Anglo-American Action In Africa Claimed As Reason For New Attack

Marshal Petain Reported to Have Declared Armistice No Longer in Effect as German Forces Sweep Over Unoccupied Zone—Reported French Fleet Stationed at Toulon Has Steamed to Sea to Join United Nations.

By ROBERT BUNELLE
Associated Press Staff Writer
London, Nov. 11.—Goaded by the Anglo-American coup in Africa, Hitler scrapped his armistice with France today, sent his grey-clad columns racing South toward Toulon and Marseille, and launched paratroopers and airborne infantry into French Tunisia.

Reports from Vichy said Marshal Petain declared the armistice no longer in effect (which could return undefended France to a technical state of war with the Axis), and that he would make no move to interfere with whatever resistance the French could put up.

The Mediterranean took its grim place as the great new front of the war.

The wedge-shaped French protectorate of Tunisia, through which President Roosevelt asked passage for American forces from Algeria to Libya, was the first contested prize.

Axis forces already were there. An Allied headquarters spokesman said Nazi combat planes and airborne soldiers had been moved into Tunisia "for some little time."

BBC said Italian marines had occupied the Tunisian port of Bizerte, and other reports told of German paratrooper landings.

Luftwaffe Dwight D. Eisenhower's powerful A.E.F. was racing for a clean-up in Algeria and French Morocco.

Vichy French defenders of the key Atlantic port of Casablanca were reported to have asked for an armistice today after their defenses were shelled from the sea, dived-bombed from the air and assaulted by armored columns from the land.

From Algiers other American columns were reported striking South-east toward Tunisia and Libya, but a spokesman at the Allied headquarters said he did not know whether American or British troops were in Tunisia.

German and Italian troops alike moved into Southern France while Marshal Petain protested. Hitler sought to undercut what

ROOSEVELT IN WAR APPEAL TO FRENCH PEOPLE

In Armistice Day Address, President Hails Decision of Large French Units to Join United Nations Cause.

Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, honoring the dead of past wars on this Armistice Day, declared at Arlington National Cemetery today the German Nazis and their "appropriate associates, the Japanese" face "inevitable, final defeat."

"The forces of liberation are advancing," the President declared, adding that the "opponents of decency and justice have passed their peak."

Mr. Roosevelt made this forecast of Allied victory after placing a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the First Great War. Looking on was the United States

Knighted By King George

Gen. Bernard Law Montgomery, Commander of the 8th Army, who has been knighted by King George and promoted from Lieutenant-General to a full General. He received "promotion within the Most Honorable Order of the Bath for distinguished services in the field" and was made a Knight Commander.

Gen. Montgomery won his spurs in World War I, when he was twice wounded, won two medals and was mentioned six times in dispatches. He personally supervised getting his men off the beach at Dunkirk, smashed Rommel's attempt to break through the desert lines in September and has now won the decisive battle in Egypt.

NEW RECORD IS REGISTERED BY VICTORY LOAN

Cumulative Total of Subscriptions to Canada's Third Victory Loan Has Reached $971,837,900.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—The cumulative total of subscriptions to Canada's Third Victory Loan today reached $971,837,900—more than $220,000,000 above the minimum objective of the campaign—it was announced by National Loan headquarters.

Today's figure was roughly $20,000,000 higher than the last previous cumulative total announced Sunday night, and returns are not yet complete.

"It is unlikely that the final and proved total will be known before mid-December," today's statement from Loan Headquarters said.

"Returns have yet to come in." Continued on page 2, column 6.

Declares Invasion Of France Impossible At Present Stage Of War

Prime Minister, in Reviewing African and French Developments Before British House of Commons, Declares that Mediterranean Action Is But Precursor to Full-Scale Attack on Europe Proper.

LE GENTILHOMME NAMED HIGH COMMISSIONER FOR MADAGASCAR

London, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Gen. Paul Le Gentilhomme, Commissioner for War on Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Fighting French National Committee, has been appointed High Commissioner for Madagascar, it was announced last night. He will leave for his new post shortly.

London, Nov. 11.—(AP)—"An attack will be made in due course across the Channel or the North Sea," Prime Minister Churchill informed the House of Commons today.

"Such an attack," he said, requires an immense degree of preparation, vast numbers of special landing craft and a great army trained division by division in amphibious warfare.

"All this is proceeding, but it takes time."

However, said the Prime Minister, "should the enemy become demoralized at any moment, the same careful preparations would not be needed."

"Risks would be run on a large scale," he declared, "but this certainly is not the case at the present time."

The Prime Minister said that the German army in France is "as large, apart from the (British) homeguard as ours in Britain. . . . It is not so well equipped as the British and American troops but contains many veterans."

Invasion preparations "have been greatly advanced," he said—and "enormous installations have been made and are being brought into existence at all our suitable ports."

"But no one would have been justified nor would it have been physically possible to have made an effective invasion of the continent during the summer or autumn months of 1942."

Mr. Churchill said he had "instructed the Chiefs of Staff to disregard public clamor" in planning future operations.

"I have been asked, why did you allow false hopes to be raised in Russian newspapers?"

"Why did you agree with the United States and Russia to a communique which spoke of a second front in Europe in 1942?"

"I must say quite frankly that I hold it perfectly justifiable to deceive the enemy even if, at the same time, our own people are for a time misled."

"But there is one thing, however, which you must never do—that is, to mislead your allies. You must never make a promise which you do not intend to fulfill. I hope that we shall show that we have lived up to that standard."

The Prime Minister disclosed that he informed Stalin on his last visit of the difficulties of a Channel landing.

British 8th Army Registers Fresh Advances Near Libya

Rear Guard of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel Driven from Sidi Barrani While Another Axis Delaying Force Has Been Engaged at Buqbuq, Only Thirty Miles from Libyan Border—Allied Bombers Damaged Naval Units.

Cairo, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The British 8th Army drove the rear-guard of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel from Sidi Barrani yesterday and engaged another Axis delaying force at Buqbuq, twenty-five miles farther West and only thirty miles from the Libyan border, a joint British headquarters-R.A.F. communique said today.

Allied aircraft intercepted "enemy naval units" in the Central Mediterranean and reported two hits on a cruiser, the communique said.

Heavy and medium Allied bombers attacked transport vehicles of the retreating Axis army in the Egyptian-Libyan border area of Sidi Barrani and fighter planes patrolled the air over Eastern Libya.

These fighters were engaged in an air battle over the German-occupied port of Tobruk and two enemy fighters were shot down, the communique said.

The attack on the enemy naval units in the Mediterranean was made Monday night and the same night bombers raided the Italian airbases on the island of Sardinia.

Four British aircraft were reported lost in these operations.

Dispatches from the front said the greatest problem of the last few days was providing fighter plane bases in pace with the advancing army.

The tremendous task of collecting the thousands of prisoners left behind.

Complete Allied Occupation Of French Northwest Africa Nears As Casablanca Asks Armistice

London, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Allied occupation of French Northwest Africa was near completion today with the request of the Vichy French commander at Casablanca for an armistice, but German air-borne troops and warplanes and Italian marines were reported to have landed in Tunisia, the buffer protectorate between Algeria and Libya.

The Vichy radio said that Admiral Michelier, commander of the Moroccan port of Casablanca, had been compelled to ask for armistice because "after three days of fierce fighting all means of resistance are exhausted."

Collapse of the fight there followed the surrender of Algiers Sunday and the entrance of American troops into Oran yesterday. These were the three chief centres of resistance in Algeria and Morocco.

It was not known whether any British or American forces had yet succeeded in reaching Tunisia, said the Allied spokesman who announced the arrival of German forces there.

He said the German movement had "been going on for some little time," but that the Nazi strength there was unknown.

(At the same time the BBC, heard in New York, said Vichy had broadcast an announcement that Italian marines had occupied the Tunisian naval base of Bizerte.)

Bizerte in Tunisia is the best and largest naval base in French North Africa and is about forty miles from

NO CEREMONIES FOR ARMISTICE DAY IN LONDON

King George and Queen Elizabeth Paid Quiet Visit to Cenotaph After Cancelling Services.

London, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Britons generally let Armistice Day pass unobserved, but for the Fighting French it was a day of new pain and new hope.

The King cancelled the usual services at the Cenotaph but went in person, accompanied by the Queen, to lay a wreath of poppies at the Cenotaph. He observed the two minutes of silence in his business office at Buckingham Palace. The Government requested that no large services be held.

Short services were being held at St. Paul's Cathedral and the Unknown Soldier's Tomb in Westminster Abbey.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. William Temple, asked in a broadcast last night that all who could should pause at 11 a.m. and "remember and resolve."

The customary two-minute peacetime period of silence, however, was not being signalled.

The Fighting French organization in London had asked the people of the homeland to note the day with a hush and a prayer. Frenchmen in the then Unoccupied zone had been asked to avoid provoking the Gestapo and the police, but to pay honor to the dead of that First Great War at various memorials.

Today there was no Unoccupied Zone. The German army was moving into the provinces of that part of France once called free.

MANY ARRESTS CLAIMED IN LISBON AS RESULT OF ANTI-NAZI RIOTS

London, November 11.—(AP)—A broadcast by the German-controlled Paris radio said today that a thousand arrests had been made in Lisbon in suppression of what the announcer called a "Communist revolt" in the Portuguese Capital.

"Communists were trained to subvert military discipline to prepare a situation which would be favorable to the advent of British and American invasion," he said.

"The Germans use the label 'Communist' to describe any European elements opposed to Nazism."

HOME TOWN IN WARM WELCOME FOR AIR HERO

Thousands Attend Celebration in Verdun to Mark Return of P.O. George Beurling from Malta.

Verdun, Que., Nov. 11.—(AP)—After two hectic days since his return to Canada, P.O. George Beurling is spending a quiet day today with his family, Beurling, winner of the D.S.O., D.F.C., and D.F.M. and Bar, is home on furlough from his station at Malta.

His reception in Canada was climaxed by a monster parade and demonstration during which the lean, blond youngster squirmed and twisted in his seat as his fellow citizens paid him tribute. When it was over, the 20-year-old flying ace rose to his feet and stammered out a shaky "Thank you."

Beurling arrived in Ottawa Monday night by air from London and after a welcome by Prime Minister King he came on to Montreal and his home in Verdun yesterday.

Large crowds milled along the route of the parade leading from Dominion Square in Central Montreal to the Auditorium here, a distance of 3 1/2 miles. As the car bearing the ace passed along the route, he waved to the people who had turned out to greet him. Deep-throated choirs filled the air as the vehicle rolled through the streets.

At the Auditorium, more than 8,000 spectators were out to view the demonstration and add their tribute to those already paid Beurling. Soldiers, sailors and airmen joined in the show, while bands offered their musical salute to the airman-hero.

Germans Suffer Further Losses In Renewal Of Caucasus Warfare

Moscow, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The sinister quiet which enveloped the long Russian front for three days was broken yesterday Southeast of Nalchik where, the Soviet mid-day communique said, violent fighting was in progress throughout the day and three hundred Germans were killed.

German infantry, part of the Nazi force in the Caucasus which has been stalled in its drive toward Ordzhonikidze, Northern terminus of the Georgian military highway, attacked the Russian positions with tank support, the communique said.

Twelve enemy tanks were reported disabled and nine others set on fire. At Stalingrad, site of tremendous battles and great destruction in the last two months, the action was confined to artillery duels and light skirmishes within the city. In one sector inside the city a German infantry company tried to reach the Russian defence positions but was driven back with the loss of two platoons, the communique said.

Northeast of Tuzpe, where the Russians have held up the German advance toward this Black Sea naval station, groups of Germans penetrated Russian positions but were mopped up in the fighting which followed, it was reported.

The banks of the Volga river were frozen today and great chunks of ice in the middle of the stream presaged an early freezing which would greatly aid the defenders of Stalingrad.

The Stalingrad garrison has been supplied by a fleet of small boats operating during the night, but when the Volga freezes over great loads of material can be carted across it to the city.

WAR BULLETINS

Rome, (from Italian broadcasts)—The Rome radio said today Italian troops crossed the French border this morning to "assure the defence of the French coast."

Stockholm—The Swedish newspaper Allehanda reported from an undisclosed source today that Germany and Vichy France had signed a peace pact. (This report received no confirmation from any source.)

London—The Vichy radio was heard by Reuters today to quote a dispatch from La Linea to the effect several thousand "British, American and Canadian" troops now are at Gibraltar. (There was no confirmation of the report.)

Roosevelt Warns Axis Powers Of Even Greater Offensive To Come

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL, Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Axis powers had a warning from President Roosevelt today that the American campaign in North Africa is no bar to future offensives elsewhere.

Where or when they might come, he naturally did not disclose. But he told a press conference late yesterday that the limiting factors for a big offensive no longer are in operation.

These factors, as Mr. Roosevelt outlined them, centered in the problems of large-scale production of weapons, the training of adequate military forces, and the transportation of men and equipment to fighting fronts.

Chronologically, the Chief Executive explained how plans for the African campaign developed, how the points of attack were decided last July, and the approximate date set last August. There was no thought of the election at the time, he said in reply to a question.

The inception of the first major American operation of the war goes back to the time a fortnight after Pearl Harbor, when the President asked prime Minister Churchill of Britain to come to Washington with

REMEMBRANCE DAY OBSERVED AT COATICOOK

Veterans and Military Units Took Part in Ceremony at Coaticook Cenotaph this Morning.

Coaticook, Nov. 11.—Solemn observance of Armistice by members of the Protestant and Catholic churches this morning featured the local Remembrance Day ceremonies, the chief feature of which was a parade of veterans and military units and a brief service at the Cenotaph.

Organized by the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Coaticook Branch, a parade of Legion members and the 72nd Battery, R.C.A. (R.), was followed by the assembly at the Cenotaph in front of the Coaticook Armories, where Rev. Roy P. Stafford, of the United Church, had charge of the programme.

Opening with O Canada, Rev. Lorne Smith, of the Baptist Church, read the impressive poem, "O Valiant Hearts," followed by the reading of the same in French, by Capt. Hubert Rousseau. Turning to the monument, Rev. Mr. Stafford then read the dedication inscribed thereon, and everyone joined in singing "O God Our Help in Ages Past." A drum roll by Leon Donaldson, of the Coaticook Band, was followed by the sounding of the Last Post by Trumpeter Jack Howitt, of the 72nd Battery, after which all participated in the two minutes silent prayer.

Referring to recent war developments, Mr. Roosevelt said the United Nations are being joined by "large numbers of the fighting men of our traditional ally, France."

"On this day, of all days, it is heartening for us to know that soldiers of France go forward with the United Nations."

"American soldiers," he said in his address, "are giving their lives today in all the continents and on all the seas in order that the dream of the Unknown Soldier may at last come true. All the heroism and all the unconquerable devotion that free men and women are showing in this war shall make certain the survival and advancement of civilization."

tions, placed the Germans in momentary command of the narrowest point of the Mediterranean. A large German-Italian air centre is at Sicily.

The landing also drove a thin wedge between Lt.-Gen. Eisenhower's forces and Marshal Erwin Rommel's defeated Axis army in Libya.

Fighting Frenchmen also were optimistic. "It is felt that resistance may well collapse altogether at a much earlier stage than was at first thought possible," a spokesman said.

Overnight reports indicated a steady expansion of the holdings of the Anglo-American forces.

Vichy French light naval units which attempted to interfere with seizure of the Oran naval base were destroyed by a supporting Royal naval squadron, a British correspondent wrote from the field.

The Allied command announced the Allied naval-air forces had "overcome to a large degree the resistance of French naval units along the coast in the Casablanca area."

The 35,000-ton battleship Jean Bart, bomb-battered centre of this resistance, was reported to have been scuttled in the harbor and supporting light forces of the Vichy fleet were wiped out.

Field dispatches from Algeria told of the capture of 800 prisoners with- out resistance by an armored column which struck at an airdrome Sunday.

Four Vichy French Devoutine planes hovering high over the field swooped to attack and shot down one United States fighter, but three of them were shot down. The field was taken over by the United States planes flying British Spitfires.

Civilians and Arabs alike were described as friendly. American troops shared their cigarettes.

The sacrifice of the men who fought and gave their lives in the First World War was commemorated today at special Remembrance Day services held in different sections of the Eastern Townships. Sherbrooke was the observance of two minutes' silence was all that marked the solemn occasion, this city's Remembrance Day ceremony having taken place Sunday last.

At two minutes to eleven this morning work stopped in all factories for business places, machines were silenced and an impressive quiet reigned for two minutes in memory of Canada's fallen heroes.

from being started again in the interests of the British war-mongers by means of paid agents.

"Germany had no intention whatsoever of humiliating France or of infringing on the integrity of the French Empire.

"She hoped for a subsequent reasonable peace to achieve an atmosphere of mutual understanding in Europe.

"Since that time Great Britain and now also the United States have sought to set foot again on French soil in order to continue the war, as suits their interests, on French territory.

"After several attempts had come to a lamentable end, the Anglo-American attack was launched against the colonies of North and West Africa.

"In regard to the weakness of the French forces in those parts," it went on, "the enemy would find it an easier ground for operations than in the West where the country is protected by Germany."

"The German Government has known for twenty-four hours that plans of these operations provide that the next attack will be made against Corsica in order to occupy that island and against the South coast of France.

Berthelot then said the remnants of the fleet which Hitler has so long wanted to control—three battleships, four heavy cruisers, three light cruisers, a seaplane carrier, twenty-five destroyers, twenty-seven submarines and sloops.

Hitler set forth the Axis position in two parallel columns.

One was addressed to "Frenchmen, officers and men of the French army." The other was directed to Marshal Petain, the aged Chief of State who has picked up the command of Vichy's armed forces in succession to Admiral Jean Darlan, a captive of the Allies.

Hitler said the weakness of the Vichy forces in the Mediterranean area would make it easier ground for the German-held zone for Allied invasion.

"The German Government has known for twenty-four hours that plans of these operations provide that the next attack will be made against Corsica, in order to occupy that island, and against the South coast of France," he said.

"In these circumstances I felt compelled to order the German army immediately to march against the Unoccupied zone—and this is now being done—and to march to the point aimed at by the Anglo-American landing troops.

"It has a single aim—to repel, together with its allies, any landing attempt by the Anglo-American forces," he said.

Immediate withdrawal of the troops across the line was pledged "as soon as the situation in the Mediterranean is improved to the point that it is no longer imperilling the interests of the Reich in maritime France."

The necessity for moving into the Unoccupied zone was largely blamed upon Gen. Henri Honoré Giraud, the veteran French officer who escaped from Nazi imprisonment and is establishing a French North African army in the United States aid to fight alongside the Allies.

Hitler assailed Gen. Giraud bitterly in his message to Petain as a French general who "during his captivity simulated illness" in order to escape and had decided "not only to fight from now on against Germany in the services of the Anglo-Saxon nations, the authors of the aggression, but also against his own country."

Despite Hitler's protestations that the occupation was to be temporary and was not to interfere with the plans of the German Government in London forecast that he was fastening a hold that could be broken only by defeat.

Repeated exhortations by Petain to Vichy leaders in North Africa to maintain resistance were interpreted here as a desperate effort to stave off the inevitable occupation.

"The Vichy Government is dead and we are going back to June, 1940," a Fighting French spokesman said. "The only vestige of Vichy left will be some French officials in Versailles carrying out German orders."

Hitler said the Petain Government "will be free to move without limitation in the whole of France" and announced that previous objections to a transfer to Versailles, near Paris, were lifted.

The Fighting French spokesman said the most important result of the Nazi movement "will be the unifying of France and waking up of the people of the Vichy zone, who have been living in a fools' paradise for two years. Except for French Indo-China, the French Empire is all back in the hands of the Axis."

An Allied Government source said Petain "probably will protest and resign."

"But it won't matter whether he resigns or not if the Government is headed by Pierre Laval, Jacques Doriot or Marcel Deat," he added. "It would be the mere puppet."

Laval was reported earlier to have left Vichy, presumably summoned by Hitler to receive an ultimatum on account of the capitulation of Algiers and the precarious situation of the remainder of French North Africa.

Some Allied military men who cannot be quoted by name, said the Nazi leader had to make some gesture in reply to the Allies' successes and that his new move was dictated also by genuine military necessities.

They estimated the occupation would tie down an additional fifteen

ing their full part in the united war effort," was noted in the address.

Legislation forecast included arrangements concerning war damage suffered by public utilities, old age pensions, education, health and housing.

For security reasons the fact propagation took place yesterday was not announced until today.

The Speech from the Throne contained the declaration that it is the firm, unchangeable purpose of Britain and her allies to carry the war into enemy territory in order "to liberate as speedily as lies within our power" the countries under the Axis' "hateful domination."

The Speech from the Throne also expressed hope that "wiser councils may prevail" among India's people on the issue of participation in the war.

The session opened today was the eighth since this Parliament was elected in 1935.

The Prime Minister, after the formalities of the opening ceremonies, made a lengthy war review in which he discussed the victory in Egypt, the Anglo-American occupation of North Africa and Hitler's move into unoccupied France.

The prorogation speech, delivered to the traditional joint gathering of Peers and Commons, was one of longest in memory.

It enumerated notable events of the past year and touched upon the United States' entry into the war, the Anglo-Soviet treaty, Russia's gallant resistance, relinquishment of the principle of extraterritorial rights in China and the visits to Britain of Field Marshal Smuts and the Union of South Africa and of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Regarding India, the Speech said: "My Government in the United Kingdom have declared to the press and people of India their desire to see India assume full freedom and independence within the British Commonwealth of Nations, on the basis of a constitution framed by Indians themselves, immediately after the termination of hostilities."

"In the meantime representatives of Indian political leaders were invited to co-operate fully in the Government of their country and in prosecution of the war."

"I regret profoundly that hitherto they have not been willing to accept this offer. I sincerely hope wiser councils may prevail and speedy and successful conclusion of these difficulties may be brought about through a wider measure of agreement among the Indian peoples themselves."

The Speech noted the 8th Army had delivered a "crushing blow" to the Axis in the Western Desert and now was "driving the enemy from Egypt."

In conjunction with this operation, powerful United States and British forces under United States command supported by units of the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force have landed in French North Africa to forestall enemy occupation of their territories and preserve them for France."

ing their full part in the united war effort," was noted in the address.

Legislation forecast included arrangements concerning war damage suffered by public utilities, old age pensions, education, health and housing.

For security reasons the fact propagation took place yesterday was not announced until today.

The Speech from the Throne contained the declaration that it is the firm, unchangeable purpose of Britain and her allies to carry the war into enemy territory in order "to liberate as speedily as lies within our power" the countries under the Axis' "hateful domination."

The Speech from the Throne also expressed hope that "wiser councils may prevail" among India's people on the issue of participation in the war.

The session opened today was the eighth since this Parliament was elected in 1935.

The Prime Minister, after the formalities of the opening ceremonies, made a lengthy war review in which he discussed the victory in Egypt, the Anglo-American occupation of North Africa and Hitler's move into unoccupied France.

The prorogation speech, delivered to the traditional joint gathering of Peers and Commons, was one of longest in memory.

It enumerated notable events of the past year and touched upon the United States' entry into the war, the Anglo-Soviet treaty, Russia's gallant resistance, relinquishment of the principle of extraterritorial rights in China and the visits to Britain of Field Marshal Smuts and the Union of South Africa and of Mrs. Roosevelt.

Regarding India, the Speech said: "My Government in the United Kingdom have declared to the press and people of India their desire to see India assume full freedom and independence within the British Commonwealth of Nations, on the basis of a constitution framed by Indians themselves, immediately after the termination of hostilities."

"In the meantime representatives of Indian political leaders were invited to co-operate fully in the Government of their country and in prosecution of the war."

"I regret profoundly that hitherto they have not been willing to accept this offer. I sincerely hope wiser councils may prevail and speedy and successful conclusion of these difficulties may be brought about through a wider measure of agreement among the Indian peoples themselves."

The Speech noted the 8th Army had delivered a "crushing blow" to the Axis in the Western Desert and now was "driving the enemy from Egypt."

In conjunction with this operation, powerful United States and British forces under United States command supported by units of the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force have landed in French North Africa to forestall enemy occupation of their territories and preserve them for France."

ing and the decision to intervene in North Africa.

"Only in this way," he went on, "could we draw the largest number of Germans and pin them to Calais and the coast of France and the Low Countries."

"We have drawn and kept at least thirty-three German divisions in the West and a third of the German fleet at sea for some time, not being used, and a large proportion of the bomber force is not being used to attack us. Why? Because it is being saved up for this very landing if it occurred on the beaches."

"We ourselves also are engaging, including the Middle East and Malta, more than half of the whole fighting strength of Germany."

"In addition, there are ten German divisions in North Africa."

"The main part of the German fleet has been there for some months, tied to the Northern fjords."

"There are about 350 of their best aircraft in the Far North to impede our convoys to Russia. Here is another route we have found very costly to maintain."

"Of the nineteen convoys we have sent to Russia, only one has been an important fleet operation because the enemy's main fleet was close at hand."

"The latest one required seventy-seven ships of war apart altogether from the supply ships."

Mr. Churchill referred to the "immense output of munitions we have sent to Russia when we were being tightly re-equipped for the comparative ill-equipped of our own troops."

He added that "the efforts of this country in industry and in naval and military matters in 1942 should be a source of pride and thanksgiving, not only to all in these islands but to our Allies both in the East and West."

"This was the happiest Armistice Day of the war, not for Churchill alone but for all Britain, and the galleries of Commons were jammed to hear him. Among the onlookers were the Soviet Ambassador, Ivan Maisky, and the Russian woman sniper, Lieut. Lyudmila Pavlichenko.

Echoing the heartening words of the King in convoking the new session of Parliament, the Prime Minister hailed the smashing of the Axis' African army as "a British victory of the first order."

Mr. Churchill announced he would review the present figures in the House of Commons in the new session of Parliament, the Prime Minister hailed the smashing of the Axis' African army as "a British victory of the first order."

Council Refuses To Outline Its Reasons For Refusing To Reduce Real Estate Taxation

Finance Committee Chairman Gervais Declares City Council Has No Account to Render to Anyone—Letter from Chamber of Commerce Asking for Reasons for Council's Stand to Go Unanswered—Mayor Would Like to See One Mill Reduction Next Year.

The letter addressed by the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce to the City Council asking for an explanation on the Council's refusal to reduce the real estate taxation is to go unanswered.

Ald. Eugene Gervais, Chairman of the Finance Committee, made this clear this morning—and he further added that the Council does not intend to be bossed by the local trade organization.

"We have no account to render to anyone," he declared. A few weeks ago the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce in a letter to the City Council pointed out that in view of the repeated surpluses shown by the city every year and to alleviate the heavy tax burden citizens are being called upon to carry the Council might consider a reduction of two mills in the real estate taxation.

The recommendation was given short shrift. It came up before a regular meeting of the Council and City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers was instructed to advise the Chamber of Commerce.

R.C.M.P. Officers Testify At Trial Of Dr. A. Menard

Testifying yesterday afternoon at the Court of King's Bench trial of Dr. Albin Menard, of Garthby, charged with having sold narcotic drugs, A. G. Fraser, of Montreal, former Royal Canadian Mounted Police constable, said that he went with two other R.C.M.P. officers to an express office in St. Johns to claim a package which was sent in his name by the accused.

Evidence showed that the drugs contained in the parcel were ordered from Dr. Menard by telegram on which Fraser's name was signed by Cpl. Lawrence Michael Sommers, head of the Montreal division of the R.C.M.P. narcotic squad.

Under cross-examination, Fraser denied knowing the contents of the telegram's text or whether it had been sent by Cpl. Sommers. He claimed that he did not inquire why Sommers was using his name on a telegram because he was not interested.

REMEMBRANCE DAY CEREMONY AT LOCAL HIGH

Remembrance Day was observed this morning at the Sherbrooke High School where an armistice service was arranged and conducted by the members of the graduating class.

An inspiring introductory address was given by Regina Northridge who pointed out that one of the greatest obstacles in the way of a lasting peace is our intolerance towards the views and attitudes of other people and peoples.

An address was given by Capt. Rev. Lewis, of the Princess of Wales Regiment, who spoke on "The Meaning of Remembrance Day." He was introduced by Lorne Campbell and thanked by Douglas Gallinger.

An opening prayer was delivered by Rev. Moffat and opportune hymns, sonnets and readings were given by students of the school.

Existence Of Slum Conditions In Sherbrooke Is Denounced By Dr. Allen In Rotary Club Talk

For allowing "slums" to exist in such modern times, the Sherbrooke City Council as a body was denounced by Dr. Stanley Allen, of Montreal, Professor of Chemistry at Sir George Williams College, when he addressed members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club last night at their weekly meeting in the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

"The low grade housing in some sectors of this enterprising City of Sherbrooke is a disgrace to any community," the speaker declared vehemently. Dr. Allen spoke on education in a changing world order in connection with National Education Week, which was observed by the service organization.

Drawing a comparison to illustrate his point, he explained that education as well as housing conditions should be kept abreast of the modern march of progress.

"Education changes with the times and this change is a very fundamental factor in our lives. Since the world also is changing continually, it is most imperative that we make the proper adjustments to meet the new factors," he pointed out.

"A set goal is essential if we are to make these changes and you must make your choice according to certain principles." After explaining a democracy and a totalitarian state, he stressed that a freedom of choice goes beyond time.

The speaker was introduced by Wright W. Gibson, Principal of the Sherbrooke High School, and thanked by James Wark, Chairman of the Sherbrooke Protestant School Board.

Named To Important Task

Assistant Section Officer Frederica L. Bradley, daughter of Ex-Mayor Dr. F. H. Bradley and Mrs. Bradley, of Sherbrooke, is the first of the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) to work with the Aircraft Detection Corps, and recently was appointed to handle promotion for this rapidly-growing organization.

Her new job of popularizing the A.D.C. is of special importance right now, for thousands of civilians are being sought to act as observers over vast areas of Canada, watching and reporting all aircraft, submarines and strange vessels on the coasts, and any possible enemy activity on land, sea or air.

It is Assistant Section Officer Bradley's job to impress on the public the urgency of a greatly-expanded A.D.C., and to bring news of the Corps' work to the public. Some stories of these volunteer watchers, carrying out their duty without pay in lonely areas, have a high human interest value. She suggests that any civilian wanting to become an A. D. C. observer should get in touch with the R.C.A.F. and find out the name of the local A. D. C. regional director.

Assistant Section Officer Bradley is now stationed in Ottawa in the Directorate of Operations. She enlisted as an airwoman last January, trained at No. 6 Manning Depot, Toronto, and for a time was stationed at a Service Flying Training School in Moncton, N.B. She returned to Toronto to take a non-commissioned officer's course, later won her commission and took the officers' training course.

Assistant Section Officer Bradley has two brothers on Active Service, Lieut. William B. Bradley, Royal Rifles of Canada, now a prisoner at Hong Kong; and Lieut. Douglas H. Bradley, 27th Armoured Corps (S.F.R.) Overseas.

Assistant Section Officer Bradley's many friends in Sherbrooke and throughout the Eastern Townships will rejoice in her promotion and wish her success in her new duties.

The War Against Mrs. Hadley

Adapted from the METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER PRODUCTION By WILLIAM MCCORMICK

SYNOPSIS:

The war, which she considers a personal affront, has collapsed the narrow little world of Mrs. Hadley, a Washington society matron and staunch Republican of the old school. Her daughter, Patricia, has married Sergeant Michael Fitzpatrick—against her mother's wishes; her son, Ted, has been shunted into active service by Elliott Fulton, oldest and closest friend of the family and even her closest friend, Cecilia Talbot, has deserted Mrs. Hadley to do war work. Mrs. Hadley has just learned that she is to become a grandmother and that Ted has won the Distinguished Service Cross when the press swoops down upon her. "Mrs. Hadley, I'm from the Chronicle," says the first reporter, naming the paper which once belonged to her husband but now is owned by Mr. Winters, New Dealer, who represents everything in life Mrs. Hadley does not like.

CHAPTER SIX (Conclusion)

Stella reacted to the word "Chronicle" as though she had eaten something bad. "The name of Hadley means a lot to us," the reporter continued. "We want to play this up in a big way." "I am afraid I have nothing to say," Mrs. Hadley informed him coldly. "Have you heard from your son lately?" another reporter asked. "I had a letter the other day," Mrs. Hadley admitted, begrudgingly. "A chorus of questions about the letter rose." "The letter was personal," said Mrs. Hadley with great finality. "I really can't see the object of going on with this. You know all the facts." "If Mrs. Winters was willing to give us an interview, you certainly ought to be," a reporter said. "Mrs. Winters?" asked Stella, perplexed. "Yes. We've just come from there." "Some people like publicity," Mrs. Hadley said. A deadly hush fell over the group. The reporters looked at each other horrified. "I wouldn't call losing a son good publicity," said the first reporter, coldly contemptuous. "I guess we'd better call it a day." "Wait a minute, please," Stella begged frantically. "I didn't know—" said. "He was with you son—looking for that machine gun nest. He was shot by a sniper." "Oh, how dreadful! Only the other day Ted wrote about him. They—they were great friends." She pulled a bell cord on the wall. "So Mrs. Winters told us." Bennett entered. "Yes, Mrs. Hadley," he inquired. Stella turned to the butler. "You'll find a letter from Mr. Theodore on my night table. Please bring it here." She turned to the reporters. "I—I'd like you to read parts of it—especially the part about Tony Winters," she said.

Mrs. Hadley summoned her car immediately, the last reporter left. "Drive me to the home of Mrs. Laura Winters," she instructed. As the butler ushered her in to Mrs. Winters, Stella stood for a moment in the doorway, embarrassed at a loss what to do. "I—I hope I'm not intruding," she said hesitantly. "I'm glad you came. Please sit down."

"I—I had a letter from my son," Stella explained nervously. "I brought it with me—I thought you might like to hear what it said." "I would, very much." Stella opened her bag, rummaged in it with trembling hands and brought out the letter. "Tony Winters is in our company," she read. "I—I know how you feel about his mother—but Tony's a real gent—beg pardon—gentleman! That's a little joke we had," she explained.

"And we've become great friends," she continued. "In fact, knowing him has been the sweetest thing that's happened to me in the Army." "I can't tell you how much this means to me," Mrs. Winters said gratefully. "We should both be very proud of our sons." For a moment Stella looked at her, then started to sob quietly. "Please, don't cry," said Mrs. Winters tenderly. "I've just had word they're giving Tony the Distinguished Service Cross, too." "I'm so glad," said Stella wiping her eyes. "And so sorry—for so many things."

Elliott Fulton was waiting for Mrs. Hadley when she returned to her home. "Stella, I'm here on official business," he explained. "The President sent me." "He asked me to deliver this to you," Fulton said, handing her a letter. "Would you read it to me?" Fulton put on his glasses and read: "My Dear Mrs. Hadley: I want to offer my congratulations on the valor shown by your son and on the award of the Distinguished Service Cross, which he has earned so heroically. I had the pleasure of knowing your husband, and though he opposed many of my policies, I always found him a fair opponent and a fearless fighter. I am glad he has handed down this heritage to his son. I know that every American must share with you in your justifiable pride. Yours sincerely, Franklin D. Roosevelt." Stella stood transfixed, a glow on her face. She held out her hand for the letter. Elliott handed it to her with a tender smile. Stella read the letter in silence, cherishing each word. Suddenly she took Elliott's hand and pressed it.

"Oh, Elliott," she said warmly, "to think of his finding time to write me—with all the things he has to do. He must be a remarkable man." Stella—now Mrs. Elliott Fulton—was garbed in a Red Cross uniform some months later as she issued some final instructions. "Now while I'm away, Laura Winters will be in charge," she told the living room filled with women. "I'm sure all of you are going to work just as hard as if I were here."

Mrs. Fitzpatrick, dressed in travelling clothes and obviously very nervous, looked anxiously at her watch. "Stella, it's four o'clock. Oughtn't we be leaving?" "Not until Elliott gets here," Mrs. Hadley told her calmly. She turned to the group. "Any questions?" "How long will you be gone?" Mrs. Winters inquired. "Probably not more than a week. I'll fly back right after the baby is born."

"I'll be born before we get there, if we don't hurry," Mrs. Fitzpatrick fretted. "All right, Maggie," Stella agreed. "I just have to see Bennett a moment." The women looked after her admiringly as she left the room. "I'll bet she has the baby doing Civilian Defense work before he's an hour old," one of them said laughingly.

HONOR ROLL UNVEILED BY LEVER BROS.

Names of 250 Employees Who Have Joined Armed Forces from Company's Ranks Across Canada Honored in Remembrance Day Ceremony.

Toronto, November 11.—In an impressive Remembrance Day ceremony held by Lever Brothers, Limited, today, a Roll-of-Honour bearing the names of 250 employees who have joined the forces from the company's ranks across Canada, was unveiled by Mr. G. A. S. Nairn, President.

Honoring the memory of those who fell in the first Great War, over 100 members of the Ex-Servicemen's Association of Lever Brothers joined in the special service which paid tribute to comrades fighting in this Second Great World conflict. Mr. Jack Rogers, President of the Association, was in charge of the parade and the Association's Chaplain, Mr. C. E. Grainger, conducted the prayer service. Directors and executive members of the Company also were present.

Unveiling the new plaque which takes its place beside three other plaques that commemorate the names of Company men who served from 1914 to 1918, Mr. Nairn stated that more than 10,000 British Commonwealth members of the worldwide Lever Brothers organization now serve with His Majesty's Forces. Enlistment of men in the active forces from the Canadian Company is proportionately high, Mr. Nairn said, and a record is being maintained of which the Company is justly proud. Encouraging men and women to put on the King's uniform, the Company has adopted provisions for enlisted employees' welfare based on the principles of service to employees that apply throughout the Lever organization in other parts of the British Commonwealth.

Equalizing benefits which entail a present expenditure in the British Commonwealth of $3,000,000 a year are in operation. Married men on enlistment in any branch of the forces or entering full-time service with a Government wartime department receive the difference between their service pay and allowances, and thanean Hadley's place. As the men rose, one of them carelessly brushed his hand against one of the coffee service cups and the gift from President Coolidge went crashing to the floor. Bennett turned in horror. "Gosh," exclaimed the man in horror, "I—I've broken your cup!" "It doesn't matter in the least," Stella said. "He will clear it up." Mrs. Fitzpatrick barked in. "Stella, we'll never make it," she complained. "Where's that husband of yours?"

"He's probably held up in a conference at the Department. Millie, you'd better call a taxi," Mrs. Fitzpatrick asked. "Elliott and I decided to put it up for the duration on account of the tire shortage." Fulton entered. "Thank heaven!" exclaimed Mrs. Fitzpatrick. "Never mind the taxi, Millie," Mrs. Hadley instructed the maid. Fulton kissed his wife. "Sorry I'm late," he apologized. Stella said, "Oh, before I forget it, this man tried to sell one of the girls four new tires. I want you to turn his name into the proper authorities."

"All right, dear, we'd better hop," urged Fulton. Stella hurried to the living room and shouted a "Good-bye, girls." A chorus of "good-byes" and "Best of lucks" answered her. "Those Japs and those Nazis better look out, now that Stella's in the war," Cecilia said feigningly as Mrs. Hadley left. The front door suddenly burst open. Mrs. Fitzpatrick and Fulton were framed in the doorway waiting impatiently. Mrs. Hadley tore into the room, rushed to the sideboard and grabbed an envelope, as the women looked on in amazement. "Almost forgot to take my letter from the President," she said breathlessly as she rushed out to a renewed chorus of good-byes.

their salary on leaving with the cost of living bonus added. The Company also continues its contribution on behalf of such employees, to the Company's superannuation fund. When pay received exceeds a man's previous salary with the Company, an amount retaining allowance of one month's salary ensures his job with the Company until such time as he returns to its employ, and, in addition, the Company pays both its own and such employee's contribution to the superannuation fund.

A single man in the Lever organization, receives two months' salary outright, and an annual retaining allowance of one month's salary. Should he marry after enlisting, he thereafter receives the same provisions as those for the category of married employees. In this case, his service rank on enlistment and not his rank on marriage is the deciding factor used in calculating the Company's allowance.

An unusual feature in the employee service plan is the continuation of the same allowance level to a man in the forces until he has reached the rank of major or its equivalent in the other services. Such a policy encourages the men to fit themselves for promotion.

"Good to the last drop"

It hurt my pride to hear her say— "BETTY'S DRESS LOOKS HALF-WASHED!"

NO MATTER HOW YOU DO YOUR WASH YOU NEED SUNLIGHT'S "EXTRA-SOAPINESS" FOR THOSE EXTRA DIRTY SPOTS

TOUGHEST SPOTS COME DAZZLING

TRY ME FOR SPEEDIER DISHWASHING. JUST FEEL HOW MUCH MORE SOAPY I AM. THAT'S BECAUSE I'M ALL PURE SOAP

CUFFS, HEMS, EDGES COME BRIGHTER when you wash clothes the Sunlight way. Just touch stubborn spots with Sunlight Soap. This puts an active film of soap in contact with the dirt, and as the clothes are washed Sunlight's "extra-soapiness" quickly loosens even deepest grit and grime.

NO RUBBING NEEDED with Sunlight, either! My, how that saves the clothes! Try Sunlight next washday! See how much brighter and sweeter-smelling clothes come. How even the most soiled spots come out dazzling. Not streaky... not "half-washed" looking... but BRIGHTER ALL OVER! And see how lovely colors stay, too!

FOR A COMPLETE WASHING JOB YOU CAN'T DO WITHOUT SUNLIGHT

This well known recipe is used by many thousands of housewives, because they have found that it gives them an effective, dependable medicine for distressing winter coughs. It's so easy to mix—anyone can do it.

From any druggist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients in concentrated form, well known for effect on throat membranes. Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey instead of sugar syrup.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough syrup, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, and in any pleasant—children love it. You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

E. T. HOCKEY LOOP WILL OPEN DECEMBER 6TH

Four Teams Will Be Playing In Intermediate "A" League

Re-election of the officers who guided the Senior "B" circuit last season and decision to inaugurate the 1942-43 season on December 6th when the Sherbrooke Indians will clash with the Princess of Wales' Own Regiment at the local arena featured the annual meeting of the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League held at the New Wellington Hotel last night.

It was decided that the circuit would operate as an Intermediate "A" loop instead of Senior "B" as in previous years, with G. M. Wiggott as President and Ernie Taylor as Secretary, while Dr. R. Nadeau, of Richmond, will be First Vice-President.

The League granted Richmond's request that they be allowed to retain their franchise for another year although they will be unable to ice a team this season due to player and transportation difficulties.

A military parade will probably be held Friday evening, December 4, to herald in the new season.

Windsor Mills will open their season at home on the night of Sunday, December 13. It was decided that the four teams, Sherbrooke, Windsor Mills, Princess of Wales and Lord Sherbrooke Training Centre, will play the same number of games as last year, that is, twenty-four each.

The usual ten dollars entrance fee and $50 forfeit are to be posted by each club before the opening of the schedule, to be drawn up this week by Secretary Ernie Taylor and presented at the next meeting of the League to be held Tuesday night, November 17. Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday will be hockey nights in Sherbrooke.

The question of obtaining referees was brought up, and Jerry Mathieu, Larry Perreault, Lucien Ledue, Albert Turcotte and Bob Labelle will be contacted. Present at the meeting were G. M. Wiggott, President, Ernie Taylor, Secretary, Gus Leroux, Indians, Dr. R. Nadeau and Grant Campbell, Richmond, Capt. Blair, Princess of Wales, and Duke Duquet, Windsor Mills.

BREAK LIKELY IN AMERICAN LOOP CONTEST

Three Games Being Played Tonight May Drastically Change Position of American Hockey League Leaders.

By The Canadian Press
There's a good chance that the deadlock for first place in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League will be broken in three games which are to be played tonight.

Providence Reds, who play at Indianapolis, and Hershey Bears who remain at home to receive Washington Lions are tied for the lead with six points each. The other game is between New Haven Eagles and Pittsburgh Hornets. The Eagles have lost three and tied two and will be playing at home.

Should Washington beat Hershey and Providence lose to Indianapolis, the Eastern half would see three teams sharing the No. 1 position since the Lions are third with four points.

The idle Buffalo Bisons, leading the Western half of the circuit by two points, still will be there tomorrow because the second-place Cleveland Barons also will remain idle tonight.

LEARNED PLAIN

Lieut. B. Elliott, of Kingston, Ont., Miss Jean Leamed, of Sherbrooke, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Leamed and Master Bruce were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Learned. Other guests at the same home were Rev. R. W. and Mrs. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Farnsworth and Miss Mary Jean, of Cookshire.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Learned were in Bishop on Thursday, where they were guests at the homes of H. R. and R. M. Bishop.

Master Darrell Hume has been absent from school several days owing to illness. Mrs. George Hume is also ill at her home here.

Strong Movement Underway To Restrict Hockey Transfers

By CHARLES EDWARDS, Canadian Press Staff Writer
Toronto, Nov. 11.—"It may be just the simmering of a revolt in hockey," commented Ken (Edmonton Journal) McConnell, "but there seems to be a movement underway in Eastern and Western Canada to stop the tourist trade in hockey ivory... The general idea seems to be that the C.A.H.A. should straighten out the present alleged chaotic conditions by refusing transfers... There is only one thing overlooked. If all of the teams in Canada started from scratch and adopted the idea, all well and good. But few sponsors will take a chance on a mediocre club... If you have a poor club it can't make the playoffs and you lose money... That is what started the tourist trade. The C.A.H.A. merely fell in line because it likes plenty of competition, many teams and the resulting financial gain to its coffers."

The expert says: Bill (Galt Reporter) Herbert, reporting that Coach Al Murray of Bradford's Junior Hockey Lions has a promising goalie in Sandy Shantz, wrote: "It appears young Shantz has a heavy crop of hair and every time he goes into some fast action he finishes up by tossing his head back to clear his hair from his face. The Coach was worried for fear the youngster would get clipped while tossing his head around so ordered the club management to give the kid half a back so he could get his hair cut."

Veteran Line Again Proves Great Scorer For Rangers

By The Canadian Press
Time apparently has done little to impair the scoring effectiveness of Lynn Patrick, Bryan Hextall and Phil Watson.

Teaming as New York Rangers' big blue line, the trio counted forty per cent of Ranger goals last season. Last night the big blue line came smashing back for seven scoring points as Rangers, fashioning their second overtime victory on home ice, took a 5-3 verdict from Chicago Black Hawks.

Hextall, 29-year-old Grenfell, Sask., centre, fired the shot which sealed the scoring back for seven overtime points while Chicago's Joe Matte still served a third-period penalty. Patrick, who had put Rangers ahead 2-1 in the second period, added the final tally three minutes before the end of extra time.

Gord Davidson and Lin Bend, a couple of rookies plucked from Western Canada amateur ranks, contributed the other Ranger goals for a victory which moved the Blueshirts into a second-place tie with Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs, Hawks, suffering their season's first defeat, dropped to fifth place one point behind Rangers.

Doug Bentley scored two of Chicago's goals with the third going to Robert (Red) Hamill. A crowd of 8,957 watched the game.

SPORT SHORTS FROM BRITAIN

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Nov. 11.—"The best racing season for the Royal colors since the days of King Edward VII is just over and the race-goer, ever one to place his shillings on His Majesty's entries, is happy about the whole thing."

The King's aggregate of stake money for ten racing victories was approximately $46,500—considered an outstanding amount of wartime racing, with its slashed purses... The British public benefits because an unstated amount of Royal winnings goes to the National Stud which was presented to the people of Britain during the First Great War.

The King leased three of his winners from the National Stud, including Sun Chariot and Big Game, which was presented to the people's five classics... The other is Sunblind, a filly who closed out the Royal season with a smashing victory at Windsor after disappointing in an earlier race. Sunblind will run next season as a three-year-old but Sun Chariot and Big Game have been retired to stud.

Time out was called several times to allow the spectators to calm down a bit, but eventually a team of Canadian night fighter lads emerged as volleyball champions of R.C.A.F. squadrons in Britain.

The fighters, from a squadron led by Wing Cmdr. Paul Davoud of Kingston, Ont., ousted a bomber unit whose commander is Wing Cmdr. Len Fraser of Vancouver, in a three-game final. Scores were 15-2, 13-15, 15-9. Seven squadrons took part in the playdowns.

Besides Davoud, an all-round athlete who took a prominent part in the volleying, members of the winning team included Sgt. I. T. Smith of Winnipeg and Jimmy Steele of Vancouver and P.O. B. Brooks of Montreal. Prominent in the cause of the losing finalists were the Merrifield brothers, LAC's S. S. and G. S., of Wolseley, Sask., and Cpl. A. J. Hutcheon and LAC. N. Nulse, both of Toronto.

In the small space allotted to sport, British newspapers gave plenty of prominence to Joe Louis' announcement that he had retired as world's champion, but at least one sports writer didn't believe it.

Norman Hurst of the London Daily Sketch came right out with this: "I wish to place on record that I will give £25 (approximately $110) to any charity this money shall nominate if, before the next two years, the Brown Bomber has not changed his mind."

HOCKEY'S BIG SEVEN

Lynn Patrick took full advantage of the only N.H.L. game played last night and added three points to his scoring total to move right up among the league leaders.

His two goals and an assist gave him an eight-point total and moved him into a triple tie with Syd Howe of Detroit and Buddy O'Connor of Canadiens, and one point behind the leaders, Gordie Drillon of Canadiens and Carl Liscombe of Detroit.

The leaders: G. A. Pes. Drillon, Canadiens ... 4 5 9
Liscombe, Detroit ... 3 6 9
Patrick, Rangers ... 3 5 8
Howe, Detroit ... 2 6 8
O'Connor, Canadiens ... 1 7 8
Carveth, Detroit ... 2 5 7
H. Watson, Detroit ... 4 2 6
M. Bruneteau, Detroit ... 3 3 6
Getliffe, Canadiens ... 3 3 6
C. Brown, Detroit ... 2 4 6
Watson, Rangers ... 0 2 6
