

$100,000 fraud case

Shareholders place blame on other man

By PIERRE SAUVE
(Special to The Record)

Defence lawyers for seven men charged with a $100,000 fraud in connection with the operations of the Frank Baker Wood Company of Lennoxville said Tuesday they intended to show that whatever happened was not caused by any of the accused, but by an eighth man not named in the charges.

The lawyers made the statement at the opening of the preliminary hearing of one of the accused, Hector Champagne, 60, former president of the Lennoxville company.

Only one major witness, Joseph Lesnoff, 41-year-old Montreal accountant, was called to testify by the Crown.

Lesnoff is also accused in the fraud, but he was only called to testify in the Champagne hearing. He proceeded to give a detailed account of the transaction by which a group of businessmen bought the company.

Counsel for Champagne, Maurice Hebert, a Montreal lawyer, and Claude Bateau, of Sherbrooke, minutely cross-examined the witness, to show the legality of the transaction. Crown Attorney Benoit Turmel objected to the line of questioning, alleging that the legality of the transaction was in no way questioned, but that the eight men had defrauded the public of $100,000 after having bought the company.

"If defence counsel persists in questioning the witness in connection with all the aspects of the purchase, this witness may remain in the box for two days. This is in no way related to the Champagne case," said Crown Attorney Turmel.

Presiding judge, Mr. Judge Redmond Roche, of Montreal, asked Crown Attorney Turmel what he was trying to prove.

"I will show that a group of persons bought the Frank Baker Wood Company on June 8, 1959, a solvent company, and that within three months it became insolvent to the extent of $100,000. I will prove that Albert Rolben, one of the accused and also president of the Royce Acceptance Corporation of Montreal, purchased large quantities of wood everywhere in Canada and resold it at a much lower price, before paying for it and that in so doing, ruined the company," said Crown Attorney Turmel.

Following this declaration, Joseph Cohen, a Montreal lawyer and counsel with Jack Rudner, also of Montreal, for Albert Rolben, said:

"If one of the men is found guilty, then by association an implied guilt on the other men can be presumed. In a case such as this one, the defence should be allowed all the latitude in its line of questioning, and therefore scrutinize the smallest details.

"I intend to show that whatever transpired within the Frank Baker Wood Company was not directly caused by any of the accused, but by a P. Marceau whom I am sure will be one of the Crown's key witnesses. He has not even been indicted in this fraud but he is presently behind bars on three other charges of fraud. I therefore ask that the Court allow this line of questioning and that counsel be permitted.

Cubans ask death for insurgents

SANTA CLARA, Cuba—(Reuters)—The prosecution demanded the death penalty Tuesday for four of nearly 150 "counter-revolutionaries" on trial here before a revolutionary tribunal.

The prosecution also demanded 30-year jail sentences for 84 of the accused and 20-year sentences for 56 others. Four were cleared.

The mass trial was one of the biggest held since the early days of Fidel Castro's revolution two years ago.

An American, Richard Pectoraro, was among those on trial.

The counter-revolutionaries—13 are former soldiers of ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista and two are women—were captured in the Sierra de Escambray in Las Villas province.

REPORTERS BARRED
Cuban reporters and four Russian photographers were the only members of the press admitted to the courtroom. American and British correspondents were barred.

Meanwhile, the armed forces ministry announced late Tuesday night that 21 counter-revolutionaries captured after landing on the north coast of Oriente province would be tried in Santiago today.

A ministry communiqué said an American, Anthony Zarba, was among those captured.

The communiqué added that five of the invading band remain at large, including three Americans.

LAW NEVER PASSED
UN officials issued a statement Tuesday saying they could not lift the guard on Lumumba's residence to permit his arrest on a warrant for violation of a law that never had been passed by parliament.

The UN statement said Mobutu took control in the Congo temporarily to "promote a political settlement on a nationwide basis."

"It is difficult to reconcile with that aim any attempt to carry out an act of political violence such as the seizure of a political figure without due process of law."

Tension ran high Tuesday as Lumumba stayed in the residence while about 50 Congolese soldiers faced UN sentries standing guard outside.

Langlois found criminally responsible

Charge of murder laid

Student assassin

Japanese Socialist head dies

TOKYO (AP)—Inejiro Asanuma, Socialist party chairman and militant leader of Japanese opposition to the U.S.-Japanese alliance, was stabbed to death with a foot-long sword by a student today.

The assassin, a slender 17-year-old identified as Otaya Yamaguchi, a former member of the ultranationalist Greater Japan Patriotic Society, was hurled to the floor by spectators and carried off to a police station.

Asanuma was hurried to hospital where he died of two chest wounds, one of them close to the heart.

It was the first major political murder in 34 years in a country where "government by assassination" was prevalent before the war. But it was the third political stabbing by a right-wing fanatic in four months—the other two victims recovered.

Asanuma, 61, was in the midst of a speech at a meeting urging a clean campaign for the parliamentary elections next month when Yamaguchi rushed forward from the side of the stage.

Claims he gave Americans warning Four months before Pearl Harbor

LONDON (AP)—A new biography of Sir Hubert Wilkins says the Australian explorer gave the United States four months' warning of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The book by John Grierson—Sir Hubert Wilkins, Enigma of Exploration—says Wilkins had dinner with the Japanese consul-general in Singapore at the Raffles Hotel in August, 1941.

The consul-general drank too much and confided that the Japanese were going to sink the American fleet in Pearl Harbor from the air.

"And as for Singapore," he said, "we shall walk in here from the north, whilst all your guns and fortifications are pointed to the south."

The Japanese said he was telling Sir Hubert, who died in 1958, "because I know you are a secret agent of the Americans, and because I know you will report this conversation to them and to the British, too, and they will say this story is fantastic, the consul was drunk and did not know what he was talking about, and they will not believe it."

That is exactly what happened, Grierson writes. Sir Hubert's report was not believed.

Shooting account read out

By NICK POWELL
(Record Staff Reporter)

Nelson Langlois, 46-year-old Sherbrooke machinist, was formally charged with murder Wednesday morning, in connection with the fatal shooting 10 days ago of Eugene Dupuis, 67-year-old Sherbrooke man, in a small cottage on the edge of Brompton Lake, near St. Elie d'Orford.

Tuesday night a coroner's jury found Langlois criminally responsible for Dupuis' death after only three minutes deliberation.

The Crown, represented by prosecuting attorney Benoit Turmel, introduced evidence of the death of Dupuis only, omitting evidence of the death of Ovila Martin, 63, also of Sherbrooke, shot and killed during the same incident.

Although Langlois was found criminally responsible for Dupuis' death, a technicality renders the same verdict for the death of Martin.

Only three witnesses testified at the inquest: Napoleon Labelle, brother-in-law of Dupuis, who identified the body; Provincial Police Detective Paul Gagnon, who read a statement signed by Langlois; and detective Paul Emile Tourville, who corroborated Gagnon's evidence.

Medico-legal evidence was introduced during the inquest by Dr. Louis Gagnon, Sherbrooke district coroner, presiding officer at the inquest.

The inquest presented something of an about face for two members of the St. Francis Bar, newly-appointed Crown Prosecutors Benoit Turmel, and his predecessor Roland Dugre, who with Stanley Steinman, represented Langlois.

The coroner's jury comprised foreman Albert Laporte, Pierre McGee, Michel Ginegras, Claude Tripp and Paul Gagnon.

Another shooting fatality

A 17-year-old Black Lake youth, Claude Laflamme, was found dead about 2:15 p.m. Tuesday in a wood bordering highway 49, his throat pierced by a bullet. A .22 rifle was found by his side.

The discovery was made by 18-year-old Jean-Guy Charpentier who had gone out an hour earlier to look for the young hunter whose disappearance had been reported the night before.

Charpentier was one of more than 200 who combed the woods when Laflamme failed to return home Monday afternoon.

The victim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jules Laflamme of 345 St. Louis, Black Lake.

The circumstances surrounding the shooting have not yet been established and an inquiry is being conducted by Dilbert Poirier, head of the Thetford Mines municipal police.

Go out on limb over the movies

NEPTUNE, N.J. (AP)—When members of the John Clifton family want to see a movie, they climb a tree.

But not just any tree. It has to be the sturdy old maple in their backyard. It's less than 50 feet away from the giant screen of a nearby drive-in theatre.

Clifton, to accommodate his wife and seven youngsters, has built box seats in the branches.

"Horse stables"

Khrushchev attacks disarmament talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev, in an ugly temper, let loose Tuesday night with a furious charge that Western disarmament efforts smell

Khrushchev shouted that Western countries were turning the halls of disarmament negotiation into "horse stables" with such a stench that "no honest man could breathe."

The Soviet premier told the West to beware of war and boasted that Soviet rockets are being mass-produced "like sausages out of a machine."

After the assembly session, Khrushchev said the Western powers had brought the world closer to war by opposing Russia's proposal that its disarmament resolution be debated in a full assembly plenary session rather than in committee.

United States Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said the Soviet proposal, which envisages total disarmament, could be dealt with properly only in the political committee "where it belongs" and not in a "table dumping propaganda spectacle" in the plenary sessions.

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union wanted the discussion in plenary because "we have been in the committees—we know the stables of horses and its smell."

WILL DECIDE TODAY
The assembly left until today—at an afternoon session—a decision whether to comply with Khrushchev's demand for debate within the 99-country plenary body itself and two other items proposed by the Soviet Union.

One of these was the Soviet request for immediate independence for all colonial territories, and the other was the charge that the flights of U.S. U-2 and RB-47 reconnaissance planes constituted aggression.

Gets ultimatum

Military threatens Frondizi

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Argentine army and navy officers mobilized their forces today and threatened to topple President Arturo Frondizi unless he cracks down on Communists and Peronistas in the government.

Frondizi was under a virtual ultimatum from the two armed forces to oust all officials with Communist sympathies or backers of exiled dictator Juan Peron.

All troops were confined to barracks and sailors were summoned back to their ships to strengthen the military demands. Federal police mounted strong guards around government house and close to the presidential residence as politicians flocked in for talks aimed at heading off a showdown.

Army secretary Gen. Roldolfo Larcher handed in his resignation to Frondizi Tuesday night after senior army officers charged that he had failed to present their case properly before the president.

The army move against Frondizi's policies, are headed by Gen. Carlos Severo Toranzo Montero, commander-in-chief, who was reported to have set up an emergency headquarters at the Camp de Mayo military base some 20 miles west of Buenos Aires.

Looking for good tribal spear? Exotic Treasure Van here has it

To natives of India the seed of the Manchadi tree stands as a symbol of good luck. Ethel Mulvany thus had a running start at success when she first offered $3 worth of Indian Manchadi seeds for sale eight years ago.

The luck apparently rubbed off, for from this humble beginning has grown an annual sale of native handicrafts that this year is expected to gross over $100,000 for the work of the World University Service of Canada.

Tuesday the WUSC Treasure Van hit Sherbrooke and was officially opened for business by a snip from the scissors of Bishop's principal, Ogden Glass, severing the red ribbon across the entrance of the Sherbrooke Hotel's Champlain Room. Open to students and the general public from 3-5 p.m. and 7-10 p.m. daily, the sale will run till Thursday night.

The Van has been restocked this year with crafts from eight new countries and now offers displays from no less than 13 countries. Articles range in price from a 5c Indian bracelet to a complete set of valuable Egyptian amber jewellery for $75. As an added bonus, Bishop's has provided eight attractive co-eds to sell the handicrafts on display.

Total value of crafts now on sale in Sherbrooke is $30,000, estimates eastern tour supervisor Joseph O'Sullivan. Two other Treasure Vans in central and western Canada bring the total across the nation to almost $100,000. Overhead costs are comparatively low, because the Treasure Vans are operated by WUSC with the help of local university committees.

Joe O'Sullivan, bronzed from a stay in Jamaica doing research into the island's cultists, hopes for an improvement on the $120 worth of exhibits sold in Sherbrooke last year. He has such rarities as a Kenyan tribal spear and zebra-skin drum, Egyptian silver set with scarabs, and alpaca hide slippers from Peru to offer.

Proceeds from the Vans' sales help finance WUSC 'self help' projects for students in underdeveloped countries.

So if you're looking for a high-quality tribal spear...

Life in Canada said preferable to Europe

Once you have tasted the freedom of Canada you have no desire to return to life in Europe. This was the opinion of Dr. John Silny expressed at the weekly meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club Tuesday night.

Despite all the progress in unification which has occurred since the war and despite the changing mentality there remains a certain provinciality and lack of initiative, he said. There is not the freedom to strike out on your own, to choose your own career, that you find in Canada. Young people are tied down to the professions of their fathers,

Dr. Silny said.

The trend towards unification which is taking place has broken down the triple wall of politics, customs, and currency which existed before the war, he said. However, the speaker said, this desire for unification is based rather on a feeling of insecurity and a fear of communism than on common understanding and appreciation among the countries.

Dr. Silny remarked on the tremendous economic boom that is taking place in Europe. New housing developments are mushrooming up, new roads are being built. Cars and bicycles are everywhere. The cost of living is still considerably lower than in Canada. France is the most expensive country, Austria the least.

In spite of these advantages the underlying feeling of fear and the narrow-mindedness make Canada a much more desirable home, he said.

Dr. Silny was introduced by Frank Simms and thanked by Bert Lyon. Guests at the headtable included Norm Welsh, Bert Ross, Forrest Lord, Bert Lyon, Fred Sangster, the president, Dr. Silny, Frank Simms, Ossie Broadbelt, and Bill Lavallee.

Beauty of voice demonstrated by Community Concert soprano

Camilla Williams' performance at the Granada Tuesday night demonstrated, as far as was possible under the circumstances, the considerable beauty of her voice. Miss Williams' performance marked the opening of the Community Concert season.

Miss Williams was considerably handicapped by the fact that most of the pieces she sang were short and had no continuity.

No sooner had Miss Williams introduced the audience to Mozart than she switched to Rameau, then to Schubert, then to Strauss then Debussy then to Gounod all before intermission.

However, Miss Williams did succeed in capturing the audience even during these short selections. Schubert's "The Trout" although very familiar, received added meaning due to the quality of Miss Williams' voice. Air des Bijoux from "Faust," perhaps because it was slightly longer and gave Miss Williams a greater opportunity to exhibit the controlled beauty of her voice, was one of the highlights of the performance.

Miss Williams seems to find great pleasure in her art. Her enjoyment was particularly noteworthy in the first selection by Strauss and "Mandoline" by Debussy. The second selection by Strauss as well as several of the other numbers were rather doleful in tone and provided Miss Williams with more of an opportunity to exhibit the power and range of her unusually fine soprano voice. However, they were not as enthusiastically received as the more cheerful pieces.

Miss Williams included in her performance two numbers from "Porgy and Bess" and a Creole song, "Chere mo lemme toi." Miss Williams sang these beautifully but the selections were not sufficiently great in themselves to bring out Miss Williams' talent.

Camilla Williams is a singer of worldwide reputation and the reason for this was definitely demonstrated at the Granada Tuesday night. However, the concert could have been improved by a more carefully selected program.

Miss Williams' accompanist, Ralph Leiby, was more than adequate. In his two solo numbers Cathedral Engloute by Debussy and Rachmaninoff's Elegy in E Minor he showed himself to be an extremely proficient pianist.

Reorganization saved $657,000

Council hears cost-cutting report

Reorganization of certain departments in Sherbrooke's municipal government since 1956 has resulted in a total saving for the city of $657,300, according to the annual report given to city council by director of services Charles Langlois Tuesday night.

In the report, he estimates that in 1959 alone, reorganization in various departments resulted in the cutting of costs by $346,200. The total saving of $657,300 he breaks down as follows: 1956 - $45,700; 1957 - $79,200; 1958 - $186,200; 1959 - $346,200.

Using as a basis for comparison the years 1954 and 1955, Mr. Langlois claimed the following economies for 1959: (a) cleaning of streets—$107,700 (b) maintenance of streets in summer—$16,000 (c) operation of equipment—$35,200 (d) use of granite blocks—$9,000 (e) crushing of gravel—$10,600 (f) garbage collection—$18,400 (g) operation of the electricity department—$103,800 (h) operation of the fire department—$45,500. Each of these figures represents a saving of that amount through reorganization.

However, the first part of his report, devoted to analyzing the operation of the various departments, shows that per capita, the cost of operating every department except hygiene has risen. The largest increase took place in the operation of the electricity department with a rise from $17.85 per capita in 1954 to $22.53 in 1959.

The second part of the report is devoted to a break-down of public works expenses in 1959. According to this, a total of $1,441,597.00 was spent on these works during the course of the year. Of this, a total of $825,384 was spent on construction and opening of new streets.

Some 91.61 miles of street throughout the city were paved, including 33.06 in the North Ward, 24.33 in the West Ward, 27.12 in the East Ward, 4.10 in the South Ward and 3.00 in the Centre Ward. Another 31.99 miles of street were gravelled during the year.

In the waterworks department, he estimated that a total of 8,100,000 gallons of water was consumed by a total of 62,033 persons within the city limits and 153 persons outside. This is equivalent to 130 gallons per person.

The third section of his report was devoted to a breakdown of all the figures given for work done and money spent in 1959.

The City's business

Says $125,000 suit small worry to city

North Ward Alderman Paul Gervais, chairman of the Industrial Relations Committee, who, together with Mayor Armand Nadeau, the former city treasurer and the City of Sherbrooke, is being sued for $125,000 by an American industrialist, told council last night that the city had little to worry about.

He claimed the industrialist, J. Willard Heisley of Philadelphia, was a man who could not obtain credit and would not pay his bills. Ald. Gervais noted that while the agreement called for Heisley to pay $150 monthly rent, the latter was badly in arrears by the end of the year.

Mayor Nadeau later interjected that he had received quite a start when he opened a newspaper on Saturday and found himself to be a co-defendant in a suit for $125,000. He said that he had received no previous notification of the suit and finally called the court house to ascertain the facts.

Representatives of the Municipal Signal and Supply company met with the mayor and aldermen Tuesday night at the request of city council. The company had requested permission to submit tenders for the supplying and installing of traffic lights at the corner of Alexander, Larocque and Galt Streets.

A final decision will be made in council next Monday night after the recommendations of the protection committee have been heard. The latter is meeting this week to study plans for the same traffic lights, already submitted by two other companies.

Gets one year for theft

A Sherbrooke man was sentenced to one year in Winter Street Jail by Judge Redmond Hayes in District Court Tuesday morning after he pleaded guilty to a charge of theft involving $83, committed in Sherbrooke during the holiday weekend.

Lucien Herman, 21, was apprehended by the local police and kept behind bars until his arraignment. He had previously pleaded guilty to four other charges of the same nature.

Time in jail for 'spectacle'

A 50-year-old Ste. Helene de Bagot man was sentenced to the time he had already spent in jail Tuesday morning by Judge Redmond Hayes after he pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace.

Henri Lemonde was arrested in Asbestos Saturday night after he was seen "making a spectacle of himself" by a couple of pedestrians.

WHERE, OH WHERE DID THAT LOW TENDER GO?

A new system for handling tenders received at city hall will go into force immediately, it was decided at a meeting of city council Tuesday night.

After hearing city clerk H. P. Emond explain how a tender went astray a short time ago, was later found, opened, and discovered to be lower than one already accepted by council, Mayor Armand Nadeau called for council to take immediate action "to protect ourselves".

The tender in question was submitted by Wilfrid Caouette for work on the roof of the building which was formerly the Central School. His tender was for $781.00, nearly $300 lower than the bid accepted by council. Mr. Caouette's tender was not found until the morning after the tenders were opened.

Reason for this was that he had handed it to building inspector Aime Gagnon who proceeded to send it through channels to city clerk Emond. It arrived late.

Under the new system, all tenders must be brought to Mr. Emond immediately on receipt at city hall. If they are taken to anyone else, they must be brought to the clerk's office and deposited in a box purchased for that purpose, in the presence of the person submitting the tender.

They will remain in that box until the time comes for opening them.

"The price of such a box is not much, and it could save us a lot of trouble," said Mayor Nadeau.

Colorful Borneo life described by Oxonian

The native took one look and ran for the door. He stuck his head in the opening and calmly said in his native tongue, "If that thing above your head bites you, you'll be dead in three minutes."

It turned out to be a tarantula spider the size of a man's hand.

"But he didn't bite me, I now have him wading in formaldehyde in one of the college museums," said Guy Arnold, leader of the Oxford University Expedition to Sarawak in 1955-56 and guest speaker at the Women's Canadian Club of the Eastern Townships dinner at the Sherbrooke Hotel Tuesday night.

This is only one of the exciting things that happened to Mr. Arnold and his companions as they carried out a six month expedition through Borneo's unmapped territory.

Mr. Arnold went on to tell of the life and customs of the most primitive people in the world. He spoke of the many taboos of the people. For instance, if natives were building a "Long house" and a hawk flew over it before the roof was built, the natives would abandon the house building right away.

He showed slides of the native garb. As in most other parts of the world, the women had the most fascinating dress. In most of the tribes the native girls were judged for beauty and wealth by the number of earrings worn in each ear. Some had as much as one-quarter of a pound of metal in each ear, he said. The ears were pierced and stretched, and a girl never considered herself attractive until she could make ear tips touch each other when she wrapped them around the top of her head.

The most fascinating thing about the people and their habits was their homes, Mr. Arnold said, which are called "long houses." These were sometimes one-quarter of a mile long. They housed the whole community, each family having a section to sleep in. Cooking and washing was done in the center of the big room, where lived the dogs, and chickens.

During their six-month expedition Mr. Arnold and colleagues travelled extensively through unmapped territory, filming and investigating the land. In one small area of the jungle they found 500 species of trees.

Fire Prevention Week

Two serious fires hit the Townships over the long Thanksgiving weekend.

In Eastman, fire destroyed a home and left a total of 14 people — 12 of them children — without a roof over their heads.

In Farnham East, one hundred hogs were killed in a $20,000 blaze that destroyed a large barn.

It was an inauspicious start in the E.T. for Fire Prevention Week, which continues until Saturday.

But the two outbreaks did serve to emphasize that the advice given during this week is no empty warning. Fires strike suddenly, when they are least expected. They can kill as well as destroy property.

And most fires can be prevented. Too many of them can be traced back to human carelessness — in the storing of combustible materials, in failure to maintain proper wiring facilities, in shoddy handling and care of stoves and furnaces, in just plain neglect.

Fire Prevention Week is designed only to focus an intense spotlight on these things. But it will be successful only insofar as members of the general public actively practice what the week teaches every day of the year.

A veteran politician returns

The appointment of Hon. George Marler as a member of the Quebec Legislative Council and a minister in the provincial administration brings back into the active political life of this country a man who has given faithful service to his fellow Canadians for over twenty years, and for the second time in the present century has given a second cabinet post to representatives of the English Protestant minority.

Mr. Marler has had a colorful career in both the federal and provincial political fields. The head of a large notarial firm in Montreal, Mr. Marler was first elected to the Quebec Legislative Assembly in 1942 and retained his Westmount seat in three following general elections. He served as interim leader of the Quebec Liberal party following the crushing defeat the Liberals suffered in the provincial election of 1948, leading the small Liberal opposition in the Legislative Assembly until 1953.

In 1954, following the election of Georges Lapalme, now Quebec Attorney-General, to the post of Liberal party leader, Mr. Marler resigned from provincial politics and was appointed federal Transport Minister, being elected to the House of Commons at a by-election later that year.

He met defeat in the Diefenbaker landslide of 1958.

His return to his first love, Quebec provincial politics, will be a distinct advantage to the upper house and to the cabinet of which he has become a member.

'Miracle' drug

They've finally found the real "miracle drug." It's a pill that will allow a dietless diet, according to Insiders' Newsletter, a New York publication.

The drug, a chemical called trimethylhexadecyl ammonium, inhibits absorption of food by the body's digestive system. In other words, you get the pleasure and enjoyment of eating but not the added flesh that usually goes with it.

The discoverer of the drug, Dr. Joseph

Nissim of Guy's Hospital, London claims to have lost 30 pounds by taking small doses over a period of several weeks.

There is a catch, of course. — The drug is not yet ready for commercial production.

But when it is it should signal a bright new world for trenchermen and women. Just imagine! — A banana split with trimethylhexadecyl ammonium on the side. And no regrets.

Bees in her bonnet

Woman claims Arthritis cure

LONDON (CP)—The customs officer at London airport asked: "Anything to declare, madam?"
"Fivepence in my pocket," replied the wealthy Englishwoman. The officer shrugged wearily and let her pass.

That was in 1948 when Mrs. Julia Owen, refused an import permit, smuggled into Britain her first batch of "medicated bees," anaesthetized with whisky and bred specially for treating arthritis.

Since then she has treated more than 1,000 patients, mostly from Britain and France.

Wednesday, Mrs. Owen, 53, flies to Montreal. She will spend the rest of October in Canada spreading the word that bee venom is a cure for arthritis. She will also visit Toronto and Detroit.

Her patients and a number of French and English doctors are convinced that she has the only known cure for the crippling disease. But official medicine has refused to have anything to do with her methods.

Mrs. Owen hopes to bring back from Montreal an arthritic patient for treatment at her home in suburban Bromley. The patient will be treated free of charge in return for the hospitality her husband received in that city while serving in the Royal Navy in the Second World War.

"I have never had a failure in the treatment of arthritic cases," she said in an interview at her $55,000 home.

At her disposal are between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 bees, bred and fed in secret. No one, not even her husband, is allowed into the air-conditioned rooms in which the bees are kept.

The treatments—the bees are held in tweezers and placed in contact with the skin—range from a week to six months. Some serious cases, however, have required treatments lasting two years, she says.

"Far from being a quack Mrs. Owen is strictly scientific in her methods," said one London doctor.

A French heart specialist from Strasbourg spent a week at Mrs. Owen's home. He said her methods "outdo any other means of treatment in the world today."

Mrs. Owen, who gave up medical studies after three years rather than submit to her mother's wish to give up experimenting with bees, treated her first case in her native Austria at the age of seven.

She asked her grandfather, a personal physician to Emperor Franz Joseph, to treat a poor crippled woman. The grandfather refused.

She then stole about 30 bees and applied them to the woman, the result being near suffocation because of the severe swelling. The grandfather took the woman under his care until she recovered.

Bygone Days

TWENTY YEARS AGO

A "mystery drive" under the convenship of Mrs. Robert C. McFadden was staged by the Lennoxville Library. Those who joined in the "ride to nowhere" were entertained at the home of Mrs. Lee M. Watson on their return.

TEN YEARS AGO

Big guns of allied warships and naval planes set fire today to Chongjin, a far northern port on the east of North Korea.

Final tribute was paid on Sunday to Egbert Theodore (Bert) Jones, of this city, who passed away suddenly at his residence, 109b Brooks Street, on October 5. He was in his 62nd year.

Public transportation

Small buses lick city's problem

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—This city of 22,000 has licked one of the biggest of modern municipal headaches — public transportation.

Judged by how well the needs of citizens are served and by the financial health of the service, the private-enterprise operation of small European-made buses must be rated a success.

They have been shuttling through city streets now for about nine months.

Philip McCarthy, who owns a fleet of taxis and an ambulance service here, offered a solution to the transportation problem after the previous operator found he could not operate without a $48,000 subsidy from the city.

When North Bay withdrew its financial support, residents were without any public conveyance for nine months.

They welcomed Mr. McCarthy's proposal to put eight 17-passenger diesel Mercedes-Benz buses on the routes. Council agreed to advance him $24,000 ($2,000 a month for 12 months).

Written for The Canadian Press By ORMA McNAUGHTON of the North Bay Nugget

It signed a five-year contract with him and granted an option for renewal for an additional five years. Then the city set up a transportation committee headed by Archie Freeman, a retired railway executive, to meet regularly with the operator and act as advisers.

The buses cost $8,000 each—a fraction of the price for a full-size vehicle. Their economy of operation and manoeuvrability have endeared them to Mr. McCarthy. Their trim lines and cleanliness have impressed the public which pays a 15-cent fare for adults and 10 cents for children under 12.

"I can operate a bus cheaper than a taxi," said Mr. McCarthy. "We are carrying over 2,000 passengers a day now and I expect that figure will rise probably to 3,000 as cold weather sets in."

He added that he hasn't had to buy a part for the buses in nine months; he still has all his original drivers and council has never interfered "so they must be satisfied too."

Mr. McCarthy and city hall have received numerous inquiries from other centres with transportation problems. Representatives from Welland, Ont., were here recently to view the operation.

The buses are washed each night. Some now have 34,000 miles on them. Drivers, spurred by an incentive bonus, are courteous to the extent of stopping in mid-block to pick up or discharge passengers.

The buses have averaged 21 miles to the gallon even while averaging six stops to the mile. Mr. McCarthy says he expects engines will have to be rebuilt after 200,000 miles. Advertising brings more than $5,000 a year and the system has been profitable from the beginning.

Mr. McCarthy says he is convinced small buses are the solution to the needs of cities with less than 50,000 people.

Along with the eight original buses, he is buying a ninth and also runs three standard buses on school routes. He is starting a towing service and also plans to buy an airplane for his 24-hour ambulance service.

Ontario, Quebec locals hold half union men

OTTAWA (CP)—Ontario and Quebec together have about half of Canada's organized workers and half of the union locals as well, a Labor Gazette survey shows.

Of Canada's 1,458,000 organized workers in 1959, about 555,200 were in Ontario and 337,200 in Quebec.

And of 6,763 union locals across the country, Ontario had roughly 2,300 and Quebec 1,300.

To get a picture of how union membership in Canada is distributed by industry and by area, the labor department's economic and research branch polled individual local union secretaries.

The picture as published in the latest edition of the Labor Gazette, a government journal, is necessarily "broad and approximate" because 754 locals representing about 88,900 workers provided no information.

However, a labor department official said the locals that did not report were spread fairly evenly across the country. So, in a general way, the provincial breakdown emerges this way:

After Ontario and Quebec, British Columbia was the strongest union — organized province with 768 locals and more than 187,000 unionized workers. Alberta was next with 416 locals and about 68,000 members.

Saskatchewan stood fourth in the number of locals with 372 but seventh in union membership with about 40,000. Nova Scotia was sixth in both categories with 334 locals and 42,000 members.

Manitoba was seventh in number of locals and fifth in union membership with 311 and 58,000.

Next was New Brunswick with 293 locals and about 30,000 union workers, followed by Newfoundland with 121 locals and 20,000 members. More than 600 were union members in the Yukon and Northwest Territories where there are 10 union locals.

There were 17 union locals with membership of 33,000 that sprawled across two or more provinces — chiefly seafarers, railroad telegraphers, commercial telegraphers and actors.

Manufacturing accounted for 543,000 union workers while transportation, storage and communications involved about 300,000. There were about 40,000 in logging, 53,000 in mining, 151,000 in construction, 33,500 in public utilities, 40,000 in trade occupations, 192,000 in service jobs, 200 in finance, insurance and real estate and 5,700 in fishing.

A UNIVERSITY'S "COW"

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)
A "black cow" has been built by scientists at the University of Manitoba. The contraption will never produce milk but apparently it appeals to horse flies, and that is the point of the experiment.

It consists of a plastic dome mounted on a tripod. Bobbing beneath the cone is a large black balloon. At the point of the cone is a chamber trap for flies. To a horsefly it represents what they see in a cow — a large object and a black, moving silhouette which radiates heat. It sits in a field near the University campus and attracts flies so the entomologists can observe horse fly behavior.

The University is planning to investigate other biting insects.

If traps are designed to attract and capture these flies we would like it if scientists of Canadian universities would put their heads together and invent a small trap that could be used in the home to capture mosquitoes. That is one of mankind's greatest needs. The world would beat a path to the door of the man who invents a trap that invites mosquitoes to enter—and die.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

In a Greyhound bus an old lady kept asking the driver to tell her when they arrived at a certain small town. She asked so often that finally the driver got nervous and passed through the small town before he realized it. He apologized to the other passengers, turned around and drove back. Then he said to the old lady: "This is the town where you wanted to get out."

She answered, "Who wants to get out?"

The driver said, "You did."

"No," she said, "my daughter told me that when I pass this town I should take my pills."

Report From Ottawa

by Clyde Blackburn

OTTAWA — We may smile at the time-clocked, refereed, political pugilism of the 21-inch screen, the muchballyhooed TV debates of Kennedy and Nixon.

But it can happen here too—and probably will if our TV, as usual, apes the U.S.

No doubt about John Diefenbaker's fitness for a TV role. He could have been a great actor if he had chosen.

So far as I know, Mike Pearson hasn't been taking any elocution or oratorical coaching.

But he has certainly been in the hands of some good TV production people, who have made him a new Pearson so far as TV is concerned, just about ready to battle John in the networks' match.

If we do copy the United States in TV political campaigns, of course, we'll have to make it a three-way affair. Can't overlook the CCF—or whatever it will be when the CCL has swallowed it.

Nixon looks nasty, Kennedy looks keen on U.S. television screens—and it could swing the balance in the presidential campaign.

Presumably Hazen Argue will be the leader, at least in the next general election. He's a good TV figure, and will stand up to John and Mike in that department.

In fact, they'll all look and act nicely on the screen. But they will have to say something interesting too. Right now they are all talking about the terrible unemployment situation, and two of them about how lamentably the Government has failed to tackle it.

None of them has said what should be done, and probably none of them know. But the Government must come up with an answer soon—and I'd say it will take a terrific flying tackle at it within a very short time.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

DANGER LIES IN WAITING

The so-called waiting lead is not recommended except in very unusual circumstances. The reason is that people who wait around for something favorable to happen usually will be waiting when the rubber is over.

However, there are some exceptions and today's hand is one of them.

West has 15 points distributed in three suits and the 2-3-4 of clubs. From the bidding he has no trouble working out his partner's high card holding. It is something like one point or less.

Hence, any lead from an honor combination must help the opponents so South should open a club and he should open the deuce. Maybe this lead will fool his partner, but his partner can't go wrong anyway.

There is no way of predicting how the play will go after this club opening. South will probably no trouble finding a way to make nine tricks.

Q—The bidding has been:
West North East South

You, South, hold:

What do you do?

A—Pass. You have done all the bidding your hand warrants.

PEOPLE OF GRANBY DID IT THEMSELVES

(Ottawa Journal)

A zoo for Ottawa is an appealing idea. It would be informative and entertaining for children and attractive to tourists. Cost could be the only ground for objections.

On this issue the Granby, Que., Zoo, visited last week by City and National Capital Commission representatives and members of the Board of Trade, provides an example worth considering.

In Granby the city provided the site, but the people provided the money, material and labor to get the zoo started. A zoological society was formed and membership fees, at $25 a member, provided the working capital. Business firms and individuals provided thousands of dollars worth of material.

For Ottawa some similar scheme might be better than asking the National Capital Commission and the City to share the cost. While Dominion taxpayers have generally supported the work of the NCC in making the Ottawa area a fitting capital, they might be less enthusiastic about subsidizing projects which other communities must provide for themselves.

DOMINION TEXTILE APPOINTMENT

FRANÇOIS MATTE

François Matte has been appointed personnel manager of the Sherbrooke branch of Dominion Textile Company Limited. It has been announced. Born in Quebec City, and a Bachelor of Arts from Laval University, with post-graduate studies at Ottawa University, and Laval, Mr. Matte joined Dominion Textile Company in 1947. Prior to this appointment he was personnel manager at the Mount Royal, Montreal, branch.

Big changes in housing announced

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Walker has announced broad changes in federal housing policy that will affect just about everyone connected with the housing industry — whether he buys, sells, builds or rents houses.

Mr. Walker, announcing the moves late Tuesday, said he hoped the "sweeping" changes would "inject new life into the lagging house-building industry."

Main changes were the lifting of the income ceiling on direct mortgage loans made by the government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and boosting the repayment time to 30 years from 25.

Other changes extend home improvement loans under the National Housing Act to rental projects and apartment buildings; ease terms on financing of low-rental housing, and provide government loans to builders for construction of display homes.

The government guaranteed home improvement loans, made by private lenders, were previously available only to private home owners. The interest rate on them is six per cent.

They will cover such work as structural alterations, interior and exterior decorating, plumbing, heating and electrical work. There are some 1,500,000 rental housing units in Canada.

Mr. Walker said "an extensive program of repair and improvement work should result this winter."

Elimination of the income ceiling on direct government mortgage loans depends from a policy begun this year that such loans would not be made to families earning over a ceiling ranging from $7,000 to $7,600 annually, depending on family size.

U of S meeting with accountants

The Dean of Faculty of Commerce at the University of Sherbrooke, Charles-Emile Belanger, and the council members of the faculty are meeting Wednesday afternoon, with the president of the Quebec Chartered Accountants Institute, Laird Watt, M. J. Emile Maheu, past president, Howard Ross, past president and C. D. Mellor, secretary of the Institute, and also a number of visitors from Montreal.

This visit permitted the group from Montreal to meet the teachers and members of the Faculty of Commerce who are preparing to enroll for the course in Accounting; and to visit the pavilion of the faculty, where the courses have been held since September 14.

Thomson sells the Empire News

LONDON (Reuters) — Canadian publisher Roy Thomson, who owns newspaper groups in Britain and Canada, announced Tuesday night the sale of The Empire News, a British Sunday newspaper, to The News of the World, another mammoth-circulation Sunday paper.

The News of the World has a weekly circulation of 6,500,000. The Empire News—which has been in financial trouble recently—has a circulation of 2,000,000.

At the same time, Thomson said his British newspaper group would take over the printing of The News of the World's Northern edition at Manchester, where the Empire News was formerly printed.

The Empire News makes its last appearance this Sunday. The News of the World will absorb it beginning with the issue of Oct. 23.

LARGEST CIRCULATION

Thomson acquired The Empire News when he bought control of Kemsley Newspapers Limited in July, 1959.

The 117-year-old News of the World has built up the largest circulation in Britain with extensive coverage of court cases and a variety of special features. It has often been criticized for presenting the seamy side of British life.

The Empire News has always had its circulation strength in the North of England. Founded in 1884 as The Empire, it was the first national Sunday newspaper to be published outside of London.

The Empire News specialized in "disclosure" stories, series written by well-known people and extensive sports coverage. The political flavor has generally been independent right-wing.

Caldwell's Manor lecture topic at Cowansville class

COWANSVILLE—Every seat in the class room was filled Oct. 6 for the Eastern Townships History Class at the Community School.

The lecture was given by Donald MacCallum, mayor of Noyan, who was introduced by the chairman, C. Richard, and thanked by Mayor Donald Blinn, of Stanbridge East.

Mr. MacCallum's lecture proved most interesting, dealing with the early history of Caldwell's Manor. He has many valuable papers dating from 1783 which belonged to his ancestors.

The speaker, who lives on the shores of the Richelieu, not far from the New York border, told of the early activities on this river, of famous Fort Montgomery, near his home, the tragedy of Bloody Island, tales of the early militia, etc.

Many in this part of the county learned much of his section of the county.

Wives: do you impress or depress your husband?

Don't you believe—

That your husband isn't concerned that you've been steadily gaining weight until finding becoming clothes has become a real problem. Any husband is bound to care if his wife loses her trim, slim figure.

That your husband doesn't mind the fact that you are a sloppy housekeeper. No man cares to live in continual clutter.

That your husband isn't hurt when you criticize his mother or act as though having her come for a visit is an imposition.

That your husband doesn't resent being reminded of all the things you want that he can't afford to buy for you.

That your husband doesn't mind your always putting the children ahead of him.

That your husband doesn't resent having you "help" him tell his stories or interrupt him to correct his facts.

That your husband doesn't notice that you always say "my house" instead of "our house" and "my children" instead of "our children."

That your husband doesn't mind having you exchange the gifts he picks out for you himself.

That your husband doesn't resent having you and the children team up against him or hold out information that he has a right to know.

That your husband won't feel that you have let him down if you don't make a real effort to keep in step with him through the years.

Lamb shanks braised

LAMB SHANKS BRAISED

(A man's favorite)

For four servings: 4 lamb shanks, 2 tablespoons fat, Salt and Pepper, 2 cups water, 1 medium onion sliced, 1 cup diced carrots, if desired, ½ cup diced celery, mushrooms, fresh or canned, 1 bay leaf.

Carefully brown lamb shanks on all sides in hot fat. Sprinkle liberally with salt and pepper. Add the water and vegetables, except mushrooms, minced garlic if desired.

Cover tightly and cook very slowly at 350 degrees F., for 2 hours or until fork tender. Carefully lift lamb shanks to one side of skillet while making a gravy from the liquid. Allow to thicken. Pull shanks into gravy and simmer a few minutes. Add hot cooked mushrooms which have been browned in butter. Serve on hot plate with string beans and parried potatoes, or with rice.

Homemaking

If there is a deep-well pan in your kitchen range, it's a wise precaution to keep an inch of water in the bottom. That way there will be no danger if the burner is turned on by mistake.

To keep varnish or shell-lacked woodwork clean, wash it with a cloth wrung from warm soap or detergent suds. Then rinse with clear water. When dry, rub the woodwork lightly with furniture polish, if desired.

Ronnie Stewart Gives Credit To His Big Linemen For His Four TD's In Montreal As He Sets Rushing Record

OTTAWA (CP) — "Anyone could have done it with that blocking," said five-foot-six, 175-pound Ronnie Stewart, the one-man blitzkreig of Ottawa Rough Riders.

"All I had to do was follow fellows like Kaye Vaughan and Mary Bevan and then out-run the rest."

In this off-hand manner, Stewart, 25-year-old Toronto-born, summed up his four touchdowns against Montreal Alouettes Monday and his record-smashing all-Canadian rushing performance of 287 yards.

The old mark of 213 yards was set by Gerry McDougall of Hamilton in 1958.

With Stewart carrying 15 times for an average gain of just over 19 yards a carry, Riders beat the old team record with 468 yards rushing — and with ace plunger Dave Thelen on the sidelines with an injured shoulder, Riders set a new record, set in 1958 against Toronto Argonauts, was 445 yards.

Stewart reeled off his touchdowns with runs of 37, 52, 51 and 59 yards.

MADE CERTAIN

On the last touchdown, little more than a minute from the end of the game, Riders thought Stewart had a rushing record but wanted to make sure.

Quarterback Russ Jackson called Stewart's play in the huddle and added: "And we're going all the way. Let's pile it up for Ronnie."

And pile it up they did. "It's lucky that last Alouette was one of their slower linemen and not a back," Stewart added.

"I was so tired I think he'd have caught me easily."

Together with his Saturday performance here, Stewart scored six weekend touchdowns to bring his total by rushing for the season to 13, one short of the Big Four mark set by Pat Abbruzzi of Montreal in 1956. Stewart is six points behind Montreal's George Dixon as top scorer this season. Dixon has 90 points.

Jim Taylor Of Green Bay Packers Takes Over National Football League Rushing Honors, Jim Brown Is Second

NEW YORK (CP) — For one week, anyway, Jimmy Brown of Cleveland Browns won't be the National Football League's rushing leader. That honors belongs, temporarily, to Jim Taylor of Green Bay Packers.

With Brown and the Browns' first place in the ball-carrying department with 281 yards on 63 carries in three games, Brown is second with 240 yards on 43 carries in two games.

Cleveland, Detroit and Washington have played only two games each while the other 10 teams have played three apiece.

Taylor also leads in scoring with 30 points followed by teammate Paul Hornung, 29, and Bob Walston of Philadelphia, 28.

UNITAS BEST PASSER

Baltimore's Johnny Unitas has moved past Pittsburgh's Bobby Layne into first place in passing. The new formula for judging the passing leaders includes number of completions, yards gained, touchdowns, percent intercepted, and average gains in yards. The best performance in each category is the criterion.

Unitas has completed 47 of 93 for 755 yards, tossed six TD passes, has a 50.5 completion percentage, a 5.4 interception percentage, and an average gain of 8.12.

Layne, in second place, has completed 37 of 67 for a 55.2 percent and 730 yards, thrown seven touchdowns, an average gain of 10.9 yards, and has a 9.0 percent of interceptions.

Veteran Kyle Rote of New York leads the pass receivers with 19 for 287 yards and four touchdowns.

Norm Van Brocklin of Philadelphia tops the punters with a 48.7-yard average. Abe Woodson of San Francisco is first in punt returns with an 18.5-yard average.

London — Terry Downes, 160½, England, outpointed Joey Giardello, 160¼, Philadelphia, 10.

Moore May Meet Schoeppner At Miami In Feb.

NEW YORK (AP) — A title fight between Archie Moore, the world light-heavyweight champion, and Germany's Erich Schoeppner may be arranged for a February date at Miami.

Andy Niedecker, Schoeppner's American representative, said Tuesday, "I am very much convinced that an honest effort now is being made by Feature Sports Incorporated to arrange this fight. And the fight is what we want."

Jack Fugazy, executive director of Feature Sports, the promoting organization, said, "We are now making every effort to set up the title fight."

Fred Zabriske, New York lawyer who had filed a $1,000,000 suit for damages on behalf of Schoeppner against Feature Sports for delaying the fight, said he feels sure "the suit will be withdrawn if a settlement on the matter can be reached—and it looks now as though it very well may be."

An answer to the suit had been due Tuesday.

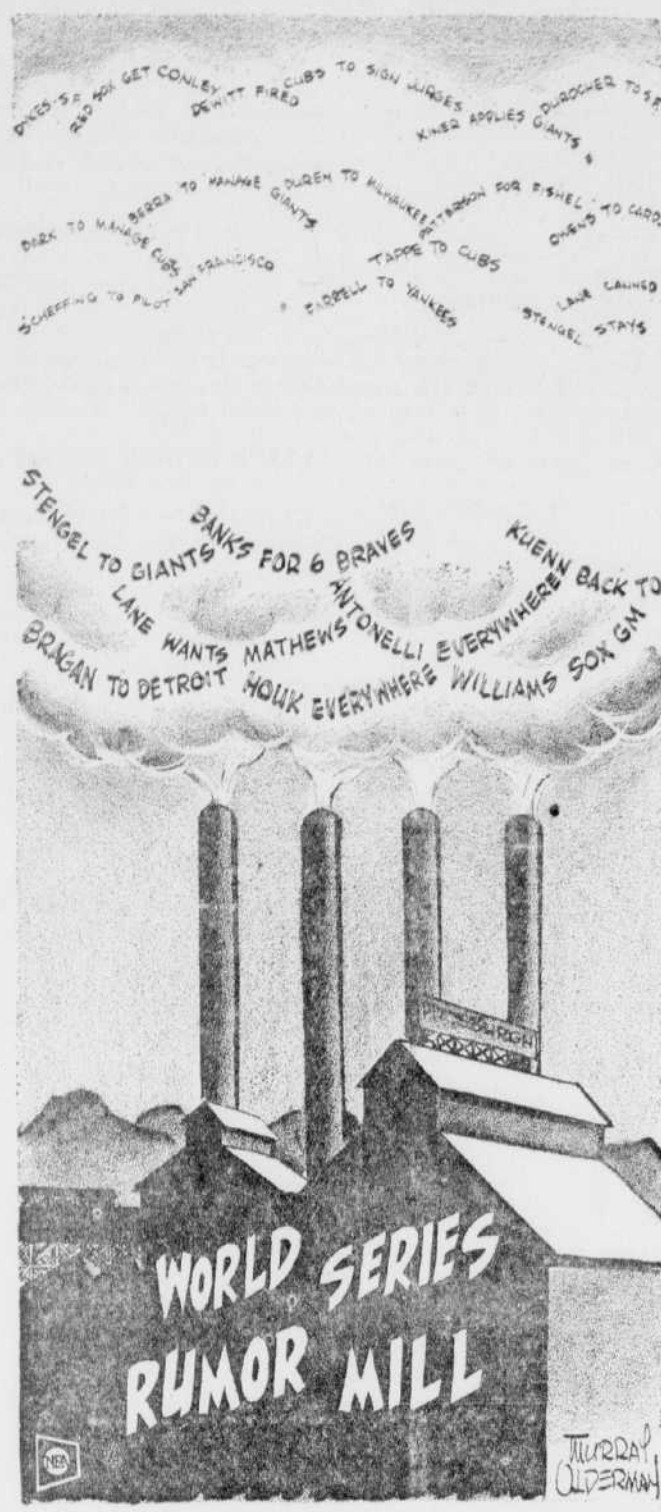

Originally, the title fight was set for July 17 at Toronto but Moore asked for a postponement to give him more time to train. Then a date was fixed for Aug. 8. It was cancelled because of a dispute over television coverage.

President Bill Dewitt's Future With Detroit Tigers In Doubtful Position As New Owners Take Over Club Now

DETROIT (AP) — President Bill Dewitt's future with Detroit Tigers—bleak for a week amid reports he'd be fired—remained in doubt today following sale of the club's controlling interest to a strong-thinking radio executive.

Whatever action is taken on the heavily criticized Tiger president of one year has been delayed by the surprise transaction that gave John E. Fetzer command of the Detroit Baseball Company. Fetzer, already the principal owner, said he was buying additional stock from a group led by Kenyon Brown of Los Angeles.

A meeting had been scheduled for today and the discharge of Dewitt was widely predicted. It was expected the remaining two years of Dewitt's contract would have been bought up with Tiger owners paying about $100,000 for the release.

But Fetzer said the meeting is off. Dewitt possibly will remain with the Tigers as general manager.

STATUS NOT DISCUSSED

"We'll have to decide about a general manager when we come to it," said Fetzer after he announced the deal that will give him two-thirds of the Tiger stock.

"We didn't have any talk about my status," said Dewitt, a few minutes after Fetzer notified him of the transaction.

Dewitt became president a year ago when Tiger owners felt an experienced baseball man was needed. He later assumed the dual job of president and general manager.

Fetzer said for the time being the Tiger front office alignment would remain as is. Later, Fetzer said, he plans to become president.

CRITICAL OF DEWITT

Fetzer, along with radio executive Fred Knorr, whose group retains one-third interest, have been critical of Dewitt's rule. They voiced their displeasure after Joe Gordon quit Oct. 3 as manager despite a 1961 contract.

Fetzer, 39-year-old Kalamazoo, Mich., radio executive, was one of the original purchasers of the club when it was bought from the estate of Walter O. Briggs for $5,500,000 in 1956. There have been three club presidents since and Fetzer will be the fourth.

It will be one of his first tasks to sign a new manager, a man who'll be the turbulent Tigers' eighth manager in 10 years. Two of the managers—Jimmie Dykes and Gordon—departed in Dewitt's one year of rule.

Richardson Is Unusual Major League Player

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees is a most unusual major league baseball player.

He doesn't drink. He doesn't swear. He's tiny—a bare 5'9" and 170. He loves baseball, but he does not want to become a coach or manager when his playing days are over.

Instead, he wants to coach at a small college so he can work with boys.

Why?

"I was brought up in the YMCA and I learned a lot of respect for coaches and athletic directors. Any time you can have an influence for the glory of God, it's good."

Those are not exactly the words anyone expects to hear on a baseball diamond, nor these: "Baseball is a wonderful game but it doesn't make for a good family life. You need to be away from home too much."

Richardson may be small but he has been mighty potent in this World Series.

He hit a grand-slam homer in Saturday's game—the seventh man to do the trick in series history—and he has nine runs batted in, one short of the record.

Pirates Glad To Be Back Home, Says Murtaugh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, still exulting Tuesday over their two straight triumphs at Yankee Stadium, were happy to be back home.

Danny Murtaugh, the manager, explained it:

"We've been a good road club all year," he said, "but naturally we prefer playing at home. We have a pretty good record at Forbes field."

The Pirates exceeded their best previous mark, winning 52 of 77 home games during the regular campaign.

The Pirates held a two-hour workout Tuesday in preparation for today's sixth game. The Bucs after trailing two games to one, now boast a one-game edge in the five games played so far.

Murtaugh reiterated that Bob Friend will pitch the sixth game and, if a seventh game is needed, he will call on Vernon Law. The Deacon, as Law is called by his teammates, owns two of the Pirates' three victories over the Yankees although he failed to finish either of his starts.

Friend pitched the second game and was charged with the 16-3 loss.

Murtaugh said he would use the same lineup that won the last two games if the Yankees start a righthander. If the Yankees switch to a lefthander, he will make one change, substituting Hal Smith behind the plate for Smoky Burgess.

Only One Way To Beat Yanks, Says Pirates' Groat

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dick Groat Tuesday likened the defense-minded Pittsburgh Pirates and the long-ball hitting New York Yankees to a heavyweight title fight between a boxer and a slugger.

"We cannot hope to beat the Yankees by trying to slug with them," said the crafty Pittsburgh shortstop and National League batting champion.

"That's the best way to get our brains scrambled."

"There's only one way to beat them. You've got to get the good pitching. Like all slugging teams they can be pitched to. You'd better not make a mistake against them because if you do, they'll knock the stuffings out of you."

Mickey Mantle Has Groin Injury

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mickey Mantle, grimacing from the pain of an injury he tried to cover up, and the rest of the New York Yankees were determined Tuesday in their workout for the sixth game of the world series.

It was disclosed that Mantle played despite a groin injury in Monday's game, won 5-2 by Pittsburgh in New York.

While he tried to brush it off, as he has all his aches and pains, it was evident he was having trouble as he took his swings in the batting cage.

Batting left-handed, the switch-hitting home run king of the American League got off a few long shots into the right-center reaches of Forbes Field. But when he missed, his face was contorted by pain.

Speaking softly, Mantle said, "I woke up with it yesterday morning. I don't know how it happened."

"But it doesn't bother me," he insisted. "I'll play."

Manager Casey Stengel revealed Mantle's injury. "I told him not to do too much out here," said Case, "to take it easy for tomorrow."

While Mantle's condition had to be a worry, Stengel mentally was juggling Whitey Ford and Bob Turley in an attempt to decide his starting pitcher for today's sixth game. The Yankees, down 3-1 in games and now 4-1 underdogs to win the best-of-seven series, are 6-5 picks, however, to beat Pirate right-hander Bob Friend again today.

Wilf Greaves Suspended By NYAC For CBF

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Athletic Commission, acting at the request of the Canadian Boxing and Wrestling Federation, Friday suspended Wilf Greaves, Canada's British Empire middleweight champion.

This cost Greaves, of Edmonton, a 10-round semi-final bout with Obdulio Nunez at Madison Square Garden Oct. 15.

The CWFV informed the New York group that Greaves had been placed on its unavailable list for failing to fulfill a return bout contract with Nigerian Dick Tiger.

"We have a working agreement with the Canadian federation and complied with their request," said a commission spokesman.

Pirates Are 4-1 Favorites To Win Series But Experts Figure Yanks Will Take Today's At Forbes Field

By JACK HAND

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh can wrap up its first world championship since 1925 today by beating the desperate New York Yankees in the sixth world series game at spacious Forbes Field.

Bob Friend, winner of 18 games in the regular season but a 16-3 loser to the Yanks in the second game, was manager Danny Murtaugh's choice to complete the gallant comeback by the fighting Bucs. Everybody on the staff, except Vern Law, was available for bullpen duty.

Casey Stengel leaned toward Whitey Ford, his experienced lefty, to bail out the Yanks in their backs-to-the-wall situation. Ford pitched a shutout Saturday. Bob Turley, well rested since whipping the Pirates last Thursday, also was primed for duty, along with the rest of the staff.

The Pirates were favored at 4-1 to win the series, although the Yankees were picked at 6-5 to win today's game and force the seventh game in the same park Thursday.

YANKS TOP BATTERS

The fighting Bucs laughed off the statistics that showed they were batting only .246 as a team to the Yanks' .324 and had hit only one home run to eight by the Yanks. Considering that the Yankee sluggers also had one grand slam homer and their pitching staff had the only complete game of the series—a four-hit shutout by Ford—the figure felters were hard pressed to explain why Pittsburgh held a 3-2 edge in games.

Mickey Mantle, who needs only one more home to match Babe Ruth's all time series record of 15, was hobbled by a recurrence of the groin injury he suffered in late season. The Mick also was closing in on the series strikeout record of 11 set by Ed-pointed when he was taken out of the second game. He thought he could have beaten the Yankees then.

MANTLE IN PAIN

Mantle, grimacing from the pain of his injury, said "I woke up with it yesterday morning. I don't know how it happened."

"But it doesn't bother me," he insisted. "I'll play."

The Pirates were happy to be back home.

"I'll bet you never thought you'd have to come back," chimed outfielder Gino Cimoli.

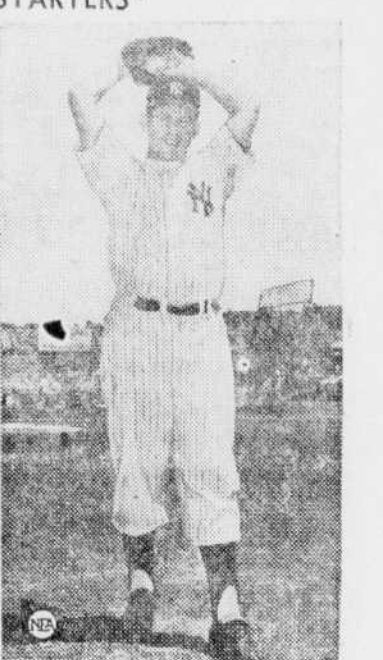

Cimoli was referring to premature obituaries written about the Pirates after they had suffered humiliating defeats in the second and third games.

"Shucks," he added. "We just

The Yanks were not quite as badly off as in 1958 when they came back from a 3-1 deficit and beat the Braves in seven games. Turley won the fifth game then with a shutout. Ford was knocked out in the second inning of the sixth game, won by the Yanks in 10 innings, and Don Larsen and Turley teamed up to win the finale.

OVERCAME DEFICIT

Pittsburgh's last world championship was the result of the only other 3-1 comeback. The Pirates of 35 years ago bounced back all the way to nip Washington in seven games.

When a writer asked Stengel what he thought of Friend, who gave up six hits and trailed 3-1 when he was removed for a pinch hitter in the second game, Casey said, "Have you ever seen him pitch in an all-star game? I wish they had fired him in the spring. I'd claim him."

Friend was a bitterly disap-wanted to show you guys how we've been doing it all year. This is the greatest comeback club in the history of baseball."

Yanks Setting New Records In World Series

PITTSBURGH (AP) — New York Yankees are closing in on some world series records for individual performances.

Going into the sixth game, Bobby Richardson had nine runs batted in. The record for a series of any length is 10 set by Yogi Berra in 1956 and equaled by Ted Kluszewski of Chicago last year.

Tony Kubek had nine hits. The record is 12, shared by four men. Mickey Mantle has eight strikeouts, three short of the record; seven walks, four short of Babe Ruth's record; and 14 homers, only one behind the Babe's all-time high.

National League Takes First Step Towards Expansion Assuring Houston A Franchise For 1962, AL To Follow

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The National League has taken the first concrete step toward expansion by virtually assuring Houston of a franchise for 1962.

The American League is expected to keep pace with its older rival by granting a franchise to Dallas-Ft. Worth in the near future.

Formal action on the Houston application, made Tuesday night by the Houston Sports Association headed by Craig Cullinan and George Kirksey, is scheduled for next Monday in Chicago. The American League has set no definite meeting date.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, said action also will be taken on applications by New York and "other cities."

He declined to identify the others, saying the word should come from the cities involved. New York, represented by Dwight (Pete) Davis Jr.'s Continental League group, made its formal application 10 days ago.

"We're going to do something definitive at our meeting in Chicago," said Giles. "We've delayed long enough. . . . I believe Houston will get the necessary majority (six votes) if they've made the progress they've indicated."

BROWNLEIGH PLACE —

Messrs. Lawrence Bushey and Ronald Blake have returned home after being employed in Hamilton, Ont., during the summer.

It already holds provisional accreditation, which it gained at the time of the council's initial inspection in December 1959.

The final accreditation of the 95-bed hospital means its facilities and equipment are considered fully modern, and indicates the existence of a highly trained professional and technical staff.

Accreditation is the mark of quality in medical and hospital service.

GOOD MEDICINE

To the patient accreditation means that his recovery is speeded up, the hospital stay shortened because physicians in the hospital practice good medicine.

The hospital first started August 8, 1910 when the "American House" Hotel in Sweet'sburg was purchased by a Board of Trustees for use as a hospital.

It was incorporated as the District of Bedford General Hospital and functioned under that name until 1931 when it was amalgamated with the Perkins Hospital Corporation of Brome County and was named the Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins Hospital.

In 1954 a completely new hospital building was opened having the most modern equipment and facilities. It accommodates some 60 adults and children, while its nursery can provide for 20 newborn infants.

The officers of the Medical Staff are: Dr. A. S. Douglas, Dr. P. E. Roy and Dr. M. C. Mooney. The Hospital administrator is Mr. J. A. Ritchie. Officers and directors of the hospital are: Mr. H. M. When a call came to Canada from the Church of Scotland, asking for help for the Scottish doctors and nurses, Miss Gollan from Kingston, Ont., answered the call. There are now eight Canadian doctors and nurses assisting in Nigeria.

The missionary made an appeal for ministers, doctors, teachers and nurses to assist in this work, and mentioned Nigeria. There was a good attendance from the various churches in the area.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the W.M.S., and a social hour was enjoyed.

Miss R. Durap feted at shower in Iron Hill

IRON HILL — Mrs. David Mason, Mrs. Gordon Swift and Mrs. Cecil Mason were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held in the Parish Hall in honor of Miss Rachel Durap, whose marriage takes place in October.

Mrs. O. Mason welcomed the bride-to-be and presented her with a corsage and escorted her to a decorated chair in front of a table. The table was well-laden with gifts over which a parasol decorated with autumn leaves hung from the ceiling. The hall itself was also decorated with autumn flowers and leaves.

The gifts consisted of blankets, linen, glassware, Pyrex, stainless steel, and china, and were passed around and admired by the 60 guests.

The bride-to-be was thanked all present and invited all to visit her in her new home in Sweetburg.

Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table, centered with a shower cake made by Mrs. D. Mason and decorated by Mrs. Herman Hadlock. Tea was poured by Mrs. Andrew Howard, foster mother, and Mrs. Reid, of Sutton, mother of the prospective groom.

Would abolish mothers-in-law

BRADFORD, England (AP) — A British judge has advised his colleagues to distrust all mothers-in-law.

"They are completely unscrupulous in what they say in court," said Sir Geoffrey Wragham, 60-year-old high court judge and specialist in divorce cases. He was giving local magistrates a lecture on how to conduct matrimonial suits.

"The wife's mother is always more prejudiced against the husband than even the most ill-treated wife," said Sir Geoffrey, who has been twice married and is the father of two sons and two daughters. "If I had my way, I am afraid I would abolish mothers-in-law entirely."

Coaticook J.C.'s meet to elect new president

Jean Paul Raymond is first vice president and Jean Claude Houle is second vice president.

Mr. Viens is co-chairman of the membership committee and will also preside at the next general meeting to aid the new president.

Laureat Belanger is in charge of the committee planning the annual industrial visitation and also the public speaking contest, both of which are important items in the year's schedule of events.

Island Brook holds annual School Fair

ISLAND BROOK — The School Fair took place with the exhibits on display at the Town Hall and sports being carried on at the school.

The Protestant Colonization Society sponsored the Fair with the Compton County Women's Institute donating money for special classes. This year the special class was a scrapbook on the Royal Family.

Attending the Fair and helping to judge and distribute the prizes were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Soles, of Sherbrooke, Mrs. Ronald Learned, of Cookshire, Canon Dunn, of Montreal, Rev. E. Breen, of Cookshire, Rev. W. Walker, of Bury, D. MacMillan, agronomist, of Cookshire, and representing the local school board, J. Swift.

Over 400 exhibits were on display. Those winning over two dollars in prize money were, Gail Crawford, Linda Westgate, Vivian Walker and Karen Holder. The sports were in charge of Mrs. R. Morrow and Mrs. A. Quinn, who were assisted by some of the judges, Mrs. Arnold Alden, and Mr. Osborne Quinn.

LONDON (CP)—A sign in the window of a furnishing company in the Kilburn area of London says: "Feather your nest with little down."

North Hatley Home and School Assoc. opens with meet-the-teachers night

NORTH HATLEY — The Home and School Association marked the opening of a new season its annual meet-the-teachers meeting, in the Memorial Gymnasium of the High School.

At the conclusion of the business session, the teachers were introduced. Each lady member of the staff wore a corsage from the Home and School, and each gentleman a boutonniere. Each was presented by a member of the Home and School, who was his escort during the social hour which followed.

The teachers of the High School are: Mrs. H. Montgomery, B.A., principal, Burdett Lee, B.A., Mrs. E. Turner, B.A., Vaughan Giggie, Mrs. Vernon Packard, Mrs. Galen Young, Mrs. Ayton Cruickshank, Mrs. Robert Vaughan, Mrs. G. Chapman, Mrs. Arthur Cheal, Mrs. Nelson Pike, Mrs. J. Barron R. N., home economics, and Mrs. Gordon Shipway R.N. is the County School Board Nurse and Health Supervisor. Mrs. E. Nelson and Mrs. J. Ditchburn are in charge of the cafeteria.

Mrs. C. Smith, president, decided to sponsor the annual UNICEF Halloween collection. Mrs. C. Guild will serve as convener of the committee in charge.

A progress report was given on the matter of a Kindergarten class for children of four to five years of age. Classes will be held in the Sunday School hall of St. Barnabas Anglican Church, three days a week from 9:30 to 11:30 from October to June. Miss H. S. Ireland will be leader of the class, with additional help to be provided by parents of the children enrolled.

Mrs. R. Rintoul, chairman of the Home and School committee, and Miss Ireland met and discussed the matter with interested parents.

The Home and School was reminded it was responsible for buying the yearly supplement of the World Book Encyclopedia purchased two years ago and placed in the school.

Mrs. P. Gagnon, of the cafeteria committee, reported that for the beginning of a new season the financial state of the cafeteria was fairly good, owing to results of a food sale held during the summer, and donations from interested friends.

Vaughan Giggie, chairman of the program committee, listed an interesting schedule of meetings his committee has submitted for the new season. In October, a film by the director, M. MacFarlane on the Ayer's Cliff Camp for Crippled Children.

In November, a film and buzz session, December, the annual Christmas program, details to be announced, January, School Board Night, February, Bishop's University Choral group, Deep Purples, March, the public speaking contest, April, a book fair, and in May the final meeting of the season and election of officers.

After a social hour refreshments were served, by the committee in charge, Mrs. H. Krichow, Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. Roger Smith. The beautiful fall flowers which decorated the hall were supplied by Mrs. Roy Smith.

Birchton couple are honored at farewell party

BIRCHTON — On Saturday evening Oct. 1 about 40 friends and neighbours gathered for a potluck supper in the Birchton Hall, where the guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Coates, who are shortly leaving for their new home in Lennoxville. After the supper hour, Rev. J. A. H. Plowright expressed the general regret that Mr. and Mrs. Coates were leaving the community, and the farm where they had spent their lives.

Mrs. Charles Lefebvre presented the guests of honor with a floor lamp and Miss Lois Latwood presented a floral centerpiece. Both Mr. and Mrs. Coates responded with words of appreciation.

Expressions of regret at their departure and good will for the future were voiced by Orrin Balle and Jack Murray, while Mrs. Rufus Dunn, a former Birchtonian, now of Lennoxville, brought them a message of welcome to their new home.

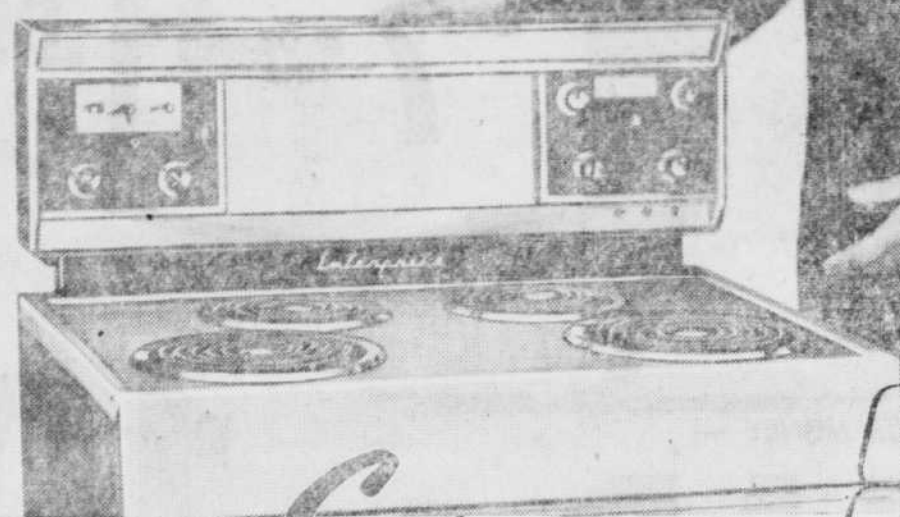

A social evening of cards and crokinole followed, when several friends from near-by Bulwer joined the group.

The arrangements for the evening were made by Mrs. Charles Lefebvre and Mrs. Norman Gill, and Miss Lois Latwood assisted in serving.
