FRANCE JOINS GREAT BRITAIN IN SEEKING RELIEF FROM PAYMENTS

Expected that Other European Nations Will Follow Lead of Major Debtors in Requesting Suspension of Further Payments Due United States—President Hoover Calls Successor-Elect to Conference to Discuss Situation Created by Demands.

Washington, November 14.—Great Britain and France, each $4,000,000,000 debtors of the United States, today sought relief from further payments pending an international conference on world debt problems.

Publication of their formal requests, made to a government already on record against further reduction or cancellation, coincided with a telegram from President Hoover to President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, inviting his successor to a conference on the subject—an action without exact precedent in all presidential history.

It brought also suggestions of immediate Congressional consideration. Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, said that if "it becomes necessary to dispose of the matter at once a special session of Congress should be called."

Representative Ragon, Democrat, Arkansas, who drafted the declaration against further reductions which Congress attached to the Hoover one-year moratorium on inter-governmental debts, recommended an immediate meeting of the House Ways and Means Committee to consider the question.

His previous Congressional declaration was stressed by President Hoover in his telegram to Roosevelt, despatched from the train on which he is speeding back to the White House.

"If there is to be any change in the attitude of Congress it will be greatly affected by the views of those members who recognize you as their leader," the chief executive said. "I am loathe to proceed with recommendations to the Congress until I can have an opportunity to confer with you personally."

Friends expected Roosevelt to accept the invitation.

The British and French notes, both asking suspension of December 15th payments of $95,550,000 and $19,261,438, respectively, were considered only the first of similar requests to be made by all war debtors of the United States for a revision of obligations. December payments are the first due since the expiration of the moratorium.

A BUSINESSLIKE MOVE IN INTEREST OF WHOLE WORLD

London, Nov. 14.—The Government proceeded on the assumption today that announcement postponing further war debt payments pending a final settlement, would speed up world trade and help regain confidence.

The British proposal for suspension of payments due December 15th and amounting to $95,550,000 as made public in Washington, was officially described here as a business-like move in the interest of the whole world.

The officials believed, they said, that their announcement will have the salutary effect of stabilizing world confidence and promoting recovery of world trade.

While admitting Great Britain will keep in close touch with other nations owing money to the United States, British sources were emphatic in professing that no united front has been formed by European debtors to press the issue.

It was said the timing of her note was guided entirely by the American political situation and that President Hoover's return to Washington was not awaited because of the short time before the next payment will be due and Congress will meet.

Government quarters had but few doubts that the British proposals would be accepted, and recalled the action of the European nations in arranging to decimate German reparations at the Lausanne Conference. They stressed that the Lausanne decision bonding reparations at about $714,000,000 opened the way for final settlement in an atmosphere of "cool detachment."

It was not expected that a formal debt conference would be called in Washington, but that the United States would deal with each creditor directly.

The official British view also held that any negotiations on debts would not affect the forthcoming World Economic Conference, also projected in the Lausanne agreement, to which the United States has been invited.

The Government stressed the world standpoint in matters of debt, taking the view that the first sensation of economic relief and recovery are being felt and would be encouraged.

It was noted that the world trade was less than half its 1929 volume and that 25,000,000 were unemployed throughout the world. In the face of this situation it was contended the British move for final settlement of the war debts was an effort to further the well being of the world as a whole.

The Government had the backing of all London morning newspapers today in the debt negotiations. The press was hopeful the United States would adopt the proposals in the British note.

Acceptance will commit the United States to nothing more than a discussion with the debtors," the Times said, "and in any such discussion the American Government will, of course, pursue whatever policy it thinks best calculated to serve the interests of the United States."

HUNTER'S SHOT CLAIMS LIFE OF MONTREAL MAN

Amedee Demers Victim of Tragic Mishap in Terrebonne Woods.

Terrebonne, Que., Nov. 14.—Amedee Demers, 41, of Montreal, was shot and killed by a bullet which had been fired at two feeding deer in the neighboring woods. The bullet, of a .30-30 calibre, pierced an eight-inch thick cedar and struck Demers in the throat as he was standing on the other side of the tree. Examination of the body by a local doctor revealed that death was instantaneous.

SINGING LEGISLATORS NOW FIND THEMSELVES JOBLESS

Minnesota Voters Apparently Wanted Legislation Instead of Song.

St. Paul, Nov. 14.—Maybe the voters wanted legislation instead of song. At any rate, the singing male trio of the Minnesota House of Representatives failed of re-election. O. H. Dahl, baritone, and leader of the singers, lost Tuesday in Mower County, and Matt J. Rhone, 280-pound basso, had a similar experience in Freeborn County, while O. C. Neuman, tenor, lost in the primary. Their harmony had won attention during the dull moments in past sessions of United States Congress.

DISARMAMENT PROPOSALS TO BE DISCUSSED

British Foreign Secretary and U.S. Delegate Will Talk Things Over Before Geneva Conference Is Inaugurated.

London, Nov. 14.—Realizing that the United States will revise war debts only if Europe reduces armaments, Sir John Simons, British Foreign Secretary, who is going to Geneva, will carry with him concrete proposals intended to appeal as much to American opinion as to European. The first person he will see in Geneva will be Norman H. Davis, with whom he will discuss the British proposals before submitting them to the conference.

The Sunday Dispatch publishes a sweeping prediction that Britain will ask, first, the abolition of long-range guns like those that she has in Paris; second, the abolition of the most powerful battleships of every navy and a reduction of the cruiser limit from 10,000 to 7,000 tons; third, the outlawing of all air bombing; fourth, the reduction of European armies, and fifth, a reduction in the size and number of submarines.

There was increasing evidence that Sir John's speech in the House of Commons proposing a new anti-air pact was only a part of what he will propose at Geneva. It is assumed on all sides that Stanley Baldwin was foreshadowing the Government's proposal when he made his remarkable speech against air armaments in the Commons on Thursday. The speech everywhere is regarded not as an eloquent outburst of one man against the dangers of air armaments, but as a plain hint of what the Government intends to do.

In several sources it is asserted that the British Government will appeal for full abolition of all air forces and their prohibition by international convention. According to the Sunday Observer, the British will also propose an international agreement making the use of civil aircraft impossible for war.

As an essential preliminary to any proposals, however, the British will demand that Germany return to the conference by some such equality formula as Sir John suggested in the Commons.

SIR AUCKLAND GEDDES ON PRIVATE BUSINESS TRIP

New York, Nov. 14.—Sir Auckland Geddes, former British Ambassador to the United States, arrived on the Britannic yesterday. Sir Auckland, who is chairman of the Rhokana Corporation, a British copper firm, said his business was purely private. He declined to discuss foreign debt, politics or business, and denied that he had come to attend a conference on copper prices. It has been reported that such a conference is to be held in New York soon.

during the Battle of Cambrai when he took command of a company, all the officers of which were killed in action.

Camille Jodoin was arrested and charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and failing to have a license following an injury to Mrs. Eva Clements, 40, who was knocked down and severely hurt about the head.

Arthur Saulnier, 35, lost a hand which was caught under a moving Canadian Pacific Railway train. He was an employee of the company. Other injuries reported were of a minor nature.

PREMIER BENNETT PAYS HOMAGE AT CENOTAPH

In Toronto for the eleventh annual meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of Ontario, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, accompanied by leaders of the party, visited the Cenotaph, where the Dominion Prime Minister laid a wreath at the base of the memorial. The picture shows the group after the ceremony. FANTASTIC PROPOSALS SUBMITTED BEFORE UNITED STATES SENATORS Leading Opponent of St. Lawrence Seaway Claims United States Must Annex Eastern Canada Before Proceeding With Scheme—Only Solution Is to Trade Area South of St. Lawrence Against Part of British War Debts.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The fantastic proposal that "England" should trade in part of Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island against part of a war debt, that the United States should "purchase" by this means all the land in Canada south of the St. Lawrence river before concluding a St. Lawrence waterway treaty, was made to a Senate committee today by Peter G. Ten Eyck, president of the New York State Waterway Association.

Ten Eyck's organization is opposed to the St. Lawrence seaway project. Testifying before a Senate foreign relations sub-committee, Ten Eyck said the acquisition of such lands would be necessary to insure the United States the same benefit that Canada would derive from the waterway development.

"This is the sort of a treaty that should be negotiated before the present treaty for developing the St. Lawrence canal is considered at all," Ten Eyck told the sub-committee.

The international boundary follows the St. Lawrence from Lake Ontario to a point in northern New York. There the river departs from the United States border and flows more than 1,000 miles northeastward toward the Gulf of the St. Lawrence and the Atlantic.

Ten Eyck urged rejection of the Waterway Treaty, asserting that

GREAT BRITAIN CONDEMNED BY SOVIET PAPER

Claim Laid that British Intelligence Service Is Faking Evidence Against Joseph Stalin.

Moscow, Nov. 14.—"The bear who walks like a man" is a much-maligned animal, according to his own story. His arch enemy, the British intelligence service, has been telling awful stories about him. They are faking evidence to prove that he is responsible for fomenting the recent London "hunger march" and that he is organizing a civil war in India. All these Russian complaints are carried at great length in Joseph Stalin's official organ, Izvestia.

The paper said that in considering the end of the Anglo-Soviet trade agreement, political observers should ask themselves whether this was "only a factor in the struggle between British and American imperialism for Canada," or if it should be regarded along broader lines.

The newspaper asserted the recent breaking of the Anglo-Soviet trade agreement by the British Government "opened all flood gates for anti-Soviet propaganda," and that British leaders hoped to dissuade the United States "Government from taking action to improve its relations with Soviet Russia."

The paper said, "A fact which we shall not deny is that Stalin is not only the leader of the Soviet proletariat but that scores of millions of workers and peasants throughout the world see in him their leader. Can this mean, however, that Stalin is therefore responsible for the closing of Ford's plants and the bankruptcy of Insull, or for the expulsion of the British textile industry from the Indian market by Japanese competition?"

A report by the London Izvestia correspondent was published stating the British intelligence service, in preparation for Parliamentary interpellation against the Soviet Government, ordered its agents in Riga, Latvia, last month to "advise the Committee (the third international), under the personal direction of Stalin, organized the recent unemployed movement in England and an impending civil war in India."

WIDE RANGE OF LEGISLATION IS BEFORE HOUSE

After Five Hours' Strenuous Work With Crowbars and Sledgehammers Locksmith Did the Trick With Ordinary Key.

New York, Nov. 14.—George Schaffer, arrested on a narcotics charge, feared he was in jail for life without due process of law. When his turn came for arraignment, some one told the magistrate the lock of his cell had jammed and couldn't be opened. So Magistrate Rudick, court stenographers and attorneys grouped themselves outside his cell to take his plea of not guilty through the bars.

After the judge left, attendants worked on the lock five hours with crowbars and sledgehammers without budging it. Finally they sent for a locksmith. He put the key in the lock and opened the door. He said there was nothing wrong with it.

PARAGUAY CLAIMS TWO MAJOR VICTORIES

Asuncion, Paraguay, Nov. 14.—Two major victories were claimed for Paraguay today in the vicinity of Fort Munoz. It was officially stated that five hundred Bolivian soldiers had been killed and eighty wounded

MILITARY AUTHORITIES CONVERT CUBAN TOWN INTO FUNERAL PYRE

Destruction of Wind and Water Stricken Santa Cruz del Sur Ordered for Reasons of Sanitation—Minister of Interior Estimates Dead at 2,500, Although Wholesale Cremation Prevents Close Check-Up on Victims—Government Agencies Speed Work of Rehabilitation.

Camaguey, Cuba, November 14.—The town of Santa Cruz del Sur became a gigantic funeral pyre today on the order of military authorities.

The destruction of wind and water that also took the lives of probably two thousand five hundred Cubans last week was thus completed for the sake of sanitation.

This action made it probable that the exact number of lives taken by the hurricane of last Wednesday will never be known.

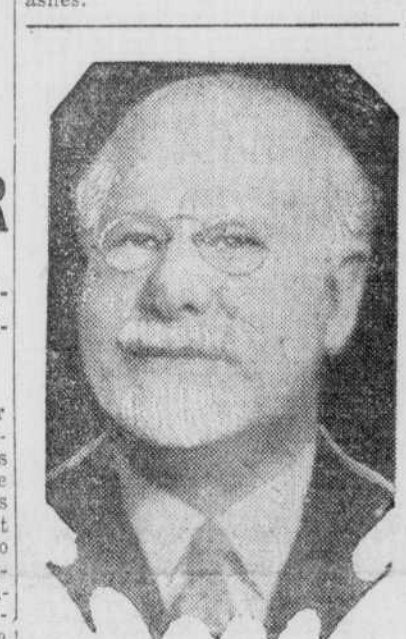

Meanwhile President Gerardo Machado was ready to leave the Capital to inspect the hurricane-torn areas, and governmental agencies sped up the task of relief and rehabilitation.

Dr. Octavio Zubizarreta, Minister of the Interior, who estimated the dead at two thousand five hundred, traversed much of the hundred-mile wide path of the hurricane during the night with military authorities.

His train carried 350 sacks of rice, 6,000 pounds of lard and 20,000 sacks of beans and other rations for temporary relief of the thousands of homeless in Camaguey province.

Camaguey City, where more than one thousand injured refugees are concentrated, mostly from Santa Cruz, today effected repairs on the aqueduct, assuring water supply. The military authorities ruled the city, and vaccination to avert epidemics was compulsory.

The destruction of Santa Cruz was proceeding with gasoline furnished through the Government. Soldiers and grave diggers were pressed into service to reduce the wreckage, under which many bodies still lay, to ashes.

FILM FANS IN LONDON ARE PRETTY PEEVED AT GARBO

Hiding Behind a Pair of Horn-Rimmed Glasses Under Name of Greta Gustafsson, Screen Actress Saw London and No One Knew Her.

London, Nov. 14.—Greta Garbo, the film actress, put on a pair of dark, horn-rimmed glasses, buttoned a heavy blue coat up around her ears and saw the sights of London last week without being identified, it was learned last night.

She registered a few days ago as Greta Gustafsson in a little Mayfair hotel. No one spotted her and now film fans of London are peeved. She could not be located last night, so it was not known whether she had gone to Paris, was on her way to Stockholm or had headed for the United States.

Miss Garbo created her "mystery" role by concealing herself in clothes not generally worn by the women of Mayfair. In addition to the horn-rimmed glasses and the heavy blue coat, she put on a pair of heavy black shoes and quite ordinary black stockings.

The Sunday Dispatch sought to explain the "Greta mystery" by saying that she had been banned from the United States by the immigration authorities. The dispatch said that the United States immigration law knows nothing of greatness or romance, and that Garbo's authorities is just another swindle and must take her place in line for a visa.

HERBERT SNELL PASSED AWAY AT MONTREAL

Prominent Business Man and Soldier, Although Only Fifty-One Years of Age, Had Had Very Successful Career.

Even With the Best of Intentions One May Get Slightly Mixed Up at Times.

Port Alberni, B.C., Nov. 14.—Wong Fee has become a little muddled in his religion. He needed food and clothing, and was advised that if he read his Bible the Lord would provide. Later he was told to be of good cheer as Santa Claus would bring him good things.

But Wong was hungry and also needed wood, so he went into the woods near his shack and cut down an old fir tree. Besides the wood he secured a little over one hundred pounds of wild bee honey which sold for $10.

Then he entered a local book store and inquired of the puzzled clerk if he had a copy of the Bible so he could read about Santa Claus.

THE WEATHER

BECOMING COLDER, PROBABLY WITH SNOW FLURRIES

An area of high pressure and cold weather extends from the lower Mackenzie Valley southward across the Western Provinces to the Northwest States. Pressure is also high on the Atlantic coast, while a deep low area is centered over Hudson Straits with a shallow trough extending southwestward across the Great Lakes to the Southwest States. Light snow and rain have occurred in many sections of Ontario and Western Quebec, while in the Maritime Provinces the weather has been fair.

Forecast: Fresh to strong south-west winds; cloudy, with some light rain, Tuesday; Fresh shifting winds, cloudy and becoming somewhat colder; probably snow flurries.

New England: Cloudy; probably occasional rain tonight and Tuesday. Tuesday: Fresh shifting winds, cold in north portion; warmer tonight; colder in north portion Tuesday.

Temperature yesterday: Maximum 35, minimum 29. Same day last year: Maximum 30, minimum 40.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Cattle receipts 998. With a much lighter offering of cattle, sellers were trying for higher prices and sales were slow in starting. Early sales of common quality light steers, heifers and common to medium cows to little butchers were made at around $2 to $2.25 per hundredweight and were estimated to be 25 to 50 cents higher. The butcher cattle were practically all common to just medium quality and prices on the few lots of this kind that were sold were estimated to be around 25 cents higher. One lot of medium good heavy steers sold for $3.55 and two good loads of heavy, rough steers in part flesh brought $3.35. There were only a couple of loads of good cattle on sale and these were not sold at time of writing. A few fed calves were sold from $5 to $6.25. Milch cows were nominally quoted at $35 to $50.

Quotations: Ewes, $1.25 to $2.50, lambs, good, $4.50 to $4.60, common, $3 to $4.

Hog receipts 4,819. Hogs were slow. There were only four cars of northwest hogs. The balance were from Ontario and Quebec. The bulk from Ontario. Between 1,200 and 1,500 hogs were sold at $4, fed and watered for good quality hogs. Sows were about steady at $2.50 to $3.25.

Calf receipts 1,321. Veal calves and fair to good drinkers were weighed early at about steady prices. Common grassers were slow at just steady prices with those of better quality steady to 25 cents higher. Fair to good calves in mixtures brought around $6 with good kinds at $6.50. Common light veals brought $5.25 to $5.50. Drinkers ranged from $3 up, according to quality. Grassers ranged from $1.75 to $2.40, with the bulk of the sales around $2.

LIBERALS SEEM TO BE IN A REAL FIGHTING MOOD

Ontario Leaders Challenge Both Federal and Provincial Governments to Call General Elections—Favor Free Speech for Communists.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—The Ontario Liberal party today had cast before the Provincial Government a challenge for a general election in which it predicted for itself a victory "as sweeping as that of the Democrats" in the recent United States elections. The date, issued by Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader at the annual meeting of the Twentieth Century Liberal Association Saturday, was followed quickly by a similar challenge to the Dominion Government by Hon. John C. Elliott, former Minister of Public Works in the Liberal Government of Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King.

His assault on Hydro followed a warning by Premier George S. Henry, of Ontario, less than a week before that continued criticism of that public utility might result in its "passing out of the picture."

The Liberal leader urged a coalition of all forces opposed to Conservatism in Ontario and said the Liberal party extended a hand of fellowship to Labor and to the Progressive because their policies were "not far apart."

Mr. Elliott maintained recent by-elections showed a swing to Liberalism which, in Ontario, is credited to the ability of Mr. Hepburn as a campaigner.

He turned to attack the Dominion administration for its ratification of the Ottawa Conference agreements which committed the country for a period of five years to "tariffs of men and of heights," and blamed Prime Minister R. B. Bennett for failure to find remedial measures for the depression in this country.

During the day the convention passed a resolution favoring right of free speech for Communist and other radical groups and urging cessation of efforts to curb them by forceful means.

Mr. Elliott maintained recent by-elections showed a swing to Liberalism which, in Ontario, is credited to the ability of Mr. Hepburn as a campaigner.

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN AGAINST GOLD FILLINGS IN TEETH

Moscow, Nov. 14.—A campaign against gold fillings in teeth was launched last night by the newspaper Evening Moscow, which exhorted the Soviet masses not to hide gold in your mouth, for by so doing you reduce your ability to import necessary machinery.

The newspaper estimated that five tons are required to fill Russia's teeth, and pointed out that this gold was precious metal needed for purchases abroad.

The paper called attention to a nontrusting alloy filling for teeth which Soviet scientists recently developed.

HUNTINGVILLE

Ninety friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cox assembled at their home on Friday evening, October 21, to give their son, Mr. John Cox, a surprise and congratulate him on his twenty-first birthday. An enjoyable evening was spent with cards and dancing, and refreshments were served. The climax of the pleasant event was the presentation to Mr. Cox of a handsome gold wrist watch. The recipient expressed his sincere thanks to his friends for their token of esteem and their kindness in planning such a happy surprise.

The sale and supper under the auspices of the Willing Workers took place on Wednesday afternoon and evening and was well patronized. On the sales tables were various useful and fancy articles, as well as jam and jellies and several bags of cereals and flour donated by Mr. Kenneth Hunting, Messrs. J. A. Cowan, Ernest Hunting and Archie Hunting capably attended to the wants of the purchasers, while in a nearby darkened corner Mrs. Townshend, in witch's guise, cleverly depicted one's past, present and future from the cards, a task which she was fully occupied throughout the entire evening. A beautiful basket quilt, representing many hours of fine handiwork, had been previously sold. The lucky number drawn was held by Mr. Emery Lord, of Hatley. The proceeds of the evening added substantially to the funds of the society.

Miss Sarah McKeage, R.N., of Quebec, is spending a short holiday at her home here.

Misses Theima and Jean Hyatt gave a party on the evening of Halloween. About twenty friends spent an enjoyable evening at which Halloween games and decorations predominated.

MANY MEETINGS BEING PLANNED AT WASHINGTON

St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty Among Matters to Be Discussed Prior to December Session of United States Congress.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Capitol Hill will buzz with committee hearings this week in preparation for the December session of the United States Congress.

The programme gets under way today with the opening of hearings on the St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty between Canada and the United States before a Senate foreign relations sub-committee.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, chairman, will conduct the proceedings, which committee members believe have an important bearing on whether the treaty will be ratified in view of the opposition from some Democratic quarters.

Sensors Wagner, of New York; Walsh, of Montana; and Swanson, of Virginia, all Democrats, will share in questioning witnesses invited, among whom are Alfred P. Thom, of Washington, representing the Association of Railway Executives; Peter C. Ten Eyck, president of the New York State Waterways Association, and C. H. Tregeza, representing the Great Lakes Seaboard Association.

Later, Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the New York State Power Authority, is to be called.

In the course of the hearings, the attitude of President-elect Franklin Roosevelt toward the treaty negotiated last summer, under the direction of President Herbert Hoover, probably will be clarified. Mr. Roosevelt opposed the United States Government's action in negotiating the treaty without first securing the approval of the New York State Power Authority.

An investigation into the Delaware and Eastern Pennsylvania elections will be opened on Tuesday before the House campaign funds committee.

ANOTHER MARINE EXPLOSION

Durham, England, Nov. 14.—Two miners were killed in an explosion today in the colliery of Pease and Partners at Ushaw Moor near here. The explosion, which occurred deep inside the mine, but whose resultant fire-damp was believed confined to a small area, was the second within two days. Twenty-five miners were guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. L. Gustin, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Sharon and Miss Thelma Sharon were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Sharon and sister, Mrs. S. G. Stoddard, and family, on Sunday, November 6.

Mr. L. L. Vaughan, Mr. Fred Dunn and Miss Jennie Dunn were recent visitors in Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Waid, of Stanstead, were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Dunn, Sr., recently.

Those from out of town who attended the baked bean supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Butler on Friday evening, November 4, were Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Robinson, of North Hatley, Messrs. Clark and Brough and the Misses Evelyn Oliver, Helen Robertson and Doris Clark, of Sherbrooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Temple and son, Russell, of Derby, were visitors on Saturday, November 5, of his sister, Mrs. G. C. Curtis, and Mr. Curtis.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Butler entertained on Sunday, November 6, Mr. C. A. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Chapman and daughter, Freda, and Mr. George Chapman, all of Frost Village.

Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Sawyerville, was the speaker here on November 6 at the services in the Brick school-house.

The bean supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Butler on November 4, was a general success and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Mr. H. G. Ayer is repairing his horse-barn.

HOPES TO BEAT TRANS-AFRICAN FLIGHT RECORD

Amy Johnson Took Off This Morning in Attempt to Better Mark of Four Days and Seventeen Hours Set by Husband, J. A. Mollison.

Lymington, England, Nov. 14.—Amy Johnson, Great Britain's premier woman flier and in private life Mrs. J. A. Mollison, took off today for a long flight to South Africa in an attempt to beat her husband's record of four days, seventeen hours and nineteen minutes for the same trip.

Mrs. Mollison was flying in her new plane, named "Desert Cloud." The plane is silver colored and bears bright green registration letters.

Equipped with special fuel tanks, the ship is expected to be able to have a flying range of about 2,000 miles.

The aviator is wearing the badge of St. Christopher, the patron saint of travel, worn by her husband on his trans-Atlantic flight from Dublin.

Mrs. Mollison hoped to reach Oorah for Colombo, Bazar, Saharan, Mass, Regga, Gova, Niamely, Duna, Paola de Loanda, Walifish Bay. The plane will make a 1,500 mile desert hop during the night. Amy spent six weeks in planning the flight. She financed it herself, the enterprise costing about $2,000.

CHANGING THE GUARD

From their grim march and serious mien you'd think these boys were off to war or a riot or something. You're wrong if you do. They're merely changing the guard at Buckingham Palace, London, an old English custom of the British Capital.

TWENTY SUMMER HOMES ROBBED AT KNOWLTON

Montreal Proprietors Arrived Over Week-End to Discover Thieves Had Worked General Havoc in Cottages on Fisher's Point and Conference Heights.

Knowlton, Nov. 14.—The story of wide-spread robberies cannot be suppressed for long.

When the proprietors of various cottages that had been broken into and robbed in this district arrived over the week-end, the police authorities were forced to divulge the information that in the neighborhood of twenty summer homes had been ransacked during the course of the past few weeks.

Ten or fifteen cottages on Fisher's Point, about six at Conference Heights and one at Bondville were found to have been entered. General disorder prevailed inside the cottages, the thieves having ransacked them and escaped, in the majority of cases, with valuable pieces of furniture. In one cottage about half the furniture had been removed and the other half packed and prepared to be taken out. In another cottage a case of valuable silverware was forced open but, strangely, none of it was stolen.

No trace, as yet, has been found of the culprits. Provincial detectives, working in the neighborhood, are also investigating this situation.

RUSSIA'S WHITE COLLAR WORKERS HAVE NEW JOBS

Thirty Thousand to Be Transferred from Office Work to Jobs in Fields and Factories.

Moscow, Nov. 14.—Russia's white collar workers to the number of between 25,000 and 30,000 are to be transferred from office work to jobs in the fields and factories.

The change is to be made, it was explained, on the theory that inefficiency has grown with bureaucracy in the government and economic organizations. The "great clutter of minor employees in virtually every government bureau" is held chiefly responsible.

The white collar men who are to be discharged will receive twelve days' notice and then their names will go on the labor bureau register for new work in other fields.

Five thousand bookkeepers and clerks will go to work on the farms. Many others will be sent into the factories. Every state organization in Moscow has been ordered to reduce its staff by 15 per cent to comply with the new regulations.

LARGE CROWD THRILLED AS "POWDER ROCKET" CRASHED

Berlin Aviation Enthusiasts Witnessed Unique Demonstration.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—Berlin aviation enthusiasts witnessed a demonstration of "The Powder Rocket" at Tempelhof Airport here yesterday.

The rocket, a torpedo-shaped device, soared to an altitude of 2,000 feet like a fiery comet and landed about 1,600 feet from the start.

A second attempt by Reinhold Tilling, possessor of the rocket, to delight the crowd ended in failure when the instrument took a vertical course and dashed to the ground at full speed. It was demolished.

BOOTLEGGERS ARE OFFERING REAL BARGAINS

Today in New York City One Can Get a Cheaper Drink and Replenish the Stock More Easily Than in the "Good Old Days."

New York, Nov. 14.—"Bring back those good old days," long New York's favorite lament, had lost its popularity today.

The metropolis considered to set the pace for the rest of the United States was more wide-open than it had even been since one Mr. Volstead brought tears to the eyes of the thirsty.

Close in the wake of the vote landslide that elected Franklin Roosevelt president on a platform containing a liquor-law repeal plank, the traders in illicit liquor sensed an end to their lucrative business. The result was a quick cut in the price for a synthetic product they feared would be left on their hands if and when the goods they call "the real McCoy" arrived on the market.

Today it was cheaper and just about as easy to replenish the cellar's stock or satisfy immediate personal needs as in those "good old days." Fifty per cent reductions were reported in the price of gin, bringing the cost of a product smelling suspiciously like bargain store perfume, down to fifty cents a quart. Bottled goods bearing the label of a Scotch that brings $4 a quart in Canada could be procured on the East Side, West Side, almost anywhere and the town for half that amount. Beer that sold for twenty-five cents a small glass in speakeasies almost as old as the Volstead Act itself, could be had at ten and fifteen cents.

A number of New York's bootleggers were known to be in Nova Scotia seeking vessels to transport Scotch refreshments from St. Pierre and Miquelon to rum runs along the Atlantic seaboard. They presumably figured few juries would convict on liquor charges in the face of the large vote polled for President-elect Roosevelt and his repeal plank.

WATERVILLE

The autumn thanks offering meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church was held at the home of Mr. Philip Colquhoun with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. W. G. Snow, presided. The meeting opened with prayer, followed by the devotional leaflet on "Dorcas," read by Miss Harriet Woodside. A short musical programme followed. Mrs. Roy Beckett delighted the audience with a piano solo. Mrs. R. L. Gale and Miss Gladys Swanson rendered vocal solos. Mrs. H. S. Ball took this opportunity to read a letter from Rev. Ralph and Mrs. Collins, who are missionaries in Africa. At the close of a most interesting meeting, Mrs. Colquhoun served afternoon tea, and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

The Waterville Brotherhood held its opening meeting when a bountiful supper was served a large number of members by the following ladies: Messrs. P. A. Parsons, A. E. Wharham, J. H. Woodside, Arthur Bell and Oscar Johnston. Following supper, a business session was presided over by the president, Mr. H. S. Ball. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, J. H. Woodside; vice-president, R. L. Gale; recording secretary, H. L. Parker; treasurer, F. E. Holtham; chairman of programme committee, Mr. H. S. Ball; chairman of entertainment committee, Mr. S. Pocock. A sing-song and games were then enjoyed by those present.

WEST BOLTON

The following clipping taken from a Manchester, N.H., paper, will be of interest to many of the older residents and relatives of deceased: "Mrs. Clara E. Whitehead, ninety-one, a native of Waterloo, Que., died on Wednesday morning at her home, 290 Hanover street, Manchester, N.H. Surviving members of the family include her one son, Stephen, with whom she resided; one daughter, Mrs. Max Miller, of this city, and fourteen grandchildren. Mrs. Whitehead was an attendant of St. Paul's M.E. Church and the funeral was held at the Wallace Funeral Home on Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Harry O. Martin, pastor of St. Paul's M.E. Church, officiated and Fred W. French was soloist. Many flowers were placed about the casket. The bearers were Edward, Robert and Fred Miller and Carl Goodwin. Burial was in Pine Grove cemetery, under the direction of George P. Wallace, of the Wallace Funeral Home." The late Mrs. Whitehead was at one time a resident of West Bolton, where she and her husband, the late Mr. Edward Whitehead, were well-known and highly respected.

W.M.S. MEETINGS

WERE HELD AT INVERNESS

Monthly Meetings of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's and the United Church Were Well Attended—Other News.

Inverness, Que., Nov. 14.—The monthly meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held in the Sunday school room on the afternoon of Friday, November 4th, the president, Mrs. Donald Flint, occupying the chair.

A special invitation had been given all ladies connected with the congregation to meet with the members of the W.M.S. on this occasion and a good number had responded to the invitation.

"India" was the topic for the day and a very interesting talk on conditions in that land was given by Mrs. Flint. A very interesting feature of the meeting was a table of exhibits of articles from that and from other foreign lands where the Presbyterian Church is seeking to spread the Gospel.

The plan proposed by the church, by which, in the following two years $25,000 may be raised for the work by the "Home Helpers," was explained and boxes to hold the one cent per month per member were handed to the ladies present.

A message to the women of the Presbyterian Church from Mrs. Campbell, of Montreal, Provincial Home Helper secretary, was read: "It is said (so runs the tale) that when our Savior ascended to heaven, his Father asked Him 'Did you finish the work I gave you to do?' 'Yes' came the reply 'I finished the work of Redemption.' 'Then' continued the Father, 'is all the world saved?' 'No, but I left the Eleven to carry on the work.' 'But if the eleven fail?' 'Then Peter will carry on.' 'And if Peter fail?' 'Then the women will carry on.' 'And if the women fail?' 'The women will not fail.' This is but a legend the comes from the West but let us stand true and faithful and each help the other Mrs. Campbell said.

C. F. BUCKLAND, Advertising Manager.

There comes the day in the life of the Bureaucrat when everything appears so quiet that nothing will wake him. To the thinking politician the candid expression is as electric as a fire song.

THE CRUELTY OF THE REVENGEFUL MEN WHO OVERTAKE US.

It was an inexpressible pollution of the sanctity of business methods—an accountancy sacrilege to which even the City Auditor, Mr. Bryce, would not sign his name without a paragraph of protest, a renewed recital of a previous warning.

There are sycophants and self-seekers who may try to palliate the offence, but the minds which prepare are as grooved as the hands that will execute such a perversion of funds.

This protest is not written in the thought that it will impress an adamant mind steeped in the gloomy recesses of secrecy, so imbued with schemes and purposes that they who protest are struck at and maligned with all the energy which a vicious mind could conjure. Tyranny and savage retorts may have brought to heel some gentle aldermen, but that those men should think that their little brains could frighten real men, is just ludicrous.

We have quoted from the Records of the Corporation as printed and circulated in a limited way, and certainly not distributed to the citizens and taxpayers to whom a plain understanding report is due.

Fear to consult the citizens, too gloomy to seek their confidence after expenditures of rapacity, the obdurate aldermen approach all criticism with ruffian-like ferocity, making loud noise and spitting threats.

'Tis a species of men which even the best photographer could not produce a study of without the original chinsless wonder to pose for him.

We have for long avoided the tedious criticism of a snake-like attitude on the part of some City Councilors, and only give in gentle and mild language a small testimony of that which is to come when the books are thrown open and full details are unfolded.

We have summarized a few of the things done in open defiance of business principles.

The deletion or diversion from the reserves that should be sacred to the City Sinking Fund; The failure to tell the financial story in plain language;

The sale of city stores to city departments at a fictitious revenue profit;

The purchase of machinery from Hamilton when better machinery made in Sherbrooke was offered for a few dollars more.

There are other instalments which the present discussion only leads up to, and which will explain the ferocious increase in electric light, power and water. This savage and reactionary imposition cast now upon a city during a period of stress is an open defiance of public opinion and of a burdened people calling for relief from taxation.

Must we suffer accumulated distress through Aldermen Langis and Gelinat? Not if the other aldermen have courage.

IS A MAN REALLY "CLEVER"?

Discussing a man in public life with one of his colleagues the other day, the confere said: "I will say this for him; he's clever."

The quick reply may have surprised the speaker, for the statement was a repetition of what others had said, and had given rise to a parallel:

"So was Kreuger clever. So was Machray, of Winnipeg; so, too, were the Insull brothers. But these four men brought themselves to the lowest levels and massacred all those who were associated with them."

A man must be upright, open and square to be really clever. He must never be deceptive or Janus-faced. The mere accumulation of money does not mean that a man is clever.

THEY WOULD FORCE THE GOOD INTO THE SEA WITH THE LEAN KINE.

Unification is the term the advocates of closer co-operation of two competing railways call their plan, which is the idea advanced in the Senate.

Only men who have no understanding of individuality could conceive of the idea that the Canadian Pacific shareholders or executive will accept any form of marriage with a railway system which is of incompatible conduct in its beginnings. Nor would any considerable body of the electors suggest that a government could force them to do so.

There is the obligation of a contract and deeper binding of honour. There is the preservation of Canada's greatest asset and its outstanding barometer of national credit.

The bill in the Senate shows little conception of the larger considerations in the settlement of a railway system which has gone haywire, until it is a tangled mess of impossible trenches and dug-outs wherein lurk the hogs and huns of the parliamentary lobby.

EASING THE CURRENCY.

The scarcity of currency in the United States in 1907 created a panic in financial circles. The banks had not sufficient bank bills or currency of any kind to meet a pay-roll, and big organizations were compelled to pay a premium when they wished to pay wages and salaries.

Canada's Federal currency has been found too small for the amount of business transacted throughout the country, and the government has taken measures to increase it by a moderate amount of new bills.

Opponents of this method of relieving a situation may call it "inflation," but no such thought was given to the same measure adopted in the United States to correct a similar shortage of pocket currency.

There are some who will magnify the incident of this relief measure. But it is quite acceptable for domestic purposes.

The natural outcome of an increased irritant in the addition to the tax on cheques advanced the tendency of withholding currency from free circulation. It was not hoarding, but rather was it just a measure of saving an irritating tax which mounts up at three and six cents on cheques.

Perhaps the abolition of this questionable tax had brought about the same result as the issuance of thirty-five millions of new Dominion currency, bills which will quietly percolate throughout the country without causing any disturbance of par values. Rather will it tend to stimulate business.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

In 1880 all the nine provincial governments spent altogether $7,366,106. In 1930 the same nine provinces spent $183,108,139. It is easy enough to tell where all the money goes, but it is hard to tell why. Yet the municipalities of Canada caught the fever and in 1930 spent $350,000,000. Taking it all together our three-sided form of government is costing Canadians a pretty penny. Canadian governments altogether owe the staggering sum of $6,476,000,000. How long will it take to pay that off? Those responsible have played shut-eye, and most of them have disappeared. But we who linger on the stage are paying the piper.

The people who count in Canada, the people who vote, who think, who know, will stand foursquare behind the Canadian Pacific Railway that it may not be forced, willy-nilly, into an impossible alliance with a defunct and bankrupt experiment in public ownership. C.P.R. stands to the world as the proof of Canada's growing greatness, of its credit and financial stability. It would be a legislative crime to enforce upon them any merger which would be disagreeable and a detriment. We shall not crucify a sound business organization in an attempt to resuscitate a dead horse.

The request for an investigation into the price of coal and coke is being acceded to, but action at London and Washington is what is needed most. When coal ran up to $16 a ton, coke came modestly to the rescue at about $7. Now it is double that price. Then blowers came in using buckwheat coal at $6. Now it is $10. It is not alleged that there is any combination among Canadian dealers, but it is suspected that there is some understanding among the Welsh and Pennsylvania operators.

Dr. Cameron Wilson, M.P.P. for London South has the peculiar idea that he can be a partaker of Government patronage whilst he is a Conservative member of the Legislature. He gets $2,400 a year from the Federal Government as an examining physician whilst accepting a sessional allowance at Toronto. One would think that a man, once acclaimed a representative, would be more prideful of his elective position than to besmirch it.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record.

November 14th, 1902.

Departures included Mrs. Alexander Woods and Miss W. Woods for their home in Toronto after a visit to relatives; Henry A. Elkins to spend some time with his daughter, Mrs. R. J. Fothergill, at Drummondville; Miss Phoebe Avery to spend the winter at Lakewood, N.J.

Guests of relatives in town included Mrs. McLeish, of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tabb, of Boston; Miss Florence Farwell, of King's Hall, Compton; Miss Amy Dumbell, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Rider, of Fitch Bay.

Directors of the Eastern Townships Bank officiated at the destruction of a quarter million dollars' worth of worn and defaced bank bills, which were torn into small pieces and burned in the furnaces at the Paton Mills.

Percy Lomas advertised the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke Snowshoe Club.

RECORDINGS

by Ted Bullock.

Elizabeth Mowizambert, who writes a weekly budget of London topics for Montreal's Gazette, had a paragraph in her department Saturday which caught my eye:

"The bad times we are going through," she wrote, "have had among their more cheering results a greatly increased and widespread interest in politics. It is always lamentable for any country when men of worth and integrity decline to go into political life, so it is cheering to hear that even spacious Ashbridge is not big enough to accommodate all the people who want to spend the week-end there to hear Sir John Gilmour lecturing on the Ottawa Conference. The lectures organized by the Conservative party in London are another instance of the interest taken in the nation's affairs."

The sentence in that paragraph which most challenged my attention is the last one.

More than once this column has complained that there is insufficient contact between members of government and the electorate. Most of us realize regretfully that our governments carry on our business not caring very much what we think or want, and that conversely the public is far from taking a sufficient interest in public questions.

The British Conservative party, inaugurating a series of public lectures on government matters, is taking a step I have long advocated in this country.

Members of parliament, provincial as well as Dominion, ought not to meet their constituents only at election times. During the heat of a campaign it is impossible to get a fair, dispassionate discussion of public problems. Everybody is all steamed up, and the candidates are far more anxious to make one another out fools, knaves and liars, than to convey true information.

I believe every member of parliament ought to make a complete tour of his constituency at least once a year, during the recess between sessions.

He should call public meetings in every municipality and invite the public to attend, not only to hear his report of the work of the last session, but to ask him questions.

The honest, well-informed, hard-working member would add to his prestige if he did this. The other kind would be quickly found out and his country would get rid of him at the next election.

I think the voters are entitled to hear from their representatives, once a year, a frank review of the government's finances, of the legislation passed during the term, of the votes cast by their representatives. They are entitled to ask him why he voted as he did in each instance, and he should be bound to tell them the truth.

In theory, of course, adequate contacts exist now. The newspapers report very fully and sometimes quite fairly the debates on the floor of the House.

Any citizen of this country may have Hansard, the verbatim report of the House of Commons debates, for three dollars a year.

Government reports, distributed free of charge, are supposed to keep us informed of what every department is doing every day.

But in practice the ordinary voter has neither the time nor the specialized knowledge to sift through the mass of words which pours out of Ottawa and Quebec every session. In nine cases out of ten he would emerge from such a study, even if he had time to undertake it, far more confused than he was before he began.

The member of parliament, who understands and ought to understand the problems and needs of his constituents on the one hand and of government business on the other, is the logical go-between to bridge the chasm between public affairs and the public's knowledge of these affairs.

I commend this annual lecture tour idea to every one of the honorable gentlemen who represent counties within the bailiwick of this public-spirited column.

And, as human beings cannot very well be expected to do something for nothing, I undertake to heap with public adulation the first member who will accept my suggestion.

Whether he be Tory or Grit, I promise to be all for him.

BAPTIST MEN'S BIBLE CLASS.

On Saturday evening the members of the Baptist Men's Bible Class met for supper at the Baptist Church. Later the members discussed plans and the programme for the season's work, when it was agreed that for the present the members concentrate on the Sunday meeting of the group. This gathering will be held each Sunday at the close of the morning service.

If you make money at poker, that's gambling; if you make it at bridge, that's a social duty; if you make it at outguessing Wall Street, that's a miracle.

REV. ALLENBY, WATERLOO, CONDUCTED SERVICES HERE

Pastor of the Waterloo United Church Exchanged Pulpits With Rev. Dr. Lennon, Who Preached at Waterloo Anniversary Services.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon, of Trinity United Church, and Rev. H. Allenby, of the Waterloo United Church, exchanged pulpits yesterday, Dr. Lennon conducting the anniversary services at Waterloo and Mr. Allenby delivering two very thoughtful sermons at the Trinity Church. At the morning service in Trinity United Church Rev. Mr. Allenby took as his text, "The Possibility of the Second Birth," which told the story of King Rehobah's substitution of shields of brass for certain shields of gold which had been plundered from the temple at Jerusalem by foreign soldiery.

"Rehobah was a king subject to all the variableness of the human race," he said, "and his hour of reverence or his hour of irreverence? Was he looking up or was he looking down? If we can decide this we shall be able to lay our finger upon the significance of the shields of brass." Rev. Mr. Allenby said:

"Very often the godlike side comes uppermost when one's fortunes are at a low ebb. It is not a fine thing, but may be the forerunner of finer things in a man's life and character."

"As I understand God, or the meaning of God, He is not particularly about the motive that brings a man to look toward Him. He will take a man at the outset on his own terms in order that he may have an opportunity to woo him to Himself. God has a way of taking hold of an action in a man's life, which action becomes his opportunity, and through it will work to a man's spiritual good and uplift."

"When we are robbed of our best there are two ways open to us. We can sit down with folded hands and whine and cry, or we can get up and go on with what is left, making the best of the situation—making the best of the second best."

"There are situations in life when the best has been lost either by fault or misfortune. To make the best of the second best is then an act of heroism, an act of courage, an act of faith."

"The years through which we have just passed can be described as years in which the shields of gold have been taken from us," the speaker said.

During the evening service Rev. Mr. Allenby gave a fine exposition of Christ's insistence upon the quality of the onward motive as determining the real value of any human deed, especially religious ones. In the words, "Take heed that ye do not your alms before men to be seen of them," Christ is warning people against a wrong motive in giving. So in his pictures upon fasting, he is pointing out that its real purpose should be the subduing of self—the making more complete the spirit's mastery over the body. Prayer likewise can be mere wordiness, but when its motive is real it is apt to come to the point quickly, as in the cry, "Lord, save or I perish." No service can be good that is done from a base motive. What a beautiful thing the kiss of Judas would have been to us, had we not known the motive behind it! Wrong motives can be gotten rid of only by substituting good motives for them. And right motives come when Christ comes. Without Him we shall fail. But if we have Him, we have love. And the very least deed has merit, if love is in the background. Rev. Mr. Allenby assured his hearers.

The anthem by the choir was Turner's "At Even Ere the Sun Was set."

Mr. E. Fields, of Montreal, is a visitor in town today.

Rev. Albert Jones, rector of St. George's Church, Lennoxville, spent the week-end in Quebec.

Miss Florence Pearson and Miss Flossie Leslie spent the week-end in Montreal, the guests of friends.

Mr. S. R. Fuller, who spent the week-end at his home on Queen street, has returned to New York.

WIRING LIKELY WAS CAUSE OF BROMPTON FIRE

No Explosion Occurred in Cellar of Senator Tobin's Residence—Fire Was First Observed in Portion of House Far Removed from Furnace Room.

It is presumed that the destructive fire which razed the residence of Senator and Mrs. Tobin at Bromptonville on Friday afternoon was caused by defective wiring.

It had at first been mentioned that an explosion in the cellar, possibly in the heating apparatus, had caused the outbreak. Speaking to the Record this morning Mrs. Tobin said that this could not possibly have caused the fire.

Mrs. Tobin was in the house at the time the fire was discovered. Smoke was first discovered coming from the floor in the dining room, which was located on the north side of the house. There were no pipes under this floor, Mrs. Tobin said, nor was the furnace room near the vicinity of this part of the house.

Since the fire, the furnace room, which is situated in the southern portion of the house, has been examined. There was a quantity of wood stored in the portion which houses the furnace, and this was not even destroyed.

Mrs. Tobin was unable to give any estimate of the damage caused, nor could she say what future plans would be regarding rebuilding.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH HONORS ITS HEROIC SOLDIER-DEAD

Stirring Sermon Delivered by Rev. Dr. Ellery Read at Impressive Service of Commemoration.

The service yesterday morning at Plymouth United Church was a solemn commemoration of those who paid the supreme sacrifice in the Great War. Rev. Dr. Ellery Read, minister of the church, who conducted the services, based his sermon on the words, "And when he opened the fifth seal, I saw underneath the altar the souls of them that had been slain for the word of God and for the testimony which they held."—Rev. 6:9.

"We are today remembering those who were slain. We, too, roll back the curtain of the past and look on the souls of those who were slain, who paid the great price, made the supreme sacrifice for the sake of what they believed was justice and righteousness," Dr. Read said.

In recalling these, Dr. Read made reference to some of the characteristics of their great sacrifice. It was the sacrifice of youth. The best of the youth of the past and the best of the youth of many lands, had been offered up in sacrifice to the Moloch of War.

"These young men and young women, too, who gave their lives in the nursing service, were animated by a fine ideal. They accepted the slogan, and believed in it heartily. 'War to end war.' In the time of piping peace men may talk about this cynically, but there is little doubt that during the days of deathly struggle, from 1914-1918, our men believed that in some way the day of international peace and security would be hastened by the triumph of the forces that fought for right and justice."

"They were not actuated by personal animosity against the enemy. In the main, the great elements of our common humanity dominated those who were locked in this deadly struggle. Moreover, they fought for a great cause, the Empire they believed to be worthy of the ultimate sacrifice. Sad will be the day when this ideal perishes."

"Our remembrance should lead to resolve. The souls of those slain call to us from under the altar of the supreme sacrifice to carry on the great cause for which they gave themselves—the cause of peace and good-will among all men. To do this we must think thoughts of peace towards all, irrespective of nationality. The world in which peace shall reign supreme, will be realized by those who believe peace is possible as the true ideal of international relations," Dr. Read said.

Before the reading of the names of those who were connected with Plymouth Church and who made the supreme sacrifice, Miss Jean Campbell sang "O Dry Those Tears," with violin obligato, played by Miss Ward, of the Eastern Townships Conservatory of Music. During the reading of the Roll of Honour, the congregation stood, and also through the prayer of commemoration. The hymn, "For All Thy Saints," followed the prayer. The anthem, sung during the offertory, was DeKoven's setting of the Kipling's Recessional.

At the evening service Dr. Read spoke on "A Greater Miracle Than Pentecost." The sermon had special reference to the work of the Bible Society. Announcement was made that Charles Cook had kindly consented to solicit subscriptions from members of the congregation for the funds of the society. The anthems sung by the choir were "Lift Up Your Heads" (Hopkins) and "O Lord of Hosts" (Gaul).

Building. An invitation has been extended to all former pupils of the school, their friends and those interested in St. Patrick's Academy to attend this affair, which will be the first of a series of such gatherings.

BROMPTON PULP SHAREHOLDERS TO ORGANIZE

Local Holders in Paper Concern Take Action to Protect Interests During Crisis in Industry.

Rosy pictures of increased industrial activity in two towns of the Eastern Townships and more work in the woods throughout the countryside should the move to segregate the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company from the St. Lawrence Corporation prove successful were painted before a meeting of the old Brompton stock and of the St. Lawrence Corporation Class "A" preferred shares, held in the City Hall on Saturday afternoon.

But not only would the workers in the mill and forest benefit from the change, but the position of the shareholders would improve, according to the speakers. So effectively were the addresses that virtually every shareholder present approved the formation of a protective committee to look after their interests, and at the same time subscribed to the costs of such a committee.

Charles B. Howard, M.P. for Sherbrooke, acted as chairman of the meeting and briefly outlined the conditions whereby the St. Lawrence Corporation was formed to hold control of the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company, the St. Lawrence Paper Mills and the Lake St. John Power and Paper Company.

T. G. Walsh, a local stockbroker, then outlined the situation as it exists today. Valuable newspaper contracts, he hinted, had been transferred from the Brompton company to the other subsidiaries of the St. Lawrence Corporation in an endeavor to relieve their top-heavy financial condition. Both the St. Lawrence Paper and the Lake St. John company had large issues of bonds and preferred stock ahead of the common, while the Brompton Company, with a strong liquid position, had only common stock outstanding.

A crisis had been reached when the Lake St. John company defaulted its bond interest a few days

COLLISION ON WELLINGTON STREET

Two cars were badly damaged on Saturday afternoon in a collision on Wellington street when an automobile driven by Miss Alice Griggs, Walton Avenue, struck the car of H. E. McVetty, Park Avenue, Lennoxville.

Miss Griggs was travelling north on Wellington street when she tried to pass a car that was leaving the curb. A collision seemed imminent, and Miss Griggs swerved sharply to the left. In doing so she collided with McVetty's vehicle. The occupants escaped uninjured.

GIFT-TEA A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR.

Sponsored by the Junior branch of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church, a delightfully arranged and most successful gift-tea was held on Saturday afternoon in parish hall. Guests were received by Mrs. S. Robinson, superintendent of the branch.

The choice of paying an entrance fee or leaving a Christmas gift was a special feature of the pleasant gathering. The majority of those who entered brought "gifts" which will be sent in the Christmas bazaar to brighten the Yuletide for children in far off missions. The generous response to the appeal for "gifts" is deeply appreciated by Mrs. Robinson and her band of girls, who devote much time and thought to the Christmas bazaar, their outstanding effort during the year. Dorothy Staniford received the donations, which made a splendid showing on the large table where they were arranged.

A table of home cooked food was in charge of Miss Dorothy Robinson, while Miss Frances Taylor convoked the sales of candy. Both young ladies report a ready sale for their tempting wares, the receipts from which helped materially in the excellent net results obtained from the afternoon's entertainment.

Lovely mauve and white mums centered the pretty tea table, at which Mrs. J. King presided. Mrs. F. Staniford was convener for the tea, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Taylor and Mrs. W. Cotterell. The waitresses at the tea were the Misses Charlotte Robinson, Dorothy Taylor and Ruth Flynn.

back, and he felt that the time had come when the Brompton and St. Lawrence class "A" shareholders should take action to protect their interests.

A short discussion ensued, after which the formation of a protective committee was authorized.

Popular Appointment

An item of considerable interest in city financial circles is the announcement in today's issue, that Mr. Graeme Taylor, shall, in future, associate himself with the North American Life Assurance Company.

For the past three years, Mr. Taylor has resided in Sherbrooke as the local representative of Nesbitt, Thompson & Company, Ltd., and has made a host of friends. With his many years of banking and financial experience, Mr. Taylor intends to devote his efforts to Estate Conservation and Analysis, Estate losses through depreciation, succession duties, and retirement incomes. We congratulate Walter Murray, local manager of the company, in securing the services of a man of such high calibre and wish Graeme every success in his new field for which he is so splendidly equipped.

LIBERALS SEE NO ADVANTAGES FROM TREATIES

Western Members Criticized Numerous Features of Imperial Conference at Liberal Rally in West Ward.

Not only inside the House of Commons, but on the hustings, the supporters of Mackenzie King are carrying on their campaign against any scheme of Imperial preference that involves Canada receiving any return for the advantages that are given the United Kingdom interests in the Canadian markets.

At least this was the effect that four opposition members of the Federal House left with their hearers on Saturday evening when they addressed a meeting of a local Liberal organization in the west ward on Saturday evening. "Preferential trade agreements—when men who fought side by side in defense of their King and country were united once again."

The banquet was enhanced by the presence of Col. (Dr.) De Martigny, of Montreal, president of the Quebec Provincial Council of the British Empire Service League; Captain F. H. Morgan, of Montreal, chairman of the Provincial Council; Comrade A. Chenier, of Montreal, provincial secretary, and Comrade L. J. Gage, of St. Johns, first vice-president of the Provincial Council.

Others present, apart from large delegations from Richmond, East Angus, Stanstead, Coaticook, Magog and St. Johns, included Michael LeGage, president of the local branch; E. J. Struthers, president of the Rock Island branch; Robert Symes, D.C.M., of Sherbrooke, first vice-president of the Sherbrooke council; A. Gagne, second vice-president of the Sherbrooke council; Frank Hindmarch, acting secretary of the Sherbrooke branch; Arthur Moore, treasurer; T. E. Hall, past president; Col. Sam Echenberg, Major Brooks and Captain W. V. Macintosh.

During the course of the evening, Fred McLean, of Lennoxville, entertained the group with pleasant selections on the bag-pipes, while an orchestra composed of M. Foster, J. A. Barrie, P. Poole and W. V. Macintosh, rendered several lively wartime tunes. Following the toast to "Our departed comrades," Macintosh played as a violin solo the touching, unforgettable "Dear Old Pal of Mine."

Major W. W. Foote presided over the banquet. A toast to the members of the Provincial Council was proposed by Comrade Hindmarch, following which Col. De Martigny delivered a short address, an appeal to the Legion members to co-operate in their efforts to assist the families of soldiers who had not come back and veterans in need.

"Yours is the most healthy branch of the Legion in the province," felicitated Col. De Martigny. "You are fortunate in having so many members who come to us who such as this. We all did our bit in serving our country during the war; it is now our duty to continue to serve our fallen comrades, that is to say, their needy families and children."

"A nation, like a child, is born in blood and pain. Canada was born in these years of 1914-1918. If we are now a nation, it is because of those 60,000 of our comrades who fell in France."

He further stated, "If we have the privilege today of speaking French and English, if the two languages of our country are on an equal basis, it is due first and last to us. If we wish to build a strong nation, we must be Canadians—English and French Canadians. There must be a 'Bonne Entente.'"

The Colonel emphasized his words. "We need more members in the Legion. You veterans who do not belong should join up at once. When we 'went across' they promised us everything on earth. They promised us the skies. But when we came back, many of the promises had been forgotten. It is only by being more numerous that we will obtain our rights."

Captain Morgan urged the members of the Legion to back up their officers, give them their loyal support. He also said that the Legion needed more members. "But do not come in for what you will get! No—stay out if that is all you want! That was the cause of the Legion's downfall. Many who joined deserted as soon as they obtained 50 per cent. of their pensions. This matter of pension is our greatest problem."

He said that they had the finest pension act in the world. "But it was not administered in the way that the Government intended it should be. We requested an investigation and we got it, and now I think that we will be satisfied."

Pride should be felt by Legion members at Col. Ralph Stockwell's appointment to the post of Provincial Treasurer, declared L. J. Gage, in Hon. Mr. Stockwell, he believed, the Legion would find staunch support and encouragement.

Other addresses were delivered by Michael LeGage, president of the local Legion; Comrade Cunningham, of Richmond; W. V. Macintosh, and Sam Echenberg, of this city.

The days of the Family Compact were recalled, but even further back than this, the granting of Prince Edward Island to a group of English earls, toward the end of the eighteenth century, was seen as part of a Conservative conspiracy to down the common people.

The struggle for freedom and the vote was recorded. Down to modern times, the Reciprocity struggle was recounted and the general conclusion reached that Liberal regimes always marked prosperity and the Conservative periods of government were sure signs of depression.

Not content with discussing Canadian affairs, the recent United States elections were introduced, and the present Prime Minister was destined to the same fate that befell President Hoover.

WAR VETERANS GATHERED FOR ANNUAL DINNER

Over a Hundred Attended Armistice Banquet of Sherbrooke Branch of Canadian Legion of British Empire Service League.

A hundred war veterans, men who fought in the trenches of France during those four years of horror when the world hung on the brink of madness, heroes of a war that has no parallel in the history of the world, gathered at the Magog House on Saturday evening at the annual Armistice Day banquet of the Sherbrooke Branch No. 10 of the Canadian Legion of British Empire Service League.

Primarily the gathering was in commemoration of those valiant soldiers who did not come back; secondly, it was an evening of reminiscences—when men who fought side by side in defense of their King and country were united once again.

The banquet was enhanced by the presence of Col. (Dr.) De Martigny, of Montreal, president of the Quebec Provincial Council of the British Empire Service League; Captain F. H. LENNOXVILLE HONORS HEROIC SOLDIER DEAD

Large Number Gather at Impressive Service Around Lennoxville Soldiers' Monument—Address Read by Mayor.

That there is no waning of interest in the annual remembrance service with which Lennoxville and Ascot pay tribute to the memory of their sons who went forth to their duty in the Great War, was proven yesterday afternoon. In larger numbers even than in the preceding years the citizens gathered in order to quiet around the monument in the square, and there listened to the brief service of commemoration.

Practically every organization and society was represented in the procession, which lined up at the High School under the supervision of Marshal Eugene Dundin, and promptly at half past two o'clock began its march to the square. Led by the First Sherbrooke Regiment and a firing party of Cadets from Bishop's College School, the veterans of the Great War marched, followed by the Lennoxville band, and the march music. The mayor and other members of the municipality of Ascot followed, with the school boards, the pupils of Lennoxville High School headed by their principal and several of his staff and the pupils of St. Anthony's school under the leadership of Mr. Donat Martin. The Boy Scouts, under Scoutmaster L. M. Watson, made a fine appearance in their uniforms, the music of their band alternating with that of the Lennoxville band, and the Girl Guides followed them, forming another interesting unit. Maple Cops, chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of Empire were represented by its regent and other officers and councillors, and the Women's Institute followed, each unit represented by a wreath-bearer. The members of the L. O. O. F. were present in numbers, and behind them many of the citizens fell into line as the parade passed along Main street.

Heads were bowed when the strains of "O Canada" floated out on the quiet air, played by the Lennoxville band. In order that the people stood around the monument, and filling the sidewalks and the verandas of the neighbouring houses, as Mayor J. B. Winder read his address.

"We are gathered here today to commemorate the Armistice of fourteen years ago which ended the Great War," said Mayor Winder. "We have not yet wholly recovered from those years of war, the causes of which we did not fully understand. The assassination of an almost unknown Arch-Duke in Austria started the wheels of state. In two months the Germans had crossed into Belgium, and England, France and Canada were involved. Other nations followed, and in their wake came the most dreadful forms of war, in gas attacks, submarines and tanks. The Allies prevailed, the Germans were pressed back and the Armistice was signed."

"Today at monuments and cenotaphs, no matter what form the memorial has taken, all have come together to pay a tribute of respect to those heroes who gave their lives so generously to preserve our ideals and our liberties."

"If we think of what and where we are today, a people in a land of freedom and liberty, we will realize that these men stood between us and a terrible fate. We would have been broken men, in an unbearable condition had it not been for these men."

"Where are those men? Man are in graves in France and Flanders and over them the poppy, symbol of dreamless sleep, blooms and wanes. Many are alive, strong and well, and unable to find work. All lived up to their ideals, all sacrificed themselves for us. If we do not hold them forever in remembrance all will have been in vain."

"Although we are now at peace, we are in almost as great danger, and never was there a time of greater need for straight thinking and for steadiness of mind and heart. 'Have we done our part? Do we still possess their spirit of self-sacrifice? If so we can truly say we are carrying on the ideas and purposes of those gallant men who gave their lives for this land of ours.'"

"We remember today particularly those men who went from this part of the country, and especially those who went from Lennoxville and Ascot. To their families every day is 'Remembrance Day.' We wish today to show our appreciation of those of our boys who rest in quiet graves under beds of poppies in far-off battle fields."

Mayor Lemire of Ascot read the names of the dead soldiers from the honor roll as inscribed on the memorial shaft, which includes the heroes from both Lennoxville and Ascot. Sgt. Major L. Payan followed with the reading of the seventy-five names on the honor roll of Bishop's College School. The Last Post was sounded, an impressive silence of two minutes following, broken by the stirring notes of the Reveille.

At the corners of the square stood the silent guard of honor, and in sharp contrast was the salute of the firing party, in command of officer Dr. R. B. C. Cadets.

To the accompaniment of the hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," played by the Lennoxville band, the procession of wreath-bearers began and the base of the memorial was completely covered with the offerings of civic and municipal bodies, organizations of men and women, and the personal friends of the dear remembered sons and brothers.

And thus once again Lennoxville paid homage to its dead, and revised and made green again the memory of the sacrifice of its heroic sons.

AGED RESIDENT HEADS POLICE FORCE

Thomas Dundin, for over fifty years chief of Lennoxville's police force, yesterday resumed his old office for the time being, and headed the police force attendant upon the Armistice celebration. Other police included L. Bozer, A. B. McKee and L. Leadbeater.

MRS. A. W. PRATT ADDRESSED W. I. COUNTY RALLY

Mrs. A. W. Pratt, Provincial President of Quebec Women's Institutes, was a guest at the quarterly meeting of Sherbrooke County Women's Institutes held on Saturday afternoon in the Ascot Consolidated School, near Lennoxville. Mrs. Pratt told the meeting of the reception held by Ontario and Quebec Women's Institutes for the wives of the delegates to the Imperial Conference held in Ottawa in July. Members of the W. I. mingled very informally with their guests, many of whom expressed great interest in the Institute movement, which they believed would have a great future.

Mrs. R. H. Ashe, County President, presided at the rally and about fifty members were present, representing all the organized communities in the county.

The principal business consisted of final arrangements for the annual W. I. exhibit of cooking and sewing, which will be held early in the new year. A committee was chosen to secure judges for the exhibits. Conveners of departments reported progress along all lines. Miss Irene Collins, convener of the Child Welfare Committee, told of the co-operation with other societies by means of which treatment had been secured for a crippled child, which it was hoped, would restore health and strength.

Refreshments were served in the form of "high tea" by the officers and members of the Ascot Institute.

ROYALTY'S FIRST FALL WEDDING

More than 60 members of the royalty and nobility of a half-dozen European countries participated in the colorful ceremonies marking the recent wedding of Princess Silville of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and Prince Gustaf Adolf, eldest son of the Swedish Crown Prince, in the medieval church of St. Moritz, Coburg, Germany. The bridal couple are shown after the ceremony which united them with lace ostrich plume train worn by her great-grandmother, Queen Victoria, and the bridegroom in the blue uniform of a lieutenant of the Swedish Guards. Three days of festivities preceded the ceremony—the most brilliant in Germany since the World War.HATLEY W.C.T.U.

Forty-Second Annual Meeting of Hatley Township Women's Christian Temperance Union.Hatley, Nov. 14.—The forty-second convention of the Hatley Township W.C.T.U. was held in the United Church vestry at Ayer's Cliff.The first and one of the most enjoyable features of this gathering was the dinner served to over thirty ladies of the Eastern Townships. An hour of social intercourse was followed by the opening of the convention with Mrs. E. Clark, president, occupying the chair.The hymn, "Work, Brothers, Work," was sung. Mrs. Stanley Robinson, of North Hatley, conducted the devotional exercises.On behalf of the Ayer's Cliff Union, Mrs. Johnston extended a cordial welcome to the visiting ladies.
Mrs. Merrill, of North Hatley, responded to the welcome.The minutes of the town rally, held in Massawippi in November, 1930, were read and adopted, with one correction. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $45.43.Mrs. Rider sang two solos, "For Every Day" and "Keep on Hopin'."
Which were listened to with much pleasure. The secretary then gave two short recitations.The county president, Miss Loving, gave a full and comprehensive report of the provincial convention held at Aylmer, which she attended.
delegate from Stanstead County.
Mrs. Lyon, who also attended the convention, gave a few side lights not taken up by Miss Loving, as well as some points regarding her work as provincial treasurer.Questions, answers and discussion followed, which, owing to lateness of the hour, had to be curtailed.Mrs. Johnston moved a resolution of thanks to Miss Loving and Mrs.
Lyon for their painstaking efforts to bring convention activities to those who were not privileged to attend.
Mrs. E. St. Dizier, press superintendent, asked permission to send Miss Loving's report to the local papers.The slate of officers as prepared by the nominating committee, was presented by Mrs. Woodman, convener, and was as follows: President, Mrs. B. Little, North Hatley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. St.
Dizier, Massawippi; recording secretary, Mrs. F. O. Webster, Hatley; treasurer, Miss M. Paul, Ayer's Cliff.
The four local presidents of the town were named as vice-presidents, aswell as nominating committee for the coming year, with the North Hatley president as convener. As there was no opposition to these names, it was moved by Mrs. Johnston, seconded by Mrs. Merrill that the secretary cast one vote in favor of these officers, after which they were declared elected.A duet, entitled "Calvary," was given by Mrs. Johnston and Mrs.
Rider.The president thanked the Ayer's Cliff ladies for their kind hospitality.
for the musical numbers, and all who had assisted in any way to make this meeting a success.Mrs. Webster read a short poem, entitled "The Last Day," written many years ago by her mother, Mrs.
Helen M. Emery, who passed to the higher life on December 3, 1926. The poem was as follows:How would I do for a last day?
This day I have lived today,
The words I have spoken,
The thoughts I have nursed,
The smiles I have given away?Were the words as kind and tender
As gracious, as patient and true,
As I could wish, should they prove
The last?That I ever should speak to you?
Have my thoughts been as just and impartial,
(If open for all to see),
My judgments as lenient as I could wish?That yours should be for me?
Have my looks expressed the kindly thoughts
Which in haste I might not express?Have I remembered when sorely pressed
That I, too, am frail and weak?Or have I unconsciously added
To the burdens you had to bear,
And so tarnished the gold of the record?Your angel was keeping up there?
Oh, if such be the case, please
forgive,
And blot from your memory the stain;For the oft-broken promise some day will come true,
And "I never shall do it again."

MILBY

The Milby Centre Union also held a social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McVetty. Members and friends numbering about seventy gathered and passed a pleasant evening at cards and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. S. Hopper, Mrs. Raymond, Miss Gwen George,
Mr. E. Sarasin and Mr. O. Boyce furnished the music for dancing. At midnight refreshments were served by the members of the Union. The proceeds were very satisfactory.The Milby Centre Union was entertained at the home of Mrs.

teresting meeting of the Young Ladies' Club was held at the home of Mrs. Bessie Johnston on Wednesday evening, November 9th. The president, Mrs. C. Robinson, presided.
The programme consisted of a paper entitled "Food Habits of the Foreign Born," prepared by Miss Isabel Beach, graduate dietitian; an article on "Our Treasures," by Mrs.
Titecomb, and vocal solos by Mrs. S.
W. Boyd.Miss Beach in her paper stated that "One of the essential parts of the knowledge which should be possessed by any dietitian is to know the characteristic foods of the foreign-born, the food flavours, the food habits of each of the chief races of immigrants found in this country. If we study their customs and acquaint ourselves with their food habits, we shall not only broaden our own diet by the introduction of new and interesting dishes, but also we shall be better able to help these foreign-born to adjust themselves to new conditions with as few changes as possible. This knowledge is the foundation of all success in the dealing with many specific problems of health, and is invaluable as a means of mutual understanding and sympathy between the Canadian-born and the immigrant."The writer gave much valuable data on the food and habits of all the leading nationalities which form such a large proportion of the population. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH NEAR ST. JOHNS

Driver of Ill-Fated Car Lost Control of Machine When Trying to Close Door.

St. Johns, Nov. 14.—A fatal crash on the highway ten miles south of this city, shortly after nine o'clock yesterday morning, resulted in the death of Mrs. George Pepin, seventy-two years of age, and injury to her two step-sons.

Roland Racicot, one of the step-sons, is hovering between life and death at the St. Johns Hospital, while the other man, Achille Racicot, who is less seriously injured, is also a patient at the same institution.

Mrs. Pepin and her two sons were returning home from Lacelle and the car in which they were travelling was driven by Roland Racicot. In endeavoring to close a door of the vehicle which had swung open, Racicot lost control of the motor car, which crashed into a telephone pole by the highway and was wrecked.

Passing motorists went to the aid of the victims and an ambulance was summoned from St. Johns, in which the three victims, two of them unconscious, were removed to the hospital, the aged woman expiring as the result of internal injuries. Roland Racicot, the driver of the vehicle, suffered a crushed skull in the mishap and there is practically no hope entertained for his recovery. He was reported to be suffering from severe bruises about the entire body. Achille Racicot, the third victim, and limbs, but it is not believed that his condition is serious.

At 5:30 o'clock last evening a jury under Dr. Oscar Laberge, of Itherville, coroner of the district, opened the inquest, which was postponed after formal evidence until today. In the meantime the coroner gave permission for the body of Mrs. Pepin to be removed to her residence at Chambly Canton.

Exactly thirty minutes following this accident, a taxi containing five occupants, was overturned in the ditch of the roadway at Rang Grand Bernier, on the Napierville highway, two miles west of this city. While the taxi driver escaped unhurt, four men were taken to the St. Johns Hospital more or less seriously injured.

The victims are:

Charles Brossard, of St. Blaise, suffering from serious head injuries.

Louis Brassard, of St. Blaise, suffering from cuts and bruises.

Elzear Vincent and Napoleon Deschatelet, both residents of St. Johns, reported to be suffering from severe bruises and cuts.

While the last three were able to be sent home later following hospital treatment, Charles Brossard is being kept at the hospital pending the outcome of an X-ray.

The hospital authorities learned that the taxi was driven by Edouard Vincent, of this city. The vehicle which was demolished in the accident was the property of Oscar Thuot, of St. Johns. For some reason not determined, Vincent lost the control of the taxi, which deviated and overturned into the ditch.

Results of Judging of Canadians and Holsteins.

The announcement of prize winners is always an interesting aftermath to an event such as the Sherbrooke Provincial Winter Fair and Horse Show.

The following are additional results in the judging of dairy cattle. Canadians were appraised by A. St. Pierre, secretary of the General Livestock Breeders' Association of the Province of Quebec, of St. Hyacinthe, and the Holstein by C. C. Hanson, of Dixville.

SHERBROOKE EARNED THE RIGHT TO ENTER PROVINCIAL ELIMINATIONS

Athletics Displayed Their Best Form of Season to Trounce Quebec Rugby Football Union by Twenty-Seven to Nothing Score—Convincing Victory Gave Home Team Series by Round Score of 28 to 16—Slated to Meet Westward, Winners of Western Section.

Everything comes to them who wait. A month ago, a stout-hearted aggression opened their intermediate Quebec Rugby Football Union campaign with wealth of material. But from the outset everything went wrong. Injuries took toll, well-thought plays did not click, and all in all, it looked like a disastrous season. One factor, however, did not find its way into the limbo of lost games. It was team spirit which failed to be broken by the heavy reverses and, according to all natural laws, this perseverance in the face of heavy odds had to be rewarded. The team awaited the moment when it would reveal to its loyal supporters the black and red uniforms but had never been afforded sufficient opportunity to assert itself.

A week ago a spark had been applied to the smouldering hopes when the Sherbrooke Athletics' ancient rivals had their hands full to keep Eddie Wolfe's aggression out of the victory column. The psychological moment presented itself on Saturday at the Parade Grounds, and the heights to which Sherbrooke's Q.R.F.U. representatives could attain was indicated in the unmerciful drubbing which the home team plastered on the Quebec Swimmers.

By mutual consent, the round score of the annual home-and-home series was taken to decide who would substitute for Bishop's in the provincial playoffs. The Ancient Capital squad entered the game strong favorites with nearly all the spectators, but Sherbrooke had remained the weaker team long enough. So overconfident were the visitors that Jack Muir, Bert Amy, Gilly Price, "Moose" Nadeau, Gilly Evans and other regulars were left behind to spread the news of another victory. However, when the huge autobus which transported the outfit to the Eastern townships started on its homeward journey it contained a dejected band, smarting from the twenty-seven to nothing whitewash it had received and the resultant loss of the series by a round score of 28 to 16.

How the Athletics turned a fifteen-point deficit into such a wide margin will comprise one of the principal chapters in the history of St. Pat's Athletic Association. On their toes from the opening whistle, they took full advantage of every break, line plunges, their opponents dizzy, had Quebec running in aimless circles trying to follow the course of a misdirection. In the course of a minute, they played aerial attack and were absolutely unbreakable after they had been held scoreless during the opening quarter. It was an epic struggle, one which will long be remembered by the many supporters who had placed their faith on the prediction in these columns on Friday that the series was not beyond recall.

As far as actual rugby was concerned, the initial chucker produced the best brand. Play was slightly in favor of the home team, but the revamped Quebec line held well and repulsed every black and red threat. The second quarter produced a different story, and when the teams arrived at the interval, Quebec's margin had been reduced to a mere two points. There was no stopping the Athletics' advance from then on. The third-quarter plunges sent them into a six-point lead on the ground, and as twilight descended and caused the game to be concluded before full time, six additional points had been added for good measure.

Both teams used the forward pass to the same extent, eleven times each. Six Sherbrooke passes were completed for substantial gains, two were intercepted, while the remaining three were incomplete. Quebec lost nine tries, had one intercepted and negotiated but once. These figures reveal the strong defensive system adopted by Sherbrooke to thwart this attack, while the fact that the yard sticks were moved no less than eighteen times showed the successful tactics of the local plungers. Quebec made:

The line-ups were: Sherbrooke: Taylor, fly, wing, home; Cook, half, Warrender; Dunsmore, half, Dale; Gilly, half, Power; Harper, quarter, Phillips; Echenberg, snap, Webster; Neade, inside, Taschereau; Neade, inside, Scott; S. Echenberg, middle, Franklin; Tomlinson, middle, Devine; Armitage, outside, Trudeau; Mitton, outside, Peacock.

Sherbrooke subs: J. Blue, J. McKinnon, McCullough, McWilliams, Rappaport, Smith, Waller, Ashford.

Quebec subs: Baugh, Egan and Fush.

The summary:

TORONTO LEAFS TAKE VERDICT OVER RANGERS

Stanley Cup Holders Turned Back Ancient Rivals, Boston Blanketed Canadiens and Ottawa Dropped Initial Game to Maroons.

Toronto, Nov. 14. — Boston's heavy Bruins crushed out a four to nothing win over Montreal Canadiens as New York Rangers were losing by four to two to their nemesis, the Toronto Maple Leafs, and today are leading the American section of the National Hockey League. Ottawa Senators lost their opening game of the season by two to one to Montreal Maroons and New York Americans tied the Black Hawks at Chicago, one-all. All except the Chicago game were played Saturday night, the Hawks opening their home season on Sunday.

Billy Burch started the Bruins off right with a first-period goal at Montreal on Art Chapman's pass. The dashing Canadiens found the heavy-hitting defensive play of the Bruins from then on an insurmountable puzzle. As Canadiens spent their time in "massed attacks" in the third period, Marty Barry, "Red" Beattie and young Ohs Heximer added three quick goals to give "Tiny" Thompson the first shutout of the N.H.L. season.

The Stanley Cup holders' win over Rangers put them in the Canadian section lead, one point ahead of Montreal Maroons, and boosted their total of successive victories over Lester Patrick's blueshirts to seven. The first meeting of the Stanley Cup finalists of last season was as fast and wide open as any of their former clashes.

Started by Ken Doraty's first period goal, Leafs led by four goals midway through the game. Smooth Joe Primeau got the second goal of the first period and then gave Harvey Jackson the pass for the third in the middle section. Veteran Harold Darrah backhanded the Leafs' first goal.

Babe Seibert, former Maroon left winger, scored Rangers' first goal in the second period. The Leafs' robustly played second period Twelve penalties were inflicted as the players started jousting and Bun and Bill Cook earned themselves misconduct penalties. Murray Murdoch swept in on Lorne Chabot for the last goal after taking Off Heller's next pass.

Montreal Maroons took second place in the standing by their Ottawa victory. Baldy Northcott, smooth Maroon winger, scored both Montreal goals, aided by Jimmy Ward on his first goal in the second period after Cooney Weiland had given the Senators a lead on Frank Finnigan's pass. Lionel Conacher and Paul Haynes were in on the play that gave Northcott the winning goal in the third period.

Teddy Graham, hefty Black Hawk defenseman, gave Chicago a lead they failed to hold in the Sunday night game at the Windy City. Graham's goal came on a nice solo dash in the first period. Evolving Norm Himes started the play for the tying goal in the second period but it was Duke Dotskowski, a former Hawk, who shot the rubber pass Chuck Gardiner.

Among rookies to show better than average hockey in the four week-end clashes, Andy Attkisson, head of Saskatoon, turned in a smart performance for Rangers in goal. Another westerner, Ken Doraty, of Regina, opposing Attkisson, was a potent weapon on the Toronto attack.

OLD BOYS LOST CLOSE FIXTURE TO YOUNGSTERS

Last Quarter Rally Gave St. Pats 1932 Team a Thirteen to Ten Victory After Alumni Had Led Greater Part of Game—Super Will Be Tendered Winners.

The pages of St. Patrick's Academy history were turned back several years yesterday afternoon when the Old Boys and the present pupils played their annual rugby exhibition on the Parade Grounds. Age ceased to count but not until the veterans had thrown a scare into the camp of the youngsters and proved to them that the old guard is easier to beat on paper than on the gridiron. Youth, stamina and better conditioning came to the fore in the latter stages of the game after experience had enjoyed its innings. A touchdown in the final minutes of play wiped out the Old Boys' margin and gave the school a thirteen to ten victory.

What the Old Boys lacked in finesse they made up for in numbers. No less than twenty-five "big boys" and "near-giants" dressed in a variety of colors, and the exhibition they gave received the wholehearted support of the six hundred spectators that witnessed the encounter. Everything went well in the early stages of the game, but the changed ends, unused muscles began to groan and weary legs refused to keep in tune with willing minds. All in all, however, everyone enjoyed the sport and the hard-earned victory was not begrudged the younger lads.

The Old Boys presented a colorful panorama to inaugurating the proceedings after the two teams had had their picture taken by an Old Boy, Earle Rebert. Sweaters of every description and color were dug out of attics for the occasion and reminded many of the spectators of the important role of the "old boys" in the school's history. Flanking Ashley Hibbard were Roger Dastous and Len Desautels as insides; Len O'Donnell and Hugh Crochere as middles; and Don McMahon and Don Johnston as ends. Eddie Wolfe directed the team, while F. J. McKinnon occupied the flying wing berth and the starting backfield comprised Larry Brooks, Earle Hall and Emmet McWilliams.

Frequent substitutions were made by the captain directing the operations from the side lines. Austin Workman, who had a galaxy of stars at his command to fill the gap when a starter began to waver. At his disposal were Des McKeon, Charlie Clark, Maurice Parsons, Allan Mooney, Charlie Gordon, Jack Kelly, Larry Boivert, Parker and Harold Hooper. When Eddie Wolfe removed a player for a rest, "Spot" Parsons filled his shoes to call the signals, and one of his backfield reversed lateral plays proved one of the outstanding contributions of this fertile-minded quarter.

Rather than plunge through the line where their weight would have caused their opponents serious injury, the Old Boys adopted end runs and the aerial attack as their principal offensive weapons. St. Pat's kicked on first downs in the opening quarter in the hope that a fumble would give them a break, but the Old Boys' backfield received the ball and two long overpasses placed the pigskin deep in the School's territory, and Eddie Wolfe went over for an unconverted touchdown as the quarter ended.

There was no scoring in the second quarter. Mistakes at critical moments impeded the onward rush of the Old Boys, and the referees for minor infractions nullified their hard-won gains several times. As the rest interval arrived, Ashley Hibbard attempted a drop kick which went astray and the ball was run back to St. Pat's twenty-yard line, where it reposed when the whistle called time.

In the dressing room between halves, several players were mapped out by the Old Boys, but on the field they went astray as a young opponent butted in to upset the apple cart. The Old Boys had been penalized for interference near their own line when Emmet McWilliams tossed forward pass which was intercepted by Paul McMahon. McMahon let no grass grow under his feet as he raced across with the five points which deadlocked the count. Shortly after this play, the school assumed the lead as Gardner kicked neatly through the goal posts.

The count stood eight to five against the Old Boys as the final fifteen minutes were started. The substitute resources were almost depleted, and smelling salts and other relief remedies were used to help the veterans get their second wind for the final charge. It came before many minutes had elapsed when Eddie Wolfe corkscrewed his way through a broken field after Jack Kelly had recovered a St. Pat's fumble. The convert was not realized. With their backs against the wall, the School tossed pre-emptive strikes which were the last desperate rally which turned the tide of victory in their favor. It all started when Ray Brooks intercepted a long forward pass intended for his brother. Two end runs were too hard for the Old Boys to keep track of, and Paul McMahon directed the line as "Goosie" Parker clipped the wrong man. The major tally was not converted and the final whistle showed the score: St. Pat's 13, Old Boys 10.

The exhibition was a huge family affair. There were no less than three McMachons on the field, Paul and Maurice being out to get their "big" brother. Ray Brooks opposed his older brother, who made the team this year at Bishop's while John and Ashley Hibbard found themselves on opposite sides of the fence and Billie and Charlie Gordon glared at one another across the Line of scrimmage.

From the standpoint of scientific rugby the fixture was a comedy, but it provided amusement for both players and spectators. To celebrate the School's victory and the showing the students made this year in exhibition games, the Old Boys will tender a supper in the Academy gymnasium next Thursday evening.
