Westmount welcomes Confederation train

Thousands of residents and their friends turned out and stood patiently for hours throughout Saturday and Sunday to get a glimpse of Canada's Confederation Train. They stood two and three deep the whole length of the Westmount station platform awaiting their turn under the watchful eyes of the RCMP, CPR and local police constables. There were no untoward incidents and all were unanimous in their opinions on the ingenuity of the project which had been assisted in design by a Westmount resident, Laurier Lapierre.

R.C.M.P., to move

New 16 storey building for skyline

A new 12 to 16 storey building will soon arise on the Westmount skyline according to news reaching The Examiner. It will eventually house the headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who are scheduled to vacate their present quarters on St. Catherine street.

The news came following an man Gross at the regular meeting on expropriation of city-owned property moved by Alder-day. It calls for expropriation by the Government of Canada on or before December 31 of this year of those lots in the area bounded by St. Catherine street, Greene avenue and Dorchester street into one lot which was first approved by council on July 4th.

It was learned that the Federal government intended to expropriate the property containing 44,715 square feet of land for the sum of $800,000 following an independent appraisal made on their behalf. The acceptance of the $800,000 by the city is for full and final acceptance of all claims arising out of the expropriation.

It is understood that the new building will house the headquarters of the R.C.M.P. and will replace the present quarters of the federal police force.

Earlier in the meeting the Council approved amendments to a bylaw covering the definitions of what constitutes a dining room where only liquor can be served. The room must have a floor area for the use of customers of not less than 20 feet per customer and the kitchen must have not less than 125 square feet of space per employee. The serving of liquor will be restricted to dining rooms only.

Examiner places third in editorial awards

The Westmount Examiner's editorial page has been judged one of the better ones in the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association 1967 Better Newspapers Competition.

Independent judges placed the Westmount weekly third, with two other papers, for the P. George Pearce Memorial Award for best editorial page among CWNA publications of circulation between 2,001 and 3,000.

The competitions results were announced in Ottawa yesterday where the three-day Centennial Convention of the national trade association got underway under the chairmanship of National President John W. Sancton, publisher of The Examiner.

Winner of the Pearce in a Award was the Estevan (Sask.) Mercury and in second place was the Mission

City (B.C.) Fraser Valley Record. Tied with The Examiner for third place were the Castlegard (B.C.) News and the Gananoque (Ont.) Reporter. The Fraser Valley Record won first place in this circulation category for Best All-Round Newspaper and for Best Front Page.

In a special Centennial year contest, selected as the best all-round weekly newspaper in Canada regardless of size or category was the News & Chronicle, published at Pointe Claire for Montreal's Lakeshore region and printed by Monitor Publishing Company Limited, publishers of The Examiner.

The Examiner's award certificate was presented with others at a luncheon given by the Province of Ontario at the Chateau Laurier yesterday, while Mr. and Mrs. John A. Freeman, publisher and associate editor of the News & Chronicle, will be at the Centennial Dinner head table tomorrow evening and receive their award from Prime Minister L. B. Pearson, speaker at the closing event.

Westmount and Montreal now under same banner

In a signed statement by C. A. Bergevin, Chairman of the School Commissioners of St. Leon de Westmount, the following communique was issued concerning the merger with the Montreal Catholic School Commission.

The local school commissioners have voted unanimously in favor of the action.

The implication of the new educational policies established by the Ministry of Education have obliged the School Commissioners of St. Leon-de-Westmount to reconsider the position of the Commission bearing in mind the following:

1. From a practical standpoint it will be impossible to furnish our students at the secondary school level, whether French or English-speaking, with the subject options necessary for their educational development as prescribed by the Parent Report and regulations of the Ministry of Education.

We simply do not have a large enough student enrollment to make this a practical possibility.

2. Participation by our School Commission in free education at the secondary level for Westmount students in certain private educational institutions associated with other School Commissions, will amount to an additional expenditure estimated at $140,000, this year with no subsidy whatsoever from the Ministry of Education.

3. Further to the increase in expenditures reported in section 2 of the foregoing, the School Commission has to meet salary increases for the teaching staff of $86,000.

4) The School Commission expenditure budget for 1967-1968 is expected to amount to $825,000. This would be met by subsidies from the Ministry of Education amounting to $138,000; Catholic school taxes of $642,000, and miscellaneous revenues of $45,000. To meet the budget we would have to establish the tax rate at $1.86 per $100, of valuation, which would result in an increase of 38 per cent over the 1966-1967 tax rate of $1.35.

5) The report of the Consultative Committee of the M.C.S.C. as well as the report of the Coordinating Committee of the Metropolitan Region of Montreal reveal that on the secondary level: (a) (French Language sector) an educational centre is planned for our zone at the Ecole Secondaire St-Luc, corner of Decarie Blvd., and St. Luc Blvd. (b) In the English-speaking area there are two educational centres; at the James Lyng and Marymount High Schools, and the construction of another polyvalent High School is planned in the west-central zone for 1971 to accommodate expected population growth.

6) The M.C.S.C. has stated that if a merger were to take place: (a) No change would take place in our existing schools for the current school year. (b) Parental participation is guaranteed through an educational decentralization into 5 sectors or regions; the offices of which were officially opened on September 5th, 1967. Such semi-autonomous zones will permit closer cooperation between parents and their associations with the M.C.S.C.

Several other advantages could be cited concerning a merger with the M.C.S.C. The trend is toward larger educational institutions which are more economical to operate and which can offer greater opportunity for educational variety and stimulation to the students.

Former local pastor in controversy

(Special to The Examiner)

Rev. George Goth, a former Westmount pastor now holding down a pulpit in London, Ontario, is back in the middle of a controversy -- no new position for the reverend, as the record will testify.

This time Rev. Goth is involved with Rt. Rev. George N. Luxton, Anglican Bishop of the Huron, who is in Ottawa for the Anglican Synod sessions.

Rev. Goth, in a Toronto newspaper, criticized the bishop's position on episcopal authority, the succession of bishops and on the question of women in the ministry.

Goth, the bishop says, is too concerned with "unimportant aspects of union between Anglican and United churches".

Bishop Luxton, according to custom, signs himself George Huron. Says Goth "this is a bit of effrontery which borders on the ridiculous".

Rev. Goth calls the United Church acceptance of some forms of episcopacy in the proposed union as "arbitrary capitulation".

Says the Bishop: "It was a democratic decision taken by his church".

Goth also referred to two Anglican clergymen who, he claimed, were "treated like serfs" by their bishop.

Asks Luxton: "Were they really treated like serfs" and adds "Rev. Goth doesn't subscribe to any kind of authority".

Bishops, Luxton has suggested, should be appointed at 55 years of age, and for life. Replies Goth: "this is undemocratic". Comes back Luxton: "Rev. Goth seems to feel anyone over 55 is over the hill".

WE SAY

The Award that wasn't earned

ACROSS the bottom of this page are reproduced the three editorial pages from last year's issue of The Westmount Examiner weighed by independent judges to place this newspaper among the winners in this year's Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association Better Newspapers Competitions.

We are, naturally, pleased to receive our third award in these competitions in four years. But we were far more proud of 1964's second place among all weeklies for spot news pictures and most of all of 1965's first-place trophy for spot news pictures. In 1966, we copied out.

This year we tied with two other papers for third place, in the third of five circulation categories, for best editorial page. And it is no false modesty to proclaim that we just don't think this page is very good at all.

Rather—and this is written by the retiring president of CWNA — we have here a reflection on the low estate of far too many community newspapers across Canada when it comes to those pages which should be vital reflections of the thoughts of both editorialists and their readers, and of experts in various fields backgrounding the concerns of citizens. The advantages of the free press of a free country should find their greatest expression in the editorial pages of the nation.

Considering their resources, Canada's typical dailies do little better than the weeklies.

We are not speaking of news, whether it be of human concerns on the other side of the world or a garden social down the street. Canadian newspapers are better than most in the free flow — sometimes a turbid flood — of information. But editorially, all but a handful of leading weeklies and dailies do a miserable job.

Reasons are many. One is commercial: we know of too many newspapers who feel they cannot afford the space and, literally (or is it "il-literately"!) have no editorial page at all. Or they feel they cannot afford to hire the brains to think and write about subjects which concern readers of all walks of life.

Little encouragement is given by some publishers to bright editorial people who, often in turn, pick up canned stuff from axe-grinders or other papers and serve it up as their own.

Worst of all, little encouragement comes from readers. Most editorial pages are open to readers, often with letters than to the paper's own editorialists. Yet more often than not, these letters are not sober or even light reflections on challenges thrown out by the editors. More likely, they are expressions of other concerns of the readers: well, good and welcome, but leaving the editors wondering whether his research, weighing of facts and his thinking-through was worth it or even read at all.

The Examiner seeks each week to deal in this space with one or more subjects which might provoke the interest of Westmounters, and will continue to do so. If the thoughts strike home, we

Problems of Taxation in Canada is voiced

"No longer can we be riotously festive and carouse with the Income Tax Act. The past ten years have been fun for taxpayer and tax practitioner alike and some have enjoyed themselves more than others. Tax avoidance has been our national pastime occupying more time and effort than tax paying."

Such was the opinion of G. Ross McPhee, C.A., partner in the firm of Arthur A. Crawley and Co., chartered accountants, in speaking to a group of Westmount Rotarians at their weekly luncheon held in Victoria Hall.

The title of his talk was "Our Revels are now Ended" and had some pointed observations concerning the report of the Royal Commission on Taxation tabled in the House of Commons last February.

"We have lived through a decade of damnation rained on the system which turned the time and efforts of some of our country's greatest brains into the labyrinth of tax law, to answer the demand for tax reduction and avoidance," he said. The demand had been answered, and with it, great reputations have been built; and great sums of money have been plucked by persons who have put themselves in the way of a flood of goods and services and have taken a toll out of proportion to any value they had of the goods and services, said Mr. McPhee.

"But our revels now are ended. Perhaps the strong have weakened from the long fight with our fiscal follies, or perhaps the hitherto unguessed teeth in the Income Tax Act have flashed too often and nipped too many heels.

know we may never know; yet we would welcome more comment, (we can't print a phone call) pro or con with which to make our editorial pages more lively, more meaningful and more useful to all who read them.

When that day comes, we feel we and our readers shall have earned any further prizes which may come along for best editorial page.

Altruistically, some might suggest that the end of this era started with national introspection, and is an unwritten, unspoken everybody's centennial project."

The mood of Canada's taxpayers has changed, he said. The report of the Royal Commission channeled interest and discussions on fiscal matters into exploration of novel and bold solutions and compromises to weary problems. The report came down at the precise time that public and professional interest in avoidance had reached a low ebb.

"The Minister of Finance had introduced heartless legislation to curb what I refer to as commercial tax avoidance schemes. Because of the introduction of Ministerial discretion into the Income Tax Act and the lack of firm policies issuing from the Department of National Revenue, professional practitioners found themselves unable to satisfactorily deal with client affairs," said Mr. McPhee.

Clients were unhappy because of the wishy-washy advice they were receiving and found for the first time, that instead of being offered more avoidance schemes than they knew they were capable of participating in, they could not even get a decent estimate of taxes payable on normal business transactions.

The speaker stressed the importance of the Carter Report as a turning point in tax thinking since it seems to have finally closed out the heyday of sophisticated tax practice.

A closer look at the golden era of tax avoidance he said reveals why the era could not sustain itself any longer and why we have come to this crossroads in fiscal thinking; and perhaps why the Carter study was initiated.

City of Westmount streamlines tax bills

The City of Westmount has streamlined its 1967 tax billing to provide citizens with a clear-cut picture of how total revenue of $6,579,100. is apportioned to meet the costs of various municipal and intermunicipal services.

The new format of the tax bill spells out the amount each property-owner must contribute for services provided directly by the City as well as the amount levied to meet the cost of Westmount's regional obligations.

With the tax bill, each property-owner is receiving a detailed breakdown of tax rates and their relationship to budget requirements for a) municipal services and b) intermunicipal services to the cost of which the City must contribute, along with all other municipalities served, under Provincial law.

In summary, the breakdown shows that Westmount requires total revenue of $6,579,100. in 1967 — $6,149,800. to pay for normal municipal services and

The regular club luncheon at Victoria Hall will be cancelled on that day and a combined meeting with the Brownsburg-Lachute Rotary Club will be held in the evening at 7 p.m. Members who do not wish to golf during the day may make up their attendance at this combined meeting. This is one day members make a special effort to attend and participate in the fellowship provided by golf, swimming, an inter-club meeting.

Lakeshore artists to aid retarded

For the 8th consecutive year, the Lakeshore Association for Retarded Children hopes to augment its building fund through the efforts of the Lakeshore Association of Artists at its Outdoor Art Exhibition and Sale. This event will take place September 9 AND 10 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. at Stewart Hall, Pointe Claire.

Here some forty artists will display upwards of four hundred paintings, all of which will be for sale, a portion of the proceeds going to the building fund of the Lakeshore Association for Retarded Children. Art in all its media will be well represented, oils, water colors, pastel, pen and ink, ceramics and pottery; and the Artists will be on the spot to answer any and all questions.

Afternoon tea will be served and there will be a drawing for two paintings which have been donated by Reverend P. W. Jones, President of the Artists' Association and by Mrs. Victor Berg. These paintings would make a splendid addition to anyone's collection. The paintings will be on display in the Mall at the Fairview Shopping Centre September 7 and 8, and Mrs. W J Grandin of 38-18th Avenue, Roxboro, is in charge of the ticket sale.

In the naturally beautiful setting of Stewart Hall, on the shores of Lake St. Louis, this Annual Art Exhibition and Sale has become increasingly popular of West Island and Montrealeers as well. Many Art lovers save from year to year for another painting from the brush of Joyce Kellock, Victor Remeika, Olive Macfarlane, Ernest Heidersdorf, Lois Coates, to name only a few.

Patrons of this show over the years will be well acquainted with the work of Audrey Watts McNaughton. The Art Association has announced that Mrs. McNaughton has graciously consented to come from her home in Coburg to do portraits on the verandah of Stewart Hall. This Artisit is particularly noted for her portraits of Indians, Eskimos and domestic animals.

Also sketching portraits at he show will be a new member, Mrs. Gretchen Parker. A native Montrealer, Mrs. Parker has been residing in the United States for the past fifteen yeas and has only just returned. She took her training at l'Ecole des Beaux Arts in Montreal and additional courses at the Chicago Art Institute and the Intitute of Fine Arts in Indianapolis.

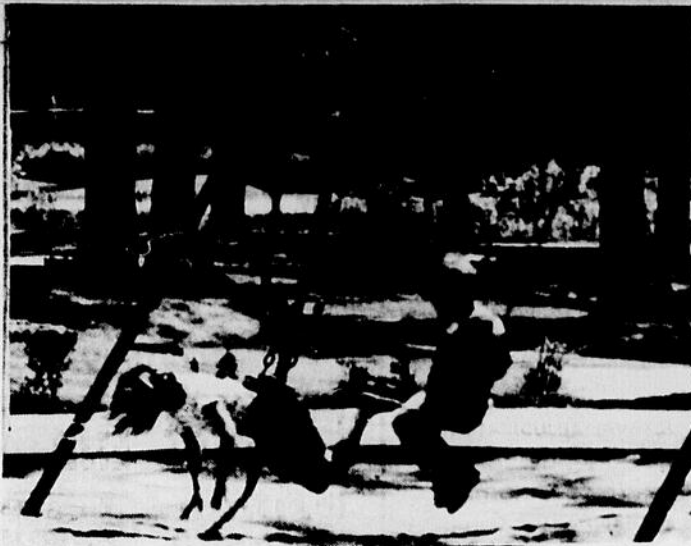

Notable among the other special guests are Mrs. Ray Cunningham, ceramist, and Mrs. Irma Coté, tilist. Mrs. Coté has jut finished The Way of the Cross which she was commissioned to do for the new St. David's Church in Pierrefonds.

New Workshop

The building fund of the Lakeshore Association for Retarded Children has been set up for the purpose of erecting a new Sheltered Workshop and Occupational Training Centre for adult retardates, to replace the old one which is now overcrowded. Instead of taking the ancient negative attitude of emphasizing what retardates can NOT do, the present Workshop of the Retarded Association is endeavoring to give educable and trainable adult retardates the necessary vocational and social skills to fit them, as far as possible, for an independent life in the community. There they are taught woodworking and furniture refinishing, direct mail work such as sorting, folding, collating and stuffing of envelopes, packing, cutting, pasting, and they are paid for their work. Each retardate receives pay in proportion to his performance, which develops in him a sense of self-sufficiency and accomplishment. At the same time the retardate is taught how to get along with people.

The facilities of the present Workshop are no longer adequate because of the number attending, and the matter of larger accomodations is now an urgent one.

A fling on the swing before school bells ring is the aim of these youngsters who are taking advantage of the recreation facilities at Westmount Park and have their fun before school bells call them to studies next week.

A native of Bracebridge, Ont. he is married to the former Marion Brown, also of Bracebridge. He studied for the priesthood under the direction of the Society of St. John the Evangelist following his return from military service overseas, and was ordained a deacon in 1951 and appointed to the mission of Nipigon on the northern shore of Lake Superior.

Father Rutter was ordained a priest in Port Arthur in 1952. The same year he was appointed to the mission parish of St. Michael's and All Angels in Port Arthur and remained there until moving to Ottawa.

The Luxembourg Postal Administration together with the Federation of Philatelic Associations of Luxembourg will organize an international competition to obtain designs for a series of special postage stamps to be issued for "JUVENTUS 1969", the first international philatelic exhibition reserved for young people under the patronage of the International Philatelic Federation. The set subject will be

"YOUTH AND LEISURE". The competition is open to all young people regardless of sex or nationality who, on January 1, 1968, will not be more than 21 years old. Those desiring to learn how they may participate, can obtain the necessary information by writing to this column.

In the light of Israel's military victory in the Middle-East War, the Israel Postal Ministry will issue a set of three stamps on August 16th dedicated to the Victory of "Zahal" (Israel Defence Forces). The set has been printed by multicolor photogravure in the denominations of: 15a—sword, olive branch and Star of David. 40a—ships in the Straits of Tiran, symbolizing the freedom of navigation; 80a—the Western (Wailing) Wall, accessible to all people in a unified Jerusalem.

On June 24th the Soviet Union issued a special 10k postage stamp, one of the "International Competitions" series, to mark the ending of the International Motor Rally on July 19th in Moscow. Seventeen countries, Poland, Sweden, Austria, France, Czechoslovakia, England and Yugoslavia among them, participated in this year's Rally. The stamp was designed by Martynov and pictures a moving motorcyclist and the Emblem of the Competition on the left side. Printing was in reddish-brown and lilac by mezzotint with metallography.

On August 28th the Irish Post Office will issue a special postage stamp to mark the Centenary of Canadian Confederation. The stamp will be available in two denominations, 5d. and 1s.5d. and was designed by Patrick Hickey featuring a cluster of maple leaves including the words "Canada Aontas." Printing will be by multicolor photogravure on paper watermarked with the letter "E" and perforated 15 x 15. First Day covers will be processed although there are not special cacheted covers being prepared for the occasion.

September is arthritis month

To more than 1,000,000 Canadians, pain and suffering due to arthritis and the other rheumatic diseases are a daily aspect of life. Too few people are aware of the heavy toll which these diseases take in both human misery and economic waste.

More than 285,000 Canadians are disabled by arthritis and works on the principle distinguishing the spectrum of the stamps. Japan has found it necessary to revise the colors of the current 15, 50 and 65 yen stamps. The revised 15 and 50 yen stamps were issued July 1st and followed by the revised 65 yen stamp on July 20th. The color revision of these stamps will enable the Japanese Post Office to speed up the processing of the mail.

A 4c commemorative — "Y.W.C.A." will be issued August 21st. by Australia to mark the occasion of the World Young Women's Christian Association Council Meeting and in recognition of the Y.W.C.A.'s long record of fine service to the Australian community. It is printed by multicolor photogravure and shows jultiple representation of the Y.W.C.A. emblem in flag form.

rheumatism: 63,000 of these are totally or severely incapacitated. Last year, more than 9,000,000 work days were lost in Canada as a result of these diseases, at a cost of $100,000,000 in wages alone.

It is now possible to control some forms of arthritis. Many sufferers are able to live nearly normal lives.

As a result of effective and progressive research during the past few years, it has been demonstrated that such disability can be prevented in about four out of five patients. The keys are early diagnosis and use of modern treatment techniques.

This is the new hope for all who suffer from arthritis. Research has been spearheaded by the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, organized in 1949 to improve methods of treatment, and learn the cause and cure of the diseases.

Speaking as Minister of National Health and Welfare, The Hon. Allan MacEachen said "I commend the work of the Society to everyone in Canada and urge all Canadians — particularly during "Arthritis Month" — to support its import efforts to combat and curb this distressing affliction."

Local sailors brave elements

A select group of hardy wet-weather Westmount sailors braved the elements last Wednesday to cruise up Lake St. Louis to the Beauharnois Lock and back. while Ross de St. Croix and Dick Herzer prepared hamburgers in the pouring rain.

CWAC to hold Centennial reunion

The Canadian Women's Army Corps are holding a special Centennial Reunion on September 16th.

For this event they are planning a festive Cocktail-Bufferet at the Hillside Armoury, 3 Hillside Lane, Westmount, at five o'clock.

It is particularly hoped that many former members of the Corps will be attending this reunion, and all those interested and wishing further information should contact the Staff Officer at 3530 Atwater Avenue, Montreal.

Local pianist honoured by Centennial award

Edna Marie Hawkin, of 4200, Sherbrooke street West, well-known pianist and teacher, was one of six musicians from across Canada to be honoured by Centennial Citations recently.

Miss Hawkin received her Citation at the recent Toronto convention of the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers' Associations.

Her citation reads in part, "Your many years of work as musician, teacher, and supporter of the aims of the Federation serve as a guide and inspiration to all of us".

WOMEN IN MEDICINE

Encouraging more women to become doctors is one ready way of meeting expanding needs for health care throughout the world, says Dr. Leona Baumgartner of Cornell Medical Center, New York. Main barriers, she says, are rigidities of average medical courses, especially the intern and residency years, the attitude that woman's place is in the home, and lack of child-care centers and help at home for working mothers.

Two solitudes

Westmount Park pleases young and old

A park is not only shady walks, playgrounds, trees and grass; a park is the way people use its shady walks, playgrounds, trees and grass. It is not important what a person appreciates, but how a person appreciates it. Different kinds of people like different things.

By Jan Wyllie

It seems that there are two kinds of people in Westmount Park -- the young and the old.

They are never still, they are never quiet. They shout with joy on the swings, and yell at each other while playing football. In a second they can change from ecstatic joy to dire despair with a scraped knee. These are children, our hope for the future. Their minds are orientated towards the future because their life is ahead of them. They make up half of the Park life.

Elderly Relax

Then there are the old people who sit on the green park benches watching the young and remembering their young days. Old people live in the past because their life is in the past. These men and women talk infrequently and in a low tone. Sometimes they read a newspaper or a book, more often they just sit.

There is another aspect of Westmount Park different from the other two. This is the upkeep and work that goes into it. It requires hard work too, to make the walks, playgrounds, and cultivate the trees and grass which different people appreciate in their varied ways.

YMCA activities
Fall youth program
starts on Monday

With the holiday season now over, the YMCA is preparing the Fall program schedule. Activities for youth are divided into two basic areas: physical and non-physical, and both areas have activities to interest all age groups. Regular physical program, consisting of gym and swim activities, begins the week of September 11th, with the first full Saturday program on September 16th.

In addition to the regular program, there are many other physical programs for all age groups. Courses are available in skin diving, life saving, weight training and scuba diving and team and competitive sports such as floor hockey, swim team, fencing and badminton will also be available.

Most non-physical program will commence in the first week of October and many activities have been planned. Most of this program is planned on the small group basis with leaders to give guidance and direction to the group. A model building club, a stamp club, an outing club, and courses in folk guitar and the use of an air rifle are planned.

Charm Course

For teen girls, a charm course covering dating, grooming and other aspects of being a young lady is being offered.

For High School aged teens the Y will be organizing Hi-Y and Jr. Hi-Y groups which will offer the members interesting activity, close friends, learning opportunities and lots of fun. These clubs will meet on a weekly basis and will have an adult advisor to provide counsel and experience.

Details on all youth activities are available in the Youth Program brochure which is now available. Anyone wishing to obtain a copy is asked to call 937-3916 and the brochure will be sent by return mail. Registration for all programs is now taking place and registration can be made either by mail or phone.

Life in the park is not all pleasure there is a great deal of work in its up-keep. The man is making the earth ready to lay new soil. In the background a man can be seen mowing the grass.

The worlds, two generations go their own ways. Each world seems complete and cut off from the other -- the woman sits on the bench thinking, while the children in the distance play on the swings.

The "old world" is usually found on a Park bench sedate and quiet, perhaps reading a newspaper or perhaps just cogitating.

Government spending reaches 11.2 billions

The outlook for further moderate increases in the total output of the economy in 1967 is generally favourable according to the Commercial Letter of Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

City of Westmount...

$429,300, to meet its share of the Métro debt service, the operating deficit of the Montreal Transportation Commission and the cost of the Montreal Metropolitan Corporation.

The actual cost of regional services is $496,300., but the City is absorbing the sum of $67,000. in its budget for municipal services).

Of the $6,149,800. required to administer the municipality in 1967, the sum of $3,060,200. is revenue derived from amusement, business and sales taxes, sale of electricity, various permits, etc. The balance, $2,449,900. to be raised in General Taxes, as well as an additional $639,700. in Special Taxes to meet the debt service for local improvements, is made up of revenue from property taxes.

The General Tax revenue of $2,449,900. is provided by a tax rate of $1.17 per $100. total valuation on each property in the City. Special Tax revenue of $639,700. is raised by a levy of 27 1/2 cents per $100. total valuation on each property plus five cents per $100. valuation on land only.

In all, property-owners will pay $3,089,600. in municipal taxes in 1967. These taxes are due and payable on Feb. 17, along with intermunicipal taxes.

REGIONAL OBLIGATIONS
For Westmount's regional obligations — $379,100. towards the cost of the Métro debt service, $106,700. towards the operating deficit of the MTC and $10,500. to meet the City's share of MMC costs less $67,000. absorbed in the regular budget — property-owners are being taxed 20 1/2 cents per $100. total valuation.

Intermunicipal taxes, therefore, will yield a total revenue of $429,300., enabling Westmount to pay its share of costs fixed by Provincial legislation.

Ald. P. M. McEntyre, who is Commissioner of Finance, said it was hoped the new tax bill format will enable citizens to relate their individual taxes to the City's overall budget for 1967.

He emphasized that, once again, as in previous years, the City of Westmount will forward a separate bill for school taxes applicable to property-owners on the Protestant and neutral panels while the Commissioners for the School Municipality of Saint-Léon-de-Westmount will bill Roman Catholic property-owners.

"It should be emphasized that the City is required by law to collect taxes levied by the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal," Ald. McEntyre said.

"The City, however, does not set school tax rates. These are fixed exclusively by Protestant school authorities on the basis of their own independent valuation. The City merely acts as a collection agency."

In its July-August issue, the Commercial Letter states that the momentum established so far appears sufficient to raise the Gross National Product by a possible seven per cent, with the rise in real output in the neighbourhood of four per cent.

Factors in the momentum are a firmly supported consumer sector, reasonably strong business investment, maintenance of the export level, and sharply rising government spending.

The Letter pointed out, however that cost increases, sluggish productivity and narrowing corporate profits create certain weaknesses. "The readjustment after a long period of rapid growth are not complete, but the slowing down to a more sustainable rate of growth has been accomplished thus far without sliding into a recession."

In assessing the performance of the economy in 1966, the Commercial Letter said the advance in terms of constant dollars was about six per cent, compared to seven per cent in 1965.

"Even at this slightly lower speed, the economy was still fully engaged. The average number of unemployed declined to 3.6 per cent of the labor force, the lowest level since 1956."

Consumer spending rose by close to nine per cent in 1966 to a total volume of nearly $35 billion. The consumer price index rose by about 3 1/2 per cent, chiefly because of higher costs for dairy products, meat, services and taxes.

The savings rate reached its highest point in a decade during 1966; about nine per cent of disposable income.

Business investment continued strongly, reaching more than $12 billion, up 15 per cent from 1965. The housing industry was sluggish, however, with foundations laid for only 135,000 homes compared to 167,000 in 1965.

Spending on the three levels of government reached $11.2 billion, up 16.4 per cent. The sharp rise added to the demand in a number of areas of the labour market, and increased price pressures in competing with the private sector.
