

The Marvellous Beauty of the Commercial Metropolis of Canada as Seen From Several New Vantage Points

NEW VIEWS OF MONTREAL—The western "look-out" on Mount Royal and some of the new homes of prominent Montrealers on Pine Avenue West, as seen from the roof of the new Ritz-Carlton Hotel. From the look-out a magnificent view may be obtained, and, on a fine day, the eye can easily discern the Adirondack Mountains in New York State. The visits of tourists to Montreal are not complete unless they have viewed the Commercial Metropolis from the vantage-point of the Mountain "look-outs." The extent of the city, its rapid growth and development, and the beauty of its situation, can best be judged by views from the summit of the Mountain from which it derives its name. (Photo by Kisseck.)

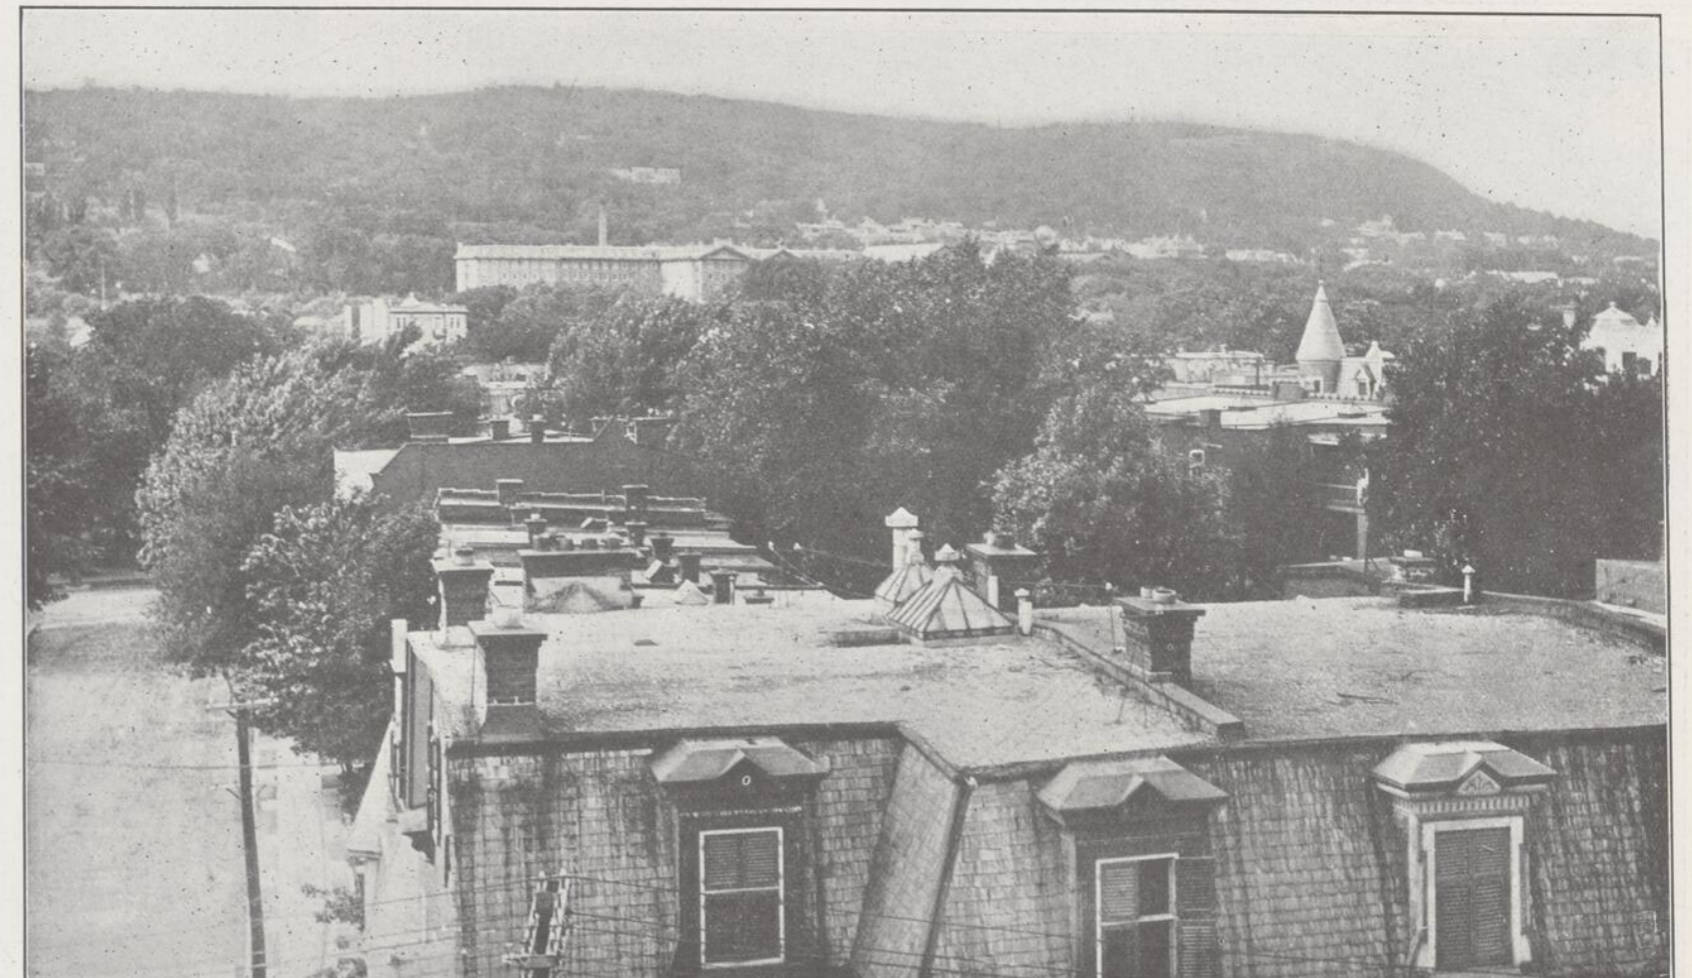

NEW VIEWS OF MONTREAL—The business and sky-scraper section of Canada's Commercial Metropolis as seen from the roof of the new Ritz-Carlton Hotel. Near the sky-line on the extreme left are seen the St. James Methodist Church and Christ Church Cathedral. To the right are the City Hall, the Court House, the Harbor Commissioners' elevator No. 2, St. Patrick's Church, the Church of Notre Dame, the high office buildings on St. James street, the Harbor Commissioners' elevator No. 1, and the river. In the middle of the picture are some of the big shops on St. Catherine street, and in the foreground, a portion of the residential section of the city. (Photo by Kisseck.)

NEW VIEWS OF MONTREAL—The western shoulder of Mount Royal as seen from Dorchester Street West. In the foreground is the Y.M.C.A. tennis court and a portion of the Western Hospital. In rear are the Montreal Baseball Grounds and the Mother-House of the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame. To the left is the Arena, in which all the big hockey matches are played. In rear is a portion of the residential section of Westmount. (Photo by Kisseck.)

NEW VIEWS OF MONTREAL—The eastern shoulder of Mount Royal as seen from Dorchester Street West. Near the centre is the Grand Seminary, in which Roman Catholic young men from all parts of America are prepared for the priesthood. In rear of the Seminary is the ground occupied by General Amherst's army of conquest in 1760. On the extreme right is the new Ritz-Carlton Hotel. This picture gives one a splendid idea of the size and beauty of Mount Royal. (Photo by Kisseck.)

ST. ROSE REGATTA; GALICIAN SETTLERS.

ONE of the best regattas of the present summer season was that which was recently held at St. Rose, pictures of which appear on this page. The proximity of St. Rose to Montreal, and the favorable weather, brought out a large attendance, and the various races and competitions were watched with great interest by hundreds of lovers of aquatic sports. Many of the events were keenly contested, but in a few the successful competitors won by a big margin. The prizes were of a nature to attract the attention of canoeists, and, in consequence, the desire to possess them caused great rivalry.

Among the other illustrations featured on this page, that showing a new life-saving apparatus is particularly interesting in view of the regulations which exist in Montreal, as well as in all other large cities of the world, with respect to the provision of adequate life-saving apparatus for large mercantile buildings, factories, schools and other structures. The apparatus shown on this page was recently tested at Birmingham, England, with highly satisfactory results.

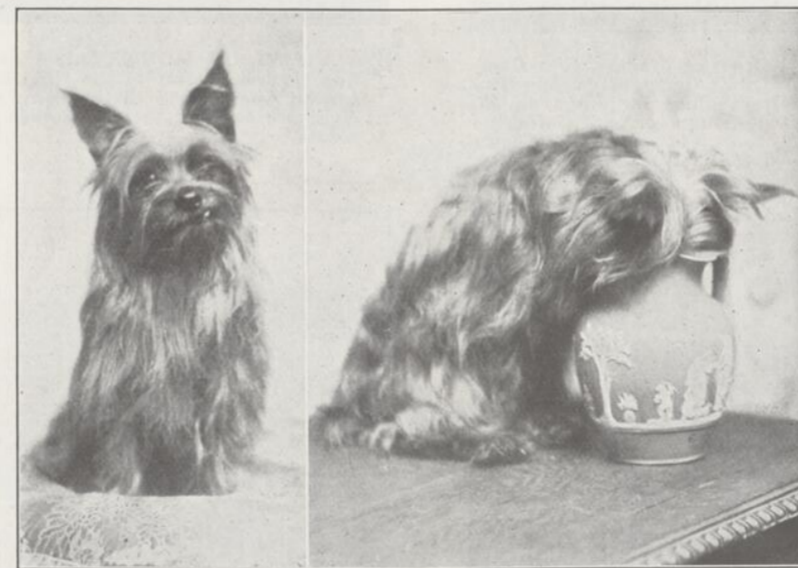

The picture of the "Peculiar Dog" will appeal to all lovers of this animal.

A GRACEFUL JUMP—Taking a hurdle on the bridle-path, Mount Royal Park, Montreal.

A NEW LIFE-SAVING APPARATUS—In Birmingham recently a demonstration took place of a new life-saving apparatus, consisting of a cradle for carrying persons from the upper stories of burning buildings to the pavements below. This apparatus is worked as follows: Cables are attached to the head of the fire escape, up and down which the cradle is drawn by means of a rope which passes through a pulley at the head of the escape. Attached to the cradle is an automatic brake, which immediately comes into action by the weight of the person if the hauling-rope should break. The cradle then at once becomes fixed on the guiding cables. The above picture shows the cradle as it would look if the hauling-line broke. (Copyright Topical.)

A PECULIAR DOG—This dog, a skye terrier owned by Miss Pennington, Dorking, England, has the extraordinary habit of thrusting his head into a large empty pitcher and remaining in that position for several hours. He was once timed, and it was found that he remained in that attitude for a space of four hours without moving. No one seems to be able to account for the strange habit.

GALICIAN TYPES OF GIPSIES—The above picture will give readers of The Standard an excellent idea of a type of foreigner which is now making Western Canada its home. The Galician settlement in Manitoba is one of the largest in the North-West. (Copyright Central News.)

A LANDMARK OF THE WAR OF 1812-14—The old powder magazine at Fort Niagara, built in 1788 and still in a good state of preservation. It witnessed many hot engagements during the war that ushered in a century of peace between Great Britain and her American daughter. A century ago this year life was not as peaceful in the Niagara Peninsula as it is at present.

The Duke of Connaught at Truro, Nova Scotia; Irrigation Works in Alberta; A Retiring Governor-General

AN INCIDENT IN THE ROYAL TOUR OF NOVA SCOTIA—During the recent visit of H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught to Truro, N.S., he unveiled a tablet to the late Col. MacNutt, first grantee of land in Colchester. The ceremony took place at the Court House, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. In the above picture, which was taken at the conclusion of the ceremony, His Royal Highness (wearing a silk hat) stands by Mr. Sheriff McLennan, with Her Royal Highness, the Princess Patricia, on his left. Mayor Stuart is on the steps, and the Lady-in-Waiting and Col. Lowther, Military Secretary, are in the foreground. (Photograph by the Sponagie Studio, Truro.)

LORD MORLEY, LORD PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL, whose impending retirement from the Asquith Ministry is being discussed in British political circles. Lord Morley's resignation, it is said, is only a matter of opportunity and of the convenience of the Prime Minister. Lord Morley is one of the most distinguished, as well as one of the ablest, members of the Asquith Government.

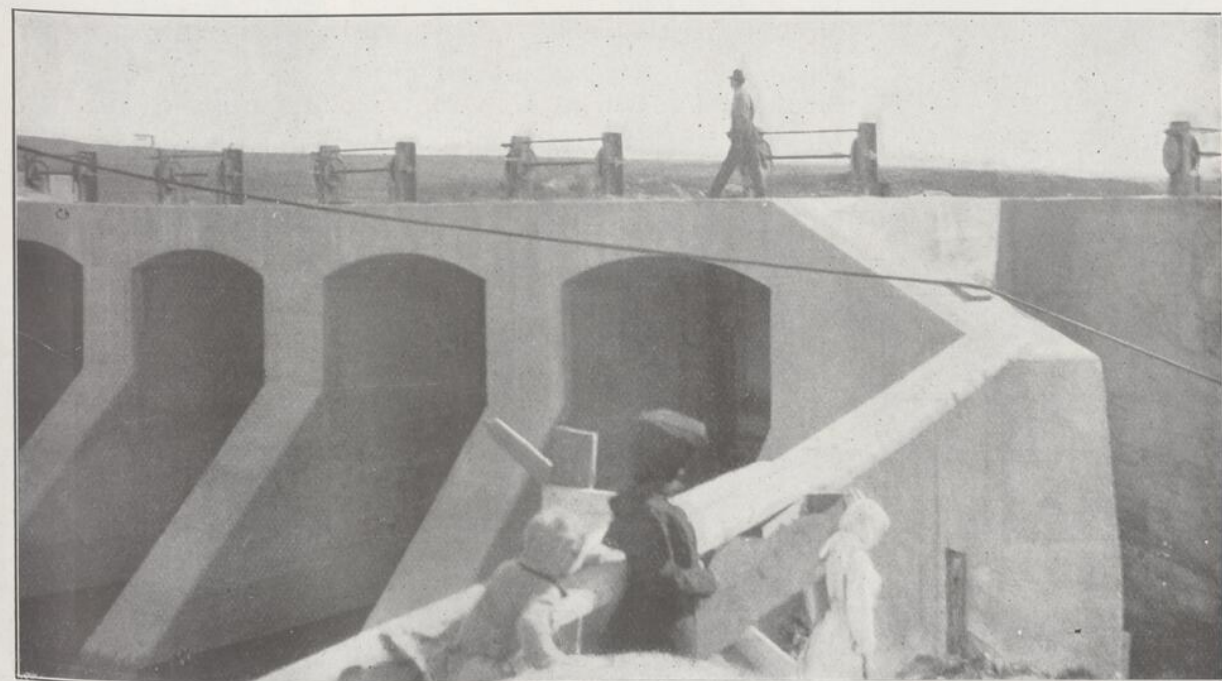

LORD GLADSTONE, GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF SOUTH AFRICA, who, it is said, will soon return from South Africa and re-enter the Asquith Cabinet. Lord Gladstone has filled the office of Governor-General of Britain's big South African Commonwealth since 1909.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO NOVA SCOTIA

THE visit of H.R.H. the Governor-General and T.R.H. the Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia to the Maritime Provinces is drawing to a close. A very successful and pleasant tour it has been, and Their Royal Highnesses have been enabled to see much of interest in the various cities and towns they have visited during the past few weeks. The illness of H.R.H. the Duchess of Connaught made it probable at one time that she would have to forego the pleasurable trip through the Provinces by the Sea, but happily she had quite recovered her usual health before the date set for the inception of the tour. As a result Her Royal Highness has been able to accompany her husband and daughter to almost every spot visited by them, although she has not participated in all the functions they have attended. During the present week Their Royal Highnesses have visited Halifax—the old fortified city-by-the-sea—and have taken part in many notable functions, chief among which was the dedication of the Tower erected to commemorate the establishment of representative government in Nova Scotia. One of the pictures on this page is illustrative of the Royal visit to Truro, where T.R.H. the Governor-General and the Princess Patricia attended a number of interesting functions, including the unveiling of a tablet to the late Col. MacNutt, first grantee of land in Colchester.

"Ross" Rifle and "Ross" Ammunition clean up everything in sight in the match rifle competitions at Bisley

In the Hopton Grand Aggregate which represents the total scores of the six big Bisley Match Shoots, at ranges of 900, 1,000 and 1,100 yards the "Ross" Rifle and "Ross" Ammunition took the first six places. Top score, 792 out of 825.

In the King's-Norton Match at 1,200 yards, a World's Record was made with Ross Rifle and Ross Ammunition. Score: 73 out of 75.

This year's triumph at Bisley, confirming previous years' results, classes the "Ross" Match Rifle as the champion of all long-range rifles in the British Empire—and probably, therefore, in the world.

Sportsmen who seek an accurate and high power arm will be glad to know that the Ross 280 High Velocity Rifle has the same barrel and breech as the military match rifle which only differs from it in the sights and style of stock. Its low trajectory and reliability have made the Ross a favorite in India with big game hunters.
