Red terrorism

Java in 'a state of war'

JAKARTA (CP) — Central Java was in a "state of war" today as the Indonesian army moved to end a growing wave of Communist terrorism marked by reported massacres of the civilian population.

The army newspaper Berita Yudha said Brig-Gen. Surjo Soempeno, commander of the Diponegoro Division, had decreed a state of war, which amounts to martial law, after widespread subversive activities by "counter-revolutionaries of the Sept. 30" rebel movement.

Riots apparently instigated by the Communists wrecked the city of Sarakarta last Saturday, the newspaper said.

The Communists have murdered 200 persons in east and central Java and kidnapped numerous others, it said. They also seized control of local governments in some areas, raided police posts to get arms, disconnected telephone lines and sabotaged railway and road communications.

Following the abortive Sept. 30 coup against President Sukarno, many of the coup supporters were believed to have fled to central Java.

In a statement published by the official Antara news agency, the army said 21 persons died in clashes between Communists and non-Communists.

The army claimed the Communists mounted a campaign of terrorism against the people, including kidnapping, armed robbery and arson.

The military continued its roundup of Communists in the Jakarta area, and newspapers reported 172 were arrested in the latest sweep.

Meanwhile, President Sukarno appeared no nearer a solution to the political crisis after a six-hour meeting Wednesday with the leaders of seven nationalist and religious political parties.

Sukarno warned the leaders against veering to the "right" in reaction to the coup attempt. He said the atmosphere in Indonesia was still not suitable for a political solution "because in their anger the people seem to forget the Indonesian revolution."

Morning traffic snarled

Record snowfall clogs city area

A sudden snowstorm this morning blanketed the Townships in a record-breaking 8.9 inches of snow at 10 a.m., causing bus cancellation, mail delivery delays, traffic pile-ups and some minor accidents.

The snowfall is a record amount of snow falling in one day during October for the past 50 years. On October 20, 1937 3.32 inches fell, The Lennoxville Experimental Farm reports.

All Provincial Transport buses to and from Sherbrooke were cancelled this morning and most of the Sherbrooke Transit urban buses were not operating. Others were delayed.

Many city buses were waiting by sidewalks for roads to be cleared and spread with calcium and sand, said Henri Labonne, controller of Sherbrooke Transit Inc. The buses were halted wherever there were hills, he noted.

After a delay starting, Sherbrooke snow-fighting machinery was out in full force, the city services department reports.

Taken by surprise by the storm, the department reported that everything seemed to be in order at 10 a.m.

Cars caught without winter tires crawled cautiously to work, struggling up hills while people struggled down on foot. Many people were late for work, one reporting her usual two minute trip to work by car lasted 45 minutes this morning.

Traffic pile-ups were reported throughout Sherbrooke. Cars were scattered criss-cross on steep hills, unable to get up. On the Jacques Cartier Bridge traffic jammed at about 7:15 and by 10 a.m. it still hadn't cleared.

No train cancellations or delays were reported by Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway Companies.

Mail delivery delay was expected to be four to six hours because of the lack of transportation for mailmen, Sherbrooke Postmaster Conrad Cayer reported. He had received no word at 9 a.m. that trucks delivering mail from Sherbrooke to surrounding towns would be delayed.

Garages were besieged by calls for towing cars and putting on winter tires. "We're putting snow tires on so fast that I don't know how we'll ever get caught up on them," one garage operator noted. "I can't tow—we have too much in advance" another reported.

Similarly taxis had all the work they could handle and more. Two Sherbrooke High School and Mitchell School buses were cancelled, the ones from Bromptonville and from the Third Range. The two other See "Morning Traffic" on Page 7

Anglican church head raises Rhodesia row

LONDON (AP) — Controversy boiled today over the Archbishop of Canterbury's suggestion that Christians should support military action against Rhodesia's white settlers if they declare independence without Britain's approval.

Critics ranging from Conservative members of Parliament to the Socialist president of the Methodist conference, Lord Soper denounced the suggestion as irresponsible.

The Church of Scotland, with a long history of African missionary work, dissociated itself from the archbishop's views and from a resolution supporting the archbishop passed by the British Council of Churches in Aberdeen.

Salvation Army leaders also dissented.

The archbishop, Dr. Michael Ramsey, is spiritual leader of the Church of England. Addressing the British Council of Churches Tuesday, he compared Britain's responsibility to Rhodesia's Negroes with its 1939 treaty obligations to Poland.

"This country had its obligations to Poland," he said, "it was necessary to use force in fulfilling them."

SAYS FORCE 'RIGHT'

"Our country has obligations to Rhodesia. . . . If our government thought it practicable and desirable to use force in discharging not a new but a continuing obligation to Rhodesia, then as Christian people, unless we are pacifists, it would be right to say that force should be used."

Garages were besieged by calls for towing cars and putting on winter tires. "We're putting snow tires on so fast that I don't know how we'll ever get caught up on them," one garage operator noted. "I can't tow—we have too much in advance" another reported.

Similarly taxis had all the work they could handle and more. Two Sherbrooke High School and Mitchell School buses were cancelled, the ones from Bromptonville and from the Third Range. The two other See "Morning Traffic" on Page 7

Friendlier now

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul and the bishops of the Vatican ecumenical council proclaimed five decrees today. They included promises of a drastic overhaul of the government of the Roman Catholic Church and a new and friendlier approach to Jews and other non-Christians.

By almost unanimous votes the council gave final approval to the decrees, which brought to 10 the total number issued since the council first met in 1962. Six more remain to be enacted.

Unusual deposit

MONTREAL (CP)—A former police sergeant charged with being an accessory after the fact in a mail truck robbery that netted almost $1,500,000 made an unusual deposit in the Policemen's Savings Bank the day after the robbery.

Cashier Fernand Delorme of the savings bank testified in Court of Queen's Bench that Gerard Proulx, who police say received $5,000 for the part he played following the robbery, deposited $1,096, including five $100 bills.

Previous witnesses testified that police recovered $3,700—all in $100 bills—from a basement hiding place in Proulx's home. A check of the serial numbers of the bills showed they came from the March 31, 1964 robbery.

Students march

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Spearheading a national drive for government assistance in higher education, about 1,000 students marched on Parliament Hill Wednesday. "What about free tuition," was the cry that went up from the youthful marchers.

Across Canada, in provincial capitals, there were similar demonstrations, organized by the 140,000-member Canadian Union of Students. In Ottawa, CUS presented political parties with a brief containing its views on higher education. It asks for the removal of the financial, social and psychological barriers that prevents youths from getting a higher education.

Brush off offer

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — U.S. sources today brushed off a Soviet offer to resume the Geneva disarmament talks on terms that would ban creation of a NATO nuclear force. The Americans said the Soviet proposal was one-sided and unacceptable.

Russia called on the General Assembly's main political committee Wednesday to support and refer to the Geneva disarmament committee a proposed Soviet treaty designed to block creation of a nuclear fleet under auspices of the Atlantic Alliance.

Want to vote

OTTAWA (CP)—Civil service leaders are complaining about an anomaly in the Canada Election Act that will prevent at least 1,400 government employees and their wives from voting Nov. 8.

The act makes provision for servicemen stationed abroad to vote in federal elections but none for civilian government employees posted outside Canada, from ambassadors to embassy cipher clerks.

Different media don't and won't work

Communication ills dog politicians

As New Democratic Leader T. C. Douglas was raising his voice in Hamilton Wednesday night against an alleged curb on freedom of speech, Prime Minister Pearson was unable to raise his voice in Toronto because it was being curbed by faulty loudspeakers.

In terms of speech-making, Mr. Pearson's big Toronto rally in Horkdale Shopping Centre didn't come off. When the loud-speaker system failed, and a hand microphone proved too light for the task, many of the milling supporters who turned out didn't hear a thing. A shopping centre official estimated that between 18,000 and 20,000 persons—including shoppers—were in the area at the time. But only those nearest Mr. Pearson were able to hear him say:

"It doesn't really matter if I make a speech but that you have come out to help get our candidates elected Nov. 8." The freedom of speech that Mr. Douglas was talking about concerned an NDP advertisement which he said some private television stations refused to show because it attacked Canadian commercial and advertising interests. He told some 2,000 supporters in a theatre that this involved suppressing facts and curbing his party's freedom of speech.

HOISTS FLAG ISSUE

Meanwhile Conservative Leader Diefenbaker was in Saint John, N.B. hoisting the flag issue before some 3,200 persons in a nearly full arena.

The Liberal campaign in 1963 said nothing about a change in symbols, he said, and now the Liberals were saying they needed a majority to adopt some "unpopular" measures. But after the things they had done in the last 2 1/2 years, "what could they possibly do that could be more unpopular?"

He was speaking at an all-province rally for the 10 Conservative candidates in New Brunswick.

Arriving earlier in the day at Fredericton, Mr. Diefenbaker went to the city hall, signed the guest book and held a press conference before driving to Saint John with brief stops at two communities.

He told the press conference a Conservative government would do away with forced retirements in the armed forces and would pay a special bonus to servicemen who re-enlist at the end of their regular hitch.

IT'S 'MOST ABSURD'

Earlier Wednesday, Mr. Pearson said allegations that a Liberal government would conscript Canadians for military service in Viet Nam as the most absurd story of the campaign. He told a luncheon meeting of community leaders and newspaper editors of ethnic groups that the government has no intention of sending military forces to Viet Nam.

Mr. Douglas spoke in Hamilton Wednesday night after flying in from Alberta.

Viet Cong wreck planes

SAIGON (CP) — Viet Cong guerrillas struck two lightning blows at United States air installations in the northern provinces of South Viet Nam Wednesday night and damaged or destroyed 40 helicopters and seven jet aircraft.

In what a marine spokesman described as a suicide attack, two squads of guerrillas assaulted the main helicopter base at Marble Mountain, east of Da

Nang, blowing up aircraft with mortar shells and demolition charges.

They destroyed 18 helicopters and damaged 22 others.

Marine casualties were said to be "very light."

In a similar attack on Chu Lai air strip, 60 miles south of Da Nang, the Viet Cong succeeded in destroying two A-4 Skyhawk jets and damaging five others. Four Viet Cong were bayoneted to death.

Altogether, 39 Viet Cong were killed by marine defenders in Wednesday night's attacks.

KILLS 15 IN AMBUSH

Laporte wants French first

Priority is contentious

MONTREAL (CP) — Reaction of prominent Quebecers to a weekend speech by Pierre Laporte, Quebec cultural and municipal affairs minister who said he personally would like to see a law passed giving the French language "priority" in Quebec, has been mixed.

A cabinet colleague, Justice Minister Wagner, said in Quebec City Tuesday: "In my opinion the two languages are official in Canada. And both have the same status."

Mr. Wagner, member of the legislative assembly for Verdun where about 40 per cent of the voters are English-speaking, said that if Quebec wants to be sure of the respect of the other provinces it must start by showing its respect for the other language.

"As long as the constitution remains unchanged, there can be no question of giving priority to a language."

Montreal lawyer Hazen Harsard, immediate past president of the Canadian Bar Association, said: "I saw equality—yes. But priority—no."

"Even if it happens to be a minister of the Crown suggesting priority be given French in Quebec, somebody on our side of the fence should speak out," he said in an address to the Montreal Rotary Club.

English Canada, he said, has largely fallen down and has allowed itself to be lulled into complacency to a point where it is no longer ready to compete with French Canada.

Pierre Sevigny, associate defence minister in the last Diefenbaker government, said he is "opposed to any priority status for either French or English."

Mr. Sevigny, who was speaking at a meeting of the Richelieu-Maisonnette Club of Montreal, called for "absolute equality for our two founding peoples."

Bernard Fortier, president of Quebec City branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Quebec, said that in his opinion the priority of the French has already been established in the business world of the provincial capital.

He said more and more importance is being given to the language in Montreal and that this process will continue.

Msgr. Paul Emile Gosselin, secretary of Le Conseil de vie Francaise en Amerique (Council for the French Way of Life in America), said that in his opinion it would be desirable to give French priority in Quebec, "but not to the exclusion of English."

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — At the conclusion of Tuesday night's Town Meeting of the World on CBS, Charles Collingwood, who conducted the turbulent session, wondered how well university students of London, Paris, Belgrade and Mexico City had communicated with the panel in the United States—and how well the panel had communicated with them.

It was an apt summary of the hour of "global dialogue"—really global wrangling. The students did communicate to the American television audience their intense disapproval and suspicion of the United States position in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic with one exception: Communist aims and activities.

Representing the U.S. were former president Eisenhower, UN Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and Solicitor-General Thurgood Marshall. Judging from the rude snickers and sneers on the faces of the London students, bursts of applause in Mexico on questions of intervention in the Dominican Republic, and the stony reception given elsewhere to the Americans' explanations of policy, it all fell on deaf ears.

The idea of bringing together via satellite all these people sounds better than it works out to be. Most of the students seemed far more eager to pick a fight or make a speech than ask questions.

U.S. defenders usually stuck to general answers that most often were so broad that they were hardly satisfying even to the American television audience.

NBC's Dr. Kildare Tuesday night started a new story with fascinating, even frightening, implications. It involved an artificial kidney acquired by the hospital, an experimental machine which may save the lives of uremia sufferers. It can be used on only five patients—while there are more than 10 times that number who need it if they are to survive.

The dramatic problem is to decide which of these are to be saved—which came close to home because there is such a machine, as well as other life-saving medical equipment which is not available to all who could benefit from their use.

A committee was confronted with the job of picking four out of 12 who would certainly die without the machine's help. But, irritatingly, the half hour was over and we won't know who was tapped until next week.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

FINESSES TAKEN IN WRONG ORDER

Our old friend, Hard Luck Joe is back with us again. This time he lost two finesses and a no-trump game. Here is his tale of woe:

"Sixteen points opposite 11 with every suit stopped twice would mean a slam for some people. For me this means down one at three no-trump. Things started out nicely, too. West opened the jack of spades and I took my queen. Then I tried the diamond finesse only to have East pop up with the king. A spade came back. I ducked once, but had to win the next spade. I ran off my diamonds and then had to try the club finesse. It lost too and two spade tricks set me."

Joe had his usual hard luck.

Guilty of smuggling try, loses car, trailer, $400

Walter Wilson, 42, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions yesterday afternoon to a charge of having in his possession a car, trailer, and tires of American origin for which the duty had not been paid. The car and the trailer were confiscated and he was fined $400 and court costs. Charges against Wilson's sister, Mrs. Mary Ross, were dropped as the police had no evidence. Mrs. Ross had been charged with being in collusion with her brother. Wilson was also accused of attempted bribery by his arresting officer.

E.T. Regional Board news

Would minimize transport problem

By J. EDWARD FERRY
 (Director General, ET regional school board)

Last column we discussed the problem of transportation and drew two main conclusions viz., the time element in more important than the distance a pupil has to travel, and secondly the school bus is probably the most efficient and economical form of transport available. Certainly we will have to have the most efficient system we can afford.

A preliminary survey would indicate that approximately 80 per cent of the pupils attending the Regional school should reach the school within 45 minutes. Living within a limit of say 20-25 miles from the school, these pupils will probably travel in buses similar to those presently in use.

Most of the others will reach the school within the hour limit mentioned by most groups submitting briefs as the maximum time which could be considered. Many of these pupils will come in to specified centres to meet express buses which should be heavier than those normally used. These express buses will go non-stop to the Regional school.

For the few pupils living beyond this time limit special considerations will have to be made. In some instances these pupils may reach the school later than the others. This means a loss of time ordinarily devoted to extra-curricular or some other activity. In a few instances the parents may prefer to have the children board either in a hostel built expressly for this purpose, or with selected families living near the school. We must not forget that to become citizens of a changing society these pupils will have to compete with others who do not have the same handicap of distance and time.

They will need the same advantages of a modern educational system as the others, but because of their location they will be required to sacrifice more, just as they do now—not only in school but in other ways as well. I have been told that there are a few pupils in Montreal who travel an hour or more on crowded public buses to get to their schools. Our pupils handicapped by location may not be as badly off as these city pupils.

I would not minimize the problem but I do feel that once the Regional schools are in operation and schedules have been streamlined the disadvantages of transportation will be reduced to a minimum. We hope the advantages gained by attendance at a modern school will more than offset the price these pupils will have to pay.

Any comments or inquiries may be addressed to the writer, Eastern Townships Regional School Board, P.O. Box 560, Lennoxville, Que.

Metje Kopega, 24, of Lennoxville, held by the police for rape, had his preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon.

Kopega's lawyer presented to the court a written certificate, advising that Kopega should receive a complete mental examination. Kopega was held for trial.

Arthur Tardif, of Wolton, was fined $100 and court costs, and his licence was suspended for three months yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a hit and run charge. He hit a car belonging to Gerald Desjardets of Scotstown.

Yvon Forand, 19, of Magog, was fined $50 and court costs yesterday morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of drinking underage.

In welfare court yesterday, a Sherbrooke father of two children appeared on a charge of non-support. He was found guilty, and the judge ordered that $25 a week be taken from his pay and given to the support of his family. It was revealed that for the last two years this man had been earning a salary of $100 a week, and had paid nothing for the support of his family.

A 17-year-old boy was sent to Montreal for detention after he admitted in social welfare court yesterday to escaping from the correction school in Mont Saint Antoine. He was picked up in this area by welfare officers and will be held in Montreal until he can return to Mont Saint Antoine.

Election advance polls open Saturday, Mon.

Shortly after 9 a.m. on Saturday some Sherbrooke electors will walk into an advance poll and cast his ballot for one of the six candidates seeking election in this county for the 27th Parliament of Canada.

As a result of amendments made to the Canada Elections Act in 1960, the old system whereby advance polls were established on the Thursday, Friday and Saturday preceding this privilege if he signs an affidavit stating he has reason to believe he will be away from his home polling division on election day.

This has resulted in a ten-fold increase in ballots cast at the advance polls with a much larger number of such polling stations being established.

In Sherbrooke, for instance, seven such polls will be in operation.

CAMPAGNING in the TOWNSHIPS

By CUTHBERT JONES

The normal election day has been changed to provide that such polls shall be held on the ninth and seventh day preceding the election. In other words, this means that the advance polls will be held on Saturday, Oct. 30 and Monday, Nov. 1.

Hours for the advance polls will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Eastern Standard Time each day.

Because Sherbrooke along with most other municipalities in Canada will revert to Standard Time Saturday night, Saturday polls will operate from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. local time, while those on Monday will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. local time.

The function of the advance polls was changed markedly by the 1960 Election Act amendments. Before 1960, only commercial travellers, transportation workers, fishermen and members of the RCMP and reserve forces had the privilege of voting at the advance polls. Generally there was only a single advance poll established in an urban constituency.

Mayor promises campaign

Crackdown launched on teen drinking, rowdyism

Sherbrooke mayor Armand Nadeau promised today that he would use all the "weapons" at his disposal to crack down on teenage rowdyism in the city on two fronts; underage drinking, and fights and disturbances at dances at some French Catholic schools.

He said today that he would have all city hotels called, and the proprietors warned that the city would strictly enforce the law concerning underage drinking.

He also announced that the Roman Catholic School Commission has set up an organization of trained adults to arrange and supervise dances. He said that about eight of these people, trained in youth problems, would be present at every dance.

The statement came as a result of a closed session of the City Council yesterday between the aldermen, representatives of the school commissions, and the chief of police. The meeting was closed to the press, and except for today's statement from the mayor, no one who attended would comment on proceedings.

The mayor said that there seemed to be no trouble at the English schools, either Protestant or Catholic.

He said that the probable reason for this is that he understands parents supervise the dances at these schools.

The mayor blamed all trouble at the French schools on inadequate supervision.

He said that now the Roman Catholic School Commission will only allow dances arranged by the new organization.

The meeting was called as a result of recent arrests of minors for drinking in hotels, and reports of disturbances at dances.

The mayor says that he hopes that all teenagers in this city will begin to behave like adults. "They want to be treated like adults," he said, "they'd better start behaving like adults."

The problem first came up at Monday night's council meeting. The mayor said that he had read in The Record of minors being arrested for illegal drinking. He also said that he had heard reports of trouble at dances, mostly in the form of damaging cars and fights.

A proposal by Alderman Carl Camurand on Monday, that plainclothes police officers should be present at the dances, was vetoed by the other aldermen. On a Saturday night, the council said, this plan would require about 12 policemen.

Bishop's to stage three one-act plays

Three one-act plays will be staged by students of Bishop's University tonight, Friday and Saturday evenings, under the sponsorship of the Dramatics Society.

The curtain will rise on the first at 8:30 each evening, in the Memorial Gymnasium on the Lennoxville campus. The public is invited.

Immediately after the final performances Saturday evening, there will be a public adjudication of the three plays, given by Prof. Arthur Motver, Director of Drama at Bishop's.

The three one-act dramas are directed as well as acted by students. Neil Carver directs Michael Walker's recent play The Wall. Bill Ballantyne directs The Hole, written by the contemporary British playwright N.F. Simpson; and Steve Trew and Steve St. Clair jointly direct Norman McKinnell's The Bishop's Candlesticks.

The Wall is set in divided Berlin, and illustrates the difficulties encountered by members of families divided by the notorious wall. In the cast are Steve St. Clair, Tony Davies, Shari Edwards, Jane Knox, Don Lee, Jan Dunsmore and Doug Harpur.

N.F. Simpson, author of The Hole, is described by critics as a contemporary adherent to the British tradition of nonsense writing, his particular forte being the rigorous pursuit of logical absurdities. Although his plays generally take no social or moral line, they do develop a comical exposure of certain contemporary foibles.

Heading the cast in the Bishop's production of The Hole, which involves a fanciful discussion by several persons of a line in a road, are Neil Carver, Dave Anido, Will Webster, Bridget Martland, and Kathy Gordon.

The Bishop's Candlesticks, a more traditional play written about the turn of the century, is an adaptation of part of Victor Hugo's classic novel Les Misérables. It concerns an attempt by a beleaguered prison escapee to steal costly candlesticks from a kind-hearted bishop of the church, and the events which ensue after the convict is apprehended.

Starring in this play will be Fred Buttner and John McMill Murray, as well as Brenda Fleet, Susan Mills, and David Prowse.

Tickets will be sold at the door for all three nights' performances.

This production of a trio of one-act plays is an annual event for the Bishop's Dramatics Society. Last year's dramas, it will

National Ballet here on Nov. 20 and 21

One of the major ballet companies of the world, the National Ballet of Canada, will appear here at the University of Sherbrooke Auditorium on Saturday, Nov. 20 (evening) and Sunday, Nov. 21 (matinee), under the auspices of the National Ballet Guild of Canada.

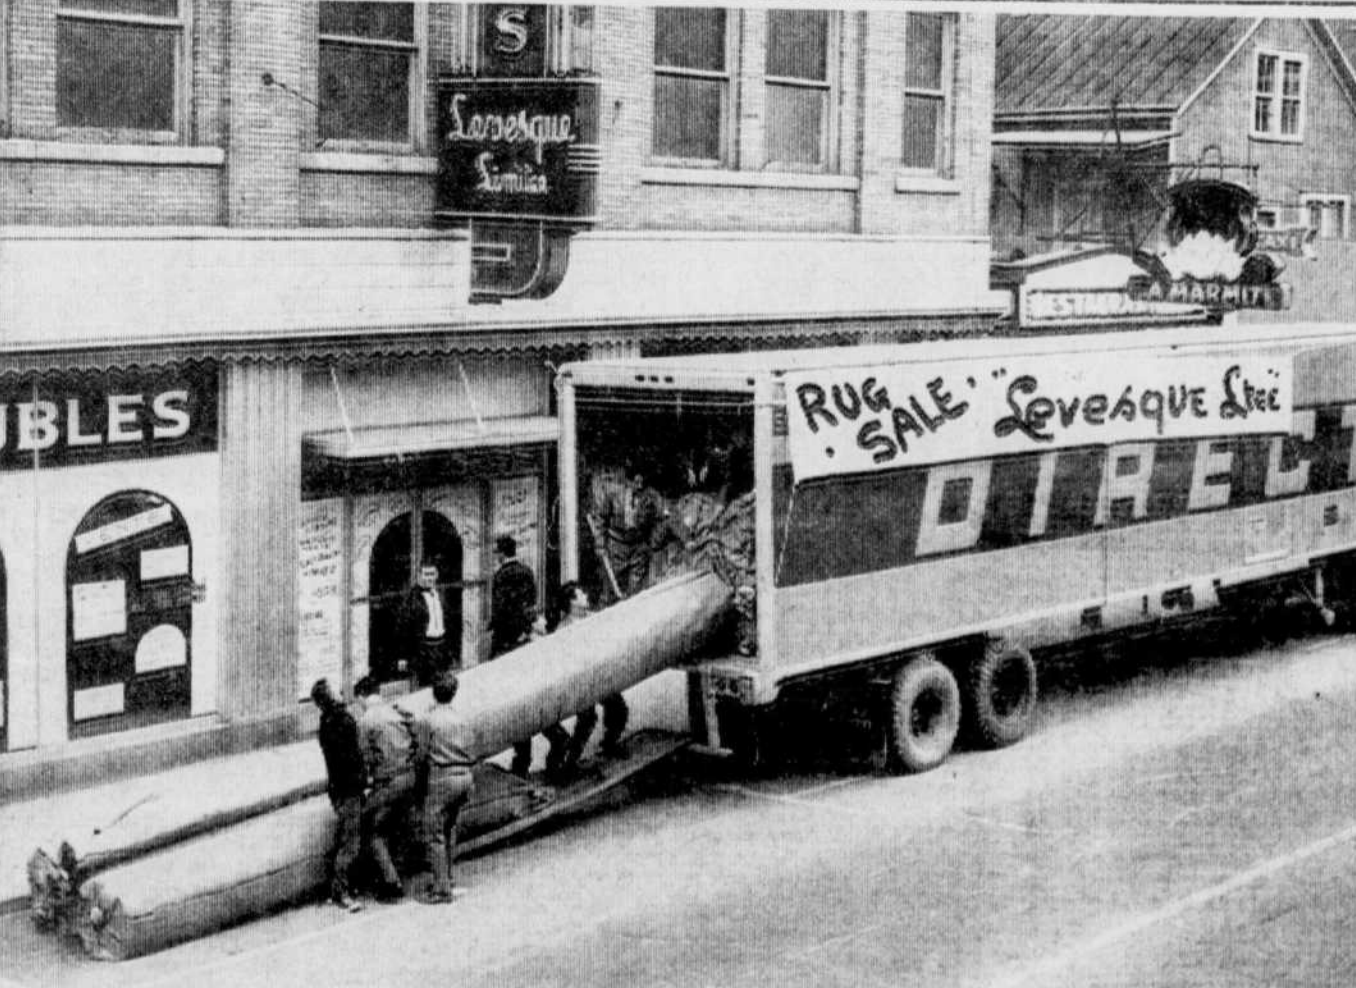

Since it was founded a short fifteen years ago, the company of eighty-five, under the artistic direction of Celia Franca, has grown in stature to where today it is considered one of the top six ballet groups of the world. With a vast repertoire ranging from the great classics to exciting new works, the company lists such well-known choreographers as Anthony Tudor, Kenneth MacMillan, Erik Bruhn, George Balanchine, John Cranko, Sir Frederick Ashton and the prolific young Canadian choreographer Grant Stratton.

The company with its own orchestra under the direction of Maestro George Crum, will be appearing here as part of a five-month tour through Canada, the United States and Mexico.

Tickets for the National Ballet of Canada are available from La Ligue de la Jeunesse Feminine; Mrs. Leonard Desautels, 562-7570; Box office at Skinner and Nadeau, Wellington St., which opens Nov. 8.

The program is as follows: Saturday (evening) — THE RAKE'S PROGRESS, Music Gavin Gordon (commissioned score); Choreography: Ninette de Valois; Decor and Costumes, after Rex Whistler; CLAIR DE

Economic pressure on rights leaders

The experiences of a number of Protestant clergymen in the United States who are strongly committed to the civil rights movement indicate that there is still much to be done in converting the hearts of men to renounce bigotry.

Many of the strongest civil rights ministers say that the stronger their efforts are to bring understanding and goodwill among all races the fewer members they have in their parish and the smaller the contributions are in the collection plates.

San Francisco's outspoken Episcopal Bishop, James A. Pike, whose collection plate "growth profile" has dropped from six to one per cent in recent months, says there is a direct ratio between the intensity of his commitments to racial and other social causes and the drop in revenues.

A report from Nashville, Tenn., states that 200 disaffected Methodist laymen recently deserted their pro-Civil Rights pastor to join a Baptist sect whose preacher was noted for his Negro-hating sermons.

In Arlington, Va., a large Methodist church reports an average of $360 less collected each Sunday than it did last year — a nine per cent drop.

Attendance at the church is up but old-line members, the biggest financial supporters, are dropping out in anger over plans to establish a day care center which would serve Negro children.

Admittedly there has been much progress in recent months in improving the legal position of the Negro and other minority groups.

But ignorance and bigotry continue to exist in even wealthier and supposedly better-educated circles that must be removed before any real advance can occur.

It is to be hoped for the general credit of the white race that Bishop Pike and his confreres will not be forced to desist from their task of preaching tolerance by the economic pressure from hate groups of any class.

Special Hallowe'en precautions

Whether it be celebrated in advance on Saturday or on its proper day, Sunday Hallowe'en will be the time for ghosts, goblins, appeals for very minor charity and other forms of joy and merriment.

But it could also be the time for tragedy as costumed youngsters, intent upon enjoying the evening to the full, become the victims of fire or street accidents.

Hallowe'en imposes a special responsibility on parents and motorists alike.

The National Safety League has issued an appeal to parents to avoid masks and dangerous costumes in dressing children for the night's festivities.

It recommends make-up rather than masks for disguise, as masks tend to obscure vision.

Horse population staging comeback

Ten years ago the horse population of the United States was down to a little more than three million. Today it totals between six and seven million, according to a survey conducted by the Morris Animal Foundation of Denver.

There is something interesting in these statistics. Just when it seemed the internal combustion engine was about to irrevocably doom Dobbin to extinction, horses begin to make a comeback.

Horses may not be used for pulling wagons or working the farms any more but they have become an addition to the world of companion animals.

With city workers, especially in the upper classes, tending to move more and more into the country to make their homes the horse has become something of a status symbol.

Horse ownership is considered a must, just like speed boats, private swimming pools and sports cars.

Costumes should be flame-retardant, restricted to those so-labelled by the manufacturer and light-colored or fluorescent.

Costumes can be flame-proofed at home by immersion in a solution of nine ounces of borax, four ounces of boric acid and a gallon of warm water.

Motorists are urged to take special precautions during the evening.

Even normally-careful youngsters are likely to lose their usual caution and run wild on the streets as they seek to make as many calls as possible in search of charity. And that pile of leaves at the side of the street may be a hide-out for some merry-maker.

But by taking adequate precautions there is no reason why Hallowe'en need be marred by death or serious accident.

Dear Sir, My name is Mrs. Leonard Price. I live at 1691 Prospect St., right across the street from the apartment that was smeared last week. But I am not the woman that told the reporter anything, and believe me if half of the city fell down now I wouldn't be likely to tell the Record. I wonder if you ever stopped to realize how you could be endangering innocent people's lives? You have to tell in bold print where you get your information.

Don't you think these hoodlums read papers? After what they did to Mr. Larocque's lovely home do you think they would stop at hurting us for handing on details?

As I said, I am not the one that told but I live directly across the street from Mr. Larocque. I know this letter will not make much difference one way or another but it has made me so mad at the Record I don't know as I will ever get another copy. If some woman wants to hand on information let her give her address not let the wrong people have their life in danger. I am sorry if I sound rude. I don't mean to, but tell me how you would feel in my place.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The Fascist march on Rome took place 43 years ago today—in 1922—after the new political group had seized control of Fiume, Bologna and Milan. Italy was impoverished after the First World War and had no share in the distribution of German colonies. In consequence, politics took on a new sharpness and there were threats of a workers' revolution. A month after the march on Rome, Mussolini was given dictatorial powers for one year. At the end of that year he changed the electoral law to ensure the continuance of Fascist rule. 1776 — British forces defeated American rebels at the battle of White Plains. 1919 — The U.S. Congress passed the Volstead (Prohibition) Act over President Wilson's veto.

LBJ men seem willing and able to carry on peacefully alone

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Leisurely though President Johnson's recovery may be, he has not at any point given the United States a chance to see how a "substitute power structure" might function in his stead.

Without assuming any future illnesses, it is perhaps fruitful to speculate how it might really go if the President were forced to lay aside the reins completely for a while.

People with close knowledge of this administration believe that, by and large, matters would move with incredible smoothness. Some might dismiss this as a glib, self-serving judgment, but the evidence accumulated over many months suggests it is reasonable.

No organism composed of human beings operates wholly without the friction of misunderstanding jealousy, and so on. But Johnson, like the late John F. Kennedy before him, simply has not allowed satellite kingdoms to arise within the White House and in the key federal agencies.

Skeptics surely abound, for many observers remember the stoutly-defended principalities carved out under Dwight Eisenhower by John Foster Dulles, Sherman Adams and James Hagerty. Quite plainly, however, Eisenhower permitted the principalities to exist.

Johnson's key men are, fundamentally, a cadre of equals who speak with weight and influence—yet always in his name, never their own. In the view of one of them, this equality of status is crucial to their effective functioning.

Consequently, if Vice President Humphrey had to take over at any time, there is considerable feeling he would find a command structure that would give him no trouble, provided, of course, he had proper legal authority to assume the President's powers.

Humphrey himself is seen as sufficiently seasoned and knowledgeable to be able to move with confidence in any temporary transfer of power. He knows this "company town" and the people and problems he would have to confront.

When Richard Neustadt, specialist on presidential power testified on amendments to cope with presidential inability, he voiced the notion that no vice president would do much in a substitute role (except in the direst emergency) because he would inevitably fear reversal when the president regained his authority.

This has to be subject to question in the instant case. Humphrey would be drawing counsel from one of the most thoroughly blooded executive teams ever to occupy the White House. Their composite most likely would lead Humphrey down the same paths Johnson takes.

The tough center line of this crew is comprised of Defense Secretary McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, national security adviser McGeorge Bundy, and unmistakably, Lawrence O'Brien, new postmaster general who stands as top political adviser.

The President has stupendous regard for all these men, and it seems clear enough that Humphrey does, too.

If Humphrey had to take over, there probably would be the usual spate of stories indicating that "hawks" McNamara and Bundy were riding over "dove" Rusk in major foreign policy matters. Some sharp observers argue, though, that their critics long have exaggerated the differences in toughness of outlook between Rusk and McNamara-Bundy. The chances are Humphrey would find a pretty genuine blend working for him, as for Johnson.

And O'Brien, his political Geiger counter clicking on and off, inevitably would be hovering nearby. Factional disorders can indeed rip an administration apart once the head man is sidelined. But it seems an unlikely prospect so long as Lyndon Johnson is President and has anything like his present top cadre going for him.

Other papers say:

Battle for freedom is unceasing

The battle for freedom is unceasing.

It would have been natural, for example to suppose that after the McCarthy era, with its attacks upon institutions of learning and their staffs, the struggle for academic freedom, a carryover from the medieval days of Galileo, would have ended in the United States.

It recently has been demonstrated that this is not the case. This time a professor at Rutgers University is involved because he had the temer-ity to assail American policy in Viet Nam. Efforts have been made to oust him in consequence, but he has found a defender in no less a person than Senator Robert Kennedy, brother of the late president, and supporters of the succeeding Johnson regime.

New Jersey's governor also is resisting demands that the professor be dismissed because such action "would destroy the whole idea of academic freedom."

Senator Kennedy recalls a case in which the University of Mississippi bowed to demands that it dismiss six professors because they had espoused integration. Thus the university lost its accreditation.

"Is that what we want here?" asked Senator Kennedy. The encouraging feature of the whole situation, as far as supporters of academic freedom at this distance can see, was the audience response. "No," yelled the crowd.

Voters must unseat Liberal party

(Toronto Telegram)

The Telegram recommends that its readers take the necessary steps on November 8 to unseat the present Government of Canada.

At the time of the last general election in 1963, The Telegram supported the bid of the Liberal Party, under the leadership of Lester B. Pearson, for office.

That bid was successful and this newspaper looked forward to a sound administration that would enhance the reputation of Canada abroad strengthen our Parliamentary system, bring honor to the House of Commons and the institutions of Government, and, above all, bind the nation more closely together on a basis of mutual understanding.

All these hopes have been dashed. All the reservoir of respect and goodwill built up by Mr. Pearson over the years has been drained. Expectation has turned to disillusionment. Pride has turned to disgust. Hope has turned to despair.

The Telegram believes that the most important issue in this campaign is integrity and morality in public office. Never in living memory has the public life of Canada been so sullied. The Prime Minister has proven himself incapable of leadership in the most important area of public life—the necessity of sacrificing even the closest colleagues for the public good.

Lester Pearson had the position and the power to cleanse federal politics. He lacked the will to do so. The Telegram believes that this lack, in spite of any other proven abilities and talents he has, forfeits his right to be Prime Minister.

If it is true that the revelations of the Dorion Report, that furniture deal of Maurice Lamontagne with the Selkirk brothers, the influence of Rivard with the Prime Minister's own Parliamentary Secretary, the support given by Hal Banks to Montreal Liberal candidates, and all the other shabby events involving certain Liberal members, will have little effect on Canadian voters, then our whole system is in danger.

If the public cynicism has become so hardened that public men can use their position for personal or party advantage, then, of course, Canada cannot expect a decent standard of Government.

COWANSVILLE — The regular meeting of Cowansville Chapter OES held in the Masonic Hall proved a very busy and enjoyable gathering. The Worthy Matron, Minnie Pearl, gave her report of the Grand Chapter in full detail.

Under benevolent work it was decided to buy a washing machine to be given to the Flambeau Home in Bondville, as well as send baskets of Christmas cheer. Several applications for membership were received.

Several members of the chapter attended the reception tendered Sister Frances Kemp, Worthy Grand Matron and Sister Pearl Fortin, Grand Electra, by Maple Leaf Chapter, Stanbridge East.

LAKE MEGANTIC — The Women's Association of Knox United Church held a very successful salad tea and sale of aprons and other useful and fancy articles in the Sunday School rooms on Oct. 18. The dining-room was nicely arranged and decorated with potted plants and late fall flowers. The tea tables were under the capable supervision of Mrs. J. E. Wood and the waitresses were Mrs. Thombs, Mrs. Higham, Miss Mavis Wood, Miss Lois Clark, Miss Mary MacDonald and Miss Grace Boyle, of Port Dalhousie, Ont.

Mrs. J. S. Miller supervised in the kitchen and was ably assisted by Mrs. Gonyer, Mrs. L. E. Clark, Mrs. J. N. Matheon, Mrs. J. A. Stewart and Messrs. J. B. Lavalliere, G. Gonyer and Harry Wood. Mrs. J. A. McLeod was the cashier. Proceeds amounted to $131.

ondary in this campaign.

Canadians must decide first what standards of morality they demand in public life. This is the all-important question to be decided on November 8. The Telegram believes that every other consideration takes second place.

Against the background of the present Government's record in this vital area during the past two and a half years, this newspaper recommends to its readers that they unseat the Government.

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

CALGARY — (TNS) — Switching from Diefenbaker to Pearson meetings on the Prairies is somewhat like switching from Gunsmoke to, let's say, Viewpoint on your TV screen. It's a jump from a make-believe world of pioneering simplicity and Old Testament justice into the reality of a groping search for answers to the baffling problems of a complex society in transitional ferment that defies analysis and definition.

Diefenbaker plays on the instinct to seek refuge from the uncertainties of this travail in the comforting familiarity of hand-me-down values which in the days of his youth covered all the moral, spiritual and material needs of a rural community. By extolling the bucolic virtues of traditionalism as the bulwark against the allegedly amoral forces of change, he establishes sentimental rapport with his predominantly grey-haired audiences. The language of his political pitch is thus understood and even though the response lacks the religious fervor that marked his previous campaigns, the message sinks in.

Pearson's approach, though vastly improved over his 1963 effort, is still coldly intellectual, no matter how simple and folksy he tries to sound. He outlines the major problems as he sees them and discusses possible solutions in the light of necessary adjustments to changing conditions. His audiences remain cold, and even though they listen attentively, the basic comprehension Diefenbaker gets is obviously missing. An invisible screen that filters the meaning of words descends between the speaker and his listeners, making meaningful communication next to impossible.

This becomes clearly evident when the two men tackle such a subject of basic political import on the Prairies as the marketing of farm produce.

All Diefenbaker has to do once he has reaffirmed his spiritual kinship by a few homesteading reminiscences, is to say: "We sold the wheat." He doesn't have to mention any figures to get good applause.

Pearson, with the mental screen firmly in place after a few sophisticated sentences on the need for long-term economic planning or on French Canada's changing place in Confederation, gets no reaction to statistical proof of massive increases in wheat sales during the past two years.

Similarly, when Diefenbaker, talking about Prairie farming, says: "We cared," he is instantly understood and reaps the political benefit of that all-embracing understanding. Next to it, Pearson's anxiously emphatic: "It is not true that Ottawa is not concerned about the West," falls flat.

When he adds that "It would be a good thing for the West to have more spokesmen on the Government side of the House," it sounds almost like a disclaimer of that assurance.

In addition to this difficulty in communication, Pearson's professional tone, which comes through no matter how much he tries to shed it, apparently feeds all kinds of suspicions that what the intellectual politician wants would somehow be used against the interest of the Prairie folk if he got it. So why tempt fate when safety seems to lie in sticking to the old ways, the old habits, and in voting for those who understand and can be trusted to resist change?

In short, on the Prairies Diefenbaker is still king — though perhaps no longer by the grace of God — and Pearson has little chance to make headway in his realm. Liberal strategists deny this assessment, but objective local connoisseurs of the political mood say that they would be surprised if the Tories lost more than three seats to the Grits in the three grain-growing provinces.

Regimentation spurs satire

MOSCOW (AP) — A popular director standing high up on a reviewing stand.

Dance groups, song groups, volleyball groups — all performed furiously and like clockwork. There was no room for laggards in this camp.

Communist propaganda slogans abounded on banners and posters. In a small picture gallery devoted to the Second World War, there were scenes of ghastly German atrocities and photos of the Soviet war effort.

An English girl in the visiting party who had worked in youth camps in France was stunned by the amount of supervision, and many of the correspondents left the camp feeling a little sorry for the children.

Not so with the camp in the movie. There the kids have nothing but fun. They play tricks on the officious director, malingering in an unsuccessful effort to get visitors' day called off, steal food for the boy in hiding, plot with him in his hideaway under the director's reviewing stand.

"It's obvious that the satire on regimentation in young pioneer camps, where millions of Soviet children spend part of their summer holidays, strikes a responsive chord among viewers.

A visit to such a camp last summer by a group of Moscow-based foreign correspondents may help explain why.

The organization and regimentation appeared excessive, even allowing for the possibility that those in charge were out to put on a good show for us.

RESEMBLES ARMY

"I know all about this jazz," remarked an American correspondent as straight columns of arm-swinging children paraded in step for morning muster. "I was in the army."

All the boys and girls wore prescribed dress, including the red kerchief symbolic of the young pioneer movement. When they were drawn up on the parade ground, group leaders bounded smartly forward one by one to report to the woman

Three churches discuss leadership and learning

WATERLOO — (Special) — being in 1925 from three churches combining. Presbyterian, Methodist, and Congregationalist. The elevation of the churches was the theme of the St. Luke's Anglican Church service Sunday evening. Rev. Archdeacon I. M. Lidstone of Granby was priest-in-charge.

It was the annual Deanery Service of Evensong with Anglicans coming from Knowlton, Brome, Sutton, Granby and Mansonville districts. Their parish choirs joined with the local choir. Rev. R. G. Allibon of Mansonville led the singing, and Mrs. M. MacIntosh was organist. Rev. J. H. M. Brett of Sutton and Rev. J. W. Davidson of Brome shared in the conduct of worship.

Three short addresses were heard on the theme of the service. These were given by Rev. Keith Dickerson, rector, Rev. Allison Haley of St. Paul's United Church and Rev. Canon Roland Frigon of St. Bernardin's Catholic Church.

Father Dickerson spoke briefly, saying the corner stone of the Anglican program is training the young men and their responsibility in the church. He sketched the origin of the United Church which came into example, students or factory workers, are being taught together the responsibility of the laity — that they must always live as Christians.

Pastoral administration laws are being changed. January 1, 1966 there will be appointed three wardens for three years, one changing each year. For some affairs such as borrowing money it is necessary to have wardens, past wardens and congregation approval. The new law will allow ladies to act as wardens.

A civil law now governs the schools. Commissioners and the Association of Parents and Teachers study and decide what is to be in the field of education.

Parents are being helped to study the new catechism that they may help their children.

Canon Frigon stressed the responsibility of the laity in the community and in politics. He said the clergy has retired from holding office in associations such as the Caisse Populaire. He stated that courses in preparation to marriage are given in every parish.

At the close of the service a question period was held in the church hall and refreshments served.

TRAIN-TRUCK CRASH — A Canadian Pacific Railway engine Wednesday morning at about 9:30 collided with a huge oil tanker at the Main Street crossing in Farnham. The oil truck in turn crashed into a home. A possible total overall damage of $35,000 was caused and one man, the truck driver, Gilles Poupart 38, of St. Lambert was sent to hospital with side injuries. No one in the house was injured though Mrs. Charles Boudreau, was given quite a shock when black crude oil gushed in through her living room window.

FARNHAM — (Staff) — A window. The plants were again spectacular three-way accident occurred yesterday morning on the Main Street railway crossing here when a huge crude oil tanker was hit dead center across the tracks by a CPR freight engine. A possible total overall damage of $35,000 damage was caused and the truck driver was sent to hospital. He is Gilles Poupart, 38, of St. Lambert.

"Watering houseplants, I now admonish can be a dangerous occupation," declared Mrs. Charles Boudreau, of Main Street, following the accident. Mrs. Boudreau was watering her houseplants at the front window of her living room when she look up and saw a huge truck rolling towards her.

Except for the fact that the truck hit the corner of the building it would have entered the house, said Mrs. Boudreau. It is not known as yet how the accident happened, nor the total estimate of damages, police reported.

The truck driven by Mr. Poupart was the property of the Gazette Trailer Truck Company of Montreal and is owned by Desourdy Construction of Cowansville.

The crude oil was a total loss, leaking out into a ditch by the track side. Cost was estimated by Bruce Mills to be approximately $400.

WOMAN NARROWLY ESCAPES — Mrs. Charles Boudreau of Main Street, Farnham narrowly missed injury yesterday morning while watering her houseplants in her living room when a huge 5,000 gallon capacity crude oil tanker was thrown against her window following a mid-track collision with a CPR freight engine. The accident occurred at about 9:30 a.m.

Sutton Baptists celebrate church's 121st anniversary

SUTTON — Sunday, October 24, was a special day for Sutton Baptists for it was the occasion of the 121st Anniversary of the erection of the church building which is strongly constructed of old stone and was built by early settlers of this district.

Besides that, too, the event might be designated as the 168th Anniversary of the establishment of a Baptist movement in Sutton. As recorded in the History of Brome County by the late educator and long-time school inspector, Rev. E. M. Taylor, M. A., the first religious body at Sutton was Baptist.

Present as guest speaker at the Sunday morning anniversary service conducted by Leslie Carson, pastor of Olivet Baptist Church and Mansonville Baptist Church, was Rev. Gordon Allan, a former student pastor who later graduated in Theology at McMaster and is now minister of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church in Montreal.

As a theme for his sermon Mr. Allan took the title of the popular song hit, "These are Some of My Favorite Things," and included in his list bedtime periods of devotion with his three young children, valued friendships formed by his association with other Christian workers and the scenic beauties of nature in the Townships.

In a summary of a review of the past, the speaker sketched in several interesting details relative to Baptist church history in this community.

As stated by Mr. Taylor, the first organizer of the Baptists here was Rev. William Marsh, who came from Caldwell Manor in 1799 to settle at Sutton. Born at Shaftesbury, Vermont, he was a son of Loyalist Jacob Marsh, who had died while serving under Burgoyne against the American Rebels. While a young man, the son, William had left New England to make his home in what was then wildernes. Better educated than some of the other settlers, he was chosen as their religious leader and he held Baptist meetings not only at Caldwell Manor, but also at some other settlements.

He visited this part of the Townships, and came here to settle permanently three years after his ordination in 1796.

For some years there was a strong Baptist cause at Sutton, but after a while it weakened and only occasionally Baptist meetings were held at school houses and halls. Meanwhile Methodists and Wesleyans also had settled families at Sutton. As early as 1799 Rev. Alonzo Dow, a Methodist clergyman who traveled far and wide on horseback and foot to preach and organize in the Townships for his denomination, had visited the Sutton settlement. By 1806 a group of Methodists had become sufficiently strong to hold services each Sunday. The Wesleyans had grown in number also.

Again, at a later date, the strength of the Baptists appears to have been somewhat revived for in 1845 they united with Methodists and Wesleyans to erect for use by the three denominations the church now known as Sutton Olivet Baptist Church. Some years afterwards, in the 1870's however, the Methodists sold out their share and across the street built the centre of worship that is now Calvary United Church. In 1850, Adventists had bought out one-half of the Baptist share.

For a considerable period of time the stone church was used by the Adventists. But, as recounted by Mr. Allan, in the 1920's the Sutton Adventists voted to become a part of the Eastern Association of Baptists. Rev. John Rough, then in charge, remained as Pastor for he was a Baptist minister.

In recalling some of the past achievements of the church workers from whose ranks a have gone forth Christians who have become active as ministers of the Gospel and as missionaries, Mr. Allan expressed his hope that Sutton Baptists would never allow the old stone church to become just a museum where memorials of former services were kept and treasured, but that year by year its good Christian services would continue for the community.

The guest speaker had preceded his message to the adults with a short talk to the children. Another highlight of the anniversary service was the contribution of Harry Schlenke, who had accompanied Mr. Allan. With Mrs. G. F. Knights at the organ, he sang two favorite old hymns.

There was a large attendance of members and adherents to welcome the former pastor and to hear his message.

WEST BOLTON

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Smith and daughter Donna, Lennoxville, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Honey.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Cassidy, Cookshire, and Mr. Arthur McPherson, Oshawa, were recent visitors at the McLaughlin Home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Butler and son, Brian, Ayer's Cliff, with their guest Mr. Arthur McPherson, were visitors of Mrs. Ethel McPherson.

Bedford UCW discusses many business items

BEDFORD — The meeting of the United Church Women was held in the church hall on Oct. 21.

Items of business included finalizing plans for catering for the P.A.P.T. dinner for the District of Bedford; making a donation to the John Milton Society to aid the blind; donation to the Sunday School for Christmas gifts; a pledge for $100 annually for three years to assist in the capital fund campaign, appointing a nominating committee of three, Mrs. K. J. Best, Miss Nettie Lovering and Mrs. Owen Wheelock, to prepare a slate of officers for the annual meeting.

Mrs. Raymond Patrick, representative to the church renovation committee gave a report on a recent meeting of that committee. Improvements are needed to the extent of $1,000, including new floor, walls, lighting and pews. An appeal for funds have met with a generous response. Those who have not, as yet filled out pledge forms, are asked to do so in the near future.

Mrs. MacArthur announced that Mrs. Aitken of Cowansville had consented to give another demonstration of flower arrangement, Christmas decorations, etc., the date is to be set at her convenience.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Owen Wheelock, Mrs. D. Beerwort and Mrs. Macaskill. The theme for study was Stewardship. The usual money time, and talent were discussed, also a new phase, Stewardship of Faith.

A social hour followed, refreshments were served by Mrs. L. Ames, Mrs. R. Robinson and Mrs. Elliott Cockerline.

SUTTON

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Carson, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas Surtees and Mrs. Woodard, motored to North Hatley to attend a meeting at the Baptist Church, at which Rev. Charles Foster, of Fist Baptist Church, Quebec City, gave an address on the work of the Grande Ligne Mission.

Mother's guide to Hallowe'en

It's fun to reminisce about Hallowe'en. Remember when the little people's cry was "Shell out, shell out, or we'll turn your windows inside out!" Remember too how the weather always changed on Hallowe'en—either it turned very cold or it rained. And remember the pranks you played—stealing gates, over-turning garbage cans and covering windows with soap.

Since there's no need to instruct youngsters in how to play pranks on Hallowe'en, this is a column for the next generation who are still young at heart. Make sure that your children enjoy a safe, happy Hallowe'en this year by keeping the following points in mind. When you costume your child, make sure his mask does not cover his face completely so that he can see crossing the street. In fact, make-up is a better idea than a mask. If it is a cool night, dress your child warmly under this costume. Small children should always be accompanied by an adult or a responsible older child. Give your child a shopping bag for his trick or treating so that there won't be tears later about an overturned basket. Restrict the children to their own neighborhood with a curfew hour so that they don't get lost. Tie up your dog if he is not used to children or strangers. Finally, give your children a warm, hearty meal of dishes you can prepare ahead of time, so that there is no last minute supper rush before they go out on their ghostly business.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) Ontario chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire have adopted 80 schools in Newfoundland and Labrador. Jean Beasley of Windsor told an IODE meeting here.

She said the order spends a minimum of $25 a year on books, games, sports equipment and other supplies in schools needing assistance.

Bottcher-McClay

BEACONSFIELD—The marriage of Karen Rowena, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. McClay, of Beaufield, Que. to Paul Frederick Bottcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Bottcher, of Reading, Mass. took place recently at Beaufield United Church, Beaufield. Rev. E. A. Kirker officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with white gladioli and yellow mums. The wedding music was played by Mrs. J. T. Wanamaker and the Lord's Prayer was sung by Mrs. R. Dryden, who also sang Where 'Er You Walk, during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white brocade, cut on princess lines, featuring a short train and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a rose of matching brocade and she carried a cascade of white Fiji mums, feathered carnations and English ivy.

Miss Carol Walden, of Beaufield, as maid of honor, wore a floor length gown of white brocade with a matching corsage of pink and white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Judy Bottcher, sister of the groom as flower girl, wore floor length gowns of Chinese jade peau de soie and matching rose head-dresses. Their flowers carrying out the fall tones, were yellow gladioli and bronze mums.

Mr. Richard Bent of Yarmouth, N.S., acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. George Gay, of Pointe Claire and Mr. John McClay, brother of the bride.

Mrs. McClay, the bride's mother, chose a dress of fall green antron and brown feather hat with a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Bottcher, the groom's mother, wore a light beige brocade suit dress with ribbon hat and matching corsage of roses.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the church hall, where the bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake, white candles and yellow roses.

Later the bride and groom left for Washington and Virginia Beach, the bride travelling in a turquoise silk dress with matching wool coat, gray mink hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was a cymbidium orchid. On their return, they will reside in Toronto, Ont.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. F. McClay, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. R. Goodick, grandparents of the groom, and Mrs. Austin Crowell, Sr., great-grandmother of the groom.

Sutton-O'Leary marriage

AYER'S CLIFF — The marriage of Deanna Dorothy, daughter of Mrs. M. O'Leary, of Ayer's Cliff, to John Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sutton, of Stanstead, took place recently in Beulah United Church, Ayer's Cliff. Rev. G. Joyce officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Walter Keeler played the wedding music. White satin bows marked the guest pews and multi-colored gladioli formed a background setting in the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John O'Leary, of Toronto, Ont., wore a floor-length gown of white brocade velvet featuring a long train. The bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her shoulder length veil was held in place by a sequin halo and she carried a bouquet of bronze and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Edward Redden, as matron of honor for her sister; Miss Sandra Hartley, bridesmaid; and Kathryn and Debbie Redden, nieces of the bride, all wore pale blue velvet ankle length dresses with matching headpieces and veils. They carried bouquets of bronze and white mums with streamers.

Mr. John Ferguson acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Paul Sutton, brother of the groom and Marc Lapiere. Mrs. O'Leary, mother of the bride, chose a green wool suit with black accessories and a fur stole. Her corsage was of yellow rose buds.

Mrs. Sutton, the groom's mother, was in a brown two-piece suit with brown accessories, a fur stole and a corsage of bronze and white mums.

Miss N. Hartley was in charge of the guest book. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, in Stanstead, the three-tier wedding cake centering the bride's table.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Ont., and other points of interest, the bride travelling in a white wool suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of red rose buds.

Guests were from Toronto, Ont., Lac St. Denis, Montreal, Orleans, Vt., Coquituate, Mass., Ayer's Cliff, Pierrefonds, Beebe, Rock Island and Stanstead.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. F. McClay, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. R. Goodick, grandparents of the groom, and Mrs. Austin Crowell, Sr., great-grandmother of the groom.

McNeill-Grainger vows exchanged

RICHMOND — The marriage of Dianne Eleanor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grainger, of Kingsbury, to Douglas George McNeill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McNeill, of Danville, took place Oct. 9 in St. Ann's Anglican Church, Richmond. Rev. W. Walker officiating at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. L. M. Fee played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with a detachable train attached at the waistline. The lace bolero featured long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place with a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis entwined with fern.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Gordon Irwin sister of the bride wore a sleeveless street length frock of forest green peau de soie featuring a bateau neckline, a pillbox hat of matching material with a short veil, and elbow length white gloves. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white stephanotis.

The bridesmaid, Miss Shirley McNeill, sister of the groom, was dressed identically to the matron of honor.

Mr. Gordon Irwin acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. Barry Baker and Mr. Daryl Grainger, brother of the bride. Mrs. Grainger, mother of the bride, wore a street length beige double knit lace dress with brown accessories, and a corsage of tangerine carnations. Mrs. McNeill, the groom's mother, was in a street length sheath of green crepe with matching bolero jacket, black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and fern.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Legion Hall in Richmond, the bride's table being centered with a two tier wedding cake, flanked by candles and low bowls of baby mums.

The bride's gown and the attendants frocks were made by the groom's mother, Mrs. Kenneth McNeill. Following the reception the bridal couple, maid of honor and bridesmaid visited the groom's grandmother, who was unable to attend the ceremony.

Later, the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to the state of Vermont, and surrounding district, the bride travelling in a tailored green wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Out of town guests were from Montreal, Sherbrooke, Chambly, Danville, New York, Beaufield, South Durham, Kingsbury, Melbourne and Huntingville.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeill have taken up residence at 21 Pine Street, Danville.

Recommend Time Lapse

Should a woman tint her hair at the same time she gets a permanent? Manufacturers of both types of products recommend that a week or two be allowed between the two applications. Give yourself the permanent first. It may slightly lighten the shade of some color-treated hair. Incidentally, you need a home wave only every three or four months but coloring more often, depending upon how fast your hair grows.

depend on Allatt's PRIZE BAKERY

★ Today's recipe ★

MINCMEAT PINWHEELS

2 cups sifted flour
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1-3/4 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
Milk (about 1/2 cup)
thick mincemeat
Broken walnuts and halved candied cherries

Measure once-sifted flour and sift again with baking powder and salt.

Cut in shortening finely, using two knives or a pastry blender.

Beat egg slightly and add 1-3 cup milk. Mix lightly into dry ingredients. Lightly mix in enough additional milk to make a dough which is soft but not sticky.

Turn dough out on lightly floured surface and knead gently for 10 or 15 seconds. Roll out to rectangle, about 9 to 12 inches. Spread with mincemeat within 1 inch of one of the long sides. Sprinkle with nuts and halved cherries. Roll up like jelly roll from long side, dampening edges to seal well. With sharp knife, cut in 1/4 inch slices. Place, cut sides down, in greased medium sized muffin pans. Bake in hot oven 400 degrees, about 18 minutes. At their best hot, with butter. Makes 8 to 10 pinwheels.

Blames pills for falling hair

SYDNEY, N.S.W. (AP)—A young Sydney mother was quoted today as saying that three months after she started taking oral contraceptive tablets her hair "fell out in handfuls."

The Sydney Sun quoted the woman, mother of two, as saying she also suffered blinding headaches and her weight increased 35 pounds.

"There is no doubt in my mind or my husband's that the pill was responsible for my increased weight and loss of hair," the woman said. "It was not until I stopped taking the pill three months ago that my hair started to thicken up again and the falling stopped."

Ex-CBC man pleads guilty to frauds of $40,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Patrice Bouchard, 43, a former accountant with the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., pleaded guilty Wednesday to defrauding the Crown corporation of nearly $40,000.

The guilty plea was entered when Bouchard appeared before Judge T. A. Fontaine Wednesday for preliminary hearing on two counts of fraud, two counts of conspiracy and one count of theft.

Sentence was postponed until Nov. 12.

The $40,000 loss occurred between January, 1962, and October, 1963. During that period Bouchard was in charge of the CBC's accounting department. He was responsible for paying freelance cameramen for their work.

Five other men already have been convicted for their part in the scheme, which involved issuing expense slips to cameramen for work which was never done or which was handled by other agencies.

Kenneth MacKay, special prosecutor in the case, told the court the expense forms used in the fraud were sometimes made out to Bouchard's friends and others to fictitious names.

If real names were used on the forms, Bouchard would approach these persons after they had received their cheques and would demand half the money, Mr. MacKay said.

The special prosecutor said the other five men convicted in the case were all sentenced to one-year jail terms. He asked the court to impose a four-year sentence on Bouchard, saying he had led the five men.

Judge Fontaine postponed sentence until Roland Blais, defence lawyer, can make special representations.

Soquem soon

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Resources Minister Rene Levesque said Wednesday a provincially-owned mining corporation called Soquem will begin operations Nov. 1.

Announcement of Soquem's establishment was made earlier this year.

Mr. Levesque said Soquem will have a share-capital of $15,000,000 which will be entirely subscribed by the provincial government at the rate of $1,500,000 over 10 years.

Would up income

ST. ANDRE AVELLIN, Que. (CP) — Creditiste Leader Real Caouette said Wednesday night that Canada needs a national farm policy to help raise income of eastern farmers to the same level as that of those in the west.

Speaking before 250 persons at an election rally for his son Gilles in this farming community 60 miles west of Montreal, Mr. Caouette said western farmers have an annual income of $6,500 compared to a $1,500 income in the east.

He said that if Canada had a sensible farm policy, young people would stay on the land rather than go to urban areas to find work.

A Pelletier less

MONTREAL (CP) — One of the two Gerard Pelletiers who announced their participation in the Montreal Hochelaga campaign for the Nov. 8 general election, a printer, said Wednesday night he was withdrawing from the race because the campaign made him "too nervous."

The printing Pelletier said his health was not good enough and he thought the campaign would be too much of a strain. He automatically loses his $200 deposit.

The retired candidate had been running as an independent Liberal.

News flashes from around the world

WELLINGTON (Reuters)—Finance Minister Harry Lake of New Zealand Wednesday night called newspaper magnate Lord Thomson one of the "old-style entrepreneurs" with an insatiable appetite for newspapers.

Lake was speaking in support of the news media ownership bill, which came before Parliament for its second reading. The bill seeks to limit overseas ownership of New Zealand news media.

Lake said that if the Canadian-born publisher's bid last year for Wellington's morning newspaper, The Dominion, had been successful, it would have been the start of the end of competition in the New Zealand press.

HALIFAX (CP)—More than 1,000 students from six Nova Scotia universities marched on the legislative buildings here Wednesday to present a six-point brief to the provincial government seeking more government aid for higher education.

The seven-page brief — presented by John Noble, president of Acadia University Student Council—was prepared in connection with demonstrations in nine Canadian provinces Wednesday, National Student Day.

MILAN (Reuters) — Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec said Wednesday night he hopes there will be closer co-operation and mutual investment between Italy and Quebec, as well as continued Italian immigration into his province.

Speaking at the opening of Quebec's commercial office in Milan, Lesage said: "Quebec, which is more and more aware of its responsibilities, cannot live in a closed box. We need to look around our frontiers to find peoples who will add to the instruments already possessed by a population much smaller than Italy's."

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—An increase in Canadian spending overseas and improvements in Canada's immigration policy were urged Wednesday by Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress.

Mr. Jodoin said Canada now spends one-fifth of one per cent of its gross national product on overseas aid for underdeveloped countries. This, he said, should be increased to one per cent.

Workers are ready to pay for the increased spending and thousands already are making voluntary contributions through their trade union organizations, he said.

HAVANA (Reuters) — Cuba today closed down the Camarioca refugee port pending a forthcoming agreement with the United States on the orderly departure of refugees from the island.

Usually reliable sources said an airlift from Varadero airport, 90 miles east of Havana, would replace the Camarioca operation in which hundreds of small boats have ferried Cubans across the Florida Straits to Miami, Fla.

The sources said the agreement was imminent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. government scientists reported Wednesday night they are trying to determine whether there is any link between nuclear fallout and preliminary evidence of unexplained, wart-like formations in thyroid glands of young people in two towns near sites of atmospheric tests.

The public health service said one inquiry involves 70 children and youths at St. George, Utah, which has experienced the highest exposure in the United States to radioactive fallout from past atmospheric tests in Nevada.

LONDON (Reuters) — Vice-Admiral Hyman Rickover, regarded as the "father" of U.S. nuclear submarines, said Wednesday night one of his superiors once asked him to weaken the submarines' radiation shields, suggesting any resulting mutations of human beings might prove beneficial.

Rickover was pleading for laws to regulate the employment of new technologies, in a lecture prepared for delivery here at London's Goddard Hall.

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario report of the New Democratic Party Wednesday night denied published reports that he said Monday employees of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. at Deep River are being politically intimidated in favor of the Liberals in the federal election campaign.

Donald C. MacDonald said in an interview: "In my original statement in reference to Deep River employees... I deplored the fact that they had been denied their full political rights. But I made no reference at all to any discrimination in favor of the Liberals as in the case at Camp Petawawa..."

buses arrived on time. Lennoxville school buses were about 15 minutes late.

City police report no serious accidents.

Four inches of snow had fallen at the Sherbrooke Airport just outside East Angus by 8 a.m. while Magog reported four and a half inches at the same time. Police there reported roads slippery, many cars stuck but buses operating on time.

In Cowansville a snow plow, grader and sand were used to clear the four to five inches of snow measured at 7 a.m.

A fifteen-year-old girl, Louise Lemieux, was struck by a car in Bromptonville when she crossed the road to catch her school bus to Sherbrooke. Roads were reported icy.

Plows and sanding operations were being carried out at the Eastern Townships Autoroute where five cars and one butane gas trailer were seen in the ditch. No damage or injuries resulted, however.

On Route No. 1 cars were in ditches and scattered about roads unable to climb the hills near Beauville. The provincial department of transport reported roads in very poor condition, slippery and covered with snow. Plowing operations began at 6 a.m. on Route 1, Route 5 from Sherbrooke to Rock Island, Route 22 from Sherbrooke to Norton Mills, Route 28 to Cookshire and Route 32 to Asbestos and Richmond.

THE MARKET TODAY

(Greenshields Ltd.)

In the current fiscal year (ends June 30, next) Quebec Natural Gas should earn a minimum 65¢ a share and by 1970 between $1.17 and $1.22. Prospects for increasing sales of gas are bright.

Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. said it would produce more than $500,000 worth of electric drive equipment for a previously announced additional newspaper machine at the Powell River Mill of MacMillan Bloedel & Powell River Ltd.

Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting reports 9 months earnings as at Sept. 30-65 of $4.13 as against $3.50 in the 1964 period. For six months ended June 30-65 net income was equal to $2.64 a share versus $2.13 in 1964.

Hudson's Bay Oil & Gas reports quarterly earnings as at Sept. 30-65 of 22¢ as against 19¢ in the quarterly period of 1964. The company in July acquired 8,400,000 acres in the East Coast by filing on approximately southern portion of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and adjoining coastal land areas. The major part of this acreage is offshore and is covered by filings with the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Established for 91 years in the metropolis of the Eastern Townships Sherbrooke Trust Company is looked upon by residents more as an institution than a business.

Those interested in Townships history will recall when the company was named The Sherbrooke Loan and Mortgage Company between 1886 and 1925.

OLDEST COMPANY

The company was first incorporated under the Consolidated Statutes for Lower Canada in 1874, making it the oldest Trust Company in Quebec and the second oldest in Canada.

First name of the Company was The Sherbrooke Permanent Building Society, a name which remained until 1886 when the company became The Sherbrooke Loan and Mortgage Company.

Then in 1925 it received its present-day name, The Sherbrooke Trust Company Limited.

In 1931 the company moved to its present headquarters at 75 Wellington Street North in Sherbrooke when it was a two-storey building.

Marking a long history of repeated expansion, Sherbrooke Trust added three more storeys to its head office in 1957. Last spring renovations to the original first two floors were completed.

RENOVATIONS The banking hall was completely renovated, combining stately grandeur and modern facilities. A new floor of imported marble, walnut and marble counters, comfortable lounging accommodations for clients and a remarkable efficient lighting system were installed.

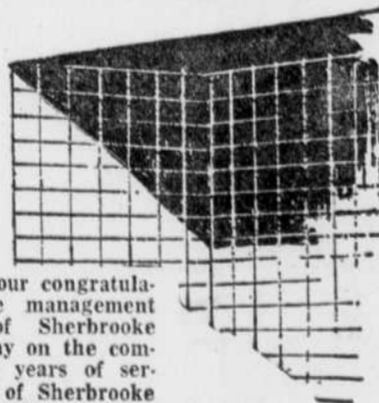

A mezzanine was constructed to enlarge the Savings Department, designed to accommodate twelve more employees. The Board Room was also enlarged and the two main doors leading to the banking hall were completely modernized. These renovations were particularly planned for spaciousness and customer convenience.

NEW BRANCHES

Opening of new branches is planned to keep pace with the increasing volume of business and to offer even more challenging opportunities to the staff. As a first step, a branch office was opened in May at Montreal. It seems fitting that the office's loca-

Gore Institute brings in gifts for Wales Home

GORE — The meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Oct. 2 at the home of Mrs. Dale Hughes, with Mrs. Wayne Griffith as co-hostess.

Eleven members answered the roll call by handing in a jar of pickles or jam to be given to the Wales Home. Mrs. S. Husk offered to deliver these to the Home. Three visitors were present.

Thank you notes for gifts were read from Mrs. Muriel Griffith and Mrs. Wayne Smith.

Mrs. S. Doyle reported on welfare and health and passed out copies of a tea company Landcrafts for 1966, also lists of pamphlets that can be borrowed by the W.I. from Macdonald College.

Mrs. M. Hughes, the president reminded the members of the semi-annual meeting at St. Francis College on Oct. 16. Delegates were chosen to attend.

Two guests, Mrs. Sydney Johnston and Mrs. George Johnston, gave a demonstration in making articles with Ceramic Plastic tile which was interesting.

Mrs. S. Husk, on behalf of the branch thanked the ladies and presented each with a cup and saucer.

The monthly drawing was won by Mrs. M. Hughes.

The November meeting will be held with Mrs. Galen Coote. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Annual meeting of Bible Society

RICHMOND — The annual meeting of the Richmond - Melbourne branch of the Canadian Bible Society will be held at the Wales Home, on Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. T. Dale Jones, secretary of the Montreal district, will be present to show interesting movies.

LISGAR

Mr. Harold Gunter, Montreal, spent a few days at his home here.

Miss Marion Mennie, Sherbrooke, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fleming, Gallup Hill, were visiting Mrs. Calvin Fleming.

SAWYERVILLE

Mrs. Alden King has moved to Beamsville, Ont., where Mr. and Mrs. King have employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Hodge have moved recently to Mr. Alden King's farm.

Mr. and Mrs. White, who conducted children's meetings for a week in the Sawyerville Baptist Church, have left for their home in New Brunswick.

Mrs. George Stainthorpe, Melbourne Ridge, spent a couple of days with Mrs. Thelma Noble. Later Mr. and Mrs. Stainthorpe spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dawson, while Mr. Stainthorpe was convalescing after being a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mr. Harry Langworth is a patient in Sherbrooke Hospital under observation.

Mr. Renford Morrow and Mr. Donald Morrow of Montreal spent a few days with Mrs. Renford Morrow. Other guests at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Morrow, Mr. Harold McCormick, Island Brook and Mr. and Mrs. William Harlow and Jean of Eaton.

Mrs. Haseltine, Moe's River, is a guest of her niece, Mrs. Vincent Young and Mr. Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reed and family, Waterloo, were weekend guests of Mrs. John Reed.

SUTTON

With several members ill, or absent for other reasons, the Red Cross women workers have decided to postpone the next packing of finished articles for shipment to Montreal headquarters until Nov. 1. At the Oct. 18 meeting members tied a quilt, and did a lot of sewing. Much more work, done at homes, was brought in to store for the next shipment; the articles included more fine sweaters.

Mr. and Mrs. Royce Townsend were recently in Torrington, Conn., to attend the funeral of their brother-in-law, Mr. Harold Deming. Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Deming, the former Muriel Blake, and her son Bruce.

EAST CLIFTON

Mr. and Mrs. James Parkinson have moved to their new home in Sawyerville.

ident, CAC; Patrick T. Asselin, MP for Richmond-Wolfe; Mrs. J. Kirstein, recording secretary, CAC. The meeting was held at the Asbestos Golf and Country Club. (Record photo by Wm. H. Lunan)

Expo-67 explained at CAC

ASBESTOS — The fall meeting of the Asbestos-Danville branch of the Consumers Association of Canada was held Oct. 20 at the Asbestos Golf and Country Club, with Mrs. A. Day presiding.

After a short business meeting, the guest speaker, Jacques Lamer, of Expo-67, financial division, was introduced by Mrs. J. M. Fletcher.

In his remarks, Mr. Lamer gave a brief outline of what is Expo-67, who runs Expo-67, who will participate, who will attend it and the geographical areas of Expo-67.

In dealing with the theme, Man and His World, Mr. Lamer stated that there were many sub-themes arising from the four general theme subjects: man the explorer, man the producer, man the creator and man in the community. Mr. Lamer augmented his talk by a colored film and was assisted by Jean Boileau.

Mrs. C. Hoyle thanked the speaker and his assistant for their fine demonstration.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. M. MacDonald and Mrs. R. McDougall.

Christmas play is planned by Brigham UCW

BRIGHAM — The United Church Women held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Moynan. Nearly all members were present.

The devotional period was taken by the vice-president, Mrs. George Patterson, assisted by Mrs. Denis Wilkinson.

Plans were made for the presentation of a Christmas play, Gifts that Money Can't Buy, to be given by U. C. W. Members.

Mrs. Carl Wilkins, Card convener, had the members sign a get-well card which was sent to the president, Miss Grace Hawthorne, who has been a patient in the B. M. P. Hospital, Sweetsburg.

The tea, sale of work and food to be held in the Church Hall on Nov. 20 was discussed and tentative plans made.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess. The November meeting will be with the president, Miss Grace Hawthorne.

Duboyce's Corner couple observes golden wedding

DUBOYCE'S CORNER — A pleasant evening was enjoyed at the Rebekeh Hall recently on the occasion of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Stone.

Over 100 guests gathered to pay respects to the couple, who have spent their entire married life in the community, where they have been devoted workers in church and other activities.

A mock wedding was performed by six Rebekeh's, with Mrs. H. Sanborn as bride, Mrs. Falle, groom, Mrs. McKeerrell, father, Mrs. E. Edgington, best man, Mrs. Alice Whitchee bridesmaid, and Mrs. Porritt, minister.

Music for dancing was furnished by Phyllis Frizzle and Ray Duboyce.

Mr. Earl Dryden was MC for the evening and spoke of the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Stone are held by their friends and neighbors. The guests of honor received many gifts.

Refreshments were served by the couples two daughters, Mrs. Sewell Davis, Brome and Mrs. A. Thompson, Stanbridge East,

Harvest tea, sale held by AUUW at Derby Line

WATERVILLE — The Catholic Women's League held a well attended Harvest tea on Oct. 16.

The church hall was attractively decorated with arrangements of vegetables, fruit and stalks of grain, the latter forming centerpieces for each table.

Mrs. W. Willard was in charge of decorations and Mrs. D. Halchak convoked the tea. Tickets were sold by Mrs. A. Olivier.

The food sale table was looked after by Mrs. P. Bean and Mrs. R. Kezar.

A variety of attractive articles were sold by Mrs. M. O'Malley and Mrs. R. Smith at the fancy work table.

Itchy trigger fingers should be SCRATCHED, not pulled

This is a new slogan for autumn in Quebec, the season of the hunter. Each year, certain rash souls insist upon "pulling the trigger" on insulating equipment atop power poles or towers.

To pull the trigger on power poles is an act of gross selfishness. The results of a direct hit on an insulator are often discouraging to behold. Whole areas can be blacked out for fifty miles around for many hours. The vital work of hospitals and other public institutions can be brought to an abrupt and powerless halt. The comfort, even the security of people might then be seriously affected.

The unsuccessful hunter who vents his wrath by slowly squeezing off a shot at a standing target such as an insulator proves not his skill, but his lack of regard for the welfare of his fellows.

So we urge all to scratch that trigger finger, not squeeze it, when the urge comes over you to vent your ire. And if you see some careless soul about to eliminate a poor unsuspecting insulator, for the benefit of the populace at large tell him:

Don't interfere with transmission lines!
Don't shoot at insulators.

Blue Bombers keep hopes for first place finish in WFC alive with 22-0 win over Stamps to tie them

CALGARY (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers kept alive hopes of a first-place finish in the Western Football Conference with a 22-0 victory over the faltering Calgary Stampeders in a WFC game before 22,226 fans Wednesday night.

Fullback Art Perkins paced the Bombers to the win with two touchdowns. End Farrell Funston picked up the third Bomber score. Tackle Norm Winton converted all three touchdowns and halfback Ed Ulmer booted a single.

The victory moved the Bombers into a first-place WFC tie with the Stampeders at 22 points each.

If the Stampeders lose to the British Columbia Lions in Vancouver Sunday, the Bombers would finish in first place, having beaten Calgary in two of the three seasons games between Winnipeg and Calgary.

But if the Stampeders defeat the Lions, they would take the WFC race by two points. Wednesday's game was the last of the season for the Bombers.

Saskatchewan Roughriders, who have captured third place and a playoff spot with 15 points, meet the last-place Edmonton Eskimos in Edmonton Saturday in the last season match for both clubs. The Eskimos have 10 points.

The Lions, Grey Cup champions in 1964, dropped to fourth place this year and are out of the playoffs at 13 points.

Although the Lions could tie the Riders in the standings, the Riders have the best scoring record of the two clubs in games against one another.

Naskapis Club leading Molson's Fishing Tournament, Stanstead County Fish and Game Club second

The Naskapis Fish and Game Club is currently leading the 11th annual Molson's Fishing Tournament according to the latest release. Stanstead County Fish and Game Club holds second spot with the Lake St. John Fish and Game Association in third position.

All clubs are reminded that the Tournament ends Saturday, Oct. 30, and that all entries must be in not later than November 15. The Judges' committee will hold their annual meeting Nov. 24 to verify the entries and name the winners.

Members of the Lake Memphremagog Conservation Club are leading in three different classes while one member of the Stanstead Fish and Game Club tops another section. Dr. J. C. Kickison of the Memphremagog Conservation Club is leading section 'G' of the tournament while the S.E.R.A. Fishing Association, Shell Oil, is the top private association while the Verdun Yacht Club is leading their section.

Frank McMahon withdraws bid for NHL franchise leaving road wide open for Fred Hume and his Canucks

VANCOUVER (CP) — Industrialist Frank McMahon said Wednesday his group is withdrawing its application for a National Hockey League franchise here.

The announcement left the way clear for Fred Hume, former Vancouver mayor, and his associates to go after an NHL berth. Hume owns Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League.

In Portland, Ore., meanwhile, directors of Portland Buckaroos announced they won't seek a berth in the NHL but will continue to upgrade the calibre of the WHL, of which Portland is a member.

The NHL earlier this month gave provisional approval to a Vancouver franchise for 1967-68, but told McMahon and Hume to get together and place a single bid.

McMahon said in a letter his group was withdrawing its application. The letter called Hume "a life-long friend of hockey on the Pacific Coast."

Player fires fantastic 62 in Aussie Open

ADELAIDE (AP) — South Africa's Gary Player shot a record-breaking 62 in the first round of the Australian Open at Adelaide's Kooyonga golf course today then, bitterly criticizing himself for not breaking 60, went to a gymnasium for a workout.

Player's 11-under-par 62 gave him a four-stroke lead over Jack Nicklaus, who had a 66, with Australians Darrell Welch and John Sullivan another stroke behind with 67s.

Player started with an eagle three and set a world record 28-nine under par—for the first nine holes. He came home in 34 to equal the world record for open golf. He had a total of 10 birdies.

Golf writers claimed his 62 equaled Spanish Canada Cup player Ramon Sota's 62 in the 1965 French Open.

Montreal Canadiens continued their winning ways and Toronto Maple Leafs ended a two-game scoring famine in National Hockey League action Wednesday night.

Jean Beliveau scored a power-play goal with less than six minutes remaining to give the Canadiens a 4-3 victory over New York Rangers before 12,477 fans at the Forum. It was Montreal's third victory in as many games.

In Boston, Frank Mahovlich scored a power-play goal at the six minute mark of the second period to give Toronto a 2-1 victory over the Bruins.

Right winger Claude Provost opened Montreal's scoring at 14:21 of the first period as he combined with Henri Richard and Jean-Guy Talbot.

However, Donnie Marshall, former Montreal player, got that one back with less than two minutes gone in the second period as he backhanded a high shot over a sprawling Lorne (Gump) Worsley, Canadiens defenseman Jacques Laperrerie was serving a penalty at the time.

RICHARD GOT LEAD
Five minutes later Richard gave Montreal the lead for the second time as New York's Red Selving sat out a penalty.

New York came back less than three minutes before the period ended as Gary Peters, also a former Montrealer, recorded his first goal as a Ranger.

Montreal went ahead 3-2 at 4:42 of the final period when defenseman J. C. Tremblay took a 70-foot bouncing shot that trickled between rookie goaltender Ed Giacomin's pads.

New York's Doug Robinson got behind two Montreal defenders, took a pass from winger John McKenzie and sailed in unmoled to beat Worsley cleanly.

Beliveau's marker ended the scoring although both clubs had fine chances after that.

Dick Duff was given a 10-minute misconduct for arguing too strenuously about a minor assessment to Talbot and Jim Neilson of New York and Montreal's Claude Larose were given majors for fighting as referee Bill Friday called a total of 18 penalties.

Right winger Ron Ellis took a 50-foot slapshot at 14:45 of the first period that ended Toronto's scoring drought as the Leafs downed the Bruins before 8,280 fans.

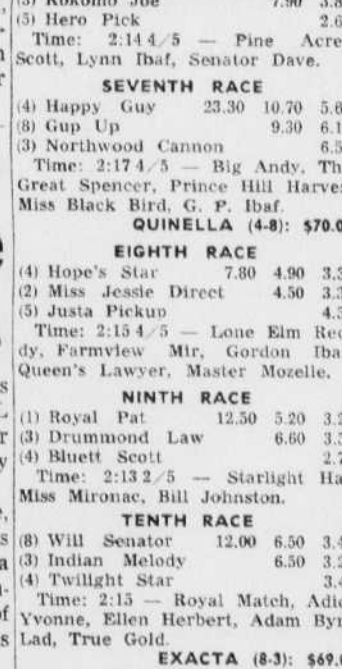

Ellis took a pass from Mahovlich at the blue line and fired a waist-high drive that broke off rookie goalie Gerry Cheever's glove and slipped between his knees.

The Leafs were blanked 4-0 by Chicago last Saturday in the season opener and Detroit clipped them 3-0 Sunday night.

Mahovlich made it 2-0 in the second period before Ron Stewart, a former Leaf, broke the ice for Boston.

HIT IN REBOUND
Mahovlich was alone at the corner of the Boston net and banged in Ed Joyal's rebound.

PHILLIES AND CARDS COMPLETE 3-FOR-3 DEAL

Jim Taylor is off on worst season yet

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Jim Taylor, off to his worst start since becoming a National Football League regular, says he isn't alarmed and his slump is nothing that two sound ankles couldn't cure.

The Green Bay Packers fullback, whose record includes an unprecedented five straight 1,000-yard seasons, has only scored one touchdown this season while carrying the ball 72 times for 224 yards and a 3.1 average.

Last year, Taylor produced 1,168 yards rushing for a 5.0 average and 12 touchdowns.

"The difference is one leg," said the bull-necked 215-pound fullback. "I'm still as fast as I ever was but I haven't had 100 per cent drive off my right leg."

Since 1960, Taylor's first full season, a strong ground game has been the Packers' hallmark, but with Taylor below par the rushing attack has been virtually puncheonless. The Packers are undefeated by virtue of a strong defence and the passing of Bart Starr.

Ron Clarke sets world running records

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australian distance runner Ron Clarke set world records for the 20,000 metres and the one-hour run at Geelong, Victoria, Wednesday night.

He clocked 59 minutes, 22.7 seconds to cut 5.6 seconds off the 20,000 metres record and covered 10 miles, 1,006 yards, one foot, 10 inches to add 46 yards to the one-hour record. Both old records were held by Bill Baillie of New Zealand and were set in Auckland, New Zealand, two years ago.

George Chuvalo's training was upset by accident to his boy, trainers discuss item of gloves

TORONTO (CP) — George Chuvalo settled back into his regular training schedule Wednesday after it was disrupted when his son, Jesse, 4, suffered severe electrical burns to his mouth.

The youngster is in the Sick Children's Hospital here after burning his mouth Tuesday on an electrical extension cord he found under the bed of a friend he and his mother were visiting.

Doctors say the boy will make a complete recovery, but skin grafting will be needed.

Chuvalo, the Canadian heavyweight champion from Toronto, is in training for his title bout against Ernie Terrell of Chicago, World Boxing Association heavyweight champion, at Maple Leaf Gardens next Monday night.

Irving Ungerman, Chuvalo's manager, said Wednesday night that the mishap to the boy disrupted training Tuesday, but everything was back to normal Wednesday.

"It bothered George considerably when he saw the poor little fellow for the first time," said Ungerman, "and of course it upset his training schedule a little."

BACK TO NORMAL
"But George is over the initial shock now and his training is back to normal. He'll be all right from now on. He knows what he has to do to be ready by Monday and he's doing it."

While George resumed training, Ungerman and Chuvalo's trainer, Ted McWhorter, resumed their battle with Terrell's advisers on the type of gloves to be used in Monday's 15-rounder.

The row erupted Tuesday when Irv Schoenwald, co-promoter of the fight, produced a set of Frager gloves.

The thumbs, said Ungerman, stuck out too far.

Sam Solomon, Terrell's trainer, and Bernie Glickman, Terrell's advisor, didn't agree.

Several unpleasanties were exchanged.

But Wednesday the Chuvalo camp, along with Schoenwald and Merv McKenzie of Toronto, Ontario athletic commissioner, hustled down to the Canadian customs branch in Toronto to look over a set of Everlast gloves.

World Water Ski tourney in Sherbrooke

AUSTRALIA—(Special) — The World Water Ski Association has awarded the 1967 World Water Ski Championships to Canada and will take place in Sherbrooke during the late summer.

This was announced by Roger Codere, director of the Canadian Water Ski Association, who is attending the 1965 World Water Ski at the Surf Paradise Garden of Australia. Mr. Codere was named as the Canadian judge for the championships by the Canadian Water Ski Association.

Jean Perrault of Sherbrooke, Janice Griffith of Toronto and Jean Rodrigue of Quebec City, all who trained in Sherbrooke the last summer are members of the Canadian team competing in the World Tournament with countries from all over the world taking part.

The weather is perfect for the championships and the people are wonderful, further added Mr. Codere. The championships opened Monday and will wind up on Saturday. The Canadian team is showing up well for their first attempt in World competition.

Lud Heimrath suffers broken leg in race

TORONTO (CP) — Ludwig Heimrath, Canada's leading race driver in 1961 and 1964 and second this year, is back in Toronto with a broken leg he didn't know he suffered until he ran uphill and down.

The 30-year-old driver, who came to Canada from Germany in 1956, suffered the injury Oct. 17 when he smashed his $16,000 McLaren in the Monterey Grand Prix at Monterey, Calif.

The car hit a hay bale on the second turn of the sixth lap, flipped over a couple of times and landed upright.

Heimrath noticed flames racing through the dry grass toward his car, so he leaped out and ran up a hill.

Then he remembered the car's ignition was still on, allowing the fuel pumps to automatically pump fuel into the fire.

Heimrath ran down to the car and switched off the ignition. Then he scampered back up the hill a second time where he sat down and watched the car burn.

But when he tried to get up, a sharp pain shot through his right leg.

"I couldn't get up," he related Wednesday, "but I didn't think the leg was broken."

Victoria and San Francisco play to draw

VICTORIA (CP) — Two top-rated teams in the Western Hockey League, Victoria Maple Leafs and San Francisco Seals, fought to a 3-3 draw in their first clash of the season here Wednesday night.

The visitors took a 3-0 second period lead but the Leafs stormed back to tie it with less than two minutes left in the game. An overtime period produced no scoring.

Half team gone

Last week, he traded third baseman Ken Boyer, the league's Most Valuable Player in 1964, to New York Mets for pitcher Al Jackson and infielder Charley Smith. Thus, almost half of the team that won the world championship is gone.

"We have added some young ballplayers to a club we expect to be fast and aggressive," he said. "If we do any more dealing, it will be with fringe players."

If Johnson, Mahaffey, Corrales, Jackson and Smith have good years in 1966, Howsam will have proved that he can meet the challenge handed him by the Cardinals and St. Louis

First place at stake tonight

Beavers take on Drumville while Victoriaville travels to St. Hyacinthe in crucial games

Sole possession of first place in the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League is at stake this evening when the Sherbrooke Beavers travel to Drummondville and Victoriaville moves to St. Hyacinthe.

Sherbrooke is tied with St. Hyacinthe, each with four points, but the Beavers have played a game more than the Gaulls. Coach Claude Savary's charges have yet to taste defeat in the current season with a 6-3 win over the Beavers and a 3-2, decision over Drummondville.

The Beavers, who have already a win over Drummondville in their first outing, will be playing their first game of the season in the Rockets' own backyard. Coach Haworth is hoping for a victory this evening as it was a tough break in dropping their initial home start to the Gaulls. It was a game which could have gone any way.

Coach Roy has been working his squad nightly at the Arena and certainly has been giving them the full treatment. He was dissatisfied with their showing against the Gaulls and since then they have been going all out.

Maurice Hurtubise of Sherbrooke, who had a trout with Clinton in the Eastern United States Hockey League, is back and working out with the Beavers. He played his junior hockey in Victoriaville and is a resident of Sherbrooke. He may be dressed for tonight's game.

Victoriaville will be playing their first game away from their home ice when they move to St. Hyacinthe this evening. The Tigers dropped their opening to the Beavers but bounced right back and walloped the Rockets of Drummondville 7-4 Tuesday evening for a real upset.

Coach Gagne, assisted by Bob Chevalier, are beginning to see results from their hard work of the past two weeks but tonight they will face a real test when they meet St. Hyacinthe. The Gaulls are tough on their home ice and will be out to protect their winning streak.
