TASCHEREAU RETURNED WITH A LARGER FOLLOWING Sherbrooke Again Elects Conservative - Comment On U. S. Ruling

Liberal Party's Majority In Quebec Legislature Is Increased By Eight Seats

There Were Several Interesting Features in Election, Not Least Noteworthy Being Clean Sweep Mr. Taschereau Made of Quebec City and District - Quebec County and Quebec Centre Were Returned to Liberal Fold - Arrests at Montreal - Five Conservatives Were Returned from Island of Montreal - No Statement Has Yet Been Made by Arthur Sauve, Conservative Leader, and Much Interest Surrounds His Expected Declaration.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

MONTREAL, QUE., May 17.—"A striking approbation of the policy of progress, initiative, sane administration and of the union of the best elements of our people," was how Premier Alexandre Taschereau characterized the result of the Provincial general election yesterday in which his government, already in a powerful majority in the last legislature, was returned with even a greater following. Of the eighty-five seats that constitute the Legislative Assembly, the Liberal party captured seventy-two outright and had a claim on two more, the candidates in St. Maurice and Charlevoix-Saguenay being elected as Independent-Liberals. The Conservatives, who had eighteen members in the last House, saw this representation reduced to ten. Of these five were from the Island of Montreal, including William Tremblay, who presented himself as a Labor man, but was put up at a Conservative convention. The election still remains to be carried out in Gaspé, where the poll was deferred until next Monday, May 23rd.

No statement has yet been given out by Arthur Sauve, the Conservative leader, and much interest surrounds his expected declaration. During the campaign Mr. Sauve made it clear that if he were not returned with a majority he would resign the leadership of the party.

SIX MONTREAL DIVISIONS CAPTURED BY LIBERALS AND NONE YIELDED IN RETURN

There were several interesting features in the election, not the least noteworthy being the clean sweep Mr. Taschereau made of Quebec City and district. Quebec County and Quebec Centre were restored to the Government fold. In Hull, the Conservative candidate faced a divided Liberal electorate, there being no fewer than three Liberals in the fight. The Oppositionist got the benefit of this decision. Three Rivers was the only other seat gained by the Conservatives from the Government, with M. L. Duplessis taking the riding. Six Montreal divisions were captured by the Liberals and none yielded in return.

TASCHEREAU WILL CONTINUE TO PURSUE POLICY HE HAS FOLLOWED IN LEGISLATURE

Mr. Taschereau has frequently reiterated that he will continue to pursue the policy which he has followed in the Legislature, the encouragement of capital into Quebec, the exploitation of the natural resources of the Province, and the development of the hydro-electric power. The Premier was charged with turning over the resources to foreign interests, but scouted the charge with the statement that the exploitation of the Province was open to all and no one was favored.

SEVERAL ARRESTS MADE IN MONTREAL - CONSERVATIVE THREATENS COURT ACTION

One of the sensations of the election day was the announcement of Louis Fitch, Conservative candidate in St. Louis, that he had been arrested at his house early in the morning and afterwards released. Mr. Fitch stated he had entered a suit for $2,000 against the city of Montreal for false arrest.

Seventy men were taken into custody during the day on suspicion and were released on bail. In the Mercier division of Montreal seven ballot boxes were sealed before the ballots in them were counted. This may affect the election of Dr. Plante.

SHERBROOKE COUNTY AGAIN UNDER CONSERVATIVE BANNER WHEN MR. A. C. CREPEAU IS RE-ELECTED FOR SECOND TERM AS PROVINCIAL REPRESENTATIVE

The electors of Sherbrooke County for a second time placed their confidence in Mr. Armand C. Crepeau in the Provincial elections yesterday when they gave him a majority of a little over four hundred over his opponent, Mr. J. Cyrenus Morin (Liberal). Mr. Crepeau's majority over Mr. C. E. Therrien (Liberal) in the bye-election of 1923 was 204, half of that secured in the present voting.

With Mr. Crepeau's re-election Sherbrooke County again goes under the Conservative banner. For some twenty years previous to 1923 Sherbrooke had been a Liberal stronghold, each year the people sending a Liberal candidate to the Ancient Capital. Then in 1923 the situation was changed and Sherbrooke found itself with three candidates in the field, Messrs. O'Ready, (Conservative), Dr. L. Forest (Liberal) and C. Cabana, (Independent). Mr. O'Ready was the choice and went to Quebec as the first Conservative candidate to represent Sherbrooke in a quarter of a century. Shortly after his election fate would otherwise and upon his death a bye-election was necessitated, which was held on in 1924, when Mr. Crepeau ran as the Conservative candidate and Mr. C. E. Therrien, as Liberal. Voting throughout the county yesterday was quite brisk, especially in the afternoon, although some of the officials remarked that at their polls they had not been over-crowded.

The polls closed at seven o'clock (summer time) and shortly after the results started coming in. Within an hour practically all the city polls had been heard from. Mr. Eugene Oliver, the returning officer, received the ballot boxes and kindly allowed members of the members of the press to be present at his office and to use his phone in broadcasting the results. Mr. Oliver's kindness was of great assistance in getting the results to the public quickly and efficiently.

As soon as the results reached (Continued on page 10)

Declares Canadians Will Have No Trouble In Crossing Border Into United States

Washington Post Says Canada Has No Basis for Finding Fault With a Rule that Excludes Aliens Who Attempt to Enter United States in Disregard of U.S. Law.

(Canadian Press Despatch) WASHINGTON, D.C., May 17.—The Washington Post, which strongly supports the Coolidge Administration, in an article today says:

There is excitement in Canada over the American immigration order that will exclude a few aliens masquerading as Canadians. About 20,000 workers cross the line daily, mostly between Windsor and Detroit. All of them are required to pay head tax, but Canadian citizens will have no difficulty in going and coming. There are in Canada, however, a few aliens who have found the United States more attractive than Canada, and they have been working on this side. They will be excluded unless they can obtain quota numbers from the country of their origin.

"Canada has no basis for finding fault with a rule that excludes aliens who attempt to enter this country in disregard of the law, but Canada may well be concerned with the movement of her citizens to this country. Last year Canada lost 100,000 of these citizens, mostly young and ambitious men. Their emigration greatly offsets the influx of fresh blood into Canada from Europe. Canada finds it difficult to hold these immigrants, as they soon discover that they can obtain profitable employment in the United States. The new order, which will exclude them from this country, will operate to the advantage of Canada."

The Post goes on to refer to the "undesirable elements" and says "sooner or later the quota rule must be applied against Mexico." The Post also refers to deportable aliens and the difficulty every country has in meeting demands that its nationals abroad be taken back because they are insane or public charges.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS RIDINGS HAVE EXACTLY SAME REPRESENTATIVES AS IN LAST QUEBEC LEGISLATURE

PARTY representation in the next Quebec Legislature as far as the Eastern Townships district is concerned remains the same as in the last House as the result of the general elections held yesterday. As was the case in the last general election on February 5th, 1923, with the single exception of Sherbrooke County, the Eastern Townships returned a solid vote in favor of the Taschereau Government. In fact, in the majority of counties the Liberal candidate polled larger majorities than was the case in the previous election, while two of the Eastern Townships constituencies, Shefford and Wolfe, went Liberal by acclamation.

- The most outstanding victory registered was that of Hon. L. Lapierre, of Thetford Mines, Minister without portfolio in the last cabinet, with a majority of 2454 over his Conservative opponent, Mr. H. A. Chabot, of Black Lake, which was even an increase over his outstanding majority in the last general election against Mr. A. Provencher (Conservative). The Liberal majorities in Stanstead and Missisquoi were reduced as compared with the figures in the previous election. Another feature of the returns is that the Eastern Townships will be represented by exactly the same members that sat in the last Legislature. A summary of the results in the Eastern Townships follows: ARTHABASKA—Hon. J. E. Perrault (Liberal), re-elected. BROME—W. R. Oliver (Liberal) re-elected by a majority of 606 over F. Fyles (Conservative) and L. J. Beaugard (Independent). COMPTON—Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, (Liberal) re-elected by a majority of 1,275 over E. B. Girard (Conservative). DRUMMOND—H. Laferte (Liberal) re-elected over M. Blanchard (Conservative). FRONTENAC—G. Baillargeon (Liberal) re-elected by a majority of 900 over J. B. Mathieu (Conservative). MISSISQUI—A Saurette (Liberal) re-elected by a majority of 731 over H. Bisillon (Conservative). MEGANTIC—Hon. L. Lapierre (Liberal), Minister of Labor without portfolio, elected by a majority of 2454 over A. H. Chabot (Conservative). RICHMOND—S. E. Desmarais (Liberal) re-elected by a majority of 731 over J. N. Ponton (Conservative). SHEFFORD—W. S. Bullock (Liberal) re-elected by acclamation. STANSTEAD—A. J. Bissonnette (Liberal) re-elected by a majority of 707 over J. B. Bertrand (Conservative). SHERBROOKE—A. C. Crepeau (Conservative) re-elected by a majority of 409 over J. C. Morin (Liberal). WOLFE—Dr. J. P. C. Lemieux (Liberal) re-elected by acclamation.

General Review Of The Political History Of The Eastern Townships

Each County of Eastern Townships Has Added Its Chapter of Interest to Story—Glance Back Over Past Reveals Large Number of Men Prominent in Activities of Their Day.

THE Eastern Townships districts have played no minor role in the political drama of the Province of Quebec, and a glance over the back pages of the political history of this district reveals the names of many illustrious men of other days, as well as present day leaders who have contributed much to the welfare of the Province in other realms than that of politics alone.

Sixteen General Elections Since 1867. Since 1867 the Province of Quebec has had sixteen general elections, the dates being: 1867, 1871, 1875, 1878, 1881, 1886, 1890, 1892, 1897, 1900, 1904, 1908, 1912, 1916, 1919, 1923 and the present election. It is interesting to note that in 1867 there were 161,800 electors registered, whereas in 1923 there were 513,224. There were sixty-five electoral districts in 1867, while in 1923 there were eighty-five. An interesting comparison is also shown in connection with the number of polls opened. In 1867 there were 402 polls and in 1923 the number had increased to 8,532.

The King Has Been Represented By Fourteen Lieut. Governors. During the past sixty years the Province of Quebec has been under fourteen Lieutenant-Governors, acting in the name of the King. These have been: Hon. Sir Narcisse F. Belleau, 1867; Hon. Sir R. E. Caron, 1873; Hon. Sir L. Letellier de Saint-Just, 1876; Sir T. Robitaille, 1867; Hon. Sir L. F. Rodrigue Masson, 1884; Hon. Sir Auguste-Real Angers, 1887; Hon. Sir J. Adolphe Chapleau, 1892; Hon. Sir Louis A. Jette, 1893; Hon. Sir C. A. Pantaion Pelletier, 1908; Hon. Sir Francois Langelier, 1911; Hon. Sir P. E. Leblanc, 1915; the Right Hon. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, 1918; Hon. Louis Philippe Brodeur, 1923 and Hon. Narcisse Perdeau, 1924.

Sixteen Prime Ministers Have Been. The Prime Ministers of the Province since 1867 have been: Hon. P. J. O. Chauveau; Hon. Gedeon Ouimet, 1873; Hon. C. B. Boucherville, 1874; Hon. Henri C. Joly, 1878; J. A. Chapleau, 1879; J. A. Mousseau, 1882; J. J. Ross, 1884; L. O. Taillon, 1887; Hon. H. Mercier, 1887; C. B. Boucherville, 1890; L. O. Taillon, 1892; E. J. Flynn, 1897; F. G. Marchand, 1897; S. N. Parent, 1900; Hon. Sir Lomer Gouin, 1905; Hon. L. A. Taschereau, 1920. Outside of the part which the Eastern Townships district has played in the Province of Quebec, it has also its own interesting story (Continued on page 10)

PROHIBITION IN U. S. DISCUSSED BY MACDONALD

Believes Prohibition Is Great Praiseworthy Effort to Keep People Decent and Does Not Merit Sneers of Visitors Who Find It a Subject for Smartness.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Ramsay MacDonald, former British prime minister, who is just completing a month's visit to the United States, believes that prohibition is a great praiseworthy effort to keep people decent and does not merit the sneers of visitors who find it a subject for smartness.

A little wain from his three weeks' illness, but with ample spirit in his voice, Mr. MacDonald, who would not permit himself to discuss any of the domestic affairs of the United States, broke his self-imposed restriction enough to declare that he would take no part in the sneers of foreign visitors on prohibition.

MEXICO CITY, May 17.—Fifty rebels, said by the government to have been members of a group led by three Roman Catholic priests, have been killed in an encounter with federal forces in the state of Jalisco, it was officially announced today.

STATEMENTS BY TWO CANDIDATES IN SHERBROOKE

Express Themselves as Pleased that Strenuous Campaign Is Now at an End—Monster Parade Held in Honor of Elected Candidate—Large Section of City Covered.

ELECTORS THANKED FOR SUPPORT BY MR. CREPEAU

Mr. J. C. Morin Pleased that Although He Lost His Party Carried Day in Provincial Elections—Hon. Jacob Nicol Stated that Fight Was Clean One and No Animosity Resulted—Will Be Able to Co-operate for Good of Province.

Mr. Armand C. Crepeau, who was yesterday re-elected Provincial Member for Sherbrooke County. He secured a majority of 409 over his opponent, Mr. J. Cyrenus Morin, Liberal candidate.

THIS morning, both Liberal and Conservative candidates were interviewed by the Record and expressed themselves as being very pleased that the strenuous political campaign was at last completed.

Mr. Crepeau Thanks Electors

Mr. Armand Crepeau, re-elected Conservative candidate, said in part: "I am not surprised at the results in Sherbrooke County. Realizing the devotedness and energy of our good friends during the whole campaign and most especially on voting day, I was certain that the charges of our opponents could not withstand. "We have made gains in all the rural polls and in every ward of the city except the west ward. In the west ward our friends had to face an organization which had been working with interruption during the past two years, but even at that we have shattered the hopes of our opponents. "I am greatly honored at having so many and such good friends, and I wish to express my gratitude to them and to all the electors of the city of Sherbrooke who have supported me. I can assure them that I will do my utmost to represent the City of Sherbrooke with all the dignity which it merits."

Has Done Duty in Campaign

Mr. J. C. Morin, unsuccessful Liberal candidate, in his statement to Record this morning thanked all who had supported him during the past campaign.

"I agreed to be the Liberal candidate," continued Mr. Morin, "thinking that the Taschereau government had given to the province the best administration of the nine provinces of Canada. The electors of Sherbrooke, however, have decided otherwise against the progressive administration of the Taschereau Government, which has received the almost unanimous support of the greater majority of the counties."

"I have no animosity, and I am going back to my work with the feeling that I have done my duty in this campaign, and the results have given me reason to think that the policy that I have supported is really the one demanded by the province."

"I had also expected that the laborers of this county would have liked to be represented at the Provincial House by one of themselves, but as they have decided contrary, I will accept the verdict of the County of Sherbrooke."

Hon. Jacob Nicol Pleased With Results

"The results of the elections are very gratifying," stated Hon. Jacob Nicol to the Record this morning. "Speaking at the end of the past week at Bury and Sawyerville, I predicted that the Conservative party would not take more than twelve seats, and I am glad to see that the Eastern Townships have again supported almost unanimously the Taschereau administration."

"The fight has been a clean one. No animosities have resulted, and both Liberal and Conservative can now get together and work in harmony for the welfare of the Eastern Townships. The government's aim is to forward the construction of good roads, good schools and to help the farmers."

Over Two Hundred Automobiles in Parade for Crepeau

One of the largest political parades ever seen in this city formed up last night, following the publication of the results that gave Mr. Armand Crepeau, Conservative candidate, the right to again represent the County of Sherbrooke in the Provincial House, and lead by a truck containing the band, paraded through the principal streets of the city.

Over two hundred cars made up the contribution of the Conservative party of this county, and the sound made by the blowing of two hundred horns, exploding firecrackers, and the band, plus the excited shouts of the Conservative followers could be heard throughout the major portion of the city.

Mr. Crepeau rode in an open touring car at the head of the parade, surrounded by his supporters, while overhead were banners announcing to all that the Conservative party had won in the County of Sherbrooke.

The parade made a tour of East Sherbrooke, following which the north ward was visited and a trip made through Howard's Park, finally ending up in the west ward.

Unfavorable Weather Is Holding Up Hop-Off In New York-Paris Flight

Indications Today Were that None of Contenders Would Attempt to Start Before Thursday, and By That Time It Is Thought Byrd Will Have Completed His Load Tests and Be Ready for Paris Jump.

NEW YORK, May 17.—An open break between Lloyd Bertaud, navigator of the Bellanca monoplane Columbia and Charles A. Levine, chief backer of its trans-Atlantic flight project, threatened today to eliminate the plane from the triple dash to Paris.

Bertaud's lawyer, Clarence W. Nutt, issued a statement charging Levine with deliberately delaying the take-off of the Columbia in order to allow Commander R. A. E. Byrd's Fokker America and Captain Charles E. Lindbergh's Ryan monoplane Spirit of St. Louis to get away first. This, he asserted, would provide an excuse for cancellation of the Bellanca's flight. Meanwhile continued unfavorable weather caused further postponement of the contemplated flights. Indications were that none of the contenders would attempt a hop-off before Thursday and by that time it was thought Byrd will have completed his load tests and be ready for Paris jump.

Trouble Brewing for Several Days. Dissension among the ranks of the Bellanca entry has been brewing for several days. The original contract between Bertaud and Clarence Chamberlain, the pilot, and the Columbia Aircraft Corporation, owners of the plane, provided that the prize money, estimated at $100,000 be divided equally between the fliers and the company and that the aircraft remain in the employ of the company one year after the Paris flight should it prove successful. Friends of the fliers voiced objections to the proposed division of the prize money and the aviators themselves insisted some financial arrangement be made for their wives. Bertaud also objected to the one year contract clause as he is on leave from the mail service. Chamberlain is regularly employed. (Continued on page 10)

EXAMINATION RESULTS FROM EATON CORNER

Prizes Presented to Members of Elementary School—Personals and Happenings of Interest to Residents of Eaton Corner and Surrounding District.

EATON CORNER, Que., May 17.—On Friday afternoon, May 6th, Miss Ruth Downen, who has been teaching here during the term of 1926-27, closed the school for this season. During the forenoon the pupils and visiting children played games after which they partook of a picnic dinner. In the afternoon a number of the parents and some friends gathered.

Miss Bowen distributed the following prizes for regular attendance, donated by Miss R. Bowen, were won by Mildred Hodge and Evelyn Hodge; the prize offered by Miss Bowen for highest marks in class IV senior was won by Miss Mildred Hodge; Mrs. Hodge donated a prize for the best essay on "How to be Healthy," which was won by Marjorie Winslow; prize for best marks in class IV junior, donated by Miss Bowen, was won by Evelyn Hodge; Mrs. Elbert Phelps gave a prize for best conduct a prize for best handwriting, two prizes for neatness were given by Mrs. Walter Locke and won by Arlene Bellam and Alex Glen; Beryl Locke won the prize for highest per cent in grade III that was given by Miss Bowen; Mrs. J. O'Brien donated a prize for improvement in writing, which was won by Charles Martin; Dwight Little won prize for best marks in Class I, senior, and Arlene Winslow in class I, junior, given by Miss Bowen.

The Misses Marjorie Winslow, Florence Kingsley and Mildred Hodge on behalf of the pupils, presented Miss Bowen with a half dozen silver coffee spoons, a half dozen silver butter spreaders and a butter dish and knife. By these tokens they wished to convey their love and good wishes to their teacher, who had taught them so kindly and well, during the last two terms, not only in their studies but in morals and rules for healthful living. Miss Bowen, in a few fitting phrases expressed her appreciation of the devotion of the loving thoughts behind it. Miss Bowen was also the recipient of other gifts.

The report of the classes is as follows:

DRAPER CORNER SCHOOL CLOSED ON MAY SIXTH

Friends and Parents Assembled—Prizes Distributed—Programme Put On by Children—Personals and Other Brieflets of Interest from Draper's Corner.

DRAPER'S CORNER, Que., May 17.—On May 6th, the closing of the Draper's School took place at 2:30 o'clock. Many interested friends and parents of the children were present and greatly enjoyed the programme, which consisted of songs, in French and English. The different drills and marches were very prettily done, which reflected much credit upon their teacher Miss Merrill.

After the prizes were distributed, a very nice picnic lunch was served by the parents and a treat of ice cream was given by the teacher. Miss Merrill received some very nice presents from her pupils.

A snap was taken of the gathering, after which the party dispersed wishing Miss Merrill a most enjoyable holiday.

General Notes. Miss Merrill has closed her school here after a very successful term and has gone to her home at Eaton. She will return in the fall, much to the satisfaction of the parents.

Mrs. P. N. Draper spent a very pleasant week-end in Coaticook the guest of her cousins, Mr. D. and Mrs. M. T. Barnes.

The neighbors have helped to install a telephone at the home of Mr. P. P. Sisco, which is greatly appreciated by the Sisco family. Mr. Sisco remains about the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bailey and Mr. Wesley Aldrich spent Sunday, May 8th, in Coaticook.

After about four months away with his children, Mr. F. S. Brown has returned home at Woodbine Cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simons, of Huntingville, and Mrs. O. Gagnon and Miss G. Sisco were Sunday guests at Pine Lodge, the home of Mr. H. Coates.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich and family were visiting Mrs. Aldrich's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bailey, on May 8th.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Reg Draper and Mr. H. Allison, were in Rock Island, May 1st, on business.

Miss Grace and Donna Draper accompanied their teacher, Miss B. V. Merrill, to Sherbrooke for the week-end, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Merrill.

NORTH HATLEY SCENE OF W. I. COUNTY MEET

Financial Report Read and Officers Re-Elected—Address Given by Miss McCain—Personals of Interest from North Hatley.

NORTH HATLEY, Que., May 17.—The annual meeting of the Stansstead County W.I. was held at North Hatley on Thursday afternoon, May 12th, with a large attendance of members, delegates, officers, conveners and friends present.

The president, Mrs. LeBaron, presided and the meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada", with Mrs. W. Rexford at the piano. This was followed by the creed. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. LeBaron, of North Hatley, in which she expressed pleasure at the large attendance and sympathy with the cause which promoted good fellowship and improvements in conditions in the communities. Mrs. Bailey, of Ayer's Cliff, made a suitable reply to the sisters in the common cause of that oldest profession for women, "Homemaking", stating that adding to the enjoyment of life was an important factor and that there were many opportunities of doing for others and doing the little things prepared us for doing greater things.

The minutes of the last four meetings were read by the secretary, Mrs. Kezar, and the treasurer reported a true balance May 1926 of $97.12 on hand and the membership of the six clubs one hundred and sixty-six with Beebe leading in number. This year there was a balance of $46.06 on hand and one hundred and fifty-seven members enrolled.

The president, instead of giving an address, merely voiced her appreciation to Mrs. Sargent and Mrs. Kezar for co-operation and carrying on the work successfully, when she was unable through illness to do her part. She proposed thanks for flowers sent her while in the hospital and stated they did more than cheer her room, they cheered her heart as well.

A cordial welcome was given Mrs. Holmes, one of the pioneers of institute work in the county, whose presence is always an inspiration and absence a cause for regret.

The reports from the various clubs showed many activities successfully carried out and certain ones which seemed to fill the greatest need in the community, or provide instruction and entertainment were emphasized. These included, Nursing Association, (at Beebe), historical exhibit, (Tomifobia), helping needy neighbors, sending girls to short course at Lennoxville Child Welfare work and supervised dances, etc.

The conveners' report showed that considerable had been done in the distribution of plants; children looked after, demonstrations in household, ways and means; new Canadians welcomed and sent Christmas cheer and notices of church services and library hours; lectures along educational lines; programme for national holidays carried out; laws regarding women and children studied, institute work well reported in press; interest taken in school fair, and many prizes awarded the children for their exhibits, sales table at County Fair, etc.

The matter of the annual gift to hospital was discussed.

The officers were all re-elected and all of the conveners were re-appointed with the exception of two, who refused to take office again. Miss Ruth Knight, of Beebe, was appointed convener of agriculture to replace Mrs. C. P. Young,

MORE ABOUT HORNED-NOSE

Who doth for knowledge seek and yearn Will ne'er let slip a chance to learn. —Peter Rabbit.

It made Peter Rabbit fidgety just to look at Horned-nose the Rhino. Yes, sir, it did so. And Danny Meadow Mouse was no better. In the first place, Horned-nose had a mean eye. Peter knew it was a mean eye the minute he looked at it. "I hope those bars are stout," whispered Peter.

"They are," said Circus Mouse. "You needn't worry, Horned-nose can't get out of there. My goodness, there would be something doing if he could."

"What would he do?" asked Peter.

"Well, I don't rightly know, because I never saw him outside that cage. But I've heard a lot about him," replied Circus Mouse. "He probably would put his head down and rush at the first person or the first thing he saw. He would put his head down and point that long horn of his at whatever or whoever he happened to see, and then things would happen. I don't think even My Lord the Elephant would care to have any trouble with Horned-nose the Rhino."

"I wish he wouldn't look at me," said Peter. "It makes me nervous to have him look at me."

"Don't worry," squeaked Circus Mouse, "he doesn't see you."

"Of course he sees me," protested Peter. "He's looking straight at me."

"Well, he may see you, but I doubt it," squeaked Circus Mouse. "They say that he can't see anybody a distance away. Folks have to be right in front of him and close to him before he sees them. I guess perhaps that is why he is so short-tempered. Most folks don't like to have other folks get too near until they know all about them. I suppose that Horned-nose the Rhino thinks that by the time he is able to see a person he is altogether too near; so he just puts his head down and rushes headlong."

"If he's such a bad actor as all that, I don't see how they ever got 'im in one of those cages," said Peter.

Circus Mouse shook his head. "I don't know," said he. "I've heard say that some of these men folks dug a hole and covered it over. Then Horned-nose fell into it. Once in it he was helpless, so they got him into a cage. He and Simba the Lion came from the same country. Simba says that the Lion people never bother the Rhino people, and the Rhino people leave the Lion people alone. I guess that Simba knows that their claws could never get through that thick skin of Horned-nose. My, it be nice not to be afraid."

"Yes, indeed it must," said Danny Meadow Mouse, who had been listening to all the talk. "I wish I had a skin that no cat's claws could get through. But I certainly don't want a horn like that on my nose."

Peter and Circus Mouse laughed. The mere thought of little Danny Meadow Mouse with a big horn on his nose was funny. Just then Horned-nose lay down with a grunt in the straw of his cage.

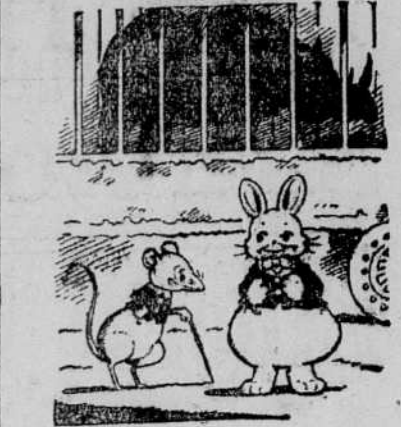

"I declare," said Peter, "I never saw such a homely person in all my life. I never did."

Danny Meadow Mouse chuckled. "How about Bighorn the Hippo?" he ventured.

"It was Peter's turn to chuckle. "They are two of a kind when it comes to beauty," said he. "There's one thing I can tell you. Danny Meadow Mouse, and that is that I am glad that neither Horned-nose nor Bighorn live on the Green Meadows. If they should ever come there, live I should certainly move away. Yes, sir, I should certainly move away."

THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE ASKS FOR DONATION

Rev. A. T. Love, Pastor Christ Church, Sweetsburg, Reviewed Outline of Campaign Now Going On—Personals and Other Newsy Notes from Sweetsburg.

SWEETSBURG, Que., May 17.—At the regular service in Christ Church on Sunday, May 15th, Rev. A. T. Love, M. A., presented the subject dealing with the Jubilee Endowment Campaign for the Montreal Diocesan Theological College, which is located on University Street in the Metropolis.

He gave a very clear conception of the purpose of the campaign, thus enlisting interest in the same, and called attention to the fact that McGill University, of Montreal; Bishop's College, of Lennoxville, and even Queen's University, of Kingston, had, within the past few years, conducted successful campaigns, which put them on a firm financial footing, but never before has the Diocesan Theological College asked for public support, and it is safe to say, never will funds be asked for if the objective of 250,000 is realized.

The college has been doing its work of training men for the ministry of the Church during a period of fifty-four years. During that time the parishes of the diocese of Montreal, especially in the country districts, have been served by men trained in this college, and it is difficult if not impossible to see how the diocese could ever have carried on its work with efficiency had it not been for this training school which was the beneficiary of a gift, in 1896 of the late Mr. A. F. Gault, who gave the present building and equipment and also partly endowed the College, which is the largest single gift ever made to the diocese of Montreal.

Mlle. Juliette Drouin Praises Tanlac

Popular Quebec lady, now in radiant health. Tells how Tanlac built her up.

Mlle. Drouin is widely known and highly respected in Quebec, where she lives at 320 1/2 3rd Avenue. Her friends, delighted at her quick recovery from serious illness, asked her about it.

"For 3 months I was a victim of indigestion," she told them. "I had no desire for food; the faintest meal upset my stomach and caused acute discomfort. Gas, heartburn and sourness followed even the lightest food; I would lie awake all night and rise exhausted every morning."

"Now my friends say 'You're looking fine.' Tanlac has banished all those distressing symptoms. My clear complexion reflects the splendid health I'm enjoying. Each day seems to bring me added strength. Do you wonder that I entuse over Tanlac and recommend it so heartily?"

Tanlac is nature's own tonic, made from herbs, roots and barks. Your druggist has it. If you're below par, get a trial bottle today. Over fifty-two million bottles sold.

ADDRESS HEARD ON CHINA AT COWANSVILLE

Miss Marion Coon, Returned Chinese Missionary, Gave Interesting Talk on Customs of China—Personals and Happenings of Interest from Cowansville and District.

COWANSVILLE, Que., May 17.—On Thursday evening, May 12th, Miss Marion Coon, of Kiating, China, addressed a public meeting in Emmanuel United Church.

In the afternoon, Miss Coon spoke to the pupils of the High School for a short time, and was followed with close attention. At the evening meeting Miss Coon described in a most vivid manner a journey that she with a party, which included Dr. Janet McClure Kibb, niece of Mr. J. McClure, of this place, took to Mount Oma, a place which is considered sacred by the Chinese people and is visited by thousands of pilgrims every year. As one listened to the tale of the sacrifices made, the hardships endured, especially by the women with home feet as they climbed up the rough path to the summit seeking peace and seeking God, one was deeply impressed with their earnestness and zeal.

The speaker sought to impress her audience with a sense of their responsibility to send the Gospel of Christ to these people, many of whom have already accepted Christianity and are faithfully carrying on through their teachers, pastors doctors and nurses the work in the missions, schools, churches and hospitals, during the enforced absence of the missionaries. Miss Coon pleaded that the pupils of the school should be especially remembered in prayer during these trying times.

Rev. S. W. Boyd presided and Mrs. Boyd sang a solo most acceptably. Mrs. McQuat, president of the W.M.S., thanked Miss Coon for her message and assured her of our interest in her work.

General Notes.

Mrs. Mandigo was a recent guest of her brother, Mr. Longeway, in Clareville.

Mr. O. N. Hull, who spent the winter in Montreal, has returned to her home here. Mr. Comire spent the week-end with Mrs. Hull.

RU-BER-OID SLATE SURFACED ASPHALT SHINGLES

Over the Old Roof

RIPPING off old, weather-battered wooden shingles is bothersome, time-wasting work. Inconvenient, too. During the operation your home is exposed to the weather and the lawn and attic become cluttered with old nails, broken shingles and dirt.

You avoid all this when you re-roof with Ru-Ber-Oid Slate Surfaced Asphalt Shingles. You don't need to remove the old roof at all. These good-looking, stubborn-wearing fire-resisting shingles go right over it, providing a staunch, storm-tight roof that will last for years and years. Your roofer or dealer will be glad to show you these Ru-Ber-Oid Shingles. Examine one of them. Note its tough, durable quality. Feel its heavy slate surfacing, made to defy the attacks of wind and weather. Choice of colors, too—Red, Green or Blue-Black—as your fancy dictates.

Ru-Ber-Oid Slate Surfaced Asphalt Shingles are just one of the 50 different varieties of Ru-Ber-Oid Roofings available for every type of building.

Decorate and Protect NOW with "100% Pure" Paint

THE sooner you paint, the better. And the better you paint, the longer your property is protected. On the purity of the paint used depends the cost-saving as well as the surface-saving. The purer the paint, the more surface it covers, and the better it covers.

That is why it pays to use MARTIN-SENOUR "100% PURE" Paint for every job. Only pure ingredients go into it—pure white lead, pure zinc oxide, pure linseed oil and pure turpentine. No substitutes are used, and no adulterations to weaken the resistance of the paint film to the ravages of changing weather.

In MARTIN-SENOUR "100% PURE" Paint, the selected pure linseed oil is filtered and then correctly balanced with the proper proportions of pure white lead and zinc to assure the greatest possible durability and, therefore, the longest life.

Any MARTIN-SENOUR Dealer will give you full and reliable information on what to use, how to use it and how much is required for any painting job. Make use of his services.

Our free booklets "Home Painting made Easy" and "Good Varnish" will be mailed free to any address on request. Write Head Office, Montreal.

and the charts were explained in a manner to hold the attention of all.

The charts shown included examples of how the brain cells are affected by the strong drink habit; irregular memory; the percentage of sun stroke, the latter giving figures showing that from 80 to 90 per cent of sun strokes were due to alcoholism. Dr. Hart here explained that young people should do nothing to injure brain, nerve system and heart. He added: "Don't take alcohol to keep warm," and referred to Nansen, as his picture was shown on the screen, as a man who proved that alcohol was not needed by men in the frozen north, they were better off without it.

The theme of the sport was a section of the practical address that the great athletes were abstainers, at least when taking part in big things. The great marathon runners were mentioned as examples.

The regular work was also interesting in the figures regarding accidents in big factories, and also as to men getting positions, were convincing in themselves. The strict law of Michigan as to railway employees was reviewed, the speaker explaining that it was the first law of its kind in the United States.

A chart was shown giving the percentage as to safety and longevity in various lines of work. This showed that men who worked in bar-rooms had the poorest chance in both, and Dr. Hart drew attention to the fact that "the safest men are the clergy."

Another interesting chart was that showing why the first work day of the week was "Blue Monday", the reason being the increase of strong drink over the week-end.

In closing his illustrated address, Dr. Hart spoke of the great need of education in the furthering of temperance, and the picture thrown on the screen had the words: "The Government of Canada rests upon the Home, the School, the Church, the Radio-box."

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Dr. Hart by Rev. Alfred Bright, seconded by Mr. R. Smith, and the singing of the hymn, "Count Your Blessings", and the benediction closed the evening's meeting.

A social hour followed, when dainty refreshments were served by the members of the Society.

A Clash in Ideas

Dear L.B.O.—I am glad to say that I have read every letter in your page since it began and mean to continue to do so. It was thus that my eyes lighted on the letter by Friday's Record from Happy Housewife. I might say that my friend, Olga, is in Montreal this week and I am writing this without any urging from her.

But I'm sure if she were here Happy Housewife's cars would be tingling now.

I have been married nine years myself. Happy Housewife, so don't think I am any new bride. My indignation rises still higher when I read these words in your letter: "First of all come down in the morning neat with a pretty house-dress and hair always combed." Oh, oh, if Olga were here and Happy Housewife also, I would hear an interesting debate. Poor little Olga who is as neat as a new pin twenty-four hours of the day! Truly it is as the French say, "It is to laugh." I myself, am none too pleased with H.H.'s advice. I will tell her a little about myself. I am in the thirties, tall, fair and healthy. Order is my middle name. In the morning I am up over two hours ahead of my husband and my son and when Sonny is ready for his breakfast much of my work is done.

On Monday my washing is all done and on the line before hubby is up. I have a seven-room house to care for this being on three floors. I make all my own clothes and Sonny's, and three weeks of ance.

The leaders of the Cub Pack will be Messrs. Carvel Hammond and Charles McCullough both experienced Scouts.

Two other new Wolf Cub packs are to be formed. One in the east ward, and the other will be associated with St. Peter's Anglican Church. The cubmaster of the East Ward pack will be Mr. Clarence Zake, a Gillwellian trained scout leader, and a man who has had many years of experience in both Scout and Cub activities. Mr. Blake has been assisting Cubmaster C. Price of the 2nd pack for the past few months. St. Peter's Church pack will have as its leaders, Mr. Smith, and his son, Mr. Merrill, both of whom take a very keen interest in boy work. Mr. Merrill Smith is an old 2nd. troop boy and has had considerable experience in leading St. Peter's Trail lancers. It is significant to note that the 2nd. troop has proved to be an excellent training ground for leaders, as every one of the new units will have a 2nd. troop man at its head. Consistently good scouting and cubbing on the part of the five groups now existing in Sherbrooke has undoubtedly served to secure the much deserved recognition of the splendid aims and objects of this organization. Cubmaster C. Price has accomplished a great deal of good with his excellent pack of over thirty boys connected with the 2nd. troop, and as probably assisted quite an extent in educating the community in what may be achieved with boys between the ages of eight and twelve, as three of the four new units will be cub packs.

The groups functioning in Sherbrooke are as follows—1st. troop, I.M. K. Metzger, and A.S.M. Harold Bench; 2nd. troop, S.M. Wm. Boveviti, and A.S.M.'s, J. W. Blake, Lynn Trussler, E. Waller, and H. Cooke; 2nd. Wolf Pack, C.M. Price and A.C.M.'s, C. Blake, N. Hunter and H. Milnes; 4th. troop, Acting S.M. Jack Wright, and A.C.M.'s, Lyman Tomkins, and Bert Banks; 5th. Wolf Cub Pack, C.M. Herman Conley.

INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS GIVEN BY DR. E. E. HART

The members of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church and several others interested in temperance matters, had the opportunity last evening of listening to a most instructive address by Dr. E. E. Hart, of Montreal. Dr. Hart has a fine set of slides that depict in a convincing way the effects of alcohol on the human system, and show the results from addiction to strong drink. These views were used with his address,

The way of a peppy day!

GLORIOUS days are an every-day story when they begin with the right kind of breakfast. You need crisp, peppy food in the morning! Food like Kellogg's PEP!

Pep adds delightful zest to breakfast. Those golden crunchy flakes of whole wheat. How they taste! Good—and good for you!

Pep is health in a package! The peppiest food you know. Rich in nature's vitamins and strength-building elements. Contains bran—just enough to be mildly laxative. Helps prevent constipation. A great food for kiddies!

Eat Pep and have pep! Serve it often. For breakfast—for lunch or dinner. With milk or cream. And, for variety, add fresh or canned fruits or honey. Your grocer has Pep!

MRS. BOWMAN'S POEMS INCLUDED IN NOTABLE COLLECTION

Mrs. Louise Morey Bowman, one of Canada's notable poets has received various compliments regarding her work, and the most recent one appears in a press report under the title, "Canadian Poet Honored". The comments are relative to the use of some of Mrs. Bowman's poems in a newly published collection, and it is a matter of great pride to Sherbrooke, as well as to Toronto and Montreal, that Mrs. Bowman is the only Canadian author whose work is included in the collection.

The following press report explains itself: "Three poems from Louise Morey Bowman's Moonlight and Common Day have been included in the new Thomas Bird Mosher memorial 'Amphora', which is a collection of rare prose and verse championed by this distinguished collector, editor, and critic, from writers of distinction, many of whom have had to wait for just recognition. These selections, Mr. Mosher was intending to publish before his death. Among the names in the collection are: 'A.E.' George, Gissing, Robert Frost, Swinburne, Walt Whitman, Walter Pater, Hilaine Belloc, James Elroy Flecker, George Santayana, John Keats and Michael Angelo. Mrs. Bowman has the distinction of being the only Canadian author or poet included. This poet was formerly a resident of Toronto, now in Montreal."

BOY SCOUT NEWS

SCOUT MOVEMENT EXPANDING IN CITY.

It is becoming increasingly evident that the Boy Scout and Wolf Cub movement is being recognized throughout the whole world to a greater extent than ever before at an organization that possesses a programme which, if properly directed, has far reaching results in character-making during the character-shaping years of a boy's life. Sherbrooke community is no exception in this general recognition which is being accorded the scout movement, and as a result of carefully formulated plans extending over a period of several months the stage is now set for a definite offensive insofar as the expanding of the local Scout and Cub organization is concerned. Last night an organization meeting took place in St. Andrew's Church Hall, where District Scoutmaster Wm. Giovetti organized both a Scout troop and a Wolf Cub pack. The Scout troop is fortunate in having as its leader Mr. Lynn Trussler, who has had twelve years experience in the Scout movement, covering every phase of activity associated with this programme of boy training. Mr. Trussler has been serving as assistant scoutmaster in the 2nd. troop in an honorary capacity, as well as giving his active leadership to St. Andrew's troop, which is to receive the title of the 5th. troop. The pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Rev. Alfred Bright, is an old scout, having been scoutmaster of a fine troop in Ontario for some time, and will undoubtedly be able to give the new troop and its leader much valuable advice and assist-every month we have a guest. Sometimes the guest is a lady, sometimes a gentleman.

My hair is bobbed and so I am never seen in "curlers." (By the way, I earn the money to pay for my neatly, marcelled hair.) I love washing, and it nothing for me to have three house dresses in the wash each week.

Hubby never says he enjoys anything, although I could cook at the age of thirteen as well as the average housewife, and since that time I've had plenty of practice. He never tells about the things his mother used to cook for she never could cook until within the past two years. When we visit her she wants me to do the cooking, for she thinks my cooking is fine. Things have come too easily for hubby, so I don't think he will ever change.

And H.H. says: "Be ready to go out every time your husband invites you." She must think we're pretty dumb. We're always ready and waiting, but six out of seven nights we're not asked. Hubby loves to play cards—with his chums; there's no spice to a game of cards at home because there's no money in it. We have a radio, and I'm the only one that listens in. L.B.O. surely struck a right chord when he or she said Twin Housewives may have more to endure than the happy one.

Why do men ask girls to marry them if they want to be running around with "the boys" every night? Suppose Olga and I should trot out to dances and parties, auto rides, etc., as the men do? Oh, then the hand would play a different tune.

H.H. is lucky; one can see that her home is run like a well-oiled machine so far as appreciation goes, but when one saves and plans and does everything possible to better the home and gets no appreciation it is a different matter. I do, and have always done too much for my man. He never has to ask where his socks are. Every article is washed, ironed and mended and replaced in his bureau inside of twenty-four hours. In spite of this I think just as much, yes, and more than I did of hubby when we were married, and I know he does of me. But he is selfish; even his loving old mother says that.

I am quite peeved to think H.H. has the idea that I'm untidy in my home and the way I dress and that I can't even cook. It is so easy for those whom the gods have favored to sit back and say: "There must be something wrong somewhere," and naturally hang the wrong onto the woman.

I'd like to hear from H.H. again now that I've told her that the advice she gave me was unnecessary. H.H., don't think me an ungodly creature. I'm not. I go to church and Sunday School and am a member of three other church societies. In fact, Sonny and I do all the religious devotions in this family. It does no good to talk things over as has been suggested. It always ends in the same way; hubby sulks or picks up a book, or I might as well sit tight and say nothing till Sonny gets big enough, then we can go out together.

If H.H. has any further suggestions to make I'll be glad to know of them, but those she has already given are useless in this case.

Notes on the Above Letter

First, L.B.O. must bring the attention of writers to this section to the fact that we must limit letters, etc., to one hundred, or at the most, one hundred and fifty words. The above letter touches upon an argument started last week, so we have used the entire letter, but will ask our readers to practice brevity. We enjoy wit, gentle sarcasm, and plain talk on practical matters, but space makes it necessary to ask especially for brevity.

The letters written by Twin Housewives and "Happy Housewife" give proof that each has an entirely different temperament—and husband. Perhaps, too, there are other reasons. If L.B.O. were allowed to offer a bit of advice it would be this: Don't take such good care of hubby's clothes; don't get up so awfully early in the mornings; and if he persists in that staying-out-at-night habit why not drown your worries in some more societies and clubs? Have one for every afternoon and every evening. But as your letter suggests stick to your own way and try to make him broad-minded and sincere, while he is learning the two sides of life—the shady and the sunny sides.

FLOOR GAVE WAY IN THE LIBERAL HEADQUARTERS

Some Two Hundred Persons Who Had Assembled in Liberal Central Committee Room to Get Results of Elections Were Suddenly Hurlled Through Floor Into Bowling Alley Below—No One Was Injured to Any Extent.

An accident which might easily have had tragic results took place during the time the election returns were being received last evening, when the floor of the main central Liberal committee room gave way, carrying with it to the floor below some two hundred persons who were in the room at the time.

The Liberal party had their main central committee room situated on the third floor of the Rowell Building, Wellington Street South, which is occupied on the ground floor by the New Palace Bowling Alley.

As the election returns began to come in a large number of interested spectators, including several Conservatives as well as Liberals, assembled in this committee room, where a special telephone service and bulletin board had been installed.

About eight o'clock the gathering in the committee room was considerable, while others less interested in politics were bowling on the floor below.

Suddenly, without any warning, one of the main beams to the centre of the floor gave way and down went half of the floor, carrying with it at least two hundred persons.

The floor fell in such a way as to make a regular funnel which was into this that the spectators were hurled. A few managed to grab hold of the wall and hang there for a time, but the greater majority had nothing else to do than go with the floor.

For a few minutes it was not known exactly what had happened as the breaking of beams and the floor caused a great noise, while flying plaster and dust from between the walls and floors of the building filled the place with a thick dust which did not help to relieve the anxiety.

It is almost a miracle that some were not seriously or not fatally injured in the fall, but very fortunately everyone escaped without any serious injuries, although all were somewhat startled and shaken-up.

One of the victims of the fall, relating the incident, complained of someone having walked over his face several times, while another one said that he had been given a kick in the jaw. Other similar complaints were also heard, one person it is understood, having injured his leg quite badly, although not serious. Torn clothing was quite common and practically every one caught in the fall had to return to their homes and change their clothing.

The mishap occurred very early in the evening. In fact the bulletin boards were all ready for action, but no returns had been posted. The incident somewhat interrupted the plans of the Liberals, as it had been expected that all the returns would have been received at this committee room, but the people were forced to disperse and secure the returns at other centers.

Following the unfortunate incident, the entire building had to be closed up.

Although there were a number of people in the bowling alley at the time of the accident, they also were fortunate in escaping injury.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF ST. PETER'S PUT ON PLAY

Interpretation of "The Pilgrims of the Book Beloved" Given by Girls and Young Men's Auxiliaries—Production in Charge of Mrs. E. H. Drury and Mrs. Bowen.

A beautiful interpretation of "The Pilgrims of the Book Beloved" was given by the girls and young men's auxiliaries of St. Peter's Church in the church hall last evening. The play was entirely symbolic and religious, and an atmosphere of reverence prevailed throughout it.

The obvious desire of all taking part to do their best and to capture the allegorical spirit of the play brought a lovely effect. Before the play Mrs. C. H. Bowen made a few explanatory remarks. She thanked the cast for their hard and faithful work and expressed appreciation for all who helped in any way in putting on the performance.

Mrs. E. H. Drury and Mrs. Bowen were in charge of the production, and the result of their efforts was shown in the detailed finish of the play. Much credit is due them for the excellent rendition last night.

The hymns given by the choir were excellent. They were sung at the entry of those representing the different services, and the services and hymns corresponded to each other.

The play was designed to represent the whole book of common prayer as it was compiled by Henry Tudor in 1549. Each service was represented by a person whose dress symbolized what he or she stood for.

Most of them carried a banner which gave the keynote of their service in large letters. These banners were remarkably attractive and were the result of considerable work.

The framework of the play was as follows: Two pilgrims from the "Land of Darkness" where Christianity is little known come to "Mother Church" for instruction and guidance in the ways of their new-found religion.

"Mother Church" summons two different services, who come in turn and tell the pilgrims what they will do for them. After the services have finished, "Mother Church" calls upon Henry Tudor, who, at her injunction, causes the scattered services to be bound together in a book of common prayer.

The pilgrims then beseech "Mother Church" to go to the "Land of Darkness" and bring Christianity to the unenlightened people there. After a short hesitation she consents.

Near the close of the performance a local touch was brought in when an offering was given to "Mother Church" from the W.A. of St. Peter's. The offering was to help her in spreading Christianity.

This evening the play will be repeated for the visiting W.A. of the Quebec Diocese. The proceeds will be devoted to missions.

A pleasant gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wright on Friday evening in honor of their son, Leslie, who was celebrating his eighteenth birthday. Several friends from Hereford were present, as well as young people from this vicinity.

An enjoyable time was spent with games, after which refreshments were served. Leslie received a number of gifts, accompanied by many good wishes for the future.

Mr. Arthur T. McCoy, of Montreal, is the guest of his brother, Mr. Fred L. McCoy, and family, Parker Hill.

Mr. E. B. Parker, of Coaticook, was a guest at the home of his uncle, Mr. J. B. Parker, on Monday.

During the past few days, the roads have been in a very slippery condition and motoring dangerous. On Sunday afternoon, a car, occupied by a man and woman, left the road just north of the village and slid into Mr. Fred Walls' field, but fortunately stopped just at the edge of the bank. Had it gone a few feet farther it would certainly have overturned.

With the use of a chain and the help of a passing motorist, the car was drawn back to the road and proceeded on its way.

Miss Evelyn Wright has completed her school at Cassville and returned to her home here.

The Mission Band will meet at the church on Sunday afternoon, May 22nd.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Salls and Miss Edna Salls, Ontario Street, returned last evening from a six months' stay in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Woolley, of Cokeville, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Gladys, to Rev. Frank Bradshaw Cooke, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cooke, of New Carlisle. The marriage will take place in June.

The monthly meeting of the Brompton Road W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Keith Moe on Saturday afternoon with a very good attendance. After the usual opening exercises a number of business matters were discussed. It was decided to hold the monthly meetings on the second Wednesday of each month. A ways and means committee was appointed with Mrs. Keith Moe as chairman and Mrs. W. S. Goodfellow as assistant. Mrs. Moe read a report of the annual county meeting held at Lennoxville on May 3rd. After the adjournment of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Reba Hatch.

Word was received yesterday of the death of Mr. William Hunter, of Toronto. The late Mr. Hunter, who is a nephew of Mr. H. H. Hunter, Dummond street, had not been in good health since his return from overseas service, but only recently did his condition become serious.

LENNOXVILLE

Remains of Former Resident Brought to Lennoxville for Burial

On Sunday afternoon the remains of the late Mr. Proctor Severance were brought by motor from his home in Whitefield, N.H., for interment in Malvern Cemetery. Owing to weather and road conditions the procession, which was expected to arrive in the early afternoon, did not reach its destination until nearly six o'clock in the evening. A number of the friends and former neighbors of Mr. Severance were waiting at the cemetery, where a brief service was held by Rev. F. R. Matthews, pastor of the United Church, after which the remains were laid to rest in the family lot.

Mr. Severance was born and lived in Lennoxville for many years. His work as a railroad man took him farther afield, and he finally located permanently in Whitefield, N.H. He leaves a wife, formerly Miss Coombs, of Sherbrooke, and several children. Two brothers, Mr. George Severance, of Springfield, and Mr. Charles Severance, of St. Johnsbury, also survive, and were among those who accompanied the body to Lennoxville.

THE ELECTION RESULT.

The Taschereau Government has been returned to power by an increased majority, the Opposition of eighteen in the last House having been reduced to ten.

The electorate has thus endorsed the Quebec administration. This vote of confidence is not difficult to explain. Great industrial developments have been taking place in this province. Quebec is forging ahead. The Government has been active in promoting roads, colonization, education, agriculture and other undertakings popular with the people. The times and general circumstances were propitious for another Taschereau victory.

The result will be highly pleasing to the premier and his colleagues. After so many years in power, to have received so emphatic an endorsement is a striking tribute from the people.

The Opposition in the next House, unfortunately, will be greatly reduced. Only some ten men will sit on the Opposition benches. This is not good for the Government nor good for the Province. A number of the fighting members of the Opposition, however, have been returned and the voice of the critic will not be wholly absent in the Legislative deliberations.

The Sherbrooke result is a decided compliment to the sitting member, Mr. Armand Crepeau. Energetic, friendly and personally popular, Mr. Crepeau has held his seat in spite of the tide in favor of the Government which has swept across the Province. He has done this in spite of a notable Liberal victory in the Federal arena only a few months ago. Large numbers of electors refuse to see party politics in Provincial affairs. The rouge and bleu do not count so much and being well known and well thought of, Mr. Crepeau has been sent back with an increased majority. He should be welcomed by the Government of the day as well as by the Opposition, for he is a fair fighter and will be a useful man at Quebec.

The Sherbrooke vote cannot even be taken as a condemnation of the Government. It is true the issues were discussed, but the fight centered around candidates.

Thus closes the Provincial campaign and for at least four years, except for bye-elections, the constituencies of Quebec Province are assured of political peace.

LORD ROSEBERY.

Lord Rosebery, who was an interesting figure on British public life for many years, has attained his eightieth year. It was once said by Lord Rosebery that he had three ambitions, to be premier of Great Britain, to run the Derby and to marry the richest heiress in the kingdom. He accomplished all three.

An exchange discussing Lord Rosebery's anniversary says:

Ever since 1895 when he resigned his post as Prime Minister and retired from the leadership of the Liberal party, he has been to his contemporaries like some legendary Barbarossa withdrawn in his visionary castle, untouched by the lapse of years, waiting the summons to return and lead his people to victory. Those whose memories go back to the Nineteen Hundreds remember how eager was the desire and how confident the expectation of his re-emergence. But Rosebery never re-emerged. His party came back to power; but Campbell-Bannerman was at their head. Rosebery might have had the headship. Rosebery might have had the headship of much more than the Liberal party, viz., the headship of a vast Free Trade Imperialist party, including Conservative Free Traders as well as Whigs and Radicals. But, for some reason or other, he made the great refusal, and no subsequent opportunity of revoking it was ever vouchsafed to him.

And so he remained with his books. He wrote of Pitt and of Napoleon, and occasionally he appeared in public, like a voice almost from the past, to pronounce some classic of eloquence. Canadian delegates to the first Imperial Press Conference still remember the memorable oration with which he favored them—an oration as remarkable for its prophecy of the Great War as for the beauty and power of its eloquence. But while Rosebery continued to write and speak movingly, and while Liberals lingered who still hoped to see him come forward and take the place to which his talents entitled him, the times had passed him by. It was around this date that a portrait of Rosebery in verse appeared in Truth, the concluding stanzas of which ran:

"The man of parts and genius fine
Who promised once a second Pitt,
The man of eloquence divine
Who claimed in Gladstone's seat to sit,
Now needs must be content to shine
A graceful after dinner wit
With Galba's let his name be blent;
Himself and all mankind he's fooled;
He seemed by Nature's own intent
For power and office trained and schooled;
A ruler born, by one consent—
If only he had never ruled."

From the beginning of his public career, Lord Rosebery, it would it seem, suffered from two disabilities. First, he was a peer who never had the advantage of the invaluable discipline of the House of Commons; secondly, he was a wealthy man—after his marriage to a Rothschild heiress, a very wealthy one—who was distracted from the drudgery of politics by calls of property and pleasure. It was, perhaps, a further misfortune for him that family traditions attached him to the Liberal party and brought him under Gladstone's dominating influence. So long as Mr. Gladstone remained by his side, he was able to stifle his doubts and keep on terms with his party; but Gladstone's retirement in 1894 left him alone with his outraged convictions and his distasteful colleagues. His brief premiership, it is said, was a nightmare of conflict and criminalities. Yet, Rosebery, Flying Dutchman of politics though he may have been, and barren of the highest in achievement, remains an engaging figure. He is the last of the great Imperialists; and he has written much and wisely. But perhaps the truest tribute that has ever been paid him came from the lips of a Premier of France. "There," he said to a colleague, "there is Rosebery. Behold the perfect type of an English gentleman!"

THE PHILOSOPHER.

If we do our best; if we do not magnify trifling troubles; if we look resolutely, I will not say at the bright side of things, but at things as they really are; if we avail ourselves of the manifold blessings which surround us, we cannot but feel that life is a glorious inheritance.—John Lubbock.

PARAGRAPHS

The problem of the Powers is simple. There is lots and lots of room outside China.

A dressed Spring chicken is less trouble, but you have to guess which Spring it got here.

If he got shot up, he was a gangster; if he got shot down, he was a bystander.

The hard part isn't to come back, but to do it so successfully that you can go back.

The only man who expresses scorn for those who sleep in their underwear is one who very recently did.

Setting for a beauty contest: A hick town, a surplus of girls, a rich bachelor.

So many hunger vainly for publicity. And all that is necessary to get the cheap kind of fame is to knock the clergy.

You can say much with flowers, but even the things you say that way can't be heard by a dead man.

Canadianism: Judging the car by its popularity; judging the man by his car.

The hand that rocks the cradle now is accompanied by a voice that says: "Lie still, Fido darling."

The old-home-town is the one that observes your success in the city and wonders how you keep folks fooled.

Her legs were ridiculous, but she wore knickers just the same.

It might be even worse for lovers of personal liberty. Suppose Government should outlaw spinach!

There's a bright side. Every time section hands sweep up a mess at a railway crossing, there is one less to rock the boat.

Here is the difference between them. If something takes away your reputation, you still have all of your character left.

Correct this sentence: "He has no more brass than average people," said the gossip, "but he has a wonderful collection of autographs."

PRESS COMMENT

THE "AVERAGE."

(Outlook)
A good-natured traveller asked a Pullman porter the amount of his average tip. The porter replied that the average was one dollar. The man thereupon handed him a dollar bill. The porter cared the bill affectionately and said: "Yassuh, boss; but you is the fust person what has come up to the average."

PROFESSIONALISM IN SPORT.

(London Evening Standard)
There are still some things out of which vast personal profits ought not to be made, because they have their best being on a plane where the laws of demand and supply have no efficacy. You cannot estimate a soldier's value, not even that of a great general, in terms of money. It is true that as a rule it is the soldier who suffers from our inability, but equally as a rule he suffers cheerfully, and our part is to be grateful to him. We can do no more; we ought to do no less. So with sport. That in which vast personal profits are made begins as a sport to decline; it ceases to have its old joy and freedom.

THE FRIENDLY COW A ROAD BUILDER.

(Christian Science Monitor)
There is an old saying that if you sell the cow, you sell the milk, too. Conversely, it would appear from Bourbon County, Kan., that if you keep the cow you are likely to have good roads, also. For, according to reports from this section, where wheat was once the staple basis of agriculture, the gentle cow has come into her rightful place, with the result that a firm foundation has been laid for a permanent system of farming. And the prosperity resulting has been reflected, in part, in the building of concrete roads that would do credit to any section of the country, or of the world.

To such an extent is this the case that one of those who has been a prime mover in this dairy-hard-surface road development programme declared recently that the dairy cow built the roads of the county in question. The interesting feature of this fact is that the dairy farmers were the petitioners for them, because they required paved roads to get their milk to market. And as a natural consequence of this road-building project has come an increase in farm improvement, while modern farm homes are springing up on every side. Edmund Lear wrote in his Book of Nonsense years ago,

There was an Old Man who said, "How Shall I flee from this horrible Cow?
I will sit on this stile,
And continue to smile,
Which may soften the heart of that Cow."

Today he might have written instead,

There was a Young Man who said, "How Can I get good roads out of my Cow?
I will milk her a pail,
And continue to smile,
As I bring in my wealth from my Cow."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CONCERNING MR. CLEARY'S FORTUNE.

To the Editor,
Sherbrooke Record.

Sir:—In your issue of May 12th, a letter appeared from "An Irishman," stating that Mr. J. P. Cleary made his money through the employ of the C.P.R. I wish to inform "An Irishman" that Mr. J. P. Cleary was a wealthy man before he ever entered the employ of the C.P.R. It was said of Mr. J. P. Cleary that he operated "one" of the largest businesses in the pulp, lumber, bark, etc., in the Province of Quebec. And not said in a joke either. If Mr. Irishman ever got farther than his own back yard, he would know what trade Mr. J. P. Cleary carried on. I wish also to inform an Irishman that I know the extent of the Province of Quebec, as well as he does, also that Mr. J. P. Cleary's business was not done either in Warden or Waterloo, but from thirty different points of its surrounding vicinity, commencing with private "siding" at Cleary's Station, and extending to many principal cities in the province, and many miles beyond the Canadian border. I wish also to inform "An Irishman" that Mr. J. P. Cleary entered the employ of the C.P.R. as a clerk, and as an aid to his business. The money the C.P.R. gave him the first few years, would not buy taffy for his children. I wish also to inform "An Irishman" that his business lives today, and is operated to some extent by his son, Mr. St. P. Cleary. I wish also to inform "An Irishman" to understand that I'll enter no further in a controversy on this subject. That, as Mr. J. P. Cleary was mentioned as a prosperous farmer, whose grand father dealt with him forty years ago, simply wrote my views on how his money was made. Now Mr. Irishman you and I bid "adieu." I have come to the conclusion, how useless it is to talk or argue with one who does not know what he is talking about, and who never will know. I wish also to associate to our worthy subject, Mr. J. P. Cleary, for having written so much re a subject, which is no concern to me except I wish to justify him in "An Irishman's" ignorance on a matter he knows nothing about, as his letter proves.

Yours with thanks,
BORN AND BRED ON A FARM.

RE E. T. FARM QUESTION

To the Editor,
Sherbrooke Record.

Sir:—I have read with much interest the farm controversy in your paper.

In one issue Mr. Payne says, "The farmers are contented, and contentment is wealth." Contentment is a virtue, but like many other virtues it can go too far. The trouble with the farmer today he is only too contented. It is certain there is too much contentment, with indifference on the part of the government to the farmers. There is nothing that will help the farmer today but to make him discontented with things as they are. Why is agriculture not as prosperous in Canada as in Northern United States? That there is not enough discontent to arouse the farmer to the point where he will punish the negligence of the politicians, who are responsible for the difference, is the only answer. You will find that the cry of discontent does not come from the lazy and indigent, but from the hard-working, industrious and energetic farmers, who have been to the trouble and expense of improving their stock and keeping pure-bred accredited herds, etc., and have had one own home market sacrificed to foreign butter and cheese. Of course the Canadian farmer's natural market is Canada, and no amount of free trade talk can convince reasonable men that to sell thousands of miles away is better than selling in the next village. The Canadian farmer used to be inclined to look to United States for a market, but for several years there has never been a chance to get to that market except over a high tariff wall. The idea that our own Canadian market could never become big enough for the farmer is nonsense. If foreign produce is allowed to sell below a fair cost of production, the Canadian farmer is ruined.

For a few years back the West has been a bloc to progress. The western interest in the condition of business in Canada, for he sells his products abroad, if we pay the railway deficits, and see that he buys his machinery as cheaply as possible. He asks no more. If they will forget their free trade talk and let the Eastern farmer at least have his domestic market, with wheat where it is today the West has no real grievance.

Now about farmer's laziness it is very hard to judge whether men work harder today than they did one hundred years ago, perhaps they work as hard as their grandfathers did, perhaps they do not, one thing we do know is, that the average farmer works as hard as the average man in any other occupation and is tied to his work a great deal more. It is absolutely certain that farmers are not as a whole going to work any harder than any one else for very long, for even if the farmer does it today his son will not tomorrow. If half of the people in Canada are farmers and only a small percentage making good, and a large percentage of the other half are making good, it is something more than laziness doing it.

Ode to Col. J. Bruce Payne
There comes before our notice a critic of noted fame,
President of the E. T. Boards, his name is J. Bruce Payne.

He criticizes the farmers, they think it very queer,
He says "Your troubles all are due to laziness and beer."

He says "The Australian Treaty doesn't do a bit of harm."

But if it keeps the cost of living down he doesn't care a darn,
But his prescription for their ills They find, are very bitter pills,
They must go to town in an old buckboard,
And not even own a second-hand Ford,
And if a friend they chance to meet

They must not stop to do their talking in the street,
The farmer's wife he wholly ignores,
As she goes to the barn to help with the chores,
And rises in the early morn
To milk the cow with a crumpled horn,

And goes to the field in the heat of the day,
To rake the meadows of new mown hay,
She must go to town in a sun-bonnet blue
In a calico dress and cowhide shoe

And do just as her grandmother used to do,
They must deny themselves everything, that the people in town
May keep the cost of living down,
And let their city sisters live in state.

Live in mansions grand and great,
And ride through the country in grand limousines,
Dressed in silks and crepe-de-chines.

The farmer's son on the farm should stay,
No matter if it doesn't pay,
And till the soil to provide cheap food
To make life easy for the city dude.

Giving Greater Values to Canadian Buyers by serving the World Overseas

EVERY Canadian may well take interest in General Motors' contribution to the growth of Canada's exports. He may do so not only for his natural satisfaction in the national progress, but also for reasons more personal than that.

In the last five years General Motors have exported more than 105,000 automobiles.

This volume has called for such an increase in General Motors production as to permit a tremendous expansion of General Motors facilities and operations.

And today all Canada is deriving substantial, direct benefits from this expansion.

Buying in still greater volume from Canadian producers throughout the Dominion, General Motors is aiding more materially than ever in the development of Canadian resources and the success of Canadian industries.

Employing still more advanced, large-scale factory methods, General Motors is achieving further economies in production costs.

As a result, General Motors can give—and is giving—greater value for less money to every Canadian buyer of its cars.

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

SALLY LINGFIELD, dancer at the Faun, a night club.
JOSH AKERS, a waster, with whom Sally is in love.
POPPY, Sally's roommate, another dancer at the Faun.
PHILIP SANDERSON, rich young man of wealth and leisure, who loves Sally. One morning when drunk, he runs over her and injures her badly.
SOMETIMES, Sanderson's dog.
MRS. KIFF, his landlady.
 When Sanderson asks Akers to help Sally he says that he's through with her. Sanderson gives him a black eye. Poppy comes to tell Sanderson that the doctors say Sally will never walk again. Sanderson plans to get a cottage in the country for Sally and Mrs. Kiff.

CHAPTER XV.

The Vicar

Every week-end Sanderson and Sometimes came down to stay from Saturday to Monday, and then Philip took Sally out in a long spinal chair, or in a car, and sometimes ran on ahead like an outrider, returning every few minutes to see that everything was in order.

The cottage was in the heart of the Surrey hills, and nearly two miles from the nearest village. At first Sally grumbled at its isolation. "Nothing but fields and trees," she wailed. "I shall die if I can't have more life. If only a motor-bus would go by!" But when the weather improved her spirits improved, also. A great many motor-cars passed by the little cottage, and sometimes as she lay in her long chair in the small front garden, people would step and speak to her. One day the vicar from the village rode over on his bicycle and had tea.

"A Nosey Parker, that's what he is," Mrs. Kiff declared after he had taken his departure. "Such impudence! He asked me what relation you was to Mr. Sanderson."
 Sally smiled and her blue eyes sparkled with unusual interest. "What did you say?" she asked. "I told him you was none," Mrs. Kiff said emphatically. "I told him you was just friends, and then I as good as told him that it weren't any business of his, anyway."

Sally laughed. "There'll be a scandal," she said, and was pleased.

When Sanderson came down at the week-end, she told him: "We've had the vicar to tea. He was a nice vicar, with big shoulders and grey hair. He asked Mrs. Kiff what relation I was to you."
 "He can mind his own business," Sanderson said sullenly.

"I don't expect he'll come again," Sally answered. "I think he was shocked."

But the parson did come again, several times. He was a very human parson, and he told Sally that he was a lonely man and that he lived in a big, rambling vicarage, the half of which had been shut up since his wife died, six years before.

"Did you live all alone?" Sally asked.

"Yes, I have one son, but he is abroad."
 "A back sheep, I expect," Sally suggested. She had a vague idea that all parsons' sons were black sheep.

The vicar laughed, but he did not look at all offended. "Well, he's a wanderer, certainly," he admitted. "He found life too dull here, so he went abroad. I don't blame him. I dare say if I could have done as I wanted to do when I was his age I should not have been the vicar of Ash Hill now."

"It can't be much of a job," Sally agreed.

She liked the parson; he had kind eyes and a deep voice, and his name was Nairn—a name of which, as she told him, she entirely approved.

"It sounds upper-tennish!" she explained.

"It's a good old Scotch name," the parson agreed.

One day Sally asked him how old he was.

"How old do you think?" he inquired with a twinkle.

She hazarded a guess. "About sixty?"

"No; I'm only fifty-three. My son is twenty-eight."

"What's his name?"

"Garry!"

"What a funny name!"

"It was his mother's maiden name."

"Oh!"

It was strange how interested Sally became in all these little things. Three months ago it would have bored her unthinkably to talk to such a man as Robert Nairn; it would have bored her unthinkably to take tea with him; but now she quite enjoyed his visits and looked forward to them.

In return for his little confidences she told him about herself and how she used to gance at the Faun Cafe. Her eyes sparkled and her cheeks flushed with excitement at the memory of those days that now seemed so far, so very far away.

She described the frocks she used to wear, and the admiration she got from the men, and the suppers she used to be taken to, and the flowers that were given to her.

"Have you ever been to the Faun," she asked.

The parson shook his head.

"No, but I am sure it must be a very amusing place," he said kindly.

"It was! It was just—Heaven!" Sally breathed, and the tears ran down her cheeks. She looked away from him to the open window and the garden outside, where the trees were budding, and the daffodils were just peeping up from their bed of green leaves, and she saw instead the blue and gold upholstery of the Faun Cafe, with its dozens of small tables, each one lit with a golden lamp, the many flushed, excited faces, and the gleam of the polished floor upon which her tiny feet had so often danced.

"It was just—Heaven!" she breathed again.

The parson smiled and leaned back in his chair, with different ideas of Heaven," he said. "Now, what do you think mine is?"

Sally wiped the tears from her eyes to answer scornfully:

"Golden stairs, I suppose, and harps and angels."

He shook his head.

"No, it's a spring morning like this—sunshine and flowers and birds, and perhaps an apple-tree in blossom like that one in your garden. There could be no finer Heaven."

Sally stared at him.

"You are funny!" she said.

But again he was not at all offended. He just laughed, and said that it was a good thing everyone had not the same opinions.

Then Sally told him about her accident.

"It was Philip's fault," she said in a hard, ugly voice. "He was drunk, and he knocked me down with his car. He always is drunk after six o'clock in the evening," she added angrily.

"And who is Philip?" Mr. Nairn asked.

"Philip Sanderson. He gave me this cottage, and he pays Mrs. Kiff and for me too. He comes down every week-end. I expect you'll see him some day. He's very tall—like a chimney-stack, and he wears awful clothes, and he's got a hideous dog called 'Sometimes' who goes everywhere with him. You'd laugh if you saw the pair of them, I expect."

"And it was he who knocked you down?"

"Yes, the—Sally bit back the bad word just in time. Somehow, by instinct, she never used bad words before Mr. Nairn.

"Poor man!"

She stared at him.

"It's me who's the poor one," she said offensively.

"I am more sorry for him," Mr. Nairn insisted gently. "Think what his remorse must be."

Sally considered.

"Oh, I don't know," she said reluctantly. "He's a queer one! You never know where you are with Philip."

"He seems to have been very kind to you."

"No more than he ought to have been," she answered sharply. "I'm finished for life, and I haven't got a halfpenny. He's only done what he ought to do."

"And that is a great deal more than most of us can say," Mr. Nairn answered.

Sally lost her temper.

"Here, I don't want to be preached at!" she shrieked. "If that's what you've come for, you needn't come again."

But the next moment she was apologizing. Somehow Mr. Nairn was not a man to whom you could be rude without immediately apologizing humbly. And he took it so well, he told her that he just wanted to be friends with her, and before he went away he promised to come again quite soon.

"Garry will be home in a month or two," he said. "I shall bring him to tea if I may."

"I'll be thankful to see anyone," Sally told him ungraciously. "It's frightful lying in this place alone, with only Mrs. Kiff to talk to."

"I like Mrs. Kiff," the vicar said cheerily.

"So do I. She's a dear old stick," she agreed.

Tomorrow—"Bad Temper."

NEWS OF SPORTING WORLD

CARDS MOVE UP INTO SECOND PLACE AGAIN

St. Louis Nosed Out Phillies, While Robins Pulled Pirates Down a Peg in Standing.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, May 17.—That duel of champions—between the winners of the world crown in 1925 and 1926—was on today in the National League, with the St. Louis Cardinals again in second place and the Pirates back in third.

The Cardinals renewed their bid to repeat the title triumph of last year by knocking off the Phillies 2 to 1, while the Pirates were losing to the Brooklyn Robins, 9 to 5. One was a pitchers' battle, the other a slugger's match.

Jess Haines' pitching cunning and steadiness finally swung the scales to the side of the Cards, although his edge over the rival hurler, Alex Ferguson, was slight. The best the Phillies could do against Haines throwing was seven hits, while the Cards got only eight.

The Pirates met the defeat that cost them second place in a game of an entirely different type. They slammed Jess Petty for thirteen hits and the Robins countered with eleven of their own, most of which were off Yed in the first three innings. Six runs crossed the plate for the home team in those frames.

As the Buccaneers dropped back in the ranking column, the lowly Robins went up at their expense, taking third place above the recumbent Reds and Braves. After a bad beginning, the Robins seemed well on their way to a place among the contenders.

In the American League all three of the leaders won their latest games and widened the gap between themselves and the ruck. New York stayed well out ahead of the field by beating a strong Detroit team 6 to 2, to the rollicking tune of "Columbia Lou" Gehrig's Lat.

The youthful emulor of his mate, Ruth, made two doubles and a homer, while the "Bebe" chipped in a single when a hit meant a run. Ruth and Gehrig now are tied for home run honors with eight apiece.

The class of the Red Horse and the White was featured by the pitching of Ted Lyons, who thereby won his fifth victory of the season for the Chicago club, 5 to 2.

Four home runs helped the Athletics to their 10 to 8 decision over the Browns. Half that number went down to the credit of the slugging young outfielder, Simmons, while "Ty" Cobb and Cochrane made the other two.

DEMPSEY COMEBACK PUT OFF FOR A MONTH

Will Have Only One Real Obstacle to Hurdle to Get Return Title Bout With Tunney.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, May 17.—The latest shuffle of the heavyweight boxing cards by the dealer, Tex Rickard, today revealed Jack Dempsey's comeback postponed a month and his first major opponent stated to be the victory in this Thursday's battle between the Boston title aspirants, Jack Sharkey and Jim Maloney.

Dempsey, Rickard disclosed, has rejected a proposal to fight Paulino Uzcudun, the "bouncing Basque," around July 1st, because the former champion feels that he will not be in condition by that time. He has definitely agreed, however, to fight the Maloney-Sharkey winner around the Rickard's auspices at the Yankee Stadium, probably during the first week in August.

Making this announcement in connection with the testimonial dinner tendered him by the "600 millionaires" of the Madison Square Garden Club, Rickard added that if Dempsey fails to fulfill his present intention to return to the ring, either Maloney or Sharkey will be Gene Tunney's opponent in the next championship match. The title fight probably will be held in the last week in September.

It's size is yet uncertain, but it is expected to be the Yankee Stadium or the Sesqui-centennial Stadium, Philadelphia. "Sharkey and Maloney have done all I have asked of them," said Rickard. "They have fought their way up and are entitled to the chance at Dempsey or the titleholder."

The recasting of Rickard's plans temporarily sidetracks Paulino, but may not mean the elimination of the rugged Spaniard altogether. The promoter may match the Basque with Jack Delaney on June 22 at the Yankee Stadium as a second semi-final, the winner to meet the Sharkey-Maloney survivor by way of determining Dempsey's opponent.

Regardless of what new form the preliminaries take, it is regarded as certain that Dempsey will have only one real obstacle to hurdle to get a return bout with Tunney. The former champion, Rickard said, may have one or two "tune up" matches in the west to help him get into fighting trim, but these will not be against any of the title contenders, California, Detroit or Chicago have been mentioned as possible places for these "tune-ups."

SHARKEY UNABLE TO TRAIN OWING TO CUT OVER EYE (Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, May 17.—Kept from sparring because of a cut over his eye, Jack Sharkey today was punching the bag and shadow boxing as he prepared for the big bout Thursday night at the Yankee Stadium with his Boston rival, Jim Maloney.

"I have been assured that the eye will be all right when I enter the ring," said Sharkey. At Pompton Lakes, N.J., near here, Maloney was putting in the final liks in a drive to get his weight to about the 200 mark.

Should one "tap" the ball or "push" it in putting?

By WILLIAM MEHLHORN Western Open Champion, 1924.

In putting, the ball is not pushed, but hit with the wrists only. A fine, firm and crisp hit is necessary. The billiard player does not push the ball, but hits it. The putting stroke is very similar to the stroke in billiards.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MET AT SCOTSTOWN

Reports Heard from Delegates Who Attended Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian—Gaelic Society Held Successful Concert—Personals and Other Newsy Notes from Scotstown.

SCOTSTOWN, Que., May 17.—The regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. A. G. Sherman's Missionary Society was held this was a well-attended meeting, and also a most interesting one, the reports being given of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian held in Cookshire on the 3rd, 4th and 5th of May. The president, Mrs. John MacDonald, presided.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Bowman. The different secretaries were appointed for the coming year. Mrs. J. W. MacLean and Mrs. C. M. Smith were reappointed to look after the Mission Band; W.A. secretary, Miss Flossie Sherman. This will be a new branch of the work, which is to be organized. Missionary Monthly, Mrs. R. Van supply, Mrs. A. G. Sherman; literature, Mrs. Samuel Boy; Christian Stewardship and finance, Mrs. R. A. Scott; strangers, Mrs. Wm. Taylor; press, Mrs. P. A. Sherman; associate, Mrs. Wm. Murray. Reports were given by different members who attended the convention dealing with the several meetings. Reports were also read by Mrs. W. F. Bowman, Mrs. P. A. Sherman and Mrs. J. W. MacLean. These proved to be very interesting to those who had not the privilege of attending the convention. New work was brought forward. A season of prayer was held by different members. Shot readings were also given by Mrs. S. Boy and Mrs. C. M. Smith. A duet was pleasingly rendered by Mrs. J. W. MacLean and Mrs. Boy.

The hostess assisted by her daughter, Miss F. Sherman, served refreshments at the close of the meeting. Among those who attended the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbyterian in Cookshire were Mrs. R. A. Scott, Mrs. S. Scott, the Misses Catherine MacLennan, Barbara Lax, Jean Smith and Helen Scott.

Gaelic Society Held Concert The Gaelic Society held another of their popular concerts in the Odd Fellows' Hall on Friday evening last, when the auditorium to the hall was filled to capacity, visitors being present in numbers from Lingwick, Canterbury, Milan, MacLeod's Crossing, Ballaluan and Lake Meaganic.

The programme followed the same order as given on former occasions, being composed of the singing of Gaelic songs for the most part. Some of the ballads were composed and sung by those performing. Mr. Angus MacKenzie, president of the Society, acted in the capacity of chairman.

Among those taking part were Mrs. Justin Sherman, of Canterbury; Mr. Norman Matheson, of MacLeod's Crossing; Mr. Murdo MacDonald, of Marshboro, probably proved the most popular artist of the evening. Owing to the fact that Mr. MacDonald composed most of his own songs, adding to the interest by explaining the events which led up to the inspiration responsible for same. Mr. Morrison, of Milan, also added much to the programme. Others were Messrs. Alex MacDonald, Murdo Murray, Neil MacIvor and Murdo MacIvor, all who are favorites with the audience.

English songs were contributed for the benefit of the element not understanding the Gaelic language by Mr. Swattie and Mr. Lester Goodin, of Canterbury. One pleasing feature in connection with the programme was the utter lack of self-consciousness on the part of the performers, every item being rendered without the assistance of an accompanying instrument—in this way proving it to be quite a unique

NEW YORK PRESS MARKET COMMENT

Furnished by McManamy & Walsh

Journal of Commerce—Wall St. does not think that yesterday's reaction in stocks, which was largely on technical grounds, will go far unless something entirely unexpected occurs. New York World—It appears there is a good deal of quiet buying in the rail stocks but that is natural since the so-called big interests are always first to the bargain counter.

Wall St. Journal—Considerable unsettledness was created in the opening session of the week by heavy selling in various sections of the list.

Wall St. Journal will say today: World's shipments of rubber increase. Coal traders find markets depressed. Predicted 40 p.c. sales gain by motors in half year. American Tobacco may make important move. Weston not off in quarter. Germans sighing for pre-war prosperity.

A GENERAL REVIEW

to tell, and following the political story of each of the different counties a real interesting time may be spent.

History of Brome County. Brome County was represented at Quebec during the past session by W. R. Oliver (Liberal) who had been opposed by L. J. Beauregard, and won the election by a majority of 450.

Like the other counties, Brome has also its variety of representatives at Quebec. In 1890 the duty of representing the county went to F. England, who represented the Conservative party. In 1892, Mr. England was again the choice, defeating Mr. McMillan by a majority of 324. At the following election, which occurred in 1897, the Liberal took command and sent H. T. Duffy to Quebec, after he had defeated E. J. Esty by a majority of 353.

Compton County, which is now represented by the Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, has also made its contribution to the Province of Quebec in 1897 the representative for this county was Mr. Sawyer, (Conservative) who continued without interruption to represent the county until 1886, when the work of deputy at Quebec went to J. McIntosh, another Conservative, who was elected by H. Leonard. At the elections of 1890, Mr. McIntosh was opposed by Mr. Layfield and at the end of the session of 1892 he resigned, to be followed by C. McCarty (Conservative) who won a majority of 848 over the Liberal candidate, J. B. St. Laurent.

LIBERAL PARTY MAJORITY

(Continued from page 1) the Record Office they were bulletined in the front window. Outside the window a large number of interested spectators had gathered, many standing there throughout the entire evening eagerly watching the results in the different counties of the province.

At the time of the closing of the polls the sky began to show signs of rain and by the hour for the people to get out to hear the returns the Weather Man had made up his mind and Sherbrooke was in the midst of a heavy down pour, which lasted for well over an hour. Later, however, the rain stopped and conditions were much better for election night.

During the evening, as the results were coming in, conditions generally throughout the city were very quiet. At each place where the results were bulletined large numbers gathered, while in the theatres also the results were bulletined.

Later in the evening, when the results had become known and it was certain which way Sherbrooke County had gone, the stillness of the night was broken by the blowing of horns, band playing, cheering and sounding of auto horns, as the Conservative supporters made their way through the city streets carrying in triumph their candidate, the member-elect for Sherbrooke, Mr. Crepeau.

The car in which Mr. Crepeau was riding was followed by a very large number of cars, and although Mr. Crepeau was by no means leading the parade, he soon found that he was scheduled to make a complete tour of the city, going first to East Sherbrooke, then to the North Ward, through Howard's Park and over to the west ward.

HON. J. NICOL 1275 MAJORITY IN COMPTON CO.

Provincial Treasurer in Taschereau Government Returned—Summary of Vote by Majorities.

(Special to the Record) COOKSHIRE, May 17.—The Hon. Jacob Nicol, Provincial Treasurer, has again been returned by Compton electors, the majority recorded in his favor yesterday amounting to 1275. Some of the majorities received at different polls were very large.

There was considerable apathy apparent in the election, difficulty being experienced in getting out the vote.

The opposition candidate, Mr. Girard, failed to receive one-third of the total vote, and will, therefore, sacrifice his deposit.

The details by majorities are as follows:

This oral agreement was placed in writing, but Nutt changed a paragraph had been inserted reserving to Levine the right to withdraw from the flight project or to remove one or both of the fliers, with compensation of four weeks' expenses. As a result of this clause the contract was not signed. Nutt announced he was prepared to start suit to compel carrying out of the terms of the alleged oral agreement.

Test Flight Successful. The big Fokker monoplane, "America," was given a weight lifting test today that was deemed by the fliers as most satisfactory.

The America flew off with Bert Acosta, her pilot and Lieutenant Noville and Lieutenant Balchen, carrying 11,850 pounds of water and sand.

The monoplane rose from the ground after a run of a quarter of a mile and made a short flight. Lieutenant Noville said the America "acted fine." Later the America will have a test with loads of 13,000 and 14,500 pounds. The monoplane will attempt the crossing of the Atlantic with a load of 14,207 pounds.

In this election Mr. Crepeau had a majority of 204 over his opponent, 2,586 votes being cast in his favor against 2,382 for Mr. Therrien. The vote was much heavier than in 1923, Mr. Crepeau carrying three of the five city districts. The west ward, considered Liberal, gave Mr. Crepeau a large majority, while Lennoxville and Ascot went over to the Liberals, St. Eli going to the Conservatives.
