Seaway strike

Govt. declines role

OTTAWA (CP) — The Trudeau government, in its first days of majority power, is sitting tight and hoping to sidestep an albatross that has been around about two years.

By refusing to intervene in the St. Lawrence Seaway strike, it is trying to leave behind forever something that opposition critics called the "30-per-cent Pearson formula."

One critic, Conservative Patrick Nowlan, also called it an economic albatross that "is going to choke the government when it attempts the settlement of other labor disputes."

The Pearson Formula of 1966 averted a seaway strike and ended a Quebec longshoremen's strike but has been an embarrassment to the government ever since.

Mr. Trudeau's handling of the current seaway strike, now in its 14th day is an apparent attempt to ensure that history doesn't repeat itself.

The prime minister set the pattern July 18 by describing as "fair and reasonable" the increase of 12 per cent over two years recommended in the majority report of a conciliation board and endorsed by the seaway authority.

Acting Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey confirmed it this week by refusing a union request to take a personal hand in negotiations.

Mr. Mackasey, a onetime Montreal longshoreman who likes to call himself a "labor man," made a point of linking the refusal with Mr. Trudeau.

He said he had been in touch with the prime minister "who has confirmed that it is not the policy of the government normally to intervene in the free collective bargaining process."

The stance is in contradiction to the 1966 atmosphere when Mr. Pearson himself took part in late-night manoeuvring to head off a seaway shutdown. The present dispute has all the marks of a test case by the government of its determination to curb inflationary pressures and keep wage increases in line with advances in productivity.

And on the other hand the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, representing the 1,250 striking workers, has accused the seaway authority of inflexibility and threatened to stay out indefinitely if necessary.

If the government is drawing a hard line, there are several factors working in its favor.

Both business and opposition critics have been demanding tough government action against inflation and can hardly condemn the government for backing a Crown agency in its attempt to hold wage increases in check.

The New Democrats have called for action to hold down prices as well as wages. But with Parliament not sitting, their scope for prodding the government is limited.

IN BETTER POSITION

And Mr. Trudeau, fresh from election victory, is in a better position to take an unpopular stand than former prime minister Lester Pearson ever enjoyed.

While Mr. Pearson insisted there never was a "Pearson Formula," some members of his cabinet had conceded the 1966 settlement had far-reaching effects.

"It set off a round of wage increases and the government was caught up in it," Transport Minister Hellyer said recently.

The seaway authority says an extra percentage point beyond its two-year, 12-per-cent increased wages figure would cost $50,000 a year.

At the same time it is losing $96,000 a day in tolls. The total cost to the economy is not known but inland shippers estimate the operating costs of their idle fleets at $500,000 a day.

News Ask for recount today

Ont. to be dry

TORONTO (CP) — A long dry summer appears certain for Ontario beer drinkers as the province's major breweries and 2,700 striking workers both warned they plan to stick by their guns.

The workers, members of the International Union of United Brewery, Flour, Cereal, Soft Drink and Distillery Workers of America, were told Wednesday night by their negotiators the strike will be a long one.

Lake Megantic lawyer Bart Durand, representing Creditiste Adelard Larose, said last night he did not have time yesterday to make an official request in Sherbrooke courts for judicial recount but will be here today to make the demand.

He told the Record in an interview he wanted to spend the entire day in Sherbrooke but because of preparations for the recount, he said yesterday was too busy for him to make it.

Both Mr. Larose and his lawyer said Tuesday they would ask for the recount yesterday. Mr. Larose trails the Liberal candidate in the Sherbrooke riding by only 123 votes.

The official recount, after the returns of the service vote, was made on Monday.

The Creditiste candidate has four days after this recount to apply for a judicial recount.

Electoral law stipulates that Mr. Larose deposit $250 for the judicial recount, Mr. Durand stated.

This is one of the procedures to be completed today.

Would he ask for a particular judge to officiate?

Lottery draw

MONTREAL (CP) — This city, shying away from a possible $28,000,000 tax deficit in 1968, prepares to give away $100,000 worth of silver when 151 finalists in its second "voluntary tax" scheme meet here Sunday.

The finalists, chosen from among 610,000 contributors to Montreal's second tax-gathering venture, were picked Wednesday night in a two-hour draw.

No, he answered, he would accept the judge appointed by Mr. Justice William Mitchell.

The recount would not be held in Superior court but in the judge's chambers, he explained.

All the candidates will be sent a notice by the judge asking them to be present at the recount on the day determined by the judge.

Mr. Durand said he has notified the other candidates, "the elected and the defeated," that his client was demanding a judicial recount.

One of the factors the Creditiste is placing his hopes on 581 votes that were rejected on June 25.

He said on Tuesday there were also many "irregularities" in the procedures on election night. Unsealed ballot boxes, he said, was one of these irregularities.

Stampede opens

CALGARY (CP) — A "howdy pardner" atmosphere spread through this city today as residents and tourists plunged into 1968 Calgary Exhibition and Stampede festivities.

The gates opened at 7 a.m. to an expected 20,000 youngsters for the first of two children's days.

It's the accepted thing to dress cowboy during the Stampede, which started in 1912 when Calgary was still a cow town. Now some 25 oil companies have head offices in the city of 350,000.

Near dialogue

PARIS (Reuters) — U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators today appeared to be moving toward a dialogue on the use of the 1954 Geneva agreements as a basis for settlement of the Vietnam war.

W. Averell Harriman, chief U.S. delegate to the Vietnam preliminary peace talks here, renewed his call at a full-scale session Wednesday for a settlement based on the fundamentals of the Geneva accords which ended the French Indochina war. He stressed that one of the accords' first provisions was a ceasefire.

Held hostage

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — A state police chief and a Presbyterian minister were held hostage today for more than an hour by an armed man holding a woman and baby captive in a suburban cottage here.

Norman Allan, police chief of New South Wales, and Rev. C. Paton were released after police officers met a demand from the gunman, Wallace Melish, 23, for a transistor radio.

Going home?

MONTREAL (CP) — Gaetan Paris, the 49-year-old electrical designer who is one of the world's six living heart transplant patients, is thinking of going home.

His wife Claire told reporters Wednesday: "He now is making plans for the future and talking about the day he is going to get home."

End strike threat

MONTREAL (CP) — Agreement hammered out in an all-night session brought an end Wednesday to the threat of a national strike by firemen against Canada's two major railways.

Two separate contracts with Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways respectively brought wage increases of 15 to 24 per cent to 3,400 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

Varying increases were settled for three classes of firemen. Those working on freight trains get 15 per cent, those working in railway yards get 18 per cent and those working on passenger trains receive 24 per cent.

The 38-month contract was announced in a joint statement after negotiations led by Judge Rene Lippe of provincial court, appointed as conciliator by the federal government.

The contract is effective without a membership vote because the union negotiating committee was authorized to sign on members' behalf.

Police clash

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A rally for George C. Wallace was interrupted Wednesday night by a confrontation between police and demonstrators that included some fist fights.

Wallace was campaigning in the home state of Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey and Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, in an attempt to get on the Minnesota ballot as a third-party candidate for president.

board, making a walkout illegal, and the union cancelled the walkout.

The contract for the CNR firemen runs May 1, 1967 to July 1, 1970. That for CPR firemen runs July 1, 1967 to Sept. 1, 1970.

The passenger and freight firemen are paid on a basic day of 100 miles. The yard men have a set daily rate.

Following are basic daily rates paid under old contracts and at end of the new contracts:

CNR
Passenger firemen $14.22
Freight firemen $15.18 $17.46
Yard firemen $17.35 $20.47

CPR
Passenger firemen $14.20
Freight firemen $15.18 $17.45
Yard firemen $17.35 $20.47

In both contracts the increases are to be paid in five stages, three of them retroactive.

Slain New York sniper hung pictures of Nazis on his wall

NEW YORK (AP) — The slain Central Park sniper who killed a young woman and wounded three men lived in a sparsely-furnished tenement apartment decorated with photographs of Nazi leaders.

Detectives found pictures of Hitler, Field Marshal Hermann Goering and Joseph Goebbels, the Nazi propaganda minister, hung in the gunman's apartment.

They also found a mystery as to his name. A bankbook found in his pocket after he was felled by police bullets Wednesday carried the name Angel Angelof but police said after their search it was "only a part of his real name."

The gunman, using a long-barrelled .45-calibre revolver, brought an hour of terror to a normally quiet corner of the park in the neighborhood of 85th Street and Fifth Avenue, three blocks north of the Metropolitan Museum.

Firing from the roof of a public lavatory, he sent nursemaids with toddlers fleeing

INTO THE SECOND CENTURY — Mrs. Dorothy Maguire celebrated her 101st birthday today at the Grace Christian Home in Huntingville, where she has resided for almost five years. The centenarian, as young as Canada, seems almost as healthy as she talks with pride of her birthday which falls on July 4. (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

She passed the century mark

The framed sign in the sitting-room read: "The Son of God who loved me and gave Himself for me."

An elderly gentleman was humming to himself while reading a book resting on his knee; a woman of about 75, hunched forward, was smiling the kind of smile that rarely leaves the face; coffee was being served by another old woman who walked with the briskness of a person half her age.

Mrs. Dorothy Maguire, a century and a year old today, sat in her wheelchair near the window surrounded by flowers and sunlight. Age has twisted her fingers and covered her with lines. But it has not silenced her.

Mrs. Maguire will have a quiet celebration today at the Grace Christian Home in Huntingville with a few members of her family.

"It's a long time for July to come, isn't it," she muttered when asked how she felt about having lived the length of time she did.

Mrs. Maguire can barely hear, even when using a hearing aid. But she gives the impression of being able to understand questions put to her not by the sounds but by the expressions on the questioner's face.

Once or twice, the effort to grasp the meaning of a query showed itself on her deeply-lined face. Then, to end her frustration, she would begin to ramble, occasionally unintelligibly, often sensibly.

"It's been a miserable winter, hasn't it?" she asked with a smile on her face. The thrill at having been able to express her thoughts showed clearly.

What did she think about celebrating her hundred and first birthday?

"I might possibly live," she said as subtly as age would permit.

Changing the subject suddenly, she said: "I'm surprised, I haven't been corresponding with the Queen."

A striking example that humor doesn't die with age, it merely mellows.

Mrs. Maguire was born at Waterloo in the year of the Canadian Confederation. She lived most of her life on a farm in Warden, and although she and her husband never had any children, her niece, Mrs. Franklin Kerr, told the Record, "her home was always open."

She loved music and derived great pleasure from writing poetry and hymns.

In 1948, she entered the Wales Home in Richmond where she stayed for about 15 years before moving to the Grace Christian Home in Huntingville.

Mrs. Kerr and her two sisters are the only relatives who still regularly visit her. All three will be on hand today for her birthday celebration.

"You know," said Mrs. Maguire as the interview neared its end, "it's a shame that there should be so much fuss for an itty-bitty thing like me."

QLB strike end seen

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Liquor Board negotiators will hand to union representatives Friday draft copies of new contract clauses as part of a bid to end the province-wide employees' strike, a board spokesman said Wednesday.

None of the clauses involved deal with pay, basic issue in the dispute, he added.

The board's 2,900 employees went on strike June 25.

Provincial conciliator Gilles Laporte held meetings Wednesday with union and management representatives. The two unions representing the men are affiliates of the Confederation of National Trade Unions.

The board has offered a three-year contract with a 7½-per-cent increase immediately and another 7½ after 18 months.

The unions seek a two-year contract with increases of between $31.50 and 37.10 weekly depending on the job classification. The old contract, which expired last November, gave weekly wages ranging between $78.23 and $81.25.

A government spokesman has said the government offer would give employees an average weekly wage of $98.72 at the end of the proposed three-year agreement.

Meanwhile provincial police were getting tough with persons trying to bring large shipments of alcohol into Quebec from Ontario.

Insp. Paul Champagne, head of the alcohol squad for area between Trois-Rivieres, Que. and Ontario, said Wednesday no arrests have been made but five seizures have been made of "abnormal quantities" of liquor including the vehicles used for the shipments.

It would be up to the courts to decide whether to return the vehicles to the owners.

AYER'S CLIFF — Mrs. Galen Vance was hostess for the Friendly Christmas Club at her home on June 20 when cards were played at three tables. Prizes were won by Mrs. W. Browning for most games and consolation went to Mrs. G. Wintle. The floating prize was also won by Mrs. Browning.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. L. Piercy.

Guests of the club were Mrs. G. Wintle, Lennoxville, Mrs. L. Dezan, Mrs. E. Wintle, Mrs. W. Browning and Mrs. D. Sherman. It was the last meeting of the Club until September.

About television

By PATTI PAGE

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—I'm grateful for this opportunity to thank those of you who saw me on the Ed Sullivan Show, Music Hall and other television series and wrote how pleased you were that I had come out of retirement.

Appreciative as I am, I must make a confession. I did not retire—unless you call seven months on the road in night clubs and recording two albums and eight singles annually retirement.

It was the other way around. TV retired from me—and from such talented female singers as Rosie Clooney, Kay Starr, Jo Stafford, Polly Bergen and, to a lesser extent, Dinah Shore and Peggy Lee. These singers not only dominated the record industry's "charts" in the 1950s but television as well. Most of us had our own TV series. In fact, Dinah and I had our own shows for several seasons.

Then something awful happened. We became 'older girls.' In an industry where everyone was suddenly competing to appeal to the "youth market," we were guilty of the most serious sin of all—having past our 30th birthdays. It seemed as though the only way to be seen as television, until last year, was to be a long-haired, short-skirted teenie bopper.

The result, unfortunately, was that a lot of girls in micromini-skirts were revealed to have micromini talents as well. Spirited away from the electronic sanctuary of a modern recording studio, and thrust before the TV cameras, they could do little but look sexy as they frugged and bugaloosed and desperately lip-synched their latest "hits."

Others, with marvellous potential, were pushed too far too fast. At a time when they should have been learning how to create that delicate rapport between performer and audience—which distinguishes an adequate club singer from a star—they were being rushed from one TV guest shot to another.

GENUINE TALENT

A few of the girls who had big hits turned out to be genuinely talented. They could have done a waltz or rumba and been sensational in this or any other era.

Equalization spurs rise in school tax

By CLAUDE ADAMS (Record Staff Reporter)
Eastern Townships taxpayers in scattered communities are beginning to feel the pinch of higher local school taxes and wondering where the storm is blowing from, or why it's blowing in the first place.

The Sherbrooke assessing firm of Morin and Tessier was hired last fall by the Eastern Townships Protestant Regional School Board to study the assessment situation in ET communities and bring about a program of "equalization" of property assessments.

This was done at the request of and on behalf of the local school boards, says J. Edward Perry, director-general of the ET regional board.

"Equalization" was the problem. Many municipalities had made property assessments well below the real value of the property. In other words, properties whose market value was, say, $10,000 were assessed as low as $4,000 and only this smaller sum was taxed.

The advantages of this system were twofold.

"Municipal authorities were of the belief that a low total assessment of the community would keep spending low and not prompt city councilors to borrow larger amounts of money than necessary," said Rosaire Morin, of Morin and Tessier.

Provincial law specifically states that assessments should be made as close as possible to "real value," that is, assessments should be made to at least 80 per cent.

The communities contacted the Regional Board and asked that the latter should act on their behalf to amend the situation. The Board contacted Morin and Tessier and commissioned them to bring about "equalization."

The firm moved into several ET communities including Waterville, Bromptonville, Windsor Mills, Cookshire, Lennoxville and Valcourt and drew up the rolls as accurately as possible.

The 60 or so other communities served by local Protestant boards who had hired their own assessors were also investigated by the Sherbrooke-based firm.

This was done by studying the original roll and comparing it with figures in the registry office.

Deeds and bills of sale were carefully studied and the assessments altered according to "laws of jurisprudence."

The result was that, in effect, many property values "went up" in value. For example, where they had originally been pegged at only 40 per cent of market value, now they were assessed at close to 100 per cent.

In many such cases, the school board did not reduce the mill rate to correspond with the assessment increase. Now, a man owning property valued at $10,000 and formerly assessed at $4,000 has to pay the same mill rate on $10,000.

Said Richard Jolin of Morin and Tessier, "spending by school boards has gone up significantly, and everybody in the Eastern Townships must bear the burden."

Municipalities hear assessment appeals

Rising school taxes are caused by "equalization" of assessments at or near the 100 per cent level coupled with an unwillingness by school boards to correspondingly reduce the mill rates.

However, the taxpayer is not, by any means, helpless. Appeals on assessments of property can be made with very little expense should grievances exist. These appeals can be made before the municipalities' council or a special three-man revision board specially set up by some communities to hear the complaints.

Every medium-sized municipality is required by the Cities and Towns Act to draw up an assessment roll every year.

Smaller communities, however, adhere to the Municipal Code which states that a three-year spread between rolls is admissible.

Whatever the case, provincial law requires that the rolls should be put on public display and, if possible, published in the local newspaper.

Property owners then have 30 days to appeal their assessment should it not meet their approval. After this 30-day period, the rolls are then transferred to the local school board.

At this point, appeal is no longer possible until the next roll comes out.

"When the school tax bills are then sent out," said Rosaire Morin of Morin and Tessier, "and the taxpayer has not appealed his incorrect assessment, it is nobody's fault but his own," if the proper posting of assessments has been carried out.

The three-man revision boards of larger communities like Sherbrooke and Cookshire, and the aldermen in smaller municipalities hear the complaints, study both sides and arrive at a decision.

Both the appealing taxpayer and the assessor in question must appear before these boards within the 30-day period.

Said Mr. Morin, "The man who suffers most from equalization is the property owner whose assessment, even at 40 per cent, is much too high. Equalization to 100 per cent boosts his tax bill much higher if he hasn't appealed his assessment before the appropriate boards."

Maple sugar on snow to be served

MORGAN, Vt. — (Special) — Maple sugar on real snow will be served at the 23rd annual sugar-on-snow supper at Morgan Corner Church, July 10, with three servings at 5, 6 and 7 p.m. Miss Eileen Whitehill will provide excellent maple sugar to serve on snow. The meal will also feature raised doughnuts and sour pickles concluded by supper of baked beans, brown bread, salads, rolls, milk and coffee.

The women of town are making final supper plans to serve over 800 with Mrs. Cecil Gray as chairman.

Last year over 40 gallons of syrup were boiled down in the sugar house. This process may be observed by interested persons.

World War I veterans honored at Legion supper in Stanstead

STANSTEAD — Veterans of the wars assembled at the Stanstead Frontier Branch No. 5, Royal Canadian Legion Home last Friday evening when the Legion Branch were hosts to honor the First World War veterans.

A supper was served at 6:30 p.m. by the Legion Auxiliary in the main hall. There were approximately 75 veterans attending.

In 1925, Mr. Struthers noted, the Canadian Legion was formed and he and Harold Beane and others were on the organizational board. Their names are on the Provincial charter. Mr. Struthers mentioned some of the things done for the veterans of the Second World War, the opportunities for them which they themselves did not have and which none would have had but for the Legion. Among these were the Vetsville, pensions, Veterans Land Act, and many other beneficiaries.

Mr. Struthers was introduced by Mr. Quillinan, and thanked by Howard K. Wells.

Mr. Quillinan and Mr. Heald presided for the presentation of service pins of the Legion. Mr. Quillinan pointed out that more are eligible but their records have first to be studied in the Montreal office.

Presented with 40-year pins were Harold Beane; F. C. Miller; E. J. Curtis; E. J. Struthers; C. S. Clark; and I. B. Corey. Others to receive the pins but unable to attend were W. E. Kenrick; Ralph Cooper; George Mann, Sr.; and A. J. LePoidevin.

To receive 25-year pins were J. M. Locke, Rev. Frank Stanton, and the 20-year pins, E. J. Barnes, George Balyea; Victor Denney; Hugo LaPenna; E. C. Middleton; Henry Snow; J. M. Heald.

Mr. Quillinan said these men deserve much more than these pins for they have contributed much for others.

Appreciation to the Auxiliary for the fine dinner was expressed by Mr. Heald, followed by standing ovation from the men.

Then came the dedication of "The Better Ole," a special room, renovated from a part of the old shed, beautifully finished in wood paneling and tiled floor with a picture of the Queen, Prince Philip and others on the walls as well as the Union Jack and the Canadian flag, and dedicated to the "Old Sweats."

"The Better Ole" is a term used by First World War veterans who, after being in fox holes, many mud filled, would say, "we are going to look for a better ole."

With Ed Styles at the piano and accompanied by his boys, several of the men were joined by their ladies and guests and the remainder of the evening spent dancing and singing of both wars.

Sentenced six months

Jean-Luc Ladurentaye, 31, of Drummondville, was found guilty of indecent assault yesterday by Judge Roland Dugre and was sentenced to six months in prison.

Court Sessions was closed to the public during the trial and only witnesses, lawyers, court employees and newspapermen were allowed in the room as the testimony was heard by Judge Dugre.

Crown Prosecutor Andre Langlais told the court that Ladurentaye has a lengthy record.

Ladurentaye was accused of assaulting a young Sherbrooke boy.

The youngster, a guard employed at a city park and a police constable testified in yesterday's hearing.

The accused also gave his version of the story.

He was not represented by a lawyer.

When Ladurentaye finished his testimony, Judge Dugre said simply, without hesitation, "I find you guilty."

Projects planned to aid E.T. development

The Eastern Townships Regional Economic Council administration has begun two projects which hopefully will speed up the development of the tourist, industrial and rural sectors in the Townships.

The council has hired specialists who will study problems in this region and who will work with various committees already formed to study the regional economic situation in certain sectors.

Music results released

The results of the Sherbrooke local centre examinations conducted by the McGill Conservatorium of Music have been released. These examinations are held at various centres throughout Canada as part of an extensive program to raise the standard of musical education in this country and at the same time to bring to bear the influence of competent examiners on the quality of instruction.

As McGill grants degrees in music and a diploma of licentiate, the University extends its field of work by means of these local centre examinations, which are preparatory for degrees and diplomas.

The examiners are appointed by the Senate of the University and the local secretary is G. L. Rothney, Principal of Lennoxville High School.

Professor Kenneth Meek of the McGill Faculty of Music conducted the practical examinations in pianoforte and the ear tests.

In each of the high school grades of Quebec Protestant schools, pupils may receive credit for music as a subject by qualifying for the appropriate certificates granted by McGill. Detailed information is available from the local school principal.

Very high distinction is accorded to those with 95 per cent and over, high distinction for 90 to 94 per cent, distinction for 80 to 89 percent, honors for 70 to 79 percent, and a pass for 60 to 69 per cent.

Successful candidates in order of merit, are listed below:

Practical examinations:
Grade 10: Honors, Dale Matthews.
Grade 9: high distinction, David Evans.
Grade 8: honors, Jasmine Espect and Daniel Morel (equal).
Grade 7: distinction, Susan Rothney, Brenda Mathews, Susan Nelson, Linda Rothney; honors, Valerie Phelps, Valerie King and Ruth Gentry (equal); Gail Falconer, Dana Bryant, Deborah MacLeod; pass, Gail Tinker, Bonita Graham.
Grade 6: high distinction, Alice Gaudine and Kathryn Fidler (equal); distinction, Jillian Tinker, Annie Dix and Valerie Smyth (equal), James Bruce and Pamela Greer (equal), Catherine McAteer and Richard Bougie (equal); honors, Barbara Vaughan, Richard McCallan.
Grade 5: high distinction, Karen Trollope; distinction, Brenda Nelson, Steven Bellam, honors, Leonard Trollope and

Financing education in the Townships area

Man Eastern Townships residents outside the immediate city area are receiving the unpleasant news about the rising cost of education in the form of increased tax bills.

In a large number of cases, the increases are substantial.

On Page 3 of today's paper, articles appear explaining how the increased school taxes were generated. There has been, for the past two years, a program of equalization of property assessments being undertaken throughout the Eastern Townships. The purpose of the program is to attempt to ensure as nearly as possible that people living on the same kinds of property in the same kinds of houses in different parts of the Townships pay about the same tax.

Because of the fact that in most small ET towns and in many rural communities, property assessments have traditionally been extremely low, the result of the program has been a general increase in the amount of tax owed by individual property owners.

This, in itself, comes as quite a shock to many people. But what has compounded the confusion is the fact that most property owners in the Townships have not been kept fully informed as to what is happening. Too often, small municipalities, whose responsibility it is to post in "public places" notices of the new assessments have appeared to do their best to hide them. Residents of many towns are not told where the new rolls may be seen, and in attempting to find them on their own, often discover they are in out-of-the-way places not always easily accessible. Many property owners are, in this way, deprived of their right, provided by law, to question new evaluations, since they do not find out about them until the tax bill is received. And then it is too late.

It is a fact that in addition to the tax increases because of a re-assessment presently being collected, more tax revenues are going to be required for both local and regional purposes in the not-too-distant future, unless the provincial government comes up soon with some radical new way of financing education.

And yet all of us want the very best possible education facilities for our children.

This being the case, we suggest that municipalities and school boards seriously reconsider what seems to be a general attitude of secrecy regarding the financing of our education system. Early, wide and proper notice regarding changes in assessments and in mill rates is imperative if the active cooperation of taxpayers in general is to be obtained. Otherwise, the result is general public resentment, coupled with an abrogation of the rights of individual taxpayers that makes a mockery of the very educational principals for which we are striving.

Our office colleague is a man of promise, but we'd rather have our $5.

Sane step forward

Too often in the past the drug phenomenon of the 60s had prompted little more than a lackadaisical "it can't happen here" response on the part of authorities in the Sherbrooke area.

But now positive practical steps have been taken to grapple with the problem. First came the YMCA drug education project and now the Commission Scolaire Regionale de l'Estrie has proposed a comprehensive regular course on drugs and alcohol to be taught in the high schools under its jurisdiction.

If the proposed course wins the approval of the Quebec Department of Education, it will mark a sane and important step toward stripping drugs of their almost mystical aura and bringing the subject out into the open where students can study it coldly and analytically.

While most school authorities agree that some students, at least, are using drugs and alcohol, it is doubtful that the problem has reached the epidemic proportions evident in some parts of the United States. Nevertheless, informed and unbiased instruction on the use of both alcohol and drugs will equip the student for any future confrontation with drug or alcohol usage.

Although the drug world is probably one of the most controversial subjects of the day, too often, the teen-ager's concept and opinions are based on ignorance and misinformed sources.

Already the Eastern Townships Regional School Board has expressed interest in the project of its French-language counterpart and the Estrie Board has mentioned hooking up with the YMCA project.

Perhaps a united front of all three groups could prevent Sherbrooke's drug problem from becoming serious.

The office Lothario says he gets about three gals to the mile with his new car.

Viet 'bird watchers' handle war visitors

NEW YORK (AP) — "Bird-watching" in South Vietnam, a retiring U.S. Marine Corps combat officer says, centres on Gen. William C. Westmoreland's "Audubon Society," the system devised to handle the deluge of visitors to the war.

Not only are there hawks and doves, he writes, but vultures, parrots, woodpeckers, magpies, dodos, humming birds and peacocks.

The game is described in The Betrayal, a book published this week by W. W. Norton and Co., Inc. The book is written by Lt.-Col. William R. Corson, 42, who retired Sunday after 25 years in the corps.

Westmoreland takes over today as chief of staff of the army. He arrived in Washington Tuesday from Vietnam where he was commander of U.S. forces for four years. His Vietnam successor is Gen. Creighton W. Abrams. Corson, a combat veteran of the Second World War, Korea and Vietnam, offers a broad condemnation of military and civilian leadership in Vietnam, both United States and South Vietnamese.

NOTES TREATMENT

In describing the "bird-watching" of VIPs, Corson notes the treatment on arrival at "Westy's aviary": "The birds' arrive by Jet at Tan Shon Nhut Airport on the outskirts of Saigon

"Without seeing their plumage aboard the jet, one can tell what kind of birds they are by the 'handlers' who are present to meet them. If the handler entourage includes Gen. Westmoreland, certain conclusions may be drawn about what species are on board, and their size, age and plumage.

"Because many of the birds are smart and tough and could possibly see through the fancy footwork, the briefing takes place on the first night.

"The birds' briefers are as carefully chosen as a Ziegfeld Girl. They must simultaneously project sincerity, assurance, resoluteness, moral fervor, optimism and confidence. Nothing produced on Madison Avenue comes close to this performance."

LIE TO EACH OTHER

"Most of the nonsense and lack of understanding about Vietnam is a result of our officials lying to one another," Corson writes.

The vultures: "The defence scientists . . . who advocate things like the DMZ barrier, defoliated forests . . . 'improved napalm' . . . The high priest of the vultures is a Texas crony of President Johnson's, Dr. John S. Foster Jr., director of defence research and engineering. . ."

The parrots:

"The hardware-producing industrialists of American industry and their alter-ego researchers. It is interesting to observe the faces of the parrots as they are told about the destruction of jeeps, aircraft, tanks and the rapid turnover of supplies; most of them are discreet enough to close their eyes when the figures are announced.

"The incestuous relationship of the vultures with the industry-academic 'think-tank' crowd is beyond comprehension."

The magpies: "The managers of the assistant secretary's office created by former defence secretary Robert S. McNamara to promote efficiency and cost effectiveness. The magpie's world is made up neat, orderly flow charts, posture statements and action papers.

The woodpeckers: "The behavioral scientists, operations researchers, anthropologists and so forth. Their expenses are paid by the vultures and magpies. The woodpeckers have vainly poked and probed persons they thought represented the South Vietnamese people.

The dodo: "A member of Congress. There are too many dodos who see in Vietnam an opportunity to promote an otherwise lacklustre legislative record."

OTTAWA — (TNS) — Both the numerical standing of the Prime Minister Trudeau and Conservative Leader Stanfield have manpower problems in the wake of the election.

The PM's problem is what to do with the large number of high-calibre Grit MPs for whom he has neither Cabinet posts nor parliamentary secretaryships. Mr. Stanfield's problem is how to fill the Opposition front bench after the electoral slaughter of his best men.

It is this contrast, rather than

Loss is no disaster

Similarly, Stanfield's loss of 25 seats is not in itself a disaster. As the Grits demonstrated after the Diefenbaker avalanche 10 years ago, the Opposition can function effectively with considerably fewer than Stanfield's 72 seats. What matters more than numbers, once the government-opposition arithmetic has been decided by the electorate, is the quality of the troops the PM and the Leader of the Opposition have at their command in the Commons.

Measured by this yardstick it's obvious that Trudeau's victory is greater than the numbers indicate and that the Conservative Party has suffered what John Diefenbaker calls "a calamitous disaster."

The Tories have lost not only most of their top ranking, bat-

Change of leadership

The old Tory guard tends to blame Dalton Camp and the young Turks who helped him to force the change of leadership last fall. The party, these people say, would have done better in this election had Diefenbaker been allowed to remain at the helm.

While no one can furnish a proof to the contrary, I very much doubt that Mr. Diefenbaker would have been able to cope with Trudeau's victory better than Robert Stanfield, except perhaps on the Prairies. The reason for this assumption is that the root cause of the slaughter of the Tory top candidates in this election, namely the decline of the Conservative Party's fortunes in the big cities and urban areas generally, developed under Diefenbaker's leadership. The "dump Dief!" movement was primarily motivated by an attempt to rectify this trend.

No one can say, without a detailed study of the process, why the effort failed.

Red China squabble Taiwan apprehensive about future relations with Canada

By GRAHAM TROTTER

TAIPEI, Taiwan (CP) — Nationalist China is apprehensive about the future of its relations with Canada.

The leaders of Canada's three major political parties all say their country should extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China.

"If your country recognizes the Communist regime, we'll have to withdraw from Ottawa," says one highly-placed member of the administration of Chiang Kai-shek on this island 90 miles off the southeast coast of China.

Despite all the talk about it in Canada, it may never come to pass.

Everything depends on the reaction of the Communists to any Canadian overture. In the past, if there was one thing they and the Nationalists could agree upon it was their absolute distaste for any two-Chinas concept.

Taiwan—also known as Formosa—was made a province of China in 1885 and resumed that status in 1945 after 50 years of Japanese occupation. It still is regarded as such by Mao Tse-tung's mainland regime and Chiang's Republic of China, now based here.

RECOGNITION LIMITED
"In dealing with the question of whether to recognize Communist China, countries should think in terms of the next 20 to 30 years, not just the next two years or so," Nationalist Prime Minister C. K. Yen said in an interview.

"Hindsight can lead to foresight," he added in noting that dividing lines, even those thought to be temporary, have a tendency to become permanent problems.

Korea, Germany and Vietnam all had been carved up by peacemakers. All were continuing sources of trouble.

On the other hand, Yen said, Chiang had successfully opposed moves after the Second World War to divide Japan into occupation zones.

"Today Japan is united, peaceful and booming economically."

Although Canada recognizes Nationalist China, it does not completely practise recognition.

There is no official Canadian government presence on the island of Taiwan—no building, no office, no personnel.

By contrast, there is an 11-man Chinese embassy in Ottawa headed by an ambassador. Of more than 100 countries with representatives accredited to Canada, only six have larger embassies.

VISITS PERIODIC

The Canadian trade commissioner in the Philippines and his assistant make periodic trips to Taiwan. Last year there were two trips, each of about one week's duration.

Their combined trade with Canada in imports and exports last year totalled less than $2,500,000 compared with the Canada-Taiwan trade of $35,835,000. Their combined population is 13,200,000, Taiwan's 13,350,000.

Canada has been running a growing deficit since 1962 in her trade with Taiwan. Last year, when Canada was the island's eighth-best customer, the deficit was $11,303,000.

Taiwan's exports to Canada last year—mainly plywood, apparel, footwear and canned mushrooms—totalled $23,569,000. They exceeded shipments by the Soviet Union, $23,015,000, Greece, $3,521,000, New Zealand, $15,270,000, and Argentina, $5,188,000, to name a few representative countries.

"There are unlimited possibilities in Southeast Asia," says Gagne. "They are 10 times bigger than in Europe. But 10 years from now it may be too late for Canada to get into the action."

"The Canadian government should have an office in Formosa—even if it is just a consular office to begin with."

Gagne also says Canada needs a more liberal export credits insurance policy to give Canadians a chance to compete here with Americans

"who come by U.S. loans much easier and are far ahead on financing joint ventures."

"There is a market here with great possibilities for machinery in all fields.

government's veterans affairs commission.

He says he runs into unnecessary expense, frustrations and delays by having to fly 730 miles south to Manila. He has found that dealing here with the British consul, whose own work comes first, takes just as long.

TRADES AT DEFICIT

Canada now has ambassadors, resident or jointly accredited, to a good number of countries which do a lot less trade with her than Taiwan.

For instance, the small African states of Cameroon, Senegal and Tunisia all have resident Canadian ambassadors complete with staffs.

Their combined trade with Canada in imports and exports last year totalled less than $2,500,000 compared with the Canada-Taiwan trade of $35,835,000. Their combined population is 13,200,000, Taiwan's 13,350,000.

Bygone days

TEN YEARS AGO

NORTH HATLEY — The North Hatley Playhouse opened its third season with one of the best comedies and excellent casts yet to be seen in this summer theatre.

The Reluctant Debutant by William Douglas Home was the play and it will run nightly until the end of the week.

If this first offering is any indication of what's in store at the Playhouse for the next two months, it looks like a pleasant summer indeed.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Lennoxville United Church Sunday School closed activities for the summer months with a well-attended picnic at Whitcomb's Beach, Lake Massawippi.

Through the courtesy of W. Whitcomb, members of the church, schools and parents and friends had an enjoyable day at the lake. Sports were enjoyed by old and young alike and at the noon hour a basket lunch was added to by the service of free ice-cream and drinks by the Sunday School officials. Mrs. F. Hicks was in charge of the sports program.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Henri Thibault of Sherbrooke was elected president of the Eastern Townships Automobile Dealers Association. He replaces R. A. Webster.

Other officers are: vice-president, Charles Armstrong of Richmond; secretary, treasurer, Alberic Julien of Sherbrooke.

The directors are: Doria Alard, Sherbrooke; Roland Hinse, Asbestos; Dollard Marchand, Magog; Donat Martin, Sherbrooke; Gerard Marquis, Sherbrooke.

So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty.

(James 2:12)

PRAYER: Loving Father, I pray Thee to be my guide. Release me from my sin and strengthen me to overpower whatever would thwart my living in the spirit of Christ. In His name I pray. Amen.

NEW MEMBERS INDUCTED — Three new members were inducted at a recent meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Waterloo. Shown above, left to right, are Fred C. Marsh, president; Roger Derbyson, Malcolm Juby, and Gilles Laramee, the new members with past Lt. Gov. Roger McKergow, who inducted the men. Meetings will continue during the summer but there will be no speakers. The program will reactivate in the fall. (Record photo: Wilfred Bessette)

Bedford High graduation exercises open with dinner at St. James Hall

BEDFORD — The baccalaureate service and graduation exercises for the students in Grade 11 at the Bedford High School opened with a dinner in the St. James Church Hall for the members of the graduation class, parents and high school staff.

Grace was said by Rev. Peter Macaskill, pastor of the Bedford Wesley Church. Guests at the head table included Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McIntosh; Rev. and Mrs. Peter Macaskill; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Craighead; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tryanor; Richard Needham, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Staudenmaier, Miss Christa Staudenmaier, Principal, J. Dawson.

Mrs. R. S. McIntosh assistant vice-principal welcomed the guests and introduced the graduates, who were Martha Baker, Helen Bondarenko, Linda Boudreau, Dara Brown, Tom Cockerton, Horst Dresler, David Ewing, Colin Gage, Alec Holzgang, Gordon Johnson, Garth Kemp, Johanne Laduke, Daniel Landault, Wayne MacDonald, Andreas Himberg-Larsen, Sylvia McNab, Ann Mgda, Louise Marshall, Jim McCaw, Brenda Norris, Maria Onegow, Peter Onegow, Patricia Palmer, Sheila Rivers, Louise Shepardon, Christa Staudenmaier, Chris Testu, Robert Testu, Susan Tremblay.

The presentation of the Grade 11 certificates was made by the chairman of the school board, Douglas Traynor, who wished the students luck in the coming years.

The valedictory was given by Christa Staudenmaier. The award for the student of the year was presented by Mrs. R. W. Craighead to Christa Staudenmaier.

The Kathy Florian award for the best girl athlete of the year was presented to Hazel McCulloch by J. Robinson. In presenting the award Mr. Robinson spoke of the high standing obtained by the recipient, 150 points, which was outstanding.

Prize cows receive awards

In the herd of Pierre Veillon, Sweetsburg, the Jersey cow Wendybrook Ross Sparkie, 329617, excellent, has just been awarded a Lifetime Production certificate.

In six lactations she produced 68,768 lbs. milk, 4,019 lbs. fat.

She is also a winner of a Silver Medal, four Gold Medals, three Medals of Merit and a Ton of Gold.

Lindell The Oracle's Lucky - 350832 - Ex., received a Ton of Gold certificate. In 1,203 days she produced 2,176 lbs. fat. She also has three Silver and three Gold Medals.

Lindell The Oracle's Duchess, 338424, Ex., also has a Ton of Gold certificate.

In 1,245 days she produced 2,035 lbs. fat. She is a winner of two Silver and two Gold Medals.

Wendybrook Dream's Hanny, 360744, V.G., has been awarded a Ton of Gold certificate. In 1,452 days she produced 2,027 lbs. fat. Hanny is also a winner of two Silver Medals and a Gold Medal. To qualify for this award a cow must produce at least 2,000 lbs. fat in four consecutive years.

Mr. Robinson also presented the Big B athletic awards to Clive Groves, Kevin Merner, Kathy Robinson, Hazel McCulloch and Peter Onegow.

The Fred Gilman award for houses having attained the highest academic standing during 1967-68 school year, presented by Principal Dawson to the Gold House, of which the captains were Sylvia McNab and Wayne MacDonald.

The Torrington trophy for boys' intermural sports 1967-68 presented by T. G. Shepard to the Red House captain, Chris Miller.

The Eastern Rebuilders Trophy for girls' intermural sports 1967-68, presented by Mr. J. Davidson to the Gold House, of which Sylvia MacNab was captain.

Mrs. R. S. McIntosh said the Home and School Scholarship, and the bursary of Missisquoi Chapter IODE could not be awarded until the results of the June examinations were known, this also applied to the honor certificates and the honor pins.

On behalf of the students, Christa Staudenmaier presented Principal Dawson, who is leaving Bedford after four years, with a set of matched luggage.

The guest speaker, Richard Needham, editorial columnist of the Toronto Globe and Mail was introduced by Jill McCaw, who gave a brief outline of Mr. Needham's career.

Mr. Needham spoke of the 40 years which he had spent in the newspaper field, the importance of being interested in daily life, the pleasure and importance of reading and the furtherance of one's education through this means.

He considered that today there is too much emphasis placed on examinations and results.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Hot Drink is Effective As a Summertime Cooler

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

A tall, cold drink to refresh you on a hot day will have just the opposite effect, according to Dr. L. C. Senay Jr. This is because the rate of sweating — nature's own device for cooling your skin — is temporarily reduced until the temperature of your cold drink has been raised to 98.6 degrees or higher.

In one experiment, three volunteers underwent a period of dehydration, then drank a solution of the salinity of the body fluids at body temperature and later at a temperature of 45 to 50 degrees. In each case, drinking the warm drink was accompanied by a secretion of sweat that was more than ample to keep the body temperature from rising but drinking the cold drink caused it to rise.

My advice—drink your iced tea if you prefer, but don't expect it to cool you off as well as a cup of hot tea.

Q—What is Indocin used for?
A—Indomethacin (Indocin) is given to relieve the pain because the rate of sweating — nature's own device for cooling your skin — is temporarily reduced until the temperature of your cold drink has been raised to 98.6 degrees or higher.

Q—Can Indocin be taken indefinitely for arthritis? Does it have any bad side effects, especially regarding glaucoma? Is it a cure or is it given to control the arthritic symptoms?
A—This powerful drug may be taken for prolonged periods but only under careful medical supervision. Its side effects, when too large a dose is given, include headache, dizziness, nausea, diarrhea, mental confusion and asthmatic attacks. There are no reports that it will aggravate glaucoma. Although it is not a cure, it does give welcome symptomatic relief.

Q—What are histamine shots given for? How long should one take them?
A—A small amount of histamine is sometimes injected into the skin to test the adequacy of the arterial circulation. A histamine injection may also be given to test the ability of the stomach to produce acid. I suspect, however, that the shots you are referring to are the antihistamine shots used to treat hay fever and other allergies. The number of injections and duration of the treatment must be determined by your doctor.

CROWD WAITS FOR OPENING — The above picture was taken Wednesday morning just after Rayfels Style Shop opened for their annual Sweeper Sale, and to control the huge gathering, extra employees were on hand to greet the buyers. There was little time wasted though, as shoppers entered by the front entrance at 172 Wellington Street North, and exited by the Webster Parking Lot door, practically everyone clutching garments they saved on. (Record photos - R. J. Chiasson)

Were You There?

RAYFELS ANNUAL SWEEPER SALE
IN FULL SWING

Which started Wednesday morning . . . and the excitement has just begun!

There are thousands of seasonal clothing items every woman dreams of, and at THE BIGGEST SAVINGS to be found in the region!

On the main floor crowds of women are finding the dresses, suits and other clothes they've waited to buy, and everyone is showing delight at the wonderful quality and low, low prices.

It's always a pleasure shopping Rayfels . . . the store is air conditioned!

Rayfels' sportswear department looked like this Wednesday morning . . . overjoyed women everywhere, picking up the specials they can only expect to find at this store, during this "once-a-year" sweeper sale, which has been held for 24 consecutive years!

Of course your credit is good at Rayfels!

WHAT'S ALL THE EXCITEMENT ABOUT?

It all started when Rayfels advertised specials like this:

SKIRTS $1 ⁸⁸	DRESSES $4 ⁸⁸
SWEATERS $3 ⁸⁸	2 PIECE ENSEMBLES $2 ⁸⁸

A happy sight like this, taken Wednesday at Rayfels in the lower level department, will undoubtedly add to the popularity and fame of this store's Sweeper Sale . . . be sure, the good news will spread, and make sure you are among the thrifty shoppers who'll benefit from the specials and "way-down" values being presented during this limited-time sale.

Financial report from Greenshields Ltd.

Stock Indices at close yesterday Montreal industrial averages up 25, Toronto up 23, New York up 6.67.

Northwest Industries Ltd., wholly-owned subsidiary of CAE Industries Ltd., said it is opening an aircraft sales and service facility at Winnipeg international airport to serve markets in eastern Saskatchewan, Manitoba and northern Ontario.

Massey-Ferguson because of the strike of its employees which ended last weekend, Massey-Ferguson Ltd. said that it has lost a good deal of the year's combine market which cannot be recovered in 1968.

The company must absorb these losses this year. Because parity with U.S. labor rates was not obtained by its Canadian workers, the company's operations in Canada will not be abandoned, as previously threatened and could provide a basis for their expansion.

Earnings of Canada Cement Co. Ltd. for the current fiscal year ending April 30, 1968, are expected to be "encouragingly improved" over last year, J. Taylor Kennedy, President and General Manager, informed the annual meeting. He said the current year is already showing signs of a gradual recovery from last year's levels.

Card of Thanks
BARTON—Elizabeth Beatrice Smith: We wish to extend our most sincere and heartfelt thanks to all our relatives, neighbors and friends for their acts of kindness, thoughtfulness and consideration during the illness and death of a wonderful helpmate, wife and mother; thanks for the profusion of flowers from far and near; for all the cards of sympathy, personal calls and telephone calls, and a very special thanks to the Sherbrooke Police Detachment who so ably aided at the time of funeral procession on June 24th, 1968 during the St. Jean de Baptiste parade. Also to Canon J. D. Franklin and Rev. Robert Jervis-Read, to all doctors, nurses and nursing assistants at Sherbrooke Hospital, to one and all, most sincere and heartfelt Thank You.
DOUGLAS (husband) AND FAMILY
JAMES, NANCY AND STEPHEN

MACDONALD — I would like to thank this time to express my most sincere thanks to all my friends and relatives in Milan, Scotland, Lennoxville and Sherbrooke who made my eighty-eighth birthday celebration a most enjoyable and pleasant occasion for me. Your kindness and thoughtfulness will always be remembered. May the good Lord bless you one and all.
MRS. ANNE MACDONALD
Milan, Que.

SIMPSON — I would like to express my sincere thanks to everyone for the lovely flowers, the cards and other remembrances I received during my stay in the Sherbrooke Hospital. For the food and help upon my return home. My thanks to Dr. Bonin, Dr. Paulette, and the hospital nursing staff, for their kindness to me. Your thoughtfulness will always be appreciated.
MRS. EDWARD (Ruby) SIMPSON
Rock Island, Que.

WILLARD — I would like to thank Drs. Lowry and Mills, orderlies, nurses and all who were so good to me both times I was in the hospital this last month. To all who were so kind to bring my wife to see me, sent cards or came to see me and for the nice basket of fruit from the Busy Bees. God bless you, everyone.

Parental rights

MONTREAL (CP) — The Federation of Quebec Parents' Associations is conducting an investigation into the problem of upholding parental rights regarding choice of education for their children.

Gang raided

ST. VALENTINE, Que. (CP) — Four young men and a 20-year-old girl, all alleged members of the Satan's Choice motorcycle gang, were arrested Wednesday in a farmhouse which served as the gang's headquarters.

New heart's ok

MONTREAL (CP) — A bulletin issued at 6:11 p.m. by the Montreal Heart Institute says the convalescence of Gaetan Paris, Canada's second heart transplant patient, is progressing normally.

RIOT EQUIPMENT FOR POLICE — Police constable models new anti-riot equipment acquired by Montreal police for future disturbances following the bloody St. Jean Baptiste Day battle between police and demonstrators. Equipment consists of face masks, long plastic shields and long batons. The equipment will be issued to members of a specially-trained force currently being formed. (CP Wirephoto)

QUEBEC SCENE: Johnson under observation

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson, ailing on the eve of a scheduled visit with President de Gaulle in France, Wednesday was admitted to a hospital where he was placed under observation of a heart specialist.

There was no immediate word on the 53-year-old premier's condition from medical sources, but aides said the premier is suffering from effects of a heavy cold and is weary from overwork.

No changes were announced in plans for the premier to pay a two-week July visit to France and Britain. One source said Mr. Johnson would certainly be on the reviewing stand next to Gen. de Gaulle in Paris for the Bastille Day parade July 14.

Family planning clinic to open

OTTAWA (CP) — A young obstetrician and his wife, a nurse, are the driving force behind a family planning clinic being opened here by Ottawa's Planned Parenthood Association.

Dr. William Burgess and his wife, Judy, are outspoken advocates of the benefits of family planning.

A native of Ottawa, Dr. Burgess recently returned from Cleveland where he had been furthering his education.

Mrs. Burgess, who holds a bachelor of science degree in nursing, was a public health nurse with the Cleveland family planning clinic.

The new clinic, to be staffed by doctors, nurses and a social worker, is being set up to offer information and advice to people who cannot afford to visit a doctor or who cannot get to the Civic Hospital's clinic.

The new clinic's staff will be made up of volunteers, and Dr. Burgess expects that 50 patients will be treated every night the clinic is open.

Referrals would be made through the family service centre and other social agencies.

EASE WELFARE BURDEN
Dr. Burgess says proper family planning among the underprivileged would eventually eliminate much of the poverty experienced by this group and in addition would help reduce welfare costs.

"We have to tackle the problem before it arises," he said. "We want to get to mothers, to be able to educate them so they in turn can educate their daughters."

The new clinic would offer family planning advice to single girls, he said.

"However, we won't prescribe birth control devices or pills until the girl has had counselling from a social worker and has her family's permission if she is under 21."

"All single girls who come to us will get counselling, but we aren't setting up an agency to provide birth control for them unless the situation really warrants it."

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Frost, of Lennoxville, have returned from Louisville, Ken., where they attended the 50th anniversary of the Optimists Convention. Among the highlights included in the program was the Stephen Foster Story, at Bardonia, Ken., and a cruise on the Ohio River, on the steamboat, the Belle of Louisville. En route home they visited a former Sherbrooke resident, Mrs. Harold Way, at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Watts, Downsview, Ont., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robinson, Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCarroll and children Denis and Debby, of Clarkson, Ont., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Murdo MacDonald, Brompton Road.

STITCHIN' TIME

Bored with the same old silhouette? Here's a new approach to summer fashion—a shift with three armholes to make in mother-daughter versions of the gayest possible summertime cottons.

This unusual pattern, with its three armholes, is designed to wrap around, and may be worn with the opening in the front or in the back. It can be stitched up in a couple of hours for there are no buttons, buttonholes, zippers, hooks, snaps, facings or hems to slow down the sewing operation.

The basic dress, with a bare minimum of major pattern pieces, is finished on all raw edges with bias tape. After seaming the long seams, attach the binder to your sewing machine and zip around the neckline, armholes, opening edge and hem.

Select a carefree summer cotton, such as the one with multicolored bubbles on yellow, accented with green tape. Made in terry cloth, it's a perfect beach shift or bathing suit coverup.

It's so quick and easy to sew that smart seamstresses will use the assembly-line technique to make one for each of the girls in the family, as well as one for themselves.

MR. and MRS. HUGH RAMSAY HURLEY

Hurley - Getty vows are exchanged

A pretty wedding took place June 15, 1968, at 2 p.m., in Trinity United Church, when Joan Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Getty became the bride of Mr. Hugh Ramsay Hurley, son of Mrs. J. Edward Hurley, West Bridgewater, Mass., and the late Mr. Hurley. Rev. R. G. Barr officiated at the double ring ceremony and the wedding music was played by Miss K. Harris. Pink and white gladioli were used in decorating the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line floor-length gown of white crepe, the skirt encircled with garlands of Venise lace and seed pearls, which also trimmed the chapel train and elbow-length sleeves. Her elbow-length veil of tulle illusion was held by a coronet of pearls and she carried a Colonial bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and daisies.

Mrs. Warren Greene, of West Bridgewater, Mass., as matron of honor, was in a floor-length gown of aqua boucle, fashioned with a bodice of white lace over taffeta. Her headdress was an aqua pillbox and she carried a Colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Henry Hurley, of Keene, N.H., sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Betty Coldbeck, of Calgary, Alta., wore dresses identical to that of the matron of honor and carried Colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

Mr. Henry Hurley, brother of the groom, acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. James Getty, brother of the bride, Wilfred Howard, Harold Anderson and Theodore Burba.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Getty, chose a light blue dress with a lace coat, white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Hurley, mother of the groom, wore a blue and gold crepe dress with blue accessories. Her corsage was of yellow carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Connaught Inn, North Hatley.

Later, the couple left on a wedding trip to Quebec City and area, the bride travelling in a two-piece dress of blue linen with coordinating blue and grey jacket, patent accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Guests were from West Bridgewater, Mass., Barton, Vt., Georgeville, Rock Island, St. Hubert, Beebe, Graniteville, Lennoxville, Que.; Ottawa, Ont., and Calgary, Alta.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurley are residing at 113 Howard Street, in West Bridgewater.

Included in those who entertained at showers for Mrs. Hurley, prior to her marriage, were Mrs. Arnold Baker, Miss Janet Baker, Mrs. Cecil Shuffelt, Mrs. John Neil, Miss Patsy Nobes, Mrs. Rodney Brand and the Misses Sandra and Patsy Brand, Mrs. Forest Rollins and Mrs. Howard Major, of Rock Island and Mrs. Warren Greene, of West Bridgewater, Mass.

Seven common major makeup errors

MONTREAL (CP) — Most women make from one to seven major errors when they apply their makeup, says beauty expert Marc Laurent.

But seven common errors detract noticeably from the flattery of makeup, says Mr. Laurent. These are:

—Eyebrows made up with a difference in pattern or size. Eyebrows should always look exactly alike. Scrutinize each eyebrow carefully before applying color or altering its shape.

—Improper application of eye makeup to create a wide-eyed look. "To create a wide-eyed look leave a small space between the upper and lower eyeliner lines at the outer eye corners."

—Eyelashes jutting out in a direction other than your own lashes. "When applying fashion lashes make sure they follow the same sweep of your own natural lashes. Lay them on top of your own upper lashes and apply the strip to the eyelid as close as possible to the base of your own lashes."

—Lipstick applied all the way around the mouth. "This will make the mouth droop when it is in repose. As men like to see women looking happy, brush on the lip color to a point just short of the inside corners of the mouth so the lips will look naturally pleasant."

—An over-powdered look. "Never finish makeup with an over-powdered look. Press the powder on with a puff and then whisk off the excess with a soft powder brush or the back of an immaculately clean puff."

—Failure to blend makeup along chin and neckline. "Makeup should be blended down over the chin to eliminate any line of demarcation. When the face and neck differ in color, part of the beautiful illusion is lost."

—Wavering lines and smudges. "Practise applying makeup until your techniques are perfect. Wavering lines and smudges are not conducive to fashionable beauty and makeup should never impart a made-up look on the discriminating woman."

Mr. Laurent says the shape of the eyes is not important in creating the continental look. Rather it is the color applied to them.

That means a blending of tone on tone, as one shade will no longer suffice.

In the new collection of Gemme eye makeup, subtle colors of mushroom or sunlight help to achieve the continental look. The colors have a transparent quality to create magnificent optical illusions, he says.

Service woman plans new basic uniforms

OTTAWA (CP) — Clothing designer Maite, a willowy green-eyed blonde who radiates femininity, had a double-barrelled reason for designing the new basic uniform and raincoat for women in the Canadian Armed Forces.

She is a service woman herself as well as an Ottawa designer striving for recognition.

Interviewed in the tiny but opulent waiting room of her shop not far from the exclusive residential district of Rockcliffe, 37-year-old Maite (pronounced Ma-h-e-e-tay) talked about fashion and how she got into the swing of it.

"The part I like best about my work is designing evening and bridal wear," she said. Several delicate evening coats and gowns hanging in the room attested to her fondness of working with lace, rich peau de sole and satin.

"I don't particularly go in for faddish styles. I like individual clothes."

"Someone has said: 'A woman's fashions may change, but never her designs.' This I believe. It's a motto I've sort of adopted."

"I don't just like making clothes. You try to bring out a person's character. I suppose that's why I never went into manufacturing."

KEEPS LINES SIMPLE
Despite her love of individuality, Maite—in private life Yvette Demers and an army captain—understands a service woman's clothing needs.

"I have served in the reserves since 1957 and was on continuous army duty for a couple of years. Of course the uniform was a pet project of mine."

Recently the defence department announced that her work—a green suit and gabardine raincoat designed for wear by the more than 1,700 service women—would be given user trials late this summer.

The suit has a single-breasted, semi-fitted jacket of waist length fastened by three buttons. The skirt is a simple, modified A-line.

The raincoat, again emphasizing simple, straight lines, has hidden fasteners and a rounded collar.

"The old uniform served its purpose but it was time for a change," Maite said.

"I knew there would be all types of girls wearing the new one and I wanted it to be smart, flattering to all figure types, and easy to care for. It had to be military but also feminine."

"A person wants to wear any uniform with pride, but I think girls should remain girls."

TOOK DESIGN COURSE
Maite, who grew up in Pembroke Ont., took her first job as a civil servant at the nearby Petawawa military base. She went to Winnipeg in 1957, enrolled in the militia and, as well, joined Air Canada as a hostess.

A year later she was transferred to Montreal and while there visited an exhibition at the Cotnoir Capponi technical school of dress designing and dressmaking.

"Some of their graduates work in the Dior house in Paris. I couldn't help but be impressed."

Gore Women's Institute holds busy June meeting, appoints delegates

GORE — The meeting of the Women's Institute was held on June 22 at the home of Mrs. Myriin Griffith with 17 members answering the roll call by giving a suggestion for the right meal for a left husband.

Letters of thanks were read from the Cecil Butter's Home for diapers sent; from Miss J. Gilchrist for a wedding gift; and from C. Rodgers for a ticket to Man and His World, in appreciation of the picnic signs he had made.

Mrs. Thom, citizenship convener, reported that 21 Christmas stockings had been filled and sent to Save the Children headquarters.

A card was signed and given to Mrs. Wayne Griffith, congratulating her on her 5th wedding anniversary. She was also presented with a baby bank and a silver collection.

Mrs. S. Husk mentioned the planned opening of the historical museum in Melbourne and extended an invitation to those who wished to attend. Twenty copies of the second edition of Annals of Richmond County and Vicinity were ordered.

NAME DELEGATES
Delegates to the county meetings, to be held at St. Francis High School on July 18, are Miss Watt, Mrs. Vogelsanger and Mrs. Husk. Articles for the sales tables are to be brought by Mrs. B. Gunter, Mrs. H. Gunter and Mrs. D. Hughes.

The ways and means committee had completed a cookbook of recipes for squares and cookies and 23 of these were sold at 35 cents each.

The trip to Sherbrooke on Aug. 23, to meet Mrs. Dutt, National President, was discussed and five members hope to attend.

Birchton

Mr. and Mrs. John Gosselein, New Amhurstburg, Ont., were guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Louis Gosselein and Miss Susan, while here to attend the Gosselein-Blouin wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Seymour and family, Woodstock, Ont., were weekend guests of Mrs. Seymour's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie MacCallum.

Mr. Ed Prescott, Bury, was a guest of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr and Mrs. Basil Prescott, for a couple of days.

Mrs. Hattie Henderson, who has been spending some time with Mrs. F. Glass, Lennoxville, spent the weekend at her home.

Miss Florence Chute, who has been employed in Sherbrooke, is spending some time at her home. Her sister, Mrs. Bernice Cloutier, is visiting her son, Mr. John Cloutier, Mrs. Cloutier and family in Peabody, Mass.

Mr. Joseph Vanier, Sherbrooke, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Beaudry, Sherbrooke, visited his daughter, Mrs. Clifton Stowe and Mr. Stowe.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Murray, Scotstown, were callers at the Murray home.

Mrs. Troy Smith and two sons are spending a holiday with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Damon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jenne and family, Lennoxville, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Richards and family.

WINS THIRD PRIZE

Mrs. Fallona congratulated the members who had written, and those who had presented the play, Centennial Plus One at Macdonald College on June 19. The play was awarded third prize; with Chateaugay winning first and Brome, second. Mrs. J. Scott and Mrs. E. Vogelsanger gave an excellent report of the convention, at which they were delegates. Six other members attended on June 19. Mrs. G. Coote acted as auctioneer for the bake goods, which members had brought, and $8.65 was added to the funds. Mrs. C. Nixon won the drawing.

Due to conflicting events and the impending absence of the president on a trip to England, it was decided to hold the next meeting on Aug. 10 at the home of Mrs. Rachel Johnson, when each member is to bring a guest. The assisting hostesses are to be Miss Watt, Mrs. Thom, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Melvin Griffith.

Later supper was served, with Mrs. W. Griffith and Mrs. Husk as co-hostesses, and Mrs. I. Griffith and Miss Jennifer Griffith assisting in serving.

Miners down Als 12-8 to extend lead, Plessisville here tonight

Thetford Miners pounded Sherbrooke Alouettes for six runs in the bottom of the sixth inning last night at the Park Avenue Stadium to sweep past the locals 12-8. A good crowd of 1,588 local fans watched the Als drop to four and a half games behind the Miners.

In other Wednesday night action in the Provincial Baseball League, Plessisville moved into third place as they drowned the bottom-placed Lachine Mets 8-6. Quebec slipped past the Drummondville Royals 2-1 in one other Provincial League game last night.

Sherbrooke will be back home again tonight and tomorrow night to face the Plessisville Braves and Lachine Mets. In other action in the Provincial League this evening Lachine travels to Drummondville while the Granby Cardinals play host to front-running Thetford.

Als' new left-handed hurler, Dick Williams, was relieved in the sixth inning by Ray Jusino. In his debut with the Als, Williams was charged with eight runs, six of which were earned, allowed seven hits, walked six Miners and struck out three. The young southpaw surprised local fans with his lack of control, especially in the early innings, giving up four walks in the first three frames. When Williams left the game the score was tied 6-6. Miners opened the scoring in the third with three runs on a pair of doubles by Kaiser and Felix de Leon. Walks to starting pitcher Pedro Roman and leftfielder Al Sommerstan set up the runs. Sherbrooke came back in their half of the third with three runs on singles by Ridley and Felipe, a wild pitch, an error and two walks.

Thetford added another in the fourth on a run-scoring single by lead-off hitter Bill Bouvier. A walk and a stolen base by Chevallier set up the tie-breaking run. Als scored two in the bottom of the fourth. Shortstop de Leon walked, Madison singled and Jim Ridley tripled off of the centre-field wall to score both runs. Sherbrooke added one more in the bottom of the fifth on Sabather's run scoring single. Pace was on second at the time.

Yvon Gervais relieved starter Pedro Roman at the two-thirds mark of the fourth inning. He was relieved by George Shoemaker in the fifth after allowing one run as a result of Sabather's single.

In the top of the sixth Thetford broke loose for six runs on five hits and two errors. Chevallier led off with a single followed by Frias who also singled sending Chevallier to third. An error to Sabather caused a run to score centrefield wall to drive home two more runs and put Thetford ahead 10-6. Sherbrooke picked up a run in the bottom of the sixth on a long homer by Erasmo Felipe.

Erasmo Felipe finally gave fans what they wanted to see last night as he connected a high fast-ball and sent it spiraling deep over the right-center-field wall.

An interesting side-note of the contest was the ejection of Thetford manager Billy Bates from the game.

Bates was thrown out of the game after objecting rather vigorously to two calls made by home plate umpire, Andre Larente.

Sherbrooke's growing problem seems to be the stability of their pitching staff, with at present only two of the Als' hurling contingent showing favorable records. Chaviano is 6-1 while Sierra is 5-3. Sierra will be working on the mound tonight when the locals go against Plessisville. Chaviano or Martinez will do the honors tomorrow evening.

Williams was given the loss last night, 0-1, while George Shoemaker picked up the win for Thetford. Miners' pitchers were charged with three wild pitches, one which caused a run to score.

Cleveland nips Minnesota 1-0 as Orioles sweep twinbill from Chicago

Cleveland's Luis Tiant threw 135 pitches against Minnesota Twins Wednesday night and 101 were strikes. The other 34?

"I don't have good control like I usually have," explained Tiant, whose 19 strikeouts helped him break one major league record and tie another in the Indians' 1-0 10th inning victory over the Twins.

In other American League action Baltimore Orioles swept a doubleheader from Chicago White Sox 3-1 and 1-0. New York Yankees dropped Washington Senators 4-1. Detroit Tigers defeated California Angels 5-2 and Boston Red Sox edged Oakland Athletics 4-3 in 11 innings.

Tiant's 19 strikeouts gave him a two-game total of 32, breaking the record held by Sandy Koufax, and a three-game total of 41, tying the mark set by Koufax in 1959.

Tiant's three-game total was one better than the 40 strikeouts team-mate Sam McDowell accumulated for the AL record earlier this season. His 10th inning total of 19 was two short of Tom Cheney's extra-inning record of 21 set in 1962 for Washington.

HAS BEST AVERAGE
Tiant struck out the side three times—the last one in the 10th when the Twins got runners at first and third with none out.

The shutout was Tiant's seventh this season and lowered his earned run average to 1.11—best in the American League.

The Indians got the game's only run in the 10th when Lou Johnson beat out an infield hit.

Norman Houle and Andre Caya stage hurler's duel in LL, two games on tap tonight

Norman Houle and Andre Caya put on a pitchers dual last night in the Red Sox-White Sox game which ended in a 2-2 tie. Both pitchers allowed only four scattered hits. Houle was a bit ahead on the strikeout route as he fanned 11 men while Caya sent six men out by the strikeout.

In the other game played, Indians posted their second straight win in two starts this week taking a 6-1 win over Tigers. Tonight Yankees visit Orioles and Senators and Twins clash, both games at the Paradise Grounds.

Norman Houle's home run in the last of the sixth gave his team the tie with the Red Sox. Amadee Roy's boys were ahead 2-1 at this stage. White Sox, on a hit by Pierre Breault in the third inning, had taken a one-run lead.

Red Sox made it 1-1 in the top of the fourth on Daniel Caron's circuit clout. Top of the sixth the Red Sox, on a hit by Caya and an error, took a 2-1 lead. Houle's homer in the last of the sixth saved the game for the White Sox as it finished 2-2. Both teams played well with Houle and Caya the big men.

Indians are forging ahead in the league standing and last night's 6-1 defeat they handed the Tigers now gives them an eight-point lead. Tigers took a one-run lead in the top of the first inning on hits by Roger Roy and Mario Rosa.

Indians went scoreless until the bottom of the third when they came up with three runs when Jacques Lambert, with a double, drove him home. Yves Longpre, next batter, with a homer drove Lambert across the plate to make it 3-7 in the Indians' favor.

A base on balls, hits by Lambert and Longpre in the last of the fifth gave the Indians three more runs and this is how it finished as Denis Choquette, Indian's hurler, kept the Tigers scoreless from the first inning on. Choquette, Longpre, and Lambert were the Indians big men. Roy and Rosa were the best for the Tigers.

Braves down Giants 2-0 as St. Louis edges L A Dodgers 2-1, Pirates win

Milt Pappas, who wanted all Cincinnati Reds to travel first class, is pitching just that way for the Atlanta Braves.

Pappas, the Reds' player representative until he was traded three weeks ago, turned in another sparkling performance for the Braves Wednesday as they defeated San Francisco Giants 2-0.

The 29-year-old right-hander encountered various problems with Cincinnati management, including his fight for first class seats on airplanes for all the players.

The travel feud stemmed from the Reds' policy of handing first class airplane seats to front office personnel, the manager, coaches, press, radio and television people before allocating them to the players. Those players who didn't make it into the first-class section went tourist.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, St. Louis Cardinals edged Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1, Pittsburgh Pirates walloped New York Mets 8-1, Philadelphia Phillies edged Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Cincinnati trimmed Houston Astros 9-7.

ALLOWS SIX HITS
Pappas allowed just six hits. His seven shutout innings raised his total of consecutive scoreless innings to 21 2-3. Pappas received support from Felipe Alou's homer and Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly.

The Cardinals downed the Dodgers for the third straight time, Orlando Cepeda scoring the winning run in the eighth inning on John Edwards' sacrifice fly. Cepeda walked ad went to third as Mike Shannon doubled.

Home runs by Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon powered a four-run uprising in the fourth innig that carried Pittsburgh past New York.

Mike Ryan's run-scoring single in the fourth turned out to be the decisive hit for Philadelphia.

Cincinnati rallied for three runs with two out in the ninth inning for its victory over Houston. Tony Perez doubled home the tying run and scored the lead run on Johnny Bench's single.
