RECOGNITION OF THE UNION THE CHIEF POINT IN THE ARGUMENT

Stevedores Give Out Statement and Issue a Circular Giving Their Side of the Longshoremen's Strike.

The only point at issue between the longshoremen and the stevedores is the recognition of the union. When a question was made at the offices of the Canadian Independent Labor Bureau this morning for a statement of the issues involved the following announcement was made:

"We are perfectly willing to give the men 25 cents an hour and 2 1-2 cents an hour bonus for the season. We are also agreed upon the hours of work. Thus far we are prepared to satisfy their demands.

"We will not, however, treat with their union, and it is our refusal to recognize that, that keeps them out on strike."

"Has any attempt been made to lay to effect a settlement?"

"No, there is nothing to treat about. We are willing that any man we employ should belong to any union they may see fit, but we will not recognize nor treat with their union, officially."

"Why?" asked the Herald representative.

The answer was not definite, and practically amounted to "because." The principal objection appears to be that the stevedores desire to employ their men individually, and not go to the union when they wish to engage any.

"We have 1,500 men registered with us to do the work, and 200 carpenters also belong to the Independent Labor Bureau. The number is quite sufficient for one needs and we will be able to do without the strikers."

"What will those 2,000 or more men do all summer, if their places are filled with imported labor?"

"They will simply have to remain out in the cold, to use a vulgar expression. We're willing to employ any who come to us, but we won't engage our men through a union."

THE SHIPOWNERS SIDE.

Last year, until the strike took place in the fall, the rate paid per hour was twenty cents. It was temporarily risen to twenty-five cents at the end of the season. This year organized, and this spring demanded 30 cents an hour for day work and 30 cents for night work, besides with a number of changes in conditions, one of it is said, providing that five hours of work would not exist in loading or unloading. The stevedores have now offered 25 cents an hour for all work, and a bonus at the end of the season, payable at the close of the season to men who would [illegible] navigation. The [illegible] stevedores [illegible] for work [illegible] to pay [illegible]

It has been [illegible] by some of the men that they [illegible] with the stevedores in [illegible] that these [illegible] be kept, but the [illegible] express their readiness to agree to [illegible] the obligations of the [illegible] carried out.

There remains, then, the question of wages, that is all. This the vessel-owners emphatically say they will never concede, and point to the injury done Quebec when its port was under the dictation of the laborers as justification for their attitude. They say they will tie up their ships sooner than put themselves under the mutual control of these men.

A number of the leading vessel-owners were this morning asked by The Herald why recognition should be refused the union, when in other branches of trade such recognition is accorded. Their replies were substantially the same. The longshoremen, they said, are not a responsible body of men in the sense that the locomotive engineers are. They have only just been organized; they are working in the city for only a part of the year, and consequently lose the sense of responsibility that comes from permanent residence, and they have shown elsewhere that they may make most irrational demands on employers. Place the commerce of Montreal at the mercy of men who might stop at the most critical part of the year is what recognition of the Union would apply in the view of more than one vessel-owner.

One of them said to-day that if they did not have this fight now they would be forced to fight over something else when navigation is closing and he preferred to see the matter settled now.

SHIPOWNERS WILL TAKE CASES INTO THE COURTS

Ricters On the Wharf Are Identified, and Arrests Are To Be Made Here To-day.

A statment issued on behalf of the vessel owners to-day stated that affidavits have been obtained from a number of eye-witnesses of the troubles yesterday, and a large number of prosecutions will follow, as some of the rioters have been identified. Prosecutions are being taken to-day. The sections of the criminal law cover all cases, and there is one section which particularly applies to stevedores. It reads as follows:

"Everyone is guilty of [illegible] offence and liable, on indictment or on summary conviction before two justices of the peace, to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or to three months' imprisonment, with or without hard labor, who, by force or threats of violence, or by any form of intimidation whatsoever, hinders or prevents or attempts to hinder or prevent any seaman, stevedore, ship carpenter, ship laborer or other person employed to work at or on board any ship or vessel, or to do work connected with the loading or unloading thereof, from working at or exercising any lawful trade, business, calling or occupation in or for which he is so employed; or with intent so to hinder or prevent, besets or watches such ship, vessel or employe."

JOHN LAVOIE GETS TWO BULLETS; W. QUINN SHOOTS IN SELF-DEFENCE

John Lavoie, of Poupart Street, one of the striking longshoremen, was carried from the wharf to his home late yesterday afternoon with two bullets in his body.

Wm. Quinn, foreman for Messrs. Ferns, stevedores, did the shooting. He shot in self-defence, after he had been by a gang of men. It was a choice of shooting or having the risk of being beaten to death. Quinn shot three times. Two of the shots took effect. The third one was the fatal one of killing. Before Quinn could pull the revolver was knocked from his hand.

Another moment and the mob was upon him. Were he had been done almost to insensibility the crowd carried him to the Central Police Station and handed him over to the authorities.

Mr. Peter Ferns and Mr. Arthur Ferns, who were with Quinn, were also severely handled by the crowd.

Mr. Ferns had a gang of non-union men working on the Ann street. At 2.30 o'clock the men made an effort to rush the men off the wharf. He held the crowd back at the point of his revolver.

FERNS HOLDS MOB AT BAY.

Standing at the foot of the gangway, he held the mob back while the workers got safely aboard. With him were Wm. Quinn and Arthur Ferns, timekeepers.

One of the most active of the attacking party was John Lavoie. He started to fight Mr. Quinn there on the dock. The two were separated by the police and friends.

Peace was restored at last, and the longshoremen moved up the wharf.

Quinn and the two Ferns started to go up town together at 4.30 o'clock. They went up Bonsecours Street to avoid encountering the strikers.

At the corner of Bonsecours and Notre Dame streets Lavoie and a party of the longshoremen were gathered.

Lavoie [illegible] accosted Quinn. Standing across his pathway, he said:

"You wanted to fight me on the wharf. Will you fight me now?"

Quinn answered back hotly. Words led to blows and soon a general melee was in progress. The odds were great.

"Stand back, or I shoot," Quinn shouted, when the fight was going hard against his little party.

The gang was in an ugly humor and there was no holding back Quinn fired. Lavoie fell at the first shot. He fell at the second shot.

Lavoie was taken to the General Hospital where his wounds, which it was found, were not serious, were attended to. Later he was taken to his home.

At six o'clock Quinn was bailed out.

PICKLE ON THE BICYCLE.

A young fellow came posting up the line on a bicycle at 4.30 o'clock. At intervals of a few yards he would find a knot of strikers and sympathizers.

"Il y a quelques le bas," he would say. "Descendez tranquillement." ("There is somebody down there. Go down quietly.")

And down they went, tens, scores, hundreds, quietly, in order, until they got near enough to the Alexandrian to hear the sound of voices raised in controversy. Then they ran.

Stevedare "Jimmie" Ferns was trying to get a hearing. He spoke French, fluently, rapidly, with abundant gesticulation.

"Just hear me for two minutes," he was saying. "I am as anxious to further the interests of the laborers as any of you——"

"Why don't you pay the men fair wages then?" came a voice from the crowd.

We are ready to pay good wages if the men will come to do the work."

"Are you not going to recognize the union?"

They returned down any man, Canadian, English, Irish, Jew——

"What is Jim?"

"A boss for Ferns."

Here a gang leader worked close up to the ships's side, followed by a crowd of roughs to hear all about it. The big fellow was excited then. He wanted to do the talking himself. Ferns, from his point of vantage, tried to outtalk the stranger, but the crowd would not listen.

CROWD RACED FOR GANGWAY.

"All aboard!" shouted some one, and all men [illegible] there began a race up the gangway.

Ferns' finger pointed straight at the leading man. Nothing was said, but the pose of the man was a challenge not to be misunderstood.

A foreigner who had been standing by one of the stood to the head of the gangway and threw off his overcoat. Evidently he would like nothing better than for one or more boarders to try it on. His left hand was clenched, his right sought his trousers pocket.

Like a flash a stevedore sprang up the gangway, grabbed the would-be intruder by the scruff of the neck, and hustled him unceremoniously back to the dock.

A ship's officer, much bedecked with gold lace and unpurchasable, advanced to the gangway and stood looking down calmly surveying the scene, probably understanding not a word of the French spoken, taking his bearings only by the signs he saw.

There was a moment when anything might have happened. The men above evidently had revolvers in easy reach. The men below, some of them, were ready to take risks.

Suddenly a newcomer began to speak. They said his name was Brais, and that he was a foreman. Young, stalwart, evidently well known, he was listened to by all.

Do not argue with these people," he said. "There are too many strangers here. You're not a longshoreman," pointing to a fellow who was making a lot of noise, "nor you, nor you. Debarquers, wait till the meeting to-night. It will be private. What we do there we will do for ourselves. We shall discuss our strike. Let us have no violence here. Let us injure no one's property."

MEN BREAK INTO CHEERS.

The crowd broke into cheers, but more than one called out, "They shove their revolvers under our noses."

"Who?" asked a Herald man.

"Those men up there."

Brais had things easily his own way with the crowd. They wanted no violence.

One said: "If 'Jimmie' Ferns had his own way, this thing would be settled right long ago."

Ferns, tired of the argument, went off out of view.

A blue-coated striker, the man who stood guard at the evening meeting at Bonsecours Market, broke into the surging crowd.

"Away from here," he called; "we are losing time. This does no good. We are needed below. Let us go farther down.

The crowd began to disperse.

Then came a yell from across the basin of water. Something had happened at the Fremona. Half a dozen wagons started over at a gallop. A thousand men broke into a run. About the Alexandrian all was clear.

LAKE CHAMPLAIN BEGINS WORK OF UNLOADING AT 9.15 O'CLOCK

At 6 o'clock this morning, when the first Herald man put in an appearance on the wharves, the men who were to unload the Lake Champlain were already about on the decks.

A hardy looking set they are. There are tall and short, fat and thin, and all are hard as nails.

"They'll do, will these lads," said one who had come across with them. "They learned their business in Liverpool, and there's nobody can teach them anything about it."

They looked it then, and they looked it three hours later when they began to handle the trucks.

How many are there? Nobody can learn just how many. There are not less than seventy-five, and not more than a hundred and twenty-five. The ship's officers and the Elder-Dempster people say there are plenty to work the ship to advantage. But they had not begun before some of them were called away to help on the Monterey.

They went about the morning's work leisurely enough. It was 8 o'clock before breakfast was served, and it was 9.15 o'clock when the first packages were carried off. They were three. One for the officer commanding the 43rd regiment Duke of Cornwall's Rifles, one for D. M. Robertson & Son, New Westminster, and one from Paris for Madame Marthe Pauline, Sherbrooke Street, Montreal.

Once the start was made business went right on. They did not show up well as compared with the Canadian regulars, and the chances are—their awkwardness indicated it—that they are not all the best of the Liverpool men. Some are good ones, however. One little fellow who has seen many a ship and many a port pitched forward his chest just as the work was about to begin.

"One word with you, gentlemen," he said to his underlings. "Let us 'ave no jibbers. Hey, Bill, you an' me won't jib, shall we? Not much."

The gentlemen took no pledge then and there, but went to work with a will.

At the shed where the Monterey is being unloaded, just across the wharf from the Lake Champlain, the scene is keenly interesting.

The ship people are learning, if they never knew before, what it is to unload cargo with inexperienced men. At one of the gangways there are three teams of Hebrews. They are all willing enough to work. They look as though they needed the money the high pay means to them. But they are outclassed by the big truck loads they have to trundle. After seeing a big Canadian shoulder a sack of rice or walk off with a big truck load as though it was a baby carriage, it is painful to look at these undersized beings, with their small hips and narrow shoulders, staggering along under a load a well fed Canadian boy would be well able for.

They do their best. They are terribly in earnest. They go as fast as they can, faster than they need. But they suffer. They are not up to it. They cannot stand the strain. Farther off are Italians and Assyrians, handling tin plates as gingerly as though it were glass, slowly, unintelligently, to the intense disgust of the overseers.

There are not enough of them, and what there are are not much good. Still the pile of rice sacks along the side of the wall, and the piles of tin plates in the centre of the shed grow larger and larger as the hours go by.

RESULT OF ONE DAY'S CLASH ON THE WHARF.

One man shot and four men in the hospital suffering from serious injuries, and half a dozen men in police cells, is the result of yesterday's disorders on the wharves in connection with the longshoremen's strike.

John Billodeau, non-union foreman, brutally beaten by strikers, and thrown into the river, from which he was rescued.

John Lavoie, striker, Poupart Street, shot twice in an encounter between longshoremen and stevedores.

Wilfrid Langevin, 49 Ottawa Street, badly cut on head in affray at steamer Monterey. In Notre Dame Hospital.

Joseph Perrault, 25 St. Paul Street, badly hurt. In Notre Dame Hospital.

BOARD OF ARBITRATION EAGER TO DISCUSS THE DIFFERENCE

President O'Brien Believes By This the Trouble Between Longshoremen and Stevadores Could Be Adjusted.

WHAT THE MEN DEMAND.

Recognition of the Union.

Instead of a flat rate of 25 cents an hour as at present, 25 cents an hour during the day, 30 cents an hour for night work, and double pay from midnight Saturday till six o'clock Monday morning.

A less arbitrary form of contract, which will not compel shipliners to do stevedores' work, and vice versa.

"If the stevedores would only consent to discuss the points of difference with us, I believe that we could come to a settlement without any difficulty."

This was the statement made by Mr. Telesphore O'Brien, president of the Longshoremen's Committee of Arbitration, this morning, at the headquarters of International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers' Association.

The recognition of their union is still the primary feature of the men's demands. They state, however, that they are willing to treat the question on a broad basis, and do not wish to quibble over what constitutes recognition of the union. They would not object to working alongside of non-union men if there was a surplus of work, but they hold that union men should be given the preference.

The present wage paid to longshoremen is 25 cents an hour, night or day, with a bonus of 2½ cents per hour payable at the close of the season to men who have worked all summer. In place of this, the men ask 25 cents an hour for day work and 30 cents an hour for night work, with double pay for any time between midnight Saturday and 6 o'clock Monday morning. They also ask full pay for any time which may be lost during the night hours. No higher pay is asked for handling grain, which, on account of the dustiness of the work, is better paid in most of the American ports.

They claim that the scale of wages in Montreal is from 20 to 30 per cent. lower than at any other port in America, the rate at St. John, N.B., being 30 cents an hour all round, and that at Quebec 37½ cents, while at Boston and New York 30 and 40 cents are paid.

The bonus the men do not appear to put much value on, one way or the other.

The ship liners ask for 20 cents instead of 15 cents an hour, with time and a half at night and double time for Sundays.

Objections are also made to the present form of contract, by which men are engaged by the Independent Labor Bureau for the whole season, and have to undertake to do any kind of work on the wharf which they may be called upon to do.

The ship liners, whose regular work is that of carpenters, arranging stalls for the cattle, bins for grain, etc., object to having to do the heavy work of unloading cargoes with the longshoremen; and the longshoremen on their part object to doing the work of ship liners.

The men have also a number of other grievances. They say that when there is not enough work to go round the preference is given to outside men rather than permanent residents. They say that many of the foremen keep boarding houses, and naturally they see that their boarders get steady work, discriminating against the married men with homes in the city. They also charge certain of the foremen and walking bosses with giving work only to those who pass them tips.

Another cause of complaint is that longshoremen are not paid for the time taken in getting a ship ready for loading or unloading, such as rigging up the gangways, uncovering the hatches and similar details, which sometimes, they say, occupies as much as three hours in a day.

COMPLAINTS AGAINST PRIVY COUNCIL

New Zealand Judges Object to Criticisms Made by Lord Macnaghten.

Special Cable to The Montreal Herald and Toronto News.

London, April 29. Premier Seddon, of New Zealand, has forwarded a vigorous protest to the Colonial Office on behalf of himself and the judges of the colony against the remarks made by Lord MacNaghten in connection with the Pourua case before the Privy Council. Lord MacNaghten alleged that the New Zealand Court of Appeal had decided the case in accordance with the wishes of the Executive Council. The New Zealand bench are vehemently indignant over the assertion.

Mr. Wilford, a lawyer and a member of the New Zealand Parliament, is now visiting London. He says the result of the Privy Council decision will be to revive the demand that colonial judges should sit on the Privy Council. Moreover, he said, the remarks of Lord MacNaghten were so grossly unfair that they seriously strained the silken thread that bound Imperial connections.

ARTISANS ARE WANTED

Canada Wants Not Only Land Workers, But Artisans From Britain.

Special Cable to The Montreal Herald and Toronto News.

London, April 29. The resolution passed by the labor unions of Toronto, condemning the Government's course in inducing English skilled laborers to emigrate to Canada is going the rounds of the English press. I interviewed Mr. Preston to-day in reference to the matter. He said he had always sought to especially encourage land workers to emigrate, but he had received many letters showing that there was a great demand for artisans in Canada. Hon. William Mulock's reply to the labor delegation at Ottawa the other day sufficiently justifies the policy of the department here," he concluded.

CANADIANS AFTER RECORD

Two Canadians Will Endeavor to Walk From London to Brighton in Record Time.

Special Cable to The Montreal Herald and Toronto News.

London, April 29. Messrs. Hickman, of New Brunswick, and Dyke, formerly connected with the Ellis Company, Toronto are the first Canadians that have walked without training from London to Brighton, a distance of fifty miles. Walking is now an athletic fad in England. They were fifteen hours making the trip, but are now in training with a view to doing the journey in ten hours on their next trial. The record for the distance is but slightly under ten hours.

MR. DEVLIN'S DEBUT

Will Begin in British House By Asking Questions Concerning Canada.

Special Cable to The Montreal Herald and Toronto News.

London, April 29.—Mr. C. R. Devlin, M.P. for Galway, will ask the following question in the House of Commons, to-morrow: "Has the Postmaster-General any intention of reducing the postage rates on periodicals sent to Canada from the Motherland?" and "Did the Canadian Government make any remonstrance to the British Government concerning the personnel of the American side of the Alaskan boundary commissioners."

This marks Mr. Devlin's first activity in the House. It is interesting to note that the questions are asked of the Chamberlains, father and son.

THE RELATIVES ARE FOUND.

Through the notice which appeared in The Herald a few days ago, requesting information as to the whereabouts of the relatives of Mr. Arthur Stewart, late Deputy Commissioner of Forests in India, the fact has been elicited that Mr. H. D. Stewart, barrister, of Barrie, Ont., is a first cousin of Mr. Stewart.

RELATIVES CLAIM THE BODY.

Coroner McMahon held an inquest to-day on the body of E. L. Roller who committed suicide on Sunday in the Windsor Hotel. The verdict was in conformity with the facts. [illegible] of suicide. An application [illegible] from New York last evening and will return with the body to-night.

JOSEPH CULOMBE IS FINED.

Joseph Culombe assaulted a dock laborer yesterday and was arrested. To-day Mr. Recorder Weir fined him $10. Henri Bonenfoni and Adolphe Joubal loitered about Jacques Cartier Square and did not move when told. They were arrested and fined $10 and costs each and Joseph Pare disturbed the peace in the east end and also was fined $10 and costs.

Palace of Bishop Burns.

London, April 29. The palace of the Bishop of St. David's, at Carmarthen, Wales, has been destroyed by fire. The library was saved.

Carnegie's Temple of Peace Offer.

Amsterdam, April 29. Mr. Andrew Carnegie's offer of $1,500,000 for the erection of a palace of peace at The Hague, has been officially conveyed to the Dutch Government. No condition is attached to the offer.

CASE OF CAN. PAC. RY. VS. CITY OF MONTREAL

The Supreme Court Renders Decision Respecting the Notre Dame Street South Bridge.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, April 29.—In the Supreme Court to-day in the Canadian Pacific case vs. Montreal, the C.P.R. will have to reimburse to the respondents the costs of that part of the cross bridge extending along Notre Dame Street south and the whole width of Lacroix Street from limit to limit, and no more, unless the amount thereof be agreed to within fifteen days to be ascertained by the registrar of this court, after hearing witnesses and parties, shall settle the judgment. Mills and Armour dissenting.

The following judgments were delivered at the Supreme Court to-day:

St. Laurent vs. Mercier. Dismissed with costs.

Trabold vs. Miller. Dismissed with costs.

These cases are from the Yukon, Calgary and Edmonton Railway Co. vs The King. The court was evenly divided and the case was therefore dismissed.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE CHARGE.

Halifax, April 29.—Alex. MacDonald, of Shediac, was killed this morning on the Halifax & Southwestern Railway, picking out a dynamite charge which had previously failed to explode. It is the first accident on the line now under construction.

Wher will the war be next?

Where nations shall plead their right
And this, the pitiful sole resort
When honor or [illegible] say "Fight"
When "On" is pealed from the trumpet's throat,
And "Glory" the rifle's text,
And the flags high float to the drum's stern note?
Where will the war be next?

WITH TALK OF a general election, look out for the Hon. Geo. Foster's 42nd attempt to butt in.

At the Academy last night a company sang Il Pagliacci and Cavalleria Rusticana to an almost empty house. Although not up to the Grau standard the company nevertheless did exceptionally well in rendering the beautiful and dramatic operas, which are the masterpieces of two young Italians.

That Montreal should ignore a performance and crowd to see third and fourth class companys render Florodora and the Belle of New York, doesn't speak well for Montreal.

It lays us open to the old charge that Montreal can always be happy so long as it has the pleasure of paying $2 a seat to see De Wolf Hopper sit down on a tack.

ABOUT THIS TIME look out for the man who advises you not to drink ice water.

THE BORDEN BANQUET is being kept green in our memory by the champagne and mineral water men, who advertise that their goods were used on that occasion.

The average man regards his own luxuries as necessities, and his neighbor's luxuries as extravagances.

NOW THAT the warm weather is presenting us to large advertisements of an ice famine should be forthcoming.

A Sure Winner.

With the possibility of an election before us this fall, the thought occurs of what a warm Cabinet the Hon. R. L. Borden would have if the moon turned to green cheese and he was elected.

Premier	R. L. Borden
Minister of Interior Decorations	F. D. Monk
Minister of the Battle Axe	R. L. Gourley
Minister of the Writing Supply	Sam Hughes
Minister of Explanation Dept.	Geo. Foster
Minister of Predictions	J. G. H. Bergeron
Minister of Lost Deposits	Tan Pacaudeloe

As the last three couldn't be elected the cabinet would probably be upset a little, but the list gives a fair idea of the available talent in the party to draw from.

The Roomer's Inning.

O you folks with home and fireside,
You do not room, but live,
You have gloated o'er me often,
But I'm willing to forgive.
For as moving time approaches
You have troubles of your own,
And I'll chaff you now but gently,
In a soft and pitying tone.

You have beds and big pianos,
You have pictures, stoves and chairs;
You have dressers, tables, sideboards,
To be trundled down the stairs;
You have mattresses, and bedsprings,
You have carpets, curtains, rugs—
These must be removed in toto,
With a million grunts and tugs.

Then for days there will be chaos
In the shack to which you go,
And your life for weeks thereafter,
Will be one long streak of woe.
But when I, O proud householder,
Find my rent too nearly due,
I just pack my trunk and vanish,
And my moving stunt is through

You may boast of cosy fireside—
There are times I envy you;
You may boast of your penates—
Which is more than I can do.
But at moving time I'll venture
You would sell your stuff or junk
Just to know the joy of rooming
And of moving in your trunk.

MR. C. W. SPENCER PROMOTED BY C.P.R.

Becomes General Superintendent of Transportation for the Lines East of Port Arthur.

The official announcement was made to-day by the Canadian Pacific management of the appointment of the successor of Mr. Thomas Tait so far as his duties on the eastern lines are concerned. Mr. C. W. Spencer, general superintendent of the Eastern division has been appointed general superintendent of transportation with jurisdiction over all lines from Port Arthur eastward to the Atlantic. He will be succeeded by Mr. James Oborne as general superintendent.

The jurisdiction over transportation on the lines west of Port Arthur to the Pacific Coast was merged in the assistant-general management for which Mr. J. W. Leonard was selected several days ago; but in the West Mr. Leonard has certain executive functions which as regards the Eastern part of the system are discharged directly by Mr. McNicoll, the second vice-president and general manager. For this reason Mr. Spencer does not take up the title of manager of transportation which Mr. Tait relinquished.

The position carries with it the control of the working of the traffic and of the stations and their staffs.

Mr. Spencer is still a young looking man and few would think, judging from his appearance that he has been thirty years in the railway service of Canada. His experience has been exclusively in the transportation branch of which he has now reached the topmost rung of the ladder. In the seventies he was filling various positions at Ottawa including that of assistant agent and in the early eighties he was climbing slowly upwards from assistant train despatcher to despatcher. Then we find him becoming traffic superintendent and in 1884 assistant superintendent, then assistant general superintendent to be followed in 1887 by general superintendent of the Eastern division—a position which he has filled without interruption from that year to this.

Mr. James Oborne, general superintendent of the Atlantic division is Mr. Spencer's successor on the Eastern division. The circular notifying this has been issued and like that relating to Mr. Spencer bears the signatures of Mr. McNicoll and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy. Mr. Oborne is some four years younger than Mr. Spencer, and like him he entered the railway service at a very early age, having spent two years and ten months as office boy to the chief clerk of works. In due time he joined the Canadian Pacific, filling in succession the position of chief clerk to the mechanical superintendent, and to the vice-president. From 1890 to 1896 he was car accountant and during a portion of that time he had charge of the fuel department. From 1896 to 1899 he became assistant to the vice-president and has since filled the positions of general superintendent both in the Western division at Winnipeg and in the Atlantic division at Montreal.

No announcements have yet been made as to Mr. Leonard's successor at Winnipeg or Mr. Oborne's at St. John, but it is rumored that in the rearrangement of position which will ensue, there will be advancement for some of the promising members of the clerical staffs at the general offices.

REV. MR. GIBSON SAILS SOON.

SUPREME COURT GIVES JUDGMENT

Words "Aggregation Population of Canada," in B.N.A. Act, Means Whole Population.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, April 29.—The Supreme Court gave judgment this forenoon in the case submitted by New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, as to the interpretation of the words "aggregate population of Canada," in sub-section four of Section 51 of the B.N.A. Act, that is, whether they meant the four old provinces or all the provinces of the Dominion, as now constituted. The Chief Justice said:

"The court, having heard counsel on behalf of the Dominion, as well as on behalf of the Provinces of Ontario Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and having considered the question as aforesaid, certifies for the reasons contained in the documents annexed to the Governor-General-in-Council, that in its opinion the words 'aggregate population of Canada' contained in sub-section four of Section 51, of the B.N.A. Act, 1867, should be considered as meaning the whole population of Canada, including all the provinces which have been admitted to the confederation subsequent to the passing of the B.N.A. Act."

Justice Mills wrote the principal judgment, in which the Chief Justice, Justice Armour, and Justice Sedgwick, concurred. Another set of reasons was given by Sir Louis Davies and Justice Girouard, that the whole court was unanimous to the answer given to the question.

M'GILL UNIVERSITY TO HONOR PROF. C. E. MOYSE

Degree of LL.D. Will Be Awarded in Recognition of His Services to Literature.

The corporation of McGill University met yesterday under the presidency of Principal Peterson, and decided to award the degree of LL.D., honoris causa, to Prof. Charles E. Moyse, B.A., London, in recognition of his services to literature and to the university with which he has been associated for a long period as professor of English literature. It was also resolved to grant the degree of doctor of science in course to Mr. H. M. Tory, M.A., associate professor of mathematics, and the degree of master of arts in course to Mr. Cyrus J. Macmillan.

The decision of the faculty of applied science to increase the sessional fee from $156 to $175 came up for consideration, and in the course of the discussion on the proposal, Rev. Dr. Barclay spoke strongly against the increase, voicing the general opinion of the corporation as to the danger of shutting out young men of ability. Principal Peterson promised to convey to the board of governors the view of the corporation that while acquiescing in the increase of the fee they earnestly hoped the scholarships might be established.

Resolutions were passed recording the appreciation of the corporation of the earnest and devoted services of Dr. Alexander Johnson, vice-principal, and Dr. J. Clark Murray, who have retired from active service.

CORPORAL CRAIG TO LEAVE

Constables of No. 7 Station Present Him With An Address.

Corporal James Craig has been on "beat" on the Montreal police force for twelve years, and for three years he served in No. 7 station. He made many friends. The men of that district held him in the highest regard, and it was with feelings of the deepest regret they heard of his resignation and his intention to go to Vancouver to live. To show him a mark of their respect and regret at his leaving the district, a number of the men of No. 7 called on him last evening at the Vancouver Hotel, and presented him with a handsome meerschaum pipe, accompanied by an address. The presentation was a surprise to Mr. Craig, but he managed to frame a suitable reply.

In his intercourse with the men Corporal Craig became a prime favorite, and not one man under him has ever had the slightest reason to regret having served under him. Their general verdict is that he was a model policeman.

ONE'S TRUST.

Why Women Should Confide In a Man.

BY VALENTINE.

"Judge before friendship, then confide."

IT is much easier for a woman to confide in the average man than in the average woman. She knows that the man will respect her confidences and keep them to himself. He is strong, has more experience of the world and can help the woman who needs advice. It is said that loyalty is usually lacking in the feminine make-up. Without a perfect understanding there can be no helpful advice, and not one woman in ten places implicit confidence in her own sex. The consciousness of her own weakness puts her on guard against the failings of all other women. In the same way a woman hardly feels like confiding her womanly troubles—her weakness due to diseases essentially feminine—to a woman. That is probably why women do not usually succeed as physicians. There is every reason why women should not trust their delicate constitutions in the hands of unskilled persons. It requires a thorough medical education to appreciate and understand the womanly organism. When a woman has ills and pains that she cannot bear—when life seems dark for every woman, she should confide her troubles to a physician of standing in the community, or one who has a national reputation. Certainly it would not be the part of wisdom to confide in an ignorant person without medical education simply because she was a woman. There is every reason why she should write to some great specialist, one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century, like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All his correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

SINGLE AND MARRIED WOMEN

Very often find that it is repugnant to their feelings to consult their family physician. In such a case they can put perfect confidence in Dr. Pierce, who has made such a success in the treatment of woman's diseases, for he will give you the very best advice possible, and without cost to you. To grow beautiful, healthy and happy should be the desire of every woman. It is then possible to hold a husband and to make home happy and bring contentment to it. Nothing is more beautiful and refreshing than to see a woman with a symetrical form, a cheerful, healthy sparkle in her eyes, an elastic step, graceful walk and gestures, a self-reliance blended with a sweet reposeful manner and enveloped in a cloak of self-respect. Ten years ago it was fashionable to be weak, to appear timid and to faint under any undue excitement. The woman of today is an altogether different creature. She recognizes that it is her duty to make an effort to develop her body and her mind, and there is no reason why she should suffer periodically from pains. Then again women approach the ordeal of maternity with great fear because of a run-down constitution owing to the drains and weakened vitality by reason of such periodical suffering. All such women should turn to the right person for consultation and good advice. In most cases Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will fit the needs and put the body in a healthy condition. It has made thousands of melancholy and miserable women cheerful and happy, by curing the painful womanly diseases which undermine a woman's health and strength. It establishes regularity and so does away with monthly misery. It dries debilitating drains and so cures the cause of much womanly weakness. It heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures the bearing-down pains, which are such a source of suffering to sick women.

A DUTY WOMEN OWE THEMSELVES.

"Good actions speak louder than words," so too, does the testimony of many thousands of women during a third of a century speak louder than mere claims not backed by a guarantee of some kind. That is the reason why the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription are willing to offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured. Such a remarkable offer is founded on the long record of cures of the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women. If there is an invalid woman, suffering from female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of womb, or from leucorrhea who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription without complete success, the original proprietors and makers of that world-famed medicine would like to hear from such person—and it will be to her advantage to write them as they offer, in perfect good faith, a reward of $500 for any case of the above maladies which they cannot cure. No other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its makers in making such an offer.

"I suffered more than a year from nervousness and functional derangement," writes Mrs. A. Belyea, of Rockland, New Brunswick. "Had pains in the left side of abdomen all the time. Some days could hardly get around. Kept my bed about half the time. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and got his advice for which I have ever been thankful. I began taking 'Favorite Prescription' right away as he advised. It makes me sleep well at night which I never did before, and I feel rested. Can truthfully say Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has cured me."

"I write these few lines to let you know that I am using your 'Favorite Prescription,' and the good it has done me," writes Mrs. Timothy Bourgeois, of Tobique Narrows, New Bruns. "I was troubled with headache and stomach trouble, also other female weakness. Having read a great deal about your cures I concluded to try the medicine, so my husband purchased a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' I was no time taking it before I felt better. Cannot thank you enough for the good it has done me. I hope others may be benefited by its use as I have been."

THINKS G. T. PACIFIC WILL BUY G. N. LINES

Speaker of Manitoba Legislative Assembly Passes Through City on Way to England.

Mr. William Hispeler, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Manitoba, is here to-day on his way to Europe, where he intends to spend the next few months renewing old associations and friendships, and he does not expect to return to the Northwest before the general elections, which, he anticipates, will take place between the harvest of the hay and the wheat.

Mr. Hispeler, who has been Speaker of the Assembly for the last four years, having succeeded Hon. Senator Young in that office, is retiring from political life for the present, but he does not deny that he may at some future time be tempted to re-enter the arena. He said the Robiln Government will go to the country on the

"Some people think that th railway policy of the Manitoba Government has been weak, what is your opinion?"

"My opinion is that it has been remarkably strong. The people wanted more railways—I am not saying a word against the Canadian Pacific, which will always be the dominating factor in the railway situation in the Northwest—and the Government acquired the Canadian lines of the Northern Pacific, which were not being worked by their American owners in the interest of Manitoba, but simply and solely as feeders of the Northern Pacific; and having secured the lines they did the best thing they could in leasing them to the Canadian Northern, the only system that could work them in opposition to the Canadian Pacific and thus ensure railway competion. My own view is, and it is shared by a great number of people, that we will have two big systems in the Northwest—the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern, the latter playing the second part."

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

"And what about the proposed Grand Trunk Pacific?"

"My opinion is that the promoters of the Grand Trunk Pacific do not really mean to build an entirely new road. I firmly believe that Mr. Cox and Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann will come together again; and there will be no third railway through the Northwest. The fact is the Mackenzie and Mann system is indispensable to Mr. Cox and Mr. Cox and the Bank of Commerce are indispensable to them."

"But it has been said lately by railway men, who are usually well informed, that Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann are now receiving backing from Mr. J. J. Hill and the Northern Securities Company. Do you think there is any truth in that?"

"There may have been a move in that direction, but I don't believe it will come to anything. One thing is sure—they must get financial backing from somewhere, but I believe they will settle their difficulties with Mr. Cox and all will go smoothly again."

"Do you think there is any truth in the story that the Great Northern and Northern Pacific are behind the new projected lines from the United States boundary into Manitoba for which charters were granted at the last session of the Manitoba Legislature? I may tell you that Mr. J. J. Hill, president of the Northern Securities Company and Great Northern, was in this hotel on Saturday and assured me that he knew nothing about those charters, and that he had no intention whatever of building railways into Canada. Do you think that is true?"

BELIEVES HILL TOLD TRUTH.

"I believe," replied Mr. Hispeler, "that Mr. Hill told you the absolute truth. The proposed lines are simply promoted by charter mongers, who wanted for speculative purposes to get the right to build the lines. Mr. Hill's name was used without his knowing anything about it. The affair was a charter jobbing transaction."

Speaking of the commercial situation in the province, Mr. Hispeler says he never saw such activity, except in the days of 1882 and 1883. Only, he doubted if the Eastern houses were sufficiently alive to their interests out there. If Montreal wholesale houses were to retain their hold upon the Northwest, they must have establishments in Winnipeg. The days of sample rooms were over.

The Gaults and the Greenshields were leading the way already, said Mr. Hispeler. The Gault establishment was now in full swing and the Greenshields dry goods wholesale warehouse was now being built. A big wholesale hardware firm was also about to establish itself and others must follow if they were to hold their trade.

Another sphere in which the remarkable activity was finding expression was in the banks. The Bank of British North America, the Molsons Bank, the Eastern Townships Bank, and the Bank of Nova Scotia were all organizing headquarters.

On being asked whether there was any desire on the part of the people in the eastern part of the Nothewest province's for annexation to Manitoba, as Mr. Daly had said there was in an interview at the Windsor on the previous day, Mr. Hispeler said that in his opinion the contrary was the case. The people in the eastern part of the Territories were perfectly satisfied with things as they are. Mr. Haultain, the Northwest Premier, is, he said, an exceptionally strong man, and the aspiration of all the Northwest Territories turned towards Regina.

DELORIMIER NAMES A CHIEF

Mr. A. A. Belanger Is Chosen as the Head of Three Departments.

Delorimier Town Council, at its meeting last night, appointed Mr. A. A. Belanger Chief of the Police, Fire and Road Departments. Mayor Meagher presided. The Councillors present were Messrs. L. D. Latour, M. Labrecque, J. Cusson, M. Lalonde, and A. C. Miller.

A by-law imposing a tax of $2 on dogs was read a third time and adopted.

It was decided on motion of Councillor Latour to instruct the town engineer to prepare plans for the laying of water pipes through a number of new streets during the summer. In the discussion which took place, it was stated that a large number of proprietors had applied for water along new streets, but in some cases the owners of buildings had made no application.

In reply to questions, the secretary-treasurer, Mr. Forest, stated that the Montreal Heat and Power Company was laying gas pipes in several of the lateral streets.

The Council having decided to call for tenders for sidewalks, Councillor Miller asked whether the street crossings were to be constructed of wood or stone.

Councillor Labrecque said he thought the crossings should be of stone, and this appeared to be the general opinion.

Councillor Miller proposed that tenders for coal should be asked for. He moved that the necessary supply for heating the corporation building be purchased before June 1, as the price would be higher after that date.

PORT OF QUEBEC.

Quebec, April 28.—Passed up steamship Nordboen, 5.30 a.m.; Lake Champlain, 6 a.m. Tug E. B. Eddy, with two barges in tow, left for Montreal at 2 p.m. to-day.

RECORD OF CIVIL COURTS.

The Court of Appeal rendered confirmatory judgments in a number of cases yesterday.

In the case of the Royal Paper Mills Co. and the towns of St. Vital and St. Lambert, the judgment granting damages to the two municipalities for the flooding of a road from the company's dam was confirmed.

The court also concurred in the judgment of the court below granting $1,200 to an Italian named Micucci against the Canadian Bailing Co., of St. John's, P.Q. Micucci lost an arm through its being caught in unprotected machinery. Judge Bosse dissented.

Another judgment of the Superior Court was also confirmed granting $50 damages to Henry Hamilton & Co., against Lindsay & Co., for injuries sustained through the defendant company placing its pianos in such a position as to cut off the light from the plaintiff's windows. Judge Hall and Judge Tellier dissented, the former remarking that so petty a case would have been better settled out of court, instead of being the subject of litigation involving costs amounting to $1,000.

The judgment of the Superior Court in the case of Gareau vs. the Montreal Street Railway, granting the plaintiff $100 damages for injury to property from the proximity of the company's power house, was confirmed.

Appeals were also dismissed in the cases of Corporation of Grenville and Smith, Baird and Ferrier, Hill and Hill, and Riopelle and Lambert.

The Court of Appeal has confirmed the judgment of the Court of Review quashing the writ of injunction obtained by the Pabst Brewing Co., of Milwaukee, to restrain Ekers and the Canadian Brewing Co. from using the name Milwaukee in connection with a brand of beer brewed by it. Hon. Justice Lacoste and Hall dissented from this decision, but the majority of the court held that the Canadian Brewing Co. had a perfect right to use the name, which was not a registered trade mark, and had been used in Montreal by Mr. Ekers long before the Pabst Co. ever sold beer in this city, and was no more the exclusive property of the Pabst Co. than of half a dozen Milwaukee brewers.

Mr. Justice Fortin will render judgments Thursday morning in the following cases:—Sharkaneski vs. Mendleberg; Deniger vs. G.T.R. Co., Bar of Montreal vs. Duff, Vineberg vs. Cohen et al., Girand vs. City of Montreal, Simpson vs. Ledoux.

THE SUFFERINGS OF WOMAN

Many Irregularities and Weaknesses, Much Pain and Misery, Which Can Be Permanently Overcome By Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

No woman can expect to have good health unless the monthly uterine action is regular, and any breaking of this law of nature not only causes much pain and suffering, but may make her an invalid for the rest of life.

Nearly all derangements of the feminine organism are due to thin, watery blood, a poor circulation or lack of nerve force. Whether the menses are irregular, insufficient, profuse or painful, the cause of trouble rests with the condition of the blood and nerves, and soon disappears when these are restored to health and vigor.

The dull, aching pain in the back and thighs, the cramps in the abdomen, the distressing headaches, the irritability and feelings of utter weariness will disappear when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used to put the blood and nerves in proper condition.

It is usually in girlhood that these irregularities have their beginnings, and hence, mothers, the necessity of looking to the health of your daughters during the period of change. A few words of advice at this point may save them from a life of ill-health and misery.

From girlhood to the change in life, for the nursing mother and at every trying time in woman's life, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of inestimable value, because it forms new, red blood, insures good circulation and revitalizes the wasted and depleted nerve cells. It gives health, strength and buoyancy, rounds out the form, increases flesh and weight and builds up the system.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is composed of nature's most powerful restoratives and cannot fail to benefit you. Fifty cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson Bates & Co., Toronto.

ENTIRE WATER FRONT UNDER PROTECTION OF MILITIA MEN

Montreal's water front last night was placed under complete military protection with a rapidity that reflected the greatest credit upon the military authorities. Shortly after one o'clock the district officer commanding, Lieut.-Colonel Gordon, was informed that the civic authorities had decided that the police force was entirely inadequate to preserve order on the wharves, and that a strong force of militia upon the scene was becoming an imperative necessity. In half an hour the general order calling out the troops was issued.

At this time nearly every member of the various regiments was at his work or business. Regimental officers received the order first. They in turn communicated it to their non-commissioned officers, and they to the men. By three o'clock there was a general exodus from office, workshop and factory. The bank clerk, receiving the order by telephone, dropped his work and responded. Messengers invaded the factory and workshop and ordered the men to drop their tools and join their regiments. By 4.30 o'clock the streets were full of uniformed men, hurrying to join their respective corps. If the booming of cannon from Mount Royal's top had thundered out an alarm the response could scarcely have been quicker.

THE OFFICES ARE DESERTED.

In a flash half the offices and business houses in the city were left short-handed, and business men passed their employes in the street hurrying off to get into their war harness.

If it serves no other purpose, the mobilization of the local militia will show the city's military strength, and its excellent organization. Approximately 1,000 men were in uniform and standing to their arms in less than four hours after the order calling them out was issued. By 5.30 o'clock the Duke of York's Hussars had their horse lines strung between two guns in the drill shed, and were getting out forage for their horses.

At the Victoria Rifles' Armory men who had just dropped their pens were looking to the sights and hauling the pull through down the barrels of their rifles. They remembered Valleyfield, and wondered what was in store for them at the wharves.

At headquarters of the 65th everything was bustle and excitement. On the other side of the drill shed gray-haired veterans in the Royal Scots were gravely preparing for whatever might transpire, while beardless youths looked to their accoutrements in a fever of excitement they sought in vain to subdue.

TROOPS STAND TO ARMS.

By 6 o'clock everything was in readiness and the troops stood to their arms awaiting final orders. Guards with bayonets fixed held every door and kept the curious crowd outside.

All through the early hours of the evening, singly and in twos and threes, the militia pushed their way through the close-packed, crowd and entered the narrow door way to emerge later through wide open gate and march in battalions to the harbor.

The scene was busy but orderly. There might have been, some seven or eight hundred people clustering round the drill shed; but to the ordinary observer nothing unusual was observable. Curiosity had drawn them there, and the expectation of developments kept them grouped around the centre.

Some were friends of the men who were mustering for duty in obedience to the call to arms. This was obvious from the frequent salutations, which took various forms, but conveyed a hope of a pleasant night or a kindly greeting.

By 6.30 o'clock Lieut.-Colonel Gordon was informed that the Lake Champlain had reached port. A few minutes later an orderly galloped up to the Victoria Rifles' armory and handed a despatch to the commanding officers. Five minutes more and the "Fall in" was sounded, and in fifteen minutes more nearly 300 men under Major Ibbotson were marching in column of route for the wharves.

SOLID AMMUNITION SERVED.

Before leaving the men were made aware of the serious duty they had to perform, and twenty rounds of solid ammunition in their cartridge pouches kept it in their minds. About the same time the order was issued to the Duke of York's Hussars, who were waiting saddled up in the drill shed.

It was 7 o'clock when these two regiments arrived upon the wharf. Darkness was just setting in when they were distributed along the water front.

Little clusters of uniformed men still hung around the drill hall. Up on Champ de Mars the Royal Scots and Fusiliers were drilling. In the hall the 65th were standing to their arms awaiting orders. Outside the crowd was steadily increasing. Not since the arrival of the first contingent from South Africa has there been such a military demonstration. The men during their hours of waiting labored under a strong excitement. To those who had answered the "Fall in" on many a dark night and misty morning on the South African veldt the experience was more amusing than exciting.

NEW EXPERIENCE FOR SOME.

To the majority, however, the feeling that they were on active service was enough to make the pulse beat faster and give a little tremor of subdued excitement to the voice. To all those who had faced the flying stones and missiles two years ago the situation was fraught with a more serious interest. For all it was an interesting experience.

Approximately 1,200 men were on duty by 10 o'clock. The following regiments composed the force:

Duke of York's Hussars, 100 men; Victoria Rifles, 250; Royal Scots, 300; Prince of Wales Fusiliers, 250; 65th Royal Rifles, 300; Army Medical Corps, 35 men.

Down on the wharf the Victoria Rifles were assigned to the revetment wall, from the Custom House to the C.P.R. elevator. The 65th Royal Rifles were assigned to guard the water front from the C.P.R. east.

During the early part of the night troops of the Hussars picked their way among the debris along the water front. Strong guards were placed at every pile of stones that might furnish ammunition for the strikers.

RIFLES AT ALLANS' SHEDS.

At the Allan sheds the men of the Victoria Rifles not on duty wrapped themselves in their overcoats and slept on the floor. Piles of hay furnished beds for the Hussars in the shed opposite the Monterey.

Few slept, however. The night was passed with song and story. Veterans of South Africa vied with veterans of the Northwest, and men who had gone through the strike at Valleyfield, in spinning yarns of personal experiences.

The scene on the wharves after military occupation was full of interest for the little groups of loungers that hung around the water front all night. There was no trouble or sign of trouble after the troops had marched to their stations on the wharves. Their arrival passed without incident, being viewed in gloomy silence by the little groups of strikers and loungers gathered about. By 11 o'clock only the passing of the mounted patrol and the changing of the guards at the revetment wall broke the stillness of the night.

It is twenty years since the water front has been under military protection, and last night's scenes were full of interest.

ROYAL SCOTS ORDERED OUT.

The 5th Royal Scots were ordered out by Lieut.-Colonel Gordon, D.O.C., this morning to join the force requisitioned to protect the wharves and water front. This raises the number of troops under arms to 1,200 men, and they comprise all the local militia except the Battery and Garrison Artillery.

Lieut.-Colonel Gordon said early this morning that no regular orders would be issued for the day, as action would have to be governed as emergency required. His headquarters will be at the brigade office in the drill hall, though he will be on the waterfront from time to time.

The Victoria Rifles guarded the water front west of Jacques Cartier Square, and the 65th M.R.R. east of Jacques Cartier Square, all last night and this morning. The two regiments will be relieved at 5 o'clock this afternoon by the Fusiliers and Scots.

The Vics occupied the Allan sheds during the night, and as they had been called out hurriedly, many were shy great coats and suffered from the cold. They accepted the situation cheerfully, however, and did remarkably well to turn out 250 men on a few hours' notice. Lieut.-Colonel Hamilton is in command of his regiment, and with his staff officers was a busy man last night and to-day.

GENERAL STRIKE MAY FOLLOW HERE SHOULD THE TEAMSTERS AND ELECTRICIANS GO OUT

Unless the longshoremen's strike is amicably settled before to-morrow night there is a possibility of Friday witnessing the inauguration of a general strike, which will involve every labor union in the city affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

This is the positive opinion of the men who are at the head of the longshoremen's strike. To-day they are bringing every pressure to bear upon the Teamster's Union to join the strike. With the teamsters out, they are confident that the success of the longshoremen's strike would be assured.

Unless the strike is settled to-morrow, it is almost certain the Electricians' Union will be ordered out Friday. Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk freight handlers will be the next to be brought into line of moral suasion, and the power invested in the international order can do.

EXTENT OF THE DIFFICULTY.

With the teamsters on strike, not a ton of cargo could leave the wharf, which in a few days would involve a loss of thousands of dollars; with the electricians out, the city and the wharves would be plunged in darkness, rendering the work of unloading at night impossible; with the railway freight handlers out, all cargo consigned to the wharves would be stalled in the freight cars. And that is not the sum of the possibilities.

The street railway men have declared themselves unanimously in favor of the longshoremen. One indication of their sympathies is seen in the number of M. S. R. employes sprinkled though every gathering of strikers on the wharf. In the ardor of its youth, the Street Railway Union is imbued with a deep pride and unbounded faith in the power and strength of International organization.

MAJORITY FAVOR STRIKE.

To uphold these a big majority of the men would be willing to endorse a sympathy strike.

The more sober opinion among the strikers is inclined to denounce the possibility of such a contingency, but at the same time there is considerable talk of such a step along the wharves and among the street railway men.

There is just a possibility, however, of the strike being settled in time to avert all this. To-night the longshoremen will empower a special committee to conduct whatever negotiations may arise with the stevedores and shipowners.

It is quite possible, however, that the shipowners, now that they have the protection of a strong military force, will stand fast to their resolutions. This was the impression which a Herald reporter carried away from a number of shipping offices visited to-day.

WHAT RECOGNITION MEANS.

To recognize the union and submit the future welfare of the port to the despotic action of so powerful an organization as the International body would, they claim, ultimately spell its ruin. They are determined apparently to fight the men on this point to the last ditch.

Should this decision be adhered to there is no limit to the possibility of the strike.

In the eyes of the International order the men working upon the wharves at present are non-union men or 'scabs.' The teamsters who are at present carting the freight are International men bound by the laws of that order not to work for or with non-union men. The electricians who provide light for the men to work are International men and in the same position. The freight handlers are all International men and cannot touch freight which non-union men handle on the wharves. That is if the letter of the law that governs their organization is strictly adhered to.

COMPLICATIONS ARE MANY.

These are a few of the complications of the situation. There are others but these are sufficient to cause considerable trouble.

The teamsters will meet to-night to decide whether they strike to-morrow or not.

The electricians meet to-morrow for the same purpose.

It is within the power of the International Longshoremen's Union to call out the freight handlers. It is extremely improbable, however, that this will be done.

It is upon the action of the teamsters that the strikers base their hope of success, however. The teamsters could not be replaced and without them the freight would lie upon the wharf. The canals will soon be open now and freight will begin to accumulate on the wharves. Without the teamsters and without a large force of practiced longshoremen to handle this the financial loss to all interested in the freight will be enormous.

STRIKE WILL COST THE CITY $1,500 EVERY DAY.

The civic officials were inclined to move circumspectly in regard to calling out the militia to suppress strike violence. City Attorney Archambault requested that the stevedores put their request for militia protection in writing, when they waited upon the Mayor yesterday. The stevedores and shipping companies failed to do so, but when violence grew apace, His Worship decided to have the troops out, after a conference with his legal advisers.

"The law reads that the militia may be called out to aid the civil power when violence warrants it or when disturbances are threatened with which the civil power would be unable to cope," said Mr. Archambault this morning. "Our requisition for troops stated that whereas there had been disturbances and that further disturbances promised, the district officer commanding, etc. We have a precedent for this about thirty years ago."

"How about the payment of the troops?"

Mr. Archambault declined to express any opinion on the point until he had looked up certain features. There was a report around the City Hall that the city would not be liable for the maintenance of the troops along the harbor front, but Mr. Archambault would give no opinion. The general impression is that the city will have to foot the bill.

There are about 1,200 men on duty. Each man gets 50 cents a day pay and 50 cents for rations, while the officers draw double this amount for rations and also larger pay. The Hussars get extra for their horses. The men are supposed to provision themselves out of the allowance made.

The cost will be each day:

1,200 troops' pay (including officers)	$700
Rations	700
Horses	100
Total	$1,500

This is a conservative estimate. Aside from this is the loss to business and to the men on duty on account of absence from work. Should the trouble be of any duration, the financial side will be deeply felt.

LONGSHOREMEN DECIDE ON FIGHTING TO FINISH

The longshoremen will fight their case out to a finish, but it will be a battle of non-interference and restraint from violence. Even the arrival of the Lake Champlain with its load of Liverpool laborers will not provoke a clash, if the men of the union can help; but every legitimate effort will be made to induce them to join the ranks of the strikers.

This is the course advocated and unanimously approved at a meeting of nearly 3,000 members of the Longshoremen's Union last night at the Bonsecours Market Hall.

None but union men who could give the password and countersign were admitted to the meeting, which was remarkable for its orderliness and unanimity. There was little excitement apparent; there was a complete absence of incendiary exhortation. Firm determination to fight the thing out to the end was the keynote to the temper of the crowd. There was no jocularity, but there was no ugliness. They were a husky lot of men as they crowded past the doorkeeper and made their way up into the hall and stood quietly puffing their black clay pipes waiting for the meeting to begin. What was more it was a sober crowd. Around the door, it is true, there stood groups of fellows whose appearance and utterance showed them to be the worse for liquor. These were the hangers-on, who could not produce the necessary certificate of membership to gain admittance to the hall. The men inside were of a different stamp.

MEN LISTEN IN SILENCE.

They listened for the most part in silence, without comment or applause, except that which courtesy demanded at the close of each speech. Only when the calling out of the soldiers was referred to, was there an angry flash of the eye; and it was evident that the adoption of this extreme measure by the authorities was viewed with resentment. One might almost have thought them an indifferent audience, were it not for the hearty, emphatic and unanimous assent which was given when the chairman asked if they were in favor of the continuance of the strike.

Not a single suggestion of violence was offered; and it was evidently the opinion of the gathering that the objects aimed at could best be attained by a simple refusal to return to work until the demands are conceded by the stevedores, and a strict avoidance of all violence or interference with any work that might be done.

After a few explanatory remarks by Mr. Ed. Charon, president of the union, who occupied the chair.

ADDRESS BY MR. RODIER.

Mr. J. A. Rodier, of the Central Trades and Labor Council addressed the meeting. He made a strong appeal to the men to stand by their union and insist upon the concession of their rights, but above all to conduct themselves in a peaceful and orderly manner.

If they did this, he said, the struggle could have but one outcome. The shipping companies would have to come to their terms. They could not afford to employ unskilled labor. For one good union man was worth five makeshift 'scabs.'

But let them beware of their enemies who would use every means in their power to draw them into acts of violence and discredit them before the public. This was why the militia had been called out. The soldiers were not needed, but by calling them out the longshoremen were made to look like lawless ruffians, and that was what the men behind the move wanted.

The speaker was glad that not one union man did anything that could be construed into an act of violence. Anything bordering upon this was the work of outsiders for whom the union could not be held responsible. Let them stand by their union and victory would soon be theirs.

Passing on to speak of the arrival of the Lake Champlain with a hold full of men from Liverpool to take their places, Mr. Rodier said that the enemies of the union cherished the ardent hope that this would provoke the men of the union. He hoped his hearers would disappoint them in this. Let them talk to these men reasonably and amicably; and he felt sure that they too would join the ranks of those who were fighting a fair fight for their simple rights.

UNIONS EXTEND SYMPATHY.

The longshoremen had the sympathy of organized labor in their struggle for justice, and if, thy conducted themselves with moderation and carefulness they would soon have public opinion at their back.

Mr. J. E. Hilton, president of the Electrical Brotherhood Association, spoke next. He urged his hearers to insist upon the recognition of the union. He himself was on his way to a meeting of the Teamsters' Union, whose members he expected would also strike in sympathy with the longshoremen and thus tie the transportation companies up completely. The other speakers were Messrs. J. B. Mack and R. S. Walsh.

Mr. George Martel, treasurer of the union then announced that since Saturday morning 420 new members had joined the organization, making a total of 3,237.

A Syrian member then addressed his fellow countrymen in their own language, urging them to be true to the union.

The chairman in conclusion asked the members if they were in favor of continuing the strike. The affirmative reply was unanimous and emphatic. He then delivered a closing word of admonition, urging his fellow members to conduct themselves as peaceful citizens and to keep away from the soldiers.

After this the meeting quietly dispersed.

OFFICES ARE FITTED UP.

Labor Bureau officers are being fitted up on the Dominion wharf and provision is being made for retaining all the men on the southern side of the revetment wall. The owners claim they can keep them there for weeks or months if necessary.

Among the prominent officials of the vessel owners present on the wharves to-day were G. H. Bosworth, fourth vice-president of the C.P.R. and Mr. D. Campbell, of the steamship line.

M'LEAN TELEPHONE BILL AGAIN DISCUSSED TO-DAY

Mayors of Various Municipalities Met Sub-Committee—Toronto Favors the Measure.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, April 29.—The sub-committee appointed by the Railway Committee to consider W. F. Maclean's Telephone Bill, held its first meeting to-day to confer with representatives of municipalities.

Mr. Maclean expressed his willingness to put in a clause which would fully protect municipal rights, and further explained that in drafting the bill he had been careful not to include anything which would override such rights.

Mayor Urquhart, Toronto, said that when speaking at the conference with the Minister of Justice and the municipal representatives, he had no intention to convey the meaning that Toronto was against the proposed telephone legislation. As a matter of fact, Toronto favored the Maclean Bill. He suggested that full inquiry be made and ascertain all the facts, before legislation was secured, and offered to lay his information before the Government. He narrated the fight between Toronto and the Bell Telephone Co.

Mayor Cook, Ottawa, says that Ottawa wanted to expropriate the Bell system in order to instal the municipal system.

Mayor Urquhart said that Toronto would agree to this.

W. D. Lighthall, Westmount, insisted on the rights of municipalities being maintained.

Mayor Rogers, of Peterboro, said the poles erected in towns and city streets had become an intolerable nuisance.

James Fullerton, K.C., asked that the rights taken from the municipalities by the Telephone Act of 1880 be restored, and J. A. Ritchie, K.C., for the Bell Telephone Company, contended that Parliament had no right to interfere with the question of rights enjoyed by the company on streets and highways. The bill was a vicious one, a trouble breeder, and was ultra vires.

In reply to Mr. Monk, Mr. Ritchie contended that the company could invade municipalities and affect property and civil rights in the same way as railway companies could, but as a matter of precaution they had obtained from the provinces specific rights to enter municipalities. It would ruin the company's business if cities and towns were given power to expropriate the company's system.

E. F. Clarke said the Bell Company had rifled the municipality and bunced them out of the control of their streets. It was absurd to say that Parliament could not remedy this.

The committee adjourned to give the members time to consider the legal points raised.

A GREAT SUFFERER CURED.

Mr. Benjamin Dillon, of Leeds, Ont., was cured of Muscular Rheumatism by Polson's Nerviline, and says: "I feel my duty is to proclaim Polson's Nerviline as an infallible cure for Rheumatism; it cured me after 30 years' suffering, and nothing I know of can equal its penetrating power. Nerviline simply has no equal in quickly relieving and curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, and Lumbago. A trial will convince anyone. Price 25c.

SEVERAL WEDDINGS SOLEMNIZED TO-DAY

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Belleville, Ont., April 29.—At 10.30 Mr. Thomas G. Lewis, of Avondale, a suburb of this city, formerly of Montreal, and Miss Lena Lighttam, daughter of ex-Mayor Nelson Lighttam, were married. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Lighttam, and was charmingly gowned in taffeta silk, trimmed with chantilly lace and chiffon. The best man was Mr. Howard Lewis, of St. Thomas. Rev. Dr. Crothers, of the Bridge Street Methodist Church, was the officiating clergyman. After the wedding breakfast the happy couple left for a wedding tour in the East.

At 11 o'clock the wedding of Miss Norah Madeleine Bell, youngest daughter of Mr. John Bell, K.C., solicitor for the Grand Trunk Railway, took place. The groom was Mr. W. N. Chisholm, who has been for several years employed in the office of Mr. John Bell. The ceremony took place in the beautifully decorated drawing room of the bride's parents, and was performed by Rev. M. W. McLean, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The bride wore white duchess satin, with veil and orange blossoms, and a collarette of oriental pearls with diamond bars, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaids were Miss Bell, sister of the bride, and Miss Rathbun, her niece, who wore white point d'esprit lace over white taffeta silk. The groom was assisted by Messrs. Alf. Gillen and E. W. Bell, of this city. The wedding breakfast was furnished by Webb, of Toronto. The happy couple left on a bridal tour to Colorado, California and British Columbia. Among the many present were parties from Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Napanee and Deseronto. Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm will reside in the city.

DENIES STATEMENT MADE BY MR. GAMEY

Regarding Election Returns—Alleged Contempt of Court Case is Dropped.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Toronto, April 29.—The alleged contempt of court by The Mail and Empire engaged the attention of the Gamey commission this morning. The defence was the publication of an article based on an item in the books of the Ontario Bank, which was gained by private inspection and not on evidence in court; also allegations regarding the case which were not yet proved.

Mr. J. B. Clark, on behalf of the Mail, expressed regret, and the matter dropped.

Chancellor Boyd quoted from different authorities to show that the commission had full jurisdiction over such matters, comparing its position with that of the Parnell commission in the case of United Ireland.

W. R. Abery, returning officer in Manitoulin, denied Mr. Gamey's statement that the returns were delayed in order to give more time to enter a protest, and explained that the delay was due to bad roads, etc.

John E. Boyd, in charge of colonization matters, testified that on August 16, 1902, Gamey told him he intended to support the Ross Government, because its policy was beneficial to the northern country, and that Mr. Ross understood better than Mr. Whitney the needs of that country.

In cross-examination Boyd was asked how Gamey proposed to satisfy his Conservative friends over his change. Gamey replied that he had to consult only three or four, and he would get a Government subsidy for a telephone line for one of them, Mr. Turner; the position of gaol surgeon for Dr. Johnston, and another position for a third. He was questioned at length about the question of patronage, and said he wrote to the Minister that if certain grants for roads recommended by Mr. Gamey were made, the party would be demoralized.

The evidence of a livery stable-keeper showed that on September 10, Mr. Stratton was driving from 12.25 to 1.25 and from 3.30 to 6.30 and from 7.30 to midnight. That was the day on which Gamey alleged in the House he got $3,000 from Mr. Stratton about 12 or 12.30 noon.

Before the commission he said it was on the 11th, and in cross-examination he said it was one day or the other, but declined to give himself down to either. The defence are now occupied in tracing Mr. Stratton's movements.

YESTERDAY'S EVIDENCE

Toronto, April 29.—Further evidence was given regarding Mr. Gamey's polities during his campaign and after at the afternoon session. The cross-examination followed the same lines as in the morning.

The court resumed the consideration of Mr. Gamey's transaction with a $900 deposit slip in the Ontario Bank on Saturday, April 18. Yesterday's evidence showed that he had withdrawn the original, deposited by Mr. Crossin on Sept. 11, which had nine $100 bills, and substituted another with different denominations, and later on a second substitute, with the denomination the same as the original, but without the ledger folio number.

Mr. Howarth, receiving teller of the Ontario Bank, recalled, was questioned at some length about the marks on the deposit slips which Mr. Gamey returned, but his evidence was not conclusive as to whether or not they formed his initial "H."

Mr. James Brown, accountant, said his attention was called by the teller to this slip, with the denomination changed from hundreds to others and not added up. The messenger, Mr. Barton, was sent out and returned with Messrs. Crossin and Gamey. Mr. Gamey said: "You must be mistaken. That is the slip I got from the teller." Mr. Brown replied that it was not, and Mr. Gamey persisted for some time that it was. Finally, when Mr. Gamey saw they were positive, he said it must have been lost. Mr. Howarth went to the factory with Mr. Gamey, but failed to find it. Mr. Gamey came back in the afternoon, and, producing a slip, said that he had found the missing one, which had slipped into his glove.

WANTED IT BACK.

He asked to have back the one he left in the morning. The witness replied that it had left his possession. Mr. Gamey asked him to get it and send it to Mr. McPherson's office. Mr. Gamey returned a fourth time, with Mr. J. M. Might, and said it would be all right to send it to Mr. McPherson's office. At first he took the second substitute handed in as the original.

The cross-examination with regard to these substitue slips was directed to show that they were not copies of the original, because one was not added up, and neither had the ledger folio or the file mark.

Chancellor Boyd remarked impatiently that these questions were of no importance, for it was not a criminal investigation.

Mr. A. W. Barton, messenger, who was sent to the Crossin factory after Mr. Gamey, said he asked for the slip he took away from the Ontario Bank. He said he had the one Gamey left and would exchange. Gamey said the one with the four denominations was the one he got out of the bank and also put back. He replied that was not

MR. CROSSIN'S WRITING.

Mr. Crossin was present and said that the slip in the four denominations was in his own handwriting. At his suggestion they went back to the bank but could not find the original. Later in the afternoon Mr. Gamey came back, and, having apologized for the trouble, said he found the missing one in his glove and had returned it.

In cross-examination he repeated that Mr. Crossin had said that the slip which Mr. Gamey had first substituted was in his own (Crossin's) handwriting. He was positive that he was not mistaken and that the handwriting referred to was not on the original, but on the substitute which he took to the factory.

TOLD MR. GAMEY'S SOLICITOR.

Mr. Walter Barwick, K.C., counsel for the bank, said that when the circumstances were explained to him he informed Mr. McPherson what Mr. Gamey had done, and asked Mr. McPherson to get the slip back. Later in the day when he learned all the circumstances he informed Mr. Johnston. He did not think at all that Mr. McPherson had the slip, but he communicated with him as Mr. Gamey's solicitor.

The defence next put in evidence as to Mr. Gamey's political attitude last summer. Neil Macdougall, of Providence Bay, said he attended a meeting last May, and Mr. Gamey then said that, if elected, he would support the Government, whatever it was.

PROMISE OF McGREGOR ISLAND.

On February 11th he and others met Gamey, and told him that his own friends thought he got $5,000, $15,000 and $27,000 and the promise of McGregor Island after the Globe interview. Gamey replied that he did not get a cent.

Mr. W. J. Beattie, contractor, of Providence Bay, corroborated Mr. Macdougall's evidence as to Gamey's speech in May. In cross-examination, being asked if Gamey's speech led him to vote for Gamey, he replied, "I was not carried away by wind."

Mr. Samuel Sinclair, a Liberal, of Providence Bay, said he was influenced by Mr. Gamey's speech, to vote in favor of him.

Mr. Lachlan Macdougall, township of Gordon, said Mr. Gamey came to his place about a week before the election, and said he was more of an independent than a party man.

Messrs. Malcolm Macdougall, Lachlan Macdougall, jr., sons of the former, Sylvester Berry, Duncan Orr and Robert Thorburn, gave testimony along similar lines.

The cross-examination was directed to show that what Gamey said was that he would support good measures by any Government for Manitoulin, rather than that he would support the present Government. Some of the witnesses were badly confused over the distinction.

Mr. Robert Thorburn, of Gore Bay, said that after the Globe interview Gamey said he would support any good measures, and would not be like Campbell, of Algoma.

Mr. Johnston proposed to put in evidence as to where Mr. Gamey was last Tuesday, but Chancellor Boyd thought the record was already sufficiently burdened.

ENQUETE INTO CASE RESUMED BY COURT

Margolius is Subject to Lively Cross-Examination by Mr. R. A. E. Greenshields.

The preliminary enquete into the charges against Morris Bachrack, William Blaikley and David Levy, of conspiracy to defraud the creditors of George Margolius, was continued before Judge Desnoyers this morning, when Mr. R. A. E. Greenshields begun the cross-examination of Margolius.

Mr. Greenshields first asked the witness if anybody had offered him anything to return from Chicago.

The witness replied in the negative. He had come back because his lawyer advised him that it was the wisest course.

Mr. Greenshields then questioned the witness as to his movements upon his arrival in Montreal.

The witness stated that while in Chicago he had retained Mr. Margolese here, but on his arrival in Montreal he changed his counsel upon the advice of Mr. Cooke and others.

Mr. Jacobs objected to the witness being asked why he had made the change.

Mr. Greenshields said that he wished to find out why the witness, a self-convicted criminal, was living like a lord at the Cecil Hotel.

In Mr. Cooke's absence the question was disallowed.

Mr. Greenshields then asked the witness if he had forged the name of J. Vise & Co. to a note for $260.

The witness replied that he had no recollection of doing such a thing.

ANENT FORGERY OF NAMES.

Did he remember forging the names of Simkovitch and others to different notes?

He did not.

Did the witness not commit perjury in giving testimony in the case of Silverstein vs. the Belding Paul Co., and was not his evidence stigmatized by the judge as such?

No.

Mr. Greenshields then asked the witness to furnish him with a statement of the goods bought from March, 1902, until he left for Chicago, with the firms from whom he purchased them, also a statement of goods sold during that time and to whom sold.

Mr. Greenshields said that he wished to show that the transactions between Margolius and the accused formed only a small part of his total business, and that twenty-five other men bought goods from Margolius on exactly the same terms as the accused.

The cross-examination of Margolius was then postponed to permit of the preparation of this statement.

Jos. Harris, who had been employed by Margolius as a traveller, testified that he knew Margolius was selling goods to Bachrack at half price, and in August or September warned Margolius to stop, as Bachrack would ruin him. Margolius did stop for a while, but started again.

The witness then told of Margolius' purchase of goods from St. Hyacinthe for Bachrack, amounting to $1,700. A week later witness found Margolius in great trouble because Bachrack had said he would pay only fifty per cent.

WITNESS GOES TO TORONTO.

The witness then went to Toronto and asked Bachrack what he meant by making Margolius lose $800 by the transaction. He told Bachrack that he was ruining Margolius; and asked him why he did not let him alone. Bachrack replied by suggesting that the witness "wanted a slice."

Bachrack after said to the witness that Margolius would not pull through.

The witness was discharged by Margolius toward the end of November on the ground that things were slack.

Upon cross-examination by Mr. Greenshields, witness stated that he had no personal knowledge of any transaction in which Margolius sold goods at fifty cents on the dollar.

The first transaction of the kind of which he heard was in August, when Margolius let Bachrack have goods at 50 cents on the dollar, on the understanding that he could get them back before they were sold by paying 10 per cent. interest on money advanced.

Mr. Ernest Reinhardt, of Reinhardt & Co., was the last witness called. He stated that he had had several transactions with Mr. Bachrack, usually on a cash basis.

February 4 Margolius and Bachrack came into the warehouse of the witness. Margolius bought goods to the amount of $700, and Mr. Bachrack to the extent of $100. This was the first transaction he had ever had with Margolius. The terms were spot cash, but as Margolius hesitated in regard to this, no goods were delivered.

Heat Conservation

A hot oven and a cool kitchen is what every housewife is looking for this summer. It is absolutely impossible with a coal range, and almost as impossible with the ordinary gas range. The makes a hot oven and a cool kitchen a practical certainty. The oven is lined with asbestos—this keeps the heat in and leaves the kitchen cool. It also heats the oven more quickly to a higher degree and with less gas than any other range. The illustration shows that immediately outside an oven hot enough to cook a roast it is comfortably cool.

We would like to show you this and many other improvements peculiar to the Oxford Gas Range. Won't you call at one of our agencies? We can prove to you that this range does away with kitchen drudgery. If you can't call, write for our leaflet—it will interest every housewife.

JAPAN REQUIRES EUROPEAN FOODS

Vast Increase in Importation of Wheat and Meat Which Canada Can Supply.

An interview recently published in The Herald, in which the Hon. Tatz-Goro Nosse, Japanese Consul-General for Canada, dwells upon the splendid possibilities of trade between Canada and Japan, ought to set Canadians thinking and suggest to us the propriety of being up and doing.

Most of us have a more or less vague idea that some years ago Japan awoke out of the self-satisfied slumber which wrapped the peoples of the East and joined the ranks of Western nations as a power to be reckoned with. We are also cognizant of the fact that this metamorphosis involved to a very considerable extent the adoption of modern methods of business and living. But as a nation we have utterly failed to grasp the significance of these things as they directly affect us. When we look at the globe we see that the Japanese Islands to the west of us correspond very closely to the British Isles to the east. They are approximately the same size and the same distance away, and each has a population of about forty millions. Yet how little we realize that at the present rate of progress in Japan it will in a comparatively few years afford as important a market for the food products of the Dominion as the mother country itself.

Twenty years ago the wage of laborers in Japan was about a quarter of a yen, or about twelve and a half cents, per day. To-day, such has been the growth of industry in the country, that one yen, or fifty cents a day, is the regular rate paid to the laborer, while the carpenters employed in the erection of the exhibition buildings at Osaka recently made a demand for three yen, or a dollar and a half, a day.

With better wages has come a higher scale of living. Twenty years ago the laboring classes of Japan lived on rice, barley and vegetables. Their daily supply even of these was often of the scantiest, and when famine came they had to fall back on barley and millet. To-day the laborer of Japan lives in comparative plenty. Fish has been added as one of the staples of his diet, and he even tastes meat occasionally, while wheat is gradually taking the place of rice.

In the old days the workman at the noon hour went to the street vendor of victuals with his little stand and tiny fireplace, and bought a dumpling made of rice flour and a bit of broiled fish on a stick. Now he buys a slice of toasted wheat bread and a piece of meat.

Old Japan was neither a meat-eating nor a meat-producing country. Land was too scarce and too valuable to be used for grazing or mixed farming. The middle and even the higher classes rarely tasted meat, and when they did it was usually a rabbit or a hare.

But along with the adoption of other occidental ideas has come the cultivation of an appetite for European food. Meat is now a staple article of diet among the middle classes, although as the market price of beef is seventy-five cents a pound, the average well-to-do family even can scarcely afford to partake of it more than once a day. The Government, on its part, is convinced that meat makes muscle, and it therefore forms a substantial portion of the rations of the half million soldiers in its standing army, and of the twenty thousand sailors in its navy.

Yet in the whole country there are not 1,500,000 head of cattle, although the number butchered in 1899 was 207,819 head of cattle, 26,951 sheep and 318,508 pigs, which, compared with the figures for 1894, when 143,852 head of cattle, 1,404 sheep and 30,404 pigs were slaughtered, gives some idea of the startling rate at which the consumption of meat is increasing in Japan. The point of vital importance to such food-exporting countries as Canada, the United States and Australia is that just as Japan has acquired these tastes from the outside world, it must go outside for the wherewithal to gratify them. And the question which is facing Canada to-day is whether we are going to make an effort to figure in this trade.

Ten years ago the people of the United States became alive to the possibilities of Japan as a produce market, and the following table of exports from the United States to Japan will give some idea of the enormous success of the efforts made to cultivate it:

	1892.	1897.	1901.
Agricultural implements	$2,000	$7,000	$42,000
Wheat flour	179,000	819,000	1,635,003
Other flour	10,000	88,000	173,000
Bicycles, etc.	10,000	52,000	264,000
Fruits, etc.	11,000	13,000	35,000
Rubber goods	22,000	42,000	95,600
Sole leather	139,000	213,000	442,000
All other, etc.	6,900	26,000	60,000
Papers	1,300	6,900	266,000
Beef canned	26,000	60,000	140,000
Beef, salted	986	9,400	72,000
Hams and bacon	450	4,100	29,000
Butter	1,700	15,000	29,000
Cheese	1,700	4,400	8,400
Milk, canned	43,000	58,000	128,000
Cigarettes	114,600	349,000	909,000
Lumber	16,000	174,000	154,000
Fish	1,300	11,000	78,000
Wheat	700	1,200	22,000
Pulp	28,000	76,000	142,000
Cotton duck	4,300	8,000	53,000
Cardboard	29,600	64,000	153,000

Australia also is building up a considerable trade with the Flowery Kingdom, and in the year 1901 exported thither leather and hides to the value of $6,836 yen, butter and cheese 48,441 yen, flour 154,127 yen, wheat 185,273 yen, and bones for fertilizing 127,440 yen.

Canada alone has been doing nothing in this direction, or at least next to nothing. In 1899 her total export trade to Japan, consisting principally of fish and lumber, amounted to only $91,009, or 182,018 yen. In 1900 it was 116,669 yen and in 1901 181,784 yen. And yet Canada is in a better position geographically than any other country in the world to reach the produce markets of Japan.

Another feature of the trade with Japan which is worth noting is that while her population is increasing at the rate of one million every four years and the scale of living is steadily advancing, Japan produces less food every year. Since the spirit of commerce has entered into Japan, and her merchants have discovered that the markets of the world are hers to buy and sell in, her farmers are too shrewd to keep on growing rice at an annual profit of $36 an acre and wheat at a profit of $23 an acres, when tea farming will yield $76 an acre, and an acre of mulberry trees upon which the silk worm feeds will bring its owner a yearly revenue of $1,150. It is generally recognized that there is no longer any money in rice farming in Japan. When fertilizers have to be imported from South America and labor is so high, it does not yield more than 6 per cent. on the investment, and Japanese Government bonds bear that much while the owner sleeps.

Accordingly ever year sees the acres of wheat and rice fields grow fewer, as tea and mulberry plantations take their place.

In 1888 the rice acreage was 7,070,875, in 1892 it was 6,967,472, in 1896 it was 6,887,752, and in 1900 6,701,496. The number of acres of wheat shows a similar decrease, as follows: 1888, 1,171,170 acres; 1892, 1,104,200 acres; 1896, 1,091,110 acres; and 1900, 1,012,940 acres.

During the same time the acreage of tea and mulberry plantations has increased in inverse ration. In 1888 there were only 123,165 acres of tea plantations in Japan; in 1892 there were 148,697 acres; in 1896, 159,500; and in 1900, 187,500. While 548,635 acres of mulberries in 1888 grew to 619,812 in 1892, to 722,342 in 1896, and 801,972 in 1900.

In other words, Japan in 1891 imported $1,950,000 worth of rice and $750,000 worth of wheat flower and exported silk to the value of $18,300,000 and tea to the value of $3,350,000; but in 1900 she imported rice to the value of $4,530,000 and wheat flour to the value of $1,950,000, while exporting $34,250,000 worth of silk and $4,520,000 worth of tea. From which it will be seen that Japan becomes every year more dependent upon the outside world for its supply of daily bread.

Canadians have therefore to consider whether it is worth while to cultivate trade with a country whose constantly increasing scale of living means a steady augmentation in her importation of food products which we are so well able to supply, and whose own exports which we receive in exchange are of a character which we can never produce for ourselves.

PRINCE DE MODENA IS A FASCINATING MAN

London, April 28.—The life story of the Countess Russell, which frequently has been before the public since her marriage with Earl Russell, in 1900, once more furnishes a surprising episode.

Her present husband, who is said to have passed at the Henley regatta last summer as the Prince Athrobold Stuart de Modena, and whom she married in December last, was charged before the Portsmouth Magistrates, in the name of William Brown, with having caused a false entry to be made on the Portsmouth marriage register.

It is understood that at the next hearing Lady Tina Scott, mother of the Countess, will give evidence. At present the Countess is staying at a house at Bray, near Maidinhead, with her mother.

The reputed Prince Athrobold Stuart de Modena was before the Magistrates for only a few moments. The police charge sheet described him as a coachman, twenty-nine years of age. In the books of the Portsmouth Registrar he described himself, December last, as plain "Athrobold Stuart de Modena, aged thirty-one, widower, independent means, of Wyndleshore, Datchet." His father's name was given as "Frank Joseph H. Modena, deceased," the bride as "Mabel Elish Russell, formerly Scott, divorced wife of John Francis Stanley Russell."

CHARGED WITH FELONY.

The Countess' husband is said by the Treasury to be the son of a Berkshire coachman. The offence with which he is charged in causing himself to be described in the register as Athrobold Stuart de Modena, is a felony, punishable by imprisonment or penal servitude.

According to the Windsor correspondent of the Daily Mail, Athrobold Stuart de Modena, so-called Austrian Prince, passed a very pleasant time at Wyndleshore, Datchet, several months prior to his marriage to the Countess Russell.

"I called at Wyndleshore and learned many particulars concerning his stay there. 'Wyndleshore, which is the ancient spelling of Windsor, and refers to the winding shore of the river running below the castle, is a charming little residence, abutting in Windsor Road, overlooking the Datchet reach. At the end of last season the owner of Wyndleshore was introduced to Prince de Modena. They soon became friendly. The visitor seemed to have plenty of money. He was of good address and so impressed his host that the latter gave him an invitation to stay at Wyndleshore.

The Prince accepted, and in no austere spirit of princely pride stayed several months; in fact, until he married he made Wyndleshore his home. Here he lived the life of a nobleman enjoying England. He played the piano and sang beautifully, so say the inmates of Wyndleshore, and whether on the river, playing lawn tennis or cycling, seemed quite at home. Every one believed in him, of course, and when the Countess Russell called to see him everybody thought how lucky she was to have secured the love of this smart young nobleman.

HAPPY DAYS AT WYNDLESHORE.

These were happy days at Wyndleshore. There were cycling excursions to Bray, where flower decked lawns spread down to the edge of the Thames, and the gilded youth from town devote their time to lolling in hammocks or sipping tea on the balconies of the bungalows. Amid such scenes the Countess Russell and the Prince passed some of their days. The Prince sang love songs as the sun sank behind the towers of the King's home.

In this paradise of adventurers and stock-brokers the Prince was noticed, envied and gossiped about. He sat his bicycle like a prince, said every one. Even the butcher boy who called at Wyndleshore said in the admiring spirit of the place what a delightful man His Highness was. His touch at the piano was artistic. His melodious voice floated out of windows and was heard by those who lazily drifted along the river.

Then there came preparations for the marriage, which was, however, carried out very quietly. The gallant Prince quitted Datchet with the best wishes of residents and servants of Wyndleshore, who spoke of the Prince as such a nice, handsome man.

The remainder of the story will be told at Portsmouth when Athrobold Stuart de Modena, Prince of Austria, or William Brown, coachman's son, will be before the bar.

LACK OF WORKMEN ALONG THE WHARF

Only a Few Were at Work This Morning on Various Boats in Port.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon there were seven large cargo boats in port. The total number of longshoremen employed on the wharves under the protection of a military guard approximating 1,000 men did not exceed 150 men. Work of a kind was being done on the Fremona, Salacia, Alexandria, Monterey and Lake Champlain. The Fremona reached port on Saturday afternoon. In her holds were 67,000 boxes of lemon and oranges. Work of unloading was commenced on Monday morning. There are still over 55,000 boxes of fruit in her hold at the present rate of working it will take at least two weeks to unload her.

The Alexandria commenced unloading on Friday afternoon. She had 3,000 tons of steel rails in her hold together with a genral cargo. The lightest of the general cargo is all that has been touched. From the other boats in port very little cargo has been unloaded.

The force of non-union longshoremen available and in sight is entirely inadequate to copping with the work. At least six hundred men should be employed to do the work properly under ordinary circumstances 150 men would be employed in the Fremona and Alexandria and an even larger number on the other vessels.

Unless the ship-owners and stevedores can find one thousand men to work within the next couple of days the ships now in port will be delayed several days.

The real test will come when they begin loading for the sea. Forty men will be required to fill the Lake Champlain bunkers. It would take any fifty men now employed on the wharves at least two weeks to do this, and it would mean death or prostration for most of them.

The men now employed on the wharf are not regular 'longshoremen. They are mostly men to whom it was a case of either get work or starve. Russian and Polish Jews of miserable physique and absolutely unskilled preponderate. The work, even although they have not yet touched the heavy cargo, is telling upon some of them cruelly. There is no harder work in the world than dock laboring to the man who is new to the work. The 'longshoremen's labor is a trade which must be learned just as much as any other. Two skilled dock laborers will do as much work in a given time as eight unskilled laborers.

The work of unloading heavy cargo such as steel rails, is a special accomplishment. The men who do this work are known as rail lifters. There are no rail lifters amongst the Russian Jews, who groan and labor under a little box of oranges. So that the steel rails and other heavy cargo now in port will remain in the holds until the strike is over, or until the ship-owners bring out, as they claim they will, trained dock laborers from England.

SS. MONARCH ALSO ARRIVES

The Monarch, which is larger than any of the other boats now in port, came to dock opposite the C. P. R. elevators at noon. She came in water ballast, with no cargo except a little lumber loaded at Three Rivers. The captain went ashore at once to see what was to be done about loading. The boat will take a cargo of grain, cattle, lumber, and general merchandise. She brought no men to do the loading.

SEVERAL MEN IN IRONS ON THE STEAMER SALACIA

The Salacia, like the Lake Champlain, brought men to do the loading and unloading, but for some reason they have not been brought to close grips as yet. It was reported by the strike sympathizers this morning that a number of the men had decided not to work when they got here, and were promptly put in irons by orders of the captain.

The Herald endeavored to obtain verification of this rumor from the officers of the Salacia, but the reporters found that a policy of non-intercourse had been adopted on board the boat, and no official confirmation or denial could be obtained.

It was learned, however, that the rumor had substantial foundation, but it was not possible to ascertain the number of the men, which is by some placed at four and by others at seventeen.

TEN MINUTES ON THE WRARF

Down by the Alexandrian, where several rows took place yesterday, all was quiet today. A big pile of bales of bottles from Germany showed how much progress had been made with the work of unloading since the military took hold. It was not very much, as a day's work down there goes. The men were willing to work, but they didn't know how to handle a truck.

"Here you, Johnnie, come over here and help these men on the 'pile,'" said the foreman.

The green hands, who were lifting the big bales shoulder high, had begun to stagger under the loads. "Johnnie" came over, limping a little. He pulled out the brass tag he got from the Labor Bureau, and said "Check?"

"Check? No. Keep yer check."

"Hey, here's another your can have," came a voice from the ship. "This fellow will get killed if he stays up here."

Down he came.

A truck, heavily loaded, came tearing down the skid, slipped off at the wrong place, and stuck fast.

"Everybody help move that truck. Whenevr you see a truck stuck, lend a hand."

In dumping a bale, the truck was tilted up too suddenly, and a young Scandinavian got a hard crack over the ear. He rubbed it, laughed good-naturedly and went on with his work.

"Turn that truck over." When it was turned over it was oiled.

"Now you can run with it."

A big fellow in blue overalls, an Italian, actually did run with it up the gangway.

"That gait won't last long," remarked the foreman. "Just imagine putting those fellows on crates of glass and fancy ware."

"How long will it take to supply the ship at this rate?" The Herald man ventured to ask.

"Oh, about two months! I was to get a gang of men at one o'clock (it was now half-past) and I've only seen these five. You can see for yourself what they are like."

Over at the Fremona, across the basin, work was going on unhindered, but very slowly. Oranges and lemons were piled up on the open deck, and the sides of the shed, closely barricaded yesterday, were opened wherever possible. One policeman was more than enough where yesterday they could not get enough.

AN ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

Cymond Goldberg May Die as Result of Self-Inflicted Wounds.

Cymond Goldberg, a young vest-maker, who boarded with his uncle at 504 Lagauchetiere Street, was found lying in the bathroom this morning at 5 o'clock. Blood was flowing from two large wounds in his neck, and a long knife that lay near by explained how the deed was done.

He was unconscious from loss of blood when discovered by Mrs. Goldberg. The General Hospital ambulance was sent for and the injured man was removed there. The people with whom he lived can give no reason for his attempt to end his own life, for that he had that intention there is not the slightest doubt.

He was in fairly prosperous circumstances, and expected to marry in the near future. Last evening he walked down to the docks, but as far as known nothing occurred there to disturb him. He returned home and immediately retired. That was the last seen or heard of him until this morning. He was alive up to 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, but sinking.

ANOTHER GOLD "STRIKE" REPORTED IN AUSTRALIA

The news of another gold discovery in Australia is conveyed in a letter from an agent in South Australia to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, but as the letter contains little more than the bare announcement it is impossible to gather from it the extent and importance of the discovery.

The agent, however, appears to attach great importance to the find, but up to the date of writing there had been no great rush to the new district, which is in the bush more than a thousand miles north of Adelaide, the South Australian capital. It would thus appear to be not far from the centre of the continent. An influx of miners into this remote and arid district will depend upon the reports that are received from the prospectors who have now gone forward.

A party of Australians who are in the city on their way from Adelaide to England gave some further details of the discovery. They are Dr. and Mrs. Fyfe, of Adelaide, and Miss Parker, who represents some Australian papers. They came to Vancouver by the C.P.R. steamer Miowera, and will sail from here on the Lake Champlain.

Dr. Fyfe says two discoveries have been reported, one between Cooper's River and Alice Springs, which is more than 1,000 miles from Adelaide, in a northeasterly direction, and the other and larger discovery is in the northern territories of South Australia. It was the stories of the marvellous finds in the latter which had caused the excitement in the large centres of population. It had been reported that there were literally mountains of gold, and that it could be mined almost at a minimum of cost.

Like the gold discoveries in the old days when the diggings of Ballarat and Rendigo caused the early rush to Australia, the gold is alluvial, and nuggets as large as the famous carts of the original finds are reported to have been secured.

A London syndicate has already been formed to take in hand development work and to test the value of the discovery.

STRIKE OF CARPENTERS MAY CLOSE TO-MORROW

Disposition Is Shown By the Masters To Arbitrate the Questions Now Under Dispute.

In all probability the carpenters' strike will be over within the next two days. The master carpenters are meeting in the Builders' Exchange with a committee of the carpenters this afternoon, composed of Messrs. Ed. Berthiaume, A. Weaser, and Geo. Murray, the representative of the International Union. A dispositon is shown by the masters to meet the union's demands, or at least to arbitrate upon the questions in dispute.

The Master Builders' Association met last night, under the presidency of Mr. T. Charpentier, and unanimously agreed to ask the men to submit the matters in dispute to arbitration. They sent a notification to the union leaders this morning and hence the conference that was arranged.

The request for men to work on the Liverpool and London and Globe building is still held in abeyance by the council of the Brotherhood, and the union leaders anticipate that the whole trouble will be adjusted through to-day's meeting.

WILL AID CANADIAN LINES.

Elkins' Law Will Give Grand Trunk and C.P.R. Advantage.

Chicago, April 29.—The Record-Herald says to-day:

"The Elkins law bids fair to prove a bonanza to Canadian roads having lines and connections in the United States. Such lines as the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific are in a position, it is said, to divert a great deal of traffic which hitherto has been enjoyed by the American lines, by indulging in practices which they prohibited under the Elkins law.

"Apparently there is nothing to prevent the Grand Trunk making two billings of shipments, one billing to end and another to begin at the Canadian border. By so doing, any shrinking or rebate was desired in the rates could be absorbed by the Canadian end of the road.

"There is no indication that the officers of the company will take advantage of the opportunity presented by the law, but the fact that the opportunity exists, will make the road an extremely important factor in the eastern situation."

KING EDWARD DEPOSITS WREATHS ON THE TOMBS OF ITALIAN KINGS

His Majesty Will Visit Pope Leo at 4.30 O'Clock This Afternoon—Meeting Will be Private.

Rome, April 29.—King Edward, accompanied by General Pedotti, representing King Victor Emmanuel, and escorted by a brilliant array of cavalry, went to the Pantheon yesterday and deposited wreaths of laurel and palm on the tombs of Victor Emmanuel I. and King Humbert.

His Majesty then enjoyed a long drive through the city and returned to the Quirinal for dinner. The crowds which gathered in the streets through which King Edward passed continuously acclaimed the visiting sovereign.

VISITS THE POPE TO-DAY.

London, April 29.—A despatch from Rome to the Exchange Telegraph Company says:—"Last evening in the throne room of the Quirinal King Edward, surrounded by the Italian court, with his own suite, received the whole of the diplomatic corps. The King spoke to each in his own language, and the diplomatists left the Quirinal enchanted with his bonhomie.

"At 4.30 this afternoon King Edward will go to the Vatican. Starting from the British Embassy he will alight at the Court of St. Damas, in the Vatican, where he will be received by Mgr. Bisleti, master of the chamber, accompanied by the Vatican officials. The pontifical guards will render royal honors to the visitor. Mgr. Bisleti will conduct King Edward to the stairway, where Mgr. Cagiano de Azevdo, the Pope's major-domo, surrounded by prelates and high dignitaries of the Holy See will greet the British Sovereign, who will then be conducted by the major-domo to the private apartments of the Pope and no one will be present at the interview between the Pontiff and the British King.

ANOTHER PROTEST.

London, April 29—At a meeting of the Church Association, which is an organization of the evangelical section of the Church of England, it was resolved to send a message to King Edward expressing dismay that His Majesty's advisers deemed it consistent with their duty to play into the hands of the Roman Curia by arranging for the King to formally visit the Pope, whose religion His Majesty had declared was superstitious and idolatrous. The words superstitious and idolatrous, as applied to Catholicism, occur in the British coronation oath. It will be recalled at the time of King Edward's coronation a movement was started to have these words modified or expunged, but it failed.

INVITE TO KING VICTOR.

The city corporation yesterday carried with applause a motion instructing the Lord Mayor to invite King Victor Emmanuel to receive an address of welcome in the event of his visiting London. The speakers referred to the warm feelings of the corporation for the Italian nation.

SHIPPING TRUST AGREEMENT.

British Government Concludes It On Terms Previously Announced.

London, April 29.—The shipping agreement between the International Mercantile Marine Company and the British Government has been finally and satisfactorily concluded on the lines previously announced.

The terms of the agreement, according to the announcement made by Gerald Balfour, the president of the Board of Trade, in a speech at Sheffield, Eng., September, are in part as follows:

A majority of the directors of the combination are to be of British nationality, the vessels purchased in Great Britain are to fly the British flag, their officers are to be British, a reasonable proportion of their crews are to be drawn from Great Britain, and at least half the tonnage hereafter to be built for the combination is to be constructed in British yards and fly the British flag.

McMillan & Son's shop and the Presbyterian manse, barns and stables belonging to John McIntosh, Angus Cameron, E. H. Tiffany and John Chisholm. The residences of E. H. Tiffany and the Misses Grant were practically ruined. The total loss, which is not known, will be fairly covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

The governors, by resolution, are urging the Ontario Government to equip the new buildings it has erected.

Students' Day at the University occurred Tuesday, with a season of valedictories in the convocation hall. The essayists were Messrs. J. M. Macdonald for Arts, T. J. S. Ferguson for Theology, and A. K. McNeil, B.A., for Science.

POINT ST. CHARLES.

It can be easily seen that many here are preparing to move, and the prospects are that the number will be fully as large as last year, if not larger. Mr. George Brown, of Durham, is spending a few days with friends in Rozel Street, previous to leaving for Chicago, where he intends to remain for some time.

Miss Mary Griffith and Miss Maud Griffith, who are visiting friends here, will leave for Chicago in a few days.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

AN ASSESSMENT PLAN.

Editor Herald:

Sir,—The suggestions on assessment which appeared in last Monday's Herald would, if acted upon, certainly be a move in the right direction. I am quite in accord with the writer on the suggestions made with regard to land value, but I fear if the buildings were all classed alike that it would prove a burden to the householder of moderate means. Why not value buildings on a sliding scale in proportion to the land values? If land is assessed for $10 per foot, the building thereon could be assessed at 20 cents per cubic foot of contents; $8 per foot, 18 cents; $6 per foot, 16 cents; $5 per foot, 14 cents; $4 per foot, 12 cents; $3 per foot, 10 cents; $2 per foot, 8 cents; $1.00 per foot and all under, 5 cents.

The taxing of rental of buildings and lots could also be regulated in much the same manner, or on a basis of 4 per cent. on the value of the building and of the land which the building covers, and no retal tax be placed on areas or gardens. Proprietors should be encouraged to build back of the line of street, and to have gardens and open spaces around their offices and dwellings.

There would then be no room for collusion between proprietors and city officials, no discussions as to the valuation of either land or of building, no need of appealing to the courts, because there would be no ground for an action, as both land and building would be on a fixed scale. The assessing could then be under the Road Department, for the only detail required would be the verifying of measurements. A map of the city, with land valuations tabulated, and dimensions of buildings recorded, would remain in the department; and as building permit were issued, a memo. would be placed against the respective cadastral lot, and the necessary alterations made each season before issuing bills for assessment.

The following are a few samples of the inequality of the city's valuation and the absurd result, under the present method. (The figures given are sufficiently near to be accepted as correct):

The building corner of St. James st. and Victoria square, formerly occupied by Henry Morgan & Co., contains a cubic area of about 500,000 ft., and is assessed at $7.00 somewhat less than 1 1-2 cents per cubic foot.

The Bank of Toronto, opposite, has an area of 287,000 cubic feet, and is assessed at $90,800, or 31 cents per cubic foot.

The Bank of British North America contains a cubic area of 300,000 feet, and is assessed at $11,200, or under 4 cents per cubic feet.

The Bank of Montreal contains an area of about 353,000 feet, and the building is assessed at $228,000, or 55 cents per cubic foot.

Yours faithfully,
JAMES MORGAN.

COMFORT VS. SPEED.

Editor Herald:

As one of those who not only have no sympathy with, but are strongly opposed to the scheme of an inordinately fast Canadian line of steamers to England, I was exceedingly glad to see the statement made by Mr. Hodgson, who has just returned by the Cedric, that travellers are now showing a decided preference for the slower, larger and more steady steamships sailing from Montreal, Boston and New York. When travelling myself I have made special enquiries on the subject, and have much pleasure in confirming what Mr. Hodgson has said, and also in testifying to the discomfort of the ocean greyhounds from New York.

In the latter it is only with difficulty that one can either read by day or sleep by night, and the effect on the nerves is such as to destroy all the good effects of an ocean voyage. Apart from this, no sane Canadian wishes to travel with any speed either up or down the Gulf or River St. Lawrence. I never was so thankful in my life as when the steamer conveying the Governor-General and five Prime Ministers to England anchored for the night a few miles below Quebec, rather than proceed in the dense darkness, even in fair weather, down the river, with its many currents, rocky shores and islands.

I am not interested in any shipping, but simply as a traveller I would say that we want no faster sailing ships from this port than we have at present. Any man in a particular hurry can go by New York. You will note that I only refer to the matter of speed. More new steamers, with up-to-date accommodation would, of course, be gladly welcomed.

Yours truly,

ARE SATISFIED WITH SCALE

Electricians Here, However, Desire the Recognition of the Union.

The committee of the electrical linemen employed by the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company have not yet called upon General Superintendent Gossler to receive his reply to their request for recognition of their union.

They called on him yesterday to state that the schedule of wages was satisfactory to the men, but that they desired recognition of the union. As Mr. Gossler was not in, they left a message for him to this effect, and intimated that they would be back for their answer this morning.

"What will be the outcome of it?" Mr. Gossler was asked this afternoon.

"I cannot say," he replied. "In justice to the shareholders of the company, we propose to employ only such men as are best fitted to perform the work."

His reply signified that the company will employ men regardless of the union if they are qualified for the positions, and will not take on any man who is not qualified, though he be a union man.

Many of the line men's union appear desirous of leaving "well enough alone," and show a disposition not to stick too rigorously to the demand for union recognition, since the wage question has been satisfactorily met. The union numbers between 100 and 150 electrical line men.

THE STRIKE.

The longshoremen have a perfect right to stop working, and to persuade other men to follow their example, so long as their persuasions are confined to arguments of a pacific character. To exert force or to use intimidation, however, is to forfeit all claim upon the sympathy of the public and to justify the State in replying to force with force to the end that law and order be preserved. It is only fair to the strikers to say that at their meeting last night the speakers deplored and repudiated the acts of violence committed on the wharves during the day. The fact remains, however, that through the overt acts of the strikers or their sympathizers the business of the port was yesterday suspended, and deeds of violence were committed. In dealing with this condition of affairs there should be no hesitancy on the part of civic or military authorities. Mob law must not be tolerated for an hour. The port of Montreal must not be closed through the acts of irresponsible law breakers led by alien agitators. The lesson of Quebec must not be lost upon the people of Montreal. This city's growth and prosperity depend on the freedom of its commerce. In Quebec, years ago, commerce was shackled by the unreasonable restrictions of labor organizations, and the city suffered a blow from which it has never recovered. There will not be, if Montrealers profit by the lesson, a repetition here of what happened in Quebec. Sympathy with wage-earners struggling for an increase of their wages and an improvement of their condition must not blind us to the fact that the longshoremen are offered the wages they demand, and that they are resorting to violence merely to compel recognition of their union, a matter of detail in which the public are not concerned. This violence must not be tolerated, the commerce flowing to Montreal must find free access to our wharves, and in their efforts to abate the one and ensure the other, the authorities should have the cordial sympathy and co-operation of all good citizens.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

The prevailing industrial discontent in this city is furnishing a text for many very pessimistic expressions of opinion as to the future relation between Capital and Labor. One authority dolefully asserts that the industrial war will not stop until either one interest or the other is exterminated. Things are not as bad as that. Both Capital and Labor are legitimate interests and mutually interdependent. The main trouble in the past has been a lack of mutual consideration. Hard words have been said on both sides. The arraignment of labor unions has been too sweeping and denunciatory. The principle of unionism is the outgrowth of the natural dictates of self-interest on the part of workingmen. Human nature is alike the world over. It is the same in the man who receives wages as in the man who pays the wages. Self interest is a dominant force in both sides of the labor arena, and is no more or no less open to criticism on one side than on the other. Combination is a legitimate development of present industrial conditions and in time what is abnormal will be removed.

There is little justification for the fear quite frequently expressed that the troubles between Capital and Labor will lead to anarchy. An effective safeguard is the very costliness of such a strife. The question of expenditure will always act as a discourager of wars of all kinds. Every strike involves a heavy loss to both sides, and in time the lesson will be fully learned that a peaceful settlement of differences is more satisfactory and less costly than the arbitrament of force. The Taff-Vale decision in Great Britain and more recent similar decisions in the United States tend to lay weight upon the responsibility of the parties. Responsibility generates conservatism, and the great cost of strikes will generally act as a deterrent on those who have something to lose.

RUSSIA'S POSITION DECLARED.

It is at least satisfying that Russia's aims in regard to Manchuria have been definitely declared. What was long suspected is now known. Russia is in Manchuria to stay, despite her solemn promises to the other Powers to evacuate. The Powers most concerned are Great Britain, Japan and the United States. Other nations have trading rights in Manchuria under treaty with China, but they have not made use of them to any extent. Japan is most deeply concerned in the future of that portion of China by reason of contiguity and trade, and the United States and Great Britain because of their trade alone. The definite acquisition of Manchuria by Russia would bring her a step nearer Corea, and the latter once under her control the national existence of the Japanese would be threatened.

China as an independent government made treaties with Great Britain, the United States and Japan, giving to all three the rights of the most favored nation at treaty ports. New Chwang is a treaty port, and neither China nor any of the other three nations has abandoned any treaty right, yet Russia, though not in any sense a party to the treaties, comes along and declares in substance that the port of New Chwang must remain under Russian administration. This means, if history is to be repeated, that in a few years foreign commodities will be entirely shut out of Manchuria and the territory confined exclusively to Russian merchants and manufacturers.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Even the manufacturers have to acknowledge that they are thriving as never before. Then why experiment with a tariff policy that has contributed largely to their prosperity?

Another deputation of rich Americans arrived at Calgary yesterday to buy up a large parcel of land. The former exodus of Canadians has not only been completely stopped but reversed.

The visit of King Edward to Rome was sufficient in itself to "make a Roman holiday." The reception that awaited him in the Eternal City was the most enthusiastic he has met with during the present tour.

The latest equipment for a policeman in New York is a racing automobile. A few years ago the horse was discarded for the bicycle, and now the latter gives way. The evolutionary process in Gotham's police circles may soon bring into use a separate wireless telegraph apparatus for each man.

Early in the present session the Canadian Manufacturers' Association sent a deputation to Ottawa to ask for higher protection. The other day the same men asked for free admission of skilled labor on the ground that they could not secure sufficient employes. The two incidents display the inconsistency of Mr. Borden and the manufacturers themselves in demanding a higher tariff.

The recent disaster to British arms has called public attention to Somaliland. The area of the British portion of that territory is 68,000 square miles. As it borders on the Gulf of Aden, it has an important strategic value. The British protectorate was established nineteen years ago, but there has always been trouble with the Mohammedan population. The Mad Mullah, who is causing considerable annoyance, is the strongest and most successful of the native leaders. By proclaiming a holy war against Christians he has succeeded in uniting several tribes under his banner, and by exciting their fanaticism has made them a formidable fighting force.

INVESTIGATE GROUNDING OF SS. CARRIGAN HEAD

The Commission Appointed By the Minister of Marine Will Begin Taking Evidence To-day.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Ottawa, April 29.—The Minister of Marine has appointed Commander Spain, Captain Salmon and Capt St. Louis, a commission to investigate as to the cause of the grounding of the SS. Carrigan Head, in the St. Lawrence channel at Sorel.

The Commission commenced taking evidence to-day.

The official inquiry into the grounding of the Carrigan Head began at the Government offices this morning. Commandant Spain, of the Canadian Marine Service, presided over the commission, and the captain of the Carrigan Head was represented by Mr. Meredith, of Campbell, Meredith, Allan and Hague.

The pilot, Abrie Angers, gave evidence, contending that he had been thrown out of his course by the change in the buoys since the winter. The Carrigan Head was one of the first boats to come up, and the channel was difficult to follow.

The inquiry was adjourned until to-morrow morning, when two pilots will be called as witnesses, who at one time went aground at the same spot when the Carrigan Head met with her ill fortune.

APPOINTED HEALTH INSPECTOR.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Quebec, April 29.—Dr. J. C. Howe, of this city, has been appointed by the Dominion Government Health Inspector for the port of Quebec in connection with the examination of immigrants.

Hon. S. N. Parent left for Ottawa last night to interview the Dominion Government on provincial affairs, including an increase of the Dominion subsidies and division of the fishery award.

MILITARY TOURNAMENT.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Toronto, April 29.—The military tournament and horse show opened in the Toronto Armories this morning with a large attendance. The first judging was that of fine animals in the Hackney and roadster class. The formal opening took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Countess of Minto.

TRANSFER OF MILITARY STORES.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Quebec, April 29.—The transfer of military stores by Lieut.-Colonel Forrest to Lieut.-Colonel Belanger, recently appointed superintendent of military stores of this district, began on Monday last in the presence of a military board composed of Lieut.-Colonel Pelletier, D.O.C., Lieut.-Colonel Wilson, R.C.G.A., and Lieut.-Colonel Dunbar, D.S.A.

A CONSERVATIVE CAUCUS.

Toronto, April 29.—(Special.) — The Conservative members of the Legislature held a long caucus this morning for the discussion of the Gamey investigation and other matters.

NEED OF GOOD SLEEP.

It is fair to say that in the homes of the very rich the best of bedding is bought, and nothing less will be accepted. This class know that no amount of luxury compensates for good sleep, and all the best appliances for securing good sleep are bought without regard to cost or appearance.

But a still larger class, wishing to have as attractive a looking home as means will allow, gives little thought to the prime necessity of a good spring and mattress, and while it pays lavishly for fine, showy bedsteads, accepts any old thing in the way of spring and mattress to accompany it.

It is a poor display—the health, the mental and bodily vigor made to suffer for appearances.

The largely increasing sale for the good spring beds, Hercules, Numbers 0 and 1, shows an ever-increasing departure from this poor wisdom.

Longer life, better health, more abundant success in the walks of life, follows the use of a Hercules Wire Bed No. 0 or No. 1, which are the guaranteed kinds—not hard as boards, nor soft as slings, but delightfully springy and comfortable, and stay up—guaranteed not to sag. Adv.

ONTARIO FINANCES ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

Province Has Surplus of $1,939,262—Premier on Policy of Development.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Toronto, April 29.—"New occasions teach new duties," may be said to have been the keynote of the Budget speech delivered yesterday by Premier Ross, in his capacity of Treasurer of Ontario.

It was a matter-of-fact, butsiness statement of an hour and forty minutes, in which the financial situation in Ontario was thoroughly and frankly canvassed.

It was a courageous speech, in which the country was made aware that the policy of development and expansion brings its responsibilities.

These, however, the Government will face resolutely, and the Budget shows no flinching in the work which the forward policy entails.

One of the large undertakings which Mr. Ross described was the surveying of fifty-three new townships in New Ontario. Of these nine will be in the Rainy River district, and no less than forty-four to the north and west of Lake Temiskaming.

This will carry the flag of the settlement to the region of Lake Abittibi, and far into the great clay belt.

The financial statement showed estimated receipts for 1903 of $4,403,372, which, with the cash on hand, will make $5,818,883; while the estimated expenditure, so far, is $4,537,428. The assets are $7,824,208, and the liabilities $5,884,946, leaving a surplus of $1,939,262.

Lieut.-Col. Matheson, financial critic of the Opposition, followed and estimated a deficit last year of $239,000 on ordinary revenue and expenditure, and that it would be larger this year.

When he concluded the House witnessed a sudden collapse of the debate. Mr. Whitney deferred further discussion, and the House, going into supply, made considerable progress.

ITALIAN OPERAS GIVEN BY ENGLISH SINGERS

Pauline Johnson Scores Nicely in the Role of Nedda at the Academy of Music.

The masterpieces of two of the greatest Italian composers of the day were given at the Academy last night and it is to be regretted that the attendance was so light. The performance was an excellent one and deserved better support. In Leoncavello's exquisite drama "I Pagliacci," which is usually presented with Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," the company acquitted itself with credit and much weaker presentations of the same piece have been heard in the city.

The prelude which ranks as one of the finest things ever written and which gained fame for its composer, was splendidly sung and to the fall of the curtain the opera went with a swing which surprised the handful of critics who were present. Pauline Johnson sang the difficult part of Nedda with a great deal of credit. Although of comparatively limited range her voice is rich and pleasing and her acting was admirable.

All the other parts were well rendered and for an unpretentious production the whole affair was exceedingly pleasing.

Montreal has heard Mascagni himself render and conduct his "Cavalleria Rusticana," and naturally last night's performance was not up to the standard set by the talented Italian at the Arena. The orchestra was scarcely equal to either the prelude or the intermezzo but the company did exceedingly well and sang with much fervor and enthusiasm. The company deserves much more encouragement than it received. "Carmen" will be given to-night.

DAMAGE CASES SETTLED.

Hawkesbury Company Settles With Sufferers From Fall of Stone Wall.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

L'Orignal, April 29.—Mrs. Leduc, a widow residing in Hawkesbury, whose son was killed through the fall of the brick work surrounding a large flue over the boilers in the engine room at the Riordan Pulp Mill in Hawkesbury, brought action for $10,000 damages against the Riordan Company. The case was inscribed for hearing at the Spring Assizes for Prescott and Russell, which opened in the Court house here, Monday, but was settled before being brought to trial by the Riordan Company paying Mrs. Leduc, $900.

A young man named Robertson from Cornwall, who was also bringing action for damages against the Riordan Pulp Company for injuries received by fall of the same brick work, while in the company's employ, likewise let his case be settled out of court by accepting $500 in place of the $5,000 mentioned in action.

Chief Justice Meredith, of Toronto, is presiding at the Spring Assizes here Oscar Leduc, of Hawkesbury, the young man accused of receiving stolen goods and complicity in the case of V. F. Cordeau, who was last week sentenced to three years in the reformatory, for stealing gold watches and other articles of value from his employers, A. Lax & Co., merchants and manufacturers, Hawkesbury, was given three months in the L'Orignal jail by Police Magistrate Lawlor of Hawkesbury.

PUPILS GIVE A RECITAL.

The recital at the Y.M.C.A. last evening by the pupils of Mrs. Belle Rose Emslie, was a successful one. Specially meritorious was the work of Miss Skelly for the dramatic power shown in "My Soldier Lover," Miss Lulu McConnell's "Anunciati," and Miss Hilda Smith's humorous recitation "The Irish Washerwoman." Miss E. Schmidt's recitation the "Voices of the Woodland" was exceptionally clever. The recital opened with a piano solo by Miss E. Schmidt and closed with an amusing little sketch, "A Tempest in a Teapot," in which Mr. T. E. Patterson was seen to advantage. During the evening Rev. Mr. Munro, of Westmount, presented certificates to Miss Smaill, Miss T. McConnell, Miss Wall and Miss Martin.

LECTURE BY MR. JOHNSON.

An interesting lecture was delivered in the Ladies' Ordinary of the Windsor Hotel, Monday by Mr. Lacey R. Johnson, assistant superintendent of rolling stock of the Canadian Pacific Railway, before the members of the Canadian Railway Club and their friends, on a trip via the C.P.R. through Canada and the Rocky Mountains to Vancouver, Japan and China, illustrated by 130 magnificent lime light views. INVOKES COURT AID TO PUT CHECK ON BUILDING

Mrs. William Reid Asserts in Legal Action That Servitude in Deed Prohibits a Factory.

Legal action has been taken by Messrs. Greenshields, Greenshields, Heneker and Mitchell, in behalf of Mrs. Wm. Reid to prevent the building of a factory at the corner of Guy and St. Luke Streets, on the ground of a servitude in the deed which prohibits the erection of anything but a residence on the land in question.

The action asks that the proprietors Messrs. David Yuile and Wm. Yuile be compelled to cease building, and that if they continue to do so the work be demolished.

The plaintiff is the proprietor of the adjoining lot which was purchased from the Seminary in 1856 by her late husband. The reasons alleged in her declaration are that the lot of which she is a proprietor has a servitude on the defendant's lot, and that there is a clause in the deed by which Messrs. Yuile hold their property, binding both the original purchaser from the Seminary, Mr. John Binmore, and all his successors, including the present owners not to put on the lot in question anything but a private residence.

The plaintiff also claims the power to interfere, in virtue of the rights of the Seminary transferred to her, and prohibiting the erection of anything but a private residence.

WRIGHT EXTRADITION CASE

Hearing Begun in United States Supreme Court.

Washington, April 29.—In the United States Supreme Court the hearing in the extradition case of Whitaker Wright was begun yesterday Samuel Untermeyer appearing for Wright, Chas. Fox representing the British Government, and Solicitor-General Hoyt the United States. The case comes here on appeal from an order of the United States Circuit Court for the district of New York dismissing Wright's appeal and certiorari issued on Wright's petition, and denying his application for release on bail.

Mr. Fox presented an affidavit to the effect that the appeal is from a decision in a case which had been instituted on March 16, whereas the British Government had formerly sought to abandon the petition then begun and had asked for the discharge of Wright from custody under these provisions. He claimed therefore that the court practically was sitting in a moot case.

Mr. Untermeyer, speaking for Wright, contended, among other things, that the complaints do not state sufficient fact to institute any crime, which is extradition within the meaning of any of the treaties between the United States of America, and the United Kingdom of Great Britain.

$1,250,000 FIRE AT CHICAGO

Three Steamers and 125 Freight Cars Among Property Destroyed.

Chicago, Ill., April 29.—The plant of the International Salt Company, located at Sout Chicago, with three boats lying in the Calumet river, were burned last night.

The loss is estimated at $1,250,000, that of the International Salt Company placed at $800,000. The buildings of the salt company plant covered nearly 16 acres, extending along the Calumet river. In these buildings were stored 400,000 tons of salt, and the greater part of this is said to have been ruined by fire and water.

About 125 freight cars were consumed. Fifty of the burned cars are said to have belonged to the Michigan Central Railway Company.

BIG STEEL AND IRON PLANT FOR CANADA?

Stated That United States Steel Trust Contemplate Its Erection Soon as Site is Selected.

(Special to The Montreal Herald.)

Toronto, April 29.—Negotiations have been in progress for a considerable time looking towards the establishment in Canada of an immense steel and iron-works plant, making every description of iron and steel used for manufacturing, building and rails.

The recent action of the Dominion Government, intimating that a duty may be placed on steel and iron, has decided the promoters to hasten their preparations.

Whilst there are several prominent Canadians associated with the promoters, the chief organizers are connected with the United States Steel Trust, who see in the great development of this country a bright future for the steel and iron industry. These Americans also realize that, with an immense plant in Canada, with Canadian capitalists on the directorate, and with Canadian workmen exclusively, the company would stand a much better chance of securing contracts in all parts of the British Empire. It will be one of the special features of the new undertaking to try to secure South African, Egyptian and Indian contracts, of which there will be many very large ones in the course of the next few years.

A well-known Toronto lawyer has been looking after the Canadian end of the business, and many different sites have been looked over for the location of the works. It is understood that from three of these, in as many different cities, a selection will be made on an early date. No bonus or special favors are, it is said, to be asked from municipality or government, so that the promoters are not depending on any favors to enable them to start work.

HEART DISEASE.

A Trouble Much More Common Than Is Generally Supposed.

A healthy person does not feel the heart at all. If the heart makes itself felt it is a sure sign of some one of the many phases of heart trouble. Some of the symptoms of heart trouble are shortness of breath, trembling of the hands, violent throbbing or fluttering of the heart, sharp spasms of pain, oppression on the chest, dizziness and clammy sweating, irregular pulse, and the alarming palpitation that is often felt most in the head or at the wrists. Of course people suffering from heart trouble haven't all these symptoms, but if you have any of them it is a sign of heart trouble and should not be neglected for a moment.

Most of the troubles affecting the heart are caused by anaemia, indigestion or nervousness, and when any of these causes lie at the root of the trouble it can be surely cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You mustn't trifle with common medicines, and above all you shouldn't further weaken your heart by using purgatives. You must cure your heart disease through the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can easily see why this is the only way to save yourself. The heart drives your blood to all parts of the body. Every drop of your blood flows through your heart. If your blood is thin or impure your heart is bound to be weak and diseased; if your blood is pure, rich and healthy, it will naturally make your heart sound and strong. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new, rich, red blood. And that new, rich, red blood strengthens your stomach, stimulates your liver, soothes your nerves and drives out of your system all the disorders that helped to disturb your heart. This has been proved in thousands of cases. Here is a case in point: Mr. Adelard Lavoie, St. Pacome, Que., says: "For nearly three years I was greatly troubled with a weak heart, and in constant fear that my end would come at any time; the least exertion would overcome me; my heart would palpitate violently and I would sometimes have a feeling of suffocation. I was under the care of a doctor, but did not get relief, and eventually my condition became so bad that I had to discontinue work. While at my worst a neighbor advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did so, and they simply worked wonders in my case. I used only half a dozen boxes when I was able to return to my work, strong and healthy, and I have not since had any sign of the old trouble."

We would again impress upon those who are ailing that they must get the genuine pills with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SPRING FEELING OF TIREDNESS

INDICATES A RUN-DOWN CONDITION, EXHAUSTED ENERGY AND POOR BLOOD.

Thousands Are Annually Restored by Ferrozone—The Case of Mrs. R. Cross, of Wakefield, Ont.

"I was in poor health nearly all last winter," writes Mrs. Cross. "My appetite was variable. I was weak and unfit for work. I suffered a good deal from nervous headache and palpitation of the heart. My digestion was generally out of order. By spring time I had lost flesh and color, and had a bad cough. The doctor didn't help me very much, so I decided to try Ferrozone. It did me ever so much good in one week. I gained strength, looked and felt a lot better. When I had used six boxes of Ferrozone I weighed myself, and found a gain of fifteen pounds. Ferrozone rebuilt my constitution and made me a new woman. I consider Ferrozone worth its weight in gold to every weak woman. It cures quickly and saves big doctors' bills.

(MRS.) R. CROSS.

This is one case among many hundreds where Ferrozone has restored ailing women. It is the best tonic to take at this time of the year, when the system is weakened after the hardships of a trying winter. Ferrozone puts new strength and vitality into the blood. It cleanses the system of all impurities, improves the appetite, and aids digestion. Ferrozone builds up sinew and muscle, drives away sickness, and brings health and happiness to all who use it.

Everyone needs medicine at this particular season. Spring time is hardest on health, and the average constitution needs a stimulating tonic. Ferrozone fills every requirement of an invigorating spring medicine, and costs less than one cent per dose. Buy a box of Ferrozone to-day, and drive away that tired, worn-out feeling. Price, 50 cents for three weeks' treatment. Six boxes for $2.50 at druggists.

Dominion Parliament,

FIVE SPEECHES MADE ON BUDGET

This Constituted the Work of the Dominion House Yesterday—Senate Was Busy.

(Special Staff Correspondence.)

Ottawa, April 28.—Five budget speeches were made to-day, and that sums up the business of the House.

Mr. Maclaren, of Huntington, who began the business, said his opinion was that every member of the House should give his opinion of what was the best fiscal policy for this country. There was a good deal of discouragement for a member attempting to do this. The speaking was a costly matter for the country. Mr. Jabel Robinson estimated the cost of the House at $28 a minute. At that rate the speech of Mr. Bell, of Pictou, last night had cost the country $3,380. Whether it was worth it or not was a matter of doubt. He would have to settle it with his constituents.

Mr. Maclaren said he came from an agricultural constituency. Its products were principally butter and cheese, and the prices were fixed in the open markets of Great Britain. He had come here believing that there should be a low tariff policy, and he still held that view.

There should be legislation for the masses instead of the classes. The farmers should be considered among the first.

The trouble was the farmers were not organized. The manufacturers were. They were clamorous, and were trying to frighten the country into giving them more protection. When he saw any particularly well-groomed, well-fed looking lot of strangers in Ottawa, he was almost certain that they were a body of manufacturers here looking for protection. He found he was generally right.

But in spite of the clamor he was certain that the manufacturers were among the most prosperous of all Canada's prosperous classes.

The members of the Government were long-suffering men, and he sympathized with them. It made him boil to hear the Opposition complaining about the stipends they received. If they got twice as much they would not be compensated for the annoyance to which they were subjected.

In spite, too, of the insinuations of the Opposition, and particularly of Dr. Sproule, the Liberals had the most assured faith in the members of the administration, one and all.

Mr. MacLaren said he had no faith in figures. The same figures were used by each side to prove contrary things.

Every one knew the country was prosperous. No one claimed it was all due to the Government, still the Liberals were in power, and they had certainly not done the prophesied harm.

Mr. M. K. Richardson, a Conservative of East Grey, read a carefully written documentary indictment of good times and good government.

Mr. R. Holmes, the Liberal representative of West Huron, said that while there had been an increase in the expenditure, the country would justify any wise increase.

The resolution of the leader of the Opposition was a negative one. It merely proposed adequate protection. That meant nothing.

Mr. George Taylor, the Conservative whip, in a long speech, gave many weighty and able reasons why there should be a change of administration. Inconsistency and bad policy were the chief charges, which were backed by Auditor-General's quotations.

Colonel Thompson, Liberal representative of Monk and Haldimand, claimed that the Government had no apologies to make for the increase in expenditure. In the increases for immigration, in the business of the wheat grower, the cattle raiser, the butter makers, all justified it.

There was something to show for the money that had been spent. This was particularly true in the Militia Department, with which he was familiar.

There could be no criticism of the increase in expenditure for the Indians. With the disappearance of the red man's franchise there was a disappearance of desire to give him more than his just due. The Opposition could not criticise the vote for this reason.

In detail, the Opposition did not criticise items of increase, but when they came to aggregates there was a cry of "Behold the Ottawa prodigals!" But increases could not be fairly criticized in the aggregate unless they were in the particulars.

Colonel Thompson took up and challenged the opposition to criticize votes for Indians, halfbreeds, militia increase, Marconi bonus, post-office, public works, the Yukon, immigration, and many other items.

YESTERDAY IN THE SENATE

Expropriation Measure Before the Upper House Causes Much Discussion.

In the Senate Hon F. Young moved the adoption of the report of the Standing Committee extending the time for receiving petitions for private bills, to May 8th, for the introduction of private bills to June 1, and on receiving the report of the committee to July 3rd. Notice was given of a motion that when the Senate adjourns on Friday, May 1st, it stands adjourned till May 6th.

In answer to Hon. Mr. Perley, Hon. R. W. Scott stated that Hon. Mr. Sifton was charged with the preparation of the Canadian Alaska Boundary case, the papers in which had to be exchanged on Saturday next. His object in going to London was to confer with counsel. The Commission will meet in September. Mr. Sifton's duties in London were much more important than his duties here.

SEVENTH COMMISSIONER.

Hon. Mr. Macdonald, B.C., asked if Canada had insisted upon a seventh commissioner. The commission consisted of three upon each side. It did not look as if anything would be done. It was not a question of law but of geography.

Hon. Mr. Scott reminded the House that the International Commission had broken up over this question. He reminded the Chamber that the Imperial Government had stood by and seen Canadian territory gobbled up, the danger was the Yukon might be. The best course to adopt was to accept the commission. He had refrained from criticizing the American appointments. He did not agree that the Commission would prove abortive. Both sides were bound to abide by the decision. Canada had chosen the highest legal talent at her command. The finding of this tribunal must have an effect upon the people of both countries, even if it resulted in three deciding on each side.

Mr. Landry wanted to know why the Minister of Justice had been set aside for Mr. Sifton.

Mr. Scott did not know that he had been. The matter then dropped.

Mr. Lougheed introduced a bill respecting the Rocky Mountain Railway and Coal Company, and the following bills from the Commons were received and read a first time. Respecting the Ottawa, Northern and Western Railway Company, respecting the Kootenay Central Railway Company, respecting the Niagara Grand Island Bridge Company, respecting the Huron and Ontario Railway Company, respecting the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, respecting the Quebec and New Brunswick Railway Company, respecting the British Columbia Southern Railway Company.

THE EXPROPRIATION ACT.

The Senate went into committee on the bill to amend the Expropriation Act.

Hon. D. Ferguson entertained strong doubts as to the advisability of enacting clause 2. He had no objection to the Government taking a limited estate or taking an estate for a limited time, but he did object to the Government once having expropriated an estate, throwing it back again after a time. The property might be a wharf of such character as to enable him to make his living. He did not believe that after he had suffered the damage of having to move his business, any court could assess the damage sustained by having it thrown back on his hands. He did not think this power should be given the Government.

Hon. Mr. Scott said the clause did not strain the law. Expropriation was an arbitrary act but the owners of the property always got fully compensated. He could not conceive a case where the parties could be wronged by a partial expropriation provided they were amply compensated. He knew no case of withholding compensation.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell thought Mr. Scott had not answered the objection which was the forcible taking of property, the sustaining of loss and then the forcible return of the property to the holder. The property might be held for a year or two and just so long as the Government did not pay the owner for compensation, it could be handed back. This law would be worse than the old one.

Hon. R. Dandurand did not see how or when this law would be worked.

Hon. Mr. Macdonald, B.C., opposed the clause very strongly, urging it would cover injustice.

Hon. Mr. Church thought the bill had been very fully discussed in the Commons. As minister of Public Works in Nova Scotia he had some knowledge of the working.

Hon. Mr. Lougheed thought it was not a question of compensation, but of granting the extraordinary powers to the Government. These powers might be used arbitrarily. It was shown that two or three years ago the expropriation powers given the Canadian Government were much larger than those held by any other country. This was dealing with a class of cases where the Government took the land absolutely. There was a delay in making compensation. The owners said they would pay him and proceeded to invest that money. Times goes on and then the Government decide to hand back the land. Disaster must stare him in the face unless he had means.

PRINCIPAL NOT A NEW ONE.

Hon. Mr. Scott said the principle was not a new one. He quoted the act of 1869, which allowed the Crown to dispute the damages. He knew of only one case which had arisen where this clause would apply, and another might not turn up for 100 years.

In answer to Senator Debouchervillo, Mr. Scott said he knew of no other case now of any precedent.

Hon. D. Ferguson said Mr. Scott had not answered the objection. He wanted the element of definiteness supplied which is missing in the bill. He instanced the case of a man on whose property his place of business stood. He acquired another. Then this property was thrown back on him. Trade did not follow a person always and heavy damages would be sustained. These would not be assessable. He thought they should rest content with the law as it stands. This act gave the Crown an extraordinary power.

Hon. R. Dandurand said there was no doubt that clause No. 3 covered all damages. The clause providing for this had been widened in the commons. It was hard to make a general enactment which would cover every case.

Hon. Mr. MacKeen said this bill opened the door to the exercise of arbitrary power and would cause distress.

Hon. Mr. Owens did not think this clause necessary. If the Government took property they afterwards did not want they should stand the loss.

Hon. J. McMullen had no doubt that the clause had been very carefully considered. He advocated granting the power of temporary expropriation.

Hon. J. Wood said Mr. McMullen had spoken in favor of section 1, which no one disputed. The arguments against the passage of clause 2 appeared unanswerable. He criticized the lack of definiteness. Expropriation was a power only to be exercised on rare occasions. But this section first expropriated a man's land then forced him to take it back and appointed a board of arbitration to settle the price at which he should take it back.

A division took place, when the clause was carried by 23 yeas to 21 nays. The bill was reported without amendment.

LABOR UNION LABELS.

The second reading of the bill respecting labor union labels was, on the motion of Hon. R. Watson, fixed for May 7th.

The Senate went into committee on the bill to amend the act relating to the custody of juvenile offenders in New Brunswick.

Hon. D. Ferguson thought the bringing in of a general measure to meet a special case recently occuring in New Brunswick. In the present case a boy accused of complicity in murder was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to imprisonment in the Industrial Home. It was generally thought that he was as bad as the boy sentenced for the actual crime. He could understand that it was desirable that he should not be allowed to mix with other boys. He was willing to deal with this case, but not to pass a general measure. If the bill were to go a provision that action should only be taken on a report of the trial judge.

Hon. J. V. Ellis pointed out that on a summer afternoon three boys of 15 years of age went for a walk. One never came back and his body was afterwards found murdered. One lad was allowed to give evidence against the other, by which sentence was pronounced. The witness was afterwards tried and on account of his ingenuousness was sent to the Home. This raised a protest, but a law existed by which he could be sent to this Home, a charitable institution. It was feared he would rouse the other boys, and the fear had been realized. They looked on him as a hero. The other night he tried to escape, and was found loaded with a burglar's outfit. Since then he had been placed in solitary confinement. Something must be done.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell suggested that if the act was good it should be made to apply to all the provinces and not New Brunswick only.

Hon. Mr. Bernier realized that the case in point was a sad one. He thought, however, that care should be taken in giving power to interfere with sentences; a man might get a verdict of not guilty and then some one step in and ask that he be hanged. That was the principle involved. He also depreciated legislating under excitement.

PRISONER'S PRIVATE LIFE.

Hon. R. Dandurand said the judge, after pronouncing sentence, did not know much of the private life of the prisoner. In this case he might have thought he was doing well in sending him to the Home.

Hon. J. Wood said there was no doubt the bill should pass to meet this particular case. There was a good deal in the contention of Mr. Ferguson that action should be taken on the judge's report.

Hon. Mr. Ellis said the judge had no knowledge, except by the report of the superintendent. That could as well be made to the Governor-General as to the judge.

Hon. Mr. Wood was not selecting the judge as against the Governor-General. He was only urging that the Governor-General should act on the judges report. It seemed to him that the judge would have more knowledge of the case than anyone else. He would also have access to the report of the superintendent. He would like to see the provision embodied.

Hon. Mr. Scott said the principle of the transfer of prisoners was well established. It seemed to him that there was no substantial ground for opposing the bill unless the trial judge was consulted. He thought there was some similar law in Ontario and other provinces. Pardons were issued on the report of the wardens not of the judge.

Hon. D. Ferguson said no doubt in the present case the judge made a mistake, and would be the first to admit it. He would support an act to remove this lad, but objected to a general law.

Hon. Mr. Ellis thought the objection was based on imagination. The judge mistakenly but mercifully thought he should not criticise judges sent him to the Home. The Attorney-General had supervision over the Home, and it was on his recommendation that the transfer was to be made, and probably the judge would be consulted.

Hon. Mr. Speaker Power was opposed to the idea of special acts for special cases. He would rather make this law more general. He pointed out that judges' reports were only taken in cases where action was taken immediately. He thought that the transfer might have been made on the authority of the Attorney-General.

Hon. Mr. Debouchervile pointed out that the bill was law in Quebec. The bill was reported without amendment, read a third time and passed. The House took the Yukon Territory Act into consideration in committee. The bill was slightly amended by inserting a clause making appeals to the Superior Court from the Yukon Court "in banque" instead of allowing it to stand so that an appeal might be taken from the decision of one judge. The bill as amended was reported. The Senate then adjourned.

An informal dinner of the male members of the McGill graduating class was held in the Oxford restaurant last night, with Mr. McMoran in the chair.

MUSSEN-SHARPE WEDDING.

An exceedingly pretty wedding took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Linton, Sherbrooke Street, when their granddaughter, Miss Mima Eddeline Linton Sharpe, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Sharpe, New York, was married by Rev. Hugh Pedley, to Mr. W. H. Clarendon Mussen, eldest son of Mr. Whitehead Mussen, of this city, and eldest grandson of the late Z. In the drawing room the bay window in which the ceremony was performed, was banked with spirea, marguerites, hydrangeas and carnations, with canopy of roses and smilax surmounted by two united hearts of white roses. An aisle of white satin ribbon, extended from the window to the staircase, through which the bridal party passed. In the dining room where the refreshments were served the decorations were entirely green and white. BAKER-ELLIS WEDDING.

A large and fashionable wedding took place this afternoon at the church of St. John the Evangelist, when Miss Mabel Thompson Ellis, second daughter of Mr. A. E. Ellis, manager of the Bank of British North America, Montreal, was married to M. George Prescott Baker, eldest son of the late Mr. E. E. Baker, of Yarmouth, N.S. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur French, assisted by Rev. Canon Wood, the choir rendering appropriate music during the service. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a London gown of white satin, with deep lace flounce, transparent yoke and sleeves, with court train covered in embroidered chiffon. Veil of handmade lace, with wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lillies of the valley. Miss Florence Ellis, sister of the bride, who acted as maid of honor, wore an apple green gown of Louisine over white taffeta, with yoke and sleeves of faggoted white satin ribbon, large picture hat of black chiffon with long black plume and facing of white lace medallions, and carried a bouquet of cream roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Amy Ellis, youngest sister of the bride, and Miss Constance Clay, also wore gowns of the same shade, with yoke and sleeves of all-over cream lace, black picture hat and bouquets of cream roses. Mr. Seymour Baker, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and Dr. Morrow and Mr. Houston were the ushers. Mrs. Ellis, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of gray voile over pink taffeta with cream lace medallion trimmings, and imported hat of black illusion with pink and white roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, Sherbrooke Street. The drawing-room was tastefully decorated with palms, lilies and roses, the pillars being festooned with asparagus fern and smilax. In the dining-room, the table was overhung with pink shades, and the grate and windows banked with white flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Baker will leave on the evening train for New York, Philadelphia and Washington, before returning to Yarmouth, where they will, in future, reside. The bride's going-away gown was a tailor-made suit of gray cloth, with white satin collar and cuffs covered in lace, white silk blouse, with black chiffon hat, faced in white chiffon and apple blossoms. Among the many presents was a diamond and ruby ring, the gift of the groom to the bride; pearl crescent brooches to the bridesmaids, and golf cuff links to the best man and ushers.

WEDDING AT NAPANEE.

The marriage of Miss Lillian M. Hall, eldest daughter of Mr. W. F. Hall, to Dr. Stewart Lockridge, took place this morning at 10.30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Elmsley Place, Napanee. The bride, who was given away by her father, was most becomingly attired in a gown of white colienne crepe, heavily trimmed with Irish lace, with large white picture hat, and carried a white chiffon muff instead of the customary bridal bouquet. Her matron of honor, Mrs. W. A. Daly, of Napanee, wore cream silk batiste over pink taffeta, trimmed with white cluney lace, and also carried a chiffon muff. The groom was attended by Mr. W. J. Taylor, of Montreal. The bridal gifts were both numerous and costly, bearing testimony to the love and thought of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The gift of the groom to the bride was a Gerhard Heintzman piano, the matron of honor and the groomsmen being the recipients of a gold signet ring and a pearl fleur-de-lis scarf pin respectively. The bride's going-away gown was of royal blue cloth worn with a white silk blouse and a hat to match. Dr. and Mrs. Lockridge left on the noon train for the east, where they will spend their honeymoon. Among the numerous guests were friends from Toronto, Belleville, Picton, Kingston and Montreal.

MONTREAL WOMEN'S CLUB.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Club in the parlors of the Y.M.C.A., with Miss Eglaugh, president, in the chair, Miss Ferguson, the recording secretary, reported 116 active members, and also spoke of the enjoyable lectures which had been given at the meetings of the club during the season. The treasurer, Mrs. Mullarkey, showed a balance from 1902 of $35, and a balance for 1902 of $43.85. Miss Ferguson also read the report of the corresponding secretary, owing to the illness of Mrs. Weller. Forty-one new members were on the list this year, three old members were readmitted, and there were 24 resignations. Reports were read by the secretaries of the home and education department, art and literature and social science. Miss Eglaugh, the retiring president, then gave the following address:

"Last year I was asked by a number of members of this club to allow my name to be put up for the presidency, with a certain important end in view. I carried the day by a very large majority and accomplished that end. No such reason exists now, and I ask you to accept my withdrawal from office. I have the satisfaction, which you will share with me, of leaving the club stronger numerically than it has ever been, and with a larger bank account ($433.85) than it has ever enjoyed before. I wish to convey to my executive my grateful thanks for their unflinching co-operation throughout the year, and to the club my heartiest wishes for its continued prosperity."

Mme. Fortier, on behalf of the members, thanked Miss Eglaugh for her devotion to the club's interests during the season.

The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows: President, Mrs. F. H. Waycott, by acclamation; first vice-president, Mrs. R. M. Liddell; second vice-president, Mrs. E. M. Renouf; recording secretary, Miss Ferguson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. McLaren; treasurer, Mrs. Mullarkey.

A SUBJECT FOR WONDER.

The number of Heintzman & Co. pianos in use in Montreal homes is a constant source of wonder to all who remember how many other makes there are in Canada. Why should the Heintzman & Co. pianos be so greatly preferred above all others? Ask the owners—or, better still, call at C. W. Lindsay, Limited, 2366 St. Catherine Street, and hear them for yourself. CAUTIOUS MOTHERS

Will use "THE PEPTONINE" if they desire to see their children grow strong, healthy and vigorous. Weak persons of all ages will BENEFIT BY ITS USE. The following is another analysis certificate:

Quebec, September 12th, 1898.

"LA PEPTONINE," submitted to my examination, is composed of very pure wheat, containing nitrogeneous and amyliaceous substances together with certain salts, in such proportion as to form a complete food, easily assimilable and very digestible.

(Signed) Ph. J. FILLION, Priest, Professor of Chemistry, Laval University, Quebec.

Sold by all first class pharmacists, or by the manufacturer, P. Coursol, 253 City Hall Avenue, Montreal.

Mrs. Tupman, a prominent lady of Richmond, Va., a great sufferer with woman's troubles, tells how she was cured.

"For some years I suffered with backache, severe bearing-down pains, leucorrhœa, and falling of the womb. I tried many remedies, but nothing gave any positive relief.

"I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in June, 1901. When I had taken the first half bottle, I felt a vast improvement, and have now taken ten bottles with the result that I feel like a new woman. When I commenced taking the Vegetable Compound I felt all worn out and was fast approaching complete nervous collapse. I weighed only 98 pounds. Now I weigh 109½ pounds and am improving every day. I gladly testify to the benefits received."—MRS. R. C. TUPMAN, 423 West 36th St., Richmond, Va.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women. Perhaps she has just the knowledge that will help your case—try her to-day—it costs nothing.

MONTREAL HAS DROPPED FROM INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Schedule Could Not Be Arranged, and Montreal's Demands Were Disregarded—Future Is Doubtful.

The Montreal Baseball Club has withdrawn from the International League. It was so decided last night on account of difficulties over the schedule.

The International clubs desired not more than two games a week and not to play consecutively in one town. They were also out for a nine weeks' season, beginning May 1, which gave too little time for preparation.

The Montreal representative suggested that games should be played on three successive days in each place, and that each team should play a game every day in the week. It was practically promised that something of this sort would be arranged, or at any rate a compromise, which would go far to meet these demands. When the Montreal representative attended the executive committee meeting that was called to arrange the schedule, his requests were refused, and the original plan of the Vermont and New York clubs was insisted upon.

Consequently, Montreal has withdrawn from the league.

"What will be done now?" was the question put to Mr. Clark.

"I cannot say as yet. We will make an effort to have baseball here again, and good ball, too. There are other leagues," was the reply.

McGraw Injured.

New York, April 28.—John J. McGraw, manager of the New York National League team, had his nose badly broken yesterday morning while practising with his players at the Polo grounds, and he is likely to be out of the game for some time.

Cronin was hitting long flies to Taylor at right field, who returned them to McGraw at first base. The latter had just gathered a ball used for the infielders, and sent it to Bresnahan at second, when Taylor, at the same moment, had caught a fly and quickly threw it to first base.

McGraw had his back turned at the time, but a shout from the players to look out caused him to turn face on to the ball, which struck him plump on the nose. He fell to the ground, where he bled profusely and groaned with pain.

An ambulance from the J. Hood Wright Hospital was sent for, and after his nose had been dressed there he returned to the Polo grounds in a carriage and saw his men defeat the Bostons. It is not likely that he will accompany the New Yorks to Philadelphia on Thursday.

Base Hits.

Pitcher "Copper" Jordan, of Belleville, has been released by Worcester to the New England League.

Catchers Raub and Chance will play first base for Chicago until they land a regular initial-bag man.

Outfielder Sebring, of Pittsburg, was taken suddenly ill on Saturday, and he may not be able to play for some time.

Third Baseman Ward has been let out by Worcester, and Manager Wrigley is trying to get Bob Schaub, formerly of Toronto.

Manager Barrow, of Detroit, has signed Outfielder Billy Lush and released Clements. Jersey City has a claim on the latter player, but Toronto may get him.

Jimmy Bannon's Columbus team won three out of four from Toledo. In Saturday's game Bannon had two hits, one a double. Columbus won by 9 to 6.

Shortstop Clingman, who has been playing with Columbus, has been awarded to St. Paul, and all the games played by the Columbus Club have been thrown out.

Syracuse beat Cornell on Saturday by 6 to 5. Davy Drohan pitched the last four innings for the State Leaguers, and the collegians could not do anything with his delivery.

Twenty-five thousand people saw Chicago beat Pittsburg in Chicago, on Sunday. Falkenburg, the tall pitcher from Worcester, fielded his position badly and lost his own game.

Smoot, the ex-Worcester player, made a home run, with two men on bases and two out, in the ninth innings of the St. LouisCincinnati game on Sunday, giving St. Louis the victory by one run.

First Baseman Hanlon, of the Chicago National League team, has been given his ten days' notice of release. The Californian has done good work in the field, but Manager Selee has not been satisfied with his showing at the bat.

The pitchers of the American League are catching batters napping by tossing up fast shoots before the men at the plate recover after a vicious swipe at the ball. The rule states that the pitcher must pause before delivering the ball, but this is being ignored.

The St. Laurent College Baseball team is fast getting into condition. The early spring has given the boys a great advantage. Previous years a great deal of indoor training had to be done, while this year the team has done the bulk of its training on the college campus. A few new faces will be seen on the diamond, but these new players have proved by their own work that they will fill their positions as well as did their predecessors. Among the students enthusiasm is running very high. Any team desirous of arranging a game, will please confer with Francis Hinchey, manager.

SAILORS' INSTITUTE IS RE-OPENED FOR SEASON

Mr. J. Ritchie Bell Presides at the First Concert and Gives Hearty Welcome to Sailors.

The formal opening of the Montreal Sailors' Institute was held last evening. This is the forty-second year of the institution, and each year the work done among and for the sailors has become more important. The programme marked out for this season shows that there will be no abatement in the management of its affairs. Mr. J. Ritchie Bell, who has returned recently from the lower provinces, again has charge of the work here, and his enthusiasm and experience eminently fit him for it.

A fairly large number of seamen was at the opening last evening, although the navigation season has not been long opened. The sailors were chiefly from the SS. Monterey and Alexandrian, and there were a number of residents present. Mr. Bell presided, and with him on the platform were Capt. Bruce, of the Alexandrian, and Mr. J. M. M. Duff, one of the directors of the Institute. Mr. Bell made a brief speech of welcome in introducing an impromptu programme. The latter consisted of songs by Ed. Watts and John Thompson, of the SS. Monterey; R. Phillips, of the SS. Fremona; Robert Morrison, of the SS. Salacia; George Beech and Mr. J. Ritchie Bell.

Captain Bruce gave a couple of excellent recitations from Scott's "Lady of the Lake." Mr. Greenwood Farrell also contributed a recitation. Mr. Duff delivered an address to the sailors, in which he welcomed them back to the port of Montreal, and outlined the work being done in their behalf at the Institute.

At the close of the programme every sailor was presented with a gift, which had been contributed by ladies of the city, and every one of them was sent away happy.

A SPLENDID INVESTMENT!

THE PLUMAS GOLD MINE

7 1-2 cents per share. Par Value $1.00.

BOOKS CLOSE ON 9th MAY.

Not long ago we recommended our customers to purchase Aurora Gold Mine stock, then selling at $75.00 per thousand shares. Many acted on our advice, and we have since had the pleasure of buying back the stock, in order to fill orders from Western brokers, at $400.00 per thousand, thereby securing for our customers a profit of upwards of 400 per cent.

The chance to invest in "AURORA" at the ground-floor price has passed by (we might pick up a limited quantity at from 40 to 50 cents per share), but instead we now recommend you to buy stock in The Plumas Gold Mine at 7½ cents per share, (the figure at which "AURORA" was originally offered).

We have never offered an investment which in our opinion possessed equal merit, either for safety of principal or from a money-earning standpoint.

The Plumas is in no wise a prospect; it is a FULLY PROVEN MINE with a past record of upwards of a million and a half dollars. It is not only in one of the richest Mining States in America, but it is in the richest camp in the State, in company with mines which have already produced upwards of $30,000,000, and what is better still, the Plumas is not to the east, to the west, to the north nor to the south of but IS DIRECTLY ON THE MOTHER LODE of the entire district, according to the combined reports of ten eminent mining engineers.

We predict a great future for the Plumas.

The Mine is equipped with a magnificent water-power, capable of running a 2,000-stamp mill at practically no expense, thereby enabling us to profitably mine even the lowest grade of ores, and the sole reason for selling the present block of stock is to provide sufficient money to treble the capacity of the present mill.

THIS IS THE FIRST AND ONLY OPPORTUNITY that the public will have of investing in Plumas stock at ground-floor prices.

At the time we offered the "AURORA," amongst others who took our advice was a Montreal customer, the guardian of a lad in that city. With $75.00 he purchased for the lad 1,000 shares. We bought it back for $400.00. Acting on our advice, he deposited $300.00 in a bank, and with $100.00 purchased a thousand shares of the Viznaga Gold Mine. We bought this back also, for $250.00, and the customer again reinvested; and to-day from an original outlay of $75.00, made less than 18 months ago, the lad has to his credit:—

Cash in Bank	$250.00
1,000 shares Potosi-Orleans Gold Mine, valued at	150.00
1,000 shares Mexican Exploration & Development Co., valued at	125.00
1,000 shares Aurora Extension Co., valued at	100.00
2,000 shares Plumas Gold Mining Co., valued at	150.00
	$775.00

An increase of over 1,000 per cent. on which he will this year draw dividends greater than the original investment.

THIS IS ONLY ONE INSTANCE. WE CAN GIVE SCORES OF OTHERS.

THE PLUMAS GOLD MINE, of Plumas County, California, is one of the most promising mines in one of the richest mining district in America.

THE PLUMAS is surrounded by such famous mines as the Wolf Creek, with a record of $1,000,000 production; Rush Creek, with $300,000; Cherokee, $4,000,000; Indian Valley, $1,000,000; Crescent, $3,000,000; Green Mountain, $8,000,000; Plumas Eureka, $18,000,000 (while the property itself is reported to have produced over $1,500,000 under previous ownerships), making a total production of over $30,000,000.

We Now Offer 100,000 Shares Only, at 7½c per share (par value $1.00 per share).

Subscriptions will be entered in the order that they are received, and will be filled in full until allotment is exhausted.

No subscription will be entered for less than 500 shares, costing $37.50, nor more than 5,000 shares, costing $375.00.

THE SUCCESS OF OUR PREVIOUS FOUNDERS' SHARE ISSUES HAS BEEN SO PHENOMENAL (several of them paying our customers profits of from 400 per cent. to 700 per cent., 1902), that we have FOUND IT IMPOSSIBLE TO ACCEPT ORDERS from other than our regular customers.

In this instance we have decided, after careful consideration, to reserve for the general public one-half and for our customers the balance of the allotment, in order that we may increase our clientele in Quebec Province.

The Plumas Gold Mine is located on the "Mother Lode" of Plumas County, California, is already developed and a large producer, and we have never offered to our customers a proposition that we consider possesses more merit from an investment standpoint.

The property might rightfully be termed a high and low grade proposition, with sufficient water power to run 2,000 stamps at practically no cost but the building of the flume. IT IS IN NO WISE A "PROSPECT," HAVING BEEN DEVELOPED BY OVER 6,000 FEET OF TUNNELS, EXPOSING OVER 300,000 TONS OF ORE.

It comprises ten quartz mining claims, approximately 200 acres, together with 320 acres of timber land adjacent, or 520 acres in all, with a mill site, 20-stamp mill, boarding house, and all necessary buildings, and one-half interest in the stock of the Round Valley Water Co., owners of a reservoir covering 800 acres, from which water is obtained for operating the mills, and is also sold to other mines in that locality.

We have at length succeeded in securing this property by assuming a very nominal encumbrance, and GET THE ADVANTAGE OF DEVELOPMENT WORK THAT HAS COST SEVERAL HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS, of which our customers receive the benefit by furnishing the small amount of money necessary to equip the property with modern machinery.

THE ORIGINAL OWNERS of the property, who, owing to their inability to raise the necessary money to successfully carry forward the work, RECEIVE STOCK IN PART PAYMENT, and this stock has been deposited in trust in the Knickerbocker Trust Co., and cannot be released or draw dividends until the Company is entirely free from debt and on a legitimate dividend-earning basis above the 12 per cent. priority to which the preferred Treasury stock now being sold is entitled.

Mr. W. D. Lawton, who is thoroughly familiar with the property, and has been engaged as general manager, does not hesitate to risk his reputation as a mining engineer on the statement that as soon as the 60-stamp mill is installed the property will earn from $250,000 to $500,000 per year.

There will probably be no further offering of this stock after the Founders' Share Issue. It will then be withdrawn from sale and the stock enter the dividend list as soon as the new equipment is installed, which will probably be WITHIN SIX MONTHS at the outside.

Full printed particulars will be furnished upon application, and persons residing outside the city desiring to order subject to confirmation upon receipt of the printed matter can do so. We believe this would be the better plan, as otherwise we could not guarantee delivery to such applicants.

Stocks and Money

CANADIAN PACIFIC AND STEEL WENT HIGHER THIS MORNING

The Former Moved on Continued Fine Earnings and the Latter on Small Selling—The Amalgamation Rumor—Day's Gossip.

Canadian Pacific was strong in London, New York and Montreal to-day on the continued fine earnings. There seems to be no let up to the gains, whether gross or net, and last month's net gain of $203,649 visibly impressed the markets, particularly in view of the fact that some of the leading properties across the line are not doing so well. The net increase from July 1st to March 31st (nine months) is now $933,683, and before the year is out the figures are likely to be largely increased.

Opening at 130 3-4, the stock rose quickly to 131 and then 131 1-4. There was a reaction to 131, but another recovery and it went to 131 1-2 on the strong close and gain of a point in London.

$ $ $

The temper in Dominion Steel appears to be a little more bullish. At least surprisingly little stock came out this morning when it was bid up to 29 1-2. There was a sale of only 25 shares at the latter figure. The same condition, according to a message, appeared to exist in Boston. One despatch was authority for the statement that there was a considerable short interest there. The preferred sold at 69 and $5,000 bonds at 77 3-4.

$ $ $

Nothing new developed in regard to the threatened strike among some of the Montreal Power workers, and the view was taken this morning that the trouble would be averted. There was very little done in Power and the same holds true of the rest of the list. Twins selling at 113 and Toronto Railway at 108 1-4.

Commercial Cable was on the firm side and 350 shares sold at 160.

A Laidlaw wire at 12.30 said:—"Market retains its professional tone, but range of activity has slightly expanded. Opinion on the Board is that Standard Oil interests have been buying this morning, particularly St. Paul. Very little attention paid to gold exports. As it is a large movement is not feared. Traders disposed to work for further improvement.

Robert Meredith & Co. received the following over their private wire from Zimmermann & Forshay, New York: The latest reports from the London market this morning, before our opening showed the market for Americans there to be firm, with Canadian Pacific up one point, on the large earnings of the company.

The engagement by two institutions yesterday aggregating one million gold for abroad were special transactions.

While we are very near the export point, shipments of the metal may be averted, as a slightly higher price for demand may bring out long bills in sufficient volume to again defer exports. London Stock Exchange will be closed on Friday. The sterling market was easier this morning. Banks lost yesterday to the sub-treasury $1,196,000.

The market opened higher in response to London's higher figures, and the tone for the first hour was strong, but there was little activity, which decreased further towards noon, when the market became perfectly stagnant, with quotations coming in at intervals of a few minutes.

At noon, however, prices were generally fractionally higher than opening, and tone was decidedly strong. Canadian Pacific closed at 134¾ in London.

The London trading to-day was small, amounting to less than 10,000 shares in all, and selling 5,000 on balance. While the tone of the market has been firm, there are few commission houses which report over a fair amount of business to-day. Most of them say that they had practically no orders. In Reading a block of a little less than 5,000 shares of long stock came into the market and was mostly taken by room traders. The principal buyers of Copper were brokers who have hitherto acted for the Standard Oil pool. The market keeps strong but inactive.

COTTON HIGHER

Mr. D. M. Sexton, cotton broker, 3 St. Sacrament Street, reports the New York Cotton Market opening steady at an advance of 3to 4 points over yesterday's close.

The options at the opening were:—April 10.48, May 10.55, July 10.05, Aug. 9.66, Sept. 895, Oct. 8.66, Nov. 8.56, Dec. 8.54.

Liverpool opened 2 to 3 points lower and at 12.30 was unchanged to 1-2 point higher on near months and 1-2 to 1 lower on distant.

The spot market was unchanged with sales of 8,000 bales of which 7,000 were American.

Port receipts this date were estimated at 8,000 bales against 10,678 this day last week, and 10,671 this date last year.

Options at 12.30 were:—May 10.52, July 10.05, Aug. 9.66, Sept. 8.93, Oct. 8.65, Dec. 8.54.

PROFIT $62,500,000

The syndicate which underwrote the original securities of the United States Steel Corporation at the time of its organization in 1901 has been finally wound up. This completes one of the most profitable underwriting syndicates ever organized in Wall Street. The original syndicate was for $200,000,000, but the amount of cash actually called from syndicate members was only 12 1-2 per cent. or $25,000,000. In addition there have since been paid, previous to the final disbursement just made, four dividends of 5 per cent. each, or $40,000,000 in all. The final payment, as shown below, is about 4 per cent. in cash and 2 per cent. in new Steel Trust bonds. This final distribution is subject to a call for about one-half of 1 per cent. in cash. These distributions are in addition to a one-fifth interest in the total profits which went to the syndicate managers as a commission. The results of the syndicate's operations may, therefore, be summarized as follows:—

Nominal liability of syndicate	$200,000,000
Cash actually in	25,000,000
Cash dividends, 23 per cent. or	$46,000,000
Paid up participation in bond conversion syndicate, 2 per cent. or	4,000,000
Total	50,000,000
Add one-fifth interest in total profits, this being commission of syndicate managers	12,500,000
Grand total, all profits	$62,500,000

The profit is, therefore, equivalent to about 31 1-4 per cent. on the nominal liability of the syndicate and to 250 per cent. on the amount of cash actually paid in. It is needless to say that this is a result seldom obtained. Incidentally it indicates that the United States Steel Corporation paid a pretty stiff price for the syndicate's services.

COPPER STOCKS ON MINING EXCHANGE

Following is a brief description of the Winona Copper Co. recently listed on the Montreal Mining Exchange:

A corporation formed under the laws of Michigan in 1898. The company owns a mineral property of about 1,500 acres in Houghton County, Mich. Active exploration and development work has been prosecuted on the property since the formation of the company. During the last year $48,593 have been expended on the mine, and the development work in the ground south of No. 2 shaft has penetrated a lode of such a character as to warrant further explorations in that direction, but before entering upon this work, it was deemed advisable to make a working test of the rock, which has been done by obtaining early in December the use of one head of stamps in the Atlantic mill.

During the months of December and January last 8,795 tons of rock were stamped which yielded 23 lbs. of ingot copper.

In view of this satisfactory yield, and the promising appearance of the levels being driven in a southerly direction, it has been determined to sink another shaft further south and continue development work with vigor, for which a call of $100 a share on the stock was made payable the 12th of March last.

The capital of the company consists of 100,000 shares of the par value of $25.00 of which $11.00 has been paid on the recent copper rise the stock sold at $14 3-4 and is now selling at $11 1-4.

Why suffer with catarrh? It's only necessary to use Japanese Catarrh Cure. The catarrhal germ cannot live when this germ destroying antiseptic is applied. Its antiseptic strength is the secret of the success of this certain cure. Positively contains nothing injurious. It's worth a trial. Underlying conditions which make the real New York market, or will do so in the end, are not only favorable, but are becoming more so with each day. Gross earnings of railways are increasing, and the gross earnings tell the story, as net earnings are kept down by the policy of improving and adding to the plant.

All New York stocks bought on 3 per cent. margin or more.

Twin Earnings.

Earnings of the Twin City Rapid Transit Company for the third week of April were $71,573, an increase of $11,566 over last year, and an increase of $17,826 over the same period of 1901. The increase per cent. was 19.21 over 1902, and 33.2 over 1901. Earnings for the month to date increased $50,079, or 21.48 per cent. January 1st to date, earnings are $1,120,851, an increase of $155,759.

C.P.R's Great Gains.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's statement of earnings and expenses for the month of March, and for the nine months maintains the remarkably satisfactory showing that his system has been making all along both in relation to gross and net earnings. The net earnings show an increases of $55,-624, compared with the previous month, and $208,650 compared with a year ago, while the relation between operating expenses and net earnings shows little variation from that of the preceding month when allowance is made for the extra time involved. The expansion in gross traffic on the preceding month has been wonderful. It exceeds $32,000,000 for the nine months, a gain of $5,865,753 on the eight months, and $1,274,255 on the nine months in 1902. In other words, there has been an increase of over 15 per cent in the company's business during the nine months of 1903, which is certainly a very noteworthy showing.

Yesterday's Market.

The shipment of gold by a Philadelphia bank was thought in a measure to account for the moderately heavy selling of stocks yesterday and to-day by Philadelphia firms, Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania, and other favorite issues of that city being features of weakness.

By way of illustration of the stock market's early dullness, only 6,200 shares in all changed hands during the opening hour.—N.Y. Post.

Of the forty-five railroads that have reported their gross earnings for the third week of April, thirty-five have shown increases and the other six decreases. The total net increase of these roads is $1,232,259.

Gold Exports.

The effect of the engagement of gold for export was only temporary and traders were disposed to take it merely as a passing incident. That it should have been engaged by a Philadelphia bank, instead of one of this city was regarded on the Stock Exchange as meaning that local institutions are opposed to sending out any of the yellow metal at this time. The statement of President Stillman that the National City Bank was not at present contemplating any gold shipments had a quieting effect.—N.Y. Post.

Market Reports

WHEAT STOCKS ARE LIGHT ALL OVER EXCEPT IN AMERICA

A Montreal grain house received the following from Paine, Webber & Co.: "European import wheat requirements this season were estimated by Beerbohm last September at 384,800,000 bushels, or 7,400,000 per week, whereas actual imports since Aug. 1 have been about 8,240,000 per week, while the European visible supply, excluding Russia's stocks on April 1, was only 45,000,000, against 39,600,000 Aug. 1 and 62,760,000 a year ago. This shows that the very heavy imports, large as is their total during the past seevn months, have not led to any accumulation of stocks, which are, indeed, everywhere small for this time of year except in America. We can better realize now that early in the season the requirements of the United Kingdom, France and Germany were underestimated. Our forecast for these countries was as follows: United Kingdom, 192 millions; France, 12 millions; Germany, 50 millions. So far the United Kingdom's imports have been at the rate of 200 millions per annum and those of Germany 68 millions. We think therefore that these two countries will probably import 16 millions more than seemed likely early in the season."

May wheat opened at 77 in Chicago, went to 77⅛ and at 12.30 was quoted at 76¾. July wheat opened at 71⅞ and at 12.30 was 71⅝. September wheat opened at 69¾ and the 12.30 price was 69⅝.

May corn in Chicago opened at 44¼, went off to 43⅞ and the 12.30 price was 44. July corn started at 44¾ and held just about steady. July oats started at 31½ and went to 31⅝.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND PRODUCE MARKETS

There is only a fair trade in grain. The demand for oats for local consumption was also limited, and only a few cars of No. 2 white changed hands at 37c to 37½c ex store. There was a fairly good enquiry for Manitoba wheat from over the cable for both early and future shipment and some business was put through.

There continues to be a good enquiry for Manitoba flour from foreign sources at an advance in prices over previous sales, but notwithstanding this fact, millers in some cases are holding off, as they have already sold largely for May shipment. Locally a fair volume of business is passing and the undertone to the market is steady.

Cheese or butter fail to show any material change. The latter is fairly steady.

Bedford, Que., April 28.—Creamery butter sold at 18⅝c on Bedford butter and cheese board here to-day.

In eggs there is a fair trade in progress and the tone is steady.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 28.—For the purpose of encouraging inter-colonial trade, a postal arrangement has been made between Canada and Jamaica, to exchange all mail matter at Canadian internal rates of postage.

FOREIGN CROPS NOT LOOKING ESPECIALLY WELL

The following is a condensation of the foreign crop conditions published to-day in Broomhall's Liverpool Corn Trade News:

United Kingdom—The favorable prospects for crops in this country are well maintained.

France—The earlier damage reported in some districts is becoming more apparent. Growers continue to hold very firmly.

Russia—Advices from the southwest, where prospects have hitherto been generally favorable, now complain of rain being needed in some sections. The outlook is only middling.

Roumania—Occasional complaints are received, but the outlook is generally favorable, although the season is backward. The moderate increase in shipments the past week or two would indicate that holders are more satisfied with crop prospects, and are now disposed to part with their stocks.

Hungary—Crop conditions have been mostly satisfactory during the past week.

Spain—Storms have occurred since our last report, relieving to some extent the drouthy conditions generally prevailing.

Italy—Further complaints of unseasonable weather have been received, but are not considered serious.

Germany—The weather has continued unfavorable since the date of compiling the recent official crop report, so that the poor condition given therein has probably not improved.

Cottonseed oil—Hull refined—Spot, quiet, 21s 7 1-2d. Tallow—Australian in London easy, 32s.

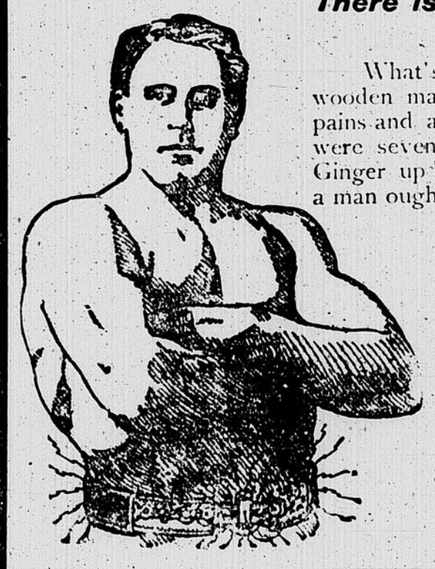
GET SOME LIFE INTO YOU

There is Happiness in Vigorous Manhood. Don't You Want It?



What's the use of dragging your legs about like a wooden man? Feel like a man of spirit? Away with the pains and aches! Off with this wretched feeling as if you were seventy years old and had one foot in the grave! Ginger up! Feel young and full of glee! That's the way a man ought to feel after using

DR. McLAUGHLIN'S
ELECTRIC BELT

With Its Electric Suspensory, Free With Belts, For Weak Men.

I can give back to any man what he has lost by violation of the laws of nature. I can stop all drains upon his vitality in ten days. Power which has been lost for years can be restored in a few months.

PHILIP WHITNEY, HINTONBURG, ONT., WROTE ME THE OTHER DAY:—I have only worn the Belt for about one month, the drains have stopped, that burning sensation has disappeared. I have gained in weight. No money could buy my Belt if I could not get another one.

No man should suffer the loss of that vital element which renders life worth living; no man should allow himself to become less a man than nature intended him; no man should suffer for the sins of his youth. Give me a man with pains in his back, a dull ache in his muscles or joints, "come and go" pains in his shoulders, chest and side, Sciatica in his hip, Lumbago, Rheumatism or any ache or pain, and my Belt will pour the Oil of Life into his aching body and drive out every sign of pain. No pain can exist where my Belt is worn.

T. J. GALLAGHER, SHELBURNE, ONT., WRITES ME:—I have never felt any symptoms of the disease (Bladder trouble) since I stopped using the Belt. I have gained twenty pounds. No one will ever regret a trial of your Belt. It is a grand invention.

I fail to convince some people because they will not use their own intelligence. I don't ask you to take my word only. I give you references to people who were as you are to-day, and are cured. I also explain how you will be cured—give you tests of the means of cure. When you see how the cure is made, it will appeal to your common sense. There is no mystery about it, like there is about drug prescriptions, in a dead language to cover what is being done. You will know why and how you will be cured, just as I know. You will regain your confidence, because you will understand the matter as well as I do. Then, after you are cured you will tell others to quit drug treatment and use Nature's Remedy—Electricity. You will say like

J. G. PRITCHETT, 254 WHARNCLIFFE ROAD, LONDON, ONT.:—About a year ago I got one of your best Belts, and up to this day I have never regretted it, as I think you have solved the great problem. Since using the Belt I have been free from my old complaint, pains in the back, and above all from varicocele, from which I was a terrible sufferer. I know what a Godsend your Belt has been to me, and so talk from experience.

I have cured thousands of men who have squandered the savings of years in useless doctoring.

My Belt is easy to use; put it on when you go to bed; you feel the glowing heat from it (no sting nor burn as in old-style belts), and you feel the nerves tingle with the new life flowing into them. You get up in the morning feeling like a two-year-old.

What ails you? Write and tell me, and no matter where you are I think I can give you the address of some one in your town that I have cured. I've cured thousands, and every man of them is a walking advertisement for my Belt.

Every man who ever used it recommends it, because it is honest. It does great work, and those whom I have cured are the more grateful because the cure costs so little.

I don't ask you to take my unsupported word as to this or as to my method of cure being successful. I am able to refer you to men who came to me as a last resort and were cured.

To those who still doubt there is any cure because they have been misled by false representations and want evidence of cure in their own cases, before paying, I say, disregard my testimonials if you will, but be convinced by what I can do in your case before you pay. I am willing to take all the chances of curing any case of RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, LAME BACK, SCIATICA, VARICOCELE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, CONSTIPATION, LOST ENERGY resulting from exposure and excesses in middle-aged men. Give me reasonable security, and you can

PAY WHEN CURED.

CAUTION Beware of the schemer offering you a Belt for a dollar or two, or perhaps a free gift. Many who have been victimized by such offers lose faith in electricity. Those articles are made to sell, not to cure.

READ WITH CARE! Every patient wearing Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt receives FREE, until cured, the advice of a physician who understands his case. Agents or drug stores are not allowed to sell these goods.

FREE BOOK—If you cannot call, write for my beautiful descriptive book, showing how my Belt is used. It explains how my Belt cures weakness in men and women, and gives prices. Send for it to-day. I have a Book specially for women. Address
