial exhibits are in the Sports Palace this year. In other years they have been in the old industrial building which was torn down by the city last fall.

Although the Sports Palace has been called "a much cleaner place" by the exhibitors this year, it does not have as many exhibits as the old industrial building. At one point the old building housed a record 132 industrial exhibits, while there are 68 exhibits in the Sports Palace this year.

Yet, fair officials are optimistic that the Sports Palace will attract more exhibits in the years ahead as it is under the direction of the ETAA.

W. G. MacDougall, general chairman of the livestock, has said that the prizes for the livestock are not as high as those of other years.

Mr. O'Donnell agreed with this remark, but said the selection of the animals was more strict this year.

Awaiting birth of calf, she competes in umpteenth fair

Since she weighs about 1200 pounds, most people would describe her as a little on the plump side.

But brown-eyed, ambling, 17-year-old Aledjo Lula has an excuse — she is carrying her 14th calf.

Aledjo Lula is an Ayrshire cow owned by Mrs. Joan Mosher of Ayer's Cliff. Yesterday this white-blazed-faced cow competed in the judging of the Ayrshire cattle and took it all with the true aplomb of an old campaigner.

While the judges walked around the cattle, Aledjo Lula would give them a rather contemptuous glance and then playfully nudge Mrs. Mosher's arm with her head.

"She was supposed to have her calf two weeks ago and so it will probably come at any time now," said Mrs. Mosher, a petite woman whose head and shoulders barely peek above Aledjo Lula's back.

The cow has been in approximately 20 fair competitions and had her initiation as a Calf Club calf.

Three years ago, she competed in a class for cows 10 years and over at the Sherbrooke Fair and won first prize. "At the Ayer's Cliff Fair this year Aledjo Lula claimed the calf that belonged to another one of our cows," Mrs. Mosher laughed. "It was really funny because the calf stood beside her mother and Aledjo Lula who took possession of her right away. We had to take the calf away before she would leave."

It appears that Aledjo Lula's maternal instinct also reigns supreme in the pasture. "Out in the pasture she claims any calf that is born. She has had so many calves that I guess she thinks any calf that is born is hers," Mrs. Mosher said.

Aledjo Lula has had two heifer calves and all 11 male calves have been sold to farmers in the area. She may have a particular interest in The Sherbrooke Fair, as one her grand-daughters is also competing in the Ayrshire cattle division.

Although she didn't win any prizes, this mother of 13 calves certainly kept cool and made everyone aware of her future plans for the next little while.

In the judging of the Ayrshire cattle yesterday, the grand champion bull was owned by D. G. Ross and Son, Sherbrooke, and the reserve grand champion was won by MacGillivray Bros., of Brome.

The grand champion Ayrshire female was owned by the Chagnon et Freres, of Coaticook, while the reserve grand champion went to the MacGillivray Bros., of Brome.

Here are the results of the group of four animals bred and owned by the exhibitor: first prize, Chagnon et Freres, Coaticook; second prize, Tom Ride, Hatley, and third prize, MacGillivray Bros., Brome. Chagnon et Freres also picked up the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards.

Napoleon Plante who judged the Ayrshire cattle said, "these cows are of a much higher quality than those I saw when I was here three years ago."

Mr. Plante is manager of the Ayrshire and Holstein cattle at Levis College, Quebec, and is a director of the Ayrshire Breeders Association of Canada.

The Jersey cattle were also judged yesterday. The grand champion bull went to Hans Steingruber, East Farnham, and the reserve grand champion was won by Karl Weber, of Cowansville.

The senior and grand champion female was won by Miss Ellen Beit-Speyer, Massawippi. She also won the senior and reserve grand champion-

WORK? WORK YES — At St. Patrick High School in Sherbrooke, Roland Theroux, left, and R. C. McConnell, school principal, prepare for

City high schools prepare to open their doors again

By DAVID ALLNUTT (Record staff reporter)

Generally, it is a hectic time of year, the summer period, for the school administrators.

Books, desks, teachers, pupils, parents, time-tables, all are part of that annual ritual that school principals and their immediate staff get involved in when classroom doors close to high school scholars at the beginning of the summer season.

The working area is free... or is it?

In move the cleaners to wash and wax the floors, windows, lockers and the other odds and ends around the school buildings.

They are out within a few weeks, perhaps even a month. Now, the heavy laden boxes of books of all sorts and sizes and supplies varying from desks to lead for pencils is shipped into the corridors by some cartage company.

Each administration has a unique way of operating, but the overall effects are similar.

There is only one month of holidays for the principal and his administering staff at Sherbrooke High School during the summer, the month of July.

The first of August sees the beginning of the hectic series of events that eventually lead up to the successful opening of the new academic year next week.

During August the principal, Royce Gale, interviews some of the students and also parents; during the second week of the month, there are sessions at the Quebec Association of Protestant School Administrators' workshop in Lennoxville to attend.

Plans for the 1967-68 classes, and the arrangement of schedules are formulated throughout the summer.

The supplemental examinations for pupils in schools under the E.T. Regional Board jurisdiction were held at S.H.S. from August 17 to 20, and this required supervision and co-ordination, all either directly or indirectly the responsibility of the school principal and his assistant, the vice-principal.

The inventory of books loaned to the pupils by the Regional School Board in September, 1966, and returned to the home-room teachers in June must be carried out and checked with the September inventory.

Damaged books must be repaired, old ones discarded, and orders placed for new books needed for the coming year. This year is an exception as regards the number of new books to be purchased, says the S.H.S. principal, since, among others, there will be a new Grade 8 Math course, and Biology and North American Literature will be introduced in Grade 10.

When the 1967-68 academic year starts on September 5, 375 students will be enrolled in three grade 8's, four grade 9's, four grade 10's and three grade 11's. They will be greeted by the faces of five new teachers on the staff, replacements for those who have left since June.

That is what goes on behind the summer scenes at S.H.S. And it is certainly not the only place in Sherbrooke that is busily preparing for next week.

There is another big institution, on Belvedere Street North, St. Patrick High School.

Here, the principal, R. C. McConnell, must prepare for the inscription of 430 Grade 7 to 11 students tomorrow, then for the first day of classes Tuesday.

At St. Pat's the system is quite similar to that at S.H.S. But, naturally, there are unique features.

When school closed in June, classification of students for the coming year was immediately undertaken, followed throughout the summer by meetings with parents of possible new pupils to the school.

75-year-old is acquitted of $5,000 embezzling charge

A 75-year-old man was acquitted yesterday in the Sherbrooke Sessions of the Peace Court on the charge that he had embezzled over $5,000 while in the employ of Depot Electronic Inc. in Sherbrooke.

After the preliminary hearing that lasted over two hours and heard testimony of three witnesses excluding the accused, F. C. Chartier, Judge Turmel threw out the charge because of conflicting and inconclusive evidence.

The first to take the stand was Noel Topping, president of the company, who stated that the accused had worked for him as an accountant from September 1964 to December 1966.

When the man left his job, Real Tessier, who replaced him, began to check the books and noticed a discrepancy in accounts totalling $17,000.

He therefore asked that an auditor be brought in to investigate.

The auditor, Andre Charpentier, noticed the same disappearance of $17,000 and he finally traced some reimbursements totalling $12,000. This fell in with Topping's testimony that his former accountant had borrowed some money from the company and paid it back.

What Charpentier couldn't see was where the other $5,000 had gone.

The accused then took the stand and pointed out that the missing money could be accounted for by the compilation of uncashied cheques to the company which he produced in court.

Then the accused said, "How could anyone dare to accuse an old man like me of embezzling this ridiculous sum of money. Never in my entire life have I ever broken the law!"

Judge Turmel weighed the testimony and decided that the evidence was insufficient to send the accused to trial.

Mrs. Denis Messier of Sherbrooke was acquitted on a charge of operating a hair-dressing salon in a private house without an adequate permit.

Mrs. Messier, who spoke in her own defense, claimed that she had started cutting and setting her friends' hair and that it had become a "pleasant pastime" and nothing else.

Eugene Gingras, a Sherbrooke hotel owner, was sentenced to a $500 fine or three months in prison on the charge of cashing paychecks for the sale of beer.

The defense pointed out that

Checkers festival in city this weekend

A checkers festival organized by the Sherbrooke branch of the Federation of Canadian and American Checker Players (FCAD) will be held at the New Sherbrooke Hotel September 2, 3 and 4.

Paul Comtois, organizer in chief of the festival, said the three-day tournament will be under the patronage of Yves Gabias, Provincial Secretary, who is also in charge of Quebec centennial celebrations. "We are hoping that Mr. Gabias will attend the festival but it is still uncertain as he is out of the province," Mr. Comtois said.

Mr. Comtois was asked to organize the checker festival by officials of the FCAD in Montreal.

There will be four games over the three-day period pitting a provincial team made up of members from provinces across Canada against a Montreal team.

Master Raoul Dagenais, current world checker champion and Marcel Deslauriers, grand international champion, will play on the Montreal team. Both men live in Montreal.

Mr. Comtois said Antoine Blanchard, Granby, who is the Quebec checker champion, and Viateur Laroche, checker champion of the Eastern Townships, will probably play on the provincial team. Two games are to be played Saturday, September 2, and two games on Sunday, September 3.

It is possible that the members of the provincial team will change from game to game. "This is what we would prefer," Mr. Comtois said, "as everybody who comes to the tournament should be given a chance to play, not just watch."

Sherbrooke welcomes water skiers

Sherbrooke this week is playing host to one of the major international sporting events, the 10th annual world water ski championships for which competition got underway early this morning and will continue through Sunday.

The campaign to bring this championship tournament to Sherbrooke ended successfully, thanks to the energy and determination displayed by a group of local enthusiasts who participated in the 1966 championships staged in New Zealand, and the active practical support provided by the civic, provincial and federal governments.

Undoubtedly the holding of the 1967 championships in Sherbrooke will give a major impetus to this comparatively new sport in this area but even more important it will provide Sherbrooke with much favorable publicity, provided those visiting here in connection with the event receive an indication that their presence is welcome.

Not only will Sherbrooke gain much publicity from the news stories which will be carried to at least the 25 nations whose citizens are participating in the various contests, but if properly treated the visitors will be able to take home with them warm memories of their stay in the metropolis of the Eastern Townships.

Thus each citizen should go out of his or her way to make the visitors feel at home.

Stamp honors The Canadian Press

Decision of the Post Office Department to issue a special stamp commemorating the 50th anniversary of The Canadian Press, which goes on sale today, emphasizes the important role this organization has assumed in providing the Canadian people with news from home and abroad.

The Canadian Press is a co-operative association which makes no profit and declares no dividends, the cost of its operations being met by assessments upon its members — the newspapers of Canada.

Each of the 103 daily newspapers represented in its membership, whether large or small, have an equal vote in the affairs of the association and the election of directors.

Founded during the war time stresses of 1917, this news-gathering and news-distribution service has been regarded as one of the greatest unifying forces in Canada.

Other papers say:

Cuba's sugar crop has two values

Despite the efforts of Premier Castro and his Russian allies to achieve diversification, sugar is still the mainstay of the Cuban economy. The Cuban premier therefore must find a particularly sweet taste in the news from the plantations.

This year Cuba has produced a total crop of more than 6,000,000 tons, which is still short of the hoped-for 7,500,000 tons, but is a great improvement on last year's record low of something under 4,500,000. The current crop, in fact, is Cuba's third largest in history, roughly 1,000,000 tons short of the record set 15 years ago.

Despite this, Cuba will still have little enough sugar to sell on the world market. Havana is committed this year to the sale of 4,000,000 tons to the Soviet Union, which is making a determined onslaught on the world's production of candies and other sweets; another 1,000,000 tons will go to other Communist countries, including China, and almost 500,000 tons are reserved for domestic consumption.

Which leaves less than 750,000 tons for export against hard currency, but even this should be of considerable importance to Cuba's non-Communist world trade.

The main importance, however, is probably political, rather than purely economic. A good sugar crop is in at least one way a triumph for the Castro regime, in demonstrating that, given favorable conditions, such as good weather, Cuban Communism can be productively efficient.

The metric system

We have to change sometime to catch up with most of world

OTTAWA (CP) — Millions of Canadians will have to go back to their schoolbooks, change their shopping habits and look at distances, weights and speeds in a new light, says Dr. L. E. Howlett of the National Research Council.

The reason: A change to the metric system is coming, although the date is still anyone's guess. As far as Dr. Howlett is concerned, the sooner the better.

"We have to face facts some time and the fact is that most of today's world is metric," says the chief of NRC's applied physics division.

"The world has changed a lot in the last 10 years and too many people fail to realize how big the changes have been," he told a reporter after his return from a meeting in Moscow of the International Standards Organization.

"Ten years ago there was considerable debate about changes from the English system of the foot, pound and gallon to the metric system but now the rest of the world, outside North America, obviously thinks the debate is over."

"The rest of the world is no longer fighting with us. They regard us as being off the main track, on the outside looking in."

Dr. Howlett, president of the International Committee of Weights and Measures, has long been a devotee of a change to the metric system in Canada, and now feels the change must be made as soon as possible.

same thing and leave Canadians in an impossible position," Dr. Howlett warns.

"Canadians are asleep at the switch and will have to wake up."

"We need leadership in this field, leadership from the federal and provincial governments, from industry and the schools."

Dr. Howlett is a realist. He knows there are several problems that must be overcome before a change can be contemplated and he does not hesitate to enumerate them.

Conversion would have to begin with an education program and change in school curriculums—a path beset with thorny federal-provincial jurisdictional disputes.

The conversion also would cost industry a lot of dollars now needed for expansion and require a period of wasteful duplication where goods are produced in different sizes to meet different specifications of the two systems.

"But we'll have to start some time, and waiting won't make things any easier."

TIDE HAS TURNED

In 1920, about 20 per cent of the world's population was on the metric standard, 22 per cent on the English system and the rest on other systems. By 1960, about 37 per cent of the world was on the metric system, with 43 per cent in the process of changing to the metric system and only 19 per cent still on the English system.

Figures for 1966 show 88 per cent of the world's population either on or changing to the metric system and only 12 per cent on the English system.

The world's export markets show the same trend, although the industrial might of the U.S. has kept the balance closer. Thirty-eight per cent of world trade was conducted in metric measures in 1920 while 48 per cent was in the English system.

By 1960, the situation was reversed, with 32 per cent in metric and only 42 in the English system. In 1966, the change was even more pronounced. Exports by nations either on or changing to the metric system accounted for 67 per cent of the world's trade, leaving only 33 per cent with the English system.

'AWKWARD FRACTIONS'

Dr. Howlett feels continued use of the English system is "rather ridiculous at present" because the yard and pound are officially expressed as fractions—"and rather awkward fractions"—of the metre and kilogram.

The yard now is 914.4 metres, which makes the inch work out to exactly 25.4 millimetres, thanks to a change made in 1959 involving less than one-millionth of an inch in the yard.

Eric Green of NRC's mechanics section, who was Canada's official delegate to the Moscow meeting, says Canadians will have to break away from tradition and make a complete change, even to the extent of expressing highway mileages and speed limits in kilometres—40 miles an hour would become about 64 kilometres an hour.

A kilogram of butter would not make that big a difference — half a kilogram is about 1.1 pounds. For liquid measure, the litre is about 10 per cent smaller than the 40-ounce imperial quart.

But it seems a good bet that at least some tradition would survive even a complete switch. For instance, who would want to describe a 36-24-36 pin-up girl as 91.4-60.9-91.4?

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — "My only objection to your analysis of the East-West conflict," writes a reader in Don Mills, "is that you state what the Communists are striving for but not why they are striving for it. Thus if a person does not have prior knowledge of the true nature of Communism he might be at a loss to fully comprehend your article."

The reader, having apparently missed the many columns I wrote on the philosophical origins and practical application of Marxism, then offers to fill the gap by his own explanation of "the theory and its motives, reduced to simplest terms."

Assuming that this rather unusual response to my necessarily disjointed treatment of this subject might be of interest to other readers, I yield the rest of this column today to my studious correspondent.

Here is the essence of his political essay:

Hegelian dialect the key

Complete understanding of the true nature of Communism requires a good grasp of Hegelian dialectic which holds that any idea (thesis) unfolds truths about itself the more it is explored.

However, it reaches a point where its truths appear to be exhausted and at this point it meets its logical opposite (antithesis). When the thesis and antithesis thus meet, the idea rises to a higher level which embodies the truth of both and becomes a synthesis.

This synthesis in turn becomes a thesis and the whole process repeats itself. Eventually this evolution of ideas reaches its final synthesis in what Hegel termed pure reason.

Marx applied this idealistic Hegelian dialectic to his analysis of early capitalism in which the thesis was the private ownership of the means of production, antithesis the exploited proletariat, and the final synthesis, Communist revolution.

Marx saw "capitalist imperialism" as the final stage in the long history of social evolution before the supposed golden age of Communism is finally ushered in. Thus the dialectic triumph of the proletariat over the bourgeoisie in his theory was to represent the final synthesis in which no antithesis is possible.

Communists do not regard this process of what they call dialectical materialism as a theory, but as a mathematical law of history which they conceive in terms of class struggle. In other words, they are convinced that capitalism is doomed by Marx's "inexorable laws of history."

Politician takes over

Where Marx had been the relatively passive philosopher, Lenin became the active politician who established a Communist state. In accordance with Marx's teaching, the process involved revolutionary violence which is an essential part of what is now known as the science of Marxism — Leninism.

Since neither Marx nor Lenin could foresee the Nuclear Age, the doctrine of violence included major conflicts. After the Cuban confrontation the Kremlin found it necessary to modify this particular tenet to limited conventional struggles which are now taking the form of "liberation wars" and guerrilla operations all over the globe.

If one can fully grasp this background, one can start to make some sense out of the seemingly paradoxical manoeuvres the Communist regimes seem to engage in from time to time.

When viewing such actions one must always keep in mind the "permanent revolution" law of Communist ideology and realize that it represents the supreme and ultimate truth to any convinced Marxist. All matters of principle, regardless of their nature, are subordinated to the revolutionary task.

This means, for example, that the signing of treaties with the Western world is done with the permanent revolution uppermost in the Communist mind. A treaty with the "capitalists" is useful and effective only insofar as it serves Communist aims.

One of the fatal mistakes the free world can make is to assume that because the Communist regimes at this time need economic assistance from the affluent democracies they have changed or "mellowed".

A 'scientific formula'

It surely must be obvious that if you possessed what you believe to be a scientific formula for human behavior, and within 50 short years the use of this formula had brought one third of the world population under your domination, you could hardly be expected to say that it does not work or that it ought to be changed.

Not keeping the doctrine of permanent revolution in mind the free peoples of the world are baffled by seemingly irrational Communist moves. If these moves are such that they begin to threaten the life of a free nation (as, for example, Israel was threatened last spring), that nation has no recourse but to retaliate in self-defence and is then immediately branded the aggressor.

This propaganda line is but one more method of Communist manoeuvres to foment anti-free world sentiment and thus contribute to its "inevitable" collapse.

In short, the fact of the matter is that the so-called Cold War, regional hot wars, "liberation wars", espionage and subversion represent to the Communists the natural state of affairs under their concept of "peace" and "coexistence" until they achieve world domination.

To the Western mind this type of thinking is incredible or incomprehensible, but such is the case. As a result we are faced with the peculiar situation that they are at war with us while we refuse to believe it.

The be-nice-and-they'll-leave-us-alone philosophy is playing into their hands.

Sweetsburg Court

Youth sentenced to six months

SWEETSBURG WARD — (Staff) — Real Moisan, 19, of Sherbrooke, was sentenced to six months in jail by Judge Gerard Normandin in Sweetsburg Court Tuesday. Moisan pleaded guilty to the charges of car theft on August 25. Moisan admitted to having served three months on a similar charge this year, and that he had been free for two months prior to another offence. Judge Normandin dated the term from time of arrest.

George Burroughs, 18, Nelson, B.C., who pleaded guilty to a charge of car theft in Bedford District Court August 22, was sentenced to two months in jail from the time of his arrest.

The case involving Marcel Guillemette, 22, Knowlton, charged with gross indecency and attempting to corrupt the morals of minors was deferred to Sept. 5 at the request of defence counsel Bernard Beaudry. Beaudry claimed that he was unaware of the case until Monday morning and that defence witnesses had to be present, an impossibility on such short notice.

Denis Pouliot, 24, Cowansville, pleaded not guilty to charges of impaired driving, hit and run and criminal negligence, in Cowansville, August 20. The charges involved an accident in which Jacques Desjardins, 11, Cowansville, was killed. Trial on the first two charges was set for Sept. 5, and Sept. 8 in the third. Pouliot was represented by Andre Fortier.

Guy Gauthier, Montreal, was ordered to preliminary hearing Sept. 8 on charges of car theft and driving a motor vehicle with false license plates. Bail was set at $1,000 cash or $2,000 property.

Harel Larose, Cowansville, Ephrem Gaumond, Upton, and Marcel Renaud, Farnham, pleaded guilty to charges of impaired driving in the Bedford District Court during August. They were fined $50 and costs or 30 days in jail, and prohibited to drive in Canada for the next three months.

Laurent Gibeault, Granby and Gilbert Thibeault, RR 3, Saxby Corners, pleaded guilty to theft of articles valued at $30 at the Canadian Pacific Railroad shops in Farnham on August 20. Crown Prosecutor Noiseux told Judge Normandin that he would be satisfied with a fine of $25 and costs each. Judge Normandin concurred. Non-payment will cost the duo 15 days in jail.

Ten individuals swelled the provincial coffers by $1,200.59, for assorted violations of the sales tax act.

The City of Granby pleaded guilty, in absentia, to having permitted a city vehicle to proceed on the open highway without a tarpaulin. They were fined $10 and costs.

Bedford District hotel keepers who violated various aspects of the liquor act recently, and were found guilty in-absentia included: Leon Robert, Alphonse Pare, Jean-Luc Gevry, Leo Gabriel, Mrs. J. A. Dumouchel and Mrs. C. A. Grise. They were each fined $100 and costs or 30 days in jail.

Two area minors, Victoria Blackwood and E. Guay were fined $10 and costs for having drunk alcoholic beverages while under 20. Default will net them eight days in jail.

Poverty of imagination a big housing problem

QUEBEC (CP) — Poverty of imagination rather than poverty of funds was cited Wednesday as one of North America's biggest housing problems.

A United States social worker told the International Conference on the Family that both private and public housing projects too often forget about people.

Lillian D. Robbins of New York said good housing is often bulldozed down with the bad and replaced by "Chinese walls of tedious sterile monotony."

About 600 delegates to the week-long conference Wednesday studied housing problems of the "new family," defined as couples married less than 10 years.

Lawyer Guy Houist of France, vice-president of lodging for the International Union of Family Organizations, said governments should help newly married couples overcome original big costs of settling. The multiple dwelling was replacing the one-family house and the high-rise apartment was taking the place of the few-storey walk-up.

"Where there is no individual backyard, no hills to climb, no streams for skipping stones, substitutes must be found," she said.

Vandals deface

WATERLOO — (Special) — Waterloo Golf Club was the victim of vandals late Friday night, as the greens were marked with ground-in heels and the numbered flags taken from their positions. The markers were found the following day in a pond about two miles from the golf course, near Warden. Police have no idea who committed the acts of vandalism.

Contrived to avoid rubber-stamp image

VILNIUS (CP) — With a warm sun dappling the parks and sidewalks of this Baltic capital, it's an effort to recall how impassioned the debate used to be about Lithuania's independence.

At the moment, there's a little extra hunting flying in the Lithuanian Soviet Socialist Republic, a few more posters urging "Long Live the Communist Party", and a lot more building and tidying up in preparation for November's 50th anniversary celebrations of the Russian revolution.

But the overall impression is not a Russian community but of a north European city, a slightly provincial old city that has contrived to avoid a rubber-stamp image.

Government officials, remembering their duty to socialist brotherhood and equality, say they dislike comparisons between Lithuania and Mother Russia. But the comparisons are inevitable and, perversely, are often encouraged by the same government officials in moments of weakness.

MORE SOPHISTICATED — "How do you find our city — after Moscow?" one of them may ask a visitor. Or, more specifically, "I've been told our people dress with better taste than they do in Moscow. Do you find that true?"

The answer has to be "yes". Indeed, for anyone who has seen Moscow Vilnius will seem almost another world. Its recent architecture appears fresher and less cluttered and its art more imaginative. Its people look trimmer and more graceful. There's a more sophisticated air here than in Moscow.

This other-world atmosphere is the surest reminder of Lithuania's recent history. If this tiny, ancient, extremely individual community had been totally submerged by membership in the vast U.S.S.R., it might be easier to forget that Lithuania's fate once provoked violent feeling in the West.

ANGER MELTS — Canada, the United States, Britain and numerous other non-Communist nations continue to refuse diplomatic recognition to Lithuania and her Baltic neighbors, Estonia and Latvia.

When they think about it at all these days, Western spokesmen still refer to the 1940 manoeuvres which added the Baltic states to the U.S.S.R. as one of Josef Stalin's most blatant and cynical land grabs.

But anger has softened with the passage of time. By now, the question of diplomatic recognition has come to appear almost irrelevant, a generation after Soviet borders expanded in one summer-time flourish—the summer of the Hitler-Stalin pact — to encompass the eastern shore of the strategically vital Baltic Sea.

It is the location of Lithuania and its neighboring Baltic states, rather than their size, which gives them strategic importance. Lithuania covers 25,000 square miles, an area slightly smaller than New Brunswick. Its principal resources are agriculture and forestry, although there has been considerable industrialization since 1940.

Government spokesmen speak officially about the unanimous desire of Lithuanians to remain the brotherhood of Soviet nations, sharing their march toward prosperity and communism.

If Lithuania were elsewhere — and particularly if it did not separate Russia from the Baltic — the question of membership in the U.S.S.R. might be academic even though there has been a long tradition of left-wing thought here.

MORE NATIONALISTIC — Given the country's geographical location, Lithuanian officials seem to find ample reasons for accepting their nation's present position which have little to do with straightforward Communist ideology.

Sounding more nationalist than socialist, they speak privately about: — Stable frontiers in an area with a long history of instability;

— Soviet backing against any future designs on the part of Germany or Poland, whose armies have frequently marched across Lithuania's soil.

Freedom to encourage and preserve Lithuanian as a distinct language and culture, one of the oldest in Europe;

— The resources of the Soviet Union to help in industrial development and economic growth, thereby keeping Lithuania alive in an increasingly competitive world.

Members of the Lithuanian government resent the West's non-recognition but don't appear too worked up about it. Leokadija Dirzinskaitė, a striking looking matron and foreign minister of Lithuania, expressed regret recently that Canada hasn't seen fit to extend diplomatic recognition.

SOME WOULD RETURN — But she had just returned from a visit to Expo 67 and recalled, for a group of visiting foreign journalists, the "warm feeling we had when we saw what interest there was in our republic."

She had met numerous emigre Lithuanians, she said, "and some came up to us and asked how they could return here." She had also been applauded by Canadianians of other racial origins.

"I think this means that the simple Canadians recognize our republic," she said with a smile.

Lithuania is acutely aware that a large number of its people live abroad, most of them in nations which are at best unfriendly to the current government.

While about 2,500,000 people of Lithuanian origin live in Lithuania itself — out of a total population of 3,000,000 — another 800,000 are estimated to be living abroad. Nearly 500,000 of these are in the United States and 30,000 in Canada.

Many of the emigres left Lithuania before the Communists took over, but a significant number have gone since the end of the Second World War.

MORE IN CANADA — In Canada, for example, the 1941 census recorded 7,000 people of Lithuanian origin or inheritance. By 1951 the figure was 16,000 and in 1961 it had reached more than 27,500.

Their presence abroad is regarded as a determining factor in the question of diplomatic recognition. Now, government officials believe the emigres' original anti-Communist zeal is waning.

The lack of serious incidents at Expo is regarded as one sign. The number of emigres who return to Lithuania for a visit is another.

Hundreds of expatriate Lithuanians — new citizens of Canada or the U.S. — with money to pay for a trip — return annually to see the land they or their parents left.

One of these emigres, to whom I spoke recently in Moscow, saw no reason to alter his anti-communism and spoke bitterly of party control over his country. But his spirits had been revived by a visit to the homeland and he found a substantial improvement in the material conditions of the people.

Pleads guilty to theft of $260,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — Grace Fisher, 42, pleaded guilty Wednesday to theft of more than $260,000 while working as a bank accountant.

Mrs. Fisher, mother of a five-year-old girl, was remanded until Sept. 8 for sentencing.

She had earlier pleaded not guilty to the charge of stealing the money from a Bank of Montreal branch during the last 10 years.

Magistrate Maurice Mulligan orders her to remain in jail on which she had been free.

Prosecutor Don Morrison told the court the theft involved $260,528.64, including interest, taken over a period between Jan. 1, 1957 to April 5, 1967.

He said the average taken per year was $20,000. Amounts in the last three years were heavier with a peak, in 1965, of $38,493.

80 TO TESTIFY — More than 80 witnesses were to testify in the trial, which began Monday.

Mrs. Fisher, a slim blonde, related in a signed statement, which earlier was read into evidence, how she took the money. "I was the accountant and second-in-command of the bank, which is an appointed officer of the bank."

"I received deposits from customers, entered the amount of deposit on the customer's ledger card, kept the money and failed to process the deposit through the regular channels."

"In this way the ledger was short the amount of deposit, but the customer's record was always correct, including the interest which is calculated every six months."

"In order to avoid discovery, I would remove customer ledger cards in the amount of the discrepancy each night so that the ledger cards and ledger number would balance," the statement read.

Mrs. Fisher told the court she spent some of the money on furniture and improvement to her house. She spent some on gifts to people, clothes and the remainder on day-to-day living.

Premier's wife is a 'fantastic' homemaker

WINNIPEG (CP) — Visitors who drop in at the home of Premier Duff Roblin sometimes find Mary MacKay Roblin doing the dishes in the kitchen or making clothes in her sewing room.

She used to say she was tired of being mistaken for the maid but now a days there aren't many people unaware that the wife of Manitoba's premier does much of her own housework.

The fact is there is no maid, only an occasional helper for the heavy cleaning or a woman to mind the two young Roblin children.

"I do the housework and I like it," she says somewhat defiantly as she explains that many people think those in public life are tremendously wealthy.

A friend confides that Mrs. Roblin is sensitive about this misconception. Duff Roblin severed his business connections when he became provincial Progressive Conservative leader in 1954. He now earns $22,800 a year and has a $3,000 expense allowance as premier.

Mary Roblin makes most of her own clothes, including hats, and often does her own hair. Her friend describes her as "fantastic" homemaker. And that talent is no accident.

TRAVELS WITH HUSBAND

After graduating with an arts degree from the University of Manitoba, she spent a period at home learning domestic skills before setting out on a career.

Mrs. Roblin, who at 38 is 12 years younger than the premier, travelled frequently with her husband until Stephen Andrew was born in October, 1959.

"I think a wife's first duty is to her husband... but now that the children are here—and at this age—I feel they can't be left alone very long," she said in 1961 when Jennifer was about six months old.

Since Mr. Roblin began campaigning for the national leadership of the Progressive Conservative party this summer, however, Mrs. Roblin has made arrangements to be on the hustings with him.

A petite brunette with an easy, flashing smile, Mrs. Roblin was born Mary Linda MacKay. Her father, Douglas MacKay, worked as a reporter for The Canadian Press in Ottawa at the time. The family moved to Winnipeg when Mary was three. He was public relations director for the Hudson's Bay Co. when he was killed in a plane crash in 1938.

WORKED FOR CBC

Since her mother and brother Shane were also journalists, it was almost a foregone conclusion that Miss MacKay would also enter the business.

Admitting she wasn't "much of a reporter or writer," she says she enjoyed editing and page layout but later turned in her pencil for a job with the CBC.

There, as a producer in the public affairs department, she got to know the young Manitoba politician she met casually at parties.

"I used to work with him on his radio addresses while he was still leader of the opposition," she recalls. "It really wasn't much work because he is an excellent speaker and his speeches were always well prepared."

In 1958, just after Mr. Roblin became premier, speculation abounded that he was about to marry. Mrs. MacKay, Mary's mother, confirmed what had been gossip and the wedding took place Aug. 30, 1958.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is the result of an accident my 6-year-old had. We buy a week's supply of bread at one time and keep it in the freezer until needed. Getting the required frozen slices apart was a problem until one day my son dropped a loaf as he took it from the freezer. To his surprise, and mine, the slices fell apart with no trouble. Now I just drop the frozen loaf on the counter top and it works fine. — MRS. H. W.

DEAR POLLY — Mrs. P. M. S. can stretch her elastic belt by first letting it soak in clear water for a minute or two, blot out the excess water with a towel, close the belt to the right size and stretch over hooks or a chair back until dry. I used the back of my plastic-covered kitchen chair and it worked fine. The hooks or chair back must be the desired belt size or all is in vain. — MRS. N. G. G.

DEAR POLLY — I have only one child, a baby. I am very conscientious about getting the most for my money when buying clothes. When I buy anything for the baby, I keep the paper tag that came with it, write on it where the garment was bought, a description for identification and then, after a few washings and some wear, I can determine which brands

September bride-elect entertained at shower

Miss Marilyn Hunt, a bride of the week, was the guest of honor at a cup and saucer shower held recently at the home of Mrs. Murdo MacDonald, with Mrs. Richard Brink as assisting hostess.

The bride-elect, who entered the living room to the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Hiram McLeod, was presented with a corsage of miniature pink asters and escorted to a seat of honor at a table attractively decorated in pink and white.

A coffee table, carrying out the color theme of pink and white and stacked with gaily wrapped packages, was placed before the guest of honor, who

For Labor Day plan that barbecue

Though the calendar doesn't officially say so, most families accept this as the last week of summer.

Happily, the Labor Day holiday is still ahead. With luck it will be one of those warm days that will make you glad you haven't yet stored away the barbecue and said good-bye to outdoor eating.

In case you're starting to find your barbecue menus a little tame, consider ending the season with something special like rotisserie barbecued leg of lamb or a thick ham steak.

Both would take kindly to simple accompaniments — corn, barbecue-baked potatoes, thick slices of ripe tomato, and a dessert of fresh fruit and cookies.

marinate after 30 minutes. Best test of done-ness is a meat thermometer — cook to 170 to 180 degrees, depending on taste.

Remove meat from spit. Combine any remaining marinade with 1/2 cup water, place meat in a pan and pour on liquid. Let stand in 350 degree oven for 10 minutes before slicing. Makes about 8 servings.

SHERRY - BARBECUED HAM STEAK

2 pounds fully-cooked ham steak, cut 1 to 1 1/2 inches thick
3/4 cup orange marmalade
3 tablespoons sherry
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

ROTISSERIE - BARBECUED LAMB LEG

5 or 6-pound leg of lamb
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon freshly-ground pepper
1 teaspoon crushed oregano
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon (scant) garlic powder
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup dry white wine (or apple juice)

Combine marmalade, sherry and butter in a small saucepan and place on edge of barbecue. Stir occasionally until butter melts and keep mixture warm while using.

Place ham on oiled wires of barbecue over medium heat. Barbecue for 6 to 8 minutes on each side, turning only once.

Brush with the marmalade mixture and continue to grill for 6 minutes. Turn, brush again with marmalade mixture and grill about 6 minutes.

Turn and continue cooking until glazed and browned. Spread any remaining marmalade mixture over steak before serving. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

DEAR POLLY — As all mothers of small children know, bibs are always a problem when traveling. They are never handy when needed. We carry a roll of paper towels and a sweater clip in the car at all times. When a bib is needed, tear off a towel (or several if you expect a real mess) and clip around the baby's neck. These disposable bibs are really handy and useful. — CAROL.

DEAR POLLY — Have you ever forgotten a money refund coupon until after the expiration date? Or perhaps you have thrown out a label needed to send in with a coupon. I solved this problem by attaching such coupons to the cartons or cans with a rubber band. This serves as a reminder every time I open the cupboard door. — FANNIE.

DEAR POLLY — I managed to burn a hole in a new suit that I had only worn once. The material is bonded to foam and the hole is just off the center front. I hope one of the readers has an idea that will help me. Thanks a lot for all the special pointers. — A REAL FAN.

Chant — Morrison vows exchanged

MR. AND MRS. PHILIP JOHN CHANT. (Photo by Louis Jean Frechette Studio)

MASSAWIPPI — The marriage of Janet Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morrison, Massawippi, Que., to Mr. Philip John Chant, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas Chant, of Rosemere, Que., took place at 4 p.m. August 12 at the Massawippi Union Church. Rev. G. A. Norman, of Rosemere officiated at the double ring ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Edith Boyd of Asbestos, Que. The church was decorated with white gladioli, yellow shasta daisies and fern.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of French crepe and silk organza with Guipure lace trim, the bodice fashioned with a high neckline yoke organza trimmed with daisy lace applique. The cathedral train, falling from the shoulders, was bordered with organza and lace daisies. Her long veil of French tulle illusion was held by a headpiece of matching Guipure lace daisies and she carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Mary Chant, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, was in a full length empire frock of off-white Cupion silk linen, with short sleeves, the slim skirt fashioned with a wide back panel. The open crown of her white tulle picture hat was trimmed with yellow mimosa and leaf-green velvet and she carried a basket of mimosa flowers and gypsophelia.

Little Heather Morrison, flower girl for her aunt, wore a full-length empire-line frock of off-white Cupion silk, featuring pink tufted silk, a white short sleeves and a back panel. Her picture hat of white tulle was trimmed with yellow mimosa and leaf-green velvet and she carried a basket of mimosa and gypsophelia.

Mr. N. Guilfoyle, Montreal, acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. J. Robert Morrison, brother of the bride, and Mr. David Moore of Hamilton, Ont.

Mrs. Morrison, mother of the bride, chose a gown of carnation pink tufted silk, a white feather hat and a corsage of white miniature carnations pinned to her purse.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Chant, wore a beige and white silk ensemble, a beige summer felt hat and beige accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Dunrobin, home of the bride's parents.

List of available jobs a look beyond count of jobless men

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada will reach next month beyond its count of men looking for work to establish a count of work looking for men.

The joint, costly project of the manpower department and Dominion Bureau of Statistics will be the first nationwide survey of job vacancies undertaken by any industrial country.

DBS officials said Wednesday the information will fill a vital need for governments, industry and individuals at all levels of the workforce.

The study will pinpoint unfilled jobs precisely and comprehensively.

It will supplement and largely replace existing information provided by manpower centres, formerly known as the National Employment Service.

The service has always been limited to fragmentary information, related almost entirely to blue-collar jobs.

The new mail survey will poll 5,000 large firms every month and sample 30,000 smaller firms—about 10 per cent—every quarter on a rotating basis.

Results will be published every month, relating to job vacancies over a preceding three-month period. More current information, based on a smaller sampling, will be made available to the manpower service. This will be done prior to publication of the main survey, and may not be released publicly.

A DBS statement Wednesday said the survey will be highly significant for updating information on where labor shortages occur and what kinds of skills various areas need.

It will assist industry in long-term recruitment policies, training plans and capital expansion projects.

Governments will analyze the data for their worker training and retraining programs, immigration decisions, and assistance to labor-force mobility.

The long-established labor force survey has always revealed where Canada's labor is by detailing the supply of manpower.

The new project complements this and fills a big gap in statistical information by determining the demand for labor.

The survey will cost $900,000 in its first year of operation and at least $500,000 annually thereafter.

First results will be thoroughly tested before publications begin on a continuing basis and DBS is making no prediction of when its monthly reports will start.

Freddy's 10-year term found to be excessive

MONTREAL (CP)—Armand (Freddy) Cadieux Tuesday received a reduction of eight years in a 10-year sentence imposed on him for forging a priest's name on a document he used in renting two cottages for Lucien Rivard, a convicted trafficker in narcotics.

Chief Justice Lucien Tremblay and Justices Garon Pratte and Fernand Choquette of the Quebec Court of Appeal ruled the 10-year term was "excessive."

Cadieux, 50, was one of two men arrested with Rivard, July 16, 1965, in a summer house in suburban Woodlands on Lake St. Louis.

Rivard had escaped four months earlier from Montreal's Bordeaux jail, where he was incarcerated during extradition proceedings which later sent him to the United States to face narcotics trafficking charges.

Cadieux had been given two consecutive five-year terms in connection with the renting of the cottages. One term was for forging the priest's name on a birth certificate and the other for using the document to rent the cottages.

He also had been given a two-year sentence for aiding Rivard after he had escaped from the Montreal jail. It was to have been served concurrently with the terms totalling 10 years.

Your own home? 'Forget it'

QUEBEC (CP)—Forget about home ownership, young families were urged Wednesday at an international conference on the family.

Home ownership was described as a trap, tying down young couples to a specific spot with mortgages when job promotion demands great mobility.

The suggestion emerged from a workshop discussion at the week-long world convention of the International Union of Family Organizations, where about 600 delegates from more than 30 countries are discussing new families.

The delegates took today off for sight-seeing. Sessions resume Friday.

Among ideas tossed around in a workshop on North American housing problems was a suggestion that governments establish free housing just as they have free education.

Stewart Sutton, secretary-general of Canada's Vanier Institute of the Family, asked whether home ownership as a means of investment for the young isn't just a myth.

ENSLAVED BY DEBTS

"The one thing a young family has to be today is mobile," he said. "A lot of us know a lot of people who have become enslaved by their mortgages, by their debts."

A few delegates predicted free housing would come along in the future, with people paying for it through taxation.

Also attacking home ownership for young people was Helen Wattie, a high school teacher from Kirkland Lake, Ont., who called it a big mistake.

"I have seen several young teachers just desperate because they cannot sell their house when they want to move. I know of one who ended up with three mortgages."

THE QUEBEC SCENE

Shouting match follows school status change

MONTREAL (CP) — About 200 French-speaking persons, many of them carrying separatist placards, engaged in a two-hour shouting session with about 75 English-speaking persons in suburban Pierrefonds Tuesday night.

Police said the fracas started after members of le Rassemblement pour l'indépendance nationale started a protest demonstration in front of an English-language school in Pierrefonds.

They apparently were protesting the conversion of the former Ecole Monsieur Deschamps into an English-language institute now known as the Fathers of Confederation School.

Most of the crowd dispersed after firemen connected hoses and threatened to spray the demonstrators, police said. No arrests were made.

Meeting to deal with 'universal French'

PARIS (CP) — Language experts here are expecting big things from a Quebec City meeting Sept. 6-13 which will deal with French as it is spoken throughout the world.

The meeting is sponsored by a group called the Federation du Francais Universel, which held its first convention two years ago in Belgium and decided to meet biennially.

The Quebec event is being organized by a federation enthusiast, university teacher Alain Guillemeau, 54, of Paris, editor of a language periodical.

He says the Federation for Universal French, as his group's name can be rendered in English, has a linguistic policy but no politics.

No form of "imperialism" on behalf of France is intended, he adds in a statement quoted by the French newspaper Le Monde.

But Robert le Bidois, a self-proclaimed "defender of the French language" recalled French government moves in the language field—including the April, 1966, establishment of a "high committee for the defence and expansion of the French language."

This committee is headed by Prime Minister Georges Pompidou and seeks, among other things, to develop contacts among the world's French-speaking countries.

"Such friends of French turn with hope and confidence toward the coming biennial convention which will be held... in the very heart of French Canada," said Le Bidois in an article in Le Monde.

STANDARDS SOUGHT

He mentioned no official French government involvement in the federation, which seeks to establish certain standards and rules of good usage, all aimed at helping people who speak French in varying ways around the globe to understand one another better.

He said:

"The French-speaking Walloons of Belgium, the people who speak the same language in Switzerland, the French-Canadians, the Haitians and the former colonial peoples of Africa who now are independent, do not always conform to what our friends in Canada call 'Parisian French'."

There is to be a glossary of world-wide French. The glossary say federation enthusiasts, will not sacrifice local color in any quest for over-all unity.

Instead, the terms and speech mannerisms conveying picturesque life styles not to be found reflected in Parisian French will be given their place, said Le Bidois.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Practice is over as skiers settle into serious battle for world ski championships

St. Johnsbury Country Club to stage annual tourney

ST. JOHNSBURY — This Labor Day weekend, Sept. 2, 3 and 4, the St. Johnsbury Country Club will hold its 17th Annual International open golf tournament.

Last year this popular tournament paced a field of 278 golfers in the three days. For 1967 the field is limited to 102 players each day.

Starting times are from 8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. to 2:45 p.m. You must call or write Willie Stroop, St. Johnsbury Country Club, St. Johnsbury, Vt., phone: Area Code 802-748-9005.

In last year's tournament

Jack Nicklaus not bothered by Arnie's Army as he wins rich Westchester Club classic

RYE, N.Y. (CP)—Jack Nicklaus, generally acclaimed the world's greatest golfer, has conquered almost every obstacle but he still has not won his battle with Arnie's Army.

After pocketing the $50,000 prize Wednesday in the $250,000 Westchester Classic, he said he doesn't let the army bug him too much, but he left listeners wondering.

"I'm getting used to it," he said, "It's really quite comical. I'm out there to play golf. I try to concentrate and ignore them."

The army was out in force for the final round of the world's richest event, which presented Nicklaus, Palmer and Dan Sikes in the final and featured threesome.

Nicklaus stood off a late rush by Sikes, 36-year-old Jacksonville, Fla., law graduate, to win his fourth tournament of one year.

Jack had a 72-hole score of 272, 15 under par, while Sikes, who twice pulled out and started home but came back when rain washed out the rounds Saturday and Sunday, was runner-up at 273.

Rallying from three shots back, Sikes caught Nicklaus with successive birdies at the 11th and 12th but fell back after landing in a trap at the 15th and failed to tie it with a bold 15-foot putt that hit the cut and stayed out at the final hole. He collected $30,000.

BIG NAMES FINISH WELL

The rest of the leaders looked like a Who's Who of golf with Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, the British Open king, third at 274; Gary Player of South Africa, fourth at 275, and Palmer, with a birdie at the final hole, fifth at 276.

Al Balding of Toronto won $179,16 for finishing at 285—even par.

Palmer's fabled army—a stampeding, yelling pack cut seventy (70) prizes were awarded. Top gross prize in each division will be a matching set of woods. Bert Cotterell, Quebec fired one under par 69 to take top honors in the tournament last year.

Joe Leblanc a pro from Sherbrooke, took top honors with "73" George "Dud" Phinney of Middlebury was second with 76.

Chairman of the 17th International Tournament is Richard Buck. He will be assisted by members of the St. Johnsbury Club. This popular nine hole course is in fine condition and is one of the most scenic courses in the State of Vermont.

Germany's Paul Lieser was the first to round the bouys this morning. Canada's young hopeful for top honors, George Athans, was scheduled to run seventh while teammate Brian Muirhead will start out 11th.

Each competitor is allotted four minutes to finish his run before the next skier begins his routine. Basically, the event is judged by the number of bouys rounded at the highest speed (36 miles per hour) with the shortest amount of rope.

Tito Antunano, one of the favorites for the slalom crown, is due to run 18th.

Sherbrooke's Jean Perrault and Toronto's Andy Murdoch were scheduled to run 52nd and 55th respectively to round off Canada's participation in the event.

The start of the competition was postponed this morning due to the poor weather conditions. One of the judges made a run of the course to determine whether the site was adequate for the skiers.

This afternoon, the women's figures elimination will be run. A field of 15 skiers will be executing some of the difficult tricks which determine whether they will represent their countries in the figures finals Sunday.

Vailla Hoggan and Bonnie Murdoch, who comprise the women's division of the Canadian National team, are both entered in the event.

A total of 74 competitors put their skills on the line today as the first day of competition gets under way at the 10th world water ski championships.

Fifty-nine skiers from 23 countries were entered in the men's slalom eliminations and 15 skiers from 11 countries were scheduled to show their talent in the women's figures eliminations.

Dany Duflot-Privat of France, winner of the women's world figures championship in Australia in 1965, will be out to defend her title.

Mrs. Duflot-Privat drew the No. 13 position in the draw for the women's figures division.

Roland Hillier of the United States, winner of the world men's slalom title in Australia, is not entered in this year's world tournament at Lac Des Nations in Jacques Cartier Park.

Temperatures were expected to reach the low 70s today under cloudy skies, with sunny periods and winds from the northwest at 15 miles an hour.

Slalom finals for men and women will be held Saturday afternoon and figures and jumping finals for men and women will be held Sunday afternoon.

They allowed Eskimo quarterback Frank Cosentino to complete seven of eight short passes for the 49 yards, but were never in danger from any of them.

The Eskimos took an early first-quarter lead on a 53-yard return of an interception by Garry LeFebvre. The Eskos added a field goal later in the quarter, and that pretty well ended the game for them.

With Ron Lancaster pulling the strings, Ed Buchanan sprang loose for 132 yards on 15 carries and George Reed pounded out 95 yards on 22 carries for Saskatchewan.

CAMPBELL 4 FOR 4

In between, Lancaster was throwing to Hugh Campbell four times for 79 yards, and a couple of times to Gordon Barwell for 32 yards.

Game statistics showed the Roughriders with 19 first downs and 411 yards in total offense. The Eskos had just eight first downs and 153 yards in total offense, 109 of them in the first half.

The win pulled the Roughriders into a first-place tie with Calgary Stampeders. Both clubs have four wins in five starts. The Eskimos now are tied in second place with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, each with four points.

Winnipeg meets the hapless British Columbia Lions in Winnipeg tonight.

The Lions are winless in five starts and have averaged only 12 points a game.

Their biggest advantage might be the absence of quarterback Kenny Ploen from the Winnipeg lineup.

Ploen was injured in the team's 24-18 loss to Saskatchewan, and his place will be taken by Bill Van Burken.

The Lions are still being evaluated by new coach Jim Chapman, who sums up the Lions' woes this way:

"We've got to get some new folks out there" number of completed matches to 12.

With good weather conditions, tournament officials hoped to be able to play finals in all events Friday. The tournament had been scheduled to end today.

In fourth-round play today in the under-16 event, Erney is scheduled to meet the winner of the match between Allan Lawry of Vancouver and John Stewart of Halifax. Boyce meets Pierre Verrier of Drummondville.

Unseeded Fran Hurcombe of Ottawa won a second-round match Wednesday in the under-18 girls' singles, defeating Nora Quigley of London 6-1, 6-0. Her next opponent is top-seeded Janice Tindle of Vancouver.

In boys' under-14 action, Murray Whittaker of Pointe Claire, Que., eliminated Graham Hatherly of Tuxedo, Man., and third finish, Speed Model, 7-2 was third for $14,423 and Halifax Hanover, 3-4, fourth for $9,615.

Halifax Hanover, one of two other Canadian entries, is owned by Armstrong Brothers of Brampton, Ont.

Murray Mir, owned by Adrian and Girard Miron of St. Augustin, Que., finished sixth in the first heat and 12th in the second. Trainer-driver Marcel Dostie said Murray Mir broke strike in the second heat.

Armbro Harold, owned by Max Webster of Brantford, Ont., finished eighth and sixth in succession.

The victory was worth $60,098 and boosted Speedy Streak's total earnings to $94,779.

Keystone Pride took second money of $30,049 with a second in the first heat, Speedy Streak beat Keystone Pride by four lengths, one of the biggest winning margins in the 10 years the race has been in Du Quoin.

It's cotton- candy-time

BROME — (Staff) — It's that cotton-candy-time-of-year again when tents, concessions, carousel music and the big green of the midway are invading various parts of the Eastern Townships.

Hot dogs and pop will be the daily fare of many as they stroll amid puffs of kicked-up dust, stopping now and then to take a look, play a game or enjoy the thrill of the midway's exciting rides.

A cacophony of the barker's yells, noisy children, cries of excitement and intermingled adult voices assail you as you visit the "mini expos".

It's fair time in the ET — fair time with a full rich country flavor.

To the children it means a last fling before school starts again. To mother and dad a chance to be young again and the Angelos Trio, an act imported from Denmark.

This trio of skilled performers work on a combination motorcycle-trapeze rigging 800 feet high without the use of a net.

While the cycle rider is moving around and around a pedestal, two other performers are performing aerobatics.

This is considered one of the most sensational aerial acts of all times and is being performed for the first time in Canada. The Angelos Trio is one of the many acts presented by the Gastoni International Circus Act at Brome Fair.

And you will be able to see the ultimate in thrills as the great Rasini performs for you.

Rasini, a Danish performer drives a midget car down an inclined ramp from the "up-turned end of which it leaps off into space. It turns a complete somersault in midair and lands with a resounding thud in a specially built tarpaulin. The tiny car weighs only 350 pounds and is jet propelled.

Another Gastoni Act is the Alberti Family performance. These are sensational novelty acts featuring two women and two men presenting a spectacular exhibition of aerobatic stunts.

And there will be others, clowns, comedians and more. This will be one section of the fair that you'll remember in days to come.

This year Peter Marsh's midway will also be bigger and better than ever.

Added to it are rides from the Ottawa Ex which mean that there will be variety galore.

During Sunday and Monday at 1 p.m. at the fair will be the cattle parade where spectators will have an opportunity of seeing the prize livestock from this area.

Brome Fair this year is big — big with a capital B. See you at the fair.

to the farmers an opportunity to show their prize livestock and other products.

Fair time is for everyone. It has features for all members of the family.

This year in Brome, the big dates are Sept. 2 to 4. The byword is "the big Brome Fair."

And "big" is the correct euphemism for Brome Fair. Everything about it will be bigger and better than last year.

There has been an increase of about 20 per cent more entries over and above the previous year, secretary Albert Smith says.

In fact, he says, there was no room for any more entries on closing day, Aug. 16.

"We've been trying to squeeze a few in... but we had to say no," said Mr. Smith.

He said there is a sharp increase in the number of sheep entries... a total of 75 per cent.

"The biggest sheep show ever," added Mr. Smith.

This makes an approximate total of about 175 sheep of various breeds.

Mr. Smith counted a total of about 275 dairy and beef cattle as well.

The fair grounds have undergone a facelifting to make them more attractive to the many crowds which will be using them during the three days.

Mr. Smith said the fair committee is installing 400 watt mercury vapor lights at the gates.

The horticultural building has been repainted to an immaculate white and neat piece.

kets have been set up in the building's parking lot.

This year the Brome Horticultural Society has a wide variety of flower and plant exhibits.

"It's out of this world," said Mr. Smith describing the horticultural show.

All judging will begin Saturday morning and continue until finished.

This year, the fair will feature grandstand acts twice a day starting at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. This will be intermingled with harness racing making an enjoyable four hour long afternoon.

And what acts they will be. For instance, you can see one of the greatest and most outstanding aerial motorcycle thrill acts in the world...
