POSSIBILITY OF BRITISH ELECTIONS

Premier May Go To People For Approval

Introduction of Compulsory Military Service in Great Britain Urged in Motion Placed Before House of Lords Today—Sir John Simon Resumed Debate on Munich Agreement in House of Commons—Motion Approving "Policy of His Majesty's Government" Introduced.

London, Oct. 5.—(P)—Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, resumed debate on the Munich agreement in the House of Commons today, declaring "only history can decide" whether Prime Minister Chamberlain's efforts were a prelude to better times or worse.

Sir John introduced a motion "that this House approves the policy of His Majesty's Government by which war was averted in the recent crisis and supports their efforts to secure a lasting peace."

The House is not expected to vote on the motion until tomorrow. The Opposition will move an amendment.

RESIGNS LIBERAL SEAT

Montreal, Oct. 5.—(P)—Peter Berowitch, K.C., said yesterday he had tendered his resignation as Liberal Member of the Quebec Legislature for Montreal-St. Louis, which he has represented twenty-two years, so that he might contest the House of Commons seat of Montreal-Cartier, left vacant by the death of Samuel W. Jacob.

Berowitch announced some time ago he would be a candidate in the by-election to be held on November 14th.

Believed Anglo-Italian Pact May Be Brought Back To Life

Relations Between Great Britain and Italy Are Discussed for Third Successive Day—Agreement Now Dormant Signed in Spring to Take Effect When Spanish War Settlement Is Reached.

Rome, Oct. 5.—(P)—The Earl of Perth, British Ambassador to Italy, called on Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano today to discuss Anglo-Italian relations for the third successive day.

Official circles were silent on the tenor of the conversations, but in diplomatic quarters it was believed the possibility of bringing the dormant Anglo-Italian accord into speedy effect was being explored.

This agreement was signed April 16th with the understanding it was to become effective when a Spanish war "settlement" was reached.

British sources have contended a French-Italian agreement similar to the Anglo-Italian accord was essential to complete appeasement in the Mediterranean, but France's refusal to recognize the Ethiopian conquest has been an important obstacle.

Conversations between Count Ciano and the French charge d'affaires, Jules Blondel, looking toward an accord were begun last spring but were broken off when French-Italian relations became strained over the Spanish question.

PIERCING FIGHTING ON CHINESE FRONT

Shanghai, Oct. 5.—(P)—Japanese followed up a twelve-mile advance today with a furious attack by which they occupied Lohi, thirty-eight miles southwest of Jichang.

Japanese claimed the manoeuvre turned the left flank of the Chinese line defending bitterly-contested Teian. Chinese said they defeated Japanese attempting to push through the Taphi Mountains on the north bank of the Yangtze, northwest of Hankow.

Hold France Has Lost All European Allies As Result Of Munich Accord

Moscow, Oct. 5.—(P)—A prediction of sharp revival of Communist international activity, especially in France, was made today by some foreign observers following a cooling of Soviet-French relations.

The semi-official newspaper Le Journal de Moscou, often the mirror of foreign office news, said emphatically that as a result of the four-power Munich agreement France had lost all her European allies but England and demanded: "Who can rely on England?"

"Isolation is the price France will pay for Munich, where she received not even a scrap of paper" but only an oral promise from Adolf Hitler," the paper asserted.

It added: "After the capitulation of Munich (where France, Italy, and Great Britain reached an accord September 30 granting Chancellor Hitler Sudeten German areas of Czechoslovakia, a French ally), who will believe again the word of France? Who will remain her ally? Rumania or Yugoslavia (with Czechoslovakia, French allies in the Little Entente) will not hesitate any longer to swing over to the side of German Fascism.

"And as for Poland—Poland certainly is lost to France."

The Journal did not state specifically that Moscow intended to cancel the French-Soviet pact of May, 1935, but asked: "What is it worth now that France has torn up its treaty of alliance with Czechoslovakia?"

The French-Soviet treaty provided for assistance in case of attack on either party by a third power. It was regarded widely as France's answer to the threat of German rearmament under Hitler, but because of the acutely anti-Soviet policy of the Nazi regime, the pact also became an obstacle to French-German rapprochement.

With the pact seemingly relegated to the scrapheap, the question was, "what will Moscow do?" opinions among qualified foreign observers were not unanimous, but some believed one result would be an intensification of Communist activity.

DEATH TODAY CLAIMED PROMINENT CANADIAN

Winnipeg, Oct. 5.—(P)—Charles Percy Fullerton, prominent in legal and railway spheres of the Dominion, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. C. McMillan, here today. The sixty-eight year-old veteran of the bench had been ill since the beginning of June.

He was first stricken in Toronto and two months ago returned to Winnipeg to live with his daughter. His condition rapidly grew worse.

He was a former member of the Manitoba Court of Appeal, former chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners, and head of the Board of Trustees, which controlled the destinies of the Canadian National Railways from 1933 until the Liberal Government's appearance in 1935 when the Board of Directors was reconstituted.

His death after a lengthy illness removed one of the Dominion's brilliant minds. Born in Amherst, N.S., July 18, 1870, son of William M. and Lucy Fullerton, he became a lumberman, lawyer and railway chief.

"ANSCHLUSS" HEILED IN ASCH

Frenzied Sudeten-German Nazis, like those shown "heiling" above, greeted their German "liberators" when Berlin's troops moved into border areas of Czechoslovakia as Czech soldiers moved out in accordance with the agreement of the four-power conference in Munich, Germany. The photo pictures a scene in Asch, home-town of Konrad Henlein, Sudeten-German party leader, following publication of his formal "claim" to the Asch district.

SPANISH HALT FASCIST DRIVE ON EBRO FRONT

Insurgents Admit Counter-Attacks In Force but Claim Possession of Six Additional Government Positions.

Hendaye, France, Oct. 5.—(P)—The Spanish Government reported today its troops halted an insurgent drive on the Ebro front and recaptured many positions lost during the past few days.

Insurgents admitted counter-attacks in force but claimed possession of six additional Government positions. The fighting centred among hills along the Gandesa-Mora de Embro highway. Positions have been changing hands repeatedly with little effect on the general front.

Barcelona, Oct. 5.—(P)—Barcelona had its fourth day of alarms and bombardments today with three air raids in five hours this morning. Authorities said twelve raids in sixty hours caused injuries to only four persons and no deaths.

Oslo, Oct. 5.—(P)—The Norwegian Government today announced arrangements had been made for an exchange of agents with insurgent Spain, thus establishing relations similar to those existing between London and Burgos.

This arrangement, it was officially stated, in no way means recognition of the insurgent regime as the legitimate government in Spain. The reason for the exchange of agents, it was stated, is that General Franco's control now extends over a large part of Spanish territory.

PART OF CZECH LAND IS DEMILITARIZED

Budapest, Oct. 5.—(P)—While Hungary awaited a Czechoslovak reply to demands for immediate territorial revision today, demilitarization of a small section of Czechoslovak territory north of Budapest was under way.

In other regions, however, new Czechoslovak fortifications were said to be continuing, especially in a thirty-mile border strip east of Bratislava. The population there was commanded to dig trenches.

Government officials said they had no definite assurances that Czechoslovakia was ready to give guarantees demanded by Hungary before Czechoslovak and Hungarian representatives could discuss details of cession of Czechoslovak territory inhabited by 800,000 Hungarians.

New Trade Accord Between Canada And U.S. To Be Signed

Pact Will Replace One Negotiated in 1935 and Expiring with 1938 Calendar Year—Canadian Parliament May Be Summoned into Session to Ratify Treaty this Fall.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—(P)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said last night he expected a new Canada-United States trade agreement would be signed "some time this month."

"I think we have practically reached agreement," he said. "At least it might be called a general understanding." It would take two weeks or so to prepare the treaty for signing once agreement is reached on details.

Upon the contents of the new pact replacing the one negotiated in 1935 and expiring with the 1938 calendar year, Mr. King made no announcement. Whether Canada's Parliament will be called into session to ratify the treaty this fall or whether it will become operative and wait formal ratification at the regular 1939 session, depended on the contents of the treaty, Mr. King said.

Worn down by an attack of sciatica that partially disabled him for four weeks, Mr. King is preparing to take a holiday. It is believed he will go to one of the southeastern States where he will be handy for a trip to Washington to sign the new treaty.

April last saw the start of negotiations in Washington for revision of the reciprocal trade treaty. During most of that time a British trade mission has been in Washington negotiating an Anglo-American trade pact. The two have been intertwined, and Canada may yield certain concessions in the United Kingdom market for compensating advantages in the United States market.

Mr. King said the question of honoring Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain by naming one of the approaches to Confederation Square after him could wait. The proposal has been made by the Ottawa City Council.

"No doubt Neville Chamberlain's name will receive recognition in all parts of the Empire and in all the world in course of time. But I think we can wait a while."

Word From London Is Awaited As Bren Gun Probe Continues

Third Cable Sent to London Regarding Disclosure of Communications Forwarded by War Office to Ottawa—Reply to Second Cable Subject of Conference Between Commissioner and Counsel.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—(P)—Word from London as to the attitude of the British Government towards disclosure of communications sent by the War Office to Ottawa regarding manufacture of Bren guns in Canada was awaited today as the inquiry into a Canadian Government contract for 1,000 guns continued before Mr. Justice H. H. Davis as a Royal Commission.

Yesterday, Hon. J. L. Ralston, Government counsel, disclosed a third cable had been sent seeking consent to use the communications and a reply received to the second request for a magazine article by Lieut.-Col. George Drew, of Toronto, led to the inquiry, now on its eighth day.

Under a similar contract, signed about the same time, the company is to make 5,000 guns for the British Government, according to earlier witnesses. Award of the two contracts to the same company meant saving to the Canadian Government of upwards of one million dollars.

Criticism of the Canadian contract in a magazine article by Lieut.-Col. George Drew, of Toronto, led to the inquiry, now on its eighth day.

CO-OPERATION IS REQUESTED BY PRESIDENT

Roosevelt Urges United States Labor and Industry Unite to Bring About Upswing in Country's Business.

Hyde Park, N.Y., Oct. 5.—(P)—President Roosevelt hopes that United States labor and industry will get together to bring about an upswing in the country's business.

This report was given today by persons close to the White House who said Mr. Roosevelt believes that, if name-calling and bitterness is ended, the country may look forward to general economic improvement.

It was said that present economic conditions are not nearly as gloomy as they have been painted in some reports, that employment is picking up more than seasonally and that the nation may anticipate improved business during the remainder of this year provided prices are kept within a proper range.

Government policy, friends of Mr. Roosevelt said, calls for keeping prices of some commodities from going through the roof and for bolstering quotations on commodities which now are under-priced.

Senate Accords Daladier Power To Govern France By Decree Until Nov. 15

RESIGNATION OF BENES IS OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED

Prague, Oct. 5.—(P)—The resignation of President Edvard Benes of Czechoslovakia was officially announced today.

BRITISH PARTIES TO JUGGLE MUNICH PACT

London, Oct. 5.—(P)—Reliable quarters today said some forty Conservative Members of Parliament, mainly sympathetic to the views of Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden, had tipped Labor leaders they would vote against Prime Minister Chamberlain's confidence motion upholding the Munich agreement if the proposed Labor amendment did not mention Soviet Russia and did not constitute a demand for censure of the Government.

Paris, Oct. 5.—(P)—The Senate today voted to grant Premier Edouard Daladier's Cabinet powers to govern France by decree until November 15th, powers already approved by the Chamber of Deputies.

The Senate's vote was 286 to 4. The Chamber had voted the decree powers by 331 to 78, with 204 abstentions, after a stormy all-night session in which the Premier met much more opposition than in the previous debate on approval of the four-power pact of Munich.

Paris, Oct. 3.—(P)—Premier Edouard Daladier early today won Chamber of Deputies consent to rule France by decree until November 15th, after a stormy night of political manoeuvring during which he was forced to make repeated concessions to avoid overthrow of his Government.

The vote was 331 to 78 with 204 Deputies refusing to vote, notably different from the 535 to 73 approval with which the Chamber yesterday acclaimed Daladier as a savior of peace.

Only by a strange combination of appeals to patriotism and shrewd political trading did Daladier keep Socialists from casting their 157 votes against him.

He was forced to cut the term of the decree powers from December 31st to the accepted November 15th, to promise the Chamber publicly that he would respect Peoples' Front social reforms, and agree to call Parliament into session about November 16th, so the Cabinet would have no chance of passing next year's budget by decree.

One report in Chamber corridors was that the former Socialist Premier, Leon Blum, got Daladier to agree to take some Socialists into his predominantly Radical-Socialist Cabinet, to permit the more Leftist party to keep close watch on use of the decree powers.

The Socialists, by abstaining rather than voting against the Cabinet, kept alive the thesis that they support the Government. But they sat silent after Daladier's speech closing the debate, while Centre and some Rightists Deputies cheered.

Despite the Socialists' decision not to vote against Daladier, the session marked the death of the People's Front—the coalition first formed under Blum in 1936 and including Socialists, Communists and Radical Socialists.

The Communists voted against the Government for the first time on Daladier's foreign policy, the peace achieved at Munich. They emphasized the break by voting against the full powers.

Socialist opposition hinges on two things: the announced belief the Munich accord will have been worth unless it brings a general European settlement, including disarmament; the fear Daladier's "peace" with Italy will include a victory for insurgents in the Spanish civil war. Support of the Spanish Government has been one of the Socialists' main planks.

Press Control Laws Are Flayed By Head Of Nation-Wide News Service

London, Ont., Oct. 5.—(P)—Press control laws "sterilize the soil from which democracy derives its sustenance," H. P. Duchemin, K.C., managing director of the Sydney Post-Record and president of The Canadian Press, said in an address on "Our Free Newspapers" prepared for delivery before the Canadian Club here today. Mr. Duchemin represented the Canadian Press in its successful appearance before the Privy Council against the Alberta Press Act.

That Act was described by the publisher as the most drastic press control bill submitted to a British legislature since the right of unlicensed printing was affirmed by the English House of Commons in 1695. Its provisions were "mandatory as well as prohibitive, its penal section ruthless and crushing."

In the final analysis all press control laws involving either censorship or dictation of the printed word must be regarded as the efforts of established authority to direct and regiment the trend of human thought. Mr. Duchemin said. "It is an understatement that such laws are repugnant to democracy. On the other hand the rigid, ruthless, effectiveness of all printed publications is even more essential to a totalitarian state than the absolute command of its military forces."

Tracing the history of press freedom, Mr. Duchemin said in British countries liberty of the press rests solely but securely on an unwritten constitutional foundation. Press freedom was not mentioned in the Bill of Rights which followed the great revolution of 1689. It was not a subject of any of the Quebec resolutions which preceded Confederation, nor was it mentioned anywhere in the British North America Act.

Nevertheless, the liberty of the press was rooted in far stronger sanctions, was admittedly much more secure against attack, in the British Commonwealth than in any of the countries where it was fortified by written code. Nothing could be farther from the truth than the "distorted conception" that the lib-

SAYS NORSEMEN FIRST TO FIND NORTH AMERICA

Ontario Publisher to Produce Evidence Which May Prove that Norse Sailors Came to Canada Before 1100.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 5.—
—New and important evidence that Norse adventurers were the first white men to set foot on North America will be made public soon, J. W. Curran, publisher of the Sault Daily Star, said today in an article in the Star.

He and two other investigators are prepared to report that three Norse relics were actually found in 1931 near Beardmore, in Northwestern Ontario. They were produced in 1935 by James E. Dodd, of Port Autair, who sold them to the Royal Ontario Museum.

Dodd, a railway conductor and amateur prospector, said he found the relics while digging for gold.
The Sault publisher said:
"I accept Mr. Dodd as a truthful man, and so accept his story as sure and correct. There is no question in my mind but that he found the Norse relics where he says he did."

"There are important facts, to be revealed in due time, which will heighten very greatly the interest in the episode and widen its significance. The evidence concerning these now is being gathered with care.
More than the museum's three pieces have been unearthed."

Mr. Curran asserted the newly-gathered evidence might possibly prove that Norse sailors came to Ontario very greatly before the year 1100, or four hundred years before Columbus crossed the Atlantic, and reached Lake Nipigon by way of the Albany and Kenogami rivers.

LED TROOPS INTO THE SUDETENLAND

2. Mr. Chamberlain would be taking advantage of the present period
of calm for elections which might be dangerous in more agitated times.

If general elections were called,
a delay of about a month would be necessary before they could be held.
In that time negotiations with Italy
for putting into effect the Anglo-Italian agreement might be concluded, or at least their first stage
—which would consist of withdrawal of a large number of Italian combatants from Spain in exchange for British recognition of Italy's sovereignty over Ethiopia.

Mr. Chamberlain would be able to present such agreement as a new step in the way to European appeasement. This point was referred to by the Financial Times today as one which might delay general elections.

"The question was discussed in the (Commons) lobby," the newspaper said, "as to whether the government would not prefer to delay an appeal to the country until at least these Anglo-Italian conversations advance to the point when a truce could be definitely envisaged."

The Daily Herald (Labor) said
the Cabinet was divided on the election question.
"There are two 'splits' in the Conservative party," this newspaper said.

"One is between the main body
of the party which approved Mr.
Chamberlain's Munich settlement
and a small but eloquent minority which disapproves."

"The second split occurs among supporters of the settlement themselves. One section wants the Government to stage an immediate general election to 'cash in' on the results of the Premier's negotiations at Munich. The other section strongly opposes an election at the present time."

"The pro-election party is in the minority and is unlikely to have its
way. Its leader is Sir Kingsley Wood,
Air Minister and head of the Conservative party organization. The Premier himself, however, does not wish to make capital out of the Munich conversation."

The Yorkshire Post (Conservative) said the present circumstances were not propitious for general elections in view of lack of solidarity in the majority ranks.

The editorial argument that elections were not advisable was based on the new engagements
contracted by Great Britain in Central Europe... the pledge to defend Czechoslovakia's new frontiers.

"What the governments need, in fact, in their foreign policy, as in the demands they must now make on the country, is not a new mandate but evidence of solidarity of a national basis in their own ranks."

"General elections will hinder,
not hasten, this solidarity."
Meanwhile, diplomatic circles reported Czechoslovakia has asked Great Britain and France to exert their influence in Warsaw to stop a Polish press campaign for cession
of Ruthenia to Hungary.

bringing the Hungarian and Polish frontiers together. Ruthenia is at the eastern tip of Czechoslovakia.
The Prague Government, it was said, also complained of Polish press
support of the Slovak claims for autonomy. It asked France and Great Britain, as guarantors of Czechoslo-vakia's new frontiers, to stop this agitation.

French Ambassador Charles Cor-
bin talked with Foreign Secretary
Halifax at the Foreign Office this morning and this question was understood to have been the essential subject of the conversation.

In winding up the debate in the Commons last night, Sir Thomas
Inskip, Minister for Defence Coordination, said the Government regarded its guarantee of the new Czech frontiers as already in force.

"In the event, therefore, of an act
of unprovoked aggression against Czechoslovakia," Sir Thomas said,
"His Majesty's Government would certainly feel bound to take all the steps in their power to see that the integrity of Czechoslovakia is preserved."

Trial Of Beauce Woman On Charge Of Murder Is Nearing Conclusion

St. Joseph de Beauce, Que., Oct.
5.—Only one or two witnesses remained to be heard as trial of Achille Grondin on a charge of murdering her first husband entered its twelfth day today.

It was expected counsel would begin their addresses to the jury of Beauce County farmers during the day. As the trial drew near its close, there loomed behind it that of Achil-le Grondin, accused in his wife of poisoning Brochu, whose widow he married two months after her first husband's death.

Yesterday the forty-year-old woman left the witness stand after eight hours of calmly-spoken testimony. Through it all, she maintained she had nothing to do with the death of her first husband and that she knew nothing about his cause except what doctors had told her.

Cross-examination on her story took up two hours yesterday and nearly two the day before. Since the trial started two weeks ago, more than ninety witnesses have appeared, including a provincial medical expert who ascribed Brochu's death to acute arsenic poisoning.

A grilling throughout which a steady stream of questions were posed to the Beauce woman yesterday about incidents leading to her husband's death, brought repeated denials she had had anything to do with the poisoning.

When she was asked how she accounted for Brochu's death after a month-long illness, she said she knew "only what the doctors had said—that he was poisoned by his liver and kidneys."

A King's Bench jury yesterday acquitted George Dalpi, of being an accomplice to a theft committed three years ago.

The accused was alleged to have helped two companions to break

situated on the Stanbridge East Road.

2. Mr. Chamberlain would be taking advantage of the present period
of calm for elections which might be dangerous in more agitated
times.

If general elections were called,
a delay of about a month would be necessary before they could be held.
In that time negotiations with Italy
for putting into effect the Anglo-
Italian agreement might be concluded, or at least their first stage
—which would consist of withdrawal
of a large number of Italian combatants from Spain in exchange for British recognition of Italy's sovereignty over Ethiopia.

Mr. Chamberlain would be able to present such agreement as a new step in the way to European appeasement. This point was referred to by the Financial Times today as
one which might delay general elections.

"The question was discussed in the (Commons) lobby," the newspaper said, "as to whether the government would not prefer to delay
an appeal to the country until at least these Anglo-Italian conversations advance to the point when a truce could be definitely envisaged."

The Daily Herald (Labor) said
the Cabinet was divided on the election question.
"There are two 'splits' in the Conservative party," this newspaper
said.

"One is between the main body
of the party which approved Mr.
Chamberlain's Munich settlement
and a small but eloquent minority
which disapproves."

"The second split occurs among supporters of the settlement themselves. One section wants the Government to stage an immediate general election to 'cash in' on the results of the Premier's negotiations
at Munich. The other section strongly opposes an election at the present
time."

"The pro-election party is in the minority and is unlikely to have its
way. Its leader is Sir Kingsley Wood,
Air Minister and head of the Conservative party organization. The Premier himself, however, does not wish to make capital out of the Munich conversation."

The Yorkshire Post (Conservative) said the present circumstances were not propitious for general
elections in view of lack of solidarity in the majority ranks.

The editorial argument that elections were not advisable was based on the new engagements
contracted by Great Britain in Central Europe... the pledge to defend Czechoslovakia's new frontiers.

"What the governments need, in fact, in their foreign policy, as in the demands they must now make
on the country, is not a new mandate but evidence of solidarity of a national basis in their own ranks."

"General elections will hinder,
not hasten, this solidarity."
Meanwhile, diplomatic circles reported Czechoslovakia has asked
Great Britain and France to exert
their influence in Warsaw to stop a Polish press campaign for cession
of Ruthenia to Hungary.

bringing the Hungarian and Polish
frontiers together. Ruthenia is at the eastern tip of Czechoslovakia.
The Prague Government, it was
said, also complained of Polish press
support of the Slovak claims for autonomy. It asked France and Great Britain, as guarantors of Czechoslo-vakia's new frontiers, to stop this agitation.

French Ambassador Charles Cor-
bin talked with Foreign Secretary
Halifax at the Foreign Office this morning and this question was understood to have been the essential subject of the conversation.

In winding up the debate in the Commons last night, Sir Thomas
Inskip, Minister for Defence Coordination, said the Government regarded its guarantee of the new Czech frontiers as already in force.

"In the event, therefore, of an act
of unprovoked aggression against Czechoslovakia," Sir Thomas said,
"His Majesty's Government would certainly feel bound to take all the steps in their power to see that the integrity of Czechoslovakia is preserved."

better, more comprehensive, less dis-

There were few papers left in

The change for the better had the trend toward newspaper merg-

C. O. GUSTAFSON GAVE ADDRESS TO ODD FELLOWS

Photography Topic of Detailed Talk — Members Plan Trip to Sawyerville Lodge to Witness Conferring of Degrees.

The history of photography and its wide and varied uses was the subject of an address delivered by Brother C. O. Gustafson to the local Odd Fellows.

Approximately thirty-five members attended the meeting and enjoyed a sing-song and a dinner. Plans were made to attend a meeting at Sawyerville next Tuesday evening at which the first degree will be conferred upon several candidates.

Tracing the history of photography, the speaker said that a Frenchman named Duquerre invented the art of picture making in 1849. It was not until 1880 that the bromide silver method was introduced and photography began to be rapidly developed and perfected.

Speaking on its uses, Mr. Gustafson said that newspapers use photography for advertising, doctors find it of assistance for medical purposes, police employ it to trace and identify criminals and printers make use of it in photo-engraving.

During the course of his address the speaker showed several types of cameras and enlargements. He pointed out the faults in pictures taken by amateurs. Brother C. Campbell thanked the speaker.

INSPIRING SERMON AT DIBBLE SERVICE

The special Evangelistic Singing Revival being conducted by the Dibble Evangelistic Party at the Baptist Church attracted a large capacity audience last night to listen to a most inspiring sermon by Mrs. Dibble.

The subject of the address was "The Mastery of Love" in which Mrs. Dibble said that only as a Christian lives in the centre of the will of God does there come true success and happiness. The Scripture lesson upon which the sermon was based dealt with the miraculous draught of fishes and showed that it was only when the Apostle Peter took Christ into all his efforts that real success attended his attempt to catch fish.

Mr. Dibble led the song service which preceded the sermon while Miss Betty Restrict, pianist and soloist, delighted the audience with several numbers. The services are continuing every night for the next two weeks.

DRUMMONDVILLE COMMERCE BODY OPPOSES LEVY

Recent Decision of Fair Wage Board to Tax Gross Payrolls of Industry and Commerce Under Fire.

Drummondville, Que., Oct. 5. — Drummondville Chamber of Commerce was on record today as opposing the recent decision of the Quebec Fair Wage Board to levy a half of one per cent impost on gross payrolls of industry and commerce to pay for administrative costs of the Board.

The resolution adopted by the Chamber last night declared that "This Chamber of Commerce believes that the benefits accruing from the operation of the Quebec Fair Wage Board will not be worth the estimated $1,500,000 the Provincial Government will receive by imposing the new tax."

"Should the revenue from this levy exceed the Board's expenditures, it will constitute additional taxation indirectly on the industrial plants and commercial houses of the Province."

DETECTIVE'S RETURN RECALLS MANY CASES

Court House officials today welcomed back a familiar and popular figure in the person of "Jimmy" Haney, formerly sergeant-detective with the Provincial Police. Haney, who was once stationed in Sherbrooke, was well known in Court House circles. He has now severed his connections with the Provincial Police and is head of a private detective agency.

His brief visit to the Court House today recalled numerous cases upon which he worked while with the Provincial Police. Perhaps outstanding among these were the Langlois and Baldwin murder cases. The former of these kept Detective Haney busy for several weeks and his investigation resulted in the detention of three people on a charge of homicide. Two of these were acquitted and the third declared criminal.

FALL MEETING OF E.T. GROUP OPENS TODAY

Many Matters Tabled for Study at Rock Island Session of Boards of Trade and Settlement Society.

With several matters of importance slated for discussion, the fall meeting of the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade and the Eastern Townships Settlement Society opened at 2:30 today at Rock Island. The afternoon session was to be followed by a dinner in the evening at the Del Monty Hotel, with Albert A. Cree, president of the Vermont Chamber of Commerce, as speaker.

Following the opening remarks by D. J. Salls, president of the Associated Boards of Trade, and G. W. Murphy, head of the Settlement Society, addresses of welcome will be given by Dr. J. H. Gauthier, Mayor of Rock Island, H. H. Farnham, member of the Vermont Legislature, and D. L. Dasher, president of the Rock Island Chamber of Commerce.

Matters arising from the reading of the minutes were due for study and the reports of the standing committees heard, followed by an address by Hon. Mr. Auger, Quebec Minister of Colonization. Consideration of new business and resolutions were the final items on the afternoon's programme.

Members of the Boundary Rotary Club have been invited to be present at the evening banquet, when the speaker will take as his topic, "Chamber of Commerce Activities."

ly insane. In the Baldwin case Haney was responsible for the arrest the day following the crime of Lucien "Red" Morin, who was later convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to a twenty-five-year penitentiary term. His investigation also led to the extradition of Kenneth Brown, of Milton, Vt., who was convicted of murder and sentenced to hang. Brown died in Bordeaux Jail before the date set for his execution.

Haney figured prominently in many other cases of an interesting nature. Today's was his first visit to Sherbrooke in over three years.

Life Insurance Outlined At Meeting Of Local Rotarians

Interesting Classification Talk Given by Walter Sutherland, Manager of Local Sun Life Company Branch—History, Development and Modern Application of Insurance Considered—Claim Disputes Described.

The members of the local Rotary Club heard an interesting classification talk by Walter Sutherland, manager of the local branch of the Sun Life Assurance Company, at their regular meeting in the New Sherbrooke Hotel last evening.

Discussing his topic, "Life Insurance," in an informal manner, the speaker divided his address into four divisions—history, development, application and examples of application.

Joseph, the biblical figure who rose to be prime minister of Egypt, might be termed the first insurance man, the Rotarians were told, since by laying aside grain in years of plenty he saved the nation from destruction during the famine. During time of war the Greeks and Romans, more particularly the Romans, insured transport ships and cargoes.

Every member of the ancient Saxon gilds of England, it was pointed out, contributed toward a fund which was used for distribution to widows of deceased gild members.

The first definite life insurance contract of which there is any record, stated Rotarian Sutherland, was made in 1588 by a group of underwriters who gambled on the life of one William Gibbons. As was inevitable, when policies were based upon the life of any individual, premiums fluctuated in price according to the health of the man concerned.

Progress was comparatively rapid after a statute making gambling on human lives illegal was passed in 1775, but our modern system of life insurance was really started by a man named Dobson, who worked out the basis of the actuarial tables which are used today.

The Pennsylvania Company, founded in Philadelphia one hundred and thirty years ago, was the first insurance firm on the North American continent, and is still in operation, the speaker stated. The Canadian Life Company, started in Toronto in 1847, is the oldest Canadian insurance organization.

It took one hundred and twenty years from 1800 for fifty billion dollars worth of sales to be recorded. In 1937 fifteen billion dollars in policies were sold. Of the policies paid, the greater part were to living

TO ESTABLISH PROVINCIAL POLICE BASE HERE

Establishment in Sherbrooke of a divisional base for Provincial Police in order to centralize the various branches of the department is reported on good authority to be completed shortly.

Local headquarters of the force will be in the Court House building, where offices are being altered to meet demands. Recently an office was established in the Court House for Antonio Drolet, Crown Prosecutor, and the new step is the result of a decision to have all provincial crime prevention officials housed under one roof, including liquor and traffic policemen.

holders, rather than to the beneficiaries.

Mr. Sutherland gave several interesting demonstrations of the workings of insurance, and of the value of certain types of policies to individuals of varying means and in different positions in business. The speaker reviewed certain claims that had caused disputes or contests between companies and policy-holders or their beneficiaries, and stressed the numbers of false claims that are received yearly.

Mentioning the twenty-fifth anniversary meeting of the Montreal Rotary Club, held last night in Montreal, Mr. Sutherland stated that the club was celebrating a period of service to humanity, and that life insurance, in his opinion, deserved to rank with Rotary for the contributions it makes to the welfare of citizens all over the world, whatever their walks of life.

Mr. Sutherland was introduced by Vice-President Gerald Wiggett, who conducted the meeting in the absence of President George Ewing, and thanked by Rotarian Wright Gibson.

A review of preparations made for the annual Rotary Fair, to be held in the Belvidere street Armory on November 3-4-5, was given by Willard Cross, chairman of the Fair Committee.

Rotarian D. J. Salls reminded the members of the annual meeting of the Eastern Townships Associated Boards of Trade and the Eastern

The Lord executeth righteousness and judgment for all that are oppressed.—Psalms 103:6.

"His Big Moment"—A Dramatic Fiasco

It is a shame to say so, but it looks as if the great genius and mastermind of the Nazi military machine, Herr Hitler, had fumbled one.

All along we have heard about Hitler's great sense of timing, about his psychological insight, which enabled him to know precisely when, where, and how to strike, about the shrewd efficiency of his moves as compared with the slow and clumsy fumbling of the democracies.

But a cool review of this whole Czech situation indicates that Hitler misplayed his hand badly.

The psychological moment, for Hitler, came at the height of the Nuremberg conference. Whether he wanted victory by war or victory by peace, that was the hour when it was his for the taking.

If he planned to be ruthless—to shoot the works, take on a big war, and gamble everything on a quick blow with what he has boasted of as the finest army in the world—that was his chance.

Czechoslovakia was not yet mobilized. England and France, far from being ready for war, were confused and half-hearted.

Suppose, on the other hand, that he wanted a bloodless victory: then that, too, was his for the asking. The Franco-British plan for surrender of the Sudeten territory was a distinct triumph for Germany. It could have been offered to the home folks as one more instance of a great gain made by the fearless Fuehrer, the man who could win whole provinces for the empire without firing a shot.

But Hitler chose neither war nor peace. Instead he chose delay.

The delay solidified anti-Hitler sentiment in the great democracies. It gave France and England time, not only to mobilize their war machines, but to rally their peoples and clarify their own minds.

It gave Czechoslovakia, also, time to get its army ready and mass its people solidly behind a defiant government. The easy victory Hitler might have had a few days ago vanished forever during the interval.

Furthermore, the delay took the edge off of the bloodless victory that could be had without war. For after fuming and ranting for a week, Hitler finally goes back and accepts what he was begged to accept in the beginning.

Hitler had all the cards in the deck, a week or ten days ago. It is hard to avoid the conclusion that he has played them like a duffer.

Professional Care

It's a rather hard thing to do with any degree of concentration these days, but if you can bring yourself to speculation on any more remote period than the day after tomorrow it helps a little to pass away the nervous interim.

Two newspaper stories have just forced a little editorial speculation today. One concerns an addition to the staff of an eastern hospital. A doctor has joined who is not only a doctor but an accomplished magician. The man's talents have proven invaluable as a means of quieting nerves, stilling fears, and in general making life among the patients a gay affair than they had anticipated.

The other newspaper story was simply an account of the elaborate reception a French chef got on arrival in New York. Mentioned as an incidental in the story were the crowned (and silk-hatted) heads for whom he had performed his services—more rulers than you might have imagined the world contained.

Could there be possibly a ray of sunshine in the vision of the rise of an entirely new profession—the creation of a body of specialists in the art of buoying up the spirits and side-tracking the animosities of the world's "great men"—by prestidigitations, artful cookery, or any other means of legitimate attack?

A few well placed constant companions serving in the capacity of auxiliary good dispositions might be a good idea. The medieval rulers had their jesters, and—Heck, who brought the Middle Ages up?

Utopian Measure

Eight hundred German veterans of the World War recently spent three days in England with the men who had been their enemies twenty years before. They dined with them, they sang songs with them, they exchanged pledges to fight for peace.

In a talk at White Sulphur Springs, Va., Mary Pickford proposed a world-wide sit-down strike by women as a means of preventing the men from going to war. "Of course," she added, "I know and you know that there is a Utopian weakness in such a scheme."

There is more than one weakness in it. One is the fact that it's only a half-way measure. The men would have to participate.

The other weakness is not in the scheme, but in the people involved. They want peace, they assure their enemies of it, they pray for it, but they do not believe that by not participating in warfare themselves they can attain it.

Today's tragedy is that the peoples of the earth are of one mind and do not believe it.

Editor's Note-Book

"Japan Friendly To Poland," reads a headline. Well, friends of peace, there're two countries for a starter, anyway.

A New Jersey candidate for sheriff has just opened a "front lawn" campaign. That hurricane probably made the coast a Heaven for stump speakers.

The boys at Harvard have revived the handlebar mustache. Yale can now be expected to show its up-to-date-ness by introducing the steering wheel design.

From a Washington bureau the statement that 100 pounds of cattle yield 60 pounds of beef—which is almost as much as one Washington lobby can yield in a day.

The eastern farmer who turned his pump into a grain scale knew his proverbs. Where there's a will, there's a way.

That Atlantic Coast hurricane broke all the rules and turned in the wrong direction, and now the meteorologists know what it's like to be a political forecaster.

Recent events in Europe have proved that the people generally want peace. Even the populace who dictators trained so thoroughly for war made themselves effectively heard for peace.

A used postage stamp, "British Guiana No. 13," recently sold from the collection of the late Arthur Hind, of Utica, brought no less a sum than $37,500. Stamp collecting is no longer a hobby but big business.

Residents of a nearby town completely ignored the opening of their new post office. Open a post office and you get ignored; open a letter and you get a prison term.

WHEAT

Ribbons of light on a cloth of gold,
Miles from the city streets;
Part of a pattern, changeless, old—
Ribbons of amber wheat

Sown in the tremulous breath of spring,
Cared by the winds of June;
Rustling ripples of flame, they swing
In the white of a harvest moon.

Bread for the young and bread for the old,
Who dwell in the city street;
Spun from this glamorous web of gold,
And we name it—only—Wheat.

Poor old Woodrow Wilson must be doing a few barrel-rolls and tailspins in his grave. It was America's wartime President who, at Versailles, demanded the creation of the Czechoslovakian republic in its present form. It looked and sounded like a good idea at the time. TURNING THE OTHER CHEEK

(Vancouver Sun)

The story is going the rounds of Vancouver of the German traveller who was astounded to find that in Canada there is such an officer of the Crown as the Leader of the Opposition.

"You mean to say," he ejaculated, "that this man is actually appointed to oppose the Government?"

"Yes, he is."

"And he is paid for it?"

"Certainly."

"Paid for it!" exclaimed the German. "Mein Gott, in my country we would shoot him."

And there is symbolized the fundamental difference in conception between a Democracy and a Dictatorship.

In a Dictatorship, the man in power is always unopposed, always supreme. He cannot bend before the wind of circumstance or bow to the exigencies of reason. He must face the storm, omniscient and omnipotent, or fall before the forces arrayed against him.

In this conception we find the explanation of two things:

1—The reluctance of Hitler to co-operate with France and England in a peaceful realignment of Czechoslovakian territories. Neither peace nor conciliation nor co-operation is in his philosophy.

2—The willingness of Chamberlain to go to the length of arousing the scorn of some of his more bellicose countrymen in order to try out the philosophy of reason, the doctrine of conciliation and the practice of co-operation, the utmost bounds of human endeavor.

Whatever living man could do to prevent the shedding of blood in Europe, Mr. Chamberlain and his colleagues have done.

At God knows what cost to his personal pride, the British prime minister has manfully turned the other cheek to insolences and pretensions that would have infuriated any less self-controlled individual.

For where Hitler has thought only of his own glorification and of the glorification of those institutions which he has identified with himself, Chamberlain has plainly thought of himself as representing many shades of opinion, each justified in its existence and in its expression.

Hitler has been Hitler. But Chamberlain has been Democracy.

Hitler has been the symbol of aggressive and uncompromising force. Chamberlain has been the symbol of a gentle system of evolution whose leaders find it expedient to even pay a man to point out where they might have been wrong.

Britain has turned the other cheek to the full extent of physiological capacity.

For man, one must remember, has only two cheeks to turn.

THE GRASSHOPPER MENACE

HARD FACT IN A NEW WAY

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

Who would believe, except on the authority of an official statement, that grasshoppers destroyed $20,000,000 worth of wheat in Saskatchewan this year? It is nothing short of a national calamity that so much wealth in Western Canada should have fallen a prey to this insect pest. However, farmers of Western Canada are determined that, now they have early-maturing wheat, the grasshopper menace must be exterminated, and to that end a campaign has been started which, if successful, will very largely mean the end of this plague.

The scheme is to plough the ground in the fall as a means of driving the insects to the roadsides for easy laying. The original T. and N.O. campaign will be inaugurated. The State of Dakota has arranged to join with the Canadian authorities. If the insects can be destroyed during the process of incubation this terrible menace will be averted. If they are allowed to become full grown nothing can be done. This last year was apparently particularly favorable to the breeding of grasshoppers.

"WHEW! THAT WAS A CLOSE CALL!"

The tragedy of the grasshopper menace this year is that the drouth districts in the southern parts of Saskatchewan which have not harvested a crop for nine years were among the heaviest losers. The misfortune is thus particularly hard to bear, because the outlook was so promising before the flying swarms of grasshoppers arrived. It is to be sincerely hoped that this destructive plague can be overcome. It is estimated by some that the loss will be nearer $30,000,000 than $20,000,000.

A RAILWAY IN THE WILDERNESS

(Gait Reporter)

The Ontario Government is confronted with the problem of what to do with that section of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, from Cochrane to Moosonee on James Bay. It is estimated that it cost $12,000,000 to build this part of the line. Now there is need for considerable upkeep outlay if the road is to be maintained. On ties alone, $50,000 will have to be spent during the next few years.

At the present time, there is a weekly service to Moosonee, which is said to have a white population of sixty. During the winter season the service is reduced to one train a month.

The motives that underlay the construction of this 185 miles of railway through a wilderness can be guessed. The original T. and N.O. had been fairly successful, not so much as a great revenue producer as a railway, but it opened up the first mining region of Northern Ontario and was the accessory of enormous wealth for the province.

It is suggested that scheming politicians were responsible for the extension to Moosonee. They wanted jobs for their friends and fat contracts in construction, materials and supplies, for their friends and henchmen. The circumstance that the line had no northern terminal offering real prospects for traffic didn't cut much figure in those days. It seemed to sound well to say that the railways would open up a new area full of minerals or something. It was even hinted that great fisheries would be developed on James Bay.

These political dreams have not come true. In fact there may have been official stupidity associated with the failure to restrain the politicians' go-getters who wanted to continue the provincial railway through the wilderness. Whatever it is, it has cost the people of Ontario plenty. And that is the stark disappointment about political parties in Canada. Regardless of what stripes they have been, they have succeeded in giving the country a flock of bad deals that have built up a terrifying burden of debt which the taxpayers must carry until it impoverishes them out of existence.

THE "BAR" MOVEMENT

(Brookville Recorder and Times)

A "bar" meant only one thing from the standpoint of beverages a generation ago. It and its counterpart, the saloon, were places where one might quaff foaming beakers of ale or indulge one's fancy for stronger stimulant, while one's foot rested on the inevitable brass rail of familiar memory.

But today a "bar" may mean something quite different. England was the first to develop a movement for milk "bars" and to find that they paid. If people liked to linger over their beers, their Scotchies or their other stimulants, it was found that they also liked to sip their milk drinks. The milk "bar" became a success almost overnight, chains of them now exist in the United Kingdom and the institution has spread to this continent.

Now comes word that the English dealers in fish, taking note of the way in which the milk bars have increased the returns of the dairymen, are about to establish a chain of "herring bars." The first of these is to be opened in London. In it, we are told, it will be possible for patrons to procure fresh herring, salt herring, red herring, pickled herring, battered herring, herring grilled, stuffed, poached and deviled, with kippers and blonsters, in addition to roes, hard and soft. The promoters of this movement evidently believe that the average Englishman's ardent devotion to herring (which does not possess so many ardent addicts on this side of the Atlantic) will cause him to flock to patronage of the "herring bar" as he has already patronized the "milk bar," and that the fishermen will benefit accordingly.

Should this hold true, we may expect to find "bars" established for the peculiar consumption of a much wider variety of commodities. And perhaps Canada, which looks to the United Kingdom for so much of its market for cheese, might find it profitable to start work on the formation of a chain of "cheese bars."

Set yourself earnestly to see what you were made to do, and then set yourself earnestly to do it. The loftier your purpose is, the more sure you will be to make the world richer with every enrichment of yourself.—Phillips Brooks.

hearts, and returned to his own hand with a diamond.

West had a glimpse of what was coming, and her first discard was the spade queen. South had at least seven diamonds and all of the aces. If East held the spade ten and could be induced to hold spades rather than clubs, the contract could be beaten, if South held the club three.

On the third round of diamonds, West discarded the spade jack, and on the fourth round the spade eight. Guided by West's brilliant discards, East dropped the club king and followed with her established clubs as the rest of the diamonds were run.

As a reward at the end, she had the satisfaction of winning the set-ting trick with the spade ten.

Later the bride and groom left for their wedding trip to the New England States and the White Mountains, the bride traveling in a two-piece knitted suit of English-tan with brown top coat and matching hat and accessories.

BOHEMIAN COUNTRY SALADS

PROVIDE CARE-FREE TOUCH

Turn about is fair play, especially in the kitchen. Mrs. P. Corbett of New York sends me this idea. It's a delicious idea, take my word for it.

Bohemian Country Salad.

(Serves 4 to 6)

Two heads lettuce, 4 tomatoes, 1 pound pot-cheese (fairly dry), 6 slices bacon, French dressing, paprika.

Tear lettuce into small pieces as for a French bowl salad. Peel tomatoes and cut into quarters. Add French dressing and toss until well mixed. Place in flat salad dish or arrange on individual salad plates. Sprinkle over top pot-cheese dusted with paprika. Fry bacon until crisp, cut into small pieces and just before serving sprinkle the hot bacon over the salad.

That's a perfect luncheon in itself. Mrs. Corbett calls it a slenderizing dish. But don't let that worry you too much.

Social and Personal

Congratulations are being extended today to Mr. and Mrs. George E. Mitchell, Laurier avenue, on the occasion of the forty-sixth anniversary of their wedding day.

Mrs. W. E. Loomis, Municipal Regent of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, in Sherbrooke, Mrs. Matthew Graham, Miss May Mitchell, Mrs. A. W. Reid, Mrs. G. S. Thomson and Mrs. N. E. Bachand Dupuis, have left for Shawinigan Falls to attend the semi-annual meeting of the Quebec Provincial Chapter, which is convening there today and Thursday.

Mrs. Alton Peck, Miss Grace Frost and Mrs. Harry McClay were hostesses last evening at a charmingly arranged party given in honor of Miss Aldora E. Goodale, a bride-to-be who is being married by her friends at the former's home on the Drummond Road. The evening was spent in playing bingo, a prize being given to the winner at the close of each game. Afterwards delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Gertrude Lovelace, mother of the guest-of-honor, assisted the hostesses, the table, which was covered with a lace cloth, being effectively done with red and white asters in a silver bowl and red candles in silver holders. During the interim between the games and serving of refreshments the hostesses presented the bride-elect with a shower of miscellaneous gifts, each one carrying in a large tray on which the daintily-wrapped parcels were attractively arranged.

Members of the King George Fifth Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, in session yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Gordon Armitage, paid tribute to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of England, whose outstanding statesmanship and diplomacy is today acclaimed throughout the world. Mrs. W. E. Loomis, the Regent, presided during her opening remarks observed that the settlement of European difficulties had created a deep sense of satisfaction among all peace-loving people. Appeals for assistance were discussed and the various sums voted totaled $67.50, to be divided as follows: $10 for school books for needy children at the Mitchell and Central Schools; $5 towards Y. W. C. A. camp deficit; $15 to the National Endowment Fund, and the Chapter's proportion towards a special bursary offered by the Quebec Provincial, which together with a few smaller donations sums up the total mentioned above. Mrs. Walter Kinkead was named convener for a rummage sale at the market later in the month, and arrangements were made for a bridge party. There followed a pleasant hour during which the hostess served tea, with Mrs. M. S. Macdonald doing the honors at the pretty table.

reader who prefers anonymity, comes this delicate hint about peaches.

Jellied Peaches

(Serves 4 to 6)

One envelope plain gelatin, 1-4 cup cold water, 1 cup hot water, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-2 cup orange juice 1 table-spoon lemon juice, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 cups sliced fresh peaches, 1 1/2 cups crumbs, 1-4 cup melted butter.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add sugar, salt and hot water and stir until thoroughly dissolved. Add orange juice and lemon juice. Cool until beginning to thicken and add peaches.

Cake, cookie or baking powder biscuit crumbs, zwiebach or graham crackers, finely crushed, may be used for a crust. Mix crumbs and melted butter thoroughly. Put part of crumbs in bottom of mold or pan that has been rinsed in cold water, packing them in firmly. Pour in peach mixture. Sprinkle top with remaining buttered crumbs and chill. When firm, unmold and garnish with more sliced peaches. Serve with either thin or whipped cream.

Mr. Ralph Gustafson, of London, England, who is visiting his father and sister, Mr. C. O. Gustafson and Miss Pauline Gustafson, is leaving tomorrow to spend several weeks in New York, but will later return to prolong his stay in Sherbrooke.

Miss Aldora E. Goodale, a bride-to-be of the week, was the guest-of-honor at an informal supper party given by her friends at 89 Dufferin avenue, who later presented her with a lovely sandwich toaster, accompanied by their affectionate wishes for her future happiness.

Members of the Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary Bridge Club were guests of Mrs. Arthur Michie yesterday afternoon at her home on McManamy avenue. Bridge was played at three tables, the prize being won by Mrs. Hubert Johnson. At the conclusion of the game the hostess served tea and dainty refreshments, with Mrs. James Lynn assisting.

Mrs. James Wark was hostess for last evening's well-attended meeting of the Women's Guild of the Church of the Advent at her home on Bowen avenue south. The president, Mrs. George Mitchell, presided and the completion of plans for the annual harvest home supper formed the chief feature of the interesting session. It was announced that Mrs. R. Downes acted as hostess at the tea recently sponsored by the Guild, and that Miss Bertha Sargent was among those assisting. A pleasant social hour ensued and at its close the hostess served refreshments assisted by Mrs. J. H. Bryant.

Miss Eleanor Van Vliet, Mrs. J. A. Barrie and Miss Laura Van Vliet were hostesses at tea yesterday afternoon following a largely-attended meeting of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church at the home of Mrs. A. L. Parker, Portland avenue. Mrs. Duncan Robertson presided over the business session, during which gratifying financial reports were given by Mrs. C. B. Howard and Mrs. Miller Hall, captains of the two Associations. After the disposition of routine business, plans for the forthcoming anniversary supper were completed. There followed a pleasant social hour during which tea was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Parker and Miss Marion Parker.

Special interest centered in plans for an evening bridge party at largely-attended meeting of the Sir John Sherbrooke Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, held yesterday afternoon at Miss Cynthia Baker's home in Lennoxville, with Miss Madeline Baldwin acting as joint hostess. Mrs. Malcolm Mitchell, the Regent, was in the chair and following the customary opening exercises, money was voted for educational work as follows: thirty dollars for supplies at the Mitchell, East Ward and Central Schools; two dollars for the bursary sponsored by the Quebec Provincial Chapter, and ten dollars towards the agricultural bursary. It was reported that welfare work had been continued throughout the summer months, two families having been supplied with milk and two dollars a week spent for food, while in several instances medicine had been furnished for sick children. A further ten dollars was voted towards immigration, for clothing and supplies for needy persons, and it was decided to furnish new uniforms for the Girl Guide unit sponsored by the Chapter. The appointment of Mrs. P. W. McCrea to replace Mrs. Ashton Tobin as "Echoes" secretary, and Miss Madeline Baldwin as standard-bearer, to replace Mrs. John Bassett, Jr., completed the regular business of the afternoon, the remaining time being devoted to the formation of plans for the bridge party in November, which through the kindness of Mrs. Malcolm Mitchell will be held at her residence. Mrs. Gordon Hume will convene the party, which promises to be an outstanding society event, and Mrs. P. H. Skelton will be in charge of the catering. After adjournment tea was served, Mrs. Frank C. Baker doing the honors.

Miss Evelyn Olivier and Miss Wilhelmina Murray entertained delightfully at the former's home on Quebec street, in honor of Miss Viola Stenson, a bride-elect of the week. Bridge was played at three tables, the prizes being won by Mrs. Octavien Leveque, Miss Viola Stenson and Miss Daphne Mooney, the latter being awarded the consolation. The hostesses also presented a guest-prize to Miss Mary Furlong, of Boston, and a special gift to the bride-elect. At the conclusion of the game delicious refreshments were served, the hostesses being assisted by Mrs. Leopold Leveque.

September was an active month for the local V.O.N. and an expensive one for the treasury, according to reports at the monthly meeting held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Amy Wells, Dominion avenue. Owing to the absence of the president, Rev. G. Ellery Read, D.D., the chair was taken by Mrs. Leo Liddell. Following the adoption of the minutes as read by Mrs. M. McEadzen, secretary, Mr. F. E. Fourbridge, treasurer, presented the monthly financial statement, which showed receipts amounting to $87.75 and an expenditure of $289.99. The chief topic of the afternoon was the "Thrift Shop Sale," at the end of the month, for which plans have already been formulated and to which it is hoped the public will lend the generous help it has always done in former years. Miss Edna Osborne gave the nurses' report for September, which revealed that the past month had been an extremely busy one for the V.O.N. In September, total of 319 visits were paid, the collections from which amounted to $50.75. There are now ninety-six names registered, thirty-eight having been added last month. The V.O.N. nurses had attended four Child Welfare Clinics and four Well-Baby Clinics in addition to their own regular work, the latter including many things which are impossible to classify under the regular headings, yet which take up much of the nurses' time as they go about the city on their daily rounds, bringing comfort and relief to the poor and those afflicted with illness.

Particles of batter should be removed from the waffle iron while it is hot. A small wire brush is ideal for this purpose.

IF YOU WOULD HAVE LOVELY HANDS, GIVE THEM SAME CARE AS YOUR FACE

I can think of no situation in which beautiful hands are not a definite asset—and no situation in which unlovely ones do not put you at a disadvantage. Rough-skinned, clumsy hands make you apologetic, defensive, embarrassed. Why have them? Hands are lovely because of their lovely shape, their color, texture, expressiveness, poise, grace and good grooming. You may not be able to cultivate all of these good points, but you can acquire enough of them to make your hands attractive.

You protect, soften, bleach and stimulate the skin on your face to keep it lovely. You erase strained lines and ease taut muscles through warm and cold applications exercise and massage. You decorate your face with the loveliest shades of make-up you can find. You "style" your features by shaping your eyebrows, tinting your lashes, applying eye-shadow, and planning a hair-do that balances your irregular features.

Give equal attention to your hands. Protect them by avoiding harsh soaps, very hot or cold water. Wear gloves for your housework whenever possible. Before doing any grubby tasks, work a little pure white toilet soap under your nail tips and around your nails, or use a soapy cream that can be scrubbed off afterward, leaving your fingers completely free from stains.

Soften your hands by using a rich lubricating cream at night. You can get rich creams especially for plants, with belts of self-material, will be most becoming to you. Avoid too many trimmings. To break the monotony of a plain frock, wear an attractive choker of costume jewelry, or see that any trimming is concentrated high on the blouse or about the sleeves of your frock.

SPROUTS WITH CHESTNUTS

The safe cooking rule for Brussels sprouts is to boil in salted water until just tender. Overlong cooking spoils color and flavor. For extra special occasions try serving them with cooked chestnuts. Pour a browned butter sauce over the whole.

Use oilcloth for shades in the kitchen to match the color scheme. Tack it on old rollers, with pattern facing the room, hem the bottom and insert flat stick through the hem.

Beauty Tips

Question: "My hips are very broad, and out of proportion to the rest of my figure. I have exercised faithfully during the summer and have decreased my hip measure nearly two inches, but I doubt if I can lose much more. I am not overweight, but I am very slender and small about the waistline. Can you suggest the best costume lines for me?"—Mrs. H. Y.

A hat with a becoming brim and a collar that gives breadth at the shoulders will help give balance to the figure, and make the hips seem narrower. Wear skirts that are fitted at the waist but flare slightly at the hemline. Straight-line, close-fitted dresses or coats reveal the outlines of the figure. Display the faulty proportions. Family prayers were held at Blake and Taylor's Funeral Home following which the cortege wended its way to the Baptist Church, where many friends of the deceased had gathered to pay tribute to one who had been a faithful adherent of the church and a resident of this city for fifty years.

A favorite hymn of the deceased, "Sun of My Soul," was rendered, and was followed by prayer and the reading of favorite passages from the Psalms.

The Misses Margaret Miller and Lillian Sunbury sang a duet, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," after which fitting remarks were made by the pastor, Rev. A. J. Milligan, who paid tribute to the faithfulness and devotion to Christian duties that had been characteristic of the deceased.

Floral tributes from sorrowing relatives and friends were many. The remains were laid to rest in Elmwood Cemetery beside those of her husband, who predeceased her eight months ago.

Mrs. Leech was born in West Chinnock, Somersetshire, England, on August 6, 1864, daughter of Robert and Martha Leech. She married Leech on May 23, 1893, six children being born to them.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR:
Chris Hunter, ace Union Newsreel cameraman, in the Orient, conceals a fake scene of a child caught in a bombing episode that makes a great hit at home, but arouses the ire of his arch rival, Bill Dennis. The latter gets together with some of the boys to plot revenge.

Chapter Two

Bill Dennis spoke rapidly. "Cholera serum!" he exclaimed. "We'll have a shortage of cholera serum in China! And we'll get our own money's worth out of it here! We're in on it, he isn't! It's a big one, maybe they'll play him back to New York in the dog house!"

"But there's plenty of cholera serum!" a cameraman protested. "We start taking, and we'll be stepping in his gutter!"

"Just this once!" Dennis said firmly. "We've got to fight this guy with his own knife for the good of the business!"

"I got the topper, boys," Dennis said confidently. "It isn't a guy, it's a girl! Little Alma Harding. She's stuck in Manila, trying to push a flivver ship clearance to fly across to Shanghai. I'll get her clearance and Mr. Fakeroo will be left out in the snowdrifts minus his britches!"

Dennis was as good as his word. On the designated night, he and his confederates waited, their cameras set up at a vantage point. Suddenly they heard the hum of an approaching airplane motor.

"Here she comes! Light those flares, you guys!" Dennis cried.

"This is terrific!" one of the boys exclaimed happily. "You're sure Hunter can't get past the gate?"

"Not a chance!" Bill muttered, adjusting his camera. "I've got it all fixed."

Outside the entrance to the airport, well patrolled by a sergeant and several sentries, a large white ambulance suddenly rolled up. The driver, a Chinese, spoke a few words to the sergeant, and a moment later the automobile passed through and onto the field.

Inside the innocent-looking ambulance, Hunter and Joselito were rapidly preparing their camera and sound equipment. The driver, following his orders, rode down the field away from the gathered cameramen. As the machine came to a stop, Chris climbed out on the roof surveying the field.

As the arriving plane nosed its way down the field, Hunter faced it. The driver started the car, hugging the side of the airship. Chris held his camera close.

Suddenly they were too close to the plane. To pilot, looking over the side of the cockpit, saw the cameramen and Joselito. He gasped. He hadn't expected to see a girl.

"What are you doing here?" he demanded, helping her toward the ambulance, where Joselito was still training the camera on them.

"I brought your darn cholera serum, you stupid blockhead!" she snapped.

"Serum!" He turned back toward the blazing plane. "Then I've got to get it out of there!"

She rushed after him and pulled him back.

"There no serum, you poor dimwit!" she exclaimed. "It's all a fake!"

All at once Chris understood the full drift of Dennis' plan. So they had tried to put one over on him! As Dennis and the others finally reached the wreckage, Chris glanced over to where Joselito was calmly cranking away. The microphone, he knew, had picked up every word he and Alma had spoken. Edging off alone, he turned to add a few confidential words—via the sound track—to his employer.

A few moments later, Bill Dennis had hurried Alma into the surgery at the airport. She lay on an X-ray table as a Chinese doctor prepared to make a plate. Several other cameramen were clustered in a corner of the room.

"We don't need an X-ray," Alma protested. "There's nothing broken!"

turned to Chris. "Look," she said, "they admitted they tried to freeze you out of a shot of my landing. That's it, isn't it?"

"Well," Chris replied modestly, "I always depend on my own resources, Miss Harding. Sort of a lone wolf, I guess..."

"They say you set out to haze me away from them into that gully, even at the risk of turning me into a bonfire."

"You mean, you think I..."

"Oh, I'm not forgetting you saved my life," she said quickly. "But if you deliberately cracked me up, just to get a few feet of film... why, that was pretty slimy, eh, mister?"

There was a brief, complete silence.

"How are you going to answer that, buddy?" Dennis jeered at Chris. "Here how?" Chris said, angrily. "Here's the film, probably the best stuff that's been shot since somebody invented a lens." He took the magazine off the camera.

"But just to prove to this swell gal here... just to set her mind at rest... just to show her a piece of film means nothing to me..."

He suddenly placed the can under the X-ray machine and pulled the switch. The others stared at him, aghast.

Dennis smiled wily. "Okay, Chris," he said at last. "That got me. Did you destroy that film?"

Alma asked.

"Now, look," Chris said to her. "The doc here wants to fix you up, so why don't you just step into the other room with him?"

Chris looked at him admiringly. "But you didn't need to do that," she said. "All you had to say was whether or not..."

Chris grinned. "Actions speak louder than words, Ma'am," he replied with a mock bow. "Now come on. You better get in there and get fixed up!"

As she rose he assisted her into the room where the doctor was waiting. The cameramen had not yet got over their surprise. But Dennis, on second thought, was still suspicious.

"Burn the picture he just made?" he muttered. "He would sooner cut his throat!"

Suddenly he hurried out of the room. A few yards away, he saw Joselito conversing with several armed guards who were evidently attempting to stop him. Dennis, mouth set grimly, approached a sergeant. A few minutes later, the native officer had overruled Joselito, searched him and returned to Dennis with a can of film. Rushing to the laboratory, Dennis instructed a projectionist to run it off. Triumphant, he watched as Hunter's "scoop" reel unfolded before him. Thinking quickly, Dennis ordered the film stopped after a few feet.

"Okay!" he called. "We'll send a telephoto to Pearly Todd in New York. Shoot them the frame where Hunter is pulling the girl from the plane. But label it 'Girl Saved From Burning Plane By Beachcomber'! And save the sound track where Hunter talks about her to MacArthur! That's going to come in very handy!"

News Budget From Waterloo

The newly decorated hall of St. Luke's Church provided a pleasing background for a well-attended and largely-attended chicken-pie supper. Sponsored by the congregation, the function was a happy and financially successful one as upwards of two hundred attended. Serving was carried on by the various committees appointed by the P.W.A. president, Mrs. C. W. Candlish. The gratifying sum of over one hundred dollars was realized from the supper.

At the home of Mrs. M. Gardner, Lewis street, a delightful tea was given by Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. John Boyce in honor of Mrs. C. E. Harvey prior to her departure for Peekskill, N.Y., where she will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Hill, and family. Fifteen intimate friends were present to enjoy a social hour with Mrs. Harvey and to extend their best wishes for her health and happiness during her sojourn away from Waterloo. Mr. F. E. Spencer presented Mrs. Harvey with a bouquet of carnations as a souvenir, from the assembled friends, of the pleasant and memorable occasion. At the tea hour the hostess was assisted in serving by Miss Margaret Bennett and Miss Marjorie Wallace.

Among those from Waterloo who attended the District of Bedford High School meet at Brome Corner were Principal Rattray, B.A., Assistant Principal C. Howard Bradford, several of the teaching staff and Rev. P. B. Stas.

Mrs. Lillian Sherer, of Glen Sutton, visited her daughter, Mrs. Roy Logan, and Mr. Logan.

Mrs. E. W. Slack is spending ten days in Westmount with her daughters, Mrs. Earl W. Wallace and Mrs. Charles Fullerton, and families.

Country And Dairy Products Prices

Montreal, Oct. 5.—Prices ruled stronger on the egg market for top grades, with receipts of such eggs light and barely sufficient for the demand. Some advances were made on quotations to the retail trade as a result. The butter market had an easy tone at the first, but turned firmer later. Very little is doing in butter export circles, with the west now offering butter on the eastern domestic market. The cheese market showed only minor changes, with export business termed as fair. Potatoes held at the previous day's advance. Poultry trading was more active, with Thanksgiving Day demand from the stores appearing.

Spot sales of butter at the Canadian Commodity Exchange were 50 boxes of 92 score at 21 1/2c and 300 at 21 1/2c, while 200 boxes of 38 score sold at 20 1/2c and 150 boxes of September 38 score brought 20 1/2c. At the close 92 score was posted at 21 1/2c to 21 3/4c, with 38 score at 20 1/2c bid. Futures closed steady, unchanged, at 21 1/2c to 21 3/4c for October, 21 1/2c to 22c for November and 22c to 22 1/2c for December. The open spot market was 21 1/2c, and small lots to the retail trade were quoted by jobbers at 22 1/2c to 23c for solids and 23c to 23 1/2c for prints.

Spot cheese sales at the Commodity Exchange were 200 boxes of Quebec colored at 13 1/2c and 400 boxes of Quebec white at 13 1/2c, with the close posted at 14 1/2c to 14 3/4c for Ontario colored, 13 1/2c to 14c for Quebec white and colored. HELD SERVICE FOR THANKSGIVING FOR PEACE

A very well filled church was the response to the request of the pastor, Rev. Albert Johnson, and Board of Trustees of the Church, for a large attendance at Sunday morning service. A short, but interesting sermon was attentively listened to by all those present.

As was expected, the entire service was one of praise and thanksgiving for the peace which the entire world is enjoying after the distress and worry felt earlier in the week when war seemed almost certain.

Rev. Mr. Johnson said that up until last Friday, when an agreement was made by the four statesmen, he had never been able to see any good resulting from the World War of 1914-18, but that now, without doubt, but for its horrors, an even more terrible war would now be upon us.

Mr. Johnson praised Mr. Chamberlain in having humbled himself and exercised all his influence to bring about a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

DRESSMAKER HAD TO QUIT SEWING

Hands Swollen with Rheumatism

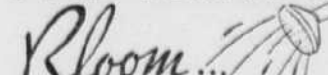

Pity this poor dressmaker! Nineteen of her work consists of sewing—and she was not able to sew. Rheumatism in the hands was her trouble, and she tried any number of remedies. But nothing helped much—until she came to Kruschen.

"Three-and-a-half years ago," she writes, "I had a violent attack of rheumatic pains. My feet and hands were swollen. The pain was terrible. I was really quite crippled and helpless."

"I tried many remedies without success. Then I started on Kruschen Salts, and after one month, I could stand up again. Then, I walked with a cane. In three months, I was quite well again. As I am a dressmaker, you can imagine what it meant to me not to be able to work my sewing machine. What a treat to be able to walk, to work, and to be free from pain!"—(Mrs. E. S.)

The stabbing pains of rheumatism are often caused by needle-pointed crystals of uric acid lodging in the joints. Kruschen brings relief because it helps to dissolve those troubling crystals and to expel them from the system.

GET COMFORTING RELIEF FROM Runny HEAD COLD

DO THIS: Put some Vicks VapoRub up each nostril and sniff well back. You'll feel better right away. Next, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water; then breathe in the steaming medicated vapors for several minutes. This loosens phlegm and further clears the air-passages. At bedtime, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back so that its long-continued double action can relieve the misery of the cold while you sleep. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice; at the same time its medicated vapors, breathed in direct, bring comfort to the irritated air-passages. Try it. VICKS VAPORUB

Minutes of the previous meeting were accepted as read by the secretary, Mrs. M. Porter, and the usual routine of business followed.

A letter of thanks was read from a friend thanking the Society for fruit sent during her illness. Following adjournment a donation sale was held, which proved to be not only satisfactory financially, but created a great deal of merriment.

CUBS FACE CHAMPS WITH BOUNDING HOPES

"General Bill" Lee To Start Against Ruffing

Posted Odds Twelve to Five Against Chicago's Chances—Experts Call Yanks in Five Games—A Lee Victory Would Give Cubs Fighting Chance—Bronx Bombers Perhaps Too Confident.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(P)—Unaccustomed as they are to winning a World Series, Chicago Cubs go into their battle against the "Wonder Yankees" today with bounding hopes and a strong hunch that they are going to upset the apple cart.

There is nothing very sensible about their dream. The Yankees look just as tough as they ever did, and you can't imagine how lethal they look when Red Ruffing is pitching and swinging his bludgeon in ninth position. That particular lineup gives the Yankees nine hitters who can, and do, break up ball games.

But that is how the Cubs feel about it. They know that the posted odds are twelve to five against their chances, and that the consensus of experts is that the Yankees will cap their third straight world championship in five games, winding up the series in New York next Monday night.

Yet the Cubs go into today's tussle thinking they are going to win. They have an abounding confidence in the pitching of "General Bill" Lee, who faces Ruffing in the first game, and they think they are a "Team of Destiny," or something.

A capacity crowd of about 44,000 was assured for today's game and that of tomorrow. Speculators were demanding up to seventy-five dollars for a set of single seats to the three games that will be played here if the series goes six games.

The Yankees, cocky as ever, think they will knock over the Cubs in four straight games. They are, if anything, a trifle too confident. They clinched the American League pennant some three weeks before the campaign ended, and they haven't played good ball since. They didn't look very good in their practice yesterday.

Everybody is agreed the Cubs are sunk without a ripple if Lee falls today. Lee has won twenty-two games this year. He has pitched nine shutouts, more than have been pitched by any other two elbows in the big leagues. He pitched three innings against the American Leaguers in the all-star game at Cincinnati, and allowed only one fluke hit.

Lee is a fast-ball pitcher, with a sharp curve that he keeps low and outside. That is supposed to be the only effective pitching against the sluggers of the Yankee batting order. If Lee stops them, then the Cubs have a chance, because the set-up will permit him to pitch three games in the series.

Gabby Hartnett, catcher-manager of the Cubs, is determined to play in the series, though suffering with a couple of damaged fingers on his right hand.

The announced line-ups for the opener were:

Chicago	Yankees
Hack 3b	Crossett 3b
Herman 2b	Rolfe 3b
Demaree 1b	Henzich 1b
DiMaggio cf	Cavarretta cf
Reynolds of	Gehrig 1b
Hartnett c	Dieck 1b
Collins 1b	Selkirk 1b
Junges ss	Gordon 2b
Lee p	Ruffing p

GRIMM BARRED FROM BROADCASTING SERIES

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(P)—Charley Grimm, deposed as manager of Chicago Cubs late in July, is passing up the 1938 World Series opener.

The former Cub leader, now a radio sports announcer, said on his arrival from St. Louis yesterday he didn't plan to watch the Cubs and Yankees.

"I just can't enjoy any game where I don't have anything to do," he said.

Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis barred Grimm from broadcasting the series on the ground he might be partial to his former team. Grimm declared he was "too sore" because the Cubs failed to vote him a share of the series spoils. "Frankly," he said, "I never expected to be cut in. They won that pennant for Gabby Hartnett and I had nothing to do with it. I don't believe an ex-manager is entitled to any dough."

Pity poor Col. Jake Ruppert with all his millions, his brewery and his fifth avenue building. He has one ball club going into the World Series today and two more fighting it out for the "Little World Series." As for the Cubs, he's all up with the gout and won't see a game.

SCOTCH LASSIE FAVORITE FOR GOLFING TITLE

Jessie Anderson, of Perth, Scotland, Classed Ruling Favorite for Canadian Women's Open Championship.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—(P)—Sixteen golfers remained in the race today for the Canadian women's open championship with Jessie Anderson, of Perth, Scotland, still classed as ruling favorite, closely pursued by several veterans and some newcomers of dubious competitive strength.

By tonight the field will be cut to eight following the thirteen-hole second round match. Mrs. John Rogers, of Winnipeg, the defending champion, was eliminated in the first round yesterday by Toronto's Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen and the title is now open.

Miss Anderson shot superb golf in the first round, smothering Dorothy Stanforth, of Montebello, Que., six and five. Throughout the international match and in the qualifying round she has been the most impressive of any competitor.

In the second round Miss Anderson plays Mrs. A. J. Wright, of Montreal. Defeat would constitute a major upset and is not anticipated.

But the tournament has the experts guessing now after amazing surprises in the first round following a featureless qualifying round.

Attention was centered on the match between Winnifred Evans, of Vancouver, and seventeen-year-old Marg Esson, of Rosetown, Sask., who outstayed the championship flight with a six and four first round victory over the British Curtis Cup amateur, Miss Evans eliminated Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, five times open champion.

A close match is anticipated between Mrs. J. B. Walker, of Britain, and Mrs. A. B. Darling, of Montreal. Other matches bring together Heather Leslie, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. E. H. Goodenham, of Toronto; Mrs. Mulqueen and Kaye Farrell, of Vancouver; Evelyn Mills, of Ottawa, and Mrs. J. E. Nickson, of Montreal; Douglas McIlwraith, of Hamilton; Mrs. W. G. Fraser, of Ottawa, a former United States and Canadian open titleholder, and Paddy Arnold, of Calgary.

Windsor Mills To Play Senior Champions Here

Starry Line-Up Including Bill Turner, "Chick" Bowden and Marshall Will Carry Chamblay Attack Against Papertown Stalwarts—Calvert Expected to Accompany Former Team-Mates to Sherbrooke.

The Chamblay baseball nine, senior winners of the Montreal District, will clash with Windsor Mills, Provincial intermediate champions, in the local stadium Sunday afternoon. Two games will be played, with the first scheduled to get underway at one-thirty o'clock.

Col. the Hon. J. S. Bourque, Provincial Minister of Public Works and Lands and Forests, will pitch the first ball to open the series for the championship of the Province.

Coming to Sherbrooke with the Chamblay aggregation, reliable sources claim, will be Paul Calvert, favorite of local ball fans. Calvert played for Chamblay last year in the Federal League. Pitcher Marshall, who was hardly given a chance to show his stuff for the Sherbrooke squad when he came here early in the season, is with the Chamblay crew as is Bill Turner, formerly with Granby, and "Chick" Bowden, who caught for Sherbrooke against a colored touring team.

All in all, Chamblay looks to have a powerful line-up, and Windsor Mills should find it pretty tough going. Fleming, popular pitcher-manager of the Papertown standard-bearers, does not exactly see it that way. He is confident his charges will give "Basin Band" a run for their money, and perhaps defeat them.

The Eastern Townships boys have a remarkable record thus far this season. Cleaning up opposition in this section, they pitched their strength against a highly-touted Pointe-Aux-Trembles team, and emerged victorious in a hard-fought series.

Winning easily at home, the Papertown players ran into difficulties at Pointe-Aux-Trembles and dropped the first game six to five in twelve innings. They played the second game under a protest which was, of course, withdrawn, when they emerged victorious to the tune of four to two.

"Iron Man" Fleming hurled twenty-one innings in the two games, but feels that with this week to rest he should be ready to handle the double-header against Chamblay with little trouble.

A large crowd from Windsor Mills is expected to come to Sherbrooke to cheer their favorites on to victory, while the series should attract goodly numbers of local baseball fans.

WICKER TO FACE BEARS TO-NIGHT
Kansas City, Oct. 5.—(P)—Kansas City Blues, still in the running but a full lap behind, pin their hopes for victory over Newark Bears in the fourth game of the "Little World Series" here tonight on the stout arm of Kemp Wicker.

Wicker blanked the Bears in the series opener at Newark to give Kansas City its lone victory in three games. In the other two games the Blues' pitching was inadequate, the fielding spotty and the batting weak, with twelve to four and seven to one Newark victories the result.

Manager Johnny Neun, of the Bears, was slated to send Atley Donald, knocked from the mound in the opener, back against Wicker.

BEDFORD HIGH ATHLETES WON MINER TROPHY

Brome, Oct. 5.—An eight-man track team from Bedford High School carried off the championship in the annual District of Bedford meet by rolling up an aggregate of sixty-eight points.

To the Bedford athletes went the Miner Cup, emblematic of the championship. Granby High School, meet winners twelve times in the last seventeen years, finished second with sixty-two point while Waterville took fourth, fifth and sixth places, respectively.

Going into the high jump, the second-last event of the day, Bedford and Granby High Schools were deadlocked with fifty-six points. McElroy's win gave Bedford a slender lead while Neil, of Granby, took second to make the relay the deciding factor.

In the closest race in the history of the meet the Bedford team, paced by Bob Gilman, captain and anchor man, finished ahead of the Granby lads by a matter of inches to carry off the championship.

Cliff Gannon, of Waterloo, won the individual aggregate while Gittens, of Granby, took second high honors. Twelve-year-old Taylor, of Knowlton, climbed to a height of seven feet nine inches to shatter a pole vault mark set last year by Laurie, of Granby.

New York, Oct. 5.—(P)—Attention, St. Louis Browns: Hundreds of fans in southern Illinois are signing petitions asking that you give old Babe Ruth a whirl at managing the team next season.

Ted Mann, Duke's demon press agent, was through town en route upstate to whomp up Duke and Colgate. He says this trip will be the longest the Dukes have ever taken. That Sutherland at Pitt must be a wizard, at that. Year after year he keeps coming up with 'em.

TO MANAGE TORQUAY
Torquay, England, Oct. 5.—(P)—A. Stewart, secretary-manager of Altrincham, Cheshire, football club, has been appointed manager of Torquay United in the English League, succeeding Frank Brown who has gone to Chester.

GETS FIRST CENTURY
Dudley, England, Oct. 5.—(P)—Peter Cranmer, Warwickshire county cricket club captain and international rugby star, hit his first century of the season the other day when he compiled 104 against Worcestershire here.
