ELECTION NOTES.

ROUVILLE—Gigault's majority in this county is 88.

MANITOBA.—Dr. Schultz, Conservative, has been elected by acclamation for Lisgar, and Mr. Dubuc, Conservative, for Provencher. The Hon. Alex. Mackenzie was burnt in effigy at Winnipeg.

HAMILTON.—Official returns are as follows: City of Hamilton, Kilvert, 2,252; Robertson, 2,214; Irving, 2,007; Wood, 1,961. South Wentworth, Rymal, 1,170; Carpenter, 1,096; majority for Rymal, 74. North Wentworth, Bain, 1,313; Stock, 1,237; majority for Bain, 106.

OTTAWA.—The Ministers in the city have been in council all day, settling various matters. The other Ministers are expected here to-morrow, when it is probable definite steps will be taken in view of results of the late elections. It is understood they will resign at once, and that Sir John will be called upon next week to form a new Ministry. In consequence of the present crisis, the Governor-General's visit to Toronto has been postponed.

HALIFAX.—To-day is declaration day in this County, when the Sheriff will announce the result of the elections, both Dominion and Local. It is understood a meeting of the Local Government will be held next week, when it will be decided either to resign at once or hold on till the meeting of the Legislature. The Hon. Minister of Militia left to-night for Ottawa. Dr. Tupper will arrive in Halifax on Monday night. He will be received with an immense torch-light procession and mass meeting on the Grand Parade.

King Log or King Stork.

Some of the malcontents are now relieving themselves of a little of their surplus annoyance and attendant bile by retorting, for the edification of those who will listen to them, the fable of King Log, King Stork and the Frogs, with a view to impress the public with the idea that they will soon have King Stork to reign over them. We have had a little of both lately, and even if we have King Stork, who will do something for us, it will be better than having King Stork, who, when called upon to do something in the public behalf is even more motionless than a log.

Special Notice.
Scientific.

Scicentists show us that they can trace a period when the North Sea did not exist, and, at the same time, that England and the southern part of Scandanavia were joined to the continent of Europe. This was long before American enterprise unearthed "Carboline" the Wonderful Hair Restorer, Nature's Remedy, made from petroleum, thoroughly deodorized and delightfully perfumed. It will perform all that is claimed for it. Absolutely restores hair on Bald Heads; cleanses the scalp from dandruff and all impurities; invigorates weak and sickly hair; tones the hair bulbs into a natural and healthy action. It is so penetrating that it reaches the seat of disease, the hair bulbs, and the benefit is almost instantaneous. It is cooling and cleanly, and too much praise can not be bestowed upon it. Sold by all dealers in drugs and medicines.

VEGETINE

Is Recommended by all Physicians.

VALLEY STREAM, QUEEN'S CO., LONG ISLAND, N.Y.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir.—I take the pleasure of writing you a small certificate concerning Vegetine prepared by you. I have been a sufferer with the Dyspepsia for over forty years, and have had the Chronic Diarrhœa for over six months, and have tried most every thing; was given up to die, and did not expect to live from day to day, and no physician could touch my case. I saw your Vegetine recommended to cure Dyspepsia. I commenced using it, and I continued doing so, and am now a well woman and restored to perfect health. All who are afflicted with this terrible disease, I would kindly recommend to try it for the benefit of their health, and it is excellent as a blood purifier.

TAX-PAYER.—Your former letter was inserted under an entire misapprehension. We cannot vary the rule already referred to.

The Mail sets down the Conservative majority from Quebec at 25, which is more than it anticipated considering the violent manner in which hands were laid upon the provincial portfolios.

THE Methodists, in their Conference in this city, have determined, for the present, to continue the class meeting as a test of membership, though there appear to be many connected with the Church—and pronounced men, too,—who would not be indisposed to see that time-honored institution abandoned.

LET any one take a map and cast his eye over the Province of Ontario, and he will be surprised at the almost unbroken success ful march through the constituencies of Protection opinions. The St. Lawrence Ridings, with but few exceptions, the two Ontarios standing out in remarkable prominence, have almost all gone for a readjustment, and many of them are peopled by farmers who do not appear to apprehend those dire results which some have predicated.

Now that we are promised a return of good times, most people are beginning to feel well, and possibly to have exaggerated anticipations of the future, which, in no event, can we expect to be worse than the times through which we have come and are still passing. Of course, the Conservatives come into power at a time when everything was beginning to improve, and may obtain more credit than they are legitimately entitled to; but, in any event, no matter to whom the credit is awarded, we shall, all of us, be thankful for the good things in store, and shall do just as little grumbling as possible.

IN the session of 1878 the British House of Commons sat on 136 days, the House of Lords on little more than 100 days. The Commons sat for very nearly 1,100 hours. The Lords sat for less than a sixth of the same number of hours. The Commons sat beyond midnight 85 times, and on 13 nights sat until later than 3 A.M., extending its sitting of Aug. 2 until past 4 o'clock of the next morning, its sitting of April 1 until past 6 A.M., and its sitting of May 13 until 9½ on the next morning. The House of Commons divided 278 times; there was one tie, 40 against 40, and the Speaker had to vote. A very interesting statement might be made with regard to Canada, including that celebrated all night and all day session on the subject of Lieutenant-Governor Letellier.

City News.

BROKEN WIRE.—In cutting down a tree this morning, in St. Hubert street, a telegraph wire was accidentally broken.

GENERAL HOSPITAL.—The Visiting Governors to the institution for the week commencing Monday next will be T. James Claxton and J. P. Cleghorn, Esqrs.

SHERBROOKE STREET METHODIST CHURCH.—The Rev. Dr. Jeffers will preach in the Sherbrooke street Methodist Church on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

NOT SWORN TO.—It is said that Mr. F. Hill did not make his statement before Mr. Kerr, Q.C., under oath, in the case of Sergt. Richardson, but that he is ready to do so if required.

SUDDEN DEATH.—"Died from congestion of the brain" was the verdict rendered yesterday upon the remains of Mrs. Unlee, who died suddenly the day previous, at 217 St. Urbain street.

NEW ALDERMAN.—Mr. Emery Lavigne, butcher, was returned by acclamation yesterday as the representative of St. Louis Ward in the City Council, in place of ex-Ald. Laberge, resigned.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.—The matron of the Mackay Institute for Deaf-mutes acknowledges receipt of donations from the following exhibitors at the Horticultural and Fruit Exhibition, been charge B. Edwards, of Covey Hill, Que.; Mr. Hall, Exq., William Lunn, Esq., and James Mor-[illegible]

CONCERT.—The Prince of Wales sailors' concert was highly attended by soldiers and civilians. The Rev. G. H. Wells delivered an address at the close. "The Old Folks at Home" was sung by Dr. Andrews. The choir was filled by Capt. R. C. Adams, who spoke of the necessity of collecting funds for the Institution. Those who desire to assist may remit to Mr. Ritchie, at 320 Commissioners street.

LARCENY.—The preliminary investigation in the case of the abandoned women, Cordelia Goderre and Delima Lallemand, who are charged with stealing $104 in a house of ill-fame from Albert Lavoie, a voyageur, was proceeded with yesterday in the Police Court. It appears that Lavoie had $500 in a belt round his waist at the time, which was fortunately not seen or he would have lost that. The $104 was contained separately in a small pocket-book. Both prisoners, together with a laborer known as Felix Lemaire, who is supposed to have assisted in the robbery, will, in all probability, be committed to the Queen's Bench for trial.

THE REFRESHMENTS IN THE PARK.—Aldermen Nelson, Laurent, Grenier, Generoux, Donovan and Rivard, accompanied by His Worship the Mayor and Mr. Worthington, proceeded to the Mountain Park yesterday for the purpose of seeing whether the Smith House was a suitable place in which to open a first-class restaurant. Mr. McGibbon took the visitors in hand, and after partaking of refreshments, the different improvements recently made were inspected, and found fully equal to expectations. So far no arrangements have been come to between Mr. Worthington and the Park Commissioners in reference to the proposed establishment, but it is probable something will soon be done.

RECORDER'S COURT—FRIDAY.—Before Mr. Sexton.—John McPherson, 30, laborer, Commissioners street, drunk and disorderly; Rose Anne McKenna, 51, no occupation or residence, drunk and breaking glass, $1.50 each or ten days. Jean B. Lesperance, 55, butcher, committing a nuisance in Viger Market; Owen Kenna, 45, musician, Colborne street, drunk and disorderly, $2.50 or 15 days. Jane Mealy, 50, and Alice Mitchell, 41, were each sent to jail for one month at hard labor for vagrancy. The Queen vs. Thomas Dominguy and his wife, battery, settled upon defendants paying costs. The Queen vs. Thos. Dominguy, battery, settled the same way as the last case. The Queen vs. Delima Laroche, also settled in a similar way.

RAMPANT ROWDYISM.—An unprovoked and roffianly attack was made upon Mr. J. C. Fleming, city editor of an evening journal, at the corner of St. Catherine and Aylmer streets, last night about 11 o'clock, as he was proceeding to his residence. Three four cowardly scoundrels assaulted him, some of them using clubs to beat a defenceless man. He defended himself as well as he could, but where so many were pitted against him he got very seriously maltreated. Mr. Fleming is known to be a quiet, inoffensive gentleman, respected by all who know him, and until this dastardly attack it was considered he had not a single enemy. We hope that every possible means will be taken by the authorities to have the authors of the outrage discovered and brought to justice. If peaceable citizens cannot walk the streets with safety to their lives, the sooner the Blake Act is suspended the better.

Judge Johnson gave his decision upon the motion of Mr. Doutre to be allowed to add to his petition for the writ of injunction, that the railway and plant should, upon a favorable judgment upon the merits, be reconveyed to his client. The motion was granted. It is not known when the argument upon the merits of the writ will be had.

Twenty-Second Annual Picnic Irish Protestant Benevolent Society.

From the extensive nature of the preparations being made there is no doubt but this always successful picnic is to be this season the picnic of the year. The magnificent grounds of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club have been secured, and will be open at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning, the 26th instant. At half past ten the lawn games, consisting of croquet, archery, air rifle target practice and quoits will be commenced. The quadrille band will also be in attendance at the northeast end of the grounds at the same time. At twelve o'clock the athletic and amusing games, consisting of 27 competitions, embracing everything from the mile race to the tug of war, will commence. The programme is a most liberal one; races are provided for members of the St. George's, Caledonian, St. Jean Baptiste, and the various Irish Societies, presented by several of the city papers. Even the news boys are not forgotten, Messrs. H. Shorey & Co. giving a suit of clothes as first prize, and Mr. S. Carsley a side of lamb for second prize. The grand balloon ascension of Prof. Grimley will take place at five. Ascensions will also be made with a captive balloon, to enable those desirous of getting a view of the country to do so.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Sixteenth Day.

The debate on class meetings was continued yesterday evening.

Rev. John Carrol said in his circuits he had had a bona-fide class meeting membership, and that in Hamilton his class numbered 600.

Rev. Dr. Jeffers observed that the word test was objectionable. In his opinion four fifths of the members attended class meetings, half of them regularly, and those who did not attend did so from mere neglect. He had never made non-attendance a reason for turning out members from the church, but had persistently tried to induce them to attend. He objected to passing a law making speaking in class meeting compulsory.

Mr. Coatsworth remarked that complaints were made of the inefficiency of leaders of classes, but to his mind they were not more so than some ministers who were in reality responsible for the choice of leaders, who desired a change; he asked, out of 3,000 congregations only 2 memorials on the subject were before this Committee.

Dr. Ryerson spoke at some length. He had twenty years ago offered his resignation as a minister, as he could not agree to turn a member out of the church for not attending class. At that time he had explained his views of the question to the Conference, which had accepted them, and never since had he alluded to this subject. Twenty-four years ago he had been sneered at by the New York Advocate; but let them notice the change to-day. In England, after a lengthy discussion in the Conference, 134 voted for the law, and 117 against it. He was not aware that Wesley had struck off members on the score of non-attendance at class-meeting. He asked if exclusion from the Methodist church meant exclusion from Christ's church. He thought that before five years the law would be abolished.

Dr. Douglass advised caution, but would not express himself on the subject.

All the amendments proposed were lost, and the committees report carried; so that no change will take place for the present in the discipline.

The Conference adjourned at eleven o'clock p. m.

DICK & CO., MONTREAL:

GENTLEMEN,—I received a package of your Blood Purifier, and gave it to a horse that was in wretched condition. After the fourth dose he got rid of a large quantity of small white worms. No man would believe, to see their quantity, that the horse could live in such a condition. After a few days he seemed to brighten, and gradually got fat. Now he is in splendid condition and good spirits, and I am certain all the change is owing to Dick's Blood Purifier.

ROBT. MARTIN, Postmaster.

JUVENILE ENTHUSIASM.—On the day of the election some young children, sporting blue rosettes and waving blue flags, sat on a fence in shuter Street, near Milton, and as the electors drove past to No. '9 Poll, they shouted, "Vote for Gault! Three cheers for Gault! Hip-hip-hooray!" "Straws show which way the wind blows." Doubtless the father of these juvenile politicians has suffered from want of protection. Being very small they attracted a good deal of attention, and received liberal smiles from both sides. One little girl in white, with blue ribbons, waved a tiny Union Jack and joined lustily with her brothers. "Coming events cast their shadows before,"—perhaps by the time this tiny young lady is grown up the Women Suffrage Bill will be passed, and she will be allowed to vote. She is certainly now the youngest fair politician in Montreal, and we congratulate her on the success of her party.

The above letter is one of a great many from consumers and firms in the United States and Canada.—W. F. L. & Co.

Laboratory, 28 Beaver Hall Terrace, Montreal, August 12, 1878.—To Messrs. W. F. Lewis & Co., Montreal. Gentlemen,—I have carefully examined the sample of your "hand-made sour mash" whisky, "crop 1874," sent me by you. I now report it to be free from fusil oil and all other extraneous compounds injurious to health, and that it is in every respect a sample of a choice spirit, and of such an one as I can recommend for use medicinally when an alcoholic stimulant is indicated. As I give you permission to publish this certificate, I reserve to myself the right to analyze and report upon samples from time to time purchased by myself for comparison with standard samples which I retain. I am, gentlemen, yours truly, G. P. GIRDWOOD, M.D., M.R.C.S., Professor of Practical Chemistry, McGill College, Montreal.

Indians Driven to Desperation for Want of Food.

WASHINGTON, September 21.—Lieut.-Col. Lewis, in command at Fort Dodge, Kans., says an Indian interpreter informed him that the Indians at Cheyenne Agency were suffering for want of sufficient food and were driven to eat horse flesh, the animals having died of disease or natural causes. His opinion is the escape of these Indians was for the purpose of reaching some place where they could get sufficient food for themselves and families. In his opinion there will be a large outbreak before the coming spring unless something is done to improve their condition.

COMMERCIAL.

Sept. 21.

English wheat-markets are very dull and in Liverpool. Sales of October No. 2 Spring wheat occurred in Chicago this morning at 87½c. No 2 Canada Spring is being offered at from $1.02 to $1.03 on spot, but buyers are holding off. Peas are lower, several large cargoes having been placed at 78c. We also hear of a cargo selling at 78½c. Corn is offered at 47c, and oats at 29c. The flour trade remains quiet, the only change being in Spring Extra, which sold at a decline of 5c. The only sales were 400 Spring Extra, $4.50; 100 Medium Bakers, $4.75, and 400 Choice Fine at $3.50.

The following were to-day's quotations:

Superior Extra	$4 60	to	$4 75
Extra Superfine	4 55	to	4 60
Fancy	4 50	to	0 00
Spring Extra	4 50	to	0 00
Superfine	4 30	to	4 40
Strong Bakers	5 00	to	5 15
Fine	3 20	to	3 30
Middlings	3 00	to	3 10
Pollards	2 90	to	3 00
Ontario Bags	2 25	to	0 00
City Bags, delivered	2 35	to	0 00

The provision trade just now is being narrowly watched by the speculative fraternity who openly express their belief in pork and lard being a good purchase at present prices. A few knowing ones, however, are very dubious on that point, and venture to predict lower, before higher rates. The latter base their calculations upon the large stocks of mess pork and lard held in the West, which they maintain is very unusual for this season of the year. There are at present in Chicago alone 124,709 barrels of mess pork and 37,897 tierces of lard, while at the same time last year there were only 37,426 bbls of mess pork, and 10,641 tierces of lard. A few orders for mess pork have been received by dealers here for the Lower Provinces, but apart from this business is exclusively confined to a small local demand at $13 to $13.25, sales being reported to-day at the inside figure. Lard meets with some enquiry in lots of 50 and 100 pails at 10c. Montreal sugar cured hams are said to be in slightly better request at 12c, and canvassed at 12½c to 12¾c. Sweet canvassed side bacon brings from 9c to 10c, and shoulders are worth from 6c to 7c. The demand for choice grades of butter continues healthy at 14c to 15c for fine to choice Townships, a cent higher being paid for selections. Western has been dealt in at 10c to 12½c during the week. Sales were reported to-day of 300 packages of choice selected Townships at 16c, and 80 tubs of fine Townships at 14½c. An order for 2,000 packages of fancy butter has been received by a Montreal firm from a London house, which, we understand, is still unfilled on account of prices asked being above the limit that can be paid. Now will this order, amounting to about $19,000, be filled here or in New York? We trust arrangements will be made whereby the money will be expended in the purchase of Canadian goods, as we have had enough of this New York business. Perfect late made cheese is in good request, and would probably command figures that it would not be advisable to quote for the reason that such stock is infinitesimally small compared with the great bulk of supplies. We quote 8c to 8½c for fine August, with sales at 8½c. Eggs are scarcer and higher, sales being made at 12c in cases. Held stocks can be had at 9c and 10c. Ashes are still weak at $3.87½ to $3.95 per 100 lbs for pots.

Receipts of produce, &c., by Grand Trunk Railway and Canal are 61,815 bushels of wheat, 37,601 bushels of corn, 1,225 bushels of peas, 84 bushels of oats, 33 bushels of barley, 6,067 bbls of flour, 285 bbls of meal, 24 bbls of ashes, 1,756 packages of butter and 1,702 boxes of cheese.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21, 10.20 a.m.—Wheat, 87¾c to 87⅞c Oct., 87⅞c Nov. Corn, 36⅛c Oct., 36⅛c to 36⅜c Nov. Pork, $8 50 Oct., $8 60 Nov. Lard, $6.60 to $6.62½ Oct., $6.62½ to $6.65 Nov.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 21, 11.15 a.m.—Wheat, 91c Sept; 91½c bid Oct; 91⅞c bid Nov.

W. J. Fairbairn's Liverpool private despatch says wheat market generally dull, tendency downward.

FROM TORONTO.

Reception of Lord Dufferin—Temperance—Fire—Body Found—Narrow Escape—Strange Funeral—Bridges Repaired.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—Great preparations are being made for the reception of the Governor-General, who will stop at the Queen's. The avenues to the park are to be illuminated, and a torchlight procession will take place on Monday.

Francis Murphy, the temperance advocate, will lecture here on Monday night next.

A small fire took place yesterday afternoon in a house on St. Patrick street. Damage done very trifling.

The body of a man found in the Bay yesterday turns out to be that of Henry Smith, who was drowned in the Don during the late flood. A verdict of "found drowned" was returned.

A couple of men whose names your correspondent could not ascertain, had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday. It was blowing pretty fresh and the boat they were in capsized. The men managed to scramble on to her bottom, from which they were taken by a small sailing craft.

The child of an Italian died on Wednesday last, and yesterday had a strange funeral given it. The procession was made up of four fiddlers and two harpists, who rode in a van preceeding the hearse and five cabs containing relatives of deceased. The music was of the livliest character, and was kept up incessantly until the burying place was reached. There, after handfulls of earth had been thrown in, the grave was filled in and the ceremony completed.

Chief Justice Harrison continues to improve.

St. George's Society will present an address to Lord Dufferin.

The bridges over the Don River that were washed away are being replaced on a more substantial basis. They had been in a dangerous state for some time past owing to the parsimony of the County Council.

FROM OTTAWA.

Personal and Political—Cabinet Council—Altering a Money-order—Struck by Lightning.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, September 21.—Sir John Macdonald is expected at the Capital to-day. Mr. Taschereau, ex-M.P., is at the Russell House. Dr. Fiset, M.P., who defeated Mr. Langevin in the recent election, is in town.

His Excellency the Earl of Dufferin arrived in the city yesterday evening.

A full meeting of the Cabinet has been called to take place to day. It is expected that the Ministers now on their way to Ottawa will arrive in time to be present.

At the Police Court this morning Louis Trudeau, a young man about twenty years of age, and in the employ of Mr. Boissinneau, on Wellington street, was charged with altering a $5 post office money order to $25. The alteration was very fairly executed, but not sufficiently well to bear a close examination. It was detected by the clerk of the Money Order Office. At the Court this morning the prisoner elected to be tried summarily, but was remanded until to-morrow to consider the matter.

The barn and outbuildings of Mr. James Macfarlane, Beckwith, Lanark, were struck by lightning on Tuesday night and burned to the ground.

The Military College—Military Appointments—Returns.

OTTAWA, September 21. — The semi-annual examinations to be held in December of the current year for candidates desiring to be admitted as cadets to the Royal Military College, Kingston, will commence at the district office at the headquarters of the several Military Districts in which candidates reside on Tuesday the 17th of that month, the medical examinations being held the day previous.

Fifth battalion Royal Fusiliers Montreal: To be Quartermaster. William Crawford, gentleman, vice Lydon, appointed Adjutant. Seventy-ninth Shefford Battalion of Infantry or Highlanders, No. 3 company, Waterloo: To be Captain porvisionally, Richard Edward Bell, Esq., vice George S. Codd, who is hereby permitted to retire with rank. To be Lieutenant provisionally, Sergeant W. K. Knowlton, vice Latty, retired.

Excess of species, $51,201.37.

Deposits in Post Office Savings Bank during month of August, $129,304.

Probabilities.

METEOROLOGICAL OFFICE, TORONTO, Sept. 21, 10 a.m.—This morning the lowest pressure is over the Lower St. Lawrence, and it is also low over the Gulf of Mexico, the highest pressure covers the northwest. The winds in the lower lake region and on the St. Lawrence have been brisk to high with partly cloudy to cloudy weather, and rain areas. In the Maritime Provinces fresh to brisk winds have prevailed, with partly cloudy weather and light rain in some localities. Heavy frosts occurred last night throughout the northwest. The lowest temperature recorded is 24 at Fort Garry. Probabilities for the next 24 hours: For the lower lake region, fresh northwesterly to southwesterly winds, and partly cloudy to clear cool weather. For the St. Lawrence, brisk northwesterly to southwesterly winds and partly cloudy and cooler weather with passing showers. For the Maritime Provinces, fresh to brisk southerly to westerly winds and partly cloudy to cloudy weather, with light rains.

City News.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT. — The Treasurer of Wesley Congregational Church Building Fund acknowledges receipt of the sum of $67.92, from the Treasurer of the Union Picnic of Zion and Wesley Churches, Mr. Charles Watters, being net proceeds of that picnic.

AN IMPROVEMENT.—The new wharf at Windwill Point, near the Victoria Bridge, is excellently situated for coal vessels, and six or seven ships are almost always there discharging cargo. This leaves the lower and more business portion of the harbor free for the discharge of merchandise without the accompanying dust and dirt of collier ships.

SUICIDE.—A young man named James Tempest, who formerly resided in Montreal, and whose parents are still said to be here, is stated by the New York papers to have committed suicide in that city by shooting himself through the heart with a revolver. The deceased, who was thirty years of age, with light brown hair and sandy moustache, was employed as a copyist by a law firm but lost his situation through drink. His relatives are understood to be respectable and well-to do.

LOOKING UP.—When the Mayor purchased the Nova Scotia coal mine for the Jacques Cartier Bank for two hundred thousand dollars, he was made the object of many facetious remarks, but since the change of Government and prospect of a duty on coal, people are beginning to think that His Worship knew what he was doing when he made the investment. Some who thought the mine dear at first at the price paid for it, now hazard the opinion that it is worth more than double the money.

RECORDER'S COURT—SATURDAY.—Before Mr. Sexton—Albion North, 28, of no occupation or residence, vagrancy, 15 days with hard labor. Homer Gaudette, 15, Wolfe street, loitering, 15 days with hard labor. Pierre Bertrand, 19, laborer, of Lachine, drunk and insulting people, $1.50 or 10 days. Alfred Longpre, 26, carter; Mannancour, assaulting Ovila Gagnon, $2.50 or 15 days. Guillaume Mainville, 50, mason, St. Lawrence street, drunk and assaulting his wife, one month hard labor. Philomene Morin, 44, insanity, committed upon a medical certificate.

THE HACKMEN'S DIFFICULTY.—A dispute which took place on Thursday last between Marcus Alix, the regularly appointed agent for carters at the Windsor Hotel, and Michael Macnamara, the runner employed at the rate of $10 per week by the opposition carters, was made the subject of an action in the Police Court this morning. It appears that both men addressed insulting language to each other, and Macnamara, considering himself ill-used, decided to have his adversary punished in legal form. The witness attempted to introduce the question of the right of the cabmen to solicit orders at public hotels after the contract for supplying guests with carriages had been given to master carters. Mr. Roy objected to this evidence with great warmth, which elicited the remark from the advocate for the prosecution that he was the "Windsor lawyer." The gentleman so designated replied that if he was the "Windsor lawyer," his friend was the "Windy lawyer." The action was dismissed with costs.

After breakfasting in the Windsor Hotel he left by the 9.30 a.m. express, in Mr. Spicer's handsome car, No. 118, with the Dominion flag flying, for Toronto. During His Excellency's stay at the lake city he will stop at the Rossin House.

Macdonald vs. Joly et al.

The appeal which was made by Mr. Carter on behalf of the Quebec Government against the judgment of Hon. Mr. Justice Johnson, rejecting his motion that the writ of injunction issued in this cause be suspended or set aside on the ground that it had been improvidently issued, was yesterday argued before the Court of Appeals. This morning judgment was given maintaining the appeal and reversing the judgment of the Court below, their Honors Justices Ramsay and Monk dissenting. The judgment sets aside the writ of injunction till the 14th of December next, when the parties will be again heard.

MUSICAL.—The New York papers eulogise Sig. Rosnati, Strakosch's new tenor, as one of the finest artists who has come to this continent for many years. He is said to be a splendid looking fellow as well as being a magnificent singer. Miss Kellogg sings in New York next week for the yellow fever sufferers.

LONDON, September 21.—The Times' Paris correspondent says:—Notwithstanding the approbation that Gambetta's speech at Romans on Wednesday met with on the part of the Republican press, it has made moderate Republicans uneasy. It is not thought the programme will contribute to the success of the Senatorial elections, for it opens up a field to discussion in which adversaries of the Republic will find it very easy to exaggerate the orator's words, and show that the Republic proposes to lay hands on every existing institution in a revolutionary sense.

Death of a Veteran.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Gen. Henry Raymond, the oldest veteran of the war of 1812, died on Thursday.

Disastrous Tornado in Michigan.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 21.—Additional advices from the tornado in Michigan yesterday state that Lamont's store at Pentwater was demolished, crushing Mrs. Griffing to death. At Greenville the Baptist Church was blown down, killing a workman. A despatch from Chippawa station says sudden darkness fell upon the place, accompanied by death-like stillness, the atmosphere was so light that respiration was difficult. Suddenly the tornado struck with indescribable force, lasting but a few moments, yet in those few moments it utterly swept away every structure in the place. The inhabitants, warned by the darkness and stillness, took refuge in cellars, and as a consequence, fatal casualties were few.

FROM QUEBEC.

Candidate for a Portfolio—Durham Terrace—The Harbor Improvements—The Fever Sufferers.

QUEBEC, Sept. 21.—A strong feeling has manifested itself in this district that Mr. Adolphe Caron should occupy a position in the new Cabinet on account of his ability and high personal standing. It is extremely probable that a portfolio will be offered him.

The proposed prolongation of Durham terrace to the foot of the Citadel, for which tenders have already been called, will make that promenade over a quarter of a mile in length.

Before leaving town for the West yesterday, the Right Hon. Dr. Lyon Playfair, M. P., in company with Mr. Pilkington, Resident Engineer of the Harbor Works, visited the improvements now going on at the mouth of the St. Charles, in which he manifested considerable interest. For the huge dredge now at work in the main and the revolving hercules derrick which, by the way, was designed by the contractors, and is the first of its kind in use, Dr. Playfair expressed his warm admiration. He examined into the work now proceeding with the closest interest and expressed a hope that a scientific paper upon the subject would be prepared and read in England.

The Societe Bienfaisence Francaise intend giving a concert in aid of the sufferers in the South, under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor-General, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, the Mayor of Quebec and the French Consul.

LIBERALITY.—Several of the exhibitors of fruit at the exhibition have donated their collections to the General Hospital.

"THE ATHLETIC SPORTING NEWS" is the title of a new weekly which is to make its appearance on Friday, and so far has received promises of an extended support.

THE ST. LAWRENCE HALL.—Arrangements have been made whereby the St. Lawrence Hall will remain open until the boat race takes place. The business of the hotel since the suspension has been good.

A WIFE BEATER. — Francois Xavier Beauvais, laborer, was up before the Police Magistrate this morning, on the charge of assaulting his wife. The defendant pleaded guilty to the unmanly act, and was fined $20 or two months.

THE BOAT RACE.—A Lachine man was heard to express the opinion that Hanlan was so skilful in Han'lin' the sculls that Courtney was simply Courtin' a defeat by coming to row against him. The name is not given, as the perpetrator is very much ashamed of himself, and promises not to repeat the offence.

RICHMOND AND WOLFE.—The Richmond Guardian says:—It must be said to the credit of the Liberals that they worked manfully, and so far as we know without compensation. Indeed we have reason to believe that no corrupt practices were indulged in by either party, and we think it will be found that this was the most inexpensive election ever had in these counties.

BURGLARS.—The three men, Hugh Looney, 26, laborer, Michael Burns, 23, tailor, and George Murphy, 21, laborer, arrested for breaking into and stealing property from the store of Mr. P. Downey, were brought before the Police Magistrate to-day, when depositions were made out against them. The prisoners will probably be committed to the Court of Queen's Bench this afternoon.

CAPTURED AT LAST.—A laborer calling himself Alfred Mignault stole 18 feet of lead pipe and a tap valued at $4 on the 25th of May last from Pierre Lariviere, a foreman in charge of a new building which was being erected. The thief, to escape capture, fled from the city, but returned yesterday, when he was seen and arrested by constable Beauchemin. This morning he was committed to jail for four months by the Police Magistrate.

POLICE COURT—SATURDAY.—Before W. H. Brehaut, Esq, P. M. — The case of Marie Barrette, for keeping a house in the Caughnawaga Reserve for the sale of intoxicating liquor, was brought up. Mr. Roy, who appeared for the prosecution, replied to an argument previously made by Mr. Mousseau, Q.C., to the effect that the defendant having a husband living, she was not the proprietor of the house, and could not be proceeded against. He held that the husband lived in the bush away from home, the proof of which was that he could not be found by the Court officials who waited to serve him with a warrant; the woman in his absence kept the house. He also cited the 79th clause 39 Vic, cap. 18, which states that whoever sells to any Indian any intoxicating liquor, or keeps a house for that purpose falls under the statute. The case was taken en delibere to the 24th inst.

A little boy, 10 years of age, named George Larin, took away a horse and cart from a yard at the corner of St. Lawrence and Lagauchetiere streets last evening. He was arrested, but afterwards discharged, the case not being pressed.

LACROSSE.

Montreal vs. Shamrocks.

These distinguished lacrosse clubs met in friendly contest this afternoon on the ground of the former. The weather being beautiful, with the ground in good order, the players set to work with great vim. A large attendance of spectators enjoyed the exciting spectacle, and greeted the successful efforts of the contestants with applause. The band of the Victoria Rifles executed the programme, which we published yesterday, in fine style.

The ball was faced at 3.20 by Griffin and Giroux. After a lively tussle Morton scored the first game for the Shamrocks in fifteen minutes. The Shamrocks played down. The second game was in progress as we went to press. The teams were well matched to all appearances.

THE AFFLICTED SOUTH.

Meeting of Citizens To-Day—Assistance to be Given.

The meeting called by His Worship the Mayor, in compliance with a requisition presented to him, by a number of citizens, took place at the Mechanics' Hall at noon to-day. The following gentlemen were present:—Ald Nelson, M P P, M H Gault, M P, C J Coursol, M P, Thomas White, M P, Rev Gavin Lang, Rev Canon Lindsay, Andrew Robertson, F B McNamee, John Kerry, Ald Martin, Judge Day, B Lyman, Theo Lyman, Alex McGibbon, and others.

In the absence of His Worship, who, however, subsequently attended, Alderman Nelson was called to the chair, and stated the object of the meeting, which he thought was one worthy of every consideration. He called upon Captain McDermott, who was from the South, and was now in Canada soliciting aid for the fever stricken localities, to give the meeting some particulars.

Captain McDermott then referred to the ravages which the fever was making, saying it was beyond his power to describe it. He said the city of New Orleans, with its population of 200,000, had an average death rate of 68 per day. In Memphis, where he came from, the ravages were much more severe. Memphis had a population of 65,000, but it was reduced at the time he left, principally of course by the inhabitants fleeing from it, to but 15,000. The average death rate there was 125 a day. For a radius of eight miles about Memphis there was not a town but what was suffering. In former years of yellow fever these towns had been refuges for the people of Memphis, where they were comparatively safe, but this year it had followed the refugees where ever they went, even to New York. His reason for applying to Canadians for aid was because he was himself a Canadian, and he could say from experience that nowhere were Canadians more hospitably received or cared for than at the South and in Memphis. While there was work to do there no Canadian was refused.

Mr. B. Lyman moved that the following gentlemen form a committee to solicit subscriptions: Messrs. Gault, Coursol, White, Robertson, MacNamee, Rev. Gavin Lang, Kerry, Ald. Martin, Mr. Justice Day, Rev. Mr. Wells, U. S. Consul-General Smith and the mover.

Mr. Thos. White said that he had received a letter from the Very Rev. Dean of Montreal expressing his sympathy and regretting that illness prevented his being present. He suggested that the Dean's name be added to the list, which was done, as were also the names of Rev. Canon Lindsay and Mr. Alex. McGibbon.

Mr. McGibbon suggested the committee should request a grant from the City Council.

Ald. Nelson explained that a request in the shape of a telegram from the British Consul at New Orleans had been submitted to the Council, but they had not granted anything, as they felt they had not the right.

Mr. Theo. Lyman thought probably a request from this committee might have a more potent effect.

Mr. MacNamee moved that the Corporation be called upon to give a respectable contribution in aid of the fever sufferers. He said the exigencies of the case demanded immediate action. The Corporation should take the expression of this meeting as a public expression and act accordingly.

Mr. McGibbon seconded the motion on the distinct understanding that it should not be allowed to interfere with the subscription list.

Mr. Andrew Robertson hoped that no one would feel that he had any objection to sending money to the South, but he strongly opposed the asking the City Council for a grant. The Council had granted $10,000 to the St. John fire sufferers, which it had never paid, and until it was paid he would oppose the asking of the Council for any further grant.

Rev. Gavin Lang suggested as the money had already been voted and was no longer needed at St. John, it should now be sent to the South.

The Chairman explained that the call for help at St. John had been so well responded to by the public and the actual distress having passed, the money had not been required. His Worship explained also that the Council had no legal right to vote money for the purpose.

At the suggestion of Rev. Gavin Lang the Committee decided to ask the congregations of the various city churches to take up a contribution for the purpose. His own congregation would do so to-morrow.

Mr. W. M. Johnson was elected Secretary and Mr. B. Lyman Treasurer. A list was at once opened, and the gentlemen present put down their names.

It is also understood that lists will be left at the banks and other public offices.

FINANCIAL.

Sept. 21.

In the moneyed centres of the United States an increased demand for capital has been experienced, and still rates of interest and discount there remain as low as at any period during the year, but as the fall business becomes brisker it is thought that an advance in rates is not improbable. In financial circles here there is a fair demand for funds, at 4 per cent. on call, and 5 to 6 on time, and discounts range from 7 to 8, with first-class paper at slightly lower figures. Sterling Exchange sells at 8¼ to 8⅜ premium for round amounts between banks, and 8½ to 8⅝ counter rates. Gold drafts ⅛ premium. Gold in New York advanced to 100½, and Sterling Exchange sold in New York at 482½.

Retail Produce Markets.

Our markets are lavishly supplied with farm and garden produce, embracing a wide range of variety, and prices are generally very reasonable, bringing fair profits to the producer at the same time being within the means of all classes of consumers. Yesterday our reporter had several lengthy chats with farmers from the vicinity of Lachute, St. Therese and St. Jerome, and they all admitted that crops generally in those districts were good. They said the pastures never looked so rich in any previous fall as they do at present, and around Lachute a large quantity of butter is being made, some of which is of excellent quality. Some very dark looking oats were offered for sale yesterday which had evidently been injured by rain, consequently they sold 10c per bag lower than bright samples. Potatoes were in large supply at about previous rates, but the demand was brisk from grocers, &c. Autumn fruit was in very fair supply at low figures. Dressed poultry was in good request and sellers were asking full rates. Choice butter in tubs is quickly picked up at 15c to 16c per lb. Yellow Fever.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., September 21, evening. —68 deaths the past 24 hours. The wife and daughter of John H. Mitchell, brother of Maggie Mitchell, the actress, are among the victims. Eugene W. Moore, city editor of the Appeal, is taken down. At Bartlett one case of fever caused a general desertion of the town. No more physicians are needed. The Howard Association reports nurses are needed. 78 new cases on Friday.

FROM OTTAWA.

Members Returned—Racing—Demonstration—Rumored Resignation.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 21. — The return of the following members is gazetted to-day:—Quebec West, Hon. J. McGreevey; Gloucester, Hon. T. W. Anglin; Restigouche, G. Haddow.

The races at Mutchmore Park to-day are fairly attended.

The people of Ottawa county hold a demonstration at Aylmer to-night in honor of the return of Alonzo Wright.

It is rumored that Mr. Buckingham, secretary to Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, has resigned his position in the Public Works Department, but it is not generally credited.

FROM TORONTO.

Grand Trunk Accounts—Mr. Rykert Cattle Shipment.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, September 21.—A special by cable to the Globe says: "The Grand Trunk accounts for the last half-year show a sufficient net revenue to pay the preference debenture stocks, charges, and to carry forward £2,300.

The Globe says it is a question whether Mr. Rykert can take his seat for Lincoln in the House of Commons, as he was elected to represent the constituency in the Ontario Legislature, and his seat has never formally been declared vacant.

Two thousand sheep and 800 cattle will be shipped from this city next week, for the English market.

City News.

THE M., O & O. RAILWAY.—The effect of the judgment to-day will probably be to put a stop to all the litigation now going on and to confirm the Government in possession of the road. Mr. Carter, Q. C., who has acted from the start as Government adviser, deserves credit for the able manner in which he has brought the complications to so successful an issue for the Government.

MONTREAL SWIMMING CLUB.—The contract with the St. Helen's Island boat expired on the 20th inst., but owing to the favorable weather, the vessel will continue running for at least one week longer. Quite a number of bathers attended yesterday, which is considered by many the last day of summer. The fine grounds of the club have brought it into high favor, and the membership has increased so rapidly that considerably over 1,000 names are now entered on the books. Colonel Labranche, who has exerted himself greatly to foster a spirit of emulation in aquatic exercises and to bring about the present favorable result, is deserving of thanks.

The Press and the Government.

It is singular to see the manner in which some of the papers are going back on the Government from whom they have been deriving great benefits. Among these is L'Evenement, which is particularly hard on the Government.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The Great Aquatic Event at Lachine.

The interest in this approaching race between the two foremost oarsmen of the American continent is beginning to swell up to fever heat. Every day brings enquiries even from distant parts of the world as to the progress the men are making and what is likely to be the result of the contest. Both men are well so far, and they have the entire confidence of their friends. It is a matter for sincere gratulation that there are no misgivings in the public mind as to both men doing their level best. Their past careers and high characters give assurance that each will do his best to win. Although Canadians will support Hanlan, we have yet to meet the first person who holds Courtney cheap, or who does not feel that our Canadian champion is likely to have all his powers fully tested by his opponent. That Hanlan has a high opinion of Courtney as an oarsman we well know, as we have heard him express himself to that effect. They have practised together on a former occasion, and we have Hanlan's word for it that he was not able to get out of the way of his rival. Courtney, physically, is a fine fellow, his stature being much greater than our plucky Canadian. Both men are hard at work, and next week we will have interesting news about their progress. Mr. A. G. Nish, late harbor engineer, has been appointed to survey and lay out the course.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Seventeenth Day.

The Conference met at 9 a.m. After devotional exercises the routine business was got through.

The first report submitted was from the Temperance Committee, which reads as follows: After much thought and prayerful consideration on the subject of temperance, and intoxicating drinks, the committee feel bound to state their solemn convictions and recommendations as follows:

1. That the subject coming under review is of the greatest and most vital importance to the interests of this Church. The great and destructive evils of intemperance have often been affirmed and illustrated by reference to statistics, and many facts are recorded which cause us to stand in awe. While we do not, at present, deem it a proper occasion to enter upon any circumstantial statement of these, we have, nevertheless, a firm belief in their truth. There is no more certain road to perdition than that by which tens of thousands of our fellow-men are being led by the use of strong drink. Its deceptive and maddening influences, thus stated, Prov., xx., 1, "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging, and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise," present it to us among the most insidious and worst foes both of the bodies and souls of men. With these views of its character, we cannot but regard the subject as second to no other as an evil of inconceivable magnitude.

2. We gratefully acknowledge the utility of the various temperance organizations in assisting to stay the tide of this branch of immorality, and we trust that, as far as practicable, our ministers and people will unite with others in their several localities to help on this good work.

We call attention to the recent legislation at Ottawa on this subject, which is the nearest approach to entire prohibition that is found on the statute books of any Canadian legislature. We hope that efforts will at once be made in all parts of the Dominion to introduce and practically carry out the timely and well-considered law.

4. Convinced as we are that all mere legal and moral means are insufficient without the power of grace to raise the drunkard, we earnestly recommend that special prominence be given to the religious element in the temperance enterprise. The Gospel Temperance Movement places this cause on the only proper basis. We trust that the ministers of our church will frequently call attention to this, and also in their public devotion lead the congregation in prayer for God's blessing to attend every legitimate effort. Let all take the ground that our church, according to our general rules, is a Total Abstinence Society, and thus keep in the strongest bond of union that which in reality can never be divorced—the inseparable connection of Temperance and Religion.

5. We earnestly commend for universal adoption that which already exists in many of our Sabbath schools, the organization of Juvenile Temperance Associations. We shall thus give to our children, as an essential in their religious training, the idea of total abstinence from all intoxicating drinks. We recommend the more general introduction of temperance literature into our Sabbath school literature. We suggest the importance of devoting some portion of the time to this subject in our District Sabbath School Conventions.

6. We regard it as of the first importance that our ministers should unite with our official members in banishing from the Lord's Table those obnoxious mixtures too often used there, and procure for that blessed purpose only the pure juice of the grape.

7. We gratefully acknowledge the encouraging fact that temperance, truth and practical devotion to the cause are advancing. We still feel the importance of continued and more earnest efforts, especially of an individual character, for the complete removal of the awful curse of intemperance from our fair and goodly land.

N. R. WILLOUGHBY, M.A., Chairman.
JOHN HUNT, Secretary.

The report was adopted.

BURIED ALIVE!

OR,

THE BEAUTIFUL SPIRIT.

In half an hour they were apparently fast friends, Bernice accepting Monk as a brother, and treating him with a charming yet unconscious familiarity that delighted him.

The three dined together in the cosy parlor, and spent the evening in conversation. Monk was boyish, whimsical and full of drolleries. He entertained the young marchioness with anecdotes of her husband's boyhood, and described Chetwynd Park after a graphic fashion, and was full of humorous sayings, seeming more than ever like a great overgrown boy, overflowing with life and spirits.

Bernice, frank and unsuspecting as a little child, liked him from the first. Her own temperament was gay and joyous, but life at St. Kildahad been dreary, gloomy, and depressing, and she knew nothing of gay companionship. The good people at the manse were solemn and serious, partly as matter of temperament, partly from a sense of responsibility as the spiritual guides of their flock, and partly because, in the eternal roar of the wild sea waves, and in the midst of a poverty-stricken and ignorant people, debarred all intellectual intercourse with kindred minds, deprived of even social enjoyments, existence could at best only be cheerful, not in the least joyous. How Bernice had preserved until now all the buoyancy of hernature appeared a mystery.

At ten o'clock Monk withdrew to his own room.

"I've made a good beginning," he said to himself, caressing his beard as he surveyed his reflection complacently in the mirror of his dressing bureau. "This girl has a strange power to charm. She reminds me of some of those French women I've read about, all fascination in spite of ugliness, and I'll stake my soul she's as pure and innocent as an angel, even in her inmost thoughts. It is as if she had come from a nunnery. She knows nothing of the world, and suspects no evil. She no match for Sylvia, and will go down before her like the corn before the reaper, and yet there is that in her eyes and face that declares she will defend herself to the death. If it were not for Sylvia and the fact of my own altered position, I'd be inclined to make friends with Lady Chetwynd; but as it is, I'll win her friendship and use it to further my own interests. And one thing is sure, I cannot interfere with Sylvia's plans for our mutual aggrandizement."

While he was thus communing with himself, Bernice had seated herself on the sofa beside her husband, and was communicating her impressions concerning Monk.

"Your stepbrother is a delightful person, Roy," she exclaimed. "I never met any one like him before, although that's not singular, considering how few people I've met. I hope he will stay at Chetwynd Park always, and I hope his sister is like him. What a delightful household we shall have!"

"I should be better contented to have you all to myself," said the marquis, frankly, with a loving smile; "but I must not be selfish. You have been solitary all your life, and naturally long for plenty of pleasant companionship. We will start for home in the morning, Bernice, and you will see Sylvia for yourself."

In accordance with Lord Chetwynd's plans the party left Edinburgh the next morning for London. They broke the journey once or twice, arriving in town upon the third day after leaving Scotland. They proceeded to a hotel, Chetwynd House being closed, and remained in town nearly a week, shopping, sight-seeing, and receiving calls. Monk wrote twice during this interval to Sylvia, and received one dainty missive in return, which, as its writer had intended, he showed to Lady Chetwynd. It was, of course, a model letter, full of kindly expressions in regard to the young marchioness, and her ladyship was touched by it.

At length, due notice having been sent of their intended speedy arrival, the little party resumed its journey to Chetwynd Park.

"We are almost there," whispered the marquis, as his bride looked eagerly from the window of the carriage. "We are almost home, little wife."

"Almost home!" echoed Bernice, a thrill in her voice, and a glint of happiness in her dusky eyes. "Oh, Roy, my life lies all before me here! What is it to be?"

CHAPTER VI.

AT CHETWYND PARK.

While Gilbert Monk had been so successfully playing the part assigned to him, and had ingratiated himself in the esteem of the youthful marchioness, his sister had been far more active and no less successful in the role she had undertaken.

In the first place, she had created in the household a strong feeling against Lord Chetwynd's girl-bride, and this she accounted a highly-important step in her evil task.

Having communicated the fact of Lord Chetwynd's marriage to the bailiff, the steward, and the butler, through Gilbert Monk, as recorded, she summoned the housekeeper to a private conference, and imparted the news to her. Miss Monk was deadly pale, and the restless agitation of her manner proclaimed that she had received a cruel and unexpected blow. She told the story, reading aloud a portion of his lordship's letter, with quivering voice and averted face.

Mrs. Skewer, the elderly housekeeper, a ladylike woman, round and rosy in appearance, who had occupied her present position some twenty years, received the tidings in almost incredulous surprise. The engagement of the marquis to Miss Monk was generally known, but the fact that this engagement had been broken—and by the lady herself, in a moment of anger—was not known.

"It must be some horrid mistake, Miss Monk," exclaimed the good woman. "My lord is playing some cruel jest, though it's not like him. But, then, no Chetwynd was ever guilty of a dishonorable act, and my lord is incapable of putting a public slight upon a lady, and that lady one he expected to marry. He is polite to the poorest woman on the estate. He could not be insulting to you."

"You have heard the letter," replied Miss Monk, drearily. "It is only too true that I am publicly jilted by my betrothed husband, and that I shall be pitied and stared at and gossiped about for the rest of my life. Oh, heaven, it is horrible! But Lord Chetwynd must not be blamed, Mrs. Skewer. He has been led away from honor and duty by a sudden, mad infatuation for this young lady—if she is a lady by birth—and I pray he may never regret it. Let there be no gossiping in the servants'-hall upon the matter. As for me, to leave the Park now would be to proclaim the fact that I have been jilted. I can only take the sting out of all the gossip by remaining here for the present, and so Lord Chetwynd seems to think, for he urges me to stay. I will even take charge of the festive preparations in honor of the bride. No one shall say that I am heartbroken, or that my appearance declares that I have been badly treated."

Mrs. Skewer was full of admiration for a spirit so self-sacrificing, so proud, so womanly, as she enthusiastically and tearfully declared.

Miss Monk made some further allusion to Lord Chetwynd's "low-born bride," stating her belief that the marchioness was the daughter of a rude fisher of St. Kilda, and had been adopted by the pastor of the island on account of her beauty, and soon after dismissed the housekeeper and withdrew into an inner chamber, and to the presence of her old East-Indian nurse, Ragee.

Mrs. Skewer, in all honesty and innocence of soul, spread throughout the household th false impressions she had herself received. Miss Monk was believed to have been disgracefully treated by Lord Chetwynd, and as all his dependents loved him, the blame was laid, not upon him, but upon Bernice, against whom a smothered hostility was thus awakened from the first, and this hostility was deepened by the idea that the young marchioness was "low-born, and consequently no better than the lowest of the servants."

Satisfied that the elements of discord were in play, Miss Monk, with the air of a martyr, which was by no means assumed, superintended the arrangements for the reception of the bridal pair. She summoned Mr. Sanders, the bailiff, a gentleman by birth and education, who lived with his family in a handsome villa on the estate, to a private conference, and begged him to have notices of the marriage published in the London and local papers, and to have flower arches erected and other festive demonstrations prepared in time for the arrival of the newly-married pair.

The marquis had requested Miss Monk, in [illegible] to refurnish a certain suite of [illegible] mother had occupied, and [illegible] that the prevailing color of the [illegible] furniture should be crimson. Miss Monk made a trip up to London, and brought back with her upholsterers, who, under her directions, speedily transformed the great, cold-looking chambers into bowers of warmth and brightness. The pale yellow draperies at the windows were replaced with softly-flowing curtains of crimson satin over lace. The pale-hued carpet gave place [illegible] velvet pile of shaded crimson, [illegible]

The chairs, couches, and ottomans were all upholstered in velvet of warm, purplish crimson, of the same tint as the curtains, and choice pictures framed in gilt hung against the pale-tinted walls. Miss Monk filled the bay-window with flowers, and caused a fire to be lighted daily in the grate, that all dampness might be dispelled from the long-unused rooms.

SUNDAY READING.

The Last Hymn.

The Sabbath day was ending in a village by the sea,
The uttered benediction touched the people tenderly,
And they rose to face the sunset in the glowing, lighted west,
And then hastened to their dwellings for God's blessed boon of rest.

But they looked across the waters, and a storm was raging there;
A fierce spirit moved above them—the wild spirit of the air,
And it lashed and shook and tore them, till they thundered, groaned and boomed,
And alas! for any vessel in their yawning gulfs entombed.

Very anxious were the people on that rocky coast of Wales
Lest the dawn of coming morrows should be telling awful tales,
When the sea had spent its passion, and should cast upon the shore
Bits of wreck and swollen victims, as it had done heretofore.

With the rough winds blowing round her, a brave woman strained her eyes,
And she saw along the billows a large vessel fall and rise,
Oh, it did not need a prophet to tell what the end must be!
For no ship could ride in safety near the shore on such a sea.

Then pitying people hurried from their homes and thronged the beach,
Oh, for power to cross the water and the perishing to reach!
Helpless hands were rung for sorrow, tender hands grew cold with dread,
And the ship, urged by the tempest, to the fatal rock shore sped.

"She has parted in the middle! Oh, the half of her goes down!
God have mercy! Is Heaven far to seek for those who drown?"
Lo! when next the white, shocked faces looked with terror on the sea,
Only one last clinging figure on the spar was seen to be.

Near the trembling watchers came the wreck tossed by the wave,
And the man still clung and floated, though no power on earth could save.
"Could we send him a short message? Here's a trumpet. Shout away!"
'Twas the preacher's hand that took it, and he wondered what to say.

Any memory of his sermon—firstly—secondly? Ah, no!
There was but one thing to utter in the awful hour of woe;
So he shouted through the trumpet, "Look to Jesus. Can you hear?"
And "Ay, ay, sir!" rang the answer o'er the waters loud and clear.

Then they listened. He is singing, "Jesus, lover of my soul!"
And the winds brought back the echo, "While the nearer waters roll;"
Strange indeed it was to hear him, "Till the storm of life was past,"
Singing bravely from the waters, "Oh, receive my soul at last!"

He could have no other refuge. "Hangs my helpless soul on thee;
Leave, ah, leave me not." The singer dropped at last into the sea,
And the watchers, looking homeward through their eyes with tears made dim,
Said "He passed to be with Jesus in the singing of that hymn."

On Listening to Evil Reports.

The longer I live, the more I feel the importance of adhering to the rules which I have laid down for myself, in relation to such matters:—

I.—To hear as little as possible whatever is to the prejudice of others.

II.—To believe nothing of the kind till I am absolutely forced to it.

III.—Never to drink in the spirit of one who circulates an evil report.

IV.—Always to moderate, as far as I can, the unkindliness which is expressed towards others.

V.—Always to believe that, if the other side were heard, a very different account would be given of the matter.—Charles Simeon.

Pleasant Evenings.

Make the evenings pleasant, mothers, if you wish to keep your husbands and children at home. A lively game, an interesting book read aloud, or, in musical families, a new song to be practised, will furnish pastime that will make an evening pass pleasantly. A little forethought during the day, a little pulling of wires that need not appear, will make the whole thing easy; and different ways and means may be provided for making the evening hours pass pleasantly, and a time to look forward to with pleasant anticipations. We visited once in a large family, where it was the duty of each sister in turn to provide the evening's occupation, and there was a pleasant rivalry between them as to whose evenings should be the most enjoyable. As a natural consequence, the brothers were rarely absent from home.

A Price that Must be Paid.

Work, hard work, is the price that must be paid for success in this world—of any kind.

To excel even in play—in base-ball or polo, for instance—persevering application is requisite.

We do not, therefore, regard any teacher as sound who undertakes to instruct the people that idleness and prosperity are consistent with each other.

We believe in rest and recreation; in play and pastime; but we believe also in work, hard work. We think they are misled and deceived who are made to believe that there is any other road to competency, independence and honorable distinction but labor.

Not only is work a necessity, but that very necessity is a blessing. If rest is sweet, it is only sweet, only refreshing after labor. Work carries with it a sense of strength and of self-respect.

The idle, in whatever sphere of life they are to be found, are to be pitied. If poor, they become tramps and paupers. If rich, they are hardly less miserable.

"Labor is life! 'Tis the still water faileth;
Idleness ever despaireth, bewaileth;
Keep the watch wound, for the dark rust assaileth;
Flowers droop and die in the stillness of noon.
Labor is glory! the flying cloud lightens;
Only the roving wind changes and brightens;
Idle hearts only the dark future frightens:
Play the sweet keys, wouldst thou keep them in tune."

My Ships at Sea.

Oh, the sunny brightness of that morning, when my ship sailed away! The deep blue, cloudless skies, and the white sails reflected in the calm mirror beneath—all wrapped within a rose-tinted atmosphere that breathed of fairy land. On, on sailed my ship, as the sun-lit waves left by its parting track came rippling with music, like childhood's laughter, to the golden sands where stood my sea-girt home.

And what was that home? Why, a castle of course, on a marvelous island. The wild flowers blossoming over mound and rock, even until they met their still rarer sisters of the sea. But where that island lies, I could not tell you. It is not to be found upon any chart, nor is it recorded in the log-book of any mariner.

Many a day I watched for my ship's return—many a night, with only the quiet stars to share my lonely vigils, and the symphonies of the night breeze, in sweet, but delusive tones whispering, "Hope on!" have I waited for a glimpse of those white sails to come again.

It is long, long ago since that summer's morn when my little argosy put out to sea, and years have passed by in crowded cities, where the high roofs hide away the sunshine, and the noise of ceaseless toil and traffic makes dim, even to memory's ear, the murmurs of the far-off past. But once, in a rare breathing space, I visited my early island-home. Alas! those golden sands had become cold and colorless, the wild flowers naught but tangled weeds, the sea shrouded in a wreath of mist and surf; and somewhere, out of the wide ocean, amid storm and tempest, or hidden rock, or perilous breaker, there lies a wreck—for my ship, my gallant ship, comes home no more!

E. A.

Depend on Number One.

Ever since I've been "knee-high to a grasshopper" I have heard people say, especially young men:

"Oh, If I had only some one to back me—like Peter Brown, for instance, lucky dog—I'd soon be successful. But there's no opening for a poor man these hard times. Nowadays one has to have money or influence to ensure success."

And so we continue in the same strain, with a lot of "ifs" and "ands" that stand in the way of their doing wonders and astonishing the world.

Now, young man, that is all nonsense. Raised on other people's shoulders, you would be just as great a cipher in the battle of life as you are now.

Remember the "ass in the lion's skin;" he wore the skin, but he was an ass still.

Now, Dame Fortune, fickle as she is called by those who fail to win her smiles, is not such a bad old lady after all as represented, if she is chary of her favors and refuses to give them away to idlers, who can blame her? What is worth winning is worth working for. Success always attends the faithful, earnest worker, and in her train fortune is sure to follow.

Don't stand helplessly before an obstacle that arises in your path, touching it gingerly with one finger to see if it is very formidable, but take it up with both hands and set it aside, even if it does strain every muscle and start the perspiration on your forehead.

then put down your head firmly, lay back your shoulders, brace out your chest, and be a MAN. That's the way to conquer.

If you are out of employment do not wait till something "genteel" turns up suited to your fastidious taste and soft white hands, but accept the first honest work you can get.

Take hold of it with a will, winning, by your industry and pluck, your employer's approbation, and very soon you will lose all desire of having "some one to back you."

As you rise in your position higher and higher, at last attaining the much coveted end, you will look with more pity than envy on the "lucky dog" whose greatest ill-luck was the having some one to lean on, until he became too weak to stand alone when the support was withdrawn.

Now, after having read my advice, meditate upon it, and, if necessary, "sleep on't." It won't hurt you, I'll guarantee; and if you follow it you'll be grateful some day to

POLLY HOBFUL.

Quiet Lives.

Life's map is drawn with many light and dark lines. A few of God's creatures are peculiarly favored by special gifts. They appear to live under an ambrosial sky, with golden rays of a dazzling sun, without clouds or storms; to dwell in an Eden, with no black palls, no funeral knells. Their lot seems enviable, as if some unseen magi brought their choicest gifts and rarest treasures to enlarge their stores and increase their felicity. Some rise miraculously in pre-eminence; strangely endowed with honors; renown and celebrity follow their footsteps; fame and success cluster about their names. When they die, their epitaphs are written on elegant monuments, or carved on marble statuary. Near them, unobserved, walk the quiet heroes and heroines. The veil is not drawn aside to reveal innate goodness; they pass among wayfarers, humble men and gentle women, almost without note.

"Each one has his own part to play in the drama of life;" often those looked upon as the great of earth are the little of heaven; what is deemed perfection and completeness below, is condemned and doomed by the verdicts above. Celestial vision is so much clearer than the terrestrial. Not every flower gives forth perfume; roses have concealed thorns; the tiny blossom, hidden under the shadow of a forest tree, is often sweeter than the gorgeous hot-house flower. The lily of the valley rears its spotless head among lofty exotics; yet it receives equal care and nurture from the heavenly Gardener, and to Him is of as much value as if it were transplanted in its beauty and loveliness from tropical climes.

Very many, born in obscurity, reared in penury, and never agitated by strange circumstances, are God's heroes and heroines; struggling, conquering victors in the battle-fields of sin and temptation, the bravest soldiers in the camp of life. Intrinsic merit, virtue, noble hearts, are worth more than kingly coronets; they are not found on the beaten roads or broad avenues, but in the by-paths of life. Often are entertained, unaware, messengers of love, guardian angels, ministering spirits. Their still footsteps come often unexpectedly. Undemonstrative, calm of temperament, cup-bearers of mercy with tokens of sympathy, helping hands in hours of trial and days of sorrow. Their names are not blazoned in the fashionable reception rooms, nor registered among distinguished guests; a better record of them is written upon the white sheet of the unseen and unknown book. The neglect of simple excellence, of unpretentious goodness, the forgetfulness of quiet lives, is merely human weakness. There are many in nooks and corners, living sublime lives, that God loves to notice, for whom He is keeping His purest gems and choicest crowns. Although no long funeral cortege, and ceremonial parade are beheld at their burial, a radiant procession of angels bear their spirits' return to God, with welcome greetings:

"There are faces there, divinely fair,
That the earth lost long ago."

Lost among its glitter and show, of whom the world was not worthy.

It is well there are quiet lives in contradistinction to those who live on the plaudits and adulation of the multitude. To be among humanity's dwarfs, not the giants, is not any proof that such lives are profitless. The lesser and insignificant often prove of value and benefit to the apparently eminent and superior. There are numbers of human beings, who, wounded and pierced, drink constantly of the bitter waters of Marah, who are silent teachers of resignation to the Divine will. Martyrs o suffering, saints in holiness, God's faithfu servants. Many a quiet life is embodiment of the better existence; in the world, but not of it. Quiet lives garner up many faded hopes, many a fond memory. Quiet lives because God ordained them so, bending to their lot with unmurmuring obedience and patience. Conquerors of fate, dwelling in solitude and meek humility; doing their duty to God and man, away from the silver tints and golden hues of mammon's joys, invisible and unrecognized by human eyes.

If a choice is to be made between the two temporal estates, a choice between temptation and allurement, the quiet life without honor or emolument would be the wiser decision. The quiet life brings peace and content, the secret unknown to the children of fortune. Quiet lives well spent within the walls of home, full of little deeds of kindness, silent manifestations of love, self-sacrifice and self-devotion, are precious in the Lord's sight. These humble servants of the Master will be rewarded when "He maketh up his jewels," on the morn of the everlasting life.

"So I think God holds some souls alway, Sweetly to surprise us at the Last Day."

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

All things human change.

Character is a perfectly uneducated will.

The man that blushes is not quite a brute.

Love will not be spurred to what it loathes.

God has commanded time to console the unhappy.

The good is always beautiful, the beautiful is good.

A torn jacket is soon mended; but hard words bruise the heart of a child.

The company in which you will improve most will be least expensive to you.

The creed of the true saint is to make the best of life, and make the most of it.

The difference between a rich man and a poor man is this—the former eats when he pleases, and the latter when he can get it.

Aspirations after the holy—the only aspiration in which the human soul can be assured that it will never meet with disappointment.

We gain nothing by being with such as ourselves. We encourage one another in mediocrity. I am always longing to be with men more excellent than myself.

To feel much for others, and little for ourselves; to restrain our selfish and to indulge our benevolent affections, constitute the perfection of human nature.

We must never undervalue any person. The workman loves not that his work should be despised in his presence. Now, God is present everywhere, and every person is his work.

It is exceedingly deleterious to withdraw the sanction of religion from amusement. If we feel that it is all injurious we should strip the earth of its flowers and blot out its pleasant sunshine.

A man who shows no defect is a fool or a hypocrite, whom we should mistrust. There are defects so bound to fine qualities that they announce them—defects which it is well not to correct.

The pilot who is always dreading a rock or a tempest must not complain if he remain a poor fisherman. We must at times trust something to fortune, for fortune has often some share in what happens.

You find yourself refreshed by the presence of cheerful people. Why not make earnest effort to confer that pleasure on others? You will find half the battle is gained if you never allow yourself to say anything gloomy.

TEMPERANCE AND INTEMPERANCE.

Out of 25 cases of sunstroke one day, in Chicago, 24 of the victims were addicted to strong drink.

The people of the United States spend the entire amount of the valuation of the nation in intoxicating liquors every twenty years.

The London Methodist says: "The unprecedented progress of the temperance cause, right and left, seems actually to have begun to affect the revenue returns. In 1876, 8,009,984 gallons of wine were taken out of bond for consumption, and in the corresponding period for this year the custom house returns only 7,067,232 gallons. There has been a similar falling off in spirits from 4,783,251 gallons to 4,436,386 gallons. The most hopeful feature is that there was a corresponding declension last year."

Recent investigations show that more money is paid for beer in almost every large city in the country than for bread. In New York, competent authorities set down the amount as not far from $30,000,000 per annum. As at present carried on the manufacture of beer is very profitable to the brewers, and there are many instances given of their sudden acquisition of immense wealth. Frank Jones, now a member of Congress for New Hampshire, made an immense fortune in the brewing business in a few years. George Ehler, of New York, began with $4,000 ten years ago, and is now worth $1,500,000. Jacob Hoffman, who began with $7,000 at the same time, is now worth $400,000. John Kress, who began brewing in his wife's wash kettle, without a cent, died about a year ago worth over a million.—Exchange.

Statistics often teach moral lessons with far greater force than sermons or lectures. A very powerful one comes from the International Revenue office, from which we learn that the quantity of liquor drunk in this country during the year ending June 30, 1877, was 74,472,872 gallons. Of this immense quantity over 57,000,000 gallons distilled spirits and 10,000,000 were malt liquors. The remainder were imported beverages. The retail dealers who took out twenty-five dollar Government licenses paid nearly $4,000,000 into the United States Treasury, besides all the money they paid into the treasuries of cities, towns and villages where they transacted business, and the Government had on its books the names of 166,000 wholesale and retail dealers. The average amount consumed by each man, woman and child in the land that year, was over a gallon and a half. Leaving out the women and children—though according to the doctors the former do more than their share of drinking—the number of male wine-bibbers in the country and the amount of spirituous liquors it requires to irritate the nation's esophagus in the course of a single year are appalling; especially when five-sevenths of the liquor drunk is whisky. At our present rate of consumption we shall soon be abreast of Great Britain as a nation of topers.—Syracuse, N. Y., Standard.

One of the saddest sights in the world is to see a young man who has signed the pledge and identified himself with the temperance work, go back to his cups. The bad habit which a man may have been many years in acquiring cannot be overcome without an effort—and the effort must be a strong one. If such young men would but stop and consider what they have to gain by drinking habits, and what they must certainly lose if they persist in them, they would fight their appetites to the very death. Young man, you may love drink; but do you not love your character better? You may love drink; but you have a work to perform, and if you give in to liquor you cannot accomplish it. You may love drink; but would you sacrifice a mother's, a sister's or a sweetheart's love for this cursed stuff. When an hour of weakness comes—when the liquid poison is placed before you—only think for one moment of what you must certainly lose if you do not resist the temptation. If you have the unenviable experience of a drinking man, you can easily sum up the losses on one side of the scales and the gains on the other. Remember that to be tempted is no sin—to overcome temptation is nobility itself, and every time you conquer this devil which lurks in the bosom of a person striving to overcome sin, you will gain new strength and be better prepared for the next battle, and your enemy is in a weaker condition.—Banner.

In England, where the theory and practice of total abstinence have always been scoffed at by the cultivated majority, the awful prevalence of drunkenness is leading to the formation of public sentiment against drinking as strong as any that ever existed in this country. The clergy have hitherto maintained drinking practices, but now many of the ministers of the established as well as of the dissenting bodies, with a large section of the medical profession and distinguished men from every walk in life have united in a vigorous movement for the suppression of drunkenness. Canon Farrar, in a sermon preached a few Sundays since in Westminster Abbey, "declared alcoholic drinking and drunkenness to be the one glaring, disgraceful and perilous national vice by which the nation stands unenviably distinguished and seriously endangered." So strong a feeling of the evils of drunkenness as that which now prevails in respectable circles in England naturally leads to the adoption of the Christian rule of total abstinence. It does not require the imposition of total abstinence upon others as a rule; it only leads a man to say "Because this evil is so great, and because I wish to save those who are ruining themselves by drink, and because I cannot very effectively urge them to abstain without abstaining myself, I therefore relinquish a luxury which I have not abused and to which I deem myself entitled, that I may the more successfully persuade those to abandon it to whom it is proving a curse." It begins to be evident in England that this course of conduct is something very different from fanaticism, and the same truth ought to be equally evident on this side the ocean.—Editor's Table in Sunday Afternoon.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A MAN who has no enemies is seldom good for anything. He is made of that kind of material which is so easily worked that every one tries a hand in it. A sterling character—one who speaks for himself and speaks what he thinks—is always sure to have enemies. They are as necessary to him as fresh air. They keep him alive and active. A celebrated person who was surrounded by enemies, used to say: "They are sparks which, if you do not blow them, go out of themselves." Let this be your feeling while endeavoring to live down the scandal of those who are bitter against you. If you stop to dispute you do but as they desire, and open the way for more abuse. Let the poor fellows talk. There will be a reaction, if you do but perform your duty; and hundreds, who were once alienated from you, will flock to you and acknowledge their error.

GIRLS' heads are better educated than their hands nowadays. Nearly every young woman who marries aspires to "keep a girl;" and a large proportion of them are compelled to do so from lack of housekeeping knowledge. The "keeping a girl" renders impracticable the intelligent economy which produces comfort with small means, and is in many ways an evil in a small household, and especially with a young couple just commencing life. We do not say that the old-fashioned plan was as a whole better than the present. But it is evident that no small part of the education given girls in the present highly-developed schools is utterly useless to the great number who are to become the wives of men compelled to work hard for subsistence, and who need the co-operation of intelligent, prudent and economical housewives, instead of the company of highly-trained school-teachers. This is a question of home reform.

WORK seldom kills. Drones and grumblers have the hardest time. Sloth, gormandizing, and worry kill their thousands, where over-study harms one. The curse of Heaven rests on laziness and gluttony. By the very constitution of our being they are fitted to beget that torpor and despondency which chill the blood, deaden the nerves, enfeeble the muscles, and derange the whole vital machinery. Fretting, fidgeting, ennui, and anxiety are among the most common causes of disease. On the other hand, high aspiration and enthusiasm help digestion and respiration, and send an increased supply of vital energy to all parts of the body. Courage and work invigorate the whole system, and lift one into a purer atmosphere, above the reach of contagion. The lazy groan most over their "arduous duties," while earnest workers talk little about the exhausting labors of their profession. Of all creatures, the slothful would seem to be the most worried and worn.

THE genuine man of business must combine in his character many excellent and rare qualities. He must have in high degree that virtue which men have always found the least pleasant of virtues—prudence. His prudence, however, will not be merely of a cautious and quiescent order, but that which, being ever actively engaged, is more fitly called discretion than prudence. Such a man must have an almost ignominious love of details, blended (and this is a rare combination) with a high power of imagination, enabling him to look along long extended lines of possible action, and put these details in their right place. He requires a great knowledge of character, with that exquisite tact which feels unerringly the right moment when to act. A discreet rapidity must pervade all the movements of his thought and action. He must be singularly free from vanity, and is generally found to be an enthusiast who has the art to conceal his enthusiasm. The consummate business man is a rare character.

WHAT do people not quarrel about? Is there anything that has not been the germ of a "row?" Nothing under the sun, we believe, from a broiled steak to a new baby's name; from the plate upon the area-gate to the bricks on the chimney top. Upon earth there is nothing so easy to find as a quarrel, and a good reason for it. Money is a fruitful topic; but love, the sweetest thing we know of, has been oftener fought over. Principles and feelings; things that have been done, and things that have been left undone; things that have been said and that have been written; what your grandfather did, and what your grandmother wrote in her will; art, music and literature; the politics of one's country, and even the Christian religion—a fact which would amaze a learned heathen, who would believe its disciples to be very peaceful men—all these are fruitful sources of strife. Surely, one would think there were subjects enough to quarrel over, if it were necessary to quarrel at all. But we heard, the other day, of two members of the same family who did not know it and took the trouble of hunting up a word in the dictionary to base a feud upon. They have not spoken to each other for many years, because one of them emphasized the middle syllable, and the other the last; and they pretend that the quarrel was about the word, "Humph!" They wanted to quarrel; and it is generally that very thing which causes a quarrel.

A Good Mess for a Milch Cow.

A writer who says that one good cow gives all the milk needed in a family of eight persons, and from which was made two hundred and sixty pounds of butter last year, gives the following as his treatment:—"If you desire to get a large yield of rich milk, give your cow every day water slightly warm and slightly salted, in which bran has been stirred at the rate of one quart to two gallons of water. You will find if you have not tried this daily practice, that your cow will give twenty-five per centum more immediately under the effects of it, and she will become so attached to it that she will refuse to drink clear water unless very thirsty; but this mess she will drink most any time and ask for more. The amount of drink is an ordinary water-pail full each time, morning, noon and night."—Southern Farm.

Morning Work.

A bad custom is prevalent in many families, especially among farmers, of working an hour before breakfast, attending to "chores," hoeing the garden, cutting wood, mowing, etc. This is convenient on many accounts, but is not conducive to health. The prevalent opinion is that the morning air is the purest and most healthful and bracing; but the contrary is the fact. At no hour of the day is the air more filled with dampness, fogs, and miasmas than about sunrise. The heat of the sun gradually dissipates these miasmatic influences as the day advances. An early meal braces up the system against these influences. Every one knows the languor and faintness often experienced for the first hour in the morning, and this is increased by exercise and want of food. We do not agree with the boarding-school regime, which prescribed a long walk before breakfast as a means of promoting health. Probably the best custom would be to furnish every member of the family, especially those who labor out of doors, a cup of coffee immediately after rising from bed.—Exchange.

In this Present Age, when the life-battle is so fiercely fought, and when upon even the strongest the tug and stress of it tell so heavily, how necessary it becomes for us to provide for the keeping up of our reserve stock of mental and physical stamina by the use of such a nerve-tonic and vitalizing agent as Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime! Its gently stimulating and nutritive-tonic properties supply the materials, and assist Nature in her efforts to keep up with the exhaustive demands upon her reserves.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N.B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

EPPS' COCOA.

GRATEFUL and COMFORTING.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine proportions of well-selected Cocoa Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

DICK'S
CELEBRATED MEDICINES!

DICK'S
BLOOD PURIFIER,

Has no equal in putting Horses and Cattle in

FIRST-RATE CONDITION.

It will loosen the hide, and enable the animal to cast its hair freely, imparting

NEW LIFE AND SPIRITS,

making an old horse look and feel like a young one, thereby increasing their market value

A HUNDRED PER CENT.

It is also an unfailing eradicator of worms. To guard against the danger of over-dosing, it is divided into carefully weighed doses, each box containing six doses. Unlike our other preparations, this can only be used for horses and cattle. The directions should be carefully followed out.

The above infallible remedy can be had from any storekeeper at 50c a box, or a sample box will be sent, post-paid, by the undersigned on receipt of 75c to any part of the country.

DICK'S BLISTER

Is the best that has ever yet been used. Horses do not bite at it, as it causes little or no irritation, and will not blemish the part affected. Price 25c per pot.

The following is an extract from a letter of Mr. Thomas McLeay, a well known horse dealer:—

"I also had a horse that got badly sprained in the knee; he was so bad I had the advice of two veterinary surgeons, each gave me a different opinion, but none of them did any good. At last, one of them told me to try Dick's Blister, which I did, and the result was that, in less than ten days, I was driving him as well as ever, and there was no blemish whatever after which I can confidently recommend it."

DICK'S LINIMENT
FOR MAN AND BEAST,

will be found superior to any gargling oil for Bruises, Strains, Cuts or Swellings. It is also for Rheumatism. Sore Throats are cured at once by its use as will be freely attested to by hundreds who have had reason to be thankful for its speedy and effectual relief. Price 25c, or in large bottles, 50c.

AN UNFAILING REMEDY

DICK'S HEALING OINTMENT
FOR MAN AND BEAST

Is unsurpassed for Saddle Galls, Sores, or Flesh Wounds of any kind, occurring on man or beast. Price 25c

Read what well-known and responsible gentlemen say about it in the following extracts from their letters:—

"I am glad to be in a position to inform you that I used part of a pot of your Healing Ointment on a sore of long standing on one of my horses, the cure being effected in three days. Perhaps this was partly owing to my having given it a week or so previous the Purifier, at all events the sores are not only perfectly healed but the horse is feeling good and 100 per cent. better than he was."
Yours truly,
T. J. HOWARD.

The foregoing medicines are offered to the public after many years' experience in private practice, and it affords the proprietors no small pleasure to know that every one of the numerous letters they have received on the subject, has been full of praise of the almost unexpected curative powers of our preparations, and have pronounced them to be [without doubt superior] to any in the Market.
