

Land-locked Westmount produces Olympic sailing hopeful

By ANDY DODGE

Westmounters may have to look all the way to Kingston, Ontario, to find a favorite son competing in the 1976 Summer Olympics come July.

Sailor Peter Hall, 46 Summit Circle, is being touted as the only resident of this land-locked community to be a potential Olympic competitor. He is now considered Canada's third best sailor in the Soling class, involving the largest sailboats competing in the summer games.

The 26-year-old law student is now in Annapolis, Maryland, rigging up a new boat which he will break in there and in Zenda, Wisconsin before races in Sarnia and Kingston leading up to the Olympics. Having finished his bar exams last Thursday, he was in town only on Friday before leaving for warmer waters to begin his intensive pre-Olympic program.

Former Westmounter on crew

Mr. Hall and his crew, which includes former Westmounter Phil Kerrigan, also 26, and 21-year-old John Clouston of Beaconsfield, moved into the international racing world only last year after they purchased a six-year-old Soling (a 27-foot-keel boat) and began sailing with the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, where both Mr. Hall and Mr. Kerrigan are members.

They immediately entered the North American Championships and placed fifth overall, third among Canadian boats. Later they sailed at the Canadian Open Regatta at Kingston (CORK), again placing third among Canadians in the 58-boat race, though finishing only 25th against competitors from around the world.

The sailors' goal for the next two months is to improve enough to

Presbyterians sell to Serbians:

Melville remains church

Appeal deadline tomorrow

Appeals of the sharply-increased 1976 property valuation figures must be in the hands of the city clerk by tomorrow (Friday) in order to have any chance of being considered by the board of revision.

Postmarks have no standing, City Clerk Ronald B. Seaman reminds citizens; he will turn over any appeals received later than this week to the board of revision, but he expects that board will not act upon them.

By Tuesday morning some 180

A man wearing a green jacket, described as being in his 30s reached into the Tupper Parking Lot shed, grabbed $20, then ran off, last Thursday at 8:11 pm.

Melville Church, last remaining home of the once dominant but now dwindled Presbyterians of Westmount, has been assured continuance as a place of worship and as a familiar local landmark.

It was learned yesterday from a source close to the congregation that the church body has accepted an offer of $185,000 from a group of Serbian Orthodox to purchase the property.

No details such as timing were available.

The Presbyterians last year had negotiated an agreement with The Rotary Club of Westmount by which the red-brick building and its adjoining manse was under option for purchase at $160,000. The site was to be cleared to make way for the construction of a Rotary-sponsored senior citizens' residence.

Rotary officials, who learned of the new development yesterday, declined to comment until the situation could be examined by its special project committee, which has been planning the seniors' home for some time as a

"Hi, Ace Termite Exterminators at your service!"

THE FINAL DAYS: Beginning Saturday dogs will no longer be able to romp at will in Westmount's parks, with the imposition of a year-round leash law and heavy penalties for having dogs off their leashes. Citizens should remember that it will also become illegal to leave dog feces on public or private lawns or property without permission. On the brighter side for dog-owners, nine district areas of city parkland will be opened for dogs to run freely between 9 pm and 8 am during summer months, and 6 pm and 8 am next winter. Dog licenses are available at city hall, costing $10 along with proof the dog has been vaccinated for rabies within the last 12 months.

Police, education are speech topics at WMA annual

Two topics for foremost local concern, police and schooling, are to be dealt with by the guest speakers at Tuesday evening's annual general meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association.

The session, which also will feature a financial report; the report of the president, Dr. Sylvia Cruess, and the elections of the association for the forthcoming year, is scheduled to commence at 8 pm in Victoria Hall.

Any interested citizen is welcome but only paid-up members may vote.

Chief Inspector Philip Young, who heads the uniformed branch of the Montreal Urban Community police, is to speak of police problems and will be prepared to answer questions from the audience.

He is to be introduced by Inspector Jean Bernard, commanding officer of Westmount's Station 30, in his first such formal appearance since his appointment here.

And Mrs. Joan Rothman, who represents Westmount as a commissioner on the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, is to speak on the school in the community.

In the elections, the officers, directors and members of the advisory council, who perform the on-going work of the WMA during the year, are to be chosen by nomination and, if need be, ballot.

Speaks up

A witness told the owner of a Westmount home last Saturday that someone had broken into the house the previous weekend, between April 17 and 20, entering by breaking a window in the kitchen door. The thieves had stolen $4 cash and two gold rings worth about $150.

$3,400 taken from flat

Some $3,400 worth of goods, including a television, two bicycles and jewelry, were stolen from a west-end de Maisonneuve boulevard apartment between 3:15 and 10 pm Sunday. Thieves entered the premises by forcing open a rear door.

Commencing mild and quite pleasant, though cool and windy some mornings May will be a little warmer and drier than usual. This week and the next we will have sudden changes with samples of all kinds of weather: wet mists, spotting rain, snow flurries, freezing drizzle, hail, flooded underpasses and warm sunny intervals.

For the middle of this week, gusty winds and thunder activity, but always clearing for noon. Only 30 to 35 hours of sunshine, with temperature jumps from -5 nights to 18 above some days. For northern and Gulf counties killing frosts with nights as low as -8 and 12 above some days. Clouding during the weekend for widespread storms.

City has little control over local sandblasting

Sandblasting—a time-honored method of cleaning dirt and chipped paint off buildings—is done in Westmount under the auspices of the Montreal Urban Community Air Pollution Control Department, another example of the lack of city control over a relatively local matter.

This fact became known last week when workers resumed (from last fall) cleaning the walls of the 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard apartment complex, failing to use enough water in the process and spreading fine particles of dust and sand throughout the surrounding neighborhood. Citizens phoned city hall and were told that Westmount had no jurisdiction in the matter, but would contact MUC inspectors to have the situation righted.

City officials later told The Examiner that they would, in instances such as this, talk to the company doing the sandblasting and try to convince them to use the proper amount of water. They would contact the MUC as soon as they received complaints from citizens, to ensure that any infractions were enforced properly.

At one time Westmount did have by-laws covering sandblasting, but these were apparently rescinded with the advent of the MUC air pollution control department. Noise control—and there have been some complaints about noise, though nothing serious—is still a city matter, however.

Citizens living in the area have said that it was impossible, last week, to sit outside. The dust left a fine white film on everything, and even coated cups of coffee or other drinks.

This week's rain has helped matters considerably, despite the fact that workers are now cleaning the Old Westmount Post Office, only two blocks away from "The 4300."

Lt.-Col. Draper was Citadel commander

A private funeral service was held Monday for Lt.-Col. W. H. Draper, VD, who died Friday at age 86.

The resident of 418 Claremont avenue was a distinguished veteran of both World Wars, rising in 1942 to the post of commander of the Quebec Citadel.

Lt.-Col. Draper was born in St. Thomas, Ont., and received his education in Montreal and at Westmount Academy. He joined the military in 1913 as a lieutenant with the Eighth Rifles of Canada and in August 1914 went overseas with the 14th Battalion, Royal Montreal Regiment, 1st Division.

He returned in 1916 as a captain and in 1920 he helped the reorganization of the old Eighth Rifles in Quebec which became the Royal Rifles of Canada. He was named officer commanding that unit in 1929 with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

In October 1941 he was appointed commanding officer of the Provost Corps in Quebec, a post he continued to hold after assuming command of the Citadel in January, 1942. Before his retirement ten years ago he was commandant of the Corps of Commissionaires.

Lt.-Col. Draper is survived by his two daughters, Mrs. George Chapman, 4781 Sherbrooke street west, and Mrs. Patricia Marchessault of Quebec City.

NEW LOOK FOR OLD POST OFFICE: First visible exterior signs of the refurbishing of the old Westmount post office at Greene avenue and de Maisonneuve boulevard appeared this week when a crew from Westlake Pressure Cleaning Systems began sandblasting the exterior of the venerable but grimy structure, being converted to boutiques and offices. By mid-day yesterday, approximately half of the Greene frontage had been cleaned and this is how it looked, still damp from being hosed and by the rain.

major undertaking for the local service club. Melville Church had been the prime choice from among several alternative locations for the facility for which an urgent demand was demonstrated in a LIP-sponsored survey by Rotary of Westmount two years ago.

Only Tuesday evening, the Rotary Club was represented at a meeting sponsored by the Westmount Municipal Association of various groups with an interest in older citizens.

Weredale House has been mentioned as another location for a possible seniors' residence locally when, as it appears may happen, the boys housed in the Weredale Park building are dispersed in individual group homes. The provincial government, which holds a major mortgage on the Weredale property, is believed to favor a seniors' residence under private sponsorship.

Morning's work

An employee of a west-end Sherbrooke street office building left her purse under her desk as she went about her business last Thursday morning. When she came to pick up the purse at noon, she discovered that someone had stolen her wallet during the previous four hours. The wallet had contained $60 cash, various credit cards and personal papers.

Woman, 79, hit by car; breaks hip

A woman crossing Sherbrooke street at Metcalfe avenue last Thursday at 9:45 am was knocked down by a left-turning auto, fracturing her hip.

Mrs. Sylvia Bernfeld, 79, of Montreal, was reportedly on her way to the Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue when she was struck by a 1966 Chrysler being driven by 29-year-old Jules Desjardins Jr., also of Montreal. Mr. Desjardins claims he was following behind a truck, turning to go west at the corner, and did not see the woman crossing the street.

Mrs. Bernfeld was taken to the Reddy Memorial Hospital by police ambulance and admitted for treatment of her broken hip. Mr. Desjardins was charged by police for failing to yield to a pedestrian, charges he was scheduled to answer last evening at Westmount municipal court.

Alert citizen causes arrest of youth

A sharp-eyed resident of Grosvenor avenue noticed a youth leaving a neighbor's house at 4:41 pm last Wednesday, a house whose residents were away at the time. Police were notified immediately, and soon afterwards Csts. J. Westlake and M. Boileau arrested a suspect nearby, who had with him some articles belonging to the house.

The thief had apparently broken into the house through a basement window, using a garden shovel to break it open. Some $300 worth of goods, including jewelry and foreign money, was reportedly stolen from the house, but has since been recovered.

Arrest of the juvenile has cleared five cases of armed robbery in the Montreal area, in which he allegedly used an air pistol to hold up victims. No other break-and-entries around Westmount were cleared, however.

Zone notices at council

City council's statutory May meeting, scheduled for Monday night at 8 pm, will include three notices of motion involving the eastern-Westmount commercial area.

A notice to change zoning of the area between Dorchester boulevard and St. Catherine street, just west of the Royal Bank data centre, will be offered, as will another notice to change the zoning on the south side of St. Catherine street east of Gladstone avenue. The third notice will involve changes in the building line by-law for the south

Whither private schools?

PRIVATE schools, with which Westmount happily abounds, face trouble.

The Island School Council, made up of the public (and perhaps jealous) school boards and commissions, has before it a study urging closer ministry of education control of the free-enterprise institutions.

Which normally would be a consequence, probably requiring no urging of Quebec, of the private schools accepting more and more in the way of generous provincial grants of public funds.

Such grants are justified by their apologists on the grounds that youngsters in private schools save the public exchequer capital and operating costs in the public school system—in principle a valid argument, but very likely to be found marginal if, for example, the private students were to be thrust into neighborhood classrooms. So vast is the public educational plant and establishment that their presence and their additional cost probably would go barely noticed in the overall, even if acute problems certainly would be created in some particular localities such as, again, Westmount.

It is unlikely that the island council's proposal would make much headway with the present government, many of whose ministers have been shown by astute journalistic digging to be keen patrons of private schools for their own children. With the honorable gentlemen's inside knowledge of the provincial public school system, it is hard to imagine them embracing government interference with their own kids' futures!

The council is reported to have an alternative recommendation, which would give local school boards and commissions the freedom to experiment with private-type parallel systems of education themselves.

That idea is wishful, too. The members of the council cannot seriously believe that the propensities of the Quebec civil service to centralize and control everything in sight—which lost local school boards and commissions their autonomy and discretion in the first place—easily can be reversed.

The private schools should not bask in the comfort of a cabinet personally sympathetic and supportive.

A change of government—a real possibility given the ineptitude of the Liberals in education and other directions—could bring in a ministry at Quebec which, if it didn't abolish private schools and specially English ones, could find ample grounds to cut off the flow of public funds and require them to go it alone.

Acceptance of government subsidy by any private institution, whatever the pretext, always presupposes conditions which rarely, in the end, prove beneficial.

The case for a bicycle by-law

LETTERS on these pages in the past fortnight have raised questions concerning bicycles—their licensing, safety on the streets, the ending of the Sunday bicycle route and, most seriously, injuries to pedestrians struck by vehicles ridden on sidewalks.

In addition, we have had drawn to our attention the growing menace of youngsters riding skate boards—which, like wagons and scooters, appear to be regarded as toys rather than vehicles though capable of causing serious injury to both user and anyone getting in their way.

(We know whereof we speak, from vivid memories of our own Westmount childhood when the hills of Westmount proved most tempting and inviting and near-misses of adults as we whizzed past made for excited talk after hair-raising runs.)

As old as is the problem, it is startling to discover that little has been achieved in bringing it under control. Local by-laws have little to say and offer even less that can be done.

The bicycle licenses, for instance, are enabled under the general permits by-law. Infractions of traffic by-laws by bicycles pose the problem that proceedings against most riders, over 90 percent of whom are juveniles, must be taken by police through Social Welfare Court—a time-consuming drill amounting to overkill insofar as officers' time is concerned.

An idea for city council, should they care to listen to conscientious and concerned constables, would be a bicycle by-law which embraced skate-boards and similar devices and which spelled out infractions and penalties and enabled the issuance of tickets specially designed for the purpose to youngsters and/or their parents.

As one policeman put it to us: it wouldn't take long to end disregard for traffic lights or riding on sidewalks with impunity once a few youngsters had forfeited their weekly allowances for a week or two to pay for a ticket.

As it is now, police hands in effect are tied. Which shouldn't be.

Permanent bike path for de Maisonneuve

(A copy of the following letter has been sent to The Examiner:)

The Mayor & Council,
City of Westmount,
City Hall,
Sherbrooke Street,
Westmount, P.Q.
Gentlemen:

We were delighted to see in last week's Westmount Examiner the official promulgation of By-law 809 to close de Maisonneuve at the Park, for which we thank you wholeheartedly.

We also noted, however, the ominous news of six bicycle accidents in the City during a single week.

Obviously the rules of the road need to be better observed, but this is not enough. If we are to improve the level of safety in Westmount, preventive measures should be seriously considered, before accidents occur. Danger is particularly high where there are bus routes, since there is direct competition between bike and bus for the curbside lane. With bus drivers continually overtaking bicycles, (and sometimes inadvertently cutting them off) in order to stay on schedule, these are not conditions for the young novice.

Novice or not, the law-abiding cyclist travelling east through lower Westmount must use either Sherbrooke or St. Catherine street. Fortunately, By-law 809 may provide a solution. The closing at the Park has, as intended, much reduced the de Maisonneuve traffic load—by two and a half times, according to available "design-hour" figures.

This would suggest that the present traffic could well be accommodated on the northern lane alone, thereby freeing the southern lane for use as a two-way cycle path. As no parking is allowed on the south side, the potentially dangerous mix of bikes and parked cars is avoided. The only likely "inconvenience" to the motorist is that he may have to travel closer to the posted speed limit than is usual at this time.

By an adjustment to the barrier at Melville, the cycle path already may be opened through the Park greatly facilitating the use of bicycles by the tennis players and swimmers. Eventually, when St. Catherine is re-opened, the cycle path could be extended along de Maisonneuve as far as Claremont. To the east, the path should go as far as Greene, to encourage local shoppers to cycle, leaving the limited number of parking spaces to those living a greater distance.

De Maisonneuve east of Greene has few access points on the south side, and there should be no difficulty in adjusting the right-of-way to channel the driver continuing west into the northern lane. (The area thus saved can be landscaped, and/or used as a cycle park.)

All this could be carried out quickly and easily, with negligible expense to the taxpayer. The added safety and convenience to the growing number of cyclists (specially the younger ones) and to car and bus drivers alike should commend its early consideration by the Council.

Yours sincerely

Editorial Notes

THERE's always titillation in the bundles of press releases regularly crossing our desk—mostly en route to the waste basket—from the government machine in Quebec. This week we were startled by a copy of a National Assembly item labelled "Bill 22." Not again! Well, the same old numbers start over again for the measures of each session. This one isn't another language act; but maybe it is potentially as worrisome: it increases the government's financial contribution in Sidbec by $107 millions and extends the government's guarantee of loans to the industrial complex to $120 millions. . . Also in the same package, a brief Bill 8 which says simply that "A minor 16 years of age may be a member of a professional syndicate." An explanatory note goes on to say: "This bill repeals the husband's right to oppose his spouse's joining a professional association." Up the youth and women's lib movements. . .

THE tenacity and fervor of the so-called "gun lobby" never ceases to amaze us. The Winchester arms people have weighed in this week with one of their periodic pieces on the U.S. situation vis-à-vis controls. By the same mail, an outfit called "FARO" (Firearms and Responsible Ownership Inc.) sent us from Toronto a warning that the poor old farmer is going to be victimized by the new peace and security legislation now before Parliament. Several farmers we know, far from feeling oppressed by tighter rules as they may apply to themselves, will be pleased and relieved at the prospect that hordes of hunters, the outright irresponsible among them, may be checked in their propensity for invading private property, breaking down fences, shooting farm animals and the occasional human. The rules, outlined obligingly by FARO, make eminent good sense to us.

Capital punishment and the Crucifixion

THE incisive drawing on our church page last week by Mr. Harry Mayerovitch, from a collection in preparation for a forthcoming book, has brought forth considerable comment from and discussion with readers.

To most, including this editor, it was the ultimate commentary on the current continuing debate on the retention or abolition of capital punishment.

(To two persons, who at first glance mistook it for a cartoon and therefore in the poorest taste—they apparently had not readily comprehended the cutlines beneath—we apologize for the shock and dismay they initially felt.)

Mr. Mayerovitch, a Jew, has given Christians and others something to think about deeply. Just what would Christ have to say about capital punishment?

A world which would have saved Jesus from the Cross 2,000 years ago, or today, would have to be a more perfect world. It would be a world where the commandment "Thou shalt not kill" was obeyed; indeed, where there were no sin. It would require no punishments, capital or otherwise.

It would have required no Crucifixion, the Son of God dying for the sins of the world.

The fact is, it remains an imperfect world. We all need a personal route to salvation, whenever we come to recognize that fact. For Christians, it is through the Cross.

Mr. Mayerovitch helps us all to search our consciences on retention or abolition. He does not offer an answer. Only a conundrum. He makes us think.

Christ offers comfort to both sides. Only we, or our parliamentarians, together can decide.

parked in front of my home for over four hours—not an altogether unreasonable amount of time to be in one's home.

In my line of work I often leave the house early in the morning, return about noon, not to go out again 'til after supper. If I were to park my car in the driveway, then move it to allow my husband to park, and then start the car again to go out later, it seems to me to be using a tremendous amount of fuel and energy at a time when we are being asked to conserve wherever possible.

It also strikes me as more realistic for the police to be enforcing the 20-mile speed limit on Cote St. Antoine road rather than using so many stop signs, which again result in unnecessary consumption of fuel use.

I feel that the time has come when such outdated laws must be amended to enable our police force to use their valuable time directing traffic rather than checking on how long and where cars are parked on residential streets.

Yours truly,

Tel-Aide still seeks night-time volunteers

Sir: Thank you very much for the space you gave to our appeal for volunteers. The response has been most gratifying.

Tel-Aide being a crisis intervention centre, it follows that it is when other agencies are closed and professional healers are out of reach that people turn to us in their time of need.

Our greatest need (in addition to funding is to have our four lines fully staffed on the night shift (11:30 pm to 7:30 am), and we would specially welcome applications from men and women who can work those hours at least once a fortnight Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday. There are openings for both English and French-speaking volunteers. Training sessions are held periodically, and volunteers may enrol at their convenience.

Interested persons may phone 935-1105 or write to Tel-Aide, P.O. Box 437, Westmount H3Z 2T5.

Lansdowne crossing solution offered

Sir: As a former chairman of the WMA's traffic committee, I was intrigued by the puzzle presented on the front page of your April 22 issue—how to provide for a pedestrian crossing from the northeast to the southeast corner of Lansdowne and Sherbrooke.

The solution, as I am sure many of your readers saw right away, is to prohibit right turns by Lansdowne north-bound traffic in phase 3 (the top left quadrant of your diagram), thus permitting a north-south pedestrian crossing on the west of the intersection undisturbed by vehicular traffic.

North-bound traffic can be permitted to turn right in phase 1 (bottom left quadrant) or phase 4 (bottom right quadrant) without creating any new problem.

Pedestrians almost certainly will attempt to make the crossing unprovided for, whether or not the system allows it. It is rather important, therefore, that they should be permitted to do so in safety.

"From the Betty Speirs-Peter Miller Dance Studios, comes the announcement that all is in readiness for the annual recital. As in other years, the main theme will be built around the children's classes, with an abundance of new scenic and lighting effects to support the children in their efforts. As is generally known, proceeds of this year's show will go directly to a worthy cause, the supplying of the canteen and recreation hut for our sailors at the dockyard in Halifax."

"There has been deposited in the Westmount Public Library, the War Service Roll, containing the names of the citizens and employees of the City of Westmount, as well as those resident in Westmount for the greater part of their lives, who were on active service during the World War of 1939-1945, in His Majesty's forces, or in the forces of an allied country. This roll perpetuates, in more permanent form, the honor roll erected in Victoria Hall in the year 1944."

"This week sees the end of an institution when the Westmount Barber Shop at Elm and St. Catherine closes its doors and Harry Fitch and Harvey Meloche move their business out to Roxboro. 'We've been cutting hair in Westmount since 1927, first at Foss's for 12 years and then in our own place on St. Catherine street,' said Harry Fitch. 'I guess we've been into just about every home in Westmount to cut hair when one of our customers is sick.'"

"On the eve of a physical confrontation between Greene avenue residents who refuse to budge to make way for the Trans-Canada Highway and provincial officials who gave the residents until May 1 to get out, a breakthrough has been achieved. At a meeting between city officials, representatives of lower Westmount and Department of Highways' engineers yesterday, the roads' department agreed to study two alternatives to the Greene avenue ramp and granted a 15-day extension to their eviction notices."

Average 58 percent:

January markups high despite effect of new valuations

Real estate transfers in Westmount in January showed strong markups over the sharply increased 1976 assessments, a fact which may indicate more sharp rises in future tax valuations.

Volume was down from December, though it was well over the volume reported in January of 1975. Sale prices of residential property were nearly all more than 50 percent above the Montreal Urban Community valuation for this year and ranged up to more than twice the 1976 assessed value in the sale of 763 Upper Lansdowne avenue.

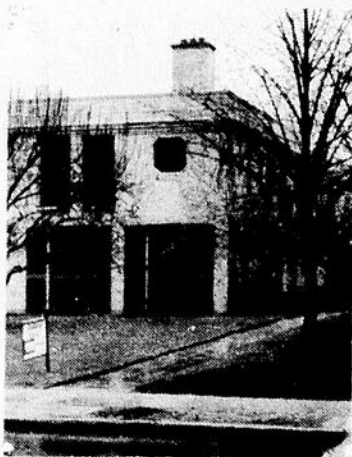

The average markup of 58 percent over valuation is, in fact, higher than the 43.5 percent average markup recorded last January, when one- and two-family dwellings were assessed far lower (an average of 30 percent less) than in 1976.

Apartments head list

Leading the list of transfers was the sale of 30 Stanton street, the large apartment building facing the Westmount Police station, for $742,500. Also sold, among non-residential properties, were two one-third shares of Downtown Datsun, Ltd., 4010-12 St. Catherine street west, for $170,000. With a $271,200 MUC valuation for the entire structure, the sale price represents a mark-down of 6 percent from two-thirds of that figure. The other non-residential sale was of a dentist's office at 4495 Sherbrooke street west.

Among one- and two-family dwellings, highest-priced sale was 19 Rosemount avenue, which went for $165,000, though the 23.6 percent markup over valuation was the lowest for all the residential properties.

Of the nine residential transfers for which sale price was recorded, a price tag of $881,532

19 Rosemount avenue
Highest residential, $165,000

was put on property having an MUC assessment of $557,850. The 58 percent markup over valuation could also be translated to mean that the assessed value of property represents 63.3 percent of the actual sale price of Westmount property.

Another priced-for-sale transfer involved the newly-constructed house at 557 Lansdowne avenue, which sold for $123,000. The Montreal Urban Community has not yet assessed the building, however, so though the land has an assessment of $13,150, no comparison of markup over valuation could be made. City sources indicate that the building will be taxed by the city, once the value of the building is assessed.

Other transfers in January include eight properties valued at $512,350 by the MUC, all of which sold for "a dollar and other considerations." Two more residences assessed at $115,700 changed hands through the estates of their deceased owners, and information was not available on six other properties which had a total tax value of $429,100.

In all, therefore, property with an assessment of $2,527,550 changed hands in 29 transfers during January, representing a strong start for the year in Westmount realty transfers.

WHS grad ceremony May 13

By VICTOR DONNAY
and ARTHUR HOLDEN

The week before Easter at Westmount High was shortened by student walkouts Wednesday and Thursday, and a holiday Friday. The students demonstrated to show their support for the teachers.

This week, students had a fuller schedule, as teachers reluctantly complied with Bill 23, and went back to work. How long they stay in school remains to be seen.

Grade eleven students are looking forward eagerly to the upcoming graduation ceremony and dance. At the ceremony, various dignitaries of Montreal's educational community will be on hand to preside over the presentation of diplomas. The ceremony will take place in the school auditorium on the evening of May 13.

The next evening the dance will be held at the Ritz Carlton Hotel. It promises to be a most enjoyable experience. A band named "Talk of the Town" will provide the music, and a movie will be screened privately for students after the dance. Congratulations to all grads!

Concert next Friday to aid St. Stephen's restoration fund

The Island City Singers and Instrumentalists are giving a benefit concert at St. Stephen's Church next Friday, May 7 at 8 pm, to help raise funds for the restoration of the church hall.

The concert, through which the congregation hopes to raise as much as $1,000 for the restoration fund, will include many periods and styles of music. The Island City Singers are well-known around Montreal for their performances in the name of various charities, including a concert of seasonal songs and readings at St. Andrew's United Church last December. They have also sung for such organizations as The Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, OXFAM-Canada, and the Montreal Oral School for the Deaf.

St. Stephen's Church hopes to raise as much as $30,000 in all, mainly to restore the south wall of the church hall which is badly in need of repair. Already some $5,500 has been raised for the restoration fund, and more pledges are being made on a regular basis.

East roof repaired

Since being spared from demolition last spring, energetic citizens and parishioners from the surrounding community have helped raise funds to repair the eastern roof of the building, to install emergency doors and exit signs in the church hall, and to repair stonework. They have also lent ample support to the church's new rector, Rev. Robin Guinness, in his new programs and methods of attracting members into the church. Attendance at Sunday morning worship has doubled in the past year alone, from about 35 to 70, and luncheons after the service are considered an important part of community life in the southeastern section of Westmount.

"We're proceeding very moderately," Mr. Guinness said of the improvements to the physical plant. "We don't do more than is absolutely necessary because most of our time is spent with people."

Other members of the parish point out, however, that the church hall cannot be used for many events in its present condition, despite the installation of doors and signs which city inspectors had demanded.

A community clean-up day, involving work on the inside and outside of the church building, is planned for this Saturday. The congregation is hoping to find capable volunteers to help

St. Andrew's to confirm 11 members

The Confirmation of eleven young people takes place at St. Andrew's Church this Sunday during the 11 am service. After 12 weeks of instruction under Rev. Harvey White, director of education, the following will be received into full membership: Gill Brodie, 600 Lansdowne avenue; Patricia Collier, 370 Roslyn avenue; Martha and Charles Hodgson, 488 Mountain avenue; Heather Hughes, 32 Forden avenue; Alan Kirker, 466 Mount Stephen avenue; Alexander Patch, 8 Douglas avenue; Diana Stevenson, 453 Mt. Stephen; John Bell, 3243 The Boulevard; David Canavan, and William Gilmour.

The sermon to be given by Rev. E. A. Kirker is titled "Welcome to the minority." A luncheon, hosted by members of the Session, will take place at noon in honor of the new members and their parents. They will also participate in their first Communion service.

Fifty members of the congregation attended last Saturday's meeting of the Church Administrative Board and participated in group discussions about the future of the church. Panelists were Isobel Bremner, 374 Roslyn avenue; Lorne Lindsay, 4329 Montrose avenue; Roswell James, Jr., 4998 de Maisonneuve boulevard, and Carla White. Representatives of Dominion Douglas and Westmount Park churches were in attendance. An informal Communion service, conducted by Rev. E. A. Kirker, concluded the event.

Plans are well advanced for the annual auction sponsored by the women of St. Andrew's. Announcement was made last Sunday that tickets for this event on Wednesday, May 12, are now available at the church office. The auctioneer will be W. N. Coburn, 4330 Sherbrooke street.

Next Tuesday St. Andrew's plays good neighbor to Selwyn House School in providing space for the local school's Contact '76 Day when students and teachers join with literary figures, historians, geographers and social scientists in an examination of the Canadian people.

plaster and paint the building during the summer.

Rectory renovated

The Sisters of St. Margaret, a small order of Anglican sisters, has taken over and renovated the church rectory for use as a small chapel and quiet room which are available as retreats. Most of the money for this renovation was raised separately from the St. Stephen's restoration fund. The three sisters work throughout the Montreal diocese, speaking to groups and working with retreat groups.

Most of the St. Stephen's parishioners are quite happy with the success of the newly-revived church and congregation, despite the enormity of the $30,000 restoration-fund goal. Tickets for next Friday's concert are $3. or $1.50 for students and senior citizens. They can be obtained at the St. Stephen's church office, corner Atwater avenue and Dorchester boulevard, or at the door of the church on the evening of the concert.

Westmounters prominent in H & S convention

Numerous Westmounters will be among those participating in the annual convention of the Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations (QFHSA) this weekend at the Hotel Bonaventure in Montreal.

Mrs. Elizabeth O'Connell, 55 Somerville avenue, president of the Federation, heads the list of Westmount residents participating in the two-day session which will be highlighted by a lunchtime speech by Jean Bienvenue, Quebec minister of education, on Saturday.

Speakers and workshops will be offered on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, and 13 resolutions will be put forward for debate on Friday morning and Saturday afternoon.

Dr. Richard F. Hamilton, 473 Argyle avenue, a professor of sociology at McGill University, will discuss "Learning for Tomorrow's World" in a panel discussion set for Saturday morning.

Later that morning another panel discussion will ask, "Is Teacher Training Up to Date?" The panel will be chaired by Mrs. Sally Hooff, 138 Abbott avenue, president of the Westmount Park School Home and School Association. One of the panel members is John Aimers, 10 Rosemount avenue, a teacher at Selwyn House School.

Another workshop, to be held concurrently, will examine "Basic Skills and Basic Needs," chaired by Mrs. Barbara Moore, 587 Lansdowne avenue, a member of the QFHSA Bilingualism Grants Committee. That discussion will be co-ordinated by Mrs. June Ellingsen, 6 Winchester avenue, curriculum chairman of the Federation.

Still another panel at that time, this one involving French immersion programs, will be co-ordinated by Mrs. Jean Aguayo, area director of the QFHSA and president of the Roslyn School Home and School Association.

Mrs. Aguayo, Mrs. Ellingsen and Mrs. Moore are all members of the QFHSA board of directors. Mrs. Aguayo is in charge of kits for the convention; Mrs. Ellingsen is in charge of hospitality, and Mrs. O'Connell has been handling information.

Scared off

A witness noticed a young boy on the roof of a Hillside avenue dwelling last Wednesday at 3 am, apparently trying to break in. The witness yelled, and the youth fled. Police have no description of the boy.

Young Tories annual meeting Wednesday

The Westmount Young Progressive Conservative Association is to hold its annual meeting next Wednesday at 8 pm in the Guild Room, St. Matthias' Church, on the corner of Church Hill and Cote St. Antoine road.

Following the Association's regular business, including the election of a new executive, a discussion period will ensue with a guest speaker, Ray Hnatyshyn, M.P. Mr. Hnatyshyn won the seat of Saskatoon-Biggar in the 1974 election from the popular NDP incumbent, Mr. Alf Gleave, and has already made a name for himself in the House where, despite his brief tenure, he was recently appointed Deputy House Leader for the Tories.

A lawyer, Mr. Hnatyshyn was also chairman of the credentials committee at the recent leadership convention, and made a major contribution to the convention's success. With his important role in the Tories' new team in Parliament, Mr. Hnatyshyn's comments on the current state of the party should be most interesting.

The past year has been an active and interesting one for the Association, highlighted by the leadership convention in February at which no fewer than 26 young Conservatives from the Westmount constituency participated, all the way from responsible positions in various candidates' leadership campaigns to being observers of the final day's tense balloting.

Information can be obtained from John Kellet (488-7052) or Craig Hannaford (937-2663).

Cadets benefits from simulator

The link trainer flight simulator of Westmount's No. 1 Air Cadet squadron has been with the squadron since its early days of operation. Through its many years of service, the link trainer has helped prepare countless cadets for their pilot training on real aircraft. For many cadets, the link has been a thrilling first-time flight experience.

The link trainer is a device which is being used increasingly for the purpose of training pilots in 'instrument flying' without leaving the ground. The trainer is capable of carrying out all the normal manoeuvres of an airplane with remarkable realism.

It consists of a fuselage with wings and tail unit mounted on a universal joint in such a manner as to permit movement in bank and pitch in excess of manoeuvres normally done on instruments.

The simulator is capable of simulating altitude, air speed, vertical speed and turns. Icing conditions can be simulated by gradually reducing indicated airspeed to nil. The unsteadiness of an airplane is reproduced by means of a 'rough air' device which simulates 'bumps' and stormy conditions.

The complete installation includes an instructor's desk, which houses the electrical apparatus and controls for producing radio signals and two-way voice communication.

Offices hit

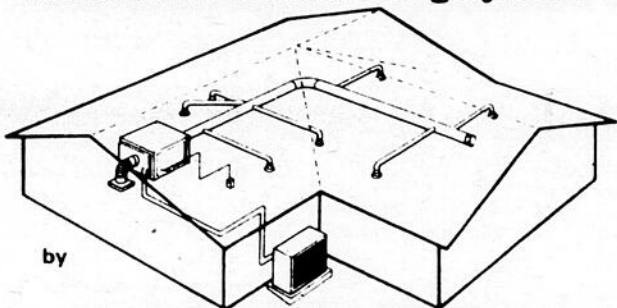

Two offices in a Richelieu street warehouse, located on Westmount's southern border, were broken into sometime between 4 pm last Wednesday and 7:30 am last Thursday. About $10 in coins was stolen from one office; police have yet to determine what was taken from the other. Entry was gained through a rear window.

CENTRAL AIR CONDITIONING
FOR HOT WATER OR
ELECTRICALLY HEATED HOMES

SPACE-PAK®
Central Air-Conditioning System

DUNHAM-BUSH

For any home, regardless of design or construction. Prefabricated flexible ducts small enough to be pulled between studs and around obstacles let homeowners enjoy the comforts of central air-conditioning even in homes heated electrically, or with hot water.

Major structural work avoided. Installation is virtually free from muck, dust and household disruption.

Sound-suppressing, draft-free, humidity-reducing, sensibly priced. SPACE-PAK® cools fast and dehumidifies better—removes as much as 25% more moisture than ordinary central systems. Result: Blissful comfort, no mugginess. Cool, dry air is mixed without drafts throughout each room. The Space-Pak system has sound-absorbing qualities that minimize noise.

System includes air-handling unit (capacity from 16,500 to 50,000 Btu/h), plenum, prefabricated supply and return ducts, air distribution outlet, outside condensing unit, refrigerant lines, and thermostat.

New workshops by Arts Centre

The Visual Arts Centre, 350 Victoria avenue, is embarking on a new series of workshops this spring involving various fields of arts and crafts.

The design series, in which six Montreal designers gave inspiring and informative views of their work and conception of design, has just been completed.

This weekend a Guatemalan weaving workshop will be given by textile artist Gabrielle Schmidt. Friday night, a free public slide and lecture about the backstrap weaving process will be held at the centre from 7 to 9 pm.

May 7 - 9, Margaret Wildenhaim, well known philosopher and ceramist, will be at the centre giving a public lecture on the first day, followed by a participation workshop in ceramics the next two days.

Norman Laliberté, graphic and textiles artist, will give a workshop in simple printing techniques on Saturday and Sunday, May 15 and 16. Laliberté is well known for his excellent methods of teaching.

HEADS LIBRARIANS: Mrs. Norah Bryant, chief librarian of the Westmount Public Library, was named president of the Quebec Library Association for 1976-77 at the annual conference of the association held last weekend in St. Marguerite. She succeeds Monique Lavole, chief librarian of Dawson College. Delegates at the conference heard a variety of speakers, including Miss Irene Aubrey, children's specialist of the National Library of Canada, who took her position there last year after seven years as children's librarian at the Westmount Public Library.

Named district sales manager

George M. McGinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. George McGinn, 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, has been appointed Boston district sales manager by the Celanese Chemical Company. Joining the firm as a sales trainee in 1966, Mr. McGinn and his wife and three children now live in Framingham, Mass.

There are now more active Air Cadet squadrons in Canada (379) than there were during the peak wartime year of 1944.

Items sought by Auxiliary

Donations are being sought from Westmount for a garage sale to be held May 15 by the Auxiliary of Douglas Hospital. The auxiliary will arrange prompt collection of donations which may include furniture and household goods of all kinds, garden equipment, games, sports equipment, books and other articles.

Some items will be used to furnish and equip auxiliary projects and others will be sold at the garage sale which is being held from 11 am to 5 pm at 6635 LaSalle boulevard.

To arrange pick-up of donations, call 481-3455, 481-6072 or 488-7456.

Memorial director

Miss Elinor G. Barnstead, 200 Kensington avenue, is among three new directors being put forward for election at the annual meeting of the Memorial Association of Montreal to be held Wednesday at 7:30 pm at Channing Hall, 3415 Simpson street. Guest speaker at the meeting will be Dr. Warren Bell of the family medical unit of the Queen Elizabeth Hospital who will speak on the medical aspects of death.

MAY DAY MARKET: On the Committee organizing the May Day Market of the Women's Guild of the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul are, left to right, Mrs. Eric C. Riordon, 646 Roslyn avenue; Mrs. Howard Blume, 375 Olivier avenue; Mrs. Colin A. Gravenor Jr., 428 Wood avenue; Miss Mildred Hewson of Montreal and Mrs. Donald N. Byers, 562 Grosvenor avenue. The market, being held to raise funds for projects such as Meals-on-Wheels, will be held in Kildonan Hall of the Church on May 6 and will feature a flower stall, book mart, toy shop, children's table, home baking counter and other booths selling hand-made and outdoor, summer articles. The two oil paintings shown above will also be sold.

beat consistently the top two boats in Canada (they have defeated them in individual races, but never in entire regattas, which involve series of races). Paul Henderson, a 40-year-old sailor from Toronto, and Glen Dexter, a young skipper from Halifax, pilot "the boats to beat" in Canada.

"The other two boats are doing it (sailing) on a far more professional and a far more expensive basis," Mr. Hall says with some disdain, noting that they have been sailing full-time throughout the winter. His own preoccupation with bar-exam studies during the past year, Mr. Kerrigan's employment with Air Canada in Toronto and Mr. Clouston's university studies have impeded their training program. From now until the Olympics, however, the three

Court work awaits weather

The unusually warm weather which preceded this week's rain was enough to open Westmount's Junior tennis courts in Westmount Park, but not enough to begin play on the clay courts or to begin work on hard-surfacing the courts in King George Park.

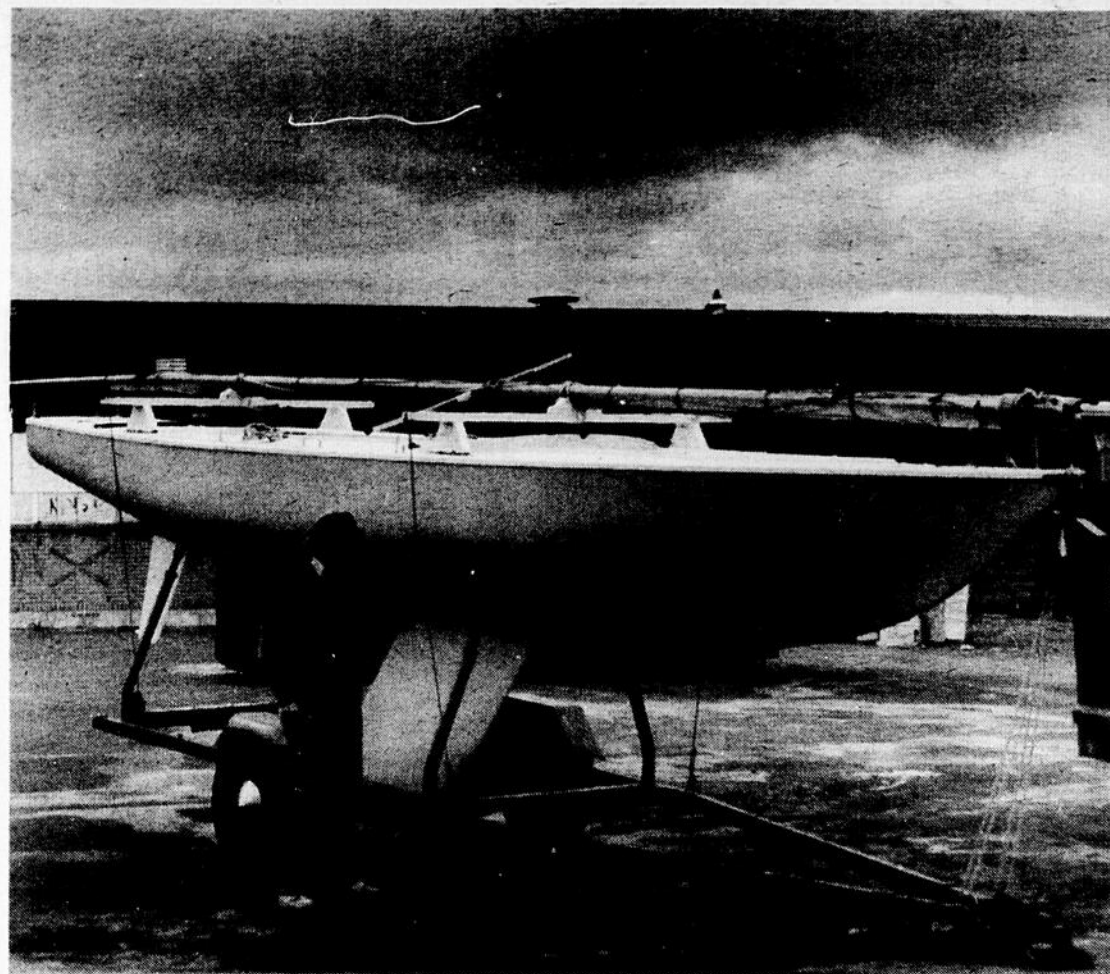

Public works crews and contractors expect to be able to hard-surface the King George courts within the next two weeks, once they can be assured of consistent temperatures in the 15-degree range to apply the new surface. The change was promised after citizen pressure last summer. Plans to hard-surface some of the Stayner Park courts met with citizen resistance, however, so those courts are scheduled to keep their clay surfaces.

Construction of new, hard-surface courts in the southern portion of the Westmount Athletic Grounds, behind Westmount High School, will have to wait for summertime temperatures, city sources have said, so they probably will not be built until mid-summer.

The opening of the clay courts, as is normal, will be effected as soon as officials can be assured that all of the frost has left the ground.

intend to train and to race all day everyday, supported by funding from Mission Quebec '76—the provincial sports organization—which will cover their travel, food and lodging.

The three amateurs feel they

Peter Hall, with his sailboat, in Pointe Claire last week.

can move up to become tops in Canada, a feat they must achieve by June 4 when the Olympic elimination races begin in Kingston. Each country will be entering just one boat in the international games, so there is little room for error for the Olympic hopefuls. The June 4 to 16 sailing regatta in Kingston will include seven races, with the best six counting.

Mr. Hall will be in town for a brief spell between now and the Olympics, for the Quebec Open Sailing Championships in late May. His other activities in the interim will include some time training with Buddy Melges, considered to be the top sailor in the world, in Wisconsin.

The son of a Danish sailor, Mr. Hall first rode in a boat when he was three weeks old and he has been sailing ever since. When his father moved to Westmount, the family took out membership at the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club and Mr. Hall has been racing since he was a teenager.

He began racing on a Flying Junior boat, graduated to a Dragon and came third in the CORK regatta in that boat in 1971. After that he and Mr. Kerrigan were crew for Ken Giles of Montreal in 1973 and 1974, finishing 20th the first year and 17th two years ago, before buying their own boat.

Since last summer, Mr. Hall has travelled some 12,000 miles around the continent with his boat and trailer, and another 8,000 miles by plane, including travels to Florida at Christmas, in February and twice in March. Mission Quebec '76 money has been funding his trips since November.

Strapped for funds

"Sailing's always been considered a rich person's leisure sport," Mr. Hall says, pointing out that he is now quite strapped for funds, though of course thankful for the help of the provincial athletic organization. "It's a lot more competitive, professional, time-consuming and demanding than anyone imagines."

Olympic fever and the joy of the race have bitten him, however.

"You can never race the ultimate race," he maintains. "You can always go faster. I just love doing it—I love going out there. The people you are sailing with are all great, and they're all very, very helpful."

"There's definitely something special about the Olympics," he adds, while pointing out that world championships are more open, more competitive races. "It's a special kind of feeling."

Win or lose, it's a feeling few of us ever get a chance to experience.

Bike rodeo May 15

TEST COURSE "A"
ADVANCED GROUP (10-13)

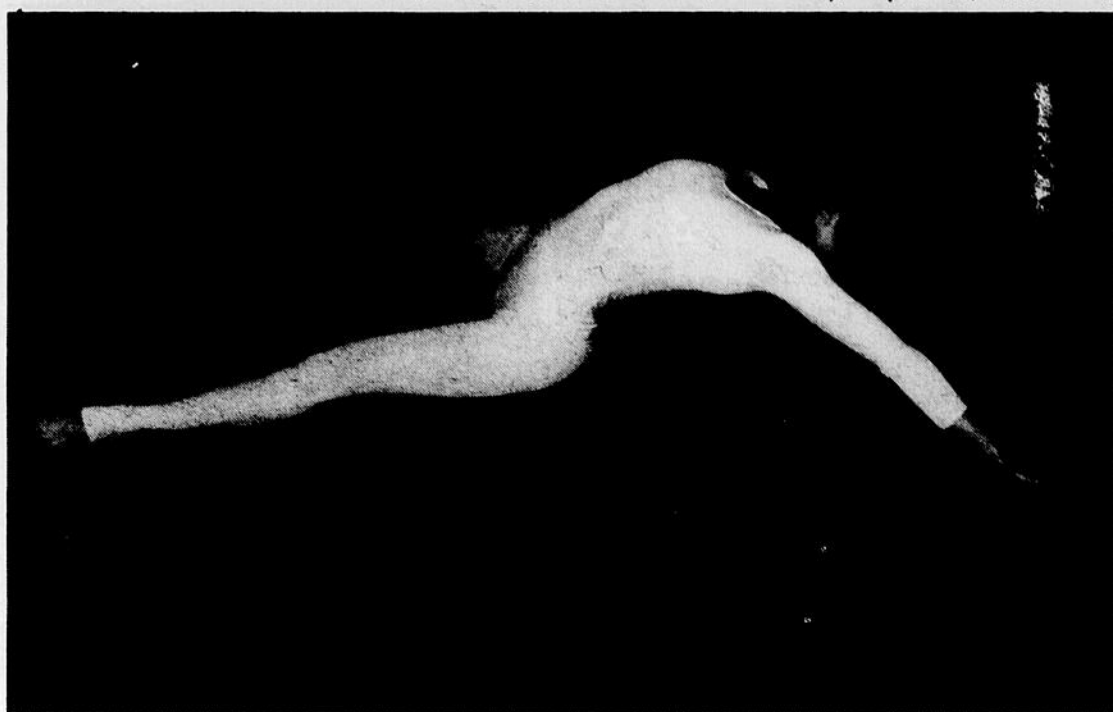

The Westmount Rotary Club is resuming its annual bicycle "rodeo," in conjunction with the local police, Saturday, May 15, from 9 am to 1 pm at the artificial ice rink.

The rodeo is open to all Westmounters over the age of six and will include a mechanical check of bicycles, a film on bicycle safety and, most importantly, a planned course supervised by judges. The course will have stop signs, and traffic lights, crossroads, figure-eights and a myriad of other hazards to test the safe driving practices of Westmount's cyclists. Some of the hazards will be removed for younger children.

Each person who goes through the test will be given a certificate recognizing his respect for safety in bicycling, and prizes will be offered at the end of the day. Free soft drinks will also be available.

In the past, bike rodeos have drawn up to 600 Westmount youngsters. They were suspended four years ago, but concern over bicycle habits led the Rotary Club to resume them.

Judges will include not only Rotarians but Station 30 police officers and members of the Westmount Park School Home and School Association.

Inspection

The annual inspection of No. 1 West Montreal Squadron, Royal Canadian Air Cadets, will be held Monday, May 10, at the Royal Montreal Regiment, 4625 St. Catherine street west. This is the largest single event in the training year for the cadets.

Reviewing officer will be Maj. J. Wilson, C.D. and after the inspection and march past, awards for special achievements

DANCE WORKSHOP: Westmounter Angle Frank, 655 Murray Hill, is director of a performing workshop to be presented by The Modern Dance Centre at Victoria Hall next Saturday at 8:30 pm. Ms. Frank has choreographed four works for the program which will be performed by six dancers including Shirley Sarna, shown above doing floor exercises, and Cheryl Richards, 609 Belmont avenue. The others are Ilana Federman, Rosalie Lazar, Judy Cohen and Janet Aronoff. Live music will be presented by Lawrence Gilman and Stephane Boisjoly who has created original music for several solos.

during the past year will be distributed.

Parents, relatives and friends are invited to attend the inspection and are asked to arrive between 7:30 and 7:45 pm. A small reception will follow the inspection.

Curlers end season with prize presentation

By NICK KASIRER

The 1975-76 curling season in the Westmount recreation department ended last Friday night with the presentation of prizes for the year. B. A. Rothwell, as president of the league, conducted the ceremonies, and Ald. Mel Nixon was on hand representing Mayor Donald MacCallum.

In January the season's first draw was completed with Gladys Geddis' rink winning the Westmount Recreation Trophy. Other members of the championship rink were Stan Baker, Mavis Bain, and Bill Brosseau.

Centennial Trophy play ended only a few weeks ago with the rink skipped by Bill Hooff coming first. Jean Jamieson, Murray Pillski, and Genivieve Bergevin were the lead, second, and third players respectively. Burt Leadbetter was skip of the runners-up with Helene Taylor, Herman Kremer, and Norma Chown.

In the consolation round the rink of May Caplan, Bill Taylor, Marg Baker, and Jim McLean beat Mary McDougall's rink of John Annesley, Mavis Bain, and Allain Meunier. The competition was very successful.

This year's season was extended to allow play in a round-robin bonspiel. The winning rink in this new event was skipped by Andre Bergevin with members Sally Hooff, Gladys Rowland, and Jim McLean. Charles Murphy headed up the second placed rink which also included Helene Taylor, Norma Chown, and Genivieve Bergevin.

The curling group also chose a new executive slate for the 1976-77 season. Mr. Rothwell was re-elected president. The first vice president will be Ed Dedual, with Barney Caplan as the second. Helen Mackenzie will be the group's treasurer, with Mavis Bain as secretary.

The match committee chairman will be Bill Jamieson. Carol Leblanc will act as social convener. The group plans a similar weekly format next season with play commencing in early October.

TELLS YMCA STORY: Two-way involvement between the YMCA and the community in its various programs was stressed yesterday by Paul Cappelli, recently new director of the Westmount "Y" branch, speaking at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club in Victoria Hall. Community needs, which the association tries to meet, are constantly changing, he said. Mr. Cappelli is personally caught up in a "fitness in industry" program of the Montreal main branch, arising out of a concern for the rising number of heart attacks and other ailments in middle management. He also is hopeful of establishing a stress and tension centre at the Westmount facility. Eight visiting Rotarians were present.

WHS H & S meets May 10

The Westmount High School Home and School Association will hold their annual meeting Monday, May 10 at 8 pm in the common room of the school. All members are invited to attend.

DECAPITATION: Heavy machinery was taking off the frost-heaved bulge in the centre of St. Catherine street through central Westmount this week, making the street slightly flatter and thus less perilous for drivers. The old streetcar rails, around which the street was trimmed down, cannot be removed, according to city officials, until the street is completely rebuilt, perhaps up to 30 years from now. The city's public works department will, however, try to keep the tracks tarred over enough to minimize the nuisance caused by them.

Catholic parents write to Premier on Bill 23

Bill Dubé, 45 Burton avenue, has sent a letter to Premier Bourassa protesting the enactment of Bill 23 as legislation which is making an already emotional issue even more emotional.

Writing as president of region A of the Montreal Catholic School Commission's Regional Parents' Committee, Mr. Dubé calls on the government to defer the imposition of penalties for "disobedience" engaged in thus far, to set up an indexing system until such time as a new contract can be agreed upon, and to confer binding conciliation and arbitration powers on school commissioners.

In a covering letter to Michael Doyle, president of the Federation of English-Speaking Catholic Teachers, Mr. Dubé further proposes that Judge Gilles Poirier, Aimé Nault and Alex Paterson be the three commissioners given the responsibility of working out a new collective agreement.

"The situation with respect to the negotiations with the teachers' representatives has deteriorated," Mr. Dubé writes to Premier Bourassa, "to the point where the issue has become emotional. The enactment of Bill 23 has created, rightly or wrongly, an atmosphere of betrayal and resentment by the parties bargaining with the 'Partie Patronale'."

Toward the end of the letter Mr. Dubé reminds the Premier that "the teaching profession ranks among the most important instruments of our society," since today's pupils are the future social order.

Mr. Dubé is president of the school committee at St. Paul's School as well as president of region A of the parents' committee. On the latter basis his letter represents the interests of the parents of some 20,000 children.

Parents play big role in Roslyn production

An almost all-Westmount production takes to the stage tomorrow and Saturday evenings as the Roslyn Drama Group presents its third production. This year's play is called Once Upon a Dream, a new version of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" written by two parents, Ann Elbourne and Maryla Waters.

But parent involvement in the production by both current and former students of Roslyn School doesn't stop there. Indeed, parents are involved in almost all phases of the production including costumes, publicity, make-up and supplying homes for rehearsals.

Parent Doreen Szilasi, 483 Grosvenor avenue, known in the art world as Doreen Lindsay, has worked designing props and headaddresses which the children then made for themselves.

The whole production is directed by Gabrielle Sosna, a specialist in creative movement and teacher of the professional theatre program at John Abbott College, who has been teaching drama to children at Roslyn School for the past three years.

Music for the play is being provided by boys from the Christ Church Cathedral Choir under the direction of Gerald Wheeler.

The play is being presented at the Westmount High School Auditorium tomorrow and Saturday evenings at 8 pm. Tickets are available at the door.

Quick work nips fire; woman hurt

Quick action by the Westmount Fire Brigade nipped a potentially-serious fire at 467 Argyle avenue last Friday at 4:36 pm, a fire started accidentally by an invalid woman who was, luckily, only slightly injured.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Barott, 55-year-old resident of the house, told firemen she had been trying to fill a cigarette lighter with fluid but on striking the lighter afterwards, a flash resulted and some linen on the bed started to burn. She immediately phoned a next-door neighbor, who notified the fire station and then rushed to Mrs. Barott's house to help her.

Firemen arrived quickly, carried the woman downstairs and offered quick treatment for smoke inhalation, while other firefighters doused the small blaze with a 1½-inch stream. Only minor damage resulted to the bedroom.

Mrs. Barott suffered burns to her left thigh, and was eventually transported to the Royal Victoria Hospital by fire ambulance for treatment.
