STATE AND PROGRESS OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION IN UPPER CANADA.

The present Educational prosperity of Upper Canada has had its rise in very feeble beginnings. Fifty years ago an unsuccessful effort was made to endow four Grammar Schools and a University; and in 1807 the first Legislative enactment was passed establishing Classical and Mathematical Schools in the eight districts into which Upper Canada was then divided, and endowing them with $400 per annum each. That established at Kingston, and afterwards at Cornwall, under the mastership of Mr. Strachan (now the Right Rev. Lord Bishop of Toronto), was most efficient.

In 1816—nine years after the establishment of the Grammar Schools—the Legislature of Upper Canada passed the first Common School Law for that Province, and appropriated $24,000 per annum for the maintenance of Common Schools. In 1820 this sum was reduced to $10,000.

In 1822, a Board of Education for Upper Canada was established for the supervision of the Grammar Schools, and the management of the University and School lands. Some regulations were adopted; and in 1824, an attempt was made to introduce Common and Sunday School libraries. Nevertheless, the zeal of the public in behalf of Education gradually languished; and it was not until 1836 that an effort was made to revive it. An elaborate report was prepared by Dr. Thomas Dunscombe, M.P.P., Chairman of the Educational Committee of the House of Assembly, on the state of Education in the various parts of the adjoining Union which he visited. He also prepared a draft of a Bill, which was printed, but never passed. The political crisis of 1837 soon followed, overwhelming in confusion all our affairs, and preventing further attention being given to the subject.

In 1841, however, a Bill was passed restoring our Common Schools, and tracing the outlines of a System of Education. In 1844, the Rev. Dr. Ryerson, the present head of the Department, was appointed. A Canadian himself, and ardently devoted to its advancement, he speedily set himself to reconstruct, upon a broader and more lasting foundation, our entire system of public instruction. As a preliminary step, he devoted a year to the examination and comparison of the system of Education in Europe and America, and embodied the results in a "Report on a system of public Elementary Instruction in Upper Canada." This valuable and comprehensive Report sketches, with a bold and masterly hand, the whole system of public instruction which is now in successful operation among us.

The chief outlines of the system are similar to those in other countries. We are indebted in a great degree to New York for the machinery of our schools, to Massachusetts for the principle upon which they are supported, to Ireland for an admirable series of Common School books, and to Germany for our system of Normal School training. All, however, are so modified and blended to suit the circumstances of the country, that they are no longer exotics, but "racy of the soil." In several important particulars, it differs from any other on this continent. The chief points of difference are as follows:—

1. It provides for specific religious instruction, and the co-operation and visitation of the local clergy of the various religious persuasions.
2. The chief Executive is a non-political and permanent officer.
3. Taxation for its support is voluntary on the part of the various municipalities.
4. It prohibits the use of foreign books in the English branches of instruction, except by special permission,—thus preventing the introduction of heterogeneous text-books, and those designedly inimical to our institutions.
5. It provides for the supply of maps, school apparatus, text-books, and library books to all the schools, direct from the Department, and grants 100 per cent on local appropriations for this purpose.
6. It provides for pensioning of worn-out teachers.
7. It provides for taking and recording meteorological observations at each of the senior County Grammar Schools.

The Normal School at Toronto was established in 1847, and annually trains about 100 teachers. A Journal of Education is published monthly by the Department, and sent to each Trustee, Corporation, Local Superintendent, County Clerk, &c., in Upper Canada.

A Model Grammar School is now in process of erection on the Normal School site. It is designed to afford instruction to 100 Pupils, (to be selected from different Counties in Upper Canada,) and to form a sort of Normal School for Grammar School Masters. Meteorological Stations are also about being established throughout Upper Canada in connection with the Senior County Grammar Schools. Instruments and instruction are provided by the Educational Department.

The following statistical extracts exhibit the progress and present state of public instruction in Upper Canada up to the close of 1856:—

The establishment of a Normal School, as necessary to the completion of a national system of education, engaged public attention in 1836; but nothing was accomplished until after the appointment, in 1844, of the Rev. Egerton Ryerson, D.D., as Chief Superintendent of Education. In February, 1846, Dr. Ryerson, after investigating the systems of education in Europe and the United States, submitted to Government his Report on a System of Elementary Education for Upper Canada, and a draft of a School Bill, which obtained the assent of Parliament, 23d May, 1846. On the 1st July following, the Board of Education (now Council of Public Instruction) was appointed, for the purpose of establishing the Normal and Model Schools, and selecting text-books for the Common Schools of the Province. By agreement with the Government, the old Government House of Upper Canada, at Toronto, was granted for the use of the Normal School, until the erection of proper buildings; and after the completion of the necessary arrangements, the institution was formally opened for the admission of students on the 1st November, 1847. The following year the Model School was opened.

On the removal of the Seat of Government from Montreal to Toronto, in 1849, measures were adopted for the immediate erection of buildings for the institution. Accordingly, the Legislature, in 1850, appropriated £15,000 for the purchase of a site and erection of buildings, and an additional £10,000 in 1852,—making in all £25,000. The corner stone of the new buildings was laid on the 2nd July, 1851, by His Excellency Lord Elgin, and the premises were formally opened on the 24th November, 1852.

The institution consists of a Normal School and two Model Schools: the former, the School of Instruction by Lecture; the latter, the School of Instruction by Practice. The students in the former are young persons whose ages vary from 16 or 18 to 30, and over, while the pupils in the latter are children between the ages of 5 and 16 years. In the Normal School, the teachers in training are instructed in the principles of education and the best methods of communicating knowledge to the youth placed under their care,—are "taught how to teach"; and in the Model Schools they are taught to give practical effect to those instructions, under the direction of teachers previously trained in the Normal School. The Model Schools are designed, by both the system of instruction pursued and the general arrangement, to be the model for the public schools of the Province.

The Government of Old France had given a great deal of attention to the subject of public instruction in Canada. The first school in this country was the Jesuits' College, opened at Quebec by Father Le Jeune in 1632. The Seminary of Quebec was founded by Mgr. De Laval in 1662. The College of St. Sulpice at Montreal, and the Nunnery of the Ursulines at Quebec, were also among the first schools opened in this country. The Frères Charrons, a religious order, and subsequently the Frères des Ecoles Chrétiennes, also had schools for elementary education in Canada under the French régime, but they were discontinued after a short time. The pious Marguerite Bourgeois, whose name is now surrounded with veneration by all Canadians, founded, in 1553, the order of La Congrégation de Notre Dame, which has now 40 schools in operation, with about 7000 pupils. The Franciscans had a good many elementary schools for boys before the Conquest, and the Jesuits supported out of their revenues several lay teachers, who were mostly old pupils of their college. The two orders having been suppressed during the first years of the new régime, there remained for a long time scarcely any other schools but the two Seminaries of Quebec and Montreal, the Convents of the Ursulines at Quebec and at Three Rivers, and the schools of the Congregation of Notre Dame at Montreal and at several villages throughout the country. Indeed, although the Sisters did not admit boys into their schools, a great portion of the education received by the men in the country parishes, is due to them; many a mother who was taught by them, having in her turn educated her own children of both sexes.

Lord Dorchester, Governor of the Province of Quebec, appointed, in 1787, a commission to inquire into the subject of education. That commission recommended the establishment of an elementary school in each parish, of a model school in each county, and of a non-sectarian university. The whole was to be endowed with the Jesuits' estates and by grants from the Crown lands. Bishop Hubert opposed the plan, whilst his coadjutor, Bishop Bailly, supported it; and ultimately it was dropped by the Government. In 1801, the Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning was created; but the members of the Board being composed of men with whom the great majority of the people had no sympathies, and the teachers being mostly imported from the United Kingdom and without any knowledge of the French language, it was a decided failure. After twenty years of existence, it had 37 schools and 1048 pupils. It reached as a maximum 84 schools and 3675 pupils. In 1824, the Legislature passed an Act, entitled, "An Act for the Encouragement and Endowment of Elementary Schools in the Parishes." That Act provided for the establishment of one school in each parish, through the agency of the fabriques, which are corporate bodies, instituted under the old laws of France, consisting of the curé or rector and of the marguilliers or churchwardens. It provided that whenever the parish would number more than two hundred families, a second school could be opened. The fabrique was authorized to acquire and possess one acre of land whereon to build a schoolhouse, and to apply one fourth of its revenues to the maintenance of the schools.

In 1829 an Act was passed providing for the election of school trustees in each parish or township,—for the payment of a salary of twenty pounds to each teacher whose school would number twenty pupils, with an addition of ten shillings for each pupil belonging to any poor family taught free in the school. The same statute provided also that the Government was to pay one half of the building of school-houses, under certain conditions; the whole amount not to exceed £2000 per annum. Several Acts were subsequently passed amending and extending those previous Acts. They contained provisions for aid to colleges and girls' academies, and various sums voted to Mr. Perrault and to the Quebec Education Society for the introduction of the Lancasterian system. A deaf and dumb institute at Quebec was also provided for, and, under the auspices of Mr. Ronald Macdonald, who had been instructed by Mr. Leclerc, himself a disciple of the Abbé de Lepée, it realised every expectation.

Various wise enactments for collecting statistics, for visiting schools by Members of Parliament, and for the distribution of prize-books, were made. One of the statutes provided also for the erection of a Normal School; and the Rev. John Holmes, principal of the Seminary of Quebec, was sent to Europe with a view of visiting the normal schools of the old world, and of procuring professors, books, apparatus, and collections of natural history. He returned towards the end of 1836, with Mr. Regnaud, the director of a normal school in France, and Mr. Findlater from Scotland. A Normal School was opened in Montreal; but the Troubles having broken out a short time after, and the Constitution having been suspended, the school had to be given up. Mr. Findlater went back to Scotland, and Mr. Regnaud, finding employment here as a land surveyor, remained in the country. The provisions for the maintenance of the Common Schools having been allowed to fall through by the Legislative Council, during its quarrels with the House of Assembly, the system which had been gradually maturing itself, was destroyed. This was the second great blow aimed at the educational institutions of Lower Canada. The first was the confiscation of the Jesuits' and Franciscans' estates, shortly after the Conquest. When the second calamity befel us, there was under the operation of the law 1600 schools, wherein 40,000 children were taught; most of which had to be closed. In the meantime, however, several colleges had been erected and were in a most flourishing condition. When Lord Durham came here, with all the powers and attributes of vice-royalty, he found, as he has stated, Lower Canada in the anomalous position of a country where superior education was amply provided for, while nothing almost was done for elementary education. In his Report, he paid however to our classical institutions a just tribute of praise.

After the Union of the Provinces, the Legislature passed, in 1841, a law for the establishment and maintenance of public schools. It provided for the appointment of a Superintendent of Education for the whole Province, and appropriated a sum of £50,000 for the support of common schools, to be apportioned between the several municipal districts in proportion to the number of children of school age in each of them. The Hon. Mr. Jamieson was appointed Superintendent under this law; but to meet the wants of the two sections of the Province, the Rev. Mr. Murray and Dr. Meilleur were also appointed Superintendents, the former for Upper and the latter for Lower Canada. Dr. Meilleur had been a Member of the Provincial Parliament of Lower Canada for several years, and had published various elementary works. He had also been one of the founders and directors of the College of L'Assomption. In 1845 another law was passed, applying chiefly to Lower Canada, and providing for the appointment of a Superintendent for each section, and containing a great many new regulations, that had been omitted in the first law. This was again superseded by the law of 1846, which is the foundation of the several laws now in force. One of its most important features was that it made the assessment compulsory, and did away with the voluntary contributions. That important step was however altered in 1849, when a law containing various amendments, most of which, giving to the Superintendent powers of a quasi-judicial nature in matters controverted between the parties to the school law, restored the voluntary contribution, which however at present, in most of the Municipalities, the good sense of the people has set aside for the legal assessment. It also contained new provisions concerning the monthly fees, and the powers of the Boards eral school districts, for the purpose of establishing better schools, the development of the higher order of institutions, as well as to the general penury, that we must attribute the slower rate of progress for this year, compared with last, of the elementary schools.

"I am happy to state that the few bad symptoms which I have pointed out are far from being general, but, on the contrary, the facts and figures which I now hastily compile, will show a continued progress.

"One proof of that progress is the almost general abandonment of the system of voluntary contribution, and the adoption of that of assessment. It will be seen, by Appendix C., that 384 municipalities take the most simple, the most economical, all things considered, and, at all events, the most equitable and certain method, that of assessment; 45 only have had recourse to voluntary contributions, and they are principally municipalities in which they are only beginning to have schools: the practical good sense of our people is every where condemning the latter mode.

"Notwithstanding the extreme misery which has prevailed in many districts, only five municipalities have availed themselves of the clause in favor of indigent townships; there is everywhere manifested a noble repugnance to taking advantage of that provision. Ten municipalities appear on the table as giving no sign of intellectual life. With the exception of St. Michel d'Yanaska, these are very poor and isolated settlements: Mann and Newport in the District of Gaspé, Valcartier, St. Férol, Ste. Sophie, and Craubourne in the District of Quebec, Ely in the District of St. Francis, St. Columban in the District of Montreal, and Grenville in the District of Ottawa. Since receiving the Report of the Inspectors, I have ascertained that there have been steps taken by the inhabitants of Valcartier, St. Columban, and St. Férol, which justify me in saying that the law is now carried out there; the last-mentioned parish has had a school since the month of July. There are therefore in reality only seven municipalities where the law is not in operation; and it is to be observed to the honor of the Districts of Kamouraska and Montreal that not one of these dark spots is found within their limits.

"Taking the total number of pupils attending colleges, academies, and model schools, we have 15,215 boys receiving instruction of various grades above elementary education. The total number of pupils attending convents and schools of the higher class for girls gives 12,788 girls receiving a superior education. If to this we add one half of the pupils of the elementary schools, we shall have 75,782 children receiving a good education.

"In this respect, the numbers for Lower Canada are more than double, as is also the annual progress; and he who would not admit that many of our educational institutions are not inferior to those of any part of this continent, must either be very much prejudiced or know very little of what is passing around him.

"I should have remarked that, besides the numerous superior and secondary educational institutions which the Catholic clergy of Lower Canada have founded, the country owes to them the two Institutions for the deaf and dumb, the only ones which we have. That for females, situated at Long Point, near Montreal, has about twenty pupils; that for boys, at St. Laurent, has lately added to the number of its professors two clerks of St. Viator; one of whom, Mr. Young, is himself deaf and dumb, and was educated at the Institute of Nancy in France.

"It should be remembered that a sum of $30,000 is at the disposal of the Government for the establishment of such schools. Having had, while occupying a different position, to examine this subject, I would be happy to give any information, or make any suggestions, which might be desired, at least as far as Lower Canada is concerned.

"There is nothing better calculated than the following table to establish the substantial character of the progress accomplished. It will be seen that the proportion of the pupils of our model and common schools studying the most important branches of practical education increase every year. The number of those studying compound-arithmetic and book-keeping has doubled in two years; that of those learning geography has increased more than half; students of history have doubled, of grammar have increased more than half, and of parsing have more than quadrupled.

"Dictation or orthographical exercises, which did not figure at all in the Report for 1853, were practised in 1854 by 20,346 pupils, whose numbers this year amount to 32,512.

"Some branches which had never been noticed in the tables for preceding years, appear there for the first time this year, and are represented by very respectable figures. Thus there are 430 pupils studying literature and epistolary composition; agriculture and horticulture, 199; mathematics and geometry, 777; surveying and mensuration, 836; lineary drawing, 1272; singing, 5013; and instrumental music, 1032. As was to be expected, the academies and model schools claim the greatest part of these developments.

"The progress in some inspection districts is truly astonishing, as proved by the following table, compiled and abridged from the Report of Mr. Beland, Inspector of Schools for the Counties of Lotbinière, Beauce, Dorchester, and Lévi:

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE,

TORONTO.

On the first establishment of the Provincial University, the functions of instruction as well as of determining the standard of qualifications for University honors and degrees, were combined in the one institution, and were so continued under the University Act of 1849. With a view of adapting the constitution of the University to a system of affiliated Colleges, the Act 16 Victoria, cap. 89, separated these functions, and established University College as a distinct Collegiate institution from the University of Toronto, and under the government of a College Council, composed of a President, Vice-President, and Professors. By the same Act it is provided, that there shall be taught in the said College such sciences, arts, and branches of knowledge as the Council may, from time to time, determine, and as may be in accordance with the Statutes of the University of Toronto, respecting the prescribed subjects for examination.

UNIVERSITY OF TRINITY COLLEGE,

TORONTO.

Trinity College owes its establishment to the preserving efforts of the present Lord Bishop of Toronto, the Right Rev. Dr. Strachan. For a long time it had been insisted that one of the chief objects in obtaining the Charter and endowment of the Provincial University, was to provide means for educating the clergy of the Episcopal Church; but Parliament, acting on behalf of the people of the Province, for whose benefit the University was intended, and in further compliance with the request of the successor of the Royal founder, amended the Charter, by abolishing the Chair of Divinity, in 1849. Previous, however, to the opening of the Provincial University, and about two years before the organization of its Faculty of Divinity, the Bishop established a Diocesan Theological College at Cobourg, for the education of candidates for Holy Orders, and appointed one of his chaplains to be Professor of Divinity for his Diocese. This arrangement continued during the existence of a similar professorship in the University; and became the means of educating about nine-tenths of the clergy who were ordained during the continuance of the two theological schools.

The Act of 1849, while it abolished the distinctive theological character of the Provincial University, continued its Professors. Measures, however, were adopted, in 1850, for the establishment of a Denominational College; and an appeal was made by the Bishop to the members of the Church of England in Canada and England. The appeal, made at a time when party spirit ran high on political and constitutional questions, was liberally responded to. In 1851, Parliament incorporated the proposed Church institution, by the Act 14 & 15 Victoria, cap. 32, under the title of "Trinity College;" and on the 15th of January, 1852, the College was formally opened for the admission of students. On the 10th of July, of the same year, after correspondence and modification of the original draft, a Royal Charter was obtained, conferring the usual University powers to grant degrees in Divinity, Law, Medicine, and Arts. The Corporation created by the Act consists of the Bishop and such persons as he may appoint to be the Trustees and Council of the College, and may hold property to the value of $20,000 per annum, subject to the provisions that "the Corporation shall at all times, when called upon so to do by the Governor of the Province, render an account in writing of their property, setting forth in particular the amount of income and from what property derived; also the number of members of the Corporation, the number of teachers and students, and the course of instruction pursued."

This University confers no degree whatever unless the candidate has previously taken the oath of allegiance and supremacy, and subscribed the following declaration: "I, _____, do willingly and heartily declare that I am truly and sincerely a member of the United Church of England and Ireland."

The institution is liberally endowed by private subscriptions of money and lands, and grants from public bodies.

UPPER CANADA COLLEGE,
TORONTO.

This College was established in the year 1829, by the then Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada, Sir John Colborne, (now Lord Seaton,) as an institution for general education, and which might fitly prepare the way for, and ultimately assist in filling, the Provincial University, then only projected. Having first obtained the concurrence of the College Council to the establishment of a Royal Grammar School, he submitted to parliament a plan for its connection with the University; and his proposal having been acceded to, the title of the Royal Grammar School was changed to that of Upper Canada College, and the institution opened for the purposes of tuition on the 4th January, 1830. Since then, more than two thousand pupils have been entered on its boards,—many of whom are now occupying distinguished positions in the Province and elsewhere. The institution stands in the same relation to the University, as the Preparatory and High Schools of other Universities, although supported by an endowment of its own, aided by an annual Parliamentary grant. At present it is placed under the management of the Senate of the University of Toronto; but the Principal, Masters, and Teachers are appointed by the Governor.

UNIVERSITY OF QUEEN'S COLLEGE,
KINGSTON.

Queen's College was established by the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, in connection with the church of Scotland, and was originally incorporated by an Act of the Parliament of Upper Canada, 3 Vict. cap. 35, as The University at Kingston. This Act, however, was disallowed, and a Royal Charter granted the following year, bearing date 10th October, 1841, and conferring the title of "Queen's College at Kingston," with power to confer degrees in the several Arts and Faculties. No religious test or qualification is required of persons matriculated, or admitted to a degree, "save only that all persons admitted within the said College to any degree in Divinity shall make the same declarations and subscriptions as are required of persons admitted to any degree in Divinity in the University of Edinburgh." The management of the institution is entrusted to twenty-seven Trustees—twelve clergymen and fifteen laymen—appointed by the Synod of the Church; and to a College Senate composed of the Principal and Professors for the time being. In 1846 the property originally vested in the corporation created by the disallowed Act of 1840, was transferred to the corporation of Queen's College by the Act of 9 Vic. cap. 89. The Institution is supported by income from endowment, a grant from the Legislature, suscriptions, and assistance from Church funds. By the Charter, its income may be £15,000 sterling per annum.

UNIVERSITY OF VICTORIA COLLEGE, COBOURG.

The existence of this College is due to the efforts of the Conference of the Wesleyan Methodist Church. During the years 1828-9, plans were devised for the establishment of an Academy for the superior education of both sexes; and in 1830, the Conference appointed a committee to collect subscriptions, and select a site for the proposed institution, which they then named Upper Canada Academy. After offers of donations of land and money from various parts of the Province, the town of Cobourg was selected, for the liberality of its offer and central position. Upwards of $28,000 were collected, and in the autumn of 1832 the buildings were commenced. Various circumstances, however, delayed the completion of the work; and it was not until the 18th June, 1836, that the Academy was formally opened. On the 12th October of the same year, a Royal Charter of incorporation was obtained; and also, about the same time, a public grant, principally through the exertions of the chief originator of the College, the Rev. Egerton Ryerson, D.D. In 1841, application was made to Parliament for an alteration in the constitution of the Academy and its establishment as a University; and accordingly the Act 4 & 5 Victoria, cap 37, was passed, conferring the usual University powers upon its authorities, under the title of "Victoria College, at Cobourg." Under this Act, the management of the College is entrusted to a Board, composed of nine Trustees and five Visitors, appointed by the Conference; and to a Senate, composed of the President, Professors, Members of the Board, and certain officers of Government, for the time being. The Faculty of Arts has been in operation since 1842. In 1854, an arrangement was made with the Toronto School of Medicine, by which that institution became the Faculty of Medicine of the University. The preparatory department sustains to the College the relation of a Grammar or High School, and is designed to qualify pupils for the University course, or to give them an elementary training in any or all of the following subjects, viz:—Arithmetic, geography, history, English grammar, reading, penmanship, book-keeping, algebra, natural philosophy, French, Latin, and Greek languages. Students presenting themselves for admission into this department, are classed according to their attainments, and instructed in such branches as are deemed most suitable. No religious tests are prescribed; but all students are required to attend divine service on the Sabbath, in connection with whatever church they or their parents prefer. They are also required to attend prayers, with the reading of the Scriptures, in the College chapel, in the morning and evening of each day. The institution is supported by the sale of scholarships, fees, and an annual Parliamentary grant. Its income is limited by the Charter of incorporation to £2000 sterling per annum.

REGIOPOLIS COLLEGE,

KINGSTON.

The establishment of this college is due to the late Roman catholic Bishop McDonell, by whom it was first endowed, in 1835, with a grant of nearly four acres within the limits of the city of Kingston, and afterwards by a legacy of real and personal estate. In 1837, it was incorporated by the Act 7 William IV., cap. 56, under the title of "The College of Regiopolis," and in 1845 the Trustees under the will were authorized by the Act 8 Victoria, cap. 79, to convey the legacy to the corporation, and the latter authorized to hold real property to the value of $12,000 per annum, subject to the following provision: "It shall be incumbent on the said college to submit annually to each of the three branches of the Legislature, if so required, a detailed statement of the real property held by them under this Act, and of the annual revenue arising therefrom."

Very Rev. Angus McDonell, president. Rev. J. O'Brien, B.A.; H. Burns, Isaac McCarthy, and Michael Stafford, professors.

* In 1850, this Act was amended by 13 & 14 Victoria, cap 143, authorizing the removal of the College to Toronto. Notice of application for another removal Act has lately been given.

CANADIAN CONGREGATIONAL THEOLOGICAL INSTITUTE,

TORONTO.

This Institution was first organised in 1840, for the education of candidates for the ministry of the Congregational Church. A few students had previously been receiving instruction from the Rev. Adam Lillie, while he was pastor of a church in Dundas. The number increasing, a "Congregational Academy" (as it was then called), was founded, and Mr. Lillie appointed tutor, taking charge of all the classes. In 1843, a similar movement took place in the Lower Province, resulting in the establishment of a "Congregational Theological Institute" in Montreal, of which the Rev. J. J. Carruthers, D.D., was tutor in theology; the Rev. H. Wilkes, A.M., in philosophy; and the Rev. H. Miles, (for one year) resident tutor. In 1846, the two were amalgamated, under the name of "The Canadian Congregational Theological Institute," and located in Toronto.

The course of instruction extends over four sessions of eight months each, and embraces mental and moral philosophy, logic, rhetoric, theology, biblical criticism and interpretation, Jewish antiquities, ecclesiastical history, homiletics, Hebrew, classics, and mathematics. Students are required to pass an entrance examination in arithmetic, English grammar and composition, geography and history; and also an annual examination at the close of each session.

The Congregational Institute is unendowed, but is supported in part by an annual grant from the Colonial Missionary Society in connection with the Congregational Union of England and Wales, and partly by annual subscriptions from the churches of that body in the Province. The annual cost is about $2400. The premises occupied by it are held on lease, and are situated on the corner of Adelaide and Francis Streets. The management of its affairs is in the hands of a committee chosen by an annual meeting of the subscribers, held at the same time and place as that of the Congregational Union of Canada.

In 1854, an arrangement was made with the authorities of Victoria College, by which the lecturers of the school were constituted the Faculty of Medicine in the College; but the separate or corporate existence of the school was not affected thereby. In 1856, the lecturers of the Toronto School of Medicine withdrew from their connection with Victoria College, and continued their school in the same manner as before; and it is now conducted solely as an affiliated Medical School of the University of Toronto.

LOWER CANADA.

UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

LAVAL UNIVERSITY, QUEBEC.

In 1663, the first Roman catholic Bishop of Canada, François de Montmorency-Laval, founded and endowed, with his own patrimony, an institution, which was called the Quebec Seminary. The primary object of this institution was the education of boys who felt an inclination for the priesthood, and such it continued until 1759. After the conquest of this country by the English, a College, which the Jesuits had held at Quebec since 1645, having been suppressed, the directors of this Seminary, in order to meet the wants and wishes of those boys who were not intended for the priesthood, admitted into their classes all those whose good conduct and talents entitled them to such favor. By this change, the Seminary became a regular College, and had, by successive additions, acquired a high degree of importance, when it was erected, by Her Majesty's Royal Charter, into a University, under the style and name of The Laval University.

By this charter, which bears date December 8th, 1852, no change was effected in the constitution of the Seminary itself; but a Council, composed of the directors of the institution, and the three senior professors of the several Faculties, was empowered to possess and enjoy all the privileges granted to the Universities of the United Kingdom, and especially that of conferring degrees in the Faculties of Divinity, Law, Medicine, and Arts. His Grace the Roman catholic Archbishop of Quebec is, by virtue of his office, Visitor of the University. The Superior of the Seminary, for the time being, holds the office of Rector.

Since the granting of the charter unceasing efforts have been employed to secure its complete execution. In 1853, five professors of the Faculty of Medicine were appointed, and one of them was sent to England, France, and Belgium, to purchase a medical library and museum, with a fine collection of surgical instruments. During the following year, the University acquired a great number of books for the Faculty of Law, and a collection for the study of Materia Medica. The expense incurred by these objects was about £12000. At length, in September, 1854, the Faculties of Law and Medicine opened their courses, after a solemn inauguration, in which Lord Elgin took part, on the 21st of that month. At the same time, several buildings were commenced for the use of the University, of which a part only is finished, but which, when completed, will have involved an outlay exceeding $800,000.

Of the four Faculties, two (viz, those of Law and Medicine) have been almost completely organized. Those of Divinity and Arts are now contemplated, and will soon be in operation. The course of instruction is intended to occupy four years, except in the Faculty of Arts, which is limited to three years. In the Faculty of Divinity, dogmatic and moral theology, Holy Scriptures, sacred eloquence, ecclesiastical history, and canon law are to be taught. History, literature, eloquence, moral, intellectual, and natural philosophy, mathematics, &c., will form the subjects of the lectures in the Faculty of Arts. The list of the professors of the Faculties of Law and Medicine shows what branches are already taught in these Faculties. Maritime law and notarial practice will soon be added to the course of lectures in the Faculty of Law; and comparative anatomy in the Faculty of Medicine.

The Library of the University contains 18,000 volumes, of which, 1,200 are in the Law department, and 2,000 in that of Medicine. Besides the museum and collections already mentioned, the Institution possesses philosophical apparatus which have cost $10,000, a good collection of minerals, and a well fitted chemical laboratory.

TERMS.—The academical year is divided into three terms: the first begins on the second Tuesday of September, and ends on Christmas eve; the second begins on the day after Epiphany, and ends on the Wednesday preceding Easter; the third begins on the second Monday after Easter, and ends on the second Tuesday of July. After each term the students are required to pass an examination upon all the matters taught during the term.

COLLEGIATE.

This department is the Seminary as it was till 1852, and is under the control of a board composed of a Superior and at least four directors. It is divided into two parts called the Grand and the Minor Seminary.

The Grand Seminary comprises the classes of Dogmatic and Moral Theology, Holy Scripture, Ecclesiastical History, and other branches necessary for the discharge of the clerical functions.

The course of studies embraces three years at least. No one is admitted to it unless he has followed a complete course of Philosophy and Literature. The students are all boarders and wear the clerical costume. They pay $80 for board, but the instruction is gratuitous. A library of 1,700 books is at their disposal.

The Minor Seminary comprises nine classes, of which two are in the course of Philosophy, and seven in that of Literature.

In order to be admitted as a student into the Minor Seminary, it is necessary to read the maternal tongue (French or English) very correctly, write pretty well, and have some knowledge of the grammar.

About thirty gratuities have been founded at different periods and by different persons, for the students of the Minor Seminary. About a third of these gratuities are limited to the members of certain families.

A library of about 2,500 volumes is at the disposal of all the students for $1 per annum.

Fees.—Boarders, $80 per annum; Day Pupils, $10.

The actual number of the students in the Minor Seminary is 356, of whom 182 are boarders.

UNIVERSITY OF MCGILL COLLEGE, MONTREAL.

The existence of the University of McGill College is due to the late Mr. James McGill, a merchant of Montreal who by trade had amassed an ample fortune, and left behind him this earnest of his benevolent and generous character. He died in 1813, leaving a will by which he bequeathed in trust to the Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning, his Estate of Burnside, consisting of some forty-six acres of land in the immediate neighbourhood of the City of Montreal, and now within its limits, and also the sum of £10,000 in money, as a foundation for a University. The bequest was accompanied with the condition that the University should be erected within ten years from his death; and with a natural desire of associating his memory with the Institution founded by his liberality, he enjoined that one of the Colleges should bear his own name of McGill. The Will, however, in so far as the legacy was concerned, was contested by his residuary Legatees, and an obstinate and protracted litigation of some sixteen years was interposed between the benevolence of the founder and the benefit which the foundation was designed to confer. At length, however, in 1829, the Estate of Burnside was recovered from the residuary Legatees, and in 1835, judgment was rendered against them by the Privy Council for the Legacy of $40,000, with the interest, amounting to $88,000. The condition of the bequest that the University should be erected within ten years had been previously complied with, by obtaining the grant of a Royal Charter, for that purpose, in 1821. The next step towards giving to the University a practical operation, was the establishment of the Medical Faculty in 1829, which, with the interruption of only two years, has ever since continued in active operation. In 1835, the rev Dr. Bethune was appointed Principal of the University, and after some unsuccessful efforts to obtain a change of the very imperfect constitution established by the Charter, and the consumption of much time from misunderstandings between the Governors of the University under that Charter, and the Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning which held all the funds, it was at length agreed upon, that buildings for the uses of the University should be erected; and accordingly those now standing on the west side of Sherbrooke street, were commenced in 1839. The sum expended upon them was $60,000, and although still in an unfinished state, yet they were sufficiently completed for the reception of Students in 1843. In the latter year statutes were framed for the Government of the College, and a Chair of divinity and two Professorships in the Faculty of Arts were established, and with this addition to the already established Faculty of medicine, the College was formally opened on 7th of September of that year. The Institution thus started was not successful. Its condition at length attracted attention, and in 1850, the Provincial Government was moved by a number of public spirited gentlemen to aid in an endeavor to place it on a better footing. As a strong antagonism had always existed between the Royal Institution, and the majority of the Governors of the College upon subjects essentially affecting its conduct and prosperity, it was deemed advisable as a first step, to re-construct the former Corporation. New appointments were therefore made to the Royal Institution, of persons selected on the score of their interest in the cause of Education. Of those, several entered upon the duties of their office with zeal and energy. They drew up an elaborate report on the condition of the University, and the course which they thought should be followed for its amelioration, and their recommendations were made the basis of all that has since been done. A draft of a new Charter was prepared, which was finally adopted, and executed by Her Majesty in 1852—the most prominent and important provision of which is that the members of the Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning, are made Governors, ex-officio, of the University.

The corporation of the University now consists of the Governors, Principal and Fellows—three of the latter being elected by the convocation, and act as its representatives in managing the affairs of the University. Under its present government, McGill College has greatly improved. An appeal lately made to the public of Lower Canada for its permanent endowment, has resulted, so far, in the formation of a fund of nearly $52,000—$20,000 of which was subscribed by the Messrs. Molson, for the endowment of “the Molson Professorship of History and English Literature.”

The course of instruction in Arts is as follows:

First Year.—Classics, modern languages, English literature, mathematics, algebra, history.

Second Year.—Classics, modern languages, logic, higher mathematics, algebra, history.

Third Year.—Classics, modern languages, mental and moral philosophy, calculus, natural philosophy, chemistry.—Optional Studies—Hebrew, commercial law, agriculture, engineering.

Fourth Year.—Modern languages, rhetoric, natural philosophy and astronomy, natural history.—Optional Studies—Hebrew, commercial law, agriculture, engineering.

In Medicine, instruction is given in each branch specified in the requirements. The Lectures in the Faculty of Law comprise every branch of legal study, but special reference is made to Roman jurisprudence as the groundwork of many of the departments of the Law of Lower Canada. The High School Department is intended to provide a liberal education for those designed for business or professions, or who may wish to prepare for entrance into the College.

In the Medical Library there are 2,536 volumes, and in the Arts Library about 1,500. The Museum and Apparatus of both faculties are worth about $5,200.

UNIVERSITY OF BISHOP'S COLLEGE.—LENOXVILLE.

This University had its origin in the pressing want of a Theological school for educating candidates for the Ministry of the United Church of England and Ireland, in Lower Canada. But it having appeared that to educate them thoroughly there was need of a large amount of means, it was determined to push the effort a little further, and to erect and endow a place of general education. Accordingly, in 1843, measures were adopted and an Act of incorporation obtained (7 Vict. c. 49), for carrying these objects into effect; and in September, 1845, the College was opened in temporary buildings obtained for that purpose until the completion of its own —to which it was transferred in October of the following year. In 1853 the College became a University by a Royal Charter and was empowered to confer degrees “in the several Arts, and the Faculties of Divinity, Law and Medicine;” and held its first public meeting of Convocation for that purpose on the 7th October, 1854.

By the Charter, it is provided that “the Chancellor, Vice Chancellor, Principal and Professors of the said College, and all persons admitted therein to the degree of Master of Arts, or to any degree in Divinity, Law or Medicine, who shall pay the sum of twenty shillings a year towards the support of the College, shall be members of the Convocation of the said University, and as such shall possess all the powers and privileges in regard to conferring degrees, and other matters as are provided by the regulations of said College.” These powers are —to elect the Chancellor and Vice Chancellor; confer all degrees, and prescribe the subjects and standard of examination therefore; appoint, on recommendation of the College Council, examiners (who shall be M.A.'s) to act with the professors of the College, so that each subject shall come under the notice of at least two examiners; and to do such other acts as are consistent with the law, the charter, and the regulations of the College.

The religious tests and exercises prescribed by the regulations, are: that all members of the College shall attend morning and evening service each week day in the College chapel, and on Sunday in St. George's church, Lennoxville; but such students as are not members of the Church of England are not required to attend this latter service, but the service of the church to which their parents or guardians belong. There is no test specified as necessary on taking a degree.

The endowment of the University is derived from private sources, and donations from the Societies for Promoting Christian Knowledge, and for Propagating the Gospel in Foreign Parts. It has also an annual Parliamentary Grant. There are two “Jubilee scholarships” of the value of $140 per annum, tenable for three years each. The expense of residence to students for the academic year (40 weeks) is from $160 to $180.
