IOWA BANDITS WHO SEIZED $3,500,000 TAKEN BY POLICE

Nearly $1,000,000 of the Loot in Ten-Dollar Bills Recovered

MADE TEN ARRESTS

Two Whites, Rest Negroes —One of Whites Made Full Confession

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Nov. 19.—Seven more arrests, one confession, the recovery of a large amount of money, said to $1,000,000, all in ten dollar bills and the discovery of an automobile last night resulted today in clearing up the mystery surrounding the $3,500,000 mail car robbery in the local yards Saturday night.

Two of the men, T. A. Daly and H. A. Reed are white, and the others are negroes. The money was recovered from a chicken house at the Daly home, following the confession of Reed, who rooms at Daly's.

The total amount of money recovered was not announced by officials this morning. Ten persons in all are under arrest and will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Byers tomorrow.

STORY OF DISCOVERY.

The automobile believed to have been used for carting away the mail bags was found last night in a rented garage a few blocks from the scene of the robbery. The number on the engine had been tampered with.

Reed and Daly, believed by officials to be leaders of the gang are each 45 years of age. Daly has been working at the Omaha Grain Exchange, but Reed has been unemployed the last few weeks.

Reed was arrested last night following his implication in the case by Fred Poffenbarger, a youth arrested several days ago. Reed was put through a severe grilling and at length gave information which led to the arrest this morning of Daly.

Federal officials announced this morning that the case had now been completed to all intents and purposes.

HAD CAPTURED $3,500,000.

The bags of currency, gold and bonds whose value has been given authoritatively as high as three and a half million dollars were taken from a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy mail train last Saturday. They were bound from San Francisco in a sealed car to consignees in the East.

Mrs. Daly, wife of the man under arrest, officials say, made a statement that her husband was at home at the time of the robbery and that Poffenbarger brought the money to their home early Sunday morning wrapped in packages. According to Mrs. Daly's statement she overheard the men say that they had burned the rest of the contents of the sacks. After counting the money over, the statement continues, they hid it in the chicken house where it was found this morning by officials.

OMAHA HAUL $100,000

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 19 — Loot obtained by bandits who plundered a mail car on a Chicago, Rock Island passenger train late yesterday between Des Moines and Omaha, amounted to $100,000, according to unofficial estimates today.

The robbery, the second in this vicinity, has aroused Federal investigators and they were running down every clue in an effort to trap the robbers.

HUNT NEW EVIDENCE IN SPRACKLIN CASE

Counsel for Mrs. Trumble Objects to Some of Men on Jury

WINDSOR, Nov. 19. — (Star Special.) — The arrest of Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin is improbable until a charge has been preferred by the Crown, according to Chief of Police Wills, who said that he had not been instructed to apprehend Mr. Spracklin on his return from Toronto.

W. H. Furlong, counsel for the widow of Beverly Trumble, the slain Sandwich hotelman, believes his letter, mailed to the Attorney-General on November 16 induced the Government to take further proceedings against Rev. Mr. Spracklin. "In that letter," said Mr. Furlong, "I pointed out that public opinion would not be satisfied unless Spracklin was brought to trial. On behalf of Mrs. Trumble I demanded the trial of the slayer before a jury of Essex County. I have yet to be satisfied that Mr. Trumble had a gun when Spracklin fired the fatal shot."

Hinting at new evidence which the Trumble family will ask the Crown to introduce at the trial, Mr. Furlong criticized the composition of the coroner's jury which found that Spracklin killed the hotelman in self-defence. Seven of the jurymen, he asserted, were not qualified to act.

"I am not prepared to state at this time just what are my objections to some of the men who served on the Jury," Mr. Furlong said, "those objections, which I have now in mind will be filed with the Crown in the course of a few days."

POLICE IDENTIFY NEW YORK RAFFLES

Is Professional Burglar—Mrs. Palmer Sustained Serious Injuries

SECOND ROBBERY

Residence Raided Two Weeks Ago and Fine Whiskey Stolen

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.— Police investigating the $400,000 jewellery and fur robbery of Mrs. Charlotte King Palmer, former actress, intimated today that as the result of further information obtained from her they had identified at least one of the three robbers. He is believed to be a professional burglar.

Mrs. Palmer's physician reported that an X-ray examination had shown a bone was broken in each of her feet when she leaped down a stairway in trying to escape from the robbers, who seized her when she returned from a dinner party early Tuesday morning. She is still confined to her bed.

Insurance totalling only $53,000 was carried on the stolen articles. A pearl necklace said to be worth $300,000, was insured for $40,000.

It was learned today that Mrs. Palmer's home at Long Beach was entered by burglars about two weeks ago and imported whiskey which originally cost $1,000, was stolen.

SUSPENSION PLEA ON RAILWAY RATES

Railway Commission Will Not Hear Other Appeal Phases Now

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 — (From Our Own Correspondent.) — The railway rates case which comes before the Railway Commission on Monday will not open up the whole question according to a statement here today. Some despatches, it is stated, have conveyed a wrong impression. The case that will be taken up next week is on the application of H. J. Symington, on behalf of the Manitoba Government for a suspension of the increase in freight and passenger tariffs. Argument on this will be heard, and counsel on both sides will be called on to show cause for the suspension of the maintenance of the rates.

While there may be some reference to other phases of the situation, apparently it is not the purpose of the Board, at this stage, to go into the question of alleged rate discrimination though this will be done, in a separate inquiry, likely to begin in December.

INCOME TAX CASE TO BE APPEALED

Finance Department, Ottawa, to Appeal Judge Gunn's Decision

OTTAWA, Nov. 19 — (From Our Own Correspondent.) — The Finance Department is taking steps to carry to appeal, if an appeal is possible, the judgment of Judge Gunn, of Ottawa, in the case of a local physician convicted of making improper returns of income. The doctor was fined $2,500 for making what was described as a false return. The proceedings were before the local police magistrate. The conviction was quashed on several grounds. One being the lack of notification of the magistrate that another that the time had expired for summary proceedings under the Criminal Code.

The case is of general interest because it is a precedent which, if it is the whole matter of collecting some taxes of more importance to the government of the moment might not relish. It has been suggested by the commissioner of taxation to the department of justice for his opinion. One point to be determined whether a magistrate is a court, the question of their jurisdiction arises. BRITAIN'S BREAD SUBSIDY CENTRE OF HOT CONTROVERSY

Canadians in London Interested in Effect on Wheat Purchases

WARM CRITICISM

Wheat Controller Challenged—Cheap Australian Wheat in Market

LONDON, Nov. 19 (Star Cable by Windermere. Copyright.)—The Times today states:

"The stoppage of importation of Canadian securities, of which the object was to assist the domestic and financial situation during the crop-moving season, adds, instead to her discomforture by accentuating the lack of wheat demand."

Canadian bankers in London tell The Star that this view is as far-fetched as the connection between the Baltic and Lombard street is indirect. Wheat purchases would undoubtedly be easier if credits existed here, but this influence is insufficient to offset the cheaper Australian wheat which claims the same sentimental preference as the Canadian. The Australians are eager to export their wheat in order to ease their bank stringency here and are willing to make concessions and to create London credits to pay the manufacturers for purchases.

The total wheat demand is limited and much business is unlikely before navigation closes. Bankers think that the British demand will return when Canadian prices drop enough.

BEAVERBROOK IS CRITICAL.

Interviewed by The Star regarding the Food Minister's defence in the Commons yesterday of his refusal to reduce the price of bread to one shilling per quartern loaf, Lord Beaverbrook said:

"The Minister's statement is unworthy of commonsense if he bases his calculations on wheat prices of November 10. He says that the market price is one shilling sixpence a quarter below the subsidy level. For the moment I accept his calculations, although I know I should come to a different conclusion if I made the figures myself. One shilling and sixpence equals a halfpenny in the loaf. add to one shilling sixpence the value of the subsidy calculated at eighteen million pounds and you get a saving of twopence. Calculate the subsidy at forty five millions, which is probably the figure taken by the Controller, and you have a saving of five pence on the loaf. I am satisfied to convict the Controller on his own statement.

SAYS COMMONS MISLED.

"He says importers are free to buy wheat in the open market and bring it here in competition with Government stocks. The Controller misleads the House of Commons. The fact is that the Government has provided a subsidy amounting to eighteen million pounds sterling, not for the purpose of selling the Wheat Commissioner's mistakes but to provide us cheaper bread. How can the private importer sell in this market in competition with Government-subsidized wheat. No doubt, if he could get wheat into port today, he could manage to sell at a profit. In a few days he would be too late, for the campaign to compel the Government to sell its wheat at the world price is sure to prevail. When that time comes the private dealer cannot compete with subsidized supplies."

REPORT DEATH OF J. Y. PAYZANT

Well-Known Nova Scotia Financier Dies in Los Angeles, Cal.

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 19 — The death is reported in a [illegible] received here today from Los Angeles, Calif., of John Young Payzant, a prominent Canadian financier, at the age of 84. Mr. Payzant was connected with a number of financial institutions in the Maritime Provinces, notably the Bank of Nova Scotia, of which he was at one time president.

John Young Payzant was born at Falmouth, N.S., February 9, 1827, and received his education at Horton Academy and Acadia College. He was called to the Bar of Nova Scotia in 1851, and established a large and successful practice in Halifax. He was created a K.C. in 1880. In 1867 he was elected vice-president of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and two years later became its president, a post from which he resigned in January, 1918. He was also connected with a number of other financial and industrial enterprises.

In 1858 Mr. Payzant married Frances E. Starr. There are five sons and three daughters. In politics Mr. Payzant was a Conservative, and in religion a member of the Church of England.

SAYS UNFRIENDLY RIVALRY SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED

No Problems Anglo-Americans Cannot Solve in Unity, Says Geddes

EXTEND HAND

Ambassador Declares Highest Earthly Goal is World Peace

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—From Our Own Correspondent.)—Great Britain's official spokesman in this country, Sir Auckland Geddes, roused eight hundred members of the New York State Chamber of Commerce to cheers at their annual banquet last night by an eloquent appeal for international understanding. The cheers came at the close of the Ambassador's speech when Sir Auckland said:

"The world waits for an answer to the question: Are the British-American contacts to be fair and friendly, even in trade rivalry and trade competition, or are they to be marked by suspicion, political jealousy and schemings to establish exclusive economic spheres? If it is to be the first, then the future is bright. There is no problem which in friendly co-operation we cannot solve. If it were to be the second, sadness would possess me;

"The choice is yours. The British Empire offers America friendship and friendliness.

"It is not easy for any one to estimate truly how vast are the changes that the last century and a half have brought," said the Ambassador. "Especially is it hard for a nation absorbed in a vast development to realize the profound spiritual and mental changes that are making in the hearts and minds of the peoples of other lands.

NEW AGE BORN.

"It is true to say that in 1770 a new age was born.

"The fact that the new age—the age of applied power and of social, moral and religious questionings—necessarily was born and passed through the years of its infant weakness within the shell of the past, gave it from its birth a set that if man had been as God, omnipotent and omniscient, it would never have been allowed to take. That set, inevitable and unescapable at its beginning, it still maintains in spite of the not wholly unsuccessful struggles of millions to turn the stream of its development into freer and more open channels.

"Look where you will, in whatever land you care to select, you will find the manifestations of that effort to remove the stigma of the callous past, to counteract the warping effects of the ages that have been expressed as social unrest.

SOCIAL UNREST STRUGGLE.

"I do not say that all social unrest is a struggle against the dead hand of the dead centuries. It is the converse that I advance, that all struggles against that dead hand are included in the body of discontent which is made manifest as social unrest. Do not misunderstand me. I am not ignorant of the part secret revolutionary societies play in fostering unrest, but in the last analysis many of these secret societies are themselves the legacy of bygone wrongs, are part of the warping within the structure. Many of them are organizations of protest against conditions that are as extinct as any dodo.

Sir Auckland went on to say that the sense of power around him had entered into man's being. The mass of humanity had struck its tent and was marching on. Vast social readjustments were in progress.

"The time-size of the world is so reduced, the development of the great mechanical carriers of merchandise is so advanced, the inter-locking of the machinery of finance and trade is so perfect that isolation is as impossible for a nation as aerial flight was to our grandfathers, and remember, flight, practical commercial flight, across continents and oceans is coming—coming on giant wings. Every day that passes makes the insulation, of national thought and the isolation of national activity more truly impossible.

PEOPLE MUST KNOW.

"It was wrong that in the days of absolute monarchy a single human will, moved by pique or injured vanity, could send men to die for the glory of a family's name. It is right that before the people are called upon to fight they should know and understand the goal of victory, the price of failure to face and cost of defeat. But the common people certainly not now, prhaps never will, have a detailed understanding of the complexity of international relations or of the difficulties and fears of nations far across the sea.

"But a more serious difficulty is this: Masses of people, necessarily incompletely informed, for they have to earn their living and cannot spend all their time in the study of international questions are peculiarly liable to be swayed by the subtle force of propaganda. This all adds difficulty to the art of maintaining international friendship. At present not every one believes that it is the highest interest of all the nations that they should be on terms of frank friendship one with the other, and those who do not believe that this is so have been known to attempt by misrepresentation and hints of hostile action to poison the springs of international sacrifice, to make muddy the pool of international understanding.

GOAL OF PEACE.

"Peace, world peace in our time and in our children's time is to me the highest earthly goal. To secure it demands great qualities of heart and brain. To avoid the danger of war demands that we make impossible friction at the points of international contact, for friction generates heat, not often light. That is of practical importance to you and to us, for all the nations of the world, yours and mine, are inevitably in the closest contact. We stand side by side along two land frontiers, open and unarmed for thousands of miles the frontier between your northern states and Canada and again between Alaska and Canada. But not only these as your trade reaches out around the world as our ships pass upon the lawful occupations, about the seven seas you cannot avoid being brought into closer and still more close contact with my fellow citizens and with their interests.

CARONIA CARRIES MANY NOTABLES

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 19. The Cunard liner Caronia, eight days from Liverpool arrived in port last evening and docked this morning. She carried a total of 1,866 passengers, of whom 230 disembarked here. The remainder will proceed on the steamer for New York.

On board was a party consisting of Colonel H. E. S. Cordeaux, C.B., C.M.G., the new Governor of the Bahamas, Viscount Exmouth and Captain Lowther, the new Governor's aides; Mrs. Cordeaux, Miss Dundas, her daughter, and Lady Ada Fitzwilliam, Mrs. A. G. Kaplen, wife of a United States senator, is among the other saloon passengers for New York.

Autumn Re-union.

The Women's Branch of the Antiquarian Society held their first autumn re-union yesterday afternoon, at the Chateau de Ramezay. Mrs. Wurtele, the president, who received the guests, was wearing black satin and carrying an old-fashioned colonial bouquet of cream roses. The musical program opened with Mrs. Robert Boronow's piano number, a gavotte and variations by J. P. Rameau, a composer of the first half of the eighteenth century, with a Chopin etude for an encore. Miss Janet Johnston sang "La Procession," by Cesar Franack, and "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Thurlow Lieurance, and as an encore "Homing" by Del Riego. Miss Guerin ("Bellelle") read by special request her romantic and historical sketch of the Chateau. At the close of the program, tea was served, Mrs. Shirres and Mrs. Chase Casgrain presiding at the tea tables, which were arranged very prettily with bronze pom pom chrysanthemums and lighted candles. A number of young ladies wearing picturesque eighteenth century costumes assisted in serving and they included Miss Desbarats, Miss McIntyre, Miss Boyer, Miss Bertha Tascherreau, Miss Gweneth Lewis, Miss Aimee Springett and Mrs. Robert Boronow. Among those present were Mrs. R. A. E. Greenshields, Mr. W. D. Lighthall, president of the Antiquarian Society, and Mrs. Lighthall, Miss Grace George, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Martin, Madame de Clerval, Mrs. Farthing, Miss Estelle Power O'Brien, Miss M. Larocque, Mrs. Lansing Lewis, Mrs. Duverrier, Mrs. C. Dupuis, Mrs. Duncan Anderson, Mrs. J. P. B. DEATH OF PTE. NOBLE.

The death occurred, at Ste. Anne's Hospital, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, on Tuesday, of Thomas Noble, late private in the 242nd Battalion, Pte. Noble emigrated to Canada from England some years before the war. He joined up soon after hostilities commenced and was sent overseas to France. Here he developed tuberculosis and was brought back to Canada. The disease had gone too far to be checked when he went into hospital at Ste. Anne's. He leaves a mother, Mrs. M. Noble, Liverpool, England, who is his only relative.

MINISTERS' SALARIES BETTERED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A $1,000,000 increase in salaries to ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church has been paid during the past year, an average of $250 to each clergyman of the denomination—Nonell Sayre, secretary of the Church Pension Fund, estimated here today.

"THAIS" OPERA WELL PERFORMED

New Societe Nationale d'Opera Meets With Good Success

SOCIETE NATIONALE D'OPERA—Directors, Victor Desautels, Albert Roberval, Honore Vaillancourt; "Thais," Massenet; St. Denis Theatre. Cast: Thais, Edith de Lys; Crobyle, A. Lariviere; Myrtale, C. Cabana; Albine, E. Gareau; Athanael, Jean Riddez; Nicias, W. Descoteaux; Palemon, H. Vaillancourt; Servant, R. Gour. Conductor, A. Roberval; first violin, A. Chamberland; stage manager, G. L. Fortin.

Those French musicians who have persevered against heavy odds, in the giving of opera, seem at last to be reaping the fruits of their labors. Undeterred by disappointments, undaunted by difficulties, these energetic enthusiasts, chief among whom is Mr. Desautels, have persisted in doing what they considered ought to be done for the good of musical art in Montreal; and last night they were rewarded by the presence (and the dollars) of an audience that appeared to fill the theatre to capacity.

It was a pity though, that more English people were not there. "Thais" is an opera that is not too well known to our opera going public; it is moreover, a music drama that occupies an important place in modern operatic literature, and it was given in a manner to repay anyone for a trip to the St. Denis. Interest probably centered in the appearance of Mr. Riddez, an old favorite with opera lovers in this city; but curiosity was also felt in the debut here of Miss de Lys, who came with flattering recommendations. Upon the soprano and baritone, and upon the orchestra, falls the burden of a "Thais" performance; the smaller parts and the chorus need to be carefully attended to, of course, but they are incidental. In this case the three principal persons, conductor, prima donna and baritone, were all thoroughly competent to take care of the business assigned to them. They did not give a brilliant rendering of the opera, but they did play and sing it with intelligence and that good taste which is a distinguishing feature of French professional performance. The orchestra was of ample proportions; and was smoothly worked in to the warp and woof of the performance as a whole. Miss de Lys and Mr. Riddez read their roles with understanding, if not in the light of inspired genius; and the costumes of the chorus and some of the settings were surprisingly effective.

It is understood that the opera will be repeated, with the same cast, on Dec. 2, when even better results may naturally be expected, and when more vivacity on the part of Crobyle and Myrtale, and greater confidence in the opening scene, may be looked for. The Societe also announces the first performance in America of the opera "Evangeline" by Xavier Leroux, whose "Chemineau" was prominent in the repertoires of the Montreal and New Orleans companies some years ago. The date of this premier is not yet chosen.—P. K.

PRESENTATION OF JULIUS CAESAR

The Dickens Fellowship Players will present Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" at the New Empire Theatre, on Thursday and Friday, December 2 and 3. The presentation will be made under the joint auspices of the Kiwanis Club of Montreal and the Dickens Fellowship.

The plays are presented with a view to raising funds to purchase Braille books for the blind, and also to present the orphans of the dead soldiers of Montreal with their annual Christmas Tree. Seats will be unreserved and are on sale at 75 cents from any Kiwanian. The boxes for Thursday's performance were auctioned yesterday at the Kiwanis luncheon, and those for Friday night will be auctioned at next week's luncheon, held in the Queen's Hotel on Thursday.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—The Government steamer Rouville has been sent to the assistance of the steamer South America, which is stranded off the Gaspe coast. The South America, is bound from Montreal for a southern port.

DO you realize, Ladies, what trouble THE CROWN LAUNDRY takes to make the most of every particle of beauty possessed by your lovely bed linen? Sheets and pillow cases are ironed over rollers covered with thick woolly padding—like thick ironing blankets—and only allowed to move very slowly, so that they cannot be damaged. These woolly pads make the embroidery stand out bold and clear, and when the hand-ironers have carefully smoothed round each item of the pattern the result is most charming.

Dainty, beautiful freshness comes with bed linen that has been

PULP AND PAPER MEN WANT TARIFF

Commission Expects to Conclude Sessions in Montreal Today

JEWELLERS' VIEW

Commission Concluded Its Sessions in Montreal This Morning

A strong plea for the maintenance of the tariff, by the pulp and paper manufacturers, represented by S. J. B. Rolland, of the Rolland Paper Co.; F. J. Campbell, of the Canada Paper Co.; and A. L. Dawe, secretary of the Pulp and Paper Manufacturers' Association; the Montreal and District Jewellers' Association represented by A. L. Caron, of Caron Bros., and Thos L. Wright, secretary of the association, agent for P. Ellis & Co., the Toronto Manufacturing Jewellers and the Clothing Manufacturers represented by J. Christie, formed the principal part of the business at this morning's session of the Tariff Commission, whose hearing in Montreal concluded at noon today.

The pulp and paper manufacturers' brief reads in part as follows:

A GROWING INDUSTRY.

"The Canadian pulp and paper industry is generally in a healthy state, and is growing rapidly. It undoubtedly owes a considerable measure of its present prosperity to the protective tariff policy prevailing in the Dominion for the past 20 years.

"The industry offers a reasonably attractive field to foreign and domestic capital; provides a means for the favorable utilization of Canada's forest products and water-powers as well as of much waste material that would otherwise have little value; gives remunerative employment to a large number of workers; supplies a domestic need at reasonable cost; contributes in no small degree to the federal and provincial revenues; performs an important national service in extending Canada's exterior trade, and is paving the way for the scientific conservation and replenishment of our forest wealth. The industry is one that goes out into the wildernesses and converts waste places into flourishing industrial communities, leading to the construction of railways for carrying materials and supplies, as well as the establishment of contingent industries. It has, by no means, reached the zenith of its development, but is capable of practically unlimited expansion, unless retarded or held back by restricting government regulations or adverse tariff legislation."

Dealing with the production of newsprint, the statement says that Canada produces in the neighborhood of 800,000 tons of newsprint paper a year, the quantity being constantly augmented by mill expansion. In the first nine months of the current calendar year, Canada produced 666,735 tons, of which 100,292 tons, or 15 per cent., was consumed in Canada. The principal export market is the United States, where, at the present time, print paper valued at not more than 3 cents a pound is admitted free of duty.

"While the newsprint trade is, to so large an extent export, Canadian consumers benefit by the large production, since the greater the production the more economically can manufacturing be carried on," says the Memorandum. If the newsprint industry were solely dependent on the home market the demand would be insufficient to maintain any considerable number of mills and the price would necessarily be higher. One company alone, at the present time, produces sufficient paper to equal the total Canadian demand. Canadian consumers of newsprint obtain their supplies at as low or lower prices than those of any other country. A Canadian consumer using no more than 100 tons of paper a year, pays no higher price, and sometimes less for it, than American consumers using from 40,000 to 50,000 tons a year. Canadian newsprint is sold abroad in competition with the United States, England, Scandinavia and Germany, competition both as to price and quality being keen.

"Among the factors that have contributed to the enormous expansion of the Canadian Newsprint industry may be mentioned Canada's extensive pulpwood areas and cheap water-powers, provincial legislation designed to encourage home manufacture and discourage the exportation of unmanufactured logs, the free market for newsprint in the United States, and the standardization of methods employed in production, the last being by no means the least important.

"Modern paper-making machines now employed in Canada are built with a view to producing under practically continuous operation a roll of paper that will divide into the required units without waste and without the loss of time formerly incurred in changing from one width to another, and one weight to another in the grade of paper produced. This feature has an important bearing on the economic production of paper."

BOOK AND WRITING PAPERS.

Regarding book and writing papers, it is stated that Canadian manufacturers have made every effort to cater to all domestic requirements and are constantly evolving new lines. "None of these developments, in all probability, could have taken place had foreign paper-makers had free access to this market. An illustration may be made in connection with the production of Blue Print Paper which enters Canada free of duty. Apart from the loss of revenue to the Government, no Canadian paper manufacturer has felt sufficiently encouraged to go to the heavy expense of experimenting and producing a paper of a quality suited to the requirements of the Blue Print manufacturers in the face of unrestricted foreign competition. From the point of view of the consumer of paper the manufacturers have paid special attention to the domestic market, notwithstanding charges to the contrary that have been made."

Progress has been made in the production of felt paper, wrapping papers and of tissue, crepe and paper towels, and the memorandum petitions that on these products the present tariff be maintained.

Answering an enquiry by Sir Henry, Mr. Rolland stated that they had hopes of soon being able to get a good deal of their machinery made in Canada.

JEWELLERS COMPARE U. S.

A. L. Caron, for the Jewellers' Association submitted that the total capital invested in the industry in Canada amounted to $50,000,000, the number of employees, 20,000 and the annual wages bill $30,000,000. Their products were sold in Canada at prices which compared favorably with, and in some cases were less than the prices of similar articles in the United States.

It was obvious that if the tariff on competing goods were reduced imports would increase and displace the Canadian product, reducing the home market and decreasing the Canadian output. In consequence, the cost of manufacturing per unit would be increased and some plants would find it difficult to continue in operation. The result would be unemployment and loss of trade to Canada.

The jewellery trade had already reached a creditable stage of development, and was producing almost all articles of jewellery of good quality and design. It was important that the industry should be maintained and encouraged. If the present tariff were continued this object would be achieved to the benefit of the whole country.

As the jewellers had decided to broach the question of the luxury tax at the sittings of the committee in Toronto, the question would not be raised here, Mr. Caron added.

Questioned by Sir Henry, he stated that his was one of the few firms which exported jewellery.

W. P. Downey, submitted a plea for equalisation of customs' duties affecting two products called Honeyo and Nalomoline.

J. Christie on behalf of the clothing manufacturers, submitted that any lowering of the protective tariff would ruin the Canadian industry.

THE LUXURY TAX.

R. A. Nixon, for the Retail Merchants' Association submitted the opinion that the luxury tax was impracticable and ought to be abolished. It took extra labor, and caused inconvenience and expense. Henry Morgan and Co., had had to put in $50,000 extra capital on account of the locking up of capital through the luxury tax, for stocks of stamps on hand, tax paid on credit accounts, etc.

"You have clearly indicated that you don't like that tax," remarked Sir Henry, closing the examination. "You have also shown that one may have to do a lot of stamplicking for a small bill, and you have shown that people can fail to collect the proper tax. I will look into the question in Ottawa."

F. W. Stewart, in behalf of the manufacturers generally, expressed appreciation of the way Sir Henry had heard the various interests. Sir Henry had started this hearing with a smile, and was ending with a smile.

CLOTHIERS CLAIM TRADE NOT DEAD

Merely Passing Through Expected Period of Temporary Depression

There is no cause for the alarm which has been sounded by certain firms interested in the manufacture of clothing, and clothing manufacturers who can "hand over the goods" are enjoying fair business with good prospects for next spring, according to A. A. Sandeman, managing director of the firm of E. A. Small Company, Ltd., the manufacturers of Fit-Reform clothing, who discussed the situation with The Star this morning.

Mr. Sandeman pointed out that, during the period between the selling seasons, manufacturing is naturally not in full swing. At the present time, he stated, the manufacturers of the poorer quality clothes are having a slack time because "the public demands the higher quality of clothing." The reason for the slowness of the market for clothing this fall had been the lateness of the appearance of the cold weather. Now that this is beginning to put in an appearance, he assured The Star, the trade is becoming brisk again.

Even with the advance of sales once more and the gradual return of the trade to normal winter and fall conditions, Mr. Sandeman acknowledged that trade is not quite on such a good footing as it has been in the past, at this season. There has been a very slight reduction in the prices of woollens from the English and Scotch factories, he stated, but this has not been anything like as much as some wholesalers and importers here would have us believe. In his opinion, this drop had not been more than about 5 per cent.

"Of course," he added, "some manufacturers have cut their prices, including our own firm, but ultimately either wages will have to come down or the rate and volume of production must increase.

"At the present moment I cannot do better than echo the statements of a well-known politician, who said, in talking of manufacturing, that there was not enough rope produced in England to hang all the pessimists who exist during a period of depression."

Another supporter of the theory that there is no reason to be alarmed at the existing situation in the clothing trade and that there is fair weather ahead for the trade, was Mr. Lanigan, of the Campbell Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Lanigan stated that he had noted with surprise the statement that "except for small manufacturers employing ten to twelve men, with the exception of two factories, clothing men are doing no business." This is not true, he claimed. His opinion was that the trade was merely passing through a natural and to be expected, period of depression from which it would recover.

STANDARD FACTORY CLOSING.

The Standard Factory of Canada, Ltd., Duluth avenue and St. Denis street, manufacturers of waists, skirts, dresses, blouses, etc., which has been in liquidation for some months, will close its doors entirely on Saturday. According to W. C. Bland, provisional liquidator appointed by the Merchants Bank of Canada, between 60 and 100 workers will be placed out of employment when the factory closes tomorrow. Last May, the concern employed about 300 operatives, but this number gradually dwindled with the weakening condition of the clothing market until on Nov. 1 but 60 employes were left.

At a meeting of creditors of the Standard Factory, recorded in the court proceedings of Wednesday, Paul J. Turgeon was appointed liquidator, and Joseph Cantlee, Thomas Brophy, D. S. Wilkie, J. Leslie Hodgers, and Henri Gerin Lajoie appointed inspectors.

The Merchants Bank of Canada, the company's largest creditor, instigated the closure proceedings, according to President Blackwell, of the Standard Factory Company, in demanding payment of a claim of $350,000, which the concern, owing to a slack period in its business was at the moment unable to meet. The Standard Factory had been a progressive concern for six or seven years but suffered like all the rest in the clothing business during the last year, said Mr. Blackwell.

MUST NOT PARK MOTORS ON STREET

The danger of the custom of leaving automobiles and other vehicles all night in streets and lanes has caused a number of complaints to be made, and Col. Gaudet, Director of Public Safety, therefore announced yesterday that instructions were being issued to the police to stop the practice. He also drew attention to by-law 270, ordaining that no one shall obstruct the streets by throwing or depositing rubbish of any kind, or by leaving vehicles, or playing games. Skating, sliding and tobogganing are also banned.

PUNCH AND JUDY SHOW FOR BLIND

A Punch and Judy show operated by a blind man, was the feature of an unique entertainment which was held yesterday evening at the monthly meeting of the social club of the Montreal Association for the Blind. W. C. Thomas, of the association, conducted a Punch and Judy show, and the three hundred odd members and associates who attended appreciated every exploit of the figures.

The following club officers were elected for the following year: Adams, chairman; Messrs. Dewar and Carragher, vice-chairmen; Miss Howell, treasurer; Mrs. P. E. Layton, secretary; Miss D. Howell, assistant secretary. Musical selections formed part of the program and refreshments were served during the evening.

SELL PLENTY OF SUGAR AT 12 CENTS

Local Wholesaler Thinks Situation Has Righted Itself

A brisk business was being done in sugar this morning at 12 cents a pound, a wholesaler reported this morning, and for the moment the public is apparently ready to buy it at that price. "We can sell all the sugar we wish at that price," he remarked, "and although cases are reported to us by retailers, of sugar, offered to them at 11¼ cents, there is generally some string tied to the offer, as our customers in the end order from us. These cuts cannot be an important factor, "as we are doing all the business we can handle. The situation has now righted itself and will probably continue as at present, unless another cut precipitates a renewal of the war."

Although 9½ less two per cent. was the New York price quoted this morning, a local merchant figures that even at that there was still a margin of a cent and a half between the price of Canadian refined sugar and the American product laid down in this country.

Allowing for a spread of 3 cents in Canada, the same spread that was allowed in the U.S., Canadians were getting their sugar for just a few cents more than the cost, had the refiners purchased their raw product at the present low prices.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR McGILL CLUB

Col. C. A. Peters, D.S.O., M.D., and Lt.-Col. E. M. Renouf, were the principal speakers at a meeting of the McGill Newfoundland Club, which was held yesterday evening in the McGill Union. In a short address Col. Peters touched upon the development of McGill University and its needs. Lt.-Col. Renouf replied to the toast to Newfoundland. An election of officers for the coming year ensued as follows: President, C. F. Davis; vice president, W. Jackman; treasurer, A. Johnson; secretary, G. Bishop; reporter, J. H. Way.

NEWS AROUND McGILL

Canvassing among the students for the McGill Centennial Endowment campaign is progressing well. The Medical Faculty is making a special effort, and reports indicate that the members of the First Year are making a good showing. The Maccabean Circle, a society of Jewish students, has donated $200 to the campaign funds.

The first Mock Court to be held this session under the auspices of the Law Undergraduates' Society was pronounced last night a great success by the large number of students in attendance.

The annual dinner of the Newfoundland Club took place last night in the Union Cafeteria, with practically every member present. The guests of honor included Col. G. E. Renouf, Col. Peters, D.S.O., M.D.; Rev. W. T. Bradbury, B.A., B.D.; and W. H. Hatcher, M.Sc. Col. Renouf was the principal after-dinner speaker.

The Social Service Club has opened its club for boys from 11 to 16 years of age in the Iverley Settlement. One room only is now available, but it is hoped to obtain a second, and possibly a third, in the near future. The use of a gymnasium has been obtained in one of the nearby schools. Thirty boys were present on the opening night, and it is expected that the attendance will be almost doubled. The club will be open six nights a week. The students will supply workers to take charge for four evenings each week.

SECOND MOTION TO QUASH INDICTMENT

Boudreault's Lawyers Protest Charges on Three Counts

A second motion to quash the indictment against Wilfred Boudreault, accused by the C.P.R. of theft as agent, was made this morning in the Court of King's Bench. Joseph Cohen, K.C., who, with Alban Germain, K.C., is conducting the defence, addressed the court for an hour, protesting against the indictment as it stands on three different counts. J. C. Walsh, K.C., for the Crown, entered objections to the plea of the defence, but, after a heated discussion, Mr. Justice Monet ruled that the defence should be heard. The case was then adjourned until this afternoon at 2:30, when the prosecution will speak. All other cases for the Court of King's Bench have been adjourned until November 25.

The first objection to the indictment as drawn under Article 355 is, that it charges the accused with theft as agent. Defence claims that Boudreault should be charged with theft as servant, the difference between servant and agent being clearly defined. This would then come under Article 359.

The second objection, founded on former like cases, was to the effect that the indictment should be drawn under Article 347, as one of straight theft, granting the evidence of the Crown to be correct.

Thirdly, Mr. Cohen said, it had not been proved that the tickets in question were the property of the C.P.R., it being possible that they had been purchased by an individual and given to Boudreault to dispose of. In this case, the defence contended, no theft would exist, the tickets having passed completely out of the jurisdiction of the C.P.R. at the time that they were sold to the individual.

No witnesses were called. The case for the Crown was completed at yesterday's session and the defence awaits the discretion of Mr. Justice Monet to submit their case. The only witness for the defence so far called was Emmett Reynolds, a C.P.R. brakeman, who yesterday flatly denied that he had been in the van of the freight train at the time that accused is alleged to have sold six tickets to Wilson and six to Lachance. He identified Wilson in court, saying that he recognized him as a "Pinkerton Spotter."

D. W. TOWNE DEAD

Well-Known Lachine Man Succumbed After Short Illness

After a very short illness Dana Winters Towne died yesterday morning at his residence, 130a, 10th Avenue, Lachine. Mr. Towne was born in the United States 38 years ago, but lived in Canada for many years and was successively in the employ of the C.P.R., the Zenith Machine Works Midland, Ont., and the Imperial Munitions Board. He was for some time in the offices of the C.P.O.S. at Hong Kong, China, and later went to the Philippines, where he directed a lumber firm.

When he returned to Canada Mr. Towne was for some time connected with a large advertising firm, and quite lately was associated with Gerald I. Drummond, McGill Building.

Mr. Towne was very well-known in the down-town district and had made many very close friends in Montreal. He is survived by his widow and three young children. The funeral takes place tomorrow, Saturday, at 2:30 p.m. from the family residence, thence to Mount Royal Cemetery.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 19. — Five armed men yesterday held up three clerks in an east side branch of the Wayne County and Home Savings Bank and after compelling them to lie on the floor, escaped with an undetermined amount of cash. Bank officials asserted the bandits secured less than $5,000.

POLICE WILL REFUSE TO WEAR BRASSARDS AFTER MONDAY, IT IS ALLEGED

It is learned on the highest of authority that at the meeting of the Police Union held yesterday afternoon, 300 out of the 305 members of the union who attended the meeting voted against the wearing of the brassards. It is further stated to The Star that the men will refuse to wear these brassards after Monday.

Other items taken up at the meeting were those of tunics and pay. Considerable discussion took place on these subjects and the matter was left in the hands of the executive committee. One thing established is that there is no likelihood of a strike of the police, as they anticipate that their demands will be recognized by the Administrative Commission.

Whether the refusal to wear the brassards on Monday will bring the situation to a crisis is not known but it is said the men intend to stick to the resolution passed to this effect.

The demands of the police are under consideration, it was learned this morning at the City Hall, and it is admitted that some of the men have just grievances. The new tunics are not all that can be desired, and it is found that they will have to be more heavily lined, as they are hardly warm enough. But they are intended merely for fall and spring weather, and for dress purposes, and as the weather gets colder men will be wearing their great coats. It was pointed out that at the last visit of the Prince of Wales, the Montreal police had no tunics, with the result that they did not possess the well-groomed appearance that the Montreal force should have. Questions of increased pay and promotion are still being considered, and no statement was obtainable.

"The only man who can object to wearing a brassard," it was said by Col. Gaudet, "is the man who is not behaving properly while on duty, and that is the only man who will suffer from its use. If there had been any danger from their use in other respects, it would have been discovered long ago, and they would have been abandoned by the London police, who always wear them on duty."

As regards giving various articles of uniform to a man when he leaves, that is the custom of the force in Montreal, it was said, but it is dependent on the presumed life of the garment. The overcoat, for instance, has an official life of three years, and if a man had used it for most of that period he would certainly be allowed to keep it, subject to removing police buttons and badges. But if it had still considerable value, in the interests of civic economy he could not be allowed to take it. A supply of secondhand uniforms, it was said, has to be kept on hand for kitting up new recruits, who may [illegible]

It is admitted that there has been delay in suppying of uniforms, but it has been only the delay to which everybody has been subjected, that of obtaining deliveries of goods. There have been long delays in getting supplies of cloth required for uniforms, which has to be imported and then dyed, but this matter is being attended to, it is claimed and it is hoped that the delay will soon be ended.

MOTORMAN IN COURT AS RESULT OF COLLISION

Wilfred Touchette, a motorman, whose street car collided yesterday with a hook and ladder truck, was charged today with doing bodily harm to Herbert Heater, who was injured in the accident. The charge was heard in the Westmount police magistrate's court, and was transferred to the Enquete Court in Montreal.

Heater is a fireman in the Westmount fire department. He is suffering from a broken leg and cuts on the head. He was riding on the running board of the firetruck, as the firemen were returning from a false alarm at the corner of Kensington avenue and St. Catherine street. As they crossed Sherbrooke street an eastbound St. Catherine car struck the truck near the rear left wheel. Constable William McDonald of the Westmount police who was standing beside Heater on the lefthand side of the truck saw the car coming and noticing that it was not stopping jumped clear of the truck before the street car hit it.

TWO VERDICTS OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH

A verdict of accidental death was returned by Coroner McMahon at the inquest held this morning into the death of Euclide Beauchemin, aged 48, of 236 Letourneaux street, who died at the Notre Dame Hospital yesterday morning from injuries suffered in a collision between a street car and a sprinkler on which he was working on August 24 last.

A similar verdict was returned in the case of Mrs. Patrick Langlois, aged 21, of 355 Prefontaine street who died at the Notre Dame Hospital this morning of burns about the body incurred by the explosion of an oil can, with which she was trying to light the [illegible] stove last Tuesday afternoon.

Gifts of Distinction

THERE are four qualities always associated with Birks merchandise—beauty, workmanship, reasonable prices and distinction.

Nowadays almost every successful store supplies its customers with goods that are beautiful, well made and moderately priced.

The fourth quality, however, because intangible, is rare. Seventy years of good taste have produced it in Birks.

Distinction is one of the first things you look for when selecting a gift.

We Hasten to Explain

Someone asked us the other day what we meant when we described beef as "heavy" and we explained that the word in question was generally used to indicate beef cut from well fattened cattle. The plumpness of the beast makes each side weigh heavier than a side from a thinner animal and thus the word "heavy" has come to be used to indicate plump, well fleshed, high quality beef. We have some lovely "heavy" Western beef—prime standing rib roasts trimmed ready to pop right into the oven—they are remarkably fine. Why not call in and inspect them?

MACKENZIE KING ATTACKS GOV'T AT AYLMER MEETING

Devotes Entire Speech to Condemnation of Premier and Party

ARE USURPERS

Declares Gov't Without Right of Authority to Conduct Affairs

AYLMER, Ont., Nov. 19.—Delays on the railway beyond London delayed the arrival of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King more than an hour last night. The crowd filled the Town Hall to capacity, and a couple of hundred people were turned away from an adjoining theatre, where Mr. King addressed an overflow meeting.

The Liberal leader's address was a sweeping condemnation of the Meighen Government, and he urged the electors of East Elgin to register their disapproval of that Government's record by defeating their candidate. The election of the Government candidate, while it would in reality be merely a measure of the folly of the progressive forces in allowing themselves to be divided in the face of a reactionary nominee, would nevertheless be construed by the Government as a ground for their continuing in office, irrespective of the wishes of the people of the Dominion as a whole.

LIBERAL LEADER'S ADDRESS.

"The present is a by-election," said Mr. King. "It ought to be one election among many constituting a general election. The only reason that it is not such is that the present administration have treated the public of Canada as a whole with the same degree of contempt of constitutional rights and privileges as they have this particular riding. It is true that the framers of the Canadian Constitution fixed a limit upon the length of time any Government could stay in power. They foresaw the danger of gentlemen like those who occupy the Treasury benches today, holding on to office indefinitely, providing some arbitrary limit was not fixed, but it was never the purpose of the Fathers of Confederation, much less is it in accord with the spirit underlying British parliamentary institutions, that an entirely new ministry, framed without reference to any particular policy and having no mandate whatever from the people of Canada, should have power to usurp the rights of the people in the matter of self-government, and that at this period of time in Canadian history, the people should be denied, after the sacrifices which men and women of all classes have made during recent years, the right of a Parliament that is truly representative and a Ministry that is genuinely responsible. At the present time we have in Canada neither the one nor the other, and the real question at issue today is whether we shall longer continue to be governed from Ottawa by a self-constituted oligarchy, or whether we shall have a parliament that is broadly representative of all the electors of Canada, irrespective of class, race, sex or section.

"The old Unionist administration was chosen only for the purposes of the war. Practically all of the ministers whose names helped to win for it public confidence at the time it was returned to power, have severed their connection with it. All that remains today is an irresponsible remnant who have decided to hold on to office at any cost.

"In view of these resignations from the ministry elected in 1917, is it not a little contemptuous of public discernment on the part of the present Prime Minister to base his claim to continue in office upon the record of colleagues in whom he has either no confidence, or have no confidence in him?

ASKS NINE QUESTIONS.

"Let me ask another question. Is it conceivable that a new political party could come into existence with a new platform and a new leader and be able to gain control and carry on the government of the country without some powerful influence being at work? The truth is that a very powerful influence has been at work; it is an influence, however, that dare not reveal itself in the open; it dare not disclose itself because it is not a popular influence; it is not an influence representative of the will of the people; it is not a social influence, or an unselfish influence. It is the opposite of all these things. It is the influence of a certain element identified with the big interests of this country that is not satisfied with sharing in government along with the rest, but who wish to dominate and control. It is this monopolizing group of wealthy and powerful individuals whose advice has alone been sought in the creation of the present Government, and who today are responsible for its retention in office.

"Another reason why the present administration should receive no expression of confidence from the electors of this riding is that the remnant of the old Unionist administration of which it is composed appears to have retained all the bad habits, while they have lost the virtues of those of their colleagues who were members of the old Unionist administration."

BELIEVE HAMMILL AROUND CORNWALL

Mayor Fisher Impressed With Description of Man Seen in District

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 19.—(Star Special.)—Several of the farmers on the east front, a few miles below Cornwall, were in a "man hunt" yesterday, believing that John T. Hammill, president of Murphy-Gamble Ltd., Ottawa, who has been missing since November 10 is in this section. Last Friday Louis A. Parisian, a well-known farmer, was on his way to Cornwall about 10:30 a.m. when he met a stranger on the river road, going east. Mr. Parisian said "good-day, Sir," and the man replied, "Ah ha." This would be about six miles east of Cornwall.

Mr. Parisian expresses the opinion that it will only be a matter of a few hours before Mr. Hammill will be safe again. While he would not tell all he knew, preferring to keep his own counsel, Mr. Parisian said that his son John had seen the same man about an hour after he had on Friday, and he answered the son's salutation in the same manner as he had the father's. A cousin of Mr. Parisian, Franklin Parisian, claims to have seen the same stranger on Tuesday of this week, and Mr. Parisian stated that he was in Lancaster yesterday and got trace of the wanderer two miles from Lancaster, but would not say whether it was north, south, east or west, and that he had learned that the man had stopped two days at one hour east of here.

Mr. Parisian said the man he met had probably four or five days' growth of beard on his face, a grey hat with a black band, a long frieze coat, white shirt and collar and black tie. The stranger was a nice-looking man, Mr. Parisian says, and impressed him as a man of business. He did not impress Mr. Parisian as though he had been suffering from hunger or fatigue, but appeared to be anything but anxious to converse with him. Mr. Parisian has communicated with Mayor Fisher, of Ottawa, who expressed the opinion that the description given was so accurate that it must be Mr. Hammill. If diligent searches will mean anything, the Ottawa gentleman, if he it be that is in this section, will soon be with his loved ones again.

EXTEND SEARCH ACROSS BORDER.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—(Star Special.)—Search for John T. Hammill, the missing president of Murphy Gamble Ltd., who has not been seen since he left his place of business eight days ago, is being extended to Minneapolis, St. Paul and Winnipeg. Up to yesterday the opinion was that Mr. Hammill had suddenly become mentally deranged and would be found wandering somewhere in the vicinity of Ottawa. The latest report, however, is to the effect that he was seen and recognized on the Soo train far beyond the last point at which he had been previously reported. Circulars describing the missing man are being sent to the chiefs of police in the cities named, with the request that a vigorous search shall be instituted at once. The parties searching in the vicinity of Pembroke and Petawawa have not reported further result from their search.

KALADAR TRAGEDY

Jury Verdict Indicates Foul Play in Woman's Death

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 19.—At an inquest at Kaladar, Ont., into the death of Mrs. James Young, whose skeleton was found in the ruins of the family home, Kaladar, following a fire on November 3 last, the jury brought in a verdict stating that deceased had come to her death at the hands of some person or persons unknown. The inquest was held by Dr. Cowan, coroner, of Napanee, Ont.

James Young, husband of the deceased was arrested a few days ago on a nominal charge of vagrancy, and is now in Napanee jail, pending further developments.

Invasion of Rights Where Ontario Hydro Locating, Feared

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Nov. 19 (Star Special)—The St. Lawrence Transmission Company of Potsdam, N.Y., has made application to the United States Power Commission under the law recently passed, for a preliminary permit to develop power on the St. Lawrence River between Ogdensburg and Barnhart Island, below Massena.

This is the Long Sault power scheme. The Louisville Power Corporation has also made application for a similar permit to develop the power on the St. Lawrence River from the westend of Ireil Island below Louisville landing, to the easterly end of Goose Neck Island.

The Federation Power notified Mayor Kelly, Ogdensburg, that such application has been made and that any objection or requests for a hearing thereon should be submitted on or before Jan. 12 next, to the Federal Power Commission at Washington.

JAMAICA RATIFIES TRADE AGREEMENT

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—A cable from Kingston, Jamaica, announces that the legislative council of Jamaica has ratified the Canada-West Indies trade agreement. This is stated to be the fourth of the West Indian states to ratify the agreement, the endorsation of all, as well as ratification by the Canadian Parliament being necessary before the agreement becomes effective. The agreement is expected to come before Parliament for ratification early next session.

MINISTERS TO PRESS EMBARGO REMOVAL

Foster and Doherty to Take Up Matter in London

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—(Star Special)—After attending the Assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva, Sir George Foster and Hon. C. J. Doherty will take up with the British authorities in London, among other matters, the removal of the embargo against Canadian cattle. Governments here for years have been endeavoring to have this long standing ban removed but without avail. A more hopeful view of the situation is now taken as there is a strong demand by British butchers, favorable to the Canadian cattle being allowed in. A delegation representing forty thousand of them recently impressed this view upon the head of the British Board of Trade and went so far as to state that Canadian cattle are healthier than the British product.

SAFEGUARD AGAINST ANIMAL DISEASES

New Regulations Issued to Prevent Introduction to Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 19—It is announced by the Department of Agriculture that in order to prevent the introduction of animal diseases into Canada a ministerial order governing the importation of hides, skins, etc., has been passed. These regulations come within the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, are administered by the veterinary director general. Under conditions stated in the order the importation of hides of horses, cattle and buffalo, calk skins, sheep skins, goat skins, glue stock, bones, hoofs and horns into the Dominion of Canada from any of the countries of Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, Central America, Mexico, New Zealand and Australia is prohibited. Regulations governing the importation of wool and hair have been passed with the same purpose in view.

FURTHER STATUS OF CANADA'S MINISTER IN GREAT BRITAIN

Question to Be Considered at Conference of Premiers

MAY WIDEN POWERS

Might Be Member of Both Canadian and Empire Cabinets

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—(From Our Own Correspondent).—The future character of the Canadian representative in London will be one of the questions taken up at the conference of Premiers there next June. Sir George Perley, High Commissioner, is going back to London to resume his duties, but it is understood that his tenure will be limited as he is desirous of returning to Canada to attend to his private affairs. Who will be his successor and what function will attach to his position will likely be determined after the forthcoming conference, especially if it is to take up question of constitutional relations. Upon this latter point there is some doubt. A Canadian minister plenipotentiary in London, with powers somewhat similar to those proposed to be exercised by a minister at Washington, has long been suggested. There might be this difference, namely, that the London Minister would be a member of the Canadian Cabinet and, if the proposed Imperial Cabinet works out, he would belong to that body, too. His presence in London, it has been suggested, would facilitate communication between the two Governments upon questions of common interest.

There has been no Dominion Cabinet representation in London since the war period, Sir George Perley, acting high commissioner and up to the formation of the Union Government, was a minister without portfolio, and later, Sir Edward Kemp went over as Overseas Minister of Militia, while the Premier was a member of the War Cabinet. Since then the only diplomatic representation has been that of the High Commissioner.

DOMINION AUTONOMY.

Adherents of the Imperial idea have seen in the operation of the War Cabinet the utility of a similar body in time of peace, operating in such a way as to preserve intact Dominion autonomy. Doubtless the subject will be considered at the conference, whether or not any conclusion is then arrived at.

A very nebulous atmosphere is surrounding the proposed gathering. Undoubtedly, the naval question will come up and calls for determination, as the future plans of British Navy an undecided till there is a showdown. On the broader question of constitutional relations, the prevailing attitude here, so far at least, is to go slowly. Some Ministers express the idea that a gradual process of evolution is preferable to any hard and fast undertaking. Certainly little or no consideration has been given the subject, nor has there been much opportunity therefore. It is because of this that a conference this year was acquiesced in with some reluctance and it is now a matter of doubt whether, when it is held, the constitutional question will come up for conclusive consideration. The disposition is to defer them, but in any event it is expected that the base will be laid for a clearer understanding of the status of Canadian representation in London and of the duties to be attached to that position whether or not the idea of an Imperial Cabinet materializes. Quite probably, Parliament, in the coming session, will be sounded on the whole question, especially if it be thought well to go over with any specific policy to put forth on a question so peculiarly important and far-reaching.

Trinidad Preference for Canadian Food and Cattle Stuffs

OTTAWA, Nov. 19. — Canadian food and cattle stuffs, exported to Trinidad are to be given preference over goods not produced within the Empire, according to a cable received from Edgar Tripp, Canadian Government commercial agent, Port-of-Spain, Trinidad. The cable reads:

"All duties have been removed from food and cattle stuffs produced in countries of the British Empire. Sufficient duties will be imposed on foreign goods to give Canada a preference."

EXPECT RATES ORDER WILL BE MODIFIED

Manitoba Attaches Significance to Premier's Statement of Possible Reduction

WINNIPEG, Nov. 19.—H. J. Symington, K.C., counsel for the Provincial Government in the freight rates appeal, left yesterday morning for Ottawa to attend the re-opening of the case before the Board of Railway Commissioners on Monday. J. B. Coyne, K.C. and F. S. Denison, who will represent the Board of Trade, left this morning.

There is a strong feeling in business and legal circles that in view of the reference back to the Commission of two points by the Government, there will be a drastic modification of the original order.

Some significance is also attached to the statement by Premier Meighen at Holland, Man., Tuesday, that he hoped the Commission would be able to reduce the rates after carefully considering these two points, although the matter was entirely one for the Commission, the only body that could deal with the question of schedules. Strong efforts will also be made to get the order suspended pending the Commission's decision.

CANADA-BRAZIL TRADE EXPANDS

Big Increase in Exports Noted—Merchant Marine Active

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Extensive developments of trade between Canada and Brazil, since the inauguration of a direct shipping service by vessels of the Canadian Government merchant marine and the Houston Line, and of the direct banking facilities afforded by a Canadian Bank in Brazil, is reported to the Department of Trade and Commerce by Trade Commissioner C. B. Johnson, writing from Rio de Janeiro. Until the middle of 1919, it is pointed out, trade between the two countries was of small dimensions, but with the operation of the new services mentioned, it quickly became voluminous.

Canada's exports to Brazil include all kinds of paper, cement,, inks, rubber and electrical supplies, and imports from Brazil are chiefly coffee, raw rubber and other products.

Present conditions are encouraging direct trade, though some time ago trading was conducted through New York. The Canadian Government merchant marine, it is stated, has four ships engaged in the Brazilian trade, with regular monthly sailings, and a new line to the ports of Northern Brazil will likely be inaugurated when trade warrants such a move. Brazilian commerce through Montreal, it is stated, approaches that with the great French port of Marseilles, if it does not already exceed it.

FURTHER HOLD-UPS IN WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, Nov. 19.—Rapid fire developments came yesterday in Winnipeg's determined action to rid the city of gunmen, such as those who dealt death to the provincial police officers at the Stock Yards Hotel last Thursday. Mayor Chas. F. Gray's announcement on Wednesday that the underworld gangsters and thugs must go was followed within twenty-four hours by five daring hold-ups in various parts of the city. The gangs took advantage of perhaps the most dense fog that has ever prevailed in the city.

LAKE ST. LOUIS AGAIN SCENE INT'N'L YACHT RACES IN AUG.

INTERNATIONAL YACHT RACES FOR LAKE ST. LOUIS

G. H. Duggan Presents International Yachting Trophy—White Bear Yacht Club of St. Paul, Minn., Has Challenged and Will Race Here Next August—Splendid Sporting Spirit Shown by Americans—Mr. Duggan Receives Ovation From Fellow Members—Race Will be in "B" Class Yachts—Prominent Members of R. St. L. Y. C. to Build Dinghies

As was forecasted in The Star yesterday afternoon some pleasant news of international importance was in store for local yachtsmen.

The Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club held a special dinner last night at which G. H. Duggan, who received an ovation upon rising, announced that he was presenting an International Challenge Cup for B Class yachts.

It was also announced that through the efforts of Mr. Duggan and Mr. Finley together with those of Mr. Ordway, of the White Bear Yacht Club, of St. Paul, Minn, U.S.A., a match for the trophy has been arranged to be sailed about August 1, 1921 on Lake St. Louis.

During the course of the evening several members expressed the Club's appreciation of the sporting spirit shown by the White Bear Yacht Club in coming to Lake St. Louis for the fourth time, and the local sailors are looking forward to welcoming their old friends from St. Paul next summer.

The match will be a team race between two yachts representing each club, the club securing the most points in a series of races to win the Cup.

It is expected that several new yachts will be built during the winter at Dorval to defend the Cup next summer, and the hope was also expressed that the older boats would be refitted to bring them into line with the newer craft.

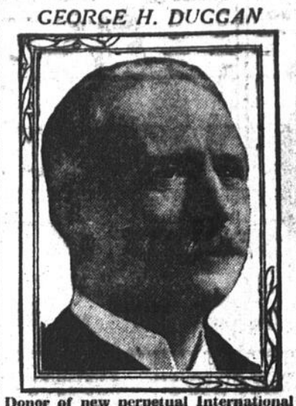
After the dinner the prizes for last season's racing were presented. Mr. Duggan's prizes were combined in a ship's clock, which was presented to him by Mr. Finley on behalf of the Yacht Club. When Mr. Duggan rose to receive his prizes the members also rose and showed their appreciation of his services to the club and his popularity by cheering him again and again, and singing "For he's a jolly good fellow."

The suggestion was made that a large dinghy fleet be built up on Lake St. Louis to endeavor to train the younger boys, so that the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club would be able to take a prominent part in International racing in the future. Several speakers put this matter before the members, amongst them being Mr. McAdie, of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto, who told how that club had successfully trained sailors for their larger yachts in the dinghies.

The result of the above suggestion was that before the evening was out five prominent members of the club, Hon. Commodore G. H. Duggan, Commodore W. D. Birchall and ex-Commodores Wm. C. Finley, C. H. Routh and R. A. Ross expressed their intention of ordering boats in this class, and it is hoped their example will be followed by many others on Lake St. Louis.

Commodore W. D. Birchall presided and amongst those present were: G. H. Duggan, R. A. Ross, Wm. C. Finney, C. H. Routh, A. W. Irvine, A. T. Paterson, W. T. Badgeley, L. R. Thompson, P. E. Lyman, C. S. Hamilton, F. V. Whitehead, A. S. Poe, R. C. Stevenson, G. E. Parke, M. Peller, H. C. Welkem, A. Jenks, R. A. Hamaker, W. Mase, W. Wiegand, E. Ross-Ross, F. Mead, W. Eastlake, M. Campbell, N. Williamson, F. McGill, F. Hunter, E. Hersey, J. Holland, D. Crichton, F. P. Shearwood and H. Routh.

GEORGE H. DUGGAN



Donor of new perpetual International challenge-trophy for Class "B" yachts.

JUNIOR RUGBY CHAMPIONSHIP ON GRAND TRUNK SOCCER GROUNDS

There will be an interesting change of attraction on the Grand Trunk Association Football grounds at Alexandria Park tomorrow afternoon, when a match for the Junior District Rugby Championship will take place there.

The competing teams will be McGill and Grand Trunks and Captain Percy Roberts, President of the M. A. A. A. Rugby Club, has agreed to officiate as Referee.

The match will begin at 2:30 sharp, and the winners will go West to play off with the winners of the Western section, to be decided tomorrow also.

THE DOINGS OF THE LOCAL SKI-ERS AND SNOWSHOERS

A special meeting of the executive board of the Club de Ski Mont Royal d'Amerique will be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the hon. treasurer's residence, 1223 Mount Royal avenue west, Outremont. It is said that at this meeting the officials of the club will be presented with a new official badge, which is designed on the same line as the ones used by all the members of the French Alpine Club, to which body the French-Canadians are affiliated.

It is rumored that the executive head of the club will make a very important announcement at this meeting in regard to accommodations for the members this coming season. It is whispered that permanent headquarters may be secured for the French-Canadian skiers.

When interviewed by The Star, President Champlain Provencher admitted that there were certain rumors going the rounds to the effect that the Club de Ski Mont Royal d'Amerique may secure new premises for the members, but for the present could not give anything for publication.

Following are the season's fixtures of the Montreal Ski Club:

The season will be opened by an informal dance and entertainment to be held on Tuesday evening, December 7, at the Khaki Club, 2 Bishop street—the large hall of the club—one of the best in the city, will be used, and Eckstein's Orchestra will furnish the music.

The first tournament of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association will be held in Montreal on February 19 and 20, and this event should attract the best ski talent in Canada. It is also hoped, at the same time, to hold the first international competition against the ski clubs of the United States.

The following committees have been appointed for the season:

Competition—H. A. Elliott, A. C. Harlow, J. L. Kerr and C. Tollafsen.

Hill—P. MacKinnon, and M. R. Mine.

House—W. F. Macoun, C. S. Mitchell, E. St. Pierre, and R. L. Whittall.

Ladies—Mrs. C. S. Mitchell and committee.

The following schedule has been drawn up, and more opportunity has been given for novice and intermediate jumpers:

January 1.—New Year's reception of officers and committee, at Mount Royal Club House, 3 p.m.

FIRST DIVISION BARRED SEVERAL AMENDMENTS

Most of the proposals to amend the P.Q.F.A. constitution, as outlined in Tuesday's Star were passed last night by the First Division. They wish the board to be reduced to seven members. Referees' fees are to be $5.00, $4.00 and $2.50 respectively for the three divisions, although $7.50 was first suggested as the highest. Considering that great laxity has been evident in the past, regarding the opening of P.Q.F.A. meetings, the seniors decree that these must start at 8:30 prompt. Five times absent means disqualification. Qualifying rounds for cup-ties will also be proposed.

There has been no greater supporter of Verdun City than Tom Davis, of the Str. "Minnedosa," also his side partner, J. Mackay. For three years' past, the pair never missed an opportunity of seeing Verdun City in action. Tomorrow is their last trip.

KINGSTON CLAIMS FIELD WILL BE IN FIRST RATE SHAPE

Snow Cleared Away and Temporary Stands to Be Completed This Afternoon—Townsmen Prepare for "Football Invasion" of Limestone City

KINGSTON, Nov. 19.—(Star Special).—The playing field at the athletic grounds will be in first-class shape for Saturday's game, despite the heavy snow which fell yesterday.

Early yesterday morning there were over three inches of snow covering the field, and prospects seemed poor for a good playing field for Saturday.

Prof. Malcolm has twenty-five men with several teams on the job and the entire field was cleared of snow.

Under the snow the field was almost as dry as if there had been no rain or snow. In many places on the field the ground was so dry one could pick up a handful of dust. Behind the south end goal, the ground was rather soggy. But this portion of the field has always been wet, and even the way it is now it would not prove a handicap in Saturday's game.

It was surprising good condition in which the ground was, and unless heavy rains and falls of snow come between now and Saturday, the field will be as good, if not better than either the McGill or 'Varsity gridirons. About three-quarters of the temporary stands have been erected and by this afternoon all the new stands will be in place. To the south of the grandstand near the main entrance seats to accommodate 450 are being erected, while at the north side of the grand stand 1,200 seats have been completed. Alongside the present bleachers 850 seats have been erected, while seats being put up at the ends of the field were to be completed by noon and will accommodate an additional 800. Added to the present stands the seating accommodation on Saturday will be approximately 6,500, while 1,000 additional will be able to secure standing room.

Queen's allotment of seats went on sale and while there was a rush for tickets, there were a number still available yesterday. However, the students were grabbing off all the tickets they can and the local allotment will go practically all to the university.

The selection of the referees for the game meets with the approval of local fans who see in McAuley and Constantine two capable and fearless officials. McAuley was one of the greatest football stars of the Royal Military College playing in 1911, 1912 and 1913 with senior team. He played on the half line alongside the famous Barwis, and was always a wonderful player. Col. Constantine is noted for his fearlessness and his work on Saturday is sure to be of the very highest calibre.

With about 3,000 additional fans in the city from Montreal and Toronto on Saturday, local restaurant keepers have made preparations for the feeding of the visitors, and little difficulty is experienced in this quarter.

Considerable money was bet on the big game, but practically all the bets were at even money. Earlier in the week 'Varsity ruled favorites and the feeling was that the odds would be about three to five by Saturday, but on the contrary McGill stock seems to have boosted and even money is the only way bets are now being made. 'Varsity team, numbering fifty, including the intermediates and officials will arrive in the city this evening and will be quartered at the Randolph Hotel, while the McGill team will have their headquarters in the Hotel Frontenac.

TO SELECT TRAINING QUARTERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Selection of a site for winter training ground and other "family matters" were on the program at a conference of owners and managers and scouts of the New York American League baseball club here late today. It was indicated that several strong players from other teams would be brought into the Yankee fold.

ELEVEN HOCKEY CLUBS FOR THE SPALDING BOYS

The annual meeting of the Spalding Hockey League took place last night at 671 St. Catherine street west, with President Champlain Provencher in the chair.

The following clubs were represented:

Senior Section: Outremont, Monarch and Notre Dame des Victoires, by proxy.

Junior Section: Argos, St. Gabriel, St. Ann, Granges and Maisonneuve.

Midget Section: Clover, White Rose and Maple League.

Joseph Griffith in the absence of the regular secretary, read the report of the previous season, which was accepted as read. After a lengthy discussion it was decided that the following shall be the age limit of the Junior and Midget Section:

Junior, 18 years and under.

Midget—16 years and under.

Senior, no age limit.

All the delegates were very enthusiastic over the prospects of the coming season.

The following is a complete list of the officers elected:

Hon. patron—Thomas Wall.

Hon. president and treasurer—Clarence MacKerrow.

President—Champlain Provencher.

The schedule meeting of the league will be held on Thursday December 2nd, at which final arrangements will be made for the opening of the season.

It was unanimously decided to reorganize the Victory Section of the League, a meeting of same to take place on November 26th.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS' BASKETBALL GAMES

Five closely contested games of indoor baseball were played in the second series of games in the Public School league. Riverside beat Victoria; Dufferin beat Alexandra; Mt. Royal beat Aberdeen; Bancroft beat Edward VIII; Peace Centennial beat Earl Grey. Standing to date:

Dufferin	2	0	1.000
Mt. Royal	2	0	1.000
Bancroft	2	0	1.000
William Dawson	1	0	1.000
Peace Centennial	1	0	1.000
Royal Arthur	0	1	.000
Victoria	0	1	.000
Aberdeen	0	1	.000
Alexandra	0	1	.000
Strathearn	0	1	.000
Earl Grey	0	2	.000
Edward VII.	0	2	.000

Four Ten-Round Fights at Arena

Two French champions, both war heroes, will figure in two fistic bouts of international interest at Mount Royal Arena tonight.

In the first in point of interest, Charlie Ledoux, will fight Mickey Delmont of Newark and Montreal. In the other Georges Papin will meet Tony Caponi, the New York boxer. Both the French fighters are, by coincidence, meeting opponents of Italian descent.

The fight next in interest to the main bout on tonight's card is that between "Mixer" Mitchell, the Syracuse welterweight and Jack Kid Thomas, the hard-hitting Montrealer.

There are four ten round bouts in all, the fourth being a ten rounder between Jack Renault, the big French Canadian heavyweight and Jim Cully, the "fighting fireman" of New York.

RELEASED GIDEON.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 19.—The unconditional release of Joe Gedeon, second baseman of the St. Louis American League club was announced today by Business Manager Quinn. Gedeon testified before the Chicago grand jury that he bet on the world's series in 1919 after receiving information it had been "fixed." Every club in the majors waived on Gedeon, Quinn said.

TO BULLETIN SCORES COLLEGE RUGBY GAME

The Star will bulletin the scores of the McGill-Varsity Intercollegiate Rugby Championship match in Kingston, at the Branch Office, on the corner of Peel and St. Catherine streets, tomorrow afternoon.

When one or more points are scored it will be announced on the bulletin board, showing which side scored and by means of what particular play.

The total standing at the end of each quarter will also be bulletined.

FOOTBALL TICKETS FAIL TO GO ROUND.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 19.—The Harvard University Athletic Association returned $18,000 to-day to unsuccessful applicants for seats in the Crimson section of the Yale Bowl next Saturday. This represents requests for 6,000 seats more than available.

Approximately one-third of the 75,000 persons who will see the Crimson and Blue elevens battle in the bowl will be Harvard partisans, 25,000 seats having been allotted to Harvard men.

MAY HOLD INTER-COLLEGIATE BILLIARD MEET

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—(Star Special) — Hereafter billiards is to receive much more attention at the University of Toronto than formerly. A committee has been selected by the students, with Professor W. P. Kennedy as its chairman and already several plans have been formulated. This evening and tomorrow afternoon and evening several well-known experts will meet.

Through the courtesy of a well-known firm a new standard English table with championship cushions, cloth and pockets will be installed in Hart House. The object of arranging this match is to provide the students with an opportunity of seeing the game under the best conditions, —a first class table, first class players, absolute quietness during play with the science of the game and its possibilities displayed. Immediately after this exhibition there will be arranged a university handicap for which valuable prizes will be given. In addition there will be challenge play for the individual championship of the university.

At the request of the billiard committee, Professor Kennedy is now in correspondence with McGill, Queens and Western to arrange, if possible, an inter-university championship, (team and individual). It is hoped to bring together representatives from these universities to meet representatives from the University of Toronto, and to draw up a constitution governing an inter-university annual championship. The selection of a Toronto team would largely depend on successes in the handicap matches.

WESTMOUNT IN FORM FOR ST. BRIGID'S GAME

The final workout of the Westmount football squad in preparation for the game with St. Brigid's of Ottawa, to be played here in the M.A.A.A. grounds tomorrow afternoon, was held last night.

Joe Donnelly put the boys through their paces for nearly two hours, spending considerable time in drilling the line men and halves in the new formations and signals. There will be a few changes in the team taking the field against St. Brigid's.

Walter Dickson's shoulder is still troublesome and it is unlikely he will play tomorrow. Just who will go in at his place on the outside is not quite certain.

Gordie Walklate will go in at centre scrim. He has been practicing at this position all week and should show good form on Saturday. Walklate is a tackler of no mean ability. He gets every man low and hits him hard.

The remainder of the forward line will be about the same as that which lined up in Ottawa last Saturday.

Crankshaw, Kelly and Downes on the back line, with Carl Work on the flying job, will make a strong combination, both on offensive and defensive play.

The executive have made arrangements to have full reports of McGill-Varsity game, given out at the M.A.A.A. grounds tomorrow, by means of a direct wire to the Queen's Stadium in Kingston.

The Westmount team finish up with a light signal practice tonight, as a final preparation for the game and will go on the field in great shape with a determination to overcome the ten point lead St. Brigid's obtained over them in Ottawa last Saturday.

Just who the official will be tomorrow is not yet known, but Tommy Riddell is the choice of the Westmount team. However, the appointment of referees is in the hands of the O.R.F.U. authorities.

AMERICA'S FIRST WIN.

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., Nov. 19. — The United States women's hockey team scored their first win yesterday against a combined team of Girton and Newnham Colleges. The score was 4 goals to 3.

'VARSITY TEAM AT LIMESTONE CITY-DAY AHEAD

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—(Star Special).—Laddie Cassells and his big squad of players left for Kingston this morning on the International Limited. This will get them into Kingston about noon and they will immediately proceed to the Randolph Hotel, which will be their headquarters during the time they are in Kingston. The McGill team does not intend to leave Montreal until the morning of the game. Every member of the big squad which has been under Cassells' direction all season, will make the trip. This includes Carruthers, whose side has been placed in splints and while his injury will of a necessity keep him on the bench at the first of the game, he will be available for use if required.

Last night the team held a signal practice on the snow-covered field at the Stadium and the workout was a snappy one. In Kingston today the final moments before the day of the game, will be devoted to a chalk talk.

Laddie Cassells is keeping his probable line-up to himself. It is doubtful if he will announce the make up of his team until he gives it to the referee preparatory to the commencement of the game tomorrow afternoon. With the exception of a switch on the half line it is expected that the team will be identical with that which won from McGill here on the 23rd of last month. The half line is in doubt, experts believing that Snyder or Frank Sullivan may replace Taylor. Cassells, however, is the final expert and he is saying nothing. All the boys are in good condition and ready to go the limit.

CANADIAN BREDS HOLD PROMINENT PLACE

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (By Canadian Press).—An outstanding feature of yesterday's program at the Horse Show was the prominent place taken once more by Canadian-bred horses. Driftwood Blaze, a beautiful brown gelding, owned by Mrs. Walter Hanley, of New York, added to his laurels by capturing the silver medal offered by the Association of American Horse Shows, Inc.

Another Canadian-bred horse which has won firsts previously during this year's show added to its honors when Animation, chestnut mare, owned by Miss Loula Lang Combs, came first with her partner.

The Ontario polo team, which last night defeated New York at a Horse Show match in Madison Square Garden, will play off with West Point on Saturday for the show championship.

M'GILL TO PLAY MONT. ENGLISH RUGBY TEAM

Owing to the uncertainty of the condition of the grounds here for tomorrow the Ottawa English rugby team, which was to play at the McGill Stadium, with a picked local rugger squad, has been put off by the Montreal team and so this feature in English rugby will not take place tomorrow. However, the game will be replaced by one between the McGill and the Montreal English rugby teams. This match will take place at the Stadium under any conditions.

The game will start at 3 p.m. and as the two teams are fairly evenly matched an interesting brand of play is expected.

High Quality Clothes Come Down to near Prices of 1913!

The Public must have lower prices in Clothes. They have signified that fact in no uncertain way. Clever writers have practically caused a strike of Buyers of Clothing which has closed up half the Men's clothing factories in America. Reports that were canards caused a panic in the clothing trade in New York and Philadelphia—and the big department stores were forced to unload huge stocks at very low prices.

We are prepared to take our medicine—to pocket a loss of thousands—and offer the Public the highest quality of tailored clothes—genuine Semi-ready garments—at minus-profit prices—and will pay the tailors for fitting and finishing each garment to customer's measure.

Without a single garment held in reserve — all the Half Million Dollar stock of Semi-ready Suits and Overcoats will be given a full month's revision — including the $135 Crombie Top Coats and the $25 to $30 Suits—from the highest to the lowest price in the pocket—everything goes!

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

THE WAY TO OFFICE.

A woman has been elected to the U. S. Congress in Arkansas because she served good meals.

Oh! Ladies, if so be your plan
To shine in Halls of State,
And teach mere vulgar, common man
the way to legislate,
You do not need with eager speech
To tax your slender throats,
Nor leave your fireside to beseech
The men folks for their votes:
No canvass you will need to make
For, if your skilful hand
Can turn out tempting pie and cake,
You cannot fail to land.

Although your lovely eyes and hair
Mayhap may win applause,
Men don't elect a baby stare
To make the nation's laws;
But if in making your appeals
Among good party men,
You vamp 'em a few square meals,
That's something else again.
Among the common run of gents,
Who all are hungry critters,
Corn beef is more than eloquence
And logic less than fritters.

And rightly so, for charms may wane
(In fact, they always do),
But cooking needs the sort of brain
That lasts a life time through.
Men know the qualities that make
A really gifted cook,
And that the hand that broils a steak
Can write a statute book.
And in the happy future years
If for great place you sigh,
You need not care who gets men's cheers
If you can bake their pie!

THE PASSING HOUR

A Chicago real estate agent had taken up a subdivision of land and advertised a boom sale of lots. To help matters along, he arranged for a Sunday excursion to the site of the bonanza. The train stopped in the middle of a prairie broken only by such signs as "Buena Vista avenue," "Hillside drive," and the like, and the two by four office of the company. The agent was what is known as a "live wire," and so, seeing what he took to be a possible customer approaching, he took down the telephone receiver and, as the customer entered, began a brisk conversation into the instrument: "Yes—yes. Those corner lots? Going like hot cakes. You'll take them for $40,000? All right, sir, I'll have the deeds fixed up immediately."

Then, turning to the visitor, he asked: "And what can I do for you this morning?"

"Why I just came," he explained, "to connect up your telephone."

Two boys were recently brought into court on a charge of assault and battery upon the person of a third boy. One of the boys was convicted of the assault and one was convicted as an accessory. The latter was made to admit that he knew the attack was to be made and that he stood by and watched the fight. The judge fined him $25.

"But, judge," the boy exclaimed, "I could have seen Dempsey fight for that!"

STILL DOING BUSINESS.

Mrs. Trotter—"Yes, we're just back from Colorado. We've been up to the top of Pike's Peak."

Mrs. Homebody—"Dear me! I have heard my father speak of going up Pike's Peak when he was a boy. I had no idea they still had it out there."

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. — Morton L. Schwartz, owner of prominent thoroughbreds on tracks in this vicinity, has decided to retire from the turf, it was learned today. He will sell his entire string of horses, including such winners as Enfilade, Audacious and Care Free.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19. — Captain Bud Hooper of the University of Pennsylvania football team, who was injured Saturday in the game with Dartmouth, will not be able to play again this season, according to physicians at the University hospital where he was taken. He is suffering with a contusion of the kidneys. Five other Pennsylvania players were less seriously injured in the game, but all are expected to be in the line-up next Saturday against Columbia at the Polo Grounds, New York.

"OFF TO LONDON"

CANADIAN DOGS WERE TOPPED BY IMPORTED ONES

The question, "what does an English expert think of our Canadian Britishers?,' was answered yesterday at the Bulldog Club of Canada's show at the Vic's armory, Cathcart street, when the imported dogs won first honors.

S. Alman's imported lightweight, Lowwood Topper, got winners in dogs and E. W. Ferguson's imported Lady Angela, also a lightweight, topped the bitch division. There was no special offered for best in show, so an interesting meeting between the two imported cracks was not called for.

The low, woofy type of bulldog won the awards in the judging by A. C. Haywood, of London, Eng. It was the first local outing for Lowwood Topper, an all-white with a grand head-piece, boasting great turn-up of under-jaw, fine lay-back, small ears and a broad, long skull. He is a good bodied and boned dog, and his action is first-rate. He was easily the best in dogs.

The winning bitch, Lady Angela, a fawn daughter of the famous Alhambra, practically corresponds to the winning dog. She is a particularly good-fronted bitch, with short back, excellent roach, and a good spring of rib, while her headpiece is typical, with broad, well-turned underjaw, good lay-back and stop, and a pair of tiny ears.

The reserve winner in dogs was a home-bred, Miss B. Larocque's Roxie, sired by Newington President, the noted heavyweight formerly owned by S. Alman. Roxie topped the heavyweight dogs, of which he was lowest to ground.

Another Canadian-bred reserve winner in bitches was A. C. A. Chisholm's Strathtay Supreme, which defeated good competition, the best of which was Sally of Montreal, a grand-headed and typy heavyweight.

L. S. Sudds' Dolly was the biggest winner among the juniors. This daughter of Bob Hill's Marquis of Rigon was adjudged the best bitch puppy, best Canadian-bred bitch puppy, best juvenile dog or bitch, and best novice. Thorton King, owned by D. Monses, was the best dog puppy.

The principal awards:

Best dog—S. Alman's Lowwood Topper.

Best bitch—E. W. Ferguson's Lady Angela.

Best dog puppy—D. Monses' Thorton King.

Best bitch puppy, best Canadian-bred bitch puppy, best junior bitch, best juvenile dog or bitch and best novice bitch—L. S. Sudds' Dolly.

Best Canadian-bred dog or bitch—A. C. A. Chisholm's Strathtay Supreme.

Best Canadian-bred dog—Miss B. Larocque's Roxie.

Best imported stud dog with two of his get—Tom Hin.

Best pair; brace and team—A. C. A. Chisholm.

ALL-THE-YEAR ROUND SWIMMERS' ANNUAL

The annual general meeting of the above club, held in their club rooms, 1844 St. Lawrence Blvd., was certainly the most enthusiastic and well-attended since pre-war days, and can be taken as the revival of the club both from a swimming and social point of view.

Jos. Horsfall presided.

The financial statement of the club, after writing off all bad and doubtful outstanding amounts and 20 per cent depreciation off furniture, fixtures, fittings, account, showed a surplus of $563.20 and a cash balance of $96.63 in hand. The hon. treasurer, Frank Robertson, was warmly complimented on the sound position to which he had re-established the finances during his tenure of office.

The resignation of R. H. Leare, hon. secretary, through ill-health, was received with regret. "Bob" Leare's name for many years has been connected with swimming in the north end, and his efforts in the interests of the club have been untiring; his services as "scribe" of the club will be very much missed. "Bob" was honored by being appointed a vice-president.

The club are the holders of the following silver cups: The president's cup, the Veterans' cup, Lidgate cup, Buck cup, Gate's cup and other valuable trophies.

Whist drives, smoking concerts, etc., will be carried on in the club rooms, 1844 St. Lawrence Blvd., near Laurier avenue, during the winter. Secretary Trenchard and the officials of the club will be pleased to see any one interested in swimming. Parents wishing to have their sons join the junior branch will be particularly welcome. Old members and Old Country enthusiasts who have not identified themselves with the sport are particularly invited to call at the club rooms, which are now very comfortably appointed, any evening except Tuesday. The membership fees are practically nominal and the advantages are many.

The following officials were appointed for the ensuing year:

Hon. president, Ald. Nap. Turcot.

Hon. vice-presidents, Joseph Lidgate, R. H. Leare, J. Johnson.

President, Jos. Horsfall.

Vice-presidents, A. G. Lackey, Alan Crawford.

Hon. captain, Frank W. Muir.

Hon. vice-captain, Tom Barnett.

Hon. secretary, E. A. Trenchard, 1844 St. Lawrence Blvd.

Hon. treasurer, Frank H. Robertson.

Committee—John Scott, F. Rooke, J. Ravenscroft, Alex. Hutchings, W. Hughes, Geo. Hutchings, E. Pearce and R. B. Milburne.

Third Place for Montreal Shot

TORONTO, Nov. 19. — Ten Canadian amateur trapshooters and one professional have shot at 2,000 or more registered targets to date during the season of 1920. The professional is F. H. Morris, Montreal, who shot at 2,875 targets, and broke 2,722. His average works out at .9467. W. Barnes Hamilton and S. G. Vance, Tillsonburg, both head Morris, with averages of .9572 and .9483 respectively, but Vance shot at 3,585 birds, as against only 2,270 for Barnes. The amateurs in the list are all Western Ontario men, except J. E. McCurdy, Sydney, who is tenth, with 2,240 targets, 1,940 breaks and an average of .8660.

McGILL ALSO HAS CONFIDENCE IN ABILITY TO WIN

Team Will Leave for Kingston Tomorrow Morning—Much Improvement Shown in Practice—McGill Pleased with Officials Appointed

The McGill team will leave for Kingston tomorrow morning confident that they will return with another championship safely tucked away for the season. In their opinion, the Toronto team must have improved very much since they played in Montreal if they hope to win, as McGill has made great advances since their last game two weeks ago.

The reports from Toronto to the effect that their main hope was in their effectiveness of their backline is welcome news to the fans here. The McGill outfit does not intend that the Varsity backline should ever get a chance to show their wares. In both of the games this season McGill's line has demonstrated that it is superior to that of Toronto both on offensive and defensive work, and much of the local students' confidence in their outfit is because of that fact. Unless the Varsity line can hold better than it did in the first two games their chances of winning are not very bright.

The McGill half line does not have to take second place to any of the others in the league. Flanagan has an edge over any man in the league when all-round ability is considered. His punting is as good as anything shown this season and he is a dangerous man to have around a loose ball at any time. Carroll is a tower of strength to the team as far as kicking is considered, as he is the only player in the league who can kick field goals consistently. Little is a dangerous man if allowed to get down the field and plays a hard game whether his team holds the pigskin or not.

Where the McGill team seems to be superior to Toronto is in the fact that their substitute half-backs are every bit as good as the men who start the game. Russell can relieve any of the other men without weakening the line, while Anderson can be called back and, if anything, would strengthen that division.

McGill won the last game without the use of very many trick plays and straight rugby will again be featured tomorrow. The Red and White team thinks that it can play well enough by using straight rugby to win the contest even if they do meet with trick plays on the part of Varsity. There has never been a season in which McGill placed so little reliance on fake plays as the present. The stress has been laid upon the players learning the fundamentals of the game and the time spent at this work was not lost, as has been proved.

At yesterday's practice at the Molson Memorial stadium the team went through their plays like a well oiled machine. The men are all used to their positions and everyone knows exactly where to move in every formation. The slight amount of time gained by going through the plays without a hitch has been a big factor in many games and it may prove to be one of the deciding ones tomorrow.

The team was lined up against the undefeated juniors and put through their paces for about a half hour. It cannot be said that they were able to go through without any resistance as none has yet been able to do that with the third squad, but they showed that their plays would work against a team that was doing its best to stop them.

The playing field was by no means soft but the men did not seem to mind the bumps when they were brought down by a hard tackle. The practice lasted for the best part of the afternoon, but none of the players seemed to show any ill effects. That they will not be bothered with their wind was demonstrated when the whole team did a couple of turns about the track in fast time.

Judging by the showing made yesterday, Flanagan will be the man to be watched if a kicking game is indulged in. The young veteran is going at top speed and it is doubtful if anyone on the Toronto team will be able to cope with the punts he has been sending over lately. The advantage of a good kicker is double, as it both gains ground and saves the wings from overwork.

Coach Shaughnessy is non-committal about the chances of the team tomorrow, but it is not hard to see that he has every confidence in the fighting spirit of his outfit. Ever since the game at Toronto, when the McGill team was accused of showing a lack of spirit, the men have been out to show that they are out to fight to the end, and, as a consequence, their opponents have suffered.

As was the case before the last game here, sentiment among the McGill students has veered from one of doubt as to the result of the game to that of supreme confidence in their representatives. Although the practices are secret, it does not take very long for the men about the college to get a line on the prospects by mingling among the players. This time the effect has been even greater than that of the last contest, and the Toronto men will not find any lack of funds among the McGill students when the question of backing their respective teams is concerned.

The condition of the grounds may yet play a big part in the game. Probably the game in the morning between Queens and Varsity seconds will be played on another field, but if this is improbable, it will probably further add to the difficulties of the contenders for the senior title. Especially will this be so if the grounds have a tendency to be soft.

No practice will be held this afternoon by the McGill team. After yesterday's rather heavy workout the coach decided that a rest would benefit the outfit and they will not workout again before the game tomorrow afternoon. This means that every man will be available for the game, as no accidents have occurred to the players during the past week.

It was announced at the McGill Union yesterday that over six hundred tickets had been sold for the game. It was expected that the big rush would take place today when the sale is opened to the general public. When it was seen that the supply of tickets on hand would probably be insufficient to cope with the demand an extra amount was sent from Kingston. It was said last night that there were still a thousand pasteboards available for Montreal fans and these can be secured at the McGill Union this evening. At the same time the railway tickets can be secured from an agent of the railway company who is also staying at the Union during the rush.

Considering the distance the team is going to travel, the crowd going with it is remarkable. It is probably the largest crowd that has ever travelled from this city to see a local team compete in another town. Graduates of the college were pouring into the city yesterday and today in order to meet before going up to the game. Among those who were down was "Buster" Reid. He got into his football togs yesterday and assisted Shaughnessy at the practice up at the stadium. "Buster" thinks that Varsity stands no chance whatever against McGill and, when his enthusiasm for his Alma Mater is subtracted from his sound football sense, it probably means that he has a great deal of confidence in the McGill outfit.

The appointment of Major Macauley as referee and Colonel Constantine as judge of play, met with the approval of the McGill rugby club. They were very pleased that two neutral men were appointed and especially pleased that such conscientious officials were chosen.

The team to take the field for McGill will be:

BOXING COMBINE IS GRANTED A CHARTER

ALBANY, Nov. 19. — The Dempsey-Carpentier Contest Company of New York was granted a charter by the Secretary of State. Subscribers to the capital stock are Kilbourn Gordon, Martin Furner and Nathan Vidaver, all of New York City. The organization is capitalized for $10,000. According to the certificate of incorporation the objects of the corporation are to organize, control, and promote boxing exhibitions and contests and also exercise disciplinary authority in connection with such contests.

Tex Rickard, Charles Cochran of London and William A. Brady, co-promoters of the Dempsey-Carpentier championship boxing contest, have combined their interests in staging bouts in this country, it was learned, through the granting of a charter at Albany to the "Dempsey-Carpentier Contest Company."

The three promoters are the only directors of the corporation, which will hold contests under the name of "The American Sporting Club," a representative of Mr. Rickard declared. Mr. Cochran, it is understood, will look after the European interests of the corporation in inducing foreign pugilists to come to this country.

TEAM VIRTUALLY SIGNED UP.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19.—With virtually his entire team signed up—the same players who won the championship of the International League the last two seasons and the inter-league series with the St. Paul American Association club this fall—Jack Dunn, manager of the Baltimore club, is not worrying about next year's baseball problems. His team very probably will train at Goldsboro, N.C., next spring, it was understood today, if some improvements he desires in the club, are made.

$9,000,000 MADE BY MAJOR BALL LEAGUE IN 1920

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Staff Correspondent.)—Now that peace smiles sweetly over baseball and there's nothing left to fight over, what'll the magnates do this winter?

Those of a belligerent turn of mind most likely will have plenty of quarreling grounds when they go to talk terms with their players.

Ball players never have admitted that they were getting too much money for their services, and since the clean-up made by the moguls last season they'll probably insist louder than ever on a change on their cheque faces.

Baseball had its most successful season last year. Attendance records were broken, even with an increased "gate."

It is estimated that the sixteen major league clubs made close to $9,000,000 on the season. Close to three million dollars was made by the New York, Chicago and Boston American League clubs. The New York Giants took in close to a million, and the Brooklyn champions made about $600,000. The Cleveland world champions came mighty close to the same mark.

No club lost money. Even the Athletics made a little money due to the Yanks, the White Sox and the stronger clubs of the league, who drew well in Quakertown. The Washington Senators for the first time in years made a little money.

The players know that, and it's dead sure that they'll want a larger cut of the profits.

An unusual number of players are to sign new contracts this winter.

Manager Robinson and Ivy Olson are the only Brooklyn players on new contracts; the Giants have only three signed and the Yanks two.

Manager Gibson is the only Pirate known to have signed for 1921, while Manager Moran, Luque and a few youngsters are the only Reds who have come to terms with Garry Herrmann.

James C. Dunn, owner of the Cleveland champions, says practically all of the Indians have agreed on terms, and he expects not more than one or two holdouts.

Frank Mavin, boss of the Tigers, and several other magnates, following their usual policy, refuse to comment on the number of players under contract.

Whitted, Grimm and Cutshaw, of the Pirates, are announced holdouts. They are demanding "major league contracts"—according to reports.

Lachine Cricketers' Annual Dinner

The Lachine Cricket Club will hold its annual dinner in the D. B. Bungalow, Lachine, on Saturday Nov. 27 at 7.30 p.m. A good program of after-dinner speeches has been arranged and a good representation of the members is expected.

Cricketers Will Hold Smoking Concert

The Westmount Cricket Club will hold a smoker on Saturday evening in Victoria Hall. This will be the farewell meeting of the Knights of the Willow for the year 1920, and a number of representatives are expected from the Montreal and District Cricket League as well as from other clubs in the city. A good program has been arranged and Dean Moyse will give an address. The batting and bowling prizes won during the past season will be awarded to Messrs. Hudson and Reynolds of Westmount "A" team, and Norman and Lane of the "B" team.

OPPORTUNITY

America's leading educator, Ex-President Eliot of Harvard, says:

"Sensuous pleasures, like eating, are sometimes described as animal, and therefore unworthy.

"But men are animals and have a right to enjoy those pleasures of animal existence which maintain health, strength and life itself."

Not only the right, but, what is more, the opportunity, when they dine at CHILDS.

Griddle cakes with delicious butter and syrup—a health, strength and life itself maintainer.

VARIETY CLUB HOLDS CONCERT AND BANQUET

The annual concert and distribution of prizes in connection with the field day of the Variety Musical and Athletic Club will take place on Tuesday evening, Nov. 23, at the Ladies' Ordinary, Windsor Hotel. Last year's distribution of prizes was considered the finest and most costly set ever presented to any boys' club for an athletic meet. This year will still be one better. Silver cups, silver and gold medals, gold pieces, all kinds of sporting goods, including baseball, lacrosse and hockey outfits will be among the chief prizes. Silver medals will be presented to the winners of the lacrosse match for the field day game, while a beautiful silver trophy, emblematic of the juvenile championship, will be presented to the Variety lacrosse team. Rt. Rev. Monsignor Donnelly, of St. Anthony's Church, will preside.

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 30th, a banquet and the presentation of silver medals will be tendered the junior Variety team (champions) at the C.P.R. dining rooms, Windsor Station, at which fifty guests will be present.

Anglican Church Basketball League

The opening game of the Anglican Church Basketball League was staged at the R.R.Y.M.C.A. between St. Mary's and Grace Church, the latter team was victorious, the final score being 38 to 8. Spurr and Jones played a fine game for the winners and Wight and Choyce put up a splendid game for the losers.

On account of the delay in arranging of the league, both teams showed lack of team play. They will improve as the season progresses. The line-up of the teams were as follows:

St. Mary's		Grace
E. Wight	centre	Jones
S. Blinn	defence	Knowles
A. Round	Defence	Wilson
L. Choyce	home	Spurr
T. E. Drewett	home	Whitehouse
L. Overing	sub

The individual score was as follows: St. Mary's—E. Wight, 6 foul goals; L. Choyce, 1 field goal. Total, 8 points. Grace Church—Spurr, 8 field goals, 2 foul goals; Jones, 7 field goals; Whitehouse, 2 field goals and 2 foul goals. Total of 38 points.

Geo. Horwood as referee handled the game in fine style. Timekeeper and scorer Chas. Botting.

May Lengthen Baseball Schedules

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. — When the major baseball leagues hold their annual meetings in February they will consider a proposition to lengthen each team's schedule to 168 games instead of 154 as heretofore, it was learned today.

Proponents of the plan argued that since many of the teams are allowed to play on Sunday on their home grounds, the season would not be unduly lengthened by the proposed change.

Society Brand Clothes

We expected a big response when we announced that all Society Brand Suits and Overcoats would be sold at prices based on replacement value.

We could not foresee the rush that has come. The service of our dealers has been taxed to the utmost. We fear some customers may have suffered from this condition.

May we urge all who can to come in the morning hours? We want to give the service we are accustomed to give.

The reason for this rush is that Fall Suits and Overcoats are selling at new low prices. They are low because the prices of woollens and other materials have come down. They are all hand-tailored in the accepted new styles for Fall. Come in the morning hours if possible.

CANADA'S PLACE.

WITH the election of a Canadian representative as one of the Vice-Presidents of the Assembly of the League of Nations Canada is given a fixed and certain "stake" in the League and an interest, more than ever definite, in its maintenance and effectiveness.

The cry raised by certain American politicians that the recent Republican triumph had "killed" the League of Nations is answered by the completion of an important part of its organization. The history of the last year has shown that, even before this was perfected, the League was a living power among men.

It is far from perfect. Probably there was not one man among those who drafted the plan upon which it is based who could not see certain defects in it. Had they been free to do so, no doubt they could have made a better plan. But it was not a question with the drafters of the League of what was best, but what was possible. They had to contend with prejudices and hatreds, fears and traditions. They were groping through the dark, toward the light it is true, but working through and across obstacles thrown in their path by human limitations and the explosions of a world war.

What they built with the scanty materials at hand was by no means perfect, perhaps indeed it is so imperfect that it will not work at all. It has many bitter and powerful enemies, not only from outside, but from within the circle of its supposed friends. Worse even than these, it has to combat the world's tragic indifference and apathy. It may be that through these the vision of the creators of the League will come to nought. But even should this occur, the world will be richer for having tried to build a better order. The League is humanity's first real attempt to hasten the dawn of a fairer day. It is a proud thing for Canada that she should stand shoulder to shoulder with the "dreamers" and "idealists." There are worse places for a young nation to be.

THE WORLD AT THE CROSS-ROADS.

THE two paths before the nations were outlined by Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador, in his address before the New York State Chamber of Commerce. The way of co-operation means peace and the way of isolation means war.

The time is here when the nations must decide to apply or to reject the lesson of the last decade in history, the race of armament leading to the welter of bloodshed. Failure by the nations to act for peace in concert means acceptance of the case for Mars, with its assurance of conflict surpassing in horror the deadliest evils conceived by Prussian militarism.

The world situation after the war clouds have rolled away is clear. Nothing can justify a decision anywhere in favor of further blood, except adherence to a philosophy embracing warfare as a necessity of human existence—the very doctrine the Allies and the United States fought to destroy. No peoples stand more remote from such madness than do those of Great Britain and the United States. Holding as they do the outposts of Christian civilization, they must surely recognize a common duty of setting less-favored nations an example of sympathetic agreement on the vital issues of the times. Their failure to offer such an example, after decisions now pressing have been made, would be the most ominous event in our period, just as their union in support of world peace would breathe a blessing upon mankind to the ends of the earth.

The fight to end war merely began when the peace-loving nations grappled to the end with Germany. Today it has moved into another stage. Mars is not prostrate, but up and active, served by minions everywhere, profiting by the strange reactions of the people to unfamiliar days. The leadership in victory for peace properly belongs to Great Britain and the United States, the two great democracies which speak the same language. If they fail in this Christian world duty, the tragedy will not be due to conflict of ideals, but to political incompetence above and below and to a debasement of moral standards which history will record as the supreme humiliation of the race.

Ontario's Minister of Agriculture says the price paid for Canadian apples by the British consumer is too high. Yes, it's almost as high as we pay in Canada.

The craving of some people for revolutions is illustrated by the young Russian who ended his life at sea by lowering himself into the propeller.

GERMANY AND GENEVA.

THE German Government, which has shown many signs that it is not lacking in political sagacity, has decided not to press its claim for admission to the League during the present Geneva conference. To do so would be to rouse the bitter animosity of France and to place Britain in the predicament of being forced to make choice between the possibility of wrecking the League of Nations or of endorsing the French policy, which Britain has hitherto opposed. Moreover, Germany realizes that any move on the part of a neutral to attempt to insinuate Germany into the League councils at this time might lead to awkward questions with regard to Berlin's strict fulfilment of the terms of the Versailles Treaty. The French attitude is summed up in the statement of M. Poincare, the former President, who declared a few days ago that the "Allies were having as much trouble with Germany as though she were still to be conquered." Meanwhile the Vossische Zeitung commends the Allies for not making the Versailles Treaty a "castiron instrument," but for treating it as "a living organism," which apparently may be modified by negotiations just as fast as its defects are pointed out by that Power against which its punitive clauses are directed.

The majority of the British people believe that the peace of the world will not be definitely re-established until Germany has shown that disposition to reform which is the necessary prelude of her entry into the comity of nations. The Allies do not overlook the fact that the disarmament of the German forces in East Prussia is still incomplete in spite of the boast of the British Premier after the Boulogne conference that "the Allies had taken the strongest hand" with regard to disarmament.

Germany cannot claim consideration of her case at Geneva until the demobilization terms of the treaty are fulfilled to the last letter. It is upon them that the Treaty hinges, and in no more sincere way can Germany show her good faith.

FOOD AND FOOLISHNESS.

ACCORDING to a Toronto despatch, the handling of the apple crop in parts of Ontario has been so unsatisfactory that a large part of it will not even be picked. In one part of the province, noted for its onions, part of the very valuable crop is being allowed to rot because the price dropped, and another part was so badly handled that it is not keeping in storage.

The stupidity which we display in most phases of the production and distribution of our food products is amazing. While a part of the Ontario apple crop is rotted and frozen on the ground, city dwellers are able to afford apples only as it were "by the piece." Last year onions cost about as much as orchids and this year, because the "market is off" they are sharing the fate of the apples. With all kinds of foodstuffs at a price that, ten years ago, would have suggested an Egyptian famine, we periodically make a grand clearance of our storage warehouses and heave ton after ton of food on the city dumps, where it poisons our air rather than sustains our bodies. The man who grows the stuff does not make much profit out of it, and the man who eats it has to pay for it at a rate that makes him see red.

Some day we will stop this comic opera performance. We will take the time to devote to the production and distribution of foods that food products the same amount of brains that we have expended on manufacturing and distributing almost everything else. When that time comes we may look for common-sense at least where our treatment of the whole problem of food is concerned.

BURN THE GARBAGE.

NOT a pound of garbage is being incinerated in this city, but is being dumped within the city limits, to the detriment of public health. The three new incinerators the Administrative Commission intends to procure cannot be too quickly put in operation. The danger to the public health must not be continued. It is months since the old incinerator at Point St. Charles was put out of commission by fire, and garbage had to be strewn in vacant lots within the city limits.

Any new scheme of incineration must make sure that the garbage is profitably utilized.

Paris makes six million dollars annually on the sale of its garbage, and it is strange that this city, ever anxious for revenue, has never benefited by the example.

Apart from Paris it is quite a common custom both in European and American cities to derive revenue from refuse. As a usual thing tenders are called for garbage collection and destruction—and competition is active. The successful tenderer not only recoups himself in the collection of huge quantities of junk, but in the sale of fertilizers. By certain processes the waste is converted into substances that give the soil fresh vigor.

The Administrative Commission will, no doubt, take this phase of incineration into consideration. The revenue Montreal raises, apart from taxation, is very small when compared with other cities.

Those Americans who experience a severe pain on hearing of the Government's ban on Jamaica ginger are out of luck.

The Mayor of Philadelphia says every Government should include a Minister of Art. But how could we get intelligent discussions of the subject in the House of Commons?

THE WORLD'S PRESS

The Responsibilities of Friendship.

Scotsman: It is clearly recognized in this country that if Britain had stood alone, or had cut the financial and economic bonds which bind her to the war-torn Continent, she would already have gone far towards restoring the pound sterling to its old value in dollars. To find realization of this fact dawning on the other side of the Atlantic is decidedly welcome and significant.

"To Forgive, Divine."

The Kansas City Times: Some persons have been heard to marvel that those United States Senators who opposed woman suffrage were nevertheless re-elected. They conclude those Senators must have put up a great fight to win. Not at all. If they had fought they would have been licked. What they did was to get down on their knees and ask forgiveness, just as other men do. And the women forgave them, just as they generally do. That's all there is to that election mystery.

Pilgrims and Pests.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Three hundred years ago the Pilgrims came to America by way of Holland—few in numbers but forerunners of a world epoch. Today 25,000 Bolshevik agitators and propagandists are reported trying to get to America by way of Holland. There was no United States Government to welcome the Pilgrims. There is none to welcome the Bolsheviks. In fact, if the warning of the commissioner of immigration is heeded, the Government will adopt immediate means to stop the invasion threatening from the land of dykes and windmills.

Fat Dividends.

The Detroit News: What is the market quotation on happiness? Hard to rate in dollars and cents, isn't it? There was the case of the little boy born with crooked feet but made straight and whole and strong through proper operations. Community money accomplished that. There was happiness reduced to a purchasable commodity. Somebody's money, bought the difference between suffering and handicap and discouragement, and joy and opportunity and optimism for that little fellow. Somebody's money, a definite, specific amount, turned a cripple into a strong, well boy. That is getting the priceless for a price.

A Praiseworthy Experiment.

London Chronicle: The 2,000 houses which have been contracted for by the Housing Committee at Liverpool are to be made of concrete slabs, which, with the use of what are known as Winget pressure machines, can be constructed and set in position with unskilled labor. Of the workmen engaged 85 per cent are ex-Service men, who are being trained on the spot. This is by no means the only experiment in building houses in a new way with a new kind of material and a new kind of labor. Such experiments, either with or without the co-operation of trade unionists, will help to solve the housing problem.

Gun Toting.

Chicago Tribune: The carrying of a gun by any one who cannot prove that he is a habitually peaceable and responsible citizen should be heavily penalized. In this we agree with the new superintendent of police. A member of the criminal class who is found with a gun intends to kill if he thinks it needful or worth while, and it is fair to shut him up as one who intends murder if he is caught with a deadly weapon. We believe such a law, if enforced by juries, would do much towards disarmament of the bad men, who all now travel heeled as if they were in No Man's Land, and use their weapons, it seems to us, with less restraint year by year.

Nature's Curtain.

Westminster Gazette: The news that the direct Holland air mail is to be taken off during the winter months should set the scientists to work for the solution of the problem involved. We are often told that there are now few, if any, limitations to the possibilities of aviation; but it seems that there is one very serious and practical limitation—fog. Wind matters far less than it did a few years ago; rain and variations of temperature are faced quite cheerfully; but it is announced that it is a practical impossibility to keep up a regular and punctual service over low-lying coasts and the narrow seas at a time when fog and mist are very prevalent. This is a very serious limitation when we consider the atmospheric conditions here and on the Continent during winter.

The Mystery of Life.

London Daily Express: The wisdom of the Ancients and the Moderns has never been able to answer the question: "Why is life?" Those whose lot has been cast in the shadows and in the lonely paths of sorrow ask themselves the question again and again. But there comes no answer. Life remains the great perplexity. Yet there is an answer hidden in the human heart. It is the instinct for the achievement and making of character. Fame, riches, power, merely intensify the misery of existence if they be obtained at the price of character. The declining years, with their shadowy goal, terrorise only those who have ignored this great truth. The building of character is the highest calling of man. It is life's answer to the challenge of death.

The Smoking Habit.

London Times: Many have tried at some time or another to give up the habit of which cigarette-smoking is the most insidious form, and know that it is easier said than done. Every day life puts so many difficulties in the reformer's path. There is work, for example. The mind robbed of its usual stimulus can become a horrid blank. A man has been known time after time to leave his pipe, pouch, and matches at home, and then resolutely set forth to his office. Every time he had to send out a messenger to buy a cherry-wood pipe, lest he should sit staring vacantly at his work. There is the question of temper. If the least thing goes against him, the abstainer becomes a ravening beast. Let his children so much as beat a drum, or slide, squeaking, down the bannisters, he longs to smack them soundly. Again, it is painfully unsociable not to smoke. We may ask a friend to come and smoke a pipe with us, and tobacco will supply the place of talk; but we cannot both sit and do nothing. Mere embarrassment may conquer us when desire has lost its power.

FARMING VS. GOLF.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I wish to draw attention to an outstanding fact, which is just one illustration among hundreds of how farmers are handicapped in their noble work. The people of a young city started a golf club, land was bought for the links, all the men they could get to prepare the links were offered such high wages that ordinary farmers were unable to get help for the fall work. Is such a condition right? I ask you, is it not an evidence of how the "Pursuit of Pleasure" dulls the sensibility of mankind. Forewarned is forearmed, we are told, let us beware lest our pleasure seeking carries us beyond our depth.

AGAINST EXTREMES.

CALCULATED TO PLEASE THE SCHOLARS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Referring to Mr. Strifenasky's letter respecting teachers sending home pupils as a punishment for not having done home work.

I consider that the great mistake of the schools is having any home work. Scholars' work should be so arranged as to render this unnecessary.

Teachers are supposed to be paid to teach, not simply to hear lessons. At the present time most of the teaching has to be done by the parents in the evenings, and in this manner the teachers avoid doing what they are paid for. The only remedy is for the parents to strike and absolutely decline to allow their children to work at night.

A GRAND PARENT.

PITY THEM.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—How every father's and mother's heart will ache this Christmas while lovingly filling the stockings of their happy children, to think of the agony of the poor little mother who lost her dear baby in such an awful way. And that brave little man (9 years old) who instead of screaming and pulling at dresses to attract attention, bravely worked his way in silence trying to get to some warm place with his little brother. Such a lesson to a hurrying population—at least speak to a child out on the cold street at an impossible hour. If tears could help you, oh, suffering little mother, I am sure you would be helped, for certainly there was not a dry eye in Montreal after reading the account of "Seeing Santa Claus." I am sorry for that policeman he will suffer so.

H.M.S.

FRANCHISES.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I think it was Adam Smith who said that the proper division of labor is the secret of the wealth of nations, and that the greater the number of people employed the greater the wealth of a nation. It was Napoleon Bonaparte who said that to make France affluent in three years' time, it was only necessary to take Government money with which to complete a public work, a toll-road, or a canal. This would employ thousands upon thousands of men. When the road showed it was paying dividends, sell it to a syndicate—get back the Government money — use it to make the canal, employing again thousands upon thousands of men. Then sell the canal to another syndicate as another dividend-paying proposition — get back the Government money—and so on. He did, and it became so. Why can we not learn from Adam? and from Napoleon? Why do we give our franchises away free, gratis, and for nothing?

STUDENT.

PRACTICAL APPLIED MECHANICS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—The letter, "An Engineering Fallacy," signed K. leads me to set another little problem. Take two fifty cent pieces (any coin having milled edges will serve). Lay them in contact flat on the table side by side face up, the crowns on the coins pointing towards each other. If you rotate the coins together inwardly till the crowns point as at first, each will have made a complete revolution, because each is of the same size as the other. Now if you leave one coin stationary and carefully revolve the other around it till the crowns again point inwardly towards one another as at first, the moving coin will have come back to the place of starting, and will not have travelled any further than the rim of the standing coin will have permitted it to travel. The question is, did the moving coin in the second case make one complete revolution or two?

WHEEL WORK.

THEIR PRESSING NEED.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—About a year ago a few items appeared in the columns of The Star calling the attention of the public, the educational department, and the Provincial Government towards the deplorable condition of a number of retired teachers, who must now be keeping company with the hunger strikers, considering that their pensions only range from a minimum of $6.25 per month for women to a maximum of $25 for men.

As no attention has been paid to this appeal, I once more ask space in The Star to refer to the same subject. In this day of H. C. L. no one can exist on such pitiable allowances, consequently must either be in want or depending upon some friend or relative for support.

All these old teachers received such pitiable stipends during their active years of work in the class room that it was impossible for them to lay aside anything for the proverbial wet day which, generally speaking, sooner or later overtakes all humanity in the race of life.

Considering that the Legislature of Quebec is increasing yearly the appropriation for educational purposes — the latest being a round robbin of one million for old McGill—is it not pitiable to remember that a few thousands cannot be applied towards at least doubling the mere pittance now doled out to aged teachers now on the pension list?

Will not some "Sir Knight" of humanity arise and champion the cause of the retired teachers at the next session of our local Legislature and by so doing merit the thanks and praise of every stranded

"PENSIONER."

THE LESSONS OF A TRAGEDY.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—Everyone who read your paper must have been shocked to learn of the sad fate of two little boys who went out on Saturday night to see "Santa Claus."

And I am sure we sympathize most sincerely with the parents deprived of one of their dear ones.

It is almost incredible, but still true, that two children under twelve years of age wandered in the city of Montreal for miles; lost their way; and then, tired and hungry, lay down to die on St. Catherine street.

There are two lessons to be drawn from the above; first, the great importance of teaching English speaking children to speak French, and French speaking children to speak English. These boys were evidently in the West End, where there are many English speaking people, and their questions would have been replied to at once. My parents had me taught to speak French before I was ten years of age; and we were then living in Scotland, but it has often been of great use to me. Secondly, we see how very defective some of our policemen are. If the policeman who refused to reply to the poor boys when they applied to him, were known, he should not only be dismissed at once from the force, but he should be severely punished. He is responsible, in great measure for the death of the poor little fellow.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

SHAMING THE SOLDIER.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I have read with interest the latest proposal of Mr. J. Harry Flynn, organizer of the Grand Army United Veterans, with reference to preventing Hon. Arthur Meighen from speaking when he visits Toronto.

While it is admitted that we, as returned men, have grievances (and who haven't) yet at the same time I feel that it is only just and fair that we direct such grievances to the proper parties and through the right channels.

In the past our complaints have, generally speaking, been given careful and sympathetic consideration at Ottawa.

I do not question Mr. Flynn's sincerity. I am in complete agreement with him in his earnest endeavor to improve the lot of the pensioner and widow. I do most emphatically, however, disagree entirely with the methods used by him.

He is antagonizing public sympathy, and in doing so is bringing disgrace upon his returned comrades.

Flynn has a following of a small, noisy minority.

Many returned men are against the present Government, just the same as thousands of others are. But because they are returned men is no valid reason why they should make themselves a public nuisance and prevent the Hon. Arthur Meighen from speaking. This is certainly not British fair play.

I sincerely hope and trust that Mr. Flynn will meditate before putting his words into action, and thus prevent what will otherwise be a disgrace on the fair name of his comrades throughout the Dominion.

A. RITCHIE LOW.

THE TRAGEDY OF THE CHILDREN.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—Accompanied by my wife I was walking west along St. Catherine street about 8 p.m. on Saturday night. Passing a florists' store, a little west of Guy street, we noticed two small boys lying inside the door entrance with their backs against the door. The store was still open and some persons inside so we presumed the two children were waiting for some person purchasing inside the store.

We continued walking west and when we came to a Chinese laundry, a trifle east of Green avenue, left hand side of the street going west, we were surprised to see the same two boys again lying in the doorway of the laundry. I went up to the boys and asked the elder "where is your home?" He shook his head, so, thinking he knew only French, I said, in fairly good French, "Where are you going?" "Where do you live?" At this the elder boy jumped up and ran westward along the street, followed by the smaller boy. As both boys were well dressed and, to all appearances at that time, active, we presumed they knew their locality and forgot about the incident.

The two boys were undoubtedly the poor children, one of whom perished from cold the same night, referred to in The Star.

There would appear to me to be many lessons to be learned from this unfortunate tragedy—apart from the purely personal one brought home to myself and wife, and, believe me, taken very deeply indeed to heart.

First, had the elder boy understood English there would have been no tragedy. It might be argued that the same happy result would have been achieved had I spoken good French. Granted. But my French, like I suppose thousands of other English speaking citizens not natives of Quebec province, has been learned from the school books many years ago and has become defective through disuse, while the little boy with even an elementary knowledge of English could have made himself understood and would have been seen safely to his home.

Second—There is a problem right here in Montreal, not confined to the less prosperous members of the community, but to most citizens with families, and that is female household help at reasonable wages and in sufficient quantity. Citizens with young families must either sacrifice their leisure time to the care of their families exclusively or run the risk of such lamentable occurrences of that reported or even worse.

Any organization in this city which proposes to solve this problem is doing an immeasurable service to the community and for my part it is my intention to donate my mite towards the funds of the Children's Welfare Association as a partial offset to my lost opportunity of saving a young life on last Saturday night.

Third—It would appear to be questionable whether the city authorities should permit the exploitation of the very young by processions through the public streets of such commercial propaganda as was primarily responsible for the death of this young boy.

A PASSER-BY.

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, Nov. 19, 1890.)

Montreal—Bishop Bond's golden jubilee in the ministry is being celebrated today. Service was held in St. George's Church this morning, the following clergy being present: Canon Ellegood, Ven. Archdeacon Lindsay, Dean Carmichael, Rev. Dr. Norton, Canon Mills, Canon Henderson, Canon Empson, Canon Davidson, Archdeacon Evans, Rev. G. Osborne Troop, Rev. John Ker, Rev. J. H. Dixon. A reception is being held this afternoon, a feature being the presentation to the Bishop of an address and a testimonial of over $4,000.

London—A statute providing for the admission of women to the medical degrees has been passed by the congregation at Oxford by the majority of one.

Montreal — A meeting held at the Windsor Hotel last night decided to raise funds to provide for a toboggan slide on the mountain this winter. Among those present were Messrs. Fred. Birks, Ernest Gault, W. Finley, Prebble Macintosh, J. B. Stevenson, W. Christie, Geo. R. Starke, W. P. Sicsor, Percy McNaughton, Grant McIntosh, R. A. Dunton, J. F. Scriver, J. Lockerby, J. Morrice and Major Cole.

Winnipeg—A branch of the Molson's Bank is to be opened in this city at an early date.

Quebec—A petition to incorporate the "Royal Canadian Trust and Fidelity Company," presented to the Legislature by Attorney-General Robidoux, is signed by Sir Donald A. Smith, R. B. Angus, Hon. Geo. A. Drummond, E. S. Clouston, John Cassils, J. Burnett, L. J. Forget, David Burke, Frank Paul, C. G. Clouston and R. D. McGibbon, Q.C., who are to be the provisional directors.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, Nov. 19, 1900.)

Montreal—Mr. George B. Reeve is appointed general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway System.

London — The guerilla warfare in South Africa has become less formidable. The skirmishes recorded daily by Lord Roberts are petty affairs, in which only scores of Boers are engaged, when hundreds formerly were active.

Toronto—Varsity defeated McGill on Saturday in the intercollegiate football championship series.

M'GILL REGISTRATION BREAKS ALL RECORDS

A complete registration of 2,797 students for the present session at McGill was announced by the university yesterday. This shows an increase of 354 over the official figures for last year which, however, did not include the Department of Social Service and the School of Physical Education. Last session's record nevertheless is broken by about 200 in the regular faculties. The official figures show Medicine to lead in the matter of breaking records. In that faculty there are 167 students more than last year. Arts has increased only by 3 students. Commerce has added 47 to its numbers; Applied Science, 21; Dentistry 29 and Pharmacy 7. The School for Graduate Nurses, which is an innovation at the university, adds 36 students to the ranks.

Slight decreases are noticeable in Law, Agriculture and Music. The decrease in Agriculture is accounted for by the raising of the entrance standards to correspond with other faculties. In Music, though there are fewer undergraduates and senior partials than last year, there is an increase on the whole, as the number of junior students not included in the figures issued, is larger than in the previous session.

The figures recorded by the registrar for this year are as follows: Arts, 581; Commerce, 151; Applied Science, 667; Medicine, 313; Dentistry, 119; Pharmacy, 39; Law, 128; Music, 97; Agriculture, 72; Household Science, 57; Social Service, 42; Course for Graduate Nurses, 36; physical Education, 21; Graduate School, 54. Total (less number whose names appear on more than one list), 2,797.

DOLL MAKER WANTS SENTENCE QUASHED

A petition for a writ of certiorari, presented by Blanche E. Short, doing business here under the name of Bruyere Doll Manufacturing Company, and directed against the Recorder's Court, was ordered to be issued yesterday by Mr. Justice Bruneau, sitting in the Practice Court.

The petitioner alleges that she was illegally condemned in the Recorder's Court to pay a fine of $30 and costs, on the ground that offensive odors emanated from her factory, situated at 1795 St. Lawrence boulevard; that in virtue of the civic by-law under which she was sued, she committed no offence, and she asked that the sentence of the Recorder's Court be quashed, with costs.

Adolphe Mailhot, K.C., appeared for petitioner; and A. St. Pierre, of the city legal staff, for the Recorder's Court.

FUR PRICES AT LOW LEVEL.

That retail prices of manufactured furs have reached low level, and are likely to increase in the near future is the opinion expressed by R. S. Coltart, vice president and managing director of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company, Limited. "The original value of the raw skins alone is only a proportion of the total cost of the finished product. Raw skins have to be dressed and often dyed, and then manufactured. The cost of these processes is on the increase, together with the cost of all accessories," he said. "The reduction in the retail price to which the public is entitled on account of the decline in the cost of the raw furs has been more than taken care of by the retailer. The demand for fine furs will be greater as the season advances and prices will be correspondingly higher."

Why These Men Endorse the Campaign to Raise

$200,000

November 22 to 29

1—Because of the imperative need, for English-speaking Catholics, of a large, modern High School—the indispensable link between the primary school and the university.

2—Because the new High School will set the precious advantages of higher education within the reach of every one of our ambitious boys. It will prepare them for courses in Law, Medicine, Engineering, Chemistry, Accountancy, and other studies leading to desirable professional careers.

3—Because the made-over-residence now accommodating 200 pupils is overcrowded and students are being refused constantly.

4—Because the site, on Durocher Street, between Sherbrooke and Milton, which has been bought and fully paid for, is the geographical centre of the fourteen English-speaking Catholic parishes.

5—Because

"Today's Boy Is Tomorrow's Man"

Every English-Speaking Catholic is asked to contribute

OFFICE WARDROBE.

1. What do you consider a suitable wardrobe for a girl doing office work in a country town?

2. Who is the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec at the present time?

3. Can you tell me who Edgar Guest, writer of the poems in "The Cosmopolitan" is? Is he an American, and is he married? IGNORAMUS.

Ans.—1. Navy blue serge is excellent for winter office wear. If you prefer washable blouses, crepe de chene, Jap silk, or a blouse of any material that is not transparent, may be worn with a cloth skirt. 2. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick. 3. He is a newspaperman on the Detroit News. I'm sorry I do not know if he is married or an American by birth.

A WOULD-BE GOLFER.

Please read rules.

THE TWA CRONIES.

Thanksgiving holiday found Donald and Sandy at Outremont Park, where they had met to see the Y.M.C.A. athletic games. The two old men, however, soon tired of the games, and sought a bench near the boating pond where they could chat comfortably and see what was passing at the same time.

"Were ye at the kirk yesterday?" queried Donald.

"Aye, I was there last nicht, Donald—hopin' to hear a guid auld-fashioned Thanksgeein' sermon—but the meenister was gey dreich. It's a wunner to me hoo some o' they preachers can talk sae lang an' say sae little. In ma opeenion a sermon should be short an' interestin'—like the weemin's skirts."

"Ye're richt there," agreed Donald, "some o' them dinna ken where to stop—I mean the sermons, ye ken—no the skirts. Anither thing I object to about the kirk noo-adays, is they new-fangled hymns they gie us to sing—an' when we dae get an auld hymn, like as no they'll mak us sing a new tune till't. Man, there's something inspirin' about the auld hymn tunes, that stirs a man's hairt an' maks him realise he's at the kirk an' no just a concert."

"Aweel, Donald, it's mebbe just as weel ye dinna ken the hymns, for if ye did, ye micht start singin', an' wi a voice like yours they micht throw ye oot."

"Noo, Sandy, that'll dae ye—I've many a time been tell't I has a guid voice."

"Mebbe ye hae, Donald—but when ye sing it soonds awfu'. You're a fine yin onyway to talk about the kirk. I'll bet ye dinna ken the Lord's prayer."

"Dae I no—weel I'll just repeat it tae ye an' ye'll see whether I ken it or no—hoo does it start noo, oh aye!

The Lord's my shepherd, I shall not want
He makes me down to lie
In pastures green he leadeth me
The quiet waters by.—Amen."

"Guid for you, Donald — I did'na think ye wad hae minded it—but let's change the subject—What do ye think o' the coal strike?"

"It's a waefu' beesiness, Sandy — I'm hopin it'll no last vera lang—what was the cause o't?"

"Weel, Donald, it's like this — the miners heard that the members o' Parliament were gettin' twa shillin's a day mair than the miners an' oot they went. It's too bad ye ken—some o' they miners hae to work that hard they're owre tired to gang oot in their motor canoe at nicht—they'll sune be askin' for a fower 'oor day—and' a fortnicht's holidays every week."

"Aye, Sandy, it's a guid job they has Lloyd George at the helm—for the auld countrey's gaun thro' a stormy time the noo, an' it'll tak a' his wits to weather the storm. What wi' the industrial unrest — the Irish question an' international affairs he maun be gey thrang tryin' to please everybody."

"Aye, Donald—the wee Welshman's a dandy—if we could only borrow him for a week or twa—to instill some common sense into the heids o' oor civic managers—Montreal wad be the better o't. Believe me—if there was a tax on brains in this country, the Government wad owe the City Hall money's.

"Noo, Sandy, dinna start on that topic—it's a sair point an' ye'll only spile oor holiday. Let's awa ower an' watch the laddies jumpin' a while — an' then we'll gang hame." Which they did. "JAMIE."

THE GIRL GOSSIP.

We were formerly four girl friends, but find now that only three of us are worthy of being trusted. It is like this: The other girl would coax us to tell her all our actions of each day and opinions of different people. Everything was told in expectation of perfect confidence, but, much to our sorrow, we have found out that we were too trusting. This supposed friend has told, exaggerated and fabricated stories to our acquaintances, and has succeeded in estranging some of them. She has said nothing which can come directly back to us so that we might deny it; but she has hinted and even lied to those whom we counted our best friends, and who, of course, would not like to offend us by repeating her gossip. We believe that her intentions were jealous, for there could be no other motive, and we know her to be so from seeing so much of her.

Needless to say, we realize how foolish we were to trust her (she has a very confiding way); we tell nothing more. However, we would like to repair the damage already done. We could not accuse her, for we would not like the affair to become public. We do not think our friends believe her entirely, but they could not help having been influenced some by her talk, for she does it all with, to the uninitiated, an innocent air. Please tell us what to do.

2. Another minor question is this: Should a girl accept an invitation to a dance from a boy who has been refused by another girl? Don't you think it puts her in a secondary position of importance and makes people think less of her?

3. Also, it is our opinion that dances would be more enjoyable if there were no programs. Often a girl has to allow some one she doesn't care much for to fill her program when she would rather wait for those she has to refuse later. GINGER.

Ans.—1. I'm afraid there is nothing you can do but resolve you will not be so trusting another time. That type of gossip is so frightfully hard to combat and the girl who does it in so "nice and friendly" a fashion is the hardest to fight. We all talk about each other, and there is scarcely one of us who couldn't "bust up" nearly all the friendships in her circle of acquaintances if she wanted to tell all she knows. Most of us realize that and discount these tales, remembering the old saying. "A dog that will fetch a bone will carry a bone." 2. If she wants to go to the dance, why not? I don't agree with you. I much prefer program dances. Perhaps your late friends will learn to come early another time.

How Do You Say It?

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

(Copyright.)

"SPLENDID."

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

This word is frequently misused, even by some writers and speakers who are ordinarily very careful in their choice of words. Alfred Ayres, in "The Verbalist," says of "splendid": "This poor word is used by the gentler sex to qualify well-nigh everything that has their approval, from a sugar-plum to the national capitol. In fact, 'splendid' and 'awful' seem to be about the only adjectives some of our superlative young women have in their vocabularies."

"Splendid" means when used properly, brilliant, magnificent, inspiring, imposing, etc., but it does not mean, in the best usage, very good, excellent, fine, etc. You may say, for example, "The sun setting behind a range of mountains is a splendid sight," or, "The poetry of Milton affords a splendid example of grandeur in writing," but if you are asked whether the apple you are eating is good, you should not say it is splendid ,and you cannot in good English have a "splendid" time at a picnic.

HEALTH TALKS

By JOHN B. HUBER, A.M., M.D.

NURSING PNEUMONIA.

The patient is at once put to bed: a doctor is at once called, of course. There must be a day or a night nurse; for even in the favorable cases there may be a sudden heart failure or stopping of the breathing; therefore, it will never do to have a sleepy, tired attendant, who may for a moment relax her vigilance—a fatal issue resulting.

The mouth is kept clean, water is given in abundance, the diet is fluid—mostly milk with eggs. Everything possible is done to save the sufferer's strength by preventing unnecessary movements, severe respiratory effort and the like. Sleep is of great value; but the patient's position must be quietly changed from time to time lest there be a "hypostatic congestion" in the dependent portion of the lungs.

Cold sponging relieves the nervous symptoms and the delirium, lowers the high temperature and improves the heart action. Soon as the breathing threatens to become bad secure an oxygen tank so that it may be handy against its possible need any time during the 24 hours. The pulse is carefully watched and stimulated as soon as any weakness is evident, remembering the crisis may occur at any hour. By such means may life be saved even in cases where death seems impending.

In elderly people the course of pneumonia is not so well defined as above stated: There is often absence of many of the chief symptoms; there is a general prostration and the disease is very fatal. And pneumonia is a "terminal infection" occurring in chronic diseases, the issue being fatal. Such diseases are tuberculosis, advanced heart disease, arterio-sclerosis, diabetes and kidney affections. Pneumonia is also secondary to such infections as diphtheria, typhoid fever and grippe.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Heartburn.

What diet would you suggest for one who has suffered from indigestion for years, also heartburn?

Answer.—First of all, I would have a good family doctor examine your stomach contents, or refer you to a stomach specialist, who would do that by means of a gastric tube. Then you will know "where you are at."

Your indigestion may be due to too much acidity, or too little acidity, or to impaired motility of the stomach muscle or to intestinal and pot stomach illness, or to disturbances of the liver function. Have the examination made which I advise and find out which of these difficulties obtains. Then rational treatment can be given and your indigestion of years will vanish like the morning mists.

Believe me, no dyspeptic has ever been cured by keeping his eye on a diet list; and many a dyspeptic has become so just that way. However, am mailing you further information.

All inquiries addressed to Dr. Huber in care of the "Health Talks" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

FASHIONS FOR TODAY

The style trend in frocks for little girls this season is more to plain fabrics than to plaids, so that a plaid frock stands out as more of a novelty than otherwise, a condition of affairs that is really somewhat unusual. Combining plain and plaid serge, the little frock shown in the sketch is decidedly suggestive of a Scotch Highlander's costume, and the effect is emphasized by the cap bordered with ribbon blending with the fabric of the kilted skirt. The dress is simple, merely a pleated skirt with attached lining waist, accompanied by a middy or smock with the tie of plaid ribbon. The smock is of navy serge trimmed in self color or red braid, but a white or bright red middy may be worn with the plaid skirt with very good effect.

Girls who are old enough to take part in gymnasium work at school usually very strongly approve of the separate skirt and middy type of outfit, because the skirt may be so easily abandoned for gym bloomers.

In the line-up of separate middy garments a great many fabrics are approved. Serge and flannel, of course, are staple and always good style, and this season wool jersey cloth and velveteen middies to be worn with either plain or plaid wool separate skirts are in high favor. Crepe de Chine is also frequently used.

One very smart little black velveteen smock recently featured with a plaid wool skirt was drawn in a trifle at the waist line on either side and caught with a silk cord and tassel.

Touches of wool embroidery in contrasting color trim the wool jersey blouses, or else they are finished all about the edges with bands of heavy wool crochet, the same material frequently being used to form a belt.

Velvet or velveteen and wool jersey cloth are combined in some very smart little frocks, suitable either for school or dressy wear. The usual method is to have the skirt of the wool fabric, with basque or loose blouse or smock of the velvet or velveteen in contrasting color. One little frock recently seen combining these two materials had a pleated skirt of tan colored wool jersey, with dark brown middy embroidered in red and tan wool.

THE HISTORY OF YOUR NAME

(By Philip Francis Nowlan.)

WALDO

RACIAL ORIGIN—Gothic, or ancient French.
SOURCE—A given name.

Here is a family name which does not sound English, a name born by Ralph Waldo Emerson, and though it has been settled in England as a family name for many centuries, it is not an English name.

It is traceable to no given names among either the Anglo-Saxon or the Norman French, nor to any other likely source in the language of those peoples. On the other hand, it is traceable genealogically, through the settling in England of a family bearing that name to a certain merchant of Lyons named Peter Waldo, who in the twelfth century attracted considerable attention for his denial of the church's doctrine of transubstantiation and his translation of the gospels into French, or rather the Provencal language.

With this clue it is not difficult to trace his family name (and this was just the period when family names were beginning to come into existence) to a given name among the Goths. Comparatively little is known of the language of this Teutonic race which dominated all southern Europe after smashing the Roman empire, for both the language and the customs of the Goths gave way rapidly before the superior civilization which they conquered and settled themselves into. Their nomenclature, however, persisted, exerting a powerful influence on that of modern France and Italy.

The given name in question apparently was derived from the Gothic word "Valdan," and signified "one who rules." Names ending in "o" were as typical of the Goths and the Franks as those ending in "a" were of the Anglo-Saxons.

PURITY - QUALITY - ECONOMY
With the increased cost of labor and materials due to war conditions, it is not reasonable to suppose that a really first class baking powder can be made and sold at the old prices. Rather than sacrifice the quality of
MAGIC BAKING POWDER
we found it necessary to make slight increases in price during the war period. Even though Magic Baking Powder may cost a few cents more than the ordinary kinds it is still by far the most economical baking powder on the market to-day when purity, strength and leavening qualities are taken into consideration.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME BY THORNTON W BURGESS

CHATTERER'S GREAT SURPRISE.

Surprises are both good and bad;
Don't let the latter make you mad.
—Rusty the Fox Squirrel.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel snickered gleefully as he scampered over to the place where he had seen Rusty the Fox Squirrel hide a fat hickory nut under the leaves in the Green Forest. He snickered because he thought himself very smart to have so soon discovered where Rusty was hiding those fat hickory nuts and because he was planning to take every one of them for himself.

"He has been busy all morning, so there must be a lot of them in that hole," thought Chatterer. "I won't take one now. I'll just have a peep at them and then go away so that he will not suspect anything. If he doesn't suspect anything he'll fill that hole and then leave them until he needs them in the winter. He'll get a little surprise then. Yes sir, Rusty will get a little surprise then. There won't be a nut there, and he won't know what has become of them. I won't have to hunt for those nuts among the dead leaves; he is doing that for me, only he doesn't know it. This will be the easiest harvest I've ever known." Shatterer snickered again.

By this time he had reached the place where Rusty had hidden that fat nut. Chatterer hurriedly pulled away the leaves expecting to find the entrance to a hole. There was no hole there! Chatterer looked both surprised and puzzled. "I am sure this is the very spot," he muttered. He pulled away a few more leaves and then he noticed a little soft place in the ground as if the surface of the earth had been disturbed recently.

Chatterer began to dig hurriedly. Almost at once he felt something hard. "Ha, I thought so!" exclaimed Chatterer, and brought out a fine fat hickory nut. It had been buried just beneath the surface of the soft soil. He tossed it aside and dug faster than ever. He wanted to get to the opening to that hole he was sure was there somewhere, and he wanted to do it before Rusty should return.

But though Chatterer made the dirt fly he found no hole and he found no more fat hickory nuts. That one was the only one. Quite forgetting that he didn't want to be caught there by Rusty, he lost his temper, which, you know, he loses quite easily, and scattered the leaves this way and that way, all the while scolding as only he can.

Then, a rustle of leaves reminding him that Rusty might be returning, he hastily scraped the dirt and leaves back, seized the fat hickory nut and scampered back to his hiding place in the top of a hemlock tree. Once there he began to think, a thing he had been too excited to do before, and he remembered that his other big cousin, Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel, has a habit of burying nuts under leaves and in the soft earth, putting only one in a place. Could it be that Rusty the Fox Squarrel had the same habit? It looked very much that way.

But even if he did he must have a storehouse, too. The thing for him to do now was to spy some more and try to find that storehouse. He just couldn't and wouldn't believe that Rusty hid every nut he found in the leaves or ground. No, sir, he wouldn't believe that. There must be a storehouse somewhere, and he would find it. Why didn't Rusty come back there? He had had plenty of time to go over to the big hickory tree and return to bury another fat nut. It must be that he was taking those nuts somewhere else. Chatterer hurried back through the treetops to the hiding place from which he had first watched Rusty. Sure enough, there was Rusty going in quite another direction.

GAS HEATER.

The attractions of a city over a country home are not to be found in the opportunities for amusement, so much as in the comforts. Of these, an abundant supply of hot water is by no means the least.

There are two kinds of gas heater, one which requires to be lighted, and an automatic one, which is in action when the water pressure is on. As no fool proof automatic machine can be made, and as it takes some education to make every member of a household appreciate that the gas burns as soon as the water is turned on, and goes on burning until it is turned off, the second kind may be rather expensive.

The first kind produces hot water just as surely and may be turned off as soon as the needed amount of water is hot.

If a gas heater is put in the kitchen, attached to the boiler installed with the coal range, to be used when the range is not in use, or if it is attached to the tank connected with the furnace, hot water may be had wherever there is a hot water faucet in the house, in the kitchen, laundry, or bathroom. An instantaneous heater may be placed in the bathroom, merely to heat water for the bath.

The cost of a gas heater is not very great, if people are careful to run it only when it is needed, and to shut it off promptly. It is quick and very useful, for hot water is a convenience greatly to be desired in any home.

UNSEEN HANDS

By ROBERT ORR CHIPPERFIELD

Author of "The Second Bullet"

SYNOPSIS.

The Chalmers family, Christine, Nan, Eugene and Randall, with their stepfather, Richard Lorne, and their Aunt Effie, are living in a state of terror since their mother died through pricking her hand with a needle and their eldest brother Julian slipped and cut his jugular vein while shaving. All feel there is some evil influence at work, and when a heavy picture crashes down over a desk which Eugene had just left and they find that the strands of the steel cable supporting it have been almost severed by hand, even the family solicitor, Samuel Titheridge, is impressed. He agrees to stay with Lorne and keep watch. Suddenly, during the night, they hear a mysterious grating, gnawing sound. Next morning Richard Lorne has a narrow escape from being killed when the staircase collapses. Titheridge finds that two workmen have come to hang a picture, but have been told by the butler, Peters, that it is a mistake. Suspicious of Peters, Titheridge goes to the police and secures the services of Sergeant Odell, to whom he tells the story. Odell discovers that the staircase had been half sawn through. Meanwhile Peters, the butler, disappears. Odell proceeds to cross-question Eugene, and during the latter's absence from his room finds a letter signed "Parley Drew," which suggests that the writer is organizing the murders. Drew has been making love to Eugene's sister. Odell renews his cross-questioning when Eugene returns to the room. He gathers up from the fire place in this room wood ashes which he is convinced are the residue of the sawdust missing from the staircase that had been sawn through. Eugene protests that he knows nothing about any ashes save those caused by the burning of letters. Odell interviews Nan Mills, Gerda, the Swiss maid, Jane, the housemaid, and Marcelle, the cook. The latter tells him that the night before Julian died he and his brother Gene had a terrible quarrel. The two workmen sent to re-hang the picture tell him the wire was not cut, but looks as if it had been chewed through. Odell then visits Dr. Adams, who attended Mrs. Richard Lorne when she died from a needle-prick, and cross-examines him, but discovers nothing sensational.

"I said 'at first,' Sergeant. Let us suppose, then, that Mrs. Lorne is really suffering from infection; let us suppose also that the would-be murderer or his confederate is right at hand, a trusted member of the household. As I remember, Doctor Adams was not called in until the third day and by that time the infection spread well up into the lower arm. One of his first steps would be to make an incision near the original puncture for drainage. What if after this was accomplished and the first treatment had been finished but before the patient had begun to respond to it, the dressing had been removed and the incision reinfected? What if this were repeated until death ensued? Mrs. Lorne would have died from septicemia, true; but she would have been murdered as surely as if she had been stabbed through her heart."

"By George, I believe you have hit it, Doctor," Odell exclaimed. Then a shade of doubt crossed his face, to be as quickly suppressed, and he added hastily, "I'm going to act upon that theory at once. Thank you for giving me so much of your time."

"You will keep me informed of your progress?" the specialist asked as they shook hands.

"Surely; and you will hear from the medical examiner about the autopsy. Thank you again sir, and good afternoon."

In the street once more, Odell turned his footsteps in the direction of the Meade house. The specialist's theory was ingenious; but had it been a wholly disinterested one? If it could be proven it would, of course, exculpate himself and his colleagues from all censure in the matter of their diagnosis; but there seemed on the face of it to be insuperable difficulties in the path of such an hypothesis. One or the other of the two nurses must have been constantly on guard, and Miss Meade had scarcely left her sister's bedside. Not even she would have been permitted to change the dressings; that could only have been done by Doctor Adams himself or the nurses—

The nurses! He made a mental note to learn all that he could about them at the earliest possible moment; but meanwhile the afternoon was advancing and much remained to be done before he reported to the captain of his bureau that night. Much that had occurred in the house of mystery that day had been inexplicable to him, and there were so many loose threads to be gathered together that he felt as if he were attempting to solve four problems at once. A score of questions were teeming in his brain, and not the least insistent of them was the significance of Gerda's hint about insanity.

When he reached the house, Jane, who admitted him, informed him that the doctor had come and gone. He started toward the drawing-room but hearing the low murmur of voices paused.

"Who is here?" he asked.

"Oh, just Mr. Tad—Mr. Traymore, sir. The young gentleman who comes to see Miss Nan from next door," Jane simpered meaningly. "I'll call Miss Meade."

"No. Tell Miss Chalmers, the elder Miss Chalmers, that I would like to see her in the library at once, please."

"She's layin' down," Jane observed somewhat doubtfully. "She had hysterics all the morning and she told Gerda that she wasn't to be disturbed now by anybody."

"Take my message nevertheless." There was a sharp note of authority in his tone, and Jane scurried away.

The temperamental Miss Chalmers was not to be so easily bullied, however, and it was a good twenty minutes before she trailed languidly into the library with an air of injured innocence. Her lower lip thrust out sullenly and there was a gathering storm in her eyes, but the detective gave no heed.

"Sit down, pease, Miss Chalmers," he began in a brisk business-like way. "You informed your family last night at the dinner-table, I believe, that you were going to leave the house today. Why?"

"That is my own affair. She ignored the chair to which he had motioned and stood very straight before him. "I do not choose to discuss it."

"But I do. You will be good enough to reply to my questions or I shall be compelled to resort to stronger measures than this informal interview." He paused and then added: "The attitude which you are taking in this matter might be construed to signify that you did not wish the person who has made these attempts on the lives of your stepfather and your brother to be apprehended."

Cissie drew a deep, convulsive breath, and her little fists clenched.

"What do you mean?" she demanded through set teeth. "How dare you say such hateful things to me? I have nothing to tell you that would be of any help in your investigation; and I resent your attitude, your impertinence!"

Her voice was shaking now and her voice broke into tears of hurt pride.

"I am very sorry," Odell's tones were coolly ironical, "but my dear young lady, you will find the attitude of my superiors far more impertinent if you compel me to take you before them."

She sniffed in disdain and dried her tears.

"You would not dare!" she scoffed.

"If you tried to charge me with knowing anything about the dreadful things that have been going on here—"

"I should bring no charge. You would merely be compelled to tell the truth. Your personal antagonism will not be permitted to interfere with the performance of my duty. Miss Chalmers, why did you announce your intention of leaving your home?"

"I didn't," she denied. "I said I would go and visit a girl friend for a few days; the atmosphere of this house had gotten on my nerves."

She spoke in a more subdued tone, but still sullenly.

"Then why did you tell your aunt this morning that you would not go near any of your friends and drag them into the notoriety of this case? Which was the falsehood, Miss Chalmers?"

"Neither. I—I changed my mind this morning, that is all."

"Where had you finally decided to go?"

Cissie hesitated and at length stammered:

"To—to a hotel. I would go anywhere to get away from this house. We are none of us safe here."

"Miss Chalmers, what precipitated your decision last night? Was it the outburst which your younger brother made at the table, the outburst in which he voiced the vague fears you had all entertained for the past week?"

"I suppose so," she shuddered. "It sounded so awful put into words. Of course, we are dreadfully sorry for Rannie—you have heard that he is crippled?—and we try to be patient with his moods; but you haven't seen him, you don't know him, Sergeant Odell. He is so bitter, and his tongue is so ruthless, that you just can't have any real affection for him. I know it must sound disloyal to speak so of one's own brother; but he doesn't care for anyone. His only pleasure is to torment and wound others. Last night father threatened again to have him put away in a sanitarium; and I wish he would. Aunt Effie is the only one who has opposed that."

"Miss Meade is very much attached to him?"

"Well, I suppose she ought to be." Cissie shrugged. "It is her fault that he is a cripple."

"Miss Meade's fault?" Odell asked casually.

"Yes." There was a little vindictive gleam in her round blue eyes. "She dropped him when he was a baby, and he became a hunchbacked. She has simply idolized him ever since—remorse, I imagine—and spoiled him dreadfully. None of the rest of us have ever counted with her, and she'd go through fire and water for him."

"Why did your stepfather suggest placing him in a sanitarium? Is his mind affected?" Odell's tone was still casual, and his eyes appeared to be fastened upon the paperweight which he was balancing between this fingers, but in reality he was watching each changing expression of the girl's face.

"No; I would scarcely say that." She smiled scornfully. "He is quite the most brilliant member of the family, but his cleverness is all warped, somehow. Father meant a sanitarium for cripples out in the country; for Rannie is really an invalid, you know. He spends most of his time in bed, with Aunt Effie nursing him and submitting to his abuse. After last night's scene when he mocked us all I—I felt as if my nerves just wouldn't stand any more."

"You were saying much the same thing to your aunt in the hall this morning, and when she stopped you she said she wished it had been you. What did she mean by that remark, Miss Chalmers?"

"That it had been me she dropped instead of Rannie, I imagine," Cissie flashed resentfully. "Aunt Effie is always like that when you say one word against Rannie."

"You say he is an invalid. Is he weak physically?"

"His spine troubles him a great deal at times, and he cannot walk very far; but he has tremendous strength in his hands and arms. He used to pinch us black and blue when he was in a temper as a child." Cissie halted suddenly, and when she spoke again there was a rising note of apprehension in her tones. "Why are you asking me all these questions about him, Sergeant Odell? Surely you don't suspect him of—of—"

"Do you, Miss Chalmers?" He shot the question at her; and she tossed her head indignantly, but not before he had seen her quail.

"Certainly not! How dare you insinuate such a thing! My brother a—a murderer? You must be mad!" Her voice rose shrilly and then broke, and she sank into her chair and covered her face with both hands. "Oh, I don't know what to think! Some one of us must know! I am afraid—afraid!"

Mother Twice Saved from Blood-Poison!

The unique power of Zam-Buk is well demonstrated by the case of Mrs. S. Cliff, of Melette, S.D. Here, once again, are facts which convincingly prove that pain, inflammation and blood-poison cannot withstand Zam-Buk's powerful antiseptic healing.

Mrs. Cliff, says, "I gashed my hand severely between the fingers with a piece of tin. The wound, though carefully tended to, somehow became infected and poisoned. I had doctor's treatment and used numerous prescribed remedies but the swelling and throbbing spread right up into the shoulder.

"Hearing splendid reports of Zam-Buk I determined to try it. So long as I live I shall remember the wonderful relief experienced the first time I used the balm. Under the cooling and soothing influence of Zam-Buk, pain disappeared, the swelling reduced rapidly and I was at last able to sleep."

"Day by day there was vast improvement and, when every trace of inflammation and poisonous matter had been drawn out of the wound by Zam-Buk, perfect healing resulted.

"Again when laid up with my leg, swollen and inflamed from the knee down, there was nothing to touch the trouble but Zam-Buk. This wonderful balm soon put me on the sure road to recovery. To-day my faith in Zam-Buk is such, that never again would I be without it." 50c. of all dealers.

Equally splendid for Eczema, Ringworm, Piles, Abscesses, Cuts, Burns, Scalds, & Sprains. SAMPLE FREE If 1c. stamp (return postage) is enclosed send to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

CARSON FAVORS ULSTER HOUSE AS BETTER PLAN

Only Way to Avoid Being Pawns in Future

DESIRES PEACE

However, Sees No Abatement of Demand for Republic

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(Star Cable.) Copyright. — Ex-Premier Asquith's demand that the Government should "Call off the dogs of civil war in Ireland," and the Archbishop of Tuam's plea for "a truce of God," have drawn the following reply from Edward Carson: "I have seen suggestions from various quarters that there should be what is called a truce of God in Ireland. I can say, so far as the Ulster people are concerned, there is no community which more earnestly desires peace and permanent settlement. They have been for many years retarded in their progress and unable to develop their business through constant political uncertainty regarding their ultimate position in respect of government. They have been bandied about as pawns in a long political controversy in which their only desire was and is that they should be left alone to enjoy the prosperity they have built up under the Union.

"In nineteen fourteen, they were willing to accept as settlement the exclusion of the six counties from the Home Rule Act of that year. Again, in nineteen sixteen, at the request of the Government and in the interest of the prosecution of the war, they were willing to have it brought into force, provided they were excluded. When the present bill was brought in, the accepted idea of Parliament for the six counties and a southern parliament, with a council representing both parliaments, which should have power by agreement to bring about unity at any time when the two peoples had showed themselves efficient in Government. They would have preferred exclusion, but now felt that the only way they can avoid being pawns in the political controversies of the future is that they should be allowed to set up their own parliament and proceed with their business in peace and without interference. Too little attention had been paid to the provisions in regard to this council. The council really means that the two parliaments, representing the whole of Ireland, can at any moment, by agreement, themselves determine they will have a united Ireland. This is the only possible method of bringing about a real and genuine unity."

SINN FEINERS MARKING TIME.

After declaring that such unity can never be forced upon either Irish element, Sir Edward proceeds: "Personally I have seen no abatement of the demand for a republic, which has been proclaimed by Sinn Feiners, who hold eighty per cent of the representation in Ireland. Certain bishops are proclaiming that a further effort should come from the Government. But whom is it to come to? Who is to negotiate? The Prime Minister has frequently declared he is prepared to negotiate with anybody who can speak with authority for the masses of the Irish people. So far, he has received no response. The continuance of assassination is alienating more and more every day the north from the south, and making more difficult any settlement in the immediate future. And the cry is raised, 'withdraw the dogs of civil war.' Those who give utterance to such sentiments are really suggesting that the aggressors are the government. As a matter of fact the Government is only, after a long period of outrage, compelled to take drastic action to protect the lives and properties of unoffending people. If politicians in this country of all parties, would make it clear to the Irish that it is the duty of all governments to resist unflinchingly the methods of Sinn Feiners, it would probably do more than anything else to show the people of Ireland how utterly futile it is to continue their present methods which are leading the country into desolation and misery."

U. S.—JAPANESE RELATIONS.

TOKIO, Nov. 19.—There is a distinct improvement in the situation between Japan and the United States relative to the California controversy and officials evidently believe real progress is being made in the negotiations between the two countries.

GRANT MORDEN IN ROLE OF CRITIC

Accuses Chamberlain of Harming Britain's Industrial Position

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(Star Cable by Windermere. Copyright).—Chancellor Chamberlain found another severe Canadian critic in last night's debate in the House of Commons. Grant Morden charged him with being largely responsible for the unfortunate British industrial position, necessitating large public works to relieve the unemployed. His excess profits duty was the "most pernicious tax ever levied on the commercial classes in this country."

The seven per cent bank rate for which the Treasury was responsible, "is an artificial rate. Indeed, money is being freely loaned in Lombard street at five per cent."

There were other causes of unemployment. Thus, the British port authorities, including London, Mersey, and the Clyde, were a disgrace to Britain. "I was on the Clyde the other day when they were discharging 500 tons of ore per day, at a cost of approximately three shillings two pence per ton. Last summer one of our Canadian ships discharged 13,000 tons in two and three-quarter hours. That ship would have been nearly a month discharging in the Clyde. In Canada we load a ton of freight, carry it for thousands of miles, discharge it for less than four shillings and make money. In the United Kingdom the discharge costs practically this amount."

Half the British iron and steel production comes from foreign ores, yet the greatest deposit of ore in the world lies in our own Empire within a few days distance. Unless that ore can be put down here at a reasonable rate, Britain's great furnaces and mills must be starved. Mr. Morden also pleaded for a reformed trade unionism based on payment by results.

KILL EACH OTHER IN PISTOL DUEL

State Police Officer and Union Organizer Engage in Battle

WILLIAMSON, W. V., Nov. 19—Private Ernest L. Rippley, of the State Police, and William Hatfield, said to be a union organizer, killed each other in a pistol fight at Sands, twenty-five miles east of here last night, according to reports received by Captain Brockus, commander of the troopers on duty in the Mingo coal strike zone.

The trooper met Hatfield on the railroad tracks at Sands, when, according to reports, the latter drew a pistol and ordered Rippley to hold up his hands. When the trooper complied, the report said, Hatfield started shooting.

Rippley immediately answered the fire and in the exchange of shots both men were killed.

VISCOUNTESS FALKLAND DEAD

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The death is announced of Viscountess Falkland.

Viscountess Falkland was the wife of Byron Plantagenet Cary, twelfth Viscount Falkland and twelfth Lord Cary, representative peer for Scotland. Prior to her marriage she was Miss Mary Reade, daughter of Robert Reade, of New York.

THINK CANADIAN WHEAT TOO HIGH

British Stocks Believed Heavy—Business Going to Australia and India

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(Star Cable by Windermere. Copyright)—The Wheat Commission declines to disclose the amount of stocks held, but these are believed to be heavy.

A number of merchants have informed The Montreal Star that the Government is working off wheat stocks bought at high prices. All business is going to Australia and India at 117 shillings per quarter delivered London. There is some demand in Argentine futures. Canadian stock is too dear.

The Wheat Commission will wait until May, if necessary, and will insist on buying in the cheapest market. The continental demand is limited, owing to the good crops. There is no demand from Greece or Serbia. Rumania is selling. Italy is buying in small amounts, owing special credit arrangements made in New York. The French crop is estimated at 239,000,000 bushels, leaving 75,000,000 which it will be necessary to import.

The French Wheat Commission here has already purchased one-quarter of its requirements, chiefly in New York, leaving a remainder, under 60,000,000 bushels, to be purchased for the coming year.

PRISONERS BEAT UP "DRY" AGENT

Illinois Convicts Objected to Revenuer Who Killed Man

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Nov. 19.—S. Glenn Young of East St. Louis, prohibition enforcement officer, was incarcerated here on an indictment returned at Madison county charging him with murder, and jail attaches had put Young in the 'bull pen' of the jail until a writ of habeas corpus could be secured for his release. While he was awaiting this writ, a number of the prisoners gave him a severe beating and were throwing hot water upon him when jail officials came to his rescue. Young was indicted for the murder of Luke Vuckovic, on Nov. 6 at Madison, Ills., during a raid upon the Vuckovic home in search of whiskey.

PROTEST IMPORTATION OF U.S. AUTO TIRES

British Board of Trade Member Says English Industry Stagnant

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Sharp protests have been entered in the British House of Commons against the continued importation of large quantities of United States manufactured automobile tires to Great Britain in the face of virtual stagnation in the English rubber industry, according to advices to the Department of Commerce.

Thousands of British rubber workers are now idle, although 90,000 tires were imported from the United States during September alone. An inquiry was promised.

DECLARES U.S. MUST ABANDON IDEA OF SCRAPPING LEAGUE

Lord Robert Says Present League Can Be Modified to Suit U.S.

STUMBLING BLOCK

America's Acceptance of British Six Votes Biggest Objection

GENEVA, Nov. 19 (Star Cable by Henry Wales, Chicago Tribune. Copyright.)—Lord Robert Cecil, who is credited with being the author of the League of Nations covenant and who is representing South Africa at the Geneva Assembly, gave the Chicago Tribune the following interview regarding the entrance of America into the League.

"America must abandon the idea that the rest of the world is willing to scrap the present League and join with her to organize a new one. It will never be possible to get together again these forty-two nations for the formation of another League. Also there is no reason for such action as the present organization can be modified so that it can embrace all the amendments and reservations which the United States demands.

"The biggest stumbling block to the acceptance of the League by the United States, I believe, is the question of six votes for the British Empire, but Great Britain cannot afford to quarrel with the Dominions.

"Regarding the Monroe Doctrine, that question has already been settled. Article number twenty-one of the covenant mentions specifically and fully protects this document. Article Ten which created such an uproar in America is innocuous if read carefully. It states the League guarantees the political integrity of its members, which means that the League discountenances aggressive force and would not countenance invasion. Article Ten does not guarantee perpetually the frontiers of every country as they exist today. It provides for changes and alterations by peaceful methods and not by war.

"I do not know if Mr. Harding endorses Root's conception of an association transforming the League into an International Court, but the time for such a plan is not ripe yet. Maybe it will be sometime in the future, but at present no country, and least of all the United States, which is ready to abandon its sovereign rights and surrender all to an international court of law.

"We would like to know the Republican idea regarding the League. Just what do they want? I am sure that there would be no difficulty in satisfying the American demands and that by making certain changes the present League would be acceptable to the United States. But it is a waste of time for Americans to think that this League could be scrapped and all nations go to America to form a new League."

ELECTION ON JEWISH SABBATH.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 19. — New Year's Day, 1921, falls on Saturday. As it is also municipal election day in Toronto, as well as the Jewish Sabbath, there is considerable discussion among the people of that faith as to whether they should cast their ballots. There are between seven and thousand Jewish voters in Toronto.

U.S. DENIES PACT AGAINST MEXICO

Officials Believe Treaty One Circulated by Germany During War

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19.—The text of a treaty alleged to have been signed in Washington in May, 1917, by Great Britain, the United States and France, outlining their course of action in Mexico and South America, was published yesterday by La Vanguardia.

The important clauses of the treaty, according to the newspaper, provided for recognition of the Monroe Doctrine by Great Britain and France, and priority for United States rights in Mexico; Great Britain agreed not to permit Japan to acquire territory in Central or South America or on the Pacific Ocean.

Extensive provision was made for the development of Tampico oil fields for the benefit of the three nations, La Vanguardia asserts, even to the extent of furnishing troops in case such action should be necessary to provide a continuous flow of oil, the United States agreeing to the priority of British rights to such fuel supplies.

U.S. DENIES PACT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Publication in Mexico City yesterday of what purported to be the text of a treaty between the United States, Great Britain and France, brought prompt official denial from the State Department of the existence of any such pact.

SCOTLAND YARD TO QUESTION VANDERLIP

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The United States Embassy here was notified yesterday that Washington D. Vanderlip, California oil and mining engineer, who recently was in Moscow, will be closely questioned by the Intelligence Department of Scotland Yard on his arrival in London if the present plans of the police are carried out. The notification was given as a matter of courtesy and is not given in like cases of lesser importance.

The interrogation will not necessarily be made with the view of taking action against Mr. Vanderlip's presence in England, it was said, but with the intention of ascertaining exactly what his activities had been in Russia in view of the many conflicting reports published in London. Such interrogation, it was pointed out, would be in conformity with the recently adopted attitude of the British Government of discouraging travel between Russia and England.

GREAT BRITAIN NOT TO SEIZE BATUM

Foreign Office Denies Rumor Emanating from Moscow

LONDON, Nov. 19. — The Foreign Office yesterday denied that Great Britain had any intention of seizing Batum or other ports on the Black Sea.

TCHITCHERIN NOTE.

LONDON, Nov. 19. — A wireless message from Moscow today says that George Tchitcherin, the Foreign Minister, has received information that the British, with the assistance of Georgia, intend to seize the Black Sea port of Batum.

M. Tchitcherin protests to the British Foreign Minister against the seizure of Russian towns and declares that the seizure of Batum would constitute a direct threat against Soviet Russia and its ally, Soviet Aizerbaijan.

EXPLAINS CANADIAN U.S. BOUNDARY LINE

Ambassador Davis Makes it Subject of Address at Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, England, Nov. 19—Speaking yesterday before the Birmingham and Midland Institute, of which he is president, the United States Ambassador, John W. Davis, went into lengthy details to explain the historical incidents and present conditions of the boundary between Canada and the United States. The Ambassador not only referred to the oft-repeated symbol of the unguarded boundary as a monument to British-American friendship, but attempted to drive the thought home by exhaustively recounting the events which have led up to the present situation at least as far as Canadians and the people of the United States are concerned.

BRINDELL INDICTED ON FURTHER CHARGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A further indictment charging extortion, was found yesterday against Robert P. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council of New York by the joint legislative committee investigating the "building trust." After pleading not guilty to the amended indictment alleging attempted extortion of $25,000 and the new charge, Brindell was granted his liberty on the $100,000 bail furnished Wednesday.

POLISH PASSPORTS WERE FRAUDULENT

Investigation Proves Vises Forged for Canada, U.S. and Mexico

BERLIN, Nov. 19—Investigation here has disclosed that many Polish passports for Canada, the United States and Mexico were fraudulent and the vises forged. The disclosure followed the investigation into the recent labor troubles in Belgium, which the authorities there expressed the belief were fomented by Russian agitators.

The Belgian Government instituted an inquiry here. Information obtained by the British passport office in Berlin also led to the discovery that numerous holders of Polish passports vised for the United States were seeking to enter England on the representation that their passage had been paid on liners from English ports. Forged receipts for passage are said to have been shown.

The letter heads and rubber stamps of steamship companies have been closely imitated.

The British passport office refuses vises now for transit through England unless the holders produce steamship tickets.

It is stated that about fifty arrests have been made in Belgium in connection with the fraud, but the Belgian consulate is not willing to discuss the matter in case wholesale arrests should be necessary. The destination of most of the emigrants who have gone to Belgium, it is understood is Mexico from which country they think they will be able to enter the United States and Canada.

The undesirability of many persons on account of their political views is known to have caused the Belgian Government concern in fear that these persons might show an inclination to remain in Belgium. All the passport offices in Berlin are exercising the utmost caution, but the authorities say it is virtually impossible to weed out all the undesirables. William Coffin, the United States consul-general, estimated that about 1,000,000 persons will have passed through European ports for the United States by the end of the year, a majority of them from Poland.

POLISH GAIN BY TREATY.

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—(By Mail)—Poland by the Peace Treaty with Russia is enlarged by the addition of 52,000 English square miles with 4,000,000 inhabitants. According to the Peace Treaty of Versailles, Poland measured 36,500 English square miles and had a population of 24,000,000.

PLAN TO SETTLE U.S.-JAP DISPUTE

American and Japanese Ambassadors Drawing Up Scheme

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (United Press)—A plan for settlement of the American-Japanese controversy probably will be reached after two more conferences between representatives of the two countries, it was stated authoritatively.

A conference between Ambassador Shidehara and American Ambassador Morris to Japan was held Wednesday night. It was reported they made progress toward the settlement. The plan is understood to include:

A treaty between the United States and Japan guaranteeing favored nation treatment and protection of rights to Japanese in this country and Americans in Japan, which would be held to set aside the California discriminatory land laws against Japanese.

Amendments to the "gentlemen's agreement" to make absolute the prohibition of Japanese immigration to this country, to meet the stand of the United States against continued influx of Japanese here. Japan voluntarily undertakes to restrict immigration here under the "gentlemen's agreement."

WANT HABEAS CORPUS WRIT FOR DRAINVILLE

Mr. Justice Bruneau reserved judgment yesterday in the Practice Court on a petition presented by Leopold Houle acting on behalf of Edward Drainville, for a writ of habeas corpus directed against G. S. Malepart, warden of the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, where Drainville is now detained on a conviction and sentence pronounced against him by Judge Mulvena, magistrate for the St. Francis district.

Mr. Houle based his demand for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that Drainville was never legally tried. The documents produced in the case show that the prisoner was condemned by the Court of Special Sessions, a tribunal which according to petitioner's counsel is non-existent. Mr. Houle claimed that the Court of Sessions of the Peace existed in Montreal and Quebec by virtue of a special law, but that it did not exist elsewhere. Further, it would appear by the sentence that Drainville was condemned for forging a cheque of $400 at Danville, whereas declares Mr. Houle the crime, if committed, was committed at Richmond.

Upon Mr. Justice Bruneau enquiring if the Crown was represented, Mr. Houle stated he had served due notice upon J. Nicol, Crown Prosecutor for the district of St. Francis at Sherbrooke.

N. K. Laflamme, K.C., appearing on behalf of Warden Malepart, said it was the duty of the Attorney General of the province to appear in the present case. It was by mere chance that he had met Warden Malepart this morning who had asked him to represent him before the court. Mr. Laflamme argued that Magistrate Mulvena had jurisdiction to sit and hear criminal indictable offences for the district of St. Francis; whether the documents showed in their printed forms that petitioner was tried before the Court of Special Sessions or not did not matter judicially; Magistrate Mulvena in his capacity of district magistrate for St. Francis had jurisdiction to pass on the case. Mr. Laflamme also contended that error in the place where the crime would have been committed did not matter; whether it was in Richmond or Danville, both these places were under territorial jurisdiction of Magistrate Mulvena.

BED-SPREADS MISSING.

Four sailors of the S. S. Kamarina, accused of stealing eight bed-spreads from the ship, appeared before Judge Leet in the court of arraignment yesterday. Enquete was set for November 24 in the case of three of the men, George Lambert, Edward Daniel Gallahar and Benjamin Hattwood. The fourth man, Frank Kerry, was acquitted. The arrests were made by Detectives Laberg, Weston and Desjardins.

CHANGE IN DOUBLE INCOME TAXATION

Recently issued information regarding income tax payments show that the question of unfair taxation, of those whose business takes them frequently across the Atlantic, those who derive income from English companies, or who have places of residence on either side, has been considered by H. M. Government.

In a memorandum headed "Income Tax for the Year 1920-21" the following paragraph with reference to this is found:

"(14). Relief is granted, under certain conditions, in the case of a taxpayer who has paid, or is liable to pay, United Kingdom Income Tax on any part of his income. Further particulars regarding the provision of the present Act, which replace the provisions of earlier Acts, will be supplied by H. M. Inspector of Taxes, Duchy Rooms, Somerset House, London, W. C. 2, upon application, to any person interested who has not already received relief to which he is entitled (e.g. through the company through which he derives dividends on which Dominion income tax has been paid)."

If You Had a "Sonora"—

How easy it would be to entertain your friends! What delightful dances you could have—dreamy waltzes, fascinating fox trots, charming one-steps.
If YOU had a Sonora how filled with joy would be each long Winter evening!
The "Sonora" makes homes cheerier, more inviting for each member of the family.

THE INSTRUMENT OF QUALITY

Sonora

CLEAR AS A BELL

The Sonora possesses all the strong features individual to other Phonographs. But its TONE is supreme, due largely to the employment of an all-wooden tone chamber.
Many manufacturers use metal or a combination of materials to reduce the cost of sound amplifiers, but the "Sonora" builders were the first to realize that music through metal is always metallic—that only wood can produce perfect quality of tone. The Sonora Sound Amplifier is made entirely of carefully selected and scientifically seasoned wood.
Ask to hear a Phonograph with a metal tone chamber—then hear the Sonora play the same record.

Lam Paid Dearly for Privilege of Selling Cocaine

Lam Sing, of 14 Lagauchetiere street was blithely peddling sniffs of "snow" to drug addicts at the corner of Lagauchetiere and Clark streets. Detectives Fafard and McDonald of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police narcotic squad passed by. Noticing several drug fiends stop and purchase a small package from the Chinaman they became suspicious and requested he sell them a package. This he did for $1, the package just containing enough cocaine for one sniff. They arrested the man and he appeared in the police court where he pleaded guilty. Judge Lanctot sentenced him to pay a fine of $500, on the two charges, one of selling and the other of having cocaine in his possession. Not having the necessary $1,000 Lam will have to go to Bordeaux jail for twelve months.

QUEBEC PREMIER TO TAKE CHAIR

The first "diner-causerie" given by le Club Canadien will be held tonight. The Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of Quebec, will preside, and Fernand Rinfret, M.P., and editor of Le Canada will be the lecturer.

The Hon. Arthur Meighen had been invited to preside at the function, and to be joint honorary president of the club, but he is unable to attend. The Hon. Mr. Taschereau, who shares with the Dominion Premier the honor of honorary-president, then consented to come down to Montreal from Quebec to take the chair.

PREMIER TASCHEREAU EXPRESSES SYMPATHY WITH BRIDGE PROJECT

Although he could not speak of what his colleagues were ready to do in the way of financial assistance Premier Taschereau expressed himself as being in full sympathy with the project of erecting another bridge across the St. Lawrence to connect Montreal with the south shore when a delegation headed by Lord Shaughnessy, waited upon him at noon to-day. Many interests were represented on the deputation which consisted of Lord Shaughnessy, chairman, W. B. Ramsay, vice-chairman, Sir Lomer Gouin, Sir Charles Gordon, W. G. Ross representing the Harbor Commissioners, E. R. Decarie, R. A. Ross, Hon. Geo. Seymour, representing the south shore, A. M. Irvine, Montreal Board of Trade and Col. Hutcheson of the Montreal Tramways Company.

It was the desire of the deputation, it was stated, not to discuss details concerning which there might be some disagreement, but merely to secure the assurance of the sympathy and support of the Quebec Government in the project of a bridge, before taking up the matter with the Dominion Government, which they expected to do at an early date. Premier Taschereau in reply said that he was present representing the Province, and that its belief in the construction of bridges had been well proved by the erection of the Quebec Bridge, which was built at a cost of $5,000,000. Moreover it was no secret that at the coming session of the Legislature a bill would be presented providing for the construction of a bridge at Ile Perrot and that the Province had already been refused Federal Government aid for the project. As to what the Province was preparing to do in the matter of contributing towards a bridge at Montreal he could not say.

He could assure the delegation that it could not finance it alone. He was well aware that what was of benefit to the city of Montreal was to the advantage of the whole province and he would discuss the matter with his colleagues. Large gifts had been made to universities of late, and while they considered the sum thus expended an excellent investment their bankers had warned them not to go too far. He would gladly submit their plea to his colleagues and would discuss the question further at a later meeting.

Lord Shaughnessy introduced the subject by deploring that the only entrance to Montreal was by means of a narrow roadway 13 1-2 feet wide, which had proved a source of inconvenience and of serious danger. Montreal was rapidly approaching the 1,000,000 in population and the advent of the motor car with its increasing tourist traffic between the United States and this province had made it increasingly important that better means of communication should be provided. They had no plan to place before the Premier at the moment, but there was a necessity for a bridge not only to accommodate vehicular traffic, but tramways as well. A tunnel would be useless for sleighs for five months of the year.

W. B. Ramsay then stressed the advantage to the province commercially. It was a bad time to talk of an expenditure of ten millions now, but it could be operated as a toll bridge, for a short time if it were necessary. The Harbor Commissioners had been working on a scheme for some time.

Mr. Ross and Mr. Decarie then spoke. The latter was of the opinion that it was not a provincial matter but of benefit to the whole Dominion. Sir Lomer Gouin also thought the project was an international one, and that both the Provincial and the Federal Governments should contribute especially the latter.

SAGA OF GOLDEN AGE OF ENGLAND

Review of Glorious Days of Elizabeth by G. F. Wright

The address on the Days of Elizabeth, delivered last night by G. F. Wright, before the St. James Literary Society, at its conclusion, was described by William Carlers, F.R.I.B.A., the president of the society, as a saga of noble deeds, inspired by profound thought, distinguished by eloquence and true literary expression and filled with stirring sentiments. It was a lucid review of the great deeds of the Elizabethan age, and a scholarly examination of the causes which underlay the virile exploits and triumphs of literature by which the days of Elizabeth, above all others, are distinguished. At the close of the meeting $300 was subscribed toward the McGill Centennial Fund.

The literature of the Elizabethan period, said Mr. Wright, was the most glorious of all in the English tongue, and its excellence was due to the conditions under which it was conceived. Under the Tudors the union of England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland was almost consummated, the Reformation was accomplished, the foundation of the British Empire was laid, and England played a great part in European policy, striving, as she has ever since, to secure a balance of power among nations. The Tudors worked their will, not as despots, but because they embodied the spirit of nationality of the race they ruled. Of the Tudor line Elizabeth was the most truly regal. Almost a man in woman's clothes, yet with feminine weaknesses, she ever held before her the welfare and independence of England, and never deviated from the path which led to England's greatness.

Mr. Wright sketched in glowing terms the exploits of the bold seamen of Elizabeth's reign. He told of Hawkins' trading expeditions, of the valor with which he picked up the gauntlet of Spain, and of how he discarded trade for more daring adventure; he spoke of Fleming, a buccaneer, but above all an Englishman, who was ready to run his head into a noose in England's service; he told of Drake, that master mariner of England, of how he singed the Spaniard's beard, and of that culminating triumph, the defeat of the Spanish Armada, not dispersed by the winds of heaven, as is sometimes said, but conquered by the audacity, the patriotism and the seamanship of the mariners of England.

It was amid these stirring deeds that the literature of the Elizabethan age was born. Great literary achievements, said Mr. Wright, are accomplished when men's minds are inspired by great events; and great were the events and great the literature of the Elizabethan period. Shakespeare then lived. His works breathe the spirit of the times. He was little concerned with politics, but was engrossed, rather, in personality, in heroic deeds and in patriotism. He could write of King John without mentioning Magna Carta. His outlook was aristocratic; no one had greater contempt for the vulgar herd. In prose the Elizabethan period was less distinguished, but it gave the world the works of Bacon and Hooker.

Canadians, said Mr. Wright, were the heritors of the glorious traditions of the Elizabethan age. They were of the blood of Frobisher, of Hawkins, and of Drake, and of their glorious descendants, Nelson, and the heroes of the Jutland battle. They were kin of that unknown warrior who lay buried in Westminster Abbey, as representative of the men who in the latest crisis in British history manfully played their part.

The address was received with heartiest expressions of appreciation and warm encomiums, the words of the president evidently uttering the sentiments of the audience.

INDUCTION SERVICE FOR REV. S. B. SNOW

Distinguished champions of Unitarianism in the United States as well as Dr. Herbert Symonds, vicar of Christ Church Cathedral, attended the induction service of the Rev. S. B. Snow, held in the Church of the Messiah last evening. Rev. William Wallace Fenn, Dean of the Harvard Divinity School, delivered the induction sermon and tributes from congregation and brother clergy were paid to the new pastor during a service which was described by a former minister of the church, Rev. Frederick R. Griffin, as "a reconsecration of the congregation in the service of the minister."

Murray Williams, president of the Church, extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the congregation with pledges of their earnest co-operation in any course which he might undertake. A personal tribute to Mr. Snow was also paid by the Rev. Herbert Symonds. Rev. John H. Lathrop, of the Church of the Saviour, Brooklyn, offered prayer and special music under the direction of G. M. Brewer, was a feature of the service.

The power of faith in human nature was the subject chosen by Dr. Fenn, who argued that while man should appear to depart from spiritual inspirations and the old moral law, as stars reverted to their courses after temporarily forsaking them, so, according to spiritual law, men and the man would again be produced for the period we are approaching. At the conclusion of the service a reception was given to Mr. and Mrs. Snow in Channing Hall.

FIRE DESTROYS LOADS OF POTATOES

Twenty-five wagons laden with potatoes, the property of the Premier Potato Company were destroyed in a fire discovered at 11:55 o'clock last night in a wooden structure on Murray street owned by the City Ice Company. The blaze was discovered by the night watchman who turned in an alarm and started taking out the horses, fourteen in number which were in the stable. The fire had made considerable headway when the firemen arrived and it was found necessary to send in a second alarm. The sparks and smoke which filled the air attracted a large crowd and a squad of policemen under Lieutenant McCall was sent to maintain order.

The damage done has not been estimated yet but the loss of the City Ice Company is considered complete. The Premier Potato Company lost all its delivery wagons with their contents and harnesses. Slight damage by smoke and water was done to the A. W. Jacobs storehouse and stables where a large quantity of hay and oats was stored.

CHILDREN ATTEND BOY'S FUNERAL

About a hundred and fifty children of the Woodland School, Verdun, attended the funeral of their little schoolmate Alfred Bacon, aged 13, who was run over by an automobile on Monday while playing with two other children in front of the school. The teachers and staff of the school were also present. The funeral left the little victim's late residence, 177 Egan avenue, Verdun, and thence to St. Clement's Church, at the corner of Gordon and Wellington streets, where the burial service was read by Rev. J. D. Ellis and J. F. Morris. Many floral expressions of sympathy have been received by the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bacon, including wreathes from the Protestant Board of School Commissioners and the two Sunday Schools in connection with St. Clement's Church. Alderman Bacon, uncle of the deceased was one of the chief mourners.

GUILTY OF THEFT OF VICTORY BONDS

John Baxter alias Purcell and Desiels Fannings, alias Tommy Collins were yesterday found guilty by Judge Bazin, in the Court of Sessions, of receiving and theft, respectively. The goods involved in the charges were Victory Bonds valued at $1,200.

This theft occurred on September 14, the victim being C. L. Grant, who had rooms at the Y.M.C.A. The bonds, together with some clothes, were in his grip. He went out for a short time, and when he returned the grip was missing. The two accused were arrested by Detective George Lajoie on September 27. The bonds, which had been disposed of to local brokers by the accused were finally recovered from a client of the bank of Montreal, in Quebec City. Sentence will be pronounced on Tuesday.

Frontenac

New Brand

I.P. ALE

¶ In order to meet the wishes of Ale drinkers, the Frontenac Breweries have recently opened an Ale department equipped with the most modern and perfect appliances.

¶ Bearing in mind the high and distinctive qualities of the good old English Ale, our Brewer, a master of the art, has endeavored to combine in our new brand Frontenac I. P. ALE the fulness, winey, snappy and hoppy taste with creamy and fullmouthed qualities so characteristic of English Ales.

¶ And we confidently hope that our ALE will be received by the public as favorably as our previous brands.

WOMEN'S WORK

Pretty Chateau de Ramezay Function; Coming Speakers

For a brief space yesterday afternoon the Chateau de Ramezay took on something of the glory of other days. Lovely ladies resplendent in stiff brocades and graceful paniers with all the witchery of powder and patch, pompadour and clustering curls, who might have stepped from the gilded frames adorning the walls, or graced the court of the Le Grand Monarch trod the floors and entertained representatives of a more modern but much less picturesque age. The occasion was the meeting of the Women's branch of the Antiquarian Society, and the charming representatives of La belle France in the 18th century were an altogether delightful adjunct to a romantic and historical sketch of the Chateau de Ramezay, by Miss Guerin, branch archivist, known to many admirers of her verses as "Bellelle". With a feeling for atmosphere and a dramatic sensitiveness which indicated how thoroughly she was steeped in the traditions of the past Miss Guerin pictured the old chateau standing by, holding in its hands the historic story of Montreal, while the new world hurried on, looking forward to a wonderful future and obliterating as it went the sacred footsteps of the past. Two centuries had the Chateau cradled, standing steadfast while thrones fell. Over 237 years had passed since Claude de Ramezay had stood first upon the steps of his home which combined the glamour of the old world and the wonder of the new—the glorious pictures and costly tapestries which might have adorned the palace of a Louis, and the silken furs from Canadian wilds and boughs of white lilacs which could only have drawn their fragrance from the virgin soil of the New World. Within those walls, councils of war had deliberated, and Indian tribes were met in conference, while at its gates had halted the sleighs of the country habitants, patiently waiting their turn to speak with the governor. Here, like the Grand Monarch, the Governor had held his miniature court, and the walls had echoed to the brilliant conversation, silvery laughter, quips and epigram of that gallant period.

The narration of the part subsequently played by the old chateau in the history of Quebec and the various vicissitudes through which it had passed completed a picture which, in no small measure helped to preserve the historic atmosphere in the minds of all present.

A delightful musical program added to the general interest. An 18th century belle in the person of Mrs. Robert Boronow appropriately opened the proceedings with a "period" selection, "Gavotte and Variations" (J. P. Rameau, 1683-1764), and responded to an enthusiastic encore with another beautifully executed number and a graceful court curtsey. Charming renderings of Cesar Franck's "La Procession" and "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Thurlow Lieurance) concluded an artistic and original program. The 18th century belles who afterwards dispensed tea in an adjoining salon were: Miss Gwyneth Lewis, Miss Margaret Lindsay, Miss Aimee Springett, Miss Josephine Desbarats, Miss Jeanne Boyer, Miss Bertha Taschereau, Miss Edith McIntyre, Miss Cecil Harwood.

ART SOCIETY'S BENEFICENCE.

Very unostentatious but valuable work for ex-service men who are still incapacitated is revealed in the Art Society's report of activities in connection with its summer Fund for Sick Soldiers. The fund was formed with donations from members with the object of supplementing the excellent hospital fare with little luxuries and comforts such as fruit, ice

SHIPPING NEWS

C.P.O.S. WINTER SAILINGS GIVEN

St. John, N.B., is Winter Port With Thirteen Liners

CANADA TO HAMBURG

First Passenger Service to Germany Opened by Cunard

Two announcements have created considerable interest in Montreal shipping circles today, namely the winter sailing list of the C.P.O.S. which was given out today, and the strong possibility of the Cunard Steamship Company taking up the old Hamburg-American line's Canadian trade. Intense interest is being shown in the latter instance since it was admitted to the Star today that the Cunard liner Saxonia would sail from Halifax to Plymouth, Cherbourg, and Hamburg, in December.

The winter sailings of the C.P.O.S. fleet of liners show that St. John, N.B., is to be the C.P.O.S. winter port. During the coming months no less than 13 big liners, combining the Montreal and Quebec summer service, are to be concentrated at the port of St. John, N.B.

The opening of the C.P.O.S. winter service from St. John, N.B., is by the liner Melita, December 10, for Liverpool. The Melita will be followed out of St. John the day following by the Corsican bound for Havre and London. The last sailing out of St. John, N.B., will also be by the Melita, leaving on April 12, 1920. The Montreal shipping season will be opened by the Minnedosa leaving Liverpool April 20th and leaving Montreal May 4th, 1920.

TAKE OIL AT HALIFAX.

There are six of the largest liners assigned to the St. John-Liverpool service, namely the Empress of France, Empress of Britain, Minnedosa, Melita, Victorian, and Metagama.

For London out of St. John there are the Corsican, Scotian, and Tunisian. Two liners are for Antwerp and Southampton, namely the Scandinavian and Grampian, and two for Glasgow, the Pretorian and Sicilian. It was stated today that there will be some switching between the continental and London boats as one or two liners will be dry-docked shortly.

There is still some slight doubt as to the routing of the Empress of Britain, the first oil burner to run to St. John for the C.P.O.S. It is stated that the liner will take fuel oil at Halifax which is equipped with oil tanks. The suggestion that the Empress of Britain would make regular runs to Halifax is not being carried out. She will take fuel there only and perhaps in case of emergency take on a few passengers. This could be done by tender between Halifax and Dartmouth where the oil wharves are stationed.

METAGAMA FOR MONTREAL.

Assurance was given today at the C.P.O.S. headquarters that the Metagama in spite of being 5 days delayed by storms would continue her voyage past Quebec and dock here next Wednesday morning. She is now scheduled to leave Montreal Saturday November 27 along with the Sicilian. These will be the two last liners to leave this port in the 1920 season.

HALIFAX TO HAMBURG.

The first passenger liner service to be opened between Canada and Hamburg direct, since 1914, has come somewhat as a bomb in the end of the season lull. Robert Reford Company officials had no further information to give out today as to the permanence of the new passenger route.

The situation as it stands today is that the 14,600 ton liner Saxonia has been scheduled to call at Halifax and leave that port on December 11th for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Hamburg. Whether this is to be a regular run or not officials would not say at present.

It is a challenge to the shipping companies running between Canada, and France, especially the C.P.O.S., since besides cutting into the Havre service at Cherbourg it also competes against the Antwerp connection by calling at Hamburg.

Bookings for the Saxonia from Halifax will be watched with more than usual interest. Rumors are again current that a cut in the passenger rate will be the result of the next meeting of the Atlantic shipping combine. The gradual return of the Cunard line to pre-war Canadian routes is calculated to bring competition between the shipping companies up to the keenest point.

MANY MONTREALERS LEAVE.

Work was rushed on the C.P.O.S. liner Grampian today to enable the liner to leave about noon for London and Antwerp and Havre. She is being followed tomorrow morning by the C.P.O.S. liner Minnedosa with a heavy passenger list.

On board the Minnedosa will be a fairly heavy contingent of Montrealers. On the passenger list are the following from this city: Mrs. B. M. R. Matthew, Westmount, H. C. P. Creswell, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Newman, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Alexander, and Miss S. Alexander, Miss M. Weston, Longueuil, Miss E. MacCallum, A. Jardine, Mr. Brockington, R. E. Biddeuph, Mrs. and Miss Biddeuph, J. J. Brockington, Colonel J. S. Dennis, Miss Aileen Dennis, Mrs. A. B. Marley-Cass, St. Annes, W. Spencer, G. McEwan, Mrs. C. W. Skinner, D. E. Sprague, Miss B. Hare, Mrs. E. Bisbon, Mrs. A. H. McConnell and child, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nice and family, T. R. Whitehead, F. T. Edwards and W. W. Graham.

Others on board include Major General Thacker, Col. R. F. Redpath, Col. J. Stanley Scott.

C. G. M. M. PASSENGERS.

Canadian Government Merchant Marine ships running to South America are now giving evidence of a growing passenger trade between Canada and South America. The limited passenger accommodation of the C. G. M. M. freighters is all taken up every south-bound voyage. The Star ascertained today that at present two freighters are booked ahead in passenger accommodation namely the Canadian Spinner and Canadian Planter. Both ships run to Rio de Janeiro, Santos, Brazil and Buenos Ayres, also the Canadian Victor which has also first class but limited passenger accommodation.

C. G. M. M. movements by cable and wireless today are as follows:

GIVES UP DATA ON WHISKEY RING

Connecticut Fight Promoter Reveals Startling Details of Profits

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. — (Star Special.) — Reports from Bridgeport, Conn., to the New York Times give startling details of the profits made by one man, ranging from $500,000 to $700,000, an illicit liquor deals in the New England States.

According to the despatches, Joseph Mulvihill, fight promoter, sporting man, unsuccessful candidate for Congress on the wet ticket, has made a full disclosure of his connection with the gigantic bootlegging ring. Mulvihill is the man who made the bid of $300,000 on the Dempsey-Carpentier title battle.

After making a detailed statement, giving many names, and data showing profits of participants, and particularly of one man, whose rake-off may total $700,000, Mulvihill said:

"A week ago I gave to United States District Attorney Smith and Assistant District Attorney Cohen all my evidence. They have been conducting an investigation for the past week and when arrests are made I stand ready with proof to back up the revelations I have made to them."

DOHERTY CORRECTS TRANSLATION ERROR

LONDON, Nov. 19. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — Hon. C. J. Doherty, writing from Geneva to the Times emphasizes the fact that the Canadian delegation to the League of Nations in no way dissented from the proposal to send a message from the League to President Wilson, although speaking for himself, it did dissociate Canada from the proposed tribute to Rosseau. The Canadian delegation much regrets being misrepresented as lacking in respect or courtesy to President Wilson, Mr. Doherty adds. The Minister's letter to the Times was rendered necessary owing to an error in the translation of his speech before the Assembly which had misled several press correspondents.

The Biggest Figure-Job

The biggest figure-job in business is extending and checking invoices, freight bills and other calculating before the entry is made on a ledger page, statement, bill, report or other form.

It means adding, and subtracting, and multiplying, and dividing (for percentages)—and most of the work is thrown away as soon as it's done.

The Burroughs Calculator is very fast—and, of course, accurate. It brings speed and economy to the biggest figure-job in business—any business.

Whenever There's Figuring

Thousands of small businesses use from one to three Calculators each, and scores of large concerns have more than a hundred each—more than two hundred, some of them, and one has more than three hundred.

Some of the Calculator's most-used applications are extending and checking invoices; figuring pay rolls; preparing cost figures; proving freight bills and allowances; making estimates; converting foreign currency; figuring selling prices, profits, etc; totalling sales by classes, calculating interest, checking all sorts of calculations, etc.

The Burroughs representative can give you much more information about the economical use of a calculator in your business. Give him a little of your time when he calls.

RECORDS FOR BANK OF MONTREAL---ANOTHER N.Y. BREAK

EARLY STRENGTH CHECKED WHEN N.Y. SLUMPED

There was comparatively small change in the general condition of the Montreal stock market this morning, both from a price and activity viewpoint. In the early market, there was a stronger feeling, and prices of several issues strengthened sharply, but in all cases these gains were not held. At the close, apart from a couple of good gains, there was little change in the list as compared with the close last night. Tendency towards strength was suppressed by renewal of the Wall street decline.

It is stated that the market is no longer altogether dependent upon the money situation, but now needs some sound incentive for movement. During the decline, brokers' calls for margins have been heavy and in consequence of this it is now stated that the Street is well supplied with funds for market purposes. This situation alone should do much to cheer the market, especially with the decline in prices apparently checked, but it usually takes some time for these constructive features to have effect on an unsteady market and shifting sentiment.

Atlantic Sugar this morning was fairly active ranging down from 23½ to 24, but closed off at 22¼, down 1¼ points. In the first hour Riordon was a feature opening at 154, and advancing rapidly to 161. It did not hold there long and fell back to 155, closing at 156, with a net gain of 2 points. Dom. Glass rallied 2 points to 60, while Laurentide sold at 94, a net advance of 3½ points. Steamships pref. rose 1½ net points at 70, but the common was unchanged at 50 to 49½.

Elsewhere there was not much change in prices. Pulp and papers were fairly strong in the early market, easing again later, with Brompton, 61 to 63¼, but easing back to 61, unchanged; Spanish River, 82 to 84½ to 82¾, up 1; the preferred, 86½ to 89½ to 87, up ¾; Wayagamack, 103 to 104, unchanged; Abitibi, 60½ to 58½, up ¾.

Detroit lost ¾ point at 104 to 103¼; Breweries was firm at 53 to 52¾ to 53½ to 53, unchanged; B. C. Fishing, 35 to ¼, up ½; Carriage Factories at a new low at 30 to 25; Dom. Steel, 47, unchanged; Steel of Can., 60½ to 61 to 60, down 1; Canners, 30, unchanged; Shawinigan, 102, down 1; Can. Cottons, 77½; Ont. Steel, 58; Textile, 112, unchanged; Quebec Ry., 22, up 1; Lyall, 44, down 1; Glass pref., 83 to 82, down 1; and Asbestos pref., 94, unchanged.

PLAN TO PERPETUATE NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Broad street's daily convention of wildly gesticulating, traffic blocking dealers in unlisted securities—the curb stock market—may remain a fixture in the city's financial district it was learned today, despite the fact the New York Curb Market Association has voted to move indoors.

More than 200 dissenters, it was learned, have started organization of a new curb association, whose members hope to continue edifying visitors to the famous money mart with the spectacle of bizarrely-capped, hectic curb representatives, "wirelessing" orders via finger telegraphy to their offices in adjacent buildings.

The only stumbling block to the plan, it is said, is a recent ruling of the city authorities that the curb must go. This ruling is to be appealed.

Who's Who in the Street

J. T. McCall is one of the founders and president of Drummond, McCall & Company, Limited, iron, steel and metal merchants of this city. He is a native of Manchline, Ayershire, Scotland. He was educated in the schools of his native town and subsequently took a course at Glasgow University. He then entered the iron and steel business with a Glasgow firm of iron merchants and there had the foundation of his practical knowledge of that industry, which he has followed to the present day. In 1879 he came to Montreal, and in 1881 in association with the late George E. Drummond, founded the firm of which he is now head. He is identified with numerous iron and steel companies in the Dominion and is a director of the Canada Iron Foundries, Limited.

Holt Renfrew Sales Increased This Year

Announcement is made that sales of Holt, Renfrew & Company, Limited, during the nine months ended October 31 last, show a substantial increase over those for the corresponding period of 1919.

The firm, which operates four stores, at Montreal, Toronto, Quebec and Winnipeg, reports total sales during the nine months amounted to $2,506,768, an increase of $211,960, or approximately 9 per cent. over those for the corresponding period last year. The greatest increase was reported in Montreal, where business grew by some 22 per cent.

Toronto sales of the company grew by 8 per cent, Winnipeg by 7 per cent, and Quebec by about 4 per cent, according to figures just compiled.

The outlook for the balance of the company's fiscal year, which ends on January 31 next, is stated to be entirely satisfactory, the demand for Christmas goods already being in evidence and well up to that of last year.

Post & Flagg—Bears developed new confidence yesterday and will doubtless continue to feel about for weak spots, especially where dividend reductions are rumored.

ANOTHER SMASH IN WALL STREET UPSETS PEOPLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Persistent hammering of stocks shortly before noon today resulted in a bad break in the stock market, carrying United States Steel to a new low for the year at 80⅝, while Baldwin sold under 94, also a new low. Crucible dropped to 92, off 7¼, and Corn Products went to 58.

Calls for extra margins issued by brokerage houses after yesterday's collapse met with indifferent response, it was said, and this evidently precipitated further liquidation.

New low records were made by many speculative issues, especially those embracing the food and affiliated specialties. Before noon additional losses of 2 to 5 points were sustained by Corn Products, American Sugar and Virginia-Carolina Chemical.

Standard industrials withstood the increased pressure for a while, but yielded when Crucible Steel broke 7 points. Shippings were again under the cloud created by the suspension of American International dividends, Mercantile Marine pref., and United Fruit losing 2 to 3 points.

Oils, in which a bitter tendency had been manifested, reacted 1 to 5 points, and early gains of 1 to 3 points in high-grade railway shares were effaced.

Such favorable factors as the 7 per cent. call money rate and another rally in exchange on London received scant attention. Sales to noon approximated 550,000 shares.

The early showing was encouraging, rallies taking place in a number of prominent issues, which gave rise to hopes that the long-looked-for rally had set in. This impression was rudely dispelled before the market was under way an hour, liquidation setting in heavily in such issues as Baldwin, Corn Products, Crucible, United Fruit, Ind. Alcohol Bethlehem Steel, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies, Am. Sugar, Punta Sugar, Mex. Pete, Int. Paper and others.

The extremity of the break was reached for the most part at midday following which slight rallies were recorded in those issues which had suffered the most but they fell far short of making up the early losses.

The break in Baldwin extended from 98 to 92 1-4 and around 1.15 it has rallied to 93 7-8. From 109 1-2, A. G. W. touched 104 3-4 and rallied to 105 3-4. Beth. Steel B. from 57 went to 51 and recovered to 52 3-4. Crucible after losing 7 1-4 to 92 only rallied a point. From an early high of 194 United Fruit dropped to 187 recovering to 191. Int. Paper touched a new low in the afternoon at 48 1-4 compared with the early high of 52 1-2. Am. Sugar dipped from 95 1-2 to 93 3-8.

Other feature of the list were: U. S. Steel 81 1-2 to 1-8 to 82 to 80 5-8 to 81 3-8; A. I. C. 39 1-2 to 42 to 40 5-8 to 41 1-4; Corn Prods., 72 3-4 to 73 5-8 to 67 to 69 3-8; Alcohol 71 1-2 to 72 3-4 to 67 7-8 to 68 3-4; Mex. Pete 158 5-8 to 160 7-8 to 156; Marine 13 to 13 3-4 to 14; pfd. 41 1-8 to 41 3-4 to 40; Studebaker 47 1-8 to 49 3-4; Lackawanna 51 1-2 to 49; Punta Sugar 51 1-4 to 48 3-4 to 49 3-8.

Less spectacular were: C. P. R. 115 1-8 to 116 3-8 to 114 3-4 to 115 3-8; Scotia 47 1-8; Union Bag 76 to 74 1-2; Union Pac., 115 1-8 to 120 1-4 to 118 7-8; Southern Pac., 110 to 109 3-8 to 111 1-4 to 110 5-8, Reading 88 1-4 to 87 5-8 to 88 7-8 to 85 1-2; Money was 6 per cent.

SARAGUAY ELECTRIC'S PREF. STOCK REDEEMED

It is announced that the Montreal Public Service Corporation on Wednesday last redeemed at par all the outstanding preferred shares issued in 1911 by the Saraguay Electric and Water Company and at the same time has paid off the accumulated dividends on the 6 per cent preferred stock up to November, 1920. The total payment amounted to over $237,000, and thus the Montreal Public Service Corporation is relieved of a substantial indebtedness.

The Public Service Corporation, which was founded in 1908, is a consolidation of the Saraguay Electric and Water Company, the Dominion Light, Heat and Power Company, and the St. Paul Electric Light and Power Company; it owns the distribution system of the Canadian Light and Power Company and operates, under lease, the plant and distribution system of the Central Heat, Light and Power Company.

In 1910, when the general consolidation, above referred to, took place, the Company was serving about 5,000 customers, while at present the Company is now serving nearly 14,000 customers.

The Company has a contract with the Montreal Tramways Company for a period of 50 years dating from November 2nd, 1915, to furnish electric power to the Tramways Company, and under this contract the Company is now furnishing a total of over 10,000 h.p. to six different sub-stations on the Island of Montreal. The Company also furnishes the street lighting in several wards.

Coming at the present time, when so many firms are retrenching, and when money is at a premium, the announcement of the redemption of the Old Saraguay indebtedness was a welcome one on the Street.

Officers and directors of the Public Service Corporation are: E. A. Robert, president; Hon. J. M. Wilson, vice-president; Hon. N. Curry; J. W. McConnell; P. J. McIntosh, New York; F. J. Shaw; Hon. L. J. Perron, and K. B. Thornton. The latter is also managing director.

Imperial Oil Co. Will Oil-Bore All Winter

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—A. M. McQueen, vice-president of the Imperial Oil, Limited, announces that oil boring operations will be carried on all winter in Alberta and Saskatchewan by the rigs of the company. Mr. McQueen has just returned from the West, where he completed arrangements for the continuance of operations.

This will embrace all rigs of the company now operating in the West, with the exception of the two in the Fort Norman territory, where the weather is too severe for winter operations. No further announcement has been made as to results in the latter section, as work was closed down for the winter some time ago.

The continuance of boring in the more southern regions may bring announcement of success in other places in the course of the winter months. In any case, the company's program in the West is being prosecuted vigorously.

Gary Recommends That Steel Prices Be Held

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. — Judge Gary, of the U. S. Steel Corporation, issued the following statement:

"Our subsidiary companies have consistently and uninterruptedly maintained the base selling prices of all iron and steel commodities which were mutually fixed by representatives of the iron and steel interests of the United States and representatives of the Government on March 21, 1919.

"Since that time producing costs of all manufacturers of iron and steel, including an advancement of wage rates aggregating $51,000,000 per year to the Steel Corporation, and larger freight rates, have materially increased. Under usual circumstances we would be justified in making additions to the average base prices.

"However, after deliberate and careful consideration, we have decided to recommend to presidents of our subsidiary companies that the present base selling prices of all commodities continue in force unless and until it become necessary and proper to make changes to meet altered conditions."

BRITISH COAL OUTPUT

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(Special Star Cable.)—The coal output for the week ended November 6 is reported at 756,000 tons. The direction requiring that payments for coal sold to Spain and Holland should be obtained through the Board of Trade at a fixed rate of exchange has been cancelled subject to the general direction that these countries can now purchase in the same manner as other countries with whom Great Britain has not been at war.

Topics of the Street

Total transactions on the Montreal Stock Exchange this morning was slightly smaller, being 4,986 shares as compared with 5,713 shares yesterday morning, a drop of 727 shares. From day to day the volume of business now varies but little. This morning, there was no one issue that was really active, totals for even the leaders being under 600 shares. At the same time the list traded in was a fairly broad one.

Brompton was the leading issue with a total of 585 shares, while Spanish River pref. followed showing 465 shares. Other issues were under these totals, as follows: Spanish River, 460 shares; Steel of Can., 435; Nat. Breweries, 395; Atlantic Sugar, 245; Dom. Steel, 235; Riordon, 230; B.C. Fishing, 215; Laurentide 185; Car, 150; Abitibi, 130; Steamships, 105; Asbestos pref., 105; Detroit, 103; and Steamships pref., 101.

In view of the suggestion that the market has seen low levels on the present movement, or at any rate closely approximating the low, the action of the paper stocks is being watched with special interest. This is on account of the unusual fact that while the market may have been discounting adverse business conditions in other quarters the newsprint industry in particular has remained absolved from any connection with reaction.

The sharp decline in paper shares was purely a sympathetic one, it is asserted, and arose from the speculatively overbought condition of the market.

The contention now is that when the market revives the paper stocks will lead the movement as earnings are running at very high levels. With the price of newsprint to go on a new high basis at the beginning of 1921 the argument in the Street is that if any reaction does develop in the course in time it must be deliberate and long after it gets under way the Canadian producers are bound to make money when higher cost propositions blow up.

Reports are quite general in the market that investment buying is developing on a satisfactory basis. It would be strange were it otherwise as this is the opportunity for which many people keep ready funds. A rapidly advancing share market has few attractions for the conservative investor who bides his time, in the realization that the bigger the bull movement the better his chances will eventually be of securing stocks at practically his own price.

The more rapidly the absorption of the floating supply goes on the better it will be for the future of the market.

A succession of constructive developments will prove to be the greatest encouragement the industrial situation could hope for and these must come partly through financial channels.

At a time like this isolated incidents such as the declaration of increased dividends or extra disbursements would not be expected to produce immediate market results, but they will commence to build the foundation on which the market can reconstruct its fortunes.

On that basis the announcements in yesterday's Star of the increased dividend announced by the directors of Dominion Glass and the special distribution by the board of the Woods Manufacturing Company were welcomed in the Street.

Evidences of faith and confidence will be strong armed handmaidens assisting in the turn of the tide of industrial disturbance and confusion in price readjustments.

The present business situation seems like one in which industry is largely at the mercy of the psychological whims of the public and is suggestive of a frame of mind which must play itself out before a change of attitude can be influenced.

A feeling of numbness and paralysis in business can be quickly changed and volitional psychology will play its part. Nothing will do this better than a few demonstrations of confidence on the part of leading business men, and nothing will help the market more than some indications that the business situation is working itself out on a satisfactory basis without serious disturbance.

BK. OF MONTREAL FISCAL REPORT IS REASSURING

A striking exhibit of how the Bank of Montreal is swinging back from the special war conditions to the care of the growing trade of the country is afforded by the annual statement for the fiscal year to Oct. 30.

The report this year makes its appearance at a time when it will be closely scanned by everyone desirous of obtaining a knowledge of the Canadian banking situation at a period when difficulties of readjustment are testing the industrial and commercial strength of the country.

It will be of special interest to note that the Bank of Montreal, even in the difficult and onerous conditions caused by the war, was looking well ahead towards the period of reconstruction that was inevitably to follow. As a result, the bank has been able to take care of a large proportion of the expanding trade and commerce of the country and reports total current loans of $223,495,472, as against $164,182,581 last year, a gain of close to $60,000,000. The total of the loan accounts amounts to $256,500,001, as compared with $195,727,857 a year ago.

On the other hand, there has been a steady reduction in the special Government business which was undertaken during the war, and holdings of Dominion and Provincial Government securities are now down to $14,863,954, from $63,984,253. At the same time Canadian municipal securities and British, foreign and colonial public securities, other than Canadian, have declined to $36,749,430, compared with $47,041,359. The total of these accounts has been reduced to $289,146,508, down from $337,980,858.

During the year the bank made a further issue of stock and both the capital and reserve have been increased to $22,000,000 each, as compared with $20,000,000 each at the end of the previous year. A gratifying feature is to be found in the fact that even during the special period of the past year the savings deposits of the Canadian people have continued to increase and as a result deposits bearing interest now stand at $322,578,613, up from $312,655,964. In consequences of the expansion enjoyed during the year, total assets of the bank now amount to $360,156,182, as compared with $345,304,809.

As a result of the larger business handled and the increase in capital, profits for the year show a steady gain, compared with the previous year and amount to $4,033,095, as compared with $3,314,227 in the previous year. These profits added to the balance of profit and loss a year ago, of $1,812,854 and to $1,000,000 of premiums on new stock, brought the amount available for distribution up to $6,846,850. There was distributed $2,995,000 in regular dividends and a bonus of 5 per cent—$2,000,000 was placed to the credit of rest account; $210,000 war tax on bank note circulation; and $425,000 reserve for bank premises. This brought the total allotments up to $5,595,000 and left a balance to be carried forward into the new fiscal year of $1,251,850.

The principal accounts of the bank, with comparisons with those of the previous year, show as follows:

	1920.	1919.

CATTLE AUCTION SALES

COBOURG, Ont., Nov. 19.—(Star Special).—At auction sales in Midland, Ontario, the trend is towards lower prices for stock. Along the lake front prices are keeping up better and at a recent sale here cows averaged $100 each and a good team of heavy horses brought $460. In some parts of North Hastings and other northern points however, ordinary grade cows are stated to be selling as low as from $40 to $60, and fairly good horses from $50 to $60.

BK. OF MONTREAL FISCAL REPORT IS REASSURING

(duplicate)

WHEAT PRICES LOWEST THIS SEASON IN U.S.

The following noon grain letter was received from Chicago by E. C. Morris, manager for Logan and Bryan, at their Board of Trade branch office:

Wheat—Opened with general selling and not much demand except from resting orders and when these were exhausted prices dropped to new low levels for the crop, and a general selling and liquidating wave set in. It was reported on the floor that exporters were trying to re-sell wheat and rye. Among the sellers this morning were elevator interests, who sold openly. On the extreme break it was reported that 400,000 bus. of wheat had been worked to Germany, which was the only hint of export buying. Receipts this morning were 15 cars.

Corn—The impending pressure of new crop offerings combined with a general selling movement carried prices for corn to the lowest on the crop and the only buying in sight being taking of profits by shorts and some resting orders. The cash market was three to five cents lower. A point made on the bear side was that hog and cattle receipts continue large which means decreased farm consumption. Car receipts 85.

Oats.—New low levels were reached under the pressure inspired by other grains and a weak cash market, the latter being one to two cents lower. The decline has far exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine bear with no indication of a turn in sight.

NEW LOWS FOR COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. — Profit-taking by shorts failed to stem the tide of Southern hedging and liquidation and at noon cotton made new lows for the season, off 55 to 85.

NEW YORK SEAT $95,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. — A seat on the New York Stock Exchange sold yesterday for $95,000. The record price, paid last January, was $115,000.

PROPOSE TO RELIEVE CUBAN SUGAR MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Plans for the diversion of between 150,000 and 200,000 tons of Cuban raw sugar to European markets are under way by a group of local sugar dealers, it was announced here today, as a means of relieving the present financial situation in Cuba.

The dealers, it was reported, are seeking buyers among the purchasing representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy, in the belief that the foreign sale will eliminate a great amount of raw sugar hanging over the market and will provide the Cubans with funds now needed.

WOOL MARKET QUIET

BOSTON, Nov. 19.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: "Business in wool in the American markets this week has been less active, although there has been some business in a moderate way. Prices are showing a tendency downward all over the world. Australian cables indicate a lower tendency and the same is true in South Africa, and South America, while London has ruled dull and irregular. The goods market is still dull and unsettled, although the announced cuts in prices by the wholesale clothiers is taken as a good omen.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Still another drop occurred in refined sugar here today, when the Federal Refining Company reduced its list price to 9 cents for fine granulated. This action followed a cut in raw sugar to 5.76, a new low record.

Lindlaw & Co.—Severe decline in shipping stocks was not unexpected. General market stood shock very well. After heavy declines this week it is probable that market will show some recovery today and tomorrow, and other predominating influences being unrelaxed, irregularity and unsettlement are likely.

RIORDON DOWN; NARROW PRICE RANGE LOCALLY

General prices showed little change on the local stock market this afternoon. Riordon was a feature. This morning it rose from 154 to 161, falling back to 155. This afternoon the stock sold at 152, to 153 down 8 points from the day's high. Otherwise, changes were of a narrow sort, with the trend somewhat lower.

GRAIN PRICES SMASH DOWNWARD AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. — Grain prices smashed heavily downward today all along the line with hogs and provisions following suit. Corn led the way, notwithstanding that it was already lower than at any time since 1915.

Expected greatly enlarged pressure of offerings from the new crop of corn appeared to be a leading factor in emphasizing bearish sentiment caused by unsettled financial and economic conditions. As a result, before the day was half over wheat had fallen 7⅛c to 173¼ for December delivery and to 1.65 for March. Corn was off 3 to 66⅝, December, and oats down to 46⅜ for May.

The severity of the new breaks in prices and the extent of the accompanying selling to liquidate holdings excited much comment. It was pointed out in this connection that the value of corn had now been cut from 1.63½ a bushel to less than 70c inside of five months, whereas it was two years after the war was started before a bushel of corn could command an even dollar.

Downward swings followed rapidly in the wheat market until December delivery touched 171, a sheer descent of nearly 10 cents a bushel from yesterday's finish. Corn suffered a maximum loss of about four cents. Export buying of 1,000,000 bushels of wheat took place on the break and helped to rally prices a little at the last, December wheat closing nervous at 1.72 to 1.72¼.

PREMIER AT BANQUET.

The Hon. L. A. Taschereau arrived in the city from Quebec this morning. He will preside this evening at the diner-causerie given at Le Club Canadien, at which Fernand Rinfret, M.P., for St. James and editor of Le Canada, will deliver a lecture on a recent trip he made to the West. Monsieur Verneuil, the French Consul, and Arthur Sauve, leader of the Opposition in the Legislature, will also be present.

DEPUTATION TO STEAMER.

A deputation of the Master Plumbers' Association composed of D. A. Bethune, J. Ballantyne, J. E. Walsh and D. K. Trotter waited on P. C. Ogilvie, Mrs. and Miss Ogilvie this morning on the S. S. Grampian, to wish them bon voyage on their trip to Europe, presenting the ladies with bouquets of American Beauties and chrysanthemums and Mr. Ogilvie with a gold signet ring.

THE BIRMINGHAM SECTION

The Birmingham Section of the Seventh British Industries Fair, organized by the British Government will run concurrently with the London Section,—the Glasgow Section, opening a week later, February 28th and closing March 11th.

Birmingham is connected with London by an efficient railway system—the journey between the two cities taking only 2½ hours.

The exhibits at the Birmingham Section will include—General Hardware, Tools, Stoves, Rubber Goods, Scales, Perambulators and other carts, Firearms, Fishing Tackle, Belting, Paints, Ropes, Harness, Motor Cycles, Accessories for Motor Vehicles, Bicycles and Aeroplanes, Hollow-ware, all kinds of Metals, Alloys, Metal Fittings, and Metalwork, etc., etc.

None of the products shown in the Birmingham Section are exhibited in either of the other two sections, as no industry is permitted to exhibit in more than one section.

The buyer has before him the full range of the products exhibited, making comparisons easy, and generally expediting his business. Every assistance will be given to make his buying satisfactory in every way.

Bona fide buyers may obtain full information and invitation tickets from the nearest British Trade Commissioner, in Montreal, Toronto, or Winnipeg, who will recommend responsible brokers, if you cannot attend, and have no representative in England.

ROYAL CANADIAN ACADEMY'S 42ND EXHIBITION OPEN

Some Canvases That Stand Out—Marked Decrease in New Departures Noted

THERE are two features that impress one at the forty-second exhibition of the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts, which opened last night at the galleries of the Art Association on Sherbrooke street. The first is that the tendency to try and attract attention by doing something inartistic is almost entirely absent. The second is that a few canvases stand out from the monotonous level,—works from the established men and from the younger school alike. It cannot be said truthfully that the exhibition as a whole indicates an advance upon that of previous years, however. There is lacking, as a general rule, the note of distinction. This may be inevitable, but it is none the less a fact. One would welcome more evidence of ambition, a more definite advance towards something characteristically Canadian. But it is not yet in evidence.

* * *

Of outstanding canvases two of the most interesting are from the brush of F. S. Coburn. In "Logging" (48) he gives us a study of sunlight and shadow in the woods that commands admiration, alike for fluid handling of light and for masterly composition. "April Morning," Melbourne (49), is characterized by rich tones and a finely executed sky, and is atmospheric to a degree.

Mr. Cullen follows his fixed bent, and confines himself to landscape. He is at his best in winter scenes, and his "Winter" (56), with its suggestion of frozen silence, is the most characteristic of his pictures. It may be said to represent his high-watermark in this sort of work.

In "Maison de Cavalier de la Salle" (67), Georges Delfosse has done a very satisfying thing. He has caught the glint of sunlight on richly-colored foliage, and he has painted a scene which is nobly Canadian in type.

The dream-children of Charles de Belle's imagination are always a delight to look upon. In "Re-united" (65), and "Sinless" (66), he has sent to the exhibition two of the loveliest pastels we have seen from his hand. Their ethereal quality is not the least of their charms. In his portraits Mr. de Bell shows us a new side of his art, —one which, at least in the portrait of Mrs. Edward Maxwell and daughter (64), possesses qualities worth studying closely.

* * *

Apart from three conventional portraits, Mr. Ernest Fosbery, A.R.C.A., sends "The Bathers" (92), a dainty little sketch, in which light upon the water is cleverly handled, and which embodies sound composition and refinement in coloring. Clarence Gagnon, A.R.C.A., adheres to his individual style in "The Farm on the Hillside" (106), a vigorous winter scene, but in "Peasants Crossing on Ice Bridge, Quebec" (107), he has achieved something really distinctive in a new genre. A. Y. Jackson, R.C.A., in "Storm Over a Frozen Lake" (133) exhibits an example of violent treatment. His "Winter, Georgian Bay" (135) is infinitely more interesting and better as a painting, in that it reveals ability to use color with genuine feeling for atmospheric effects, both in sunlight and in the presentation of trees.

Mr. G. Horne Russell has done few studies of cattle that will be held to excel his "Homeward" (220),—a notable landscape in his most authoritative style. He shows also typical portrait work.

* * *

The president of the Academy, Homer Watson, has a couple of landscapes that will attract attention. Particularly does "The Farm in the Ravine" (256) please, with its distinction in composition and in coloring, and its sound brushwork. Two symbolical canvases mark instances where ambition has proved unequal to express an idea with conviction.

From Percy Woodcock come four finished examples of that sterling artist's work,—refined in quality, in atmosphere, and in color, and rich in those qualities that make a landscape something more than pigment on canvas.

Mr. Suzor-Cote's big canvas, "The Blessing of the Maples" (241), presents a vigorous and highly colored spectacle of an ancient French-Canadian custom, and possesses historic interest and considerable technical strength. There are those, however, who will turn with more satisfaction perhaps, to his unquestionably distinguished view of a countryside seen through a window in winter-time (243), which contains many qualities of atmospheric and color values, and the landscape near Arthabaska at the end of March. Mr. Suzor-Cote is one of the most interesting of Canadian artists, because he is always breaking new ground. His work reveals mastery in the handling of light and atmosphere, originality in composition limpid qualities of color, and also—which is much more difficult to attain —luminosity.

* * *

W. St. Thomas Smith's "Orkney Home" (236) is a cleverly-toned landscape in water-color. Arthur D. Rosaire has but one exhibit, "Old Mission, California" (217), but it is worth examination. Charles W. Simpson shows three marines, in which his painting of sky and cloud is better than that of the ocean. G. A. Reid, R.C.A., in "The Quiet River" (203), has achieved emphatic success in depicting shadows on the water and massed foliage. Lorna F. Reid's "Air Castles" (206), is one of the works of the younger school, which holds great promise. It has poetry, feeling, and is good in composition. Miss H. Mabel May, A.R.C.A., in "The Pink Balloon" (175), has also contributed a canvas that reveals imagination and interesting technique.

* * *

One notes also such canvases as "October's Restful Tones" (172), by T. Mower Martin, R.C.A., with its fine sky; "Waiting" (160), by Marion Long, one of the most distinctive works in the exhibition, depicting a young girl seated on the floor, holding a black fan touched with red,—a notable example of sound coloring; "The Thunder Cloud" (152), and "Windswept" (153), by F. McGillivray Knowles, R.C.A.; Randolph S. Hewton's admirable portrait of Miss Sybil Robertson (128), a most successful effort to break away from convention, and yet keep within the limits of real artistry, and the most interesting portrait in the exhibition, from a technical viewpoint; Miss Grace L. Featherstone's attractive study of a pine tree (86); Clara S. Hagarty's study in green, "In a Brittany Garden" (118); Gertrude des Clayes' alluring but unfinished portrait of Miss Betty Ogilvie (74), and her masterly sketch of F. N. Beardmore (73); Miss Berthe des Clayes' delightful "Souvenir de la Guerre" (71), a peasant woman with her babe, and her sister Alice's interesting study of "A Blue Day" (70), as well as typical examples of the well-known work of F. M. Bell-Smith, R.C.A.; J. M. Barnsley; Harry Britton, A.R.C.A.; J. W. Beatty, R.C.A.; W. Brymner, C.M.G., R.C.A.; F. S. Challener, R.C.A.; Rita Daly; J. C. Franchere; R. F. Gagen, R.C.A.; E. Wyly Grier, R.C.A.; A. Wilkie Kilgour; Wilfrid M. Barnes (whose "The Day Turns Ghost" (5), is a canvas that repays study; Hal Ross Perrigard; Albert H. Robinson, A.R.C.A.; and J. Saint-Charles, A.R.C.A.

* * *

There is more sculpture on exhibition than usual. Henri Hebert, A.R.C.A., sends two busts in plaster; one bronze "Life is full of Thorns" (260), a finely modelled piece, and "Le Faune" (268), in which a poetic conception is conveyed with considerable strength. Mr. A. Laliberte, R.C.A., contributes two statues and one bust, in plaster. The latter, of Judge Choquette, is an unusually fine example of portraiture, and "Le Reveur" (272), does not lack vision. Of the rest, J. S. Sciortino's "Weight of Dissolution" (276), is an ambitious and by no means unsuccessful effort to convey a big idea by symbolism.

In the etching and black-and-white section, one singles out Hal Ross Perrigard's "Cold" (332) and Herbert Raine's "Old House in a Courtyard" (336). Four studies by Mr. Suzor-Cote visualize distinctive types with authority. His nude study is particularly good. S. MORGAN-POWELL.

MILITARY NEWS

Lieut.-Col. Price, officer commanding the Royal Montreal Regiment, announces some good news for veterans of the 14th and 23rd Battalions.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Committee of the Royal Montreal Regiment, assisted by the officers, have arranged a Christmas supper and dance to be given to all men at present on the roll of the reorganized regiment, to those who served with the 14th Battalion R.M.R. during the war, to original members of the 23rd Battalion C.E.F. who have not enlisted in any other militia unit, and their families.

The supper will be given on Monday, December 20, in Victoria Hall, 4600 Sherbrooke street, Westmount, commencing at 7 p.m. An informal dance will follow the supper, music being supplied by the regimental band.

This will be the first big reunion of old R.M.R. veterans, and a large attendance is expected. Wives, kiddies, mothers, sisters and sweethearts will be welcome to the supper and dance, but first of all each man must register, either personally or in writing, to the adjutant, the Royal Montreal Regiment, 1215 Greene avenue, Westmount (corner St. Catherine street), at any time during the day or on Monday, Wednesday or Friday evening, giving the number of his family attending the supper. The Adjutant states that all names must be in by December 10.

The Ladies Committee will provide a special room where babies and youngsters can have their supper and be looked after.

ROYAL HIGHLANDERS.

A most enjoyable smoking concert was held by the Royal Highlanders' Reserve, on the occasion of their monthly social meeting, at the Armory, Bleury street. Those who contributed to an excellent program included Messrs. Turner, Pete Mein, Major Groffty, Jim Barr, Joe McCullough, "Mike" Prudhomme, Sam Gardiner, Fred. Myles, Band-Sergt. A. Robbie, Jim Sheppard and T. Mitchell. Vice-president Geo. LeBrun occupied the chair.

Prior to the entertainment a short business session took place. Amongst the matters discussed were the arrangements for the Turkey Shoot on Wednesday evening, December 1. All members desirous of taking part in this rifle shoot are requested to send in their names immediately to Secretary M. A. Prudhomme.

The next business meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, December 7.

MAISONNEUVE G.W.V.A.

Maisonneuve Branch G.W.V.A. is holding a whist drive and dance in Maisonneuve Market Hall Dec. 11, commencing at 8 p.m. to help defray expenses of a Christmas tree and entertainment for all children in Maisonneuve, Hochelaga and Longue Point, who have lost their fathers in the Great War, and also for the children of members of the branch.

In order to participate in the annual Christmas Tree entertainment, to be given by the Sergeants' Mess of the Royal Highlanders of Canada on Saturday afternoon, December 18, at the Armory, Bleury street,the names, ages and addresses of all children (12 years of age and under) of men of the 5th R.H.C. and of the following overseas units: 13th, 42nd and 73rd battalions, and the First and Second Re-inforcing companies, should be sent immediately to the secretary, Co. Q.M. Sergt. A. Cloutte, Sergeants' Mess, R.H. of C., 429 Bleury street.

As there is a complete record of names and addresses of children who have attended previous celebrations, this notice applies only to those who did not take part in last year's celebration and to those who have changed their residence since last year. All applications must be received at the Armory on or before Saturday, Nov. 27, after which date the lists will be absolutely closed.

The Director of War Trophies has allotted two German Machine Guns to the Montreal Unit, A. and N. veterans, and they have been delivered to the Club House at 602 St. Catherine west. One of these guns was captured by the Second Division, and the other by the Third Division.

The Sergeants' Mess will give a dance at the Armory, Bleury street, on Friday evening, November 26. The regimental orchestra under the leadership of Band-Sergt. A. Robbie, will be in attendance.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(Associated Press.)—Owing to intense efforts of peasants in recultivating their fields, helped by a good season, the devastated regions of France are now able to feed themselves for the first time since 1914, cable advices to the Direction Generale of the French services in the United States here, announced today.

This year's crops in the devastated districts will exceed pre-war production, it was stated. Not only quantity, but quality of the 1920 crops is excellent, with the yield unusually heavy.
