PRICE—TWO CENTS

VICTORY LOAN OBJECTIVE IS EXCEEDED

102 p.c. Of Quota Realized By End Of Official Drive

Organizers, Salesmen and Mayor Jubilant — City Buys $266,000

A very enthusiastic gathering of the members of the Citizens Committee, managers of the seven bank branches located in Westmount, officials of the National War Finance Committee, and salesmen of Unit 201 was held at the headquarters on Monday night to hear the announcement that Westmount had raised 102% of its very high objective. Up to a late hour subscriptions were still flowing in and last week's drive "Buy An Extra Bond" proved very successful. On behalf of the citizens of Westmount His Worship the Mayor, Walter Merrill, K.C., thanked the forty-eight salesmen and the Unit Organization for the magnificent success obtained.

The organizers wish to take this opportunity to thank the citizens of this municipality for the excellent reception which was given to the Fifth Victory Loan salesmen.

The following message from Mayor Merrill was received: The citizens of Westmount, by their generous and wholehearted support of the Fifth Victory Loan, have once more demonstrated that they are Canadians in the true sense of the word, and on behalf of the Westmount Victory Loan Committee I wish to thank them for the courteous reception extended to the Victory Loan Salesmen.

To the Salesmen our grateful thanks are due for the magnificent and patriotic work which they have done so well under the leadership of Messrs. C. E. McKenna, A. Bentley and A. Bracewell, who were again in charge of this and the last Four Victory Loan Campaigns. Westmount has cause to be proud of the result of the Victory Loan Campaign. In the knowledge that every Citizen has done his utmost to help the war effort.

(Signed) Walter A. Merrill, Chairman, Westmount Victory Loan Committee.

The City of Westmount purchased the magnificent sum of $266,000 of the Fifth Victory Loan. The employees of the City of Westmount purchased the amount of $16,400.

Neither of the above purchases are included in the main objective realized, the city's contribution coming under special names, and the employees under the payroll section.

Hen Pheasant Held For Burglary At Fire Station

Surprising Incident Takes Place On Victoria Avenue

A female burglar using a sharp beak as the "diamond" was held in custody for a little time at the Victoria Avenue Fire Station after an almost unbelievable entry into the station one morning last week. The burglar in question—a great hen pheasant of this year's hatching—one of the breed originally supplied by the Verdun Sportsman Association—crashed through a storm window and also through the inner window scattering the glass all over the fire equipment in the station and half way across the floor.

Members of the department captured the intruder and found that the only injury she had suffered was a slight cut on the beak.

She has been turned over to E. J. Anderson, Superintendent of Parks, who has arranged to have her returned to her native haunts on recovery—no charge preferred against her!

JUNIOR CLUB MEETS

The Junior Saturday night club will meet in the Y.M.C.A. the evening after tomorrow. There will be a social programme, some exercises on the gymnasium floor and the moonlight dip in the swimming pool. Bob Beal will be in charge.

Team Captains Are Announced For YMCA Drive

Westmount Objective Set at $3,830 in Campaign Opening Monday

Names of teams captain for Westmount in the Y. M. C. A. drive which opens on Monday have been released by E. I. Taylor, executive secretary of the local branch.

The objective for the district of Montreal is $130,000 and Westmount's quota is set at $3,830.

I. R. Tait is chairman of the Westmount division of the campaign. W. G. Moxley headed the committee drawn from the Rotary Club of Westmount.

Team No. 2 is led by B. H. Johnston, No. 3 by John F. Lewis, No. 4 by D. Lloyd Adams and W. E. Cooper, No. 5 by J. G. Atkinson and A. H. Ransom and No. 6 by C. A. Smith and D. O. Bremner.

Mrs. Harold Mills heads the Women's Team.

In the general Montreal campaign, Colin W. Webster of 52 Gordon Crescent will head the special names committee. It was announced today at headquarters of the drive. In an appeal for support of the drive, Mr. Webster pointed out that little good could come to a post-war world if juvenile delinquency figures were allowed to soar unchecked.

"With fathers and older brothers overseas, and mothers often away at war industry, youth has a tendency to form into 'gangs,' which if allowed to amuse themselves aimlessly, sooner or later turn to minor delinquencies. It is a short step from 'pinching' the money from a milk bottle to a life of habitual crime," Mr. Webster warned.

It was to counteract this danger that the Y.M.C.A. had developed organized recreation even in areas where no "Y" building exists, he said, pointing out that in Hochelaga, Point St. Charles and other areas Y.M.C.A. workers conducted group recreation for young boys and girls, meeting in school houses, church halls and even private homes.

E. A. Leslie, vice-president and controller of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and honorary treasurer of the Y.M.C.A., pointed out that the $130,000 being sought in the campaign represented only 18 per cent of the Association's budget. For the remaining 82 per cent the "Y" is self supporting.

C.C.F. MEETING

The opening meeting of the Westmount C.C.F. Club will be held at the Victoria Hall, on Friday evening, at 8.30.

Speakers are Professor Frank R. Scott, National Chairman C.C.F., David Lewis, National Secretary, and "Sandy" Nicholson, National Treasurer.

HOME FROM OVERSEAS

Airman Overseas Condemns Strikes By Men At Home

F/O H. B. Lindsay Also Gives Timely Hints on Contents to Go in Parcels

What the men of the Canadian Army and Air Force overseas think of the strikers at home is revealed in a letter from F/O E. B. Lindsay to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lindsay, 555 Victoria Avenue.

He expressed his impatience with the unions that have ordered a walk-out.

"What would happen if the Canadian Army decided to go on strike one day," he wondered. "We certainly have more to strike about, our pay is less than a quarter of labour's and our working conditions are certainly worse than theirs. They should remember the old story about the man who tried to break several sticks at once and failed but when taken one at a time they broke easily."

He also gave his mother some good advice on what to send him. Articles like butter and eggs are too perishable but fruit, nuts, chocolate bars and life savers were wonderful. He was also both surprised and pleased by an Airgraph he received from a friend.

Some extracts from the letter follow:

You have been saying it's hard to know what to put in the boxes. Here are a few suggestions which I think may help. The eggs have all been bad when they arrived. The butter is often bad—when it is I give it to the cook. Apart from that everything else is great. We never use half the soap you send—at least I don't—half as much would be fine. The fruit is the greatest luxury. The nuts, choc-bars, and chiclets are just fine. I enjoyed the cheese, and also the tin of chicken. I haven't used the marmalade or the maple sugar cream yet but they should go over big. Oh yes, the mint jelly—well naturally, I loved it—even though we never had roast lamb. That is about all I can think of. Hope it will help a little. Actually the boxes have been just about perfect so far. George said, when I was with him (while he was opening his last box). Boy, this is about the nicest box I've had yet. So—

I see that our "friends" in the air-craft plants of Montreal have gone on strike. You can't imagine how it makes us feel to know that those at home, in whom we put the trust of keeping us equipped, lack the moral fiber to stay in there and fight—especially when they are several thousands of miles from danger. I often wonder just how those "friends" would feel if the Canadian Army should one day decide to go on strike. What could they strike for? Well, they don't get paid a quarter of what a factory worker does—and their chances of coming through the war run about one twentieth as high as any normal Canadian at home. Their day begins when they join the army and never finishes. They don't stop fighting when a whistle blows to say it's lunch hour or (Continued on Page Three)

"This is St. Paul's plea for appeasement and tolerance of course, the whole Gospel is never found in a single text and we can easily think of circumstances when we do not desire to hear with one another lovingly. Take for example the German Gestapo. It may sound very pious to quote Jesus' words 'Love your enemies,' but there are times to quote what he said about hanging mill-stones about certain necks and casting them into the depths of the sea. No man had such capacity for love and reconciliation as He had or such capacity for flaming indignation as well.

To talk of appeasement or tolerance in face of such cold-blooded criminals is betrayal of every principle for which we are sacrificing our blood and treasure. "The average Christian of today is too tolerant in face of stark, unrelieved evil.

There will be the same exhaustion following this war and it will require moral stamina to maintain such firmness as to ensure that this tragedy will not be repeated.

Dr. F. Kerr Makes Plea For Justice With Tolerance

Preacher Shows Necessity of Good Human Relationships For All

A warning against possible sentimental weakness with regard to the question of bringing war criminals to justice, was uttered by the Rev. F. W. Kerr in a recent sermon which he gave in St. Andrew's Church when the general theme was "Justice With Tolerance" in all the affairs of life.

In opening his sermon Dr. Kerr quoted from the fourth chapter of Ephesians—"Bearing with one another lovingly, with perfect modesty and gentleness, maintaining the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Continuing, Dr. Kerr said:—

"This is St. Paul's plea for appeasement and tolerance of course, the whole Gospel is never found in a single text and we can easily think of circumstances when we do not desire to hear with one another lovingly. Take for example the German Gestapo. It may sound very pious to quote Jesus' words 'Love your enemies,' but there are times to quote what he said about hanging mill-stones about certain necks and casting them into the depths of the sea. Veterans Honor Fallen Comrades

Impressive Service Held At Cenotaph

Veterans of the Great War joined with their comrades of the present struggle, Sunday, as thousands of citizens of Westmount gathered to pay tribute to their dead.

In spite of the cold wet weather thousands turned out to see the inspection which opened with a guard of honor, supplied by the Veteran Guard unit attached to Royal Montreal Reg't. Wreaths were then placed on the Cenotaph by the City of Westmount, 58th Westmount rifles, Royal Montreal Regiment, societies, civic bodies and some individuals.

The service ended with a very impressive Last Post, Reveille and two minutes silence.

Members of the reserve unit were commanded by Major N. W. Taylor No. 14 branch Canadian Legion; the guard of honor was commanded by Major H. Armstrong V.D. Westmount Air Cadets were under Cadet Squadron Leader H. P. Ilkley.

The Westmount Squadron, Corps of Imperial Frontiersmen and "A" Squadron Legion of Frontiersmen paraded to the memorial from the armory of the 2nd Reserve Battalion, Royal Montreal Regiment, where a short dedication service was held. The route march then went east on St. Catherine Street north on Redfern then returned by way of Metcalfe, Sherbrooke and Melville Avenue.

Sapper Given Honor By 'Y' At Anniversary

Four Years of Entertainments For Servicemen Celebrated

Four years ago, last Saturday when the war was still young and eight of the nine nations of Europe, now groaning under the Boche tyranny, were still free, Westmount Branch of the Y.M.C.A. instituted a Saturday night social and dance designed to alleviate the away-from-home feeling of young soldiers, sailors and airmen and to give them a means of wholesome recreation in their leisure hours.

The boys were invited to a party with dances and good eats. Ladies connected with the Y acted as hostesses. Girls belonging to the gym classes and badminton club of the Y were provided as dancing partners for the young servicemen.

The dances were held in the Y.M.C.A. building, the badminton club eventually moving out to other quarters for some of its games in order that the arrangements for the social should be undisturbed.

Since then servicemen's parties have been held every Saturday night without a break for four years. Last Saturday's party was the 208th. The parties start with dancing in the gymnasium to music provided by 'great name bands' and then refreshments are served in both of the upper rooms. There is no charge. All anyone needs in order to be admitted is the King's uniform, which is his entry ticket.

Sapper Maurice Kelland was the hero of the evening at the dance last Saturday night. He was the 50,000th man to be entertained.

The lucky red-headed sapper, a member of the Royal Canadian Engineers at present on leave from Petawawa, and who hails from Barrie, Ontario, was presented with a life membership of the Westmount "Y" by Mrs. D'Arcy Hubbell, a veteran hostess who was at the first party in November, 1939. Mrs. Hubbell served as a hostess at the Beaver Hut in London during the last war.

Sapper Kelland then plunged a knife into a birthday cake, decorated with four candles and flow-ers. The cake was soon devoured in its entirety by the 300, or so, servicemen and girls who were on hand.

"Veterans" Present

Other "veterans" those who were on hand when the parties were inaugurated four years ago, included F. B. Wilson and his wife (Mr. Wilson started the popular parties). Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. M. Brodie, and Miss Joan Donnelly, who headed the hostesses last Saturday evening. The hostesses are members of the "Y" gym classes.

Others present included W. S. Gilpin, chairman of the Westmount Y.M.C.A.'s War Services Committee, L. W. Townsend, member of the board of management, and hard-working Ernest Taylor, boys' work secretary.

In addition to entertaining 50,000 men at their weekly dances, the branch has also provided free swims for 47,000 servicemen and provided many of the men in uniform with other recreational activities. In all 286,698 men in uniform have been registered at the branch for all activities since the war began. The men are provided with swims, gym classes, dancing lessons, and some groups have teams entered in the house basketball leagues. Last summer, Mr. Taylor announced, five servicemen, all coming from the provinces, were taught to swim with only one lesson.

Among those who applauded Kelland vigorously was L. W. Townsend, assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal and a member of the board of the Westmount branch.

CAUSE FOR SATISFACTION

RESULTS of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan locally should give us great satisfaction. The various teams that worked throughout this district were obviously good ones, and they received a sympathetic and patriotic welcome by local residents. We showed again that in this phase of the war, as in others, we are one with the rest of Canada in bringing about the defeat of our enemies in the shortest possible time. Our objective was a difficult one, as thousands of local residents do their bond buying downtown, through their places of business. In the circumstances our showing is one of which we can well be proud.

THE COMPULSORY EDUCATION LAW

FOR THE first time, school children all over the Province of Quebec are at their desks under a compulsory educational system. The law, sponsored by the Godbout government, was adopted at the last session of the Legislature despite opposition which, obviously, was dictated more by a rash desire to play politics than by the willingness to display sound reasoning. Compulsory education for younger children is an accepted element of any complete educational system today, and, as Premier Godbout said in his presentation of the law, Quebec cannot remain behind.

If there be sincere doubters over the desirability of compulsory education, it is likely that the post-war period will change their views. For this will be, more than ever before, an age of specialization, and primary education in Quebec merely lays a solid foundation for the children later to benefit by agricultural, technical or crafts schools. Instead of being thrown upon the world with a smattering of a few subjects, Quebec children will be equipped to tackle advanced subjects of their choice; and that is the road to success and independence. In the past, too many Quebec children have grown up ill-equipped to capitalize upon the native ability which is theirs.

It seems almost fantastic that Premier Godbout and his supporters should have had to fight for the adoption of the compulsory education law. It was approved by the province's highest educational authorities before it was presented to the Legislative Assembly. It was claimed, for many years, by educationists who said that Quebec's educational system could never be called either truly modern or truly complete without such a law. And it was so direct in its appeal to logic that little but undiluted politics could have dictated the very threadbare arguments which were heard against placing all Quebec children on an equal footing in primary education, and thus affording all Quebec children an equal start in life.

It is significant that, while there was much noise from Premier Godbout's political opponents while the bill was in the House, little if any of that opposition has been voiced since the law was adopted. On the other hand, Premier Godbout and his colleagues have not lost an opportunity to predict that the benefits of compulsory education would soon be apparent. Of course—and they will furnish one more answer to those who, for political reasons, always visualize Quebec as something different from the rest of the province.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

TODAY is Armistice Day, the day that marked the end of the last World War—a war which we hoped and believed had been a war to end all wars. But the ensuing peace conference and its aftermath made it all too apparent to thinking men that the seeds were being planted which would produce another upheaval. The foggy political thinking, the seeming lack of knowledge of elementary economics, the misunderstanding of human nature, and the lack of authority behind some of the delegates, doomed the conference to failure.

This time, however, there is good reason to think it will be different, if only for the reason that the largest and most powerful nation in Europe will be sitting in instead of being treated as if she belonged on another planet. And her delegation will be headed by a man who has shown himself one of the most hard-headed realists of our time. As Kirk Cameron told the Commencement gathering at St. Laurent High School last Friday night: "I think we shall find that the most practical proposals at the peace table will come from the Russians. The man in the Kremlin has that rare ability to brush aside all extraneous and superficial considerations and get right to the core of a problem." Getting to the core of things will not prove too difficult with the co-operation that Roosevelt and Churchill will give, both of them with long records of taking the realistic view of things.

With our enemies tobogganing to defeat, we can anticipate the peace conference. And we can look forward to a much more practical approach to post-war problems than that which was inaugurated twenty-five years ago today.

The Aegean island of Cos was, in peace, chiefly noted as the home of Cos lettuce. Some time before that it was famed as the home of Hippocrates. In future histories it seems likely to be remembered for a darker reason: as the place where the forces of freedom first got what they are asking for when they accept Fascists as co-belligerents—betrayal and defeat.

Modern dances look more like a race in the opinion of a reformer. Usually ending neck and neck.—Guelph Mercury.

Letters to the Editor

RETRIBUTION

To the Editor,
Sir:—There has been much of late concerning the shortage of newsprint. Much valuable space might be saved if all reference were left out of the trials, tribulations and general sorrows of the Italians.

This does not apply so much to your paper as to some of those which feature pictorial sections. I am heartily sick of pictures of weeping, wailing Italian women bemoaning the loss of their men at the hands of the Germans; of dead Italians (so they tell us, and they might be anybody) strewn about the streets having presumably been hacked to pieces by the Germans. These so-called "atrocities" leave me completely cold. As far as I am concerned, the Germans can have a complete field day among the Italians and I wouldn't turn a hair.

May I ask you to turn your editorial mind back a few years to those shadowed days when Italy was allowed to ride rampant through Ethiopia and the glorious victories that were heralded which actually, when you got down to it, were not such triumphs since it would be a poor machine gun which couldn't make a bad mess of a poor untrained, naked black body as most of their "enemies" were then. An assailed is a poor defence against a tank. I saw (quite unofficially) some pretty horrible photographs, not intended as propaganda since they were not for the public eye, taken of small boy victims of glorious Fascism. Since the Latin mind when aroused in any kind of emotion, humorous or otherwise, rarely rises above the belt, I leave it to you to figure out just what form the atrocities took in this instance. —T.

MONTREAL POWER

To the Editor,
I hope that Premier Godbout does not think that the citizens of Montreal are in favor of his proposed confiscation of the Montreal Light Heat & Power Co., if he does he has a rude awakening at the next election.

The 30,000 shareholders, a large number of them custom owners of the Company and shareholders of other utilities in the province who can expect the same treatment, will act when the time comes. The citizens of Montreal have not forgotten the water deal scandal and remember how their taxes were doubled as soon as it was taken away from private enterprise. He is promising to discontinue the nuisance

Westmount Baptist

An interesting programme will be presented in Westmount Baptist Church on Sunday evening when Dr. Ben Gullison, physician and surgeon, will present an illustrated address entitled: "A School of Eternal Life." Dr. Gullison is not only most competent in his own profession but he is a photographer of outstanding ability. The slides to be shown as illustrating his messages, are all from photographs taken by himself and are of unusual colour and beauty. The morning service, too, will be of great interest. Arrangements have been made whereby laymen will speak from the pulpits of churches throughout the convention, with regard to the enterprise which is being promoted this year. The speaker will be J. G. Jocham. His address will be entitled, "Your Servants for Christ's Sake." Dr. Johnston will conduct both services.

The Westmount Fireside Fellowship takes place following the evening service. At this happy gathering of young people, Dr. Gullison will speak, bringing a fascinating and challenging message. On Sunday evening, November 21st, Westmount Baptist Choir, under the leadership of Mr. Hibbert Troop, organist and choir-master, will present the first of its recitals for the season. This programme begins at 8.45. The high quality of the programmes rendered last season warrants anticipation of even greater accomplishments in the season that lies ahead.

taxes and try to balance his budget by increasing the rates of Electric Power consumers, the latter tax will be so much easier to collect. I have not met any one yet who is in favor of it. One government employee remarked, "I think of the service we will get under Government monopoly. When the superintendent of services will try to reprimand the meter reader for spending too much time in the park, he will say, 'You cannot talk like that to me, I will talk to my Member about you.'"

RUMMAGE SALE THEFTS

To the Editor,
Sir,
I assisted at a rummage sale recently and I never was so disgusted in my life. The quiet, nicely-spoken people who came to the sale never had a chance, for the manner in which the others pushed, grabbed and stole was appalling. I was acting as cashier in the "dress department". The people charged at the table, almost knocking the helpers behind it off their feet and while they (the helpers) tried to steady the table the "customers" grabbed the clothes and stuffed it into their bags. I am not exaggerating. There were sixty dresses on the rack before the sale began and I did not receive money for more than twenty. For a while it looked as though there would be a free-for-all and someone would be seriously hurt. As it was, one helper's coat was torn, but the climax of the afternoon came when the purses of two helpers were stolen from behind the counters.

If there had been more sales-ladies the situation would not have been quite so bad, and perhaps it would have been wise to have a couple of policemen on hand, but it is a sorry state of affairs when one needs "police protection" to sell a few articles of clothing. Probably the persons with the stolen articles are chuckling to themselves, but they really are not as smart as they think. Most of the women assisting at the sale were so thoroughly disgusted that they will never contribute another article to a rummage sale as long as they live. They won't spend hours washing, ironing, mending, or use rationed gasoline to collect bundles. Just to have the articles stolen. A rummage sale is supposed to serve two purposes. It gives people who are hard up an opportunity to buy good clothing for a fraction of what it is worth and the proceeds are used for some benevolent purpose. The organization which sponsored this particular sale has done a lot of good work around the city. I am sorry for the decent people who came to the sale hoping to buy something useful, and I am sorry for the people who would have benefitted by the sale of the stolen goods.

The Dundalk Herald says that "with the bank manager, a minister, butcher, undertaker, doctor and, last but not the least, the village constable on holiday, 'dog days' have really settled on this village." But surely these must be the very opposite of dog days for the good people of Dundalk. With no bank manager to bound them, no minister to preach dog-ma, no butcher to sell them their chow, no doctor to poke at their insides, no constable—and no undertaker—to dog their footsteps, they should be just about the most dog-free people in a dog's age.

At the evening service Mr. Geth will deal with a subject which may be of great importance to our national life, taking as his topic: "The Refugee, Canada and God." This will be a frank, candid statement of our plain duty if we wish our Christianity to be more than a sham, or if we wish to dismiss as impracticable, silly and visionary each impulse towards a greater humanity.

Christian Science

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 14th.

The Golden Text is from Romans 8:13. "If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live." Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness." (Psalms 17:15).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human birth, growth, maturity, and decay are as the grass springing from the soil with beautiful green blades, afterwards to wither and return to its native nothingness. This mortal seeming is temporal; it never merges into immortal being, but finally disappears, and immortal man, spiritual and eternal, is found to be the real man." (Page 190.)

Wide Variety Of Plans For Boys Is Outlined By Glenn Wood

Attendance so far has been well maintained at the Swim Club of the Y.M.C.A. The boys are practising their strokes with diligence and enthusiasm, paying attention to breathing, leg kick, necessary to good swimming.

Attention is also being paid by Glenn Wood, instructor, to gaining in endurance swimming. Boys who begin by covering a length of the pool with difficulty often progress to 10 lengths without undue exertion.

Later in the season, Mr. Wood hopes that his charges will progress sufficiently to permit of their learning a variety of strokes.

Different kicks for different strokes will be taught, such as the sidestroke, flutter and the frog. As the boys develop they will be introduced to diving. Instruction is planned in six major dives—the front header, the swan, the jack-knife, the back dive, the forward somersault, and the back somersault.

To pupils who reach a high stage of proficiency will be offered training in the half-gainer. In a talk with the Examiner, Mr. Wood said: "We hope to be able to secure a team for the city-wide swim meets. On Fridays, Jim Kearney, noted instructor from the Central Y.M.C.A. will take the swim class here. I shall conduct the class on Mondays at 4 p.m. The Friday night class under Mr. Kearney will meet at 8 p.m."

In the younger gym classes a certain liveliness manifests itself. The Preps are turning out in fine numbers. It is possible that this class may have to be divided to accommodate all the boys. There is no danger of lack of room. All who come can be accommodated.

Attendance at the junior classes has jumped by over 300 per cent since the football season ended. The outlook is less favorable among the intermediates. Many find it harder to get out to the gym, so attendance has naturally fallen off. This is accounted for by the large number of youths who are working out. The standard of willingness to work among those who do come is very high. These work diligently on the parallel bars and with the rings, the main apparatus which they

Friday Night Party Is Held By YMCA

Big Doings at Opener Of 1943-1944 Season

"Big doings" was the order of the night for the Westmount Y.M.C.A. last Friday evening. Both of the "Y's" upper rooms and the gymnasium were in use.

In one of the upper rooms Westmount Hi-Y and "Y" members were holding the first Friday night party of the 1943-44 season. Joanne Shaw and Betty Kelly, both graduates of the McGill school of physical education and the former a Westmount High grad, were on hand to see that things ran smoothly.

A minor catastrophe occurred when the amplifier on the gramophone broke down. Things looked bad for a few minutes but boys' work secretary Ernest Taylor soon had things going again.

In the other of the "Y's" upper rooms a group of young folks from Tadoussac were having their annual get-together. It was a very enjoyable occasion.

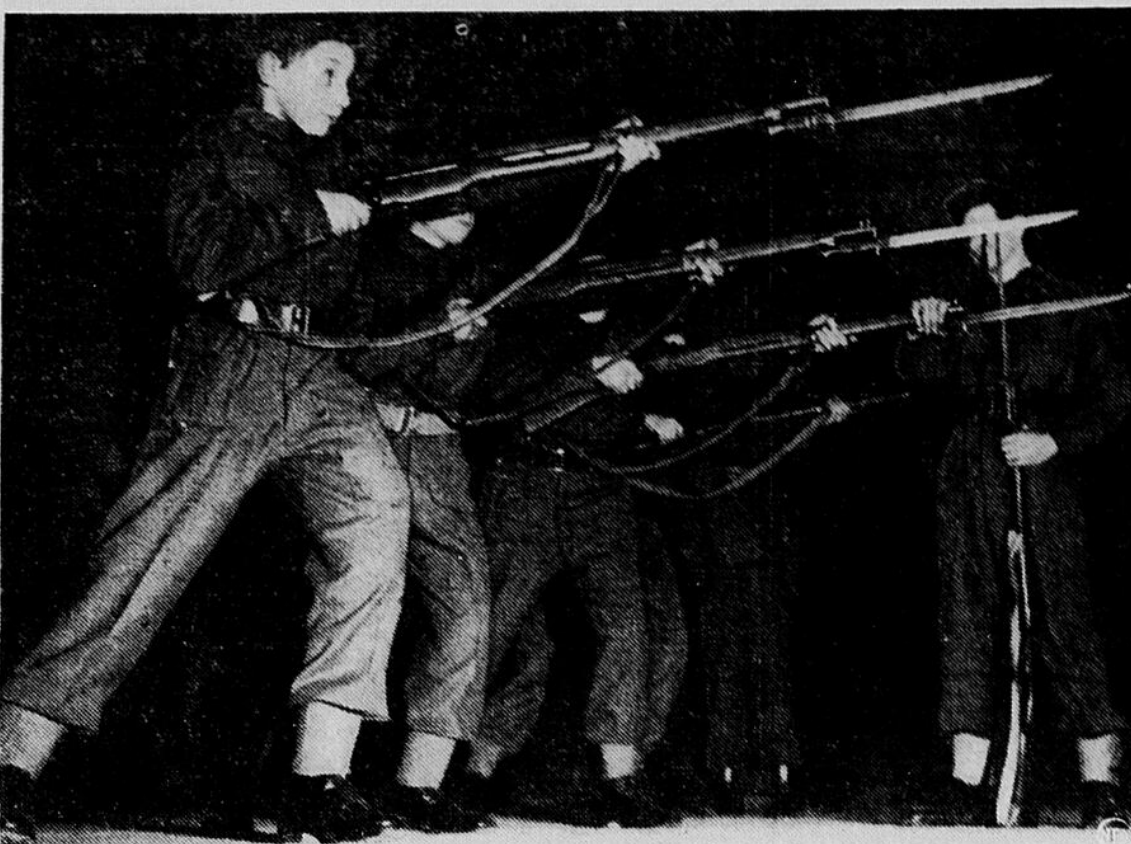

Downstairs in the gym Bob Beale's Westmount Y. M. C. A. badminton club was holding sway.

of the mother's objection, I wish they would let us know and we will advise them to the best of our ability.

"With regard to clothing, any boy coming into the gym must have a regular gym costume consisting of running shoes, shorts and shirt. If there is any difficulty in procuring these, I wish parents would call me at Wilbank 2159.

"A word about basketball for intermediates," concluded Mr. Wood. "We are meeting at four on Thursdays. John Dudley and Ronnie Morrow of last year's team are forming the nucleus of this year's combination. We might go into the city-wide league or even if we make good progress into the Montreal Basket Ball League."

Round Table Chats

THE NEARLY NEW SHOP

This week, we are turning over the seat of honour to Dorothy Christie who gives us information of absorbing interest about the Nearly New Shop's war effort.

Westmount may well be proud of its record in connection with the success of the Nearly New Shop. Its citizens have been most generous in their gifts, and in volunteering their time and work. Of a committee of seven, four are from Westmount: Mrs. H. H. Boyd, Mrs. W. E. C. Irwin, Mrs. Garnet Strong and Mrs. Keith Nelles. Nineteen other Westmount residents are among the volunteers who staff the shop.

Says Dorothy Christie: "The Victory Loan Campaign has ended, leaving us all with empty pockets, and the approach of Christmas has us all feeling round to see if, by any lucky chance, a dime might have fallen through a hole in the lining. Nevertheless, it is still possible to help the war effort in a big way without spending a cent.

"Every household, large or small, has a stock of things that are seldom, if ever used, and all of us, in this lucky Canada of ours, have more than we really need. Every one of these articles can be turned into cash for the war effort if they are handed over to the Nearly New Shop, on University street. Already, since re-opening in September, the Shop has distributed over six thousand dollars to various war charities, and last year donations averaged one thousand a month, all from the sale of articles donated by patriotic people of Montreal and its environs.

Any Oddments
The name "Nearly New" may be misleading. Actually, the volunteer group who run the shop are grateful for anything but clothing. One of the most profitable corners of the shop is a ten cent shelf full of odd cups, bowls, egg-beaters, jugs and plates and oddments of all kinds. Many articles, received in a damaged condition, can be repaired and sold, and the only difficulty is the rate at which the stock is depleted. We could sell twice as much if we only had it to sell," wailed one of the committee. "People flock in, ready to buy anything from a silver cigarette case to a pair of skates and the stock simply melts." It is up to the housewives of Montreal to part with things they do not need to keep this grand war effort going.

Sentiment keeps many a top shelf filled with wedding presents—mother's silver basket, little Johnnie's first silver mug, and a set of dishes that belonged to great-aunt Mathilda. They are all gathering dust and making house-cleaning more complicated when they could be helping people whose need is desperate and urgent. There are so many thousands of people in Europe who fled from their homes with all their earthly possessions piled in an old perambulator, and thousands of British families who dug fruitlessly in the smoking ruins of their homes, trying in vain to salvage one wearable garment or usable cooking utensil. Here in Canada there is great distress among the families of men who are serving overseas, and the service men themselves need comforts and medical supplies while on active service.

It is impossible to take the articles to the store at 1212 University street, a volunteer will call, but gasoline rationing makes pick-ups a problem.

The evening service at 7:30 p.m. will be attended by the members of Remembrance Branch No. 75 of the Canadian Legion—British Empire Service League, of which Capt. Jones is a Comrade member. He will conduct the service and preach the sermon on the theme "Let Us Forget." Members of the various services both men and women as well as veterans and reserve men are heartily invited to attend. Comrades of other branches of the Legion are most cordially invited to share in this service. All members of the Legion are invited to meet in the church hall at 7 p.m. so as to proceed in a body to the church auditorium.

five o'clock. They don't eat what they had chosen from the corner grocery store—they eat the hash that they have collected (not had set before them) and pretend to like it. They don't have a new suit of clothes until they can show numerous holes in the last—and even then they don't choose a colour or a model. When their day's work is over (and they are not on night manoeuvres, or exercises, or guard, or special duty, or fire picket), then they are permitted to until ten thirty—and are never a minute late.

I saw a group of our lads off on the Hamburg raids. It was a magnificent sight—their morale, their spirit, their courage, was an inspiration. When I waved a "thumbs up" to brother George as his plane took off, I felt a pride rise within me that knows no expression. And after he had gone I found mingling with my pride, an anxiety that only brothers can know. Having a brother never before meant as much to me as those six hours of waiting—until a friendly voice said, "He's back." "He's O.K." "Two missing." The voice was friendly, yes—but very tired and a little shaky. Oh, if those factory workers could only have spent the six hours I spent! If they could realize that instead of my brother it might have been their own brother, or their son, or their friend's son or brother, or even their own close friend, then they would begin to see themselves in the same sickly yellow light in which we now see them.

They are doing a grand job in the eyes of the world (and in our eyes) but they won't be judged by the number of planes they have turned out but by the number they could have given us to beat the enemy, and by the times they let us down.

If I could, I would warm them now that many more shows like that and they, after the Germans will be facing our fighting men. I do hope they won't have too many embarrassing questions to answer.

School Red Cross Society Sponsors Season 1st Dance

Westmount High School's Red Cross society will sponsor its first dance of the 1943-44 season on Friday afternoon, November 19. Doug Lawley, Latin teacher of the High School and chief adviser of the club, has announced that Hal Leavitt will be in charge of all arrangements.

This year the Red Cross's proceeds will be used to purchase dental equipment for Canadian prisoners of war in Germany.

The Red Cross dance will get underway at four o'clock and will end at about six-thirty. Light refreshments will be served.

The dancers will cavort to the music of such famous bands as Glenn Miller's, Harry James', and Tommy Dorsey's, through the medium of a juke box.

Students from other schools are more than welcome.

Where's Bobby Tonight, Mother?

BOBBY IS YOUR PROBLEM TOO

YOU cannot hide the natural anxiety behind such a simple question. Brother Bill is "over there" but Bobby, aged 13—where is he?—What is he doing—What company is he keeping?—What habits is he forming in those hours away from home?

It wasn't so bad when Bill was around for he could always be depended on to keep an eye on his young brother. Now, with Bill gone, who is Bobby looking to for leadership? If it's the wrong one—the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency is enough to cause any parent to worry.

You cannot keep young people home all the time—but you CAN be sure they have some place to go to play and let off steam—somewhere where the influences and acquaintances they meet will build—not destroy their character and their health—where you know they are under trained, understanding supervision—where they will learn to be good, clean citizens instead of malcontents and worse.

When someone asks "Where's Bobby tonight?" there's a big sense of relief to hear the answer "Bobby?—Oh, he's 'round at the 'Y' tonight."

Is your "Bobby" on Service?

If so you will be glad to know the Y.M.C.A. is serving them at over 2,700 locations throughout Canada and overseas, helping to brighten their leisure hours in every possible way. The buildings of the Montreal Y.M.C.A. are always open to men of the services who enjoy the use of the swimming pools, baths, gymnasiums, social and recreation rooms without charge, while women's committees arrange regular concerts, teas, dances, home visits and other events. Over 280,000 attendances were recorded in Montreal 'Y' buildings alone last year.

Be GLAD there's a MONTREAL Y.M.C.A.—make sure there always is—support.

Initialed Two-Piecer

Smart Detail

The two-piecer is glad news for the school-going or clock-punching Junior Miss... thrilling news when it's initialed! Pattern 9527, made up in wool or velveteen... with jeweled buttons added, goes even to dates. We've included an alphabet transfer pattern.

Pattern 9527 comes only in Junior Miss sizes 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17. Size 13 requires 3 1/2 yards 35-inch nap fabric and 3/4 yard contrast.

Each pattern costs twenty-five cents (25c), which should be sent in coin (stamps cannot be accepted) to The Examiner, Needlecraft Department, 2191 Hampton Ave., N.D.G., Montreal. Write the pattern desired, the pattern number, your name and address.

Because of the slowness of the mails delivery of our patterns may take a few days longer than usual.

Some mighty smart detail gives the extra touch to this straightforward two-piecer, Pattern 9489. Note the smooth hips, in one piece with the bodice panel. Can't you picture this outfit in a soft woolen mixture or flattering rayon crepe? It will be the mainstay of your wardrobe through many seasons.

Pattern 9489 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50. Size 36, 2 1/2 yards 54-inch.

Many Leather Articles
 One popular item is a billfold with nine identification card pockets, besides one for personal cards. Then there is a khaki or blue twill billfold with single identification window. A sterling silver comb with file and knife attached in a pickin' or pinseal case is another idea.

Game Sets
 Game sets while away hoursoff duty, and checkers, rummy, and chess sets are available in compact case. A men's shave set holds a box of talcum, and a brushless shave cream—the whole light weight and an excellent buy for your Christmas package.

The latest gift to be added to the list is the "fox hole pillow." Hairfilled, water repellent, weighing only 3 ounces, it stows away comfortably in the crown of a helmet.

Knitted helmets, of course, and regulation wool sweaters, socks, scarfs, and gloves are always soft and warm to tuck into a package, and are welcomed by the recipient.

Westmount Girls Hi-Y Plan Many Activities

Westmount Girls Hi-Y Grads are planning a busy season of activities. Arrangements are being made to write a gossipy letter of home activities to the boys with the Canadian armed forces overseas. Members are asked to come primed with ideas to a supper meeting on Wednesday at the Y.M.C.A. beginning at 6.15 p.m. As the club grows it is planned to have splash parties and sleigh rides. There is also a project to entertain service men later in the season.

WAR-TIME LAYETTE CHARMS AT EXHIBIT

A preview of young Canada's wartime wardrobe as it has been evolved from durable pre-war materials was seen in Montreal this week at an exhibition arranged by the Women's Regional Advisory Committee, Consumer Branch of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Complete wardrobes, including underwear, school suits for boys and frocks for girls as well as snow suits, all fashioned from discarded clothing were in the exhibit. The object was to show to what practical use, good discarded materials may be put in the interest of conserving present supplies of wool and cotton.

The exhibit was opened to the public on Tuesday evening in the Mount Royal Hotel, Salon D. Mrs. J. Leslie Hodges, chairman of the Advisory Committee, arranged for the showing. It is under her direction that seven remake clinics have been opened in Montreal since last spring, and the exhibit was featured to interest additional Montreal mothers in the art of re-making and remodeling to create durable wartime wardrobes for their children as it is taught in the re-make clinics.

One of the special features of the exhibit was a complete wartime layette fashioned from pre-war woolsens and muslins. It was as dainty as a peacetime baby layette, and sufficiently practical to serve several wartime babies.

Rummage Sale

The Women's Auxiliary of the Montreal Children's Hospital is holding a rummage sale in St. Stephen's Church Hall today, at 2 p.m.

Keeping The Furnace Happy While On Short Fuel Ration

To keep your home as comfortable as possible during this winter's fuel shortage, give your heating equipment a tip-toe checkup, and see whether it conforms to the following standards:

Chimneys should be at least three feet higher than nearby trees and roofs. The chimney top should be free of all decoration. Air leakage through the basement clean-out door should be eliminated. If you have a fireplace connected to the same chimney, seal the leaks with furnace or asbestos cement.

A chimney should not have more than one heater connected to it. If you do not have a separate flue for your hot water heater, turn off the turn damper in the connecting smoke-pipe whenever you are not using the heater.

Clean Boiler
 Your boiler should be drained of any existing scale, and refilled—to the top in a hot water system, and as far as the steam line in a steam system.

The smoke-pipe should be short, and should slant upward. Eliminate unnecessary elbows. The pipe should be flush with the inside wall of the chimney nearest the opening.

For safety, the check damper must be located between the chimney and the turn damper, and the check-damper should be at least three-fourths of the smoke-pipe area. The turn damper should not stick, and you should be sure that you know its normal position so that you can tell whether it is open or shut.

Firing, asphit and damper doors should not be warped. Grates should not be warped or broken.

There should be no air leaks about the heater or chimney. Find them by going over casting and pipe joints, around the base of the heater doors, smoke-pipe and chimney connection, with a lighted candle—the flame will be drawn towards the crack. Then talk with furnace cement.

Insulation on heater and heater pipes should not be loose or cracked. The humidifier should be emptied and all incrustations removed.

All dirty filters should be replaced. The safety valves in the steam system should be checked in make sure that they are in perfect working order.

Radiators should be gone over with an oiled cloth to prevent rust and save paint. There should be a reflection shield between the radiator and the wall to prevent the wall from absorbing heat. Remove radiator covers in order to get the maximum heat.

CORRECTION
 Due to a typographical error in these columns last week it was stated that the Montreal Women's Club had subscribed $350 to the Fifth Victory Loan. The figure should have been $3,500.

Word Pictures Of Churchill Given To Women's Club

"Churchill is the living symbol of the unity of the English-speaking races. In these three and a half years he has completely united the fighting powers of our people, and he is the staunchest and most understanding friend to visit our shores since Lafayette," said Mr. Louis J. Alber of Cleveland, O., speaking under the auspices of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club on Friday afternoon. The large audience in Victoria Hall included representatives of civic and federal governments, schools, churches and the legal and other professions.

Mrs. S. A. MacSweeney, president of the club, introduced the speaker, who is an author, world traveller, business man and student of economics and world affairs, intimately acquainted with hundreds of famous people of our time from humorists like the late Will Rogers to explorers like Nansen and Wilkins.

Alber, accompanied by Mrs. Churchill and their daughter Diana, through a tour of 45 lectures in 1932. Though nobody knew it at the time this lecture tour might have had far-reaching consequences affecting the course of the present war, for Alber recounted how the great statesman very nearly lost his life in an automobile accident. At that time, too, agents of an Asiatic power had to be foiled in their attempts to assassinate him. It was during these trying weeks that Mr. Alber became intimately acquainted with "The Irresistible Winston Churchill."

Looking back over the twenty-year effort to persuade Churchill to lecture in the States, Mr. Alber said that during that period of time Churchill was either sitting on top of the wall, or away down at the bottom of the wall, busily putting himself together again! His character was clean cut and sharply defined with no fuzzy edges. He was not part this, or part that—but all this or all that; the most forthright man he had ever known, which accounted in great part for the enemies he made. Another characteristic of Churchill's, said Mr. Alber, is his impatience. In youth he was dubbed "Young man in hurry." "At 69," went on the speaker, "he is still in a hurry, which is fortunate for the British Empire. It was this characteristic impatience which for years prevented him from becoming Prime Minister, but what had once been regarded as his greatest fault is now considered one of his greatest virtues."

Many little incidents of the tour were related to illustrate Churchill's humour, kindness, courage, consideration and democratic attitude. Of the great man's personal tastes Mr. Alber said dryly that as his lecture manager he found him easily pleased with the best of everything.

"Churchill," said the speaker, "is a square shooter. He never alibis." And the impact of his personality was so great it smothered you into silence. He said he would have to define it in Hollywood English and say it was colossal—super-colossal. Some of the reasons for Churchill being today the pick of the great world figures, is that he has tremendous energy, is hard-working and is his own severest critic; that he has a prodigious memory, can concentrate ferociously and that he is a great orator. "My judgment," said Mr. Alber, "is that he is the greatest orator of our times, and one of the five or six great orators of all time. Yet this man was born with a stutter and a lisp which arose out of a defect of the palate." To be able to overcome these two grave handicaps and speak before a microphone so that millions were unaware of any impediment in his speech, was a tribute to his intelligence and perseverance.

"One of the great short speeches of history," said Mr. Alber, "was delivered at the time of the Munich Conference. Chamberlain had been acclaimed with cheers for his 'Peace in our Time' speech. When Churchill arose in the House of Commons the cheering subsided sharply and he was booed. He stood silent till the storm had quieted then he said, 'You were offered a choice of war or dishonour. You chose dishonour and you'll get war.' Then he sat down. With these few smiting words many realized that all was not so bad as they had hoped."

"The colossal figure of this terrible but heroic era," said Mr. Alber, "will be this half-Briton, half-American, who is so possessed by the ideal of liberty, he has been ready to die for its triumph—this inspiring Cicero whose every utterance is the inspired statement of an immortal thing—the unconquerable human spirit; this man of blood and tears, toil and sweat—the incomparable, prodigious, irresistible Winston Churchill."

New Scarfs Go To Waist

Versatile Tie-Arounds Sport Pockets

Maybe the general war restlessness has hit scarf designers, for instead of staying put around the neck, this season's newest scarfs skitter all over. Two ways of wearing a typical example are shown above, modeled by Joan McCracken, ballet dancer in the Broadway musical hit, "Oklahoma." At left, it appears as a sash, giving a lively color accent to a solid-color blouse-and-skin combination. At right, it's a heart-warming shawl, worn in jumper style. Wesley Simpson designed it with two huge, handy pockets.

"Please take good care of your Telephone!"

A damaged telephone may be hard or impossible to replace—repair parts are scarce and material for new equipment has gone to war. So please guard your present telephone with extra care. Here, for instance, are six common causes of damage:

1. Never place your telephone on a narrow shelf. Keep it on a wide, firm table or desk.
2. Be careful that the cord does not loop over the drawer handle or knob. Opening the drawer may pull the telephone over; closing it may pinch and damage the cord.
3. Keep your telephone cord unknotted—twisted, knotted or coiled wires are liable to break.
4. When painting, protect your telephone with a cloth of paper. When washing floors or get soaked with water.
5. Always replace the receiver carefully. Bang, correctly on its support. Be sure it is placed causing a "bang" signal.
6. If you have dial service, please do not use a pencil or other sharp point when dialing. It disfigures and damages the dial and often causes a wrong number as well.

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

Dixie came to the Westmount United Theatre last night and the rafters rang with some of the sweetest and hottest music heard in a long time! The Paramount Technicolor musical glorifies America's old-time favorite entertainment—the minstrel show—with King Crooner Crosby himself playing Dan Emmett, the first of the nation's beloved minstrel men. It's romance to music.

Bing, who is co-starred with Dorothy Lamour, does a lot of singing and all of it in his best and most ingratiating style. He is perfectly cast as the loveable troubadour, Emmett, whose music has lived a hundred years so far and will probably live forever. Dottie and Marjorie Reynolds are the two women in Bing's "Dixie" life. You remember Marjorie—she was his sweetheart in "Holiday Inn."

EDUCATION WEEK

This week is being observed as "Education Week." A very wise move on the part of the heads of our institutes of learning for the parents are to have a glimpse of the school activities with the privilege of seeing how their children are being taught. Suddenly, we say suddenly because it has happened thus, the press is devoting many columns to our educational system and the need of greater stress on teaching the youth of this era. Now teaching is being looked upon as such a vital necessity that teachers' positions have been frozen by the government and compulsory education has resulted also.

Parents will be most observant this week and take great interest in the various informative films that will give them an insight into little Johnny's or Mary's studies but why not be interested throughout the school year and co-operate with the teachers continuously. If the parents would do this we are sure that "cramming" for examinations would be eliminated almost immediately and report percentages would rise considerably.

It is true that wartime stress has caused many parents to neglect some duties but let it not be their children's education. It is so important to life's happiness and success. It is something that can only be accomplished when young, for adult education of elementary principles is never so easily acquired or retained even though carefully planned and diligently studied.

Music is now considered an important item on the school curriculum and rightly so. In the United States it is a compulsory subject in various courses and music appreciation is given in all schools. Dr. Walter Damschke that grand old man, probably did more for music in that sphere than any other musical educator since a great many schools installed radios for the express purpose of giving his famous "Music Appreciation Hour" to the pupils. It would be hard to find a man with more knowledge than Dr. Damschke and as yet nobody has continued his remarkable radio hour since this beloved man discontinued two seasons ago. (He is eighty-one years old.)

Progress in school is the same as progress in music and if one has an average, normal, healthy child, school reports will advance if the parents will see that the daily work is done diligently.

"Comrades in Arms," the weekly half-hour radio report by Canada's Navy, Army and Air Force, is now heard on the CBC Sunday afternoons at 5:30 p.m. EDT.

At York Theatre

Starring the actor in what is said to be his finest role to date, Cary Grant's latest picture, "Mr. Lucky," tells the engrossing tale of a self-satisfied gambler who finds he can't buck the combination of fate, a girl and a double-cross. The film is now playing at the York United Theatre until Friday night.

Laraine Day has her biggest opportunity as the heroine, a Park Avenue socialite whose interest in war relief work brings her in contact with Grant, a gambling-boat owner seeking a bank-roll. Grant wants money and doesn't care how he gets it; Miss Day wants money, too, to buy medical supplies to send abroad, but she doesn't approve of Grant's suggestion that he operate a gambling concession at a big charity ball which the relief association is giving.

By trickery and charm and aided by the fact that the girl is falling in love with him, Grant finally gets her consent to the scheme, though she is unaware that he is calmly planning to run off with the entire receipts. But his biggest trick backfires on him unexpectedly, and in a sudden burst of honesty he decides to play fair with the girl and the relief organization.

This, however, doesn't suit his greedy ex-partner, and things begin to happen with firecracker speed when the ball gets under way. The outcome leads to the picture's surprise ending, which is handled in an unusual fashion.

Supporting the two principals is a notable cast headed by Charles Bickford as the tough old skipper of Grant's boat, Gladys Cooper as the head of the war relief group and Alan Carney, a talented newcomer, as Grant's loyal bodyguard. The settings of the RKO Radio picture include, in addition to Grant's vessel, two big homes, a swank hotel and the war relief offices. They are exceptionally well designed, and David Hempstead's production values help to give "Mr. Lucky" the importance it deserves as Grant's first solo starring vehicle.

Sixty percent of the general service personnel in Canadian Army home war establishments or on the staffs of training centres in Canada are below category "A" or more than 35 years of age.

ORIOLES GAIN FIRST PLACE IN MIDGET SIX MAN RUGBY

Beating Sharks 21-0 Orioles Win Sixth Straight Game and Complete Season Undeleted—Ronnie Brambell and Malcolm Main Guns in Last Game

Freddie Dejean's Orioles clinched first place in the standings of the midget section in the Westmount Municipal Six Man Rugby League when they ran roughshod over the Sharks 21-0 in their last scheduled game of league play. This marked the sixth straight win for the Orioles without defeat who also went through the season without being scored upon.

The playoffs in the midget section were slated to begin Tuesday with the Royals and Red Wings meeting in the first game of a two-game-total-points-to-count series, the second game to be played on Saturday morning. In the other half of the semi-final series, the Orioles hook up against the Hurricanes this afternoon at King George Park in the first game of their two games total-points-to-count series. The second game of this series will also be played on Saturday morning. In both cases, if the winning team captures the tilt by fifteen points or more, no second game will be played and the winner of the first game will be declared the winner of the series.

The winners of these two semi-final series will then meet in a two-out-of-three game series to decide the championship of the section. Ronnie Brambell and Malcolm Turner were the main guns in the Orioles win over the Sharks, as Malcolm Turner's forward passes generally found a warm welcome in Brambell's arms and as a result, Brambell went over the Sharks' line for three major scores. Turner accounted for the other Oriole touchdown with Brambell supplying the convert. Freddie Dejean of the Orioles ended up the season on top of the scoring list with 51 points to his credit. Others in line were Charlie Cook, Hurricanes, 30; Malcolm Turner, Orioles, 25; Roy Howard, Royals, 20; Johnnie Piers, Royals, 17; Ronnie Brambell, Orioles, 16; George McLanders, Red Wings, 15; Bob Woodburn, Red Wings, 13; Frank Read, Royals, 12; Simon Hughes-Stanton, Hurricanes, 11; George Johnston, Eagles, 11; Brendan Neeson, Orioles, 11; Dave Glassford, Red Wings, 10; Harold Young, Red Wings, 10; Warren Chippendale, Royals, 6; Tom Armstrong, Royals, 5; Allan Dibble, Royals, 5; John Field, Sharks, 5; Dave Barnard, Red Wings, 5; Earle MacDonald, Orioles, 1; Bucky Hight, Eagles, 1; Derek Cushing, Hurricanes, 1.

The final standing of the section was as follows:

P. R. Minto Heads City Services Hockey League

Many Softball Players Included in City Services Loop

P. R. Minto was elected president of the Westmount Services Hockey League at the organization meeting of that body held recently. This league is an offshoot of the intermediate section of the Westmount Municipal League. The service teams prefer to play most of their games indoors this year so they changed their name and will play most of their games at Loyola.

The teams in the Westmount Services loop will be many of those seen in the municipal softball league during the summer. Four have returned from last year's municipal intermediate circuit including the champion R.C.A.F. No. 1 Wireless School, R.C.A.F. No. 3 Training Command, No. 4 Ordnance Corps and the Canadian Provost Corps. The newcomers are the Longue Pointe Ordnance Depot which played in the softball league and the RCAF No. 11, A. 1. Division.

The teams will play their games at Loyola rink on Thursday nights with other games scheduled for the same rink on Fridays and Wednesdays. The remaining games will be played outdoors.

Beau Thurston, who has handled most of the refereeing assignments in the municipal league for the past three years, was chosen as vice-president of the league and will act in the capacity of referee-in-chief as well. Jim McCormick, recreation supervisor in the City of Westmount was elected as secretary while Lieut. J. Hue of the No. 4 Ordnance and Sgt. Ed Butler of the Canadian Provost Corps are on the financial committee. The league schedule is expected to get underway around the first week of January. The loop will take the status of an intermediate "B" calibre.

Organization Meet Of Hockey League Set For Nov. 22nd

All Teams — Juvenile, Midget and Bantam Expected to Attend

The organization meeting of the various sections in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League will be held on Monday evening November 22nd at Victoria Hall, this will be for all teams in the juvenile, midget and bantam sections.

As usual it is hoped to get the league games underway some time after New Year's as the schedule generally begins the first week of January.

The municipal league had a very successful season last year as regards the number of teams entered, there were three juveniles, five midgets and eight bantams. It is not known just yet what the prospects are for this year but it is hoped that there will be at least three juvenile entries while the midget and bantam prospects should be as bright as in other years.

Dougie Alexander will sponsor three Golden Eagles teams this year, one in each section of the league. In all probability Mr. Boxer will have his Royals entered in the juvenile section of the league, the Royals won the midget

Bob Beal Named As New President Of Badminton Club

Dorothy Swindon, Kay Mitchell, Jean Adam, W. Everatt and Elsie Paterson Also Elected

Bob Beal was elected president of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Badminton Club at the annual meeting held last week. Dorothy Swindon was named first vice-president, Kay Mitchell second vice-president, Jean Adam is secretary and William Everatt, treasurer and Elsie Paterson social convener. Members at large of the committee are Marguerite Ormston, Gladys Morgan, Marjorie Lewis.

The executive will meet on Friday night when a programme for the coming year will be discussed. Tournaments and socials before Christmas are possibilities. The Badminton Club has made considerable progress and is increasing in popularity. So great has been the demand for memberships that the list is now closed except for men in the services.

Total food production in the United States this year is expected to exceed last year's record production by about 5 per cent.

Rain Holds Up Bantam Playoffs

Rindyinks Now in Fourth Place in Loop

The continuous rain during the past week or so has cut down the number of games scheduled to be played in the bantam section of the Westmount Municipal Six-Man-Rugby League. Although the league schedule itself has been concluded the loop playoffs involving the first four teams has received a severe setback. The lone game able to be played off settled the fourth place team as the Rindyinks swamped the Cardinals 34-5 on Saturday morning.

The initial games in the semi-final playoff series were scheduled to get underway some time last week but the most recent date was yesterday afternoon at King George Park where the Rindyinks met the Red Wings and the Greyhounds played the Dragons. The second games in these total-points-to-count series will be played on Saturday morning with the Dragons meeting the Greyhounds at 10.00 a.m. and the Red Wings and Rindyinks hooking up at 10.45 a.m. In the event of any of the teams winning the first game of the series by fifteen points or more they will be declared the winners without the necessity of playing the second tilt.

The Rindyinks had very little trouble with the Cardinals in their sudden-death game to decide fourth place and a spot in the loop playoffs. The winners took an 11-0 lead at half-time and increased it to 34-5 by the end of the game. Joe Carter led the winners on the offensive with eighteen points via three touchdowns and three converts. Normie Kerr was next in line with ten points, while Jackie Martin with five and Richard Lord with one, accounted for the winner's remaining points. The losers cut loose with one scoring play when Hazen Costello grabbed a forward pass on his own side of centerfield and ran the rest of the way for an unconverted touchdown.

ST. LEO'S SPORTS By BILLY HAROLD

With King Frost making his presence felt it signifies the end of another scholastic football season. This has been one of the most successful gridiron seasons our school has ever enjoyed. The Senior "B" squad surprised football fans when they upset the highly touted Red Raiders from West Hill for the City title, and our Bantams showed fine form all season to finish second to Loyola's power laden club. In the last Bantam game of the year, which was against the title winning Loyola team, all the boys visited the victors' dressing room to pay their compliments, and this was done in the true fine traditional St. Leo's spirit being good losers as well as modest winners. It is too bad this spirit is not contagious as with but one exception we are never honored with the customary visit of an opposing coach on the short end of the score while on the other hand we are proud to say our coach always finds time to drop around to visit the victors' dressing room to congratulate the winners, for, after all, this is only as it should be if boys are to be brought along to play the game in the spirit in which it is intended.

Football Round Up

St. Leo's old boys wishing to go to the Football Social at Victoria Hall, on Friday, Nov. 19, are asked to make their reservations not later than Nov. 15, to be assured of being accommodated. — Don't be surprised if some of our neighboring High Schools start showing unusual interest in some of our Senior "B" football stars under the pretext of higher education, — so get ready, boys, it won't be long now.

Billy Shannon's stellar line play this year would earn him a first string berth on any 1943 mythical all star Senior team in B competition. — Terry Rogers has begun his studies at Notre Dame University after receiving a real heart warming send off from his teammates who gathered at Westmount station to bid him farewell before leaving for South Bend, Ind. The spirited scene at the station is one never to be forgotten and showed a high tribute of respect and admiration in which this popular young athlete and brilliant student was held at our Academy. — Dr. J. T. Rogers and "Baz" O'Meara, two staunch supporters of the value of kicking in football, will likely, in the future, organize an expedition to find out who took the foot out of football. — Jack Martin's sudden improvement near the end of the schedule rates him now as a very promising Junior half. — The interpretation of the dead ball rule will likely be changed as statistics show it has been a cause of quite a few injuries in school football.

Our nomination for the all star quarterback for Senior High School football is Donnie Aird of Catholic High whose smartness, both offensively and defensively, rates him a decided edge. — Not more than six or seven members of this year's Senior "B" squad will be found around when the first call to practise will be given next year, and the

Two Shut-outs In Two Nights

Johnny Mowers marched out of hockey after the Stanley Cup series had been triumphantly concluded by Detroit Red Wings last season, leaving behind him a net-minding record for other goalers to shoot at—two shut-outs in two successive nights, of Stanley Cup play, on foreign ice, as Wings defeated Boston Bruins, 4-0 and 2-0, on April 7 and 8, respectively, in Boston.

Thirty times Mowers had to turn back Bruin shots in the second of these two games. One he stopped with his head, in a tumultuous third period which saw the Wings two men short at one point. Blood poured from a gash under his eye. Mowers refused to delay the game to be sewed up. He tended the goal the last five minutes with blood streaming down his face and it wasn't until the train was pulling out of Boston's South Station, with the last of the breathless Wings still piling aboard, that the club doctor took two stitches in the wound.

It was the first time in modern Cup play history, and probably in the long record of the Cup from its very beginnings that two shut-outs were registered in two successive nights. And to add a fantastic touch, these two goose-eggs were laid by the visiting club. Nothing like it since Rangers shut-out Americans twice, on New York Garden ice, years ago, but not on successive nights.

fact there are no possible replacements for the team, it looks very much like we will be forced out of Senior "B" competition again. — Mickey Bourassa, vest pocket size of a dandy little footballer, will probably be found playing quarterback on 1944 Bantam team. — Dave Manning showed real gameness in his last game by turning in a couple of fine runs though handicapped with a slight knee injury that kept him on the bench most of the time in the last two games of the schedule. — The revival at the Seville Theatre this Friday is "Knute Rockne, Maker of Men," a story of Notre Dame football team and the immortal Rockne, the greatest coach football has ever known.

Use Your Permit Fairly

The permits granted by the Quebec Liquor Commission for the purchase of distilled liquors allow the holders a specified quantity. This quantity has been determined after the closest examination of stocks in hand and probabilities affecting future stocks. It does not mean that every holder is expected to purchase that full quantity. It is a maximum and not an average. Only in special circumstances should it be purchased. Otherwise the basis on which it was determined will be upset.

When the Quebec Liquor Commission was faced with the necessity of assuring a fair supply of alcoholic beverages for all, it based its issuance of permits on the number of regular customers served by the Commission, and also upon average personal purchase.

Many persons, however, have purchased for some time, and are continuing to purchase, the limit allowed, which even in the days of non-rationed purchasing they did not ever need in these amounts. It is obvious there are some of our citizens who are hoarding small stocks of alcoholic beverages — others who are consuming more than they ever did before — and still others who are making purchases for their acquaintances.

The full result of such tactics, which are essentially unfair, is now beginning to be felt. Shortages which would not now be noticeable had all our citizens abided by the regulations are causing annoyance and inconvenience to a great many. The resale of beverages held by those who have purchased stocks they do not need has created a black market.

These are matters for which only a small group of citizens can be blamed, but unless stopped the inevitable consequence will be that the many must be penalized for the faults of the few.

You can do your part in helping to ease the present situation and prevent, as well, the possibility of a still lower ration of alcoholic beverages, by following these simple rules of good neighbourliness and fair dealing:—

1. Purchase only what you need, and keep below the maximum quantity allowed.
2. Do not let anyone else use your permit. It is not transferable.
3. Do not make purchases for others. They have their own permits or can obtain them.

Eight Delegates From Local YMCA Present At Rally

Conference Studies Post-war Problems of Youth and Adults

A good attendance of 163 Y.M.C.A. workers took part in the deliberations of the conference at the N.D.G. branch last Sunday when the Board of Management and Ladies' Auxiliary of that division were hosts to the Managers, Committee Men and Volunteer Workers of the seven branches of the Y.M.C.A. in Montreal.

The local delegates were: D. O. Bremner, D. Lloyd Adams, I. R. Tait, Glen Wood, John P. Lewis, E. I. Taylor, executive secretary. Miss Dorothy Pelling and Miss Louise Scott.

The delegates were received at the N.D.G. association by R. W. Long, R. R. Johnson, H. E. Bally, N. P. Woods, H. K. Connors, J. F. Owen, Ed. Pelton, H. F. Brewster, and W. L. Gatehouse, chairman of the local Y.M.C.A. Board. This was a proposal conference at which time the delegates divided into four sections for study. These four groups were on boys' work, physical education, adult education, women and girls' work.

The opening worship period at 9.30 was led by J. M. C. Duckworth, Murray G. Ross, Adult Education Secretary of the National Council of Y.M.C.A., spoke on the needs of youth in war time. He indicated four main concerns:

1. The need for a sense of stability and intimate group experience.
2. Preparation for family living because of the collapsing moral codes.
3. Need for knowledge and ability to live and act in a world of changing ideals.
4. Need for a unifying philosophy and a sense of God.

He reported that in a national survey recently made by the Y.M.C.A., young people declared they did not feel the need for religion. These were folks who were in the services, in munition plants, in universities and high schools as well as office workers. The midday luncheon speaker was Winthrop G. Martin, Program Secretary of the Brooklyn Metropolitan Y.M.C.A. He dealt with nine practical ways in which Christian experiences can be imparted to members of the Y.M.C.A. in all varieties of program. The group discussions were led by J. D. Johnson on boys' work, Oscar Pearson on physical work, Al Davis on adult education and Mrs. J. M. C. Duckworth on women's and girls' work.

In the afternoon tea was poured by Mrs. W. L. Gatehouse and Mrs. F. W. Owen who were assisted by Mrs. W. Cameron Morgan, Mrs. R. H. Postans, Mrs. J. G. Lang, Mrs. John R. Reid, Mrs. J. T. R. Stevens, Mrs. J. R. Crawford, and Mrs. N. P. Woods.

Jewish Ban In Argentina Is Cancelled

Argentina has lifted a ban on Jewish-language newspapers following a recent sharp rebuke by President Roosevelt, and an influential group of citizens has strongly urged the Government of President Ramirez to swing to American solidarity.

The ban's cancellation was announced after President Ramirez disclosed the appointment of three men, one of them a prominent author of several books anti-Semitic in tone, to fill Cabinet vacancies left by recent resignations.

Dispatches quoting Mr. Roosevelt as saying in Washington that the ban was an act in character with "the most repugnant features of Nazi doctrine" were approved for publication in Argentine newspapers seven hours after receipt and after the Jewish newspaper measure had been lifted.

Piled on top of Mr. Roosevelt's criticism was the rebuff administered to the Government by a group of prominent citizens who called on President Ramirez personally and advocated democracy and American solidarity.

The formula set forth by the notables was, in fact, a rephrasing of the program originally reported for the June revolution which put Mr. Ramirez and a group of other military leaders into power.

Singers included many political leaders and businessmen who in the early days of the present government had indicated a readiness to lend their support.

The petition was published by both La Prensa and La Nacion, powerful Buenos Aires dailies which recently have shown evidence of rebelling against the press gag which the Ramirez Government has drawn even tighter than during the previous administration.

The three new ministers President Ramirez appointed to his Cabinet were Gustavo Martinez Zuviria, an author and Director of the National Library, named Minister of Justice and Education; Cesare Ameghino, Minister of Finance; and Naval Capt. Ricardo Vago, Minister of Public Works. Mr. Zuviria, former university professor, is widely known as an author, his books including several that are described as anti-Jewish in tone.

George Spiiotopoulos Addresses Rotarians

Although conditions of life under the Nazis are intolerable, the Greeks have not lost faith and are carrying on the fight against their oppressors, George C. Spiiotopoulos, prominent figure in the local Greek colony, told members of the Westmount Rotary Club at their luncheon in Victoria Hall, last week.

This fight, he said, is going on in the mountains and in the cities, and by the infliction of heavy losses upon the enemy and the continual sabotage of communication lines, Greece hopes to

Leaders Named By Hi-Y Club

Bill Minto, Peter Cox, Peter King, L. Beaton and Bob Lord Elected

Committee heads of the Hi-Y Club were elected at a meeting held last week. They were Bill Minto, chairman of the program committee, Peter Cox heading the song sheet committee, and Peter King, dance committee. Leonard Beaton and Bob Lord were named to representation on the Grand Chapter.

With the post-war era drawing nearer daily, and business and industry work feverishly on plans for post-war products, the Y.M.C.A. has sounded a warning that rosy plans for the future may as well go into the discard unless some consideration is given to the post-war boy. It is the post-war boy, who, when he reaches manhood will be called upon to undertake the direction of all the new powers and services developed in wartime.

Officials of the "Y" have placed this theme uppermost in their appeal in the Montreal area which opens on Monday. Under the leadership of a strong committee headed by Walter P. Zeller as general chairman, and with J. W. McConnell as honorary chairman and Morris Wilson as honorary vice-chairman, scores of workers will seek to raise the objective of the campaign through public subscription.

How keenly conscious boys of today are of their post-war role was well illustrated when B. W. Keightley, advertising manager of C.I.L. and chairman of the Post-War Study Committee of the Association of Canadian Advertisers, addressed the Westmount Hi-Y group at the Westmount branch. As chairman of a committee charged with producing a monthly study of post-war trends, and also with the planning and production of a travelling post-war exhibition sponsored jointly by the National War Finance Committee and the A.C.A., Mr. Keightley displayed for the members, both verbally and with artists' drawings, some of the goods and services being readied for future use. During a question period the boys fired numerous questions at the speaker and revealed that they too, have very definite ideas about what sort of a world it should be after the war.

At the meeting of the week previous, Robert Gardner, military editor of the Montreal Star, addressed members of the club on "Politics."

Stressing that it was up to the boys themselves to decide what type of government Canada is to have, Mr. Gardner declared, "It is up to you fellows to see that we don't have another world war in twenty-five years."

He told the members in clear-cut sentences just what their obligations to Canada are and how they can fulfill them.

Mr. Gardner made a deep impression on the minds of his young audience and left them with something to ponder.

Mr. Gardner has been a newspaperman for more than thirty years. A native of England, he started his career there but later moved to Australia where he married. He worked for more than one Australian newspaper and contributed frequently to papers in New Zealand. In the last war he served with the British army. When he first came to Canada Mr. Gardner was first employed at the Herald but later he moved to the Gazette. From there he went to the Star where, on the outbreak of the war, he assumed the post of military editor.

Mr. Gardner was introduced by Harold Corrigan and thanked by Donald Hawkes.

An unexpected guest of the evening was navy doctor Arnold Johnson, who was aboard the destroyer H.M.C.S. Assiniboine which rammed and sank a Nazi submarine a few weeks ago. Mr. Johnson, a former secretary of the Westmount Hi-Y club, spoke for about fifteen minutes on this incident and received an ovation from the boys when he resumed his seat.

Ernest Taylor, executive secretary of the "Y", introduced Mr. Johnson.
