Kampala hostage tells story

Akiva Laxer, a 30-year-old Tel Aviv lawyer, was a passenger aboard the Air France jet airliner commandeered June 27 by pro-Palestinian guerrillas. His week-long ordeal of captivity ended Sunday in a rescue by an Israeli commando unit at Entebbe airport in Uganda. Here is his story:

By AKIVA LAXER
TEL AVIV (AP) — I woke up to shouting and running in the aisles of the plane. An English voice with a heavy German accent came over the loudspeaker: "This is your captain speaking."

"The plane... has been hijacked by the Che Gueverra arm of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine," the voice said.

A short blonde woman in a jeans suit stood in the front of the plane with a pistol in her left hand and a hand grenade in the right. Two Arabs covered the rear with more grenades. They told us to keep our hands up.

When the idea sank in that we had been hijacked, we were frightened and shocked. Some people began to get hysterical. The others tried to quiet them.

The Frenchman next to me stood up and yelled, "I will kill the terrorists." One of the Arabs kicked him very hard in the stomach.

Nervously, we settled down. We had no idea where we were going. We had to raise our hands to ask if we could go to the toilet. The terrorists searched us, took our documents and money and dropped them in a bag.

Within a few hours we were over Benghazi, Libya. We circled six or eight times waiting for clearance before we landed.

The terrorists brought out two boxes of hand grenades—I don't know from where—and placed them by the emergency doors.

SERVED DINNER
 During the several hours we were in Benghazi, the terrorists allowed the crew to serve dinner. I had ordered a kosher meal from Air France. I thought to myself, "Here I am eating gefilte fish produced in Israel in a hijacked plane in Benghazi, Libya." It was something I couldn't have dreamed in my worst nightmares.

It was about 10 p.m. when we left. We flew for about five hours and landed in Entebbe airport in Uganda. We sat in the plane for nine hours. Ugandan soldiers observing us from outside the craft. Then one of the hijackers said: "The bad dream is over. We are leaving the airplane."

We moved into the old terminal building. We hoped that the whole affair was over somehow, but it wasn't.

Some time later, Idi Amin came to us in his uniform. He still wore his Israeli paratrooper wings.

"Maybe you know me, maybe you don't," he said. "I am Field Marshal Dr. Idi Amin Dada, president of the Republic of Uganda." He was so pompous I had to suppress a laugh.

It was obvious the Ugandans were helping the terrorists. Six more Palestinians were waiting for the plane when it landed, and the Ugandan soldiers were kissing and hugging the terrorists who got off the plane.

We had gone 54 hours without sleep. We all collapsed on the wooden chairs or the floor.

SORT OUT ISRAELIS
 At the beginning of the next evening, we had the most horrible feeling. The hijackers stood in the doorway between our room and an adjoining room and read out the names of 78 Israelis.

I began to pray. Our worst fears did not materialize, however. The following day we suddenly heard applause from the other room and were told the

Libyan plane hijacked

TUNIS (Reuter) — A Libyan airliner on an internal flight from Tripoli to Benghazi was hijacked today and diverted toward Tunis, but Tunisian authorities refused to allow it to land here, informants said.

The sources said the Libyan plane was heading for Algiers.

Carthage Airport in Tunis was closed, but some traffic was restored later.

The sources said the Libyan plane was taken over by an organization calling itself Echabab el Ouaï, translated here as Conscience of Youth.

Quebec in focus

Another dry day

MONTREAL (CP)—Clerks and cashiers in publicly-owned liquor stores went on strike here Monday and promised to make a bottle of liquor a hard item to buy during this month's Olympic Games.

The 1,000 workers, who staff about 120 Quebec Liquor Corp. stores in Greater Montreal, the Ottawa Valley and the Eastern Townships, Monday overrode a suggestion of their union executive to put off strike action and voted to close down the stores immediately.

August is traditionally a slow month for liquor sales, and a return to work following the Olympics might be considered by the members if a settlement is not reached, union officials told reporters.

Seek transfers

MONTREAL (CP) — Six English-speaking air-traffic controllers here have asked for immediate transfers out of Quebec.

Their request follows the recent transfer of a seventh English-speaking controller to administrative work when he alleged that working with French-speaking controllers made him ill.

Requests for transfer out of Quebec were received from 60 unilingual English-speaking controllers at the beginning of the year. So far, only seven of the 60 controllers have been relocated.

The request for transfers comes just as the Association des Gens de l'Air du Québec called off its work-to-rule campaign against Air Canada and CP Air, effective midnight tonight.

Olympic health

MONTREAL (CP) — Although Maisonneuve-Rosemount Hospital has signed a contract with the Olympic organizing committee to reserve several beds for visiting athletes requiring treatment, director Robert Jarry said Monday the hospital was overloaded and "can't serve anyone else."

However, the Montreal General Hospital has agreed to provide treatment for life-and-death cases, an organizing committee official said.

French-language hospitals throughout the province have been operating at reduced capacity since June 18, when 5,500 nurses walked off the job.

IOC, Canada at odds over Taiwan situation

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
MONTREAL (CP) — Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee, came to Canada Monday to seek a solution for the Taiwan question at the Olympic Games, which are only 11 days away.

The IOC and the Canadian government appeared still at odds over Taiwan though External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen said officials of his department are willing to meet Killanin.

Some observers saw a turn for the better when Killanin—while non-committal—did not reject a government proposal that the IOC revive a 1960 formula under which Taiwanese athletes competed in the Rome Olympics only as Taiwanese without carrying the name of the Republic of China.

The Irish peer asserted, however, that Canada's action—prohibiting use of the Republic of China's name, anthem and flag—could establish a dangerous precedent for the 1980 Games in Moscow and other Olympics in the future.

SEEKS BAN
 Meanwhile, a Peking broadcast demanded that Taiwan—under whatever name—must be eliminated from Olympic competition because only the All-China Sports Federation can represent China in international sports contests.

The mainland-based federation "is the sole legitimate national sports organization governing sports in the entire territory of China, including Taiwan province," the broadcast said.

Mr. MacEachen told the Commons he has rejected demands by the People's Republic of China that Canada bar entry of Taiwanese Olympic athletes. But the minister reiterated government policy that those athletes may enter the country only as Taiwanese—not under the banner of the Republic of China as demanded by the IOC.

Prime Minister Trudeau and Mr. MacEachen called on the IOC to extend Canada the same rights accorded Italy in 1960 regarding Taiwanese.

"I will not commit myself in any way," was the comment of Killanin, and he repeated accusations earlier made in Europe that the government had violated IOC rules by denying Taiwan athletes their republican name, their anthem and their flag at the Games.

CONSERVATIVES JEER
 Conservative opposition members jeered the government's Taiwan statements, which were made at about the same time as Killanin arrived in Montreal on a transatlantic flight in an effort to solve the crisis that blew into the open last Thursday.

He met reporters only to make a statement and answer a few questions. While giving no details of possible talks with federal officials, he said discussions with leaders of world sports federations and national Olympic committees would take at least two or three days.

While confirming that the Taiwanese went to Rome in 1960 on the terms outlined in the Trudeau-MacEachen statements, Killanin noted the Taiwanese athletes unfurled a banner proclaiming their protest in the Olympic stadium.

Observers recalled that the 1960 formula was laid down by the IOC in the course of a fruitless attempt to work out a two-China Olympic policy. That attempt was scuttled by Peking and the national Olympic committee of the Republic of China was later recognized in an IOC vote.

Canada extended official recognition to the Peking government in diplomatic terms in 1970, withdrawing recognition from the Nationalist government on Taiwan.

WON'T BAN ATHLETES
 Mr. MacEachen told reporters that while Canada could not comply with Peking's demand for banning Taiwan athletes, it could not accord official recognition to another group which says it represents China.

But Killanin said in Montreal and Conservative MPs contended in the Commons that the government should accept the Taiwanese as representatives of the Republic of China because it had been given an undertaking in 1969 when Montreal was awarded the Games that it would accept teams recognized by the IOC.

Killanin also differs widely from government spokesmen as to when he was made aware of the government position.

Queen arrives in U.S.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Queen Elizabeth will make a United States bicentennial visit today to this city where representatives of the American colonies rebelled against the English throne and declared their independence 200 years ago.

The Queen and Prince Philip will arrive here from Bermuda aboard the royal yacht Britannia, which will anchor at Penn's Landing in the Delaware River where William Penn, Pennsylvania's founder, came ashore in 1681.

Philadelphia is the first stop of the Queen's six-day U.S. tour, which will also take her to Washington, Newark, N.J.; New York City; New Haven, Conn.; Charlottesville, Va.; Providence and Newport, R.I. and Boston.

After meeting Philadelphia Mayor Frank Rizzo, the Queen will go to Independence Hall where Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin and others plotted the American revolution.

She will walk, under heavy U.S. Secret Service and police guard, to Carpenter's Hall, where the First Continental Congress met in 1774 to denounce British colonial policies.

Then she will go to the city's new Visitor's Center where she will dedicate a 12,500-pound Bicentennial Bell as a gift from her people which carries the message "Let Freedom Ring."

Amin warns of revenge following hijack rescue

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel gives a hero's funeral today to Lt.-Col. Yonatan Netanyahu, the only Israeli commando killed in the rescue of more than 100 hostages held by Palestinian terrorists at Uganda's Entebbe Airport.

Two of the three Israeli civilians killed in the gun battle Saturday night were buried Monday with military honors. Speaking at one of the funerals, Israel's chief military chaplain, Brig. Mordechai Piron, said the 75-year-old Dora Bloch, was in a Kampala hospital when the commandos landed, and they could not bring her back. The Israeli government appealed to the International Red Cross and an unidentified third country to secure her release.

The Ugandan president, who reported that the Israeli commandos killed 20 of his troops and wounded 32, sent protests against the attack to the United Nations, the Organization of African Unity (OAU), the Arab League and other Third World countries. He also declared today and Wednesday days of mourning for the dead Ugandans.

SEEKS UN ACTION
 The 48-nation OAU unanimously condemned the raid and said it will ask the UN Security Council to take up the matter.

Amin accused the government of his neighbor Kenya of giving major aid to the Israeli attack. The Kenyans denied the charge and said all they did was to provide medical treatment for Israelis wounded in the operation.

UN Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim denied an Egyptian report that he had accused the Israelis of "flagrant aggression." A statement from a spokesman said the secretary general was questioned during a visit to Cairo about "legal and juridical aspects of the Israeli raid" and replied that it "was indeed a violation of the sovereignty of a UN member state."

Keeping customers satisfied

KEEPING CUSTOMERS Even in this age of thought manipulation there are many old-fashioned people who believe that the best way to keep customers is to give them value for their money, intelligent service, and personal attention. The golden rule of keeping customers might well be: don't ignore customers or their changing needs.

A satisfied customer remains the foremost factor in developing new business. He is kept satisfied by your demonstration of interest in him, interest in his affairs, his family, his hobbies, or whatever is uppermost in his life. Goodwill is made up of fair dealing, courteous and efficient service, and sympathetic interest.

Under the heading "court-ous service" consider counter service. Alertness to avoid irritating delays; un-failing attention to the details of the customer's wants; efficient display of goods; patience; these are the minimum of good counter service. But there is a plus value to be built by adding graciousness.

Everyone, from the big manufacturer who is accustomed to depositing cheques in five and six figures down to the shoe-shine stand operator who jingles his fortune in his pocket, is in the business of serving people. The secret of winning customers and keeping them is to perform this service, not passively when asked, but actively, eagerly and spontaneously.

Alertness on the part of the staff to do some service, no matter how small, for every one approaching them in connection with business, can revolutionize sales. Little services, unimportant in themselves and consuming little time, will be thought of as important by the people receiving them. As Longfellow phrased it: "Give what you have. To someone, it may be better than you dare to think."

SERVICE WITH A SMILE Lots of sentimental things have been written in prose and poetry about a smile, but its plain, practical value is easy to prove in winning and keeping customers. Anyone can gain almost miraculous results by personal experiment in smiling. Friendliness is sought by everyone, and everyone is pleased when he meets it in others.

No matter how big your concern may become, you should make an effort to maintain a "home attitude," in which every member of your staff is part of a well-bred family and every prospect or customer is treated as a guest. The visitor is warmly welcomed, pleasantly and patiently waited on, and carries away the feeling that his visit was appreciated.

What is the proof of this? We can find it in ourselves. There may be a dozen stores selling the same articles, or a dozen banks giving the same services, but we continue to go to one place because someone there seems to be glad to see us and is interested in us.

Eighty per cent of the world's jute, used in twine and packing material, comes from East Pakistan. The plant requires a hot, humid climate and some parts of East Pakistan get up to 200 inches of rainfall a year.

West increases aid

PARIS (Reuter) — Western industrialized countries increased their official aid to the developing world by just less than 10 per cent in real terms in 1975, the Organization for Economic Co-Operation and Development (OECD) announced recently.

Members of the OECD's development-assistance committee raised their net contribution to the third world to $13.6 billion in grants or loans last year from $11.3 billion in 1974, a 20-per-cent increase in dollar value but a little less than half that when price increases were taken into account.

Major park set for Bromont

BROMONT (NW) — Residents here will soon be enjoying a new urban park set in the area of what is now known as Gale Pond.

At a press conference here Friday, Paul Phaneuf, provincial minister of Youth, Sports and Recreation announced a grant of $300,000 to aid in the construction of the park.

Mr. Phaneuf was enthusiastic about the project and told The Record he thought "green spaces" such as the new urban park were important to small but growing municipalities in Quebec.

The park, to cover approximately 360 acres, will not only benefit residents of Bromont, but people from all over the area and as far away as Montreal.

Bromont Mayor Germain Desourdy said the idea for the park was first thought of when Bromont was founded in 1964. However, the project only began to take shape during the past three and a half years.

The park project is the result of a combined effort between the Bromont town council, residents, the Davignon School Board and Les Initiatives de Plein Air Davignon.

Mayor Desourdy estimated the cost of the land to build the park to be in the area of $600,000. He pointed out that there had been no expropriation of property involved.

La Societe OGF de Granby did the design of the project, which should be in partial use by this winter.

The park will feature a wide variety of uses in magnificent natural surroundings. It will have a lake, beach, mountains, forests and areas for skiing, riding, canoeing, camping and tennis, among other things.

"This is the main reason why we have planned Bromont," said Mayor Desourdy, "to make it a place where one could work, live and play."

When asked about a completion date for the park, Mayor Desourdy replied, "I think when you build something, it's never finished because you can always add something."

CKSH-TV lockout continues

SHERBROOKE (RM) — The week-long lockout of 19 employees of CKSH-TV channel nine continues unabated this week, with no breakthrough in sight.

The employees yesterday lounged themselves in front of the studios in the King Street shopping center, which is now locked up, with windows boarded and guards inside, while crews from outside continued the station's broadcasting.

A lengthy dispute is expected, with union leaders expecting it to last as long as the six-month lockout at Telemedia in 1974.

"But we are certain we will win the battle," said Andre Poulain, a spokesman for the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (NABET) and a producer at CKSH-TV.

The dispute revolves around the unionization of CKSH-TV employees and St. Francois Television, which owns the station and in turn is owned by Henri Audet, a Trois Rivieres businessman.

Though NABET was accredited by the Canadian

Labor Relations Council last year as the bargaining agent for the technicians, producers, newsmen and stage hands, station management has steadfastly refused to negotiate.

When a union offer was made calling for wage hikes of 35 percent in the first and 20 to 30 percent in the second year of a new contract, St. Francois Television did not make a counter-offer.

Technicians at the station before the lockout began earned $129 a week.

The scene outside the station yesterday was a quiet one, in accordance with union officials' promises last week that the dispute would be an "intelligent" one.

Employees, now collecting $45 a week strike pay from NABET, sat on folding beach chairs in front of the windows that have been boarded up with plywood and since splashed with graffiti written by them.

The writing includes the names of personnel brought in by St. Francois Television from its sister station in Trois Rivieres, CKTM-TV, to run channel nine during the lockout. Both are affiliates of the French-language Radio-Canada network.

The doors were locked shut, and defended by hired guards. When a Record reporter and photographer sought to enter to interview management personnel, they were refused.

The employees are particularly dismayed with the dispute, because, according to Mr. Poulain, "We worked like fools to help open the station." CKSH-TV began transmission in the fall of 1974, during the Telemedia conflict.

He added that at no time since the union was organized did any illegal practices, or work disruptions such as study sessions take place.

Both NABET and the employers presently have the right to strike or lockout.

At present, the employees are engaged in a campaign to convince CKSH-TV advertisers to boycott the station, but Mr. Poulain said it is too early to comment on its progress.

A similar boycott project was mounted by the Telemedia employees during their dispute, which ran from June to December of 1974. They too are members of NABET.

Mr. Audet, the proprietor of St. Francois Television, has reportedly experienced labor difficulties at other transmission facilities he owns in the province.

Sound of Music presented at Haskell Opera House before sell-out crowd at Boundary

BOUNDARY — Despite a small fire at the Haskell Opera House here Tuesday afternoon, the scheduled musical "Sound of Music" was presented to a capacity audience in the evening.

The cast of 20, featuring Mickey Maywait as Maria Rainer and Buck Hobbs as Captain Georg Von Trapp, was superb. The singing by them and the Von Trapp children of seven was magnificent.

The Sound of Music is the famous and popular musical by Rodgers and Hammerstein set in Austria, it is a portrayal of romance, love and war and the escape of the Von Trapps.

This compelling musical is dear to the hearts of Americans and Canadian people.

for the actual Von Trapp family, after escaping from Nazi Austria, came to Stowe, Vt., and established a resort similar to their old Austria home.

Perhaps this was the reason that of the three seasons of concerts sponsored by the North Country Concert Association Inc., there was a complete sellout of tickets. Indeed, many had to be turned away.

Throughout the presentation the cast were given many applauses and, at the conclusion, a standing ovation.

The Rev. Sisters Berthe was played by Patty Wool, Sophia by Pamela Kaufmann; Margareta, by Jacqueline Loewy and the Mother Abbess by Deborah Rayson, all of whom presented outstanding singing along with the leading players.

Franz was portrayed by John Corenswet and, Frau Schmidt, by Bobbi Randall. The Von Trapp children were portrayed by Laura Kimer, Louise Valerie Fiedlein, Liesl, Joseph Rodrigues, Friedrich, Sorren Ashmall, Kurt; Sandra Gauthier, Marta; Laura Page Bryant, Gretl; and Nunu Heussler, Brigitta.

Bob Butler portrayed young Rolf Gruber; Pamela Kaufmann, Elsa Schraeder; the lovable Max Detweiler was Paul Jappel; Jonathan Wool was Herr Zeller and Dave Ferguson, Admiral Von Schreiber.

The concert was directed by Haller Laughlin; with Keith Montgomery serving as musical director; Steve Pollack, scenic designer; Joyce Smith, production manager and Robert Massey, percussion.

Richard Wright, a concert association trustee, welcomed the large audience on behalf of the association board. He said it was through the efforts of the team captains that the sales had been so good this season.

He expressed thanks and introduced the Captains, Simone DuBois, Yvette Veberst, Gail Kilmartin, Yolande Hasleton, Wendy Gosselin, Adelaide Prangle, Phyllis Hammond, Betty Waters, Eileen Earp and Patricia and Richard Wright.

Thanks also went to Philip Place, who had installed the lighting.

Police investigate recent break-ins

SHERBROOKE (RM) — Municipal police detectives are currently looking into a month-long series of thefts that may be conducted by the same individual or group.

Lieut. Raymond Boileau said yesterday that two of the crimes were committed over the past weekend.

The first, at the Lucien Lavigne Pepsi bottling plant at 2685 Galt West, occurred overnight between Saturday and Sunday. After failing to open a small Brinks safe and a vault, the undetermined number of hoodlums proceeded through drawers and create a few hundred dollars' damage.

The following night, thieves entered through the roof of the Canadian Tire store on King West near Jacques Cartier and collected about $5,000 from cash register drawers and a safe. A second, Brinks safe was not opened.

Police are also investigating the failure of an alarm system to activate during the Canadian Tire break-in, Lieut. Boileau said.

During the past four to five weeks, there have been five thefts, all basically similar in the way they were executed. Police are using this point as a hypothesis in attempting to solve the crimes.

Body found on mountain

ABERCORN (JM) — The drama which began here nine months ago with the disappearance of Elmer Scherer ended on nearby Mt. Pinnacle yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Scherer left his home Sept. 15, 1975 at 2 p.m. for a walk but never returned. His disappearance set off a large-scale search by volunteers and members of the Quebec Police Force.

Const. Marcel Lachance, Cowansville QPF, told The Record two mountain climbers, Ronald Radcliffe of Dorion and Karen Bowker of Lachine, found his decomposed body lying near a creek on the northeast face of the mountain about a mile from the now defunct ski center at four yesterday afternoon.

"Dr. Paul E. Roy, coroner for Missisquoi, was called to the scene and the body was then taken to the Desourdy Funeral Home in Cowansville, where the victim was identified by members of his family," Mr. Lachance said. "Although there was nothing suspicious in his appearance, he has been taken to the Montreal Medico-Legal Institute to determine the precise cause of death. Dr. Roy will await the results of the autopsy report before deciding whether or not an inquest will be required," he said.

Mr. Lachance and Cpl. Michel Parent conducted yesterday's investigation.

Car accident

TOWN OF BROME LAKE (JM) — Three persons were injured in a head-on collision on route 104 at the southern limits of Knowlton ward at 10:45 a.m. yesterday.

Const. Peter Stone of the Town of Brome Lake police said Mr. Hamilton was released shortly after his admission while Mr. Meyer was to be transferred to a Montreal for treatment of undisclosed injuries yet.

Mr. Stone indicated Miss Meyer would be held in hospital for a 24-hour observation period.

Following military service in the First World War, Mr. Hunter came to Sherbrooke in 1919, and soon became the president of Auto Electric Associates, an auto parts distribution concern.

Like 'sleeping with an elephant'

Canada's cultural vassalage

By James Eayrs

Already by 1920, the cultural impact of the United States on Canada was stirring more alarm than amusement. Archibald MacMechan, professor of English at Dalhousie University in Halifax, wrote of "spiritual subjection," of "Canada as a vassal state."

"Take the most potent influence at work today upon the popular mind, our journalism. Hundreds of thousands of Canadians read nothing but the daily newspaper. Not only is the Canadian newspaper built on American lines, but it is crammed with American 'boiler-plate' of all kinds, American illustrations, American comic supplements...

"Another potent influence for bringing Canada into spiritual subjection to the United States is the moving picture show. The films are made for American audiences, naturally, to suit their taste. Then they come to Canada. We originate none, practically. I dropped into a movie theatre in a small Nova Scotian town. It was filled with noisy, excited children. The point of the plot was the continual thwarting of a sort of procession, the villain through the agency of leader carrying the Stars and Stripes; and whenever they occurred and recurred in They occurred and recurred in

THE CELLOPHANE BORDER

TWO YEARS AGO, crowds in Ottawa jammed Parliament Hill to demonstrate against the Turkish and American intervention in Cyprus. The crowd later moved to the War Memorial, where they laid wreaths in honor of Greek and Canadian casualties in Cyprus.

radio. The latest VC body counts courtesy of AP and UPI...

But the United States' war in Southeast Asia did not make us anti-American — or ought not to have. Could there have been greater opposition to that war than within the United States itself, than from Americans themselves?

What righteous indignation Canadians were capable of mustering ought to have been turned not on Washington but Ottawa. Turned on that government of Canada from which no audible protest came. Ottawa remained mute, inglorious, throughout.

Canadians accept the disparities of power inherent in the Canadian-American situation. They realize that the most significant political fact about the relationship of the two countries is that one of them — not theirs — is so very much more powerful than the other. Professor MacMechan wrote in 1920: "The sucking wave created by the passage of a huge liner through the water drags small craft into its wake." Pierre Trudeau said in 1969: "Living next to you is in some ways like sleeping with an elephant. No matter how friendly or even-tempered the beast, if I may call it that, one is affected by every twitch and grunt."

Might it have helped had Tiny Tim been born in Omeme, Ontario, Peter Fonda in Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan? Not really. Canadians shine brightly in the firmament of U.S. entertainment, but as Americans, not Canadians. "Stars like Leonard Cohen and Joni Mitchell and Lorne Greene are quickly accepted as part of the American scene, their 'foreignness' being easily forgotten or never noticed," Robert Fulford has written. "These people grew up in Canada, but at the same time they grew up in the American shadow — assimilating American films, TV, music and literature. During most of their lives, like their fellow countrymen, knew American reality better than they knew their own. America, in fact, was the reality..."

Marshall McLuhan, in whose celebrity Canadians would have liked to have been able to bask, was quickly appropriated by the U.S. media, as if he had been one of their own all along — an American artifact, like Champlain's astrolabe which reposes in a New York state museum.

The magic index

In the days of its economic innocence the Canadian government believed that it could alleviate the worst effects of inflation by a simple device called indexing. If prices rose, so must wages and retirement incomes. Then the recipients would suffer no loss in their working years or their old age. Under the illusion that it had found something like a magic remedy, at least for the aged, Parliament indexed the pensions of federal civil servants to the cost of living. Parliament's own pensions were also indexed by the legislation passed three years ago, all parties supporting it.

No one seems to have calculated the cost of the pension scheme and, in fact, it was incalculable because no one knew the future rate of inflation. In any case the cost will be huge and the taxpayers will provide much of it, apart from the contributions made by the pensioners. But the person who has worked a lifetime in private industry will seldom receive such benefits. He or she will have the privilege of paying increased pensions to the state's employees while receiving, on retirement, a pension unindexed and constantly decreasing in real value.

The private pension schemes, established on a fixed basis, and involving millions of workers, cannot be revised overnight by a generous Parliament, or revised at all without actuarial chaos. Except for a minority of Canadians the index does nothing to counteract inflation or to restore the lost savings of the working years. For the great majority the index is merely an extra burden in taxes.

Besides the injustice of these arrangements, as between the public and the private worker, several other consequences already are appearing. Some prominent civil servants in the upper salary brackets have retired, as they are permitted to do, at the age of 55, with pensions steadily rising and unlimited. Since they have a decade or more of active life before them they can enter private business and, with their expert knowledge of government affairs, earn high rewards.

Under these circumstances the bureaucracy of Ottawa (which is rapidly proliferating at a time of so-called "restraint") is naturally less alarmed than the average citizen by the future impact of prices, and that mood necessarily affects all economic and financial policy. As Robert M. MacIntosh, executive vice-president of the Bank of Nova Scotia, remarked, "the best piece of investment advice which could be given to a young man or woman is: Get yourself a job in the federal civil service."

If the government now begins to see that its scheme will cost much more than it originally expected, no change is in prospect and none could be attempted without serious electoral risks. For the civil service vote can largely decide the result of any federal election in Ottawa and several constituencies surrounding it. The same vote is powerful in other cities where the government maintains large establishments. No government or opposition, facing a close election, is likely to antagonize a pressure group of this size and influence.

HELLO, PIERRE... OTTO HERE... I THINK WE HAVE AN AGREEMENT WITH THE PILOTS... ONE OF THEM JUST GAVE ME THE 'THUMBS UP' SIGN!

Ford gets jump on Carter

WASHINGTON — Getting the jump on Jimmy Carter, President Ford is preparing to demonstrate that he can knock bureaucratic heads together and get more efficiency out of the federal government.

He will begin, unless the plans go awry, with a dramatic overhaul of the scattered bureaucratic enclaves that deal with energy problems. His reorganizers are busy behind closed White House doors, pulling together the widespread energy functions and putting them under one giant superagency.

The reorganization plan is supposed to be ready, according to internal White House documents, on August 20. This happens to be the day after the Republican national convention will wind up.

If the President wins the nomination, he could beat Jimmy Carter to the punch with a move to streamline the federal bureaucracy. The Democratic candidate has made an issue of the cumbersome bureaucracy, promising a shake-up if he should become President.

Inside the Ford Administration, meanwhile, the reorganization move has touched off some savage fighting. Critics claim that it not only is strictly a campaign stunt but that the proposed superagency would rival such balkanized departments as Health, Education and Welfare or House and Urban Development in mindboggling unmanageability.

But White House advocates believe the reorganization would increase bureaucratic efficiency and speed U.S. energy independence, thereby saving billions.

As laid out in the documents, the superagency might include the Federal Energy Administration, Energy Research and Development Administration, Federal Power Commission and Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

It probably would also draw in bits and pieces of the Agriculture, Commerce, Defense, Interior, State, Transportation and Treasury Departments, not to mention the Council of Economic Advisors, Energy Resources Council, Environmental Protection Agency and Water Resources Council.

Jack Anderson's

Washington

This jumble of bureaucratic jigsaw pieces are supposed to be fitted into one vast agency, with the possibility of forming a smaller, secondary agency to handle the regulatory functions.

The White House documents reveal that the work on this gigantic shotgun marriage began on May 20. The task force was given three months to prepare a "presidential decision paper" for Ford to contemplate.

But the machinery to reform the bureaucracy has already developed its own bureaucratic barmacles, with the resulting inevitable delays. The timetable, therefore, may have to be extended.

The new superagency would be charged with the responsibility for developing a "comprehensive energy policy" to replace the present catch-as-catch-can methods of dealing with crises.

Specifically, the agency would be expected to increase production, reduce energy demand, promote "fossil, water, nuclear, solar and geothermal" energy, manage a 500-million-barrel strategic oil reserve, assure fair distribution of energy, set up contingency plans for handling any future oil shortage and generate electricity.

Footnote: White House sources said it is far too early to know whether the task force study will result in formal action. "We aren't at the bottom line," said one presidential aide.

Nixon vs. Press: The hostilities between the working press and Richard Nixon during his White House years produced some extralegal and illegal government harassment. Now Sen. Frank Church, D-Ide., citing our own case, has called upon the Justice Dept. to investigate whether "any violation of federal law" occurred.

Here are a few of the allegations, which the senator has called to the attention of Atty. Gen. Edward Levi:

— The Central Intelligence Agency illegally assigned 20 agents to keep us under surveillance. They allegedly took photographs of people entering our offices and planted a microphone in our ceiling. The CIA file on us, which Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., has described as a foot thuck, referred to the hidden mike cryptically as "Celutex II." The CIA project had the secret title, "Operation Mudhen."

— White House plumbers G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt sought poison from the CIA to slip into our drinks or apply to our steering wheel. The plumbers also directed an intensive investigation of us.

— The FBI arrested our associate Les Whitten and obtained a list of our long-distance calls from the telephone company. No charges were brought against Whitten, and Judge John Sirica ordered the FBI to destroy the long-distance call slips.

— W. Donald Stewart, the Pentagon security chief during the Nixon years, has stated that the military conducted at least 11 investigations of us. One suspected source, named Gene Smith, was hauled before a grand jury, but nothing came of it.

— The Justice Dept. cooperated with International Telephone and Telegraph in investigating us. ITT hired the famous detective firm, Inteltek, which worked with the Justice Dept. in an attempt to discredit us.

— The White House assigned a special investigator, named Jack Caulfield, to conduct a separate, three-month investigation of us. Memos from Nixon aides H.R. Haldeman and Charles Colson showed that the purpose was to discredit us.

— The Internal Revenue Service conducted a year-long investigation of us with negative results.

New CNTU boss rose through ranks

QUEBEC (CP) — For the first time since 1924, the Confederation of National Trade Unions has chosen a leader who rose through the ranks.

In Norbert Rodrigue, representatives of 180,000 members of Quebec's second-largest labor federation selected Saturday at their biennial convention a president who knows what it is to scratch for a living.

Without fanfare, Mr. Rodrigue has enjoyed a spectacular rise within the federation since 1957 when he went to work as a $37-a-week maintenance worker in Montreal's Ste. Justine hospital and received his first CNTU card.

He becomes the first president since the 1924 election of construction worker Alfred Charpentier to have come up from the rank and file.

A quiet, even-tempered individual, Mr. Rodrigue has been a relative unknown to the public, even as first vice-president of the CNTU, a post he took over four years ago.

Although he has participated in numerous union news conferences, the 36-year-old Mr. Rodrigue has nonetheless rarely been interviewed.

LEARNED ON THE JOB Unlike Marcel Pepin, the man he is replacing, or former federal minister Jean Marchand, CNTU president before Mr. Rodrigue, the new leader has had no formal academic background in labor relations.

Mr. Rodrigue left his home in Beauceville, Que., as a 13-year-old to chop wood on the north shore of the St. Lawrence. At 25, he was a union adviser at Ste. Justine hospital in Montreal and at 28 was elected president of the Federation of Social Affairs Workers—then, as now, the most powerful single affiliate of the CNTU.

In marked contrast to the rhetorical radicalism of Michel Chartrand, the man he defeated for the leadership, Mr. Rodrigue has kept a low profile within the union movement despite the influential positions he has held.

Although his schooling stopped short of university, he is regarded as an intellectual of sorts within the CNTU ranks. And yet, according to published reports, some delegates to the convention feared that his low profile signified a lack of aggressiveness.

"I'm not a showman, I don't like to shout," he told a reporter recently in one of his heretofore rare interviews. "I find that it doesn't do anything for me as far as I am concerned."

PART OF TEAM Like his predecessor, Mr. Rodrigue prefers to cultivate an image as a team man.

Fellow union leaders have been quoted as saying privately that Mr. Rodrigue's down-to-earth pragmatism is a trait better suited to rebuilding the financially-troubled federation than the explosiveness of Mr. Chartrand.

The CNTU lost thousands of members as a result of an anti radical backlash which swept the labor body after a bitter common front walkout in 1972. Thousands more were lost during the last several months when their unions were suspended or expelled for refusing to pay increased dues needed to bolster the nearly-exhausted CNTU treasury.

As a result of the defections, Mr. Rodrigue is likely to resist any further ideological drift toward the left by the federation, which under Mr. Pepin came to be recognized as the most radical of Quebec labor bodies.

Rocheleau-Russell wed in Sutton

Sutton Calvary United Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding, May 29, 1976, at 4 p.m. when Miss Deborah Jean Russell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric L. Russell of West Brome was united in holy wedlock to Mr. Rosaire Philip Rocheleau, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rocheleau of Sutton Junction.

The candlelight double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Jean Barkley, Mrs. Stanley Pergau presided at the organ. Arrangements of baskets of lilacs and greenery adorned the church. The guest pews were marked with white satin ribbon bows.

The beautiful vase of tulips on the altar was given by Mrs. James Shepard and twin daughters Mrs. Robert McKee and Mrs. Wells Richardson (Doreen and Dora), neighbors and friends of the family and were later placed on Mr. Shepard's grave in Brome, in loving memory of a husband and father.

The bride, who was driven to the church by her uncle Mr. Keith Russell, entered the church accompanied by her father, Mr. Eric Russell, to the strains of the Wedding March.

Debbie was given in marriage by her father and mother, and was wearing a long gown of white peau de soie, with small silver flower designs, it was fashioned on Empire style with long sleeves cuffed in baby covered buttons of the same material, ending in a short train; her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a Juliet crown of small eyelet flowers. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses with baby's breath. Her only jewellery was a cultured pearl pendant the gift of the groom, and matching cultured earrings, a gift from her parents.

Mrs. Gary Russell of Brome, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a full length gown of pale yellow flower-designed summer fortrel, fashioned on Empire line, and short cuffed sleeves with a matching picture hat. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white Shasta daisies, with a touch of blue carnations.

Miss Candice Davis of Knowlton, school friend of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a long gown of mint green flowered designed summer fortrel, fashioned on Empire line, short cuffed sleeves and a white picture hat. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white Shasta daisies. Each of the dresses were made by the attendants themselves.

Miss Penny McKee, junior bridesmaid and Miss Stacey Richardson, cousin of the bride, from West Brome, was flower girl.

They were wearing matching styled long gowns of baby blue and peach fortrel with bow tie fronts in Empire style waist line; each girl carried a tiny white basket, with matching Shasta daisies, ribbon streamers hanging from their baskets and hair ribbons to match their dress.

The dresses were made by Stacey's mother and aunt of the bride, Mrs. Wells Richardson of West Brome.

The bride's dress, also her mother's dress, was made by Mrs. Gerald Page of Sutton.

The ring bearers were Steven Russell of Brome, nephew of the bride, and Daren Richardson, also of West Brome, cousin of the bride. They wore powder blue shirts, grey flannels and navy blazers, with white boutonnières, and carried white puffed satin pillows, with the rings of the bride and groom. The pillows were made and given by Mrs. Steven Hunt, West Brome.

Mr. Gary Russell of Brome, brother of the bride, was best man and the ushers were Mr. John Russell, Mississauga, Ont., cousin of the bride, and Mr. Donald Sharman, Sutton Junction, friend of the groom.

The groom and his attendants were wearing powder blue suits, white shirt and bow ties, each had a white carnation boutonniere, except the groom, who wore a red rose in his lapel to match his bride's bouquet. The bride gave the groom gold cuff links.

Mrs. Russell, mother of the bride, wore a long gown of printed blue chiffon over matching taffeta, with navy blue accessories, her corsage was blue and white carnations with cornflowers.

Mrs. Rocheleau, mother of the groom, chose a long gown of royal blue velvet top and a floral skirt in multi-colors, with navy accessories; her corsage was pink carnations.

Debbie and Rosaire had the honor of having six grandparents present at their wedding: Mrs. Bernice Russell, wearing a long dress of tangerine fortrel, with jacket to match, trimmed with silver, and a white carnation corsage; Mrs. Angus Richardson, a two-piece knitted suit of navy blue, powder blue blouse and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Forgue wore a long dress of white fortrel top, powder blue skirt, and a blue carnation corsage; Mrs. Rocheleau Sr. a long gown of apricot fortrel, and a corsage of blue carnations; each lady wore white accessories. Mr. Angus Richardson and Mr. Rosaire Rocheleau Sr., had white carnation boutonnières.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the H'Orizon motel, where a delicious, full course turkey dinner was served by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Boulay and their assistants to one hundred and twenty-five guests, who all signed the guest book which was in charge of Master Lee Richardson, cousin of the bride, of West Brome, and Master Daniel Piche of Candiac, cousin of the groom.

The rooms were decorated with spring flowers and low bowls of flowers on each table, wedding bells and multi-colored streamers.

The beautiful three tier wedding cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Merle Best of Frelighsburg, centred the bride's table with the attendants' flowers lying in front. The cake was iced in white and yellow frosting. The top tier held a bride and groom standing in an arch of yellow and white daisies. The second tier held artistic doves, rings and wedding bells and the last tier had miniature china figurines in the same colors as the attendants' dresses.

Dancing was enjoyed to the music of Jacob's Orchestra of Cowansville.

Later in the evening, before the bride and groom left, the bride threw her bouquet which was caught by Jean Barkley, the groom threw the blue garter and it was caught by Terry Wisengland.

The bride chose for travelling, a multi-printed dress of navy, red and white summer polyester cotton and wore white accessories, with a corsage of red and white carnations.

They have taken up residence in Cowansville, where both have positions with the Tupperware Co.

Guests were present from Massachusetts, Fredericton, N.B., Prince George, B.C., Mississauga, Ont., Candiac, Montreal, Greenfield Park, Derby Line, Rock Island, Cowansville, Dunham, West Brome, Sutton Jct., Sutton, West Sutton, Brome, Knowlton, Waterloo and Bowker Lake.

Following the rehearsal on May 28, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Russell, West Brome, entertained the wedding party and several relatives and friends to a buffet lunch for Debbie and Rosaire who presented gifts to their attendants.

Debbie gave each a gold necklace and Rosaire presented the men of the wedding party with engraved key chains.

Debbie was also entertained at two showers before her wedding, a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Gerald Page and Mrs. Gary Russell, and a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Robert McKee and Mrs. Wells Richardson. They were presented with a nice gift from their fellow workers of Tupperware Co.

25th Anniversary

BULWER — Mr. and Mrs. Justin Lowry were pleasantly surprised on June 19, when Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Little took them out to supper and for a drive through Bulwer. When they reached the Community Centre, Waymond drove into the yard and everyone was invited in.

Jeanne and Justin were met at the door by their daughters, Marlene and Janice, who pinned a pink carnation corsage on their mother and a white carnation on their father. Their attendants of twenty-five years, Mrs. Delbert Luce and Mr. Harry Graham Jr. escorted them to the front of the hall and received congratulations with them.

Dancing was enjoyed to music supplied by a very young orchestra, Paula Ward, Marlene Harvey, Scott Lowd and Craig Drew. Mrs. Harry Graham spelled off Mr. Murray Ward, who had accompanied them on the piano most of the evening. Mr. Harry Graham Jr. acted as Master of Ceremonies and Mr. Merlin Harvey called the square dances.

The hall was nicely decorated with blue and white streamers, silver 25's, and baskets of peonies.

A niece, Christine Lowry and a nephew Sternie Lowry were in charge of the guest book.

Delicious refreshments were served buffet style while the bride and groom of and a large mixed shower was held at the H'Orizon in their honor when they received a purse of money.

During the dinner, Mr. Gale Russell, brother of the bride, read three telegrams, sent to Debbie and Rosaire from friends in Prince George, B.C. He also spoke on behalf of all the grandchildren who have received a lovely hand-crochet afghan from their grandmother Mrs. Bernice Russell and voiced a hearty vote of thanks to "Grammie."

the silver years, their attendants, their children and Mrs. Harry Graham Jr. and Mr. Delbert Luce were seated at a lace covered table, which was centered with a three-tiered anniversary cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Roland Lowry. Ann Landers says:

We need better sex education programs in public schools

Dear Ann Landers: The letter signed "Wishing Information" sent me running to my typewriter. I am a high school senior who wants you to know that almost every bit of valid information I learned about sex came from your column.

My parents never told me one thing. The stuff I learned from the kids at school was mostly wrong or so half-baked you wouldn't believe it. Here are some so-called "facts" I picked up in junior high as well as high school. (Mind you, these kids are from 13 to 18 years of age):

1. A girl can get pregnant only one day out of every month.

2. The first time a couple has sex the girl can get pregnant but she is safe the second or third time the same day or evening.

3. It is not possible to get V.D. more than once. The medication that cures V.D. gets into the system and makes you immune for life.

4. If a girl does not have a climax she will not get pregnant.

5. It is not necessary to take the Pill regularly. If a girl takes it just before she has intercourse she is safe for 24 hours.

6. If a pregnant girl eats a lemon every day for two weeks, she will have a miscarriage.

I hope you will publish my letter. Some teenagers will laugh at it but you'd be surprised how many kids actually believe this junk. They are desperate for information. So please hang in there, Ann. — True Blue Fan

Dear True: I plan to. In the meantime, we need a first-rate sex-education program in public schools - taught by competent instructors who know how to present the facts in a straight-forward but dignified, non-clinical manner.

Dear Ann Landers: I have this friend who makes me so mad I actually get heartburn. Bernice is quite deaf and wears a hearing aid. She loves to argue. When Bernice realizes she is losing an argument she turns off her hearing aid and says, "Shut up. I can't hear you." This drives me up the wall. How can I cop? — Bicarb In Bay City

Dear Bicarb: Fight fire with fire. When Bernice begins to get huffy, stop talking. Just move your lips. She'll think her hearing aid has gone kablooey and while she is trying to adjust it, speak your piece.

Dear Ann Landers: How much is a man supposed to take? We have been married ten years and have two children, eight and three years of age.

We have a lovely home but it always looks like a pigpen. I'm ashamed to have people over. She can never get it all together. Although our grocery bills are sky high we seem to be eating garbage. Everything is either overcooked or underdone. I always put the children to bed, otherwise they would walk around till midnight. My wife is in the kitchen doing dishes until 10:30 p.m.

Most of the laundry is sent out and a cleaning woman comes in once a month. What my wife does all day I can't imagine.

Do you think things would be better if she took a job outside the home and we hired a housekeeper? I'd like your opinion. — Fed Up

Dear Fed: Does your wife want to work outside the home? You give me no clue whatever as to what her wishes are. Obviously she is a very poor housekeeper and you are not happy with the state of your marriage.

It's a safe bet she isn't happy either. I suggest joint counseling. The solution may be a part-time job and a part-time housekeeper — who can cook.

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for sinus sufferers. My daughter has suffered from it for many years and we tried steam medication with very little help. A vaporizer helped but needed to be run constantly. With the energy crisis on and trying to save on our electric bill, I now add moisture to her room by wringing half an old sheet out of cold water and hanging it on the cross bar of a coat hanger. This is kept wet day and night. She has no more pain, watery eyes or dripping nose. I do hope someone else will get as much help from this as she has. —DAISY

DEAR POLLY — With prices what they are today I decided much of the aerosol spray I use on my potted plants was lost in the air. Now I put them in a big plastic bag, spray into the bag and quickly twist a tie around it thus trapping all the spray in the bag so the plants get the full benefit of it. —MRS.F.R.

DEAR POLLY — I feel I must reply to A.L. who complained about dieters not eating refreshments in her home. According to her it is a dieter's duty to at least "token nibble" something rather than embarrass the hostess. Many are on diets for health problems and have no business eating foods not on their diets. Many others are "food-aholics" and a "token nibble" can lead to the same problem as "just one drink" to the alcoholic. A dieter should explain being on a diet when invited out for dinner, and if the hostess will be offended she should make other plans for entertaining her dieting friends. My hat is off to dieters who can stick to their diets when at social events and shame on those hostesses who feel hurt or embarrassed. Most dieters have a constant battle with the scales and one thing not needed is "friends" who insist on pushing tempting goodies at them. My Peeve is with hostesses who try to shove food down people's throats against their wishes and will power. —PEGGY

DEAR POLLY — With Little League season just around the corner you may need some extra bases. Use the bottoms of gallon size plastic bottles with a one inch rim all around. Cut sawtooth edges on the rims and insert into the ground. Such bases are clearly visible. —TINA

DEAR POLLY — When sewing on large items such as draperies, sheets, quilts and so on, use wig pins. They are sharp and have great holding power, besides being easy to spot when dropped. —MARY W.

DEAR POLLY — Save the cardboard rollers that come with the new paper fabric softener on them. Put them in your dresser drawers or in and among your bedding or just hang in the closet for an inexpensive sachet. The aroma is great and naturally clean smelling. —CARRIE

DEAR POLLY — I am afraid Ann's tumbler are what antique dealers call "sick glass" and nothing in this wide world will correct this, short of having them repolished by a professional. If they are real Sandwich glass they are well worth the expense. —THELMA

Polly will send you one of her "Peachy" thank-you cards, ideal for framing or placing in your family scrapbook, if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write Polly's Pointers in care of this newspaper.

Canada-EEC link begins

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's long-sought and unprecedented contractual link with Europe became a reality today.

External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen and two top Europeans signed an agreement between Canada and the European Economic Community (EEC) which bound the two sides to vaguely defined commercial and economic co-operation.

Afterwards Mr. MacEachen, Foreign Minister Max Van der Stoep of the Netherlands, president of the European council, and Sir Christopher Soames, vice-president of the EEC commission, gave a news conference and then toasted each other at an official lunch.

"The implementation of the agreement should in particular facilitate the expansion of industrial co-operation between Canada and Europe," a communique on the five-page, nine article agreement said.

The agreement will be for five years after it comes into effect, presumably after there is provincial approval to some sections. It can be ended by either signatories after the five years, subject to one year's notice.

It leaves to other times the means for increasing business envisaged in the generalities of the articles and the ringing preambular declarations.

ENDS SEARCH

The signing ends a search started by the Trudeau government in 1974 as part of its intention to reduce Canada's dependence on the United States.

It is the first such agreement reached by the nine-country EEC with a single non-EEC industrial country.

The agreement says the parties are "inspired by the common heritage, special affinity and shared aspirations which united Canada and the countries of the European communities."

It recognizes the desire of both for a direct link which will support, complement and extend co-operation between them and said the parties are resolved to "consolidate, deepen and diversify their commercial and economic relations to the full extent of their growing capacity to meet each other's requirements on the basis of mutual benefit."

The agreement gives each signatory most-favored-nation treatment without providing tariff or customs preferences.

ERIC HEMMING of Chatsworth, Ont.

The funeral of the late Mr. Eric Hemming, who died June 14, 1976, in his 67th year at the General and Marine Hospital, Owen Sound, Ont., took place at the James L. Currie Funeral Home in Chatsworth, Ont., on Thursday, June 17.

Prayers were conducted at the Funeral Home and later at the Greenwood Cemetery in Owen Sound by the Rev. Percy Dodd, Rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Chatsworth.

Mr. Hemming is survived by his wife, the former Marion Evelyn Peak, formerly of Sherbrooke, Que., and six children - Elizabeth (Betty Mrs. John Ruxton), Kitchener, Ont., Clifford of Orangeville, Ont., Jeffrey of Ottawa, Ont., Ian of Inuvik, N.W.T., Grant of Thornbury, Ont., and Neil of Kelowna, B.C. There are also ten grandchildren: Stephen, David and Kennedy Ruxton, Marlo and Megan Hemming, Alexander (Sandy) and Andrea-Dawn Hemming, Jennifer Hemming, and Lori-Lee and Colin Hemming. All the children were able to come home at this sad time.

Mr. Hemming was born in London, England, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hemming, and came to Canada fifty years ago. After a few years residence in Ancaster, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Hemming moved to Port Elgin, Ont., and started an upholstery business. Later, after a few years in Southampton, they moved the business to Owen Sound, Ont., while they resided in the nearby village of Chatsworth. Recently they had decided on semi-retirement and had established the business at their home.

Eric Hemming will be sadly missed by his family and many friends, for he was a kindly man, a loyal family man, a good friend and neighbor, a fine craftsman who took pride in doing the best job possible. Fellow craftsmen would call him "A Natural", for he could restore a battered piece of antique furniture to its original beauty, an artist in his craft.

For years Mr. and Mrs. Hemming were deeply interested in the Youth Groups of their locality. Mr. Hemming was an active member of the Boy Scout Group Committee, while Mrs. Hemming served as a Cub Mistress. Their children have also been involved in various ways - Girl Guide Captain, Cub Master, Air Cadet, Sea Cadet and Scouts.

Also attending the funeral were Mrs. Hemming's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Peak of Hamilton, Ont. (formerly of Sherbrooke, Que.), Mrs. Hemming's sister, Mrs. Joan Hill of Hamilton with her family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hill of Cayuga, Ont., Miss Deborah-Jo Hill and Mr. Daniel Hill, also many old friends.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Ronald Smith of Coaticook, Que., at St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church, Dixville on June 4. Burial followed at Mt. Forest Cemetery, Coaticook.

Mrs. Grady was a member of the Anglican Church and St. Cuthbert's Guild.

She was an unassuming woman, faithful to her church and a good wife and devoted mother. She was exceptionally talented in homemaking arts and was a generous donator to the guild sales. Her quilts and hand-crafted knitted and crocheted pieces are to be found in many of the area homes bearing testimony to the life of a loving, giving person.

Ministers meet over social plans

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial finance ministers assembled here today to grapple with the dollar details of various federally-proposed options for limiting the growth in Ottawa's contributions to a series of social programs.

The two-day meeting with federal Finance Minister Donald Macdonald is to consider in detail for the first time a previously-announced federal proposal to control spending on medical care, hospital insurance and post-secondary education.

Ottawa now pays 50 per cent of these costs by matching provincial spending with cash payments. It proposes to replace this arrangement with a combination of cash payments and the transfer to the provinces of more tax-collecting power.

A federal proposal was put in general terms to the premiers by Prime Minister Trudeau at a conference here three weeks ago. But no figures were presented at that time and the premiers complained they could not seriously discuss the plan until they knew the impact on provincial revenue.

other passengers were being released.

Amin came in to us and said "Shalom." He said we were innocent people but he was against the Israeli government, which wouldn't give into the hijackers' demands.

I'm certain he was working with the terrorists. The whole side of the building was guarded only by Ugandans.

Amin was enjoying the whole situation. The first day he wore his field marshal uniform. The next day he came in with a civilian suit and a huge white cowboy hat. Another time he brought his wife and tiny son, who was dressed in a matching field marshal uniform complete with medals.

At 11 p.m. Saturday, only five of us were awake—four bridge players and one kibbitzer.

The Germans were talking with an Ugandan army colonel outside when shooting began. The Germans ran into our room and the shooting came closer and closer. Then there was shooting inside. I thought Idi Amin had changed his mind and decided to finish the terrorists.

PUT FACE TO FLOOR

I put my face to the floor and told my friends to get down. I thought maybe in a few minutes I'd finish my life.

I raised my head a little and saw somebody running and talking in Hebrew with his hands in the air. He ran so fast and jumped. I imagined for a moment he was an angel coming for us.

The guerrillas were so surprised I heard them snapping in ammunition clips. Some of their guns weren't even loaded.

I saw women lying on top of their children, protecting them. The children were crying. Not far from us, there were people bleeding and dead.

In a few minutes the shooting was over.

One man told us in Hebrew to follow him outside to a plane for home.

It was dark and I couldn't see much. Most of the bodies were very near the doors. We followed him to an airplane with its engines running, waited for a few minutes and then left.

We felt safe. The worst, the minutes during the firing, was over. Every few seconds the man next to me would touch me and ask, "Are you alive? Are you alive?" I kept saying: "I'm alive, it's okay."

the program costs under the dollar-matching arrangements has been growing too fast and will cost Ottawa about $5 billion this year.

By giving the provinces greater taxing powers, Ottawa wants them to assume a greater portion of the costs. This would be supplemented by cash payments from the federal treasury, but the increase in direct federal contributions would be tied to the rate of growth of the national economy.

PROVINCES FURIOUS

In the Commons on Monday, Mr. Macdonald was asked by Ed Broadbent, New Democratic Party leader, for assurance that provinces with smaller tax bases would not lose revenue under the proposal.

Mr. Macdonald said the federal government recognized some provinces have less tax-raising capacity and Ottawa would compensate for this by varying the size of cash payments to the provinces until such time as they could be replaced with equal per-capita grants.

Also on the agenda is discussion of a system of money transfers to the provinces called revenue guarantees—a subject which united the provinces in anger against Ottawa at the first ministers' conference three weeks ago.

Barnes tosses winning TD to Brock Ainsley

OTTAWA (CP) — An eight-yard pass to receiver Brock Ainsley from rookie quarterback Joe Barnes lifted Montreal Alouettes to a 26-21 win over Ottawa Rough Riders in a closely-fought Canadian Football League exhibition game Monday.

Ainsley's score came at 10:35 of the fourth quarter and was set up by halfback Glen Leach's recovery of an Ottawa fumble on a punt return, giving Montreal first down on the Ottawa 18-yard line.

A holding penalty moved the ball to the eight from where Barnes found Ainsley wide open in the left corner of the end zone.

The Alouettes got two touchdowns from running back Ian Mofford and one from tight end Peter Dalla Riva. Don Sweet kicked two converts while Barnes failed on two conversion attempts on the other touchdowns.

Ottawa scoring was led by Gerry Organ, who kicked five goals and converted a touchdown by wide receiver Moody Jackson in the second quarter.

WIDE-OPEN GAME

It was a wide-open game with both squads showing tremendous offensive power. Both coaches substituted freely.

The Alouettes were without the services of receiver Johnny Rodgers and newly-acquired Andy Hopkins, picked up from Hamilton Tiger-Cats late last week.

The drive ended when slot-back Jim Foley was unable to hold onto a Robinson pass on the Montreal 15 yard line.

BIG YARDAGE

Ainsley was the top

Ottawa gained 418 yards of total offense—260 in the air and 171 on the ground on 24 first downs. Montreal had a total of 271 yards on 176 in the air and 104 on the ground. They had 14 first downs.

Wade was good on seven of nine passes for 117 yards and Barnes hit on six of 13 attempts for 59 yards. Clements was good on 13 of 14 passes attempted for 135 yards. Holloway hit on nine of 16 for 100 yards and Robinson completed three of six attempts for 25 yards.

receiver in the game with five catches for 100 yards. Thirteen Ottawa players figured in pass receiving with Foley the leader on five catches for 44 yards and rookie Canadian Jeff Avery making three catches for 40 yards.

Montreal now has won both of its exhibition games while Ottawa has split its two pre-season matches.

There were 22,040 fans in Lansdowne Park, sweltering in humid 30 degree heat with only a five-mile-an-hour breeze blowing off the Rideau Canal.

Ticats still waiting for Jimmy Jones

WINNIPEG (CP) — Quarterback Jimmy Jones was a doubtful starter for Hamilton TigerCats on the eve of their Canadian Football League exhibition game against Winnipeg Blue Bombers tonight.

Jones, the key Montrealer in last week's six-for-one trade that sent running back Andy Hopkins to the Alouettes, still hadn't made an appearance in Hamilton on Monday.

"He took the trade pretty hard," said running back Jimmie Edwards, a teammate of Jones also included in the trade.

Edwards and the others—defensive halfback Lewis Cook, guards Bart Evans and Darryl White and defensive tackle Gord Stewart—all reported to camp, and Hamilton coach George Dickson was hard at work getting at least a few of his new players ready for the trip to Winnipeg.

"On one practice, it's pretty hard to work guys into the lineup," he said, "but Cook, at cornerback, could do it because you're working on one-on-one or zone."

Defensive backfield coach Garney Henley was giving Cook, who is also a competent punt return specialist, a crash course on Hamilton's defensive alignments.

STILL TESTING

The Blue Bombers were sorting through a stable of talented rookies and getting ready for the 1976 debut of some veterans at the same time.

Of the 50 players still on the roster, 48 were expected. Two players—Harry Walters and Rick Druschel—are on crutches.

Quarterback Ralph Brock will start the game for Winnipeg, but head coach Bud Riley was uncertain about how much action alternates J. C. Smith and Harry Knight would see. One closely watched rookie will be Tyrone King, a standout at right corner in the Bombers's 39-27 win over with Calgary last week. The rookie from Alabama impressed the coaching staff with his aggressiveness and his speed against Calgary's Tom Forzani, and they want to see how he fares opposite the wily Terry Evanshen.

Also vying for that corner position are incumbent Merv Walker and Will Fuller. Jim Elder, acquired from Saskatchewan in a trade for Paul Williams, is unlikely to be dislodged from the other side.

Veterans Brian Herosian, Don Bowman and Lee Benard, who all missed the Calgary game due to injuries, will be starting in the defensive backfield tonight.

Tonight's game, beginning at 9 p.m. EDT, is also the second exhibition contest for Hamilton, which dropped a 25-1 decision to Montreal last week.

Mark Fidrych and Catfish Hunter top choices for AL in All-Star fixture

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie sensation Mark (The Bird) Fidrych and five-time 20-game winner Catfish Hunter head the American League's nine-man all-star pitching staff, announced today by Boston Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson.

Johnson, manager of the American Leaguers for the 47th all-star game July 13 at Philadelphia, hopes his staff of five starters and four relievers can reverse the trend that has carried the National Leaguers to victory in 12 of the last 13 midseason games, including last year's 6-3 triumph.

Four of the nine hurlers are all-stars for the first time, including Fidrych, the exciting non-conformist of Detroit Tigers, whose crowd-pleasing antics include talking to the ball and getting down on his hands and knees to smooth out the pitching mound.

LEADS AL PITCHERS

He leads the regular American League pitchers with a 1.85 earned-run average and has a 9-1 record. The other all-star newcomers are strikeout leader Frank Tanana of California Angels, Bill Travers of Milwaukee Brewers and relief ace Dave LaRoche of Cleveland Indians.

Completing the staff are Boston's Luis Tiant, selected for the third time, Oakland's Rollie Fingers, also for the third time, and second-timers Rich Gossage of Chicago White Sox and Sparky Lyle of New York Yankees.

The veteran of the staff is Hunter, the Yankees ace righthander, who has been named for the eighth time—six times while he was with Oakland A's.

The regular starters include Hunter, 10-7; Tiant, 10-5; Tanana, 10-5; Travers, 9-6; and Fidrych. The other pitchers are relievers, although Gossage has doubled as a starter and reliever this season.

Red Sox move into second spot

Don't count out Boston Red Sox yet—at least when Rick Miller is around.

"We had a lot of hits today and that's what we need to get going," outfielder Miller said Monday after the Red Sox rapped out 11 hits and trounced Chicago White Sox 11-2 to climb into a second-place tie with Cleveland Indians in baseball's American League East.

"Now we can zoom to the top. If the Yankees lose 10 and we win 10, we're there. That's wishful thinking maybe, but that's the way we have to think."

If the Yankees lose 10 and Boston wins 10, the Red Sox will actually be one game in front. They trail by nine—it was 11½ a little more than a week ago—since New York dropped a 2-1 squeaker to Kansas City Royals.

Elsewhere, Texas Rangers rallied to beat Detroit Tigers 8-6, California Angels whipped the Indians 8-1, Oakland A's downed Baltimore Orioles 4-1 and Milwaukee Brewers nipped Minnesota Twins 3-2.

Rookie Butch Hobson and Cecil Cooper drove in three runs apiece and Luis Tiant scattered 11 hits for his 10th victory as the Red Sox won for the sixth time in their last eight games and reached the .500 mark (37-37) for the first time since April 29.

The Royals scored both their runs with two out in the first inning on George Brett's double and singles by John Mayberry, Hal McRae and Al Cowens. Paul Splittorff posted his sixth consecutive victory with help from three relievers, including Steve Mingori, who put down a bases-loaded, one-out threat in the ninth.

The Yankees played the game under protest. In the ninth inning, Kansas City centre fielder Amos Otis injured his shoulder trying to make a diving catch and was replaced by McRae, the designated hitter. Yankee manager Billy Martin cited an American League rule specifying that any substitute other than a pitcher is only allowed five warm-up throws. Umpire Lou DiMuro, the crew chief, agreed with Martin that McRae took more than five although DiMuro tried to stop him.

"After McRae's fifth throw I saw him getting ready to throw another," said DiMuro. "He said his arm was still tight and he didn't want to hurt his arm. I told him a rule is a rule. I don't make the rules; I just enforce them. Altogether, he took eight warm-up throws."

Tom Grieve's bases-loaded single keyed a four-run seventh-inning rally that rallied the Rangers to victory after they blew an early 4-0 lead. Five Rangers hit safely in the seventh, including Gene Cline, who had four hits, and Jeff Burroughs, who cracked a pair of doubles. Grieve's two-run shot came between run-scoring singles by Mike Hargrove and Lenny Randle.

Dave Chalk and Andy Etchebarren drove in three runs apiece and Gary Ross pitched a five-hitter as the Angels defeated the Indians for the fifth time in a row.

Phil Garner's three-run homer and 2-3 innings of scoreless relief pitching by Rollie Fingers paced Oakland's victory.

Umpiring is plain stupidity, says Empire Luciano but his style gives fans plenty Presto, more correspondence from his bosses.

"Umpires aren't supposed to do that," he was told.

The personable, gregarious Italian pleads a simple defence:

"Really, I'm happy to be out there. I get excited. I'm not fooling around."

One of the most heated arguments Luciano ever was involved in occurred during a recent Oakland-Kansas City game when a swarm of Oakland players descended on him to take exception to a decision at home plate.

"When you have 25 guys arguing," he chuckled the next day, "Oh my God, I must be wrong. There's no way I could be right."

"When you sit in the dugout you can't see anything. It's impossible to see. But there are three or four people on the field and they saw it, so I figure I'm wrong."

"I'm not going to say too much. Now, if I know in my heart I'm right, I'm going to say a little bit more."

GENTLE EXPRESSIVE

His expressive, versatile repertoire of umpiring gestures has prompted some players to accuse him of faulty concentration.

Luciano figures umpiring is just plain stupidity.

"As umpires we never win," he says. "We play in it, we're on the field, but we never win a ball game."

"You gotta be dumb, a masochist or a sadist or something to be an umpire."

Nevertheless, since becoming a major league umpire in 1969, the 39-year-old Luciano has established himself as the most colorful, fun-to-watch member of his profession.

On a close play, the former professional football player gestures expansively and shakes his 240 pounds with a flair that brings howls of laughter from fans. But staying out of trouble is a problem because his style makes him much more visible than umpires are supposed to be.

Last year a letter arrived from the league office saying, in effect, "You are not supposed to be involved in the ball game."

A short time later Nolan Ryan was in the sixth inning of what could have been his second consecutive no-hitter when an infielder's heroic play kept the no-hitter alive.

Luciano, as thrilled as anybody, applauded.

Floyd and Jerry Pate are long-shots in British Open, Jack Nicklaus top favorite BIRKDALE, England (AP) — The British odds-makers don't think the winners of the 1976 Masters and U.S. Open will take a second Big Four title when the British Open crowns its champion Saturday.

The bookies have established Ray Floyd, runaway winner of the Masters, and Jerry Pate, the 22-year-old American tour rookie who won the U.S. Open, as 25-to-1 longshots to take the British Open crown.

Installed as the 5-to-1 betting favorite of this event, which begins its four rounds on Wednesday, is Jack Nicklaus, whose 16 major championships is the most by any golfer ever.

Because of drought conditions, the Royal Birkdale course has been described as a fire trap. Barrels holding 40 gallons of water surround the course for possible use if fire breaks out.

A grass fire sent firemen rushing to a blaze on the eighth hole Monday.

HELPS LONG HITTERS

The parched course, however, should be ideal for heavy hitters like Nicklaus, who has won the British Open twice.

After Nicklaus on the bookies' lists are Johnny Miller, 8-to-1; Hale Irwin and 1973 champion Tom Weiskopf, each 12-to-1, and Gary Player, 14-to-1. Player has won this title three times, the last time in 1974.

Morgan belts grand-slam

MONTREAL (CP) — If Cincinnati Reds were a little redder than usual Monday night, it probably was embarrassment over the ease of their 11-2 conquest of Montreal Expos in National League baseball action.

The Expos, who pushed their record, worst in the major leagues, to 25-46 with the loss, were hopelessly out of the running early against the defending world champions, who wreaked their havoc on just nine hits.

Cincinnati's second baseman Joe Morgan, playing with eight stitches in his side after a recent spiking, belted his second career grand slam home run and a sacrifice fly to drive in five runs, earning a standing ovation from 14,331 fans eager to cheer anybody or anything.

"It's always great to get an ovation any place," said Morgan, the 1975 Most Valuable Player who was taken out of the game in the late innings. "I've had some good games here in the past and they've given me ovations. It's happening in a few other places too, lately."

HITS FIRST HOMER

Doug Flynn drove in two runs with his first homer of the year, off Chip Lang, 1-1, the first of five pitchers Expos manager Karl Kuehl ordered to pitch to the Reds.

Cincinnati skipper Sparky Anderson substituted

Reds run away from Expos 11-2 liberally as the count mounted but took pains to catch himself before admitting he didn't want his club to humiliate the Expos too badly.

"We were pretty far out in front," said Anderson. "Well, that is, I wanted to give the guys on the bench playing time because they need the chance."

Jack Billingham went all the way for the Reds, evening his record at 6-6 with an eight-hitter. He walked two and struck out six.

Pete Mackanin, leading off the fifth, and Andre Thornton, up first in the seventh, hit homers for Montreal, but it was far too little.

Dodgers' Hooton still baffles Phillies

Burt Hooton's supernatural hold on Philadelphia Phillies would seem to be a witch doctor's delight, but Dave Cash has an earthly explanation for it.

"The big secret is his ability to stay ahead on the count against us," says the Phillies' second baseman.

Keeping one pitch—and one step-ahead of Philadelphia has been Hooton's forte. The Los Angeles Dodger righthander has beaten the Phillies seven consecutive times since 1974—including Monday night's 6-0 National League beauty.

"He threw strikes," said Cash after bowing to Hooton's two-hitter. "We hit the ball hard but it wasn't falling. But give him credit. He pitched a good game."

Hooton himself can't explain his seemingly mystical grip on the Phillies, except to say that he fears no one in their high-powered batting order.

"I just go out there and challenge them," said Hooton. "They're challenging me. They're like the Pittsburgh Pirates when it comes to batting. You try to stay close to your pattern of pitching. You hope if you make a mistake, it doesn't hurt."

MADDOX BEAT HIM

Hooton, who once pitched a no-hitter against the Phillies while a member of Chicago Cubs, allowed merely a single and double Monday night—both to Garry Maddox.

The performance embarrassed the Phillies before a crowd of 60,942 at Veterans Stadium—the largest ever to see them at home.

In other National League games, Cincinnati Reds routed Montreal Expos 11-2.

Denmark's Drederissson wins Laser race in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Michael Drederissson of Denmark won the Laser race Monday while a Swiss pair took the Fireball competition on the opening day of the world youth sailing championships.

Raines Froehlich and Peter Muntz of Switzerland won the double-handed Fireball race, edging Peter Melvin and David Woolsey of the United States, who finished second.

Competitors from 23 countries are taking part in the six-race series in each division. The races, each six miles in length, are being conducted by the International Yacht Racing Union on two one-mile triangular courses on Lake Ontario.

Racing will continue daily until Sunday with an off-day Friday.

Drederissson used the light four-to-eight knot winds to beat Hlon Svensson of Sweden in the single-handed Laser competition. Georges Stuyts of Belgium finished third and Beat Signex of Switzerland was fourth.

Greg Tawaststjerna of Toronto, representing Canada in the Laser class, finished eighth and picked up 14.0 penalty points.

Following the Swiss and U.S. pairs in the Fireball race were John Pudenz and Carston Hochfeld of West Germany.

In fourth place were Robin West and Bob Jones of Vancouver, representing
